Pastoral Letter From Head of Roman Catholic Church Says That Inspectors For Separ ate Schools Should Be of the Same Faith—Urges Prudence To Avoid Dissension.

Ottawa, Oct. 24.—A pastoral letter from Pope Benedict XV, dealing with the bilingual question which has caused such serious dissension between the English and French speaking Roman Catholics, principally of Ottawa and throughout the dominion, has been addressed to Cardinal Begin at Quebec and made public through His Eminence Petro Di Marla, the apostolic delegate here in Ottawa.

"In his letter the Pope states that the appeals made by French-Canadians that inspectors for the separate schools be Roman Catholics, is just, and that during the first years of their tuition French-Canadian pupils should be granted the use of their own language for certain subjects, chiefly and above all, of Christian doctrine, and that Catholics be allowed to establish training schools for the education of teachers. But all the advantages, and others that may be useful must be invoked and sought for by the education of teachers. But all the advantages, and others that may be useful must be invoked and sought for by the education of teachers. But all the advantages, and others that may be useful must be invoked and sought for by the education of teachers. But all the advantages, and others that may be useful must be invoked and sought for by rebellion and without recourse to violent or illegitimate methods; and let them employ peacefully and moderately all such means as are legally or by lawful custom permitted to citizens seeking advantages to which they consider them employ peacefully and moderately all such means as are legally or by lawful custom permitted to citizens seeking advantages to which they consider them employ peacefully and moderately all such means as are legally or by lawful custom permitted to citizens seeking advantages to which they consider them employ peacefully and moderately all such means as are legally or by lawful custom permitted to citizens seeking advantages to which they consider them employ peacefully and moderately all such means as are legally or by lawful custom permitted to citizens seeking advanta sension which has arisen, and counsels prudence, that concord may exist among Roman Catholics.

After reviewing an earlier letter, in which a plea for unity was embodied, the more recent pastoral letter dealing with the bilingual controversy says:

"The matter in question is the education law enacted by the Ontario Government in the year of 1913 for the Anglo-French bilingual schools. Whilst on one side it was denounced as unjust Admonishes Against Dissensions, "Hence within these limits and by such means, French-Canadians are free to seek the interpretation or amendments which they desire in the law of education. But in this matter that concerns all Roman Catholics, let no one venture to appeal to the civil courts nor promote litigation without the knowledge and consent of his bishop; and in such questions let the latter not decide anything without consulting the other cation law enacted by the Ontario Government in the year of 1913 for the Anglo-French bilingual schools. Whilst on one side it was denounced as unjust and to be combatted by every available means, others judged it with less severity and did not think it should be so bitterly opposed. This divergence of opinion was followed by a dissension of sentiments.

Carefully Examined Question.

"When, therefore, the whole matter was brought before us for discussion we most carefully examined the question, as the gravity of the issue demanded, and we also instructed the eminent cardinals of the consistory to study the

as the gravity of the issue demanded, and we also instructed the eminent cardinals of the consistory to study the subject.

"Wherefore, after fully considering it under all its aspects, we have come to the conclusion and now decide as follows:

"The French-Canadians may justly appeal to the Government for suitable legislations of the above-mentioned law, and at the same time crave and seek further advantages. Such are undoubtedly, that the inspectors of their separate schools should be Roman Catholics, that during the first years of tuition the use of their own language should be granted for the teaching of certain sub-

Final and Complete Victory Now In Sight, Says Currie

Toronto, Oct. 24.—That the Allies are at last in sight of final and complete victory and the attainment of a peace which will insure for future the safety of the civilized world against despotism, is the belief of the Canadian corps commander, Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, as given in a cablegram received by Sir William Hearst's office today in answer to a message of congratulation sent by the premier a few days

Gen. Currie's message said:

"Please accept my sincere thanks for your kind message on behalf of the people of Ontario, which is much appreciated by all ranks. After four years of gallant and most successful fighting and during which hardships and privations had to be endured, we are at last in sight of final and complete victory, and the attainment of a peace which will insure for the future the safety of the civilized world against despotism.'

YOU CANNOT KILL THE KAISER WITH YOUR MOUTH

You cannot kill the kaiser with your tongue and lower jaw, Or by shooting redhot air across the pond; But if you want to do your bit to help to win the war,

Get in line and buy a great big Victory bond. The pen is mightier than the sword when used to sign the form That loans your money for your country's aid;

And a glorious thrill of patriotic pride will fill your breast When the joybells ring and victory's peace is made.

Just show the boys across the seas you are with them heart and sou With your coin to help the hand that holds the gun, Just show them that the home front stands undaunted by the flag, And will not yield till victory has been won.

We know the foe is reeling from the Allies' hammer blows, And retreating on the east, and west, and south,

But their armies are not beaten till their shoulders touch the mat. And you cannot kill the kaiser with your mouth! -FRED YOUNG, 18th Battalion.

The statement follows:

"Sharp fighting continued yesterday afternoon and evening on the battlefront south of Valenciennes. Our troops drove the enemy from Vendegies Wood, and captured the villages of Neuville, Salesches and Beaudignies, securing crossings of the Ecaillon River at the latter place.

"At the close of the day, the enemy counter-attacked vigorously opposite Vendegies, supporting his infantry with artillery fire, and was repulsed.

"This morning, the attack was resumed on the whole front between the Sambre-et-Oise Canal and the Scheldt.

"The Raismes Forest, north of Valenciennes, has been occupied by the British. North of the forest the British have captured the villages of Thiers, Thun and Hautrive.

"North of Valenciennes we have cleared the enemy from the Raismes Forest and captured the villages of Thiers, Hautrive and Thun. Determined local fighting took place also west of Tournai without material change in the situation.'

FRENCH FORCES CROSS THE SAMBRE CANAL SOUTHEAST OF LE CATEAU

Paris, Oct. 24.—Southeast of Le Cateau French troops have crossed the Sambre Canal east of Grand Verly, says the war office statement today. The French maintained their gains east of the canal in spite of strong German counter-attacks. South of Mont Cornet, further to the east, the French have increased their gains north of Nizy-le-Comte. Along the Serre River there was lively fighting north of Mesdrecourt.

The statement reads: "On the Oise front we have crossed the canal east of Grand Verly. In spite of strong counter-attacks by enemy detachments. we maintained our position on the east bank

"Between the Oise and the Serre there was also lively fighting near the railroad north of Mesdrecourt. We took prisoners, North of Nizy-le-Comte the French during the night increased considerably their previous gains. "On the plateau east of Vouziers, the artillery on both sides.

was very active."

MORE THAN 6,000 PRISONERS CAPTURED NEAR VALENCIENNES

With the Allied Armies in France and Belgium, Oct. 24.—(By the Associated Press, 4:30 a.m.).—The British have taken more than 6,000 prisoners and many guns in their new attack, begun vesterday morning on the front below Valenciennes.

The British are using see-saw tactics, and not at any time since the new battle began has the whole line attacked all the series of objectives at the same time. Guns are moved in relays, so that there is constantly a heavy fire on the German front and rear. Infantry assaults are launched at different times. First one and then another section some distance away is sent smashing into the enemy.

These tactics bewildered the Germans. No enemy unit knows where an assault is coming, and all are forced to stand in readiness under torrents of steel, high explosives, shrapnel and gas. Reports just received from one section of the front tell of fierce fighting at several places. They particularly mention Pomereuil, where the British were held up for a time by a murderous fire from a heavy concentration of German machine guns. The Continued on Page Three.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE LONDON ADVERTISER

To the London Advertiser: I cannot permit the Expansion Campaign of the London Board of Trade to come to a close without expressing my appreciation of the large part which The London Advertiser has had in this important and successful undertaking. In a long experience covering commercial organization campaigns in many cities, I have never known an effort of this sort to receive better support from the newspapers of a community than has been given here in London. This fact insures the permanent success of the new organization, for it is said that the newspapers of a city reflect its spirit and opinions, and, if that be true. the clear-visioned support given this campaign by the newspapers here shows conclusively that London wants an efficient, broad-gauged and responsible community agency. It forecasts, also, great beneficial results from the operations of this agency under a modern system of proven efficiency, such as will be provided.

The fact that there is splendid civic spirit here, needing only to be organized and directed toward community service, was demonstrated, also, by the enthusiasm, energy and efficiency of those who composed the membership teams. Although they have completed the task which they set out to accomplish, the membership rolls of the new organization are still open and will remain so.

I am sure that the men and women of London will confirm the optimism of their splendid newspapers, and of the patriotic men who took the leadership in this movement, by sending the membership far above its present total of 800, and then that they will give further of their thought and energies to the end that the maximum of good may be accomplished with this powerful medium which has been created for community betterment. Cordially yours,

J. C. R. FOSTER. Campaign Manager for the American City Bureau.

ALDERMEN NOT UNANIMOUS IN REGARD TO BOARD OF TRADE MEMBERSHIPS FOR COUNCIL

Individuals Have Joined Out of Their Own Pockets-Some Opposed to Heads of Departments Being Included.

In reference to the city council voting memberships in the new board of trade for the aldermen, some of the city daddless are not enthusiastically in favor of the proposition. Those who have already bought membership tickets, and there are about half of them who have done so, would refuse the offer of the city tickets for themselves. The suggestion that was made of the purchase came from one of these at the board of control meeting last week, in order that the others might be enabled to get in touch with the movement. All are agreed that all the aldermen should belong to the organization in order to better serve the interests of the city fathers. It was Ald. Wilson who addermen should belong to the organization in order to better serve the interests of the city. That the acceptance of the tickets from the city would savor to meet of the city would savor to meet of the city would savor the unit of their membership taking until a full council was assembled.

Another Plan.

Providing the city is relieved of the health of the community. He would point out, however, the moral and spiritual aspect of the situation, the new of comforting and encouraging the people and keeping up their with the spending of $600 on tickets for the city fathers. It was Ald. Wilson who have not yet taken on the city would savor to membership taking until a council was assembled.

Not For This Year's Men.

Ald. Harley thirks that the stigma that might be attached to the action of some of the mem who have not yet taken on the city council in voting free tickets to the council in voting free tickets to the city represents of the city membership tickets of interests of the data was made that the alliance is willing to submit to any ruling of the board considered imperative in the interests of the city the commissioner Gordon Philip on the city is relieved of the salary of Publicity Commissioner Gordon Philip on the city is relieved of the salary of Publicity Commissioner Gordon Philip on the city is relieved of the salary of Publicity Commiss tion in order to better serve the interests of the city. That the acceptance of the tickets from the city would savor on much of charity, is the opinion of the men who have not yet taken out their membership tickets.

Makes Exception.

Alderman C. H. Merryfield would not accept a ticket for himself, but he would favor giving the other fellow one to help him in the city work. He would also cut off the free list, City Clerk S. Baker, Treasurer James S. Grant, who, he thinks, are quite able to buy their own tickets, and all those heads of departments who are making $2,000 or more per year.

Alderman W. Wilson would go even farther than this in that he would alto cut of the free list. City clerk S. Bell, Assessment Commissioner S. Grant, who, he thinks, are quite able to buy their own tickets, and all those heads of departments who are making $2,000 or more per year.

Alderman W. lateness of the hour at which President Wilson's reply to Germany was issued last night, most of the morning newspapers restrict themselves to a hurried an analysis of the note. The Herald says, leaving all questions of an armistice in the hands of the military commanders means that "Germany is not going to be allowed to withdraw her troops in afety from France and Belgium, to be re-formed at the German frontier as a wall of safety and to act as Prussianwall of safety and to act as Prussianism's loaded dice at a peace table. Paper Controller About To Order Cutting Off of Unpaid Subscriptions

T a public hearing in Ottawa last week in connec-A tion with paper conservation, the Paper Controller for Canada intimated that regulations about to be issued would include one to the effect that:

Publishers of dally newspapers must cease sending their newspapers to subscribers three months in arrears unless subscriptions be definitely renewed and all arrears fully

The reason for this regulation of the Paper Controller is that it is the practice of some publishers to send their newspaper until ordered stopped, and this practice frequently means a failure to collect anything for subscriptions in arrears, in which case there is a virtual waste of paper. It is to prevent paper waste that the new regulation has been decided on.

The manufacture of paper consumes labor, wood, coal, chemicals and transportation facilities, and every ton of paper saved means just so much more labor, raw materials, chemicals, fuel and transportation available for urgent war needs. For these reasons the Government insists that paper shall be saved, and proposes that only those who pay for their publications shall re-

HUNS WANT A BARGAIN.

STATEMENT made to the Reichstag by the German chancellor following the dispatch of the third note to Washington shows clearly that Berlin is still out for a bargain peace. ### RUSSIA FACING SURE FAMINE?

Mr. Keeley obtained his information from emi- atmosphere. Propaganda, the spreading of innent Russians. The following extract shows the awful condition to which the Emperor of Germany has brought Russia.

There is dividually to radical measures. Let us make neither work nor food to support the population, and today the working people are simply predestined victims of hunger and disease. Productive labor has been annihilated and no nation can live without it."

This is appalling, even if only true to the extent of one-tenth. A population approaching two hundred millions, if one-fourth die before spring means fifty millions, equal almost to onehalf of this continent, and one-tenth of that would exceed half the population of Canada. The kniser and his war lords brought this awful fate

A LITTLE COURTESY COUNTS.

ANY RETURNED SOLDIERS have remarked upon the changed feeling that comes over them after they return to Canada. In the British Isles they have been the object of constant kindness and personal consideration on all sides. When the soldier reaches home he frequently finds that the touch of personal attention is lacking. The little courtesies that were part of his daily life in England seem to have become lost in a cold, workaday Canada, according to those who have expressed their views.

In England and Scotland, to quote the experience of one Londoner who has many friends in the city, and who has no personal complaint, but who feels keenly for those of his comrades who are away from home and friends, no soldier goes about the streets on crutches without being shown extreme courtesy and every possible assistance from men, women and children. Girls who are acting as conductors on trame will step down to the pavement to assist a soldier who is crippled (incidentally it may be said they frequently forget to collect fares from the soldiers), and one soldier who wears two crutches stated that he found it easier to get about old London than to cross the streets of its Canadian namesake with safety. In the old land motorists would stop and pick up the crippled soldier or stop their cars so that he might pass; here many made their horns "squawk" as loudly as they could in an insistent demand to clear the road.

"I have been home only a few days, but I doner. "I don't want any fuss, but when one is like him in the United States. trying to get on a car while carrying two crutches to hold up a bad leg, he does not like to be pushed aside by people crowding in, or almost knocked down by people pouring out.' It might be that if this country were close to a theatre of war, and English, Irish and Scotch soldiers were on our streets, having come here to help defend this country as well as their own more distant land, we would extend to them more courtesy and consideration than we show to our own boys. The appraisal of humanity as expressed in "a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country" is pregnant with truth. We strive to impress the stranger or the new acquaintance and perhaps to please him more than our own close kin and friends.

But the Canadian soldier should be the exception to the rule. He is a prophet with honor in ability of the troops. his own country, and should never be permitted his own country, and should never be permitted contrast that with the evident exhausting of German to feel hurt because of a lack of friendly interest. war material, and the demoralization of its man-power.

He appreciates an act of kindness as much and perhaps more than anyone else. He has been told that the country is proud of him, and while he knows that pure "swank" is not appreciated he is properly conscious of the service he has given. He often needs a helping hand, especially if he is on crutches, and those who are sensitive about making advances will find that he has not the contempt for the civilian which the self-conscious man in "eivies" may imagine. Even though an overture to do a kindness be rebuked, it will not injure the person who endeavors to be of service, and it is only one chance in a hundred that a courtesy will not be received in the same spirit as that by which it is prompted.

IN THE DUST. By Dorothy Douglas.

In the lovely old home in Alost, half-way between Brussels and Ghent, there was turmoil; there were whisperings, hurried searchings for treasures and hats The German soldiers were on their way through Belgium, and M. and Mme. Victor de Paepe felt that home wound be safe no longer for their beautiful young daughter, Marie. Hence they had ordered her to flee, with two of her brothers to protect her, to London, if possible. The brothers were too young for service, but they were old enough to take care of their sister on the contemplated trip.

"Just one moment, father," Maria said, impatiently; "I am coming." She was trying to hide a little box of keepsakes in the dust pit underneath the fireplace. Surely no German raiders would find it there, and it they duwhat good, to them, a withered rose, a crumpled dance order, a worn Latin grammar with unformed handwriting on its inner cover? And yet to Maria these things seemed to be the dearest of all her possessions; it was to this treasure box that she flew instead of to her jewel case or to her wardrobe when the signal came that the enemy was close upon the town of Alost.

Appalling Conditions Among Belgian Children

Fate of Coming Generation Rests on Relief Work.

MANY people have thought that the United States loans to Belgium have financed all the Relief Work necessary. As a matter of fact the loans provide the minimum ration to sustain life in a grown person.

The bowl of soup and two pieces of bread are totally inadequate to build bone and muscle for a growing child. The results are ghastly! These cases, running into hundreds of thousands of sick and defective children . . . . cannot be taken care of by the general funds", writes Mr. Hoover on July 8th of this year.

"There is an increasing need for funds for these cases . . . our last reports show that the soup-lines of Belgium have increased from one-and-a-half to two-and-a-half million persons . . . I wish particularly to move any loubt as to the acceptability of contributions to me Commission for Relief in Belgium for the special purposes above indicated."

Unless the sick and starving children of Belgium are given a chance for life, Tuberculosis, Rickets and kindred ills will claim the next generation. That is Belgium's outlook.

And yet a few dollars will restore health and strength to one of these tiny sufferers. Will you open your purse and help! If Fate had willed it that you should SEE these babies starving, you would share your all with them. Must you SEE, before you will help?

Before you sit down to another meal, think of the Belgian children too weak to stand in the soup-line, and give. Give Bright, frothy blood coughed up is suspicious of tuberculosis of the lungs. Blood vomited up means usually an ulcer of the stomach or nose bleed. Bleeding from the ear, nose or mouth after an accident points to a broken skull.

Vomiting alone may come from disorders of the heart and fatigue, faulty food, poisons, alcohol, glutteny, overexertion, exhaustion, appendicitis, gastritis or inflamed stomach, tumors of the brain and emotional irritability faisely dismissed as "nervousness."

Fits, spasms and convulsions are often epilepsy.

It was hard on the Beavers not to step their feet on the ground for a whole day. But when Father Beaver commanded his children: "You must all stay in the water every moment today, for safety," then all the little Beavers shouted in their little house: "All right, we'll obey." ## WHAT TO SEND IN CHRISTMAS BOXES TO BOYS OVERSEAS

Letter Written for The Advertiser by Nursing Sister Neelands, Recently Returned From France.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: So many have asked me for suggestions along the line of boxes for the boys, so to save time I will write a few lines for publication. You have not the slightest conception how your boxes are appreciated in the hospitals. For the last two years I have had the enviable pleasure at the Christmas seasons of distributing rifts among the boys in pleasure at the Christmas seasons of distributing gifts among the boys in the wards. The eager eyes and outstretched hands make you rejoice to think you have something to give.

Of course, socks are a welcome sight, and if the women here could see just what I have seen, they would never grow weary of knitting. There is one drawback just here: The distribution is not equalized sufficiently. The socks should be more equally divided, as some of the smaller hospitals do not receive sufficient to go around, by any means. I have sometimes had about a dozen pairs to hand out to nearly sixty men

As if in answer to my unspoken query, Lillian stirred, turned her face from the free and looked at me.

"Of course, Madge, you're thinking that if Robert isn't permitted to carry out this mad purpose of his his brain may smap again, but I am sure you are mistaken. It is far more likely to break if he goes on such a hopeless quest."

"That isn't your real reason, Lillian," I said soldly, for neither her manner nor her words were convincing.

She glanced up at me, startled, then looked away again, her lips setting in the thin, obstinate line I knew so well. I spoke quickly that her determination might not have time to harden.

"Suppose you tell me all about it, dear," I said softly, "before you decide anything. Remember, I've been out of things so long that I feel almost like a stranger. For instance, I had no idea that you are Madge," she needed understandingly, "And you're right: It will help me to "Exchanged vows like a couple of school youngsters?" Lillian retorted bit

She caught her breath sharply, and the next minute she rose impetuously, crossed over to me and crouched down on an ottoman beside my chair, burying her head in my lap.

"I'm—I'm going to make a fool of myself, Madge," she said brokenly. "Don't mind me, dear."

And then, for the first time in my long, intimate friendship with her I saw Lillan Underwood in a paroxysm of weeping such as most women induge in frequently. I have seen her deeply moved before, have once or twice held her in my arms and listened to a few dry, racking sobs, quickly and sternly repressed, but I had never seen her "let herself go" before, and her emotion ternified me—not because it was excessive or noisy, but because it seemed so incongruous a thing coming from my polsed, brainy friend.

Can you picture the boys grouped before the cheery fireplaces in the wards on Christmas night, singing songs and telling stories of home? They all feel particularly near the "folks at home" that night. What could add more to the enjoyment than the popping of cora and roasting of apples? Do not forget, then, to put in a few cobs of popcorn then, to put in a few cobs of popcorn and some apples. The chestnut roasts and some apples. The chestnut roasts around the old English grates would be greatly improved if they had some Canadian chestnuts to roast. The English nuts are dry and mealy, and lack the flavor of our Canadian chestnuts.

By this time your boxes are full, I think. If there are a few spaces left, however, do not forget to add some sugar and tea. Send boxes frequently, with many messages of love and cheer to our heroes, who count not their lives dear unto themselves.

the little people had seen the beautiful visitor and were hiding. So Mr. Silver Fox got no breakast, and he got very cross.

You know some people always get cross when hungry, or when breakfast is late. But it was very foolish and weak in beautiful Mr. Silver Fox, for he became careless and foolhardy. You know when people get very angry they use poor judgment and act silly.

Mr. Silver Fox was astonished to see all the Beavers in swimming when the sun rose. They were diving and playing and having great fun. You know they always take a cold bath every morning, for it makes them strong and well.

All of a sudden Tom and Jerry Beaver called out in fun: "Hey, Mr. Silver Fox. come out here and take some swimming lessons; the water's fine. We'll teach you how to dive, you landlubber."

"If my fur was as coarse and homely as yours, I'd dive all the time and keep out of sight forever," growed Mr. Silver Fox.

You see, he felt so stuck-up by his good looks, that he could think of nothing else. As the Beavers were modest and peaceful, they forgot all about their pretty fur suits, and they had lots of fun swimming and diving. But all the tize Mr. Silver Fox thought with pride about his good looks, as he gazed upon his photograph, which was reflected upon the polished mirror of lovely Mirror Pond that glorious morning.

The great seaport town of Beiglum will, it is expected, soon be in the hands of the Allies, who are sweeping the Huns from that sorely-stricken country.

abounds with indications of wilful devastation of villages that were never within range of artillery, but were found razed to the ground. In others, where houses were still erect they were mined for slow destruction, while the purely military installations, such as barracks built by the Germans for their own troops were left intact. Orders for the burning of Juniville, a large village in the valley of the Retourne, arrived on the day of the evacuation. The Germans had built comfortable quarters, with casinos, officers' clubs, moving picture theatres, hotels and restaurants for the soldiers in the village. The people pleaded with the officers to spare their homes, but the torch was put to every house. The village was one vast brazier when the French entered it. Mont St. Remy shared the same fate. Chatalet, Begnicourt and Ville-sur-Retourne were partially saved because the French troops pressed the Germans there so closely that the sappers left behind to do the work were suppressed. Some of these men fled before they could a set off the mines which had been flooding the country by cutting the banks of the Scheldt Canal. It is said that the lowlands east of the canal and northeast of Valenciennes, are great lakes which will probably hold up the allied advance for some time. The same condition prevails just southwest of the city.

British forces are fighting in the stubborn defence of the enemy, however. Farther north, toward Ghent, the French and Belgians appear to be scheldt Riyer and the network of smaller waterways there provide the Germans with a valuable natural defence zone.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER IS THE ONLY SURE ROAD TO PEACE, IS WILSON'S, REPLY TO GERMANY'S LAST NOTE

President of United States Informs the German Government That He Has Transmitted Berlin's Note to the Allied Government for Their Consideration.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—President Wilson has submitted the German plea for an armistice and peace to the Allies and at the same time has informed Berlin that there can be no armistice except upon terms that would make it impossible for Germany to renew hostilities. While consenting to deal further with the present authorities in Germany the President has given them this warning:

'If it (the United States) must deal with the military masters and monarchical autocrats of Germany now, or if it is likely to have to deal with them later in regard to the international obligations of the German empire, it must demand not peace negotiations, but surrender. Nothing can be gained by leaving this essential thing unsaid."

And Then To Back Him Ub.

At the same time that the president's reply to Germany was made public, the White House gave out correspondence between Secretary Baker and President Wilson, showing that more than two million American soldiers have embarked to participate in the war overseas.

The president's reply to the last German note was handed to the charge of the Swiss legation tonight for transmission to the German Government. It accedes to the request that the proposals of the new spokesmen of the German people, but does it with notice that virtual surrender of the Teutonic armies in the field will be the price demanded for interr otion of the beating now being adminis.cred.

Foch Will State Terms.

In transmitting the matter to the Allies, the president says he has suggested that if they are disposed to effect peace upon his terms and principles how accepted by the present German authorities, the American and Allied military advisers be asked, if they deem such an armistice possible from a military point of view, to submit such terms as will fully protect the interests of the people invoved and insure to the associated governments the unrestricted power to enforce peace on the conditions accepted.

The president says he feels he cannot decline to take up the question of an armistice, having received solemn and explicit assurances of the German Government that it accepts the terms.

spoken of by the German foreign secretary in his note of the twen-tieth of October, it does not appear that the principle of a Government responsible to the German people has yet been fully worked out, or that any guarantees either exist or are in contemplation that the alterations of principle and of practice now partially agreed upon will be permanent. Moreover, it does not appear that the heart of the present difficulty has been reached. It may be that future wars have been brought under the control of the German people, but the present war has not been; AND IT IS WITH THE PRESENT WAR THAT WE ARE DEALING. It is evident that the German people have no means of commanding the acquiescence of the military authorities of the empire on the popular will; that the power of the King of Prussia to control the policy of the empire is unimpaired; that the determining initiative still remains with those who have hither to been the masters of Germany.

GERMAN CORRESPONDENCE SENT TO ALLIED GOVERNMENTS

Washington, Oct. 23.—President Wilson has informed the German Government that he has transmitted its correspondence of the control of the con respondence, seeking an armistice and peace, to the Allies, with the suggestion that if these governments are disposed to effect peace upon the terms and principles indicated, their military advisers and the military advisers of the United States be asked to submit the necessary terms of such an armistice as will fully protect the interests of the peoples involved.

He says that should such terms of armistice be suggested, acceptance by Germany will afford the best concrete evidence of her unequivocal acceptance of the terms and principles of peace.

anthracite coal in each community in Canada have just been approved by order-in-council at the instance of C. A. Magrath, fuel controller.

These regulations are devised to prevent disproportionate deliveries of anthracite to large consumers at times when the ordinary householder cannot be surplied. The fuel administrator is given the right to prohibit entirely, or to limit in any manner he may deem advisable, the use of anthracite coal in any building. This does not apply to private residences using less than 40 tons of coal annually.

Whenever the fuel administrator decides that it is in the public interest at certain points to give effect to the regulations above outlined, he will issue a formal order through the local fuel commissioner of any city or town within his province. In the absence of such official, the administrator may notify any consumer to the same effect.

Heavy penalties are enacted for contravention of the regulations.

THE LOCAL MARKET

The local market was small today. Hay held firm. Cauliflowers were plentiful, with the finest quality that has been brought to the market this year, selling anywhere from $1.50 to $2.50 per bushel. The price of live hogs varied owing to considerable opposition be-tween two local buyers. This resulted in a rise of 25c. All other produce re-

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Selling on the part of leading commission houses gave the corn market a swing to decidedly lower levels today. Uncertainty, which prevalide at the outset, was quickly overcome. Aggressive support seemed to be lacking. Opening figures, which ranged from % decline to % advance, were followed by minor fluctuations and then a break all around.

Wet weather, which appeared likely to restrict the movement of oats, made the oats market relatively firm. Prices. the oats market relatively firm. Prices, however, reflected in some degree the weakness of corn. After opening unchanged to %c higher, values eased down somewhat, but kept within narrow limits.

New York, Oct. 24.—(Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.) — Uncertainty regarding local money conditions influenced the uneven course of prices at the opening of today's stock market. Speculative issues were most affected by this condition, some of the oils losing one to three points, while others rose one to 2½. Baldwin Locomotive again featured the strong war shares at an advance of almost two points, United States Steel and other industrials and equipments gaining fractions. Southern Reveille tomorrow morning will find equipments gaining fractions. Southern Pacific, Marine, preferred, and Studebaker made substantial gains before the end of the first half hour with such specialties as International Paper, Industrial Alcohol and American Sugar. the posts and buildings at Carling Heights gaily bedecked with soldiers' favorite Victory Loan posters. Many in connection with the campaign have come to the conclusion that if orders have been carried out as outlined by Oct. 24.—Bank clearings, tomorrow morning the camp will appear more like a circus than a businesslike and ship-shape training camp. Many liberal buyers in khaki have appeared on the scene, and have promised to take as high as a thousand dollars' worth of bonds first shot. This London, Oct. 24.—The weekly state-ent of the Bank of England shows is not at all, either; they have expressed the intention of buying more as soon as the money is forthcoming. From this it can be seen that the Vic ment of the Bank of England shows the following changes:

Total reserve, decrease £188,000; circulation, increase £400,000; bullion, increase £212,007; other securities, decrease, £1,236,000; public deposits, decrease £1,235,3000; notes reserve, decrease £13,533,000; notes reserve, decrease £14,274,000.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 18.70 per cent. Last week it was 17.10 per cent.

Rate of discount, 5 per cent. From this it can be seen that the Victory Loan campaign is going to be backed with the heartiest liberality.

Farmers Invest Well.

Many former farmers who, being called by the M. S. A., sold their farm and banked the money, are now signing up for from $500 to $2,000 worth, and say that they will pay cash.

The military executive office on the Heights presents a gaudy aspect. Signs, posters and stickers are hung and stuck on the walls as though a big circus was on the wails as though a big circus was coming to town. Even the windows are decorated to the fullest capacity. AUTUMN TIMES.

A deep silence has settled on the wood. Across the rill a grey grouse is drumming on the grey trunk of a fallen tree. The grey squirrel is gathering nuts for the winter. The young deer has changed his summer coat for one of a more sombre hue, a red-brown, to match the autumn leaves. Now the leaves are falling, unveiling the forest, and opening long avenues through which we get glimpses of jumping deer. If you take your rifle and go into the "Highlands of Ontario," and stand perfectly still some autumn morning, you can see the red deer racing by. Any Grand Trunk agent can tell you how to get there, or write to C. E. Horning, D.P.A., G. T. R. System, Union Station, Toronto.

Without the shadow of a doubt, at least 75 per cent of the 800 who signed the cards did so because the new organization had for its object public welfare. This being true, the name should include something that will give prominence to this feature.

To my mind, having in view the expressed opinion of many who signed the cards, "Board of Commerce and Public Welfare" would be a most desirable combination. Under the first part of this name would be included:

1. The advertising committee, for the securing of new industries, etc.

3. The public buildings committee, and others:

IT IS ONLY FAIR.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Why is the city council not moving the matter of the appeal of the Be elephone Company for an increase of ome twenty per cent in their rates? ther cities are opposing it. In view of ne unreasonable and absolutely sensess opposition to the local street rail-ay's appeal for a small concession the activity of the council in the Bell ap-eal is, to say the least, glaringly ineal is, to say the least, glaringly inonsistent. One is a local concern unble to pay its way; the other, an imnensely wealthy corporation, paying

London, Oct. 3, 1918. ANCIENT WAR BREAD. To the Editor of The Advertiser:

It may afford some comfort to those who object to eating war bread, that a ar worse variety appears to have been used thousands of years ago by At any rate, according to Ezekiel iv.

At any rate, according to Ezekiel iv., 9, the Lord himself gave the following recipe to the prophet:

"Take thou also unto thee wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentils, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one yessel, and make thee bread thereof."

If that concoction represents the war bread of former days, we ought surely to be thankful for the dainty fare we yet enjoy.
