alone, at least, so far, and on account of the vigorous vocabulary it has applied to this journal and others who have differed from it, the Banner asks the electors of Kent to vote the Liberal ticket.

Isn't it really—with apologies to Mr. Rose—picaresque? Has the cause reached such a plane that these are the best and only campaign methods which can be utilized to its account?

What do the honest Liberals themselves think? Isn't it about time for a change?

REMEMBER ROSS!

"Remember Ross" is the cry of the Reformers in this campaign, says the Sarnia Canadian. Yes, the electors will remember him as the man of unfulfilled pledges; the dodger who was afraid to carry out his promise on the prohibition issue; the shield and patron of ballot burners, "skilled workers" and election crooks of every degree; the man who gave away the pulp wood limits, the property of the people of Ontario, by the thousand square miles to political favorites. Remember Ross! Oh yes, the electors will remember Ross in a way that Ross will not be likely to forget.

WHAT IS IT ABOUT?

What is the following terse summary in the Brantford Courier:

The issues in the approaching provincial fight are clear and unmistakable.

Among other things the people will be called upon to decide—

1. Whether they believe it to be in the best interests of the province to have one party continuously in power.
2. Whether they consider it beneficial to any longer countenance the automatic methods of the Ross administration.
3. Whether they think it a good thing to have many office holders act in an unbecomingly partisan way.
4. Whether they are willing to overlook the stuffing of ballot-boxes and the burning of ballots.
5. Whether they approve of the provincial minister of agriculture promising to boom Dakota at the expense of his own province.
6. Whether they endorse the trickiness of Ross with regard to the referendum.
7. Whether the natural resources of the province should be exploited for the benefit of the favored few.

Whitney Will Win!

The People are arrayed against the Machine.

Remember Ross and Wade in for Whitney.

Remember Ross and his broken promises.

"Remember Ross." Alas! Can we ever forget him?

Thirty long years! Surely it is time for a clean out.

The parents who have put up for the School Book Monopoly have reason to remember Ross.

Remember Ross and the Mayhem pamphlet he secured a Yankee to issue for him and the machine.

Poor Pardo! Eight years as West Kent's representative and not one return to make to the people for it.

And now the Liberals are rowing it in party convention at Ottawa. What a united front these fellows present!

The Chatham Liberal organ is surely striving for notoriety as a user of political slang and vulgar epithets.—Ridgeway Dominion.

A sort of melancholy has settled over the Liberals of Blenheim since the Thamestown convention, comments the Ridgeway Dominion.

This charitable great home journal is inclined to think Mr. Pardo is too truthful to think. He knows the account of his stewardship he must give if he did would condemn him.

Cheering news reaches us from all parts of East Kent and Mr. Davidson's prospects grow brighter daily.—Ridgeway Dominion.

Same here in the West. Fraser is winning new recruits right along. Let the good work go on.

If Mr. Pardo would only say something, even a cue word, it would relieve the awful pressure on the Planet's head.—Banner.

Oh, no, Mr. Pardo, not cue words, please. Your Chatham organ is looking after that end of it very elaborately.

The local Liberal organ is up in arms because this great home journal alluded to its personal references to Messrs. Davidson and Fraser, which it was compelled to swallow, as "untruthful slanders." Surely the Banner does not begrudge us the use of an occasional vigorous and not undignified designation when it has the field of scurrility and the vocabulary of slang slang all to itself.

It was Ross—Remember Ross—that saddled the young man with the injustice of poll tax assessment.

Judging by the result of Whitney's trip through Ontario, John Lee should have called the future Premier's convictions contagious, as well as courageous.

Remember Ross, the man who billed up Ontario, when you mark your ballot on the 29th and protect yourself against further financial assessment by voting for Fraser or Davidson.

Young men who are eligible to vote at the ensuing election should at once forward their names to Ward Stansworth, who will mail them information regarding time and place of registration.

Dear Parent,—Does your child find it necessary to secure help and other extras? If so the Ross school book doesn't supply the requisite information. And heaven knows you pay enough for those books.

Now if Pardo could only be induced to speak he might be able to explain for his local organ, which is much exercised on the suppression of lawyers, why Ross almost entirely made up his cabinet of men of that profession.

The Planet would find some matter of a specially interesting character in the Banner-News yesterday afternoon.—Banner.

We really don't remember. Possibly this great home journal did. It has been both interested and amused on several occasions lately by the local Liberal organ's kaleidoscope of buffoonery.

Wonderful man, Premier Ross. He created pulp mills and all sorts of enterprises at the Soo, according to speeches he is making. Most of us thought Mr. Clergue was doing considerable development up there, but come to find out Mr. Ross just said the word and those things sprang into being.—St. Thomas Times.

Says the Ridgeway Dominion—The lawyer cry raised against J. S. Fraser has fallen flat in West Kent. The fact is that Mr. Fraser not only is a barrister, but farms on an extensive scale in Chatham township, where he also has a cheese factory. Mr. Fraser is one of the most progressive among the host of splendid farmers in West Kent.

Hasn't the Planet kept Mr. John Lee long enough in the witness box? There must be some other persons in the county who would like to express their "admiration" for that eminent lawyer, courteous and veracious man, Mr. Whitney.—Banner.

No doubt about it. There are thousands of them. And they'll all express themselves quite clearly and emphatically in the ballot booths on the 29th.

At another time we were talking of an absent friend who had been in London for a long time and was a great gift for music and like a great gift for regenerating the world. Some one asked: "Well, he's always playing the fiddle." "Well," replied T. P., "I do not know that he is always playing the fiddle, but he certainly is always playing the fiddle or the fool."

Lady Dorothy Neville, one of the wittiest women in London society, is well known to most of the brightest young Londoners who visit the city.

I was talking with Lady Dorothy one day about a lady to whom I was giving high praise and Lady Dorothy seemed inclined to disparage her. "She is very clever," I said. "Lady Dorothy," she replied, "she is so very well read."

"Come, come," replied Lady Dorothy with a smile, "she is evidently much cleverer than I thought, since she has been able to make you believe that she ever read anything."

One night a group of members were talking in the smoking-room of the House of Commons about a measure which it was proposed to recommend to the consideration of the Government, and on which we were all understood to be in complete agreement.

Suddenly a member who had up to this time offered no objection and had, in fact, been known for an extraordinary aptitude in spinning out talk on the most trivial subject—broke in with the words: "I suppose there is something to be said on the other side."

"I dare say," and if we had a couple of months to spare you are just the very man to say it; but then, you see, the matter is coming up on the day after tomorrow and there really is no time." So the little group broke up.—Chamber's Journal.

WITTY SAYINGS

As Heard by Josiah McCarthy, Author and Salesman.

It has always been held to be rash to attempt to reproduce witty sayings on the manner of the person who says them and the circumstances under which they are uttered. In spite of this I venture to set down some of the sayings of some of the witty men and women I have known, and if my readers should not find every saying quite as witty as I thought it was at the time I heard it I hope they will put down the fault to the chronicler and not to the author of the witty saying.

I was traveling once with Dick Power and some other Irish members on a night journey on an Irish railway officialing the storm and stress of a general election. Suddenly the train came to a dead stand at a place where there was no station. Amusement and alarm filled the minds of some of us. "What could be the matter?" we asked ourselves mentally. "Could the Tories have torn up the rails? Could the Orangemen have barricaded the line?"

It took a great deal to alarm Dick Power. He quietly rose from his seat and thrust his head out of the window in the hope of finding some explanation. "What are we stopping for?" he inquired of a railway official who happened to be passing just at the moment. "It's nothing, sir," was the reply, "only we have had to detach the engine." "All right," said Dick Power, "only take care you don't go on without it!"

Dick Power once had a sharp contest for one of the Irish Constituencies. The contest was the more unpleasant to him because his opponent, who was formerly a political colleague and had changed his principles and gone over to the other side, fought the battle gallantly, according to his usual fashion, and won the seat.

On the night when the result of the election was made known, Dick was sitting with some friends in the principal hotel of the place. Suddenly in came the defeated candidate, and, claiming an indignity, he said to Dick: "All in jest, but honor!" Dick cheerily said in reply: "All right, I have got the seat and you have got the honor, so we have both got what we most wanted."

Whistler—"The Master" as his followers delight to call him, "Jimmy" as most of his friends designate him—was once painting the portrait of a distinguished novelist who was extremely clever but also extremely avowed. When the portrait was finished the sitter did not seem satisfied with it. "You don't seem to like it," Whistler said. The sitter confessed that he did not and said in self-justification: "You must admit that it is a work of art." "Yes," said Whistler, "but you must own that you are a bad work of nature."

A great friend of mine, T. P. O'Connor, is known to everybody in England and in America as a brilliant parliamentary and platform orator and is known also to his friends in both countries as a most amusing talker with a wonderful power of expressive phrase-making. One of us, of us, were talking once about a friend of ours, a member of the House of Commons. A lady who was one of the company said it was a pity for the sake of his personal appearance that he had not a better work of art. "Yes," said T. P., "and the worst of it is that while they are too large for ears they are too small for wings."

At another time we were talking of an absent friend who had been in London for a long time and was a great gift for music and like a great gift for regenerating the world. Some one asked: "Well, he's always playing the fiddle." "Well," replied T. P., "I do not know that he is always playing the fiddle, but he certainly is always playing the fiddle or the fool."

A BAD HEART

An Ailment Very Common in These Days of Worry and Rush

Heart Disease Often the Direct Result of Weak Kidneys—flow this and Other Kinds of Diseases may be Permanently Cured.

St. Francois, Que., May 2.—(Special)—Theophile Cliche of this place has been suffering for a long time with Heart Trouble.

To those who have endured the distressing symptoms of this disease, it will be unnecessary to describe the palpitations and fluttering, spells of weakness and other dangerous symptoms. Mons. Cliche suffered all of these, and for years nothing he could get seemed to do him any good, in fact the weak spells were gradually growing more frequent, and often he could not lie down at night.

After he had tried everything else, and friend suggested to him that Dodd's Kidney Pills might help him, but like many others, he could not understand how a kidney remedy could cure Heart Disease.

However he overcame his scruples, and commenced a treatment, with the result that he is now completely recovered and enjoying the best of health.

Defective Kidney action is very frequently manifested in Heart weakness.

The Kidneys fail to purify the blood, and it becomes thick, heavy, sluggish and impure, thus increasing the labor of the Heart in forcing circulation.

In addition to this, the poisonous impurities which the sick Kidneys allow to remain in the blood, often attack the Heart itself.

A moment of thoughtful consideration will clearly establish the connection between the Kidneys and Heart, and better clothing for less money than we've been accustomed to paying.

MEYNELL'S

King St. Chatham

Formerly we were guided by the wisdom of our ancestors; now we are hurried along by the wisdom of our descendants.—Horne.

Between the ages of fifteen and forty-five, the time when womanhood begins and motherhood ends, is the time that the aggregate term of woman's suffering is ten years. Ten years out of thirty! One-third of the best part of woman's life spent in suffering! Think of the enormous loss of time! But time is not all that is lost.

Those years of suffering steal the bloom from the cheeks, the brightness from the eyes, the fairness from the form. They write their record in many a crease and wrinkle. What a boon then to woman is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It promotes perfect regularity, dries up debilitating humors, heals ulceration, cures female weakness, and establishes the delicate womanly organs in vigorous and permanent health. No other medicine can do for woman what is done by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

THE VEGETABLE GROWER

Selection of seeds made from Young Plants.

Young plants from seeds recently sown will require picking over as soon as they are large enough to handle. If they have come up thickly there will be no special hurry and they may be allowed to attain some size before handling, but if crowded the sooner they are picked over the better, to avoid "damping off." Should this make its appearance, a change of temperature or a moderation in the supply of water or to may assist, but the safest plan is to transfer into fresh soil as soon as possible, examining the stems carefully to make sure that no infected plants are used.

For the ordinary private garden where only a limited number of such plants as tomatoes, egg plants, peppers, etc., are wanted, potting up is preferable to putting in boxes. The more stocky plants which will result and the utility with which they can afterward be planted out will more than repay the little extra trouble, but where large quantities are to be handled, other methods must of course be devised to suit the circumstances.

Cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce, etc., will do just as well, and be more conveniently handled if in boxes; or they can even be pricked out into cold frames in which a few inches of prepared soil has been placed. In all cases shading is necessary for a few days until the plants have made sufficient fresh roots to establish themselves in the new soil.

As the time of planting out approaches, attention should be given to the proper hardening of the plants. This is a matter of the utmost importance, but one too often neglected. Plants, if carelessly rushed out unprepared for the change, will receive a check which usually results in the edges of the leaves becoming withered and dried up, imparting to the plants a sickly, half-dead appearance which takes them weeks to overcome.

A Beautiful New Shrub.

This beautiful new shrub was introduced from Japan and is a magnificent acquisition. It is of the greatest value, for, unlike other Genistas, it forms a large shrub and is perfectly hardy, having endured repeatedly a temperature of zero unharmed. It is a very attractive shrub in bloom and very attractive at all times. In June it is literally clothed with innumerable bright yellow Sweet-Pea shaped blossoms, presenting a perfect mass of such intense pure, golden yellow as to well merit the name of Golden Plectra. Of large, bushy form, with numerous side limbs, all of which are densely studded with long, tough, angular, rush-like branches of the most brilliant and cheerful green imaginable, which color they retain throughout the year.

My Experience in Turkey Culture.

I prefer the Br. 32 turkey. The public wants a turkey weighing 7 to 10 lbs. and with a yellow skin. The first eggs I set under a hen, the next setting the turkey takes and as a general thing she will bring off a brood in the fall. If warm quarters are provided they are easily raised, and bring a good price in the spring when there is a scarcity. The best thing I find for lice is ashes and sulphur, mixed, and put in the coops, and I always put a little epsom salts in the drinking water about twice a week for the health of the bird. They have their freedom as soon as they are strong enough to run around. Little turkeys do much better with an old turkey. A hen mother will run the legs off from little turkeys, whereas an old turkey will hardly stir out of her tracks until her little ones are good and strong; then she is a great raiser. The best thing I find for lice is what we call Dutch cheese, an egg boiled in cold water and black pepper mixed with it and plenty of run. I would fall them in the direction of some neighbor's corn or buckwheat field and will be in the condition by Thanksgiving. Mrs. Charles Smart, in Farm and Home.

Asparagus for Market.

The most desirable variety of Asparagus to plant in your Kentucky blue grass soil for commercial use would be the Conover's Colossal. Under thorough tillage and liberal manuring it will outyield the larger kinds, such as Barr's Mammoth, Palmetto or Columbian. When in the bunch it presents a much handsomer appearance and frequently outsize the larger kinds. It is very hardy and early. Plant a good strong root two or three years old; this will throw up a strong shoot which can better withstand the ravages of the Asparagus beetle which is very destructive to weak, slender shoots, and be ready to crop sooner than a plantation from one year small plants. The rows should be five feet apart; these distances are preferable to admit of thorough cultivation which is so essential. Where everything is favorable, good treatment, liberal manuring, there should be at least 2,000 two-pound bunches produced.—In American Agriculturist.

The Sugar Bush.

From the first flow of sap we get our best sugar. The thermometer or saccharometer is the sugar maker's best guide. Tin buckets hung upon a nail or attached to the spout, with painted covers, are the best in the market. A spout that will fit tight without going into the tree beyond the bark or first grains with but little driving is desirable.

Teething in Young Horses.

Soon after the colt's birth, teething troubles start, although in the majority of cases of only minor importance. Animals have what are known as milk or colic or temporary teeth, and a permanent set. The coming-in of the permanent set is when the trouble starts. The permanent set will be found in the colt's mouth. The trouble starts when the permanent set is found in the colt's mouth. The trouble starts when the permanent set is found in the colt's mouth.

When such symptoms appear, life.

soft mashes should take the place of hard grain, the veterinarian should be consulted and dilatory crows removed. If this is done, the improvement noticed by the owner will be almost magical. The grinders (molars) are the teeth usually affected, the nippers rarely so. Changes, however, occur in those teeth during colicoid, by means of which the servant are able to tell the animal's age: At three years the centres of temporary nippers are changed for the larger and permanent ones; at four, the pairs next the centre ones are exchanged, and at five years old, at the corner permanent ones appear, at the corner permanent ones appear, at the corner permanent ones appear, at the corner permanent ones appear.

Electricity at Work.

The trains to run in the London underground electric tunnel will average 200 tons, and on the Finsbury Park line, of seven miles, the run will be made in 13 1/2 minutes.

Wireless telegraphy seems to have a great future in the Sahara desert, as communication can be readily set up between the oases. And there are no wires to steal.

London expects to have soon installed the biggest, best and cheapest telephone system in the world. The charge for unlimited service for business hours will be $20; for residences, $20.

Arrangements are practically completed for running parlor and sleeping cars from Cincinnati to Columbus, O. Sleeping cars for street railways will be a novelty. It is expected that the running time between Columbus and Cincinnati will be about six hours.

Bangkok, Siam, now has an electric light plant and a tramway six miles long, and is laying a second line of equal length. The service is fairly good. The telephone system, however, is decidedly bad. It is owned by the Government, and there are some 200 instruments of German make. Bangkok is a city of magnificent distances, and as the Siamese are particularly intelligent people they would undoubtedly patronize a good telephone system were it once established.

N.B.—Since the Prospectus of the Company was issued (about the First of April), the Company has received two offers for the purchase of its entire output of paper. These offers are entirely unsolicited, and are from parties whose standing is such as to guarantee the performance of any contract they may undertake. One of these offers covers the first year of production, and the other covers the first three years. Either offer, if accepted, would be sufficiently profitable to assure the payment of the full dividend on the Preferred Stock, provide the amount required by the Charter for a Reserve Fund, and leave a balance sufficient to pay a large dividend on the Common Stock, if no unforeseen contingencies should arise. This does not include profits estimated from the sale of sulphite pulp or from the saw mill, which, it seems reasonable to suppose, would be sufficient to cover all unexpected contingencies.

PROSPECTUS

The following is an extract from one of the reports: "I have been working in the lumber woods for twenty years or more, and have traveled and examined limits in the State of Maine, New Brunswick, and Quebec, and worked in Wisconsin and Minnesota, and I am sure this is the best pulp limit I have ever seen or traveled over." On the basis of any one of these reports a conservative estimate shows that there is sufficient pulpwood now on the limits to supply the proposed mills for more than 50 years. As spruce wood will replace itself in from twenty-four to thirty years, it will be seen that there is sufficient wood on the limits to afford a perpetual supply to a mill double the capacity of that now contemplated.

The freehold property consists of twenty acres where the saw mill, dwellings, and office are situated, and 54 1/2 acres on the bank of the Little Cascapedia River, where it is proposed to build the Pulp and Paper Mills.

THE PULP AND PAPER MILLS

It is proposed to erect—
A Paper Mill with a daily capacity of 54 tons.
A Ground Wood Pulp Mill with a daily capacity of 50 tons, and A Sulphite Pulp Mill with a daily capacity of 40 tons.
Mr. George F. Hardy has estimated the cost of erecting the Pulp and Paper Mills and of developing the water power at $550,000. The balance from the sale of the Preferred Stock will be sufficient to complete the payment for the limits, water power, saw mill, etc., provide working capital, and leave a substantial balance for contingencies.

THE SAW MILL

There is on the property a saw mill, equipped with the latest improved machinery, capable of turning out from 35,000 to 40,000 superficial feet of sawn lumber in ten hours, and is equipped with all necessary power, gearing, shafting, etc., for the installation of another saw, which would double the capacity.

MARKETS

The markets will be chiefly foreign, including the Eastern States and Great Britain. In view of the expected advances in the price of paper in the Eastern States it is probable that the greater part of the output will be marketed there. Situated as the mills will be on the seaboard, paper can be laid down in Liverpool and New York, duty paid, at such a price as to defy competition.

Freight quotations can be seen at the offices of the National Trust Company, or the undersigned.

ESTIMATE OF BUSINESS AND PROFITS

Estimating the cost of pulp wood at $2.25 a cord, careful estimates made for the Company show that the ground wood pulp should not cost over $5.50 a ton, and sulphite pulp not over $16.00 a ton. The actual cost of newspaper from pulp, estimated at these prices, should not be over $16.94 a ton. This is after making all necessary allowance for depreciation and renewal of plant, and all charges of management and selling.

The following estimate of the annual output of the mills has been prepared by Mr. Wm. M. McIntyre, formerly Mechanical Superintendent of the Laurentide Pulp Co., and is believed to be conservative and well within the mark, and includes allowances for salaries and contingencies:

|--|--------------|
| 16,902 tons of newspaper at $27.00 a ton | $456,354.00 |
| Co. at mills | 256,219.88 |
| 8,294 1/2 tons of sulphite pulp at $20.00 a ton | 165,894.00 |
| Co. at mills | 249,935.00 |
| Co. at mills | $574,393.00 |

Cost of producing same:
16,902 tons of newspaper, at $16.94 a ton 286,219.88
8,294 1/2 tons of sulphite pulp at $16 a ton 132,713.25
$418,933.13

Showing a profit of.....$455,177.12
7 per cent on $1,500,000 Preference Stock .. 1,050,000.00
Available for Reserve Fund and further Dividends .. $150,177.12

The ground wood pulp and the balance of sulphite pulp will be consumed in the paper mill of the Company.

The estimated profits from the operation of the saw mill are not included in these figures, but owing to the enormous quantities of cedar on the limits, substantial profits should be made from the manufacture of railway ties, shingles, etc. The Laurentide Pulp Company, Limited, in its way ties, shingles, etc. The Laurentide Pulp Company, Limited, in its annual report, June 30th, 1900, stated that the Company's saw mill added to the year's profits an amount equal to its entire cost, although it was operated for only three months of the year, and estimated that the future profits from this source would cover the interest on the entire bond issue of the Company.

ISSUE OF STOCK

For the acquiring of the said property, equipment of the pulp and paper mills, the development of the water power, building the railway siding to the mills, and the furnishing of sufficient working capital, the present issue of Preference Stock is made. The whole of the Seven Per Cent. Cumulative Preference Stock has been authorized to be issued on the following terms:

For every two shares of Seven per cent. Cumulative Preference Stock subscribed and paid for, there will be allotted by way of bonus one share of fully paid Common Stock.

The Seven Per Cent. Preferred Stock is Cumulative, carries yearly dividends, and has priority over the Common Stock as to both dividends and assets.

After the payment of the dividend on the Preferred Stock, and before any payment of dividend on the Common Stock, a further sum of one per cent. must be applied to a Reserve Fund, under the charter. This fund will be for the further assuring of the dividends on the Preferred Stock. Application will be made in due course for the listing of the shares of the Company on the Toronto and Montreal Stock Exchanges.

Applications for Preferred Shares should be forwarded to the NATIONAL TRUST COMPANY, Limited, Toronto, Montreal, or Winnipeg; or to SUTHERLAND & CAMERON, Brokers, Ottawa, Canada.

Checks, drafts, etc., are to be made payable to the NATIONAL TRUST COMPANY, Limited. Where no allotment be made, the deposit will be returned in full.

Further information and Forms of Application can be obtained at the offices of SUTHERLAND & CAMERON, 48 SPARKS STREET, OTTAWA, CANADA, or the NATIONAL TRUST COMPANY, LIMITED, TORONTO, MONTREAL, and WINNIPEG.

We offer the Preferred Stock for sale on the above terms.

Mrs. D. Arnold, President German Woman's Club, Grand Pacific Hotel, Los Angeles, Cal., Relieved of a Tumor by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered four years ago with a tumor in my womb, and the doctors declared I must go to the hospital and undergo an operation, which I dreaded very much and hesitated to submit.

"My husband consulted an old friend who had studied medicine, although he was not a practising physician, and he said he believed that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure me. That same day I took my first dose, and I kept it up faithfully until twelve bottles had been used, and not only did the tumor disappear, but my general health was very much improved and I had not felt so well since I was a young woman.

"As I have suffered no relapse since, and as I took no other medicine, I am sure that your Compound restored my health and I believe saved my life."—Mrs. D. ARNOLD.

THE CANADIAN RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE

How the Mail is Handled on the Trains—
A Trip in One of the Postal Cars.

Few, outside of those actively engaged in the work, have any idea of the methods of handling mail matter in the railway postal cars, or the amount of labor connected with this heading.

The Railway Mail Service is a connecting link between the different postoffices carrying mail from the office of posting to the office of delivery, each car serving all the places on the line of railway over which it runs. The amount of mail matter in these days is enormous, and to handle this properly, hundreds of cars are in use, which are employed by a small army of clerks.

On commencing a trip, the necessary letter bills and facing slips are prepared. When the mails are received the lock bags are first opened and the packages of registered letters checked. These are checked off, date stamped, entered on the proper bills, and a receipt signed for them. Then the ordinary letters, which are also received in packages, are stored in a case containing a separate compartment for each office on the line, and for all other roads and offices for which a sufficient quantity is received. Any errors received, are noted on the back of the facing slip, accompanying the package in which they were found. The slip is then date stamped and initiated by the clerk receiving and sent in to the superintendent. This keeps the supervisor as efficient as possible. The bags are hung with tops open, from hooks, on a rack of horizontal bars. It is interesting to watch a clerk sorting papers at a rack holding many where from twenty to fifty bags.
He works rapidly, using both hands, and the way he tosses from one bag to another, never missing one, is remarkable. The letter clerk works with the same ease and speed, clearing a piled-up table in an incredibly short time. It is no uncommon thing to start from a terminal point with twenty or more large bags to sort.
To handle these on a rapidly moving train, before reaching the next station, speedy work is absolutely necessary. As each station is reached, its mail is placed in a separate bag and despatched. The bag from the office is then received and the contents sorted. Every mail received or despatched is accounted for by a letter bill made out by the clerk or the postmaster despatching. The possession of this shows the proper receipt of the mail. Letters are carried in lock bags, which are tied in packages, each with a printed facing slip on the top, showing the number of bags, the date and initials of the clerk despatching. The papers are sent out in sacks, with printed labels appearing in a slide on the drawer. At junction points, mails are transferred from one car to another.
At "catch" stations where trains do not stop, the bag is thrown off and that received is caught from an overhead crane by an iron arm extended from the car door. The amount of work on a run is determined by the length of it, size of the office, the service, and the frequency with which this service is performed.

In our postal service the importance of railway mail clerks cannot be over-estimated. The amount of intelligence here displayed is quite above the ordinary. Each is required to memorize a distribution list of nearly four thousand postoffices, showing the railways serving these and also the time of arrival and departure of the stages serving the country districts. In addition to this, he must be familiar with the contents of the Canadian Postal Guide, the regulations governing postal clerks, and must have an intimate knowledge of train connections. He is examined on this once a year and on his showing a great facility and even love for the work. Many cases have occurred of heroic devotion to duty.

After all, when we take into consideration the Sunshine deeds that we never hear of, and find a good hat is not so poor. If we could only see the inner side of every cloud is bright and shining, and so, as James Whitcomb Riley said, "turn our clouds about and always wear them inside out."

held Tuesday afternoon at the residence of the vice-president, Mrs. Geo.
Hegward. Something definite should be arranged for International Day, which is being observed at headquarters on May 29th. It is hoped the members will not forget their promises for the Stamp Fund.

The April Sunshine Bulletin, edited by the President General, contains a report of the splendid Sunshine work being done in Canada. Chatham

A TASK.
To be kind, to be honest, to earn a

those without capital; and above all, on the same grim conditions, to keep friends with himself. Here is a task for all that a man has of fortitude and delicacy. —R. L. Stevenson.

Mrs. Ayres, writing of Sunshine in that it is just a little "streaky," this season. After apologizing for using that term, she endeavors to excuse the fact by saying it is probable all the members are house-cleaning.

Maybe that is what is the matter with Chatham Sunshiners, but the work seems, at a standstill, this season. The real work of the Society is to ring the Sunshine and happiness into as many hearts and homes as possible, but how are we doing it?
There should be something more than theory. However, when the cloud of housecleaning has passed, we will look for the Sunshine again.

Eleven Junior Sunshiners went to the Home of the Friendless last Wednesday to give away tinnales what the children called a "treat." Our friends at the Home say it was a treat, and the Juniors report that "they just had a lovely time."

One of our members evidently remembered Sunshine in the midst of house-cleaning, and finding a good hat that was of no further use to herself, handed it over to Sunshiners, to be passed on where it might be of use.
She reported also, other Sunshine work in view.

Another member has contributed Sunshine literature, which will help greatly in the work. Will not other members be on the watch for any-

PALE AND LISTLESS

A CONDITION THAT AFFECTS
VERY MANY WOMEN.

The Appetite Fails—Strength Departs and the Sufferer Feels That Life is Really a Burden.

From The Topic, Petrolia, Ont.

It is impossible that a medicine can be so widely known and used as are Dr. Williams' Pink Pills without striking results frequently becoming known and the merits of this great remedy for the common ailments of man and woman being published.

Mrs. Thos. Kettle, of Petrolia, Ont., is a case in point. Mrs. Kettle is an old resident of this district and is the highest praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which she said, had cured her of a long illness. Our reporter, being naturally interested, made further exquiries when Mrs. Kettle gave him the following particulars:—"I am the mother of twelve children and in spite of the constant strain and worry the raising of so large a family entailed upon me, in addition to my housework, I was for many years blessed with splendid health. However, after the birth of my last child my strength seemed to fail me and I felt that my health was gradually going. I consulted a doctor and continued under his treatment for some months, but the only result that I could see was that I grew steadily worse. I could not name any particular ailment that suffered from this, but I was all "run down." My appetite failed me, my strength seemed all gone and I became pale and listless, scarcely able to drag myself around, and I felt that I was a real godsend to weak and ailing women, and have frequently recommended them to my friends and used them with my children, always with good results." Judging from Mrs.
Kettle's healthy appearance to-day none would imagine she had ever known what a day's illness meant.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a positive cure for all diseases arising from imperfect blood, or a weak or shattered condition of the nervous system, such as, indigestion, "biliousness," neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, heart troubles, anaemia, etc. These pills are also a cure for the ailments that make the lives of so many women a constant misery. Sold by druggists or sent by mail, postpaid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co.,

CANCER AMONG ROYALTY.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 1, 1902.—Since the death of Emperor Frederick, and the recent strain in England over the reports regarding King Edward, a series of articles have appeared in the press relating to this dreaded disease, and many people, not only throughout the United States, but from South America and Europe, have sought the advice of a specialist of Indianapolis, relative to the disease being hereditary.

These inquiries have been suggested by the many marvelous cures effected by the Doctor's famous Oil Treatment, which in most cases can be self-administered at home.

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs.
Byron Robinson celebrated the sixth anniversary of their wedding, by inviting the number of their friends and to join them in a social evening. The chief enjoyment was in eating maple syrup, taffy and maple sugar, a treat that would tempt the appetite of an Egyptian. Byron is one of those general, whole-souled fellows, who, whenever he has a good thing, is always ready to share it with his friends and neighbors.—Wheatley Journal.

The spirit of James Quirk, of Branford, who was accidentally killed or murdered lately, has been telling Herb McKay, Windsor, all about it.
"It would be wonderful! All you require is a medium, a tin horn, a willingness to accept for truth all you hear, and there you are. I Quirk will only name his murderer and furnish a few proofs his appearance at a spiritual seance will be of critical benefit. It will, we fear, require more than a tin horn to disclose the secret."—Leamington Post.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mayor and Mrs. Ribble, Richmond street, North Dresden, a happy event occurred when Miss Robertson was united in marriage to Joseph McWha, by the Rev Norman Lindsay, B. A. The bride, who was neatly attired in white organdy, was given away by her brother-in-law, Albert Stevens, Kent Bridge. About 35 guests were present, and after an excellent wedding dinner, the happy couple left for their home, com. I.
Dawn. Miss Johnston has resided with Mrs. Ribble for the past three years and while here has made many friends. The groom's choice being raised here and both are highly esteemed.

ance company."—Ridgeway Dominion.

A son of Wm. C. Turner, Chatham township, was harnessing a horse on Saturday last when the animal kicked him in the face, breaking the cheek bone and tearing considerable flesh off his face. Ten stitches were required to sew up the lacerated portion. He is doing as well as can be expected, but will carry a bad scar.
