Tory Press Makes Attacks Upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier—A Haligonian's Letter to the London Times—Meetings of the British Association

London, Sept. 5.—The Queen's Old Rifles will probably march through the city twice, the second occasion being on a visit to the Tower. Saturday's exhibition by the Scots Irish Guards is the theme of conversation in the camp where opinion has crystallized into the phrase that even the Germans cannot touch our guards.

The Alderhot Guards passed the Canadian flag at slow march, then of quick march finally advancing in double line review order with fixed bayonets. The Queen's Own were impressed with the splendid physical appearance of the guards.

Immediately upon return to camp Col. Pellatt had the Queen's Own Rifles parading the march past. He said he was more than delighted with the parade. It was a sincere compliment to the Queen's Own Rifles.

Rev. Mr. Lloyd preached in All Saints, Alberton, on Sunday, many of the Queen's Own spent the week-end on leave in London.

The attractions on the Pike this afternoon are on a larger and more pretentious scale than ever before. There are huge and imposing looking tents as well as the usual African dodgers, ring-the-bell and games of chance of various kinds.

Among the visiting newspaper men who registered at the fair this morning were Mr. N. Jarvis, of the St. George Green, and Mr. A. McLeod and A. S. Moore, and G. P. Black, of the Maritime Farmer.

9 a.m.—Doors thrown open. 10 a.m.—Machinery in motion. 10 a.m.—Pike shows open; also parade of cattle and general exercising of the live stock.

THE ALBERT GATE MYSTERY

CHAPTER XVIII—(Continued) "One sentence I remember exactly: 'He who wrote, has friends in Sicily, and he feels assured of a kind reception at their hands.'"

"Eh! what is that?" broke in Sir Herbert. "Fairholme, Talbot, you—what are Edith and I going to do?"

"And does she stop at Messina?" "Yes, she does," said Edith, in her staid, even tones, "did not trouble to include us, uncle, because we shall be on the yacht first."

"Oh, about thirteen and a half knots an hour. That is her best rate. The P. and O. boats are not yours, you know?"

"She is signalling us," cried Daubney excitedly. "Here you," he shouted to a sailor, "bring Jones here at once."

"What does it all mean?" "What does it mean?" "What if the Blue-Bell has another yard of speed in her engines we shall need it."

"And now, Lord Fairholme," he added before Talbot could do other than grasp his hand and shake it impulsively.

AN ENCOURAGING FEELING OF HOPE FOR ST. JOHN'S FUTURE MARK OPENING OF THE EXHIBITION

Dominion Fair Formally Inaugurated by Governor Tweedie—Canadian Northern, Says Dr. Pugsley, is Anxious to Get Into St. John—Sir Robert Perks Speaks of Dry Dock and Shipbuilding—Premier, Surveyor-General, Mayor and Mr. Skinner Speak

What is predicted will be the greatest fair in the history of eastern Canada was opened on Saturday afternoon by Governor Tweedie, in the presence of a number of invited guests.

The exhibits have been tastefully arranged. They comprise booths which have never been seen at exhibitions in St. John.

President Skinner made a neat speech, welcoming the visitors and citizens and expressing his confidence in the success of the fair.

Mr. Pugsley said he was of the same opinion as the premier, in regard to the visit of Sir Robert Perks, whose name was a household word in the province.

Mr. Pugsley said he was of the same opinion as the premier, in regard to the visit of Sir Robert Perks, whose name was a household word in the province.

Another booth that strikes the eye is that of the Walter Baker Co. Company, which is situated on the right hand corner near the front entrance.

McLEAN, HOLT & CO. This firm, whose booth is situated to the right of the main entrance, has a very extensive exhibit, consisting of cooking ranges and stoves.

JOHN E. WILSON & CO. LTD. Near the dining hall is the booth of John E. Wilson, Ltd., which is one of the most extensive in the exhibition.

GEORGE E. TUCKETT & SONS. At the back entrance to the main building is the booth of George E. Tackett & Sons, of Hamilton, manufacturers of well known brands of cigars.

DUNLAP-COOKER & CO. The Dunlap-Cooker exhibit, probably one of the finest in the exhibition, is situated in the same position as last year.

D. MAGEE'S SONS. In D. Magee's Sons' booth is an exhibit which for rarity and value is probably not surpassed in the exhibition.

FRANK R. FAIRWEATHER. Frank R. Fairweather, exhibiting typewriters, fire extinguishers and several other similar lines, has a very attractive booth on the ground floor opposite to the Dunlap-Cooker Company booth.

From a speech in the Irish parliament in reply to Henry Flood, Oct. 29, 1888. It is not the slander of an evil tongue that can defame me. I maintain my reputation in public life in private life. No man, who has not a bad character, can ever say that I received. No country can call me a cheat.

With regard to the liberties of America, which were inseparable from ours, I will suppose this gentleman to have been an enemy decided and unreserved; that he voted against her liberty, and voted moreover for an address to the American Congress, that he called these butchers 'armed negotiators,' and stood with a metaphor in his mouth and a bribe in his pocket, a champion against the rights of America—of America, the only hope of Ireland, and the only refuge of the liberties of mankind.

But you found, at last, that the court had bought, but would not trust you. Mortified at the discovery, you try the sorry game of a trimmer in your progress to the acts of an incendiary; and obtruding your own conceits and your own views on the people, you justify the government, as you would the people. Such has been your conduct, and at such conduct every order of your fellow-subjects have a right to exclaim! The merchant may say to you, the constitutionalist may say to you, the American may say to you—and I, I now say, and say to your head, sir—you are not an honest man!

THE NATIONAL DRUG CO. The National Drug Co. has a noticeable advertising feature in the shape of a pyramid composed of the various products of the many different products of the well known company.

JOHN TAYLOR SOAP CO. The John Taylor Soap Company has erected a booth of considerable size, and evident care has been taken in decorating it.

WEST INDIES EXHIBIT. To the right of the band stand and opposite M. R. A.'s exhibit, is the West Indies exhibit in charge of C. S. Peckford, of Pickford & Black, of Halifax. It is an exceedingly attractive booth and of much educational value.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Business As Viewed in Wall Street.
 New York, Sept. 5.—The best interests of business require level roads to run on. The road ahead looks little rough at this time. Under the lash of Mr. Roosevelt's tongue the western insurgents are becoming wild. This crowd is insistent on tariff revision of a vital character. There is one disturbing element for business. The contest between shippers and railroads on freight rates is on and promises to become bitter. If rates are raised to a reasonable extent, railroad purchases will be larger and all business will be benefited. If not raised, increased railroad wages, begun in July, will pull further at net earnings; the question of continuing present dividends will become a vital one; railroad expenditures will be curtailed wherever possible, and business will suffer all along the line. Here is uncertainty number two.

The money market will continue strong and probably grow somewhat more tense for a time at least; another factor affecting general business. Corn and perhaps cotton are still in doubt as to final results. Here then is a generally specified horizon—making for caution on the part of merchants. Caution, however, has been the habit for some time and stocks throughout the country are pretty well down in many lines. An increase in demand caused by crop activity will undoubtedly soon start new purchases to a moderate extent. There is, however, too much uncertainty, too far ahead, to allow anything but a most orderly improvement, which may not be lasting.

The market.
 As to the security market we can only repeat what we said last week. The marketing of the crop and the resulting wealth are the only factors for improvement at the moment. Basic unfavorable conditions remain; growing political agitation, small trade balance, high prices and overhauling of the Sherman Law. Business will become active for a time and securities held temporarily should be sold on advances.

The Alaskan
 The members of the Alaskan Company arrived on the Maritime train this morning from Halifax. They will present the musical comedy, "The Alaskan," at the Opera House this afternoon and evening. With catchy music, fine scenic effects, and pretty costumes, the piece is announced as one of the best entertainments of the kind that has ever come this way and they are sure to have a crowded house this evening.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary McGill took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from her late residence 40 Elmwood street. Rev. Father Duke read the burial service. Interment was in the old Catholic cemetery.

NOT A STRIKE TO NIAR LABOR DAY IN GREATER NEW YORK
 Stage Hands Threaten Strike Next Sunday—Fifty Thousand Union Men in Parade

New York, Sept. 5.—For the first time in fifty years, Labor Day dawned on Greater New York without a single strike to mar the celebration of the day.

"With the clockmakers' long strike settled in the nick of time there is no labor trouble of any kind in the city's most magnificent showing for organized labor," was the comment of Edward J. Hannah, grand marshal of the biggest labor day parade ever planned in the metropolis.

The only indication of any impending labor disturbance was of extremely minor importance. It was announced today that the stage hands' union representing employees of fifty-one theatres, have presented demands for wages increases averaging about 10 per cent. The stage hands will strike on Sunday next if their demands are not granted. The stage hands do not receive from $10 to $25 a week and the stage carpenters from $8 to $15.

Fifty thousand paraders, representing practically every labor organization in Greater New York participated in the parade. The members of the clockmakers' union, the settlement of whose strike last week looked upon by organized labor as a great victory, were given a noisy ovation all along the line of march.

ROOSEVELT HAD TO BREAK RESOLUTION

Sunday Speeches from Car in Dakota Despite Wish to Rest—Some Striking Scenes

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 4.—After an all day ride through parts of South Dakota, Minnesota and North Dakota, ex-President Roosevelt reached Fargo this evening. The people of Fargo were waiting on the station for him and gave him a great welcome in spite of it being Sunday.

It was after midnight when Col. Roosevelt retired last night, at the conclusion of his day's ride. He had a great deal of rest. The special train raced across an arduous day in Sioux Falls. Friends traveling with him have been attending breakfast before 7 o'clock and dinners which lasted until late at night and has made many speeches since he left New York. But last night he admitted that he was tired.

"Like Walter's thanksgiving turkey is an old and tough," he said "but there are limits."

Telegrams were sent to the towns through which he was to pass today, saying that as it was Sunday he would make no speeches from the train. That done, he settled down in his private car to read and rest. The special train raced across the eastern south-Dakota and into Minnesota and for the first part of the morning Col. Roosevelt sat reading. He glanced down from his book as the train slowed up for Marshall, the first stop, to find a cheering crowd closing round the train platform. His telegram had arrived the night before but the people had paid no attention to it.

"Teddy," Teddy, come on out," the crowd shouted. "Let's see you."

The colonel, leaning for a moment on the door, looked out. He laid down his book, walked to the door and thrust his head through. The cheer developed into a yell of greeting and the colonel could not resist. He walked out to the platform and in an instant men and women were scrambling up on the railing trying to shake his hand.

He thrust out both hands and a half dozen men caught hold of each one. After he had shaken hands with everyone in reach the colonel stepped back and hesitated again.

"Speech," speech," the crowd shouted. Roosevelt tried to keep to his resolution not to speak on Sunday and to the cheering and shouting of everyone but the cheers grew louder and he capitulated. In another minute he was standing in a tall crowd of people, his hand raised, his fist clenched, hammering out his words. He was still talking, when the train started. The crowd followed the train, shouting and cheering, and he was still talking, when the train started. The crowd followed the train, shouting and cheering, and he was still talking, when the train started.

LONDON PEOPLE VICTIMIZED BY FILM FLAMMER

Wife of Chief Secretary for Ireland One of the Number—Secured Money at Every Move

London, Sept. 3.—An extraordinary story of fraud, in which Mrs. Birrell, wife of the Chief Secretary for Ireland, was one of the victims, was told at the London Sessions this week against John Howard Clark, aged 40.

One night he telephoned ostensibly from Newmarket to Mrs. Walsley, Portman Square, and asked her to give the son his (Clark's) address on his return, so that they could renew their acquaintance. Next day he called at the house, and, apologizing for coming without invitation, referred to the telephone communication. He remained to lunch, and talked of the excellent time he had had with the son, in Paris. Like him, he said, he was interested in missions, and Mr. Walsley, Jun., had promised to show him over the Eton Mission when he returned.

Some hours later he telephoned that he had had his pocket picked, and although Mr. Walsley was suspicious, and asked him to call, he was then so plausible that he obtained £20.

As a matter of fact, said counsel, the accused had never known the son referring to, but he learned something about him in an ingenious manner. Before telephoning to Portman Square he called at the Eton Mission, Hackney Wick, where he was shown round the premises. He stayed to lunch, and promised to send a subscription to the fund.

It was during his stay that he noticed a portrait of Mr. Walsley, Jun., and was told that he was then in Paris—information which he used to advantage.

Late in the same evening he met Mr. Harold Anderson, who had entertained him at the mission, and Clark declared to him that he was in an awkward position, as he had been robbed. Mr. Anderson gave him £1.

On another occasion, he called upon the Rev. Charles S. Donald, in charge of Rugby Mission, and represented himself as a brother of a member of parliament, and stayed the night at the mission, as he had lost his last train.

He obtained a £5 gold piece from Mr. Donald on the plea that he had been robbed at St. Paul's Cathedral.

The prisoner also obtained half a crown from F. A. Fowle, a secretary on the staff of the Rugby Mission.

Capital returned had been found guilty Detective-Sergeant Morgan continued the story of the young man's friends. By means of a card belonging to Mr. Walsley, Jun., he ordered £1.20 worth of cigars, with the intention of intercepting the messenger, but they arrived at Portman Square and were returned to him.

Afterwards he went to Eton, as a wealthy Canadian and dined with one of the boys. Birrell's son, the secretary, was present, and on his return to London he was visited by accused, who said he had had his pocket picked, and persuaded his mother to give him £15.

Clark also obtained £5 from an Eton master, and he then went to the gentleman's brother, who was connected with the Fresh Air Fund, told him he had made the master's acquaintance, and received a further £10.

Subsequently he visited Regent street Polytechnic, promised to present the swimming club a trophy, going to a West-end club and soda and lived to tell the tale. But for days he lay at the point of death in a Pittsburg hospital. His mother took him into court and undertook to have his adjudged an habitual drunkard. The boy pleaded so hard, however, that she relented and his conduct was fair for six months.

Mrs. A. Drexel Biddle was the emissary who carried Miss Bradley's ultimatum to Mrs. Thaw. After a long discussion, in which young Thaw himself took part, Mrs. Thaw sent word to Miss Bradley that she would be responsible for her son's good behaviour if Miss Bradley would accept him.

The date of the wedding has not yet been determined.

Engagement of William Announced, Mother Becoming Responsible for His Conduct

New York, Sept. 5.—A guarantee made by Mrs. William Thaw, II, of Pittsburgh, that her son, William, will reform his habits, accompanies an announcement of engagement to Miss Gladys V. Bradley, of Bridgeport, Conn. Mrs. Thaw is a sister-in-law of Harry Kendall Thaw, serving a sentence in Mattawan Insane Asylum for slaying Stanford White.

William Thaw is therefore Harry's nephew.

William, well known as a rouser, has been a suitor for Miss Bradley's hand for a long time. It was not until the boy's mother agreed to hold him in restraint and be responsible for his conduct that Miss Bradley accepted the young man.

The date of the wedding has not yet been determined.

William Thaw is best known for the drinking record he established at the Allegheny Country Club, in Pittsburgh. On a wager he drank several glasses of brandy and soda and lived to tell the tale. But for days he lay at the point of death in a Pittsburg hospital. His mother took him into court and undertook to have his adjudged an habitual drunkard. The boy pleaded so hard, however, that she relented and his conduct was fair for six months.

Clothes Pin Factory Burned

Phillips, Me., Sept. 4.—Fifty persons, many of whom came all the way from Michigan to seek employment, will be out of work for some time as a result of the burning of the factory of the Brumley Woodensaw Company, makers of clothes pins here today. The company had recently come here from Michigan and brought many of its employees with it. The loss is estimated at $7,000, only partly covered by insurance. The company will rebuild.

London, Sept. 5.—Michael Earl, of Budapest, has addressed a protest to the Hungarian Parliament, and has demanded that which has of late been extended to prisoners convicted of murder. He is the public executioner.

Michael's demand has become so rare in Hungary that he finds himself unemployed for a greater part of the year. He has demanded either a regular salary or that there shall be fewer reprieves.

Do You Have Headache

TAKE ONE OF THESE TABLETS AND THE PAIN IS GONE.

"My first experience with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills was a simple headache. I had been working in the office and the pain was so severe that I had to stop. I had never before been so afflicted. I have since used them many times and they have never failed to relieve me. I have suffered with neuralgia in my head, and the first one I took relieved me. They have cured me of neuralgia. I would not be without them."

THE EXHIBITION The Dominion Exhibition had a most auspicious opening. The weather on Saturday was fine and warm, the crowd in attendance as large as could be expected, when it was known that many of the features would not be in place until today, and the addresses of Premier Hazen, Hon. Dr. Pugsley, Sir Robert Perks and Lieut. Gov. Tweedie admirably suited to the occasion and the audience.

MADE IN ST. JOHN If there were any who doubted the wisdom of the proposal of the Board of Trade advertising committee, that a "made in St. John" exhibit should be a feature of the Dominion Exhibition, they will doubt no longer. The exhibit is confined to samples of articles that are manufactured in this city, and while it does not show samples of everything made in our factories, it covers the field remarkably well.

Only fine weather is now needed. There is no need to attract people to this exhibition than to any hitherto seen in these provinces. It is not a fair that can be "done" in an hour or two. St. John people will want to go many times, and will always find new features of interest. The directors and manager are to be congratulated on the result of their efforts to make this Dominion Exhibition attractive to all classes of people.

What city, with the prospects now opening up before St. John, would not be filled with the enthusiasm of effort and of progress? The real spectacle of the day on Saturday, from the St. John standpoint, were those of the minister of public works and Sir Robert Perks.

The "great white way" is the finest illumination ever witnessed in St. John. That is another of the suggestions of the advertising committee of the board of trade. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's historic western tour is ended. It has been a great personal triumph for the premier, and has contributed in a very notable degree to the enlightenment of eastern Canada on the viewpoint of the west concerning the tariff and other important matters.

Ex-Gov. McKinnon of Prince Edward Island expresses the conviction that the maritime provinces should get closer together in the work of mutual development. His view is shared by thoughtful citizens of the three provinces, and emphasizes the plea of the Maritime Merchant, referred to in this paper last week, that the maritime board of trade should be reorganised, in such manner as to eliminate sectional debates and devote itself heartily to the promotion of measures for the common good.

RELIEVES ALL THE STOMACH MISERY IN FIVE MINUTES

Distress From Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Goes After Taking a Little Diapepsin

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy? This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy stomach in five minutes after.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from indigestion and dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with every-day cure, and tried the things they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong with their system, a case of Nervousness, Gout, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

A. O. H. DEGRADATION DAY The A. O. H. degradation day yesterday was the most successful in years. In both the new and old Catholic cemeteries many people assembled to witness the ceremony. A large Celtic cross, which was placed on Bishop Sweeney's grave, attracted much attention on account of its beautiful design. The procession to the cemeteries was made up of the City Cornet Band, Hibernian Knights, A. O. H. orders, No. 1 division members and Rev. Dr. O'Reilly and Mr. McClaskey in a barouche. The flowers were arranged in a boat with the Celtic cross above.

Rev. Dr. O'Reilly, in his address, referred to the A. O. H. as keeping alive the traditions of the Irish race in Canada. They enjoyed in this country, in a large measure, under a wise and benevolent government, of which King Edward, the Peace-maker and King George V. were the illustrious heads. The A. O. H. in Canada was in a sense a national institution and had for their first principles obedience and loyalty to the constitution of church and state. He complimented the A. O. H. leaders on their military appearance and expressed the hope that their organization might grow and maintain the principles of loyalty and devotion, both as churchmen and citizens.

A SMART FALL SUIT OF THE NEW CLOTHBACKED SATIN
Satin surfaced materials are particularly high in favor for autumn, and there is a new suiting which has a satin surface and a back like broadcloth. The suiting is beautifully light and supple and makes up into extremely chic suits for afternoon wear. Such a suit is pictured here, made on the new lines, with a narrow skirt and hip length coat which fastens at the waistline with three flat buttons. A feature of smartness is the edge binding of silk braid which finishes the coat. These bindings are seen on the best Paris models and add a touch of indisputable newness to the costume. The hat is a model for fall wear and has the backward slanting trimming which is now in vogue.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"It is safe and proper for a young girl to travel alone, when necessary?" is a question that is sometimes put to me, and I have always one answer for it.
It depends on the girl.
Some girls I'd back to travel around the world alone absolutely unaccompanied, and others I wouldn't be sure could make a hundred-mile journey without being liable to insult and annoyance or even worse.
In the first place it undoubtedly makes a difference whether a girl is striking looking or not.
Beauty is a great blessing but also a bane. If you work with a very sharp tool you can accomplish more than with the less keen instrument, but you are also in more danger of getting badly cut. Beauty is like an exquisitely kept tool.
But please don't think that I mean that a pretty girl should never travel alone.
Not by any means.
I simply mean that other things being equal a striking looking girl is always less safe from undesirable attentions than her plainer sister.
But there is one quality infinitely more important than beauty or the lack of it for the girl who is obliged to travel unaccompanied.
And that is common sense.
With it Helen of Troy would be quite safe anywhere. Without it the ugliest woman in the world might get into trouble.
So if your girl has good common sense, no matter how pretty she may be, I don't believe you need have any fear of permitting her to travel alone on occasion.
Of course she who goes dressed very quietly. A striking gown is as bad for the purpose of the girl who wants to avoid undesirable attentions as a party frock. Or rather worse because it shows a deliberate effort to win attention.
Warn her to speak very quietly. The refinement of a quiet voice and manner is an asset that few will attempt to penetrate.
Impress it very strongly upon her that if she must ask directions at any time, she shall not ask them of a passerby or cabman, but only of a regular policeman.
If it is possible to get along without the use of cabs or hacks in a city of which she has no knowledge I think it is infinitely better for an unaccompanied girl to do so, but of course that would not always be possible.
If she is to go to a hotel alone it is arranged so that she will arrive as early in the day as possible and as late as possible have the room vacated in advance.
But here I am at the end of my space and the half of what I'd have you advise that hypothetical daughter not yet told.
Suppose I say the rest tomorrow.

Daily Hints for the Cook

ANGEL ROLLS
Bake an angel food cake in a pan about 12 by six by three inches. Let cool, cut in slices as thin as possible, trim off brown edges. Spread each slice with icing, sprinkle with chopped nuts, roll it up, stick through with a toothpick and stand up end. When all are done in this way, begin with the first one and ice outside, rolling in chopped nuts. A drop of icing and half a nut make a nice finish for the top of the roll. When icing has set, take out nuts. A half pound of shelled almonds are needed for the recipe.

SUGAR COOKIES
One cup sugar, half cup butter, one egg, half cup milk, three and half cups flour, one teaspoon cream tartar, one teaspoonful soda. Sift cream tartar and soda with flour. One teaspoonful vanilla. Roll out thin.

FLING FOR COOKIES
One cup of chopped raisins, half cup sugar, three teaspoonfuls flour mixed in a little cold water, half cup hot water. Cook on top of stove until it thickens. Put a small spoonful on each cookie, then put another cookie on top and bake.

ONE-EGG CAKE
Mix together dry, one cupful flour, one cupful of sugar, pinch of salt and level teaspoonful of baking powder; sift three times to make light. Beat an egg until creamy; pour over it three-quarters cup of milk, and tablespoonful of melted butter and stir all together. Turn this mixture over the dry ingredients, and beat rapidly for five minutes. Flavor with one well-seasoned tin and bake in quick oven.

EGGLESS MOLASSES CAKE
Three-quarters cup molasses, fill up cup with sugar; 2 1/2 cup of lard or drip; half cup of cold coffee, fill cup with sweet milk, two and a half cups flour, one heaping teaspoonful soda, half teaspoon salt, quarter teaspoonful all kinds of spices, half cup currants, half cup raisins. This will keep a long time.

The total value of these pictures is enormous. Various types are shown, landscapes, hunting scenes, animals and portraits. Some of these are almost life size and all are marvelous specimens of the artist's genius. The pictures are in oil, water color, and some of the larger specimens almost stand out from the canvas.

FORESTRY EXHIBITS.
The forestry department of the U. N. B. has their exhibit alongside that of the art gallery. The display is an interesting one and consists of microscopic drawings, wood specimens and botanical specimens on an enormous scale. 35 DROPS FOR INFANTS.

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

In the light one is enabled to see the grain. Maps showing the location, and photos are arranged together with each specimen of wood. Another interesting exhibit here is a bottle of turpentine and a bottle of white pine resin, both of which are made from red pine stumps in the vicinity of Boistown (N. B.). It is understood that a new industry for this purpose is to be established at Boistown. The collection of wood specimens includes some very fine ones from British Columbia and New Brunswick. Prof. Robert Barclay Miller, of the U. N. B., is in charge. Mr. Miller is a native of Indiana and a graduate of Yale Forestry school.

KING'S DAUGHTERS' REST ROOM.
Occupying one end of the new wing, directly over the general offices and adjoining the women's art exhibit, is a large and cozy rest room conducted by the members of the King's Daughters' Guild. The room is most attractively decorated with arches, lattice work, fountains and bunting. The predominant colors being blue and white, the emblematic colors of the guild. It is fitted with a large open fire place, big cozy chairs and tables, etc., and here ladies tired of much sight-seeing may rest or if in the jostling of the crowd some finger is disarranged or damaged here will be found the wherewithal to make repairs. A competent committee of ladies will be on hand to change, and doubtless they will have plenty to do in looking after the comfort of those who call on them.

CHARLES R. WASSON.
Charles R. Wasson's booth on the main floor in the new annex, near the offices of the executive, is a decidedly novel one. Extended from the top is a miniature ship of the torpedo pattern, that can be seen from any part of the new building. The ship is covered with a yellow-colored material and on one side is the advertisement of the Rexal remedies. The ship is tastefully decorated with the trademarks and display cards of the large number of patent remedies of which Mr. Wasson is the proprietor. There is also a number of his own preparations, among the most prominent is Wasson's Dandruff Remedy. The boat is in large letters the advertisement of "New-House" razor strops.

GANDY & ALLISON.
Gandy & Allison have an attractive little booth in the new annex, which is very prettily and will be in charge of one of the members of the firm. In the booth are shown all kinds of salt, Portland cement and various utensils of building material.

DAIRY DEPARTMENT.
The dairy department in the basement of the new annex will when it is completed today, be one of the most interesting of the big fair. There is shown a line of cream separators, churns and other devices essential to the up-to-date dairy of today. The butter-making competition to be general interest to dairymen and farmers in general and will be highly instructive to city dwellers. For this purpose a raised platform is erected at one side, to seat about 100 or more. This competition will be under the supervision of L. C. Daigle, dairy superintendent of the London.

The competition will be on the afternoon of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. All the latest dairy show is the Balata being made waterproof by cement, which they are passing through a tank of water situated in the booth. A Gordon Rainier, manager of the branch, will be in attendance during the exhibition.

MADE IN ST. JOHN EXHIBIT.
The old drill hall, which has been utilized for the purposes of the exhibition, will be a focus of attraction for many. No pains have been spared in the fitting up of the hall in St. John's exhibit and the result is highly creditable to the officials of the local board of trade and the merchants and manufacturers whose products have

The crew of thirty-two of the British freight steamer Westport, which was burned to the water's edge in mid-ocean Sunday, were rescued by the Cunard liner Mauretania, New York for Liverpool, and the Leyland liner Derwenton, on her way to Boston. The former steamer picked up fifteen men and the captain and a like number with the chief mate were picked up by the Devonian.

Home From the West J. N. Harvey and W. D. Baskin, who attended the meetings of the general conference of the Methodist church in Victoria, B. C., returned home on Saturday. DIVING GIRLS' ACT HELD UP BY LEAK IN TANK

Hundreds of People Disappointed Saturday Night But All is Ready Now

Owing to a defective brass tank used by the Atlantic Kellam diving programme Saturday evening had to be almost entirely omitted. The leakage in the tank was so great that the two powerful streams employed could not at any time secure a depth of more than four feet. Such a depth was entirely insufficient for the purposes of the diving girls. Hundreds of people, however, gathered in front of the rink and awaited patiently for the performance to begin. The management reluctant to entirely disappoint the big crowd decided to permit the divers to give a short exhibition of fancy swimming at a reduced price. When the young ladies made their appearance there was little over three feet of water in the tank and it was with the greatest difficulty that they performed at all. Their exhibition Saturday night was in no manner like that regularly given. The leakage in the tank has been repaired and the diving girls will give their regular performance today.

ST. JOHN BASEBALL AS IT IS SEEN BY A BOSTON PAPER

Ferguson's Visit to "Island City of Nova Scotia"—Somewhat Mixed, Too, in Names of Teams

There's an old saying, that "where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise." Truly, the cheerful ignorance of some people on matters of geography, particularly, is alarming. It hardly seems possible that in this advanced age, when public schools are so greatly in evidence, that anybody with average intelligence could imagine that St. John, the winter port of Canada, and the leading city in the maritime provinces and at this particular time receiving so much advertising through the Dominion Fair, should be termed the "busy little island city of Nova Scotia, where the people become baseball mad over the championship of the town."

Yet a few of the following paragraphs, taken from the Boston American of recent date, will speak for themselves: "Cecil Ferguson, the blond-headed twirler on the payroll of the Doves, may not be able to bowl over the teams of the league presided over by John J. Lynch, but when it came to winning the championship of St. John, N. S., the other day, Cecil was there with bells on his fingers and the other paraphernalia that has caused him to be known as the mysterious Mr. Smith by the people beyond the border. The baseball fans of the busy little island city are now trying to unravel the veil of mystery that surrounds the rangy personage who so easily baffled the local batsmen, making them look like a bunch of albatrosses."

"On his arrival in St. John the town was in a turmoil of excitement and had gone generally baseball mad, pending the result of a game which was going to take place that afternoon between two local teams, the Vectors and the Hamiltons, to decide the city championship. At the time both teams had one victory to their credit and the result of the third game would settle the city championship."

"When the game was over the 'sun-burnt' hurried off to the dressing room and soon donned his street attire and left the park. As stated above, the 'phenom' was Cecil Ferguson, the blond-headed twirler who had been pressed into service by a friend to stem the tide of battle and bring victory to the Hamiltons' banner."

It will be seen from the account as printed in the American that the names Vectors and Hamiltons are substituted for the names of the local teams, the St. Johns and Clippers, and after the full story as narrated in the journal of the 'Hub' has been read, one almost wonders if the peaceful, law-abiding citizens of St. John have recovered from the sensation and excitement aroused when it became known that Cecil Ferguson, the blond-headed twirler of the Doves, had actually played ball in the confines of the city of St. John, which boasts of 'Tip' O'Neill, Coakley, McLean, Yapp, and a dozen other celebrities on the diamond."

It is strikingly strange, however, that there is no mention of the first game which the 'mysterious Mr. Smith' or Mr. Ferguson played on the local diamond, in which he did not 'lead his team to victory,' and in which, in spite of the fact that he was a 'big leaver,' he was not looked upon with awe, or paid supreme homage, but his delivery was fallen upon and the ball batted about the lawn. Funny, isn't it?"
