Allied Troops Victorious Advance in Rheims—Soissons Salient Many Prisoners

Tuesday

The Allied troops continue to gain ground on the Soissons-Rheims salient, also on the South of the Marne and toward Rheims. The American troops captured the town of Joulgonne. 1,800 prisoners were taken during the day. An American flying squadron, the Robert and Richard was sunk by a submarine off the Maine coast.

Wednesday

The enemy resistance in the Soissons-Rheims salient is stiffening, indicating that the Germans are endeavoring to make a stand. A heavy German counter attack west of Rheims was repulsed. German losses since the battle started are now estimated at from 125,000 including 25,000 prisoners.

Thursday

By heavy counter attacks the Germans took Chassigny and the wood north of Treloisy, from the French only to lose them shortly afterward. Prisoners were taken by the French south of Montdidier. The British troops improved their lines south of Rossignol Wood and also around the Villers-Brittonneux sector.

Friday

The Allied offensive lessened somewhat, but lines were advanced slightly. Heavy German reinforcements were thrown into the fighting. The British lost Mery and Hill 294, but retained their hold on Vigney. The French and American troops have captured, Reuil, Oulchy, le Chateau, and Vellomontaire. At Oulchy forty guns and many prisoners were taken. The British armed cruiser Marmora, was sunk by a submarine and ten of her crew lost. British airmen raided Forthelm. Baalon and Offenburg doing much damage. German planes were put out of action.

Saturday

The enemy massed heavy guns along the front north of Soissons and near Rheims, necessarily causing the Allied advance to slow up somewhat. Tanks are reported to be doing excellent work. The German army in the Soissons, Rheims salient are reported in retreat closely followed by the Allies, who have advanced about five miles against enemy rear guard.

Sunday

The French advanced guards reached the north bank of the Ourcq River, and allied troops have entered For-en-Tardenois, the German supply base, which lies in the middle of the Aisne-Marne sector. The village of Anthesay and Alisy-en-Viozaine were also taken. Six Allied airmen dropped bombs on Constantinople.

Monday

The Germans started a new battle near Monte Sans Non, but neither side have gained any advantage. French troops continue to gain ground, between Soissons and Ourcq advancing half a mile against the German right flank.

The Americans and German troops met in a heavy battle near Sergy, but although the enemy used four divisions the Americans stood like a stone wall. Relations between Turkey and Germany have been severed by disputes over the spoils of war. Turkey not being satisfied with the concessions given Bulgaria in Roumania. Whether Turkey will turn on her former ally is not yet known.

Tuesday

Australian troops took forty prisoners in the region of Morris last night. The Germans have begun a counter attack along the whole battle front in the vicinity of Soissons and have forced American troops to give way at two points. Canadian troops took prisoners in two successful raids last night near Gavrelle.

Motor Boat Burned At Oak Point

Narrow Escape of Pleasure Party on Sunday When Gasoline Explodes

A bad motor boat accident occurred on the Miramichi river Sunday near Oak Point, when a boat containing 25 young women and young men returning from Burnt Church, where they attended a celebration in honor of St. Anne, in the Indian church, caught fire and was burned.

A young man, Alexander Ross, lighted a cigarette in the cabin of the boat and immediately there was an explosion, the boat being enveloped in flames. A small boat was at once utilized and the passengers were taken ashore to Oak Point wharf.

Doctor B. A. Marven, of Chatham, soon reached the scene by auto and dressed the wounds of the sufferers. Shortly afterwards two automobiles arrived, which conveyed the victims to their homes.

Young Ross was badly burned about the legs and arms, also the hair of his head being completely burned off.

Harris Pallen, who was in the cabin with Ross at the time received severe injuries, being burned around the arms and legs. His wounds are not as serious as those of young Ross, who will be confined to the hospital for a time. The other passengers escaped with slight burns, as they were not in the cabin at the time, and were soon taken off the boat after the explosion.

The boat is a total loss and was valued at $6,000. It belonged to the Snowball Lumber Co.

One of the most destructive rain and hail storms in recent years visited the Province on Tuesday last and while it was not general all the parts visited suffered considerable damage to growing crops, and many windows were broken by hail stones.

Narrow Escape When Schooner Capsized

Schooner Ainta Inward Bound Turned Turtle by Squall on Saturday Night

Another very severe electric storm swept over the Miramichi valley Saturday evening. At Baribogue James Scott's residence was struck by lightning and almost totally destroyed. While James Brown's residence at Nelson was also damaged there was no person in the houses at the time. The schooner Ainta, owned by Alex. Arsenneau of the Magdalen Islands and captained by Hubert Jomphe, was proceeding up the river light, expecting to load at Chatham with shingles and was struck by the squall and turned turtle.

The captain and crew of three men got clear in a small boat but had great difficulty in rescuing a lady passenger, Miss Mary Arsenneau, of Clark City (Que.). The shipwrecked people were picked up by H. M. L. Russell and brought to Loggieville. The vessel is now hard and fast with the spar sticking in the mud off the Oak Point light. An attempt to salvage her will be made.

LOGGIEVILLE

Farm Labor Not Scarce in Alberta

Young men, who are thinking of going west to help in the harvesting will do well to study carefully the following item clipped from the News of Monitor Alberta under date of July 19th.

"An article recently appeared in the daily press, and given out by Mr. McGregor of the Food Board, that 40,000 men would be required to help the western farmers harvest their crop, this year. We cannot understand why such misleading statements are sent out by the Food Board in the face of crop conditions throughout the West. Perhaps it is the intention to hand-pull and tie what crop there will be. There are hundreds of farmers in the two provinces, looking for work, so perhaps Mr. McGregor will let us know where the jobs are."

Had Headache For Two Years

A Barrie Man Tells of Persistent Headaches and Indigestion—Finally Found His Way to Good Health.

For two long years the writer of this letter was subject to severe headaches. The nervous system got run down, digestion failed, and there was continued loss of weight.

The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food changed all this, and now with scores of other Barrie people Mr. Nider is recommending the use of this food cure as the best means of building up the exhausted nervous system and curing headaches, indigestion and all the annoying symptoms of a run-down condition.

John Nider, 33 Penetang street, Barrie, Ont., writes: "During the last two years I had an attack of indigestion, accompanied by severe headaches. I suffered from loss of appetite, and my system became run down. I also lost considerably in weight. I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and as they helped me I continued this treatment for some time. My condition is now greatly improved, my headaches are gone and my health in general is much better. I can cheerfully recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to those suffering from nervousness of any kind."

The reason Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so effective in cases of this kind is because of its extraordinary blood-forming influence. By creating an abundance of rich, red blood it strengthens the action of the heart, revitalizes the exhausted nerves and builds up the system in every way.

The appetite is restored, digestion improves, you rest and sleep well, and the new vigor and energy is felt in every organ of the human body. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is doing wonders for men, women and children whose systems have become weak and run down. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.75, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

More Victories For Lord Beaverbrook

Journals Which Opposed Former Newcastle Boy Now Praise the Work of His Ministry

(A London Dispatch says:) Since his appointment as head of the new British Ministry of Information Lord Beaverbrook has been the subject of much attention at the hands of British journals. His Ministry is a new department charged with work the success of which depends largely upon its secrecy. Nevertheless so multifarious have its energies become under Lord Beaverbrook's direction that it is actually securing more publicity than almost any other British department. Two of the most notable antagonists of Lord Beaverbrook in the British press were until quite recently the London Globe and Lead and Evening Standard; the latter journal, in the opinion of many sound English observers, is the best edited of all the London Newspapers. Both journals are now urging that more and not less of the work of government propaganda should be placed under Lord Beaverbrook's new department. This home propaganda in England is in the hands of the National War Aims Committee—that is to say a committee headed by the leaders of both the Unionist and Radical parties. The Globe now declares this body to be as flabby as a "Dartmoor Conch" and urges that the committee resign in a body and its work be transferred to the Ministry of Information which is at present hampered in its efforts by the existence of this committee of politicians and party men.

As for the Evening Standard, when Lord Beaverbrook's appointment as Minister of Information was first suggested, it demanded that so distressing a rumor should be authoritatively and immediately denied. It also now urges that Lord Beaverbrook be asked to devote part of his energies to countering enemy propaganda at home, a task for which says the Evening Standard, "he is eminently fitted by his energy, in genuity and accessibility to new ideas." This former enemy of the new Minister especially notes the ease with which he has disposed of fossilised officialdom and his success in "making the collection of legitimate information as easy and pleasing as possible to the correspondents of newspapers published outside these islands."

Your Home

To neglect it is folly—
To conserve it, the duty of the hour

ANY building, five years old or older, is to-day worth 50% more than when it was built.

The cost of lumber, bricks, cement and other building materials has greatly increased. Good carpenters and bricklayers are scarce, and they demand a high wage for their services. In other words, the intrinsic value of your home has become so high that to protect it with paint is only logical foresight—you should paint nowadays more regularly than ever. That is thrift.

It should also be part of your thrift program to use a paint that lasts. Any painter will tell you that paint durability depends on the use of pure white lead and pure zinc in correct proportion. It is on this point that we lay emphasis when we recommend to you, for its true economy,

B-H "ENGLISH" PAINT 70% Pure White Lead (Standard's Genuine B.H.) 30% Pure White Zinc 100% Pure Paint

We are proud to be able to announce ourselves as local agents for this paint. B-H is so guaranteed as to the above basic ingredients that we have only to point to the guarantee (stamped on the can) to make clear the difference between B-H and all other paints. B-H is higher in quality; more to be depended on for lasting service and for covering capacity.

We carry and recommend the following B-H products:

- For Interior Finishing "China-Lac"—The Perfect Household Finish.
- Staining the Wood "Anchor Brand Stain" in 19 different colors.
- B-H Parq Floor Paint For Parq Floors, Ceilings and parts exposed to the weather.
- Plaster Ceilings and Walls B-H "Freemote"—A flat tone oil paint.
- Finishing the Floor B-H "Floorcrete," excellent for interior floors.
- For barns and outbuildings Imperial Barn Paint.

Two Years For Theft of Junk

Sentence Meted out To Charles
Dwyer by Judge McLatchy—
Two Civil Cases Settled

The July session of Northumberland County Court was held here last week before Judge McLatchy. In the case of King vs. Charles Dwyer charged with having taken and sold junk belonging to the Dominion Pulp Company. The accused pleaded guilty but claimed he had found the stuff. He was sentenced to two years in Dorchester penitentiary.

The case of Robichaud versus Nowlan was withdrawn by Mr. Whalen, the chief witness not being present at 11 o'clock.

The civil docket was as follows: Archibald Alcorn, of Blackville vs. Charles Mitchell, of Doaktown, suit for damage to auto from collision with team.

Alcorn vs. Mitchell was first taken up. The witnesses examined were D. G. Schofield, Harold Connors, A. Alcorn and Charles McLaughlin for plaintiff and Messrs. Chester Mitchell, L. B. Amos and Charles Mitchell and Walter Freeze for defence.

The jury returned a verdict for defendant.

The case Milton Amos versus Charles Mitchell was decided for the plaintiff with a verdict of $131 with about $60 costs. Mitchell had bought at the sheriff's sale logs seized by William Bamford on execution against Charles Amos, father of the plaintiff. The plaintiff claimed the logs as his and hence the suit. This case has been in the courts three years. It is reported that the decision will be appealed.

Roads and Flour
Discussed by T. I. L.

At the regular meeting of the Town Improvement League held last Tuesday evening, Mr. J. E. Ander presided and there were eight other members present.

The Secretary reported that E. A. McCurdy as delegate of the League had asked the Town Council at its last session to take steps to improve the two main streets of the town which were also County thoroughfares and to ask the provincial government for assistance therefor. The League's request had been referred to the Public Works Committee with instructions to do everything possible in the matter.

This was followed by a general discussion of roads and road making in which all present took part.

Ald. Stuart brought up the question of the retail prices of flour being greatly increased to consumers who, by the regulations of the Food Board, have to buy in much smaller quantities than formerly.

Ald. Stuart contended that the Government should fix a maximum price and minimum wages on an absolutely fair basis, for all commodities and in all industries.

The subject was also discussed by Revs. L. H. MacLean, P. W. Dixon and Mr. T. A. Clarke.

Eel River Lady
Killed By Lightning

Tuesday's heavy storm took toll of life at Eel River Bridge near Pt. Sable, the terrible tragedy occurring in the home of Alexander Jenkins of that place, and bereaving him of his wife.

Mrs. Jenkins was sitting in the kitchen at the time of the storm with a child on her knee and it is presumed that during the heaviest crash, a bolt ran down the chimney into the room, striking Mrs. Jenkins dead on the spot. The most marvelous feature of the sad event was that the child in Mrs. Jenkins's arms was absolutely unharmed while she was stricken dead.

The late Mrs. Jenkins was 52 years of age and survived by her husband and four children.

UNFAVORABLE ADVERTISING

Newcastle is getting a lot of unfavorable advertising as the result of a recent meeting of the Town Improvement League, and according to the report sent one Provincial Newspaper our streets are in a worse condition than county roads. While we are forced to admit, that during the recent wet period the roads were in wretched condition, the like prevailed on almost every small town in the province, with much more money available for their upkeep than Newcastle. While constructive criticism is always desirable, we note that no remedy to the situation was offered at the meeting, and unless such is forth coming, we must be content to let the kickers kick!

THE BRITISH PALACES.

The Homes of the Royal Families of England.

Some misapprehension exists concerning the offer by His Majesty of certain royal palaces to the nation for war purposes. There has not been a new or recent offer, but His Majesty long ago declared his willingness to place certain royal residences at the disposal of the nation. The following statement on the subject is authorized:

"In August, 1914, Kensington Palace and St. James' Palace were offered by the King to the Red Cross, but both these buildings were found to be unsuitable for the purpose of a hospital for several reasons, notably the absence of an efficient drainage system. In 1916 Balmoral was offered, first of all as a hospital, and secondly as a convalescent home, but the fact that it could only be used for eight months in the year, and the great distance from London, proved insuperable objections to His Majesty's offer being accepted."

"At the beginning of 1916 the question whether the state rooms at Buckingham Palace could not be used in any way by the Red Cross was seriously discussed, but the same difficulty with regard to the drains occurred. To make the palace suitable for this purpose it would have been necessary to build a separate entrance, so that the weekly investments should not be interfered with, the only entrance into the state rooms being the grand entrance, and if this was utilized for hospital purposes His Majesty would have been obliged to discontinue the investigations. It having been reported to His Majesty that there was no existing further demand for beds for the wounded in London the King came to the conclusion that the expense of creating an efficient drainage system, erecting lifts, and building a separate entrance could hardly be justified, and that it would be wisest for him to give a large subscription to the Central Committee of the Red Cross and Order of St. John of Jerusalem than to spend money on these alterations. His Majesty accordingly gave the sum of £10,000 last year."

"The King has, however, made it clear to the Red Cross that in the event of there being any dearth of beds for the wounded in London he will be pleased to consider whether the state rooms at Buckingham Palace could not even now be converted into a hospital."

"While no use has been found for Balmoral, St. James' Palace is occupied by Queen Mary's Needlework Guild, and also the North of Ireland Association for supplying comforts to Irish regiments. Kensington Palace has been handed over to Lady Macdonnell for the Irish Regiments' Comforts Fund."

"The question as to whether any of the apartments at present occupied by organizations supplying comforts to the troops, or even the State Apartments at Buckingham Palace, could be profitably used for Government purposes, is still under consideration by His Majesty's First Commissioner of Works and there the matter stands for the present."

"The King's sole anxiety in reference to these questions is and has all along been to do his best for the nation and for the men of his fighting forces, and no considerations of personal convenience have been or will be entertained by His Majesty."

"THE IMPERISHABLE POTATO"
(By Lou O. Sweet in American Review of Reviews.)

There is an analogy between the submarine and the potato. America invented the under-sea boat and America grew the first spuds. Germany welcomed both of them with open arms as instruments peculiarly fitted to help her win world domination. She will not succeed, but nevertheless, there is much that we can learn from the ruthless nation about what the starchy potato has done to stiffen her backbone, and of what she has done to make the potato a food of the first rank with an annual production of one and three-quarter billion bushels, or five times our own yearly crop.

The potato's principal drawbacks are its bulk, which increases the transportation costs, and its perishability, which causes losses from the field to the table unless particular care is given. To lessen these losses and to cut the costs Germany has resorted to drying and the manufacture of potato flour. We do not know the extent of this business now, but we know that before the war more than 800,000,000 bushels of the Fath-riland's potato crop were dried each year—and that is in excess of two years' production in this country. Part of this enormous amount of dried food was fed to livestock, but much of it was ground into a nutritious flour or human consumption.

Previous to 1914 Germany shipped us $300,000 worth of potato flour a year, part of which was bought by bakeries for making bread and some by high-class hotels and restaurants for thickening soups and making fancy pastries. During the last few months Japan, with an annual production of only 35,000,000 bushels, shipped us 400,000 pounds of potato starch which had been ground into flour. Strictly speaking, this product should not be called flour, as it is pure starch, the process of manufacture having eliminated the valuable mineral salts, the albuminoids and the protein in spite of this the imported starch has recently sold for twenty cents a pound or even more.

Holland has one of the largest plants now making flour from potatoes. J. W. Robertson-Scott, in his book "War-time and Peace in Holland," says this factory, dries 15,000 bushels every twenty-four hours. A special variety of potato is grown by the farmers who are the co-operative owners of this and other mills. This variety is particularly high in starch and other solids and yield remarkable crops. The average in 1917 on 79,000 acres was 500 bushels to the acre, making a total of 39,500,000 bushels. The general run of market potatoes in Holland yield only a little more than half as much to the acre.

In these Dutch mills 127 pounds of potatoes will make 20 pounds of first-class flour, 4½ pounds of second-class, the difference probably being in the amount of crude fibre contained and in the color. The cost of making flour is about 3½ cents apound. From the special variety of potato Holland made 346,000,000 pounds of flour of the first grade last year at a cost of $73 on a long ton.

Much of this product goes, or did go in the past, to South America and Southern Europe, where most of it was used with Durham wheat flour in the manufacture of macaroni. Some of it is used in bread.

We Are As Full of Deadly Poisons As A Cow's Laboratory.

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.

The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter, instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.

In other words, a person who is habitually constipated, is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious Kidney and Bladder Troubles; that it upsets the Stomach, causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Sleeplessness; that chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Pain In The Back, are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rash, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-tives" are taken to correct Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will protect you against Auto-intoxication because this wonderful fruit medicine acts directly on all the eliminating organs.

Millerton Lady Delights N. S. Audience

Miss H. A. Frank Soloist at Large Gathering at Liverpool N. S.

(Liverpool Advance) The Opera House last Monday evening was the scene of one of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings it has ever held when two returned Nova Scotia heroines occupied the platform in the interests of the Red Cross Campaign.

Long before the opening of the meeting the large auditorium was filled, a gratifying sign of the patriotism and spirit of the people of Liverpool, and the ovation tendered the returned heroines was as enthusiastic as could be desired.

The stage was attractively decorated with flowers and Red Cross emblems, the work of the local Red Cross. While young lady members wearing the Red Cross uniform performed the duties of ushers.

Mr. George McCleery was the efficient chairman of the occasion, introducing the speakers, Colonel Ford and Lieut. "Toby" Jones. On the platform also was Nursing Sister Margaret Drew. The other occupants of the platform were: Major Hendry, Mrs. Frank, who was the soloist of the evening, and Mr. Frank; also two of the uniform clad ushers.

A delightful feature of the evening was the solo singing by Mrs. Frank of patriotic melodies, in the choruses of which the audience was invited to join. The very successful meeting was closed by Mrs. Frank singing "The Star Spangled Banner," the audience paying a tribute to our valued ally by standing, and finally the National Anthem was sung.

POTATOES INSTEAD OF WHEAT

The Government has asked us to eat potatoes this Summer and less bread, because their starchy substance makes them a good nourishing wheat substitute. When plenty of potatoes are served at a meal, we can afford to omit wheat altogether.

Here are a group of new and appetizing ways which will vary the monotony of boiled, mashed, and baked, and give a new touch to the menu.

Potato Hash
2 cupfuls boiled rice, 1 cupful milk, 2 teaspoonfuls baking-powder, 1 cupful flour, 3 eggs, 1 tablespoonful melted butter substitute, 1 teaspoonful salt.

Beat eggs until light, add potatoes (which have been boiled, rice and allowed to cool), butter substitute, salt and milk, then flour sifted with bakingpowder. Bake at once on a hot, well greased waffle iron. Serve with maple syrup.

Swedish Potato Balls
2 cupfuls mashed potatoes, salt and pepper, few gratings of nutmeg, potato flour, parsley, 1 teaspoonful butter substitute, 1 egg yolk, 1 tablespoonful grated cheese, white sauce.

Pare and boil the potatoes until tender, mash them and season well with salt and pepper, nutmeg and butter substitute; add beaten egg yolk and cheese and mix thoroughly. Mold into balls about the size of walnuts, roll in potato flour and drop into boiling salted water. Cook about 10 minutes, drain and put in a serving dish, pour white sauce over top with a sprinkling of chopped parsley.

Savory Mashed Potatoes
6 medium-sized potatoes, 6 tablespoonfuls butter substitute, 1 teaspoonful salt, 1 small onion, chopped, 1/2 cupful cream or milk, few grains paprika.

Boil the potatoes, drain and mash, add butter substitute, cream or milk salt, pepper and salt beat in the chopped onion lightly. This will be a great change from the ordinary mashed potato.

Stuffed Potato
6 medium-sized potatoes 1 teaspoonful butter substitute, 1/2 cupful milk, 1 cupful grated cheese, salt and pepper, paprika.

Scrub potatoes and bake until soft, cut them in halves with a sharp knife and remove cooked potatoes to a bowl. Mash and add the butter substitute, milk, 1/2 cupful of grated cheese and salt and pepper to taste. Beat with fork until light and creamy and refill potato skins. Dust the top with remainder of grated cheese and sprinkle with paprika. Return to oven until crisp and brown on the top. This makes a fine luncheon dish.

Keep Children Well During Hot Weather

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevents stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring the baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?
If you were a beautiful American debutante and received a proposal of marriage from a fine young foreign nobleman, would you hesitate?
If you were an unprotected girl and heard that your home had been wrecked in a sudden war, would you dare to hurry back to the heart of danger?
If you found your mother and sister slain and your brother blinded in a hopeless battle, would you have the womanhood to bear up under it?
If the debonair foreign nobleman came along and still showed he loved you, would you forgive him for being an invader?
If you had a chance to serve your country by pretending to be a traitor, would you consider it?
If your true American lover's sister was ruthlessly executed before your eyes, would you ruin your country's plans by betraying your sympathies?
If you were finally discovered and could purchase safety and a life of ease by wedding a barbarous foreign man, would you prefer to choose a miserable death?
Mary Ward has to decide all these and other momentous questions in J. Stuart Blackton's soul-stirring spectacle, "Womanhood, The Glory of a Nation," starring Alice Joyce in the role of Mary Ward and Harry T. Morey which is at the Happy Hour Thursday August 8th.

The Stowaway

"I see that, whether willing or not, we are to be made the tools of your ambition," interrupted Hozier curtly. "It is also fairly evident that I am the only man of the Andromeda's company whom you have not bribed to obey you. Well, be warned now by me. If circumstances fail to justify your change of route I shall make it my business to settle at least one revolution in Brazil by cracking your skull."

"Let me understand," said De Sylva. "You hold my life as forfeit if any mischance befalls Miss Yorke?"

"I accept that. Of course you no longer challenge my direction of affairs?"

"I am no match for you in argument, senator, but I do want you to believe that I shall keep my part of the compact."

"I'm going to have a nap," Coke announced. "Either you or Watts must take 'old. Which is it to be?"

"No need to ask Mr. Hozier any such question," said the suave Dom Corria. "You can trust him implicitly. He is with us now—to the death."

Soon after sunset Iris reappeared. She walked on the after deck with San Benavides and seemed to be listening with great attention to something he was telling her.

When Hozier was relieved and summoned to a meal in the saloon with Norris and some of the ship's own officers Iris was nowhere visible. He went straight to her cabin and knocked.

"Who is it?" she asked.

"I, Phillip. Will you be on deck in a quarter of an hour?"

"No."

"But this time I want to tell you something."

"Phillip, dear, I am weary. I must rest—and I dare not meet you."

"Dare not?"

"I am afraid of myself. Please leave me."

He caught the sob in her voice, and it unmaned him. He stalked off, raging. While off duty he kept strict watch and ward over the gangway in which Iris' cabin was situated. It was useless. She remained hidden.

As Coke had told Iris she might expect to be ashore about 2 o'clock, she waited until half past 1 ere coming on deck. Despite her unalterable decision to abide by the hideous compact entered into with her uncle and Huzner, her first thought now was to find Hozier.

Iris was thoroughly wretched and not a little disturbed by the near prospect of landing in a foreign country which would probably be plunged into civil war by the mere advent of De Sylva. It need hardly be said that under these circumstances Hozier was the one man in whose company she would feel reasonably safe. But she could not see him anywhere.

At last she hailed one of the Andromeda's men whom she met in a gangway.

cause your back was turned. She his steam up and could slip her cables in a minute. They saw her from the bridge, of course, but I did not report her, as there was a chance that my hail might be heard, and we came in so confidently that we are looked on as a local trader."

He took her by the arm with that unctuous gladness that is so comforting to a woman when danger is nigh. They reached the bridge. Some sailors were lowering a boat as quietly as possible.

Dom Corria approached with outstretched hand.

"Good-by, Miss Yorke," he said. "I am leaving you for a few hours, not longer. When next we meet I ought to have a sure grip of the presidential ladder, and I shall climb quickly. Won't you wish me luck?"

"I wish you all good fortune, Dom Corria," said Iris. "May your plans succeed without bloodshed."

"Ah, this is South America, remember. Our conflicts are usually short and fierce. Au revoir, Mr. Hozier. By daybreak we shall be better friends."

San Benavides also bade them farewell with an easy grace not wholly devoid of melodramatic pathos. The dandy and the man of rags climbed down a rope ladder, the boat fell away from the ship's side, and the night took them.

"Mr. Hozier," cried Coke.

"Yes, sir."

"Is all clear forrard to let go anchor?"

"Yes, sir."

"Give her thirty. You go and see to it, will you?"

Hozier made off at a run. Iris recalled the last time she heard similar words. She shuddered. Would that placid foreshore breeze out into a roar of artillery and the wornout Unser Fritz, like the wornout Andromeda, stagger and lurch into a watery grave?

But the only noise that jarred the peaceful night was the rattle of the cable and winch. The ship fell away a few feet and was held. There was no moving light on the river. Not even a police boat or customs launch had put off. Macello was asleep. It was quite unprepared for the honor of a presidential visit.

CHAPTER XIV.

THE NEW ERA.

A SWAGGERING officer and a man habitued like a beggar landed unobserved at a coal wharf, moored a ship's boat to a bolt and passed swiftly through a silent town till they reached the closed gates of an infantry barrack perched on a hill that rose steeply above the clustering roofs of Macello. The officer knocked loudly on a small door inset in the big gates. After some delay it was opened. A sentry challenged.

"Capitaino San Benavides," announced the officer, and the man stood to attention.

"Enter, my friend," said San Benavides to his ragged companion. The latter stepped within.

The colonel's house was in darkness, yet San Benavides rapped imperatively. An upper window was raised. A voice was heard, using profane language. A head appeared. Its owner cried, "Who is it?" with additions.

"San Benavides."

"Christ! And the other?"

"One whom you expect."

The head popped in. Soon there was a light on the ground floor. The door opened. A very stout man, barefooted, who had struggled into a pair of abnormally tight riding breeches, faced them.

"Can it be possible?" he exclaimed, striking an attitude.

Dom Corria spoke not a word. The three passed into a lighted apartment. De Sylva placed himself under a chandelier and took off a frayed straw hat which he had borrowed from some one on board the Unser Fritz. The colonel, a grotesque figure in his present deshabille, bowed low before him.

"My president, I salute you," he murmured.

"Thank you, general," said Dom Corria, smiling graciously. "I knew I could depend on you. How soon can you muster the regiment?"

"In half an hour, excellency."

"See that there is plenty of ammunition for the machine guns. What of the artillery?"

"The three batteries stationed here are with us," he said and went.

"Colonel San Benavides, an chief of the staff, is acquainted with every detail. You, general, will assume command of the army of liberation. Some trunks were sent to you from Paris, I believe."

"They heard Coke's gruff order to the watch to clear the falls of the jolly boat. The Unser Fritz was going dead slow. On the starboard side were the lights of a large town, but the opposite shore was smother and vague."

"Are we going to land, or am I in a small boat?" said Iris timidly.

"I fancy there is a new morny on foot. A suspect is in every half a mile downriver. I must meet her here."

HUSBAND SAVES WIFE

From Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"For many months I was not able to do my work owing to a weakness which caused backache and headaches. A friend called my attention to one of your newspaper advertisements and immediately my husband bought three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me. After taking two bottles I felt fine and my troubles caused by that weakness are a thing of the past. All women who suffer as I did should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. JAS. ROHRBERG, 620 Knapp St., N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Women who suffer from any form of weakness, as indicated by displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues," should accept Mrs. Rohrbberg's suggestion and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a thorough trial.

For over thirty years it has been correcting such ailments. If you have mysterious complications write for advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

"They are in the room prepared for your excellency."

"Let me go there at once and change my clothing. I must appear before the troops as their president, not as a jail bird. For the moment I leave everything to you and San Benavides. Let Senor Pondillo be summoned. He will attend to the civil side of affairs. You have my unqualified approval of the military scheme drawn up by you and my other friends. There is one thing—a gunboat lies in the harbor. Is she the Andorinha?"

The newly promoted general smote his huge stomach with both hands, and the rat-tat signified instant readiness for action.

"The guns will soon scare that bird," he exclaimed. As the dawn was about to peep up over the sea twelve guns lumbered through the narrow streets, waking many startled citizens. A few daring souls who guessed what had happened rushed off on horseback or bicycle to remote telegraph offices. These adventurers were too late. Every railway station and postoffice within twenty miles was already held by troops.

General Russo drew up his three batteries on the wharf opposite the unsuspecting Andorinha and endeavored to plant twelve shells in the locality of her engine room without the least hesitation. There was no thought of demanding her surrender or any quixotic nonsense of that sort.

As it was, Russo scored, though the elevation was rather high. The shells made a sad mess of the superstructure, but left the engines intact. Though winged, she still could fly. The second salvo of projectiles was less damaging. Again the gunners failed to reach the ship's vital.

Her commander got his own arms into action and managed to demolish a warehouse and a grain elevator. Then he made off down the coast toward Rio de Janeiro.

The sudden uproar stirred Macello from roof to basement. Its inhabitants poured into the plaza. Every man vied with his neighbor in yelling: "The revolution is here! Viva Dom Corria!"

The one incident of a political nature in which the victors of the tussle on Fernando Noronha were publicly concerned was the outcome of a message cabled by Dom Corria while the smoke of Russo's cannon still clung about the quay.

It was written in German, addressed to a Hamburg shipping firm and ran as follows: "Have sold Unser Fritz to Senor Pondillo for the port of from Sept. 1 for 175,000 marks. If approved cable confirmation and draw on Paris branch Deutsche bank at sight. Franz Schmidt, care German consul, Macello."

This harmless commercial item was read by many officials hostile to De Sylva, yet it evoked no comment. Its first real effect was observable in the counting house of the Hamburg owners. There it was believed that Captain Schmidt had either become a lunatic himself or was in touch with a rich one. Schmidt was so well known to them that they acted on the latter hypothesis. They cabled him their hearty commendation, "draw" on the Paris bank by the next post and awaited developments. To their profound amazement the money was paid. As they had obtained $3,700 for a vessel worth about one-quarter of the sum they had good reason to be satisfied. It mattered not a jot to them that the sale was made "as from Sept. 1" or any other date. They signed the desired quitance, cabled Schmidt again to ask if Senor Pondillo was in need of other ships of the Unser Fritz class, and the moment of the firm indulged that evening in the best dinner that the tiptop restaurant of Hamburg could supply.

PUT ON A CHOKER

Two ladies were talking the other day and in some way the telephone subject came under discussion. They both had "party-line" telephones.

One of the ladies was telling about how mean somebody in her neighborhood is. To use her own language, that somebody will 'talk to some other fool for half an hour, and never say anything at 'er, and here I will be 'resly wild wanting to order things for dinner or tell Tom what I want him to fetch home. Are you bothered that way?" The other replied: "I used to be, but am not any more. A friend of mine who is connected with the service told me how to put on a choker, and I will tell you. You may have noticed those two metal knobs at the top of the instrument. Well, they are there whether you have noticed them or not. Now, when somebody has used the line about twice as long as she ought to, I just lay a key or a short piece of wire across those two knobs. Then, in a minute or two, I take off my short circuit and can get central all right. I used to feel as if I wanted to say bad words, but now I let gossip feel that way. The hnt was thankfully received by the one to whom it was given, and perhaps others will be thankful too.

Let folks step on your feet hereafter; wear shoes a size smaller if you like, for cats will never again send electric sparks to your nerves, according to this Cincinnati authority.

"This drug is a sticky ether compound, but dries at once and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue."

"It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freosone obtained at any drug store will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Out this out, especially if you are a woman reader who wears high heels."

ONE ON REV. MR. STACKHOUSE
Because Rev. Mr. Stackhouse was for some time was stationed at Doaktown took occasion to criticize the New Brunswick roads and describe part of them as "horrible" the Moncton Transcript reports:

Because a clergyman claims to be a authority on "The Road to heaven," does not necessarily make him an expert witness as to whether or not New Brunswick roads are being improved. His qualifications to point out the straight road may be doubted because of his failure to tell the truth about those nearer at hand. Let the shoemaker stick to his last and the preacher to his gospel. Render unto Caesar, etc.

Realistic Battle Scenes In "Womanhood"

Perhaps the most realistic, vivid battle scenes ever filmed are offered the audience at the Happy Hour Theatre on Thursday Aug. 2 when Vitagraph presents, "Womanhood." The Glory of the nation, the soul-stirring patriotic spectacle by J. Stuart Blackton, starring Alice Joyce and Harry Morey.

As far as the human eye can reach is the battlefield strewn here and there with the heroes who have fallen in honor that their country might live. The air is dark with the smoke of conflict and bombs continually rising clouds of dirt as they tear up a goodly portion of the ground.

Then the trenches with their men leaning upwards, rifles aimed at the approaching foe are seen—airships encircle the field, dropping poisonous gas bombs and other deadly missiles on the men fighting beneath.

Now a shell sent from the enemy's ship finds its mark and shoots through the water, leaving behind it the dead white trail of foam. Finally it comes into contact with the ship and in a few moments hundreds have been claimed by a watery grave.

Then Uncle Sam plays his tramp card—he sets his "firebugs" loose amid the enemy's ships and in another few minutes victory is recognized. These "firebugs" are small boats steered by wireless so that no men are necessary and filled with gasoline which is set afire when they reach the fleet of the enemy and turn the waters into a curtain of fire.

A Masterly and Simple Solution.
That very canny person, President Kruger, was once called upon, as King Solomon before him, to pass judgment in a matter of ownership. The case was that of two brothers, who had been left a farm and could not agree as to the division which had to be made. They agreed that, rather than take the matter to the courts, they would let President Kruger decide. President Kruger appears to have hesitated about as little as King Solomon did. He instructed the elder brother to make what he considered a fair division, and then he gave first choice to the younger brother. A solution, like Solomon's, both masterly and simple, comments the Christian Science Monitor.

Bachelor Knits for Soldiers.
The women of the Atchison Red Cross have discovered that the donor of many mysterious packages of knitted sweaters, socks and scarfs that have been sent to the society, is the bachelor president of the Atchison Savings Bank. He learned to knit as a boy in his native land, Sweden.

A Swell Turk.
Commander Locker-Lampson, M.P., who had charge of the British armoured-car squadron in Russia, says that in the fighting on the Muth plain his orderly found a Turkish prisoner wearing a swallow-tail coat, on the buttons of which were the words "Conservative Club."
