GREAT CONVENTION OPENS; ALL OTHERS ARE SURPASSED

Remarkable Scenes at Giant Meeting in Massey Hall ---Five-Minute Ovation for Premier Ross.

THREE THOUSAND DELEGATES GATHERED AT TORONTO

Enormous Assembly Overflow the Vast Auditorium and Crowd Galleries—Senator Kerr Nominated as Temporary Chairman—Prohibitionists Active.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 25. — The greatest political gathering in the history of Canada opened today at a quarter to 11 o'clock. The convention surpassed all expectations. Three thousand Liberals, from every portion of the Province, were registered up to 10 o'clock today, and many more will arrive. The ground floor of Massey Hall, the finest auditorium in Canada, had been reserved for the delegates, but its seating capacity of 1,500 was inadequate, and the members overflowed into the balcony, driving visitors to the upper gallery. By half-past 10 o'clock, the great hall was completely filled, nearly 500 finding seats on the stage. The delegates from each riding sat together and the various contingents kept the hall ringing with cheers. Many carried banners, which were waved on high when the favorite son of some riding appeared on the platform, and when Premier Ross was seen making his way to the front the vast assembly rose and cheered for five minutes. This ovation was followed by another for Hon. J. M. Gibson, who opened the convention by nominating Senator Kerr as temporary chairman.

Senator Kerr, in a brief address, introduced the Premier, who was again greeted with a tornado of applause. Mr. Ross spoke briefly, as he is reserving his principal address for this evening. "Our opponents say it is time for a change," said the Premier, "but it does not look very much today as if there was going to be a change. (Cheers and laughter.) They say we have been in power too long. I do not think it is a crime to be in power if you serve your country well. Having been in power so long, and having discharged our duties in the interests of the people, I think we can give very good reasons why we should be in power still longer. Not to serve ourselves, but to serve the country, and keep alive these vestal fires which have burned on the altars of Liberalism, and kept it faithful to the liberties and the well-being of the people. If we can get into our hearts that the interests of the country are supreme, that nothing should stand in the way of good government, not even the success of leaders or parties, we will accomplish something that will add brighter lines to the record of Liberalism in Ontario." (Cheers.)

A long discussion ensued over the appointment of a nominating committee.

Mr. W. S. Calvert, M. P., moved the names of ten gentlemen, but some of the delegates insisted that each riding should be represented and this view prevailed. Mr. E. Parnell was chosen by the London delegation.

The convention is so large that it may become unwieldy unless it is kept well in hand by the permanent chairman, who is yet to be named. Senator Kerr was almost unequal to the task today. There is a disposition on the part of many delegates to talk freely, and in such an enormous assembly it will be difficult to keep the volume of discussion within limits. There is no prospect of the convention finishing today, and it may not conclude until late tomorrow night.

The prohibitionists flooded the meeting today with cards urging the abolition of the bar. When this question comes up there will be a warm and protracted debate. The work of organization will occupy the greater part of this afternoon's session.

FATAL OPTICAL ILLUSION

Son of Bishop of Ottawa Dived Into Shallow Water.

Ottawa, Nov. 22. — Hubert Hamilton, third son of the Bishop of Ottawa, died last night at Riverside, Cal. Last June the late Mr. Hamilton, who was an athletic young man, dived into the Riverside Y. M. C. A. swimming bath, supposing by reason of an optical illusion that it was full of water. There were, however, only three or four feet of water in the bath and he struck the concrete bottom with such force that he sustained a fracture of the bones of the neck. This caused a paralysis of the whole body, in which state the unfortunate young man lingered until death released him yesterday. Deceased was about 30 years of age, of genial character and engaging manner and will be deeply mourned by his many relatives and friends. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss Caulfield, of Toronto.

HANNA RENOMINATED

Will Contest West Lambton for the Conservatives.

Petrolea, Nov. 22.—Mr. W. J. Hanna was today renominated by the Conservatives to contest West Lambton for the Local House. The following officers were chosen unanimously: President, Mr. James Kittermaster; vice-president, Mr. George Moncrieff; secretary, S. A. Armstrong, Petrolea; treasurer, George Lucas; and the following vice-presidents for their various municipalities: Sombra, Peter Grant; Moore Township, Wm. Young; Sarnia Township, H. D. Kewley; Port Edward, C. Cook; Dawn, Guilford Butler; Enniskillen, W. A. Graham; Petrolea, John Kerr; Oil Springs, Robert Wray; Sarnia town, Thomas Kenny.

There were but two names placed before the convention, those of Mr. W. J. Hanna and Mr. George Moncrieff. Mr. Moncrieff declined in favor of Mr. Hanna, and on motion the nomination was made unanimous.

UNTIL EARL GREY ARRIVES

Sir Henri Taschereau Is Administrator of the Dominion.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Sir Henri Taschereau, chief justice of the supreme court, will act as administrator of Canada until the arrival of Earl Grey. Formerly, whenever the Governor-General was absent, the duties of administration devolved upon the officer commanding the Imperial troops at Halifax. Recently, however, the Imperial Government passed an order-in-council, which enables the highest judicial functionary in Canada to act as the head of the executive.

North Sea Commission.

London, Nov. 23. — A dispatch from Vienna says Emperor Francis Joseph has consented to choose the fifth member of the North Sea commission.

Raffle and Revolvers.

Minneapolis, Nov. 23. — During a turkey raffle in a suburban saloon last night three masked men entered and covered fourteen men with revolvers, ordering them to hold up their hands. All obeyed but the bartender of the saloon, Edward Mingo, who reached for his revolver. As he did so he was wounded in the face. This started a general fusillade, one of which instantly killed Alfred King. The robbers secured $20.

Investigating Disaster.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 23. — Chief Inspector Duval, of the department of railways, Ottawa, yesterday morning commenced his investigation into the Thanksgiving Day level crossing disaster. Every motorman who has had charge of the trolley that was in the smash-up has been examined by him, for the purpose of ascertaining how the motor has behaved. Duval also has inspected the record of the disabled car to discover how often the car has been in for repairs. The inquest by the coroner will start tonight, and it is expected the motorman, Willis Armstrong, will be the first witness.

All England Tied Up By the Great Blizzard

Funerals Snowbound, Children Dug From Drifts and Railways Stopped.

London, Nov. 23. — Unprecedented snowfalls continue in the British provinces. Many places and villages are isolated, and everywhere in the north railway communication is delayed, and in some parts entirely stopped. There are instances of funerals being snowbound between the house and the cemetery, and children have had to be dug out of drifts between their houses and the schools. Even in West Cornwall and the Island of Jersey, where snow is a rarity, heavy falls are reported.

Ten to twenty degrees of frost were registered in the United Kingdom last night.

DEAD, AGED 100 YEARS

Mas. Martha Lusley Passes Away at Forest, Ontario.

Forest, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Martha Lusley, mother of Joseph Lusley, of this town, died at her son's residence here yesterday at the advanced age of 100 years. Her maiden name was Webb, and she was born in Nova Scotia of U. E. Loyalist parents on Aug. 2, 1804. In 1824 she was married to Luther Lusley, and with her husband removed to this Province in 1832, settling in Bosanquet Township, in the county of Lambton in 1859. Here Mr. and Mrs. Lusley resided until the former's death in 1872, when Mrs. Lusley came to live with her son Joseph. Mrs. Lusley leaves four children, whose ages are from 73 to 80 years of age.

ASK ABOLITION OF PUBLIC BAR

Temperance Delegates at the Liberal Convention Draw Up a Resolution.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—"The abolition of the public bar, the treating system, and drinking in clubs, and the imposition of such other restrictions on the liquor traffic as shall most effectively curtail its operation and remedy its evils."

This was what the temperance delegates decided last night that they would ask the convention to adopt as the Liberal policy on the liquor question.

The meeting was held in the hall of the People's Cafe Yonge and Gould streets, and was attended by almost 200 earnest temperance workers. Mr. John McKay, of the Soo, proposed to amend the above proposition by adding a clause favoring government ownership of the monopoly.

A series of five-minute energetic and interesting speeches on the various temperance proposals so often discussed were made. Finally the gathering adopted the declaration as given above and appointed Rev. G. B. Brown, John McKay, F. S. Spence, Stapleton Caldecott and Mayor Urquhart a deputation to have the finding of the meeting brought before the resolutions committee of the conference.

THIRD SQUADRON FOR FAR EAST

Still Another May Be Sent From the Baltic, Also the Black Sea Ships.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 23. — A naval correspondent of the Nova Vremya urges the formation of a third squadron for service in the far east, and points out that the Slavo, a modern battleship, is now available at Cronstadt, to which he says will shortly be added two battleships and two cruisers of a somewhat older type, and fifteen torpedo boots, making a formidable flotilla. The writer suggests incidentally that there is still a possibility of getting out the Black Sea fleet, which, added to the above squadron, would wholly overmatch the remnants of Japan's sea power.

Washington, Nov. 23. — The Japanese legation has received the following cablegram from Tokio: "Port Arthur army reports that buildings near arsenal caught fire about noon, Nov. 22, owing to bombardment by our naval guns. At 9:40 p.m. still burning."

St. Petersburg, Nov. 23. — The Emperor and Empress at Tsarkoe-Selo yesterday inspected two batteries of quick-firing guns attached to the second and sixth East Siberian Rifles, which will start in a few days for the far east.

Berlin, Nov. 23. — The Mukden correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger sends the following: "Reports of the death of General Kuroki persist, in spite of denials, and are revived by Chinese coming from the Japanese camps.

"First Lieutenant Schupkoff, who has just arrived from Port Arthur, reports that the Russians have laid out three lines of defenses which the Japanese must capture before they can reach the city, after which the Russians can retire to the coast forts, which are the strongest of all. The garrison, which comprises more than 40,000 men, is in good spirits. Lieut. Schupkoff believes that the fortress can hold out at least until the end of January."

Tokio, Nov. 23. — Five submarine boats arrived at Yokohama today. The submarine boats referred to in the dispatch from Tokio are probably the five boats shipped from Quincy Point, Mass., early in October last to New York, whence they were sent to Jersey City and the far west. They were valued at nearly $4,000,000, and were understood to be intended for Japan.

TWO SHIPS OVERDUE

Believed to Have Foundered in Recent Gale in the Gulf.

St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 22. — The steamer Stord, coal laden, from Sydney, C. B., for St. Johns, with a crew of fourteen men, is now seven days out, whereas the ship's trip usually occupies forty-eight hours. It is thought she foundered in the gale of Saturday and Sunday. The steamer Orpheus, fish laden, from Labrador, for St. Johns, with a crew of ten men, it is feared, has met with the same fate.

A NAVAL MILITIA

The Minister of Marine to Presen an Important Measure.

Ottawa, Nov. 22. — The Minister of Marine will bring in a bill next session to create a naval militia. Next summer he will go to England for a couple of ships. In the meantime, there will be a school cruise on the cruiser Canada from Halifax to the West Indies. It will start from Halifax about the 15th of December for the West Indies with 90 on board. Mr. Prefontaine will also introduce legislation next session to abolish the harbor commissions at Montreal and Three Rivers, and bring the administration of the harbor more directly under the control of the department. Mr. Prefontaine leaves Montreal on Saturday for Toronto for a cruise on the lakes by the Vigilant.

DEVASTATED BY PRAIRIE FIRES

Flames Sweep Twenty Square Miles West of Rosser, Manitoba.

Rosser, Man., Nov. 22.—Prairie fires, fanned by a furious gale today, have devastated the country to the northwest of Rosser in a terrible manner. The conflagration was awful. As the flames swept along the fire guards were of no avail. Haystacks went up like rockets when touched off by the tongues of fire, which leaped yards ahead of the oncoming blaze.

The whole population fought valiantly to stem the destruction, and succeeded in saving Grosse Isle station. The residences of Messrs. Jull, James and Kellett, and Kensington School all narrowly escaped. Grosse Isle outbuilding caught fire, but were extinguished by heroic efforts. Several cars of wheat were also saved.

Thousands of tons of hay, and hundreds of acres of good bush were destroyed, and quantities of fences.

The fire is still burning, though the wind has abated, which will help the fire-fighters in their efforts to extinguish the holocaust.

The origin of the fire seems to have been a C. P. R. engine.

The extent of country burned is some 20 square miles.

SAD TRAGEDY IN THE FAR WEST

Not Knowing Gun Was Loaded Girl Accidentally Kills Her Father.

Touchwood, N. W. T., Nov. 23.—John Colton, a rancher who resided near Kutawa, returning late from a shooting expedition, laid his gun on the table. His eldest daughter, not knowing the gun was loaded, picked it up, when the weapon slipped from her hands and striking a chair was discharged, the contents striking her father in the back, killing him instantly. Mr. Colton was formerly one of General Custer's scouts, and came to Kutawa two years ago from near Sioux City, Wyo. He leaves a widow and four children.

THE DOMINION'S INDIAN WARDS

Population Figures Show a General Increase Since 1893.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 23. — The department of Indian affair has received the figures of the Indian population for the year ending June 30, 1904. The population is 107,978, compared with 108,233 for last year, or a decrease of 265. There was, however, an increase in the population last year over 1893, when the Indian population was 99,717, so that the figures show a general increase, and point to the fact that the red people are being carefully looked after as wards of the Dominion.

Reported That He Has With Him Man Who Made the Boxes.

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 23. — It is reported in the city that Phil Lott arrived here this morning from Watertown, N. Y., having with him the man who made the bogus ballot boxes, and that this man will tell on Friday for whom the boxes were made and to whom delivered. Some prominent names are mentioned.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 22 — At 10:30 o'clock tonight Francis J. Reilly was located in Hotel Dieu Hospital under a doctor's care. The police ran down the clue at 9 o'clock, but it was long after that that his medical adviser was found, and permission given to the police to see Reilly. He will remain there over night. A guard remains with him. Reilly has been a patient there since Monday. The detectives did not secure Shibley. He went away yesterday, and is still absent.

DECLARES YOUNG HELD THE GUN

Witness for Nan Patterson Says He Saw the Fatal Shot Fired.

New York, Nov. 23. — When the trial of Nan Patterson for the murder of Caesar Young was resumed in the supreme court today, her attorney, Abraham Levy, declared that although the prosecution has erected several strong barriers through which the defense will have to batter its way to secure the acquittal of Miss Patterson, he had no fear that they would not succeed. He asserted that he would bring forward a witness who would tell a convincing story of having actually seen the shooting, no matter how strong the evidence of the prosecution to the effect that no one was within range of vision of the cab when the fatal shot was fired.

This witness was a passenger on a street car passing across West Broadway, a short distance from the scene of the tragedy, and in his narrative he will swear, from where he stood, though his glance was but momentary, he saw Nan Patterson's companion in the cab grasping a revolver in his hand, and struggling with the young woman, who was endeavoring to wrest it from him.

The skeleton which was brought into the case yesterday for the use of Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon, in describing the course of the bullet which caused Young's death, was again brought into the courtroom when the trial was resumed today. The ghastly exhibit was suspended near the witness stand when Mr. Levy, for the defense, continued the cross-examination of the coroner's physician, which was interrupted by the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Levy, in his cross-examination, led Dr. O'Hanlon back over the ground covered in his direct testimony yesterday. The witness described in detail the autopsy which he performed on Young's body.

"If you had regarded the case as one of homicide would you have made a more careful examination?" asked Mr. Levy.

"I did not so regard it then as a case of homicide."

"Did you regard it as a case of suicide?"

"I did," the witness replied.

Dr. O'Hanlon said that while performing the autopsy he found three black marks on the second finger of Young's right hand, and he stripped off pieces of skin which were turned over to the district attorney. The witness was not permitted to answer a question as to whether the black marks were made by gunpowder.

SHOT AT SIR HARRY

British General in Sultan's Employ Has a Narrow Escape.

London, Nov. 23. — According to a dispatch from Tangier to the Daily Mail, Kaid Sir Harry MacLean, commander of the Sultan's bodyguard, while traveling from Laraiche to Tangier, by way of Arcilla, 25 miles southwest of Tangier, was fired upon and his horse killed. The kaid was not injured.

Gen. Sir Harry Aubrey de MacLean was formerly an officer of the British army service in the Sixty-ninth Foot, and was made a K. C. M. G. in 1901, for service rendered to the British Government.

NEW MINISTERS SWORN IN; FOUR TAKEN INTO CABINET

Hon. W. A. Charlton, Hon. G. A. Graham, Hon. A. G. McKay and Hon. F. E. Evanturel.

MR. GIBSON TO BE MEMBER WITHOUT PORTFOLIO

Toronto, Nov. 23. — The final step was taken in the reconstruction of the Ontario Government yesterday afternoon, four new members being sworn in by the Lieutenant-Governor, one member of the old cabinet being transferred to another department and a second retaining his seat without portfolio.

The cabinet is now composed as follows:

Hon. George W. Ross, Premier and Treasurer.

Hon. F. R. Latchford, Attorney-General.

Hon. Richard Harcourt, Minister of Education.

Hon. W. A. Charlton, Commissioner of Public Works.

Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture.

Hon. A. G. McKay, Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Hon. George P. Graham, Provincial Secretary.

Hon. J. M. Gibson, minister without portfolio.

Hon. F. E. A. Evanturel, minister without portfolio.

During the afternoon the last meeting of the old cabinet took place in the council chamber at the Parliament buildings, all the members being present but Hon. Mr. Davis, who is at the St. Louis Fair. It was over at about 4 o'clock, and later the Premier, accompanied by Hon. Messrs. Dryden, Harcourt and Latchford, and the prospective cabinet members, and Mr. J. Lonsdale Capreol, clerk of the executive council, drove down to Government House, in the front drawing-room of which the swearing-in ceremony took place at about 5 o'clock. No others were present besides his honor and those mentioned. The oath of allegiance and the oath as member of the executive council, respectively, were sworn to by the new members together.

Hon. W. A. Charlton.

New Commissioner of Public Works in the Ontario Cabinet.

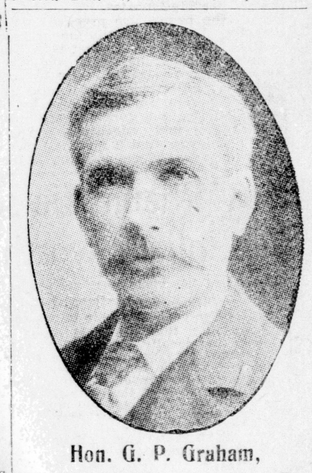

Hon. Mr. Latchford did not, of course, take these, having done so at the time of his appointment to his previous portfolio, that of public works. He, however, took the oath of office, and Hon. Messrs. Mackay, Graham and Charlton took it after him in the order named. Mr. Capreol, who administered the oaths, did so for the first time in his capacity as clerk of the executive council, though he had previously acted on similar occasions while assistant clerk. At the close of the proceedings his honor congratulated the new members, light refreshments were partaken of, and the party soon thereafter dispersed.

The new ministers with portfolio will assume their duties immediately. Hon. Mr. Stratton gave up his rooms to Hon. Mr. Graham yesterday evening, Hon. Mr. Latchford will today take possession of Hon. Mr. Gibson's rooms, and Hon. Mr. Davis' successor, Hon. Mr. Mackay, will at once take charge of the crown lands department. The new members of the cabinet are well known throughout the Province.

Mr. Charlton's Career.

Hon. William Andrew Charlton, who succeeds Hon. Mr. Latchford as Commissioner of Public Works, was born in Cattaraugus County, New York, and is the fourth and youngest son of Adam Charlton. His father was English and his mother Scotch. Adam Charlton had four sons and five daughters, all of whom are now living. The family came to Canada when Mr. Charlton was eight years of age, and for six years resided on a farm in South Dumfries, one mile south of the village of Ayr. He attended school at Ayr in winter time and part of each summer, and at other times helped on the farm. Then the family (all excepting the eldest son, John), went to the State of Iowa, where, with the exception of the time spent at school, Mr. Charlton remained at home on his father's farm for nearly seven years. Adam Charlton was a man who made a practice of reading and studying several hours each day, and his son William carried on some of his studies under his father's instructions at home. After about seven years in Iowa, Mr. Charlton came to Lynedoch, Ontario, to assist his brother, G. G. Charlton, in general business and lumbering, measuring logs in winter and working in a general store during the summer. For two seasons thereafter he was away studying, after which he re-engaged in general business and lumbering at Lynedoch, for a time under the style and firm of G. G. Charlton & Co., then Charlton & Ross, then W. A. Charlton & Co. In 1895 the store business was taken over by Mr. W. R. Holliday, who had been chief clerk for many years, during a large portion of which Mr. Charlton's time was largely taken up with outside business matters, lumbering, exploring, etc. For several years his business connections required him to be in New York City and Brooklyn from five to ten days each month, making and looking after building contracts and the rental and transfer of real estate there. While in business at Lynedoch Mr. Charlton was almost daily called upon to do conveyancing and similar work for people from far and near, and was frequently chosen by both parties to a dispute to settle their differences. He never acted under such circumstances except at the request of both parties. He was a member of the board of school trustees and secretary-treasurer for 21 years, and made it a rule to visit the school once or twice each month, taking great interest in the progress of the scholars and in beautifying the school grounds.

Mr. Charlton always had a fondness for exploring new countries, and for the past twenty years has made frequent excursions in Northern Ontario and Quebec, and before that time in Northern Michigan and other states. In 1897 the late Premier Hardy requested him to make a personal examination of the Moose River country north of the Canadian Pacific Railway and advise him as to the necessity of granting Government aid for the construction of railways in that new country, report upon the character of the country, the soil, timber, minerals, waterpower, the probable character and prospect of the future trade between Hudson's Bay and the main lines of railways, the source of supply in the Hudson's Bay territory, quantity, volume, etc. The examination was made and the report submitted Dec. 27, 1897. The report in pamphlet form contains 22 pages of printed matter, also four maps and sixteen photographic views. Four thousand copies were printed.

Hon. G. P. Graham,

Who Succeeds Mr. Stratton as Provincial Secretary.

Mr. Stratton's Successor.

Mr. George P. Graham, of Brockville, was born at Egansville, Renfrew County, on March 31, 1859, and is the son of the late Rev. W. H. Graham, a pioneer minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada, and who, after the union of the Methodist bodies in this country, was president of the Montreal conference. Since he was about 12 years of age, Mr. Graham has been steadily at work, the greater part of the time in connection with newspapers. When 21 years old he bought the Morrisburg Herald, and ran it with a considerable amount of success for thirteen years. Later he became assistant editor of the Ottawa Free Press, a position he held for a short time only, and in 1893 he went to Brockville as managing director, treasurer and editor of the Recorder of that city, a publication which he has made one of the brightest and most influential of provincial publications. Mr. Graham has long been in active public life in various capacities. Before he reached the age of 30 he was for some time reeve of Morrisburg, and a member of the counties council of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. In 1891 he ran against Mr. J. P. Whitney, the leader of the Opposition in Dundas, but was defeated. He was first elected to the Legislature for Brockville in 1898, when he defeated Mr. John Culbert by 188 votes, but in 1902 this majority was increased to 376, just double, against Mr. Daniel O'Brien. From the moment of his appearance in the Legislature Mr. Graham's abilities won recognition, and his debating powers and executive capacity have proved of valuable assistance. During the last two sessions he has filled the important position of chairman of the public accounts committee in a manner acceptable to both the parties represented thereon.

The new Provincial Secretary has always taken an active interest in amateur sports. He was president of the first hockey club formed in Morrisburg, which won several championship

PLAIN SPEAKING TO THE CZAR

People's Memorial Demands Constitutional Monarchy.

REVOLUTION THE ALTERNATIVE

Expected That Reforms Will Be Refused Owing to Influence of the Reactionaries.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 22. — The final article of the Zemstvos memorial, as it will be presented to the Emperor, is as follows: "In view of the importance and difficulty of the internal and external situation through which Russia is passing, this informal conference expresses the hope that the sovereign power will summon freely elected representatives of the nation, in order with their co-operation to obtain for the fatherland an evolution of the state in the direction of establishing a new basis of law for mutual co-operation between the Imperial authority and the people."

The serious work of the Zemstvo meeting being accomplished, the only remaining questions relating to aid of the wounded and distressed, many of the members are already leaving for their homes. At the last moment the form of the memorial was altered to make it appear "an expression of the hope that it is the wish of the Emperor to summon a national assembly." With the removal of the idea that the memorial represented opposition to imperial authority every vestige of dissent vanished.

The practical result of the meeting, as represented by the Emperor's response, is now of all-absorbing interest. The memorial will be presented to Interior Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky tomorrow, and by him presently will be transmitted to his majesty. There is no clue as to the outcome. The general idea in Government circles, and even of many of those who participated in the meeting, is that it will be unfavorable, but the whole situation is so unprecedented that even the best informed hardly know what to expect.

One of the most prominent members of the Zemstvo delegation said: "The general opinion of my colleagues is the reverse of optimistic. Therefore it is a mistake to raise hopes that are doomed probably to disappointment, but hope exists. Probably there will be the usual attempt to temporarize. We may not get all, but we should get something. The Czar is sincerely anxious of helping the people if he realized where the interests of the Government and people lay, but he is surrounded by influences. The court and the imperial family are opposed to anything like the suggestion of a constitution. Of only one thing are we certain—Interior Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky will present the memorial to the Emperor. How far or whether he will indorse it at all is not yet known, but he will place it before his majesty if it costs him his position in the ministry. No matter what the immediate result, however, we have gained a remarkable victory. We have put into concrete form our opinion that the present system in the end must spell ruin or revolution. The Emperor knows the character of the men whose names are attached to the memorial. They represent the best blood and thought of the empire. We are not revolutionaries. We do not believe the people are prepared for a republic. We support the monarchical idea, but we believe it must be a constitutional monarchy, and that the Emperor must choose between the moderate programme we offer or eventual revolution. If there is no result now we will continue the work of agitation and education. There will be a larger and a stronger meeting next year. If the meeting is forbidden in St. Petersburg, then it will take place in Moscow, Kieff or in an open field, if necessary. The movement will gather headway as time elapses. We have risked our liberties, and we shall not retreat. The law which makes agitation for a change in the form of government, punishable with penal servitude, is still in force. We are all amenable, but so long as Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky is minister we know we are safe. If we fail to take our chances, although we feel sure the Government would not dare to reverse the policy of liberalism which has received such an impetus since Von Plehve's death. The moment is propitious for concessions. The Government is in a different position and needs the support and sympathy of the people. I believe something at least will be granted. A free press would be the greatest step short of calling a national assembly. If only the A B C's of the programme are conceded the rest of the alphabet will inevitably be drawn in their wake."

The idea of submitting the programme to the district Zemstvos was abandoned, as all of them are subject to the control of the marshals of the nobility, many of whom are not in sympathy with liberalism, and a check might be risked, as some future minister of the interior might be able to present opposition in many of the district Zemstvos as proof that the people are not in harmony with the spirit of the memorial. Consequently it was decided that each member of the assembly act according to his judgment as to the method for spreading the agitation.

Last night the editors of the principal Russian papers met the presidents of the Zemstvos to arrange a plan for co-operation in their work. A communication was received from the revolutionary organization promising to suspend activity pending the Government's action on the memorial. The big student demonstrations which were planned for this week have been postponed on the urgent advice of the Zemstvos presidents, who are anxious not to embarrass Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky. The control which the Zemstvos exercise over the disturbing elements of the body politic is one of the strongest features of their position in the great struggle.

Today's meeting discussed and passed resolutions which will be submitted separately to Emperor Nicholas through Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky, praying for the abolition of the state of siege existing in many cities of Russia; for amnesty to all prisoners punished by administrative process or without trial by ordinary process of law; for more favorable treatment of the question of primary schools, the necessity for which has hitherto not been recognized or admitted by the authorities, who, it is claimed, do everything to check and impede primary education, and for a more humane method of enforcing martial mobilization. It is pointed out that if the military authorities would consult with the ministry of the interior and the Zemstvos, much unnecessary harshness and resulting disturbances would be avoided. The question for the relief of families of reservists and Red Cross work will be disposed of tomorrow when the conference will disperse.

OCTOPUS HALTS SHIP

Twelve Foot Monster Collides With Ship In Southern Sea.

San Francisco, Nov. 23. — While steaming off the coast of Mexico those who were on the Pacific mail steamer Peru noticed that the vessel's progress was much slower than it should be. Investigation showed across the bow of the steamer a manta, a giant species of octopus, about twelve feet long.

An effort was made to get rid of it by backing the vessel, but it clung to the steel sides of the steamer. A sailor was then lowered over the side and he attached sharp hooks to the monster, and with the aid of the capstan its hold was released. Evidently the manta was stunned by the steamer striking it, and it recovered when the hooks were fastened to it, for as soon as it was dragged from the bow it suddenly started away, taking hooks and line with it.

MR. GOMPERS IN HOT ARGUMENT

He and John Mitchell Called Traitors at the 'Frisco Convention.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 22. — At yesterday's session of the American Federation of Labor the unexpected interjection of the question of socialism caused a hot debate, in which Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell were charged with being traitors to the cause of labor. This resolution, introduced by Delegate Victor Berger, of Milwaukee, caused the debate: "Whereas, the unprecedented concentration of wealth in the United States and the rapid development of the trusts in almost every branch of industry make it obvious that capitalism will soon reach its culmination point, and will have to make room for another phase of civilization, and whereas, it is evident that this nation is destined to take the lead in this grand struggle for better conditions and higher culture; therefore, be it resolved, that we hereby recommend that all organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have their members study the economic conditions; to have lectures on these subjects in their lodge rooms, homes, and in meetings set apart for this purpose, and to do everything in their power for the enlightenment and intellectual advancement of the proletariat."

The resolutions committee recommended the adoption of all but the clause following the first "whereas." This opened the floodgates of oratory and vituperation, and a long battle followed, after which the delegates passed the resolution as recommended, and expressed their confidence in Mitchell and Gompers.

Max Hayes, who championed the socialistic doctrine in a speech, was cheered for several minutes.

President Gompers then threatened to clear the hall of all visitors if such demonstrations were repeated. Feeling ran so high that John Mitchell arose and said that unless Delegate Berger proved his statement that he (Mitchell) had been a traitor, he must stand before the eyes of all present, a convicted liar.

The rules were suspended, and Gompers and Mitchell allowed to defend themselves. The trouble arose over a printed slip, which charged Gompers and Mitchell with dining with President Eliot, of Harvard, at an "unfair" hotel, and that President Eliot was the man who called the "scab" a hero. It bore the heading, "Are They Traitors?"

The reply of President Gompers was bitter and impassioned, and the feeling among the delegates was tense. He admitted attending the dinner, but denied every inference drawn therefrom, and declared that as long as he was connected with the labor movement he would fight against the mixing of politics with unionism.

Mr. Mitchell was loudly applauded when he said that he defied any man to point to any act of his which might be interpreted as against the interests of the workingman.

The convention voted unanimously to indorse the move of the Typographical Union for an eight-hour day, and pledged itself to levy an assessment on each member if such a course should become necessary. The Typographical Union has set January, 1906, as the time when the eight-hour day will be demanded by their organization.

$5,000 PER DAY

What the Little Earl of Grosvenor Will Have as Income.

London, Nov. 22.—After a lapse of twenty years the title of Earl of Grosvenor was revived this week by the arrival of a little stranger in the Duke of Westminster's family. The infant Earl of Grosvenor is heir to the richest estate in land held by anyone in this country.

The Westminster estate is not large in acreage. The Duke of Sutherland's is a hundredfold that of the Duke of Westminster, inference more than a hundredfold less productive. The ducal acres in Westminster bring in annually increasing incomes in the finest premiums in improved grounds rents, and so on, which can fall little short of $5,000 a day.

All the ground upon which Mayfair, Belgravia, stands came to the Duke of Westminster through his ancestor marrying a farmer's daughter at Ebury. This farmer was named Davis and his cows used to graze in what are now Grosvenor Square and Belgravia Square, the locality which became the ultra-fashionable part of London.

BEARS HORSESHOE MARK

Trampled by Horse, Has Ineffaceable Imprint on Forehead.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 22. — Marked with a horseshoe on his forehead, Ernest Rowe, of this city, aged 25 years, will have to go through life carrying this emblem, although he has just undergone an operation at the local hospital, and doctors have done their best to remove the mark. Rowe is a nephew of George Smith, of this city, at one time a well-known polo player. He has lived in Hartford nearly three years. When 5 years old he was playing in the street with some other children, and started to run across the road just in front of a wagon. He was knocked down and the horse trampled upon him. He was picked up unconscious. The doctors managed to save his life, and it was believed that the only lasting result of the accident would be the partial mark of a horseshoe upon his forehead.

At times Rowe had violent headaches. A few weeks ago the headaches became so frequent that he was advised to go to Hartford hospital for an operation. About ten days ago the skull was trephined and a tumor was found to have formed at the base of the brain. The operation was successful, but the doctors could not eradicate the imprint of the shoe.

Opposes Charter.

Toronto, Nov. 23. — J. J. MacLennen, of Robertson & MacLennen, barristers, has written to the crown lands department protesting against the granting of a charter to the Ontario Veterans' Lands Company, which is composed of Detroit people exclusively, on the ground that his clients, Canadians, had applied some time ago for a similar charter, and that this had been refused, no reason being given for the refusal.

Passed Bogus Check.

Toronto, Nov. 22. — Morley Baxter, a young man employed as a clerk in the office of a customs house broker, was sentenced by Magistrate Denison this morning to three months in the Central Prison for passing a bogus $25 check on a storekeeper. Baxter, who is 21 years of age, pleaded guilty.

IT WILL CURE

CATARRH

I have been so successful in the cure of catarrh all over the United States, all over the world, for that matter, that I almost feel that I can safely claim infallibility.

The symptoms of catarrh are plain. You cannot mistake the discharges from the nose and throat, the bad breath, the stuffy feeling in the nose, the pressure and pains in the head, dizziness, sneezing, nose-bleed, inflamed, watery eyes; liability to take cold; stupid, dull feeling in the head; nausea, deafness, and the hawking and spitting of mucus that drops from the nose into the throat.

I want every person who suffers from catarrh to get a bottle of my Catarrh Cure and take it according to directions, and see how quickly it will stop all catarrhal discharges from the nose; the dropping of mucus into the stomach; pains in the head, dizziness, inflamed eyes, nausea, deafness, hawking and spitting, and other disagreeable features of catarrh.

People who suffer with catarrh of the nose, head and throat should by all means get a package of my Catarrh Tablets and use them as a wash. This wash will cleanse, soothe and heal all sore spots, harden the membranes and prevent taking fresh colds.

I do not believe there is a case of catarrh, whether it is in the head, throat, lungs or stomach, that my Catarrh Cure and Catarrh Tablets will not cure.—MUNYON.

Education Fish and Walla Walla

Some people get a heap of education the same as some other people get a fine collection of bait without catching any fish, or, as still other people get ton upon ton of coal without getting any comfort.

Coal ought to mean comfort—a warm home and good meals. "Walla Walla" coal does mean comfort. Comfort with a capital C—it does mean a warm home and does help the cook to prepare good meals.

"Walla Walla" coal comes 2 0 full bags of hard lumps of heat per ton—and goes for the same price you must go down into your purse for, for other inferior coal.

If "Walla Walla" coal was not better coal than "Scranton" or any other coal, do you suppose for one second that manufacturers would give $1 00 more per ton for the lump size of "Walla Walla" coal than they can buy the lump size of "Scranton" or any other coal for? Do you think these manufacturers, who use thousands of tons of coal per year, would give out thousands of dollars for a certain coal if they did not know, by actual, telling experience, that "Walla Walla" was easily worth $1 00 more per ton?

Those men are not simpletons.

And we are selling the pea, chestnut and stove sizes of "Walla Walla" coal for no more than you must pay for inferior coal!

Any Rheumatic sufferer may have a full dollar's worth of my remedy free

I searched the whole earth for a specific for Rheumatism—something that I or any physician could feel safe in prescribing—something that we could count on not only occasionally, but ALWAYS. For the ravages of Rheumatism are everywhere and genuine relief is rare.

After twenty years of search and experiment I learned of the chemical I now employ. And I knew then that my search and my efforts were well rewarded. For this chemical gave me the basis of a remedy which in the cure of Rheumatism is practically certain.

I don't mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure can turn bony joints into flesh again—that is impossible. But it will drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of the pain and swelling—the end of the suffering—the end of Rheumatism.

I am willing that you should prove my claims at my expense. I will gladly give you a full dollar package of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic remedy to try. For I know that you and your neighbors and friends will by your good wishes and your good words more than repay my initial loss.

You pay nothing-you promise nothing you risk nothing--you deposit nothing

Crystalized Poison!

You know that hard water leaves a deposit of lime in the bottom of the teakettle in which it boils, and soft water does not. That is because soft water is filtered and contains no lime, while hard water is not filtered and is full of it.

You can imagine that if that deposit were to settle in the joint of your knee it would be extremely painful. And if the deposit grew, you could finally no longer endure the torture of walking.

Yet that is the very way that Rheumatism begins and ends. Except that the deposit which forms is not lime, but crystalized poison.

For your blood is always full of poison—the poison you eat and drink and breathe into your system. It is the purpose of the blood to absorb and carry off this very poison. And the kidneys, which are the blood filters, are expected to cleanse the blood and send it back through the system clean to gather more poison, which they in turn will eliminate.

But sometimes the kidneys fail. And sometimes, from some other cause, the blood gets so full of poison that they cannot absorb it all. This is the start of Rheumatism. The poison accumulates and crystalizes. The blood carries the crystals and they increase in size. Then, when it can carry them no longer, it deposits them in a joint—on a bone—anywhere.

The twinge in your leg—the dull ache in your arm on a rainy day—these are the outward signs of the unseen crystals. And the twisted limbs and unspeakable anguish of the sufferer who has allowed his symptoms to go unheeded and unattended for years—these are the evidences of what Rheumatism, neglected, can do.

Rheumatism includes lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, gout—for all these are the results of rheumatic poison in the blood.

Plainly, the first thing to do is to remove the poison. But this is not enough. The FORMATION of the poison must be stopped, so that nature may have a chance to dissolve and eliminate the crystals which have already formed. Unless this is done there can be no cure—no permanent relief.

A Certain Cure

I spent twenty years in experimenting before I felt satisfied that I had a certain remedy for this dread disease—a remedy which would not only clean out the poison, but one which would stop its formation.

The secret lay in a wonderful chemical I found in Germany. When I found this chemical I knew that I could make a Rheumatic cure that would be practically certain. But even then, before I made an announcement—before I was willing to put my name on it—I made more than 2,000 tests! And my failures were but 2 per cent.

This German chemical is not the only ingredient I use in Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure—but it made the remedy possible—made possible an achievement which, I doubt not, could have been made in no other way.

This chemical was very expensive. The duty, too, was high. In all it cost me $4 90 per pound. But what is $4 90 per pound for a REAL remedy for the world's most painful disease?—for REAL relief from the greatest torture human beings know?

But I do not ask you to take a single statement of mine—I do not ask you to believe a word I say until you have tried my medicine in your own home at my expense absolutely. Could I offer you a full dollar's worth free if there were any misrepresentation? Would I do this if I were not straightforward in my every claim? Could I AFFORD to do it if I were not SURE that my medicine will help you?

Simply Write Me

The offer is open to everyone, everywhere. But you must write ME for the free dollar bottle order. All druggists do not grant the test. I will then direct you to one that does. He will pass it down to you from his stock as freely as though your dollar lay before him. Write for the order today. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 41, Racine, Wis. I will send you my book on Rheumatism beside. It is free. I will help you to understand your case. What more can I do to convince you of my interest—of my sincerity:

TO BIND WORLD WITH TELEGRAPH

Communication With Orient by Way of Bering Straits and Siberia.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 23. — Cable and telegraphic communication with Siberia, the Orient and the old world countries by way of Bering Strait, is proposed by John Rosene, managing director of the Northeastern Siberian Company. He intimates that if the United States Government will extend its Nome telegraph line from Nome on to Cape Prince of Wales, and thence establish the wireless system across Bering Strait, between Cape Prince of Wales and East Cape, the nearest point of the Siberian side, the intervening distance being only from 28 to 35 miles, that the Northeastern Siberian Company will build an overland telegraphic line across Northeastern Siberia, for the whole of which it holds a concession from the Russian Imperial Government, to a connection with the telegraph line extending the full length of the Trans-Siberian Railway from Vladivostock to St. Petersburg. This would place, by means of existing cable connections, Japan, China, the Philippines, Korea, Manchuria, and other Far East countries, as well as all of those of the Continent of Europe in cable and telegraphic communication with all points on the North and South American Continents.

IN PERFECT TUNE

The Toronto Globe Speaks in Highest Terms of the Meister Glee Singers.

Speaking of the Meister Glee Singers, who appear at the Auditorium Friday, Dec. 2, the Toronto Globe says: "They discourse very eloquent and beautiful music. The four voices are exquisitely balanced in the ensemble, and the harmonies are rendered in what is known as just intonation. The assisting artists were Miss Ethel Henry, a reciter of much personal charm, with a rich, mellow, musical voice and good elocutionary ability, and Mr. Roland Henry, an entertainer in the style of Grossmith, who, with the aid of a piano, which he played himself, highly amused the audience with his humorous musical sketches, the first of which was devoted to an illustration of the orchestral accompaniment to an up-to-date lurid melodrama."

Molder Badly Beaten.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—Wm. Coutts, 215 Kent street, an ironmolder, who came from England a few weeks ago to work in a foundry here, was brutally assaulted on Kent street last night by three men, said to be molders, who went out on strike a little over two months ago. The strikers, about thirty in number, were ignored by the employers, and while some returned to work, others are still out. Coutts, it is said, was bothered considerably since starting to work, and resisted persuasion to get him to quit work. It is charged that the three men implicated were heard to say in their boarding-house that if they could not settle the strike by fair means, they would by foul means. Coutts was assaulted while walking home between 6 and 7 o'clock, and was badly cut about the head. He was attended by a doctor and is doing nicely. A detective is investigating and arrests are likely to follow.

Wolves in West York.

Toronto, Nov. 23. — I. H. Dent, of Sutton, West York county, a fireranger in that district, was at the Parliament buildings this morning with the pelt of a wolf which he had slain. He claims the usual bounty of $15.

The Spark and the Collar.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 22. — John Cameron, employed in the Canada foundry, met with a serious accident this morning. He was in the blacksmith shop, when a spark from the forge lit on his celluloid collar. In a moment his linen was ablaze, and before he could be assisted, he was badly burned. He was removed to his home, 652 Dover Court road.

The Most Fastidious Can voice nothing but praise for the New Scale Williams Piano.

Miss Alice Maud Robinson, one of Toronto's most highly cultured pianists and a late pupil of Prof. Xaver Scharwenka of Berlin writes as follows . . . .

Dear Sirs :—

"I have had the pleasure of playing on one of your style 20 pianos, and consider it an exceptionally fine toned instrument. The touch is most responsive, and to anyone desiring a first class instrument, I have great pleasure in recommending it."

Wishing you every success, I am,
Yours truly,

WONDERFUL SCENE AT ROYAL BANQUET

Function in Honor of King Carlos at Windsor Unsurpassed in History.

London, Nov. 22.—The state banquet at Windsor Castle Wednesday in honor of King Charles and Queen Amelia of Portugal equaled in brilliancy the previous magnificent functions at which European rulers have been the guests of Great Britain's reigning monarchs in the historic St. George's Hall. The guests, numbering 166, included members of the royal family, foreign representatives at the court of St. James, cabinet ministers, leaders of the Opposition, military and naval officials and others prominent in the highest circles of Great Britain.

The guests assembled in the white drawing-room, where they were arranged in order of precedence by officers of state, the ladies on one side and the gentlemen on the other. As the clock in the great tower of the castle struck 9, King Edward and Queen Alexandra entered together from their apartments, and almost simultaneously the opposite doors rolled open for King Charles and Queen Amelia. The royal couples met at the center of the room, and King Edward gave his arm to Queen Amelia, and King Charles gave his arm to Queen Alexandra, and their majesties, preceded by officers of state, led the way to the dining hall.

It was a wonderful scene. At either end of the hall great masses of the celebrated gold plate were piled under hundreds of electric lights, and the guests formed an avenue of the most brilliant coloring, flashing and sparkling with fabulous wealth of jewels. The music, by the band of the Irish Guards, included Portuguese selections. There were only two speeches. That of King Edward, toasting King Charles, was followed by the playing of the Portuguese anthem, and the British anthem was played when King Charles had responded with a toast to King Edward.

King Edward, in a felicitous speech, expressed his own and the Queen's thanks and gratification for the visit, recalling the hearty welcome he himself had received at Lisbon last year. "I am glad to think," he said, "that the feeling between our two countries is of the most amicable kind. It dates back a long period, nearly seven hundred years ago, when the first treaty between Portugal and England was made in the reign of Edward I. About one hundred years later a treaty was made at Windsor, and I am glad to think this very day a treaty of arbitration has been signed here. Long may the good feeling continue which now exists. Long may we work together for the cause of humanity and for the maintenance of peace."

The company then drank to the health of the royal guests. The King of Portugal said: "I am profoundly touched by your majesty's speech. I thank your majesty in my own name and in that of my Queen for your most cordial and hearty reception, which we most sincerely appreciate. The words you spoke at Lisbon, which now have become historic, have touched the hearts of all my subjects. Our alliance, as your majesty has justly said, is of ancient date, and I am happy to say your majesty will always find the same loyalty and the same class of men as those who in former times shed their blood side by side with Englishmen."

King Charles concluded with an expression of sincere gratification with King Edward's efforts in the interest of peace, which had been for the good of humanity at large, and which were furthered by the treaty signed today. In the name of himself, of his Queen and of Portugal he drank the health of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, and all the members of the royal family.

After the dinner presentations were made to King Charles and Queen Amelia in the reception hall. King Charles, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, shot in the Windsor Great Park today, and made a record bag of pheasants. King Edward did not shoot, being lame, owing to a slight injury to his foot.

Stoned the Grand Duke.

Rome, Nov. 22. — The Grand Duke Cyril of Russia arrived here yesterday on his way to Naples. As the train was leaving Florence a stone was thrown at it which smashed the glass of a window of the carriage in which the grand duke was riding. He was not injured.

Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

A curious sight on the coast of Java is a long stretch of shore, about 29 miles in length, where the sand is filled with particles of magnetic iron. In some places it is said that the surface sand contains 80 per cent of iron. It can be smelted, and a company has been formed to exploit the deposits.

A PLEASANT MEDICINE.—There are some pills which have no other purpose evidently than to beget painful internal disturbances in the patient, adding to his troubles and perplexities rather than diminishing them. One might as well swallow some corrosive material. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills have not this disagreeable and injurious property. They are easy to take, are not unpleasant to the taste, and their action is mild and soothing. A trial of them will prove this. They offer peace to the dyspeptic.

A Newspaper Mystery.

When Mr. Blair suddenly resigned from the Railway Commission, the announcement was made in connection therewith of the purchase by a Mr. Russell, said to be a friend of his, of several prominent papers in Montreal and St. John. And the two things combined, we were assured by the Conservatives, were to strike the deathknell of the Liberal Government. As the great results that were expected by our friends the enemy did not materialize, people are now speculating as to what it all amounted to, and as to what the hidden springs of the movement were. Events, an Ottawa weekly, brings out some new ideas in regard to the connection with the affair of La Presse, one of the papers supposed to have been purchased by the syndicate of capitalists, who were going to run the country. It says:

"One of the most interesting incidents of the La Presse move was the refusal of the editor in charge, Mr. Thomas Cote, to publish the editorial prepared by the syndicate, and which was, of course, hostile to the Laurier Government. It is said that when they brought the stuff to the office of La Presse Mr. Cote laid a revolver on his desk within reach, and told them he would shoot the first man who tried to put such stuff in the paper. He held them off successfully, and now there are two new reports. One is that La Presse is not to remain under the control of the syndicate, and that for his services Mr. Cote is to be given the seat in the House of Commons for Gaspe. We believe this latter report to be accurate, and congratulate Mr. Cote on it, and the former is a likely thing. One more interesting fact is that three days before the sale of La Presse was announced to the public it had actually been sold to the campaign manager of the Republican party in the United States. Ex-Secretary Cortelyou is the name, and the fact is based on good authority. He wanted to use the paper to influence the large French-Canadian electorate in the New England States. Mr. Russell ought to satisfy the public curiosity in regard to all these things. He might emulate the other great men, like Mr. Borden, Mr. Flynn, Lord Dundonald and Mr. Whitney, and issue a manifesto 'to the people of Canada,' who should know if the money power is to edit the daily press of the Dominion."

A Fair Investigation.

When the Gamey charges against the Ontario Government were sent to a commission of judges for investigation there was a great outcry by the Conservatives. It was true that Judges Boyd and Falconbridge had long been out of politics; and have always had a good reputation as impartial jurists. That made no difference. And when they pronounced the man from Manitoulin untruthful, and refused to believe his sworn statements, because they were inconsistent with each other and with the facts, the outcry became louder. The judges were declared to have been influenced in giving an unjust verdict, because they were expecting money from the Government. Of course, it would have been hard to give a verdict that would have satisfied Mr. Gamey's friends. But most people would have thought that the verdict of a commission of judges, after the fullest kind of an investigation might have passed as fairly reasonable.

On last election day, Mr. Porter and some other Conservatives of Belleville sent broadcast over the country a sensational charge against a Liberal candidate in Eastern Ontario. Liberals everywhere promptly called for an investigation; and we were assured that the Government intend immediately prosecuting an inquiry. Reasonable people would have been willing to wait a day or two and see what was done. That, however, did not suit the Conservatives. The man who made the charges did not care, apparently, to wait for the ordinary course of justice. He wanted to select the tribunal. Taking advantage of some remarks by a Liberal paper, which were certainly very mild, he brings a charge against the editor, and a lawyer, who quoted the editorial, for libel; goes outside of their own town, selects some Conservative magistrates, two of them we believe former members of Parliament, and one of them, it is claimed, being a personal enemy of one of the defendants, and lays his charge before them.

When the commission that tried Gamey is contrasted with the commission before whom has been laid the Porter charges, one can imagine what sort of an uproar would have been made had Mr. Ross adopted Mr. Porter's tactics. However, it does not matter. There will be a thorough ventilation of the whole affair. If Mr. Porter's commission fails to bring out all the facts, we can depend on an investigation before some of the regular courts. That is all the Liberals of the country ask for—a full investigation, a fair trial, and punishment for the guilty.

Political Parties in the United States.

The defeat of the Democratic party in the United States has been so complete that the question has arisen among politicians in that country whether it has not outlived its usefulness, and reached the end of its existence. In the presidential elections of 1896 and 1900, the Democrats were defeated, but the defeat in both cases was no greater than a party might expect to have, and yet hold its own as an influence in the country, with reasonable prospects of victory in the future. But 1904 was an overwhelming disaster. Not a single eastern, northern or western state gave a majority for the Democratic candidate for President. And for the first time since the reconstruction following the civil war, the "solid south" was broken—it is no longer solid for the Democracy. Can it recover from this defeat?

In 1896 the Democratic party was divided. The majority adopted a policy in regard to the currency which was condemned by large numbers of those in its own ranks, and many who had never voted Republican before broke from their party allegiance. In 1900, the internal condition of the party was very much the same as in 1896, its candidate was the same, and the result of the election was the same. The dissatisfied Democrats claimed that these successive defeats were due to the policy adopted when Mr. Bryan became the leader, and clamored for a return to the old ways and the old men. This was practically done when Parker was chosen as candidate, and the policy of 1896 repudiated by him. Apparently, harmony was accomplished in the desire for victory, and Mr. Bryan and his friends fell in line behind a "Gold Democrat." The result was the greatest defeat the party ever had experienced.

And now they are all looking for a remedy for the future. The more conservative Democrats admit that "the old simple beliefs are steadily but surely fading away," that the Democracy of which Cleveland was the spokesman and leader is practically dead. Mr. Bryan declares for a reorganization on a radical policy—evidently meaning a programme of opposition to trusts, capitalists, plutocrats and all combinations of wealth—a policy which shall cry "the masses against the classes"—a policy which shall find a place for populism, socialism and all other "isms" that can be brought together on a common platform. In this he is supported by Mr. Hearst, the unsuccessful candidate for the party nomination. On the other hand, many of the Southern papers declare emphatically against populism, and as the South has always been the mainstay of Democracy, the defection of that section would be worse for the party than was the defection of the gold Democrats in 1896.

To an outsider, it looks as though both a new policy and new men will have to be evolved, if a Democratic party—or a party which shall claim to be its successor—is to come to the front, with any hope of success. There will have to be new lines of cleavage. The Democrats who favor protection will have to become Republicans. And a new party with some definite object in view, whether its policy be laudable or not, will gather in the dissatisfied of all classes, and unite them in a some common cause—real or apparent.

Democratic speakers and papers, during the late contest, had much to say about Democratic principles, but it has not been easy to distinguish them. We used to think that the Democratic party stood for revenue tariff as against protection. But when the party was in power the tariff it proposed was not only an incomplete illustration of the party theories, but was not acceptable to either the protectionists or free traders in the party ranks. And that one plank was really the only distinctive plank in the party platform.

Principles are all very well in theory sometimes, but a party to be successful must have some principles that it can put into practice when it has the opportunity. Otherwise, it will be an administrative failure—to be swept out of power the first opportunity given the electorate, and kept out of power thereafter, until a new generation comes to the front. It may be that this will be the fate of the party which has gone down to defeat in the United States. The Republican party has so great a majority in Congress that it may become unwieldy, and the dissatisfied will secede. The conservative Democrats may go over to the Republicans, while a more radical section of the Republicans may leave and form new alliances with what remains of the Democracy. Four years may see a marked change in both the policy and the personnel of each party. At all events, though the Republican leaders and platform should remain the same, it is safe to say that the Democratic party will be something other than it is now.

Stern Reproof.

[Catholic Register.]

An incident was reported last week in a Toronto court where a judge administered to a lawyer pleading before him a most remarkable reproof. Father and mother stood charged with infanticide, and the circumstances revealed in connection with the crime were of a peculiarly painful character. Perhaps on this account one of the defending counsel ventured to dwell upon the small value of an infant's life to society, whilst he pictured the necessities confronting an adult oppressed by poverty. Not having heard or read the exact words in which the implied appeal to the sympathy of the jury was made, we can go no further than to say that whatever the language may have been it is to the credit and honor of the Canadian bench that the very nature of the plea distressed and offended Mr. Justice Falconbridge. His lordship deplored not only the callousness but the immorality of the argument, and reminded the jury of the value of human life as a sacred claim subject to no discounts of class or condition in the case of the weakling child or the humble plebeian.

The rest was easy.

Irishman's Chivalric Choice.

[Exchange.]

An Irishman traveling in France was challenged by a Frenchman to fight a duel, to which he readily consented, and suggested shillelahs as weapons.

"That won't do, said the Frenchman's second. "As challenged party you have the right to choose the arms, but chivalry demands that you should decide upon a weapon with which Frenchmen are familiar."

"Is that so?" replied the Irishman, coolly. "Very well, we'll fight with guillotines."

McKay and Evanturel.

Hon. Alexander Grant Mackay, K.C., is the son of Scotch parents, Hugh Mackay and Catherine McInnis, his wife, and was born in Sydenham Township, Grey County, March 7, 1860. He was educated at Owen Sound Collegiate Institute and the University of Toronto, graduating with honors from the latter in 1883. From 1883 to 1887 he was principal of the Port Rowan High School, and in the last-mentioned year he entered the law office of Mr. Alfred Frost, of Owen Sound, then county crown attorney for Grey. An honor and scholarship law student, he was called to the bar in 1891. In 1894 he was appointed crown attorney for Grey County, a position he resigned to enter politics. He was first returned to the Legislature in May, 1902, redeeming North Grey for the Liberals by a narrow majority. He was unseated because of the conveyance of voters to the polls by an agent, but in a bye-election in January, 1903, he carried the constituency with a majority of 272. He was appointed K.C. in 1902. Of recent years he has held the positions of solicitor for Owen Sound, the county of Grey, and for a number of large industrial concerns. He is also a heavy shareholder and director of the Imperial Cement Company, of Owen Sound. He is generally regarded as the leader of the bar in his county, a position which he has won by his striking ability and capacity for hard work. Hon. Mr. Mackay has been an indefatigable worker on several important committees during his two years as a member of the Legislature, and is acknowledged to be one of the best debaters in the House.

Hon. Francis Eugene Alfred Evanturel is the eldest son of Hon. F. Evanturel, who was Minister of Agriculture in the Macdonald-Sicotte Administration of Canada in 1862. He is a French-Canadian, and was born in Quebec in 1849. He studied law at Laval University and graduated with the degree of LL.B., and was called to the bar in 1873. For two years he was in the civil service at Ottawa, and resigned to contest Prescott County, which since 1886 he has represented in the Ontario Legislature, being several times elected by acclamation. He was for a number of years actively engaged in journalism. In 1887 he accompanied the Ontario cabinet to the Interprovincial Conference at Quebec, and was honorary secretary. He was speaker of the Legislature for two sessions, and was often complimented by both sides of the House for the manner in which he discharged the important duties of the position. In particular Mr. Evanturel's facility in both the English and French languages has stood him in good stead, both in the House and when engaged in election campaigns. In 1900 he was appointed honorary commissioner for Ontario at the Paris International Commission, a position which he filled most acceptably to all concerned.

Sunday School Teachers' Yearly Meeting—Presentation to C. G. Moorhead.

The annual meeting of the teachers and officers of the Adelaide Street Paptist Sunday School was held last night in the lecture-room of the church, and was largely attended. Among those present were Pastor T. T. Shields, D. H. Gillies, Fred J. Reed, John Hislop, C. W. Vansickle, C. F. Maynard and the staff of lady teachers and officers of the school. The chair was occupied by Mr. D. H. Gillies, assistant superintendent, who made reference to the general working of the school and the advancement made from year to year.

The chairman then called on Mr. Charles G. Moorhead, secretary and treasurer, for his annual report, which was comprehensive in detail, giving the average attendance at 200 per Sunday, and the amount raised at $171 79; expenditure, $109 29; balance on hand, $62 58. Mr. Moorhead referred to the fact that he had completed nineteen years in the capacity of secretary and treasurer of the school, a position, which, owing to ill-health, he would now have to resign.

In tendering his resignation, Mr Moorhead said he fully appreciated the honor conferred upon him as custodian of the school funds for so many years. During his term of office five pastors and five superintendents had come and gone and over a hundred teachers and officers had been connected with the school. "I have endeavored," said Mr. Moorhead, "in my feeble way to promote the welfare of the school, and to have it up-to-date in every particular. I retire with utmost love for my associates, and I wish to thank one and all for their assistance and kind consideration. I sincerely trust that the Adelaide Street Baptist Sunday School will meet with still greater success in the future, and that the faithful work performed by its teachers will in due time reap its reward."

After the election of officers and just before partaking of tea, which had been provided by the ladies of the school, Mr. Fred Reed, on behalf of the teachers and officers of the school, read a kindly-worded address to Mr. Moorhead, and Mrs. Pierce presented to the retiring secretary a handsome, gold locket, engraved, "From the Staff of Adelaide Street Sunday School, Nov. 22, 1904." Following is the address:

Mr. Charles G. Moorhead:

Dear Sir and Brother—In accepting your resignation as secretary and treasurer of Adelaide Street Bantist Sunday School, the officers and teachers take this opportunity of expressing their appreciation of the faithful work you have performed during your nineteen years of service. During this period some changes have taken place—pastors, teachers and superintendents have changed—but all have at various times expressed their appreciation of your painstaking work. The gathering together of figures, in order to show week by week, the increase or decrease, and the compiling of these figures to show the average in each department seems to most of us to be arduous work. This work, however, you have attended to in a very systematic manner. You have so carefully managed the school funds, that a surplus has always been forthcoming at the end of each term

In presenting you with this small token, as a reminder of the pleasant fellowship of your co-workers, we do so with the sincere desire in our hearts for your good health. Trusting that we with you shall hear the best of all good words when our heavenly Father will say: "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

OFFICERS AND TEACHERS.

Adelaide Street Baptist Sunday School
London, Ont., Nov. 22, 1904.

Mr. Moorhead made a feeling and suitable reply.

After the excellent tea, short addresses were given by Pastor T. T. Shields, D. H. Gillies, C. W. Vansickle, John Hislop and others, and one of the most successful meetings of the school was brought to a close.

Following are the officers for 1905: Honorary superintendent, Rev. T. T. Shields; superintendent, Clarence W. A. Woodburn; assistant superintendent, D. H. Gillies; secretary, Harry Woolridge; assistant secretary, Mrs. A. E. Pierce; treasurer, Chas. G. Moorhead; librarians, Albert E. Pierce, Harry Pierce; pianists, Miss Sadie Richards, Miss Alma Gillies; leader of singing, Charles F. Maynard.

MRS. M'DERMID NEW PRESIDENT

Succeeds Mrs. (Rev.) T. S. Johnson as Head of the Local W. C. T. U.

A large number of members were in attendance at the annual meeting of the W. C. T. U., held in Somerset Hall yesterday afternoon, and a large degree of interest was manifested in the proceedings. Mrs. Thornley took the chair, in the absence of Mrs. (Rev.) T. S. Johnson. Half an hour was devoted to routine business. Mrs. Frank White led in prayer. "Divine Guidance" was the theme of the devotional exercises, and many of the members took part. A solo was rendered very acceptably by Mrs. Brown, of Talbot Street Baptist Church.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. D. A. McDermid.
Correspondng Secretary—Mrs. Kate Heaman.
Treasurer—Mrs. (Dr.) Weekes.

The offices of recording secretary and vice-president will not be filled until the next meeting, which will take place Dec. 13.

During the balloting, Mrs. Paisley, delegate to the provincial convention at Bowmanville, gave an interesting account of its proceedings. It was requested that all the members engage in special prayer today and tomorrow, on the occasion of the political conventions in Toronto.

A hearty resolution of thanks was ordered to be forwarded Mrs. T. S. Johnson, who has gone to New York, and who was such an able president of the union. A letter of farewell from Mrs. Johnson was read.

Refreshments were served after 5 o'clock, and pleasant social converse filled another half hour. Tomorrow afternoon the new executive will meet at the home of the president.

32ND ANNIVERSARY OF FOREST CITY

Ancient Foresters' Court Marks the Occasion With a Social Gathering in Its Hall.

The thirty-second anniversary gathering of Court Forest City, No. 5744, A. O. F., was held last night in the Foresters' Hall, East London, and was one of the most successful social events in the history of the court. There are about three hundred members in the court at present and many of them were present with their wives or sweethearts and spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening. Mr. Walter Richards presided, and after refreshments were served, he introduced a programme of vocal and instrumental selections, to which Mr. Vanbuskirk, Mr. Hessel, Miss McLaren, Mr. Smith, Mr. J. M. Mills, Miss Paladino, Mr. W. Nelson and Mr. G. Gower contributed. During the evening the high chief ranger, Bro. S. Kent, arrived unexpectedly from Hamilton, and gave an address on the progress of the order. The district chief ranger, Bro. R. Jupp, also spoke along the same lines. While the social was in progress a telegram was received from Dr. Ed Seaborne, one of the court physicians, now in Florida, congratulating the court on its anniversary.

There are some very interesting facts to be obtained from the history of Court Forest City. During the 32 years no less than $28,615 31 has been paid out in benefits of different kinds. In the same time 44 members, 27 members' wives, and 2 widows of deceased members have died, benefits being paid out in each instance. The total amount paid in funeral benefits was $5,425, of which $4,075 was given directly for members. Twelve hundred and fifty dollars has been paid to members' wives, and $100 to the widows of deceased members. The financial statement shows that there is $5,430 89 to the credit of the sick and funeral fund; $291 81 to the management fund, and $510 30 to the contingent fund. Of this $5,895 57 is invested in real estate, and at present there is $340 43 in the hands of the treasurer. To Mr. Walter Richards, the secretary, a great deal of the credit must be given for the splendid standing of the court. For 22 years he has been secretary, and in that position he has won the confidence and respect of all the members. With him at present there is a very efficient list of officers, including P. C. R. Fred Stanton C. R. Harry Dyson, S. C. R., J. W. Merton; S. W., R. W. Timson; J. W., Charles Dyson; S. B., William Falkner; J. B., A. E. Marr; treasurer, E. W. Boyle; trustees, A. R. Pingel, M. D., R. J. Haslett, George Berry; auditors, J. R. Haslett, Thomas Lee, sen., and Thomas Wilkey, jun.

VERY MANY PERSONS die annually from cholera and kindred summer complaints, who might have been saved if say it acts promptly, and thoroughly proper remedies had been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, the medicine that never fails to effect a cure. Those who have used it subdues the pain and disease.

PRIMROSE BACK IN THE GAME AGAIN

Minstrel Could Not Content Himself Away From Stage Environments, He Says.

Monday night, George Primrose, once a bellboy in the Tecumseh House here, and who is now the king of minstrels, and with a cool million, returned to minstrelsy after a retirement of a year or so. For some time he has been filling vaudeville engagements on all the big circuits at a salary of $1,000 a week, but now he is out on the road again at the head of a big minstrel aggregation, which practically opened its season in Syracuse on Monday night. So far Primrose is not booked for London.

"I simply could not settle down and be contented away from stage invironments," said Mr. Primrose to a Syracuse reporter. "When I left the stage I thought I would enjoy myself in recreation and travel, but those pursuits soon became monotonous. Every night I would become restless, and imagine for the moment that it was nearly time for my appearance at the theater—which in a career of 30 years in the minstrelsy business had become second nature to me. Finally I decided that inasmuch as I had made my money on the burnt-cork stage I would devote a part of it in staging the most elaborate thing in pure minstrelsy the stage has ever seen, and I think the theater-going public will say I have done so."

George Primrose

Millionaire minstrel who has returned to the stage.

Primrose and more than ninety other entertainers, constituting his new minstrelsy aggregation, reached Syracuse by special train on Sunday. And on Monday at the Wieting Opera House the company practically ushered in its season, Syracuse being the first place of any size to "have a look" at what is said to be the biggest thing in the line of minstrelsy production that has ever taken the road. Two preliminary productions were given Saturday, in Mount Vernon. Mr. Primrose and his company have been rehearsing in Mount Vernon. They left New York early Sunday morning, their special train, consisting of one sleeper, two day coaches and two cars loaded with scenery.

James H. Decker, who has the sole direction of Mr. Primrose's present production, has always been associated with the latter as manager in his minstrelsy successes. In the matter of originating and developing the present production, Mr. Decker has broken previous records. He dissolved business relations with Lew Dockstader the morning of Sept. 17 last, and on the afternoon of the same day had matters regarding the reappearance of Mr. Primrose to the stage far enough along to give orders for some of the printing to be used in connection with the show. Four days later painters were set at work on some of the scenery, the whole production being originated, created, and will be publicly staged in the short space of seven weeks.

ALL IS QUIET ALONG SHAKHE

Japanese and Russian Armies in Manchuria Remain Inactive.

Mukden, Nov. 22, 10:22 a.m. — Both armies occupy such strongly-fortified positions that neither appears inclined to attack unless possessing a preponderance of numbers enabling a flanking movement. The Japanese probably have more available troops. Their superior mobility was lately shown by the activity of their center. Both armies seem to receive equal reinforcements during the same space of time. The quiet along the whole line yesterday was only broken by occasional shots. There were no serious collisions.

Che Foo, Nov. 22. — The Tokio and St. Petersburg authorities having acquiesced, the Chinese cruiser Hai Yung will take the crew of the sunken Russian torpedo-boat destroyer Rastoropny to Shanghai.

Vladivostock, Nov. 22. — Vice-Admiral Skrydloff has returned here from Mukden.

Zandagaw, Manchuria, by courier to Mukden, Nov. 22. — The Japanese lost 500 men in the attacks of Nov. 17 and Nov. 18, and were evidently disheartened. When they renewed the attack Nov. 19, the Japanese sent out several battalions from Double Humped Hill, but their movements lacked decision. The Russians opened fire from Poutiloff (Lone Tree Hill), and a neighboring eminence. Several shells burst in the midst of the advancing Japanese columns and quickly checked them. The Japanese also tried a turning operation at Chandinza, but there also were dispersed. There was a slight encounter Nov. 20, Russian scouts penetrated a short distance into the Japanese lines, but without much result. During the last two days the Chinese have been moving in large numbers from the east northward, taking their wives, children and household goods in order to save them from the Japanese. They evince more confidence in the Russians than in the Japanese. The Chinese complain that the whole country between the Russian and Japanese lines is laid waste. Not a single dwelling is standing. The earth dwellings of the soldiers are comfortable. Gen. Linevitch, commander of the first army, rode around the Russian positions today.

ALFRED'S HARD LUCK

Vanderbilt Finds His Prize-Winner Belonged to J. P. Morgan.

New York, Nov. 23. — Growing out of what seems to be a series of misunderstandings, it is stated that a horse with which A. G. Vanderbilt won a blue ribbon on the first day of the recent horse show, and which animal he bought for $5,000, is really the property of J. P. Morgan.

Mr. Vanderbilt bought the horse from the owner of a farm in Port Chester, under the name of Harmony, and later christened him High Tide. Now, it is asserted that the horse really is King, winner of many prizes in previous years—a splendid animal, which Mr. Morgan had sent to Port Chester for a rest. The banker ordered his horse returned lately, and not long ago, his daughter discovered that the returned horse was not King, but a far inferior one. King was identified later at the horse show by several persons, and it is understood that Mr. Morgan has demanded from the owner of the farm an explanation, and the return of his horse.

What stand Mr. Vanderbilt will take in the matter is not known. The horse has been in his possession some time.

London, Wednesday, Nov. 23.

There were 25 loads of hay on the stand, and sales were fairly brisk at $8 to $8 50 per ton, mostly at the first-named figure.

Several loads of oats sold at 97c to 98c per cwt.

One load of barley brought 92c per cwt.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

The amount of business transacted at the market the past week was hardly as large as the previous week. Sales in most lines were moderately brisk, and prices as a rule were a shade easier from those paid here the previous week.

Grain—Oats comprise the bulk of the offerings in this line. The demand is brisk and prices are firm, at 96c to 98c per cwt. Barley sells well at 92c per cwt. Wheat sells at $1 per bu, with very little offered.

Hay and Straw—The supply of hay during the week was fairly large; the demand is brisk for choice loads, which sell mostly at $8 per ton; occasionally $8 50 per to nis realized. Straw is higher in price, at $5 50 to $6 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—For the best grades of butter there is a good demand; prices rule at 16c to 18c per lb for butter in crocks, and 18c to 20c for pound rolls. Eggs are firm at 22c to 23c per dozen for store lots, and 25c per dozen for basket lots of strictly fresh-laid eggs.

Poultry—The supply in this line during the week was large; the demand was good for the best class of offerings; turkeys bring 12c per lb for gobblers and 13c for hens; geese, dressed, each, 60c to 90c; by the pound they bring 8c; ducks, dressed, 65c to 85c per pair; alive, 65c to 70c per pair; chickens, dressed, 55c to 75c per pair; alive, 45c to 60c per pair, or 6c to 7c per lb, live weight.

Potatoes—The supply was not as large as during the previous week; prices are firm; most of the sales are made at 65c to 70c per bag, by the load and 10-bag lots.

Apples—Sales are slow; most of the barrels sell at $1; in a few instances $1 25 was paid for the best class of apples; by the bag 35c to 50c is most frequently paid.

Dressed Hogs—Prices are lower; most of the offerings sell at $6 to $6 50 per cwt.

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Becher, stock broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, Nov. 23. — Market continues to be somewhat irregular, although in the main it seems to be strong. Of the railroad stocks today, Atchison has been the most active, as well as the strongest. London houses bought during the first hour, and there was some good local buying. The traders are disposed to pick up the stock on the theory that it has lagged behind the rest of the market, and is therefore entitled to a rise. In Union Pacific there appeared to be a good deal of liquidation, but the stock enjoyed plenty of support below 115. Bullish manipulation of the Steel stocks is still in evidence. Room is somewhat disposed to minimize the importance of the money market, as an influence on prices, unless rates should go higher than they are at present. Most renewals today have been made at 3 per cent. Sales to noon 495,400.

A RUSSIAN HEROINE

Port Arthur Soldier's Wife Fought in Male Attire Until Killed.

Che Foo, Nov. 22. — The Novikrai, a Port Arthur paper of Nov. 12, brought by the Russian destroyer Rastoropny, contains a romantic story of Paritena Korotkiewich, who, though a woman, served valorously in many fights at Port Arthur, until death closed her strange career. Her husband was serving at Port Arthur. In endeavoring to join him she was stopped at Harbin, and was not allowed to proceed farther, owing to her sex. She then donned masculine attire, and succeeded in reaching Port Arthur shortly before the landing of the Japanese on the Peninsula of Liao Tung. Finding her husband's regiment, she enlisted in it. She participated in numerous sorties, and in the defense of the forts, and, although her sex was soon discovered, her record for bravery, tirelessness and attention to the wounded and the excellent moral influence she exerted over the soldiers, who never swore in her presence, won her permission to remain in the ranks.

While fighting side by side with her husband the latter was wounded. His wife nursed him until the crisis in his case was passed, when she returned to the front, where she became messenger to Capt. Gouzakofiky, of the Thirteenth Regiment. In the performance of her duties as messenger she was often seen riding furiously from one position to another, seemingly unaffected by the bursting of shells or the din of battle.

On Oct. 13 she visited the trenches with dispatches, when shells from the Japanese guns struck and destroyed the Russian position. Paritena Korotkiewich and eight others were instantly killed. They were buried in one grave, with the Russian flag wrapped about her body.

The Novikrai concludes its story by saying: "Paritena Korotkiewich had won the respect and admiration, not only of the soldiers, but of the higher officers, and had shown all how to die nobly."

The four issues of the Novikrai brought by the Rastoropny show evidence of a merciless censorship. Two of them contain no war news, and not one publishes a single explicit statement having reference to the fighting on land.

WEST LONDON MUST BE EXPOSED TO ANOTHER FRESHET AT LEAST

Nothing Can Be Done Toward Rebuilding the Breakwater Before Next Summer.

Now that the breakwater committee has recommended to the city council that a bylaw for the issue of $15,000 debentures to build a breakwater for West London, be submitted to the people in January, the aldermen hope to have the necessary bylaw prepared, so that it may be read a first and second time, at the meeting to be held on Dec. 3, and after it has been passed upon by the people the first Monday in January, it will be confirmed by the council, and application will be at once made to the Legislature for permission to issue the debentures. It is realized, however, that no matter what the city may do to expedite matters, it will be impossible to construct the breakwater before well on into next summer, and the suburb is sure to be exposed to the flood of the spring.

The feeling in municipal circles is that if the matter is explained fully to the people, the bylaw will carry by a large majority. Certain it is that the city cannot allow the present breakwater to fall into decay, nor expose the people of the suburb to unnecessary dangers from floods. Moreover, even though the people of West London have no legal hold on the city proper, they have a moral hold. It must also be considered that the city has been expending annually about one thousand two hundred dollars on the breakwater, and is practically receiving no benefit from it. Now, even though the 25-mill tax rate in West London expires this year, by which the city has annually secured this sum of $1,200 from the people of the suburb, the expenditure on the breakwater must go on—extra taxation or no extra taxation. Consequently, as the city has no choice in the matter, but must go on spending money on the breakwater from year to year, it would appear to be a good business proposition to take the matter up in earnest and construct a permanent breakwater at once, and the sum which has been in the past expended annually on repairs will pay off the interest and sinking fund on the $15,000 necessary to build the breakwater, in less than fifteen years.

Mr. Haselgrove last night referred to the fact that the McClary bylaw had been referred to a vote of the entire electorate, including tenants, as well as property owners, and he thought the breakwater bylaw could also be submitted in the same manner. But all bylaws which call for the expenditure of moneys must be voted upon by ratepayers only. The McClary bylaw was voted on by both freeholders and tenants, but it was a bylaw which fixed the assessment of the company in London at $150,000 for a period of ten years. It was not, in the sense in which the law defines it, a money bylaw.

IN FAVOR OF CHURCH UNION

Sentiment Expressed at Presbyterian Council — Assembly Invited to Meet Here.

A very interesting meeting of the Presbyterian Council of this city was held in the First Church Sunday school last evening, with President Ballantyne in the chair. First of all a resolution was passed, inviting the General Assembly of 1906 to meet in the First Church of this city. Many hopes were expressed that this most important body will accept the invitation, and that London will again be the rendezvous chosen.

The committee on church extension moved against any further action being taken along this line at present. The arrangements for the union services, to be held by the Presbyterian churches of this city during the week of prayer were left to a committee.

The rest of the evening was taken up with a discussion of church union, which seems to be one of the questions of the day in church circles. It was remarked that just as all the various nationalities are losing much of their individuality, and are approaching near to one general type of civilization, a similar disposition is to be noticed with regard to religious institutions in Christian lands. The very distinctive methods which marked the various denominations thirty years ago have largely disappeared, and ecclesiastical ways and means are drawing near to a general type. The sentiment of the meeting seemed to be distinctly in favor of church union, but there was no such unanimity with regard to the question of whether the time was yet ripe for its consummation.

WILL HAVE TWO NEW COMPANIES

Strength of the Seventh Regiment To Be Increased in Near Future.

It is officially announced that the proposal which has been on foot for some time to raise two new companies for the Seventh Regiment, will be carried out at once. They will be known as Companies G and H, and the recruiting list will be opened at once.

Now is the time for all young men who are not already members of the corps, to hand their names in and turn out to drill. The old companies were already full, and as there will be more room than enough in the new armories, it was decided that the formation of the two new companies would be a very good step, especially as more young men are anxious to become members of the regiment than ever before.

There is no doubt that, although regular battalion drill is over for the season, recruit and company drill will be actively continued so as to get the new companies into shape. Therefore, young men, hand in your names, and get in the swim.

Praise for Mrs. Roland Munro From a Marquette, Mich., Critic.

Mrs. Roland Munro, who has been visiting her sister in Marquette, Mich., for the last three months, will return on Sunday, her health having been much improved. The Marquette Daily Mining Journal of Nov. 21 refers to Mrs. Munro in the following manner:

"Attendants at the services at the Presbyterian Church last evening, in addition to the profit derived from a good sermon by Mr. Rogers upon the wisdom of making preparations for the duties and opportunities of life, were afforded an opportunity to listen to the artistic rendition by Mrs. R. Munro, of London, Ont., of a contralto solo, "And I Saw the Holy City," a beautiful composition by Sullivan, arranged by Parker. Mrs. Munro possesses a beautiful voice, of great compass and breadth, notable for its evenness of color from the deep tones of the lower register to the clear, full tones of the higher."

LADY ATTACKED BY A RUFFIAN

Assaulted While on Her Way Home Between 5 and 6 O'Clock in Evening.

A brutal assault was committed last evening on Mrs. Rapley, of Ridout street, South London, while she was on her way home. The boldness of the affair may be imagined when it is stated that the assault was committed between 5 and 6 o'clock. The spot chosen was rather dark, being directly in front of Judge Meredith's residence on Ridout street, which is fronted by a thick row of high evergreen trees.

Mrs. Rapley resides with Alderman Judd, south of Garfield avenue, and last evening about 5 o'clock she had occasion to go to a dressmaker's. She started home about 5:45 and arrived at the corner of Grand avenue and Ridout street about 10 minutes to 6. Here she observed a man leaning against a post, and apparently anxious to hide his face. When Mrs. Rapley had walked a considerable distance down the street, she heard brisk footsteps behind her. She did not turn around, however, but in a minute the man whom she had seen leaning against the post, passed her. When he reached the gates of Judge Meredith's property, he stopped, and as Mrs. Rapley came along he allowed her to pass, and then sprang upon her. He tried to put his hand over her mouth, but he failed, and the lady was able to raise an alarm. This angered the ruffian and with an oath he struck Mrs. Rapley, first on one cheek and then on the other. She screamed again and the man took to his heels and ran north as fast as he could. This is the last Mrs. Rapley saw of him. Her face is very badly swollen as a result of the blows.

ANOTHER REMAND IN THE QUINN CASE

Alleged Personator and Perjurer Will Come Up on Tuesday —Lily Shed Tears.

Another adjournment was made today in the case of Martin Quinn, charged with personation and perjury at the recent election. When the case was called in the police court, it was stated that Quinn's counsel, Mr. J. M. McEvoy, was in Toronto. As one of the crown witnesses could not be secured, Mr. McKillop was agreeable to an adjournment of the case until Tuesday.

Lillian Russell, who claims to be an actress, was in court on a charge of vagrancy. She came from Toronto in fair week with a side show, but failed to leave the city with it. This morning she shed tears in abundance, and even appeared hysterical, as her counsel, Mr. Bartram, jun., entered a plea of not guilty. A week's remand was made.

John Connelly and William Kennedy were up on a charge of being drunk, to which they pleaded guilty. They were remanded for a week, however, and when they come up again a charge of vagrancy will be laid against them, as Chief Williams states that they both have no means of support.

Another drunk was fined $2, with time to pay.

MR. McGUIGAN TALKS.

General Manager McGuigan, of the Grand Trunk, was in Toronto yesterday afternoon, en route from London to Montreal, and in the course of an interview he said: "The new second track between London and Paris and between Copetown and Junction Cut, Hamilton, will be completed and put into service the latter part of this week."

Asked as to whether the new lines had been given a full official test, Mr. McGuigan smiled.

"I have been making on an average of at least two trips a day over them," he said.

"What about the suggested third line of tracks between Toronto and Hamilton?"

"It is not being thought of at present at all," replied the general manager; "at least, not so far as the carrying out of the idea is concerned, although it is a thing that is bound to come in time."

ROWDYISM IN SOUTH END.

Residents of the vicinity of the corner of Hill and William streets are complaining loudly of the nightly congregating on that corner of a crowd of hoodlums who make things unpleasant for all passers-by, and who even go so far as to attack and insult respectable citizens. The "gang" has of late been making things very unpleasant for a certain old gentleman of the neighborhood, throwing stones at his door and breaking his windows. Matters have become unbearable, the residents say, and they are determined that the police shall be called upon to make an example of someone. Chief Williams has the complaint before him now, and there will likely be some developments in the near future unless the rowdyism ceases.

PARKHILL MYSTERY; NEW DEVELOPMENT

Tramp Who Slept in Farmer's Barn Left a Club and Overcoat Behind.

A new development in tracing the perpetrator of the foul assault made upon Miss Davidson, of Parkhill, several weeks ago has occurred in the shape of a very important letter just received by High Constable McLoud. Its writer is Mr. E. J. Harris, a well-known farmer, of Wyoming.

Mr. Harrs states that on the night of Nov. 5—the one following that upon which the crime was committed — a suspicious character slept in his barn, who, as far as the writer can remember, answers to the description of the criminal who is wanted. Mr. Harris did not scan the man as closely as he would have done if he had known about the crime of the previous evening, but all the details of the man's appearance which the writer can remember correspond to those which Miss Davidson noted with regard to the person of her assailant. Being struck by the description which was published in the newspapers, Mr. Harris notified the clerk at Sylvan, and was advised to write to the high constable.

On the morning of the 6th inst., Mr. Harris found a man, evidently a tramp, in his stable. Mr. Harris had gone up to the loft to shake down some hay for the horse, when he noticed a couple of horse blankets and a rug spread out on the top of the hay. Presently a human head appeared from between the improvised bedclothes.

"What are you doing here?" asked the owner of the stable.

"Just having a little nap," was the reply.

"I am afraid you had a rather cold one," remarked Mr. Harris.

The man made no reply, and, thinking the fellow was no more than an ordinary knight of the road, Mr. Harris went down to work in the lower part of the stable. Presently the man came down also, carrying the horse blankets, which he hung up in the place from which he had got them. The fellow then thanked Mr. Harris for having involuntarily given him a night's lodging, and went away. It was at this time that Mr. Harris got a good look at the man's face, and noticed that it wore a "hard" appearance, and that the eyes were hollow-looking. The man had a dark complexion, wore a dark mustache and had about a week's growth of beard on his chin, just as Miss Davidson had described. He was, moreover, of medium height and thick set. Mr. Harris did not pay very much attention to the man's clothes, but he noticed that his shoes were heavy and had laced flaps. The writer thought that the man wore a short coat of dark material and a small hat. Other people, who were nearby, said that the fellow had a scar on his cheek. He was not seen any more in the neighborhood after the above-recounted appearance.

Mr. Harris was surprised to find, some hours after the tramp went away, an overcoat folded up and hidden near where he had been sleeping, and also a short, heavy club, which looked as if it been intended for use as a weapon. The question is, why would an ordinary tramp leave these belongings behind? It can, on the other hand, be well understood, that the hunted criminal would discard certain very distinct belongings in order to avoid being detected, on account of the description of him which was published. No odor of tobacco, etc., such as Miss Davidson had described, could be noticed upon the coat, but it had hung so long in the stable that this is not to be wondered at. The coat will probably be sent to Miss Davidson for identification.

Mr. McLoud has written to Mr. Harris, asking him to come to this city and view the body, which is now in the Medical School, and which is thought to be that of the criminal. As some time elapsed between the time of the above-described occurrence and the killing of the tramp by a train in Essex County, the criminal, if so he was, could easily have covered the distance between the two points. The outcome of the affair will be watched with intense interest on the part of the public.

SWEET AS A ROSE.

"Oh, Stancy!" murmurs May, reproachfully, "you know they met by accident——"

"Of course," breaks in Alice, eagerly and with a little laugh. "How ridiculous you are, Stancy! Where are you going, Major Vericourt? Don't go, till this lover's quarrel is made up," for the major, at the sound of Sir Herrick's name, had actually started, and was making for the door.

He pulls up and shakes his head, and for the first time in his life his face betrays a true emotion—fear, positive fear.

"My dear young lady," he says, and his lips tremble, though they manage a smile, "if it is true that my nephew is in this place, it is no place for me. You will permit me to depart in—in peace!" and with a nervous bow all round, he hurries, actually hurries, out, and an hour later he and his valet are driving by royal post from Nouville as fast as they can go.

"Never mind that old fool," says Stancy impatiently, "attend to me. I saw him with my own eyes; they were arm in arm, weren't they, May? I appeal to May."

"Nonsense," says Alice abruptly. "This is a very pretty lovers' quarrel, but it has run long enough. I tell you they met quite accidentally. I know that she did not know he was here; did you, Paula?"

No answer; but the dark eyes look down vacantly.

"Of course, she did not," says Alice, as if she had got her reply, "and so there's an end of it. If you are so unreasonably jealous about that unfortunate young man, I'll undertake that he leaves Nouville tomorrow. He is too much of a gentleman, with all his faults, to make mischief between you and Paula, who are so really devoted to each other. Come, shake hands—you can't kiss her, you know!"—with a little nervous laugh, for the intense stillness of the figure at her side is beginning to alarm her—"and make it up!"

Stancy stammers and grumbles.

"I'm willing, if that stuck-up idiot leaves the place at once, mind!—I'm willing."

"Then come, Paula," says Alice, "shake hands. I insist upon that old-fashioned form of reconciliation"—with a laugh—"and be friends."

And she takes one of Paula's hands and drags it forward.

At the touch, Paula seems to awake. With a slow, half-dazed air, she takes off her mask, revealing her white face and bloodless lips, and looks around. Then she looks at Stancy for a moment, and then at Alice.

"Have you told him?" she says, in a low, strained voice.

"Told him—what?" says Alice, awed in spite of herself.

"That it is impossible."

"Impossible! What is impossible?"

"That I can—marry him. Why does he not go?"

"Paula"—and Alice strains at the cold hand in her grasp—"are you out of your senses?"

"Out of her senses?" says Stancy, livid with passion: "not she! She is only too wide awake. It's me who has been out of his senses. She's got the money—got what she wanted—and now it's time to shuffle out of it. Oh, she is wide-awake enough."

"The money!" says Paula with a dazed stare. Then she remembers the thousand pounds sent to Bob, and with a cry she covers her face with her hands.

"You see," says Alice, with feverish eagerness, "she scarcely knows what she is talking about. The heat, the excitement, and your jealous nonsense have upset her. Don't, for heaven's sake, let us have a scene in a place like this! Let us go home now. Get the fly for us, there's a good boy. Wait until tomorrow."

But Stancy stands glaring sullenly at the tall figure, with its hidden face.

"I've been sold," he says with a snarl. "She never meant it from the first. All she wanted was the money. I suppose that went to that cursed lover of hers. I can see it all now. Well—let her go! A thousand pounds won't break me!"

A low moan of shame and agony breaks from Paula's white lips.

"Hush!" implores, commands Alice, while May, pale and trembling, kneels at Paula's feet, murmuring words of soothing endearment. "Let us go now—it will all come right in the morning."

"No, no," says Paula in a strained voice. "It is quite true; I never," she shudders; "I never loved him. How could I?"—wildly. "It was for the money; but I will pay it back. There must be some way of paying it back. I cannot—cannot keep my word."

"Very fine," sneers Stancy. "Who cares for the money? Perhaps Sir Herrick will find it; though perhaps——"

"Mademoiselle at last!" says a voice, eager and excited, and the young Frenchman darts into the room with that peculiar gesture characteristic of his race.

"Mademoiselle," he says, gesticulating, then he stops and looks round. "But I intrude."

"No, no," says Alice quickly. "We are only taking a rest. Is anything the matter?"

"Matter?" he echoes, shrugging his shoulders up to his ears and spreading out his hands, palms upward. "You shall hear, Mademoiselle," with a bow to Paula, who stands regarding him, with an absent stare, "was gracious enough to permit me to woo fortune in her favor."

"Woo who?" says practical Alice, gazing at him as if he were some lunatic.

"To woo fortune," he repeats, "at the rouge et noir table at the salon."

"What do you mean?" demands Alice as politely as she can. "Has the man taken leave of his senses?"

The young fellow makes a gesture of despair. These English are so difficult of comprehension, he thinks. A French-woman would have understood all at a word.

"Mademoiselle," he said, with forced patience and elaborate distinctness, "your charming sister honored me with her hand for a valse. Wishing to find rest for her I led her, all unwittingly, to the salon. There, attracted by the play, we remained spectators of the fascinating game. In a moment of—what will you call it?—idleness, I begged mademoiselle to permit me to place a stake in her name and on her behalf."

"Well?" says Alice, with ill-concealed impatience and an anxious glance at Stancy, who stands, his hands thrust into his pockets—imagine a cavalier with his hands in his pockets!—a scowl on his face. "Well, and you lost it! Everybody always does. It doesn't matter in the slightest, I assure you."

"Pardon me," he says, with a deprecatory bow, "it matters considerably. I did not lose it! I have never lost it! Here is the identical coin"—and he takes a napoleon from his pocket and holds it out—"the identical coin. I did not lose. I have, on the contrary, won. I have mademoiselle, achieved the rare feat of—breaking the bank!"

Silence profound and intense.

"What!" exclaims Alice at last, and incredulously.

The Frenchman smiles and bows; he is calm and self-possessed by this time.

"It is true, mademoiselle. I have broken the bank. Such a run of luck has, they assure me, not been known for years. Surely, mademoiselle's gold piece was bewitched. The bank is just closed, and I have hurried away to find mademoiselle and place in her charming hands the result of her good fortune," and with a pleasant smile he takes a crushed heap of notes and gold from his breast pocket and approaches Paula, who stands staring at him motionless and silent.

"Stop!" says Alice, with a little pant. "This—this is most extraordinary! You—you have broken the bank. Why, then, you must have won——"

"Five thousand pounds," he says, calmly.

Alice sinks back into her chair, pale and excited.

CLUBS DO NOT DESIRE TO GO BACK TO THE OLD RUGBY RULES

The sporting editor of the Hamilton Herald recently queried several Rugby clubs in the Ontario Union regarding the continuance of the Burnside rules, and the replies received show very plainly that a reversion to the old game is not desired. Here are the answers:

Toronto—The Victorias will support the Burnside rules at the annual meeting the O. R. F. U. The club prefer it to the scrimmage on the grounds that it is better for the spectators and gives new players a better chance.

W. J. MORRISON,
Manager Victoria Rugby Club.

Toronto—The Torontos are unhesitatingly and unqualifiedly in favor of the present snapback rules. We most emphatically oppose a return to the scrimmage. W. A. HEWITT,
Manager Toronto Rugby Club.

Peterboro—The Peterboros are strongly in favor of the Burnside rules and would not play the old scrimmage game again for love or money.

CHRIS G. GRAHAM,
Sec.-Treas. Peterboro Rugby Club.

London—All of the players on the London team who have been in both games hope that the Burnside rules will be continued next year. To a man they contend that on the whole the new code is easier on the players and gives a better chance for individual playing. Fewer players have been injured in London than ever before, and lighter and younger players have been able to take a chance. With the public the Burnside rules are very popular, and it can be said that a marked preference has been shown for them over the old game. Football in London has won many more admirers as a result of the installation of the new rules.

Hamilton—The Tigers are strongly in favor of the Burnside rules. The players claim it is easier on them and every fan in this city who has witnessed the old game and the new, favors the latter every time.

GOOD PERFORMANCES BY CHAMPION SHRUBB

At Ibrox Park, Glasgow, recently, Arthur Shrubb, the champion long-distance runner, essayed the task of reducing the amateur ten miles and one hour world's record, and in the endeavor he was eminently successful. The conditions were all that could be desired, and the South London Harrier, after covering four miles quickly, entered on the reduction of previous figures. At five miles, covered in 24 minutes 35 4-5 seconds, he lowered the Scottish all-comers' record, held by F. E. Bacon since 1895. At six and seven miles new world's amateur records were established, those held by Sid Thomas going by the board; whilst for eight miles onwards both amateur and professional records were eclipsed, those being formerly credited to W. G. George while an amateur, and his famous professional rival, W. Cummings. In one hour Shrubb covered 11 miles 1,156 yards, which is some 350 yards better than George's performance, though 150 yards worse than the professional record of Harry Watkins, made at Rochdale in 1899. Shrubb's times were as follows: One mile, 4 minutes 44 1-5 seconds; two miles, 9 minutes 44 1-5 seconds; three miles, 14 minutes 45 4-5 seconds; four miles, 19 minutes 70 3-5 seconds; five miles, 24 minutes 35 4-5 seconds; six miles, 29 minutes, 59 2-5 seconds; seven miles, 35 minutes 4 3-5 seconds; eight miles, 40 minutes 16 seconds; nine miles, 45 minutes 27 3-5 seconds; ten miles, 50 minutes 27 3-5 seconds; one hour, 11 miles 1,156 yards.

SOME MISSTATEMENTS ABOUT WOODSTOCK GAME

Hamilton Spectator: Dundas Rugby Club and management are highly indignant at the course pursued by the London Club at the Dundas-London game at Woodstock on Nov. 17. The Dundas management stated that 934 tickets were collected at the gate, representing $234. Of this amount the Dundas Club has received nothing, and the referee and umpire are still unpaid for their services The Dundas supporters to the number of 200 were compelled to pay 25 cents, admission at the gate, while London supporters were charged only 15 cents. The agreement was that this matter should be left with the O. R. F. U. to take action, but so far nothing has been done. The Rugby management feels that in view of the two gate charges, and that Dundas supporters contributed the major portion per head, it is entitled to the major portion of the gate receipts.

This is very unfair to the London management, but it is not surprising. The true state of affairs being as follows: The London team brought to Woodstock nearly eight hundred people, while Dundas brought exactly 77. The London people were charged 25 cents at the gate, as were those from Dundas. At the conclusion of the game the London executive gave Dundas a refund of 10 cents a head and then divided the total receipts.

Referee Hayes states that the largest excursion ever run to a game in Canada was that of London on Thanksgiving Day.

FOOTBALL A MONEY-MAKER FOR YALE; $50,000 CLEARED THIS YEAR

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 22. — The last of Yale's football guests have left the town and Yale has once more settled down to the routine of university life. The joy of victory has not subsided, however, and Yale men are grateful to Capt. Hogan's men for the victories over the crimson and the Tiger. A few minor bruises comprises the sum total of the injuries sustained by the wearers of the blue.

This season has been a good one for Yale financially in spite of the fact that it was a so-called "off year." The years when Princeton comes here and Yale plays at Cambridge yield the largest receipts. With the Princeton, Columbia, and Harvard games taken into account, it is roughly estimated that with the expenses deducted Yale's net profits will be approximately $50,000.

Yale men are already taking inventory for the next season and the result is far from promising. Yale's magnificent line will not be recognizable next fall. When the call for candidates is made next fall, Yale will have a nucleus Tom Shevlin at end and Trip at right guard for linemen. Behind the line Yale will still have Hoyt, Flinn, Sam Morse, and Vender. The latter did not get his "Y" this year, but is looked on as a promising man for next season.

Following out the custom of some years, Capt. Hogan will be in the field coach next season if he finds he can accept the position. Indications now are that he will enter the Yale law school next fall and in this event his services can be easily secured.

The election of the captain for next year will probably not be held until after the Christmas vacation. Tom Shevlin seems to be the choice for leader.

WOODSTOCK COLLEGE HERE ON SATURDAY

The fast Woodstock College Rugby team will play with the London team at Tecumseh Park on Saturday next, Secretary Ernie McNee receiving definite word to this effect today.

The Woodstock team, it will be remembered defeated a picked team from this city at the commencement of the season. London had a weak eleven then, however, and with the greater number of the senior players in the line-up for Saturday they should trim the Woodstock men.

The players have been hard at work for the past few nights. No doubt a large number of enthusiasts will turn out and witness the games, which will likely be the last of the season.

LETTER CAUSED A BIG SENSATION

All Officers of Montreal Sporting Organizations Do Not Agree With Mr. Robertson.

Montreal, Nov. 22. — The action of President John Ross Robertson, of the Ontario Hockey Associaton, in barring out all senior lacrosse players from hockey in Ontario has caused a decided sensation in sporting circles.

President A. Meunier, of the National Amateur Lacrosse Union, and of the National Lacrosse Club, speaking of the notices, said: "Mr. John Ross Robertson's letter is only the expression of opinion of one man. He has a perfect right to his opinion and a right to express it. I doubt if it will hurt anyone or any club connected with the National Amateur Lacrosse Union."

W. J. McGee,, vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, in the absence from town of Captain Gorman, the president, said: "I am glad to see that John Ross Robertson as president of the Ontario Hockey Association, has taken a decided stand in the interest of amateurism in hockey, but I think that if the Ontario body desires to prove its sincerity, it will take immediate steps to affiliate with the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, or will take immediate steps to organize a provincial body, so that it can be properly represented upon and will work in harmony with the parent body."

W. Foran, secretary of the Capital Lacrosse Club, when interviewed, said: "Mr. Robertson in barring out the C. L. A, and N. A. L. U., is only following up his own line, and is perfectly honest about it. He no doubt thinks that some of the members of the C. L. A. and the N. A. L. U. teams are paid for their services on the lacrosse field, and Mr. Robertson apparently wants the same thing or nothing. The Ontario Hockey Association of which he is president, cannot win anything on the strictly amateur basis, but while the farce of pretending to be amateur exists Mr. Ross Robertson is quite correct in insisting on its proper observance."

BOOKMAKERS DID WELL THIS SEASON

Heavy Winnings Reported for a Number of Them—A Shoe Clerk's Luck.

Washington, Nov. 22. — The much vexed question as to "Who got the money this season?" was partially explained in gossip around the hotels, where it was asserted that George Wheelock, who left here last night for New York, is $172,000 ahead on the year. Other big winning bookmakers of the year are Sol Lichtenstein, who is not far behind Wheelock; Snow, who is $30,000 ahead; Joe Rose, $85,000; S. Frank, $35,000; Leo Swartz, $30,000; Harlan of California, $60,000; George Bowles, $65,000; George Rose and "Billy" Cowan, each about $50,000.

Last year some fifteen bookmakers were declared to have won on the season. This year double that number are gainers.

Fred Walbaum got about even on the horses late in the season, after losing in the early part of the year. He also won $25,000 on the election.

The most remarkable winner among the bookmakers is a young man named Joseph Blume, whose specialty is field bookmaking. He was not long ago a clerk in a shoe store, and during last season was the backer of no less than fourteen field books. He is $100,000 ahead of the game. Fred Eshner, the railbird, is declared to be an enormous winner on the season. C. B. Walter, known as "Blues," won $40,000 in the field and puchased the late "Caesar Young's membership in the "Mets" for $3,000. Maxy Marx, one of the best known of the "third play" bookies, has had the best year of his career. Of the players it is reported that David Gideon is the most successful up to date.

Famous Cricketer Dead

The death of J. T. Brown, the great Yorkshire cricketer, took place recently. His health broke down last May, and in July he formally resigned his place in the Yorkshire eleven. Brown was born on Aug. 20, 1869, and was thus in his 36th year. Brown was a very large, if rather an intermittent scorer, and was one of the few players who twice made 300 in one inning—once against Sussex at Sheffield in 1897 and once against Derbyshire at Chesterfield in 1898. The two great feats, which will always be reckoned his greatest, were made in two leading matches of the world—a test match in Australia and a Gentlemen vs. Players match at Lord's. Brown went to Australia with Mr. Stoddart's first team in the winter of 1894-95. On March 6, 1895, the last day of the deciding test match at Melbourne, England had to get 269 runs to win, with eight wickets in hand. Mr. Stoddart was out first ball of the day. Brown joined Ward, and the two added 210 runs and practically won the match for their side. Brown's score was 140, made without a chance, and England won the match by six wickets. In 1900, at Lord's, the Players had to make 501 runs to win, and got them with two wickets to spare, Brown scoring 163, which is still the highest professional score in these matches. These were two splendid feats, and he was selected to play in England in a test match both at Manchester and Lord's in 1896, while in the years of Yorkshire's greatest successes his batting was always a leading feature. He had a fine cut, and pulled the ball as successfully as his colleague Hirst, while he was a good field at point and a useful change slow bowler. Brown first came out for Yorkshire in 1889. He and Tunnicliffe were a splendid pair to go in first, and together they did several wonderful performances, the most remarkable being their score of 554 for the first wicket at Chesterfield against Derbyshire in 1898.

TIGERS IN CLASS BY THEMSELVES

None of Their Opponents Made Respectable Showing Against Them During Season.

During the present season the Hamilton Tigers have played seven games, two exhibitions and five in the championship series, and have scored 306 points, an average of 44 points to each game. The lowest score was in the first game, 27, which is exactly the sum total of the scores of all the Tigers' opponents during the season. To London belongs the credit of making the biggest score against the Tigers. The record is:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Hamilton | 27 | Toronto | 0 |
| Hamilton | 33 | Toronto Vics | 9 |
| Hamilton | 57 | London | 10 |
| Hamilton | 80 | Toronto Vics | 2 |
| Hamilton | 38 | London | 0 |
| Hamilton | 37 | 'Varsity | 6 |
| Hamilton | 34 | Toronto | 0 |
| | 306 | | 27 |

The Toronto Telegram says: Hamilton has a great Rugby team and the people know it. They came down to Toronto on Saturday in force, prepared to cheer their favorites on to victory, and their most sanguine hopes were realized. The Tigers themselves stated that the Torontos were the best team they had met this year, and considered themselves very fortunate indeed to roll up such a score besides whitewashing the locals. They said they had all the luck that was going—a habit with good teams—inasmuch as all Toronto's mistakes were very costly, while when Hamilton erred they invariably managed to regain the ball. Three or four times Tiger players with the ball were tackled behind their own goal line, but always managed to get far enough out to avert a score.

So far as one could see on Saturday the Tigers have not a single weak spot. The back division, now that Tope has lost his nervousness, is simply splendid, while the forwards are big and fast and very tricky. Quarter-back Ballard is playing 100 per cent better game than he did at 'Varsity and the steadiness of the team and the accuracy of the plays are due to his careful coaching and direction.

Hamilton has been three years developing the team, but now it has one equal to anything in the country.

FAVORITES DOING WELL AT OAKLAND

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 22. — Up to the present time the number of favorites that have won at Oakland has been unprecedented for the beginning of a race meeting in California. Out of 43 races decided at Oakland this season no less than 23 favorites have finished first, while ten second choices have been returned winners. In other words, favorites and second choices have accounted for 33 out of 43 races.

On many occasions the bettors have accepted short prices, but the way they bet their money has had a tendency to scare the more timid bookmakers. Twelve favorites have won in the last three days. Bookmakers say there is plenty of money in the ring, but that it is all wagered on one or two horses.

The main attraction at Oakland this week will be the Thanksgiving handicap to be run on Thursday. Many of the best horses here are eligible for the event, which is at a mile and a furlong for 3-year-olds and upward. It will be worth about $3,000 and should prove interesting. Among the entries are Dainty, Gold Money, Fossil, Martinmas, Claude, Bombardier, Horatius, Mendon, Kenilworth, Military Man, Blue Eyes, and The Lady Rhodesia.

THE RING.

DEFI FOR JACK O'BRIEN.

Chicago, Nov. 23. — "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien was offered a match with John Wille by the Blue Island Athletic Club yesterday, and if the clever easterner is sincere in his declarations that Wille's recent success over him in the Quaker City was a fluke he now has a chance to prove it. An offer of a purse of $2,500 for a 10-round bout on Nov. 19 was wired to O'Brien. In the meantime Wille is busy training for his go with Jack Root scheduled for the Blue Island Club. Whether Wille wins, loses, or draws with Root the match is good. If Wille should defeat Root the offer will be increased to $5,000, which may be a further inducement for O'Brien to come west. Wille's manager has accepted the terms, and word is being awaited from O'Brien.

A FOOTBALL IDYL.

I met a little quarterback.
He was a bird, he said.
There was some scars upon his face,
And bumps upon his head.

"Our bunch is to the bad," said he,
"We are a crippled crowd.
This morning when I looked them o'er
I swear I wept aloud."

"How many are there on your team?"
I asked the tearful lad.
"How many did you have before
They put you to the bad?"

"Alas!" said he, "a few are here,
And some, I trust, in Heaven.
Before the season opened up
I think we were eleven.

"We were a sassy bunch," quoth he,
"Before we got our pull back.
Two of us in the churchyard lie,
Our center and our fullback.

"Our right guard broke his vertebra,
Our left guard lost an arm.
I am the only player left
Who has not met with harm."

I sought to ascertain from him
How many were in Heaven;
But he could only weep and say,
"Kind sir, we were eleven!"

HAD SATISFACTORY YEAR.

Toronto, Nov. 22. — The annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Jockey Club was held today at the company's office, Toronto. President William Hendrie occupied the chair, and congratulated the shareholders upon the satisfactory showing made by the O. J. C. during the past year. The gate receipts had increased; so also had the purses, the latter very largely, over the previous year, the purses totaling the large sum of $81,000. Considerable improvements had taken place and are still being carried on at the Woodbine track, the new back stretch being almost completed today, so that increased accommodation could be looked forward to during 1905. The following officers were elected for 1905: President, William Hendrie; first vice-president, Joe E. Seagram, M. P.; second vice-president, E. B. Osler, M. P.; chairman of committee, Dr. Andrew Smith; committee, G. W. Torrance, D. W. Alexander, Hon. L. Melvin Jones, Alex W. MacKenzie.

When one eats a lot and crams a lot of food in the stomach the process of digestion is not complete. The food remains in chunks, and fermenta. This fermentation produces poisonous acid, which, when it enters the blood, causes impurities and produces the humiliating evidences so well known. It is necessary before one attempts to clean the blood to clean those organs of the body on which the blood depends for its purity and healthiness. Hutch will clean the body, assist the digestion so that it will be complete, and it will purify the blood and skin. Hutch is a doctor for ten cents.

FAVORS LARGER PLAYGROUNDS.

Inspector Edwards has almost completed his inspection of the city schools, and expresses himself as greatly pleased with them. Asked if he had any recommendations to make, Mr. Edwards replied, that even though he does contemplate making some, they will have to go to the board before being made public. He did say, however, that he favored the enlargement of the playgrounds at several of the schools.

MISSION CONCERT.

The concert given by Rev. and Miss Livingstone and the Wellington Street choir at High Street Mission last night was in every way a success. When the hour for opening arrived, and Mr. Livingstone took the chair, the house was packed to the doors, and many people remained standing. The mission is now in a prosperous state, and a scheme is on foot to add a couple of rooms to the present building so as to furnish accommodation for the growing Sunday school.

A MISSIONARY ADDRESS.

Dr. W. E. Macklin, a distinguished medical missionary from Nankin, China, will deliver an address in the Disciples' Church, Poplar Hill, this evening. Dr. Macklin left Poplar Hill about twenty years ago, and under the auspices of the American Foreign Christian Missionary Society of Cincinnati, established a hospital in Nankin, China, where he treats over ten thousand patients annually. Besides being a surgeon of repute, Dr. Macklin is acknowledged to be one of the leading Chinese scholars and writers. A silver collection will be taken to assist in defraying expenses.

TONIGHT'S ORGAN RECITAL.

A large audience is assured for this evening at the organ recital to be given in the St. James Church, South London, by Mr. E. W. Goethe Quantz, organist of the New St. James Presbyterian Church, assisted by Miss Rosada Taylor, contralto, and Mr. Angelo Cortese, harpist. The programme is one of musical excellence, including many most difficult organ numbers by Mr. Quantz, in addition to two solos by Miss Taylor, and as many by Mr. Cortese.

MANY TO CHOOSE FROM.

The London Old Boys of Toronto will elect their officers for 1905 on Monday next. There are many aspirants for the various offices, which may probably be due to the fact that next year will be the most important since the association was formed, because of the bicentenary celebration in connection with the homecoming. Those nominated for the offices are: President, W. H. Morgan, T. Minton, J. Rogers, Ed Mack, E. W. J. Owens, Lud K. Cameron, Joseph Hickson; first vice-president, Thos. Bland, S. B. Coon, Alfred Moore, J. L. Miller, W. H. Morgan, E. Fleming; second vice-president, Messrs. Hobbs, J. Dignan, A. Jewell, E. Fleming; third vice-president, J. Mullins, F. Sanagan, G. H. McElheran, E. W. Dawson, W. Kelly, George Ward, J. Dignan, J. A. Morrison; treasurer, S. B. Coon, W. H. Morgan, T. Minton, G. H. McElheran, E. Fleming, J. Mullins; secretary, J. E. Thompson, H. Jewell, E. W. Dawson, L. W. Austin. Sixteen were named for the executive committee, ten to be elected.

A DOUBLE FUNERAL

The Detroit Free Press of Tuesday had the following: Within two hours of the time set for his funeral services yesterday, Mrs. Anna Ryan joined her husband, Edward, in death. Both were ill for some time at their home, 282 Fifteenth street. Mrs. Ryan suffering from a complication of diseases and Mr. Ryan with the grip. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan, who were aged, respectively, 68 and 62 years, had lived in Detroit for the past twenty years and were the oldest attendants at St. Vincent's Church, from which the double funeral will be held tomorrow, the funeral of the husband having been postponed after the death of the widow. Ten children survive them, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. John Bruin, Mrs. John Hayes, Mrs. John McCarten, and Misses Hattie and Marie Ryan, all of Detroit; John Ryan, of London, Ont.; Patrick Ryan, of Alabama; Frank, of Montana, and Joseph Ryan, of Chicago.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

The special evangelistic services being held by Evangelist Moorhouse, in Askin Street Methodist Church, continue to attract interest among the people of South London. Large crowds are in attendance each night and many are professing conversion. At last night's service, Mr. Moorhouse spoke on the subject of "Who will go to heaven from South London?" basing his remarks on Psalms xv., where the question is asked, "Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacles, who shall dwell in thy holy hall?" Without faith there is no pleasing God, Mr. Moorhouse said, but it must be a faith that shows its results in works. Plenty of people were Christians in name but "they didn't work at it very much." The Christian man speaks the truth in his heart as well as by his lips. He does not backbite; "he speaks no scandal, no, nor listens to it." The real Christian will meet every obligation, even if it takes the last cent. The meetings are held every evening at 8 o'clock. The subject of Mr. Moorhouse for this evening will be "The Sinner's Prayer." Good music is a feature of the services, under the direction of Mr. McCann.

MARKS BROS. OPEN.

The Marks Bros.' Company opened a five nights' engagement at the Grand last night to a large and well-pleased audience. Owing to the fact that part of the scenery did not arrive in time, the bill was changed, and "The Shadow Detective" was substituted for "The Emerald Isle." This piece proved to be a thrilling melodrama of the pronounced order. The cast was capable and evenly balanced, Ernie Marks as Noah Lott, M. S. Goldaine as Richard Glenwood, Mable Grace Pardou as Millie Meston, Miss Hammond as Flossie Glenwood, and Edythe Winchester at Kate Burke, being particularly good. There were a number of pleasing specialties introduced between the acts, those deserving of special mention being Kitty Marks, Mable Pardou, Robert Turner, Harry Starr and Prosasco, the juggler. Tonight the company presents "The Emerald Isle," which will no doubt be greeted by a large house.

Yesterday afternoon a very fashionable though not a very large audience, was greatly pleased with the splendid bill at the London Vaudeville Theater, the matinee being the first of the four performances being given in aid of the fund to furnish the new Nurses' Home at Victoria Hospital. There are many first-class attractions on the bill, but none perhaps, equals that of Riattino and Stevens, in their pretty act, "Scenes in a Wistaria Bower." It is at once refined and entertaining, and leaves an impression which serves to stamp the performance as a high-class one. The moving pictures, showing the distilling of illicit whisky by moonshiners in the wilds of the Kentucky blue grass country, are among the best ever shown in London. The fight with the excise men, and the tragic death of the moonshiner in his wife's arms, are intensely interesting. Thursday afternoon, the second matinee in aid of the hospital will be given, and the Thursday and Friday evening performances will also be devoted to the same purpose. Last night the audience was a large one, and as usual, all went away pleased with the vaudeville. The excellent bill will be repeated tonight.

Rather Lively Meeting of Breakwater Committee

At Which It Was Decided to Ask for a Vote of the People.

Mr. F. A. Jones Accuses Committee of Humbugging.

Mayor Admits That Hon. Mr. Hyman Knew What He Was Talking About—Politics Talked Of.

The breakwater committee of the city council met last night and advanced the breakwater scheme a stage by recommending to the council that a bylaw be submitted to the people, asking them to sanction the issue of $15,000 debentures for the purpose of constructing an earthen embankment or breakwater to protect West London from floods, Mr. Jennings' report being accepted in its entirety. Mayor Beck, Ald. Stevely, Judd Wyatt, and Chairman Forristal, were present, together with a deputation of West Londoners, who are also members of the committee: Messrs. W. T. Hamilton, D. Collins, F. A. Jones and W. M. Spence.

The meeting was not without its features, because Mr. Jones took occasion during the evening to let the mayor and aldermen know that a portion, at least, of the people of West London, are of the opinion that the city council does not mean business, and is submitting a bylaw to the people for the purpose of merely staving off the West Londoners. Ald. Forristal also accused Mr. Jones of dragging the breakwater into politics at the last election, and was told in pointed language that it was the mayor who had dragged the matter in at the West London meeting, held in support of Mr. Gray. Mayor Beck also made an important admission, which runs contra to his ante-election speeches, and that was that when Hon. C. S. Hyman told the people the Dominion Government has no power to help in the construction of a breakwater in West London, he was right.

Objected to Cold Treatment.

After the report of Mr. Jennings had been read, Chairman Forristal asked the opinion of the West Londoners on the subject. Mr. Hamilton, however, drew attention to the fact that the West Londoners had not been invited to take a seat at the able with the aldermen, and he remarked that such treatment does not tend to draw the city and West London closer together. "It looks cold," he said, "very cold—too cold!"

In reply to a question of the mayor's, Engineer Graydon replied that the cost of a masonry wall in the section where Engineer Jennings thinks it is necessary would be about $30,000. This would be on the section south of Oxford street bridge, a distance of something like 1,750 feet. The estimate was based on an average of $16 per lineal foot, Mr. Jennings, having estimated the cost at between $15 and $18 per foot. Mr. Graydon further pointed out that it is also Mr. Jennings' idea to construct an earthen wall, beginning at the natural slope, inside the present breakwater slope, and running high enough so as to be at least two feet higher than the highest level of the river in flood-time.

The mayor, after pointing out that the estimated cost of the entire earthen wall, is, according to Mr. Jennings' estimate, about one-half the cost of a retaining wall of masonry, and that a masonry wall is unnecessary according to the report, declared he was in favor of the cheaper wall. The next question to be considered was, How does the city propose to build the wall? It should also be remembered that the present breakwater is almost gone, and the danger to West London is increasing at a double rate through the weakening of the wall, and through the increased force of the floods, which are growing greater annually, through the action of drainage which is being perfected in this district from year to year.

Mr. Hamilton, when asked for his opinion of Mr. Jennings' proposal, said that no doubt what the engineer reported is a very good thing, but not living here, Mr. Jennings does not know exactly what West London needs. He said, too, that the engineer's estimate of the cost of the necessary 30-foot strip of land is far too low. Mr. Jennings' estimate, based on the assessment commissioner's figures, was about $4,500. Mr. Hamilton put himself on record as in favor of the Jennings' scheme.

The mayor remarked to Mr. Hamilton that Mr. Jennings having constructed the C. P. R. through West London years ago, has a fair idea of the river and the land in this section.

Mr. Dennis Combs wanted to know how Mr. Jennings proposes to protect the breakwater at the north end. He could not see, he said, how an earthen breakwater could be kept intact there unless it is protected with cobblestones or a stone or cement wall.

People Being Humbugged.

Mr. F. A. Jones said it had been said that the breakwater committee is humbugging the people of West London, and he is of the same opinion now. To his mind, and to the mind of many other West Londoners, the council is merely marking time.

The mayor objected to Mr. Jones using the word humbug in connection with the committee.

Ald. Forristal declared that Mr. Jones had attempted to make political capital out of the breakwater during the recent election.

Mr. Jones replied sharply that if certain people had seen fit to introduce the breakwater into a political contest, he (Jones) was not to be blamed if he gave the people the facts in the case. Mr. Jones then quoted a paragraph from the Free Press to show that the people of West London have been "humbugged," as he termed it, for many months, by this year's council.

Mr. Wm. Spence also addressed the committee and expressed the fear, as did also Mr. Collins, that the water will gradually wash away an earthen breakwater at the north end. Such a breakwater, Mr. Spence said, should be protected as far south as Cherry street. Mr. Leslie also stated that to the best of his knowledge all the people whose land abutted on the present breakwater had signed over fifteen feet of land to the village of London West when the wall was built some years ago, but Engineer Graydon said there were no records to show that such is the case. Mr. Dan Collins bore out the engineer's statement, declaring that while he had given some land for the breakwater, he had never deeded it over to the village of London West or to the city of London.

Ways and Means.

Mayor Beck undertook to make a lengthy explanation of the matter. He aid that, the committee being now practically agreed upon an earthen wall for a breakwater, the next matter to consider was ways and means. Such a wall would cost from $15,000 to $20,000. Some time tgo he had thought of asking the Legislature to permit the city of London to use the $1,200 raised in West London each year through the special 25-mill rate, for the purpose of paying off the sinking fund and interest of debentures raised for the purpose of constructing a breakwater, but he had ascertained that this was the last year of the 25-mill rate, and he was compelled to abandon the scheme. Then there does not appear to be much chance of London securing aid for a breakwater from either the Dominion or Ontario Governments. Hon. Mr. Hyman had told them that such matters cannot be dealt with by the Dominion Government, and he believed he was right. He himself had interviewed the Ontario Government on the subject, but as Brantford and many other places were after grants for breakwaters, the Government dared not set a precedent by making a grant to anyone place. In short, the matter at present stands thus: If the work is to be done, funds must be raised by placing a bylaw before the people for the issue of the necessary debentures, and, failing this, by the presentation of a petition of West Londoners, to the Legislature, asking permission to levy a special tax on all property-holders of the suburb.

"If the Government was changed, what would be the result—would the Conservatives help the people to build a breakwater?" asked Mr. W. T. Hamilton.

"No; I think it would be in the same position as the present Government," replied the mayor. "There are too many places after grants."

Continuing, the mayor said the very grave dangers to which West London is now exposed might be expected to cause the Legislature to grant the city permission to levy a special tax on the suburb.

A Pointed Question.

Mr. Jones wanted to know if it is not a fact that the Government had pledged itself, and had passed a law, three or your years ago, guaranteeing to pay 35 per cent of the cost of any and all walls or embankments constructed for the purpose of protecting property from floods. Premier Ross had told him such was the case, he said.

The mayor said he was not aware of it.

Ald. Judd declared it was a grave question, in his mind, as to whether an earthen wall would resist floods on the section between Oxford street and Blackfriars street. He suggested that it should be still further strengthened with piles. All things considered, he felt the cost of the wall would be about $20,000—and this left the question uppermost. How can this sum be raised? It should also be borne in mind that sufficient money should be asked to put up a solid strong wall—one that will adequately protect the suburb from any and all floods. He said the people of London will not vote $40,000 for a breakwater, but he declared they will vote for $20,000, without asking questions. He explained that if the $20,000 debentures were issued tomorrow, it would mean an addition to the city's debt in sinking fund and interest of one-tenth of a mill.

Mr. Fred Haselgrove said when Engineer Graydon's report re a breakwater was made, some time ago, he, as one who is deeply interested in West London, was well pleased with it, and now he was doubly pleased with it, since Mr. Jennings had confirmed it. He said, however, that nothing was being done toward the widening of the spans of the cove bridge, so as to give the water a wider channel in flood-time, and this was an important matter which should not be lost sight of.

The mayor explained that the G. T. R. management some time ago promised to look into the matter, and widen the spans, if possible.

Mr. Haselgrove wanted to know if it would not be possible for the West London breakwater bylaw to be submitted to the people as a whole, and not alone to the ratepayers, as was, he declared, the McClary bylaw some years ago.

Freeholders Only to Vote.

This question was a poser for the committee, the mayor, Ald. Judd and others stating that they were not aware that the McClary bylaw was voted on by tenants as well as freeholders. The concensus of opinion was, therefore, that the bylaw, if submitted, will be voted upon by freeholders only.

Mr. Spence having raised the point as to the city's liability from floods in West London, the mayor answered that by their agreement made with the city when amalgamation took place, they had freed the city from all claims, and the city was not liable, nor would it be.

Assessment Commissioner Grant being called upon, stated that the estimate of $5,000 (made some time ago as to the cost of the land necessary in order to construct the wall), is somewhat in excess of the amount which will be needed. Four thousand dollars will be plenty, he said.

Mayor Beck then moved that this committee ask the city council to submit a bylaw to the people authorizing the council to issue $15,000 debentures for the purpose of constructing an earthen breakwater to protect West London from floods.

Ald. Stevely seconded the mayor's motion, and in doing so said that if in previous years the councils had done but little for West London, it was because West Londoners had not come to the front as they have come now. He pointed out, too, that Mr. Jennings' report was a complete corroboration of the report presented by Mr. Graydon, and this fact spoke well for the ability and efficiency of London's city engineer. He only hoped that the citizens will give the bylaw the support it deserves, and pass it by a large majority.

The question then passed the committee unanimously.

IN FAR-AWAY CHILI

Missionary Describes People and Customs and Work Being Carried On.

Last evening was spent pleasantly and profitably by those who gathered in St. James Sunday school, South London, to hear Miss Thomas, a missionary from South America. Miss Thomas has been for the last six years at a station on the coast of Chili, where a church and a training school have been established, and was therefore very conversant with the manners and customs of the people of the southern continent. She pointed out that Chili had a temperate climate, and that its population was composed of Indians and the natives, who are descendants from the Spanish. The latter considered themselves much above the others. Miss Thomas said that the Indians were a receptive people, and took to Christianity. She described how the native doctors seek to cure sick persons by beating a drum for several hours at their bedside. Sometimes they even resorted to burning the patients' flesh. A great tribute was paid by Miss Thomas to Rev. Mr. Sadler, who, she said, was doing excellent work in that field.

The audience also enjoyed the many limelight views which illustrated the lecture.

This is the explanation of the hair turning white: The all-devouring cells known as phagocytes are the cause of the mischief. These cells, which frequently have ameba-like processes, are developed in the central or medullary part of the hair, whence they make their way into the outer or cortical layer, where they absorb and thus destroy the pigment granules.

DIFFERENCE IN KINGS

Mr. Camp Discusses the God-Chosen and Man-Chosen Monarchs.

At the regular meeting of the union Bible class last evening, an extremely interesting and instructive lesson was taught by Mr. Camp from I Samuel, chapters 16 to 26. Each chapter was considered separately, under the following headings: 16, David annointed; 17, David and Goliath; 18, David threatened; 19, David fleeing; 20, David protested; 21 to 24, David pursued; 25, Nabal; 26, Saul's spear. The two lessons, of this week and last, were the commencement of a series which deals with the Israelitish kings. Mr. Camp pointed out the striking difference between Saul, the "man-chosen king," and David, "the God-chosen king." The gradual deviation of Saul from the path of right and the development, contemporaneously, of David, illustrated the contrast between the judgment of men and that of God.

A number of those who were in attendance last night remained for the prayer meeting, which was held afterwards.

It was announced that there will be a special prayer meeting at 3 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon in the Auditor-
