PETE'S EAGLE EYE

Recently John M. Northwood, city weighmaster, placed a sign in front of a certain property of his on William street. The sign read "To Let," and the authorities state that this is contrary to a city by-law.

Officer Pete Dezella's eagle eye fell upon the sign, and shortly afterwards he was noticed in an earnest conversation with Mr. Northwood. The sign is placed on a tree, which, the police say, is unlawful, but Mr. Northwood thinks that it is not, and he refuses to remove it.

C. M. B. A. NOTES

At the last meeting of Branch No. 8, held in the I. O. O. F. Temple, King Street, 15 candidates were duly initiated into the Association by Grand Organizer O'Connor, who had been working in Chatham and vicinity for the past several days in the interest of the Branch.

Had it not been such a busy season with the farmers many more would have joined the ranks. Bro. O'Connor delivered a stirring address showing forth the merits of the society, and urged the members to be up and doing, as it was only by united effort that the Branch could hope for success.

After the meeting the members indulged in a smoker. For the benefit of those who could not attend on the evening in question another initiation will be held at the meeting next Tuesday evening, when it is expected a goodly number will be present.

Windsor Ont. August 10.—A Car of dynamite exploded blowing up the town of Essex this morning. Seven are reported dead. A report received from the scene says 7 are dead and others hurt. Tremendous detonation was heard in every part of Detroit and shock was also felt here. The following list of victims was telephoned from Amherstburg where all of them reside. It is not known how many of them are dead and how many only injured. David Cottrell, engineer of Passenger train; James Madigan, fireman of passenger train. Thomas Barry, conductor of passenger train. Brakemen Conlin and McNary. A. O. Stimmers, Station agent at Essex. L. A. Abbott, operator at Essex. Colored woman, passenger on train.

About nine o'clock this morning a load of dynamite on a freight car at the Michigan Central depot exploded with terrific force. So great was the concussion that every building in the town is wrecked, many toppling over, while it is probable that not a piece of window glass in the town remains unbroken. The passenger train which runs from Essex to Amherstburg was about to start. Engineer David Cottrell and fireman James Madigan both of Amherstburg were thrown out of the cab and it was at first reported that Madigan was killed. The depot building and freight sheds were blown to atoms. J. A. Abbott, the operator escaped with slight injuries while Jud Smith the Express Agent was unhurt. Greens elevator and Lang and Riches mill are nearly destroyed. The scenes which followed the explosion through the town cannot well be pictured in words. People rushed madly from their shaking homes and places of employment the first impression being that an earthquake had taken place. Simultaneous with the shock came the great crash of glass and to this, many of the people owe their injuries. Throughout the town mothers could be seen bleeding from their many cuts, yet, forgetting themselves in order to give attention to infants and children who were likewise suffering. It was some time before the people could be brought to a realization as to just what had happened.

MILK TESTS MAY NOT BE MADE PUBLIC PROPERTY

Newspapers Might Be Open To Libel Suits If The Reports
Injured The Milkmen's Business—A Queer
State Of Affairs.

For the past few days the local Health Department have been taking samples from the cans of various milk vendors for the purpose of testing them. The tests are not yet completed, but Medical Health Officer Hall will bring in an detained report on the matter at the next meeting of the Health Board. The public may never have a chance of finding out what the results of the tests are, as recently in Toronto, a legal opinion was given out to the effect that when the Health Officers will not become personally responsible for the published reports, the newspapers publishing such reports are open to actions for damages. This is a curious state of affairs, and scarcely seems a fair deal to the public, in view of the fact that milk-testing is a requirement.

"Would you become responsible for a report on the local test?" Dr. Hall was asked by a Planet reporter this morning.

"It is hardly a portion of my duties to do so," he replied. "I am always willing to do all I can for ENTERPRISE OF W. K. A. S.

A well attended meeting of the West Kent Agricultural Society was held Thursday afternoon, when it was unanimously decided to endorse the petition to construct a grand-little walk in front of the Fair Grounds, to be in keeping with the many other improvements in progress out there for weeks past.

The program of races for the Fall Fair will be bigger and better than ever, and will be published shortly.

The directors of the Fair are quite optimistic about the coming Fair, and display more enthusiasm in the event than has been manifested in years past. Everyone should give the proposition a boost, and endeavor to encourage the directors in their commendable enterprise.

Irrevocable Says Blake.
London, Aug. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Hon. Edward Blake has written his constituents that his resignation is necessary and irrevocable. The Dublin Journal, while warmly regretting the decision, says that Blake will carry with him into retirement the affection and gratitude of the country he served so well.

A SPLENDID WELL

A new well shot last week on the twelve acre lease on the Crosby farm in Tilbury East, is making a phenomenal showing. Since last Friday this well has pumped 6 1-3 tanks of oil, and is still pumping at the same rate, thus practically paying for itself in a few days.

The new well is the property of the Kennedy Oil Company.

NEW BERLIN INDUSTRY

Berlin Industrial Committee, according to the Telegraph, has received a very encouraging proposition from a firm in an Ontario town which desires to locate in Berlin for the manufacture of railroad supplies and machinery. The committee offered the firm a free site in Woodside Park and a reasonable assessment, and several other minor concessions which were acceptable to the promoters. Several local minded men are interested in the new concern, and if it is located in Berlin will provide employment for at least 25 skilled mechanics during the first year.

ARSENIC IN PORRIDGE

Regina, Aug. 9.—A sensation was caused in the city yesterday by the news that a number of boarders at Steele's restaurant on Lorne street had been poisoned by a solution of arsenic in the porridge partaken of by them at breakfast. It appears that the proprietors of the restaurant lent a quantity of oatmeal on Thursday to the Chinese proprietor of the adjacent eating house. The oatmeal was duly returned and Steele used some of it to cook the morning meal. Mrs. Steele and eight or nine guests ate of the porridge and almost immediately afterwards were seized with severe internal pains accompanied by vomiting. Doctors Thompson and Meek were summoned and by natural means and stomach pumps the greater part of the food was ejected. Three of the sufferers, Harry Stewart, Cyrus Winters and John Fortune, were conveyed to Victoria Hospital, where their condition aroused grave anxiety. There is, however, some ground for hoping that all these attacked will recover.

Arsenic in the Meal.
The unused oatmeal was confiscated and a portion of it submitted to Dr. Charlton, Provincial Bacteriologist, who certified to the presence of arsenic. The Chinaman who returned the oatmeal, and generally known here as Mac, has been arrested. According to present arrangements he will be brought before Magistrate McCausland. A fact which, unless disproved, appears to weigh against him is that an invoice shows that he purchased two weeks ago a quantity of oatmeal, all of which had not been used. What valid reason he had to borrow oatmeal with a stock already in his possession remains a mystery.

YOUTH BREAKS JAIL

Escapes From Turnkey and is Still at Large.

Cobourg, Aug. 10.—Norman J. G. Frame, the Toronto youth who was convicted of forgery and sentenced to four months' imprisonment for passing bogus cheques in Port Hope, escaped from the county jail here yesterday morning while in charge of the turnkey. Although the sheriff's officers and county constables are looking for him, he has so far evaded recapture.

The escaped prisoner is 18 years of age, height about 5 feet 8 inches, complexion dark, eyes blue, face smooth, and form slim.

He had been "doing the races" at the Woodbine, and resorting to devices to raise money for "sporty" purposes when he was arrested at Port Hope.

A warrant has been issued and a reward offered for his re-arrest.

AN OUTBREAK OF CUTWORMS

Dangerous Plague Breaks out in Farms Near Leamington

Remedies Which Should be Applied to Check the Visitation

Much alarm was created in the neighborhood of Leamington, Ont., recently, by an extraordinary outbreak of caterpillars which devoured everything before them. Application was made to the Agricultural College at Guelph for advice and assistance, and Mr. L. Caesar, of the Entomological Department, was at once sent up to investigate. The insect proved to be the Variegated Cutworm (Peridroma saucia), which has on previous occasions appeared in devastating numbers, the most serious outbreak having occurred in British Columbia and the neighboring Pacific Coast states in 1900. Near Leamington the worms were first observed in clover fields where they soon devoured the crop and left the ground bare and black; they then marched on to the next field and consumed whatever vegetation they met with, corn and tobacco, to-bacco, tomatoes and other vegetables, seemed especial favorites for consumption. If a fruit tree happened to be in their way, they climbed it and devoured both fruit and foliage; many peach trees were thus attacked and the fruit ruined.

Like the cutworms these caterpillars feed only at night and remain in concealment during the day, hiding in the ground where the soil is loose and under any rubbish or other shelter that they can find. When full grown the worm is about two inches long, with a yellowish stripe on each side above the legs, the rest of the body is darker and mottled with black, white or grey; the most characteristic feature is a row of yellow or white spots, five, to seven in number, along the middle line of the back. Some are already changing into the chrysalis stage, for which purpose they bury themselves in the ground and form there an oval earthen cell. The moth, into which they finally turn, has a wing expansion of about an inch, and is dark blackish brown in color, often clouded with red towards the front margin of the wings, but with no conspicuous or distinguishing markings; the underwings are white with a pearly lustre. Like so many other of our most destructive insects, this one has come to us from Europe.

Many specimens have been sent to the College for identification from various parts of the province, the complaint being in most cases that the worms are destroying the green tomatoes by boring great holes through and through them; in some cases corn is badly injured, and in gardens vegetables of all kinds are attacked.

REMEDIES.

The most effective remedy for these nocturnal marauders is the poisoned bran mash, which is made by mixing half a pound of Paris green in 50 lbs. of bran—the proportion for larger or smaller quantities is 1 to 100—the poison should be added to the dry bran little by little and stirred all the time till the whole is tinged with the green color, then add water sweetened with sugar or molasses till the mixture is sufficiently moistened to crumble nicely through the fingers. If bran cannot be procured, shorts or flour may be used, and the field work may be distributed dry by means of a seed drill. The mash is sprinkled about the plants at sundown, and after dark the worms come out and eat it in preference to the vegetation and then go off and die, usually in their places of concealment. Paris green, half a pound to 40 gallons of water may be used on many plants with much advantage.

When the worms are very numerous and are moving on from one field to another, their progress may be checked by plunging a deep furrow ahead of them—two to about 4 feet apart would be better—in these post holes are bored or dug from 12 to 15 feet apart. The furrows should be made in the morning so that the sides may be dry and friable by daylight. As the worms fall into them as they march, and being unable to climb up the loose sides, they travel along the furrow and fall into the post holes. There they will be found in dozens or hundreds in the morning, and can easily be killed. Where the soil is stiff clay this plan will probably not be so effective, as the worms may be able to climb up the sides and go on their way. Reliance will then have to be placed in the poisoned bait. Where very numerous a heavy roller may be employed with advantage if the soil or crop will permit of its use. It must be remembered that live stock or poultry must not be allowed in any place where the poison is scattered.

The worms are no doubt attacked by parasitic insects, and many will perish from bacterial disease. This is the usual experience when outbreaks of a similar character have occurred, and therefore there is little danger of a repetition of the plague next year. Everything, however, should be done to check the visitation now, before more damage is inflicted, and to reduce the number that may survive for the production of another brood.—C. J. S. Bethune, O. A. College, Guelph.

Dissatisfaction has a way of intruding itself and holding a strong position in the mind.

THE RACES ON MONDAY

Chatham Driving Park will be the Centre of Attraction.

Entries are Very Large and a good day is expected.

The following is the entry list for Civic Holiday races at Chatham Driving Park, Chatham, Ont., Monday and Tuesday, August 12th and 13th.

The track is in first class condition, and as you will see by the entry list, which is large and made up of the best material in the way of horse flesh that ever scored for the word in this locality, so it is only reasonable to expect high class racing. By the way the two grand stands have been remodeled and thoroughly cleaned, which will be an improvement on the past.

The 24th Regiment Band will furnish the music for the afternoon, and the management's intention is to make everything as pleasant as possible for the lovers of light harness racing.

The entries of the running races don't close until the morning of the races, and it is known there will be additional entries, but you will find in the list those received up to date.

INTERNATIONAL S. S. LESSON FOR TO-MORROW.

The sin of Nadab and Abihu—Levit. 10: 1-11. Read Levit. 8: 1-19.

Golden Text—Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler, and whoever erreth thereby is not wise—
Prov. 20: 1 R.V.

Israel was not used to seeing purity in the priests of Egypt, and the priests of Canaan were even more corrupt. Aaron and his sons were but a short time before mixed up with the idolatrous, irreverent worship and revelry around the calf of gold. Israel and the priests of Jehovah, God must be taught the sanctity and glory of her God just as Christians had to learn where Ananias and Sapphira were struck dead and Satan attempt to demoralize the worship of God was nipped in the bud. From verse nine we are led to believe the devil first got Nadab and Abihu intoxicated, while in the case of Ananias and wife he induced them to play the hypocrite, perhaps a more common sin than drunkenness. Teachers, here is a fine lesson for your boys; if wine and strong drink are not to be used when our best work is to be done, why be used at any time? The fellow who drinks occasionally and thinks the effect soon wears off is as deluded of the Evil One just as surely as Nadab and Abihu or Aaron and his sons. There is only one safe ground in regard to drink, touch not, taste not, handle not. The only way to obey God is by doing exactly what He tells us—Duet. 4:
2: 12, 32. Our Lord tells His disciples—John 15, 14—"Ye are my friends if ye do the things I command you"; otherwise we are not friends of Jesus Christ to say the least of it. No man can worship God unless a friend of His will be loved son. Unless we rid ourselves to Him as guilty sinners and trust Him as a personal saviour we are lost, because we shut ourselves out of this blessed friendship. John 4, 22, "Ye worship that which ye know not;
for salvation is from the Jews." Jesus says to the woman of Samaria, God is a spirit and they that worship Him must worship and serve Him in spirit and truth, R.V., not in self will, pride and hypocrisy or stimulated by drink and the devil.

PRIEST SHOTS TWO MEN.

Enters Pittsburg Hotel and Fires on Proprietors Without Warning.

Pittsburg, Aug. 9.—Ludwig Seigel, said to be an unattached Polish priest of Chicago, walked into a south side hotel in Carson street early yesterday and without warning, it is said, whipped out a revolver and opened fire upon the two proprietors, twin brothers, named Steven and Andrew Klarynski.

Both men were fatally wounded.
Steven died within an hour, and the physicians say Andrew cannot recover.

Seigel maintains a sullen silence, and nothing can be learned from either of his alleged victims. When Seigel came here ten days ago he went to a hotel accompanied by a woman whom he introduced as his housekeeper. They secured an apartment of two rooms. The woman, who gave her name as Francisca Sprack, is held as a suspicious person.

Seigel, it is said, had been drinking heavily.

BLAZE AT NORTH BAY.

Town Has Hard Experience Fighting Flames.

North Bay, Aug. 9.—Another serious fire broke out at 10 o'clock last night in a building until recently occupied by Cole & Co. as a planing mill in the heart of the residential section. Since vacated by Cole & Co., who recently moved into a new building, the structure was occupied by Louis Smith as a storehouse.

In the building where the fire originated was stored a large quantity of farming machinery. The property of Thomas Lowell, agent, some of which was saved. The barn of John Ostram was destroyed.

The mill building, owned by Louis
Smith, William McIlvenny's house,
James Lindsay's barn and John Cohen's stable were burned to the ground. Most of the household effects of the Labrosse family were saved.

The loss will total $5,000; partly covered by insurance.

Feet Severed by Engine.

St. Catharines, Aug. 9.—A young Englishman, Thomas McIlvenny, 21 years, was seriously injured by being struck by a G. T. B. engine in Mer-rison yards shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday. He was switching an engine and running ahead, when he slipped in front of the engine, with the result that his feet were crushed and some deep wounds inflicted on his head. He is at the General and Marine Hospital, where he is in a precarious condition, his recovery being doubtful.

Feeder Wagon in Parliament.

Wellington, New Zealand, Aug. 9.
—The bill providing for the election of a new Upper House by the House of Representatives, yesterday passed its committee stage in the latter chamber. One of the clauses by which women electors are eligible to election as members of the Upper House was adopted by 27 to 25 votes. The Premier and three Cabinet Ministers, who were present, voted for the clause.

Hail Does Million Damage.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 9.—Reports say that in Western Peoria County and Eastern Knox County the corn crop has been devastated. Hailstones the size of hen eggs left 25,000 acres of corn barren waste. Thousands of window panes were broken.

The damage in Peoria and Knox Counties is estimated at a million dollars.

How shall I be able to rule over others, that have not the full power and command of myself?

The wise man never wants anything enough to be disappointed if he really doesn't get it.

Creeds are but the clothes of religion.

The home of Mr. John Roberts, Concession 10, Howard, was the scene of a happy affair last Wednesday, the event being the marriage of his only daughter, Marguerite, to Mr. Robert Tye, of St.
Thomas. The bride was supported by Miss Bertha Tye, of Fargo,
and the groom by Mr. Jno.
Roberts, St. Thomas. The presents, which were numerous and costly, sufficed to show the high esteem in which the happy couple were held by their many friends. They left on the evening's train to spend their honeymoon in Buffalo.

H. A. Tompson, manager of the Molson's Bank, is in Amherstburg.

THE MAN AND HIS WORK.

By John L. Shroy.

I haven't much faith in the man who complains

Of the work he has chosen to do,
He's lazy, or else he's deficient in brains.

And maybe a hypocrite, too.
He's likely to cheat and he's likely to rob;

Away with the man who finds fault
with his job.

But give me the man with the sun
in his face,
And the shadows all dancing behind;

Who can meet his reverses with calmness and grace,
And never forgets to be kind;
For whether he's wielding a scepter or saw,

I have faith in the man who's in love
with his job.

—L. H. H. H. H.

CHANGED THE SUBJECT.

They were getting a kindergarten lesson. The teacher taught them very simple subjects. She touched a table.

What is this?
Wood.

What is this? she asked, as she touched the fender.

Iron.

What is this? indicating a bottle.
Glass.

What is this? and she touched her watch chain.

Brass, said one small boy, and she changed the subject.

Colored Linnen Popular.

Predictions indicate that more colored linnen than ever are to hold sway, and indeed the prophecy has everything in its favor for its ultimate materialization, for some of the smartest linnen dresses that have been designed this season were in soft colors made on simple lines with no trimming save a few stitched straps and dashes of hand embroidery done with coarse white linnen thread. A good many of these little frocks are made with separate gimpes or chemises with blouse and skirt attached by means of a fitted girde.

The optimist looks forward to tomorrow, the pessimist sighs for yesterday.

ERIEAU

Erieau, August 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon and Mac are spending the week at the Bungalow.

Dr. Fred. Hall, Gordon and Harry McCosh, were Erieau visitors on Friday.

Miss Stephens, of King street west, was the guest of Mrs. A. H. Westman yesterday.

Mrs. E. E. Nogar, of Temperance, Mich., is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. R. Fellows, at the lighthouse. She will remain for a week.

Mrs. Wm. Lamon and daughter Thelma returned to town yesterday, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Slugg at Happy Days.

Masters Ray and Orme Wilson, of Detroit, and Morley Fielder, enjoyed a picnic at the Eau yesterday.

Misses Annie and Bertha Crow, of Emma street, and Miss Marie Chambers, spent yesterday pleasantly.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sherer and Miss Sherer, of Cleveland, are stopping at the Lake View House.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stevens and Mr. Frank Stevens, of Cleveland, arrived yesterday for a fortnight's stay.

Mrs. Charlie McDonald and daughters Constance, Lennie and Mary, of Dawson City, arrived on Friday to visit Mrs. McDonald's sister, Mrs. H. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Carvell, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Tanjet and niece, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Anthony, of Cleveland, Mrs. M. E. Sudworth and G. M. Sudworth, of Ann Arbor, arrived on Thursday for a pleasant holiday at the Bungalow.

Miss S. M. G. Ferguson, of Blenheim, is visiting with friends here.

Misses Pearl and Lydia VanDusen were charming little guests at the Eau on Friday.

Miss Candice Foxton and her friend, Miss Mollie McArthur, of Morlin, are spending the week at the Bungalow.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. McKishnie and Phyllis enjoyed the fishing and boating at the Eau yesterday.

Robert Ross, of Chicago, A. D. McDonald and Charles Grant, of Detroit, are enjoying the lake breezes here.

The following guests are registered at the Bungalow: Dr. and Mrs. Bennett, of Bessemer, Mich., Misses Margaret and Bertha Bennett, of Rondout, W. H. Braddon and P. R. Bradon, of London, H. W. Edmunds, J. F. Miles, A. B. Vester, of Blenheim, S. L. Crozier, of Detroit, R. Crozier, of Chatham, and Charles J. Powell, of London, England.

Need Any Stove Repairs?

Look over your stoves carefully and see whether they need any repairs. Far better to get them now than to wait until the stove season arrives and everything is in a whirl and it is impossible for us to get the repairs from the makers in time. This is the slack time for them and they are sure to fill the orders promptly.

It matters not what repairs your stove or furnace needs, let us know.

Will you take a few minutes to examine them now?

MILLIONS FOR CARS

The G. T. R. Will Soon Have Spent $7,000,000 This Year for Coaches and Engines.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Montreal, July 24.—With the daily delivery of engines, passenger coaches and freight cars, the Grand Trunk Railway is rapidly approaching the day when the last of nearly $7,000,000 worth of rolling stock will have been received by them during the present year. There were in all about sixty passenger coaches ordered, costing about $12,000 each, laid down in Montreal, which makes a total of $720,000. Thirty of these have already been delivered.

There were 100 engines ordered, and of these sixty have been received. The average cost is $15,000 each, or an aggregate of $1,500,000.

The tremendous increase in freight traffic may be imagined by the delivery of 4,500 up-to-date cars. The order was for 5,200, and the average cost is $1,400 each, so that the great sum of $4,420,000 is being spent for freight cars alone. With the daily delivery of many of these the G. T. R. people are hoping to get well on the way to lift the present congestion.—Toronto News, July 24, 1907.

WESTERN FAIR

The Western Fair of London, Ont., gives promise of surpassing all previous exhibitions in ever respect. The buildings in the different departments are rapidly filling up. The live stock exhibits will, without doubt, produce the best to be found in Ontario, while some entries have already been made by exhibitors from a distance.

The Dairy Department and Butter-making Competition will still continue to be an interesting feature of the exhibition.

The program of attractions prepared will far exceed anything ever before presented by the Association. Knecht's airship alone should bring thousands of people. The Dog Show, the pigeon flight and all the other special features, including the fireworks, must be seen to be appreciated.

For full particulars, programs, prices and all other information address the Secretary, A. M. Hunt, General Offices, London, Ont. Remember the dates, Sept. 6th to 14th.

RIDGLEY'S REPRISAL.

By Edna Kerr.

Copyrighted, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

Herbert Morrow, bent and careworn, passed the parlor door. His daughter Daisy smiled up at him as he glanced at her in passing, but the smile turned into a sigh as the bowed figure vanished.

"Is the run on the bank serious?" asked Degnon. "Your father looks very bad."

"I am afraid that it is serious," she answered. She was engaged to Degnon and trusted his discretion.

"I saw the evening papers," he said, "but I thought that it was just a sensational playing up of an incident. May I go in and see Mr. Morrow?"

"I wish you would," she said. "I seem so helpless. I think he would like to talk it over with a man."

The banker looked up wearily as Degnon entered the library. He liked this clean-cut young chap, who had come to Montreal to take charge of the electric plant. Degnon went directly to the matter at issue.

"I have come to see if I can be of any service," he began. "I have some $20,000 that I can get hold of by tomorrow."

"Too little, but I thank you, my boy," said the president of the Union bank. "Is there no way out?" persisted Degnon. "Just how does the matter stand?"

"It is a plot of Ridgley's," began the banker. "It cannot be proven, but he practically owns the Provident Savings bank as well as the First National."

"That is news to me," said Degnon. "And to most others. For some reason Ridgley does not want his connection with the Provident bank known."

Now, just at present there is a heavy demand for money on short time loans. The high rates of interest have led both the Provident and my own bank, the Union, to send all of our surplus to the city banks. Ridgley sees his chance to put me out of business by starting a run. He knows that there is not enough money in either bank to meet a run, but the First National will help the Provident. I shall have to suspend until I can recall the money on deposit in the city."

"NO TAKA DA MOR," EXPLAINED THE ITALIAN.

"I think I see," mused Degnon. "Both banks need money. The Provident can get it from its sister bank. Your Union will have to admit its inability to pay depositors. They turn shaky about your bank and go to the rival institution."

"That's part of the scheme. The rest is this: Next week the interest accrues. If there is a run and the money is withdrawn, this interest is lost to the depositor. The First National will get the use of the money until the scare is over. They announced tonight that their interest would be paid. When the scare is over they will cut off the interest and send the money back to their savings bank, while in the meantime the standing of my bank is lost."

"There is just one thing to be done," said Degnon, producing a blank form. "Put electricity into your bank."

"How will that help?" asked the banker. "It is a sign of enterprise, but I am afraid in a few days I shall have no bank to light."

Degnon smiled.

"I have an idea," he explained. "I think it is a good one."

With trembling hand Morrow signed the contract, and Degnon rose to go. In the hall he stopped to say good night to Daisy and explain that he had to see some one on business on his way home; hence his haste.

The same one was the mayor's secretary, and as a result of the visit a permit was issued the following morning as soon as the office opened to tear up the street for the purpose of installing the light service in the Union bank.

Already a little knot of depositors had gathered in front of the two savings banks when the construction gang put in an appearance. The First National, in which Ridgley was silently interested, occupied a corner building, and the Union Morrow's bank, adjoining it. Ridgley's savings bank, the Provident, stood diagonally opposite, and it was in front of the Provident that the men began to dig to tap the main feeder. The men worked stolidly on, unmindful of the excitement around them. At the Union, Morrow was paying off slowly to defer the announcement of suspension, in the hope that help might come. At the Provident, on the other hand, an extra force kept the line moving briskly, paying off as rapidly as the money could be counted out.

Clerks were busy bringing up money from the vaults downstairs, and over in the First National other clerks were receiving the money and opening new accounts. Ridgley had devised the scheme as reprisal against Morrow. His son had been Daisy's favored suitor until Degnon had stepped in and cut him out. Ridgley had not forgiven the banker for the fancied slight and, with his usual business instinct, was making his revenge profitable.

It was nearly noon when a clerk dashed out of the Provident and hurried into the First National. In a moment he came out again, accompanied by Ridgley himself. They were making their way to the Provident through the crowd when suddenly Ridgley stopped at the edge of the excavation.

One of the laborers, an Italian, was working with a crowbar at the bottom of the pit, seeking to dislodge the bar from some obstruction it had encountered. Ridgley shouted excitedly to the man, who smiled pleasantly into his face and began to climb out of the pit. The crowd left the line and crowded around the opening. The Italian was waving his permit, blandly confident of his rights, and in his excitement Ridgley could not make himself understood. At last the Italian seemed to comprehend and, dropping back in through the obstruction, proudly handing out a bulky cylinder, now gaping wide to show its load of crisp bills.

"No taka da mor!" explained the Italian. "Hones' man. Ver' hones' man. No taka da men."

In a flash the crowd understood. The Provident was meeting the run by paying out money sent under the street from the First National. The money was making an endless chain, being paid out over and over again. Half a dozen men in the crowd began to explain how the bank was profiting by the evasion of interest, and Ridgley retired hurriedly. With the crowd in its present temper he was not anxious to be within its reach. A little talk would precipitate a riot.

But Degnon had planned skillfully, and his orators talked just enough to check the run on the Union. There were muttered threats, but the drain was stopped, and a back flow of depositors was started toward the Union. Ridgley's reprisal had proved a boomerang.

That evening Degnon explained to Daisy and her father his inspiration. "I was looking over the installation in the First National," he told them, "and I saw that there was a pipe of the pneumatic system that led out of the building."

"I thought it odd at the time, and when you spoke of the relations between the two banks I realized the game. They could shift the money back and forth as it was needed, and no one was the wiser. I got a permit to open the street and drove a crowbar through the pipe. That was all."

"I should like to give something to that Italian foreman," said Daisy. "You might give him a kiss," suggested Degnon. "At college I was one of the stars of the dramatic club."

"You were the foreman?" cried Daisy. "You shall have a dozen kisses." And she made no protest at Degnon's prompt collection.

The Round Robin.
The "round robin" has its origin several centuries ago in France.

It was used by officers of the army as a method of expressing their dissatisfaction with the course of the king or his ministers. By signing in a circular form the leaders of the movement could not be ascertained and singled out for punishment.

The first instance on record of the use of this form of protest in the navy occurred in 1625. At the instigation of the Duke of Buckingham, the King's favorite, an English fleet, under Admiral Bennington, was dispatched to Rochelle to assist in the coercion of the Protestant subjects of Louis XIII. of France. But the French countrymen, backed with favor upon the resistance of their colleagues against the proselyting zeal of the French king, and they signed a "round robin" expressing their determination not to fire a shot against them, and without waiting for a reply they weighed anchor and brought their ships back to England. The admiral, however, received a peremptory order to return to Dieppe, whereupon the whole of the crews quitted the ships without further parley.—London Standard.

Effect of Imagination.
When Sir Joseph Fayer was with his ship in the Bahamas he landed on an island, left the boat on shore and went inland exploring. Presently, to his dismay, he saw the boat drifting out to sea. He rushed down to the water's edge, divested himself of all but some cotton underclothing and plunged in. As he swam something appeared to seize his leg, and he remembered in an instant that the sea swarmed with sharks. He nearly sunk with horror, fully persuaded that his leg was gone. But, mastering his fear, he swam on to the boat. Then he found that his alarm had been caused by a tape with which his underclothing was tied beneath the knee. It had come unfastened, and the supposed shark bite was only a wet tape winding and unwinding about his leg.

other side of the card-board paste the square containing the cross, having the cross face outward.

Now attach a string to the two opposite sides of the card-board.

Fasten the two free ends of the string to your thumbs. Then twist the piece of card-board around and around until the string is wound tightly. Upon releasing the card-board it will spin around rapidly until the string is unwound. While turning you will be surprised to see, instead of a heart and a cross, one figure—that of a cross inside of a heart, such as the picture shows you.—Philadelphia North American.

A LITTLE DEAD BIRD.
How the Boy Felt Who Shot and Laid Low a Golden Pheasant.

The celebrated Russian novelist, Turgenoff, tells a touching incident from his own life, which awakened in him sentiments that have colored all his writings.

When he was a boy of ten his father took him out one day bird shooting. As they tramped across the brown stubble a golden pheasant rose with a low whirr from the ground at his feet, and with the joy of the sportsman he raised his gun and fired, wild with excitement when the creature fell fluttering at his side. Life was ebbing fast, but the instinct of the mother was stronger than death itself, and with a flutter of her wings the mother bird reached the nest where her young brood was huddled, unconscious of danger, says a writer in Our Dumb Animals. Then, with such a look of pleading and reproach that his heart stood still at the ruin he had wrought (and never to his dying day did he forget the feeling of guilt that came to him at that moment, the little brown head toppled over, and only the dead body of the mother shielded her nestlings.

"Father, father," he cried, "what have I done?" as he turned his horror-stricken face to his father. But not to his father's eye had this tragedy been enacted, and he said: "Well done, my son. That was well done for your first shot. You will be a fine sportsman."

"Never, father. Never again shall I destroy any living creature. If that is sport, I will have none of it. Life is more beautiful to me than death, and since I cannot give life I will not take it."

Symbolic Precious Stones.
The list of precious stones belonging to the different months and the sentiment of each are as follows: January, garnet; constancy; February, amethyst; sincerity; March, bloodstone; courage; April, diamond; innocence; May, emerald; success in love; June, agate; health and long life; July, carnelian; content; August, sardonyx; married happiness; September, chrysolite; antidote to madness; October, opal; hope; November, topaz; fidelity; December, turquoise; prosperity.

Pro-cess, Prog-ress, Proc-ess.
The editor wishes to caution the boys and girls against falling into the common error of mispronouncing these three words: pro-cess, prog-ress and proc-ess. The o is short in each of them, and the syllables are divided as in the heading of this paragraph.—Chicago News.

A Bad Twist.
There was a boy in school who was chewing gum and had his feet out in the aisle. His teacher said, "Johnny, take the gum out of your mouth and put your feet in."

The Daisy.
"I am only a poor little daisy," it said, "Not tall like the lily, nor like the rose red."

Mid the flowers of the wealthy I never am seen;
I have only to blossom each day on the green.

"The violet has fragrance, the rose and the pink;
The primrose is sweet by the river's green brink;
The gold of the cowslip is bright on the meadow."

All these have a sweetness not granted to me."

But into the meadows a child strayed one day.
She passed by the lily and rose on the way.
Nor gathered the primrose, the violet blue,
But went to the field where the small daisy grew.

And all through the hours of that bright sunny day
Where the sweet daisy blossomed she lingered to play.
And the daisy was glad when, at even's soft fall,
She said that its blossom was sweetest of all.

THE QUEEN OF THE NORTH.

(Written for Dominion Day, July 1, 1907.)

O Canada, thouondrous land,
Our heritage and home;
A fairer one can ne'er be found,
Though o'er the world we roam.
High-throned on earth's primeval rocks,
The North Star on thy brow;
A moral glory is thy crown,
A very Queen art thou.

From broad Pacific's sun-kissed waves,
To stern Atlantic's shore,
Even to the mystic untrod North,
Thy rule extendeth o'er.
This vast "Dominion" is thine own,
None may dispute thy claim—
To hold it firm 'gainst every foe
Be this thy steadfast aim.

Thy flag is Britain's triple cross,
With Maple Leaf bedight;
And 'neath its folds thy stalwart sons
Will aye maintain thy right.
This proud inheritance they'll hold,
With never quailing heart;
And surely prove to all the world,
"Queen of the North" thou art.

Lead of our faith, our hope, and love,
Upon thy natal day;
This tribute homage of our hearts
Now at thy feet we lay;
And pledge ourselves, should foes assail,
In sacred ranks we'll stand;
And as in past, even unto death,
Defend our matchless land.

Thy destiny, O Canada,
No prophet can foresee;
Yet if but true unto thyself,
Most glorious it must be.
Then rise, O Queen, thy future grasp;
Let not thy sceptre fall,
Till 'mid the nations thou shalt stand,
The noblest of them all.

Watford, Ont. —Samuel Whitte.

GROWTH OF THE WEST.
Grain Areas Doubled—Census Shows Big Increase in Population.

The Census and Statistics Department has issued a bulletin on the progress of the Northwest Provinces from 1870 to 1906. In 1870 Manitoba had a population of 12,238; in 1881 the population of Manitoba and the Territories was 106,681. This included Indians. There was an area of 56,971 acres in wheat. In 1891 the population was 219,306, and the area of wheat 1,010,430 acres. In 1906 the three provinces now constituted had a population of 418,512, and on June 24, 1906, they had 808,863, being an increase in five years of 389,351 as compared with the increase of 300,207 in the ten years, 1891-1901.

The area in wheat in 1906 was 2,495,466 acres, in barley 162,557 acres, and in oats 833,390, an aggregate yield of 43,000,000 bushels. The area in wheat, barley and oats, increased from 3,491,413 acres in 1900 to 6,025,190 acres in 1906, and to 7,915,470 acres in 1906. The yield in wheat three crops increased from 43,269,684 bushels in 1900, to 152,244,929 bushels in 1905, and to 240,459,068 bushels in 1906. The number of farms increased from 31,515 in 1891, to 54,625 in 1901, and to 130,439 in 1906.

The Dominion of To-Day.
Recently an expatriated Canadian named W. R. Givens, a former resident of Kingston, Ont., wrote to the New York Independent, giving his opinion of the Dominion and its people. Now The New York Sun expresses surprise that anyone should be so ill-informed as Mr. Givens has shown himself to be with respect to conditions in this country. The Sun says editorially:

With the statement of this writer that "there is little real Canadianism in the Dominion, really no such thing as true Canadian spirit," we cannot agree in any way. It does not accord with the facts. The federation of 1867 was the first decisive step in the march of a distinct sentiment of Canadian nationality, and on every later page of the history of the Dominion there is recorded the advance of that sentiment. There is still loyalty to England, as there should be so long as Canada remains even nominally a colony, but Canada's self-government is now virtually absolute, with the exception of treaty-making power and the inherent though infrequently exercised right of her citizens, as British subjects, to appeal from decisions of the Supreme Court to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council of Great Britain. These form only the slenderest of political ties and only a little strain would be needed to break them. Mr. Givens may be an exception, but it is our experience that Canadians as a whole are justly proud of Canada and of their political status as Canadians rather than British subjects, and that they believe in and strive for a Canada which is and shall be for Canadians.

Until recently Canada's growth proceeded at a very moderate pace, and there are to-day fewer people in the entire Dominion than there were in the United States a hundred years ago. Mr. Givens explains this by saying that the young man of Canada "as soon as he is old enough properly to observe promptly shakes the dust of the country off his shoes and gets him to the United States, where a man may be a man before his Canadian time." This was in some measure true twenty years ago, and perhaps also ten years ago. We question the accuracy to-day and believe that such a statement will be quite impossible ten years from now. Canada's development from the year 1873, when France ceded "Canada with all its dependencies" to England, until the federation of 1867 was extremely slow. It was not much more rapid for the next thirty years. About ten years ago the country really began to come into its own, and no careful student of the last decade can deny its wholesome growth to England, until it was so much more rapid and equally wholesome growth to come.

PATERSON'S COUGH DROPS

THEY WILL CURE
LAWYERS IN ENGLAND.

The Difference Between the Barrister and the Solicitor.

The barrister in England is the very salt of the earth. He it is who makes the laws, who goes into parliament, who sits on the bench, who considers himself seven or eight degrees higher up in the social scale than any other poor or middle class mortal, and with all this he has absolutely no responsibility toward his clients. That ancient much abused thing called custom in this country has created for the law two separate and distinct limbs, which may be compared in a measure to the life of the bee. One is the drone and the other the queen. The drone is the solicitor, who sits in an office working up a case, consulting clients, drawing bills, controlling estate transactions and controlling the incomes of people who are unfortunate enough to be saddled under the trust deeds. The solicitor, who has his own tradition to work out, does not ever get to himself any glory whatever. Except in police and county court cases, he is persona non grata, or, in the words of the judges, "he is not seen." If he has a case on hand, he is obliged to take it to a barrister, who, though he may never have heard of the matter in dispute before, dons his wig and gown, proceeds into court and argues till all is black and blue, as if he knew all about it, for which he draws a most prodigious fee, quite big enough to enable him to appear nicely mounted in the row every morning. If he spoils the case, there is no chance for redress, because the barrister is merely a gentleman whom fiction positively assumes to be a friend in need. All the onus of failure falls upon the poor solicitor. There are no barristers in prison, but there are a good many solicitors who wear the broad arrow, which is the trademark of his majesty's prisons. The solicitor remains the old time family adviser, to whom all sorts of foolish people bring their trust deeds, their stock certificates, their government bonds and all such documents which have a tendency to lead them into temptation, and that is why all many solicitors, when they need money, find it impossible to resist the desire to take that which is not theirs—London Letter in Town and Country.

BALLOONS IN WARFARE.

Britain at the Hague Conference Opposes Their Use.

The Hague, Aug. 9.—The question of projectiles thrown from balloons has served to show that whereas in 1899, the idea was treated with contempt, to-day the seriousness of the possibilities of practical results are keenly appreciated.

An Italian proposition that steerable balloons must be in the hands of military experts, chosen as the best, received 21 votes, and was referred to the editing committee.

England opposed the idea of aerial warfare. By dominating on the sea, she is supreme in one direction, but if warfare in the air be added it might easily be possible that she would dominate in only one of the three elements.

A number of Armenian agitators have arrived to memorialize the delegates.

GUELPH MASHER WANTED.

Claimed to Have Taken Horse and Rig to Elora.

Guelph, Aug. 9.—There is a warrant issued for the arrest of the man Ed. Hornbush, who dined on Monday evening with Mrs. Streeter, a fair-haired woman of about 35 years, who left her husband and four children, the eldest only seven years old. The warrant for the arrest is not, however, in connection with the disappearance of the woman's husband, but is on a charge of horse-stealing.

Mrs. Streeter, having hired from Smith's livery at 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning a horse and rig, picked Hornbush up on the outskirts of the city and they disappeared.

GRAVITATION.

Wonderful and Far Reaching Effects Upon the World.

"The effects of gravitation are so familiar as to demand only the briefest mention, yet most of us perhaps seldom stop to consider how far reaching these effects are," says Dr. Henry Smith Williams. "But for gravitation the winds would not blow, the waters would not descend, and the mountains would not crumble into the valleys. Each particle of pulverized rock would remain where it was formed, and there would be no such thing as a mixed soil."

"But as matters are actually arranged gravitation is perpetually active, and every particle of matter is being eternally tugged at and urged to get nearer to the earth's center. So no sooner does a fragment of rock at a mountain crest become loosened than gravitation hurries it crashing down into the valley, shattering it into fragments perhaps or at the least grinding off some portions of its surface as well as of the surface of the rocks against which it is dashed."

"By such means (and with the further aid of its handmaidens, wind and water, gravitation works its unceasing purpose of leveling the surface of the earth. In a few brief geological moments it rounds the shoulders of the highest mountain, and, given time enough, it will bring every particle of rock back to the sea bed, whence it originally sprang. Short of that, as a transition stage, it is forever mixing the different soil constituents on the one hand and sorting them out again on the other."—Appleton's.

FINE SPIDER THREADS.

Cultivated Especially For the Use of Astronomers.

The cultivation of certain species of spiders solely for the fine threads which they weave for scientific uses has an important bearing upon astronomy.

No substitute for the spider's thread has yet been found for bisecting the screw of the micrometer used for determining the positions and motions of the stars. Not only because of the remarkable fineness of the threads are they valuable, but because of their durable qualities.

The threads of certain spiders raised for astronomical purposes withstand changes in temperature, so that often in measuring sun spots they are uninjured when the heat is so great that the lenses of the micrometer eyepiece are cracked.

These spider lines are only one-fifth to one-seventh of a thousandth of an inch in diameter, compared with which the threads of the silk worm are large and clumsy.

Each line is made up of several thousands of microscopic streams of fluid. Under the most powerful magnifying glass they appear true and round.

The work of placing these lines in the micrometer requires the delicate touch of experts, who operate with the aid of microscopes which magnify the line a thousand times. The lines are placed parallel with each other and two one-thousandths of an inch apart.

Buying Cooked Food.

In France it is a common thing for the wife to be out at work as well as the husband. From this circumstance, no doubt, have developed the facilities that country affairs for obtaining ready cooked food outside the home. Whole meals can be purchased outside, and they are very good meals too. A whole fowl or a half one or a smaller portion can be bought hot or cold, from the roaster. Soups and salads can be bought in the same way, and in shops where eggs are sold there is always a basket of red eggs as well as white ones, the red color being used to indicate that the eggs are cooked. All these things are sold at prices "within the reach of all," and in many homes scarcely any attempt is made to do cooking.

Belgium Blows Its Horn.

Belgium, like many continental countries, has its national bond of advertising. The state, owning, as it does, the railways, made everything in its power to increase the passenger traffic, and so England and the adjacent countries are extensively placarded with posters showing Belgium's beauty and pleasure spots. The principal attractions are Ostend and its casino, and the pictorial records of this resort have adorned the boardings of England for many years past.—London Graphic.

Chileans Are Mongrels.

There is a good deal of mongrel about Chilean society. Chileans will tell you that they are descended from old Spanish families, but the old Spanish families were mostly turned out or massacred in the revolution against Spain, which arose mainly out of the wrongs of the mongrels. The descent, in short, usually includes a slave native Indian woman years back, and the two types have mixed well, with handsome, but very fiery results.—Exchange.

Moved Just in Time.

Brookville, Aug. 9.—Fred Loomis, who lives with James Baker in Dexter, made a lucky move between 4 and 5 o'clock Wednesday morning when he concluded it was time for him to get out of bed and go downstairs. A few minutes later Loomis' bed was splintered by lightning. The house was struck, a small portion of the roof torn off, and the rafters and attic floor shattered.

OF STYLIZED LINGERIE—5597, 5578.

dered with straw are the thing in Paris. They might at first call forth Petreuch's derisive question, "Call you this a cap?" but they are said to look jaunty with a jacket of yellow plique.

Very wide elastic belts in both black and white are studded with cut steel. Some belts are elaborately jeweled, and when worn with a two-piece costume give to the waist the graceful lines so much sought after in the princess model.

Hand painted blouses are among the smart novelties of the mode with rilet but used as a trimming. Often chints patterns are cut out and applied on the blouse, united by scroll work in rather heavy silks. Sometimes a true lover's knot is employed for the joining.

The frock illustrated is carried out in striped linen. One of the latest Eton jackets is used in this design. The trimming is of fancy braid.

FORECAST OF FASHION.

Vogue of Bordered Materials—Hats—Pins Ornamental and Useful.

Bordered materials are shown in some of the lightest and blindest fabrics. When the border is wide and the design elaborate, the plain plaited skirt is the best model of all, but the narrow borders are frequently cut off and used as headings, bringing about many original and charming effects.

The useful hatpin has come to be used largely as an ornament. Elastic supplies its place in hats which are likely to be harmed by constant pinning. The pin heads are more ornate.

Gray ponce petticoats are a good investment, as they wear like iron, wash beautifully, and are light as a feather. A petticoat of ribbon is a novelty. Pompadour ribbon was used in one seen recently. The skirt is in alternate stripes of ribbon and lace insertion.

Many women who think their shirt waist suit is neatly made pay too little attention to the opening at the cuff. Unless this is finished neatly the waist looks slovenly.

Illustrated is a dainty model for a froul gown of white silk with a green dot. The bodice is trimmed with taffeta overlaid with applique of cream lace, and the chemise is of silk net.

Princess Style Smart For Lingerie.

Frocks—Cretonne Mob Caps.

The majority of the handsomest lingerie frocks are made in princess style. Bylet work is conspicuous in their trimming. Among the most popular faces for these gowns is Irish crochet, and cluny is not far behind in favor.

Most really smart lingerie dresses combine two or even three kinds of laces, including valencienne. The coarse Irish crochet motifs continue to be popular enough to keep all of crocheting Ireland with its fingers dyed to supply the demand.

ECZEMA COVERED HANDS 11 YEARS

Cracked and Bleeding in Many Places—Became so Bad that Nail Came Off Finger—Tried Many Remedies and Consulted Three Doctors, but Got No Relief—Now Cured and Is Very Proud of Having Tried CUTICURA REMEDIES

PROUD OF HAVING TRIED CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I had eczema on my hands for about eleven years. The hands cracked open in many places and bled. One of my fingers was so bad that the nail came off. I had often heard of cures by the Cuticura Remedies, but had no confidence in them as I had tried so many remedies, and they all failed to cure me. I had seen three doctors, but got no relief. Finally my husband said that we would try the Cuticura Remedies, so we got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent Pills. Of course I kept Cuticura Soap all the time for my hands. But the one cake of Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment cured them. It is surely a blessing for me to have my hands well, and I am very proud of having tried Cuticura Remedies, and recommend them to all suffering with eczema. Mrs. Eliza A. Wiley, R. F. SCHOOL BOOK PRICES.

Reduction Which Now Applies to Readers.

Toronto, Aug. 8.—Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, announces that owing to the report of the Text Book Commission having been only recently received, and the fact that several text books on one subject are on the authorized list, the difficulties consequently connected with agreements and copyrights, and the necessity for giving due notice to the trade, the Department has not yet been able to secure what it would consider sufficiently adequate reductions in the prices of the books now authorized for the high schools and public schools, except, as has been announced, in the case of the Ontario readers. These are now obtainable at the new prices, as follows:

First Reader, Part I, five cents.
First Reader, Part II, seven cents.
Second Reader, nine cents.
Third Reader, thirteen cents.
Fourth Reader, fifteen cents.
The publisher selling to any purchaser for use in Ontario shall allow the following discounts:

(a) On one or more copies of any book, 25 per cent. off the prescribed retail price.
(b) On quantities of the value of $250 and upwards at retail prices (the said purchase being made of any quantity of any or all of the said books, and in any proportion the purchaser may desire), 25 per cent. off the prescribed retail price, and an extra ten per cent. thereafter.

Early in October next, the contents and prices of the list of books now in use in the schools will be revised, and arrangements made for the publication of such text-books as may be required.

LIFE'S HIGHEST JOY

FOUND IN PERSONAL CONSECRATION AND PERSONAL SERVICE.

SOME REASONS FOR GLADNESS

God's Presence Gives Assurance of Security—Selfish Motives Must Be Eliminated—Love the Most Potent Factor—True Religion Never Dull—Self-Surrender the Secret of All True Joy.

Entered according to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year 1907, by Frederick Dyer, Toronto, at the Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 4.—In this sermon the preacher shows that the highest joy of life is not to be found in the pleasures of the senses, but in personal consecration and active Christian service. The text is Philippians iv, 4, "Rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say, Rejoice."

An aged minister once said to me: "The entire character of my preaching has changed with my advancing years. As a young man I used to preach the law of God, the wrath of God, on the warnings against sin and on the awful picture of the lake of fire drawn by St. John in the Apocalypse. But as I grew older I found my favorite texts in the tender passages of the Psalms, in the loving words of Christ to his disciples as drawn by the beloved disciple and in the eloquent exhortation on charity or love by the Apostle Paul. I find that the nearer I come to heaven the more my heart burns with an unutterable desire to see Christ's face and to have a part in the never ending reunion of the redeemed, and therefore the less I think about the terrors of the judgment. Faith to me is becoming more and more the substance of things hoped for, and I am looking forward to peace and joy rather than backward at the drawn sword of the avenging angel standing at the gate of paradise." These are not the exact words of my venerable friend, but they convey the substance of his thought. Truly what this aged man said about his ministerial life every minister who is a genuine Christian in his years feels as his soul grows purer and richer in spiritual development. More and more he loves to preach about the joys of the gospel rather than about the destruction that is inevitable to one who leads a sinful life.

Paul's letter to the Philippians was written near the close of his life. He had passed beyond the carnal part of his religious experience. He does not now think so much of Christ presiding in judgment as he does of the Jesus of salvation. He does not dwell much on the leading flames of the bottomless pit as he longs for the songs of Moses and the Lamb and is thrilled at the thought of all the mercies and blessings with which Jesus will welcome him. Thus he comes to us not groaning a dirge, but singing a hymn of praise. He comes to us with joy smiling upon his lip, with joy shining forth from his eye, with joy throbbing in his heart and with joy in his congratulatory handshake. He comes to us with a rapturous exhortation as he bids us take an inventory of our spiritual possessions. He says, "Rejoice in the Lord always." Then, as though he had not made this gospel salutation emphatic enough, he repeats his words as he says, "Again I say, Rejoice." Now, to-day I am not going to talk to those who look upon the cross of Jesus Christ only as a means of escaping the horrors of eternal anguish, but I am going to talk to those who have so developed in the Christian life that their gospel faith is a pleasure and a joy and a never ending consolation. As I speak to you to-day I shall tell you why you should rejoice in the Lord always and why you should come to him with never ending praise and with eternal thanksgiving.

My Christian brother, you of the deeper and holier religious experience, you should in the first place rejoice in the Lord always at the brink of the grave, but he is a friend so near that you can whisper to him and he will hear you. He is so near that you can put out your hand as a little tottering child, and he will grasp that hand and keep you from falling. He is so near that, like a loving mother, he will guard you when you are asleep, and he will greet you with a smile when you awake in the morning. He will go with you to the breakfast table. He will follow you in the street and stand with you by the store counter. He is an ever present, tender and loving and self-sacrificing that he is willing to surrender all and do all if he can in any way help you in your struggle of life. He is not an absent friend a thousand miles away who is going to meet you by appointment at the brink of the grave, but he is a friend so near that you can whisper to him and he will hear you. He is so near that you can put out your hand as a little tottering child, and he will grasp that hand and keep you from falling. He is so near that, like a loving mother, he will guard you when you are asleep, and he will greet you with a smile when you awake in the morning. He will go with you to the breakfast table. He will follow you in the street and stand with you by the store counter. He is an ever present, tender and loving and self-sacrificing that he is willing to surrender all and do all if he can in any way help you in your struggle of life.

You know what the power of a sanctified and holy and purified human friendship means. Years ago, in the dawn of young manhood, there came into your life a young girl. You thought you loved her at the time. You did not believe you could ever love any one more. But you did not truly know what love was. Life for you at the time was a picnic in the woods. You thought mostly about what you were to eat and drink and where you were to live and what jolly companions were to be your associates. You married that girl. When you married her you thought your honeymoon was to be the never ending life of a bee in a flower garden, finding nectar wherever you went. But that honeymoon was of very short duration. After awhile came the struggles of life and the storms and the bitter trials. Then that merry companion of your youth changed. She stood by your side in the crisis. She stood near you in the sickroom. When death invaded your home her hand joined yours in placing the flowers about the open casket. She literally poured out her life for you.

Now, in the evening twilight of life, it is not so much the beautiful face that you love, or the merry laugh, or the golden curls, but it is the tender, true, faithful heart of that woman by your side who has shared your troubles as well as doubled your joys. Though she may not talk of love as much now as she did when a girl, yet you are never happy unless she is in touch with you. When evening comes and you are sitting by the library table, the book is never interesting, nor does the fire in the hearth burn brightly enough, nor do the children play right, unless she is on the other side of that table. You have been married for a quarter of a century, you know what it is to have a devoted, unselfish companion by your side. You know what it is to have that pour out its life's blood for you. Like the aged poet, you can sing this sweet love song in your old age:

Oh, not even when first we loved
Wert thou as dear as now thou art;
Thy beauty then my senses moved,
But now thy virtues bind my heart.

Although my heart in earlier youth
Might kindle with more wild desire,
Believe me, it has gained in truth
Much more than it has lost in fire.

The flame now warms my inmost core.
That then but sparkled o'er my brow,
And, though I seemed to love thee more,
Yet, oh, I love thee better now!

Well, that is my idea of the Christian life. In the beginning we accepted Christ from selfish motives. Perhaps we were in some great religious meeting, and the evangelist was picturing the terrors of the lost. We became so frightened that we gripped the church pew for fear we should fall over the precipice of eternal doom. But after we accepted Christ with such a low motive the Christ love began to grow upon us. We saw how he has been protecting us and how he has been leading us. We see in another place how he has clothed and fed us. When death came into our home we saw his great fears of compassion and love. Even in our financial distress or social bereavement he was always by our side. Then we began to realize how good and kind and loving he is. As we grow in grace we are never happy unless we feel his presence near. We talk to him as we do to a dear friend. We find ourselves saying, "Jesus, thou knowest best. Then art leading me. O Master, thy love passeth all understanding. Keep me close to thy heart. Let me never stray away from thy touch." Church members, are you strangers to the rapturous joy of the close companionship of this dear friend? Then you have never reached the higher development of the Christian life. Believe me, there is something yet for you to pray for and struggle for in your Christian experience. Do not think to-day of Christ as an enemy. Think of Jesus as an ever present, ever loving, ever loving friend. That can be one of your greatest joys of the Christian life. He can be a friend who will never leave your side.

But the true Christian finds in the higher spiritual life more than this divine companionship. No sooner does he truly become one with Christ than we enter into the elevating associations of the best and purest men and women living upon the face of the earth to-day. We enter into a holy association with those who have felt the divine touch and who have been stamped with the divine image. These children of God are different from all other men and women, for they are radiating with the power of the spirit filled life.

"But," says some church member, "I do not want to live in a prayer meeting all the time. I do not want to be singing psalm tunes morning, noon and night. Sanctified people may be all right in their places, but a steady diet of 'angel food' nauseates the stomach. I like to frolic and play other kinds of games, and I like to like to hunt. Indeed, I like just as much as I did twenty years ago. In other words, I like to do something besides going to church and talking about the Bible and foreign and home missions. So do some people like to play. So do some people like to keep God. My God says, 'I will save these, and through these I will save thy children.' He speaks to me exactly as he spoke to Abraham of old. He promises that if we will teach our children about him, if we set them a good example, we will make them in prayer to God, we will take care of them and make them his children."

The chief trouble with our spiritual experience is that we do not come near enough to Jesus Christ. We do not give ourselves up in our entirety to his service. The reason that we find the spiritual life a burden, an irritant and a troublesome duty is because we are not developed high enough in the gospel graces. My brother, the great trouble with your religious life is that you are like a timid bather on the beach. You are afraid to go in too deep, and you are afraid to let your head go under. You are afraid to let your feet go under. You are afraid to let your hands go under. You are afraid to let your heart go under. You are afraid to let your soul go under. You are afraid to let your life go under. You are afraid to let your love go under. You are afraid to let your faith go under. You are afraid to let your hope go under. You are afraid to let your joy go under. You are afraid to let your peace go under. You are afraid to let your happiness go under. You are afraid to let your life go under. You are afraid to let your love go under. You are afraid to let your faith go under. You are afraid to let your hope go under. You are afraid to let your joy go under. You are afraid to let your peace go under. You are afraid to let your happiness go under. You are afraid to let your life go under. You are afraid to let your love go under. You are afraid to let your faith go under. You are afraid to let your hope go under. You are afraid to let your joy go under. You are afraid to let your peace go under. You are afraid to let your happiness go under. You are afraid to let your life go under. You are afraid to let your love go under. You are afraid to let your faith go under. You are afraid to let your hope go under. You are afraid to let your joy go under. You are afraid to let your peace go under. You are afraid to let your happiness go under. You are afraid to let your life go under. You are afraid to let your love go under. You are afraid to let your faith go under. You are afraid to let your hope go under. You are afraid to let your joy go under. You are afraid to let your peace go under. You are afraid to let your happiness go under. You are afraid to let your life go under. CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables About Steady—Hogs 15c Lower at Buffalo.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—London cables are steady at 12c to 13c per lb. dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 14c to 15c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Aug. 9.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market, as reported by the railways, for Wednesday and Thursday, were 122 carloads, composed of 1719 cattle, 1190 hogs, 3168 sheep and lambs, with 300 calves, and 3 horses.

Exporters.

Not many exporters were offered. One load was sold by Crawford & Hummel at 12c, and one lot of three, weighing 1300 pounds, was sold by James Corbett at 12c; export bulls sold at 14c to 15c per cwt.

Butchers.

Best loads of butchers were sold at 14c to 15c, and one lot of 14 sold by McDonald & Maclean brought 15c per cwt.; medium, 14c to 15c; common, 13c to 14c; cows, 12c to 13c; canners at 12c to 13c.

Stocks and Feeders.

H. Murby reports not so many of this class offered this week, especially the common and medium kind, although there were plenty to fill the demand, which at this time of the year is never very large. Below are quotations:

Best feeders, 1000 to 1200 lbs., 12c to 13c; medium feeders, 1000 to 1200 lbs., 11c to 12c; best feeders, 700 to 900 lbs., 10c to 11c; medium feeders, 700 to 900 lbs., 9c to 10c; best stockers, 700 to 900 lbs., 8c to 9c; medium stockers, 700 to 900 lbs., 7c to 8c; common stockers, 700 to 900 lbs., 6c to 7c.

Milk Cows.

Trade in milkers and springers was fairly good for the right kind, but common to medium cows are slow to move. One dealer who had several cows of the common kind held them for a week and then had to sell at a loss.

Prices ranged from 12c to 14c, but only one was reported at the latter price. The bulk of the best cows sold at 14c to 15c each.

Veal Calves.

About 300 of the calf kind were on sale, too many of which belonged to the skim milk class. Prices ranged from 12c to 14c per cwt., but few brought the latter price, the bulk selling at 12c to 13c per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts were large over 3000. Export sheep were firmer at 14c to 15c; bucks, 12c to 13c per cwt. Lambs, of which there was a large number and many of poor quality, sold at lower quotations, or an average of 6c per lb. See the different prices quoted below.

Hogs.

Receipts were not large, but Mr. Harris reports prices 15c per cwt. lower. Sows, 14c to 15c, and hogs and fat at 14c per cwt.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Aug. 9.—Cattle—Steady; prices unchanged. Veals—Receipts, 200 head; slow and steady.

Hogs—Receipts, 300 head; slow and steady. Hogs—Receipts, 300 head; slow and steady. Hogs—Receipts, 300 head; slow and steady.

TRAGEDY BECAME REAL.

Man Killed While Posing as Victim in a Railway Wreck.

The rehearsal for biocopic purposes of a "thrilling train-wrecking scene," on the Brighton railway at Purley, ended in tragedy, when a man, William Zeiter, 48, years of age, of Croydon, who was injured while the "plot" was being carried out, died in Croydon Hospital.

The accident has also led to the suspension of the engine-driver and fireman of the train, which played so important a part in the "scene," while the action of Mr. Bromley, the stationmaster at Sloat's Nest Station, who is alleged to be implicated in the matter, is to be inquired into.

The rehearsal was arranged by the proprietors of a film company of Croydon, to whom it occurred that the incidents leading up to a train wreck would prove an excellent show. Accordingly a small party journeyed to Purley in order to pose for a picture.

The performers were a supposed signalman and his wife, a couple of villains, an engine-driver, and a dog. It was arranged that sleepers should be placed on the line in order to wreck the train, that the signalman should detect the miscreants at work, and rush upon them. As the result of an attempt to foil their scheme, he was to be bound, placed on the rails, and left to his fate.

The distress of the signalman's dog, which had been accustomed to carry his dinner to the box, being observed by the man's wife, she was to proceed to investigate matters, and at the psychological moment, when the express train dashed up, she was to rescue her husband.

The plot was carried out and duly recorded by the cinematograph up to a point. The train approached, but instead of pulling up at the pre-arranged spot it came on, with the result that Zeiter was seriously injured.

The obstacles on the line were caught by the guard from the engine and thrown aside, one of the sleepers hitting Zeiter with great force, fracturing his ribs and inflicting a deep wound in his head, the injuries proving fatal.

Company to Investigate. It is stated that the driver, a man named Bodger, of Battersea, did his best to bring his engine to a standstill, but failed on account of the wheels skidding. He applied the brakes, but they were not thoroughly effective. Whether or not the engine-driver was authorized to play the part he did in this demonstration is not known, nor is it clear whether any arrangement was made between him and the cinematograph company.

One thing is certain, however, that the rehearsal was performed without the permission of the Brighton Railway Co., who will make a full investigation as to the extent to which their officials are involved.

The Precious Stones of Australia. Rough diamonds have been found lately in Queensland, one purchased weighing four and one-half carats, while many others weighing from one to five carats have been sold. Diamonds so far found in the State have not been of sufficient value to cause excitement, and this, together with the fact that European and American gem merchants have adjudged them as inferior quality, has discouraged exploration. Sapphires have been found in various places, many of the yellow and green being equal to any produced elsewhere. Recently $1,250 was refused for a rough yellow sapphire, and a large blue one, with a yellow centre, weighing two and one-half carats, brought $2,500. The true rubies have been found of good color, but are small. Hyacinth, zircons weighing twenty-four carats are well known. Zircons, sapphires, topaz, tourmaline and other gems may be picked out of ballast along the railway lines. Olivine is fairly common.

The pearl is the best known of Australian gems and for many years thousands of dollars' worth have been secured in Queensland. The oyster fisheries of Thursday Island have been the chief source of supply, but pearls are found all along the Queensland coast. The opal is pre-eminently the Queensland gem and is found over the entire western district of the State, the total output amounting to more than $1,250,000. The moonstone, emeralds, agate, amethyst, asteriated, aventurine, beryl, jade, jasper, bloodstone, or heliophane, calcareous, bloodstone, chalcedony, chrysoprase, citrine, hyaline, jasper, moss agate, morion, onyx, plasma, prase, rose crystal, rose quartz, selenite, sard, sardonyx, and water bubble complete the list.

Housewife's Talk. A woman who once wore a pedometer to find out how much walking she did in the house discovered that under the most favorable conditions she traveled 7.25 miles daily in her household tasks. If the 33 1/3 per cent of unnecessary steps, or 2.44 miles of daily travel, had been added, calculates the Delineator, she would have walked in one year in doing her housework more than 3,500 miles.

People thinking of taking a trip to the Muskoka Lakes should travel via the C. P. R. new line. Summer tourist rates on sale daily. For further particulars ask C. P. R. ticket agent, corner King and Fifth streets.

SERVICEABLE BAGS.

How They May Be Made Out of Remnants For Home Use.

After the sewing season there are always odd scraps left that are seemingly worthless, yet can be inexpensively made up into dainty and useful articles for decorating the home, if one only knows how.

Take a square of white elderdown, a material likely to be on hand in any house where there is a baby. It is the very thing to make into a carriage robe for spring and early summer use.

The corners should be rounded off and then all four sides bound with strips of wash silk, fine printed organ-dy or any other washable fabric. Featherstitching in a dainty color may be added to this binding.

A second square of wash goods lining the elderdown will make a pretty fresh looking robe and an agreeable substitute for the heavy winter one.

Should the remnant of elderdown be a strip instead of a square, it may be fashioned into a cover for a hot water bottle. To make this bag cut two oval shaped pieces, overlapped together—the raw edges—then bind with wash ribbon or silk, setting on a row of featherstitching at the edge. About one-half inch inside the edge the back and front of the bag should be connected with a second row of stitching so that the cover can be more conveniently handled. Bows of ribbon will tie the bottle into the bag.

No woman can have too many bags, and the illustration shows one of the handy kind that is decorative as well as serviceable. The outer part is of a thin cretonne, while the lining may be of thin silk or lawn, not necessarily of one kind. A harlequin effect is produced by lining each section with a different color, possibly those found in the outer printed material. Four long and four short sections will be required, one end rounded off, the other straight and arranged so that the shorter sections form outside pockets. After being neatly bound with linen tape the four sides must be sewn together and then fashioned into a square which forms the bottom. This should be made of a strong piece of cardboard covered on both sides and then bound. Drawing strings of wide tape or ribbon finish the bag. White linen with appliques cut from cretonne, or any other flowered fabric with decoration, will make an equally pretty accessory.

Quince Juice For the Skin. Society girls in one of the smartest sets are experimenting with quince for beauty purposes. One of them heard recently that the juice of that comparatively rare fruit was excellent for the complexion, and she communicated the information to her chums without loss of time. As a natural consequence a demand for quince instantly became apparent in that part of the city where the experimental young persons live, and now their relatives are awaiting anxiously the results of the tests. It is not divulged how the juice is to be taken, whether internally or externally. Almost any fruit is good for the complexion when eaten, but it's a question how far quince juice will benefit the skin hue and texture when applied from outside. To the credit of the experimenters, be it said they are not attempting to spread the idea without waiting to try its effects on themselves. Less considerate girls might be tempted to have their acquaintances do the experimenting, precisely as the selfish young woman of the neighborhood used to have her shoes broken in by needy friends. If there's anything in the idea, however, every woman who thinks her complexion calls for improvement is certain to test it for herself. When it comes to herism the eternal feminine is on the spot, so long as there is a reasonable prospect of beating the beauty doctor.

Home Rule. Never tell a child twice to do a thing. See that he clearly understands what he is told to do, and then if left undone the act should be treated as willful disobedience and punished as such.

Never punish a child by stopping any part of his food, shutting him in a dark room or in any other way that might injure his mind or body. The humiliation of being undressed and put to bed seldom fails to bring the culprit to a proper frame of mind.

CYNICISM SMART.

Very Latest Thing For Up to Date Lovely Woman.

It is the fashion of the day to be a cynic, and a woman cynic is—

She no longer throbs with good will toward men or exudes loving kindness. That is too much to expect. She speaks of love's young dream with a curl of the lip and has not one tear to shed over the misfortunes of childhood. It is easier to be witty when this pose is assumed.

There are greater opportunities for conversational distinction in finding "nor Lancelot brave nor Galahad pure" than in adorning their chivalry. A woman cannot, of course, be nearly so entertaining if she posesses her neighbor's good works as if she suggests that she has a susemely motive for them.

Deplorable, but true! It is not a consequence of woman's heart being desperately wicked. It is rather a consequence of the heart not being a warehouse for the storage of swoons.

The gush of philanthropy is rather sugary stuff. Our mothers and grandmothers took a debauch of it, and the result is that this generation looks at it with a somewhat bilious and distrustful eye. The fathers have eaten sweet grapes, and the children want something bitter. This is natural, inevitable and perhaps not wholly distressing. It is not creditable to the same mind, it is not of any use to humanity, that people should indulge in transports over every decent action.

That Scrooge should pay Bob Cratchit a fair wage is good and desirable, but we need not weep upon Scrooge's neck because he has ultimately done what he ought never to have left undone.

No real philanthropy will suffer in the end because it is regarded with the critical eye. We talk of sentiment and the east of philanthropy in a scornful way, but there is a cant of criticism which is far more stupid and much more devastating. The mind which searches for and finds meanness everywhere is not the most enviable of possessions. We all know it only too well.

It meets the story of any action not motivated by self interest with a smile of superior wisdom. It has the lowest opinion of every one and everything except itself. Therefore it requires you to admire it for its peculiar wisdom, while in fact it is merely stupid.

"Every man," said Walpole, "has his price." It is by the way, interesting to remember that the man who said it was not to be bought. But that price cannot always be paid in the things of this earth, and cynicism is so cheap a thing who wants to possess it anyway?

No one but the— But one doesn't like to say "fool." It doesn't sound pretty, does it?

A New Device For Wavy Locks. To produce wavy locks without resort to a heating apparatus there is a little device which seems delightfully simple and has a very similar effect to that of marcel waving. It is light in weight, though of metal, with a patented fastening to prevent slipping. Strand after strand of hair is caught fast into deep undulations in these little steel devices, making a large natural wave without any of the burned, fuzzy appearance apt to appear in her when hot irons are used. After a shampoo the hair is very susceptible to such means of waving, and, if the curlers are slipped in while it is still damp and allowed to remain till the hair is dry, deep, decided waves will be the result, and these should not loosen for at least two days under ordinary conditions.

WINNER OF THE RACE.

By Virginia Blair.

Copyrighted, 1937, by Homer Sprague.

"Jock," said Hugh MacDonald, "are they men or monkeys?"

Jock, being a collic of intelligence, cocked his ears conversationally and followed his master to the edge of the bluff, where they stood looking over.

Down the road below them, driven pell-mell by a youth in hunting pink, came a team of razor backed hogs. Around their necks were wreaths of huge yellow chrysanthemums, and the long yellow ribbons with which their driver tried ineffectually to guide them were of shining yellow satin.

Behind them a quartet of stamped sheep, violet wreathed and harpessed with violet satin, dragged after them a laughing, romping youth, also in hunting pink.

The two contestants in the strange race were followed by a shouting, excited crowd.

"Well, Jock," said Hugh MacDonald, "it's a poor way to treat the pigs, and you could take better care of the sheep than that."

The collic wagged a responsive tail, but his eyes were still fastened on the road.

Hugh, following their direction, said "Oh!" quickly as a girl limped into sight.

She looked up and waved her hand at the minister.

"I'm coming," he shouted, and Jock led the way down the winding path.

When they reached the road they found the girl sitting on a big stone.

"I have hurt my ankle," she said. "I made them go on without me."

"Were you following that?" The minister jerked his head in the direction of the motley procession.

"Yes," Her cheeks flamed. "It must seem awfully silly to you."

"It's cruel," the minister condemned. "Jock could take better care of the sheep."

"I don't believe they thought of that."

"Do they ever think?" he questioned her.

"I'm not sure," she confessed, "but they're awfully good fun."

"I think it was just as good fun when you and I used to pick wild flowers and row in my little boat on the lake. Those were nice, simple times, Elsie, before these society people came up here to make fools of the country folks, and your father made his money selling land to them."

"Oh, you don't know them," she exclaimed. "They are very good hearted. One of them gave a lot of money to the poor, and we're going to have tableaux for the old people of the parish."

"My old people are well taken care of," he said, sternly.

Her face fell.

"But we want to have the tableaux. I am going to be Juliet."

"To those Romeo?"

"Freddie Fairfax's."

"The pig driver?"

"How unpleasantly you put it," she said. "He is awfully nice."

LITERARY

Inhal The Garage is the leading article in the August number of Keith's Magazine. There are numerous styles shown, many of which are very ornamental.

Little ornate with the Architect, which is the continuation of a series from the one number, deals with exteriors in the current paper.

There are plans and elevations of modern designs for numerous kinds of dwellings, including small cottages, semi-detached houses and flats, all of which will be found most complete and conveniently planned.

The department of Decoration and Furnishing, which is conducted by Eleanor A. Cummings, Decorator, Brooklyn, N. Y., gives the newest ideas in the interiors, pictures being on eof the principal subjects discussed this month.

Published in Minneapolis by The Keith Publishing Co., at 15c. a copy, or $1.50 per annum.

Camping Out in the Cool. Did Fashioned Way is one of the appropriate articles which appears in the August number of What to Eat.

It tells of easy methods of cooking various dishes when camping, and gives a list of articles that will be found necessary. A Home-made Summer Resort tells what one clever woman who was unable to leave the city did for the summer months.

Freezing in summer months gives recipes for frozen dainties that can be easily prepared.

There are many suggestions for summer entertainments and menus. Published by What-to-Eat Publishing Co., Chicago, at $1.00 per annum.

More Douks Arriving.

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—According to statistics here, there are a good many Doukhobors from Russia among the immigrants who are pouring into Canada.

Many of them deny the general charge that their countrymen have caused trouble in Canada. They are bound for Manitoba and the Northwest.

People have a lot of gratitude until the chance comes to show it.

Hope is a good thing when backed up by hustle.

THE STAGE

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Supplied to The Planet by Press Agents.

At the Brisco Opera House—
"Peck's Bad Boy," Aug. 15.

THE GREAT ORIGINAL.
"Peck's Bad Boy," the Har-lous Hero Of the Stage.

The first that the famous farce comedy, "Peck's Bad Boy," is to be presented at the Brisco Opera House, on Wednesday, August 15, suggests the tribute that to Hon. George W. Peck, Ex-Governor of Wisconsin, the creator of the bad boy, as he is now so widely presented in the press and upon the stage, belongs the credit of having been the first to discover and exploit the almost limitless possibilities of humor and genuine, hearty and happiest fun latent in his aggressive make-up. If the boy is father to the man, George Peck is also father to the boy, who, since his birth in print, now nearly a generation ago, has had so many imitators of the Rastus Brown order, but never a rival in originality, or whose graphically natural touches or juvenile human eccentricity which have millions so happily hilarious, whether hidden between the covers of a book or given the centre of theatrical production. The owners of the play in question are alone authorized by Ex-Governor Peck to reproduce his story in the form indicated, and have done so with a liberality and faithfulness which he most highly commends. In short, the best and most entertaining story of its kind ever written has been converted into the brightest and most laughable farce-comedy ever put before the public. Such has been the unanimous verdict for the past twenty years, and the many new features introduced this season serve to fully confirm it.

ON THE LEVEL.

Yes, I had tramped all through Switzerland once.
Come off! You never did.
Sure I did; on the level.
That proves you're off. It's simply impossible to tramp through Switzerland on the level.
