75 INJURED IN NEW BRUNSWICK SUBWAY FIRE

MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN TRAMPLED AND CRUSHED IN PANIC AS LIGHTS GO OUT

Fighting Passengers Seek to Escape Through Broken Windows When Smoke of Burning Insulation Fills Cars

HOTEL VANDERBILT AS HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, May 19.—At least seventy-five persons were injured, two of them probably fatally, in a mad panic which swept a crowded east side subway train as it was about to leave the Grand Central terminal station today.

The train, literally jammed with humanity, came to a sharp stop a block from the terminal. Men, women and children, massed into every one of the cars, were swept from their feet in confusion which grew to panic proportions, when the cars began to fill with stifling smoke, caused by burning insulation.

RUSH TO EXITS. A short circuit had occurred, causing the motorman to halt the long string of cars. Immediately after he had attempted to start it up again, with the result that every light bulb in the train exploded. This was the signal for the panic which sent screaming, fighting passengers surging toward exits, and seeking to escape from their cage-like imprisonment by smashing windows.

HOTELS RENDER AID. The longer and several saloons of the nearby Hotel Vanderbilt were converted into emergency hospitals, where 25 persons received treatment. Thirty others were removed to Bellevue Hospital.

The electric current in three rails of the subway was turned off to permit the panic-stricken passengers to stream their way through the tubes to emergency and other exits. Some of them several blocks from the scene of the accident.

The accident occurred at the very height of the morning peak traffic, when Manhattan's subway and elevated lines move hundreds of thousands of persons to their work.

TRAINS FLAME-SWEPT. As the train neared Forty-Fifth Street, a great sheet of flame flared up from outside the car. A number of girls in the ten cars behind the train shrieked. Still others threw themselves on the floor in terror, as clouds of choking, blinding smoke began to float through the cars. Some men kept their heads and sought vainly to hold down the rising panic.

The motorman started his train again, and had gone about a block when the lights blew out with a loud noise. The panic could not be stemmed this time. Screaming girls and women fought for the exits, and smashed windows, the darkness adding to the terror of the scene.

CONVOCAATION. At the university convocation this afternoon in the Fawcett Memorial Hall, Dr. George J. Trueman, president, delivered the address to the graduating class in which he urged his hearers to seize every opportunity to further the common good of humanity.

The address to the graduating class by Dr. Trueman was as follows: "The address of the day is a strengthening of the bonds of nationalism. Central Europe is broken up into a larger number of states, and the current tendency in church and political circles is not toward union, but toward self-determination and group expression. We feel it even here in Eastern Canada, and are developing a group solidarity that is leading to talk of Maritime rights, more than of Maritime privileges and responsibilities.

There is doubtless some good in this group feeling. One must be a good citizen of his home town, in order to be a good Canadian or a good man. But this tendency has become dangerous. If applied to the limit, it would result in setting one's personal prosperity and happiness over against the welfare of every other man. It is the spirit that leads to jealousy, discord, narrowness of vision, competition, war. When carried to such an extreme it leads to the growth of much that is unlovely, dangerous, and unchristian. As you go out into the world, you will always remember Mount Allison, and help her on in her effort to retain, enlarge and improve.

Bank Cheques for $5 Exempt Under New Tax Regulations

OTTAWA, May 19.—Special amendments to the special war revenue act respecting stamp taxes, were given their reading in the House of Commons last night.

The amendments provide for a definition of the word "cheque" or "draft" to include a cheque issued by a bank, a cheque issued by a farmer negotiable at a bank, to affix on them, a stamp. There will be a minimum stamp tax for foreign bills of $1.

Under the amendment a person can transfer an amount to his credit from one branch to another branch of the same bank, money orders or travellers' cheques issued by "banks or any person," will, under the amendments, be subject to stamp tax. Cheques not exceeding $5 will not require the stamp. The amendments become effective July 1, 1925.

In the discussion on the bill, Sir Henry Drayton criticised the whole stamp tax law as being "hasty, aggravating and troublesome." There was a pyramiding of taxation, and the tendency was to drive business from Canada.

J. N. ROGERS GIVES UP SECRETARY POST

Resigns as Seamen's Mission Society Secretary—H. C. Schofield President.

After 25 years in the office of secretary of the Seamen's Institute, J. N. Rogers tendered his resignation at the annual meeting yesterday with H. C. Schofield, president, in the chair. His resignation was accepted with great regret, special tributes of praise being given Mr. Rogers. A committee was appointed to make suitable recognition of Mr. Rogers' services. He was made a member of the managing committee and the matter of appointing a successor was left with that committee.

There was general regret expressed at the illness of Mrs. M. Watt, secretary of the Ladies' Guild. Her report showed that the members of the guild had been busy sewing for the linen supplies of the Institute, making knitted garments for the sailors, and preparing comfort bags for the Christmas treat. Their visits to the sailors in hospital had been specially appreciated. Captain A. J. Mulcahy moved the hearty vote of thanks and appreciation to the Ladies' Guild.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows: President, H. C. Schofield; vice-president, Capt. Mulcahy; secretary, to be appointed; treasurer, H. J. ### THAT DISCONTENT, EAST AND WEST.

The fear recently expressed in London by Bishop Lloyd of Saskatchewan that the three Prairie Provinces may decide to join the United States is not regarded as justified by the Manitoba Free Press. In examining the Bishop's view, however, that journal agrees that there is dissatisfaction in the West, and makes some suggestions as to steps necessary for its removal. The Free Press agrees with Bishop Lloyd that British immigration to the prairie is desirable, saying that everyone wishes to see the largest number of immigrants from the British Isles that can be successfully settled on the land, or for whom there may be room and occupation in the prairie towns and cities from time to time. But, in the view of the Free Press, "there is no occasion for seeking to stimulate that immigration by saying that there is imminent danger of these prairie provinces becoming annexed to the United States." While it credits the Bishop with the utmost sincerity, the Free Press believes that he over-estimates the danger. "There has been," it says, "a great deal of discontent in recent years, and a feeling that the West was not fairly treated by the East. And there has been, no doubt, some talking among the people of the possibility of the West joining the United States. But there is no evidence of any kind of a serious movement or serious danger in that direction." The Free Press says that in addition to British immigration more emphasis should be placed upon a Canadian nationality, and that a great deal remains to be done in developing a strong national feeling.

"Another thing necessary, it says, is to remove the sense of grievance by the adoption of national policies that will be fair to the West and recognize its just claims."
In this latter contention, the people of Eastern Canada, and particularly the Maritime Provinces, have an immediate interest. Precisely what are the grievances of the Prairie Provinces, and what is there that can be done, in justice to them and to the other provinces as well, that will remove, or greatly modify, prairie complaint? There are other provinces which feel that they labor under unjust and unnecessary handicaps, which they believe could be reduced if not wholly removed by policies which are truly national. The Maritimes surely desire that the West should be treated fairly, and that its just claims should be recognized. We have had assurances from the prairie that the same feeling exists there toward us. It is therefore clearly in order that the case for the West, for the Maritimes, and for the Central Provinces as well, should be more clearly defined in order that national policies of fair play may be promoted, notably with respect to the tariff and the whole question of transportation. No good, indeed only harm, can come from disregarding the discontent which exists on the prairie or in the Maritimes. The best work that can be done for all Canada is to give frank consideration to the causes underlying the feeling of injustice which is noted by the Free Press and strive courageously for their removal. New national policies or the modification of old ones will require a broad spirit of give and take, and possibly some sacrifices all round, but the campaign for betterment, for greater unity, contentment and prosperity must go on. The good of the whole country demands that it be pursued earnestly and with all reasonable expedition.

THE TRADE BALANCES.

Canada's favorable trade balance has shown a remarkable increase in the last few years. During the twelve months ended with March last our imports were $797,000,000, and our exports $1,069,000,000, leaving a favorable balance of $272,000,000. Going back to 1921 the imports were $1,240,000,000, and the exports $1,210,000,000. Thus from an unfavorable balance of $30,000,000 four years ago our trade, measured by this standard of the imports and exports, has improved by some $300,000,000. In the year 1921-22, both imports and exports declined, but there was a small favorable balance. In the following year both imports and exports increased, but the increase in exports was so great that there was a favorable balance of $142,300,400. Last year saw a falling off in imports of nearly $100,000,000, accompanied by a very marked increase in exports. In analyzing the trade figures the Toronto Globe says they show that Canada cannot rightly be described as a nation of leeches of goods and drawers of water, but that she is, in fact, a nation of producers. Agriculture is now generally recognized as a calling involving not only skill but science, rivaling in that respect any manufacturing industry. Raising the wheat is at least as difficult and delicate a process as turning it into flour or bread. The same is true of stock raising, fruit growing and dairying. More than forty-four per cent of the exports have their origin in the forest and the mines. Nearly half of this is fully or chiefly manufactured before export. More than a third of it is partly manufactured. The remaining one-sixth is classified as raw material. There may be some room for controversy in the term "partly manufactured," but no controversy can do away with the fact that the bulk of our exports are the product of skilled labor, and that a very small proportion is that of "leeches of wood and drawers of water." We export some raw material; we also export some of the by-products of our factories increased from less than half a billion in 1901 to $2,747,928,675 in 1921. The estimate for the present year is $3,500,000,000; and even this is too optimistic. It is evident that the industrial progress of Canada has taken it entirely out of the class of "leeches of wood and drawers of water."

The merits of the buy-at-home campaign are great enough to need no exaggeration in its support. Canadians should patronize home goods first on all occasions, assuming their values to be at least equal to those of imports. But nothing is gained by saying that this country last year bought $900,000,000 worth of goods that could have been made in this country by Canadians. On examination the $900,000,000 is found to include the entire imports of the country. This means many importations of immense value which could not be replaced by home products, for example, coffee, tea, raw cotton, diamonds, anthracite, and a great many other things. The country could not get along without imports, no small portion of which necessarily consists of raw materials for our industries. What may fairly be contended is that we should tax luxuries to a greater extent, and that we should greatly reduce our purchases of imported goods which really could be produced in Canada in this country without resorting to the extremes of protection necessary to promote artificial industries.

FALLING 1500 FEET.

The purposes underlying experiments with parachutes recently carried out by the American Army Air Service were at first not understood by the general public, and there was some criticism of such feats as though they were merely dangerous, spectacular and useless "stunts." The experiments made along without incident, that a man falling from a great height retains consciousness for 1500 feet or more. The tests showed something of much more importance in the way of possible escape from a disabled or burning airplane. By not opening the parachute at once, the operator, it was found, would drop safely away from a falling plane, thus avoiding injury from fire or from its propeller. This form of parachute drop, it is contended, also, would give the pilot a better chance for his life should his plane be shot down by an enemy, as he would fall almost instantly out of range, having a much greater chance of escape than if he stuck to the ship, which would fall less rapidly.

Drops were made from a height of 3000 feet and the parachutes were not opened until the men had fallen from 800 to 1500 feet. One pilot who did not open his parachute until he had fallen 1500 feet has described his experience. First of all there was the natural reluctance to cut loose from the ship. "You feel that you want to grab hold of some part of the airplane as you leave," he said, "but you soon gain control of yourself and then it is rather comfortable. At first there is a sinking feeling such as you get when an elevator descends very suddenly with a quick, jerky movement." The velocity during the first 800 feet seemed much greater than that for the remaining descent before the parachute was opened. The operator at no time lost control of his senses, and was fully aware of every stage of the fall. He estimated that he went down at the rate of 130 or 150 miles an hour, but he recalls that he was in flight so much faster than that, and, like them, he was able to breathe in comfort. Jumping out at 3000 feet, his aim was to open the parachute when he was half way to the earth. The parachute worked perfectly. As to that critical moment and afterwards, this aviator says: "The pulling of the cord and opening of the parachute, with the resultant whip-like movement of my body, seemed to be instantaneous. At this point there was a slight concussion. There is no reaction, as proven by the fact that I jumped twice within an hour on the first tests. I had complete confidence in the parachute and in the instructions I had received and I am prepared to make similar or longer jumps as often as I am permitted." Another pilot who made the drop said that he had expected to review his entire life during the twenty-three seconds which the fall would last, but that during that short period what really occupied his mind was the kind of dinner his outfit would probably have that evening. The work was done by volunteers. It is said on behalf of the Air Service that the experiments have definitely increased confidence in the parachute, and that its use in peace or in war is certainly to be steadily developed, as the parachute must correspond in some measure to the marine life preserver.

The King cabinet is evidently being pressed once more for a definite decision about the taking over of the Valley railway, a proposal that has been hanging in the wind too long.

Ninety-five in the shade in Saskatoon yesterday afternoon. That enterprising city is the first to report a heat wave this season. Here by the sea there has been no complaint about excessive heat for a long time.

The French government does not believe France should be pressed for the payment of its war debts at present. If the United States is to be paid, however, the British feel that they should receive equal consideration. The French are exceedingly sensitive on this subject. While there has been a sharp comment on the American position in some of the Paris newspapers it is not understood that the American government is pressing for the beginning of payments at once. Grave difficulties would have been avoided had there been acceptance of the original British proposal to cancel the obligations all round. As it stands, there is every expectation that France will be given ample time in which to pay, but the time is, unfortunately, likely to be overlong, and the government will probably have to resort to some form of taxation on a scale sufficient to meet the situation.

Odds and Ends

"You never know what you'll find among the odds and ends."—From "Notes by a Wavler."

The "Black Rod"

Untimely and much deplored death of Colonel Ernest Chambers, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, has drawn attention to this curious office of Parliament. Who is the Black Rod? The Black Rod, originally, was an official of the House of Lords, established in 1350. His appointment is by royal letters patent, and his title is due to his staff of office, an ebony stick surmounted by a gold knob. In Canada he is, among other things, responsible for the maintenance of order in the Senate, and on "Who is there?" of arresting any senator guilty of breach of privilege or other offence which the Senate takes cognizance. But the duty which brings him most into prominence is that of summoning the Commons and the Speaker to the Senate to hear a Speech from the Throne or the royal assent given to bills. If the Governor-General is present in the Senate, Black Rod commands the attendance of the gentlemen of the Commons, but when the Chief Justice represents the Governor-General, he only desires such attendance. As soon as the attendants of the Commons are aware of his approach, they close the doors in his face. Black Rod then strikes three times with his staff, and on the fourth he says "Who is there?" Being then admitted, he advances to the table of the Commons, makes three obeisances, and host would be outraged, the community shocked, and the spirits roused to vengeance. Disaster would befall the nation—death, perhaps, the individual. In some cases the imagined efficacy of the feast was proportioned to the rapidity with which the viands were despatched. Prizes of tobacco were offered to the most rapid feeder; and the spectacle then became truly picturesque.

says: "His Excellency the Governor-General commands the immediate attendance of this Honorable House in the Senate."
This formally originated in the celebrated attempt of Charles I. to arrest this five members, Hampden, Pym, Hoile, Heulricke and Strode, in 1642. Indignant at this breach of privilege, the Commons has ever since maintained its right of freedom of speech and uninterrupted debate by the closing of the doors on the King's representative.

On Eating.
(Toronto Star.)
On this page on Saturday there appeared an article by Mr. J. W. Curran, of the Soo Star, in which it was said that Toronto men eat too much. The writer of the article evidently based his view on his experience on going out to dinner with Toronto men when he is in the city.

It is probable that the author of the article, when he visits Toronto, associates, not with the editors of the city who lead frugal and austere lives, but with men of a more robust sort, plump manufacturers of paper, ruddy makers of ink, and those genial and rollicking persons who conduct the advertising agencies. This must be the case, for from what he saw he has arrived at the conclusion that practically all Toronto men are over-fed. He even hints that they wear circles and, many of them, when standing up cannot see their feet.

It may be true enough—it probably is—that too many Toronto men eat too much, and the same may be equally true of a great many men who do not live in Toronto. But we must take exception to one statement made by Mr. Curran. "The Oldway is right," he says, "the Indian and the wolf know more about dietetics than the white man—because they never eat except when they are hungry."

While not presuming to discuss the diet of wolves with an Algoma editor who is an acknowledged authority on those animals, we would suggest that the Canadian Indian is a poor example in the matter of eating to hold up to the men of Toronto, or even to the most over-fed among them. It was, from earliest times, the habit of the Indian to eat food when he could get it whether he was hungry or not, and he did not leave off eating until he was so fully gorged that he could not swallow or munch another morsel.

Among the Hurons an Indian would decide to give a feast and would send a messenger to a guest saying, "Come and eat." The invited person could not get out of it by sending back word that he was not hungry or that he had just had lunch or had to catch a train. It was compulsory that he should get his dish and his spoon and proceed at once to the feast. He sat down, and a squaw with a ladle filled his dish from a boiling pot, or with half-ladles from a row of boiling pots. Parkman says: "When the feast had a medicinal or mystic character, it was indispensable that each guest should devour the whole of the portion set before him, no matter how enormous. Should he fail, the host would be outraged, the community shocked, and the spirits roused to vengeance. Disaster would befall the nation—death, perhaps, the individual. In some cases the imagined efficacy of the feast was proportioned to the rapidity with which the viands were despatched. Prizes of tobacco were offered to the most rapid feeder; and the spectacle then became truly picturesque.

Gave Lives in War

The following is a complete list, 32 in all, of the graduates and undergraduates of the University of New Brunswick, who gave their lives in the Great War.

For the Graduates

Li-Col. E. C. Weyman, on behalf of the graduates, expressed to the president and senate of the university the thanks of the graduates for the invitation to take part in the dedication of the memorial hall.

Memorial Building

A brief history of the Memorial Building, by Chancellor C. C. Jones, follows: During the years preceding 1918 there was such a great influx of students desiring to enter the engineering department of the University that it was thought best to erect a new building containing modern laboratories and other facilities.

SUITABLE MEMORIAL

"During the war the question of a suitable memorial for the University was discussed and it was decided to proceed with the building project, this building to contain a Convocation Hall of such nature that it might fittingly commemorate the part taken by U. N. B. during the war."

CONTRACT AWARDED

"At a subsequent meeting of the building committee it was decided to call for tenders for the remainder of the building with the exception of the painting and wood-work of the Memorial Hall. B. Mooney and Sons, of Saint John, received the contract."

COLLEGE PRODUCTS

Almost everywhere throughout this province you will find graduates of this college as high school, post-graduate, or in the public life of their country."

SELF-RELIANCE

"Self-reliance was perhaps the first acquisition for many aids and students of seven or eight years, that was a new experience. We had been accustomed to leaning upon the home."

ANOTHER LESSON

The second lesson to be acquired was tolerance and broadmindedness. Until we entered alma mater, our views of life had been circumscribed by the views of home, church, school, and social circles."

OTHER LESSONS

There was another lesson. Rewards are in the long run proportionate to endeavor. Honors and prizes went to those who worked for and sought them."

LARGER FIELD

I believe that if those here graduates were with us today, they would join with us in saying that the university can take even a larger part in the life of this province. This university, I believe, should be a laboratory and investigation centre for all or most of the various activities of our government."

LABORATORY AND INVESTIGATION CENTRE

At least a portion of the student teachers would have a year or more of the added inspiration of residence in this university."

SUGGESTIONS

Why could not the department of engineering have been investigating, and now investigating the water power resources of this province, the cost of development thereof, and the manifold questions of transmission, markets and rates of consumption?"

Baxter Queries Re Tax on Power

In the House of Commons yesterday Hon. J. B. Baxter, K. C., representative of Saint John-Albert queried the Prime Minister, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, as to what action the government intended to take in the matter of expert duty on hydro power. He said that both the United States Government and the Government of the State of Maine had asked that no export duty be applied to power exported from New Brunswick should the Grand Falls be developed. Hon. Mr. King said the interests of the country would be fully safeguarded.

EARACHE CAN BE RELIEVED
MANY mothers are able to determine whether or not their babies have the earache from movements of the baby's hands. Often the young baby, even when at a very young age, will attempt to get his hand to the ear when pained by earache.

Heat is one of the simplest and best remedies. The child should lie with the ear against a hot water bag, or a warm flannel cloth. Be careful that the heat is not too hot to burn.

If this does not help, syringe the ear with warm water. It should be about 105 or 110 degrees Fahrenheit.

When a pea or bean becomes lodged in the ear, DON'T pour water into the ear. It will cause the seed to swell.

Water is an excellent remedy when insects crawl into the ear. Usually there is wax in the ear, through which an insect can not pass.

Doctor Bill's telephone rang, but he was so busy getting Mike Minorca's leg tied up that he had to send Nick to answer it.

"In this Doctor Bill's Hospital," asked a voice when Nick said "Hello."
"Yes, it is," answered Nick. "Who is talking, please?"
"It's me," said the voice, "and as I can't fly, will you please tell the doctor to send his ferry boat for me and take me over."
"Where are you? And who are you, please?" asked Nick politely.
"I'm Mrs. Ostreich and I'm waiting on the sea shore. It's as far as I could get. I can't swim like some of the birds—and I can't fly—will you please send for me right away?"
"Sure," said Nick. "I'll get you."
So the Twins took Doctor Bill's ferry boat and got Mrs. Ostreich and brought her to Doctor Bill's Hospital, and by that time the rooster was all fixed up so the bird doctor had time to look at his new patient.

DR. A. MACMECHAN ADDRESSES CLUB Canada's Literary Movements Discussed at Loyalist Day Gathering Here.

DR. ARCHIBALD MACMECHAN, of Dalhousie University, Halifax, in his address on the five literary movements in Canada delivered last night before a capacity audience in the Germain street Baptist Institute under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club, brought to his hearers a far greater realization of Canada's claim to literary attainment.

Protect your gums and save your teeth Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the water line, so do your teeth under the gum-line. If the gums shrink, serious dangers result. The teeth are loosened. They are exposed to tooth-base decay. The gums themselves become tender and bleed easily. They form scabs which become the doorways of organic disease for the whole system. They often disfigure the mouth as they recede.

Forhan's FOR THE GUMS More than a tooth paste—it checks Pyorrhoea Sometime! Why not this time? RED ROSE TEA "is good tea" The ORANGE PEKOE is extra good. Try it!

TERRIFIC BATTING OUTBURST ROUTS VETERANS IN MAJOR LEAGUES

HEAVY SHOWER OF BASE HITS IN THE MAJORS

Mackmen and Senators Receive Setback In Title Race

NEW YORK, May 19.—Pitching luminaries of the major leagues had lost some of their lustre after retreating under another heavy shower of base hits. In the terrific batting outburst of yesterday, veteran reliables were routed with promising recruits, carrying down with their defeats favored teams in both circuits.

Winning Streak Broken

The nine-game winning streak of the Mackmen was snapped after a 14-inning struggle at Chicago, as the White Sox hit opportunely behind Thurston. Despite this 6 to 5 defeat, the Athletics continue to maintain a two-game margin on their closest competitors, the Senators, who likewise were toppled under a base-hit storm which chased Mordridge in the first inning.

Slats Keeps Hitting

Five pitchers were called to the mound by the Browns in a fruitless effort to stave off defeat, but Red Sox bats swung with effect against each to win by 12 to 7. George Slats, Brown's playing manager, hit safely in his 33rd consecutive game.

Daus, foremost of Ty Cobb's armory pitching staff, lasted less than three innings against the Yankees, and three pitchers who followed him cut their visits almost as short as the Yanks breezed noisily through to a 6 to 7 victory.

Alexander Loses

The Giants registered their eighth straight victory by defeating the Cubs, 8 to 2. Alexander figured as the losing pitcher, and Terry as the contributing cause.

The Climbing Pirates were checked again by the Dodgers, who gathered 17 hits off three opposing pitchers, to win by 12 to 7.

The Cards snatched an 11-inning slugfest from the Phillies, by 10 to 8, six pitchers finding nothing in the rumpus over which to enshrine, while Donohue, who looked as if he were a season pitching ace with the Reds, proved a target for the Braves, who sent the Cincinnati team down to their fifth straight defeat.

SAM GRAY of the Philadelphia Athletics is certainly going great guns this year.

IF THE STATEMENTS of Irving Small, the veteran player, are true then amateur hockey conditions in Boston are in a deplorable condition.

Such a happening is differently interpreted according to the existing conditions. The umpire is struck by a fair hit ball before it is touched by an infielder, the batsman is entitled to first base, the ball becomes dead and no runners can advance unless forced to make room for the batter.

DEMILLE PICTURE
IMPERIAL FEATURE

Frank Harrington, Actor, is Welcomed as Vocalist in Three Numbers.

The Cecil B. DeMille production, "The Golden Bed," a Paramount picture, adapted by Jeanie Macpherson from the novel of the same name by Wallace Irwin, is the feature at the Imperial Theatre this evening.

In the picture we have a decaying family whose one asset is their very beautiful daughter, Flora Lee, played by Lillian Rich. There is a Cinderella sister (Vera Reynolds) who is always shoved into the background to give Flora Lee every advantage.

La Rocque has the role of a young man who runs a candy store in the village. He adores the beauty. She treats him as so much dirt under her feet. His business expands. He becomes King of a chain of candy stores.

At once he is the prey of the family, Flora Lee is groomed for him. As the children have grown up, Margaret (Miss Reynolds) has fallen very much in love with Admah Holz, the part played by La Rocque. She fights for her love and loses.

All through the picture there is the symbol of the golden bed—luxury. The man is wrecked, his life made a ruin—Flora Lee dies and we have the struggle back to regeneration and real love by Admah and Margaret.

TURNING SINGER.
The Imperial enjoyed generous patronage and was crowded both showings in the evening and had a big matinee. Frank Harrington, late leading man of the James Carroll Players of the Opera House, made his bow from the Imperial stage as a vocalist and received a flattering reception upon his rendition of O'Hara's rollicking baritone number "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride" followed by a novelty number which he calls The Trombone Song, the trombone finishing each line in an amusing manner.

Tomorrow the Metro-Goldwyn feature "The Wine of Youth" will be presented and Mr. Harrington will sing new songs.

HOOT GIBSON IS ON SCREEN AT GAITY

Plays in "40 Horse Hawks;" Two Comedies Round Out Attractive Entertainment.

Persons who have curiosity as to just how much laughing they can stand without collapse should go to the Gaity Theatre, where "40 Horse Hawks" is being screened. It is a Hoot Gibson starring vehicle.

It is melodrama of the "East Lynne" type, starring, freeing mother and babe, sneering villainess, scornful, coldhearted villain, and the rest of it. Such a company comes to the little village where Hoot is cast as the entire staff of the local hotel and the Opry House.

Anne Cornwall, Helen Holmes, Richard Tucker and Edward Sedgwick, who also directed the picture, are Gibson's capable support.

In addition to the Gibson feature the Gaity is also showing two good comedies—"Weak Knees"—a single reel Cameo comedy and "Hard Boiled" one of Hal Rosson's big laugh producers. This programme will be shown tonight for the last time.

Last Meeting Of Season Is Held

Refreshments were served and Mrs. Harrison poured tea. There was a large number of members present.

POLA'S DOUBLE ADMITS PLOT

She says she was involved in the plot kept her under influence of dope for several months.

"HOUSE OF YOUTH"
ON UNIQUE SCREEN

Jacqueline Logan Has Lead in Story of Life, With Strong Support.

The actual greatness of a photodrama can be measured by the theme upon which it is built, and "The House of Youth" which opened at the Unique yesterday, has for its dramatic foundation a theme which literally encompasses life itself: life in its ceaseless turmoil of emotions, interpreted by youth struggling to attain the utmost in life through love.

Contributing to the tremendous appeal of the picture is the magnificent performance of Jacqueline Logan, as Corinna Koolcott. Miss Logan progresses with an artistically irresistible sweep of intense power from a modern flapper to the world's woman, intensifying by her charming coquettishness in the beginning of the picture her poise in its later stages—both theme and thespian thus lifting "The House of Youth" from among the deluge of "flapper" pictures to the height of universal understanding of womankind.

Miss Logan is excellently supported by Malcolm MacGregor, Vernon Steele, Edwin Booth Tilton and others.

GOVERNOR'S LADY
EMPRESS PICTURE

Thrills and Good Entertainment in Fox Version of Belasco Play.

"The Governor's Lady," a William Fox screen version of the David Belasco play, was shown for the first time last night at the Empress Theatre. It thrills and entertains and is a popular success because it contains all the elements necessary for an entertaining picture.

Every American is interested in the struggle of a man from a lowly position to one of power and fame. The majority of the big men at the head of big business or in high political offices were self-made and came from the ranks. In many cases the drama of their private lives is much the same as the theme of "The Governor's Lady."

Henry Millard, who directed "The Winter Comes," also directed this production. Robert T. Haines and Jane Grey have the leading roles. The other principals in the cast are Ann Luther, Franz Coulter and Leslie Austen. Final two showings tonight at 7 and 8:30.

PIGEONS PICKED TO MAKE DASH TO POLE

Twenty Birds Ready For Arctic Flight—To Accompany McMillan Expedition.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Twenty highly trained carrier pigeons, each capable of traveling 500 miles a day and able to find Anchorage, D. C., their home station, will form a part of the equipment of Commander Donald McMillan's air dash for the North Pole.

The pigeons will accompany the three navy planes that will hop off from Etah, in the Arctic region, under command of Lieut. Commander R. E. Byrd.

The pigeons, which are the property of the unknown region lying between Alaska and the North Pole, should be needed. The birds will be sent by express to Boston, where an experienced navy pigeon trainer will explain to the aviators how to feed the pigeons and the proper temperature for their baths when they are at the base at Etah.

A generous quantity of food will be taken north for the pigeons. This will include 200 pounds of Canada peas, 200 pounds of Kaffir corn and 200 pounds of Red Cross pigeon grit. Twenty-five pounds of tobacco also will be provided to give the pigeons a chewing ration and provide for a disinfectant. These pigeons have been in training for several months in preparation for long flights in a cold country.

Ten European countries have pledged their support to the Belgian nominee.

She Says:

Her Friend Says:
"SHE IS SKINNY"

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face, hollow cheeks and neck and run-down looks.

She has tried Cod Liver Oil, but the nauseating, nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing vitamins that make flesh, creates appetite, restores vigor, builds up the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fever people are taking it for doctors are prescribing it and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound.

Doctors who prescribe two stores, Ross Drug Co., Wm. Hawker & Sons and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for it.

It is a wonderful upbuilding medicine for skinny, backward children, especially after sickness and 60 tablets only cost 60 cents.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

But be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablet.

100 Million Yearly
To U. S., Paris Plan?

PARIS, May 19.—Finance Minister Caillaux has not said what proportion of the annual receipts from Germany under the Dawes plan France would be willing to devote to the payment of her war debts to the United States, but it is suggested that half might be available.

France is to get 52 per cent, or about $185,000,000, under the plan next year. As the French debt to Great Britain is less than the debt to America, it would be possible for France to devote at least half of this $185,000,000, plus about $20,000,000 now paid for army stocks, toward American debt payments, or a total of about $100,000,000 annually.

This estimated sum of $100,000,000 would be insufficient to pay interest and amortization on the French debt at the rate Great Britain is paying America on her debt.

EDITORS ENGAGE IN FURIOUS BATTLE

Rival Harvard Papers Cause of Fight Which Police Quell—Mud Thrown.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 19.—Editors of Harvard's Lampon and Crimson substituted hits, for literary volleys, and as a result a heavy call was sent for the Harvard police. They went in a body to the building of the Crimson, pried combatants apart and dispersed the invading editors of the Lampon.

The walls of the Crimson building were plastered from top to bottom with oozy mud. The sanctum, in which a valuable library is housed, was a mess of slime. Small fires filled the place with smoke and books were scattered all over the building as well as outside when the police reached the scene.

Baseball Game
The trouble started over the annual Lampon-Crimson baseball game, at which each side annually claims a victory. The Crimson this year could not wait until after the game to boast of triumph. When the Lampon editors arrived in their tally-ho to play ball they were greeted by their prospective opponents with a special four-page issue of the Crimson detailing the disastrous defeat of the Lampon.

Matters became worse when the Lamponers discovered the Crimson crew wore women's attire and had no intention of playing.

While the dejected Lampon editors were riding back to their quarters some one suggested an attack on the Crimson building. A score of the editors soon swarmed there to find only half a dozen defenders, unprepared for the attack which followed.

The Crimson printing plant was hurriedly locked up, but the visitors made havoc everywhere else. With the arrival of Crimson reinforcements the fight waxed fast and furious.

Both sides kept watch of their respective buildings after the police had restored order.

What was first thought to be a mad dog turned out, on investigation by the police yesterday, to be a young canine that had strayed far from home and appeared afraid of its surroundings. Later, it was recovered by the owner.

EDWARD MOONEY PASSES AWAY

Last of Original Firm of B. Mooney & Sons Is Dead

End Comes at Infirmary in Early Morning After Weeks of Illness.

The death of Edward Mooney of the firm of B. Mooney & Sons, contractors, occurred at 5.10 o'clock this morning in the Saint John Infirmary, where he had been a patient for some weeks and for some days in critical condition. Mr. Mooney was taken ill last fall while engaged in building the new wing of the Infirmary. He spent seven weeks in the institution then and was able to be around but three weeks ago suffered a relapse.

LAST OF ORIGINAL FIRM

Mr. Mooney was the youngest of the late B. Mooney's sons and the last of the original firm to die. The other brothers, Michael F. and Patrick J., were equally well known because of their prominence in the construction affairs of the province as well as in personal circles. M. F. Mooney died last October and P. J. about six years ago. All were born in Ireland and brought to this country with their parents. The firm was established in 1873.

Edward Mooney, who married Miss Ellen Barry of Chatham, leaves five sons, Leon and Edward, and five daughters, Bernice, Hortense, Evelyn, Clara and Dorcas. Also there is one sister, Mrs. S. O'Connor of Saint John. The history of Saint John and its upbuilding since the great conflagration in '77 is to a great extent linked with the career of B. Mooney & Sons and testimonials to this enterprising firm of contractors, the original members of which are now entirely eliminated in the death of this respected citizen today.
