It is necessary that all those whose names do not appear on the list should register, and they are expected to do so today, or on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The registration booths will be open this afternoon and evening, and morning, afternoon and evening for the remaining three days.

Every person entitled to a vote should see that his name is on the list.

4—A resident of London three months prior to Aug. 29.

CHINAMAN ASKS THE POLICE TO PROTECT HIM FROM ANOTHER

Lee Gow, of Hamilton, Placed Under Arrest on Complaint of George Fong—May Be a Sequel to the Case.

Lee Gow, a Hamilton Chinaman, was arrested here this afternoon by Detective Egelton on a charge of having threatened the life of George Fong, a local Chinaman.

The affair, it is said, may have a very serious significance and cause a great deal of trouble between some of the Chinese tongs.

Gow, it is stated, became infuriated because he alleged that Fong gave information to the police that resulted in the recent opium raid in Hamilton.

It is said that he made the most dire threats as to what will happen George Fong.

Why, he came to London is not known, but Fong was so badly scared that he at once informed the police and Detective Egelton placed Lee Gow under arrest.

It is likely that he will appear before Magistrate Judd tomorrow morning.

COOK-FITZGERALD CO. REPLY TO ENGINEER GLAUBITZ'S CHARGE

Got a Better Rate From the London Electric Company Than From the Hydro People—Dr. Stevenson Defended.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The statement in The Advertiser of Monday, under the heading "Trouble Is Brewing Over Niagara Power," in which Commissioner Stevenson is accused by Engineer Glaubitz of being responsible for the Cook-Fitzgerald Company signing a contract with the London Electric Company, does a grave injustice to Dr. Stevenson—an injustice which this company does not propose to let him rest under.

The facts are briefly as follows: Some time ago we were approached by a representative of the London Electric Company with a proposition to install electric power. We had been giving the matter some thought, and had made inquiries as to the cost of motors necessary for our purpose. It showed that the alternating current motors, which the hydro system calls for, would cost in the neighborhood of $1,200. The London Electric, using a direct current, made us an offer to supply the motors necessary for the plant, which was so much better than we could do elsewhere, that we gave the matter our closest attention. Later they offered us a contract that it would have been folly to reject. It was so much lower than the prevailing charge for hydro, that as business men we could not turn it down. In it was included the motor system, practically new, from the Victoria Hospital, and more than ample for our needs. The contract involved an initial saving of upwards of $1,000 in motor cost, and a sum for the year—the term of the contract—a figure that is material, but which it is not necessary to state here.

After our contract had been signed, Commissioner Stevenson met our superintendent, E. E. Donovan, on the street, and they discussed hydro. Commissioner Stevenson urged that hydro was better power than the London Electric could furnish. Mr. Donovan thereupon told him that the contract was signed, and gave him the figures of our motor cost. The commissioner's comment was, "You could not afford to turn that down."

It may be stated in passing that we had never had a call from Mr. Glaubitz until after the contract had been signed, and it is news to us, as it probably will be to the general public, that the hydro system has a sliding scale of prices. We had several hydro representatives in to see us, however, before Mr. Glaubitz came to town. None of them could give us definite information as to what the charge for the hydro service would be. They figured on the horsepower necessary, and their estimates ran from forty up to one hundred and forty.

This company employs upwards of 150 hands, has a payroll approaching $2,000 a week for fifty-two weeks in the year, and has been in business for over six years. It has never asked for a bonus, an exemption from taxation, nor a fixed assessment, and it arrogates to itself the right to conduct its own business in its own way. Thanking you for your valuable space,

Very truly yours,

THE COOK-FITZGERALD SHOE CO., Limited,

C. J. Fitzgerald, President.

GERRY FLATS WELLS HAVE BEEN SHUT OFF

Hon. Adam Beck Has Not Paid Ex-Ald. Gerry as Per Agreement.

The wells on the Gerry Flats have been shut off.

As a matter of fact they have not been used for some days. No action was taken by the water commissioners or Hon. Adam Beck to meet ex.-Ald. William Gerry in his claim for a settlement for the land occupied by the wells, and as a result they have been turned off.

Superintendent Glaubitz stated that the matter was out of his province altogether, it being one entirely for Hon. Adam Beck to settle.

It is expected that this will bring the whole matter to an issue, and a settlement of the trouble will be made within a few days.

POLICE OFFICER HURT BY DRUNKEN MAN

Wallace Walker Will Be Laid Up for Some Time With Bad Hand.

P. C Wallace Walker, of the local force, has been off duty for nearly two weeks with a very serious injury to his hand.

During the Old Boys' celebration while attempting to arrest a man who was drunk and acting in a disorderly manner, he was kicked in the hand.

The blow was a hard one and forced one of P. C. Walker's fingers backward and downward in such a manner as to displace the joint.

A couple of days after the accident it was found necessary to place the injured hand in a plaster paris cast, and it was stated today that the hurt is so serious that P. C. Walker will have to keep his hand in the cast for some time.

TRYING TO HOODWINK THE WORKINGMEN.

In its campaign of deception our local contemporary has gone to extremes. The untruth printed in an article last Friday entitled "Mills of the United States outbid the Mills of this city" has been pointed out by this journal, but has not been retracted.

Either with deliberate falsehood or in flat ignorance of the provisions of the agreement which it pretends to discuss, it said in the article named:

"WHEN RECIPROCITY COMES INTO EFFECT THE DUTY OF 22½ PER CENT. ON DRESSED LUMBER COMES OFF.

"RECIPROCITY MAKES DRESSED LUMBER FROM THE UNITED STATES FREE.

"RECIPROCITY STRIKES AT THE LONDON WORKINGMAN'S EMPLOYMENT."

As already stated by this journal, the reciprocity agreement does not touch duty on dressed lumber coming from the United States. It does make a heavy reduction in the duty on Canadian dressed lumber entering the United States, so that Canadian manufacturers will have a better chance in the United States market, woodworking in London and other Canadian cities will be stimulated and our workingmen benefited.

It is time the Free Press took back its brazen untruth. Yesterday, instead of taking back one falsehood it added another in the statement that the Advertiser "admits that five carloads of material prepared for use on a new church were imported into this city." Instead of piling one lie on anotner, let the Free Press take back its statement that "Reciprocity makes dressed lumber from the United States free."

Until a retraction is made, this journal finds little use in arguing with or answering the questions of a paper that has not the common decency to give its readers the truth so far as it knows it.

HOW PACT HELPS EST MIDDLESEX

Strong Addresses on Reciprocity at Thorndale Meeting.

SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY

Farmers Advised Not to Let the Chance Slip Away From Them.

[By Our Own Man.]

Thorndale, Aug. 28.—Nissouri farmers are deeply interested in reciprocity, and tonight one of the largest gatherings held in many years more than filled the hall in this place to hear the subject discussed. Everywhere it is the topic, and the sentiment in its favor is growing rapidly. Strong and convincing addresses were delivered by Dr. Geo. A. Routledge, the Liberal candidate, J. M. McEvoy, Jared Vining and Mr. T. H. Purdom, K. C.

Mr. John Salmon, of Thorndale, was selected as chairman. He congratulated the farmers of the vicinity because of the interest shown in the question of the day.

A Big Issue.

Dr. Routledge spoke first. He was glad to appear on a platform at Thorndale to take up so important a matter as reciprocity. It was an issue that would appeal with telling force to the farmers of the district and he declared that undoubtedly it would be given good support.

The candidiate was also pleased that the issue was not altogether a political one. It is true that candidates for political parties would have to be voted for, but it was an issue on which party lines were broken more so than in recent years.

Not a Treaty.

"The opposition to this measure declare that the pact is a treaty, running all the way from 1 to 25 years, according to the skill of the person basing his argument on that," declared Dr. Routledge. "It is not a treaty—it is a bargain. It can be terminated at a moment's notice by either party, if it does not prove satisfactory.

DESERTED WIVES WILL SEEK TO PROSECUTE THEIR HUSBANDS

Several Cases Under New Act Will Come Up for Trial Before P. M. Judd Within the Next Few Days.

Within the next few days a number of interesting cases under the recently passed "Deserted Wife's Maintenance Act" will be heard before Magistrate Judd.

Informations have been laid by a number of local women who claim that their husbands have left them, and refuse absolutely to contribute toward their support.

Under the new act it is not necessary to charge the husband with non-support, although the penalty, provided no understanding is reached, is much the same.

Under the new law the magistrate can make arrangements for the husband to pay up to $10 per week towards the maintenance of his wife and children.

"There have been a good many domestic difficulties lately," said Police Court Clerk Moule to The Advertiser this afternoon. "A number of informations have been laid by women who say they have not been receiving any money from their husbands, and who need help."

It is stated that in the majority of the new cases the complainants are women who have been married for several years.

FOUND ON BEACH AT PORT WOMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Mrs. Archie Morrison, of St. Thomas, While Mentally Deranged Tries to Take Her Life—Says She Told Husband She Intended to Suicide.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Port Stanley, Aug. 29. — Mrs. Archie Morrison, a middle-aged lady of St. Thomas, was found on the beach at Erie Rest this morning. She was partly in the water and had lain there all night. The woman was in a dazed condition and greatly exhausted from exposure but it is expected will fully recover. It is thought to be a case of attempted suicide while temporarily deranged. She declared she had written to her husband, who lives at Detroit, telling of her intention of doing away with herself. She is the mother of two small children.

MOTHER LAID CHARGE AGAINST DAUGHTER

Wayward Girl Sent to Mercer For an Indefinite Period.

In the juvenile court yesterday Magistrate Judd committed a 14-year-old girl to the industrial school for an indefinite period in an effort to direct her in the way that she should go and save her from the consequences of the life toward which she was drifting. Although so young the girl has given her mother the greatest anxiety, and has been away from home a great deal. The mother herself laid the information against the girl.

BALDWIN STRIKE OFF.

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—The strike at the Baldwin Locomotive Works, which began on June 8, was officially called off last night, with a brief announcement to that effect by the executive committee of the Locomotive Builders' Council. Of the 12,000 or more men who went out originally, it is estimated that only about 2,000 are still out.

The management of the works decline to state whether these men will be taken back. When the strike was called it was advised against by the international officers of the affiliated unions, which it was stated were not in a position to pay strike benefits.

Rev. Mr. Vining's Work.

Local Baptists are greatly interested in the dispatch from Vienna that the minister of education of Hungary has practically approved the project for the erection there of a big Baptist University to cost $100,000. This is the project in connection with which Rev. A. J. Vining, formerly pastor of the Talbot Street Baptist Church, has been touring Europe and the States. Mr. Vining is at present in Toronto.

F. high court meeting at Peterboro, are loud in their praise of the manner in which they were entertained by the citizens and city officials of that city, and more especially are they grateful to the chief of the very efficient fire department, Wm. Howard, a London Old Boy, who did everything in his power to make their visit pleasant, and who entertained them at his home and with a ride to all parts of the city. They also wish to thank Mayor Beattie for his telegram, extending an invitation to hold their next high court meeting in 1912 in London, and to state that the next meeting will be held in London, and that H. H. H. MILLER WILL SPEAK IN KOMOKA

A Meeting Will Be Held on Wednesday, September 6, in Interests of Liberal Candidate.

Mr. H. H. Miller, of South Grey, will address a meeting to be held in the new hall at Komoka on the night of Wednesday, Sept. 6, in the interests of the Liberal candidate in North Middlesex, Mr. Alex. W. Smith.

Mr. Miller is a splendid speaker, and there will also be a number of other gentlemen present, including the candidate, who will discuss reciprocity. Everybody is invited.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE DISCUSSED

Special Committee Will Try to Reach an Understanding.

The special committee appointed to consider matters relating to local improvements will meet this afternoon, and again make an attempt to settle this somewhat vexed question.

Some time ago, this committee took up the matter, and prepared a bylaw governing the initiation of such work.

In the meantime, however, there have been practically no roads improved, and very few walks laid. Complaints have been numerous, and the committee have decided to again attempt to settle the matter.

One of the first items to be disposed of is the question of permanent improvements. It will be remembered that former City Engineer Van Cleve prepared a voluminous report on this subject. Certain kinds of pavements were recommended for residential streets, and certain other kinds were said to be the best for business and other thoroughfares. This report has never been discussed at any length, but it is the purpose of the special committee to take the matter up, and it is expected that some recommendation will be made to the city council.

In addition, the duties of the city engineer and other officials in that department will be defined. It has been the intention of the council to settle this matter for a long time, but nothing has ever come of it. Now the committee will go thoroughly into the question, and bring forward a basis of operation.

Other matters are to be discussed, and it is expected that the session will be rather a long one.

AN OXFORD GRADUATE MURDERS AND SUICIDES

Grief-Stricken Over Wife's Death Englishman Slays Little Ones.

[Canadian Press.]

South Thomaston, Me., Aug. 29. — Neighbors of Edward Bennett, the Englishman, and graduate of Oxford University, who yesterday killed his three small children and then ended his own life because of grief over the death of his wife, began arrangements today for the burial of the little family, as there are no relatives in this country. Mr. Bennett left about $300 to pay for the funeral expenses, and in a letter to Rev. Russell Woodman, pastor of the Episcopal Church at Rockland, which the Bennett family attended, made arrangements for paying the cost of his wife's illness and other small debts. When the quadruple funeral will be held has not yet been decided.

"MONA LISA" SUSPECTS BY THE HUNDREDS

A Multiplicity of Clues for the Paris Police.

Paris, Aug. 29.—The Louvre was reopened to the public today for the first time since the disappearance, Aug. 22, of the painting "Mona Lisa." Everyone entering the museum went to the salon carre to stare at the vacant place on the wall where Leonardo Da Vinci's masterpiece had hung and to discuss the theft.

The police continue to follow the multiplicity of clues which have cropped up purporting to lead to the whereabouts of the famous picture. A man carrying an object of a size or shape suggesting the painting has been heard of from nearly every frontier station in France.

GLACIER PRESERVED LONG DEAD CLIMBERS

Alpine Tourists Find Bodies of Londoners Killed Years Ago.

Berne, Switzerland, Aug. 29.—Tourists, while crossing the Loetschen Glacier yesterday, saw, deep down in the clear ice, the faces of two dead men. Guides accompanying the party chipped out with their ice axes the frozen bodies of the two men and brought them to the surface.

The bodies have not yet been identified, but they probably are those of two London tourists, named Bemebecke and Cohn, who disappeared fourteen years ago.

MONTREAL LADY HURT.

New York, Aug. 29.—Mary E. Heaton, 62 years of age, whose home is in Canada, was removed from the steamship Montgomery, of the Savannah Line, to St. Vincent's Hospital, suffering from contusions of the hip and a lacerated scalp.

The injuries were received, according to the report made by the steamship officers, Sunday afternoon, when the vessel was going through a heavy sea. A wave struck the vessel, going over the deck. Mrs. Heaton was sitting on a chair on the deck and was struck and thrown to the deck.

VICTORIA STREET PEOPLE WILL FIGHT

Object to Paying for Filling In a Big Hole at West End.

WILL GO TO THE COURTS

City Proposes to Pave the Thoroughfare and Generally Improve It at Cost of People.

There promises to be an interesting dispute between the city and some of the residents of Victoria street, between St. George and Talbot, over the proposal of the council to initiate a new roadway on the street and fill up a big hollow place at the west end.

The residents claim that they cannot be made to pay for the filling up of the hollow place, as it is not in front of their property. The engineer states that if the people do not want the street improved they can petition against it.

He contends that the law is that all people on the street owning property who will benefitted by what is done are liable for their share of the work, whether it is in front of their places or not.

A resident stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that a petition is being circulated against the work, and that, if necessary, the matter will be taken to the courts.

STORM CAUSES WRECK OF NIGHT EXPRESS

Engine Crew Injured and Passengers Badly Shaken Up.

[Canadian Press.]

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Aug. 29.—Dirt washed up on the tracks at the railroad crossing in East St. Johnsbury by last night's storm caused the wreck of the night express from Portland, Me., to Montreal, on the St. Johnsbury and the Lake Champlain Railroad today. While none of the passengers or train crew were seriously injured, the seventy-five pasengers were badly shaken up, and the engineer and fireman slightly hurt. The locomotive plowed along the track for a distance of two hundred feet and then fell over a twenty-foot embankment. The front trucks on the baggage car were torn off and the car was derailed. The first sleeping car left the irons, but the other cars, two day coaches and two sleepers, remained on the rails.

TRAIN WRECKERS BUSY.

Middletown, Conn., August 28.—Train wreckers, who had removed spikes from a rail, were responsible for the derailment of an express train over the Valley Line of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad last night, resulting in one death and injury to about sixty others. Of the injured the condition of only two remains in doubt, with chances in their favor. The passenger who was killed is Abe Brown, of Hartford, 70 years old, who was internally injured.

The cause of the accident is officially attributed to train wreckers in a statement issued at the offices of the railroad company at New Haven, which laconically gave the cause of the wreck in these words: "Malicious intent; spikes drawn from rails."

THREE-SIDED FIGHT FOR WENTWORTH

Hamilton, Aug. 28.—Arthur B. Wilson, of Dundas, has announced that he will be a third candidate in Wentworth. He will run as an independent in opposition to Mr. W. O. Sealey, Liberal candidate, and Mr. Gordon C. Wilson, Conservative. The fact that the names of two "Wilsons" will be on the ballot paper is likely to cause confusion.

FIRE AT SANDWICH.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 28.—Fire broke out early Sunday morning in Parent Bros.' general store, in Sandwich east, and completely destroyed the building and contents, involving a loss estimated at $2,500. The building was owned by Oliver Janisse, of Sandwich east, whose loss will amount to $1,500, partly covered by insurance.

GERMANY GOING IN FOR THE MAMMOTH

Builds a Steamship Liner to Carry 5,000 Passengers and Theatre for 15,000.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—Germany is fast emulating America in the inception and carrying out of great enterprises. Just now she is busily engaged in turning out the world's greatest liner, which is to ply between Hamburg and New York, with accommodations for no less than 5,000 passengers. For the past twelve months work has been steadily proceeding at the Vulkan Shipbuilding yards at Stettin on this new mammoth liner for the Hamburg-American Line, which is to eclipse all previous records of ocean greyhounds for size and splendor.

The new boat, which will be named the Imperator, is to be bigger than any craft yet afloat. In her present condition on the slips at Stettin she presents a wonderful spectacle, appearing something like the skeleton of an eleven-storied skyscraper in course of construction. She stands a hundred feet high, is nearly ninety feet in beam, has a length of 10 feet and her displacement will be 50,000 tons.

In her present condition, without engines or boilers, she weighs more than a fully-armed battleship. Her interior decorations and furnishings are planned on the most lavish scale possible, and she will in every way merit the description of a "floating palace," or rather a floating town.

Herr Moritz Leahmann has designed what he calls an open air and light theatre, the like of which has so far not existed, for the production of a great military play to celebrate the battle of Leipzig at its one hundredth anniversary in 1913. The auditorium and stage will represent a country landscape near Leipzig. The theatre will cover an area of over 70,000 square yards, of which 4,000 yards will be devoted to the accommodation of the audience.

This part of the grounds which will give seating capacity to 15,000 people will be laid out to represent a large meadowland dotted with farms and country houses, and the balconies, verandahs, windows and roofs of the various buildings will serve as reserved fauteuils from which occupants will obtain a moving view of the military spectacle.

SMOTHERED IN HOPPER.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Falling into a hopper full of clay dust, Wm. McGregor, of Port Credit, was smothered to death. He was working at the brick yards and nobody saw him fall in. When pulled out he was dead. He was fifty years old, and leaves a widow and child in Scotland.

IRVIN TURNS UP.

Ottawa, Ont., August 28.—A wire received in Ottawa today, stating that J. S. Irvin, former general manager of the International Portland Cement Company, of Hull, who was reported as missing in New York, had returned to that city from a business trip. He was surprised to learn that his absence had caused alarm. Before the news arrived, however, Mrs. Irvin and Mr. C. A. Irvin, a brother, had left for New York.

POACHER SEIZED.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—An American fisherman has been seized for poaching on the Pacific coast. The department was informed by wire today that the power schooner Sarah, of the Seattle fleet, had been picked up by the Rainbow.

NEW SENSATION IN BEATTIE CASE

Cousin Says Alleged Murderer Confessed Deed.

SMILE BECOMES PALLOR

Told Witness That He Wished He Had Not Killed Wife.

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., Aug. 28.—Between gulps of intense emotion, Paul D. Beattie, cousin of Henry Clay Beattie, jun., who stands indicted for the murder of his wife, claimed on the witness stand late today that the accused told him 24 hours after the murder how sorry he was he "had done it," a circumstance relating to the crime Paul hitherto had suppressed.

Creates Profound Sensation.

Coming as dramaticaly, and as unexpectedly as the pathetic tale of Mrs. R. V. Owen, mother of the dead woman, as to the domestic infelicity of her daughter, due to the husband's diseased condition, the brief but thrilling testimony, given by Paul Beattie, created a profound sensation.

Paul Beattie, at the coroner's inquest a nervous wreck, but today strong and determined, poured out a tale which confessedly has troubled his mind, not only because he purchased the shotgun for Henry, but because he did not until today tell all he knew of the case. With quivering lips and tear-dimmed eyes he set forth the story against which his heart and sympathy had for days been revolting.

Makes Listeners Gasp.

"I hated to testify against my own flesh and kin," he murmured as the muscles of his throat pulsated, "but my wife, my child and the duty I owe to my city forced me to do so."

The gasp that rose simultaneously from the throats of those in the stuffy courtroom was strikingly audible, and for a moment the crowd held its breath while Paul Beattie continued: "Henry had told me that he wanted me to stick to him, but I said no him. 'Talk looks mighty black to me, and you've got me into a lot of trouble.' Henry told me: 'I wish to God I had not done it. I would not have done it for a million dollars, but she never loved me; she only married me for my money.'"

Paul Beattie paused and his plaintive tone sank lower, but he did not break down. A hushed stillness prevailed in the room as his next words were awaited, but he said no more, and bracing himself in his chair, turned his sharp chin toward the bench where the prisoner and counsel sat, and looked fixedly at the latter in preparation for the cross-examination.

Henry's Smile Freezes.

Henry Clay Beattie, jun., had been listening to the previous preliminary testimony of his cousin with the flicker of a tolerant smile about the corners of his mouth. When this speech was given his eyes suddenly dilated so that all the white showed, his fingers curled and the nails bit into the palms of his hands.

The youth let his jaw drop slowly, and his shoulders sloped suddenly as if with fatigue. Behind him his father, in a daze, let his eyes wander blankly for an instant from the back of the witness to the rear shape of his son's head. That recalled him. He slipped his arm about the prisoner's shoulder and his lips tightened in pain. It was evident that neither the boy's father nor his lawyers had expected anything like this straight from the lips of Paul Beattie.

Harry M. Smith, jun., one of the lawyers for the defendant, rose from his seat, gazed hard at the witness, and in a loud voice confronted Paul with the charge that at the coroner's inquest he had not told the whole truth, as his oath required, when he omitted to make the statement concerning Henry's alleged confession to him. Paul looked appealingly at the counsel, and hardly able to repress his emotion, told how he had not been able to clear his mind at the inquest when he collapsed, or for some days later, and that he had only recently been able to force himself to give damaging evidence against his own kinsman.

He had previously told of buying the gun at Weinstein's pawnshop and of going there on the night of the murder and carrying the weapon to the prisoner, who waited in his automobile around the corner. Next day when he saw Henry, said the witness, the prisoner sent him to warn Beulah Binford to keep her mouth closed. Paul quoted Henry as saying:

"Tell her that if she opens her mouth about this thing I'll kill her if it takes a hundred years."

Paul said when he delivered the message the Binford girl said: "I reckon Henry Clay Beattie, jun., will marry me now."

It was a late hour when this stage of the trial was reached, and adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning, when cross-examination will continue. Meantime Henry C. Beattie, jun., was taken back to Richmond to permit of a conference there with his counsel. The prosecution let it be known that it had practically finished its case.

SPY OF THE KAISER CAUGHT BY THE BRITISH

Attempted to Purchase Information as to Britain's War Plans.

Portsmouth, England, Aug. 28.—Lieut. Philip M. Schultz, of the Thirteenth Hussars, stationed at Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, who was arrested here on Aug. 19 last, charged with espionage, was arraigned in open court for the first time today. According to the public prosecutor, Lieut. Schultz was specially commissioned by the German authorities to obtain precise information as to how far the British Government was backing up France in the Moroccan dispute. Specific questions, copies of which were found among his belongings, were to be asked by Schultz regarding the naval preparations, the fortifying of ports and the commissioning and reserve of ships, etc. Insistence was laid on the necessity of the information coming from the officers of the active list of the British navy. A copy of the cipher employed by Schultz also was found.

Counsel for the prosecution asserted that the lieutenant had offered considerable sums of money to local residents to procure the desired information. The residents instead informed the authorities, and in conjunction with them laid a plot to catch the alleged spy.

FORTUNATE EARLY DELIVERY

In all our earlier purchases for fall and winter, 1911-12, by good fortune we asked for delivery of goods at least two weeks earlier than we have been accustomed to getting, which by reason of the recent tie-up by the Liverpool strike that stopped all shipping for a time, has proven a most fortunate stroke of business, as we are now showing more new fall merchandise than we have ever at this early date, which had it not been for special early shipping would have been tied up in the freight sheds at Liverpool. We anticipate very little inconvenience through the strike, except on some of the last-minute purchases made by our buyers before leaving Europe, but we have received already sufficient to start well the fall season.

We will be only too pleased to show you and to explain the newest ideas in Portieres, Overdraperies, Side Curtains, etc., and to estimate cost of same.

CHOLERA RIOTS IN CALABRIA

Ignorant Peasants Kill Members of Red Cross Society.

TOWN'S MAYOR SLAIN

Mob Burns Public Buildings and Barricades Against Troops.

Naples, Aug. 28.—A dispatch from Cosenza, the capital of Calabria, reports a serious condition of affairs at Verbicaro, in the northern part of that province.

The ignorant inhabitants of that town have become furious against the sanitary work of the physicians and Red Cross nurses in trying to prevent the spread of cholera and have started rioting. They have become obsessed with the idea that the sanitary measures are intended to spread the disease. The rioters have already cut the telephone and telegraph lines, burned the city hall and killed two members of the Red Cross Society. The mob is in complete possession of the town and has erected barricades wherefrom it will try to repulse any attacks. Troops and doctors are on their way to the scene.

The rioters killed Mayor Guaragna and all the members of his household, as well as several other officials. They burned, in addition to the city hall, the prefecture, the pretoral court, the telegraph office and the mayor's house.

Signor Guaragna's father was also mayor at the time he was murdered in a similar uprising of the people in 1875.

The corpses of those who died of the cholera have not been buried. The bulk of the population had fled to the mountains and the outrages were committed by those who remained behind.

GOVT. TO PROBE LOSS OF MARTIN

Mystery About Georgian Bay Disaster To Be Cleared Up.

STORY OF CAPTAIN DEAN

Says That the Tug Foundered Before His Barge Went Down.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Capt. Demers, the Dominion Wreck Commissioner, will hold an investigation into the loss of the tug Martin, which foundered last week with the barge Albatross in the Georgian Bay. A searching inquiry will be made into all the circumstances surrounding the disaster, and some alleged irregularities in regard to the reports to the officials as to the wreck will be investigated.

Midland, Aug. 28.—Captain Dean of the wrecked barge Albatross reached town by the steamer Soo City yesterday. In conversation with a reporter this morning he stated that the tug Martin had disappeared half an hour before he and his party abandoned the barge. He claims to have seen the lights of the tug go out, and heard screaming and shouting of those on board as they disappeared, but in view of the sinking condition of his own boat, he was powerless to render any assistance. He tells of his exciting experiences transferring the women from the barge to the yawl boat and the many attempts made before all were removed from the sinking vessel. The women and children were in their night clothes, having been aroused from their sleep and hurried into the small boat. The captain himself was without shoes until they reached the lighthouse, and, with his feet in the water for 36 hours, has suffered considerable from the effects. Captain Dean's nerves appear badly shattered with the trying experience and exposure during the 36 hours on the water in the small boat.

Parry Sound, Aug. 28.—It is stated here that on the occasion of the sinking of the barge Albatross and the tug Martin off the French River the wind was not more than sixteen miles an hour, and that many smaller vessels weathered it easily.

Vessel men who were out on the Georgian Bay at the time of the disaster are of the opinion that the weather was not sufficient to cause the loss of the Martin, and they consider the only possible explanation is that the Albatross was abandoned when she began to leak badly and that the barge may have lurched and the tow line passing under the tug may have caused her to roll over. It is hoped that there will be a thorough inquiry.

CONSERVATIVE WITNESSES FOR RECIPROCITY—NO. 12.

In March last a Liberal member of the Saskatchewan Legislature moved a resolution favoring the reciprocity agreement. It was carried unanimously. The seventeen Conservative members of the House voted for it, and their leader, Mr. Haultain, made a memorable speech in support of it. Here are some excerpts from his address:

"Having in mind the fact that reciprocity was a policy which seemed to be approved even in the earlier stages of government in Canada, even before they had what might be termed responsible government, he must confess that when the reciprocity arrangement was first spoken of and first announced, he had taken only one view, and that was that the agreement was a move in the right direction.

"He was quite free to say, after reading a great many of the speeches that had been made in other places, that he saw no necessity to change his first impression.

"If one thing appealed to him it was that eventually the northern part of this continent was going to be the largest producer of food for the whole of the continent, to say nothing of the rest of the world. The United States was rapidly ceasing to be a food-exporting country. Eventually Canada would have that market; the people of the United States would have to come to Canada for foodstuffs. The inevitable destiny of Saskatchewan was to be a food producer for the world, or the continent, and the sooner it was established the better.

"He had no fears about annexation, but might say he would be prepared to go a long way rather than sacrifice his British birthright or connections. As for the American settlers coming to the West in large numbers, he had no fears whatever for their loyalty, and hoped they would come in still greater numbers.

"We out here are just as able as the magnates in the East to decide what is patriotic and what is unpatriotic. I am not prepared to sit at the feet of any of these eastern Gamaliels and study loyalty."

REV. G. W. DEWEY AND BISHOP MILLS.

Rev George Dewey deserves credit for his courage in nailing from the pulpit some of the campaign lies, and resenting in particular the insult to Canadians of whatever origin in the "British-born" phase of the election. His British blood boiled at the whole suggestion of the anti-reciprocity propaganda that the Canadian farmer will sell his birthright in a bushel of wheat. Loyal himself, he has faith in the loyalty of others, unlike the lip loyalists who, speaking from their pocket, put a stigma on honest fellow-citizens. Rev Mr. Dewey stands exactly with the Anglican bishop, Dr. Mills, who in his charge to the Anglican clergy of the Diocese of Ontario, on June 13, last, said:

"Whether reciprocity would be in the general interests of the country is a question for debate, and about which different opinions may be held. But politicians have not devoted their attention so much to the discussion of this question as in ringing changes on the cry that if reciprocity were adopted, it would be the first step towards annexation, that the United States would be buying us, and we should be selling ourselves. I think that is the greatest nonsense that ever came from the mouths of supposedly sane men; as a Canadian I resent it. I would think very little of my loyalty to the British crown if it depended on tariff schedules. Those who think the national spirit of Canada is such a poor and uncertain thing that her existence as a nation would be imperilled by an increase of trade with the United States, certainly do not know her. There is no part of the British Empire in which there is truer loyalty than in Canada, and she can be neither bought nor sold. The opposition to reciprocity is simply a political one. That there are men of both parties opposed to it simply means that men can be caught by a cry and can be led by sentiment. The thought of annexation makes many incapable of calmly judging the matter."

Looking at the campaign from an independent viewpoint, but as lovers of truth and peace, Bishop Mills and Rev. Mr. Dewey feel a manly indignation at the cowardice, lying and deliberate endeavor to make mischief between neighboring nations, which mark the course pursued by the anti-reciprocist party. Our local contemporary takes the London divine in hand to teach him and open his eyes to higher light. It informs him that "leading American politicians have declared their belief that reciprocity opens the way for the hoisting of the Stars and Stripes" over Canada. Rev. Mr. Dewey knows better. He will ask for author, chapter and verse of such declarations. How many "leading" Americans can be quoted? He is informed also that the United States forced Canada into a mistaken trade policy a year or two ago, and she will continue to force her wishes on us. Perfect nonsense! Rev. Mr. Dewey will put more faith in what Mr. Lorden said in 1904, that a reciprocity agreement with the United States would in no way interfere with our complete independence of action.

AN AMERICAN ANTI-RECIPROCITY VIEW.

Senator Cummins, of Iowa, in opposing the pact from the American farmers' standpoint, said:

"I care little about the chance of increasing our exports, and you (the Senate) care nothing about it. There is not a Senator here who has his mind fixed on that phase of the agreement—not one. It is a negligible quantity. Our minds are absorbed with just one thought, the subjection of our farmers to the free competition of Canada. That is the phase of the question which engages our attention. I have not heard a word said heretofore, and do not expect to hear very much said, about the reduction of these duties accomplishing any very great enlargement of our exports into Canada. We are already in possession of her market in manufactured products to a high degree; and if we want to entertain that friendly relation which has been so vaunted here, if we want to add something more to her prosperity, we ought to hope that she will manufacture her own goods under the new departure instead of taking them from the United States. . . .

The chief purpose of this arrangement is not to enlarge our markets in Canada. It is not the purpose of a man in this chamber."

No Senator contradicted Mr. Cummins's assertion that the American purpose was to import, not to export. It is interesting to note that in considering for a moment the idea that American exports to Canada might be expected to increase, Mr. Cummins does not even think of exports of natural products, but it is an increase in exports of manufactures that he makes little of. Mr. Borden's dream of American farm products flooding Canada never occurred to Senator Cummins, of Iowa. It is a purely party nightmare on this side of the line.

A NEWS FALSEHOOD.

Every man who hates the British Empire and wishes to see it injured desires the victory of Laurier and the ratification of reciprocity.

Every man who wishes to see Canada leave the British Empire is cheering for Laurier and reciprocity.

Is that an agreeable set of friends?—Toronto News.

The News here refers to sentiment in the United Staes. Its assertion, to use a Rooseveltian phrase, is "absolutely and unqualifiedly false." The tail-twisters of the United States—a diminishing tribe—are opponents of reciprocity to a man. The few British-haters in Congress showed their teeth when the pact was under discussion. The writer of these lines sat in the press gallery of the United States Senate and heard Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, one of the leaders of the anti-reciprocity forces, make a disparaging reference to Great Britain. "We have got nothing from England, except at the point of the bayonet," he said, "and why should we give an English colony our markets?" Senator Bacon, of Georgia, an advocate of the pact, sprang to his feet and said he would not allow such an assertion to go unchallenged. He hotly declared that "the United States owed more to England than to all other countries put together." He asked that his protest be inserted in the Congressional Record, and the request was granted.

The incident illustrated the temper of Congress. All the Anglophobes were against the pact; all the friends of the new Anglo-American entente were in favor of it.

The News is engaged in the wretched work of making bad blood between neighbors. These tactics may serve a party purpose in Toronto, where cunning politicians continually play upon prejudice, but they are useless elsewhere. For fifteen years Toronto has stood apart from the main current of Canadian sentiment.

AS TO APPLES.

A Chatham apple-buyer is quoted by the Free Press as fearing ruin to his business if reciprocity is passed. The Toronto Globe has very different views from Prince Edward County. Messrs. H. S. Macdonald, buyer, and W. B. Leavens, President P. E. County Farmers' Institute, sent a telegram from Pictou as follows:

"Referring to the headline in today's Mail and Empire that the apple industry in Prince Edward County will be ruined if reciprocity passes, we may say that practically all the apples in Prince Edward County have been sold, including the output of the Prince Edward County Fruit Growers' Association, at the highest prices ever paid for apples on the trees in our recollection. Many Conservatives who propose to oppose reciprocity on political grounds are parties to these sales, and are delighted with the high prices realized."

The heading referred to in the Mail and Empire of Saturday was, in part, as follows:

"Ruin for Apple-Growers if Reciprocity Passes"; "Prince Edward County Buyers Have Reduced Purchase Pending Result of the Voting"; "Growers Find it Impossible to Close Contracts as Readily as in Former Years."

What is the matter with the apples of Kent County? Or has our local contemporary's story no more ground than the Mail and Empire's

WAR TALK.

There will be no war between France and Germany over Morocco. The ground of the quarrel is not sufficient, and Germany would face the probability of a triple coalition of defence against her, without being able to count on her own allies, Austria and Italy. Perhaps the best interpretation of the tactics being followed by the German Government lies in the approach of the elections of the Reichstag. The militarist game is always a favorite with an arbitrary government which sees itself threatened by a popular uprising.

A year ago, Bernstein, the leader of the "revisionist" or moderate Socialists wrote a letter to the London Nation saying "look out for a war scare before the next election." This he perceived to be the one hope of a government thoroughly unpopular by reason of its political and financial policy. An appeal to the patriotic spirit would perhaps succeed in stemming the Socialist tide on the eve of the election, diverting attention from fiscal and electoral grievances, class inequalities and even hard times. Socialism has been the bug-bear of German imperialism since 1878. Bismarck gave up his fight against the Roman Catholic Church in order to check Socialism. Under William II. the Socialists in the last election polled over 40 per cent. of the votes cast, more than any other party, though their representation in the Reichstag is comparatively small by means of a gerrymander. By-elections have shown astonishing gains, and the Government has fears of a landslide at the forthcoming poll of the people. Blow the war trumpet then, beat the drum.

The Moroccan question will be kept alive till after the election, or the considerable success of this game of bluff will be used to give the Government prestige in its appeal to the nation for renewed confidence. But war can hardly be actually contemplated by Germany. The menace of it may work very well against Socialism, but the thing itself might precipitate a social revolution within, as well as antagonize the world without.

What Germany needs is a strong Liberal party, such as Great Britain has, to lead her in the safe paths of reform. There is no half-way house between reactionism and revolution, though there is a hopeful tendency in the Socialist ranks to break away from the revolutionary, Marxian position. After the death of the great leader, Bebel, now a very old man, the moderates may obtain control of the party.

Beattie and Bourassa.

McEvoy and More Markets.

Mr. Beattie is against the British preference.

Mr. Beattie has no policy of Imperial naval defense.

A vote for Beattie is a vote for the anti-British propaganda set on foot by the Nationalist allies of the Ottawa Opposition.

The Toronto magnates have a large contract in trying to array the newcomers from England against a policy that takes the taxes off food.

The Conservative Toronto Telegram says that Mr. Borden's naval attitude is "a shame and humiliation." But what's that to "dishing the Grits"?

Anti-reciprocity smart-alecks are cartooning Canada as a simple sheep. But the Canadian voter is not so simple or sheepish as some politicians would like him to be.

After all the clamor in Canada that reciprocity means annexation, will a majority for Laurier be construed by the Conservatives to mean a majority for union with the United States? —Detroit Free Press.

This is the mischievous impression that many anti-reciprocity spokesmen are trying to create.

The comparison between the Buffalo and Toronto markets is a fairer one than between Toronto and Chicago. Toronto and Buffalo are equi-distant from this part of Western Ontario, and from the seaboard. And Buffalo prices are higher than Toronto prices for every staple product of the farm 300 days in the year.

What Mr. Dewey should know is that the loyalty of Canadians is not questioned by anyone. It is not questioned here, in the United States, or in England.—London Free Press.

It is questioned every day by every anti-reciprocity speaker and writer. The Free Press itself calls The Advertiser a "Taft organ." If there is no suggestion of disloyalty in this, what is the meaning of the phrase?

THE FARMERS' TURN.

[Guelph Mercury.]

Now when relief is offered to the farmers, not by proposing to remove the duties from manufactured products, but by opening up to the farmers the United States markets, the Spectator and the Conservative press in general is engaged in the despicable effort to defeat the measures. It is seeking to line up the manufacturers against the proposal, and is playing into the hands of the big middlemen of Toronto and Montreal, who have piled up huge fortunes under protection, at the expense of the producer on the farm, at one end, and the consumer in the town, at the other.

CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

Now in Perfect Health Thanks to "Fruit-a-tives"

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 1, 1910.

I am well acquainted with a man, known to thousands in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, who for nearly a year was practically a cripple from Rheumatism. He was so troubled with the disease that he found it difficult to even turn over in bed. His heart appeared so weak that he could hardly walk upstairs.

Last June, he received a sample of "Fruit-a-tives." He used them and dates his recovery from that time. Today, there is no man in Vancouver enjoying better health.

He was building a house this fall and shingled a good part of the roof in a driving rain, without suffering any bad effects.

JOHN B. LACY.

Mr. E. E. Mills (assistant postmaster at Knowlton, Que), also writes: "I honestly believe that "Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest Rheumatism cure in the world." Try it yourself.

[Moncton, N. B., Transcript.]

A subscriber, writing to the Transcript from Emerson, Kent County, says: "The election is on. Our polling booth always gave the Conservatives a majority, but lately I have heard many Conservatives say they would vote for reciprocity. I think this county is reasonably safe."

SLANDER WON'T DO.

[London Times.]

We cannot tell how far the sporadically raised cry of annexation is influencing Canadian opinion, but there is no reason to suppose that the reciprocity agreement would produce any tendency in that direction.

DISGUSTING TALK.

[Belleville Ontario.]

This annexation idiocy is becoming disgusting and tiresome even to the Americans. The better class of people in the United States do not like this continually being taunted with having insidious and predatory designs on Canada. Such loose talk is highly insulting to men who have just as much right to consider themselves honorable as we ourselves.

"We hear a good deal about the wider market which Canadians would obtain under reciprocity, but not much about wider market obtained by the United States producers," remarks the Belleville Intelligencer. Wider than what? Certainly not wider than the Canadian obtains, nor as wide. The Canadian gets a new market of 92,000,000, the American gets a new market of 8,000,000.

GOT 'EM MIXED.

[San Francisco Argonaut]

A nervous looking man walked into a grocery with his baby on one arm and a kerosene can on the other, placed the can on the counter and said, "Sit there a moment, dear." Then, holding the baby up to the dazed clerk, he added, "Fill this thing up with kerosene."

THE HUNT.

[Washington Star]

To seek a cozy flat he went,
His wife was by his side,
The agent told him of the rent,
The figure hurt his pride,
Since what he felt that he could stand
Each month would, after all,
Secure space for an oil stove and
A hat rack in the hall.

Said he, "We must economize
On room. Whene'er we sup,
If you sit down it will be wise
On my part to stand up.
And in this way we can command
The space, whate'er befall,
For both ourselves, the oil stove and
The hat rack in the hall."

THE OLD COUNTRY VOTE.

[Winnipeg Tribune.]

If there is one thing more than another that exasperate people from the Old Country settled among us, it is the payment of high duties on goods imported from Britain. Naturally the Old Country vote will be lined up with the reciprocity-British preference candidates. It is British freedom that the reciprocity and British preference candidate and supporters are fighting for.

TWO FRUIT SEASONS.

[Brantford Expositor.]

Does the consumer of Brantford realize that he will be able to provide his household with the products of two separate seasons under the trade agreement, and that the high tariff on many of its contents, the winter luxury for him? Ask your fruit dealer. The attitude of the local Conservative leaders seems to be that the ordinary workingman has no right to luxuries, because they come from the United States.

Never allow silver to stand over night without washing. If impossible to "do the dishes," take enough time to wash the silver in warm water, wipe it dry and put it away carefully.

In summer, when excess of meat eating is not advisable, the person who needs nourishing food will find the use of cheese, macaroni and tomatoes at one meal an excellent combination.

A good way to clean the mirror is to wring a newspaper, as you would a cloth, out of cold water so that it will be damp but not wet. Rub the glass with this and afterward dry with a fresh paper softened by crumpling it with the hands.

To brighten the colors in the rag, slightly moisten salt with kerosene. Sprinkle this over the rug and sweep it off. Kerosene will leave no greasy effect. The dirt will come off and the colors be freshened. One also may substitute cornmeal for salt.

Soap should never be applied to a stained fabric until the stains have been removed. After chemical treatment the article should first be rinsed in clear water and then washed in soapsuds or put into the regular wash.

The refrigerator should be emptied of its contents, thrown open and thoroughly scalded out with boiling water at least once a week. Remove the shelves and wash them in hot water, and do not forget to scald the cabinet in which the ice is kept. Use a deodorent disinfectant and keep the doors open until the interior is entirely dry. Neglected refrigerators not only destroy the flavor of foods, but cause them to spoil easily.

Latest Fashions

Sailor collars of satin or silk are now edged with black or white chiffon.

Plain ribbons have a following, but figured ones are undoubtedly in the lead.

On separate coats the sailor collar is very noticeable. It must be very deep.

Voile, marquisette and eyelet embroidery are the materials used in most lingerie frocks. Many new models show a combination with black net or tulle.

Tunic lines are included in the late summer models, the tunic adhering to the straight edge, which has been in evidence more or less during the spring.

Pierrot collars of enormous frills of tulle with hanging ends of ribbon are used by Parisiennes who do not accept the collarless condition of the summer bodices.

Large revers on the one-sided fashions, lace sashes, lace bands on bodice and skirt and lace jackets are some of the forms in which the trimming appears.

Some of the smartest of the new parasols are decorated with hand-painted floral designs. Others have appliques and insertion of lace. A few are braided.

Many of the new foulards have fine white stripes on dark blue, gray, green or lavender grounds, and over all a conventional satin figure the same color as the ground.

Quaint poke bonnets and various other picturesque bonnet forms are made up in straw with trimming of ribbon flowers and lace.

The new idea seems to lead to a supplementary border of a solid tone. Silks, challies and cottons show this tendency to a marked degree.

A changeable soft taffeta silk is the latest fabric for bathing suits. Sometimes the silk has two tints in it, sometimes three.

For trimmings, combined with net frills and laces, dotted Swiss is very much used, either all white, or with colored dots, trimmed with colored valenciennes lace.

Handbags made to match the trimming of the hat are much liked. Cretonnes make pretty handbags, braided to suit; black and white striped satins are much used; black satin and moire bags are also very modish.

THE SEVENTH NOON

BY FREDERICK ORIN BARTLETT,
Author of "The Web of the Golden Spider."

"It would only come back on Arsdale, and that isn't square."

"Then God help you!" murmured Saul.

The cab stopped before headquarters, and Saul, with lagging steps, led the man in. The chief listened to the story he told with keen eyes kindling like a fine through shavings. He saw the end to the bitter invective heaped upon him during the last three weeks by the press. Then he began his grueling cross-examination.

The story Donaldson told was simple and convincing. He had come to New York full of hope, had waited month after month, and had finally become discouraged. In this extremity he had taken to a drug. His relations with the Arsdales began less than a week ago, and they knew nothing of him save that he had been of some assistance in helping young Arsdale straighten out. Arsdale had borrowed money of him, although doubtless he could not remember it, and had taken it to go down to Tung's. Feeling a sense of responsibility for the use the boy had made of this money and out of regard to the sister, he had done his best to help pull him out.

When pressed for further details of the crimes themselves Donaldson admitted that his memory was very much clouded. He had committed the assaults when in a mental condition that left them in his memory only as evil dreams. The substantiation of this must come through his identification by the witnesses. He could remember nothing of what he had done with the purses, or the jewels and papers which they contained. He had used only the money.

An officer was sent to search his rooms at the hotel, and in the meanwhile men were sent out to bring in the victims of the assaults. It was for this test that Donaldson held in check all the reserve power he had within him. If his story was weak up to this point he realized that this identification would substantiate it beyond the shadow of a doubt. This he knew must be done in order to offset Arsdale's possible attempt to give himself up when he should hear of this. As a student he had been impressed with the unreliability of direct evidence, and here would be an opportunity to test his theory that much of the evidence to the senses is worthless. From the moment he had determined upon this course, he had based his hopes upon this test. Saul had made it clear that the descriptions given him by the witnesses were vague, and now in the excitement of confronting their assailant they were apt to be still more unsubstantial. If he could succeed in terrifying them he could convince them to a point where they would make all their excited visions fit him to a hair.

And so as each man was brought before him, Donaldson looked at him from beneath lowering brows, with his mind fixed so fiercely upon the determination to force them to see him as the shadowy brute who had attacked them that he in reality looked the part. Two of them withdrew, wiping their foreheads, after making the identification absolute.

The third witness, a woman, promptly fainted. When she revived she said she was willing to take her oath that this was the man. Not only was she sure of his height, weight and complexion, but she recognized the same malicious gleam which flashed from the demon's eyes as he had stood over her. She shivered in fright.

The fourth victim was a man of fifty. He was slower to decide, but the longer he stood in front of Donaldson, the surer he became. Donaldson, with his arms folded, never allowed his eyes to move from the lowest eyes of this other. And as he looked he made a mental picture of the act of creeping up behind this man, of lifting his weapon, finally of striking. With the act of striking his shoulders lifted, so intense was his determination.

The man drew back from him.

"Yes," he said, "I am sure this is the brute!"

It was two hours later before Donaldson was finally handed over to the officers of the Tombs, and Saul turned back reluctantly to the eager reporters as meagre an outline of the story as he could.

CHAPTER XXIII.

When the Dead Awake.

Donaldson, without removing his clothes, tumbled across his bunk and fell into a merciful stupor, which lasted until morning. He was aroused by a rough shaking and staggered to his feet, to find Saul again confronting him. The latter had evidently been some time at his task, for he exclaimed:

"I thought you were dead. You certainly sleep like an honest man."

"Sleep? Where am I?"

"You are at present enjoying a cell in the Tombs. You seem to like it."

Donaldson pressed his hand to his aching eyes. Then slowly the truth dawned on him.

"What day is this?" he asked.

"Thursday."

"Yes, yes. That's so. And tomorrow is Friday."

"That's a good guess. Do you remember what happened last night?"

"Yes, I remember. I'm under arrest. I remember the terror in the face of that woman."

Saul laughed inhumanly.

"Of all the fools men I ever saw you were the worst."

"I suppose I'll be arraigned this morning."

"I doubt it, old man. In some ways you deserve it, but I'm afraid the chief won't satisfy your morbid cravings. Remember the story you told him?"

"Yes."

"And you're wide enough awake to understand what I'm saying to you now?"

"Perfectly," answered Donaldson, growing suspicious.

"Then," exploded Saul, "I want to ask you what the devil your blessed game is?"

"I couldn't sacrifice an honest man, could I?"

"Then," went on Saul, with increasing vehemence, "I want to tell you plainly that you're a chump, because you sacrificed an honest man after all."

"You haven't arrested Arsdale," Lord, Saul, you haven't done that, have you?"

"No," answered Saul, "I was ass enough to arrest you."

"It would be wrong, dead wrong, to touch the boy. He didn't have anything to do with this. There was no one with me."

Saul took a long breath.

"I'm hanged if I ever saw a mad hanker after jail the way you do. And you've got the papers full of it. And pretty soon I'll be getting frantic messages from the girl. And you've made all sorts of an ass of yourself. Do you hear—you chump of a hero, you?"

"What do you mean?" demanded Donaldson.

"I mean just this: That we've nailed the right man at last. Got him with the goods on, so that we won't need the identification of a bunch of hysterical idiots to prove it. We won't even need a loose-jointed confession, because we captured him black-handed. But my guess wasn't such a bad one—it wasn't Arsdale, but it was Jacques Molsson, his father's valet."

"Jacques Molsson?"

Dear Miss Grey,—(1) Is it all right to carry a willow suitcase in winter? (2) What will keep the skin from getting rough? (3) Is it improper to travel without gloves in summer? (4) What is a nice purse for a girl to carry? FELICE.

A.—(1) Yes, for they are much easier for a woman to carry. (2) Use good soap, and use it only upon retiring. Let face-powders alone. (3) Silk gloves are inexpensive, and one looks much better dressed wearing gloves. Besides, they keep the hands clean. (4) A medium-sized brown or black handbag.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am to be married very quietly at the minister's house, and will wear a simple white dress. Would it be proper for me to wear white canvas shoes, or should I have satin? I don't want the latter unless necessary. A. V. W.

A.—The canvas shoes are all right, and they are economical, as they are so easily cleaned.

Dear Miss Grey.—Please help me by telling me how to get rid of head-lice. A READER.

A.—Apply coal oil freely and tie up the head in a towel over night. In the morning shampoo the hair and scalp thoroughly, dry and comb carefully with a fine tooth comb.

IRONING HELPS

To Wash Ties.

Before sending wash ties to the laundry baste them carefully so that the lining or padding will lie flat. This will prevent the lumpy condition that usually follows laundering. If the bastings are removed before ironing the ties will look like new.

Dampening the Clothes.

To dampen the clothes use a whisk broom and warm water. The dampness will be more even than if sprinkled in any other way and the ironing itself facilitated.

To Iron Fine Tucks.

From an old linen tablecloth make a pad about 12 inches long and six inches wide and six or eight folds in thickness, stretch the tucks of the waist to be ironed over this, right side down, and when finished they will be straight and stand out nicely.

For Cream Materials.

When rinsing yellow and cream materials use clear water. The addition of rinsing gives a thick gray appearance. This applies to both wool and cotton.

Recipe for Bread.

Very early in the morning take a heaping tablespoon of unsifted meal and a pinch of salt, pour upon this two-thirds of a cupful of hot water, not boiling; into this stir one-half teaspoonful of sugar and enough hard wheat flour to make a thin batter; cover the bowl tightly and place in a pot or crock containing warm water; cover this also and set in a warm place. When bubbles begin to form in the batter stir in a little more flour. When the yeast foams up to the top of the bowl take four sifters (favorite size) of flour, a little salt, a teaspoonful of sugar, shortening the size of an egg and one quart of water warm as the hand can bear. Knead into four stiff loaves. Place these in a greased pan, keep warm until raised sufficiently and bake as any other light bread. A meat roaster makes the best pan in which to bake salt-rising bread. Should the yeast fail to foam, don't throw it away, but put it into next morning's rolls and try again.

GELATINE DESSERTS

Cantaloupe Frappe.

Ingredients: One teaspoonful gelatine, one-quarter cup cold water, two large cantaloupes, one-quarter teaspoonful salt, one-half cup sugar (or one pint of pulp), one-half cup sherry wine, juice of half a lemon. Soften the gelatine five minutes in the cold water, dissolve over hot water and strain into the pulp of the cantaloupe. To prepare the pulp, scrape from the rind, after removing the seeds, and pass through a potato ricer; add the salt, sugar, wine and lemon, and freeze; remove the dasher, and let stand until ready to serve, then fill into the chilled rind of a melon cut in the shape of a basket.

Frozen Currants.

Ingredients: One-half box gelatine, one and one-half cups cold water, one cup boiling water, two cups sugar, one quart red currants, juice of one orange and one lemon. Soak gelatine in one-half cup cold water and dissolve in the boiling water. Stew one quart of currants in one cup water and pass through a sieve. Add gelatine, sugar and other fruit juices. Pack in salt and ice four hours.

DENOUNCES LYNCHERS.

Westchester, Pa., Aug. 28.—Declaring the lynching of Zach Walker, at Coatesville, to be a dastardly crime and disgrace to civilization, Judge Butler made teh entire affair the subject of a lengthy charge to the grand jury today.

He declared that all who participated in the lynching were "absolutely guilty of murder" and asked the jury so to find. The judge farther urged the jury to investigate the allegations of neglect of duty by officers of the law.

Referring to the lynching he said:

"The men who took part in it were more cowardly than wolves and more devilish than fiends, when they tortured the man as they did.

It is believed that several hundred Coatesville citizens may be drawn into the case before the jury has finished its work.

EDISON DENIES BEING AGNOSTIC

All Scientists See the Play of an Eternal Mind.

HOPE IN KNOWLEDGE

Future, He Thinks, Will Eradicate Present Enormities of Human Nature.

Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 28.—"I am not a non-believer in God," said Thomas A. Edison today. Some things he has said have given the impression that he was an agnostic, if not an atheist. "All scientists," he continued, "in getting nearer and nearer to the first great cause feel that about and through everything there is the play of an eternal mind."

"Science is mostly imagination," said Mr. Edison, when asked what part imagination plays in his work. "It is by conceiving what might be, before one has seen the way to realize it practically, that scientists have been buoyed during the period of experiment.

Imagination a Bridge.

"Since the beginning of time there has always been a gap in the evolution of anima; then imagination goes in advance to bridge it. All inventors have passed over this bridge before presenting some magnificent utility to the world. We wait for the missing link, as it were, between what we know and what we hope to know. In a sense the greatest discoverers blunder on what they discover." Serious workers relax, Mr. Edison believes, by indulging in a hobby.

"Every man should have a hobby," said he. "Mine is a storehouse I started long ago in a part of my laboratory. In this storehouse I collect everything under the sun that may be useful to me. The place is full of rubbish, but I got in the habit of collecting rubbish as a boy when my mother gave me a cellar at home to store the varied stuff I gathered.

"In my laboratory storehouse I have unearthed relics of bird, beast plant and crawling creatures. I have the skins of snakes and fishes, the furs of animals, the teeth of sharks and seals—in fact everything you can think of in flora and fauna. Out of it I have discovered many useful things; for instance, that the hair of red deer is infinitely more delicate for cleaning cylinders than the cheaper camel's hair brushes.

Learns From Animals.

"One learns a lot of human nature by studying the traits of animals," added Edison reflectively. "I had two monkeys in a cage on my place in Florida; one was stronger than the other, and when food was put in the cage the stronger boxed the ears of the other, which timidly left him all the food. Such is human life. The stronger hand gets what belongs to the brother as well as to himself. Yet I believe firmly in the evolution of human nature from known types, when science, combined with better education, will solve the present enormities of human nature."

The inventor, who has a fine ideal of integrity for his own life, puts lack of honesty down to want of intelligence and education.

"Our civilization is wrong," he declared, "in all its exorbitant so-called necessities of living. It is easy to be honest on $10,000 a year, as poor Becky Sharp said in Thackeray's great novel. One great reason why I so deprecate all this strife and strain of modern show is that under it many a man whose natural impulses are elevated goes down under temptations to compromise his honor.

Adornment Is Barbarism.

"That is why I put personal adornment down as a vestige of barbarism in us. I have brought my family up to dress plainly. I tell them I want them to have higher ideals than the Congo belle or the South Sea Islander. Many a Wall street speculator sees the inside of the state prison as the result of his wife's or his daughter's demand for a string of pearls.

"But as I say, dishonesty is primarily a want of intelligence or education. Teach a man that honesty is not only the best policy, but that, pathologically, every base act is deteriorating to the brain cells and those numerous fine fibres that distinguish the developed Caucasian brain lobe from the brain lobe of the savage, and you take the first step towards his reform. There are a number of the delicate threads in civilized human beings that distinguish us from the savage.

"I am much interested in a new invention called the chronograph, that minutely records the time of reflex action in the individual. In responding to a signal over the wire the person tested is asked to touch a revolving cylinder and the seconds he takes to do so serve to estimate the degree of mentality. I think it will soon be in common use in business to find out among the applicants for positions their fitness for the work demanded, also in schools for discovering in the beginning what a scholar is capable of in educational effort.

Would Promote Education.

"The whole system of education today is sadly deficient. It needs increased study along scientific lines to bring it up to the proper standard. My greatest dream at present is to perfect and reduce the cost to maintain the humblest log cabin school. My kinograph will teach children agreeably through an appeal to the eye and the ear all the practical facts.

Think what an advantage over conning the dull pages of a history book to see presented with the similitude of life such great historical events as the Norman conquest, the signing of Magna Charta, the meeting on the field of the cloth of gold and the storming of the Bastile. These things all belong to the hopes of the future when science shall more and more eliminate the hard side of education, which discourages so many in their efforts for intellectual enlightment.

"I love science because I think the whole future of civilization rests on what it has still to accomplish. It is the universal intelligence that already is taking the place of other factors that have influenced the development of life."

ASTRONOMER FINDS STREAMS OF SUNS

New Theory of Creation by New Zealand Scientist.

NO SIGN OF BEGINNING

A Cyclic Scheme Which as a Whole Is Flowless, Birthless, Deathless.

London, Aug. 29.—There is in London at the present time a New Zealand university professor who is devoting the evening of his life to the establishment of what he believes to be an epoch-making astronomical discovery. Prof. A. W. Bisherton, of Christchurch, New Zealand, has for more than thirty years been working on his theory, and he has already gained for it a certain amount of recognition among scientific men.

It is well known that some hundred million stars can be photographed in the Milky Way. These stars are of all ages, young, mature and old. According to Prof. Bickerton the suns are travelling in two great streams in opposite directions. They attract each other as they pass and frequently come into collision, generally a partial impact or grazing collision.

When such a grazing collision occurs, the parts coming into collision coalesce and form a new body. As the suns approach one another at the speed of hundreds of miles a second, the graze does not stop them, though it alters their course. The coalesced third body possesses many wonderful properties; it spins, it sorts its atoms and it is abnormally hot; it has more energy than it can retain, therefore it explodes.

Temporary Stars.

Thus a graze of suns produces three bodies, two revolving torn suns or variable stars, and a third explosively hot body, which is a temporary star. This star appears suddenly, expands for a time and is finally dissipated into atomic dust. These atoms in their turn have their life history, varied and complex.

Prof. Bickerton believes that the light atoms escape and form vast ensophering shells, the atoms actually flying away into the empty parts of space, there to lay the foundations of other cosmic systems.

Solar impact then, according to Prof. Bickerton, is the key to the mystery of creation. The basic idea of his theory is the formation of a third body, which he maintains has been missed by the astronomers. Talking of his theory, he says:

"My theory shows the scheme of creation as a whole as one that is infinite and immortal, without evidence of a beginning or promise of an end. A cyclic scheme which as a whole is deathless, birthless and flawless; but within that scheme cosmic systems such as we call the universe are born, come to maturity and decay.

'Suns and planets are born, the planet dies and becomes but a cinder of its former self, and then bursts out into efflorescence of vegetable and animal life. This is its maturity; then comes its decay.

And so of every sun, planet and organization in the universe, whether organic or inorganic; we have the same system of progress and development throughout. A being travelling through eternity on the wings of light would see a perpetual restlessness, but no more permanent change than a sea bird does as it watches the wave changes of the ocean."

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Fools the Calendar.

Don't look older than you are. It is just as easy to look younger. While lack of hair or poor hair is not always an indication of age, it is frequently accepted as such.

A person well advanced in years possessing a good head of hair is always spoken of as "well preserved."

Everyone can retain beautiful, luxuriant hair if they make the effort. In almost every instance poor hair or the loss of hair may be placed to the activity of the dandruff germ. Newbro's Herpicide kills this germ and puts the scalp in a perfectly healthy condition. With the destruction of the dandruff germ the hair no longer drops out. The itching of the scalp stops almost at once.

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy for which there are many substitutes, preparations claimed to be "just as good." You don't have to accept a substitute. Insist upon having genuine Herpicide.

For sale by all druggists. Applications obtained at good barber shops. One dollar size bottles are always guaranteed. Send 10c in postage to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich., for sample and book. Special agents: Anderson & Nelles, 268 Dundas St.; Callard & McLachlan, 390 Richmond St.

DREAD OF AEROPLANES MAY HELP END WAR

Military Airship With All Its Untried Power Is a Great Peace Factor.

Paris, Aug. 29.—"The aeroplane is the little joker in the game of international diplomacy today," said M. Vedrines, the arch hero and the record breaker of the European aviation world, to the newspaper correspondent when asked what he thought of the present status of the aeroplane as developed for military purposes.

"Diplomatists," continued Mr. Vedrines, "may claim that their cleverness causes the peaceful solution of international differences, but the present aerial conditions force agreements upon the nations, for as their ministers argue, there is a sword of Damocles hanging over them in an unknown, untried power, the destructive possibility, the fear-prolonging effects of which are only just beginning to be realized. These conditions have created a psychic situation such as the world has never before known—when an all-possessing general fear will forbid war.

"As for our destructive possibilities we can drop from an aeroplane at an unreachable height 200 pounds of high explosives, destroy railroads, bridges, ships and cities. They talk of bringing down aeroplanes with gun fire. Well, as far as I am concerned, I would much rather take my chances in the air during a battle than on the ground. Moreover, the fact should be considered that what goes up must come down, and the destructive force of a descending bomb would be just as great as in its upward flight, and there is no controlling its fall.

"The fastest time made by expert gunners on the recent experiments at finding the range of an aeroplane, with all the most advanced instruments, was eight minutes and then the barometer record on the aeroplane showed that the range was two hundred yards off. The aviator is not standing still, waiting for the gunner to find his range and shoot him down, but he is on his way and out of sight before the gunner can adjust his sights.

Fifty Aviation Schools.

"In France we have over one thousand airmen who have their certificates. I cannot say that these are all qualified today for special military duty, but we have—if a call were made—fifty schools of aviation in France, ten of which are of the highest order and can turn out skillful aviators with a week's training if required. With the present facilities of construction twenty aeroplanes a day could be produced if they were needed. These can be carried in compact form, so the question of transportation amounts to nothing. An old barn or a granary would afford all the needed facilities for putting together aeroplanes secretly near the scene of action, so the outside world would know nothing until the fleet of war birds arose and was on its way carrying destruction."

SOME GOOD COAL BEDS IN IRISH COUNTY

Some Valuable Bituminous Deposits in Kilkenny.

Dublin, Aug. 29.—Lord Iveagh has declined to be a candidate for lord mayor of Dublin, and won't accept the place on any terms. This puts an end to a boom started by ill-advised persons and eagerly seized by sensationmongers as the real thing Lord Iveagh has punctured a big bag of wind.

About nine miles from Kilkenny, in the neighborhood of Castlecomer, there is a large coal field on which mines have been worked at a profit for more than a century. The coal obtained hitherto has been anthracite, for which there is only a limited demand. There is no railway in the immediate neighborhood, and the cost of cartage is heavy. Now steam coal in workable quantities has been proved to exist. There is also fireclay and limestone of a kind used in making cement. It is believed that if a railway were to be constructed it would be possible to work these minerals at a considerable profit.

There is no reason to anticipate that Leinster will prove another South Wales, or that great fortunes will be found in the field. The promoters of such an undertaking are naturally inclined to take a roseate view of the situation, and their reports seldom err on the side of modesty and conservatism. The coal seams are very shallow, and no one yet knows with certainty how far the bituminous seam extends.

Dublin society is intensely interested in the appointment of General Sir Arthur Paget to succeed General Sir Neville Lyttelton in the Irish military command.

This interest, of course, centres in Lady Paget, who was Miss Paran Stevens, and who will hereafter be an important personage in Ireland. With headquarters at the Royal Hospital, Dublin, her position will be second only in dignity to that of the Countess of Aberdeen, wife of the viceroy. All her friends are wondering how she will acquit herself. Dublin society people are extremely touchy, and regard Americans as interlopers, but Lady Paget has acquired considerable tact.

As a hostess she is a great success, but as a woman she was never really popular, owing to a certain flinty hardness in character which reveals itself whenever she is upset. Her friends say she will need all her tact to make herself popular in Dublin.

COUNT FACES TRIAL FOR BRUTAL MURDER

A Mystery Woman Darkens Sensational Warsaw Case.

Warsaw, August 29. — This city will witness next month Europe's most dramatic trial in years. Count Roniker, handsome, clever and aristocratic, is to be tried September 5, for the murder of his brother-in-law, Baron Chrzanowski, 16 months ago. The prosecutor has arrayed over 100 witnesses against him, mostly old boon companions of his own class, who are loath to reveal the secrets of their lives and only mean to appear under the greatest pressure.

Alleged Motive Is Greed.

Count Roniker's case has assumed new aspects since the murder was reported. Greed of gold was supposed to have promoted the profligate count to entice the 18-year-old brother-in-law into furnished rooms of more than shady reputation, thickly hung with carpets and portieres, where he is alleged to have beaten him on the head with a knuckle-breaker. The boy evidently defended himself with almost frantic despair, for the hangings off the little apartment were covered with blood and his body bore 17 wounds.

When the body was found two days afterwards the boy's own parents and nearly all Count Roniker's friends declared "Roniker had done it!" The count's reputation is none of the best and though extremely handsome, his eyes are famous for their particularly evil, though fascinating expression. His gallantry had become notorious and it soon became evident that some society woman had visited the scene of the murder, either before or just after the crime was committed. Roniker made no secret of the fact, but refused to give the woman's name.

Hides Woman's Name.

"I would rather die under this stigma than reveal her name," was the only answer the examining magistrate could get from him. "The lady is mixed up in it in such a way that her explanation would clear me from this terrible charge. But she is a married woman and her honor must come before all things."

His wife who is devoted to him and has moved heaven and earth to help him, visited him in prison and begged him on her hands and knees to give the woman's name. But he refused, and so far the mysterious woman has not come forward to clear the count. If she exists, she has kept her secret so well that even the lawyers engaged by the government have not been able to trace her.

Meanwhile the count's finger marks, stained with blood, were found on a lamp shade in the room where the murdered boy was discovered, but when questioned about them he said he could explain even that if his tongue were not tied, owing to the mysterious woman.

Having given these dark hints, Count Roniker took another line of defense. Suddenly, when his wife was visiting his cell, he appeared to go raving mad. The terrified woman screamed to the wardens, who rushed in and held him down. Since then—that is for over a year — he has spent most of the time on his knees. He refuses to take any exercises, saying that it interferes with his devotions.

HOW DAVE GOT THE ICE

Entertaining Experience of a Well-Known Actor in Old London.

London, Aug. 29.—During the recent ice famine caused by the strike at the London docks, Dave Montgomery, the comedian, had an entertaining experience. He went to dinner at Romano's a popular restaurant for theatrical people, and ordered a bottle of wine. The wine came, but no ice. It was a hot night and uniced wine was unpalatable. The manager explained that he had been unable to obtain a single piece of ice.

Montgomery snorted. "You can't get ice'" he ejaculated. "Send me a messenger and I, a poor humble foreigner in your midst, will show you how to get ice."

Then he said the messenger: "Go across the street to the Savoy and in the American bar you will find the one and only Beefy. Approach him respectfully, present my compliments and saalams and say I would like a large cake of ice."

In a few moments the boy returned staggering under a fifty pound block. The restaurant manager was amazed.

"Now," said Montgomery, "chop this up in my presence and don't lose a splinter."

When the wine was resting comfortably in its bed of cracked ice trouble began for the manager. There were protests all over the restaurant.

"I protest most indignantly," said one young chap, "against this discrimination. If that gentleman has ice, why can't we have it?"

The manager explained "That gentleman, Mr. Montgomery, is an American, and he has brought his ice with him from America."

Then from all over the restaurant came polite requests by word of mouth or writing, "Would the kind gentleman have mercy upon a dying lady and give her just one particle of ice?" or "Would Mr. Montgomery be willing to accept a few diamonds in exchange for some ice?" The dying lady was saved by a two carat piece and the offer of diamonds was refused, Montgomery muttering: "Diamonds are useless; the real jewels in this town tonight seem to be a piece of ice. I feel that I have the De Beers Company faded."

A DIVING FEAT

Wonderful Work of Expert in Restoring Winchester Cathedral.

London, Aug. 29.—After six years of groping and toiling in darkness in twenty feet of water beneath the walls of Winchester Cathedral, W. R. Walker, a diver, has almost completed a task unparalleled in the history of diving.

Winchester Cathedral had for some years shown unmistakable signs of sinking foundations. Its foundations were laid in the thirteenth century. There are visible signs today that the original work was interrupted by an inflow of water.

The walls began to crack and lean out of the perpendicular. After many consultations and inspections by engineers and architects it was decided that the only way to save the cathedral from collapsing was to employ a diver. Pumping was out of the question, as the silt or sand would be sucked up from the other parts of the foundations and then the whole structure would have come tumbling down. The problem the architects had to face was how to remove the peat and substitute concrete without using the pump.

Diving apparatus was installed, and Walker, a man of great experience in deep sea work, went down into the dark cavernous holes and began a task that was expected to take about a year to complete. But the difficulties were enormous. He had to work in absolute darkness and to feel his way about in the water, the physical difficulties preventing the use of artificial light.

Bit by bit he excavated the peat at the foundations, and jute bags containing concrete were then lowered to him. As each bag was placed in position he slit it open with a knife and spread the cement over the surface. The whole restoration scheme has cost over £100,000

DOG SHOW ENTRIES ARE POURING IN

Canines Are Coming to the Fair From as Far as Winnipeg.

Entries for the dog show are coming in at a good rate now, one having been received this morning from Winnipeg. The indications are that there will be a big dog show this year. A list of specials for the cat show was received this morning from the Empire Poultry Association, New York, of eight silver cups. These cups are for four wins by the same cat and are divided among the different classes. The last foot of space in the transportation building was taken this morning. There will be a number of automobile exhibitors this year, and some of them promise very large and attractive exhibits. The secretary has received the pictures from Bombay, India, and will have the same on exhibition in the gallery of the main building. Poultry entries are coming now thick and fast, and the poultry building will be full, as usual, of the best birds of Western Ontario. There will be a large exhibit of cheese and butter this year. Entries in all departments close on Sept. 7, for the cat and dog shows on Sept. 5.

CUBS BEAT ALEXANDER.

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—Chicago won today's game 8 to 4 by batting Alexander's delivery hard in the sixth and eighth innings. The game was twice stopped by Umpire Klem, who declared that Brown and Needham complained that a spectator in the Grand stand was using insulting remarks toward Brown. The police refused to take action, and one official of the home club, fearing that Klem would forfeit the game, ordered the man to be put out of the park. The score:

TYRUS COBB "A ACTOR."

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 28. — Tyrus Raymond Cobb, the "Georgia Peach," is going to be a real actor. The Tiger outfielder and champion swatter has signed a contract to go on the road in "The College Widow." The play is a football story and therefore Mr. Glaser has made arrangements to rewrite the piece and turn it into a baseball plot. The idea is that Ty., as the hero, will come to the bat at the psychological moment and knock out a home run with the bases full. Mr. Glaser will be manager, owner and producer. The tour will begin early in the fall. Glaser and Cobb have long been close friends.

EASTERN MAGNATES DECIDE PROTESTS

Vote Goes Against Toronto in Row Over Baltimore Match.

THE POST SEASON SERIES

All-Star Team to Meet Rochester Pennant-Winners After Close.

Buffalo, Aug. 28.—There was no baseball game played at the local park, or any other Eastern League ground, today, owing to the heavy rain. In place of a double-header there was a meeting of the magnates of the Eastern League. President Edward G. Barrow unconsciously set a good day for the gathering, for the rain gave all the clubs a splendid chance to be represented. Not having a meeting all season, there naturally was a lot of business to transact, and the league's representatives were early on hand, and the session lasted until well along in the evening.

The eight clubs were represented as follows:

Buffalo—Jacob J. Stein, president.

Rochester—Charles T. Chapin, president.

Montreal — Samuel E. Lichtenhein, president.

Toronto — James J. McCaffery, president, and Joseph J. Kelley, manager.

Jersey City—J. J. Lillis, president, and John B. Ryan, manager.

Newark—Joseph J. McGinnity, president and manager.

Baltimore—John Dunn, president and manager.

Providence—Charles J. Lavis, secretary.

This is the best representation the league has had in some time, and coming as it did just before the closing of the 1911 season, shows that much interest is being taken in the future welfare of the organization.

Took Up Protests.

The board of directors, comprising Stein, chairman; Lillis, Chapin, Dunn and McCaffery, went into secret session at about 11 o'clock, and at once took up the three protests: Montreal vs. Newark, Montreal vs. Toronto, and Toronto vs. Baltimore.

In each case the directors upheld the ruling made by President Barrow, which leaves the standing of games won and lost as it is being carried today by the various newspapers of the circuit. Buffalo withdrew its protest against Rochester in the game where Manager John Ganzel had occupied the bench for the greater part of the game while still under the ban.

In the Montreal-Toronto contest, Kelly and Hart were the umpires. One of the players ran outside of the base line in order to avoid being touched out. The field umpire allowed the play, but the umpire-in-chief called the man out, thus reversing the decision. In the Montreal-Newark game it was a question of a force-out at second. Newark was two runs ahead at the time, and the directors voted that the decision did not affect the result.

Chapin for Stein.

In the Toronto-Baltimore game it was said Jimmie Dygert, in winding up, had dropped the ball and it rolled toward first base. Schmidt picked up the ball and threw Jordan out at second. Umpire Hart called Jordan out, but the directors overruled that decision. In this case Lillis voted for Toronto, Stein stood by Baltimore. Of the others, McCaffery and Dunn, being directly interested, were not entitled to vote on the matter, the vote standing one to one. Chapin, of Rochester, asked to be excused, but upon being informed that he must vote, cast his vote with Stein, giving Baltimore the decision by two to one.

Post-Season Games.

The post-season series came in for a great deal of consideration. It was President Barrow's idea early in the year to select an all-star Eastern League club to play the pennant-winners immediately upon the close of the league's championship race. Each club in the circuit, outside of the winning team, will furnish one, and not more than three players, for the all-star aggregation, and each manager and club-owner was on hand with a half-dozen players that they thought entitled to play on the made-up team. However, the selection of the all-star nine has been placed in the hands of President Barrow, and the manager of the team that lands second in the league race. There will be seven games played, if necessary, the first to take place on Tuesday, Sept. 26.

The league final games are scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 24—Jersey City at Newark and Baltimore at Providence.

How They Split.

The first two post-season games will take place at the home of the pennant-winners. The next two on neutral grounds, to be selected by the men who make up the all-star outfit. If no decision is reached in these four games the battles will again go to the home of the pennant-winners. Twenty per cent of the gross receipts will go to the league, and 80 per cent to the players, to be divided 60 per cent for the winners and 40 per cent for the losers.

The umpires for this series have not been chosen, but it is believed that Tom Kelley and Jimmy Murray will be the unanimous choice. This series is considered far superior to one between leaders of two leagues, as it will give Eastern League fans an opportunity to see what the stars of the league can do against the flag-winners.

The Evening Session.

The evening session of the magnates was held under double lock and key, and nobody but those on the inside know what transpired. President Barrow admitted that the reclassification of the league was one subject which received much attention, but what steps were taken to secure it was not told. The matter will be laid before the National Baseball Commission soon after the close of the National and American seasons. While the newspaper men were waiting for some word from those in session, they selected the following all-star team to meet the champions. There are to be fifteen, and the manager of the second team; and in order to be eligible to play must have been under contract to their respective clubs on Aug. 20.

Newspaper Selection.

The selection is as follows:
Pitchers—Brennan, Buffalo; Burk and Dubus, Montreal; Vickers, Baltimore; Jones, Jersey City.
Catchers — Egan, Baltimore; Cady, Newark.
First—Jordan, Toronto.
Second—Atz, Providence.
Shortstop—Fisher, Newark.
Third—Dolan, Jersey City.
Left—Demmitt, Montreal.
Centre—Miller, Montreal.
Right—Elston, Providence.

These men were selected on account of their success against Rochester, which they will play in the post series, it being conceded by all hands that the Hustlers will win the 1911 pennant.

RACE HORSE FURIOSO MAY BE SEIZED

Toronto Man Claims Stallion That Is Racing as Another's.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, August 28.—A turn which does not figure in the programme may be put on at the exhibition this afternoon in the seizure of a racing horse named Furioso by the sheriff. The seizure is made at the behest of Chas. Park, of Georgina township, who claims to be the owner. The horse, which is a six-year-old bay stallion, is well known to the western part of the province, had been raced on the Canadian circuits at Listowel, St. Thomas and London. Last week it was a winner at Dufferin Park, and is now said to be stabled at the exhibition. The owner places a value of $1,500 upon it, and was ordered to give $6,000 security to secure the seizure.

Mr. Park says he was racing his horse at Orillia in November, 1910, when Thomas Hodgson saw it, and suggested that he race it during the winter and divide the winnings with the owner. Park agreed and the season was profitable. Hodgson suggested that he should keep the horse for the summer races, but the owner demurred and went and brought his horse home with him. Later, he says, he had a letter from Hodgson, suggesting that he would like to have the horse for the coming races. This letter he destroyed or lost at the time. He agreed to let Hodgson have the horse again, and it was promised that the horse should be returned after the St. Thomas races. Instead, the horse was shipped to Detroit and Lansing, Michigan. It is now again in Toronto.

Mr. Park also claims $372.50 to be due him as the balance of his share of winnings, one set of racing harness, one pair of knee boots, one pair of quarter boots, three blankets, one set hobbles and one blanket.

LEGALIZED BOXING RESUMED IN GOTHAM

Porkey Flynn and Joe Jeannette to Try It Out Tonight.

K. O. BROWN VS. WELLS

Person Who Made Showing Against Wolgast To Go Up Against English Champion.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, N. Y. Aug. 29. — Legalized boxing will take its place as an institution in New York State tonight with the meeting of Porky Flynn and Joe Jeannette before the Fairmont A. C. here. This will be the first fight staged under the new Frawley law.

It will be followed tomorrow night by a stellar contest in Madison Square Garden between Knockout Brown, the New York lightweight, whose showing against Wolgast brought him into the limelight last winter, and Matt Wells, the British champion.

Many a critical eye will watch the working of the new law. Those who take a special interest in the sport hope that the promoters will work hand-in-hand with the state commission in placing the ring contests on a basis which shall call for no criticism.

GEORGE TO SELL HIS RACE HORSES

Most of Newmarket Stable Will Go Under Hammer.

NEW ONES TO BE RAISED

Ruler May Have Dozen Animals, But Not More, in Training Next Year.

London, Aug. 29.—King George has decided upon extensive alterations in the royal racing stable as at present maintained, and few of the horses now in the care of Richard Marsh, at Egerton House, Newmarket, will be seen carrying the royal colors next season.

Both the King and Lord Marcus Beresford, the manager of the royal stud, are of the opinion that the majority of these horses are not worth their keep, and in this Mr Marsh concurs.

It is stated that there are a few good yearlings in the paddocks at Sandringham that may "come on" for next year, but of the twenty-one horses now maintained at Newmarket by the King most will go under the hammer when the autumn sales are held at headquarters.

The King purposes to visit Newmarket, in company with Lord Marcus Beresford, in order to discuss the future of the royal stud. It is known that the King is opposed to the leasing of race horses, preferring to breed his own, and one or two good mares will soon be purchased on his behalf to strengthen the Sandringham stud farm. Next year, it is understood, the King is not likely to have more than half a dozen horses in training.

Prince Is Midshipman.

The Prince of Wales is the only member of the royal family, who is not making holidaying just now, for he is serving as a midshipman on board H. M. S. Hindustan. It is not, however, the King's intention that his eldest son shall make the navy his profession.

In a few months, probably three at the utmost, he will leave the Hindustan and join a crack cavalry regiment — not the Tenth Hussars, which was his father's regiment, but the Eighteenth Hussars, the special ground for this choice being that it is his mother's regiment, "Queen Mary's Own."

Since the investiture of the Prince of Wales his correspondence has become considerable. It includes letters from all sorts and conditions of people in various parts of the world. There are begging letters, requests for his patronage, documents from enterprising companies asking him to invest, letters from philanthropists seeking assistance for their pet schemes.

A considerable part of the correspondence comes from America. As a matter of fact, none of these letters ever reaches the prince, the bulk going straight up to the waste-paper basket.

Takes Serious Outlook.

The prince is said to have a fancy for letter-writing, and has some power of description, but his outlook is strangely solemn for so young a boy. It was the venerable Prince Christian, who has seen his eightieth birthday, who exclaimed on receipt of birthday congratulations from the prince, "Oh, the solemnity of the boy."

As soon as the prince was made a knight of the garter several European sovereigns expressed a desire to bestow decorations upon him. King George, however, made a general request that these proposed honors should be postponed for a time until his son is a little older.

One of the first of the foreign honors to be handed to the prince will be the black eagle of Prussia. The Kaiser would have handed this to him when he was in England last May, had it not been for the request of the King. Other orders to which the prince will belong are the golden fleece of Spain, St. Austria.

Honors Are Deferred.

He will not be admitted either to the order of the thistle or the knights of St. Patrick for some years. Next year Prince Albert will be made a knight of the garter. There is to be no formal chapter for the admission of the Duke of Fife and the Duke of Argyle. Both these will receive the insignia privately from the King.

The Duke of Argyle is to undertake the onerous task of compiling the authoritative life of King Edward. The duke is now conferring with King George on the subject, and the work will receive the King's personal attention on his forthcoming visit to Balmoral. The duke gave to the world a life of Queen Victoria, and it is considered appropriate that he should become the biographer of her son.

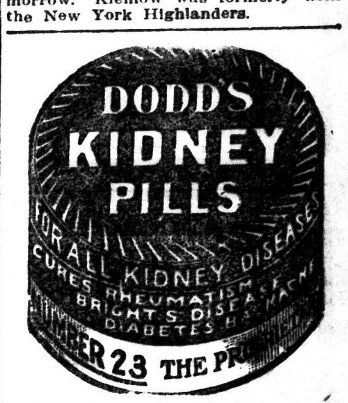

KEPT A HANDBOOK.

Hamilton, Aug. 28.—William Carroll, tobacconist, who was found guilty of keeping a handbook, was fined $300 today. This will not be collected if Carroll makes no effort to recover $600 sureties given when he was up before and which amount is confiscated as a result of this offence.

PHILLIES GET KLEINOW.

New York, Aug. 28.—Jack Kleinow, recently released from the catcher's staff of the Boston Red Sox, has been signed up by the Philadelphia Nationals, and ordered to report for work tomorrow. Kleinow was formerly with the New York Highlanders.

"SELF CULTURE"

Address by Rev. Bela H. Hayden Before Epworth League.

"Self-Culture" was the subject of an intensely interesting and thoughtful address which Rev. Bela H. Hayden gave before the First Methodist Epworth League last evening. "Self-culture" does not imply selfishness," said Mr. Hayden. "Selfishness and self-culture are opposite poles of life's activities. Without self there can be no sacrifice, and there must be personality from which all good comes. God is the spirit of all being, and from the Being of God all other being is derived. It is the duty of every man and woman to make the most of life, to develop their selfhood and make their personality as complete as possible. Jesus gave because He had something to give. We cannot give beyond what we possess.

"There are many persons who are not willing to pay the price of the prizes of life. We do not know what we do because we are what we are. Our actions reveal our character, our personality and our real thought."

In conclusion Rev. Mr. Hayden emphasized strongly the dignity, sacredness and infinite possibilities of life.

A brief talk was also given by Miss Matheson, a former deaconess of the First Methodist Church, and a solo was very beautifully rendered by Miss Mabel Ferguson.

At the conclusion of the regular programme ice cream and refreshments were served by the executive committee of the league.

THE CAMORRA TRIAL

Witness Says Vitozzi Was Active Member of the Gang.

[Canadian Press.]

Viterbo, Italy, Aug. 29.—The morning's session of the Camorra trial was entirely taken up with the testimony of a carabineer, who contradicted statements made at previous hearings by members of the secret society now being tried for the murder of Genarro Cuocolo and his wife.

By his straightforward recital of the evidence collected against the prisoners, the carabineer made a favorable impression on the jury. He said that the priest, Ciro Vitozzi, who has been given the appellation of "guardian angel of the Camorra," undoubtedly was an active member of the Camorra, spending most of his time among the criminals who frequented Castellamarre.

During his deposition the carabineer said that although Tomasso de Angelis (a witness for the crown, but charged by the defence with being one of the actual murderers of the Cuocolos), had a long criminal record, when provided with work through the carabineers he had behaved honestly.

RETURNED THE SWEATER

Two Girls Accused of Stealing Are Allowed to Go.

Blanche Harding and Florence Barrett, charged with the theft of a coat sweater from a girl named Heatherly, appeared before Squire Chittick this morning. As the girls had admitted taking the article and had given it over to the constables to be returned, the squire took a lenient view of the matter and let them off with a warning.

Two bicycle riders, who preferred the sidewalk rather than the road, and a couple of bathers, who violated the law by bathing without the necessary costume also appeared and pleaded guilty to the charges. They were let go on paying the costs.

McGILLICUDDY REPEATS THE OLIVER CHARGES

Attacks Minister in a Stormy Meeting at Humber Bay.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—After a rough-and-tumble, in which two men were roughly thrown out and others who showed a disposition to ask questions effectually cowed into silence, Mr. Dan McGillicuddy was allowed to make his charges against Hon. Frank Oliver at the Conservative meeting held in Devinns' Hall at Humber Bay last night. It was a strenuous meeting, and at times it almost developed into a burlesque.

Mr. McGillicuddy made his charges with considerable attention to detail. He told the meeting of Pinkerton detectives discovering how the minister of the interior had received through a New York bank a draft for $50,000 as a "slush" fund for use in the Dominion elections. A portion of that sum, he alleged, had been devoted to practical campaign work, but part of it—he cited several payments—had been used for his own private purposes.

A Letter to Premier.

A lengthy letter written to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, after the Premier had made his statement in the House in reference to the Oliver charges, was read to the meeting by Mr. McGillicuddy. In it he gives his version of the interviews he had had with Sir Wilfrid. He reviews all the circumstances surrounding the Oliver charges, but carefully avoids naming the source from which the campaign contributions were supposed to have come, although he goes to considerable trouble to draw the inference that the Mackenzie-Mann interests put up the money.

In his earlier remarks and again in his letter Mr. McGillicuddy threw some light upon the now famous photograph that was supposed to represent Hon. Mr. Oliver's account in the Imperial Bank.

"I never mentioned a ledger page," he declared in answer to a jeering question about the photograph. In his letter to Sir Wilfrid he admitted that he had no photograph of the account in question.

KIDNAPPED CHILDREN

The New York Black Hand Gang Again Busy.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 29.—The police attacked the problem of restoring two kidnapped Italian children today with the belief that they had to deal with an organized gang operating under the auspices of the Black Hand.

Four weeks ago Vincenzo Sabella disappeared, and three weeks later little Peter Quintarano vanished while playing in the street, and afterwards their parents received a number of letters demanding $10,000 ransom for the Sabella boy, and $1,000 for young Quintarano. The letters, signed with the skull and crossbones, and smeared apparently with blood, finally caused the terrified parents to overcome their dread of the Italian secret society and report the cases to the police. Neither made any effort to comply with the demands of the kidnappers, although Sabella is said to be wealthy.

The letters in both cases were worded practically the same.

FATAL MONTREAL ROW

Man Shot by Patrolman Succumbs to His Wounds.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 29. — Death came last night at the General Hospital to Emile Lisotte, who was shot on Friday night by Arthur Peachey, a patrolman, in the employ of the Dominion Burglary Guarantee Company, at the corner of Notre Dame and Inspector streets.

Judge Lafontaine, clerk of the peace, went to the hospital, and took the evidence of the dying man for the preliminary enquete. He was accompanied by an official stenographer. Sergeant-Detective Charpentier brought Peachey, the accused, to the hospital. Peachey was represented by Mr. John Hackett.

The evidence of the dying man was brief. He could not identify Peachey as the man who shot him, and could only say he was shot by the man who was fighting with his (Lisotte's) driver.

Lisotte told Judge Lafontaine that he tried to separate the men, and just as he pulled Vivier away he saw the other man draw a revolver from his pocket, and the next instant he was shot. He did not know the man who shot him, and would not be able to identify the man if he saw him.

THERE'S HOPE FOR ALL.

Troy, Mo., Aug. 29.—Mrs. Nancy Edey, 96 years old, today became a bride for the sixth time, her latest husband being Ree Indow, 24 years old. The bride's fifth husband died six weeks ago at the county poor farm here. The pair were given an ovation when they left for a wedding trip. Although gray-haired Mrs. Indow does not look so near the century mark. Indow wore overalls and a hickory shirt on his honeymoon. He declared he married his wife because he loved her.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Noon.—The pivotal influence in the stock market this morning was the increasing sentiment that prices had temporarily discounted much that is unfavorable in the situation and outlook. At the moment more interest is being displayed in the extent of uncovered short interest than anything else. The belief that a satisfactory readjustment of the Moroccan question would beb reached this week influenced moderate buying by foreign interests after a selling for the last three weeks, which is estimated to have reached an aggregate from 150,000 to 200,000 shares. After the opening further small fractional gains were then scored, and the bearish traders began to test the market, with the result of forcing down prices slightly. Shortly after 1 o'clock prices again receded.

BIDS BABES FAREWELL BEFORE GOING TO CELL

Mrs. Neopolitana Leaves the for Life Term at Kingston.

[Caandian Press.]

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 29.—Mrs. Angelina Neopolitana, the convicted slayer of her husband, who was sentenced to die Aug. 9, but who through the efforts of the women of Canada was spared to spend her life in prison, was removed from the district jail at midnight last night, and placed aboard a steamer en route to Kingston Penitentiary. There was an affecting scene during the morning, when the baby, for whose birth the execution had been delayed, was taken from her to be placed in care of the Children's Aid Society, who has the custody of all of the other children. Before leaving she took an affectionate farewell of all her children, and with tears in her eyes made for the door, where a closed carriage was waiting to ocnvey here to the steamer. Her identity was not disclosed, and the other passengers had no idea who the little stout Italian woman was.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mary June Rawlings Lynum Lawson, relict of the late David Lawson, and for many years a resident of this city, died at her home in Delaware yesterday, after an illness extending over some time. Mrs. Lawson was 71 years of age, and had resided in Delaware for 21 years. She is survived by two sons, Frank, of Chicago, and George. Mrs. W. Uptegrove, of Saskatoon, is a sister. Mrs. Lawson was a very active worker in Christ Church, Delaware. The funeral will be held on Wednesday from the residence of Mrs. H. C. Johnstone to Christ Church, and interment will be made at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Leigh will conduct the services.

Mrs. G. C. McKay, relict of the late Mr. G. C. McKay, formerly of Embro, died on Monday in Victoria Hospital, after an illness of several weeks. She was in her 69th year. Deceased resided in Embro until the death of her husband, about ten years ago, since which time she had been living with her son, Mr. John McKay, 136 Mamelon street. Mrs. McKay had not been well for some time, and three weeks ago she was removed to the hospital. Her illness was not at first considered serious, but a few days ago she took a turn for the worse, death occurring on Monday. Deceased is survived by three sons—Frank, of The Advertiser news department; John, of 136 Mamelon street, and Charles J., Woodstock. The funeral will take place from her late residence, 136 Mamelon street, at 4 p.m. today. The remains will be taken to Embro and will be interred there on Wednesday afternoon, the services taking place at 2 p.m.

The funeral was held this afternoon from her late residence, 136 Mamelon street, to the C. P. R. depot. Interment was made at Embro.

Margaret Lily Robins passed away on Sunday at Victoria Hospital, the cause of her death being an abscess on the brian. She was born in Edgbaston, Birmingham, England, in September, 1891, and came to Canada with her parents in 1902. An active member of the First Congregational Church, she was always busy in the various works of the Sabbath school, choir, Young People's Society, Mission Band, etc. As a charter member of the Hope of the West Lodge of Good Templars, she found scope for her strong temperance influence, filling in turn every office in the lodge, her last position being that of superintendent of juvenile work, in that capacity organizing the cradle roll, first of its kind in Canada. She will be missed in all these branches of Christian work. Her last visit to Sabbath school was to receive the record of her unbroken attendance of eight years, being, in fact, for every Sunday since coming to this country. Since graduating from Victoria School five years ago, she had been engaged in business with Miss McNaughton, Dundas street. Floral tributes in abundance show that her loss is mourned by a wide circle of friends. Her father and mother, sister Jessie and brothers Jack and Arthur, are the surviving members of the family. The funeral service took place at her parents' residence, 34 Ridout street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. F. A. Steven, of the China Inland Mission. Interment took place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

FARMER'S AWAKE!

Aimee Huntingdon contributes this fearful election poem to the Toronto News under the heading "Brothers Awake!":

Brothers awake! There are traitors around us,
Seeking their country and ours to betray;
Striving to sever the links that have bound us
To dear Mother England for many a day.

List to their pitiful, cowardly croaking,
Bidding us barter our heritage grand;
Bend, like dumb cattle, our necks to the yoking,
Yield unto strangers our glorious land.

Surely too long we have borne with their scheming;
Now let them learn that forbearance is o'er!
Teach them that Canada's sons are not dreaming;
Brothers awaken and slumber no more.

—From "Brothers Awake," by Aimee Huntingdon.

The following can hardly be worse "poetry" and is a good deal nearer the truth:

Farmers Awake! There are rascals around you,
Seeking their country and you to defame;
They pelt you with insults, they libel and hound you,
They call you foul traitors and brand you with shame.

List to their pitiful, cowardly prattle,
They say you would barter your heritage grand;
Because you will sell to your neighbors more cattle
They say you would sell them your glorious land.

Too long have you suffered their cruel detraction,
So now let them learn that forbearance is o'er;
On polling day slaughter the whole blooming faction,
And hammer their pesky hides on the barn door.

HAWKES' FAKE.

[Chatham News.]

Mr. Hawkes' campaign is hardly likely to deceive the intelligent Britishers who have made their home in this country and city. They are too shrewd to be caught with such chaff as that. But they will assuredly resent the attempt of this gentleman to mislead them into believing that he is actuated by patriotic purposes when his aim is purely partisan and purely selfish.

A GIRL'S WAY.

(Chicago Record-Herald.)

"Why do you keep asking me to be your wife. You surely wouldn't want me to marry you if I didn't love you."

"No, I don't want you to marry me if you don't love me; but I can't help thinking the practice I'm getting in asking you may some time come in handy. Now I'm going to give you another chance to turn me down."

"Oh, well, if you're determined to have me I suppose I may as well say yes."

WEST NISSOURI FARMERS

The preamble to the agreement definitely states that, and the correspondence between Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Philander Knox, secretary of state for the United States, is very explicit on this point."

Means New Market.

Dr. Routledge pointed out that an additional market was afforded the Canadian farmer.

"We do not lose any market that we now have," he stated. "We merely obtain another, and what the majority of experts claim a better market for your produce"

All the agricultural papers in the Dominion were in favor of the pact. For years they had been advocating it, and have interviewed the Governments to ask them to secure it. Not until the big deputation went to Ottawa to impress upon the Government the necessity of doing something at once, were negotiations opened with the result that the present pact was agreed upon.

The Disloyalty Cry.

"What is there about the farmer's occupation that makes him disloyal if he sells in the American market?" asked Dr. Routledge. "Every other businessman may trade without any danger of disloyalty, but when the same opportunity is offered the farmer, immediately there is a hue and cry that he will lose his loyalty. Such arguments are unworthy of the representatives of a great party."

"This is a plebiscite on reciprocity," he continued. "That is the question and the Government, as well as the Opposition, are asking you farmers to express your opinion on that question. Do not let it become beclouded by other issues. That is the one great question. When you vote simply say 'Shall I vote party or for my own interests?' There can be only one issue for you, and the farmer will be very foolish indeed who will vote against his own interests. In a couple of years, there will be another election following the redistribution of seats, and then the whole record of the Laurier Government will be before you. If you are tired of their administration you can say so then. But do not lose reciprocity."

Markets and the Pact.

Mr. Jared Vining followed and dealt with the effect reciprocity would have on the markets of Canada In practically every product of the farm the American market was better than the Canadian market. Prices were higher in practically every line of produce. In addition, it would allow the farmer once more to produce barley, one of the most profitable crops he could raise. This would mean millions of additional wealth to the Dominion of Canada, and the consequent prosperity for all. The horse market would become more valuable. There was a great demand for the hardy Canadian horses in the Eastern markets, and with better prices the farmer would become more prosperous.

A Plebiscite.

Mr. J. M. McEvoy delivered a very striking address. He also took the ground that the present election was nothing more than a plebiscite, that the farmers would have an opportunity within the next two or three years of expressing their opinion of the Laurier administration, when the redistribution of seats was made for the Dominion. He warned the farmers that their interests should be kept uppermost in their minds, and that when they polled their votes they should mark them with an eye single to their own benefit.

"I warn you that if you allow this opportunity to pass, it will not come again in your lifetime or mine," he declared. "That is a prospect none too pleasing."

That reciprocity has been demanded by the farmers for many years, was the opinion of Mr. McEvoy. He quoted a resolution passed by the Liberal Association in 1906 in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier was explicitly urged to arrange the tariff to make it more equitable for the farmers. Representatives from rural constituencies in other parts of the Dominion urged the same thing. The Farmers' Grange, the agricultural papers—in fact, every person who had anything to do with the farmers' occupation had advocated the passing of reciprocity legislation.

The Toronto News, as well as a large number of Conservative members in the House of Commons, applauded Hon. W. S. Fielding when he presented the budget to the House. In their sober judgment they approved of it, until the interests got behind the movement.

Mr. McEvoy quoted at length from the speeches of Sir John A. Macdonald on the subject, and pointed out that Sir John and Sir Wilfrid Laurier were one on this great question.

Benefits Obvious.

It had been urged against the pact that it would be of no advantage to the farmer. The benefits were obvious, so obvious that no attempt had been made to argue the question from an economic standpoint.

It had also been urged that the home market was sufficient. Mr. McEvoy pointed out that the prices obtaining in the home market were governed altogether by the prices obtained for the export stuff—the surplus.

Mr. T. H. Purdom, K. C., followed and spoke briefly. The reciprocity agreement was in keeping with the great peace movement, and would do much to bring about closer relations between Canada and the United States. It was a step forward, a progressive piece of legislation, that would benefit all classes of people.

The meeting broke up with the usual cheers.

He spent a restless night, and fears are entertained for his recovery. The injured man's name is not Winslow, as stated in another article.

Annual Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Wellington Street League was held at Springbank Park Monday evening and proved a grand success in every way. Between sixty and seventy were present, and all had a good time. The lucky ones to capture the prizes are as follows: Wheelbarrow race — 1, Miss Hiltz and Mr. Herrick; 2, Miss Doty and Mr. Jones. Hobble skirt race—Miss Layman, Miss Ross, Miss Vincent; boooby, Mrs. Case. Chum race—1, Miss A. Merrett and Mr. Herrick; 2, Miss Spry and Miss Vincent. Tie race—1, Miss Bedgegood and Miss Vincent; 2, Miss Vincent and Mr. Laney. When the races were ended, all sat down to a very nice supper, after which the prizes were presented, intermingled with a witty speech or song from different members of the league.

Music and Drama

It's a Good Company.

Miss Marie Flynn, the well-known Toronto prima donna, will again be seen at the head of "Madame Sherry," which will be presented at the Grand, Thursday evening next, Aug. 31. Pio Irwin, the high-salaried vaudeville artist, and sister to May Irwin, will be seen in a prominent part, Oscar Figman, who has been seen here many times, is still a noted member of the cast, in fact, the entire cast is made up of only those who bear established Broadway reputations. Special prices will prevail for this, the second engagement of the play in this city. Seats selling.

A Marvellous Invention.

The Kinemacolor exhibition will open at the Grand Opera House, Sept. 4, and continue for one week, with daily matinee. While, of course, the coronation is the great event which the Kinemacolor pictures illustrate, there are others. In reviewing a recent exhibition of these pictures in Toronto the World said: "In an age of miracle, the faculty of wonder is almost stunned, yet in all the miracles that have occurred since the beginning of the new age in 1897, the Kinemacolor makes the most vivid demand on one's sense of the marvellous. Here is the vision of the prophet and the clairvoyant materialized, the actual mirror held up to nature, the dreams of the memory bodied forth to be seen again and again as one pleases. The coronation procession is seen just as those who stood on the streets or sat in $50 seats saw it in London."

Nothing but a visit to the Kinemacolor pictures will convince anyone that what is said of them is not exaggerated. But there can be no exaggeration. One simply sees reality.

The entertainment lasts two hours, during which time over 15,000 feet of film are shown.

NEW BRUNSWICK SPEAKS OUT IN FAVOR OF RECIPROCITY

Monster Demonstration at St. John When the Premier Opens Maritime Tour—Overflow Meetings Necessary to Accommodate Crowds.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 28.—"To you, my fellow-countrymen of New Brunswick, I now appeal. The issue is in the hands of the Canadian people. Let New Brunswick do as she did last time; let Quebec do the same—and she will do it, let me tell you—(applause)—let Ontario do as she did—and I hear she will do better—(loud applause)—and within three months the great boon of reciprocity will be ours. I appeal to you to support a policy of moderation and conciliation in developing a united Canadian nationhood. I appeal to you against the unholy alliance of the Nationalists in Quebec and the jingoes in the other Provinces. In my own Province I am branded by the trumpets and organs of Bourassa and his allies as a traitor to the French race. In other Provinces I am denounced by the jingoes as a traitor to the empire. What I have sought to be is a true Canadian and a true British subject. I have kept the double connection before me throughout the whole of my public service. It has been to me my cloud by day and my pillar of fire by night. I have followed its leading, earnestly, faithfully, and, I hope, nay, I believe, with happy results, to the best development of the highest lines of our Dominion. I thank you for the four times you have indorsed that aim by your votes, and I depend upon you. I am sure, as sure as I am of the verdict of my own Province of Quebec, for the renewed triumph of that policy on Sept. 21."

Roar of Applause.

Amid a roar of wild applause Sir Wilfrid Laurier thus concluded his address in the skating rink here tonight. He was never in better form. Despite the arduous campaigning of the past two weeks he declared he never felt better, and his voice is unaffected by the strain upon it. When a couple of policemen undertook to hoist the septuagenarian to the platform (it was impossible for him to make his way around to the steps through the densely-packed aisles of cheering humanity), he smilingly shook his head, stepped on a chair, and climbed the six feet with the alacrity of a schoolboy.

A Monster Meeting.

New Brunswick spoke today with magnificent emphasis. Special trains, autos and wagonettes converged upon St. John all morning, and before the noon hour the hotelmen had thrown up their hands. Accommodation was at a premium. From the twin gigantic streamers, "Laurier and Larger Market!" and "Reciprocity Means a Bigger St. John!" which canopied the exit from the station, to the other end of the city, the streets were a mass of flags and bunting.

Again, it was Sir Wilfrid of the sunshine. All morning a damp, drizzling rain fell, but half an hour before the premier's train arrived the clouds broke and the sun streamed brightly down. At night the meeting was scarcely begun before the heavens opened, this time in earnest, and gave the fields the rain for which they have been looking.

Tonight's demonstration was a wonderful spectacle. Six bands and sixty illuminated automobiles escorted the Premier to the rink, followed by some 2,000 torch and flag bearers. The rink, which seats over 5,000, was literally jammed with humanity an hour before the procession arrived. It is estimated that 8,000 were crowded in, and at least 3,000 outside fought with frenzy to get near the doors.

The accommodation was totally inadequate, and a second open-air meeting had to be held. The appearance of several Conservative supporters of reciprocity on the platform was signalled with repeated applause. Mr. Silas Alward, a staunch party man, coming in for special acclaim.

When the Premier entered the hall the great crowd went almost delirious with its enthusiasm. It wanted to hoist him to the platform over the heads of the mass who actually could not make way. It took Sir Wilfrid, Hon. Dr. Pugsley and Hon. Charles Marcil, who accompanied him, eight minutes to finally reach the front of the high platform and climb up. During all this time there was one continued roar of cheering, the ladies standing on chairs and waving flags.

WHYTE LEAVES SERVICE BUT GOES ON BOARD

The Retirement of C. P. R. Vice-President Announced at Winnipeg Banquet.

Winnipeg, Aug. 28.—The retirement of Sir William Whyte, vice-president of the C. P. R., in control of western lines, was officially announced here tonight by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy at the banquet at the Manitoba Club, given in honor of Sir William Whyte of the leading citizens of Winnipeg by the president, at which about 125 were present. Coupled with the announcement of Sir William's retirement came the important news that he has been elected a member of the board of directors of the C. P. R.

In expressing regret at the severance of Sir William's active connection as an official of the company, President Shaughnessy said that three years ago Sir William reached the age when, under the regulations of the company, he should have retired, and that it was only at his (the president's) personal solicitation that he consented to remain in office for a few years longer. A short time ago Sir William had notified him that the time had arrived when he must insist on being relieved of his duties. Sir Thomas rejoiced to be able to announce that the company was not altogether losing the benefit of his experience, as he would continue his connection with the company as a director, having been elected to the board at its last meeting.

Sir William's retirement takes effect in Sept. 30. It is understood that his future plans are indefinite, but that he will continue to live in Winnipeg.

A Busy Career.

Sir William Whyte was born in Scotland in 1843, and came to Canada when he was 20 years of age. After seven years' service with the G. T. R. he was made station and freight agent at Stratford, and later promoted to London. In 1881 he became assistant superintendent of the central division, from Kingston to Stratford, but in 1883 he resigned and became general superintendent of the Credit Valley Railway. He then became connected with the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway, which later became part of the C. P. R. In 1886 he became general superintendent of the western division, and in 1897 he was manager of C. P. R. lines west of Fort William. He is also a director of the British Columbia Southern Railway. Sir William was made a Knight Bachelor at the coronation in June last. He has been largely responsible for the wonderful progress of the C. P. R. in the west, and all that such development has meant for the advancement of Western Canada.

TIME EXTENDED.

New York, Aug. 29.—The time for depositing stock and bonds of the American Tobacco Company, preliminary to the reorganization ordered by the supreme court, has been extended to Sept. 15 for the stock and to Sept. 27 for the bonds. Yesterday was the final day originally set for such deposit, but a conference of the members of the committees appointed to protect the interests of the holders of tobacco company securities agreed upon the postponement.

MURDER STORY IS CALMLY TOLD

Bellhop Relates How He Beat Broker to Death.

VICTIM GAVE HIM KEY

Dead Man, He Said, Had Befriended Him, and He Decided to Rob Him.

New York, Aug. 28.—Paul Geidel, former bellboy in the Hotel Iroquois, went on the stand in his own defence today in general sessions, and told how he killed William H. Jackson, a guest at the hotel, on the evening of July 26.

Tells Story of His Life.

Geidel was sallow and as uninteresting as any time during his trial. He said that he was 17 years old, and had lived in Hartford, Conn., until last May, when he came to New York. When he was 6 his father died, and soon after that he was put in an orphan asylum for four years. Then he worked in a drug store for a while, and later tried to learn carpentry. When he came to New York he joined the Fifty-Seventh street branch of the Y. M. C. A. He worked at the Hotel Breslin for a few weeks before going to the Iroquois, he said.

He had been at the Iroquois two weeks when he met W. H. Jackson. He frequently took ice water to Jackson, and each time Mr. Jackson talked to him for a few moments. Mr. Jackson gave him a key to the room and asked him to drop in whenever he felt like it. Wednesday, the night of the murder, he went to Mr. Jackson's rooms, admitting himself on the key he had possessed. His visit was for the purpose of getting some money Mr. Jackson had promised him. He found Mr. Jackson in the sitting-room. Mr. Jackson was glad to see him, Geidel said, but said he had no money for him. After some talk Mr Jaekson went to bed, and after a short time Mr. Jackson fainted or dozed. Geidel was not sure which.

Victim Wakes Up.

"I thought that he was asleep," said Geidel in animation. "I put on my coat I took his watch, cloth and $6, and put them in my pocket. I took the cuff-buttons out of his shirt. He woke up and cried, 'You thief.' He took hold of me and shoved me under the bed. I tried to get away from him and struck him in the face. I only used my fists. I tried to push him away from me. After I struck him I noticed blood on the bed and there was more coming from his mouth. I pushed him away finally and he fell on the floor. I was underneath him.

"He took me by the neck and tried to choke me, so I reached up and squeezed him. He let go and I got up and pushed him away. He came back and struck me with his fists four or five times. I struck him and he fell down. We struggled for a while on the floor. He fainted and couldn't move his legs or anything, and became quiet again.

"I went into the bathroom and took the chloroform bottle and emptied it on a cloth. I had the bottle in my pocket.

Gags Injured Man.

"Then I went back into the bedroom and put the rag into Mr Jackson's mouth. I turned out the light and went back downstairs. I left the door of the room open. I wanted to get out as soon as I could before he waked up, and I left the hotel by the main entrance."

Geidel told of pawning the watch and throwing away the cuff-buttons and the purse.

"This is the true story," said Geidel slowly. "I did not tell the truth before because I did not want my mother to know the real facts of the case. I thought I would tell the police what I did, and that I would be just sent away the next day."

The cross-examination will be continued tomorrow.

CHAMP CLARK REPLIES TO THE TAFT CHARGES

Says President Did Not State Facts in Attacking Democrats at Hamilton.

[Canadian Press.]

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 29.—Champ Clark, Speaker of the National House of Representatives, before leaving here early tonight, replied emphatically to President Taft's speech, delivered at Hamilton, Mass., last Saturday. In a signed interview the Speaker accused the President of not stating facts. He said he did not reply for the insurgent Republicans, who "no doubt will take up the cudgels in their own behalf." He declared, among other things, that if the tariff board is to be used as a pretext for delaying tariff revision downward, the Democrats will cut off its supplies.

"President Taft's speech at Hamilton, Mass., last Saturday," said Speaker Clark, "can only be described as remarkable when the history of the recent past is taken into consideration. He essayed the rather large stunt of running amuck on both the Democrats and the insurgent Republicans in Congress, singling out Mr. Chairman Underwood and myself particularly as targets.

"The President's criticism of Mr. Underwood and myself, which is essentially a criticism of all Democrats in the House and Senate, because all Democrats stood together, is absolutely unexcused for, and is as ungrateful a performance as I can remember; for, if it had not been for the action of the Democrats in the House, in both the 61st and 62nd Congresses, in lining up almost unanimously in favor of reciprocity with Canada, he would have been the most thoroughly discredited and humiliated president since the days of Andrew Jackson.

"The President says that we did not play politics about reciprocity, but that we did play politics about the tariff. The only politics we played was to keep faith with the people and to religiously redeem the promises we made in order to win the election of 1910, which is the best and noblest sort of politics. If any politics was played on reciprocity the President himself played it—personal at that."

A TRIPLE TRAGEDY.
[Canadian Press.]

Connelsville, Pa., Aug. 29.—Thomas Monn stopped a buggy containing his wife and her cousin, Francis Welsh, at a lonely spot in St. James road, near here last night, and shot both of them. Monn then shot himself. Welsh and Mr. Monn are dying at a hospital, while Mrs. Monn is at the Welsh home, seriously injured. Monn and his wife have been separated for over a year.

CORRESPONDENCE

Christian Science.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

A rather sensational news dispatch from New York appeared in a recent issue of your paper, concerning the withdrawal of two Christian Science branch churches from the Mother Church organization, and as the article is somewhat misleading, I should like to make a few corrections. Though the incident occurred over three months ago, the inference is given out that it is of recent occurrence, and though the item represents the two churches as among the largest Christian Science churches in the Middle West, the fact is that they were not large, but small churches, as Christian Science churches go, and the members were practically all students of the one teacher and followed his personal lead in the matter. The committee on publication of the Mother Church, Mr. Alfred Farlow made the following statement regarding the withdrawal of the Minneapolis Church last May, and practically the same applies to the Duluth Church. He said:

"Early last fall (1910) the complaint was made by a number of Mr. Smith's students and others that his teachings purporting to Christian Science, were largely erroneous and incorrect. After thorough investigation the Board of Directors of the Mother Church became convinced of the truthfulness of the charges, and Mr. Smith was requested to refrain from teaching until he so corrected his views as to again be in line with true Christian Science teaching and practice as set forth by Mrs. Eddy in the Christian Science text book.

"Mr. Smith did not accept this admonition, but tendered his resignation from the church, which was accepted. A few of his students and personal followers who constituted the smallest of the six Christian Science churches in Minneapolis, have followed his example.

"Mr. Smith and a few personal adherents withdrew from one of the large Christian Science churches in Minneapolis a few years ago to form an organization of their own."

As a Christian Science church must adhere strictly to the interpretation of truth as given to the world by Mrs. Eddy in order to remain a Christian Science church, true Christian Scientists everywhere will approve of the action of the Mother Church authorities in this case. Thanking you for your courtesy, I remain

Yours very truly,
C. R. MUNRO.

STANDARD OIL CLERK SUICIDES ON STREET

Son of One of the Company's Managers Shoots Himself.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 28.—Standing on the corner of New and Beaver streets today, Arthur Veit, connected with the Standard Oil Company, where his father, Richard C., is one of the managers, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head.

Young Veit was employed in the shipping department of the company. The young man, without a word, left his work and went to the street where he pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired a shot through his head.

The police found many letters and papers in his pockets, and through these his identity was established.

BACK TO WINGHAM FOR MARY CAMPBELL

Hamilton, Aug. 28.—A few weeks ago Mary Campbell, with her three little tots, were found on the mountain side in West Hamilton. Mary told the police at the time that she was suffering from malarial fever and was unable to find either food or shelter. She was given assistance to make good. Later she and her children were found in a packing case in the east end of the city and Constables Yaxley and Elliott took charge of them. On Mary's debut in the court her hubby was present, but on her release all acquaintances he was an absentee. Since that time he has been missing and when Mary and her children came up this morning his worship asked her where her home was, and she replied that it was in Wingham.

"You had better go back to Wingham. It is a sad case in some respects, but Wingham is the place for you. If you do not leave the city at once I will make an order whereby your children and you will have to part."

Mary decided that Wingham offered better opportunities for the raising of children, and promised to leave it at once. It is likely the Children's Aid Society will assist her in her journey.
