Delegates Consider Russian Question Barring Germans From Sessions.

THINK PARLEY SAVED
British Papers Blame Lloyd George For Being Fooled by Soviet.

Genoa, April 19.—Dr. Walter Rathenau, the German foreign minister, conferred with Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain and Foreign Minister Chicherin of Russia this morning regarding the barring of the Germans from the Russian commission of the conference. The Germans will probably submit a formal reply to-night to the allied note on this subject.

Many other informal conferences were held with legal experts, of the various delegations in an effort to bring out the exact scope of the entente note.

The Genoa conference apparently has been saved. For the last two days it had been tottering on the edge of collapse, due to the indignation of some of the important leaders over the action of the Germans and Russians in secretly concluding a treaty covering the principal and most delicate points under consideration by the conference.

Now, however, the delegates are to go forward with their work, but the Germans are barred from participating in all deliberations concerning Russian questions. This penalty was laid down in a note of censure sent to the Berlin delegation yesterday after all-day consideration of the situation by the representatives of the five inviting powers and the Little Entente.

While the conference was sitting and whilst Germany was represented on the commission and sub-commission charged with the negotiations of European peace with Russia, said the note, "The German representatives on that commission have, behind the backs of their colleagues, concluded in secret a treaty with Russia on the very questions which they had undertaken to consider in loyal conjunction with representatives of the other nations."

Whether Germany will continue at the conference is problematical. Her delegates engaged in drafting a reply to the note of censure, and it is thought that, while protesting their disavowal from the commissions dealing with Russian affairs, they will be content to remain. Their reply is expected to make the point that while they are not in a position to bar them, and in this they are supported by the neutrals, whose delegates already have protested to the conference leaders.

EDITORIAL VIEWS MODIFIED.
London, April 19.—The second day's editorial comment on the Russo-German incident at Genoa shows a modification of some of the views expressed yesterday, although the severest critics of the Russians and Germans and Prime Minister Lloyd George, such as the Times, Morning Post and Daily Mail, renew their denunciations without qualification.

They focus their censure, however, rather on Mr. Lloyd George than on the negotiators of the new treaty, declaring the premier allowed himself to be fooled by the Soviet delegates. "The Times thinks it is unfortunate that the Allied experts do not regard the signature of the new pact as a breach of the treaty of Versailles, and the Turn to Page 11, Column 6.

The Weather

FORECASTS.
Today—Fair; strong winds or moderate gales with showers tonight.
Thursday—Strong winds or gales from west and southwest; partly cloudy and cooler, with local showers or snow flurries.

The disturbance which was over the St. Lawrence Valley yesterday has moved out to the Atlantic and another which was over Manitoba is moving southeastward towards the Great Lakes, while a shallow low area is centered over Georgian Bay.

The weather has been mostly fair from Ontario eastward, and the outlook is now favorable for milder conditions in the West.

Close 2 Fire Halls To Aid Civic Economy Wave

SALARY BODY, TOO, CUTS OFF NINE FIREMEN

Nos. 4 and 5 Stations Are Abolished—Saves $10,000.

REVISE PENSION FUND

Men Will Be Given Chance To Pay Into Fund.

Following Mayor Wilson's proposal to reduce salaries of four city departments, the special salary committee of the council decided on Wednesday morning to close two fire halls in outlying sections of the city. Later Chief John Aitken and his assistants named Halls 4 and 5 as the ones to be dispensed with.

The reduction, it is hoped, will save $10,000 in fire department salaries. It was also decided to reduce the city's fire fighting force nine men, to pension two others, and to revise the firemen's pension fund so that men leaving the department will have an adequate retiring allowance.

Twenty-five years will be the limit of service in future, and the firemen are to be given an opportunity of buying something into the fund. The meeting of the committee was staged in the central fire hall, and was attended by the chief, assistant chief and five of the fire captains. The London Advertiser's representative was also present, it being the first meeting of this committee that the press has been allowed to attend.

To make the necessary reduction as called for by the council, Chief Aitken reported that it would mean the cutting off of nine men. Two others are to be pensioned, but their places will be refilled. Four horses will be sold. The question of closing outlying halls centered attention on No. 4 in the north end first, and the captain concluded in secret a treaty with Russia on the very questions which they had undertaken to consider in loyal conjunction with representatives of the other nations."

Whether Germany will continue at the conference is problematical. Her delegates engaged in drafting a reply to the note of censure, and it is thought that, while protesting their disavowal from the commissions dealing with Russian affairs, they will be content to remain. Canadian Shot Dead By Detroit Officer

Detroit, Mich., April 19.—(Canadian Press).—Russell A. Haynes, a former Canadian soldier, was shot and killed here last night while attempting to escape from a police officer who sought to question him as a suspicious character. Haynes enlisted in Montreal in the 25th battalion of the Canadian expeditionary force.

TELLS WHY PACT PROVES FUTILE

Irish Field Marshal, Sir H. Wilson, Claims Treaty Foundation False.

Must Have Union or Empire Goes To Dogs, Is Warning.

Belfast, April 19.—Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson, member of Parliament for North Down, told an audience at Newtownards, County Down, last night, that the Paris peace conference based its hopes for the future peace of the world upon three conditions, all of which were false.

First, the leaders of the conference had said great empires were a danger and ought to be broken up, and they proceeded to break up or Balkanize Europe. Second, on the basis that all peoples loved each other, they formed the League of Nations, but did not give it any power to carry out its decisions. Third, he declared they went on the assumption that a former President Wilson represented the United States, which was not true.

Field Marshal Wilson declared there had not been peace during the last three years, and never would be until these assumptions were swept away and something more solid built in their place. He said self-determination was talked about at Paris, but nobody knew what it meant, Premier Lloyd George, he declared, was so enamored of it that he insisted upon extending the power of self-determination to Ireland, thus dividing the country into two parts, north and south. South Ireland, he declared, by the love of self-determination was now divided against itself.

The speaker asserted that the act of union was the most successful act passed by any British government, and he was certain they would either go back to union or the British Empire would go to the dogs. Shooting was renewed in the Ballymacarrat district of Belfast early this morning. John Scott, a youth, was killed and William Johnston was fatally wounded.

The hospitals have large casualty lists as a result of the recent shootings, but even these do not indicate the full number of injured, as many cases are being treated in the homes of the victims.

The police barracks at Manor Hamilton, an important center in County Leitrim, have been captured by Free State troops. A motor returning from Sligo was seized and the occupants, all of whom were armed, were made prisoners. A second car was disabled by gunfire and the occupants threw their rifles into the road.

DECIDE TO PASS SOLDIERS' BILL

Washington, April 19.—Decision to pass a soldier's bonus bill at this session of Congress was reached yesterday by Senate Republicans in party caucus. The caucus also decided that the Senate should proceed to the consideration of the administration tariff bill on Thursday without further delay. The measure will be called up at that time and it was announced the majority membership would make every effort to hold a quorum continuously.

PENITENTS WITH CACTUS LASHES SCOURGE EACH OTHER ALL DAY!

Albuquerque, N. M., April 19.—In four counties of New Mexico and the eastern part of Arizona scores of members of Los Hermanos Penitentes (the Penitent Brothers) are picking cactus spines from their own and each other's backs today.

Other members who played stellar roles in the crucifixion ceremonies of the order are lying in improvised tents terribly exhausted. Although great secrecy usually is imposed concerning the observation of the Penitente celebration, the bars were let down somewhat this year. One of the ceremonials took place

Moonlight Minstrels Heed Call To Open Space

Lose Tenor In Race From Law

Spring is undoubtedly here. The "curb-stone" songsters have taken to the open places. With the advent of fair weather, a certain set of young men, whose vocal endeavors in poolrooms, hallways and such convenient downtown resorts have been noted time and again during the winter months, have now moved west over the Dundas street bridge.

With the first subtle touch of spring in the air the boys moved almost unconsciously from their customary haunts along Dundas street, between Richmond and Clarence streets. Tuesday night they grazed the curb-stone lawn with their presence and "serenaded" imaginary Juliets on the turrets of Castle Carter.

At the deadly hour of midnight police constables, whose only recognition of good music is the shrill blast of the police whistle or the merry tap-tap of the night-stick on the pavement, made their untimely appearance.

With puzzled countenances the latter hurriedly patrolled the neighborhood, seeking the origin of the strange and unusual noises. About to relinquish the chase, reconciled to the belief that it was one of those "new-fangled" radiophones, the watchful officers espied on the lawn several strange figures—strange, but still not so strange, the officers agreed upon a closer observation. It was their old acquaintances, the carefree boys of the boulevard.

Breaking off in the midst of "Till We Meet Beyond the River," the latter hurried north and west in several different formations. The officers did not pursue their quarry beyond the West London bridge. Once across the boundary line the "raucous" chorists were safe.

Gathering together several minutes later near the corner of Wilson avenue and Blackfriars street, the battered remnants of the gay company rendered undisturbed "Here we are again."

When the policeman first waved his baton as a signal for dispersal, a soft tenor voice was distinguishable, but when the roll was called over on the west side the owner of the same was not among those assembled.

The downtown police are congratulating themselves that they have driven the songsters from their beats and now leave the matter unconcerned in the hands of the constable on beat No. 13 with power to add.

NEW YORK CANADIAN CLUB HAS MANY LONDONERS

Dr. Bassler, Medical Author, Says London Is Third in Representation.

London is the third city in Canada in representation in membership of the Canadian Club at New York. This fact was announced to members of the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine in session here Tuesday by Dr. Anthony Bassler of New York, who addressed them.

Dr. Bassler, who is a reputed author of medical literature, is a member of the New York Canadian Club, and he informed those present that members of that organization who hale from the Forest City outnumber those from Ottawa, Hamilton and other larger Canadian centers.

"I was looking over the membership list of the New York Canadian Club Sunday," he said, "and London is the third Canadian city on the list. It shows that this little city in the Western Ontario peninsula sends good Canadians down to New York in active proportion to others in the Dominion."

ONLY FOURTH OF MINES OPERATED

Charleston, W. Va., April 19.—Of 1256 mines in West Virginia reporting to the West Virginia Coal Association, a report from that body last night developed, 423 are in operation. From the upper Potomac and the Kanawha thickfields, no reports of the number of mines working were received. State production for the past week was 182,460 tons less than normal, according to the figures given, but was 22,605 tons in excess of the amount mined during the week ending April 8.

Arrived at the chosen spot, indicated weeks previously by the priests and chiefs, the penitents established their rude camps. Twelve brethren were selected to erect the cross. Throughout Saturday night all prostrated themselves in prayer, chanting in unison. On a peak overlooking the valley was stationed a lookout, who, as the warning streaks of red signaled the break of dawn on Sunday, raised his voice in a loud cry warning the praying brethren their hour was approaching.

Immediately cactus whips were passed out, several to each family. The male members were stripped to the waist. Only thin garments were permitted on the others.

The worshippers ranged themselves in a semi-circle. Again the watcher on the peak raised his voice. Day had arrived. Then the members began lashing each other across the shoulders and back with a frenzy which would have quickly overcome less fanatical persons. Occasionally one fell, unable momentarily to endure the torture.

Progress toward the hillside where the cross had been placed was slow, due to the frenzy with which they whipped each other. Before the ceremony of binding the chosen brother to the cross was completed the number of weeping, praying penitents had

Two Die When Locomotive Falls Over Embankment

Quebec, April 19.—D. R. Noisieux, aged 37, and Silvio Guilbault, 35, both of Joliette, Quebec, the former a conductor of the Canadian National Railway, and the latter a fireman, were killed last night near Lachetiere station, on the Montreal-Quebec line, when the locomotive on which they were riding fell over the embankment on a sharp curve.

WOULD TAKE SOUTHERN RHODESIA INTO BIG UNION

Cape Town Dispatch Tells of Conference With Premier Smuts.

London, April 19.—Canadian Press Cable.—An official statement has been issued by the government of the South African Union dealing with the negotiations looking to the entry of Southern Rhodesia into the union, says a Reuter dispatch from Cape Town. A conference on the question between Premier Smuts of the union and the Rhodesian delegation, was opened on April 4.

According to the statement the union government explained to the Rhodesian delegation that they wished to come to a provisional arrangement with the British South African Company regarding the latter's land, mineral and railway rights in Rhodesia before the terms of incorporation of Rhodesia into the union are finally formulated. Negotiations, therefore, are now proceeding.

When they have been completed the union will communicate the terms for transmission to the Rhodesian administration. It is said that the British government hopes that all this will be done in time to enable the Rhodesian constitutional referendum to be held before the approach of the rainy season next summer.

MEN FIX HOUSES OPERATORS OWN

Hazleton, Pa., April 19.—Anthracite companies are having many of their properties repaired without much cost during the mining suspension. A tour of the mine villages showed, in the localities where the mine workers occupy houses owned by the operators, extensive improvements are being made by the men while the companies are idle. The lumber is donated by the companies, employees having the privilege of taking what they need. In normal times such work is done by the company carpenter forces.

Most of the men believe that a satisfactory wage agreement will be reached between the committee of operators and miners and that they will be back in the mines in a few weeks.

1,400 DIVORCES IN ENGLISH COURT

London, April 19.—(Canadian Press Cable).—In connection with the sittings of the law courts, which will open next Tuesday, a notable feature is that there is not a jury case entered. The downward trend of jury cases has been progressive since the war.

While the war was on there were difficulties in empaneling juries, and this resulted in rules being introduced enabling courts to dispense with juries except when absolutely necessary.

About 1,400 divorce cases have been entered for trial at the coming sittings, this being an increase over the usual number, and an additional judge will assist in this division.

BRITISH SEEK TO AID COLONIZATION

London, April 19.—The empire settlement bill, introduced in the House of Commons April 7 by Lieut.-Col. Amery, parliamentary secretary to the board of admiralty, with a view to making better provision for furthering British settlement in overseas dominions, will probably constitute the first business upon the assembly of the House of Commons next week. The bill seeks to give effect to proposals adopted at the conference of premiers last year.

BANS ARBUCKLE FILMS.

New York, April 19.—Cancellation of all contracts for the showing of films in which Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle appears was announced last night by Will H. Hays, head of the Motion Picture Producers' Association. This action, he said, affected nearly 10,000 contracts.

At the cross, the victim, clad only in a loin cloth, called on his brethren to grant him the honor of the crucifixion, symbolic of the punishment of the Master.

Rude threats and creepers grown on the mountainside were employed in lashing wrists and ankles to the roughly hewn cross. About him the brethren remained grouped, continuing their devotions. Occasionally one fell exhausted only to be replaced by another who had recovered from earlier experiences.

As the sun sank toward the western horizon the frantic movements slowed and finally stopped, so that at

FLIGHT FAILS WITHIN SIGHT OF OBJECTIVE

Portuguese Aviators' Machine Wrecked On St. Paul Rocks.

Rio Janeiro Plans Big Welcome to Intrepid Pair of Airmen.

Rio Janeiro, April 19.—Confirmation was received here today from Pernambuco by the Correo Manhas, that the Portuguese hydro airplane, flying from Portugal to Brazil, landed at St. Paul Rocks at 8 o'clock last night. The unofficial time of the flight is given as 15 hours. The estimated distance flown is 900 miles, thus making the time of the airplane 60 miles an hour.

Confirmation of the safe landing of the aviators at St. Paul's Rocks was enthusiastically received in all the large cities of Brazil. Rio Janeiro, with approximately 300,000 Portuguese inhabitants, was a scene of great rejoicing last night. Plans have been made for big celebrations on the arrival of the aviators at Pernambuco, Bahia and Rio Janeiro.

The aviators were unable to proceed in their hydro airplane from St. Paul's Rocks, a few hundred miles short of their goal on the American continent where they landed last night, because of damage to their machine, according to a Havas dispatch from Pernambuco today.

The message says their hydro airplane was so badly damaged in effecting the landing that it is no longer usable. The aviators, however, expect to save the motor.

APPEALS FOR FAITH IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS IDEA

Sir George Foster at Brantford Shows League Has Demonstrated Its Practicality.

Brantford, Ont., April 19.—A campaign to awaken public interest in Canada and to swing public opinion into line with the league of nations' ideals was opened here last evening by Sir George Eulas Foster, vice-president of the Law Society of Canada, and one of the Canadian representatives at the Genoa gathering. He pleaded strongly for such support, declaring that the league had a strong and clear picture of what would happen in future wars, most of which would be conducted from the air and which would produce more intensified destruction than even the great wars of the past.

John McGuire, president of the council, will present his report of his experiences at the city council Tuesday night, when an representative of the former body he delivered a formal protest against Mayor Wilson's proposed general salary reduction of 10 per cent.

Not a little dissatisfaction is expressed in labor circles relative to the action of two of the three labor representatives on the city council, Aldermen Fred Watkinson and John Ashton, both of whom again voted Tuesday night contrary to their conference, Alderman Henry Ashplant.

MAKE TEST CASE ON "GAS" STATIONS

Hamilton, April 19.—To test the city's right to issue permits for placing gasoline tanks on curbs, a case will be taken to the supreme court at Osgoode Hall on April 26. A permit was recently issued for one by the city council, and some persons opposed to it contend that it is a public nuisance and a menace to public safety, and that the council has no right to issue such permits.

JAPS MAINTAIN NEUTRALITY.

Tokyo, April 18.—The commander of the Japanese forces in Siberia has ordered his troops to maintain a neutral attitude as the failure of the Dairen conference does not signify a breach of diplomatic intercourse.

The troops will act for the maintenance of peace, safeguard communications, prevent Bolshevik activities and protect residents.

ANGLICANS RAISE £45,000.

London, April 19.—The governing body of the new disestablished Welsh Anglican Church raised in its own diocese nearly £45,000 voluntarily last year, and the general financial position of the church is regarded as extremely satisfactory.

Through the night and today the family groups worked laboriously extracting the cactus spines from each other's bodies. Intense agony accompanied this process, and many were reported in a somewhat serious condition. However, so far as could be learned, there were no fatalities at this year's devotions.

PERPETRATORS NOT KNOWN TO OFFICIALS YET

Inspector McLean of London and Border Police Institute Rigid Investigation.

SARNIA OFFICERS SILENT

Loss Not Discovered For Two Days, According to Reports.

One Canadian government mail bag, said by local postoffice authorities to have contained registered mail, was apparently rifled in transit between London and Sarnia Saturday evening last.

A report from Sarnia Wednesday afternoon indicates that the loss was not discovered until Monday. The border police state that they are baffled as to the possible perpetrators of the act.

D. J. McLean of London, inspector of postal services for the district west of Toronto, returned today to the city from Sarnia, where in conjunction with the postal and railroad authorities he conducted a rigid inquiry.

Questioned Wednesday afternoon, the inspector stated that one bag only had been molested in the batch that left London Saturday evening for Sarnia and intermediate points.

Registered mail, he states, was opened, and the contents misappropriated. The bag was found empty when opened for distribution in the Sarnia postoffice. It is understood that the entire bag was destined for residents of that city.

The inspector reports that his investigation at Sarnia revealed little or nothing that would lead to the arrest of suspects.

Sarnia postoffice officials, as well as chief of Police Lamont of that city, maintain a strict non-committal attitude with respect to the robbery, declining to issue any statement as to the extent of the loss.

"STILL BUCKING LABOR," IS VIEW ON TWO ALDERMEN

Party To Further Consider Ashplant's Effort Regarding City Hall Cuts.

Consideration of Alderman Henry R. Ashplant's effort in the city council to prevent the reduction of civic salaries below $2,000 per annum will feature the regular session of the trades and labor council at the Labor Temple Wednesday night.

John McGuire, president of the council, will present his report of his experiences at the city council Tuesday night, when an representative of the former body he delivered a formal protest against Mayor Wilson's proposed general salary reduction of 10 per cent.

Not a little dissatisfaction is expressed in labor circles relative to the action of two of the three labor representatives on the city council, Aldermen Fred Watkinson and John Ashton, both of whom again voted Tuesday night contrary to their conference, Alderman Henry Ashplant.

"Still bucking the labor party," William Tite, delegate to the trades council, commented Wednesday.

On Friday evening the London Labor party will consider the formal request submitted a week ago by the local branch of the Independent Labor party that Aldermen Ashton and Watkinson vacate their seats at the council board.

LICENSE TO CARRY EMIGRANTS

London, April 19.—A Reuter dispatch from Budapest says the Hungarian government has granted a license to the Hamburg Amerika Steamship Line to carry emigrants to the United States and Canada.

London, April 19.—The governing body of the new disestablished Welsh Anglican Church raised in its own diocese nearly £45,000 voluntarily last year, and the general financial position of the church is regarded as extremely satisfactory.

COMMITTEE TO HEAR PROTESTS OVER WAGE CUT

Council Refers Issue To Attention of Special Salaries' Board.

LIVELY CLASHES OCCUR

Officials Will Assess All Incomes At Full City Rate.

What the council did:

Referred to the special salary committee the protest of the various labor organizations in regard to the cut made in the wages of the city laborers and garbage men.

Referred ex-Ald. Wenige's demand for an apology from the city engineer to the board of works.

Referred Ald. Ashplant's charge that bonuses were made part of the permanent salary and were being paid illegally to city employees to the special salary committee.

Asked the board of works and board of health to try and reach an agreement in regard to the rendering works.

Ald. Ashplant was informed by the engineer that city laborers' wages had been cut about 9 or 10 per cent.

Decided to ask the London and Port Stanley Railway to reduce fares to 30 cents for the summer season.

Instructed officials, subject to the ruling of the city solicitor, to collect all income taxes on the full city rate.

The advance notices of Tuesday's council meetings were not an exaggeration. The event came off with all the force and action predicted. It was the most strenuous council meeting of years.

Sharp words, charges and counter-charges electrified the air from start to finish, and on one occasion a clash between Mayor Wilson and Ald. Ashplant almost came to the point of the lie being passed.

The labor representatives started it when they attacked the policy of cutting the wages of the lowest-paid city employees, one of the speakers, Arthur Mould, telling the members of the council that they all would receive from labor the same drastic treatment which their laborers had received at the hands of labor.

He declared that the labor men would fight to the bitter end.

The labor men only set the stage, so to speak, for the Wenige-city engineer episode.

The ex-alderman made a statement of the affair, similar to what has already been published. He also told the council that he was not there in trial. He was there to lay a complaint. He did not intend to answer questions. What he wanted was a statement as to whether the council approved of such action on the part of some of our employees, and if so, would it order the engineer to apologize, or he would take further steps to secure redress.

Adds Fuel to Fire.
Ald. Cunningham added fuel to the fire when he asked Mr. Wenige if he thought it right to misrepresent and then expect courteous treatment. Getting a reply in the negative, he said that he would present some facts that might not show that the engineer was very far in error.

More or less of a bedlam arose. Ald. Wenige asked a point of order and then different aldermen took up the discussion. Some of them did not think the council could do anything, though disapproving of the engineer's attitude. Ald. Holmes said that Mr. Wenige asked for a one-sided decision and should get it, though he himself did not think it a proper decision.

Mr. Brazier said that Mr. Wenige distorted part of the story, but admitted that the important part about going to throw him out was right.

Mr. Wenige asked for an ultimatum on Mr. Wenige and that it would stand, with all due respect to those present.

A motion that the matter be filed failed, and one to send it to No. 2 committee carried.

Mr. Wenige asked if he was to understand that the engineer admitted that he called him that name.

The engineer did not reply, but Ald. Ashplant said "Yes."

Applause Rebuked.
Ald. Ashplant said that he had not much hope for Mr. Wenige's committee. His remarks, rather extensive, brought applause from the audience, and this in turn brought the rather pointed warning from Mayor Wilson that "We'll clear this council chamber in one minute if there is one more sign of applause of any kind."

When the accounts for the finance committee, containing salaries, were presented, Ald. Ashplant objected, declaring that the amounts were illegal. A resolution had been passed by the council that all bonuses be discontinued, and yet the bonus of 1921 had been made a part of the permanent salary. This was in direct contravention to the order of the council, and was illegal.

There were some hot exchanges between the mayor and the alderman when Ald. Holmes said that his understanding was the same as that of Ald. Ashplant.

Ald. May stated that there was admittedly some misunderstanding, but he thought the special salary committee would straighten it out. A motion to refer the matter to that body failed only Ald. Ashplant and Ald. Holmes in opposition.

Discuss Rendering Plant.
The board of health appeared to defend their stand in regard to the rendering plant in the east end.

Ald. Cunningham said that he did not think No. 2 committee had a proper knowledge of the situation. It found the plant sanitary and could not act. The council had power, if it wanted to, to move the plant. The question of disposing of the matter taken in by the plant had to be first decided, as the members of the board were assured that if the plant was closed the machinery would be moved to Nova Scotia. The alderman said it was a question of spending $25,000 or $30,000.

Chairman Seabrook, Charles Mitchell and Dr. Tamblin of the board all spoke along the same lines. The members of the board of health all held that the place was sanitary. Mr. Mitchell took the opportunity to deny the charge that he had any interest in the Rendering Works Company.

It was finally decided that the board of works and the board of health try and get together on the matter.

10 Per Cent Reductions.
Ald. Ashplant secured from the engineer a statement that the wages of the city workers had been cut on an average of 9 and 10 per cent. Any reduction over 10 per cent would only run a fraction of a cent.

Mayor Wilson told Mr. Ashplant that the matter of other salaries could not be reported on, as the special committee had not reached final conclusions in the matter.

Ald. Douglas succeeded in getting his motion to have the full city mill-rate charged to all city incomes approved.

His motion calls for the officials to issue a supplementary bill to those who in 1922 are charged income taxes at a rate of 15 mills when they should have been charged at the full city rate.

The opinion of the solicitor will be secured, and if his reply is in favor of the motion, the officials will act at once to collect the balance for 1922.

R. H. Hessel, chairman of the housing commission, was the first speaker of the Trades and Labor Council. He said it was very inopportune that wages should be cut at the present. Men drawing under $2,000 a year, the majority of whom worked only half time during the winter, would hardly be caught up before the winter was on them again.

The labor men thought that the council would protect such workers, but they found that the under-fellow was being hit. Then, again, he was presented to show that the worker, the cottage owner, was the one to carry the larger portion of the heavy tax increase. He said he thought it better that 65,000 people should bear the brunt of the $41,000 salary cut than the few workers.

Here Mayor Wilson interrupted with the statement that a report in the press, one section of the press, was misleading. Any cut made in the workers' wages did not affect the $41,000 or the tax rate.

Nevertheless, Mr. Hessel said, the workers had been cut and the majority of the people of the city were of the opinion that the wage-earner was bearing the brunt of the reduction.

President McGuire of the Trades Council pointed to the fact that there were four medical men on the council and said that they, at least, would know the impossibility of a man giving his family the proper nourishment on a salary of $1,300 or $1,400 a year.

Mould Offers "Hot Shots."
Arthur Mould, the Labor candidate in the last federal election, however, came through with the real "hot shots" of the meeting, as they were referred to by some of the speakers.

Mr. Mould said he was representing the working class, and immediately declared that the council was playing into the hands of those whose interests were inimical to those of the working class of the city.

Mayor Wilson here stated, as Mr. Hessel, that the workers' cut did not affect the tax rate.

"Then we see less reason to cut them," shot back Mr. Mould. "Your statement makes more emphatic our point of view. He charged that the council was setting up a practical example of the city to bear down on the wage-earner. He pictured the city setting the example to the rest of Canada to pay 'scab' wages."

"We desire to protest absolutely against any cut below $2,000," said Mr. Mould. We intend to press the matter. We don't want to bring to bear the drastic action we took with our labor aldermen, but we will take the same course with the whole council if necessary. We will fight to the bitter end. I don't desire to bring in a political matter, but I know that some of the aldermen look on the side of votes, and in this regard I warn them to be just a little careful," he said.

Laughter from the aldermen greeted this.

"Don't laugh," he continued. "This will act as a boomerang. I know that some of the aldermen go this way and that for votes. You are taking the bread and butter from the workers. Why not set the example to the rest of the city by cutting the wages of the city workers?"

Ald. Ashplant here said that he would like a statement from the engineer in regard to the wage cut and its application.

Mayor Wilson said he thought that the word of the mayor of the city was sufficient, and he had already stated that this cut did not affect the $41,000.

Ald. Ashplant said that he had not always found the word of the mayor of the city satisfactory.

The mayor suggested that someone move that the representations of the labor men be sent to the special committee. Ald. Ashplant said that this would not dispose of him. He wanted a statement from the engineer.

"You are out of order," Mr. Ashplant, said the mayor.

"You are out of order, Mr. Mayor, in addressing an alderman as mister," shot back the alderman.

Ald. Ashplant then told the labor deputations that the mayor would not let his question be answered until later on, and he told the deputations to wait. He would get the question answered later.

Mr. Wenige presented his case pointedly. How he and the engineer clashed. How the engineer told him to get out of his office and stay out, and as he was leaving, how he sent along the parting shot that he was "the biggest fool that ever came to London."

"I came here to lay a complaint. I did not come here to be tried. I will answer only questions that I see fit," he added.

Engineer Brazier was a spectator. No questions were asked as to the veracity of Mr. Wenige's story.

Ald. Cunningham immediately took the floor. "Do you think it right to misrepresent, and then get courteous treatment?" he asked Mr. Wenige.

"No," was the reply.

Ald. Cunningham: "Then I will cite an example, and then we will see if the engineer is very far out." He proceeded to tell something about the garbage collection last year.

He was interrupted and made no progress. Then came the question of point of order. He did not proceed.

Finally, Ald. Cunningham said: "I'll move that the engineer be exonerated."

Mr. Wenige: "Do you approve of the engineer's act?"

Ald. Cunningham: "I'll make a motion approving of it in your case."

Ald. Ashplant: "Is there any second to that extraordinary motion?"

Later this motion took Ald. Cunningham to task for his stand in the matter.

Ald. Ashton could not see what the council could do in the matter. It was an old sore which was up to themselves to settle.

Ald. Judd said that the engineer should be heard. If he made the statement charged, the council should know it. Later he said that

"Y" CIRCUS MAKES TREMENDOUS HIT

George Moseley's Show Voted Best in Years At Tuesday Opening.

ACTION TRAVELS SPEEDILY

Is Barnum & Bailey, Magician's Carnival and Vaudeville All Rolled Into One.

"The Great Y. M. C. A. Circus" is here at last, and on Tuesday evening, when the initial performance was staged at the Y. gymnasium who witnessed the thirty acts voted it to be the greatest show put on by boys ever seen in London.

The clowns, the delusionary acrobats, the tumblers, the wire walkers, the magicians, and every member of the large cast of performers, virtually carried the audience to the realms of Peter Pan, to Treasure Island, to the Land of Make Believe, and for the evening at least a clown was their king and the Never, Never Land their home.

In reality the whole performance was a Barnum & Bailey production, a magician's carnival and a vaudeville performance all rolled into one huge exhibition of wonders that kept the crowds in uproars of laughter and guffaws for more than two hours.

The London and Brantford boys who took part in the show are to be complimented on the way in which they put the thing across, and especially the originator of the idea, George Moseley, physical director of the Brantford Y. All the acts were thought out, and worked out by Mr. Moseley, and in directing, in putting the finishing touches on the show, his ingenuity seemed to have no bounds.

All the acts were run on schedule, and from 8 o'clock until after 10 there was not one moment of inaction. It was a continual procession of stunts and surprises which bewildered the audience, and at all times kept them on the seventh heaven of excitement.

One of the most amazing acts on the program was the enchanted coffin. A youth was tied head, hand and foot and placed in a wooden coffin. Glass was driven in from every direction, and the coffin was sawed in half, but the youth emerged out as good as ever.

Another feature that drew rounds of applause was the posing act. The posers were painted from head to foot in gold, and famous pictures, such as "The Sowers," "The Reapers," and "The Wheaters," were reproduced. This same act was put on at the Western Fair last year.

"Cleopatra's Itch" was a comedy feature of very high calibre put on by the Brantford boys, while the most picturesque and the prettiest act on the entire program was the illuminated club act. George Moseley and five of his leaders took part in this and the effect of the illuminated clubs, with all the lights turned off, was wonderful. "We Dragum Inn" was a tumbling act that provided lots of action.

Other features of the program were the Athletic Dance, The Tumbler, Rube Elmer, The Lowery Dumbell Drill, The Irish Jig, The Wire Walkers, The Maze Marching, The Sword Dance and Maharae.

John Whittaker and his clowns, Morley Hill, Re Feely, Fred Shaw and Andy Williamson, provided lots of entertainment between the main acts.

Wesley Christianson made a very capable ringmaster. The Y. M. C. A. (The Great Show On Earth) will be staged again tonight at 8 o'clock in the Y.

war period go. He said it would build up the department.

This was left to the chief and his captains, and after the meeting broke up, a decision was reached to close halls 4 and 5, Colborne street north and Adelaide street south.

On the question of dismissals, the captains voted to let the last men go, while the chief held otherwise. It may be that this point will have to be decided by the mayor's committee.

SENATOR THOMPSON IMPROVES
Ottawa, April 19.—Senator Thompson of Fredericton, N. B., who is seriously ill in St. Luke's hospital here, passed a fairly restful night and his condition was regarded this morning as slightly improved.

he did not think an official had the right to call a citizen such a name.

Mr. Brazier declared the first part of Mr. Wenige's recital to be "somewhat distorted," but on the essential points the two statements did not differ materially.

Ald. Ashplant then said that he considered it very undesirable that the spirit displayed by the engineer should be encouraged. Rather it was to be deplored. Speaking of the name that Mr. Wenige had been called, the alderman said that he was glad to relinquish an honor, that he thought, he had held.

Ald. Douglass' motion which applies to the income and business assessment of residents of the annex reads: "That the proper officials be instructed to issue supplementary tax notices for 1922 to all ratepayers that have been assessed for income or business tax at a rate lower than the city rate as struck by the city council for 1922 collection, such supplementary notices being for the purpose of collecting the difference due the city treasurer above the rate incorrectly assessed."

Ald. Douglass asked who was responsible for fixing this rate, and there was considerable discussion. City Clerk Baker said that he applied the rate to persons who were assessed in the annex.

Ald. Childs said that he did not think the matter fair, and it should be investigated.

Dr. Douglass said the city had been losing heavily.

If the solicitor puts his approval of the motion, steps will be taken to collect a full tax this year.

The council approved of the new building regulation, charging a fee for building permits.

Scientific Appliances In Hairdressing Parlors

The permanent wave appliance has already justified its installation. That you can have your hair waved and wash it as often as you wish without affecting it in the least is a marvel to those who have had this experience—only the new growth of the hair will change this treatment. Still another appliance has been installed:

The R-No-Mae Facial Steamer

A Facial Massage Without Hot Towels

With your next facial massage you will be treated by this scientific appliance, which induces a natural perspiration, opens and dilates the pores, forcing the impurities of the skin to the surface. Then the therapeutic lamp constricts the bloodvessels, closes the pores, dries the skin, leaving it soft and velvety, with a beautiful, natural color. It is SANITARY, ANTISEPTIC and GERMICIDAL. We invite you to visit our enlarged beauty parlors and inspect the many new and modern appliances recently installed. Fifth Floor.

OPPOSE PASTOR TAKING CALL

Twenty-Three Dorchester and Crumlin Delegates Urge Rev.
Dr. McKay To Refuse.

Growth of Religious Education
Outlined at London Presbytery.

Twenty-five delegates from the congregations of Dorchester and Crumlin were in attendance at the afternoon session of the London Presbytery, Tuesday, to oppose the transfer of their minister, Rev. D.
McKay, who has received a call from the congregation of Bolton, in the Toronto Presbytery. Although expressing the utmost regret at leaving his present congregations, Mr.
McKay, however, accepted the call giving reasons which were considered by all present as weighty enough to warrant the change.

The call was sustained by the Presbytery although many expressions of regret were heard that a member was to be lost who had taken such an active part in the work of the church and who had been so faithful and dependable. Rev. J. U.
Stewart was appointed interim moderator following the first Sunday in May, when Mr. McKay leaves for his new charge.

The resignation of Rev. W. M.
Martin as clerk of the Presbytery
was received with regret, and a committee appointed to select Mr. Martin's successor. It is not believed, however, that such a step will be necessary for a month or two, as Mr. Martin has expressed the intention of remaining in the city a short while yet and is willing to continue the duties of clerk as long as he is here.

Appoint Committee.
Dr. D. L. McCrae moved that a committee be appointed to draw up a resolution expressing the sympathy of the Presbytery with Rev. W. M.
Martin, in the death of his wife and in the death of his family. A. S. Mc-Gregor, Rev. J. G. Stuart and John Currie formed the committee.

A handsome banner was awarded
the Young People's Union of Mc-Crae's Church for having the largest percentage of their members at the young people's rally, recently held in Knox Church, St. Thomas. Although the society had been in existence only a year fifty per cent of its members were in attendance at the rally.

A most interesting report was given at the session by Rev. Dr. Ballentyne, who in speaking for the Historical Society, which has been appointed to gather data concerning the early days of the Presbyterian Church in this district, gave facts which claimed the deepest interest of those present. All the data desired has not yet been obtained, and it was urged that the clergy make further effort to gather the information
wanted by the committee.

The fact that the work of religious education is taking serious hold of the Presbyterian congregations of the London Presbytery was evident in the report of the convener of religious education committee, Rev. T. A.
Symington.

Growth of Work.
The enrollment in the Sabbath schools of the presbytery is at present 6,332. The whole church membership is 10,830, and the question was asked: "Were ministers giving the Sabbath school and young people's work a proper proportion of their attention?" Signs that more care is being given to religious education were shown by the fact that about 100
more teachers are engaged today than a year ago, and that there are nearly double the number of organized classes where training in leadership and expression is given.

Of the total enrollment of 6,000, there are 3,092, or about one-half of the scholars who are organized for mid-week activities. The greatest advance was noticed among girls of the teen age, there being three times as many classes of Canadian girls in training as a year ago.

The convener laid emphasis on the need of co-operation with the public school authorities in the matter of scripture memory work, and lauded
the program of the London public schools. It was suggested that the quarterly written examination be used in the Sabbath school and a plan outlined by which the cooperation of parents could be enlisted.

The summer school at St. Thomas was recommended to the young people of the church, and the course in religious education given in the university was urged before the ministers as a profitable way of spending the vacation.

Rev. Thornloe reported that the young people's executive had prepared an honor roll of all ministers.

Board of Health Passes New Meat Bylaw

THE board of health has proposed far with its new meat bylaw and more stringent regulations for the handling of meats in the city will be in force when the bylaw finally passes.

Veal under three weeks old is banned. Customers in shops are prevented from handling meats. Dressed and partially dressed meats must be kept separate. The homeless meat cans were temporarily held up.
The clause is to be re-worded.
The sale of tainted meat is for-bidden and diseased animals must not be slaughtered for sale.

Philip Windling, charged with a breach of the health laws, had his case adjourned in police court
a week ago, when he promised to fix up his cattle barn. Satisfactory repairs have not been made yet, according to Health Inspector Richard Sanders.

"My client thinks the best thing for him to do is to sell his cattle," said Frank H. Curran, when the case was called Wednesday morning in the police court. "As a matter of fact, Mr. Windling is going to move away from the premises very shortly."

"Very well. I'll adjourn this case another week," stated Magistrate Graydon.

General Manager Buchanan Says
Street Illumination Cost Isn't Half Mill, Even At Present.

Utilities Head Shows Bill 55 Cents, Lowest of Any City On Continent.

While the proposal has been voiced
that the city council, as a measure of economy, eliminate one-half of the street lighting to save "an expenditure of nearly one-half million on the tax rate," General Manager E. C.
Buchanan, of the public utilities commission, questions how this can be accomplished, when the total bill for London's street lighting does not reach a half-million, he says.

"Even if the city does eliminate half the street lights," explains the manager, "it does not necessarily follow that the cost would be reduced by one-half."

Mr. Buchanan pointed out that when possible London should increase its street lighting service. "It is claimed,"
he states, "that the present system is inadequate. Let it be understood from the outset in what relation the public utilities commission stands in this matter of street illumination."

"The commission is merely the contractor engaged by the city council to erect and maintain the system and supply electricity in such quantities
and locations as the council desires.
Therefore, the latter takes such service as it demands and pays for."

"There is one fact that taxpayers must bear in mind. No city in Ontario spends less than London on street lighting at this very moment.
As an instance, Stratford, with a quarter the population, spends 80 cents per capita a year, as compared with London's 55. The latter can hardly be termed prodigal in view of the fact that St. Thomas spends 75, Hamilton 67 cents, Toronto 65 cents; Brantford 75 cents, and so on."

Commenting upon the charge that
"London's lighting is so poor that no one will miss every second light," the manager holds that the city is receiving just what it pays for, which is decidedly lower than other cities in either Canada or United States.

Telephone communication has become a necessity in the life of a

the district.

The Byron Telephone Company was particularly hard hit, only three

AGED MAN SEEKS SICK WIFE IN VAIN

With Funds Expended, George Price Finds Refuge in Police Station.

HAILS FROM EMERY CITY

Could Not Remember Address, So Gives Up Search in Despair.

George Price, an aged man from Emery City, Bay County, Michigan, didn't have the price to stay at the Morkin House any longer than Tuesday, so a friendly boarder towed him
to the police station for a night's rest.
Mr. Price told the court Wednesday that his wife was sick in London and he had come to see her. He didn't remember the street or number, and had wandered round trying to find his wife, and had run out of funds in the meantime.

"How did you get here?" queried
Magistrate Graydon.

"I came on the train," replied the old man in a quavering voice. "I came here to see my wife, but I ain't seen her yet. She's sick, and I don't know the number of the street or the town, and I can't find her."

"Have you friends in Emery City who will send you money to get back?" asked the magistrate.

"Yes, I have," was the reply.

"Well, we will write to them and see what we can do for you," said
the magistrate. "It was very foolish for an old man like you to come here without any money."

Mr. Price said that he was born in Hamilton, Ont., and had gone back and forth from the United States for 35 years. He was still a Canadian citizen, never having taken the oath of allegiance on the other side of the border.

Magistrate Graydon remanded the old man to jail for a week, pending inquiries at Emery City.

"Raising" and "Plowing" Bees Give Way
Amongst Farmers to "Telephone" Bee

Quitting bees, plowing bees and barn raisings have been common in the county districts for many years,
the latest undertaking along the
"bee" line is a telephone "raising."
Telephone communication has be-
come a necessity in the life of a farmer, and rural residents are feeling keenly the inconvenience caused by the recent ice storm, which levelled telephone poles in all parts of the district.

He Was Looking For Farm Help But All He Got Was Help! Help! Police!

Farm help is so hard to get down Putnam way that a farmer from that vicinity carried his quest for a man supposed to live in London on Richmond street so far that he ran into a whole heap of trouble, finally landing in the police station.

He explained to the magistrate in court Wednesday morning that he had rapped on the door at 617 Richmond street at the witching hour of midnight in the hopes that the occupants of the house could tell him
where a man named Simms lived.

However, the householders could not see the matter in that light. The woman in the house became frightened, and phoned for the police. The man was still on the doorstep when Sergeant James Oakley arrived and took him in tow.

Sergeant Oakley stated that the prisoner had a car parked at the entrance to a lane on Hyman street containing groceries which he had bought at court who has vouched for his good character."

He was around the place trying the doors and windows," stated Chief Birrell.

"I don't know about this. He seems a decent-looking chap," mused the court.

"I had no idea it was so late, or I wouldn't have gone there," declared
the prisoner.

"I'll fine you $5 and costs for being disorderly," stated Magistrate Graydon. "Fortunately for you, you have a friend at court who has vouched for your good character."

Elimination of the lower and more suggestive vaudeville, with a growing recognition on the part of managers that the public wants entertainment of a high class was the favorable report tendered by a committee at the regular monthly meeting of the Ontario Social Service Council in Toronto, Tuesday, at which Rev. T. D. McCullough was present.

McCullough stated Wednesday morning that although as yet there was no censorship of vaudeville as of motion pictures, yet there was a strong committee of the social service council which was accomplishing much toward the betterment of vaudeville and the maintaining of a high standard of amusement.

The meeting of the executive council was largely taken up with preparations for the annual meeting,
which is to be held in Brantford,
May 8-11. A detailed program for the annual meeting will be completed within a short time.

DECLARES COMPUTING
ERRORS MADE BY BOARD

City Treasurer Claims That All Facts
Were Laid Before School Trustees.

If there have been errors in computing the itemized record of expenditures respecting the construction and equipment of the new collegiate institute, the same have occurred in the office of the board of education and not in his department, states City Finance Commissioner James Bell.

Before assuming further expenditures for equipment No. 3 committee of the board demanded an accounting of precisely what financial resources were available from the original debenture issue. At their recent special session the trustees were informed by Commissioner Bell that $281.43 only remained.

While the impression was seemingly created that this sum did not include what amount might remain from the equipment allowance, the latter explained Wednesday that $241.43 represents just what is available when both equipment and construction expenditures are charged.

The opinion has been voiced by certain trustees that probably the city treasurer's department has charged to "construction" some of the items that should rightfully be charged to "equipment." Commissioner Bell differs with this contention,
holding that all divisions of this nature are accomplished before the accounts reach his office.

FINE RECEPTION GIVEN PASTOR

Talbot Street Congregation
and Sister Churches Welcome Rev. Dr. Green.

Speakers Unite in Tribute To Splendid Organization of Pastorate.

Greetings from sister churches of London, expressions of devotion on the part of the people of his own congregation, and a short acknowledgment from the new pastor, were features of the reception tendered to Rev. Dr. Green, his wife and daughter, at Talbot Street Baptist Church
on Tuesday evening. J. B. Campbell was chairman for the evening.

Rev. D. C. MacGregor, of St. Andrew's, brought greetings from the Presbyterians of the city, congratulating the church on the fact that in so short a time they had been able to select a pastor. He referred to the fact that the pastor had been chosen from the midst of the people of the Dominion had furnished probably more college professors, presidents and preachers than any other section. "Of course, we don't blame them for leaving the east and coming to a better part of the Dominion," remarked the speaker, "but the east had in this way rendered a great service to the rest of the Dominion.
We have always looked to Talbot Street Church for leadership in matters where the cause of Jesus Christ was at stake." Dr. MacGregor also reminded the pastor that there was a lack of knowledge of what had been transacted by the council of 1921 at its final meeting on December 21, in regard to city hall salaries and bonuses, evidently led to a misunderstanding on the part of many of the aldermen of today, as to what the resolution which included "that all bonuses be discontinued." Such is the belief in civic circles today.

It has been stated that the declaration of the resolution did nothing more than lay down the principle that the employees could expect no
bonus this year.

This is supported by the minutes of December 21, which declared that the bonus be made part of the permanent salary, and that the pay of the employees for the future consist of a total of old salary plus the bonus.

When Child's salary resolution was presented, reading that all bonuses
be discontinued, some of the aldermen said they thought the motion referred to bonuses of last year, whereas these bonuses were at the time
non-existent.

Ald. Ashplant Tuesday night contended that the payment of salaries
on this scale was illegal. Ald. Holmes thought the same as Ald. Ashplant.

City Treasurer Bell says his authority to pay the men on the increased scale is the resolution of the 1921 council, passed Dec. 21.

No Room For Jealousy.

Rev. N. S. McKechnie, of Wortley Road Baptist Church, stated that to him the departure of Rev. Thomas Roy, the recent pastor of Talbot street church had been a personal loss, but he was delighted to know that they had gone to the same part of the country to get another good man. There was no room for jealousy among any of the churches in this city; there was a great work for them all, and the stronger each individual church was the better for them all, and he regretted that there had been such inroads made by other places on the pulpits of the Baptist churches of London, for although he had only been here for three years
he was now the senior Baptist pastor in London. He assured Dr. Green of the sympathy and prayers of Wortley road church in the work he was undertaking in this city.

On behalf of the deacons and members of the church, John Holman expressed appreciation of the fact that Dr. Green had seen fit to accept the call to London, and publicly pledged the support of the congregation in giving support to his leadership here.

Dr. Green was given a splendid reception on rising to reply, claiming that up to this hour he had not been aware of the fact that he had such a reputation. He expressed his sense of gratitude and thanks to the Almighty that he now found himself
pastor of the Talbot Street Church.

After listening to all that had been said, the pastor stated he did not feel that he was a very complacent man to reply. "For the kindness of your welcome, for the cordiality of your reception, for your expressions of confidence, I thank you, although I cannot say thank you as I wish I could."

He referred especially to his early association with Dr. Sowerby and

ing absolutely no trouble. Shillington, he said, spent a great deal of his time in reading books and magazines, and apparently was anxious for more exercise.

When Shillington appeared in police court last Thursday, his counsel,
J. M. McVoy, K.C., asked for a further adjournment in order that he might have more time to consult with his client.

It is expected that a plea will be made when Shillington appears on Thursday, Mr. McVoy stating last week that the case would not take up much time when it was finally tried.

Shillington's request, and under the observation of turnkeys, the former

PARKING SUICIDE

"It is suicide to park your car on Dundas street over an hour. They usually get you," declared Jacob Fox
in police court Wednesday morning,
when he appeared to answer to a charge of a breach of the parking by-law.

Chief Birrell stated that the motor car was parked close to a telephone pole and that was the way the officer had marked for observation.

"I usually park my car on Clarence street. After this I'll take it off the street altogether," declared Mr. Fox.

"All right, don't park it on Dundas street any more," said the court. "I'll dismiss the case this morning."

Misunderstanding On Question

FOUR
RANEY DENIES CHARGES LAID BY T. H. LENNOX
Attorney-General Presents Evidence To Substantiate Claims.
ADmits SOME MISTAKES

Conservative Member For North York Resents 'Bribe' Accusation.
TORONTO, April 18.—From a mass correspondence and reports Attorney-General Raney in the Legislature today produced evidence to prove that the department was not liberally employing "thugs, criminals and felons" to assist in the administration of the Ontario Temperance Act, as had previously been charged by T. H. Lennox, K.C., Conservative member for North York.
Taking up the cases mentioned by Mr. Lennox in his charges, Hon. Mr. Raney showed that the department immediately had conclusive proof of the undesirability of an employee, had dismissed him. In one or two instances did the attorney-general admit an "error of judgment" on the part of his subordinates in not making an official investigation into the record of a prospective liquor operator, or in continuing in employment a man who had made a mistake.
There were a few tense moments during the attorney-general's address of over an hour and a half when, in response to Hon. Mr. Raney's question, Mr. Lennox demanded absolutely that he had paid for or had promised to pay for any of the last quantity of information respecting G. T. A. enforcement, which he had on the house in his life and a half hour's address. Neither did Mr. Lennox did he get any information from a certain Mr. Curran whom he had seen but once for five minutes in six months.
The attorney-general came back, adding a signed statement by former Special Officer Frank E. Rutway, the effect that on Saturday, March 18, when in Curran's house, Mr. Lennox came in and offered him $200

Interest On Canada's National Debt Exceeds Total Fielding Spent in '96

OTTAWA, April 18.—The first budget delivered by Hon. W. S. Fielding, in 1896-97, called for a total expenditure of 37 million dollars and for a total taxation of a little over that amount. In 1910-11, when his government went out of power, the expenditures were 87 millions while the national debt amounted to about 225 millions.
Times have changed since Mr. Fielding first held the keys of the treasury. Total revenues since the fiscal year just passed amounted to 371 millions, while total expenditures amounted to 340 millions, and the national debt has increased to $2,384,996,391, the interest on which alone exceeds the total expenditures for 1910-11, by over forty million dollars.
In the interval between the delivery of Mr. Fielding's last budget and the present, the population of the Dominion has increased by only about a million and a quarter.
While the need for revenue is great, it is fully anticipated that certain important reductions in the tariff will be included in the new budget.
Falls case, involving an officer found to have been in jail on a murder charge, the attorney-general read a report from the inspector who had employed him, admitting that he had not adequately investigated this particular man's record before employing him.
Partridge, the man who had assaulted the Fort Frances crown attorney, had appeared for another chance and had since made good. In the case of operator Hill, arrested and sent to prison in Winnipeg, Mr. Raney said that Partridge had employed him to assist in only one particular case.
The attorney-general admitted that the man McCutcheon, spoken of by Mr. Lennox, ought not to have been re-employed in Toronto after his trouble in Guelph, in which he was accused of an offence against a young girl.
The attorney-general admitted that he would not have sanctioned the employment of McCutcheon, but he pointed out that extraordinary conditions prevailed in the department at that particular time, the commissioner and the inspector being new to the work.
Godfrey Submits Report.
Before the orders of the day were called this afternoon, Dr. Forbes Godfrey, West York, read to the house a letter he had received from a Brookville medical man, enclosing a report of an analyst on a six-ounce bottle of brandy that the medical man of that town had prescribed for a patient. The report stated that the liquid was turbid, adulterated, lacked body and coloring and was not good brandy. The acidity of the liquid was also high.
Dr. Godfrey stated that the medical man who had forwarded to him the complaint was a reputable medical man.
"That is the meanest kind of deception," said Dr. Godfrey. "The sample bottles were bought in a drug store in Brookville following the patient's complaint, and the report of the chemist shows the kind of medicine that is being sold to sick persons. For it is the sick persons that suffer," Dr. Godfrey said. He charged that the prince had broken the pure food laws of the country and that action should be taken.
The member for West York also read a copy sent to the Brookville medical man by Commissioner Dingman of the license board, which stated that the liquid was part of a lot mixed by the government vendors in which the coloring, procured from a reputable drug firm in Toronto, had crystallized. Dr. Godfrey claimed that Dingman was not a fit man for the position and that he was swayed by "fanatical bigotry."
Compounding Not Authorized.
Premier Drury stated that the government had not authorized the "compounding" of liquors and that if a copy of the letters were left with him he would take the matter up.
Dr. Godfrey was supported in his statements by M. M. MacBride, of Brantford, and George Halcrow, Hamilton East.
Hon. Howard Ferguson took up much of the time of the house during the afternoon session criticizing Premier Drury for the delay in not producing the Hurdman scale report in connection with the timber investigation that had been called for at the last session of the Legislature. He also objected to the manner in which Premier Drury had in the last minute of the session prior to the Easter recess announced the names of the members of the Chippawa royal commission.
"I presume that the premier intends to be fair with the house and therefore the house is entitled to further information," he stated, in claiming that the house should have had a copy of the commission placed before them. Mr. Ferguson charged that the minister of agriculture had thrown the entire proceeding into the arena when he gave an interview to the press on the subject on Saturday.
Premier Drury countered by stating that the text of the commission had been given to the press, but that it had not been used in full.

EXPECTS DEATH AS ROSE FADES

San Rafael, California Woman, Hopes To Die When Bloom Falls.

Lies in Hospital After Taking Poison At Loss of Husband.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—The life span of a rose measures the time Mrs. Alice Frey of San Rafael will live, she declared to friends who have watched beside her since she took poison a week ago, on the day on which her husband died.
The flower by which Mrs. Frey gauges her days is like one Mrs. Frey placed in the hands of her husband at the funeral services. It is growing close beside her bed.
"When the flower fades my life will ebb, and I will go to join my husband," Mrs. Frey declared. Mrs. Frey asked that a flower similar to that growing beside her be placed in her hair, and this was done.
Visions of her husband in heaven come to Mrs. Frey in her dreams, she told physicians. She says well, and that she is happy because the time of her separation from her husband is growing shorter.
"We appear in the other world just as we leave this one," Mrs. Frey said, when she consented to take a little food. "I do not wish to appear unattractive to my dear Franz when we meet in the next world, and so I eat to keep up my usual appearance."
Mrs. Frey and her late husband, Franz Frey, were married in Paris 36 years ago. They were childless, and so far as is known, have no relatives in this country. Frey was in the wholesale liquor business until 1918, and was well known in San Francisco.

C. N. R. EARNINGS DECREASE.
TORONTO, April 18.—Canadian National Railway earnings for the second week of April totaled $1,772,117, compared with $2,199,772 for the same week of 1921, a decrease of $427,655. For the period from January 1 to April 14 the total earnings were $29,768,626, a decrease of $6,430,545 compared with last year.

Presents 12-Year-Old Hero With Medal.

WINDSOR, April 18.—Following the official welcome of the city to Lord Byng today a life-saving medal was presented to Douglas Vaughan, a boy scout of Essex, who saved a boy from drowning at Leamington Beach last July.
Douglas, the youthful hero, is 12 years of age. He was present in the ranks of the scouts and knew nothing of the honor in store for him until the scout master took him by the arm and led him up the steps of the platform to the governor-general, who invested him with the cross.

CLAIMS MEYER HAS NO REGRET

Coroner Reports Kitchener Repair Man Unrepentant After Killing Wife.

Slayer in Hospital Mumbles That He Was "Hounded To Death."

KITCHENER, April 18.—H. H. Meyer, the local repair man who shot his wife to death yesterday afternoon and then shot himself, was still living at the hospital here to-night with a fair chance for recovery. Unless complications set in it is expected the man will get better.
According to a statement given out by the coroner today the man is unrepentant for the deed which he committed yesterday. He keeps mumbling that he was "hounded to death," and that he has nothing to regret. He is fully conscious and Coroner Kallblich says, quite recovered from the first shock of the tragedy.
Guarded by police officers, the man lies in his bed at the hospital, and expresses the wish that he may die. The coroner's inquest stands adjourned until next Monday night, pending developments in the man's condition.
It has been since learned that Meyer and his wife were arguing over the ownership of the kitchen clock when he shot her.
Ben Warren, the only witness of the tragedy, states that the woman was standing at the bottom of the

ORGANIZE PLANS FOR HYDRO PROBE

TORONTO, April 18.—With the exception of Lloyd Harris of Brantford, all of the other commissioners recently appointed by the provincial government under the public inquiries act to investigate into the expenditures of the hydro-electric power commission during the construction of the Chippawa Canal, held an informal meeting in Premier Drury's offices at the Parliament Buildings this morning.
"We have much organization work before us before we can actively engage ourselves in the actual investigation," stated Chairman Gregory. "I expect that we will have these informal meetings for a week or so before we can get under way."

LOOT OFFICE SAFE OF WINDSOR ROAD

WINDSOR, April 18.—Looting the safe at the Hydro-Electric Railway office, London street and Wellington avenue, between 2:30 and 2:10 o'clock this morning, yeggs made a clean getaway with $400 in cash.
The robbery was not discovered until 5 a.m. today when the day dispatcher reported for duty. He discovered that the lock on the steel safe had been forced and the money taken.
Detectives are working on the robbery today. The burglars left but little in the way of clues to work on. Police are of the opinion that the robbers were familiar with the office, and the manner in which the safe was locked.
The cash comprised three days' receipts of the cars on the interurban lines, officials told police.

Germany and Russia.

THE CONFERENCE of world powers at Genoa has probably encountered right at the start the very thing it wished to avoid, viz., a secret treaty, pact or understanding between any two powers.

Russia and Germany, two of the underdogs following the war, have come together. They have signed a treaty whereby each nation wipes off all debts against the other, and each also agrees to recognize the other as the most favored nation in the matter of trade arrangements.

It may be urged that this course has been taken because the Allied powers, led by Lloyd George, tried to force Russia to the point where her representatives would recognize their obligations to foreign nations. In all this would have amounted to some $10,000,000,000. These debts would have gone back to the time of the royal family in Russia, and included all the obligations then owing and all that have been contracted since. This may sound all right in theory, but if the revolution has taught the simple folk of Russia one thing it has been that they are free from the old system of government. To recognize all those old debts would have meant that the Genoa conference would have sent the Russian spokesman back home to tell his people that they now owed the foreign nations some two or three times as much as they ever owed them before, and upon this acknowledgment rested their chances of going out and buying and selling with these people again.

The treaty signed between Russia and Germany has not been made on the spur of the moment. It has not been drawn up and signed just when the representatives of the two nations happened to meet on the side of the road on the way to Genoa. No two great groups of people ever commit their countries to any such a course without due thought and planning beforehand.

Before the war Russia was honey-combed with German goods and German influence. This was abundantly shown all through the war when, despite the best efforts of Russian officials to co-operate with the Allied powers, her whole system of military organization, her strategy and designs, were as open books to the German forces.

What is to hinder the same thing happening again? Germany has her regrets over the war, of course, but the big regret is that she did not win it.

Germany knows the Russian situation, she knows Russian trade, she knows what the people there want to buy, because she has made goods for Russia for years past.

The Allied powers at Genoa have now something before them which will give them good and sufficient reason to sit down and do some real thinking.

Not Settled Yet.

APPARENTLY there is a determined effort by a number of papers to force Mr. CREEAR to the position where he will have to state what he believes should be done in regard to the formation of a wheat board.

The King's government is doing exactly what the premier said would be done when he was in the Canadian West. He then stated that the committee on agriculture was the proper place for this entire matter to be threshed out, and it will be noticed it is one of the very first questions that has been dealt with extensively following the return of the Liberal party to power at Ottawa.

The Saskatchewan Star seeks to make it appear that the Progressives are forcing the issue in this matter, and unless they took the lead there would be neither plan, action or idea.

To any person who has watched the debate and heard the evidence at Ottawa such a conclusion is positive trash. If any writer has the idea that the matter is not being gone into thoroughly it is because he is getting his inspiration from his own imagination. The committee on agriculture has been at work, and has made progress. And in that committee it has never been demonstrated that the leadership for the wheat board idea was being provided by the leader of the Progressive party. The Calgary Herald puts the matter up to Mr. CREEAR in this way:

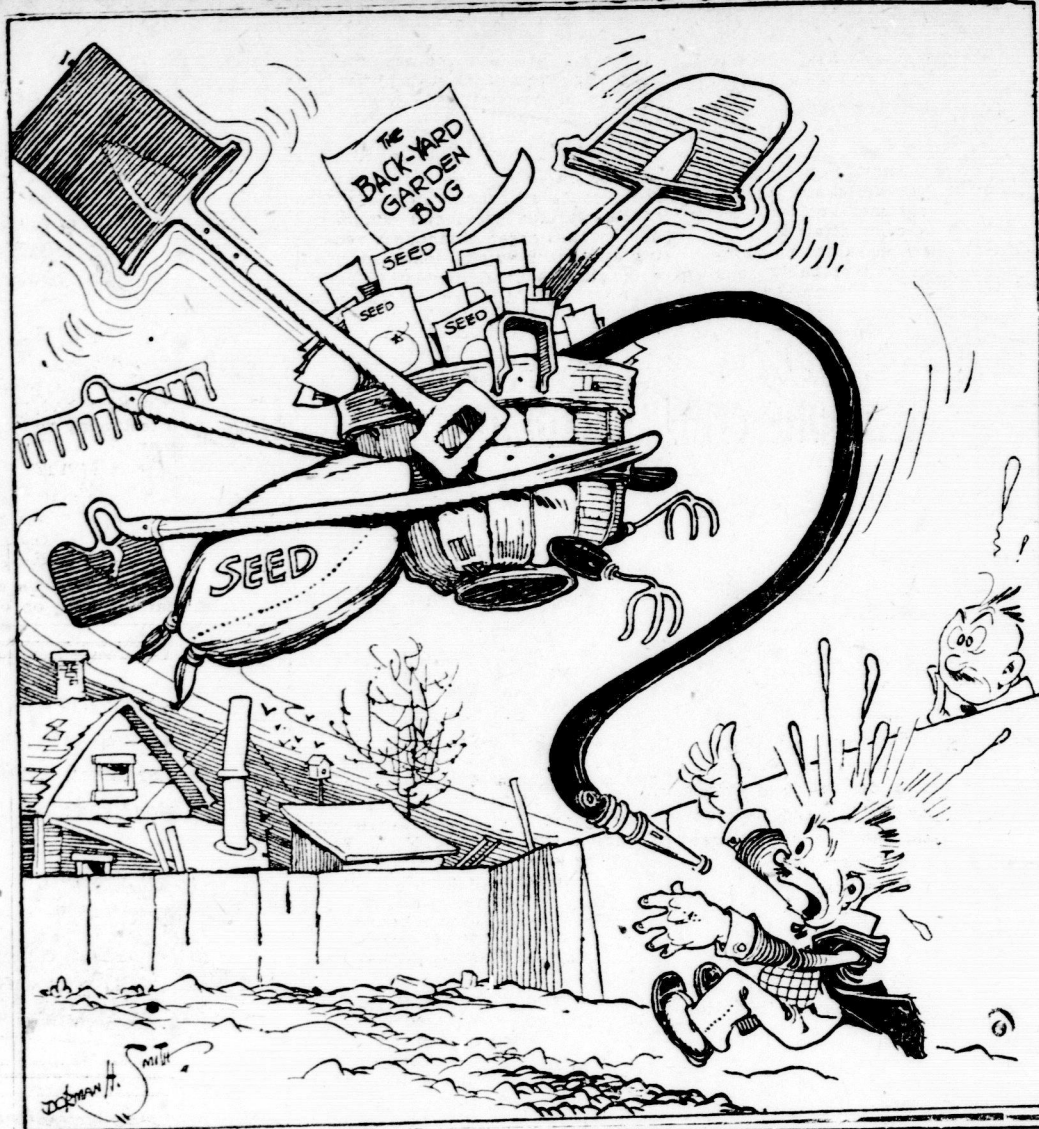

"Where was Hon. T. A. CREEAR when the president of the U. F. A. appealed before the house committee on agriculture for the re-establishment of the wheat board?"

"The farmers of Western Canada must know that the most influential farmer voice that can reach the government at Ottawa is Mr. CREEAR's. Up to the present time, so far as the Herald has been able to discover, Mr. CREEAR has not said one word in support of the move for the wheat board. He has definitely said that he is opposed to it as a permanent measure of control, but he has not said, so far as the Herald has reported, that he is in favor of it even as a temporary measure."

"If the wheat board is re-established it will be, despite the unconcealed opposition of the leader of the Progressive party."

Members from other parts than the West who attended the sessions of the committee on agriculture showed a disposition all through to get at the facts, which, after all, is a greater point than where Mr. CREEAR or any other person stands on the question. Ontario members on all sides of the house want to find out what can be done to help the West, and if it is possible to apply a measure of relief they will support such a measure.

Taking in Property.

A NOTICE in one of the Ontario papers a few days ago to the effect that a certain parcel of land had been taken over for the purpose of subdividing, brings reference to a practice that has been more or less abandoned for the last few years. In no part of Canada has there been much subdividing done recently.

Not so many years ago there was scarcely a town or city that had not anything from one to half a dozen subdivisions on the go at the same time.

It is doubtful if they have been, in the majority of cases, money-makers for all who touched them. The one to sell the property generally got a pretty fair price, and those who were keen enough to get in and out again before the thing cracked often turned over some ready money.

The trouble with a good deal of this property is that it is located in such a spot that people fail to state the wisdom of walking or riding past a whole lot of other good property in order to get at it.

Then with these outside subdivisions came the request for city privileges. Sidewalks were wanted, and so were sewers and roads, light, water and gas.

In too many cases they were installed on a basis where they did not carry the sinking fund and service charges, with the result that the ratepayers of the municipality at large had to make up the difference in one way or another.

If cities are going to grow it stands to reason that new pieces of property are going to be brought into the municipal fold now and then, but the idea of bringing them in must be, in the first place, to supply a need for more homes, rather than to cater to a desire on the part of promoters to make money.

The Calgary Albertan pays its compliments to Hon. T. A. CREEAR as follows: "H. W. Wood is leader of the farmer movement in Canada."

My Faither's Hoose

OER Atlantic's foam there's a bonnie clime,
An' for my hert aff yeans;
Twis th' hame o' Bruce an' o' Wallace baith,
An' th' hame o' Robbie Burns.
There oor faither's mairched wi' a princely tread—
He's nae Scot wha kens a fear—
Hear th' echo o' their undaunted march:
'Tis sweet music tae my ear!

Chorus:
Oh! yon Scottish soil which my faithers trod
I shall cherish till I dee;
An' yon bonnie hills, wi' their heather clad,
Are th' dearest hills tae me.

IN yon bonnie clime there are mansions great,<
For oor gentry an' oor king;
But it's nae about a' these mansions braw
That I dearly lo'e tae sing:
There's an humble hame which I vision aft—
Oh! it's lovely tae my e'e;
It's a wee thatched hoose, 'mang th' heathered hills,
Far awa' ayont th' sea.

Chorus:
It's a braw, braw hoose! it's a cosy hoose!
I shall lo'e it till I dee;
'Tis a bonnie hoose which my faithers bigg'd—
It's a dear, wee hoose tae me!

IT wis in yon hoose that oor hairns wairt born;
There oor youngin's fondly played,
An' there lika day, baith at morn an' e'en,
Lang my forebears humbly prayed.
Let oor gentry ha'e a' their mansions braw;
Gie oor castles tae oor king;
It's wee, thatched hoose, 'mang th' heathered hills,
Which aff gars my hert tae sing.

Chorus:
It's a braw, braw hoose! it's a cosy hoose!
I shall lo'e it till I dee;
'Tis a bonnie hoose which my faithers bigg'd—
It's a dear, wee hoose tae me!

I ha'e cherished lang this wee, cosy hoose,
An' my love shall never wane,
Tho' frae Scottish scenes, which they fondly lo'ed,
A' my faithers noo ha'e gane;
They've anither hoose which I vision aft,
Yet, it's nae on earth here doon;
It's a cosy hoose; it's a splendid hoose,
'Mang yon heathered hills aboon;

Chorus:
It's a braw, braw hoose—tho' there's nae thatched roof—
'Tis a costly hame I see;
'Tis a better hoose than my faithers bigg'd,
Oh, it's bonnie tae my e'e!

a mathematical meaning crop into the world as you see it.

It is located at the root of the nose, just where your glasses rest if you wear them. When the brain center behind it is well developed enough to let you feel a good development of the skull there, you have the kind of brain that naturally orders everything into a balanced relation with other things. It makes you recognize automatically the difference between different people and different things, and different theories and different circumstances. Life and its affairs are more accurately labeled, tagged and card-indexed for you. It gives you sureness and quick decision that are accurate. All great men who have ever submitted to examination have had this bump well developed, that is, all men who have been great in the sense of efficiency.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

Public Health Agencies Are Yours —Use Them

N almost every community, large or small, there are public health agencies brought into being and supported by the taxpayers' money. Such agencies are there solely to serve and help you.

They employ competent doctors, nurses and public health experts, who are kept there to be your advisers.

The common conception of any sort of public health agency is that it is expressly for poor people. This is not true. Poor and well-to-do alike are expected to take advantage of the facilities offered by a public health agency.

When they give you advice, it should be followed—always. If you do not, you fail to avail yourself of

The BOOKSHELF

DANIEL'S HALF-WEEK NOW Closing. By J. J. Ross, D.D., pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Chicago. Fleming H. Revell Company, New York and Edinburgh. $1.00.

A COMPREHENSIVE and valuable treatise on Daniel's prophecy of the seventy weeks has just come from the pen of J. J. Ross, D.D., pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Chicago. This prophecy, which is one of the most amazing in the Scriptures, is dealt with in an intensely interesting manner, special attention being given to the closing three and a half days of the "seventieth week," from which the book takes its name, "Daniel's Half-Week Now Closing."

The study of the prophecy is made very closely, the pages of the book being dotted here and there with references, which make it not only interesting but valuable as a text book. The fact that the author is a lecturer in the Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, Chicago, lends authority to his work.

In his foreword to the book, John McNichol, B.D., of the Toronto Bible College, says:

"Daniel's prophecy of the Seventy Weeks is perhaps the most remarkable passage in all the prophetic Scriptures. The high rank of the angel who brought the message, and the solemn manner in which it was communicated, attest the great importance of the revelation. The meaning of the passage, however, is beset with difficulties, and the attempts to solve them have resulted in widely different views of the fulfillment of the last week."

"The true interpretation must be in harmony with the whole revelation of redemption. No explanation can be sound which departs from the analogy of all other prophecy. Dr. Ross unfolds the true meaning of this prophecy, not by fastening upon the time periods, but by comparing Scripture with Scripture, and so discovering the real content of the message."

"This is the only safe and wise way of dealing with any part of the word of God. He finds that the last week is the period in which the Seventy Weeks culminate, the time in which Messiah's redeeming work is accomplished, beginning with the first and ending with the second coming of the Lord, the first half of the week being fulfilled in the earthly ministry of Christ, the last half in the present Christian dispensation."

"This is surely the most worthy consummation for the Seventy Weeks and the most satisfying explanation of the right of purpose, significance and application of the prophecy. "It is an interesting and significant fact that the Angel Gabriel appears only at one other point in the course of divine revelation. It was he who announced the birth of Christ himself. The same minister of spirit who was chosen by God to convey this sublime prophecy to man was chosen again to bear the tidings of its approaching fulfillment."

R. C. Cheswright, Seaford; G. A. Ross, Preston; A. Mueller, Berlin; auditors, W. J. Dobbie, Guelph; H. B. Boenher, Berlin.

A meeting of the Ministerial Association of London was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms this morning. The following were present: Rev. Messrs. J. G. Stuart, Arch. Stewart, R. Johnston, T. Wilson, J. A. Ferguson, E. B. Lancelley, W. H. Claris, Ira Smith, E. Middleton, A. G. Harris, R. Hobbs, B. Clement, W. M. Walker, G. Fowler, A. L. Russell, George Jackson, R. Holden, J. W. Pedley and W. J. Clark. Rev. Stephen Bond of Seaford was a welcome visitor.

At the men's meeting in the auditorium Sunday, Rev. Richard Hobbs gave an interesting address on "The Manly Man." A quartet was ably rendered by Messrs. Collins, Dalton, Macdonald and Lockhart. Cresswell's orchestra also contributed to the program.

Easter was commemorated on Sunday at the Wellington Street Methodist Church by a special sermon by Rev. A. L. Russell, pastor, and special music by the choir. The anthem was "Te Deum Laudamus" (J. L. Hopkins), and Misses Raymond and Law and Messrs. Westman and Chambers sang "We Would See Jesus."

Rev. T. Johnson occupied the pulpit at Adelaide Street Baptist Church on Sunday, and the following musical program was carried out: Misses Lila Woodburne and Ruth Finch and Mr. Charles Maynard took the duet and solo parts in the morning anthem, and the male quartet, which included Messrs. Charles Maynard, A. Bragge, C. G. Moorhead, and Wm. Bevine, sang very sweetly, "Oh, Glorious Morning." In the evening the male quartet sang "The Beacon Light" (G. F. Roote) with fine effect. Miss Nellie Rendell ably filled her position as leader and organist.

Special Terms and Reduction in Prices During Brunswick Week

In order to allow the music-loving public of London to have a good Phonograph in their home without a large initial expense—the Crawford Piano Company are making a special offer during Brunswick Week where by $10 cash will place ANY Brunswick in a home, and the balance on convenient monthly payments.

This is even more important in view of the announcement by the Brunswick Company of a Reduction in Price, commencing with Brunswick Week.

The Brunswick is known today as "Canada's Greatest Phonograph Value" because of its quality of material used—its special construction and the additional features which no other Phonograph possesses. These are:

1. "Ultima"—A Three-in-One Reproducing which by a simple twist of the wrist plays ANY make of record exactly as it should be played. A weight adjustment in arm gives just the right weight for diamond disc records.

The All-Wood Oval Horn is built like a violin. Tone waves travel in circles and for this reason the Brunswick exclusive Tone Amplifier (horn) is constructed in an Oval Shape as to produce more overtones and it is made of wood that has a metallic tone is overcome.

The exclusive Brunswick motor is displayed during this week, and many features explained.

Anyone interested in Better Music or How a Phonograph is Made will find the display on exhibition at the Crawford Piano Company, 236 Dundas Street, very interesting. It is free to all, and every lover of good music is invited.

A Life for A Dollar

NEVER was human life so cheap as it can be bought today in the famine districts of Russia.

$1 will save a child's life by providing food for a month. $10 will save ten children from starvation. $500 will establish a kitchen and feed 100 children until the next harvest.

Will you save a life with a dollar?

Could any other dollar you have—or ever hope to have—bring such soul-satisfying returns?

Wouldn't you sleep better—feel better—be better—if you knew that a dollar of yours saved a child's life?

Only—anything you do to save the children of Russia in their desperate fight against death from starvation, must be done at once. Won't you send the dollar NOW? A child's life depends on it.

Longer Sticks and Stronger Sticks

How the users do appreciate these new and better matches.

How pleased they are to have at last such thoroughly dependable matches—matches that always light the first time; that don't break nor glow; and the heads don't fly off.

The Stronger Stick prevents flying heads and saves burnt fingers, clothes and carpets.

The Longer Stick keeps the flame away from the fingers; this means a lot to the smoker and to the woman who does her own cooking.

FEAR HAMILTON FACING STRIKE

Civic Officials and Labor Representatives Believe Company Obdurate.

Head of Dominion Power Company Refuses To Accept Award.

HAMILTON, April 18.—Announcement tonight by E. P. Coleman, general manager of the Dominion Power and Transmission Company that the latter would not accept the majority award of fixing wages for carmen and allied workers by the board of conciliation, means that a strike, such as Hamilton has never before experienced, will very probably commence late on Thursday or early Friday morning of this week.

Mr. Coleman stated the company will not entertain any overtures from the men that it accept the majority award.

James McIlwraith, president of the street railwaymen's union, said that in view of Mr. Coleman's attitude there would be no alternative but for the street railwaymen, crews of suburban railway lines and operators of the power-houses to quit work on Thursday.

While arrangements have been made for civic officials and representatives of the men to wait upon the company for a final answer, it is felt by the men tonight that Mr. Coleman has already given a final statement of the company's attitude. Briefly, the strike threatens to throw 25,000 men out of work by reason of the large, factories dependent upon the Dominion Power and Transmission Company for power; the city will have no car service, and a district stretching from Beamsville to Brantford, and from the city to Oakville may perhaps be without radial services.

HON. J. COSTIGAN'S WIDOW IS DEAD

Ottawa, April 18.—The death occurred here of Mrs. John Costigan, aged 59, relict of the late Hon. He was member for Victoria and Madawaska (New Brunswick) from Confederation until his death six years ago. Interment will be made at Grand Falls, N.B.

"TIZ" FOR ACHING, SORE, TIRED FEET

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, sore-cracked, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy, as they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "TIZ." It's a dance with joy; also you will find all grand—it's glorious. Your feet will gain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "TIZ." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture. A few cents buy a box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get, how comfortable your shoes feel. Adv.

URGES BROADER BOOK SELECTION

Syracuse Speaker Tells Ontario Librarians All Sides Should Be Heard.

W. H. Murch of St. Thomas Elected President For Ensuing Year.

TORONTO, April 18.—The annual convention of the Ontario Library Association was brought to a close this afternoon at the final house of the gathering being devoted to a round table discussion in which the practical working of library systems and the development of a closer touch with the needs of the public in all departments were dealt with.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Past president, W. J. Sykes, Ottawa; president, W. H. Murch, St. Thomas; first vice-president, W. Brien, St. Catharines; second vice-president, C. W. Rudlen, Sault Ste. Marie; secretary-treasurer, Dr. E. A. Hardy, Ottawa; councilors, Lillian Smith, Toronto; C. A. Byrn, New Liskeard; F. N. Delafosse, Peterboro; Fred Landon, London; and W. G. Ward, Niagara Falls.

In the morning, Paul M. Paine, Syracuse, N.Y., read a paper on "Let the Other Side Be Heard," in which he urged a broader spirit in the control of book selections, so that information on all sides of every question would be available for students in the public libraries.

Discussion on the outstanding books to be issued early in 1922 was taken part in by Mabel Dunham, Kitchener; Miss McGregor, Toronto; Miss M. Black, Fort William; Agnes Lancelotti, Windsor; F. M. Delafosse, Peterboro and Fred Landon, London.

Book selection for small libraries was discussed by Agnes Lancelotti of Windsor; reference libraries, by Miss H. M. Baxter, London, and children's departments by Lillian H. Smith, Toronto.

In the inspector's section the president, A. A. Jordan, Toronto, in speaking on "Some Problems of the Public School Inspector," deplored the fact that there was no definite teaching in either the public or high school to offset the crime wave. He suggested that a special textbook might be designed to remedy the situation.

Mr. Jordan advocated the payment of salaries that would be commensurate with the duties and work of inspectors, which, he claimed, was not the case at present.

Inspector Day, in the inspector's section, said the chief responsibility for the training of children rested on the home, but the home had not proven equal to the responsibility. The school alone was not capable of coping with the problem of child training, he said, though the school might do more than it was doing.

Claims Ontario Legislature, Sir Frederick Stupart, of the meteorological bureau, Toronto, gave an illustrated address on weather and climate, and J. C. Doherty illustrated by slides "Algonquin Trails," picturing those sections of Northern Ontario which were once the home of the red man.

Judge J. H. Scott of Perth, in the trustees' section, of which he is president, declared: "Ontario is lagging behind her sister provinces and the neighboring states in installing modern equipment for rural education."

He blamed the home for delinquency in attendance of pupils at the schools. "The school," he declared, "is a deplorable institution, which is characterized as largely a commercial proposition. The department of education, he said, should compel the signing of contracts between teachers and trustees in every case, such contracts to be strictly adhered to."

GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE FOR ATTACK UPON YOUNG GIRL

Charles Miller Found Guilty by St. Catharines Jury After One Minute's Deliberation.

ST. CATHARINES, April 18.—Life imprisonment was the sentence imposed tonight by Justice Leitch on Charles Miller, aged 23, whom a jury, after a minute's deliberation, had declared guilty of a criminal attack upon 12-year-old Agnes Lawson at St. Davids on November 21 last.

Through his counsel, D. F. Pepler, Miller pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted attack upon Nellie Affleck, Agnes' companion. The charge of attempting to murder Raymond Lawson, Agnes' older brother, was altered to "shooting and wounding," with the consent of Sir William Hearst, crown prosecutor, and a plea of guilty substituted. On the latter two charges, sentences of six and two years respectively were imposed by the court, all sentences to run concurrently.

All persons under 21 years were excluded from the courtroom during the trial.

Both girls positively identified Miller as the assailant, and testified that he had threatened them with death if they made a noise.

A signed confession made by Miller, in the provincial police office at Niagara Falls on November 29, was read in evidence.

Dr. English of the Hamilton Asylum was confident that Miller was conscious of wrongdoing.

WORLD NEWS CUT SHORT

BUDAPEST, April 18.—The inquest into the death of a Liberal leader recently killed by a bomb proves that the outrage was committed by the "Awakening Hungarians."

Some of the prominent leaders of this anti-Semitic organization have been arrested. Still the "Awakening Hungarians" are bullying everybody, and because of the threatening chaos Premier Bethlen has been recalled from Genoa. It is expected he will return to Budapest soon.

PARIS, April 18.—Basing their case on a claim that they have a right to dispose of any and every thing left behind, certain heirs of Marie Bashkirtseff, a famous Russian egotist, have opened negotiations to sell her tomb and chapel in a Paris cemetery, which for years has been the shrine of her admirers.

Negotiations temporarily have been halted by another faction which is trying to prevent the intended sacrifice. As a result of the fight, the tomb and chapel have been closed to visitors.

PARIS, April 18.—After having been rescued by gendarmes from a crowd that had attempted to lynch him for a non-hour robbery of a messenger boy, a youthful, elegantly dressed hold-up man shot and fatally wounded himself in a police station here.

The robbery took place at the junction of the Boulevard Malesherbes and Hausmann street, two of the most crowded thoroughfares of the city, just as a noon crowd swarmed out to lunch. The thief, the messenger into an office building and just within the doorway struck him down with an iron bar and seized a sack containing 25,000 francs in cash and 1,800,000 francs in bonds.

The youth then fled through the crowds, who took up the pursuit, hearing the messenger's cries. When the gendarmes arrived the mob had killed the robber, who was rescued with the greatest difficulty.

No sooner had the youth been taken into the police station than he pulled a pistol from his pocket and fired a shot into his mouth.

PARIS, April 18.—President Millerand's African visit has been the occasion for more than one amusing incident arising out of Arab customs and peculiar habits of elaborate ceremonial. Viewed from the Moroccan standpoint, some European customs, of course, appear stranger still than do theirs to us.

The greatest surprise was caused by the lack of splendor in the French president's attire. The Sultan of Morocco, when preparing to receive President Millerand, asked what kind of uniform he would be wearing in order to be sure to recognize him. He was very much surprised to learn that the dress would consist of just a plain evening suit and top hat.

"I see," said the Sultan, adding, "but I suppose Millerand's hat will be decorated with some kind of plume."

The potentate was much astonished to learn that the chief of the French republic would not even carry that insignia of power.

PARIS, April 18.—Plates of pearls and packets of rubies of handsets of diamonds are passed around almost as frequently as sandwiches and beer in a dingy cafe on Rue Lafayette, with nothing either inside or out to indicate the untold wealth it contains.

At certain hours of the day. Most of the customers are dark, black-bearded men, obviously hailing from the east. Each has a little pile of glittering gems on the table before him beside his glass of vermouth or red wine.

"This is the jewel market of Paris, where scores of brokers meet and do business. On some days, in the busier seasons, the number of dealers is so great that the 'exchange' flows to the pavement outside, causing passers-by to wonder at the strange gathering of a soberly gesticulating crowd of men, who, if they only made a little more noise, might be taken for an overflow from the Bourse."

LONDON, April 18.—Old Westminster Abbey may be the place where Great Britain's kings are crowned and where poets have a corner of their own. But it has been ascertained definitely. It is also the last resting place of a once noted prize fighter, John Broughton, a Yeoman of the Guard and the inventor of the boxing glove.

For more than a century it has been thought that the old pugilist was buried in Lambeth church here, and the tombstone over a grave there had the inscription, "Here lies John Broughton," and described him as a pugilist.

The records of Westminster Abbey now show that Broughton was buried there Jan. 21, 1789. He was given burial in the historic Abbey, not because of his prowess in the ring but because he was a Yeoman of the Guard. Why a tombstone was erected to him in Lambeth church is a mystery.

LONDON, April 18.—The question here was not "Should a woman smoke?" but "How many cigarettes a day should a woman—a married woman—smoke?"

The question arose recently during the trial of a suit for $360, which a New Bond Street firm of cigarette makers, brought against Mrs. E. Kingscote of Farnington, Berkshire. In the Westminster County Court here the woman testified that she has not lived with her husband since April, 1920. Her defense was that, while they dwelt together, she was only an agent of her husband. She ordered the cigarettes for their home, but, as she smoked some of them, she was willing to pay for 100 cigarettes a week during the period embraced in the makers' bill.

Judge Cresswell, in Mrs. Kingscote's counsel: "What in your experience is a reasonable number of cigarettes for a lady in her position?"

The counsel replied: "I should say from experience that 100 a week would be reasonable for her."

His Honor responded: "That would

Canadian Veterans To Install Radio That Will Talk From Coast To Coast

OTTAWA, Ont., April 18.—Members of the G. W. V. A. Dominion and provincial commands have been working for some time on a plan for quicker and better communication between the Dominion command, and the provincial units and the larger city organizations, and at last the solution has been attained.

The answer is radio telephony. The matter was probably come up at the G. W. V. A. provincial convention which opens here on Thursday next. While plans are not yet definitely fixed, it is stated that estimates of cost will be obtained on the following arrangement:

The Dominion G. W. V. A. will install in Ottawa a large sending apparatus capable of reaching Canada from coast to coast. In the offices of the various provincial commands and in the larger clubhouses receiving apparatus will be installed. Then a constant source of communication from headquarters to all Canadian posts will be possible.

NURSES TO MEET IN TELEPHONE CITY

Ontario Association To Hold 19th Annual Conference in Brantford.

PROGRAM COMPLETED

Expected That About 300 Will Attend From All Over Province.

BRANTFORD, April 18.—Once again Brantford is to welcome a large provincial delegation of women. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, of this week, the Graduate Nurses' Association of Ontario will convene here for its 19th annual meeting. "Telephone City" is winning reputation as a hostess city, and when the Alumnae Association of the Brantford General Hospital at the meeting last year extended an invitation to the nurses of Ontario to come to Brantford, it was readily accepted.

300 Nurses Expected. Between 250 and 300 nurses are expected to be present. They will begin to arrive Wednesday night and the meetings will begin Thursday morning. All the delegates will register at Grace Church Parish Hall and the sessions will take place there, concluding at noon, Saturday. Just one open meeting has been arranged and that will be on Friday evening, when the public will be admitted.

All nurses of good standing become members of the alumnae of their own training school, and all the training schools are affiliated with the association, so all nurses in the province belong to the association, making it one of the outstanding confederations of women.

Miss Jamieson of Toronto, head of the medical branch of the department of education, is the president of this important body of active women, and she will preside at the sessions here. Mrs. A. C. Joseph of London, who, while not now engaged in her profession, is keenly interested in the welfare of her sisters, is the first vice-president. The second vice-president is Miss Catterton, superintendent of the General Hospital in Ottawa, and Miss M. J. Fox of Toronto, a public health nurse connected with the provincial department of health, is the secretary-treasurer. In addition to the executive officers, there is a board of directors numbering 21 nurses. Miss Hall, night supervisor at the Brantford Hospital, being on the board.

The opening session on Thursday will include local addresses, beginning with an invocation offered by Rev. G. A. Woodside, D.D., and followed by discourses from Very Rev. Dean Brady, Miss Jamieson, Miss Forde and M. C. Waterous. A purely business session will come immediately after this.

Bertha Fifey and Muriel McKay, both of Toronto, and Miss Catterton will include round-table discussions in the afternoon.

Friday Ina I. Greenville will give a talk on provincial public health work. Julia Stewart will outline the history of the Graduate Nurses' Association of Ontario, and Charlotte Whittin will give a talk on social service work.

Friday evening's program will include musical numbers and addresses by Archdeacon Fotheringham, W. B. Race, Mrs. S. W. Secord and Rev. C. E. Jenkins. The convention will close with a purely business meeting on Saturday morning.

HEIRESS LONGS TO BE MARRIED

CHERTBOURG, April 18.—Accompanied by her mother and a maid, Mary Langdon Baker, who has twice left her fiancé, Allister McCormick of Chicago, "waiting at the altar," arrived here today on the Aquitania. A cabbed greeting from McCormick awaited her.

Miss Baker said she was anxious for the moment when she will be married.

"I have been so much misquoted," she said. "I will marry as soon as I reach Wrybridge. I cannot explain why I did not marry before."

be fourteen a day."

To Mrs. Kingscote: "Is that a reasonable number for a married woman?"

Mrs. Kingscote admitted: "I think it rather large if one smoked all of them oneself."

Nevertheless, the standard was established—fourteen plus cigarettes a day.

The witness said that he leaned from the side of his cab and asked what the trouble was, but heard no answer. Afterwards he learned that a body had been found.

Mr. Arlein's testimony was confirmed by his friend.

James Yates, a brother of the deceased, said that his sister had gone to bed at 7 o'clock on the night of her death. She was 43 years of age.

William Nisbet, engineer on No. 48, sounded his bell about 9:15 p.m. on reaching the bridge, he said, and declared that the light on his engine

E. Young, a switchman, and other witnesses testified to finding the body.

Special to London Advertiser. ST. THOMAS, April 18.—A verdict of accidental death was brought in Tuesday night by the jury which investigated the circumstances surrounding the death of Maud Yates, who was killed while walking on the M. C. R. tracks west of the city on the night of Tuesday, April 11.

The inquest was held before Coroner D. L. Ewin. W. E. Spencer appeared on behalf of the railway company.

That the unfortunate woman appeared to be in a dazed condition, was the evidence of Leonard Arlein, engineer of a freight extra which passed the spot of the accident about ten minutes before train No. 48, which struck her. Mr. Arlein said that as his train approached the woman, who was in the middle of the eastbound main line track, he sounded the whistle and she moved to the south of the track, but wandered back again.

As he heard her she went west on

HEAD AND NOSTRILS CLOGGED UP COULD SCARCELY BREATHE

When you become all choked up and stuffed up with cold your head becomes thick, the nostrils become so clogged up you can hardly breathe, the feeling of weight or oppression in the chest and the cough, croup and tears your lungs and bronchial tubes.

This is the time to take DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

before things get to be too serious. There is no remedy so equal to clearing up the cold, making the breathing easy, loosening the phlegm and soothing and healing the lungs and bronchial tubes.

Mrs. Edward Kincaid, 60 Bryden street, St. John, N.B., writes: "I wish to express my hearty thanks to your valuable remedy Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and what good it did me. Last fall I contracted a severe cold. I never had my head and nostrils were so clogged up I could get no vent, and could scarcely get my breath. I tried remedy after remedy until at last I thought I would try 'Dr. Wood's.' After the first dose I felt relief, and by the time the bottle was finished I was all better. I will always keep it in the house."

The foregoing were orders for a Girl Guide Leaders' training camp, in progress this week at the Crony Farm in London township, discussed posted up on the door of the living-room of the pitiable farm house Tuesday afternoon. The routine, it was stated, was of every day of the well-ordered camp life. But a couple of hours spent with the class and it convinced that regulations were half so iron-clad as they sound—nor the discipline of a military camp expected. Out a country road that turned unexpectedly and climbed a breathing hill the trail led through a forest of tall trees that whispered in the stiff April breeze. The road dropped down, then, down, now on one side, now the other, to deep valleys, in the bottom of which rippled shining trout. KIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly 25 per cent of the cases of stomach, indigestion, sourness, burning, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a deficiency of it. The delicate gastric lining is irritated, digestion is slowed and food souring, causing the visible symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well. Artificial stimulants are not needed in such cases, but may do real harm. Try to get from any drugist a few tablets of Bismarck's Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water after eating. This sweet-tasting stomachic prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, or pain. Bismarck's Magnesia (in either tablet form or liquid) is harmless to the stomach, is easy to take and is the most potent form of magnesia for stomachic use. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no fear of indigestion.—Advt.

HOLD MUSIC CLUB FINAL.

The final recital of the season of the Woman's Music Club, postponed from the evening of April 2, owing to the big storm which tied up the city that day, takes place on Thursday evening this week, April 20, in the Normal School, at 8 p.m. Additions which will be much appreciated have been made to the charming dance forms program arranged for the former date by Miss Edna Paul and Miss Mabel Stevens.

stone house with balconies delightfully hung in unexpected places, and built-out chimneys enhancing the picturesque. Following the drive, a trim hedge of shrubbery promising richest incense and gorgeous bloom in syringa-blossom time.

To the east, across a stretch of green lawn, rose a round tower with iron ladders. The practical person said: "A silo." The scientific-minded, "A water tower." But the romantic souls refused to believe it was anything but a splendidly-preserved old round-tower fortress, to which the lord of the manor and his dependents had repaired in the days when the Redmen skulked up the hills from the river, he feathered and war-painted tomahawks in hand.

The door of the mansion swung open to emit a tantalizing odor of cooking that came from the generous kitchen to the left, where the patrol on duty was engaged in getting dinner.

In the big dining-room on the right the tables were already laid, in the center of the long one an old-fashioned, revolving table, the "self-serve" of the good old bountiful days. The guides, however, had dedicated it to purely artistic purposes, to support vases of hepatica, pinky-white, pink and mauve, and the song in the heart was one of a driver for a capable driver at the wheel of the car. A turn, the ascent of upland, and a grand view in front of a stately grey side. Down, down, the ground rolled to the trout ponds, then across field to the river, turbulent, brown-yellow, swollen. Across there was more meadowland and treed hillsides, then the skyline of vivid blue, fleeced with clouds.

The secretary, Miss Davis, had her office in a nook in the south end of the hall, where a piano also fitted snugly, but comfortably. In the big sitting-room with its books and cosy seats girls read, wrote, chatted or just purled in the warmth of the open hearth. On the table were bowls of hepatica, and Naturalist W. E. Saunders drew attention to the variety of the coloring, the difference in size and number of petals.

The dinner bell rang and there was a cheerful, hurried movement towards the dining-room, where the patrol that had cooked the plain, but delicious dinner, also served.

Right up to the windows outside wandered the deep-fleeced sheep and the 1922 models of "Mary's lamb" to make a calm survey of the human diners, turning round to nibble away at their own mid-day meal of tender young grass, and tid-bits in the way of garden-fresh hepatica and English violets.

Was it "cakes and pies for officers' wives," while "poor privates' wives had skilly?"

Not a bit of it. From the provincial commissioner and camp commandant, and distinguished lecturers, right down to the newest guide, everybody had savory spiced beef, mashed potatoes, piping hot, creamed corn, bread and butter and a toothsome light pudding with a hint of nuts and peel and such good things.

After the last crumb was gone, there was leisure for rest, until the industrious dinner patrol had washed and wiped the last dish.

But the dinner patrol of Tuesday will be the last of the kind. Wednesday, and the breakfast of Thursday, and so each in turn gets heavy and light duty, all having responsibility for keeping their own rooms or corners thereof models of neatness.

When Mr. Saunders wanted to initiate his class into the mysteries and delights of birdland, the delightful birding trip, he led the way to the wooded slopes and pointed to this and that citizen of the feathered kingdom, rapturously calling attention to its characteristic notes.

Miss Bertha Smith, supervisor of child welfare nurses, is giving a series of lectures on caring for babies, with a most realistic dummy as the subject to be experimented upon, for correct methods of bathing, dressing, etc.

These include solos by Mrs. Munro, contralto, of Strathroy, and a duet number, in which Carman Learn, baritone, will appear with Miss Hilda McMillan, soprano. Miss McMillan is singing a group of songs in dance form, and Miss Mabel Stevens, pianist, will play a gavotte, tarantelle and waltz.

As an opening number "The Invitation to the Dance" (Weber), arranged for two pianos, will be presented by Miss Minnie Raymond, O. Leo Herbert, Mrs. Hubert Eckert and George Winterbottom.

Delightful variety will be added by interpretive dances, "The Tarantelle," by Isabel McCrimmon and Mary Burns; "The Dresden China Gavotte," Lucy Downham and Eleanor Greene; "To a Wild Rose," Marjorie Partridge, with violin obbligato, by Miss Leona Murphy.

order is less militaristic than at the first camp, in deference to the holiday season. But, if easy, discipline apparently is ideal, and the girls, including leaders and all, are going to be sorry to leave the enchanting little bit of their native Canada that they will remember happily ever after as the country home of their provincial commissioner.

WITH BRIDES THE BRIDES

HOLMES—JOYES.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Tuesday, April 18, at high noon, at the Lambeth Methodist parsonage, when Eva Belle, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Joyes was united in marriage to Albert W. Holmes of Southampton, England.

Rev. J. E. Hunter officiating. The bride looked charming in a navy blue charmeuse satin gown, beaded in silver and wore a chic hat and veil to match. The young couple were unattended. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty wedding luncheon was served. The color scheme carried throughout the decoration of the dining-room was pink and white, the bride's cake occupying the center of the table, which was prettily adorned with roses, sweet peas and fern. The bride and groom received many useful and attractive gifts, including silver, cut glass and handpainted china. After a short honeymoon, spent in Belding, Mich., the young couple will reside in their new home in Lambeth and will be at home to their friends after May 1.

MACKILLIP—MORRISH. An interesting wedding was that of Miss Eva May Morrish to Archibald Mackillop, both of Butternut, Ont., which took place Wednesday afternoon, April 12, at the Presbyterian manse, Hyde Park. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. MacKillop, B.A. The room was tastefully arranged with daffodils and pink roses, which lent a spring-like charm to the occasion.

The bride was handsomely gowned in navy blue, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Alice Morrish, who wore a gown of blue and carried pink roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Robert MacKillop.

After the ceremony the happy couple left for a short eastern trip, after which they will be at home to their friends at the groom's home in Dutton.

WALLCOMB—SCOTT.

Saturday afternoon, the marriage took place in the Presbyterian manse, Granton, of Grace Scott, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Scott, Granton, to Norman Wallcomb, a prosperous young farmer of the vicinity of Mitchell, Ont. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Nellie Digby, of London, England, was married to Mr. Sidney Hall, son of this city, formerly of England. Rev. Canon Sage officiating. The bride looked charming in her gown of white satin, trimmed with handsome lace, and wearing a beautiful veil sent to her by her mother in England. She was given in marriage by Mr. J. Reed, cousin of the groom. Miss Winnie Reed was the maid of honor, and Miss Eva May Ebsworthy the flower girl, while Mr. James Bright acted as best man. The wedding march was played by Miss May Wildgust, a solo, "Until" being sung by Mr. Harold Wildgust during the signing of the register. After the ceremony the guests were entertained at a wedding breakfast at the home of Mrs. Reed, 42 Grosvenor street, about of the groom. Cables wishing the newly-wedded couple every happiness were received during the day from relatives of the bride in England. Mr. and Mrs. Hallworth left on a wedding trip, the bride traveling in a smart tweed suit and black hat.

HALLSWORTH—DIGBY.

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, April 15, 1922, at St. George's Church, when Miss Nellie Digby, of London, England, was married to Mr. Sidney Hall, son of this city, formerly of England. Rev. Canon Sage officiating. The bride looked charming in her gown of white satin, trimmed with handsome lace, and wearing a beautiful veil sent to her by her mother in England. She was given in marriage by Mr. J. Reed, cousin of the groom. Miss Winnie Reed was the maid of honor, and Miss Eva May Ebsworthy the flower girl, while Mr. James Bright acted as best man. The wedding march was played by Miss May Wildgust, a solo, "Until" being sung by Mr. Harold Wildgust during the signing of the register. After the ceremony the guests were entertained at a wedding breakfast at the home of Mrs. Reed, 42 Grosvenor street, about of the groom. Cables wishing the newly-wedded couple every happiness were received during the day from relatives of the bride in England. Mr. and Mrs. Hallworth left on a wedding trip, the bride traveling in a smart tweed suit and black hat.

Among those present at the wedding were: Mrs. Canning, Mr. E. Canning and Miss Hilda Canning of Galt; Mrs. Riley, Miss Freda Wilkins, Miss Dora York-Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. E. Robertson, Ed. Palmer, C. Elbourne, A. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. J. Elbourne, Mr. and Mrs. Wildgust, May Wildgust, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Ebsworthy, Miss Eva Ebsworthy, Mrs. Reed, Miss Winnie Reed, J. Reed, C. Reed, Master Ben Reed, Master W. Webber. Many handsome presents were received by the happy couple.

LONDON PLAYERS GO A-TRAVELING

A delightful trip to Mount Brydges was enjoyed by the members of the Nightingale Club of the Y. W. C. A. and assisting artists who presented before a most appreciative audience the comedy-drama of rural life, "Where the Lane Turned."

Arriving at their destination, they were entertained at a bountiful supper by the Women's Institute, after which the play was given in the auditorium of the attractive War Memorial Community Hall.

Starting with an automobile accident, the action of the play proceeded through the confession of Vincent Grafton the villain of the piece, and proceeded by Joyce Cartwright, the trained nurse; the adventures of the French maid and summer boarder, and finally the visit of the country cousins to New York, and the inevitable wedding bells.

Those taking part in the production, under the direction of Mrs. John Crawford, were: Misses Gertrude Parker, Ada Minelly, Jean McVicar, Elsie Chambers, Violet Plain, Messrs. Wallace Hutson, Joseph Oultram, William Wylie, Fred Nye, Albert Outram, Paul Sasche and Master Sidde Read. The play will be presented for a London audience in the Masonic Temple, April 27.

Served Overseas During War Days; Take Up Guiding With Enthusiasm

Princess' Gift Fund Is Still Growing.

THOUGH almost two months have elapsed since the wedding day of England's fairy princess, the fund for her wedding gift is still growing in London town. This is due to the fact that its "destined end" is to endow a cot in the War Memorial Children's Hospital at a cost of $1,000. The convener of the hospital committee, Mrs. A. H. Smith, speaks optimistically of the prospects of completing the fund in the near future. The following are the latest donations to be acknowledged: Mrs. R. J. Henderson, $25; Miss Ethel Davies, $5; Miss Mary Hays, $1; Mrs. Wright, $1; S. S. No. 5, Byron, per Miss Coulton, $11. Total, $43.

Feast of Music Marks Reunion

Talented Saunders Family Holds Annual House Party in Clinton, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Saunders, Miss Nan Saunders and Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Fetherston leave Wednesday for Clinton, N. Y., where they will attend the annual reunion of the Saunders family, in the home of Dr. Percy Saunders.

Exceptionally gifted in a musical way, the Saunders family makes of its family gathering a veritable musical festival, devoting hours to playing chamber music. This year the program is to be more ambitious than ever before, owing to the fact that outstanding American artists have been invited to participate in the "feast of music."

Amongst these are Miss North, violinist, and Miss Littlehales, cellist of the Olive Meade Quartet, one of the most outstanding musical organizations on the continent. A distinguished violinist from Utica, N. Y., will also join the party on Friday, when it is proposed to read a number of sextets, three violins, two cellos and a viola.

Brilliant Amateurs.

While Henry Saunders of Toronto, formerly of London, is widely known as a leading Canadian cellist, equaling him in talent and in mastery of their own instruments are his two brothers, whose other duties have prevented them from entering the professional class. They are Dr. Percy Saunders of Clinton, N. Y., violinist, and Fred Saunders, who has chosen the viola as his medium for expression.

Fitting happily into such a family circle, son and daughter of the late Dr. William Saunders of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, are members of the second generation, among these, Mrs. Howard Fetherston, one of London's most gifted pianists.

In addition to their enthusiasm for music, the Saunders family is noted for keen interest in nature study, spending hours of delight in becoming better acquainted with birds and flowers.

W. E. Saunders' last important engagement before leaving the city Wednesday was to deliver a delightful "illustrated" lecture on bird lore and bird life to the guide leaders attending the provincial training camp at the Crony Farm. Doubtless, if time permits during the present return, there will be trips to groves and woods to get a close-up view of Birdland life.

Plan Sextets.

Thursday as to be "arrival day," when all the members of the well-known Canadian family will assemble in Clinton, N. Y. Friday a generous share of the time will be given to quartet music, and Saturday the ambitious musical program day, when the assistance of the visiting artists, Dr. Charles Saunders of Ottawa, who has recently resigned his post at the Dominion Experimental Farm, will be present, but will not take part in the music this year, owing to the fact that he has been in ill-health for some time. Under the circumstances, it will be permitted, for once, just to rest and enjoy the entertainment afforded by the others.

GRACE COUNTRY CLUB. The regular meeting of the club was held on Saturday, April 8, at the home of Miss Annie Leonard, with a good attendance.

During this meeting the girls decided to buy Turkish toweling from which to make towels and wash cloths for the War Memorial Children's Hospital. After the business meeting dainty afternoon tea was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held on Saturday, April 22, at the home of Miss Mabel and Marjorie Matheson, 12th line.

GOLDEN WEDDING IS JOYOUS EVENT

Mr. and Mrs. James Goward, 155 Rectory street, were happily married Saturday afternoon by fifty or more of their friends of long standing, who called on them to offer hearty congratulations on their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Many tokens of love and good-will were showered upon the worthy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Goward were married at Port, Dorset, England, April 15, 1872. Coming to this country immediately, and have been residents of this city ever since, with exception of two years spent at Windsor, Ont. One daughter, Mrs. Alfred Osborn, was with them on the festive occasion. They have two grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Goward, who are spending the Easter vacation at the Crony Farm.

Out at the Easter week Guide leaders' training camp on the Crony farm are several young women who gained valuable experience in discipline and service in war days.

Miss Kaye Symes of Ottawa, chief of the instructional staff, who has been interested in Guide work for nine and a half years, according to her own statement, served overseas in war days as a V. A. D., and looks to the Guide commissioners' uniform with interest.

Miss Loder, her assistant, formerly of the Toronto Girl Guide Council, now of the Canadian, in the troublous war times in England, her home land, enlisted with the "W.E.A.F." doing her bit in connection with the Royal Air Force.

A smart figure in a becoming khaki uniform is Miss Elizabeth Hughes, now of Hamilton, late of London, England. During the war she was for a time with Queen Mary's army auxiliary corps, and was known as "W. A. C." She had charge at Charlton Park, near Woolwich, of three hostels for women, who cooked, washed and rendered other service. The oldest of her "charges" was 49 years old, the youngest 15. She arranged for them readings, music, lectures and addresses, what they enjoyed most of all, dances, to which they asked their men friends, and looked after their welfare in general.

With the voluntary corps, the "Green Cross," she came in contact with Canadians when she was on duty at Peel House, near Victoria, London, a couple of overseas men on leave. Assisting her were a number of Canadian women, whose husbands were on duty either in England or at the front.

She came out to Canada a couple of years ago, when rationing was still necessary in England, and there was difficulty in getting sufficient fuel. The faces of the people still showed the strain of war and tragedy back home, and the first thing that struck her was the more happy and care-free look of the Canadian people as a whole. She became associated with the Hamilton Y. W. C. A. and was a movement to teach Girl Guide activities. Not knowing anything about "girl guiding," she laughingly told the press: "I naturally decided to step in and do what I could. And that is how I became actively associated with Girl Guide work in Canada, why I am attending this camp."

A very enjoyable evening was spent in the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Taylor, Parkhill, recently, when the members of the W. M. S., with their husbands, about fifty in number, assembled in honor of Mrs. Harry Ferguson and Mrs. John Emory, who are removing from Centerville.

After presenting each with a luncheon tray, the ladies served a dainty supper followed by an hour of music and social chat.

The removal of these families is much regretted, and the best wishes of all go with them to their new homes.

KINTORE W. M. S.

Miss Nora Armstrong of the Presbyterian Missionary and Deacons Training Home, Toronto, who is home on her vacation, gave an interesting talk at the April meeting of the Kintore Presbyterian W. M. S. Mrs. Robert McNally, Mrs. Hugh Routledge, Mrs. George Lewis and Mrs. James Calder were program conveners. Mrs. H. Routledge presiding.

Missionary papers were given by Mrs. N. H. McGee, Mrs. George Sims and Mrs. R. A. McDonald. The secretary, Mrs. R. A. McDonald, read a letter from Rev. A. J. Hunonin of Victoria Mine, Ontario, thanking the auxiliary for a year's subscription for six Presbyterian Records for his reading-room, and also a very interesting and encouraging report of the work that has been done and the very great interest the settlers are taking in the work in that missionary field. A sacred violin selection by Miss Margaret McPherson, accompanied by Miss Edna Routledge, was much enjoyed. Mrs. Charles Sutherland, the president, took the business part, after which Mr. Chalmers closed the meeting with prayer.

GROWTH OF CITY

Thomas Adams, Town Planning Expert, Addresses Chamber of Commerce.

Phases City As Great Business Demanding Foresight and Planning.

Town Planning As A Measure of Economy was the subject of an address given by Thomas Adams, town planning expert, to the Dominion Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon in the Tecumseh House, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Adams, who has made a study of the growth and town planning in England and in all parts of America, pointed out to the 100 or so businessmen gathered about the table, how a systematic plan, embracing the city as a whole, would create a city beautiful with ideal conditions.

He began by paying a splendid tribute to the city. London was exceptional among all other cities in that it had prospered and developed rapidly without coddling from a central government. In this respect, London had been greatly assisted by huge federal grants, and from Toronto, the center for government institutions.

"A little more coddling would have done great benefit to London," he said. "You have not even a federal post office, suitable to a community of this size."

Is a Virtue.

"It is, however, a virtue, for a city to grow on its own initiative and resources. Because natural conditions alone cannot make for greatness, but rather a combination of such conditions and initiative on the part of its citizens, the growth of the city shows something of the worth of the people."

"The city, after all, is but a great business, involving an assessment of value of $63,000,000," declared the speaker. "Therefore one of the great needs of London is a plan for future development."

"To those who cry that economy is the great need, I would say that true economy is needed. It is not the kind, however, that would hide away resources beneath a bushel basket, but the kind that would invest and spend money wisely. That is true economy."

"The greatest economy that London can practise at the present time is the formation of plans for growth which need not be wild scattering of money uselessly."

Town planning, he continued, was not merely the laying out of streets. London, he said, was blessed with a width of streets in its business sections which is rarely found in cities elsewhere.

These streets, with an average of 132 feet in width for a distance of 23 3/4 miles, present a total area of 188 acres of an approximate value of $1,500,000. This tremendous asset had come to the city without cost because of the foresight of the planners.

With proper regulations of the height of buildings, London would never suffer from congested streets such as prevail in the business sections of Toronto.

In the outskirts of London, however, the admirable street system had broken down. It was essential, he said, that all railroad arterial highways and streets connecting with the business section must correspond in width to those of the central portion of the city.

Must Be Continuous.

Town planning must be done continuously. It acts as an insurance for the maintenance of real estate values and the prosperity of the community.

To prove that Londoners need not be discouraged because the tax per capita was $38, he told of a city in the richest part of the United States with a per capita tax of more than $60, and Cleveland with a tax of $54. Some, he said, raised the cry that the high tax rate on London was a stumbling block to industrial growth, but he could prove that their fears were apparently groundless by the relative industrial positions of the cities in Canada.

Three cities, Ottawa, Quebec and St. John, had fallen behind London and yet they had a lower tax. Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg, with a much higher tax, had passed the city in the race.

Town planning should control the retail, wholesale and industrial growth of the city. Retail stores especially must be kept from becoming scattered aimlessly.

START WORK ON FAIR GROUNDS

The Western Fair Association is to hold a meeting at the fair grounds, Saturday afternoon, to make plans for the carrying out of improvements to the fair grounds which have been referred to them from the various committees appointed during the winter. Several new buildings are to be erected, a subway built under the new grandstands, and painting and decorating to be attended to. It is expected that workmen will be on the fair grounds the first of May and activities be under way in a short time.

D. McINTYRE OF
EAST ELGIN DIES

ST. THOMAS, March 18.—Daniel McIntyre, one of East Elgin's most prominent and respected citizens, passed away at noon Tuesday at his home on the 7th concession, south of Yarmouth Centre, of influenza.

Mr. McIntyre took a leading part in public affairs, and several times contested East Elgin for the Legislature against C. A. Brower.

Surviving him are three sisters, Belle and Kate at home, Mrs. John Bailey, 287 Ross street, St. Thomas, and one brother, Archibald, of London.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Wrecks Four Sleuths With His
One Wooden Leg

CHILDREN AID DAD.

Detroit, April 19.—Judge Pliny W. Marsh looked curiously over the rims of his glasses as four battered individuals filed into his courtroom.

"What are these persons charged with?" he asked.

"We're not persons, your honor—that is to say, we're detectives," spoke up the man with the swollen nose and the two black eyes.

"Detectives?" Judge Marsh asked a dubious brow.

"Honest, we are," the man with the ripped coat and the sprained wrist assured the court. "We're from the Hunt street station."

"What are you doing here? Why don't you go to a hospital?" his honor wanted to know.

"We've got to appear against that desperate character over there," explained the man with the torn ear and scratched face, pointing to an occupant of the prisoners' dock.

"He must be a terrible yegg," remarked the judge. "Bring him around here," he directed a court officer, "and keep an eye on him."

Steve Romansky pulled himself up on his one good leg and his wooden leg. He smoothed his empty left sleeve with his right hand and faced the court.

Judge Marsh was speechless. He glanced inquiringly at the four wounded detectives.

"You ought to see him swing that wooden leg with his one arm," said the sleuth with the two black eyes and the swollen nose.

"Do you mean to tell me this one-legged, one-armed man did all that damage to you four husky officers?" the court demanded.

"Well, his family helped," said the detective with the scratched face and the torn ear. "They're a tough bunch."

"So it would seem," commented the judge. "Let's hear all about it."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Anna Romansky, who is 53, and her daughter Vanda, 17, had ranged themselves along side Steve before the bar of justice. Steve is 55.

Detectives Clarence Grant, Asa Davis, William Scheid and August Zimm, it developed, had gone to the Romansky domicile to question Steve Romansky Jun., 19, concerning sundry little matters upon which they thought he might be able to enlighten them.

"When we walked in," said Detective Grant, "the old man unbuckled his wooden leg at quick as a flash and swung it at me. He hit me square on the bridge of the nose with it."

"The other three of us made a rush for him," Davis took up the story, "but just then his wife ran in from the kitchen with a kettle of boiling water and a pot of hot coffee. She emptied them at us and we all got scalded."

"We were just recovering from this onslaught," Scheid related, "when young Vanda here sailed at us flourishing a stove lighter. I got a rap on the wrist with that."

"We were reforming our ranks," Zimm continued, "when Vincent, the 15-year-old son, brandishing a poker, and Steve, the one we were looking for, with a gun in his hand, dashed in from another room."

A melee ensued, according to the crestfallen sleuths. Windows were smashed, furniture broken and general havoc created before the detectives subdued Steve and his publisher wife and Vanda. Steve Jun. and Vincent escaped.

Judge Marsh released Vanda on her personal recognizance and held her father and mother in $500 bail each for examination.

TAX EXEMPTION
BILL IS KILLED

Dividend Incomes Will Still Be Taxable by Municipality.

Support Nearly As Widespread As Fight Against Measure.

Toronto, April 19.—The bill introduced by H. P. Hill, M. L. A., West Ottawa, which would have exempted the dividends of mercantile and manufacturing concerns from income assessment by the municipalities of the province was killed by the private bills committee of the Ontario Legislature today after a long discussion, and the assessment act in this regard will remain unchanged.

From all parts of the province messages were received or representatives were present in protest against the bill. These were all on behalf of the municipal councils, while the support of the bill was almost as widespread. The clause of the bill which proved most contentious was the one which provided that persons shall not be assessed on dividends derived from shares in the stock of a corporation carrying on a mercantile or manufacturing business, and which corporation is subject to a business assessment.

The argument advanced in support of the change was that it was driving industries from Ontario to Quebec, where incomes from dividends on industries are not assessed if the industries already pay a business tax.

J. W. Curry, M. L. A., said he had been informed of an industry preparing to leave Toronto. "Where are they going?" asked Hon. Mr. Rolfe.

"Where did Tuckers go from London?" Captain Joseph Thompson interjected.

"They are going to Quebec for cheap labor, not to escape taxes," Mr. Rolfe replied.

Besides Assessment Commissioner Forman of Toronto, there were representatives from Ottawa and Galt, and messages from Windsor, Brantford, Sarnia, Fort William, Kitchener, all protesting against relieving shareholders in mercantile and manufacturing concerns paying on their dividends the income tax would reduce the income assessment in Toronto to $30,000,000, and Ottawa in proportion.

HAY DECLINES IN PRICE ON MARKET

Londoners Purchase Supply of Maple Syrup From Quebec At $1.75 Gallon.

Hay declines in price from $18.00 a ton to $15.00 on the local market on Wednesday. The large quantities offered in the past two days were responsible, more than 60 loads being sold. It is not likely that there will be any large demand for at least a week.

Live hogs were quoted at $12.12 1/2 per cwt. One load of old oats sold for $1.30 per cwt.

There has been little maple syrup offered in the past few days. The price ranges from $2.50 3/4 per gallon. A number of citizens have purchased maple syrup from Quebec at $1.75 a gallon.

FINDS POSTURE DEFECTS MARK YOUTH OF TODAY

Dr. Anthony Bassler Addresses Western Ontario Academy of Medicine.

LAUDS LONDON COLLEGE

New York Physician Favorably Impressed by Equipment of University.

Statistics showing that a surprising majority of young men and women possess posture defects were presented to the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine in session Tuesday afternoon, by Dr. Anthony Bassler of New York, who spoke on "Spinal Posture—Diagnosis With Author's Treatment."

"Many do not know how to use their bodies and how to stand up straight," declared Dr. Bassler, during the course of his address, which was illustrated by lantern slides. He also pointed out that many women of the more primitive races possess a more beautiful form than the Caucasian female, illustrating the women of Java, who are famed for their body contour.

After presenting statistics taken from the membership of a leading United States college student body,
Dr. Bassler said: "It shows that 92 per cent have posture defects, and that four-fifths of the young men are deficient in posture. It shows that four-fifths of our young men are forming habits of posture, and as this goes on it will become more difficult to remedy. These are depressing social and economic factors."

"There are hardly two people just alike," he continued. "In infancy the proportions of the body are perfect,
but in the adult they become disproportionate. At least 150,000 school children in New York are not properly nourished. This is vital in peace and war, and the profession has only awakened to it in the last war."

"These children often get enough to eat, but not the right sort. They were not all children of the poor."

Dr. Bassler then dealt with the clinical side of posture defects, some
of which are spinae curvature, some
being the result of faulty posture, and others being the result of disease. He conducted clinics on several patients
of the district, and led the discussion
which followed the presentation of his paper.

Dr. Bassler opened his remarks by introducing himself as "a Canadian
by adoption."

Lauds Western School.
"By that I mean," he explained with
a smile, "and we have two children
with Canadian blood, sinew, and nerve, and American pep. I was tremendously impressed with your wonderful plant here. I have been around several other schools, but I have never seen a nicer and more complete combination than your medical school."

Dr. Bassler is a reputed author on medical subjects, and his remarks
proved very interesting to the large number of district physicians, medical students, nurses and members
present.

"High Blood Pressure and Arteriosclerosis," was the subject of a
paper read to the academy by Dr.
John A. Ollie of Toronto. Dr. Ollie
covered this important subject by a complete synopsis, which was much appreciated.

He began by reminding his audience that many individuals are frightened when informed that they possess a high blood pressure, and
questioned the advisability of informing nervous persons of this condition. Some persons exaggerate
the medical profession are rather
prone to underestimate its importance.

Dr. Ollie Speaks.
Dr. Ollie dealt with the latest
methods of determining blood pressure, and cautioned his audience that
nervousness often affects the reading.
For this reason, he asserted, that no
single observation is of value, but recommended that it be repeated for confirmation.

Anger, fear, and heavy work serve
to temporarily increase the blood pressure, the speaker explained. He then sketched those conditions which
raise the blood pressure above
normal, and also those which lower
it.

Arterio-sclerosis was treated in the paper. Dr. Ollie explained that it was known to the profession in 1864,
before any instrument had been devised to detect it. He declared that contrary to popular opinion arterio-
sclerosis is not due to high blood
pressure, although these conditions
are often found together in the one individual.

He pointed out that high blood pressure is not always a symptom of
arterio-sclerosis, many cases of this condition showing a low blood pressure. Theories on arterio-sclerosis
were also discussed by the Toronto
physician.

Regarding the prognosis in this condition, Dr. Ollie termed it unknown definitely, owing to the fact
that instruments for its detection
have been in use but a few years, and
results have not had sufficient time
to develop since.

He certainly may cases go on for
a long time. "It is a common observation that women stand
high blood pressure better than men
and develop arterio-sclerosis more
seldom. You cannot make a prognosis
on high blood pressure and you have no business to try."

Deal With Treatment.
The paper also dealt with the
treatment of high blood pressure,
mentioning the fact that at times
treatment is unnecessary.

"If you could predict a stroke you
would be justified in lowering the
blood pressure," concluded the
speaker, "but I think it is impossible
to predict a stroke. Arterio-sclerosis
is not a disease, but a result of half a dozen diseases."

Dr. Ollie answered queries of
members of the medical profession
present, at the conclusion of his address.

J. J. Foote, on behalf of the committee raising funds for the War
Memorial Children's Hospital, urged
the members of the Western Ontario
Academy of Medicine to stimulate interest in the scheme to treat sick
children of the district, and to assist in forming community committees in Western Ontario to raise the funds necessary to complete the new hospital.

Dr. F. W. Hughes, president of the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine, acted as chairman at the meeting.

LAUDS LEAGUE OF
NATIONS PROGRAM
Special to London Advertiser.
BRANTFORD, April 18.—Sir George
E. Foster, C.M.G., addressed an overflowing meeting in Victoria Hall tonight
on the "League of Nations." He told
of representing Canada at one of the
meetings of the league, and explained
the need for the league to insure no
more warfare in the world.

He made a very strong appeal for
everyone to give the League of Nations
moral support because if there was another war, it would be far worse than
the last one, and that it would be a war
of the air. Mayor C. J. Parker presided.

APPOINTED TO COMMITTEE.
OTTAWA, April 18.—(By Canadian Press)—Professor J. Playfair Mc-
Murch, of the University of Toronto, a member of the Canadian Marine Biological Board, has been appointed one of the members of the
international committee on fisheries.

Husband and Wife Boost Auction Price.

HARRISTON, April 18.—A story is going the rounds of a Harristonian who went to an auction sale recently with the intention of buying some furniture. Unknown to the husband, the good wife decided to take in the same sale. When the articles were put up for sale
the husband and wife, in different parts of the crowd, began to bid in a most determined manner. Higher and higher went the price until a furniture man enjoyed at last one of them
quit. What happened when the facts became known is not known.

either the child's ability to resist disease gradually grows less. All jases have definite types of body form. The women of Java are famed throughout the world for their perfection of form. Sometimes we might question our civilization after all."

Dr. Bassler then dealt with the
clinical side of posture defects, some
of which are spinae curvature, some
being the result of faulty posture, and
others being the result of disease. He
conducted clinics on several patients
of the district, and led the discussion
which followed the presentation of his
paper.

Dr. Bassler opened his remarks by introducing himself as "a Canadian
by adoption."

Lauds Western School.
"By that I mean," he explained with
a smile, "and we have two children
with Canadian blood, sinew, and
nerve, and American pep. I was
tremendously impressed with your
wonderful plant here. I have been around several other schools, but I have
never seen a nicer and more com-
school."

Dr. Bassler is a reputed author on medical subjects, and his remarks
proved very interesting to the large
number of district physicians, medical students, nurses and members
present.

"High Blood Pressure and Arterio-
sclerosis," was the subject of a
paper read to the academy by Dr.
John A. Ollie of Toronto. Dr. Ollie
covered this important subject by a
complete synopsis, which was much appreciated.

He began by reminding his audience that many individuals are
frightened when informed that they
possess a high blood pressure, and
questioned the advisability of informing nervous persons of this
condition. Some persons exaggerate
the medical profession are rather
prone to underestimate its importance.

Dr. Ollie Speaks.
Dr. Ollie dealt with the latest
methods of determining blood pressure, and cautioned his audience that
nervousness often affects the reading.
For this reason, he asserted, that no
single observation is of value, but
recommended that it be repeated for
confirmation.

Anger, fear, and heavy work serve
to temporarily increase the blood
pressure, the speaker explained. He
then sketched those conditions which
raise the blood pressure above
normal, and also those which lower
it.

Arterio-sclerosis was treated in
the paper. Dr. Ollie explained that
it was known to the profession in 1864,
before any instrument had been devised to detect it. He declared that
contrary to popular opinion arterio-
sclerosis is not due to high blood
pressure, although these conditions
are often found together in the one
individual.

He pointed out that high blood
pressure is not always a symptom of
arterio-sclerosis, many cases of this
condition showing a low blood pressure. Theories on arterio-sclerosis
were also discussed by the Toronto
physician.

Regarding the prognosis in this condition, Dr. Ollie termed it unknown definitely, owing to the fact
that instruments for its detection
have been in use but a few years, and
results have not had sufficient time
to develop since.

He certainly may cases go on for
a long time. "It is a common observation that women stand
high blood pressure better than men
and develop arterio-sclerosis more
seldom. You cannot make a prognosis
on high blood pressure and you have
no business to try."

Deal With Treatment.
The paper also dealt with the
treatment of high blood pressure,
mentioning the fact that at times
treatment is unnecessary.

"If you could predict a stroke you
would be justified in lowering the
blood pressure," concluded the
speaker, "but I think it is impossible
to predict a stroke. Arterio-sclerosis
is not a disease, but a result of half
a dozen diseases."

Dr. Ollie answered queries of
members of the medical profession
present, at the conclusion of his address.

J. J. Foote, on behalf of the com-
Memorial Children's Hospital, urged
the members of the Western Ontario
Academy of Medicine to stimulate interest in the scheme to treat sick
children of the district, and to assist in forming community commit-
tees in Western Ontario to raise the
funds necessary to complete the new
hospital.

Dr. F. W. Hughes, president of the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine, acted as chairman at the meeting.

LAUDS LEAGUE OF
NATIONS PROGRAM
Special to London Advertiser.
BRANTFORD, April 18.—Sir George
E. Foster, C.M.G., addressed an over-
flowing meeting in Victoria Hall tonight
on the "League of Nations." He told
of representing Canada at one of the
meetings of the league, and explained
the need for the league to insure no
more warfare in the world.

He made a very strong appeal for
everyone to give the League of Nations
moral support because if there was
another war, it would be far worse than
the last one, and that it would be a war
of the air. Mayor C. J. Parker presided.

APPOINTED TO COMMITTEE.
OTTAWA, April 18.—(By Canadian Press)—Professor J. Playfair Mc-
Murch, of the University of Tor-
onto, a member of the Canadian Marine Biological Board, has been appointed one of the members of the

32 DIE IN STORM
IN MIDDLE WEST
CHICAGO, April 18.—Revised figures on the casualties and damage caused by the storm which swept over the Central States yesterday and last night indicated at noon today that as great a toll would not be taken as had been expected.

The latest figures showed 32 known dead—11 in Illinois, 19 in Indiana and 2 in Missouri—399 to 400 injured and property damage running into millions of dollars.

DEVELOP SUBSIDIARY CONCERNS.
MONTREAL, April 18.—Trade
creditors of Ames-Holden-McCreedy, Limited, are expected to meet here
this afternoon, appointed three of their number as a committee to cooperate with a similar committee of bond holders for the purpose of developing a reorganization of the parent company and its subsidiaries.

ANDY KYLE SHOWS UP IN KITCHENER

Beavers Forced to Stay Indoors and Push Medicine Ball Around.
KITCHENER, April 18.—Chill winds
and a cold rain forced Manager Tex Erwin and his men of the ball club to take to indoor training at the Y. M. C.
A. this morning. The men worked out for an hour and a half, running on the track, playing the medicine ball and catching the ball.

Andy Kyle blew in from Toronto this morning, while yesterday afternoon
Allan, the big pitcher from Rochester, arrived, as did Regan, the catcher, from Phoenix, N. Y., and McIndoe, the tri-county southpaw twinner.

Manager Erwin has informed three of the prospective candidates for the team that they need not report. They are:
Pete Wolczek, the third baseman, who was with the club at the beginning and at the end of the season; Poole, an infielder, from Rochester, and Murnart, a pitcher, from Cole Grove, Ohio. The releases were the result of further looking into their record by Manager Erwin.

MINT GOSSIP.
Manager "Punch" Knoll started to swing the proverbial axe Thursday and separated two players from the Bay City payroll. Pitcher Frank Kowalski, who was with the team last season, and outfielder Jimmy Smith, who was
being the ones to get the gate. These are the first players to be released by Manager Knoll.

Spencer Harris is showing up in great shape. The former pitcher, who was with the team last season, and outfielder Jimmy Smith, who was
being the ones to get the gate. These
are the first players to be released by Manager Knoll.

Knoll will be in the right field berth and William Whaley will hold down the left berth. The outfield looks mighty sweet and will start up with the best in the league this season.

Earl Wire looks good at first, and will develop into a good first sacker with a little more experience.

At second, Ben Koeber will take care of the hot ones. Hedgerson, last year's shortstop, will again be seen in the short field.

On the hot corner, Sylvester Simon, an Evansville, Ind., player, is showing up well and will land the regular job.
Simon looks like a great ball player. Joe Malloy and Bernie Sauters will be retained as utility men.

On the mound, Knoll will have Don Sumner, C. B. Hooton and Frank Ma-tiazak of last year's staff, together with Mortin, Roy Heitzman and Brooks.

Mortin is a mighty good-looking ball player, and Knoll expects him to turn in several wins for the Wolves this season.

Heitzman is an Evansville semi-pro pitcher. He is a left-hander and appears to have a lot of stuff.

Brooks will come in a day or two from the Chattanooga club of the Southern association. He is also a left-hander and comes highly recommended.

In the catching department, Manager Knoll's choice is Harry Wray. He is without the services of a first-rate backstop. He is trying to land a good man for this position and then he will have his club complete. As it now stands he has Mike Bliss, who will probably land a job as second string catcher.
Bernie Christ and Roy Gilman are the other two backstops trying out. Neither of these men will be able to make the grade.

ARRANGE FOR PARADE TO COMMEMORATE YPRES
G. W. V. A. Seeks Co-operation Of Army and Navy Veterans.

Because no word has been received from W. Cooper, secretary-treasurer of the provincial command of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, relative to obtaining an organizer for the local command, A. J.
Glennie, secretary, was instructed to communicate with the provincial secretary-treasurer to obtain further information on the matter at a meeting of the association in Ulster Hall,
corner Clarence and Dundas streets,
Tuesday evening.

The secretary was also instructed to communicate with the local command of the United War Veterans Association, stating that they would co-operate with them in the parade
Sunday in commemoration of the battle of Ypres. The veterans will assemble in the market square Sunday afternoon, and will parade to St.
Paul's Cathedral, where special services will be conducted.

HOLD MILITARY LECTURES
Weekly Drills Will Be Held in Armories.

A series of lectures to officers,
N. C. O.'s and men, to be followed later by drills, will be held in the armories every Thursday evening
until camp.

This is to prepare all ranks for the annual camp, to be held in London during the last nine days of June.

Last year the regiment turned out full strength and was composed of carefully-selected men from London and vicinity.

Quite a number of old 7th C. M. R.
officers, N. C. O.'s and men have joined with the Hussars, and it is expected that a large number will be on hand this year to talk over old times and enjoy a few gallops
around the spacious training ground
set aside for the troops on Carling Heights.

THE LITTLE DRIBBLES

Because there are so many senior games being staged in London Saturday, the game between the W. O. R. and United Vets of St. Thomas juniors has been put off to Friday afternoon.
The kick-off will be at 5:30 and W.
Spillsbury will referee the game.

Tomorrow's meeting of L. and D. F.
A. postponed until Wednesday, April 19.

The following referees were passed by the executive board: W. Spillsbury, J.
A. Whitworth, S. Birchard, F. South, H.
Brown and Bandman Cart.

Sarnia Veteran Rangers have joined the L. and D. F. A.

Jack Taylor, the R. C. R. back, won the three-mile road race Tuesday; time, 15 minutes 3 seconds.

St. George's, the new city team, will play on Saturday against Grand Trunk.

The Boxers have picked a team to play the Jockeys in aid of St. Dunstan's Home. The Boxers' captain will be P.
C. Mallin, the Olympic middleweight champion, who defeated Art Prudhomme, formerly of Princess Pats, London.

It has been suggested that the District F. A. hold a big field day this summer. Anybody got ideas?

The league starts Saturday. The crowds are expected out A. and V.
play W. O. R. Carling Heights 2:30 P.M.

All Army and Navy players are required to attend the club meeting in Room No. 3 at the "Y" on Friday night.
The meeting will transact some business and the team for Saturday's game against W. O. R. will be chosen.

CONCEDE ORIOLES EDGE FOR PENNANT
Bisons Look Like Second Best—
Other Teams Are Uncertain in International Race.

TORONTO, April 18.—All signs point to a pennant race between the Orioles and the Bisons, as the International League season of 1922 gets under way. The Orioles may not win their fourth straight pennant, but only serious misfortunes, or an absolute breakdown, can stop them, in the opinion of the writer.

Unless Rochester and Toronto add considerable to their teams, the Orioles will go to the Buffalo Bisons, George Willing, who has a team that should finish
better than did his 1921 entry.

Rochester's $100,000 borrowed team
of last season is scattered all over the league, and in its stead George Stallings is endeavoring to whip into shape another winning combination from material which is not of the first caliber. At prices considered quite fancy in minor league baseball, Stallings' fancy men are being bought up.

Behind Toronto the Syracuse and Buffalo clubs are likely to be considered in the competing class. These two teams are mediocre.

Because of the dilatory tactics of several club owners in the International League it is really hard to size
the teams up at the start of the season. There are several magazines who always wait until the very last minute to see what they can get out of the "baseball grab-bag. They'll be doing the same this year. They'll be bobbing up on opening day, tomorrow, with new faces borrowed or loans from big league clubs that couldn't use them.

Bisons Touted as Strong.
It is hard to size up any of the contestants excepting Baltimore and Buffalo. Those two clubs look to be
