There is practically no change here in the situation. All kinds of absurd stories are being circulated and are being wired daily. As a matter or fact, there does not appear to be any danger of bloodshed or riot, although a great many persons felt at the time of the closing of the works, and ecen up to Friday last, that there was a possibility of trouble when the men arrived from the woods and found no pay waiting for them. But through the efforts of Mr. Coyne and Mayor Plummer, the men, the first batch of whom arrived on Friday, followed by others Saturday and to-day, have all been provided for, and many are being engaged by employment agencies and are leaving their time cheques with reputable citizens, who have promised to have them cashed as soon as funds are available.

St. Andrew's Church Fittingly Observe the 26th. Anniversary of Rev. Dr. Battisby's Pastorate

A Memorable occasion—Tribute to a Life-time of Earnest Service_A Successful Church and People

Yesterday the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church appropriately observed the twenty-sixth anniversary of the pastorate of their esteemed minister, Rev. Dr. J. R. Battisby, by services of a special and exceedingly, anterested J. R. Battisby, by services of a special and exceedingly enjoyable character. For twenty-six long years Rev. Dr. Battisby has ministered to this large and successful church. A lifetime of service has been devoted to his people. He has consecrated himself whole-heartedly to his high calling. Dr. Battisby has won for humself a loyalty and affection that time cannot efface and the influence of his long and earnest pastorate will not die with passing years. A strong and fearless pulpiteer, a man of exceptional force and character and an and fearless pulpiteer, a man of exceptional force and character and an earnest, whole-hearted and eloquent personality, Dr. Battisby has built up a large and loyal church with a proud record in the annals of holy endeavor and missionary zeal.

St. Andrew's church enters its new year under the most auspices circumstances. The year closed has been one of the most successful in its history and the outlook for the future is most encouraging. As the congreis most encouraging. As the congregation yesterday raised its "Ebenezer," it was enabled to look forward with joy and confidence to the duties and opportunities of the future.

The services were conducted by Rev. W. J. Clark, of London, an able, earnest and elegant prescher of expressions.

earnest and eloquent preacher of ex-ceptional magnetism and power. In the morning he selected as his text the words of I. King, iii, 5: "In Gideon the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night; and God said, 'Ask what I shall give thee.'"

All are more or less familiar with the story of the life of Solomon, said Mr. Clark, but I do not propose to concern myself with the story as it had to do with Solomon, but as it has reference to us. Every day some question is being asked and answered and each man is receiving an answer according to his promise.

Life does not consist of the places we visit, the things we have or our Life does not consist of the places we visit, the things we have or our friends. It consists of what a man is, what he seeks for, his desires, his intrepretation of life. 'Ask what I shall give thee.' That is the promise. If one sets himself to work the may obtain it. Consequently the great thing is to find out what is worth while, what is best, what pays. No man ever yet satisfied his mind with things—no matter how great. If your dream is material prosperity, just as sure as God's sun shines in His heaven, so sure will you be disappointed. Then remember as we choose one thing we deny ourselves others. Is there then a nighest good? What is it God would have us choose. It is God's express wish that all should live. Who are the blessed ones in the Bible? Not Herod, the King in all his splender, but Jebs. that all should live. Who are the blessed ones in the Bible? Not Herod, the King in all his splendor, but John the Baptist in prison awaiting the executioner. Not Pontious Pilate sitting on his throne, but the lowly Nazarine who stood before the throne full of truth. This highest good has its intrepretation to each life but it must be the will of God. Then and only then will the answer come,—not just the answer of a day or a month, but a constant answer. "Thy will be done." Adherence to this marks the distinction between those who are God's and those who this marks the distinction between those who are God's and those who are not. As we choose to do the will of God we gain skill in it and find life a joy, not a sorrow, a song not a lamentation. Lord give us grace to say "Not my will, but Thine, be done."

grace to say "Not my will, but Ihine, be done."

In the evening Rey. Mr. Clark took the Saviour's personality for his theme, preaching from Matt. xvi, 16.

The music at both services was very enjoyable. The choral singing was much appreciated and the splendid solos were exquisitely rendered. In the morning Miss Ada F. Ross contributed the beautiful contratto selection, "In Thee, O Lord," in magnificent voice, while in the evening Miss Gertrude Somerville sang with wonderful brilliancy the soprano solo, "Tarry with me." Both young ladies are vocal artists of exceptional accomplishment and their delightful renditions contributed much to the enjoyment and inspiration of the services.

two of the most narrow escapes in one day is his.

One day in the early part of last week, Park St. Methodist Church was the scene of the miracles. A number of painters were up on the forty foot high scaffold which is creeted in the church for painting the ceiling, and Mr. Hildreth was down below when a heavy plank with a pot of paint fell and came "within an ace" of hitting him. The second escape was when one of the painters on the scaffold let a heavy hammer fall. The hammer fell right between Mr. Hildreth's feet and left him unscathed but slightly scared.

Furniture Company's factory, which was built less than a year ago, was severely damaged by a wind storm which swept over this section of country to-day. The factory is a fine threestory brick building, standing near the G. T. R. depot. The harmone tore off about one-quarter of the roof at the southwest corner, and the rest wall along the top floor was laid flat for a distance of about 70 feet. The sprinkler service for fire protection is fed by a large pipe just under the roof, and as this was snapped like a pipestem the mill was flooded with water. Quite a lot of furniture in the injured department was damaged. #### LIBEL SUIT EXPLODED

The Planet heartily congratulates its esteemed contemporary, the Windsor Record, on the successful and satisfactory outcome of the suit for al leged libel brought against it by one William Jennings, and tried at the sittings of the High Court at Sandwich last week.

The jury were out less than ten minutes and returned with a unanimous verdict in favor of the Record. while the foreman volunteered the statement that the newspaper was fully sustained on all points.

The verdict will be received with much satisfaction, not alone in the world of newspaperdom, but by the public at large. The article complained of was a report of the dis-orderly conduct of the plaintiff in a public matter on the seventh of August last. He asked the paper to retract and apologize, which it refused to do, stating that it "believed the facts justified the article and would stand pat." And the intelligent jury, after hearing the evidence, said the newspaper had fully established the truth of its contention.

While no newspaper should so far forget itself as to unwarrantedly transgress upon the rights and privileges of any individual - and the press of Canada has established for itself a splendid standard in this respect - yet every right-thinking and progressive journal realizes the duty it owes to the public it serves, and it obligation to supply all legitimate news in a full, prompt and accurate manner, without malice or prejudice and in good faith.

In so doing-as in the case of our Windsor contemporary-the newspaper is sometimes inevitably made the victim of a petty, frivolous and re vengeful action, but the prompt justice meted out by the Essex jury will have a deterrent effect upon those who seek to escape the responsibility of their indiscretions in matters affecting the public interests by an unwarranted attack on the newspaper, which, in the performance of its duty to the public, gave them truthful

As the St. Johns, N. B., Telegraph said recently, at the conclusion of a suit of similar character in which the jury rendered the paper a verdict without leaving their seats, Canadian juries and Canadian justive can be relied upon to place the stamp of stern disapproval upon malicious and unwarranted actions against the Canadian press, and upon the pettifogging individuals who encourage and abet this course for the purpose of gaining for themselves a fleeting, and oftimes discreditable, legal celebrity.

EVERY INCH A KING

After three score years of rule by Victoria the Good, who reigned in the hearts rather than in the councils of the empire, it comes to the British people of the present generation as a surprise to find the firm hand of a King at the helm of affairs, asserting his prerogative and superintending the affairs of state.

Even in a constitutional monarchy the Sovereign looms large on the political stage when cabinet crises threaten Government interregnums, however brief.

In the case of Edward VII. it is quite apparent that His Majesty does not propose that "consulting the Sovereign" shall be a mere formality.

Probably no public man in Britain to-day is more capable of judging of the abilties of Britain's public men and making valuable suggestions on cabinet material. As a man of affairs and a man of the world His Majesty is well fitted by long experience as an observer of public men in England to make the hitherto formal consultation with the Sovereign a source of inspiration and assistance, especially at a time when the interests of the whole empire turn upon a home issue as they never

According to the simple explana-tion which Dr. Sowerby Wallis, the rainfall expert of Cambden Square, gave the reason is this:—The disrup-tive explosion in a thunderstorm is an effort on the part of nature to adjust the distribution of electricity between earth and sky. But just as a lightning conductor provides an easy passage for the electricity from easy passage for the electricity from sky to earth, so every bare wire acts as a conductor and helps dissipate the aerial electricity which would otherwise cause thunder

The influence of the wires in London Dr. Wallis said, is very perceptible, so that with the ever extending system of telegraphs, telephones, and other electric should show a tendency to decrease.

But as to whether there are more storm? The meteorological method is to measure the rain, as heavy rain is a notable feature of thunderstorms.

"There occur in an irregular manner," said Dr. Wallis, "groups of years with frequent thunderstorms and groups with a marked absence of them. As far as I know, this cannot be ascribed to any secretical control of the secribed to any secretical control of the secretical control not be ascribed to any specific cause. Storms are less frequent ov-er towns than in the country, as the er towns than in the country, as the chimneys and steeples tend to pre-vent electrical explosions."

DETECTER OF BAD FOOD.

Work of the Microscopic Bureau of Secretary Wilson's Department. For the purpose of insuring pure food for the people of this country Secretary Wilson has established a microscopic laboratory in connection with the chemical division of the department of agriculture. Already it has been demonstrated that unscrupulous dealers are palming off artificial coffee and other impure food on the public. The sup-posed coffee berries were regularly shaped and colored, but were composed of chicory, starch and other ingre-dients and when ground presented about the usual appearance of coffee.

Cocoa has come in for some curious results under the microscope, and, in fact, there is now no branch of the department of agriculture where this in-strument does not play an important part. A large photo microscopic camera occupies one side of a large room and is so arranged that foods under inspection may be photographed and the picture thrown upon a screen in the natural colors, a thing of inestimable value to students of grain and vegetable disease.

A microtone for cutting up articles for investigation, such as fruit, vegetables and grain, to the two-hundred-and-twenty-five-thousandth part of an inch, is one of the new equipments. Arrangements are made for photographing these minute wafers while under the microscope, and from the enlarged sections are made transparencies for throwing upon the screen.

A test was made recently of spruce and linen pulp for the manufacture of paper in this country, and it was found the manufacturers were being imposed upon by the importers, and through the determination of the microscopist thousands of dollars were saved. In importing sumac into this country fraud was constantly practiced on dealers and manufacturers. This was stopped through this department. This apparatus is also used for getting at the disease of wheat and other grain and also the adaptability of certain varieties of wheat to different climates, besides ascertaining the amount of starch and other nutritive qualities developed under certain soil and climatic conditions.

Sunstroke and Heat Prostration. When one is prostrated by heat it is important to determine at once whether it is a case of heat exhaustion or sunstroke, for the proper treatment in one is disastrous in the other. In heat exhaustion the temperature is lower rarely is lost, pulse fast and feeble, and the afflicted one has usually been com-plaining of heat symptoms. In sunstroke there is instantly high fever above 103 degrees, the skin is hot and red, consciousness is lost, breathing noisy, convulsions are common, pulse rapid, feeble or bounding, and the attack has come like a blow. The treat-ment for heat exhaustion: Place the head lower than the body, protect from drafts, apply hot water bottles to all parts of the body except the back of the neck and give whisky or aromatic spirits of ammonia. In sunstroke place the man stripped in a cool place and in as strong a draft as is possible, rub with ice, dash cold water over the entire body, fan vigorously and wrap in an iced sheet. Don't try to use stimulants. The doctor when he arrives will administer them hypodermically after

A Mint For Menelek. Menelek of Abyssinia is getting along in the world. First he thrashed the Maldists. Then he drove the Italians out of his kingdom. Then he welcomed the diplomats of European nations, playing one against another.

Now he is to have a mint. What an advance this means may be realized from the fact that Abyssinia until recently has been getting along with cubes of rock salt for cash. A small amount of coin minted in France has PICTURES of late been in circulation. Now the king will make his own. Consul Masthat he has saved up 110,230 pounds of gold for the purpose.

There are 400 tons of mint machinery. It was sold by a Stettin concern and was landed at Djibouti, East Africa, with a competent mechanic to set it up. The machinery will be transported by rail to New Harrar, about 150 miles, the end of the road. Thence it will be transported by caravan to the capital, Addis Abeba, the caravan journey occupying more than a month.

Too Much Publicity They have a weighing machine with phonographic and megaphonic attachments at a New Jersey resort where you drop a penny in the slot and presently hear your weight announced in tones of startling volume. This is a somewhat unpleasant surprise for the fat people and not especially pleasant for the very lean. When the large and evidently strong minded woman drags her little husband to the scales and then steps on the platform with a firm-ness of tread that makes the apparatus jingle she is not at all pleased when the megaphone roars forth, "Two hundred and thirty-three!" Nor is she any more delighted when the wizened husband is greeted in sten-torian tones, "Ninety-seven!" But it is loads of fun for the lookers on.

Bees as Messengers A French apiculturist has discovered that bees can be trained as messengers. Some of these winged letter carriers, with tiny scrolls of closely written paper tied to their bodies by means of fine wire, have been known to travel a distance of four miles or more in twenty minutes. They have it seems, an unerring instinct for the hives and can find them in any soul of weather, even when carried to tance in fightly closed boxes.

MR. BRODRICK AS SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

Lord Milner Said to Have Again Positively Refused to Accept the Colonial Secretaryship.

London, Sept. 26.-The Associated Press is able to state definitely that Lord Milner has been offered and has declined the Colonial Secretaryship. Further pressure is being brought to bear on him urging him to reconsider his determination; but if the forecast of his friends is correct he will not accept. Mr. Brodrick has accepted the Secretaryship for India, and in the event of Lord Milner yielding to the pressure, the Duke of Marlborough, who is now Under Secretary for the Colonies, will become Under Secretary for the Lord precedent ordaning that for India, precedent ordaining that both the Secretary and Under Secretary shall not sit in the same House. No definite amouncement of the composition of the new Cabinet is expected before Monday.

That tremendously popular rural play, "Quincy Adams Sawyer," which seems to be repeating everywhere its New York success at the Academy of Music, has many strong comedy features, yet it possesses touches of true pathos which prove that author, producer and the management have labored with good results to appeal to the sentiment that is close to the surface in every theatre audience.

The surroundings, the mis-en-scene of the last act, for example, are most effective in a novel, striking and

C.P.R. NEVER RETALIATES.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's Statement as to Policy.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 26.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's attention was called to a press despatch from the cost, in which the C. P. R. was represented as projecting large extensions in western Ontario and the northwest, in retaliation against the Grand Trunk Pacific. In reply, Sir Thomas said:—"The C. P. R. never retaliates. In Ontario it may be necessary in time to construct two or three new lines, as business is constantly increasing in that territory and demands for trans.

moment is given to this picture, and the front wall of the house disappears and the action of the play goes on within it. The storm without is indicative of the stress within, and the visual impression intensifies sympathy with the tribulations of the tribulations of the bearacters. Hope blossoms into fruition, as the action proceeds, and joy succeeds grief.

When the story has come to its happy end, the family group, which has been about the supper table, joins in singing the "Doxology," and an instant later the house exterior is shown, bathed in soft moonlight. The storm without has passed, as has that within, and the smoke which curls lezily from the chimney between the story has come and comfort. These contrasting scenes are most significant in symbolic beauty: like the famous "last scene" of "Shore Acres," the last act of "Quiney Adams Saw-yer" at the Grand is to-omorrow, Sept. 29th. Reserve seat sale opened this morning at Brisco's.

Miss Sadie Martinot, supported by Mich the crown and the action of the play has pre

"The C. P. R. never retaliates. In Ontario it may be necessary in time to construct two or three new lines, abusiness is constantly increasing in that territory and demands for transportation facilities from new sections of the country are growing. The C. P. R. never resorts to retaliation of that kind. In the present instance even if a different policy were to be adopted, the C. P. R. would probably wait until the proposed enterprise was becoming a factor in competition or until the scheme has brought its own retaliation."

Sir Thomas declined to discuss the Nelson and Bis Midshipmen.

Nelson always took great interest in the training of the young middles on the ships which he commanded and never falled to be kind and considerate to them. If he saw any one of them who was by nature timid ne would not speak harshly to him and so drive out what little courage the boy had, but would offer to race him to the masthead or some such place, and when they had climbed there he would take no notice of the middy's fears, if he showed any, but would smile kindly, saying, "I wonder that any one could fear to do such an easy thing as you and I have just done." Thus the boy got over his cowardice and learned to love his captain, who throughout his life showed the same consideration for those around him.

The late Cardinal Vaughan's Taet.
The late Cardinal Vaughan of England had an irresistible tact that made him well liked in Protestant circles. Cardinal Vaughan's Tact.

made him well the directions.

His good taste in avoiding religious disputations of any kind when in society was one element of his acceptableness. His brilliancy of conversation was another. On one occasion the Duke of Devonshire invited him, with a score of others, to dinner on Friday, quite forgetting the significance of the day to Vaughan, but the Cardinal put in an appearance and so completely engaged the attention of those who sat near him by his flow of wit and eloquence that they did not note until the banquet was over that he had not touched either food or drink.

DRUGGISTS and OPTICIANS.

MIDNIGHT ESCAPADE Shrieks of murder and cries for help in a female voice aroused the residents near the corner of King and Fifth streets about 11.30 p. m. Saturday night. The screams seemed to eminate from one in mortal terror or mortal agony and the gentlemen of the neighborhood rushed from their homes to lend assistance. I. L. Nicholl, S. Stephenson and W. I. L. Nicholl, S. Stephenson and W. G. Richards were soon heading for the scene, which was in the vicinity of the brick house occupied by Mrs. Teft on King street. About the same time David Grant, of Raleigh Township, had driven up and got but of his rig. He, too, had heard the screams and was hastening to the rescue. He saw the citizens vigilance committee and at once surmised that rescue. He saw the citizens vigilance committee and at once surmised that they were the ruffians who had caused the screams. Mr. Grant rushed at the trio. Dr. Nicholl was leading and was somewhat surprised at the fierce onslaught. Grant came at him swinging right and left. The Maple City dentist at once surmised that the murderer having killed the girl was attacking him. Now, the doctor is something of an athlete and all who remember him when he used to play on the football team can youch for that. The doctor isn't very used to play on the football team can vouch for that. The doctor isn't very big but he is mighty powerful. He answered the attack of Grant with a free arm blow that put the man from Raleigh down and out once for all. Grant, when he recovered from his daze, wasn't sure whether an express engine or evolone had struck his daze, wasn't sure whether an express engine or cyclone had struck him. It took some time to bring Grant to. When he recovered he was mad. He forgot all about the girl to whose rescue he had started and chased over to Judge Houston's looking for a warrant. He aroused the Judge from his slumbers. The latter refused a warrant but allowed the man to lay an information. He only got hit once but his eye was fierce. Mr. Grant was asked what became of the girl. "The girl? I don't know. I was busy enough looking after myself," responded the Raleigh farmer.

The Millinery Display Continues.

On every side we hear the universal comment of approval and delight. That the hats are more beautiful than ever before is only the law of progress. That the hats are more beautiful than ever before is only the law of progress. That they are more beautiful than any our public has yet seen, is because of the taste, skill and energy of our experts, and the resources and prestige of the house of AUSTIN in finding and securing the choicest models from the proudest and most exclusive Paris designers. But we are proud to note that the largest enthusiasm surrounds the collection of HATS from our own workrooms. The value of our outing hats are particularly noted :-

AGAINST IMMIGRATION. Steps Taken to Stem the Flow Front Ireland.

London, Sept. 28.—At a meeting of the committee of the Anti-emigration Society of Dublin, leadets giving warning by Catholic Bishops against emigration were ordered to be distributed at various places in Galway and other counties. A letter from an anonymous correspondent, which was read, stated that almanacs showing pictures of Manitoba free farms were being distributed in the shops. The committee asked that in view of the exposure by Father Dollard and others as to the backging of the state of by Father Dollard and others as to the hardships and destitution which had been the lot of emigrants on these farms, sympathizers be asked to look out for these almanacs and forward out for these almanacs and loward copies to the society, and also particu-lars of the persons circulating them. TREMENDOUS SPEED.

One Hundred and Seventeen Miles an Hour on Zossen Road. Berlin, Sept. 28.—A speed trial over the Zossen experimental electric railroad resulted in attaining a speed at the rate of over 117 miles an hour. Every part of the 100-ton car was intact, and the roadbed was not affected. A series of tests began ten days ago, when speed at the rate of ninety miles an hour was recorded. Every second day the speed was in-ereased two or three miles, and to-day creased two or three miles, and to-day the highest point was reached. The fact that the machinery and roadbed were not impaired gives every hope of attaining speed at the rate of 125 miles an hour. The tests will be sus-pended for a few days, as the Govern-ment wishes to use the line. JOHN BROWN'S HOUSE.

The King Has Bought It At a High

New York, Sept. 28.-The Sun has the following special from London:—The King has just acquired at a big price the small property bestowed on the late John Brown "and his heirs forever" by the late Queen Victoria. It is a house at Balnachoil, built of grey granite and stands actual ly in Balmoral grounds not far from the royal building.

the royal building.

All the contents of the house were gifts from Queen Victoria. The smoking chair was made of the wood of the famous Herne's oak, which was blown down several years ago in Windsor forest.

When the King had the statue of John Brown, which had been erected by Queen Victoria, removed from the site near the castle it was put behind Balnachoil house. It will probably, find another place when Balnachoil is hrranged as a residence for some of arranged as a residence for some of the royal household when the Brown family has departed.

In "Chapters From My Diplomatic Late," which Andrew D. White, the United States diplomatist, is contributing to "The Century Illustrated Magazine," there occurs an interesting reminiscence regarding the working of the German marriage laws:—

"One morning a man came rushing in exclaiming: Mr. Minister, I am in the worst fix that any decent man was ever in. I want you to help me out of it; and be then went on with a bitter tirade against everybody and everything in the German Empire.

"When his wrath had efferveseed somewhat he stated his case as follows:— Tast year while travelling through German lady, and after my return to America became engaged to her. I have now some for my bride. The wedding is fixed for next Thursday; our steamer passages are taken a day or two later, and I find that the authorities will not allow me to marry unless I present a multi-for next Thursday; our steamer passages are taken a day or two later, and I find that the authorities will not allow me to marry unless I present a multitude of papers such as I never dreamed of! Some of them it will take months to get, and some I can never get. My intended bride is in distress; her family evidently distrust me; the wedding is postponed indefinitely; and my business partner is cabling me to come back to America as soon as possible. I am asked for a baptismal certificate—a Taufschein. Now, so far as I know, I was never baptised. I am required to present a certificate showing the consent of my parents to my marriage—I, a man thirty years old, and in a large business of my own! I am asked to give bonds for the payment of my debts in Germany. I owe no such debts; but I know no one who will give such a bond. I am notified that the banns must be published a certain number of times before the wedding. What kind of a country is this, anyhow?

"We did the best we could. In an interview with the Minister of Public Worship I was able to secure a dispensation from the publishing of the banns; then a bond was drawn up, which I signed, and thus settled the question regarding possible debts in Germany. As to the baptismal certificate, I ordered inscribed, on the largest possible sheet of official paper, the gentleman's affidavit that in the State of Ohio where he was born no Taufschein, or baptismal certificate, was required at the time of his birth, and to this was affixed with plenty of wax the largest seal of the Legation. The form of the affidavit may be judged peculiar, but it was thought best not to startle the authorities with the admission that the man had not been baptised at all. They could easily believe that a State like Ohio, which some of them doubtless regarded as still in the backwoods and mainly tenanted by the aborigines, might have omitted in days gone by to require a Taufschein, but that an unbaptised Christian should offer himself to be married in Germany would perhaps have so paralyzed t

"Dearest, what disaster is this!" It was his fond wife who gasped the question, in tones of anguish.
"A disaster which is irretrievable; a calamity which will crush me to the earth!" He ran his white, thin fingers through his luxuriant crop of long and inky hair, black as the raven's wing, at tenand-a-half the bottle of black, warranted to defy detection—not a dye, not a stain, but a harmless liquid that merely has to be combed into the hair (Vide advt.).

A Unique Luncheon.

The Paris correspondent of the "Pall Mail Gazette" recently attended a lung-con given by M. Dessing-Whitmore, which was distinctly original. The table, which was distinctly original. The table, he says, took the form of a boat, and the waiters were dressed as sailors. There was a distinctly nautical flavor about the whole thing, and during the hors adourse and dessert a sailor's chorus was sung. Not being a particularly good sailor, the perpetual motion of the dable, which, it appears, took some time so get in working order—was not for me the most enjoyable sensation of the occasion. I was able, however, to appreciate the dexterity with which it had been plaumed, as not an article ever rolled—or remark the scene more realistic a cantum was was hung on the walls, on which was painted a somewhat rough see. It is related that at a garrison ball at Halifax the Colonel of the regiment that was giving the dance came up to Lady Lansdowne and said: "Lady Lansdowne, won't you give me a dance, please? I'm tired of dancing with these silly little colonial girls. They have no style. I believe I'm engaged to one of them for the next dance, but you might be kind enough to rescue nie." Lady Lansdowne replied, in tones loud enough for everybody to hear, that the Colonel was unfit to associate with any decent people, colonial or otherwise, and conwas unit to associate with any decent people, colonial or otherwise, and con-cluded: "If this is the way you treat your guests I will relieve you of the presence of one of them at once." Then she ordered her carriage and left the ball.

lowed him to the tee, and offered to go round with him for fifty cents.
"Never mind, son. I'll get along."
With that he made a magnificent swing at the ball and missed it by a foot.
"Say, mister," said the caddie, "I'll go round with you for a quarter."
The player declined, and tried to look self-possessed. He made another swing at the ball, and missed it again.
"Say, mister." said the boy, "I'll go with you for fifteen cents."
By that time the man was "rattled," and struck at the ball three times. The boy, who had retreated some distance, called, "Won't you take me for nothing? I'll go round for the fun of it."

Joaquin Miller on "Race Suicide.

Poor little hands, pushed here, there, there, there, and all night long for mother's breast. Poor, restless hands that will not rest. And gather strength to reach out strong. To mother in the rosy morn! Nay, nay, they gather scorn for scorn And hate for hate the lorn night long—Poor dying babe! to reach about In blackness, as a thing cast out!

Hear me this prophecy and heed Except we cleanse us kirk or creed, Except we cleanse us kirk or creed, Except we wash us word and deed The Jew shall rule us, reign the Jew. And just because the Jew is true, is true to nature, true to truth; is clean, is chaste, as trustful Ruth Who bore us David, Solomon—The Babe, that far, first Christmas dawn, in that fashion?

Lady—Still, he seemed a very decent sort of man, and I do not see why you should jilt him.—"Pick-Me-Up."

President Roosevelt in swaddling clothes, suspended by ribbons from the bill of a stork, furnishes the illustration for the cover of a new poem, in ten cantos by Joaquin Miller, entitled "As It Was in the Beginning." In the "prefatory postscript" the poet writes:

"When, like a sentinel on his watchtower, the President, with his divine audacity and San Juan valor, voiced the real heart of the Americans against 'race suicide,' I hastened to do my part in my owa way, ill or well, in holding up his hands on the firing line.

I venture this new book with confidence, not only because it is right, proper, clean, courageous, but now seems opportune. Tet the galled jade wince!' I give no quarter and ask none, except pardon for errors incident to great haste. I cry aloud from my mountain top, as a seer, and say: The cherry-blossom bird of Nippon must be more with us, else another Germany from the North, may descend upon us and take back train loads of tributa. We are coming to be too entirely Frenchish."

That the poem is truly Rooseveltian in its strenuousness may be gleaned from these stirring stanzas of canto IX.:
God's pity for the breasts that bear

God's pity for the breasts that bear
A little babe, then banish it
To stranger hands, to allen care.
To live or die as chance sees flit.
Poor, helpless hands reached anywhere,
As God gave them to reach and reach,
With only helplessness in each!
Poor little hands, pushed here, pushed

God's pity for the thing of lust That bears a frail babe/to be thrust Forth from her arms to allen thrail, As shutting out the light of day, As shutting out the light of day, As shutting off God's very breath! But thrice God's pity, let us pray, For her who bears no babe at all. But gayly leads up Fashlon's Hall And grinning leads the dance of death. That sexless, steel-braced breast of bon is like to some assasin cell. A whited sepulchre of stone, A graveyard at the gates of hell, A mouse of murders manifold!

A few stanzas further on the poet

And oh, for prophet's tongue or pen
To scourge, not only, and accuse
The childless mother, but such men
As know their wives but to abuse!
Give me the brave, child-loving Jew,
The full-sexed Jew of either sex,
Who loves, brings forth and nothing
recks
Of care or cost, as Christians do—
Dulled souls who will not hear or see
How Christ once raised his lowly head
And, as rebuking, gently said,
The while He took them tenderly,
"Let little children come to me."

"Indeed?" chirped the swallow, eagerly. "What was it, my dear?"
"Why, you know I am now filling my

Of course, I knew she must be a bride right off, so I explained who I was and the purpose for which I'd called. She didn't blush nor seem at all confused or bashful, as so many of my clients do at first, and I was just congratulating myself on having secured a really sensible woman for my list, when she shook her head and said she really didn't have any use for my services.

"Oh, but think, my dear,' I urged, for I wasn't going to let her slip if I could help it, 'how sweet and charming and lovely a dear little baby is.'

"Yes, they are nice,' she replied, with what I thought was almost criminal indifference, 'but you must not bring one what I thought was almost criminal indifference, but you must not bring one here. I positively cannot allow it. "'And your husband, too,' I went on, like a fool. 'Where he loves you now he would worship and adore you then.'

"But I haven't any,' she said, and sotually laughed in my face.

"'What?' I almost shrieked, glancing curiously around the rooms.

"'Oh, yes,' she said, dryly, 'thees are my rooms, but I am a bachelor maid.'

"My dear," concluded the stork, pathetically, "I blushed so hard I must have looked like a flamingo. And I do wish these modern girls wouldn't be so independent; I'm afraid now to call at any strange place for fear of repeating the blunder."—"Town Topics."

Canada and New York have a joint nterest in the memory of Sir Willam Johnston, the most picturesque persobality of the generation immeliately preceding the commencement if the American revolutionary war. He was an Irishman by birth, but at wenty-three he emigrated to the wilds of the Province of New York to manage an uncle's landed estate which lay in the valley of the Monawk River not far from Scheneciady. All about him were the survivors of the great tribe which gave the river its name, and with these and others of the Iroquois confederation. and others of the Iroquois confedera-tion he became intimately acquaint-ed in the course of the traffic which he carried on with them. By honor-able dealing, an attractive manner, and facility in accommodating him-self to their modes of life he acquir-ed an ascendancy over the Indians that was as advantageous to the Covernment as it was profitable to Government as it was profitable to himself.

When still young he was created military commander of the Six Na-tions, and through this appointment he was drawn into the frontier wars against the French. He took part in 1754 in the Albany Congress, which was in some sense the prototype of the later gatherings out of which was evolved the American federation. With the rank of "Major-General" he took part in the campaigns of 1755-60, that ended in the capitulation of Montreal, at which event he was present as commander of the Indian allies of the British. Not a fortnight after Mr. Buchan's induction in 1881 he gave the whole Upper Canada College, Toronto, in prayer-hall assembled, a taste of his quality as a disciplinarian. There had arisen some slight friction regarding, if memory serves, Day by Day in Toronto News, a change in the rule allowing members of the Sixth Form, two, in place of three, afternoons' leave down town each week. Mr. Buchan made the change after deep consideration, and, after the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition cannot convert the food into nourishment, and into blood, then the food is an injury injury instead of a benefit. For all disorders of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition, there is a certain remedy in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It removes clogging obstructions. It strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves, enriches the blood and builds up the body. It is a fleshforming, muscle-making preparation, making firm flesh instead of flabby fat. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or intoxicant of any kind, and is equally free from opium, cocaine and all narcotics. after deep consideration, and, after receiving a deputation from the Sixth, promised to announce his final resolution the next afternoon at prayers. The statement was duly made, and it was that the change must take place. Suddenly from where the Sixth sat, came a sibilant, long-drawn hiss. The boys were amazed. Nothing of the kind had ver heard in that hall before

Mr. Buchan gazed towards the Sixth, and, in cold, even tones, said:
"The boy! who hissed, stand up."
In a second a tall, broad shouldered youth was on his feet.
"A——," said the Principal, "you will tale ten downeries."

will take ten demerits."

The boy turned white and sat down. He and another were running neck and neck for the headship of the school, and the Prince of Wales scholarship. Ten demerits meant that a number of marks representing a fair month's work would be de-ducted at the end of the year. The judgment of the Principal meant death to the offender's chances; it was about the stiffest sentence that could be imposed, short of expulsion. The culprit, who is one of the leaders of his profession to-day, took his punishment gamely, but it was neither mitigated nor remitted, although er mitigated nor remitted, although his rival and conqueror—as subsequent events showed—begged Mr. Buehan to let him take five of his demerits himself. This might have allowed a third boy to gain the coveted distinction, but this was doubtful, as the two lads mentioned were head and shoulders above their form head and shoulders above their formmates. Mr. Buchan sternly refused to make any change, so the friend and advocate of the boy who hissed went ahead and cantered in with the honors. He was as much provoked at being denied the contest as he was pleased at his success.

Has Not Been Sued by Employment Bureau for Expenditure.

London, Sept. 26.-Mr. W. T. R. Preston is cabling Sir Wilfrid Laurier, denying any truth in the report cabled to Canada that he had been sued by an employment bureau for the expenses of the miners sent out to British Columbia. Mr. Preston says that owing to the reports of labor troubles in British Columbia, he merely warn-ed the miners against emigrating to that particular district. A correspond-ent of a Sheffield newspaper says he was much struck with the fairness of was much struck with the fairness of mind and the desire to be helpful to emigrants of the agents of the Government, the Hudson's Bay Company and the Canadian Pacific, but private land agents were on the make.

WOOLLEN INDUSTRY

Mr. Rosamond, M.P., Says Trade is

Bad-British Competition. Ottawa, Sept. 26.—The condition of some branches of trade in the woollen industry seems to be rather serious, according to a statement by Mr. Rosamond, M. P., Almonte. His own mills at Almonte, he said, were running only five days a week, while the Canadian Woollen Company's two mills at Carleton Place had shut down. He believed most of the other factories in Ontario would have to work short time or close down before long. This depression only applied to tweeds and worsteds, which, he declared, had suffered spriously from the English competition under the British preference. They bore us Ottawa, Sept. 26.—The condition of the British preference. They bore up as long as they could, but the condition war becoming worse as the supply of orders became exhausted. The trouble, however, did not extend to the knitted goods branches.

LEWIS & RIOH *** The Sir George White's Elevation

The elevation of Sir George White to the rank of Field Marshal puts Ireland in the position of furnishing three Field Marshals to the British three Field Marshals to the British army, or four if the Duke of Connaught is included. This is probably unparalleled in the annals of the army. Then Sir T. Kelly-Kenny, an Irishman, is Adjutant-General; Sha Ian Hamilton, a Scotsman, is Quartermaster-General, and Sir Edward Ward, Permanent Under Secretary of the War Office, is also a north countryman. And Lord Kitchener, the Indian Commander-in-Chief, is of Irish birth. When one takes stock of the Cabinet, with its four Scotsmen and three Irishmen, the Archbishops, both Scotcmen, and so on it must be admitted that Lord Salisbury's "Celtic fringe" looks as if it intended to become the entire it intended to become the entire mantle of State. The navy has been purely English up to very recently, but even in that chosen domain an Irishman is now head of the fleet which defends the Channel.

His Brother at the University

A small urchin picked up by the Mel, bourne police, a few days since, stated, in reply to the usual questions put to lost infants, that he had a brother at the university. His own unkempt appearance scarcely seemed to corroborate the assertion, so the matter was pressed. "What part of the university?" he was asked.

ELEPHANT FIGHTS LIONS. A Terrible Struggle Witnessed Coney Island.

New York, Sept. 28.-Hurled over the top of a steel-barred arena by an elephant it had engaged in mortal com bat, Brutus, a large lion, escaped into a crowd of three thousand persons at Luna Park, Coney Island, yesterday, and then into the open streets, causing a panic, in which men, women and children were knocked down and trampled upon. Nearly all Coney Island was terro-stricken. Several women fainted, and Joseph Guies, a bartender, over whom the lion leaped in its flight, was thrown into violent hysteria. No one was seriously injured. The lion was caught after having been confronted by a tall picket fence, before which he quickly paced back and forth, under the impression apparently that he was in his cage. The arena in which the beasts fought is located on an island in the park lagoon, near the electrical tower. "Tony" Lewando, the trainer, was making a trial of a new act. Without warning Brutus leaped at Columbia's throat and buried his teeth and claws in her flesh. This was the signal for the other two lions, who pounced upon the elephant's back. The battleroyal which followed thrilled and fascinated the large crowd of spectators. Weighted with three powerful foes, Columbia-tore madly about the arena, hurling herself against its sides in an hurling herself against its sides in an hurling herself against its sides in an dren were knocked down and trampled Columbia tore madly about the arena, hurling herself against its sides in an endeavor to dislodge them. She gave a mighty tug, and then slowly broke the lion's hold. The crowd, whose sympathy had been with Columbia, raised a shout of triumph, which was quickly changed into one of terror when Columbia was seen to grasp the lion around the middle, and, eevn with the two other beasts still on her back, hurl her enemy over the top of the enclosure.

Brutus fell on the gang-plank, recovered himself quickly, rushed through the German village, jumping over Quines' head on his way, and after running around the streets a short time was seemingly badly frightened by the crowds. It required the greatest efforts on the part of half a dozen keepers to get the other lions from Columbia's back and into their cages. All the animals were badly lacerated.

The Beer That is Brewed In Glass

We use only the best grade of barley, which is malted under our direct super ision, and the choicest Pacific, Bavarian and Kent Hops, and will gladly contribute $1,000 to charity if any one can show that any Brewer in Canada uses better

In brewing, after the beer has been boiled in the kettle, it is pumped in to urface cooler (an enormous pan) and then allowed to run slowly over pipes, through which cold water and cold brine is circulating, and at the same time exposed to strong drafts of pure air, to bring the beer down to proper temperature. During this process the beer will absorb bad odors or impurities in the air, and a brewery located in a neighborhood where there are impurities in the air is certain to produce beer that is more or less charged with impurities. Our plant is located in a section free from dirt, dust and "bad smells," and the coolers are 80 ft. from the ground.

We employ only competent men whose wages run from 25 per cent. to 40 pe cent. above that paid by most of our competitors.

All of our apparatus is strictly first-class and up-to-date. POOR BREWING MATERIAL, ANTIQUATED APPLIANCES and CHEAP LABOR MEANS FILTH AND BEER THAT IS UNHEALTHFUL.

When you pay the standard price of five cents for a glass of beer you have a right to receive, and should demand the best, and if you do not have it furnished vou should retuse to accept it.

CITY CYCLISTS

A meeting of the Executive of the A meeting of the Executive of the Maple City Cyclists Association was held in the office of S. B. Arnold Friday evening. There were present Jno. Park, president, and S. B. Arnold, secretary, R. S. Dunlop, Fred. H. Brisco, Geo. Heyward and William

Ink.

It was decided to place the matter of sidewalk cycling privilege before the Council at their next meeting. The Council will also be asked to make some arrangement to prevent the flooding of the paved streets. The watering carts now make these streets impassable and an effort will be made to have a strip left for cyclists.

The Executive will hold another meeting on Friday night next. Link.
