Hero of the Marne Battle is Detached From Active Service

WITH FRENCH FORCES Was Among Foremost Strategists of the Army

A BRILLIANT CAREER Reached Its Climax at Battle of the Marne

By Courier Leased Wire.
Paris, April 5.—General Ferdinand Foch, the hero of the battle of the Marne has been detached from active service. A list of promotions issued today contains a brief announcement to this effect. It is not known whether General Foch has been assigned to some special political or military mission, or whether he has been definitely placed on the reserve through ill-health and as having reached the age limit. He succeeded as general of division by General Laboria, formerly chief of brigade.
Another well known leader who has been withdrawn from active service is general of division, Eydoux, military governor of Dunkirk and former head of a military mission which reorganized the Greek army in 1913. Five generals of brigade are retired, their places being taken by colonels, who distinguished themselves in recent operations and who are given temporary rank of generals. General Lyautey, former minister of war, is reappointed resident-general in Morocco, the post he held prior to joining the Briand ministry.

General Foch is 66 years of age, and has enjoyed a brilliant reputation as one of the foremost strategists in the French army. He is a Basque by origin and spent his early years in Metz. After the war of 1870 he went to Paris and devoted himself to preparing for the next struggle with Germany, which he confidently predicted would open with another lightning drive by the Germans against Paris.
At the battle of the Marne, General Foch held the centre of the French line with 120,000 men. He was opposed by 200,000 Germans, including the famous Prussian Guards. When both his wings were being driven back, Gen. Foch launched a terrific attack against the German centre, which was completely successful and forced the entire German line into a general retreat. Hurling his men through a gap incautiously exposed by his retreating foe, General Foch delivered the decisive blow of the tremendous conflict. Subsequently he was given command of a group of armies and promoted grand officer in the Legion of Honor. King George of England conferred on him the Order of the Bath of the first class.
The Matin says that General Foch will remain on the active list, but without a command. His services will be at the disposal of the minister of war.

Passing of War Revolution by Congress Will Brook No Delay and is Looked For To-day; Senate Voted For War With Germany in Grave Silence and Resolute Determination of Action

By Courier Leased Wire.

Washington, April 5.—Debate on the war resolution began in the House promptly at 10 o'clock this morning with Chairman Flood of the Foreign Affairs Committee, making the opening statement.

Passage of the resolution, which will complete the action of Congress in declaring that a state of war exists between Germany and the United States is expected before night by a heavy majority comparable with that which attended its passage last night in the Senate.

Washington, April 5.—Before night the United States may be at war with Germany. The Senate last night adopted by a vote of 82 to 6, the resolution recognizing a state of war and its approval by the House today without protracted debate was expected.

The resolution was taken up in the House at 10 o'clock this morning under an agreement to hold a continued session until it is acted upon.

La Follette Censured.

Passage of the resolution in the Senate was marked by scenes of unusual gravity and quiet. There had been more than 12 hours of continuous debate featured by a three hour speech of Senator La Follette denouncing war and defending pacifist efforts to prevent it, and Senator Williams retort that Mr. La Follette's speech was more worthy of the German chancellor, von Bethmann-Hollweg, than an American senator. Mr. Williams also characterized Mr. La Follette's speech as "pro-German, pro-Goth, pro-vandal, anti-president, anti-congress and anti-American."

No Demonstration.

Even after adoption of the resolution there was no demonstration from either senators or from the throng of spectators among whom were members of the House, diplomats and government officials. Within a few minutes after the vote was announced, the senate adjourned and senators and spectators filed out silently with grave faces.

Wilful Men.

Three Democrats, Senators Lane, Stone and Vardaman and three Republicans, Senators La Follette, Gronna and Norris, cast the negative votes. They were among the group of twelve whom President Wilson characterized "wilful men," in connection with the defeat of the armed neutrality bill by filibuster at the last session. Senators Cummins, Kenyon and Kirby also among the twelve, voted for the war resolution. The remaining three, Senators O'Gorman, Clapp and Works, have since retired to private life.

No Delay.

The resolution as adopted by the Senate formally declares the existence of a state of war and directs the President "to employ the naval and military forces of the United States and the resources of the government," to carry on war.

A substitute resolution, offered by Senator McCumber, to declare the existence of a state of war after the sinking of another American ship by Germany was killed by a vive voce vote.

Oppose Conscription.

The Senate was not in session today, having adjourned over until tomorrow to await the action of the House on the resolution. The pacifists today concentrated their energies on the members of the House in an effort to defeat the resolution. Their leaders announced that in event of the adoption of the resolution by the House they would then start work in opposition to conscription.

EXPECT TROOPS FROM U.S.

British Army Officials Look For Sending of a Large Contingent

WITHIN SIX MONTHS Americans Might Specialize in Aviation, Etc.

FRANCE TAKES ACTION By Opening Port of Brest to U. S.

By Courier Leased Wire.
British Headquarters in France, via London, April 5.—(From a staff correspondent of the Associated Press)—There is much speculation in the British army as to what assistance, in a military sense, the United States might render the allies. Regardless of what theorists may say, practical fighting men here believe that the United States would want to have representation with the allied army on this front and would send over a considerable fighting force within six months, provided the war lasts that long.
One basis for this belief is that both Germany and Great Britain are fighting with new armies. Britain because she did not have an army in the European sense before the war, began and Germany because her forces are largely made up of classes called to the colors since 1914, a large proportion, having only five months training. It is generally figured now that a good soldier can be made within six months. The organization behind the fighting force must be built up by genius, but it is thought here that America can easily meet that emergency.
It is also argued in army circles that the Americans might well specialize in such branches as aviation and machine gun detachments. The airplanes would have, however, to come up to a high standard and must make at least 150 miles an hour to take rank with the best English and French machines. One definite thing expected is that the United States will undoubtedly increase manifold the hospital and medical assistance which she is already voluntarily rendering the allies.

Open Port.

Paris, April 5.—The first war measure to be taken in connection with the expected entrance of the United States into the war, was introduced in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. It provides for an agreement with the United States, if necessary, for the use of the port of Brest by American naval forces. The measure provides generally for the utilization of the port to the best interests of the national defense.

Look to Russia.

Amsterdam, via London, April 5.—D. Rizov, Bulgarian minister to Germany, in an interview with the Vossische Zeitung, says that the world's center of gravity has shifted from the west to the east and that it is not America who will decide the issue of the war, but Russia. "As soon as this gigantic empire began to wobble," said M. Rizov, "the whole Entente structure started to crack. The process of political decomposition in Russia could not be stopped. The only government which can endure in Russia is one which will bring the people a long desired peace."

AMERICAN SHIP SUNK

By Courier Leased Wire.
Washington, April 5.—Sinking without warning of the unarmed American Steamer Missourian, which left Genoa April 4th, with 32 Americans among her crew, was reported to the state department to-day by Consul-General Wilber at Genoa. The crew was saved.

BRITISH CAPTURE TWO VILLAGES NEAR PERONNE

Ronssoy and Basse-Boulogne Fall to Advance of Gen. Haig's Troops on the Western Front; British and Russians Meet in Mesopotamia

By Courier Leased Wire.
London, April 5.—The capture of the villages of Ronssoy and Basse-Boulogne, in the sector northeast of Peronne, is announced by the war office.
The announcement follows:
"We captured the villages of Ronssoy and Basse-Boulogne after sharp fighting, in which we took 24 prisoners and three machine guns. The retreating enemy was caught in his own wire entanglements and suffered heavily under our machine gun fire.
"East and northeast of Metz-en-Couture, our troops continued to make progress in the face of considerable resistance, and reached the western and southwestern edges of Gouzeacourt wood, and Havreincourt wood. We captured here a further 30 prisoners, two trench mortars and five machine guns."

London, April 5.—British and Russian patrols have got into touch with each other in Mesopotamia, the Associated Press was informed to-day by Major General F. B. Maurice, chief director of military operations at the war office.

Petrograd, April 5, via London.—Russian cavalry has occupied the Mesopotamia frontier towns of Khanikan and Kasrichirin, says an official statement issued to-day by the Russian war department.

ANTI-CONSCRIPTION

By Courier Leased Wire.
Quebec, April 5.—Quebec awoke this morning to find numbers of posts, fences, etc., outside show windows of stores covered with posters printed in French and English denouncing conscription in Canada. The authors of the posters are as yet unknown.

WILLARD WILL Fight

Washington, April 5.—Jess Willard, the champion heavyweight pugilist, sent this telegram to-day to President Wilson:
"I will fight. When do you want me."

London, April 5.—Six hospital ships have been torpedoed or mined by the Central powers since the beginning of the war, Thos. J. MacNamara, financial secretary of the admiralty, stated in the House of Commons to-day.
In consequence, he added, 247 lives had been lost and 75 persons injured.

RELIEF SHIP SUNK

London, April 5.—The Belgian Steamer Trevier, from New York, with Belgian relief supplies, was torpedoed without warning on Wednesday.

While the boats of the Trevier were being lowered the submarine fired on them, severely wounding the captain, the mate, the engineer, a donkey man and a cook.

On the other hand, the fact that "Fruit-a-tives" is entirely different from any other preparation in the world, is just why you should give it a fair trial, in any trouble of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys or Skin. NEWS OF NORFOLK

Development of Norfolk's Water Front Under Consideration

CIVIC GARDEN CLUB Production Campaign Goes Actively on in Simcoe

OTHER SIMCOE NEWS Inmate of Gaol Conveyed to Industrial Home

(From Our Own Correspondent) Simcoe, April 5.—Mr. H. P. Innes, K.C. was in Toronto on Monday representing the village of Port Rowan before the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. When the boundaries of the village were determined a mistake was made in that the lines were not carried to the water's edge, but the limit toward the lake was shown by a line along the bank. Later the Government made a fill and built a pier. Fishermen built houses on posts over the water along this pier but did all their trafficking over the village streets, though the township claimed title to the beach and collected taxes from the fishermen. The village applied for the annexation of some thirteen acres or thereabouts of the beach. The application came up before Chairman D. M. McIntyre, K. C. and A. B. Ingram, vice chairman. There were strong delegations down from the village and township. The question was contested strenuously by evidence and arguments which kept the sitting on till 2 o'clock. The Board gave an award in favor of the village to which corporation the 1917 taxes on the property annexed will be paid.

There is no doubt that Mr. Innes, who is anxious for the development of Norfolk's ports on Erie's shore, won out through his personal conviction that officials on the spot were in a position to do more in this regard than those scattered through the township. The spectacle of a village on a lake shore without egress to the water was quite a unique situation. Mr. T. R. Slaght represented South Walsingham.

There is evidence of opposition to the boundaries fixed for the new union school section. The award will be attacked, if at all because of the expense of building a new school. Any such protest, it is thought by those who have followed the matter will result only in delaying the proceedings till after the next meeting of the county council, and increasing the cost. There was no minority report in the award and no disagreement, and it looks like a forlorn hope for any one to show cause for the overturning of the award.

And Mel Lambert is back to town, at least Chief Canning saw him fleeing like a scared hare on Tuesday. Mel went over to report at Brantford as a condition of his parole. The chief is at a loss to know why Mel took such fright.

Fitter Now than Hospital. William Smith finished his six months sentence and was removed on a stretcher in a partially paralyzed condition from the gaol to the industrial home—he has somewhat near $100 in cash and is a fit subject for a hospital rather than for the old folks home. No one could see this man without being impressed with the fact that it would be more in keeping with public approval were he put in a proper institution, and the same applies to another inmate over whose face is being slowly deformed by cancer, now far spread over his chin, who mingles daily with the other aged men about the place. Had Norfolk a hospital undoubtedly both of these men would be in it under proper skilled care.

The "Courier" ran into a group of six baby carriages on Peel street beside Martin's store, yesterday afternoon and emerging in safety to himself and without landing on one suggestion to one of the six mothers in attendance, that possibly the "daddys" were all at the front, and so it was. The mothers were Mrs. Jack Winters, Mrs. Fred Winters (two in the carriage), Mrs. Wm. Robinson, Mrs. Chas. Robinson, Mrs. Thos. Payne and Mrs. Ernest Brown, and there were some little toes walking in the party. The ladies went out for an afternoon constitutional and happened to get together as we happened along, unfortunately without a camera.

There is just about as much dissatisfaction about town now concerning street paving as there was in 1913 regarding street watering, and for the same reason. "Costs too much and does not keep down the

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-time Recipe that Anybody Can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to prehistoric times. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful success.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a brush with water, dip it in it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire the most youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

"We have suggested a partial relief—narrowing of roadway on unimproved residential streets—something easily said but offering difficulties in the working out. A prominent local manufacturer is said to have required the assistance of Davis' draft team to get his car out of a quick sand hole on Robinson street near the market, a defective piece of roadway which annually defies the works department in the spring time.

POLICE COURT

Although an apple commenced the troubles of our first parents, the poe of contention between Adam and Annelia Dutchik was more properly the sum of $264 and a ring, which Adam claimed his wife, assisted by Sam Sauchuk, had annexed without his consent. The couple reside at 523 Henrietta street, while Sauchuk lives in Hamilton. The hearing of the evidence brought out the fact that Sauchuk had had nothing to do with the theft and the charge against Annelia was laid over until Tuesday. How shall we adjust in the meantime a satisfactory adjustment may be effected.

Robert and Mrs. Lake, of Cainsville, faced several charges as the result of a fracas that occurred on Saturday. Lake was charged with assault, and his wife with assault and disorderly conduct, the charges being preferred by William Stuart. The trouble was caused by Lake going to their farm on which a mortgage of $600 is held by Mrs. Stuart, and concerning which foreclosure proceedings have been taken, to regain possession of a rope which they claimed belonged to them. An argument ensued in which it appears Mrs. Lake was the aggressor and used somewhat unladylike language, which accusation she frankly admitted this morning. On the charge of assault she was fined $5 and costs of $6.43 and on the charge of disorderly conduct, the costs were imposed. The charge against Mr. Lake was dismissed.

AN APPEAL ON GOOD FRIDAY

To the Citizens of Brantford: Good Friday is set apart by Canada as a legal holiday when the stores, banks and offices will be closed, and most of our manufacturing concerns shut down. It has been observed in past years largely as a day of complete idleness or of amusement. The only indication of the origin of the day has been the Hot Cross Bun or the religious services attended by part of our people. We do not know or have forgotten, that it is the one day of the year, when, as a people, we pay tribute to the idea of sacrifice in the life of the world.

During the last two years and a half the necessity for sacrifice has been gradually gripping the mind of Canada. Men—their lives wives—their husbands, mothers—their sons; sacrifice has been the daily bread of the nation. The call to serve has been heard in multitudinous ways; it has been answered in money, in goods, in time. Self-denial to the utmost has been the rule of all loyal citizens.

This Good Friday comes at the crisis of the war. Our Empire with its allies is ready for the great offensive. And as the conflict deepens hearts at home melt in anxiety; brave men are falling; families are being bereft; the mightiest effort in the world's history for the overthrow of tyranny is being made.

Would it be possible to keep this Good Friday in a different fashion from past years? Our eyes are straining across the waves—reddened here by murder, glorified there by valour—to see the flag of victory. Our ears are catching the tramp of the men who march through blood and fire. The whole mind of our nation is tense, expectant, anxious. We know not what an hour may bring forth.

At such a time it would ill become any of us not to measure up to the crisis. Sacrifice is being made and its presence in our midst demands a certain spirit of mind and of soul. Good Friday offers itself as a day suited to the temper and mood of a nation in agony of blood. How shall we observe it? In idleness, in feasting, in pleasure—selfish and unthinking. Surely not. In public worship and private devotion let us remember on our knees the men who guard our slumbers. Let us so meditate upon sacrifice—how men and women are giving themselves for us and for our freedom that Good Friday will mean a day of regeneration. The war is changing and dynasties; it ought to change characters and lives. Out of a Good Friday well-spent can be born a renewed determination to fight, to give, to save, to serve, to sacrifice, to live so that sacrifices that are made may not have been made in vain.

This appeal represents the feeling of the various religious communities in the city, both Protestant and Roman Catholic, and as such is signed by.

MEMORIAL TO MRS. M. B. EDDY

Monument Erected to Founder of Christian Science Religion

GRANITE COLONNADE To be Filled With Beautiful Growing Flowers

The memorial to Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, erected in Mt. Auburn Cemetery at Cambridge, Mass., has been turned over to the Christian Science Board of Directors by Edward St. Barlow of New York, who had charge of its construction. Over a year and a half has been required to complete the world has contributed, as expressions of sympathy, the entire cost of over $150,000.

The material is of Bethel white granite and consists of an open circular colonnade of eight columns fifteen feet in height surmounted by a cornice and cresting. The space inside the colonnade is to be filled with growing flowers. The columns rest on a stylobate of three steps, which also rest, at one side, on a broad platform of Pompton pink granite and, at the other, which is about five feet lower, on a double flight of circular steps. These are flanked on each side by a large obelisk. The pylons were exhibited a short time ago at the American Institute of Architecture in New York, and were pronounced by several experts to be the finest pieces of carved granite ever executed. The detail is elaborated to an extent never before attempted in granite; some of the stems and leaflets of the foliage are free-standing, so great is the relief. Interviewed regarding the memorial, the architect, Mr. Egerton Swartwout of New York said: "The site is singularly pleasing; in fact, I question whether a finer site could anywhere be found. It can be seen from all sides equally well, close at hand from the cemetery, or from a quarter of a mile away across the lake. Indeed, it is this body of water which forms the chief beauty of the lake. There is a drop of approximately 10 feet from the level of the road to the level of the lake, there being a natural terrace on the axis of the plot which lends itself admirably to the architectural development of the memorial. The lake is unusually still, and has a mirror-like quality which reflects admirably the white granite of which this memorial is composed. "As to the memorial I think it can be said without contradiction that, leaving aside entirely any artistic excellence, such perfection and beauty as this monument has attained before in this yielding and enduring material. There is certainly nothing in modern times that can approach it in any way. In any of the monuments of antiquity. Mr. Swartwout designed the new Missouri State capitol and the new Federal building in Denver, and recently won the competition for the new George Washington memorial. All that now remains to be done to complete the memorial to Mrs. Eddy is to erect the granite colonnade, which is to consist chiefly of some evergreen plants that will preserve their form and leaves throughout the year, and some cedars and rhododendrons.

DEVELOPMENT OF NEWRAY MINES IN PORCUPINE. The driving of the crosscut on the 400-foot level of the Newray in Porcupine is the first underground work which has been done by the present Company. Under the former management, however, considerable ore was recovered on the old No. 1 vein and a production of $212,000 in gold was made in the stamp mill. The property was at that time operated by a leasing company, and the earnings were sufficient to pay a dividend.

The present Company, Newray Mines Limited, took over the property last year, and since then have carried out a very aggressive development campaign, which is now yielding results. There are at least five veins which were picked up by the diamond drills, and which should be encountered in the crosscut on the 400-foot level. These are now and mid-summer, and as these carried high values and were demonstrated for a considerable width, it is expected that the Company will be able to maintain a substantial production.

The Newray property is one of the most extensive in the Porcupine camp, comprising 321 acres in the well-known Hollinger - McIntyre Newray zone, which contains five out of the present seven producing mines of the camp.

The installation of the Millardville waterworks will likely be completed by the end of this month. The thirtieth annual meeting of the Vancouver Board of Trade was held in the Board of Trade rooms last week.

THE SITUATION.
Gen. Sir William R. Robertson, Chief of the Imperial staff at army headquarters, told a conference of Trade Unionists that it was absolutely necessary to have more men in order to meet "the desperate efforts the enemy was now making." The incident re-affirms what this paper has again and again pointed out that the beginning of the end, or the necessity is not yet, as far as can be judged, in sight. Certainly not with regard to man power, whatever else may result from economic, and shutting off of supplies pressure.

The Allies are tightening their ring around St. Quentin and in this regard more important gains have been made by the troops of both Haig and Neville. The German report grudgingly admits retreat.

The fact that the foe, notwithstanding his many sub victims, is failing to maintain a successful blockade of the British coast, is shown by the fact of 4,680 vessels for the week ending April 1st, entering and leaving British ports.

The United States Senate last evening adopted the War Bill by an overwhelming majority and the other House will, without any question, follow suit this evening. Then the long deferred declaration of actual hostilities will be signed and Uncle Sam can hold up his head once more. An important British mission to the States to confer with regard to co-operation will be one of the most notable first fruits.

GOOD FRIDAY.

The Friday before Easter has been held sacred in commemoration of the crucifixion from a very early period. The day has been observed as one of mourning and of very special prayer, although of late years the trend has not been so nearly hunch in that direction as formerly. It was one of the two Paschal days initiated by the Christian church and by the Greeks was called Pascha Staurosion, or the "Pasch of the Cross." When Christianity was established in the Empire, Constantine forbade the holding of law courts, markets, and other public proceedings upon this date.

Elsewhere in this issue an appeal is published on behalf of the various denominations asking that Good Friday of this year shall be reverently observed. It is pointed out among other things that the war is at the crisis and that the times are such as to call for prayerful meditation with regard to the enormous issues involved, and on behalf of the brave men and women who are in the thick of the giant struggle.

The call is timely and should not go unheeded. The message comes to each one of us and should be met and acted upon in a spirit of humiliation and supplication.

THE GRADE OF NATIONALISM.
Only on the assumption that the Canadian people are ignorant of political history can Liberal newspapers pretend that Quebec Nationalism had its inception in the Bourassa movement of 1911. The kind of "Nationalism" that exists in Quebec, with its racial jealousy and British hate, flourished long before Henri Bourassa raised up his precious head. As far back as 1867 it had become an active, pernicious influence against the development of this country along British lines, and, by methods not unlike those which are seeking to hamper the Dominion's war effort to-day, sought to paralyze the work of French-Canadian patriots like George Etienne Cartier, who realized that the destiny of Quebec was inseparably bound up with the destiny of Canada. Thus, we find no less a figure than Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself calling upon his compatriots to prevent Confederation, declaring that—

"That is not the way we politicians of the Papineau school look at the matter when any change whatsoever is proposed in our political or social institutions, we do not look to see whether this change will be of use to the English colonies or to any other neighbor; we think only of Lower Canada and of the French race."

True, Cartier and his contemporaries carried the bulk of their race to the idea of union, and for nearly twenty years thereafter the embers of Nationalism smoldered; only, however, to be fanned into a fiercer and more enduring flame by that king of racial demagogues, Honore Mercier. Mercier, a man of ability, but lacking in patriotism and political integrity, used the scaffold of Louis Riel as a ladder to office and power. Riel's righteous punishment for treason and worse was made the basis of a regenerated Nationalist creed—the "National Party"—alike distinct from the Bleu and the Rouge, and the war cries of race were revived with all their sinister forces and fury. On the 22nd of November, 1885, a great mass meeting was held at the Champs de Mars, Montreal, at which Mercier, Coursol, Laurier and other political leaders were the orators of the day. A message was received from the notorious Clan-na-Gael, in New York, the anti-British organization now headed by Jeremiah O'Leary, offering the meeting sympathy and support, and encouraging the fight against "English encroachment and Orange brutality." Sir Wilfrid Laurier who, next to Mercier himself, was most fierce in his denunciation of the "judicial murder" of Riel, declared that—"If he had been on the banks of the Saskatchewan when the rebellion broke out he would have taken up arms against the Government."

French Canada was turned into a blaze of racial wrath. The venerable and justly noted Father Dowd, of Montreal, warned his Irish hearers against joining in the agitation; and Joly, formerly the Rouge Liberal leader of the Province, a sincere, honest man and a British patriot, resigned his seat in the local legislature because he could not identify himself with the raging storm. The agitation began at Montreal spread rapidly, the old Rouge and Bleu parties were almost entirely absorbed into the new "Nationalism," and scheming demagogues and crafty politicians sowed the wind from which a bitter crop of whirlwind has since been reaped.

In the years that intervened between 1885 and 1896 the spirit of Quebec Nationalism was not permitted to die. French-Canadian leaders who ranked among the ablest of their race never quite forgot the potency of an anti-British appeal, and thus, in 1891 we find Sir Wilfrid Laurier declaring to an audience in Boston—

"The only tie that binds Canada to the Mother Country is a sentiment of affection. But this dependence will not always last. Even now Canada and England have very different interests, and a day will come—necessarily—when they will have to part."

The following year from his place in the House of Commons, Sir Wilfrid was even more outspoken. He declared that he held out to his fellow-countrymen "the idea of independence" and proceeded—

"Is there a Canadian anywhere who would not hail with joy the day when we would be deprived of the services of British diplomacy? I have again and again repeated that the goal of my aspiration is to see Canada an independent nation in the due course of time."

What happened in 1896 and afterwards is a part of contemporary history. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy in Quebec, his truckling to Nationalist aspirations, was well described a few months ago by Bourassa himself, in a letter to his nephew, Captain Papineau. Here is what the Nationalist leader wrote—

"In 1895 your Liberal leaders and friends stumped the whole province of Quebec with the cry, 'Why should we fight for England?' From 1902 to 1911 Sir Wilfrid Laurier was acclaimed by them as the indomitable champion of Canada's autonomy against British Imperialism. His resisting attitude at the Imperial conferences in 1902 and 1907 was praised to the skies. His famous phrase on 'the vortex of militarism' and his determination on keeping Canada far from it became the party's by-word—always in the Province of Quebec, of course. His Canadian navy scheme was presented as a step towards the independence of Canada."

No one reasonably familiar with recent political history can honestly take exception to Bourassa's claim. The facts are embodied in the official chronicles of parliament, save by, in face of this record, papers like the Toronto Globe are accused of indulging in partisan lies when they seek to have the country believe that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been the victim of Nationalism in Quebec. The truth is that Louis J. Papineau was the father of Quebec Nationalism, Honore Mercier its greatest disciple, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier its greatest beneficiary.

CHURCH—HOLMES.
At 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, April 4th, a quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Fotheringham, at Grace Church, when Mary Osborne, eldest daughter of Petty Officer and Mrs. Geo. Holmes, R.N., of Kennedy St., Grand View became the bride of Pte. Walter Church of Woodstock, now with the 215th Battalion. The happy couple were attended by the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Steeth.

BRANDER-CHALCRAFT

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chalcraft, 48 Palmerston avenue, was the scene of a most charming wedding yesterday afternoon, when their daughter Ella Frederica became the bride of Mr. Gordon Brander, the well known and popular young local druggist. The ceremony was performed very quietly by the Rev. S. F. Farmer of Ottawa, a former pastor of the First Baptist church here, assisted by the Rev. pastor, Rev. Lewellyn Brown, and was attended only by immediate friends and relatives. The bride was given away by her father, and was attended by Miss Mires and Cook, while Mr. Gerald Brander, brother of the groom, officiated as best man. Ornate decorations of flowers were plentiful throughout the home for the occasion, the ceremony itself being performed in the drawing-room before a bank of ferns. A dainty luncheon was served following the ceremony, and followed by the congratulations and good wishes of all present, the bridal pair set out on their wedding trip to Atlantic City. Upon their return they will reside at 88 Albion street. Out-of-town guests present for the occasion were Mrs. A. D. Brander, Mr. Gerald and Miss Winnifred of Wallaceburg, and Rev. S. F. and Mrs. Farmer, of Ottawa.

Special Meeting of Water Commission

A special meeting of the water commissioners was held last night for the purpose of conferring with the fire and light committee of the city council regarding the advisability of purchasing a motor driven engine to augment the present equipment of the department. The question was discussed thoroughly, and the many advantages and savings that would result to the city were pointed out. The increased efficiency in fighting fires was emphasized as was the fact that by acquiring this engine, the requirements of the Firewriters' Association would be met. Those present at the meeting were Messrs. C. A. Waterous and Mayor Bowler, Chairman John Fair being unavoidably absent, having been called out of the city earlier in the day to the bedside of his sister. The secretary was instructed to communicate with Messrs. Lea and Lea, consulting engineers, Birks Building, Montreal, and obtain from them their charges for consultation, retaining fees and other expenses in reporting on conditions of public water supply and increasing same, or for performing any other duties required by the Board. The tender of Schultz Bros. for the proposed addition to the boiler house at the Waterworks, amounting to $4,400, was accepted, amounting to the lowest on condition that they guarantee the work to be completed within sixty days from the fifteenth day of April. In case of default of this condition, they will be required to pay $10 daily as liquidated debt for each day after this time expires. The salary of Hartley Drake was increased, to take effect from April 1st. The chairman was authorized to exercise the option obtained by him on the North part of Lot 41, West Albion street, for the sum of $50, and Mr. Fair will be asked to complete the purchase on this basis.

Hair Coming Out

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then fall out. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 2-cent bottle of Dandruffine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.

Chicago, April 4.—Approximately 30 per cent of the first regiment, National Guard, of the State of Illinois, to-day refused to take the "Iay oath, which embodies allegiance to the President of the United States, and as a result hurried orders from Washington to muster the regiment into Federal service were seriously hampered. The First Infantry which only recently returned from the Mexican border numbers about 1,100 men. Two hundred and four of these men refused to-day to take the oath and were ordered dropped from the rolls. To-night they were directed to turn in their equipment. In the meantime the recruits are being confined in the Armory. Many are of German descent.

Tobacco Dance Proves Success

A highly successful concert and dance was held in the Masonic Temple last evening, at the R. W. Bro. orchestra, who provided the entertainment for the purpose of purchasing tobacco for the soldiers. There was an encouraging attendance, and the music furnished was very appropriate and together with the excellent musical numbers completed the success of the event. The proceeds were contributed by such well known local songsters as Miss Hilda Hurley, Dr. Hart, Sergt. Oldham and Stewart. Entertainment was given by Miss Smith and Mr. J. Liddell, while a dance given by the Williams sisters was greatly appreciated. The program was concluded by a musical selection by Pte. Harding of the 215th. Among the throng of happy couples, "kiss" was much in evidence. Resolutions being determined to enter as fully as possible into the social life of the city before their departure.

Obituary

Mr. Arthur Smith, who slept peacefully away Tuesday morning was an old Brantford man. In his childhood days he came here from Hamilton with his father and mother in 1838, his father being Mr. Abraham Kennedy Smith. In the early days the farms known as the Smith and Kerby tract, now that portion of the old church in beginning at Lorne Bridge, up Bridge and West streets to Terrace Hill to the Grand River, belonged to Mr. A. K. Smith and his wife, Mrs. Wm. Kerby. Mr. Kerby's homestead was on the West side of Brant Ave., the site on which Mr. Wisner's house is now. The rough side of Brant Ave., now divided into two dwellings, No. 65 and 67. Mr. A. K. Smith gave the land on which Grace and St. Basil's Church now stands. Mr. Arthur Smith was of a fine gentle spirit, and will be remembered by his old friends as being remarkably kind-hearted to all who knew him. He was buried this afternoon in the old Mohawk Church grounds near the grave of his great grandfather, John Smith, who built the old church in 1784. Those who mourn his loss are his nieces, Miss Biscoe, Mrs. Browning and Mrs. Leonard.

U. S. NO LONGER NEUTRAL IN WORLD'S GREAT WAR

America Enters Conflict Between Civilization and Barbarism, Says Premier Ribot; Other Neutrals Must Follow Lead of U. S., Says Brazil

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, April 5.—"We all have the feeling that something great, surpassing the proportions of a political event, has just been accomplished," said Premier Ribot in an address today in the Chamber of Deputies. "Entrance into the war with us of the most pacific democracy in the world is an historic fact without equal." The premier's address was delivered in the presence of members of the diplomatic corps. The ministerial benches and members seats were filled and the galleries were crowded. "After having done the very thing to demonstrate to us its attachment to peace," M. Ribot continued, "the great American nation solemnly declares it cannot remain neutral in this conflict between right and violence, between civilization and barbarism." Rome, April 5.—via Paris—"President Wilson's message to Congress is an accusation from the civilized world against the barbarism of Prussian militarism," says The Messaggero. The Popolo Romano says it does not understand the distinction made by President Wilson between the German Government and the German people, since German public opinion

WOUNDS DRESSED PAINLESSLY NOW

Celluloid Employed in London Hospitals for that Purpose By Sir Almoth Wright, Noted Physician

One of the worst terrors of the wounded man in hospital—the often agonizing dressing of his healing wound—has been almost entirely removed by a little detail in technique introduced into the military wards of a London hospital by Sir Almoth Wright. The pain killing detail, for such it is, is the simple expedient of placing a very thin piece of perforated celluloid over the bare wound.

Two Lives Lost in Toronto Fire

Female Servants' Quarters of Queen's Hotel Burned

By Courier Leased Wire. Toronto, April 5.—Fire which started at 3:30 this morning in the female servants' quarters at the Queen's Hotel, has, according to early reports resulted in fatalities. The damage is trifling. Anna Anderson and Theresa Hopkins were in the hospital and reported fatally burned and Margaret Burns and Mary Clark are seriously ill. The blaze broke out in a linen closet directly beneath the sleeping quarters of the female employees. The flames crossed the stairway, cutting off the only way of escape except the fire ropes attached to the windows, which the women were too terrified to use. Two of them attempted to break through the wall of flames but were forced back and were found lying in their rooms, terribly burned about the face and body. The others remained in their rooms, stupefied and terrified, until eventually overcome by smoke. The fire at no time threatened the destruction of the hotel and was quickly extinguished. Defective electric wiring is suspected.

Grandmother of Russ Revolution

By Courier Leased Wire. Moscow, April 5.—Via London—Madame Catherine Breshkovskaya, "grandmother of the Russian revolution" has arrived here from Minsk, Siberia, after spending forty-four of her seventy three years as a convict, prisoner and exile in the wastes of north Asia. Madame Breshkovskaya met with an enthusiastic welcome and was formally received by the committee of social organization. She replied in a speech in which she made a moving appeal for books and educational facilities to be extended to the masses of the people. Soldiers and members of the committee carried her into the street after the meeting.

Madame Breshkovskaya was first jailed in the seventies as a member of the Terrorist society, "Land and Freedom." Thereafter she was dragged from prison to prison and from convict settlement to convict settlement, until as she declares: "I knew the interiors of thirty prisons as intimately as a monk knows his cell." She escaped twice and was released after the revolt which took place during the war with Japan. She was later denounced by the notorious police spy, Azef and again sent into exile.

TRADES AND LABOR OPPOSE MILITARY SCHOOL TRAINING

Resolution of Protest Passed After Discussion Last Evening

Last night's meeting of the Trades and Labor Council was given over to a continuation of the discussion concerning the advisability of introducing military training into our public schools and colleges, that was commenced at the meeting last week. After some discussion, the following resolution was moved by Delegate Kite, and seconded by Delegate Moran: "Whereas—Militarism is so widely denounced by neutral as well as by the majority of those belligerent countries at present engaged, as being the principle factor in causing this most terrible of all wars. And whereas—Great Britain and her Allies are sacrificing thousands of their best able-bodied men in an awful struggle to put down and do away with 'German Militarism' as a common foe for all time to come. And whereas—the encouraging of military training of any kind in our public schools or colleges is fostering this same demon that committed such inhuman and diabolical outrages in overrunning Serbia, Belgium and other countries in their lust for blood. And whereas—the inculcating of military jingoism into the minds of the children and sowing the seeds of hatred in their innocent hearts, crowds out all that God desires there, sunshine, love of man, kindness, love of flowers, unselfishness and to be forgiving. Be it therefore resolved that this council go on record as being decidedly opposed to military training of any kind in the public schools or colleges of this province."

Canadians are Always Active

Weather Has Little Effect
On Operations at the Front

HAVE NO QUIET DAYS
Canadians Make Daring and Successful Raids

SEVEN IN ONE WEEK
Prisoners Taken and Much Damage Inflicted

London, April 5.—The following communique issued by the Canadian War Records Office covers activities of the Canadian corps from March 25 to April 1: "A year ago the preparation of rain, hail and sleet which has been experienced during the last week on the Canadian corps' front would have been said to have brought operations almost to a standstill. Nowadays weather has little effect on minor operations. There are no "quiet" days in the old sense of the term. The old stagnation of trench warfare is disappearing. Almost nightly there are raids on one or the other part of the front. The enemy is given no peace. Our artillery pounds his defenses and communication trenches night and day unceasingly. When he is not being raided, by night our patrols are constantly searching. "No Man's Land," often reaching the enemy's wire and trenches and bringing back valuable information as to the state of his defenses and his methods of holding the line. "The raids of minor operations carried out since last Sunday include seven raids in all. As usual, a number of prisoners were taken."

Bombed With Own Bombs.
One night and early one morning small parties of a certain famous regiment crossed "No Man's Land" and entered the enemy's lines. On both occasions much damage was done to dugouts and defenses and a second raid a German post was driven from its position in a crater. Our men occupied the post for a short time, inflicting heavy casualties on the retreating enemy with their own bombs, which they had left in their hurry to get away. Another evening a raid was carried out. A party went over to the enemy's trenches and finding the line strongly held proceeded to drive him into his support line. In the process five Hunns were captured and the usual loot was made of his dugouts and defenses.

Killed Their Own Men.
The enemy retaliation for this little enterprise was not long delayed, and unfortunately one of their shells caught three of the prisoners and their escort on their way back to our lines. On another occasion we drove an enemy post from its advanced position in a crater. In their counter-attack the enemy suffered heavy losses from our accurate machine-gun fire. The first raid in April was responsible for the capture of some prisoners. Nine dugouts which were known to be occupied were bombed. In addition many dead were seen in the enemy's lines. To these daring raids the only reply of the enemy has been a few feeble attacks which on no occasion have our trenches been entered.

Madrid, April 4.—Via Paris, April 5.—The Madrid newspapers give great prominence to the news from America and all publish the speech of President Wilson. El Imparcial says that the United States enters the war to defend the inviolable right of its citizens to life. Discussing the material aspect of American intervention the paper regards the economic and naval aid which the United States can contribute as very important.

Because of domestic difficulties, Charlie Joseph, a Penticon Indian, B. C., tried to commit suicide by shooting himself.

CONFIDENT OF MITCHELL
By Courier Lensed Wire.
Albany, N. Y., April 5.—Adoption by the Senate of resolutions expressing confidence in the loyalty and patriotism of Democratic leader, Robert F. Wagner, of the Senate and containing no word of censor was adopted by a vote of 50 to 13 in New York, brought the Mitchell-Wagner controversy over Rockaway fort site legislation to a sudden termination early to-day. The indorsement of Senator Wagner was unanimous, and a resolution ending the inquiry was adopted by a vote of 50 to 13 in New York, which party lines were not adhered to.

Everybody MUST Help!
That Means YOU!

If you're a retired farmer or a high school boy able to work, or a man with spare time on your hands—the country is calling loudly for YOU. No matter what amount of help may be available in the summer—the land has to be prepared and the crops put in NOW.

The Right Spirit
"I am going to take Lloyd George at his word," writes a well-known Canadian, "this year I have made up my mind to do all I can, in the best way I can."
That spirit will win the war—if we all have it. There is some way you can help increase the production of food stuffs.
If you can go out on a farm, phone or see the Secty. Board of Trade, Room No. 12, Temple Building, and he will put you in touch with the proper parties.
But don't delay a day in making the necessary arrangements—ACT AT ONCE!

Grow Vegetables
Make that backyard work for you by growing vegetables for your own table. You'll be surprised at the pleasure and profit you will get out of it.
You needn't be a farmer to make a success of it either. The Thrift League will gladly show you how—if you don't know.

Plan now—there is not a day to lose. If you have or know where there is vacant land that can be cultivated, tell us about it.
Everybody must help! Use the coupon below if you will cultivate a plot and have not one of your own.

To Mr. H. T. Watt, Secty., Brantford Thrift League, CITY. Date.....
Dear Sir:—
I hereby make application for a one-tenth acre lot to be cultivated to the best of my ability for the purpose of increasing the food production of the city.

Wilson, the Victim of Vituperation From Huns President Accused of Bad Faith and Desire for War, and is Bitterly Attacked by Teuton Press

By Courier Leased Wire. Berlin, April 4.—Bitter personal attacks on President Wilson and the repudiation of the distinction he drew between the German people and their government, feature the comments of the German newspapers on the President's message to Congress. The Lokai Anzeiger says: "America must know that the assurance of President Wilson that the war is directed not against the German people but the German government cannot detract from the anger which his attitude during the whole war has fostered and which his last message has fanned into a bright flame. For this assurance is untrue and dishonest, as all the rest of the document, from the first word to the last. Mr. Wilson knows that no war in all history was little dynamic and more so much a war of whole people fighting for existence as this one which was forced on Germany by a circle of enemies in all parts of the world, whose hate was born of envy."

Wanted War. Germania says: "President Wilson wanted war and nobody can get past that. History will never go beyond that point and history will judge the more severely because it can be said today that war over such questions would have been impossible at another time, especially between the United States and Germany. If we were at war with only one or other of our enemies President Wilson would never have conceived the idea of putting his country into such a bloody adventure. But the obvious side of the war, which is based on such a weak foundation, is the fact that it comes from a man who has so far set himself up as a sort of moral judge, who felt called to bring the world to eternal peace, even though no country is less fitted for such a role than the United States." As little as Italy and Roumania could turn the scales against us, so little will the United States be able to change the tide of war."

Bad Faith. The Vossische Zeitung, which follows the lead taken by the Anzeiger, says: "Those who have so far doubted the bad faith of President Wilson will know better when they read the malicious distortion of truth which forms the chief contents of his message. His attempt to set up a difference between the German government and the German people is as perfidious and absurd as his claim that the German Kaiser started the war for dynastic reasons, and that the German war party sponsored it for conquest. This is contrary to President Wilson's own knowledge, and merely for the purpose of agitation, obviously in line with his British principles." Deceived People believe that President Wilson has deceived the American people, and The Berlin Tageblatt professes to they will in time realize it. "In opposition to those elements in Germany," says the paper "who intoxicate themselves and others with large words, we take the American war announcement in exceeding earnest. It is not a trifle that America is now added to our long list of enemies. The German people are confident of victory, and we are confident that the American people, either during the war or after the war, will realize the falsity of President Wilson's policies and that this unholy conflict between America and us will be followed by a new and friendly co-operation in that noble community of peoples concerning which President Wilson formerly used such beautiful words."

The Vorwarts runs its comment under a despatch telling of the pending trip to Washington from Vienna of United States Ambassador Penfield. "For the time being," says the Socialist organ, "we must reckon with the fact that a new enemy has arisen against us, who can, however, develop his great powers only slowly. We must realize that at the coming peace conference, which will be called soon, America will sit on the bench of our opponents. That is the situation, which is calculated to unchain new popular passions but which should be met with serenity and calm consideration. The nation in soldiers uniform and in civilian clothes will do its duty."

The Berlin Morgenpost says: "Just as the whole policy of this professor was insincere, insidious and malicious from the beginning, so also was this speech with which he tries to plunge his people into war."

Quebec to Take Over Raindeer

New York, April 5.—An Associated Press despatch from St. Johns, Nfld., today says:

Negotiations are under way with a view of having the government of the province of Quebec, take over the remaining 200 reindeer of the herd brought from Labrador in 1907 by Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the Labrador medical missionary. It is planned that the animals shall be transferred from their present quarters, St. Anthony, Nfld., to an island off the Meccatina district of Quebec, where they would be safe from attacks by dogs. Dr. Grenfell intended to place the reindeer in Labrador, where it was hoped they might prove more useful than dogs as beast of burden. The original herd of 300 increased to 600, but lack of funds to employ skilled keepers resulted in the death of many reindeer and the abandonment of the project.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well, what a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter. Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, so bile will be more easily eliminated, cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity, and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and betting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside bathing before breakfast.

German Bankers Leave Company

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, April 5.—Due to impending war, the two German members of the international banking house of Speyer and Company, one of the oldest in this country, have retired from the company by mutual consent. It was announced here today. The retiring members are Richard Schuster of this city and Eduard Beit von Speyer, of Frankfurt-on-the-Main.

James Speyer, head of the New York house, and an American citizen, has retired from the Frankfurt firm of Lazard-Speyer-Willisen, which was founded by his ancestors more than a hundred years ago. Speyer and Company in this country was founded eighty years ago. Mr. Speyer is announcing the retirement of his partners and the severing of his connection with the Frankfurt house, stated all active relations between Speyer & Company and their German connections had ceased some time ago.

Railroads of U.S. For War Service

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, April 5.—For war service the railroads of the United States will be operated practically as one system. They expect to handle all government business without seriously interfering with the nation's normal commerce. A statement issued by Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway and general chairman of the special committee on national defense of the American Railway Association, says that the railroads have arranged to give to the government preferential use of all facilities which may be needed for national defense.

Under a plan worked out with the quartermaster-general of the army, the government will advise the roads of its requirements, and the railroad managers will then be responsible for providing that service. Mr. Harrison says that the railroad companies believe this plan will work out better here than the plan adopted in England.

The citizens of Tilsenburg turned out in a heavy rain to welcome home Pte. Percy Gothard, invalided from an English hospital. Gothard made a recruiting speech.

Entertainment in Toy Theatre

A delightfully unique entertainment was given Tuesday evening in the Toy Theatre, 83 Hancock avenue, east, by Miss Beatrice Wilson and Miss Olive Temple Carr. The programme consisted of readings, character and folk dancing, all numbers beautifully costumed and ending with a cleverly produced one-act comedy entitled "We Dine at Seven" by the Misses Wilson and Carr, and Mr. W. H. Workman.

Solo numbers especially pleasing were the Spanish and tango dances by Miss Wilson and "La Papillon" or "Butterfly Dance" by Miss Carr, while an eccentric dance, given by Miss Carr, called "In a Mood of a Buccaneer" was a clever bit of work.

The double numbers were exceptionally good, being Oriental and folk dances. An original number called "In the Farmyard" by Miss Carr, was a set of imitations. The programme as a whole was highly appreciated by the audience.

The above clipping from the Detroit News refers to an entertainment given in Detroit a month or two ago and which is to be duplicated in Brantford by the Misses Wilson and Carr, under date of April 10th.

Miss Wilson formerly resided in Brantford and is a Canadian. In addition to this, she is a first class elocutionist. She desires to assist the Red Cross work in Canada at this time, and is putting on this entertainment, assisted by Miss Carr.

PROTEGE OF LLOYD GEORGE

Is Albert H. Illingworth, Postmaster General of Britain

London, April 5.—(Associated Press)—One of "Lloyd George's young men," as they call the group of business men whom the Premier has brought into his cabinet, is Albert H. Illingworth, the Postmaster General. Mr. Illingworth was not a little surprised at his appointment for he was unknown in the political world a year ago. Mr. Illingworth is the head of one of the largest worsted spinning firms in England and of a large French firm of wool-combers whose works have been almost destroyed by the German army. Financially Mr. Illingworth has been one of the heaviest sufferers in England from the war.

As Postmaster General of Great Britain he administers the largest state-owned business in the world. The British post office has charge of all telephones and telegraphs, distributes pensions and allowances, collects revenues and taxes of various kinds, and is an important cog in the machinery of issuing government loans.

The postoffice employs in normal times about 350,000 persons. Its Savings Bank department has 12,000,000 depositors and about $1,000,000,000 in deposits. It has sold "war savings certificates" to a total of nearly $1,000,000,000. The army post office service alone employs about 4,000 men, and handles 18,000,000 letters and parcels every week.

Mr. Illingworth is the first Postmaster General ever appointed in Great Britain with virtually no parliamentary experience. In the opinion of Lloyd George, "business experience and aptitude are the master qualifications." Mr. Illingworth, although a great disciple of "efficiency," is not a revolutionist, but he has already found occasion to put some rather startling changes into effect.

French Advance Near St. Quentin

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, April 5.—French reconnoitering parties, advanced last night north of Gauchy and Moy in the region south of St. Quentin until they reached new German lines, which they found to be occupied strongly, the war office reports. Artillery fighting is in progress over the front between Lauffaux and Margival. A German attack northwest of Rheims was repulsed.

The statement follows: "Between the Somme and the Oise the enemy undertook no counter action against the new front which we occupied yesterday. During the night our reconnoitering parties advanced north of Gauchy and north of Moy as far as the enemy lines, which they found to be occupied strongly. Intermittent cannonading occurred east and west of the Somme yesterday and last evening. The fire of our batteries checked quickly a counter-attack which was under preparation by the Germans on the front between Lauffaux and Margival. Artillery fighting continues in this sector.

Northwest of Rheims the Germans made an attack without success on our lines between Saigneul and the Godat farm. Some German detachments were able to gain a footing in our advanced position, but were driven out at once by a counter-attack. "In Alsace we caught under our fire and dispersed a group of Germans in the region of Ammertzwilger. Elsewhere the night was calm."

Sweeping Majority For War Bill in Senate

Resolution Adopted by 82 to 6 After an Animated Debate—La Follette Assailed Great Britain and Was Denounced by Others—House to Act on Measure To-day

Washington, April 4.—Hang out the stars and stripes among the allied flags that share Canadian breezes with the Union Jack. Within forty-eight hours President Woodrow Wilson will sign the joint resolution of both chambers of the United States Congress, declaring war upon "the enemy of mankind"—a war to be waged, the legislators have expressly provided, with "the entire naval and military forces of the United States of America, and all the resources of the Government." Amid stirring scenes to-night, after an all-day sitting, without recess, the Senate adopted the war resolution by a vote of 82 to 6. Meantime the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives has passed it with but two dissentients—Shackleton of Missouri, Democrat, and Cooper of Wisconsin, Republican. At 10 o'clock today the House convenes to deal with it. Continuous sitting is provided for until the vote is taken, probably at night. By good Friday morning at latest it is anticipated that the President will officially affix his signature.

The Senators who cast the negative votes were Gronna of North Dakota, La Follette of Wisconsin, Norris of Nebraska, Lane of Oregon, Stone of Missouri and Vardaman of Mississippi.

Text of the resolution follows: "Whereas, the Imperial German Government has committed repeated acts of war against the Government and the people of the United States of America; therefore be it Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, that the state of war between the United States and the Imperial German Government, which has thus been thrust upon the United States is hereby formally declared, and that the President be and he is hereby authorized and directed to employ the entire naval and military forces of the United States and the resources of the Government to carry on war against the Imperial German Government; and to bring the conflict to a successful termination, all of the resources of the country are hereby pledged by the Congress of the United States.

Opposes Army to Europe.—Announcement that he would offer an amendment in the House to the war resolution which would prohibit the sending of American troops to Europe without the express consent of Congress, was made last night by Representative Fred A. Britten, Republican of Illinois, a member of the Naval Affairs Committee. Mr. Britten said that unless such an amendment is included in the war resolution he would oppose its passage. Heretofore Mr. Britten has not evinced pacifist tendencies, and has been one of the radical preparedness advocates.

Hot Debate in Senate.—One of the features of the day was the debate in the Senate on the war resolution. Senator La Follette of Wisconsin bitterly assailed Great Britain, and Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi made a stinging speech in reply. The American Republic will act with the allies. The temper of both Congressional bodies is pronounced and unmistakable. It is to be no negative participation. Food, money and munitions are to be unreservedly despatched to the old world powers who struggle against the common foe. But the nation's leaders have sensed the enthusiastic larger determination of the people to participate in the actual conflict on sea and land, and international machinery is already moving toward this

BRITISH USED QUANT CRAFT

Vessels of Every Variety Brought Into Service in Bagdad Drive

Bagdad, April 5.—In their successful advance on Bagdad the British used some of the queerest craft in the world to navigate the Tigris. These included the heavy teak-timbered craft which the Arab describes as chias; of which the ship carpenters attached to the force built 130. These craft carry about 40 tons. They have short stubby masts and just a bit of sail. Larger craft of similar design are called saffara. A total of 310 boats of these types were used for freight in the advance on Bagdad. These queer craft kept in touch with the advanced base throughout the operations northward from the Persian gulf.

Other craft used included the "hullian" or canoe, ranging from over 100 tons down to the tiny craft of three quarters of a ton which causes Basrah to be described as "The Venice of the East," the "mashoor," a hollow wedge-shaped

After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

DATE CHANGED.—Vienna, Via London, April 5.—United States Ambassador Penfield is understood to have decided to leave Vienna for Washington on April 7, instead of April 5, as previously reported.

Returns of National Service Cards have been very satisfactory since the time for filling them in was extended until March 31st. The Returned Soldiers' Association of Kitchener, which proposes securing a home to accommodate soldiers, succeeded in raising $1,349.51. Hamilton Board of Trade will start a motor truck service for the delivery of freight in the district, owing to the inadequate service given by the railways. Owen Sound Council dismissed Fireman Monahan for insubordination and also dismissed Chief George Thompson for having permitted the insubordination.

THIS WOMAN TO THIS MAN

—BY— C. N. and A. M. Williamson (COPYRIGHT)

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters. Annesley Grayle, companion to Mrs. Ellsworth, a selfish old hypocrite, desperate at the grayness of her days, answers the advertisement of "Mr. N. Smith," who wants to meet a girl with a view to marriage. Keeping an appointment at the Savoy, in London, she is accosted by a man who asks her to protect him by posing as his wife. She does so, falls in love with him, and to save him from two dark-faced strangers, brings him home to Mrs. Ellsworth's. Ruthven Smith, agent for Van Vreck and Co., New York jewelers, and an occasional lodger, comes unexpectedly. As Annesley tries to warn her lover, a pistol-shot is heard up-stairs.

Ruthven Smith has fired at the stranger. There is a row, and Annesley is ordered out of the house. "Smith" takes her to the Savoy, where the Countess de Santiago plays chaperon until they are married. He gives her pearls and a beautiful ring with a blue diamond. "Smith" has asked Annesley not to look at the register at the wedding, so she doesn't know her husband's real name. They go to Sidmouth for their honeymoon, and there "Knight," Annesley's name for her husband, manoeuvres for an acquaintance with the Annesley-Setons, poor but titled cousins of Annesley's. The girl gets a letter from Lady Annesley-Seton.

From Wednesday's Deally. "We'll back you up with pleasure," Knight replied. "What was the miniature like? I wonder if we saw it when we were here the other day. Anita? I remember all these, but can't recall any other."

"Neither can I," returned Annesley. "But then I am stupid about such things. And we saw so many—and passed so quickly."

"I wonder if old Paul Van Vreck was here in disguise, among the tourists?" said Dick, beginning to laugh now. "It would have been just the one he would have chosen if he couldn't grab the lot."

"Oh, surely no one in the crowd could have cut a piece of glass out of a cabinet and stolen a miniature without being seen by somebody!" Annesley cried.

"Dick is more than half in joke," Constance explained. "It would have been almost a miracle, yet the scene is above suspicion. Those horrid trustees never let me choose a new one without their interference. And, of course, Dick didn't mean what he said about Mr. Van Vreck."

"Of course not. I quite understood that," Annesley excused herself, blushing lest she had appeared childishly obtuse.

"All the same, just to carry on the joke, let's go into the octagon room and see if the three alleged Fragonard pictures have gone, too," said Annesley-Seton. He led the way, turning on more light in the adjoining room as he went, and outdistancing the others, they heard him stammer, "Good Lord!" before they were near enough to see what he saw.

"They aren't gone!" shrieked his wife, hurrying after him. "One of them is."

In an instant the three had grouped behind him, where he stood staring at an empty frame, between two others of the same pattern and size, containing old frames twelve or fourteen inches square, within whose boundaries of carved and gilded wood nymphs held hands and danced.

"Are we dreaming this?" whispered Constance, dazed.

"Thank Heaven we're not!" her husband answered exultantly. "The two paintings are on wood, you see. So was the missing one. Someone has simply fastened it to the frame, and trusted to this being a dark, out-of-the-way corner, not to have the theft noticed for hours or months. But all that's wonderful for me! What about the jade Buddha in the Chinese room?"

"They all rushed back into the green drawing-room, and so to the beautiful Chinese room beyond, with its priceless lacquer tables and cabinets. In one of these latter a collection of exquisite jade was gathered together.

And the Buddha which Paul Van Vreck had coveted was gone!

CHAPTER XI. Annesley-Setons. There was great excitement for the next few days at Valley House and throughout the neighbourhood; for the Annesley-Setons made no secret of the strange robbery, and the affair got into the papers, not only the local ones, but the London dailies. Two of the latter sent representatives, to whom Lord Annesley-Seton granted short interviews. Something he said attracted the reporter's attention to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, who had been dining at Valley House on the evening when the theft was discovered, and Knight was also asked for an interview.

any opinion as to the disappearance of the three heirlooms, and whether he knew personally Mr. Paul Van Vreck, the distinguished American collector and retired head of the famous firm of jewelers, who had wished to buy the vanished treasures.

Having spent most of his life in America, Knight had the theory that unless you wished to be misrepresented, the only safe thing was to let yourself be interviewed. He was

Text of the Lesson, John xi, 17-44. Memory Verses, 25, 26—Golden Text, John xi, 25—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The lesson chapter today is out of the regular order, just one lesson, because of its being suitable for Easter. This is the home in Bethany which seemed to mean more to Jesus than any other and to which we were introduced in Luke x. 38-42, when we saw Martha serving, but not restfully, Mary serving also, but finding time to sit at Jesus' feet and hear His word and commended by Him. We shall visit them again two weeks hence. In Matt. xxvi, 6, it is called the house of Simon, the leper, and we feel like asking some questions, that we may know the family better. But whom shall we ask? Until we can see them and inquire more fully, if it shall then seem best, let us rejoice with them that Jesus loved each of the three, as it is written, "Now, Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus" (verse 5). Many Marthas have been made glad by this verse. I am glad because the Son of God loved me and gave Himself for me and that He loves with everlasting love and to the uttermost (Gal. ii, 20; Jer. xxxi, 3; John xiii, 1, R. V. M.). Why He permits sickness and suffering and death to come to those whom He loves is a constant question with many, but there is comfort in the assurance that God is love. His way is perfect. No real evil can ever come to His own, and the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us (1 John iv, 8; Ps. xviii, 30; xci, 10; Rom. viii, 18). Why He did not go to them as soon as He could, but abode two days where He was (verse 9), is another perplexity, but we must have absolute confidence in Him and keep singing, "Just and true are Thy ways" (Rev. xv, 3).

It would be well if the last clause of verse 4 held us under all circumstances. "For the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified." Glory to God in the highest is the first thing, and then peace (Luke ii, 14). When He did come Martha met Him first and Mary a little later, but both greeted Him with the same words, "Lord, if Thou hadst been here my brother had not died" (verses 21, 22). They sound reproachful, but He understood and loved them just the same. He spoke to Martha of resurrection, but she thought that He spoke of some far off event (23-26). The resurrection of the righteous should be to believers an ever present possibility and also the thought of being caught up without dying, both of which He here asserts. See also 1 Thess. iv, 10-18; 1 Cor. xv, 50-53. Not something in the far distant future, but a possibility any day. "Yet a very little while, He that cometh shall come and will take with him a cloud, and will come in glory" (1 Thess. iv, 17, R. V.). Mary did not come to Him until Martha returned and said, "The Master is come and calleth for thee." Then she arose quickly and came unto Him (verses 28, 29). I wonder how the Jews comforted her (verse 31). How could she be so sure? He said, "I am the Father of mercies and the God of all comfort, who comforts us that we may comfort others, but I remember only one place where it is written, "Comfort one another with these words" (11 Cor. 1, 3, 4; 1 Thess. iv, 18). Of too many it might be said, "Miserable comforters are ye all" (Job xvi, 2). In due time they came to the tomb, and Jesus wept and groaned in Himself (verses 35, 38).

On this occasion, as He entered Jerusalem and in Gethsemane are the three occasions on which it is recorded that Jesus wept, but He was ever a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief (Isa. liii, 3). When He said, "Take ye away the stone," Martha objected, as if it had been dead four days, for he had been dead four days. His reply is that of too many a day, "Said I not unto thee that if thou wouldst believe thou shouldst see the glory of God?" (Verse 40). The same truth is in Pa. xxvii, 13—I believed to see. The world's motto is, "Seeing is believing," but the Christian believes in order to see. Jesus said, "I am the Father and I have cried with a loud voice, "Lazarus, come forth!" Instantly he was at the mouth of the tomb, alive and well, but still bound hand and foot, with the graveclothes and his face bound about with the napkin. The same word that gave him life brought him also to the mouth of the grave. Some day that same voice will bring forth all the dead, the righteous at the beginning of the thousand years and the unjust at the close of that period (chapter v, 28, 29).

It probably gave a ear and trembling to some to see a dead man stand up with the graveclothes still on him, but Jesus said, "Loose him and let him go," and soon he is freed from the habitments of death. Oh, the wonder-working Christ; truly a man, for He wept; truly God, for He can raise the dead, and He is "the same Jesus." Many who have come to life from being dead in sins have not been fully freed from their graveclothes, the things they did in their former days when they were of this present evil age, but He who gave life is able to set free from all their sin habits. See indeed to serve Him. If you are free by His word and Spirit, He will use you to set some one else free if you will.

DELINQUENTS TO PAY (Associated Press) Stockholm, April 5.—A sudden rush of delinquents to pay up back taxes has been the immediate result of a new regulation providing that passbooks entitling the holder to buy intoxicating liquor will not be issued to persons on the delinquent taxroll. Loss of the electoral franchise until their taxes were paid had not prevented hundreds of delinquents from neglecting to square accounts with the tax collector, but the threat to make it impossible for them to obtain intoxicants has brought some thousands of crowns into the city treasury.

WADDEL WAS A DIAMOND CLOWN

Great Twirler of Early Days of the Game an Eccentric Star

Rube Waddell—George Edward Waddell was his baptismal name—was one of the oddest, quaintest characters that baseball ever knew. For many years the Rubes filled more space in the sporting pages than any other ball player—he was almost a national figure, and beyond a doubt he did more to increase the savvy of this sad world than any other athlete that ever lived. He was the king's jester, the royal clown—the chief burlesque of baseball—and yet his antics were "clean," free from vulgar phases, and incomparably diverting. Rube's comedy left no suffering behind—it brought no sting, to any man. Many a great philosopher has urged that the man who weeps at this world's happiness is far greater than the mightiest conqueror—and if this is true, what a princely benefactor was poor Rube Waddell!

Whenever Waddell came ripples of laughter preceded his arrival something richly humorous invariably happened during his sojourn, and long after his departure the memory of his absurdities remained. He hurt no one his follies harmed nobody but himself—and judging by the many, many years that he lasted it took a long time for his comedy to harm him. There was but one Waddell—perhaps there never will be another.

Waddell flashed in and out, mostly out, of several big league teams between 1897 and 1909. He was a gigantic left-hander, of magnificent frame and proportions, and is said to have been from mixed Pennsylvania Dutch and English ancestry. During those early years he had terrific speed, but rather poor control. In 1901 he seemed to have learned the big league game thoroughly, and was taken on by the shattered Chicago club, recently aided by the American League, and in due season pitched for them. He was one of the rich sport for the Chicago rooters and paragoners, and of gray hairs for James A. Hart. The Rubes could surely pitch—his defeat of Mathewson when they first met at Cub Park was one of the year's sensations—and in those days he could hit. He loved to hear the cotic crash of wood on leather, and he'd run out his hits to the limit, too. As for willingness to pitch—well, the Rubes was never a shirker when you caught his fancy right. He pitched, and won a game on Friday, and that night, met some prominent citizens who lamented that they hadn't seen his fancy right. At once he pitched to them, and he'd pitched to announce, in all the morning papers that, "to oblige some Board of Trade men who had not been present Friday, Mr. Waddell would positively pitch on Saturday!" And he did—and won.

Jim Hart had the reputation with Waddell, but every misadventure was so ridiculous that Hart could only laugh. On one occasion Rube failed to show up when billed to pitch, and was a little later found nursing a battered hand. Hart at once fined him $50. "Aw, say Mr. Hart," pleaded Rube, "you hadn't ought to fine me. You wouldn't if you knew how it happened. I was in a saloon—but I was only drinking pop—when I heard a guy say that Jim Hart was a pitcher. 'Now, I wouldn't bet anybody call you anything like that, so I hit him, and hurt my hand!' And what could Hart do but erase his name?"

Waddell was a big on fishing, and often deserted his club to chase the zamel bass or leaping pickerel. He liked to tend bar and many a time was located with a white apron on when he should have been on the field. A fire seemed to lure him every time and he joined several fire departments—making some daring rescues, for the Rubes with all his buffoonery was a brave man and would go the route to help a woman or a child.

Rube was a big winner for the White Sox, and remained with the White Sox.

A Group of Stars From "Il Trovatore" to be presented at the Grand Opera House on Friday Night.

FEEL FINE! TAKE "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Enjoy life! Your system is filled with an accumulation of bile and bowel poison which keeps you bilious, headachy, dizzy, tongue coated, breath bad and stomach sour—Why don't you get a 10-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and feel better. Take Cascarets to-night and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You'll wake up with a clear head, clean tongue, lively step, rosy skin and looking and feeling fit. Mothers can give a whole Cascaret to any time—they are harmless—never gripe or sicken.

Elephants for several years. At the time of need, however—the Giant series in 1905—he announced that his arm was crippled, and was unable to pitch in the series that Mathewson won almost single handed. Perhaps with Waddell in line it might have been far otherwise, for the Rubes seemed to have it on Matty on the few occasions when they got together.

Waddell went to the St. Louis Browns, then to the minors, but never ceased his pranks of buffoonery. When it became evident that his skill was falling him, he was sent to a still smaller league, and was soon laid up with the first symptoms of the illness that finally led to his remorseless grip upon his mighty franchise. He had gone a long, long way, and he lasted, as an athlete, much longer than the average safe, sane and sensible performer.

Take him all in all, he was a physical wonder, and had few equals either as a comedian or a pitcher. A boy that never grew up, a joyous wastrel, as irresponsible as a Sioux papoose; a bringer of joy and laughter; the creator of enormous glee and the sworn enemy of gloom—and withal, kindly and amiable, a good fellow and everybody's friend—such was poor Rube Waddell, the only and inimitable!

SIDELIGHTS ON THE STAGE AND SCREEN

THE REX.
The program at the Rex theatre is once more headed by the thrilling war pictures depicting the advance of the Canadian troops upon the Somme front and the tanks, the British armored cars of the British army, as they appear in action, presenting a vivid and realistic picture of modern day warfare, which should be witnessed by all. The noted emotional screen star Cleo Madison in her latest Bluebird feature production "The Chalice of Sorrow" is seen at her best, and will be deeply admired by Brantford patrons with whom she became a favorite in the serial "The Ties of Hearts." The tenth episode of the serial "Liberty" and a clever Big V comedy with Hughie Mack serve to complete an excellent double bill.

A FRAME-UP.
The details of one of the most dastardly plots that has ever been perpetrated in the annals of screen history have just become known since the return of the Lon-Tellee company from Saranac Lake where they spent considerable time staging "The Long Trail." Among the members of the cast selected by Director Hansel for this Famous Players-Paramount picture was Sidney Bracey, well known to the motion picture fans.

Bracey played the role of "The Leech," and during the course of the production half sheet posters were pasted up in numerous conspicuous places around Saranac Lake bearing the legend "One Thousand Dollars Reward for 'The Leech' wanted for the murder of Jim Brisco at Little Bear." There was also a photograph of the "criminal" together with a complete description. Of course Bracey's photograph was used as the posters, were utilized as part of the background for several scenes, and the assistant director in making up the copy for the poster had actually described Bracey quite accurately.

One night, after the placards had been posted for several days, Bracey was playing pool at the Riverside inn when a tall, heavy-set man approached him in a belligerent manner, and confronting him with one of the placards, demanded to know whether or not he was the original of the picture. (No, no, gentle reader, go on, go on—this is not the old story—there is a twist in it.) Bracey acknowledged the accusation and was promptly ordered to follow the man out of the place. The culprit explained very quietly that he was a motion picture actor and not a real criminal, but the thick-set man was very determined in his attitude, and finally flashed a deputy sheriff's shield ordering Bracey to go with him at once. Bracey began to protest nervously, but the more annoyed the deputy sheriff became, until the actor appealed to several people at the inn to identify him.

The kind offers of his friends were of no avail however, and Bracey was finally dragged ignominiously out of the room. He was taken to the police court, where he was again forced to admit himself to be the original of the placard and was remanded to jail without bail. Bracey was placed in a cell with a very intoxicated lumberman, and after he had spent several hours endeavoring vainly to straighten matters out, he cast selected by Director Hansel for this Famous Players-Paramount picture was Sidney Bracey, well known to the motion picture fans.

Bracey was hurried back to the hotel, where he was told to pack up his belongings at once, that a sleigh would carry him over to Loon Lake, where he would be out of the jurisdiction of this court. Bracey waited in vain and finally, despairing of any assistance from his friends, he made a dash for it, and escaped through the sliding door of the kitchen door with all the appearances of an escaping convict. He was greeted with a howl of laughter by the "deputy" and his "rescuers," who had been calmly waiting downstairs for their victim to stage a spectacular escape. It was an exceptionally cold day and the incident cost Bracey three rounds instead of the customary one.

CONVINCING.
Some wild-eyed fakir is going about the country telling that Charlie Chaplin is so ignorant that he cannot sign his own name. Well, the Mutual cashier has Charlie's by-line on quite a few $150,000 checks. He can convince our knowing friend instantly.

"A LITTLE BIT OF PLUFF."
Canadian officers returning from London have been chortling for months past over a play which, as one of them described it, "would make a statue dance on its pedestal." It is known as "A Little Bit of Pluff," and has enjoyed a run of upwards of 500 performances at the Criterion Theatre in the British capital. The predictions are that it will run past the thousand mark before London gets tired of laughing at it. Three companies are playing it in the British provinces, and it is having huge success in Australia and South Africa. It will be good news to local playgoers that the most delightful of living comedians, Albert Brown, has secured the Canadian rights, and that it will be seen at the Grand Opera House Easter Monday.

"A Little Bit of Pluff" is a farce of the same type as "Pink Dominoes," "The Private Secretary," and "Charlie's Act" as shown in London. It has exceeded those noted plays in popularity, though this seems incredible. Like them, it is just one

USE "TIZ" FOR SORE TIRED, ACHING FEET

No more puffed-up, burning, sweaty, calloused feet or corns.

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture. Get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get, how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

Long laugh from start to finish. The audience laughs all the time it is going on, laughs between the acts in discussing its situations, laughs on the way home and at breakfast the next morning in thinking of it. It even makes those who have seen it laugh in their sleep.

Above all, it provides a new role for Albert Brown of a type he has never before presented in this country. Can the reader fancy this delightful comedian as an "uplifter," that is the kind of young man he has to play in this piece. His adventures when he is compelled to persomate a friend of less rigid principles, and which even involve him in the necessity of donning women's clothes, constitute the richest series of situations that have emanated from the brain of a playwright for many a year. It is from the pen of a clever young Engineer, Walter Ellis, and is produced by arrangement with Messrs. Herbert Jay and Anthony Ellis of the Criterion Theatre, London. The production is rich and tasteful and an exact replica of that which is nightly growing that celebrated playhouse.

IL TROVATORE

It is a well known fact that wine improves with age. The older it grows the more stimulating it becomes and the stronger its flavor.

In 1853 Verdi, the great pioneer of modern opera, produced what is generally considered his masterpiece, Il Trovatore, and yet to-day, sixty-four years after its first presentation, its airs and choruses are more popular than they were then.

However, such an opera as Il Trovatore with its wealth of melody must have an unusually the cast to bring out its true beauty, and it is in this respect that the Boston English Opera Company's production coming here on Good Friday, April 6, is unique.

With Joseph F. Sheehan as Maurice and Mlle. Nelli Gardini as Leonora, it offers the two foremost exponents of these two roles before the public to-day. The balance of the cast includes Elaine De Sellem as Azucena, a role in which she has achieved her greatest success; Harold J. Gols as Di Luna; Robert Evans as Ferando; Grace Dossie as Inez; Johann Wandling as Ruiz Elio. If ever a cast deserved to be dignified by the name all-star, this one surely does. The chorus is also specially selected, and the augmented orchestra under the direction of Maestro Johann Rose adds the final touch of perfection.

Does not this awaken pleasurable anticipation of a musical feast? And what is more, your every expectation will be fully gratified.

THE INFELD FLY A Dissertation Upon a Very Peculiar Type of Insect DEFINITION IS GIVEN

(By Billy Evans.) What is an infeld fly? That question is often asked me. In a way it is hard to explain satisfactorily, although on the face it does not appear a problem difficult of solution.

I am often asked what the umpire would do if he decided a certain fly ball could be handled by an infelder, and immediately so declared himself, only to have an out-thrower with a major league name in which I was the official in charge.

With runners on first and second and the man out, and the team at bat three runs behind, the batter hit a high fly. The moment the ball was hit, I called "infeld fly," and the crowd dispersed at an early hour after wishing many happy returns.

DUTCH LANGUAGE IS SPREADING

To Take a More Prominent Place in World Than During Last Century

TO ESTABLISH CHAIRS
In Dutch Language, Literature and History at London University

The Hague, Netherlands, April 5.
(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Signs are not wanting that, partly as a consequence of the war, the Dutch language is to take a more prominent place in the world than it has done in the last century. Plans are on foot to establish a chair in the Dutch language, literature and history at London University, a movement that has attracted the more interest in the British metropolis because of the numerous and growing Dutch-speaking population that now forms part of the British Empire, as citizens of United South Africa.

In Germany professorships in Dutch already existed at Bonn and Munster universities, and the events of the war have led the authorities at Leipzig to afford similar facilities.
The temporary German rule in the Flemish parts of Belgium has naturally evoked increased interest in Dutch in Germany. Indeed, many of the Germans more directly concerned have already acquired a knowledge of the language.

In addition to existing Dutch institutions in America, there is a movement on foot in the United States for the establishments of a chair in Netherlands history and literature at the University of Michigan. It is in Michigan and Iowa that the Dutch element is still strong today.

A recent writer on this subject estimated the numbers of the Dutch-speaking race in the world at 12-580,000 souls.

If the Dutch manage to hold Holland, and that there seems little doubt, and if, as is likely, Flanders is afforded more opportunity for development after the war than it has enjoyed hitherto, the Dutch believe a bright future awaits them in northwest Europe, where this sturdy race already forms a compact population of 11,200,000 souls. In the Dutch East Indies the making and moulding of a new nation is committed to their hands. Altogether the Dutch are convinced that the signs point to an increasingly important share for them in the mission and future of the white race.

MEATLESS DAY IN OLD COUNTRY

One Weekly is Ordered by Baron Devonport, Food Controller

POTATOES LIMITED
To Two Days per Week
Only

London, April 4.—Baron Devonport, the British Food Controller, has ordered that, beginning April 15, in hotels, restaurants, boarding-houses and clubs there shall be one meatless day weekly. In London the day will be Tuesday. Elsewhere in the United Kingdom it will be Wednesday.

The Controller has also ordered that no potatoes or food containing potatoes shall be allowed, except on the quantities of meat, sugar and bread at meals served in hotels, restaurants, boarding-houses and clubs. The scale for meat is for breakfast, two ounces; luncheon, five ounces, and dinner, five ounces.
The bread restrictions call for two ounces at all these meals.
Baron Devonport, in explaining the order, said he expected it to result in a saving of 65 per cent. of the meat now consumed, 53 per cent. of suit in a saving of 65 per cent. of the said he had originally intended to order two meatless days, but that he feared this would lead to an increase in bread consumption.

NOVEL MOUSE TRAP
(Associated Press)

Rome, April 5.—A young officer, son of General Spingardi, former minister of war, writes that in his part of the front the trenches are overrun with mice. "We have devised," he writes, "a splendid system for catching these little pests. We cut the corner of a sack and prop it open, putting inside cheese. We hide ourselves and watch the mice entering through the hole. At the opportune moment we pull a string which suddenly closes the hole. We rush to see what bag we have made and sometimes we have found as many as 200 tiny prisoners."

CRIPPLED SOLDIERS.

Rome, April 5.—(Associated Press)—Crippled soldiers in Italy have been taught a number of useful trades, among them the making of artificial flowers, baskets, the cutting of camos, leatherwork, bookbinding and many other things. These objects have found such a ready sale in the larger Italian towns that several American women are forming a committee to forward them to the United States.

Preparations are being made to open up the No. 5 coal mine at Cumberland, which, when it was closed down in 1914, had a daily production of 1,200 tons.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat and Take Salts for Backache or Bladder Trouble—Neutralizes Acids.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person man-ny. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water;
also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tabspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active.
Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

KAISER'S CAR
(Associated Press)

London, April 5.—An automobile which was built in Germany for the personal use of Emperor William and which had been sent to London just before the war to be fitted with an English body, has just been sold for $35,000 to a Danish shipowner.
The car has been in the hands of the body-builders ever since it was finished, and was ordered sold by the courts to satisfy their charges. It is called by English experts the most luxurious automobile ever built, and the price paid for it at auction is believed to be a record for a car of personal use.

TICKET SYSTEM
(Associated Press)

Rome, April 5.—The government is now organizing a system throughout Italy for the distribution of the necessities of life by means of tickets in order to suppress the inequalities which heretofore existed in the 69 provinces of the kingdom. In the province of Mantua, each individual has been allowed to have less than two ounces of sugar every ten days, while in the neighboring provinces there is no limitation on the purchase of sugar.

FREEDOM OF SEAS FOR MERCY SHIPS

Safe Passage is Allowed Vessels for Belgian Relief

SUBMARINE CAMPAIGN

And Floating Mines Do Not Hamper Good Work

Up from the South Atlantic, or across the ocean from Canadian and American ports, up through the English Channel, or riding down the North Sea, a certain flood of vessels go about their business, although submarines, floating mines, torpedoes, were mythical, and did not exist, or were not to be feared if they did.

They are the Relief boats, bound for Rotterdam, carrying food to Belgium, their mission: to save a nation. On the high seas it has become a custom on the part of neutral and British ships to stop their engines when the coast or pass, or are passed by one of these Ships of Mercy, thus to acknowledge the splendid work upon which it is engaged.

Even the patrol boats around the British shores, those little wasps that have stung to death so many venomous submarines, come spinning and salute her with as much importance as a dreadnought. And the German subs are under strict orders to give every Relief boat the freedom of the seas—absolute guarantees to this effect have been given by the German Government to the Relief Commission.

It remains, therefore, only to fill these ships with flour and beans and corn to ensure that Belgium shall not starve, for the Relief Commission is distributing its supplies to-day just as effectively as the relief department of the Royal Museum. They are to be released on one of the larger islands in the Stockholm Archipelago. It is intended later to attempt hybridization with native cattle. These are the first bison ever seen in Sweden.

GET GOOD GLASSES

Both Sides of the Question

There are people who can see and won't, and others who can't see and want to. Those who can see well do not need glasses at present but when they do, it will be their distinct advantage to come here. Those who cannot see well should not delay a day, because delays in matters of the eye are dangerous. We are expert opticians and adjust glasses to suit all sights.
