A Fixed Assessment.

Further, it is understood that a fixed assessment of $500,000 will be satisfac tory to the company.

At the city hall today it was said that never since the negotiations were opened did things look so bright. "All the city has to do now is to be moderate and we shall have the elevated lines from the Wharncliffe road to William street," a gentleman well up in the matter said to The Advertiser

It will be noticed that the council, not the railway committee, has been called to consider the matter. This is no doubt owing to the fact that Chairman Garratt last week refused to call a meeting of the committee together, to consider the proposal of the Grand Trung regarding the moving of the street railway line to Springbank, to make room for the slope of the embankment which carries the elevated from Alvinston, were burned by lightlines west of the Wharncliffe road.

BOLTS RIPPED THROUGH HOUSE; SCARED EAST LONDON FAMILY

The home of Mr. Walter Smith, on Lovett street, East London, was struck by lightning and considerably damaged during the severe storm on Monday

The bolt came down between two rooms, and divided, one part going around the house and passing down a pipe into a tub of water, which it completely demolished. The other part of the bolt took an opposite course and finally spent its force in the ground.

The family, ten in number, had a narrow escape from injury. They were all in the house at the time, the majority of them being in the two rooms which suffered the greatest damage, yet none suffered more than a shock. All were soon fully recovered, except that their nerves were unstrung. The house was damaged, the two rooms where the bolt first struck suf fering the greatest.

MORE TROUBLE ON UNIVERSITY

Archbishop Walsh Denounces Are the Canadians Domiciled Proposed Compromise.

Many Irish Folk from Over Seas in This Year's Pilgrimage Up Croagh Patrick.

Dublin, Aug. 21. - The government and administration of Trinity College, Dublin, as a university school for all Ireland is exciting renewed controversy. There appears to be little hope that the in drawing attention once more to the royal commission, which is to inquire into the subject in October next, can do much that will satisfy the advocates of a totally distinct university for the Roman Catholic youth of Ireland. A certain section of Catholic laymen, it is true, think that Trinity can be remodeled so as to make it acceptable to all, but Archbishop Walsh, of Dublin, is quite of the opposite opinion.

Interviewed on the proposals of these Catholic laymen, the archbishop said: These people have, perhaps, some confused idea of the double faculties of lowing table shows: theology in some of the universities of Germany. Such a scheme will not do

The pilgrimage this year, however, has furnished one of the most remarkable scenes in the history of the country, for, not only was every province of Ireland represented, but many men and women were present from the United States, as well as from the British colonies. Withered, worn and povertystricken many of the throng of pilgrims looked, but they were determined to pray in the little chapel built on the summit of the mountain.

While the Irish people generally are pleased with the action of the Government in relation to the Transvaal probem and the methods proposed to solve it, there is a feeling of disgust among the advanced section of nationalists to offset the loss to Canada of James that Campbell-Bannerman and his cab- J. Several United States Bishops Were Born North of the Line-James J. Hill a Canadian by Birth.

[From the New York Post.] Announcement by James J. Hill of his intention to add another to the transcontinental railroads of Canada has resulted during the last few months large number of American farmers and others who have crossed and are crossing from the Northwestern States of the Union to take up farms in Manitoba, Alberta, and Saskatchewan.

While it is true that a large number of Americans have settled in the western provinces of the Dominion within the last half-dozen years, the loss to the United States is small when compared with the steady exedus from Canada to this country which has continued for nearly half a century.

S. Morley Wickett, writing in the current issue of the Political Science "The project is a senseless one. SULTAN HAMID AT DEATH'S DOOR: PALACE PLOT TO CHANGE SUCCESSOR

Paris, Aug. 21. - A communication emanating from the reform party at Constantinople will appear here tomorrow, asserting that the health of the Sultan of Turkey is gradually failing, and that a fatal result shortly,

It is added that Abdul Hamid is fully aware of his condition, and desires to secure a successor who will follow out his policy. He is said to consider the heir-presumptive, his brother, Mohammed

Rechard, to be too liberal, which view is supported by his majesty's entour-The communication also says that a plot is going on in the palace, in which Abdul Hamid's advisers and the religious chiefs of the Mohammedans are conniving at the disinheritance of Mohammed Rechard, who will be declared incapacitated by illness from succeeding to the throne, and the Sultan thereafter will proclaim his seventh son, Mohammed

Burnham-Eddine, who was born in 1885, to be his successor. It is pointed out that the latter is in complete accord with his father's policy, which the reformers claim would mean a continuation of the present regime of terror and massacre.

Says I to Susan Simpkins, In a friendly sort of way, As we jogged along the turnpike One pleasant summer day: One pleasant summer day:
"I have thought the matter over,
And as far as I can see,
I guess you are the woman
That is just the size for me."

I was rich and Susan wasn't,
For I owned a farm and more.
I owned a tract of timberland,
A sawmill and a store;
While Susan earned her living
As a hired girl, and did
Her duty by her mother
And a little orphan kid.

But Susan she was thrifty,
And so plump and fresh and fair,
That certainly there wasn't
Any finer anywhere. And her station wasn't mine,
And her station wasn't mine,
But as Mrs. Hiram Higgins
She would have a chance to shine.

Then Susan Simpkins halted, And she looked into my eyes, Without a sign of thankfulness Or natural surprise.
"I'm sorry, Mr. Higgins, sir;
Indeed I am," says she,
"But when it comes to sizes
You are one too small for me."

Effect of Dissolution of the Russian Duma.

HAD BEEN OFTEN PREDICTED

Procurator of the Holy Synod Held Mainly Responsible for the Czar's Coup.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 1.-The dissolu-Hon of the Duma was a surprise and a shock to all concerned in the welfare of Russia. Although such an act on the part of the Czar had been predicted daily for the last three weeks no one seemed to be prepared for it. Early in June, while in London, I was advised to hurry to St. Petersburg because it was altogether likely that the Duma would have passed out of existence before I could get there. From day to day, almost every morning, when people came from their rooms at the hotel or from their homes into the streets the first question was, "Has the Duma been abolished?" The expectation that the Czar would attempt to destroy the monster he created before it destroyed him was therefore almost universal, and yet, when the news flew about the streets the morning after i was decided upon at a midnight cabinet meeting, almost everybody expressed astonishment and dismay.

The news appeared in only one of the morning papers-a financial paper usually devoted exclusively to stocks, crops and that sort of thing, and that was the result of an accident rather than enterprise. The editor happened to meet a member of the ministry on his way home about 3:30 o'clock in the morning, and, learning what had happened, hurried back to his office to put the fact into print

The cabinet meeting was called about 9 o'clock in the evening at Peterhof, which is twelve miles from St. Petersburg. It lasted three or four hours and the ministers returned to the city in automobiles. There were twelve of them present and, in addition to them, Prince Putiatin, an ultra reactionary, and Gen. Ignatieff, governor of Little Russia and formerly governor of Siberia, who has the reputation of being the most cruel man in the empire. Pobiedonosteff To Blame.

The cabinet was divided in opinion. but his majesty's mind had been made up, the proclamation edict had already been written by Mr Pohledonostseff procurator of the holy synod, and the evil genius of the Czar, who seems to be responsible for the whole business, as he has been for nearly all of the very serious mistakes which have been Its mother was weeping,

Pobledonostseff had convinced the Czar before the cabinat assembled that the members of the Duma had been guilty of high treason in denying his will and had invaded his divinely bestowed prerogatives t an extent that could not be permitted. As I wrote you the other day the old gentleman takes a very lofty position in regard to the sanctity of his sovereign and the infallibility of his wisdom. and he seems to have impressed his own ideas firmly upon his imperial Bright watch o'er thy sleeping, responsibility for it. Mr. Stolypin, his successor as prime minister, was also apposed to dissolution, and accepted his new responsibility with the greatest reluctance. His only motive in doing so was to prevent the power of the Government at this Life's a stage, and all the people on great emergency falling into the hands of some bigoted reactionary and official of the old school who would defy public opinion and resort to the repressive methods that prevailed during the reign of Alexander III. M. Stolypin is therefore placed in a most difficult position, and whether he is equal to the emergency remains to be seen. > believes to be their rights. Cause of the Dissolution

The reasons for the dissolution of the Duma are very plain. A struggle has been going on around the throne ever since "the youngest parliament in history" assembled. His majesty has been pulled and hauled this way and that way, back and forth, by two factions which are able to reach him. One of his ministers said this morning "that he had been consulting a great many well-informed people." which means that every reactionary who has access to the palace has been at him. Those influences have several times brought him to the point of dissolving the Duma when wiser advisers have appeared to dissuade him from making such a terrible mistake. The rumors concerning dissolution elluded to at the beginning of this letter, that have prevailed daily for several weeks, have had a legitimate existence; they have been based upon the very best of authority. The Associated Press representatives here have announced such action at least five times within a month. Each time their information came direct from what may be considered at least semi-official, if not official, authority. A member of the re-Ectionary element would come from

Do You Eat Bread?

If so, do you not think that you might as well eat only the best? The best bread is that which contains the most nutriment and the least waste matter, and is absolutely pure. You cannot have good bread, however, unless you have good flour.

"Five Roses" Flour

Contains more gluten and nutriment, in more easily digestible form, than any ordinary brands, whilst it contains practically no cellulose or waste matter. In addition, it is more economical, as, pound for pound, it will make more bread and better bread than the flours so-called "just as good."

Its purity is assured by the care with which it is made, and users of it can rely upon getting the best flour for bread which the world offers.

Ask your grocer for it.

LOCAL MARKET. London, Wednesday, Aug. 22. Although there were 30 loads of hav offered today there was a good demand at $10 to $11 per ton. The bulk sold at $10 50 per ton. Straw is in good demand

Old oats sold higher at $1 10 to $1 15 Butter, oats and eggs i will be in good demand at Thursday's market.

WEEKLY REVIEW. The markets held here the nast sty days were characterized by lively trading in every department. The majority of the stuff offered was sold at about the same prices paid a week ago here. Grain-Old oats continue to be the principal grain offered. There is a good lemand. Sales are now made at $1 10 to $1 15 per cwt. New oats are coming In very fast. They sell at 90c to 95c

Hay and Straw - Owing to the light supply the past two weeks there has been a brisk demand, and prices have advanced. Sales are made at $10 to $11 50 per ton, the majority of the loads selling at $11 per ton. Prices are likely to go lower, as the number of loads offered is on the increase. The farmers are predicting that higher prices will be paid for this season's crop of hay than was paid a year ago as they say that this year's yield will be fully one-third less than a year ago. There will be a bigger crop of straw this year, and the prices of oats are likely to be considerably lower, which will help to keep the price of hay down. Straw is in demand at $5 50 per ton. Prices will be lower as soon as

Butter and Eggs - Butter is scarce. Prices are a shade higher at 20c to 22c for crocks and 23c for pound rolls. Eggs

Tearing Up Roads.

The London Drug and Chemical Company made application for a service at the new warehouse to be built on York street between Richmond and Clarence streets.

Commissioner Saunders moved that the request be granted, on condition that the company pay for the repairs to the pavement

Secretary Ellwood pointed out that the bylaws now read that a half-inch service will be put into any premises twenty feet free of charge. Under the circumstances the commission could "It appears time the bylaws
