1834. 1st Month, JANUARY, Begins on Wednesday.

'Tis done! dread winter spreads his latest glooms,
 And reigns tremendous o'er the conquer'd year!
 How dead the vegetable kingdom lies!
 How dumb the tuneful! Horror wide extends
 His desolate domain: Behold, fond man!
 Se here thy pictur'd life: pass some few years,
 Thy flow'ring spring, thy summer's ardent strength,
 Thy sober autumn fading into age,

—Pale concluding winter comes at last,
 And shuts the scene.
 Ah! whither now are fled
 Those dreams of greatness? those unsolid hopes
 To happiness? those longings after fame?
 Those restless cares? those busy bustling days?
 Those gay spent, festive nights? those veering thoughts,
 Lost between good and ill, that shared thy life?

MARCH,

Begins, on Saturday.

These as they change, Almighty Father! these,
 Are but the varied God. The rolling year
 Is full of thee. Forth in the pleasing spring
 Thy beauty walks, Thy tenderness and love.
 Wide flush the fields; the soft'ning air is balm;
 Echo the mountains round; the forest smiles,
 And ev'ry sense, and ev'ry heart is joy.

— Wand'ring oft with brute unconscious gaze,
 Man marks not Thee, marks not the mighty hand,
 That, ever busy, wheels the silent spheres;
 Works in the secret deep; shoots, steaming, thence
 The fair profusion that o'erspreads the spring;
 Flings from the sun direct the flaming day;
 Feeds every creature; hurls the tempest forth;
 And, as on earth this grateful change revolves,
 With transport touches all the springs of life.

Nature attend! join every living soul,
 Beneath the spacious temple of the sky,
 In adoration join! and, ardent raise
 One general song!
 Ye, chief, from whom the whole creation smiles,
 At once the head, the heart, and tongue of all,
 Crown the great hymn!

Thy bounty shines in autumn unconfin'd,
 And spreads a common feast for all that lives.
 In winter, awful Thou! with clouds and storms
 Around Thee thrown, tempest o'er tempest roll'd,
 Majestic darkness! On the whirlwind's wing,
 Riding sublime, Thou bidst the world adore;
 And humblest nature with Thy northern blast.

Mysterious round! what skill, what force divine,
 Deep felt, in these appear! a simple train,
 Yet so delightful mix'd, with such kind art,
 Such beauty and beneficence combin'd;
 Shade, unperceiv'd, so soft'ning into shade,
 And all so forming an harmonious whole,
 That as they still succeed, they ravish still.

1834, 8th Month,

AUGUST,

Begins on Friday,

For me, when I forget the darling theme;
 Whether the blossom blows; the summer ray
 Russets the plain; inspiring autumn gleams;
 Or winter rises in the black'ning east;
 Be my tongue mute, my fancy paint no more,
 And dead to joy, forget my heart to beat!

Warm & Dry

Very warm

25 Some frost very dry
no rain sufficient to wet
The ground half an inch since 3rd July

For so, when I forget the day
 Whether the breeze blows the way
 Towards the plain; imagining
 Or rather rises in the air
 Every tongue must, by some power
 And dead to my, forget my power

8 Some rains the first of any consequence in 10 weeks

10. 11. 12 Smart frost

Should fate command me to the farthest verge
 Of the green earth, to distant barb'rous climes,
 Rivers unknown to song; where first the sun
 Gilds Indian mountains; or his setting beam
 Flames on th' Atlantic isles; 'tis nought to me;
 Since God is ever present, ever felt,
 In the void waste as in the city full;
 And where HE vital breathes there must be joy.

10th Month, OCTOBER, Begins on Wednesday.

When e'en at last the solemn hour shall come,
 And wing my mystic flight to future worlds,
 I cheerful will obey; there, with new pow'rs,
 Will rising wonders sing: I cannot go
 Where UNIVERSAL LOVE smiles not around,
 Sustaining all yon orbs, and all their suns;
 From seeming evil still educing good,
 And better thence again, and better still,
 In infinite progression.

Ye good distress'd!
 Ye noble few! who here unbending stand
 Beneath life's pressure, yet bear up awhile,
 And what your bounded view which only saw
 A little part, deemed evil, is no more:
 The storms of wint'ry time will quickly pass,
 And one unbounded spring encircle all.—Thomson.

How many pine in want, and dungeon glooms,
 Shut from the common air, and common use
 Of their own limbs! How many drink the cup
 Of baleful grief, or eat the bitter bread
 Of misery! Sore pierc'd by wintry winds,
 How many shrink into the sordid hut
 Of cheerless poverty! How many shake
 With all the fiercer tortures of the mind,
 Unbounded passion, madness, guilt, remorse!

CURE FOR THE YELLOW-WATER IN HORSES.

SYMPTOMS—This disease is always attended with a violent palpitation of the heart, a drooping of the head, and sleepiness of the eyes, the hair of the mane and tail becomes loose.

REMEDY—One quarter ounce Gamboge, one ounce Alum, half an ounce Salt Petre, one ounce Copperas.

Pulverize all the above Ingredients, and put the whole into a bottle with four gills of cold water, stop it tight, shake it well and let it stand one night; it is then fit for use.

APPLICATION—Give one table spoon full of the mixture for three mornings in succession, then omitting three mornings repeat the dose as before, and so on until the horse has taken nine doses, a rowel is to be made in the breast as soon as the use of the medicine commences—turning it once a day. Working the horse or bleeding him within three months is forbidden.

FROM THE RURAL REPOSITORY.

A SPECIMEN OF SUBLIMITY SUBLIMATED.

The following effusion was designed to burlesque the productions of a certain dealer in bombast, who professed to make Dr. Johnson his model in prose and Della Crusca his pattern in poetry. But lacking the genius and energy of those writers our imitator soared low, his poetry became bewitched and his prose ran mad. Should it be supposed, that a little of the whipped sillabub of empty pomposity might help to digest the crude productions of modern scribblers, it is quite at their service:—

The pleniuncular orb had just emerged from the cerulean abyss of the expansive ocean. The mild radiance of her beams resplendent, gambolled eccentric on the verge of the horizon, suffusing ineffable tranquillity through the love lorn breast of the contemplative philosophic philanthropist. The dimpled surface of a capacious reservoir of aquatic particles, gently agitated by aromatic nocturnal zephyrs, reflected the placid rays of Night's beauteous Regent. The tremulous undulations, resplendently luciferous, illumed by Cynthian emanations, surpassed the scintillating coruscations, which gaily gilded the gorgeous gems, so glaring at Golconda.— What raptures ecstatic thrilled the glowing bosom of the amorous Alsander when through the attenuated, semiluminated, intervening verdurous foliage, the celestial semblance of lovely Laurietta arrested his attention! The peerless goddess, in a most fascinating attitude, of delicate demideclination sat secluded beneath the frondiferous opacity, where pliant woodbine, romantically variegated, with a multifarious diversity of circumrotative, and curvilinear ramifications, most delectably mantled the vivid circumference of a beautiful alcove. Would you form an idea of the lovely Laurietta,

Recollect the gay tints of the cloud dappled morn,
 The flame cinctured multibued arch in the sky;
 When bright burnished beauties creation adorn—
 They are all one dull blank when compared to her eye;
 Go, gaze at the charms of this goddess complete,
 From the sole of her head to the crown of her feet—
 For a primary seraph you doubtless would take her,
 And swear Heaven was rummaged for matter to make her.

Oft had the enamoured Alsander, smitten by the arrows of chubby faced cupid, secretly heaved the poignant unavailing sigh of lurid anguish. Oft had his plaintively languishing streams harmonic taught solitary woodlands to revibrate symphonious echoes, in unison, sweetly responsive to the wild, melodious warbling, rhapsodical carols of love.

The goddess of hope, though often delusive, yet flattering ever, now ventured to prompt the sad hearted swain, to annunciate to the divinely amiable object of his fondest wishes, what thrilling sensation of rapturous love ecstatic glowed intensely ardent in the abstruse recesses of his palpitating breast, convulsively singulating with ceaseless solitudinarity! Still did hesitating timidity, approximating murky despondency, with the frigid hand of pallid anxiety, impose the ferruginous shackles of that soul damping diffidence, which precludes any prigin to amorous utterance!

CÆTERA DESUNT.

'How are all your family, John—Mrs. Clod and the little ones,' said an office seeking lawyer to a man in his neighbourhood, who was mending the public road. 'Pretty well, I thank you, said he. 'I am glad to hear it,' said the other—'What's the news?'—'Why, I guess, (replied John,) we shall have an election very soon.' 'Why so?' 'Because you are so glad to hear that Mrs. Clod and the little ones are well,' returned the labourer with a look that told the lawyer he had better be off.

A V A R I C E.

If we con over the dark catalogue of the miseries of man, how great a proportion will be found to be the result of this baneful passion. What peoples our state prisons—what fills our penitentiaries? Avarice. What locks up every noble and generous sentiment of the soul, and chills even friendship and love? Gold—which, like a Gorgon's head, turns the heart to stone.

What clouds the brow—what blanches the cheek—what wrinkles the forehead—what petrifies the heart? Plutus and Mammon will answer. Where hath the sun of consolation never shone? In the miser's bosom. Who has never received the homage of an unbought smile? Who hath blood in his eyes and upon his hands, but none in his heart? The lover of gold.

When the stealing sands of our numbered hours are well nigh finished—when the soul seems to quiver upon the lip, where then is the omnipotent power of gold? What though the dreary passage to the tomb be paved with glittering diamonds—will it not still be called the 'dark valley of the shadow of death?' Point the trembling, shivering soul to the overflowing coffers, wrung, perchance, from the hard hand of poverty, or wrested from the lone widow and helpless orphan—and would this remove a single thorn from the pillow of the dying? would this bestrew his rugged pathway with flowers? would the consciousness of his vast possessions add one more pulse to his palpitating heart?

VALUABLE RECIPES.

PRESERVED APPLES.—Make a syrup of sugar and water, into which put a stick of cinnamon and some orange peel, clarify it with the white of an egg, boil it and strain it, then put in the apples whole, pared or otherwise, as you like, and stew them over a moderate fire till they look clear.

REMEDY FOR A COUGH.—The following medicine for a cough has performed such extraordinary cures in private practice, that the possessor is induced to publish it for the benefit of society.—Take six ounces of Italian or roll liquorice cut into small pieces, and put into an earthen jar with about one gill of the best vinegar; simmer together until the liquorice is dissolved; then add two ounces of the oil of almonds, and half an ounce of the tincture of opium, stir the whole well together, and it is fit for use.—Take two teaspoons full when going to bed, and the same quantity whenever the cough is troublesome in the day time.

TO DYE A SCARLET RED ON WOOLLEN CLOTH, YARN, SHAWLS, FRINGE, OR ANY KIND OF WOOLLEN ARTICLES.

Before the directions are given to die this beautiful colour, it will not be improper to state that a strict attention to neatness, and a careful observance of the rules laid down will be necessary; which, if followed, there will not be the least difficulty to accomplish the dying of this colour in families.

To die one pound of woollen, it will require the following articles, which, when procured at the druggist's, each kind should be written upon to prevent any mistake in using them. Two ounces of spirits of nitre, half a drachm of salt petre, pounded, two drachms of sal ammoniac, pounded, one quarter of an ounce of grained tin, also, one ounce of cochineal, pounded fine, half an ounce of starch, four drachms of turmerick, pounded.

Use the same proportions to die any number of pounds. In the first place, prepare the compound of aqua fortis, which should be made at least two days before you colour the scarlet. It is prepared in the following manner, and the quantity of which is calculated to die one pound of woollen.

Take a clean glass bottle of a suitable size, put in two ounces of spirits of nitre, add to it as much clean rain water, also two drachms of sal ammoniac, which is pounded fine, and half a drachm of fine salt petre. Shake them together until they are dissolved; then add one quarter of an ounce of grained tin; these small pieces of tin are to be put in one at a time, letting it dissolve before putting in any more; so proceed until the whole is dissolved. After the compound is made, then stop the bottle close with a wax or glass stopper. In using it be careful to take the clear liquor only.

PHILOSOPHY vs. POETRY.

If Dr. Metcalf's theory of terrestrial magnetism be correct—and his treatise on that subject is producing a great excitement in the scientific world—many beautiful images of poetry must at once lose a great share of their attraction. For instance:

"True as the needle to the polar star"
 "True to the pole, the faithful needle points."
 "Thy influence I can feel afar,
 The needle I, and thou the star."
 "The northern axis of the earth is steel,
 To which magnetic needles point."

Besides innumerable expressions like these, which are liable to be non-suited, or rather retroed by the new theory. Take the following, from one of our own poets:

"What, if the awful mandate should be given
 By Him who spoke creation into birth,
 To blot, for ever, from the map of heaven,
 The polar star—would this enamoured earth
 Still pay its adoration to the spot
 Where once it twinkled? Ah, it would not.
 Or would the widowed needle still present
 Its polished point to where that planet shone?
 Its homage paid to vacancy alone?"

IT IS HARD TO REGAIN REPUTATION.

"You know you're a thief Pat!" "I know I have been,
 But my folly and wickedness fully I've seen;
 Yet no one will trust me to work or to serve,
 And if I stay here, I must steal or must starve.
 If you a good word to the Captain will spake,
 That I may a trip to America take,
 You shall find I'll be honest, for all the old stain,
 Nor disgrace the green isle of the ocean again."
 Kind Dennis consents, and poor Pat is receiv'd;
 The word of strict Dennis was aptly believ'd.
 Escap'd from his guilt and escap'd from his shame,
 In a new world poor Pat hoped to earn a new name.
 He was kind to the crew, to the captain obedient,
 To please he was never without an expedient.
 He work'd and he sung, morning-watch or midnight,
 And Pat of the crew was the life and delight;
 Even Dennis (at first not a little suspicious
 That Pat's new-found honesty might be factitious)
 Felt easy respecting the pledge of his word,
 And rejoic'd that his friend was to honor restor'd.
 When one day, while Patrick the ship's deck was washing,
 And with bucket drew sea-water up for more splashing;
 Relying too much on the hold of his foot,
 And reaching and bending his whole body to't,
 The ship gave a heel—Patrick's balance was lost,
 And himself and his bucket to old Davy tost.
 "Man overboard! out with a rope!" was the cry—
 When Dennis on Pat, mid the waves, cast his eye.
 "Catch the spalpeen," roar'd Dennis, "he's made me a liar!
 And so devil roast him before his great fire!
 To strive against bad education's in vain!
 Och! the thief how he's got at his old tricks again!
 If I saw not, I wouldn't believe how he took it!
 Only look how the t*ie* swims away with the bucket!" W. D.

DEFINITIONS.—Johnson's definitions are sometimes not only incorrect, but ludicrous. For instance, the word mouse in the early editions of his folio dictionary, is called a young rat. This might remind one of the Indian's pistol, which he called a young gun; and we have been told by economists, that a York shilling may be made to grow into a dollar.
