Editorial Notes.

The question of the legal right of the Province of Canada to pass prohibitory liquor legislation was before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London on the 2nd inst. The point was raised by Hon. Mr. Mowat, premier of Ontario, that this right was vested in the provinces and with the consent of the Dominion Government a test case was sent for argument before the Privy Council, and this is the case now before this high court. The case was taken up on Friday last and was adjourned until Monday on the conclusion of the argument of Mr. E. L. Newcomb on behalf of the Dominion. The appeal is against a judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada, January 15, 1895. Questions touching upon the right to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors were raised.

Assigned.

We learn that the Rev. J. H. S. Sweet, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle, has been offered by the Bishop of Columbia the important parish of St. James, in the city of Victoria, B. C. The bishop, who is the Archbishop of Columbia, who retires from the parish after ten years' incumbency. The rector made an announcement to this effect at the services last Sunday.

Much regret is expressed at the news of the retirement of Rev. Mr. Sweet and family from Newcastle where he has been Rector of St. Andrew's for over fourteen years, but the fact that the climate here has not quite suited him and his family, and that the climate of the city of Victoria is more like that of the south of England and may be more beneficial to his health may be considered.

This esteemed family will be missed by the people of Newcastle and vicinity and while regret is felt that they leave us we will be followed by the good wishes of all. Rev. Mr. Sweet will probably leave for his new charge at the end of the current quarter.

Poems and Songs.

The book of poems and songs by Mr. Michael Whelan, published at the Advocate Office, will be ready for delivery in a few days, the printing having been completed and the work of binding is being proceeded with. The book contains one hundred pages, and will be found of special interest to the people of this country in that it contains many poems of local interest which are a credit to the author. Orders for the book may be sent to Mr. Michael Whelan, Advocate Office, Newcastle, or to Michael Whelan, Bryerton's post office, Derry. The price is 35 cents each or $5.00 per dozen, and orders are already in for over five hundred copies. Orders for despatch by mail must be accompanied by two cents for postage on each number in addition to advertised price.

Scott and Cases.

Stephen Moffat, clerk at the Adams House, Chatham, was on Thursday last fined $50 and costs for a violation of the Canada Temperance Act.

Michael Bransfield and Henry Williams, of Esquimaux, for selling liquor at a picnic, acknowledged the offence and were each fined $50 and costs.

Several other cases are pending.

Two Indians were arrested in Ed. Groulx on Saturday for being drunk. They were tried before Police Magistrate John Niven, Esq. They were examined under the Indian Act, and one said he had got the liquor from an Indian, and the other got it from Thos. McAfferty, for whom a warrant was issued and he was arrested and lodged in goal until the case was taken up. The Indian is still at large.

Narrow Escape.

Dalhousie, N. B. Aug. 3.—Mrs. Moffat, wife of George Moffat, Esq., P. for Restigouche, one of the largest mill owners on the North Shore, came very nearly being killed yesterday. She, with several others, went up to Campbellton in the afternoon on a steam tug. After pointing there a few hours they started on the return trip to Dalhousie. When five miles down the stream, at a place called Oak Bay, Mrs. Moffat was passing along the tug near the engine with ice cream. Her clothes caught in the driving bar and were torn completely off her body. The engineer, noticing the mishap quickly turned off the steam and just succeeded in stopping the engine when Mrs. Moffat was being dragged into the machinery. When the tug stopped at Dalhousie medical aid was summoned. It was found that her bones were broken, but she was badly hurt all over her body. Her nervous system was completely shattered. With care it is thought she will regain her usual strength in the course of a few days.

Garden Party.

The garden party at the Presbyterian Manse grounds on Friday evening last attracted a number of persons. The lawn was in attendance and performed a number of pieces very creditably, winning up with "God Save the Queen" at 11 o'clock. Refreshment stalls on the grounds seemed to be doing a fair business. The proceeds were about forty dollars.

St. John Notes.

(From our regular correspondent.)

St. John, August 5, 1895.

Some country people think they have a hard time, and of course everybody has his share of trouble, but I venture to say that very few of this country's residents are brought into contact with as sad a case as I saw the other evening at the police station. A woman named Mrs. Josephine and her two children aged respectively 18 months and 7 years called at the station for protection. Mrs. Josephine and her two children have been living on Erin St. but were turned out for not paying the rent. A constable seized all the poor woman's furniture. Mrs. Josephine and her children have been taken care of for the past week by kind friends. The unfortunate woman and children were sent to the day nursery home on Carlton street.

The weather has been so cool here during the past few days that corn cobs are getting good and I notice the ladies are getting out their light furs—a quite a difference between city and country weather according to reports.

The directors of the exhibition association are pushing the work of building, repairing, etc., along rapidly. About two hundred horse boxes are nearly completed, also stalls sufficient to accommodate 400 head of cattle. The contractors for the agricultural hall, which is 64x180 feet, are at work on the building. The lower floor will be used for exhibiting agricultural machinery and implements with the exception of a north end which will be specially prepared for the exhibition of dairy products and dairy machinery. The dairy machinery will be operated by power furnished through an electric motor in the upper part of this building will be for showing agricultural products of all kinds.

There are now three iron sailing vessels loading at this port which were formerly steamers. They are the ship "Corcoran" and the "Langue Smith" and "Ellora." The latter vessel is taking a cargo for Australia.

The way these bicycle riders scout around the country is simply amazing. On the 2nd inst. September 7th is fixed as the date for the starting of the 1895 Rangle Cycle Club tour. They will start from Halifax, taking the Margate's Bay road, reach Hubbards Cove in time for tea. On Monday they will leave Chester for Lunenburg where the afternoon will be spent in sailing and the cool of the evening closed for the ride to Bridgewater taking the way of Dublin reaching that place in time to take the City of St. John to Lunenburg, thus avoiding forty miles of bad roads. From Lunenburg to Shelburne thence to Tuxedo, passing through Barrington to the city. At Tuxedo the travellers hope to enjoy a picnic, and then on to Moncton, where the steamship for St. John will be taken. The steamer for St. John will be taken on Monday morning from their visit to Campbellton.

Mrs. J. W. McKenzie, of Bathurst, was in town on Wednesday last. Mrs. (Mrs.) Geo. Harrison left Newcastle some weeks ago to visit her daughter at Manchester, Mass., and is now in St. John on her way home.

Mr. Hugh Harrison, son of Rev. Geo. Harrison, is spending his vacation hereabouts.

Mrs. Andrew Morrison, of Chatham, was in town on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller were in town on Monday evening.

Miss Gertrude Maltby left last week to visit friends in Harcourt.

Mr. James Falconer returned home on Monday evening last, from a three weeks' trip down the coast.

Mrs. F. H. Moore, and her sister, Miss Amy Leighton, of Moncton, are visiting at Mr. Leighton's.

W. H. Ransome, of Boston, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Hattie, called on visiting her sister Mrs. J. R. McDonald.

Miss Emily S. and Spencer T. Crisp, of Newcastle, are visiting their uncle, Rev. R. S. Crisp at Salisbury.

Miss Mary DeMonte, has arrived on a visit to her brother and Mrs. Warran, and expects to stay for some time.

Rev. Mr. Murdoch, of Blackville, was in town on Friday last.

County S. S. Convention.

The eighth annual convention of the County Sunday School Association was held in the Methodist Church, Newcastle, July 29th, 30th and 31st.

The opening session on Monday afternoon reports of the work in the different parishes were given, and committees on credentials, nominations, questions and resolutions were appointed. The Rev. J. H. Secretary, Rev. A. Lucas, gave an instructive address on parish work, and pointed out the necessary qualifications of parish S. S. workers and the duties of the office. In the evening Mr. Lucas held a conference of "The Teacher's Study of the Bible," and a profitable discussion on this subject was participated in by several members. Rev. Geo. Steel brought before the convention the financial needs and claims of the N. B. Sunday School Association, and urged that Sunday Schools send in their contributions as early as possible. The Field Secretary gave an interesting address on "Our Provincial Field." A committee was appointed to receive subscriptions to The Evangel, the organ of the International Sunday School Association.

Tuesday morning the Nominating Committee reported as follows: By vote of the Convention:

A vote of thanks was tendered to the county officers of the past year. The Field Secretary then gave a normal lesson on "The Superintendent," speaking of his duties to the church, to the Sunday School and to the laity. In answer to a question on what principle he would suggest that grading be done, Mr. Lucas replied mainly on age and ability, though no one could be overlooked.

A statement or self supporting arch divides the main body of church from the choir, and another arch resting on pilasters separates the sanctuary from the choir. The wood work continues way up the walls, forming a series of arches. The walls are of ash, finished above with an appropriate cornice and resting on a four ft. high base or dado, capped with a beautiful cornice.

The filling, staining and finishing in hard oil of the woodwork was done by Messrs. W. Jackson & Son in the most approved style and workmanship. Most conspicuous are the beautiful memorial windows. The whole making it one of the most beautiful churches in the Maritime provinces if not in Canada. Justly the Rev. Canon D. Forsyth and his congregation feel proud and gratified in having the House of the Lord completed in such style.

The special offerings on Sunday the 11th, may be for the Melley Jubilee, or for the expenses of the repairs and improvements in S. Mary's S. Chapel.

A friend has kindly furnished us with the following description of the interior decorations and improvements:—

Permit me to furnish you with a description of the recent rebuilding of the interior of S. Mary's Chapel, Chatham, the work having been most creditably performed under the direct supervision of Rev. Canon D. Forsyth and by the noble aid of his Congregation to enable him to restore a dwelling place for the Holy High, to its present beauty, a fitting sanctuary to worship our Creator and Redeemer in.

Now let me try to give you a faint description of same. The main body of the church is divided into nave and choir, the choir being elevated by four steps, dividing the ceiling of nave into four separate fields, the spring of arches resting on supports, supported by cantilevers and those upheld by pilasters. The side walls of the choir are supported by four trunks, the wood work continues way up the walls, forming a series of arches. The walls are of ash, finished above with an appropriate cornice and resting on a four ft. high base or dado, capped with a beautiful cornice.

'I did, sweet one.'

'And I accepted you.'

'You did, love.'

'I presume, George, she went on in her most fascinating manner, that you

'How can you think so, pet?' he interrupted.

'But, she went on in a more business-like way. 'I have something of the business instinct of the new woman in me, and—and I shall have to ask you to repeat the proposal again to night. The last time you called it was Sunday, and contracts made on that day, I know, are not legally binding.'

DO YOU KNOW HER?

I have a little friend who doesn't like to mend.

To dust or set the table, or even make a bed.

The very thought of sweeping nearly sets her off a weeping.

And she always goes about it as though her feet were lead.

She 'hates' to rock the baby, and says that some day, maybe, she'll go away and linger where they have no babies found.

To keep folks busy rocking—a real really this is shocking.

And she doesn't mean a word of what she says, I will be bound.

'Is true she cannot bear to even walk a square.

To buy a spool of cotton, or stamps for mamma's mail.

And it's much against her wishes that she's set to washing dishes.

While to speak of darning stockings is enough to make her pale.

In fact, she wants to shirk everything resembling work.

And the only thing she does enjoy, so far as I can say, is to make her doll and beer, and within some quiet nook.

To read of elves and fairies, and dream the hours away.

TOM'S BRIGHT IDEA.

He Got the Meadow Clear of Stone and Then Treated to Supper.

'I plowed up the Pike Meadow this morning, and I want you to pick out the stones this afternoon,' Tom said Mr. Green to his son at the dinner-table one day.

Tom said nothing but he looked his dismay and forgot to eat the piece of turnip which he held balanced on the end of his three-tined fork.

'Throw them over on the west side of the lot, then they will be out of the way,' continued his father, as he put on his hat to go back to his work.

'Yes, sir,' said Tom.

The door shut, and Tom groaned.

'I was going over to Sam's to make that boat this afternoon,' he explained to his sympathetic mother. 'I thought that meadow wasn't going to be plowed till next week.'

'If you go right about it perhaps you can get through in time to go to Sam's,' advised his mother.

'It will take the whole afternoon to do it alone, and I shan't get through before dark,' said Tom dismally. Mrs. Green said nothing more, and began to wash the dishes.

Tom wandered out to the barnyard with his hands in his pockets. He stood watching an old biddy call her chicks about her, when, suddenly, a bright idea struck him. 'I've got it!' he cried, giving such a warwhoop that the hen and her chickens scattered in eleven directions. He turned on his heel and rushed into the house, very differently from the way he had gone out of it a few minutes before.

'I'm going over to Sam's,' he said to his mother. She looked at him and saw a mischievous twinkle in his brown eyes.

'Well,' she said; 'only don't fail to have your work done by night.'

'No, ma'am,' trying to look sober, though he smiled in spite of himself. An hour later he came into the dining room where she was sewing and tilted himself on her rocker while he coaxed:

'Say, mother, can't I have a few of the fellows to supper, and won't you make some hot biscuits? Father's going to the village and won't get home till 7 o'clock, so he won't care.'

'I guess so,' she answered. 'I was going to make biscuits, anyway, and I can make a few extra just as well.'

She did not ask why he wanted the boys to supper, but she knew he was working out some bright idea of his own, and, mother-like, was ready to help, while she watched him curiously. Soon after she heard him mixing some bright red paint. The boys came at four o'clock, according to Tom's invitation. There were four of them besides Tom. Mrs. Green looked out of the kitchen window and saw Tom taking them toward Pike Meadow. Over on the west side of the meadow she could see some bright object standing on the stone wall, but she could not tell what it was. Then she saw the boys stoop and fill their pockets with stones. They formed in a line and took turns throwing stones at the object on the other side. They kept their shots flying, little by little moving nearer their target. Meanwhile, she baked her delicious biscuits and laughed to herself. At 6 o'clock the five young slingers came trooping into supper, hot and hungry.

'That was a fine target, Tom,' said one of the boys. 'Where did you get it?'

'Made it,' said Tom promptly. 'Had some paint left over from the boat, you know.'

While they were eating, Mr. Green came home unexpectedly. He spoke kindly to them all; then, turning to Tom, he said: 'Did you pick the stones out of the meadow this afternoon, as I told you, and throw them on the west side, Thomas?'

'Yes, sir, we did,' said Tom, demurely, while the other boys, seeing through the joke for the first time, fairly shouted.

WHAT GOD GIVES A B. Y.

A body to live in and keep clean and healthy, and as a dwelling for his mind and temple for his soul.

A pair of hands to use for himself and others, but never against others for himself.

A pair of feet to do errands of love and kindness and charity and business, but not to loiter in places of mischief or temptation or sin.

Scott's Emulsion

is Cod-liver Oil emulsified, or made easy of digestion and assimilation. To this is added the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, which aid in the digestion of the Oil and increase materially the potency of both. It is a remarkable flesh-producer. Emaciated, anemic and consumptive persons gain flesh upon it very rapidly. The combination is a most happy one.

Physicians recognize its superior merit in all conditions of wasting. It has had the endorsement of the medical profession for 20 years.

Don't be persuaded to take a substitute! Scott's Emulsion, Belleville. 50c. and $1.

What a silly little girl she must be! First, willing to lose so valuable a thing. And next willing to delay, even a moment before setting about finding it again.—P. K.

It is said that when Queen Victoria was quite a little girl she spent an afternoon with Queen Adelaide, who assured her that she might do anything within reason that she wished. After lengthy consideration the little princess declared that nothing would give her such pleasure as to be allowed to clean the windows. So a cloth, pail and water, and pieces of wash-leather were supplied to her, and greatly did she revel in the indulgence.

A pair of lips to keep pure and unpolished by tobacco or whiskey, and to speak true, kind, brave words; but not to make a smoke-stack of, or a swill trough.

A pair of ears to hear the music of birds and trees and rill and human voice, but not to give heed to what the serpent says, or to what dishonors God or his mother.

A pair of eyes to see the beautiful, the good and the true—God's finger prints in the flower and field and snowflake; but not to feast on unclean pictures, or the blotches which Satan daubs and calls pleasure.

A mind to remember and reason and decide and store up wisdom and impart it to others, but not to be turned into a chip basket or rubbish heap for chaff and rubbish and sweepings of the world's stale wit.

A soul as fair as a new-fallen snowflake to receive impressions of good and to develop faculties of powers and virtues which shall shape it day by day, as the artist's chisel shapes the stone, into the image and likeness of Jesus Christ.

HE WAS A GENTLEMAN.

A few days ago I was passing through a pretty, shady street, where some boys were playing at rounders. Among their number was a little lame fellow seemingly about twelve years old—a pale sickly-looking child, supported on two crutches, and who evidently found much difficulty in walking, even with such assistance.

The lame boy wished to join the game, for he did not seem to see how much his infirmity would be in his own way, and how much it would hinder the progress of such an active sport as rounders.

His companions, very good-naturedly, tried to persuade him to stand on one side and let another take his place; and I was glad to notice that none of them hinted that he would be in the way, but they all objected for fear he would hurt himself.

'Why, Jimmy,' said one at last; 'you can't run, you know.'

'Oh, hush!' said another—the tallest in the party—'never mind, I'll run for him,' and he took his place by Jimmy's side, prepared to act.

'If you were like him,' he said, aside, to the other boys, 'you wouldn't want to be told of it all the time.'

As I passed on I thought to myself that there was a true gentleman.

'Lost! in a game of play, a little girl's temper. Other sad losses are involved. Her mother's pride in her little girl is lost. Her companions have lost
