A TERRIFIC CYCLONE.

DESTROYED 60 BUILDINGS AND INJURED FOUR PEOPLE.

The District West of Rockland, Ontario, Suffers From a Storm of Great Violence.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—A terrific cyclone swept the district one mile west of the Town of Rockland at 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, carrying destruction and injury in its wake. Four persons were seriously injured, and sixty houses, barns and outbuildings were shattered, and in some cases carried completely away. Animals were killed in the fields, and great trees that have stood for centuries were uprooted or moved down and hurled through the air. Much damage was done to crops. The storm gave no warning, nor was there any time for escape. At 3.30 the sky was clear. Then in less time than it takes to tell it a vast whirlwind cloud swept down the south shore of the Ottawa River.

So far as has been ascertained, the injured are Mrs. Oliver Deguire; Oliver Deguire, aged seven; Harry Deguire, aged four; Miss McCullough, Cumberland.

A summary of the damage to property shows:—Houses destroyed, five; barns and stables destroyed, sixteen; granaries, four; cattle sheds and outbuildings, twenty-four; other structures destroyed, thirteen.

Value of buildings and contents destroyed, $15,000; machinery and vehicles destroyed, $5,000. The crop damage is impossible to estimate, nor can a correct estimate be made of the loss of valuable woods and nursing live stock.

Half a mile west from Rockland, on the Montreal Road, towards Ottawa, is a strip of land between the road and the river, probably two hundred yards deep. On this are situated the farms of Rudolph Lavergne, Oliver Deguire, Mrs. Daniel O'Byrne and John Mahoney.

Across the road are the farms of J. A. Dent and Charles Lafontaine. Hardly a building on these six large and prosperous farms remains undamaged, and indeed, few are left standing at all. On Mrs. O'Byrne's farm there is not a building left except an old loghouse. When the storm came up Mr. Mahoney, as well as Mrs. O'Byrne, and her two children, were in the house, and the inmates just had time to jump into the cellar. In a few seconds the roof was swept away, doors and windows were blown out, and only a few sticks of the wall remained. Even the furniture was blown away. Opposite the house of Mrs. O'Byrne, Mr. Burns and Miss McCullough of Cumberland were driving on their way home. They had barely time to get out of the buggy and crouch in a ditch while the storm swept past. Then they found the horse lying on the road, without a strap of harness on his back. The buggy had disappeared.

This morning the buggy and harness were found in the midst of a grove of trees on the Ottawa shore, smashed and torn to atoms. Miss McCullough was injured on the arm and leg by flying debris.

It was at the farm of Oliver Deguire that the greatest damage occurred. Not a building is left. Deguire was away from home at the time, and only his wife and five small children were at home. When the storm burst Mrs. Deguire tried to open the cellar door and get the children in. But there was no time. The house collapsed like a pack of cards on the six inmates. A large cooking stove probably saved their lives. The main beam of the heavy roof fell across it, and while the family were crushed they were not killed. With the greatest bravery Mrs. Deguire, although in a delicate state of health, pulled the heavy timber from over the children, and one by one got them out of the wreck. Oliver, aged seven, is badly cut on the arms and head, while Harry, the four-year-old boy, is injured and wounded about the body. Hope of recovering is held out for both. Mrs. Deguire herself is in a very precarious state of health, owing chiefly to the shock. The injured were removed later to the house of Mrs. Deguire's father, Mr. Lavergne, on the next farm. All the outbuildings, sheds, barns, stables, granaries, machinery sheds on the Deguire farm are gone.

Mr. R. Lavergne was more fortunate. His stables and barns are gone, but apart from broken glass, two missing chimneys and a portion of the roof, his house still stands intact. The prosperous farm of Mr. Charles Lafontaine, south of the Montreal road, suffered considerably. The barn, stable, granary, several sheds, a large pigsty, an apple orchard, are all partially destroyed. Great slices were torn from the roof of the dwelling, but it is built of brick and did not collapse, as did all the other farm buildings. Mr. Lafontaine and family took refuge in a ditch during the storm. Mr. F. McNeely, a brother-in-law of Mr. Lafontaine, arrived at the farm a few minutes before the tornado and tied his valuable trotting horse to a post. The horse was found lying on the ground with its neck broken. It had evidently been struck by something during the storm and instantly killed.

The granary of J. A. Dent, who lives on the next farm, was lifted up and deposited twelve feet away on the ground, but so easily that various articles on a shelf inside were not moved. Mr. Dent's house was also moved two

CHATHAM CITIZEN CHOSEN TO PRESIDE AT HIGH COURT

Ex-Ald. R. A. Harrington Unanimously Elected Head of the Ontario I. O. F.—Successful Convention at Galt—Maple City Delegates.

By a unanimous acclamatory vote ex-Ald. R. A. Harrington, of this city, was yesterday elected as High Chief Ranger at the 26th annual convention of the Independent Order of Foresters held in Galt.

The office is the highest in the gift of the High Court of Ontario, and the unanimity of his election is a high tribute to the worth of Mr. Harrington, and the esteem in which he is held by his colleagues, and also a hearty compliment to the local Court McGreggor, of which he is a member.

Mr. Harrington has been a Forester for about twelve years, during which time he has been continuously a member of the High Court, and held many of the important offices therein. The convention was throughout a most successful one. The Order is in a very flourishing condition and the records showed a remarkable development and expansion during the past year. The Maple City delegates in attendance were Messrs. W. G. Burrows, S. Stephenson, D. H. Dymond, A. Dale, D. E. Russell and R. A. Harrington and Mrs. H. Colville.

The High Court officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows:—
High Chief Ranger—R. A. Harrington, Chatham.

Past High Chief Ranger—C. H. Merriam, Moncton.

High Vice Chief Ranger—R. D. Cameron, Lucknow.

High Secretary—Frank E. McCormick, St. Thomas.

High Treasurer—Rev. Evans Davis, London.

High Physician—Dr. Buchanan, Galt.

High Counsellor—George S. Kerr, Hamilton.

High Auditors—Jno. Hamby, London, and Frank McLoth, Blythe.

It was decided to hold the next I. O. F. High Court Convention at Sarnia.

feet off its foundation, but not otherwise damaged. In fact, every building on his farm is moved from one to twenty feet east, but the buildings themselves and contents are entirely unharmed.

Furniture Burned at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 13.—Fire early this morning destroyed a four-story brick warehouse here, entailing a loss of over $100,000. The building was filled with valuable furniture owned by local dealers.

IRONDEQUOIT AGAIN.

AMERICAN BOAT WINS HER SECOND CU PRACE.

Beat the Strathcona by One Minute and Eighteen Seconds—The Battle of the Skippers.

Toronto, Aug. 13.—Irondequoit won her second race in the series for the Canada's Cup yesterday, from Strathcona, by 1 min. 18 sec., after a magnificent contest. Mr. Hannan and Commodore Jarvis gave splendid exhibitions of seaman's skill, and there was nothing to choose between them. The difference lies in the boats.

The course yesterday was somewhat in favor of Strathcona, judging by previous trials. There was a long run of nine miles in which she was supposed to be at her best, and a beat back. The wind was off shore, leaving the surface of the lake smooth for some distance out, and was about ten miles from the shore at start. It came from the northwest, but later shifted around to the west.

The start was at 11.15.20, or a quarter of an hour later than usual, and the time was put in jockeying for the windward position. Commodore Jarvis had the advantage of knowing better the depths and shoals, and persistently hung to the island shore. The line was between the Cleopatra and a buoy opposite Mr. Gooderham's house. The Irondequoit stayed near the line for a while, but as the time for gun fire drew near wheeled back half a dozen times in a vain effort to get to the weather of the defender. Commodore Jarvis edged in towards shore, closer and closer at each attack, and on the last occasion must have had a narrow escape from grounding. Each carried the balloon canvas in stops, awaiting a favorable moment for hoisting. Irondequoit bore away for the line, and as the gun went off let out a big balloon jib, and crossed the line at 11.15.20. Strathcona was 10 seconds later at 11.15.30, but held the windward position.

Mixed up With Onlookers. The course out to the buoy was supposed to be a run before the wind and at this work Strathcona on other days proved superior. Mr. Hannan was well aware of this, and determined to prevent it if possible. This could be done by turning it into a reach, at which Irondequoit had shown superior speed. The course was not exactly a free run, and the moment Strathcona crossed the line Irondequoit, who was a little in advance, was hauled on the wind. Commodore Jarvis was quite prepared for such a move. If he had kept on he would have run into the lee of his opponent, and so he luffed, too. The movement took the fleet of onlookers completely by surprise. Even the judge's boat, Cleopatra, was in the way, and the Strathcona's spinnaker had to be lifted up to get past. The big steam yacht Wipah tried to back out, but was too late, and Irondequoit swept past her bows. A mackinaw of the no-name series was sandwiched in between the racers, but neither was seriously interfered with, though there were many anxious moments. Then a terrific struggle for windward position took place. As Irondequoit headed more and more into the wind Strathcona did the same, until they were at right angles to their original course, and headed for the eastern gap. For 13 minutes this work kept up, until opposite Fisherman's Island Strathcona suddenly jibed. Under Irondequoit's stern and squared away for the buoy. The balloon jib tumbled for a little, but was quickly trimmed down, and with it out like a cloud the defender started for the mark.

The Irondequoit kept on for about 12 minutes longer, headed in a direction considerably to the eastward of the outer mark, because Strathcona, after shaking free of her opponent, was still to windward.

So ended one of the most exciting slugging fights seen here for many a day. By all the rules of logic Commodore Jarvis was justified in thinking he had beaten Mr. Hannan at his own game. The Strathcona hitherto was speedier on a run, but strange to say was beaten yesterday.

It looked as if Commodore Jarvis had had the advantage of the struggle, for he quickly opened out a big gap and seemed to be a quarter of a mile ahead. Irondequoit seemed to be looking for a better breeze, but, as it did not come, altered his course and started in pursuit. At noon the wind began to fall, and was somewhat shifty, for Strathcona's spinnaker emptied, and dipped into the lake, while Irondequoit's kept fairly well filled. This continuing longer, headed in a direction considerably to the eastward of the outer mark, because Strathcona, after shaking free of her opponent, was still to windward.

The run was completed: Irondequoit 1.46.14, Strathcona 1.48.56. The Irondequoit was 2.52 ahead, and having a start of 10 sec., made the run 2.42 faster than Strathcona.

Both set off for home on the starboard tack. Fifteen minutes later Irondequoit made a couple of short tacks to throw Strathcona off the wind, and succeeded. The wind was now so light that both crews were lying out on the lee rail. At 1.26.00 Irondequoit went on the port tack again, working out to windward, but it was only for half a minute, and then Mr. Hannan went back, apparently satisfied that he had the position. The wind had increased to about ten miles, and there was a choppy sea, which was not to Strathcona's liking. Mr. Hannan watched his opponent carefully, and with every tack made one to match, until they ran close in to Scarboro' Heights. Then on the last tack in the Strathcona got a favoring breeze and rapidly overhauled her opponent, but the lead was too great, and Irondequoit crossed a winner by one minute and eighteen seconds, the time being—Irondequoit, 3.12.13; Strathcona, 3.13.31. The Strathcona had started the beat 2.52 behind, and therefore gained 1.34. Having started the course ten seconds ahead, the Irondequoit completed it 1.08 faster.

CONVICT SEEKS DAMAGES. Arms Were Broken by a Machine in Penitentiary Laundry.

Kingston, Aug. 13.—United States Consul Twitchell has been appealed to by Convict Kelly, in the penitentiary, to aid him in recovering damages from the Dominion Government for injuries received through the bursting of a driving machine in the prison laundry. Kelly is a native of Buffalo, and has served ten years of a 14-year sentence. He claims that his injuries, the breaking of his arms, were due to carelessness, in that a more powerful dynamo was used in turning the machine than it could stand, hence it blew to pieces, with disastrous results. Kelly has been a good prisoner, and quite recently saved the Protestant chapel from destruction by fire, and at that time had his hands badly burned. It is said he would have been pardoned had not the detectives reported against it.

RADIAL ROAD TO BE BUILT

Promoters Will Now Proceed to Secure Their Kent County System.

Will Ask Franchises from Municipalities to be Benefitted—Will go Ahead at Once.

The Radial Railway Co. now have their charter. The bill successfully passed the Senate yesterday, and now the promoters are in a position to go ahead and secure franchises from the different municipalities. Mayor McKeough last evening received the following telegram from Ottawa from the solicitors of the promoters of the company.

Railway Bill finally passed by the Senate without amendment. (Signed) Denton, Dunn & Boulton.

The promoters of the company are Wm. Ball, N. H. Stevens, Geo. Stephens, M. P., W. E. McKeough, David Gordon, W. N. Warburton and Mr. Dunlop.

The first piece of the road will be constructed between Chatham and Wallaceburg, traversing Dover Tp. A surveyor will be at once sent here to lay out the line. Then the different municipalities will be approached for bonuses and other aids. It is expected that the road will be running next year.

FRIGHTFUL HURRICANE.

WHOLE VILLAGES WIPED OUT IN JAMAICA.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 13.—The effects of yesterday's hurricane upon the island of Jamaica were greater than at first believed. At Port Antonio only six houses were left standing. The United Fruit Co.'s wharves, offices, hotel and plantations were demolished. Five of the company's steamers, including the Simon Dumois, Alfred Dumois and Brighton, were driven ashore, but are lying in easy positions. Port Maria suffered similarly. The coast is strewn with wreckage of local sailing vessels.

It is feared that the loss of life has been heavy, 30 fatalities having already been reported, principally among seamen. The entire eastern end of the island has been devastated. Villages have been wiped out, and public buildings and churches demolished. Thousands of the peasantry, rendered homeless and destitute, are wandering about seeking food and shelter. The destruction of the banana plantations has been complete, and the fruit trade is paralyzed for the next twelve months. Hundreds of prosperous fruit-growers have been brought to bankruptcy and ruin.

The western end of the island, which it was at first thought had escaped, also suffered considerably. The Norwegian steamer Salvador di Giorgio was driven ashore at Annotts Bay, and lies in a dangerous position. Several sailing vessels were wrecked on the north side. It is still stormy and threatening, and there are fears that there may be a renewal of the storm. Torrential rains have increased the misery of the poor and homeless. Thousands of houses are damaged, and the wharves were battered and several coasting vessels were sunk in the harbor. Trade is practically at a standstill.

The southeastern portion of the island has been completely devastated. Its crops, the silvers are flooded, and many men were carried out to sea and drowned. It is estimated that the death list will reach fifty. Hundreds of persons were injured, and there were numerous hairbreadth escapes. The property loss is estimated at $10,000,000.

OF INTERNATIONAL IMPORTANCE

The cabled news that the British government has refused to allow the editors of the Sun-Pao to be handed over to the Chinese authorities is very satisfactory, and the statement that the United States representative was inclined to act otherwise will, it is hoped, be found incorrect. The Sun-Pao is a newspaper printed in Chinese. It was established in Shanghai in 1872, by two brothers named Major, who were good Chinese scholars, and was edited by Ernest Major, the younger. In the beginning the venture was that of the Majors and a few friends but the paper was successful, and was afterwards turned into a company, the shares being all, or nearly all held by British subjects. Mr. Major gave up the editorship some years ago and returned to England, where both brothers are now living.

Shanghai is a native city, but outside of the city there are the three settlements so-called, namely, British founded in 1842, when the treaty ports were first opened, the French subsequently arranged for and the American settlement at a much later day. The Sun-Pao offices are in the British settlement, from which no one can be taken without the consent of the British consul. There have, however, been instances where natives who were inimical to the mandarins were kidnapped. That has taken place both in Shanghai and Ningpo and the wives and children and servants have on two or three occasions been kidnapped and practically held for ransom. Nothing of the kind is now, however, possible, and the Sun-Pao editors are, it is to be hoped, quite safe in their asylum under the British flag, so long as the British government refuses to deliver them up.

There is a mixed court in Shanghai so called because the judges are British and Chinese, before whom any native delinquent may be brought to answer a charge; no foreigner, however, would be brought before the court. He would be tried before his consul, or, if British, before the supreme court.

Shanghai has now become an immensely important place, as it is the entrepot of all the trade which goes to the interior by the Yangtze river and to the northern part of China by way of Tien Tsin. The Chinese population of the three settlements, and also in the adjoining districts is now very large; indeed the inhabitants are far more numerous than in the native city. The junk trade of the coast is still largely done by merchants who reside in the city, but all the other trade, which is far more valuable, and of immensely greater volume, is transacted by those who live in the settlements. The British settlement contains the banks and the houses of the leading merchants. There are also some large firms on the river side part of the French settlement, but the American settlement is chiefly residential, except the docks, wharves, etc. The word "settlement" though always used in regard to Shanghai is misleading. Those who do not know the place might imagine it a small place made up of shacks and temporary dwellings. On the contrary the British settlement in Shanghai contains many streets of fine houses, and the water front of something like a mile long is covered with handsome, indeed, palatial buildings, used as banks, merchants' offices and so forth.

It is to be hoped the British government will resolutely refuse to allow the editors to be handed over to the empress and the anti-reform Pekin party. To do so would be to give a set-back to the reforming agencies which have recently come into play. They would receive no trial at Pekin but be handed over at once to torture, and the position and influence of the Sun-Pao, which has always been a reforming organ, would be destroyed. Its articles have many times given offence to the native authorities and the tautai (i. e. chief magistrate) of Shanghai has repeatedly "wanted" the editors of the paper, but no official demand has ever been made to have them handed over to the Chinese until now.—Ottawa Citizen.

CALL FROM THE PASTURE.

The newspapers of Oklahoma are severe on storekeepers who do not advertise properly. The following piece of ridicule shows the method of attack: "A donkey stepped into a store and the proprietor approached the beast and asked: 'What are you doing here? You know this is no place for a donkey.' 'I am here,' said the donkey, 'because I saw your advertisement on the fence that surrounds my pasture. I know you, too, must be a donkey or you would place your advertisement in a paper where it would be read by people, not donkeys. Being lonesome to-day I thought I would be neighborly and make a fraternal call.'"

A SLOW TOWN.

The English immigrants who have lately arrived in Stratford complain that there is a lack of amusement here. Perhaps they are right.

PRODUCTION BETTER THAN IMPORTS.

Hamilton Spectator.
If Canada is rich enough to import a hundred million dollars' worth of goods from Uncle Sam every year, it could be a good deal richer by making these goods at home.

A BENEFACTANT LABOR ORGANIZATION.

From Mind.
In 715 B. C., under the peaceful and justice-loving Emperor of Rome, Numa Pompilius, were established famous Collegia Fabrorum, or colleges of builders, which embraced the hieroglyphic erudition of Egypt, the teachings of the gymnosophists, or priest-philosophers of India, the wisdom of Hebrew kings and prophets, and the Dionesian mysteries, better understood as the arts of the Greek architects. These colleges were civil, religious and independent, and were granted the exclusive privilege of erecting the public temples and monuments of Rome.

Thus this Brotherhood of Builders patronized by the Government soon became scattered throughout all the Roman provinces, and wherever the sword of desolation had wrought havoc and destruction these beneficent bodies, with their unity of aim and labor, created monuments and taught the arts of refined civilization. Throughout every hamlet in the provinces of Rome, in Britain, France, Spain, Germany, Greece, Saxony, wherever the Roman Legion was victor, went the builders.

Three the Life of a Stag.

Is it true or not—another curious and current belief—that the raven lives to an immense age, some say to a hundred or even to 300 years? Old Hesiod is the father of the belief, and he is supported, more or less, by a host of ancient writers, the elder Pliny, Cicero, Aristophanes, Horace, Ovid and Ausonius. Popular opinion in modern times quite agrees with them, as expressed in the highland proverb, somewhat modified from Hesiod:

Three the life of a dog is the life of a horse.

Three the life of a horse is the life of a man.

Three the life of a man is the life of a stag.

Three the life of a stag is the life of a raven.

There cannot be so much smoke without some fire behind it, and I am inclined to think that a raven does live to a great age for a bird and that Horace's epithet for the raven, annosus, and Tennyson's "many wintered crow" are justified by facts. But the belief in its extreme age rests, I suspect, on one of its most touching characteristics, its intense hereditary attachment to the spot, a particular cliff, a particular grove, a particular tree, where its ancestors, where itself and where its young have been born and bred.—R. Bosworth Smith in Nineteenth Century.

TILBURY

Aug. 13.—Miss Mabel Birch returned from the Chatham yesterday, after a visit to friends here.

W. F. Normande, after a residence of three years in Montana has returned here on a visit, he was accompanied by his father, Paul Normande, of Michigan. He is an old resident of this village.

The ball game between Tilbury and Marine City occurred on our civic holiday. About 130 embarked on the City of Chatham, and proceeded to Marine City. They were so much, however, in fascination with the game that they heard not or regarded not the whistle of the steamer for the return home, and missed passage, for which they had expended 50c for return home. About a hundred thus left in the lurch had to take to the railroad—many of them impecunious—and after a disbursement of $3 each, arrived home about three o'clock in the morning, looking cold, hungry and cross, as well as losing the game by 14 to 7.

THE GUN

J. W. ATKENS AT TORONTO.

Toronto, August 12.—In the Brewsters' and McKays' Association Cup, J. W. Atkins, Maple Leaf Gun Club, of Chatham, and Mr. Fischer, of the Hamilton Gun Club, Hamilton, tied with 20 straight. Mr. Atkins' score was disputed by Fischer, he having thought that the referee erred in calling Atkins' sixteenth bird dead, in his opinion it being a lost bird, and he had the scorer make a mark beneath the score to call the referee's attention to it at the close of the squad. Others noticing this took it for a miss and made Atkins' score 19. When the sixteenth bird died, the executive this afternoon, they promptly decided the referee's decision of a dead bird was beyond dispute, and that Atkins should be credited with the dead bird, so that the referee called, and Fischer and Atkins should shoot off 20 targets each for the cup and medal. In the shoot-off the score was—

Fischer.....1101111101111111—18
 Atkins.....1111110011011111—17

Mr. Fischer won the gold medal and the cup for the year.

GREAT FISHING

While in Los Angeles, J. M. Pike had a great day's fishing. He and ex-Mayor Sulman took a day off and went to the Catalina Island, just off the California coast.

Mr. Pike landed a 22-lb yellow tail. The rest spun round so fast that it cut his hand rather severely. He also caught a number of bass weighing from four to five lbs. each. He would have liked to have caught one of the jumping turbot, but as he had only half a day (to fish, and as it takes that time to land a turbot, he was unable to enjoy the sport. He saw a sea bass weighing 338 lbs. caught the day he was fishing. A thousand feet of line and a big wooden reel are used in angling for these monsters of the deep. The boats are fitted with glass bottoms so the visitors can see 60 feet into the sea. The scenery below the water is very beautiful. Gold fish can be seen swimming around among the sea weeds, and occasionally a big fellow can be seen circling around in the water.

AN HISTORIC SIGHT

An historic sight in Toronto is the royal suite at the Queen's hotel where all royal visitors to that city have been entertained. The Queen's itself is a fitting repository of such contents. Flanked on either side by a charming garden with its flower beds and ivied walls, it presents an old world appearance. Its furnishings are at once chastely refined and sumptuous, cosy and homelike. The Queen's is thoroughly modern in its appointments. It possesses large and lofty rooms, with a telephone, and the most improved methods of lighting and ventilation. It is but three stories high, perfectly fire-proof, has numerous exits, making danger from fire impossible. Its cuisine is famed and the attendance given wins the highest praise. The rates are exceedingly reasonable, from $2.50 to $3.00 with bath, per diem. The Queen's is pleasantly situated, a few minutes walk from the station, and close to the lake. It is delightfully cool and free from the noise of the city.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

The Face That Kills.

According to paragraphs that appear from time to time in the papers, sometimes backed up by more or less elaborate statistics, heart disease and paralysis are increasingly prevalent and fatal. It is not to be wondered at. This is a strenuous age, no strenuous that men are hurried along with its rapid current at so terrific a speed and with such constant application to work that body and mind are taxed beyond their powers of endurance. Our grandfathers, nay, even our fathers knew nothing of the stress of life as we feel it, who are engaged in its dire struggle to-day. No wonder that often the rupture of an engorged blood-vessel in the brain, or the failure of a sorely taxed valve in the heart, suddenly puts a stop to it all, and the man who thought that business must be attended to, no matter at how great a cost of hurry and wear and tear, finds some day that business has to go on without him. There are physical sins as well as spiritual sins, and many men ruin their bodies, who would not dream of doing damage to their souls. The plea of necessity is not a valid one either, for no man is compelled to sin against either his body or his soul. And yet, as we said just now, in this strenuous age it is no wonder that heart disease and paralysis are on the increase. Men rush—and drop. Other men rush past them a little farther—and drop in their turn. It would be better to slacken the pace, and hold out longer. We should get more done, and do it better. — Christian Guardian.

Leader Captured, Three Killed.

Havana, July 30.—The efforts of a quartette of wild characters to cause an uprising in the vicinity of Bayamo, Province of Santiago, have ended in the capture of their leader and the killing of the other three men. For weeks the four men had been endeavoring to excite the people to treason and violence on the ground that the revolutionary forces had not been and were not likely to be paid. This effectively ends the only semblance of an uprising in Cuba.

Hawaii Wants to Be Free.

Honolulu, July 30.—At yesterday's session of the House of Representatives, ex-Delegate Wilcox urged that Congress be memorialized to grant Hawaiian independence. He also advocated a Government like that of Cuba. His proposals were endorsed freely, and a petition embodying the views he expressed will undoubtedly be prepared for presentation to Congress by Delegate Kalanianoʻle.

THE RAILWAY POLICY.

STRONG SPEECHES BY MESSRS BLAIR AND CHARLTON.

The Former Attacks the Government's Policy on the Project and the Latter Defends it.

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—In the House of Commons yesterday Hon. Mr. Blair, ex-Minister of Railways, spoke for four hours in condemnation of the Government's policy in connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Mr. John Charlton replied and had not concluded when the House adjourned until to-day. Mr. Blair said in part:—

He was told by one of the great organs of public opinion in this country, which seems to be most extremely anxious to see this project go through, that "this road must be built 'now or never.' What does that mean? What conditions exist now which might not exist five years hence? Then the organ said: 'It mattered not how we have drifted or been drawn into it, we are face to face with a grave crisis.'"

"We have," said Mr. Blair, "more than drifted; we have been drawn into it." Mr. Blair inquired what the crisis is. "Where is it located?" he asked, amid Opposition laughter; "if it is a tangible thing, we would like to feel it. Let somebody who does not know locate it. If somebody has it in his pocket, let him produce it." Mr. Blair said somebody had tried to make a little political crisis out of recent changes in the Railway Department, but that was a very small thing. He wondered such strained advocacy should find expression in one of the leading organs of opinion of the country. He thought the crisis ought to be disclosed. If it does not now exist but is impending, it would be well to warn the country. "If it is a crisis of such a grave character as it is said to be, and if it is liable to be attended with such disastrous results to the interests of Canada, then I for one, and I am quite sure the general body of this House will be prepared even to support a proposition of this character if it is going to relieve us from such dreadful consequences rather than have that calamitous crisis come upon us," said Mr. Blair. It was said that Parliament now had to decide or the opportunity would slip away to the inestimable and irreparable loss of Canada. He had heard such expressions used in auction shops, but could not imagine how anyone would think such kind of argument would impress the mass of intelligent people of the country.

Mr. Charlton quoted from three newspapers published in Vancouver, B. C., reports of a speech delivered by Hon. Mr. Blair in that city on October 9 last, to show that the ex-Minister of Railways had changed his views upon the subject of a transcontinental line. The ex-Minister had just previously been presented with an address by the Victoria Board of Trade and that address recommended the building of the Canadian Northern for the purpose of securing an additional line across British Columbia to the Pacific Ocean. Inspired possibly, Mr. Charlton suggested, by that address, Mr. Blair had, speaking on October 9, used the following language: "There is no country where the soil is more fertile than in the millions of acres in Canada which the plough has not yet touched, and which man has not yet invaded. Railways were necessary to people these great fertile tracts. If we invite people from the world outside to migrate here, they have the right to expect that the Government can assure them the means of transportation. It means a great many railways in all parts of Canada, and we feel that the Government has ample justification in going to reasonable lengths to meet this need. The tide of immigration was setting in full strength towards Canada, particularly from the south, and he believed the time is near when there will be a greater immigration than ever before into Canada. It means increased production and necessarily means of transport. We cannot long remain content with only one transcontinental line. (Government cheers.) I hope to see another line of railway built. (Cheers.) We cannot get it fast enough to satisfy me. I am doing all I can in my small way, without making any pretence about it to ensure its construction."

G.T.R. WRECK VICTIMS.

One of Them Identified as Charles McCoy of Nanapan.

Durand, Mich., Aug. 12.—Graves for ten unknown victims of the Grand Trunk Railway disaster have been dug in Love Joy Cemetery, and to-day a union burial service was held, all the ministers in the city participating. One of the victims was identified yesterday as Charles McCoy of Nanapan, Ont., by a representative of McCoy's wife, and the remains will be sent there for burial. A body was identified Sunday as that of William Griffin. Henry Griffin of Saginaw, Mich., happened to be among the throng of visitors who were viewing the remains. While passing along the line he was horrified to see the corpse of his brother William, whom he had not heard from in six years.

CANADA'S FOREIGN TRADE.

Increase of Forty-five Million Dollars in One Year.

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—As announced some time ago, Canada's aggregate foreign trade amounted for the fiscal year ending June 30th to the enormous sum of $459,637,049, an increase of $45,000,000 compared with the previous year, and of $228,000,000 compared with 1896. The Dominion's aggregate trade with Great Britain amounted to $190,098,031, as against $166,745,909 in 1902, and $99,670,030 in 1896. This was only $19,293,883 less than Canada's aggregate trade with the United States, which last year amounted to $209,389,114. In 1892 we did a trade of $192,012,434 with the United States, and in 1896 we imported from and exported to that country products and goods to the amount of $103,022,434. Our trade with Germany shows an increase, but the surplus had not begun to make itself felt in the last fiscal year. The value of the dealings with that country was $14,381,007, compared with $13,515,747 in 1902 and $6,688,990 in 1896. We sent to Newfoundland and took from that Island goods to the amount of $3,775,805 last year, whereas in 1902 the amount was $3,498,482, and in 1896, $2,333,721. In 1896 the aggregate of our trade with Belgium was but $1,018,789, whereas in 1902 it had grown to $4,156,049, and last year it rose to $4,949,972. Taking the imports for consumption by the countries in 1903 they show as follows:—From Great Britain $58,893,710, an increase of $9,687,108; from the United States, $137,605,195, an increase of $16,720,445; from Germany, $12,282,637, an increase of $1,459,468; from France, $6,880,029, a decrease of $2,075; from Belgium, $2,800,179, an increase of $1,088,586; from Newfoundland, $1,197,581, an increase of $519,819. The exports in 1903 by countries contain the following figures:—To Great Britain, $131,202,321, an increase of $13,882,100; to the United States, $71,783,919, an increase of $56,235; to Germany, $2,098,456, a decrease of $94,122; to France, $1,341,618, a decrease of $47,230; to Belgium, $2,149,793, a decrease of $294,657; to Newfoundland, $2,578,224, an increase of $197,142.

Hot Weather Beauty

The fresh bloom and beauty which is so attractive in women—the beauty of perfect health—falls an easy victim to the enervating heat of summer. The roses fade and a sickly pallor takes its place; nervous headaches leave dark shadows beneath the eyes; the eyes themselves lose their sparkle and lustre; rashes and blotches destroy the fine texture of the skin and almost without warning beauty has fled.

These troubles are but outward manifestations of the effect of hot weather upon the digestive system. With perfect digestion beauty can defy the heat.

"Nerves" lassitude, loss of appetite and the hundred and one troubles that make hot weather almost unbearable are unknown to the person with a sound digestion.

Before beauty has fled: before "nerves" headaches, indigestion, constipation and listlessness overtake you, buy a little box of

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper

How a Snake Committed Suicide.
Serpents sometimes swallow prey so much too big for their digestion that they actually burst from repletion. The instance is recorded of a cobra, a snake which swallowed a goat, the horns of which pierced the belly of the monster and killed him.

The girl is the mother of the woman just as "the boy is the father of the man." The period when the womanly functions begin is one to be carefully watched and considered. Irregularity or derangement at this time may be promptly met and cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. But neglected at this critical period may entail years of future suffering. "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the womanly organs, giving them perfect vigor and abundant vitality. It removes the obstructions to health and happiness, and delivers womanhood from the cruel bondage of "female weakness."

You pay the postage. Dr. Pierce gives you the book. The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, 700 illustrations is sent free on receipt of stamps to defray cost of mailing and customs. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper bound book, or 56 stamps for cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle.

Fowls and Milk.
Fowls seldom tire of milk of any kind. They may eat too much grain or meat for their health, but milk in any form is not only palatable, but healthy and nutritious.

PERMANENT MUSCULAR STRENGTH.

There is no to be borne in mind in these days when so many young men are giving so much attention to physical development, in gymnastic and athletic exercises, that there cannot be permanent muscular strength where there is not blood strength. Sarsaparilla gives blood strength, promotes digestion and assimilation, and builds up the whole system.

THE RIGHT TO LABOR IN JOY.

Out on the roads they have gathered, a hundred thousand men,
To ask for a half on the sure as the hold of the wolf in his den.
Their need lies close to the quick of life
The earth lies close to the stone!
It is as meat to the slender rib, as marrow to the bone.

They ask but the leave to labor, to toil in the endless night
For a little salt to savor their bread, for houses water-tight
They ask but the right to labor, and to live by the strength of their hands—
They who have bodies like knotted oaks and patience like sea sands.

And the right of a man to labor, and his right to labor in joy—
Not all your laws can blot that right, nor the gates of hell destroy
For it came with the dawn of man, and was kneaded into his bones,
And it will stand at the last of things on the dust of crumbled thrones.

—Edwin Markham.

THE LATE DR. DE WART.

A Good Story of the determination and zeal of that great, brave and good man, the late Dr. Dewart, is told by Mr. Buchanan, says The Toronto Sunday World.

Dr. Dewart, when he was young, was little less than a "bushyhaired," or lumberman, and as that class is usually under-straitened circumstances, he was not exceptionally well to do. He was working near Peterboro, when he made up his mind that he was going to attend the Grammar School, in Toronto, and study to be a Methodist minister. But his pocket was so empty of the coinage of the realm that he had to walk all the way. He went through Bowmanville and had a breakfast there, the kind wife of the innkeeper refusing to accept any money from him as he had told her of the reason that he wished to go to Toronto and the condition of his pocketbook, if he had any. Later in his life he always remembered this kind lady when he went to Bowmanville. As he neared the outskirts of the city he was very tired and despondent and sat down on a stone to rest his weary limbs. A man came riding by and questioned him as to his destination, purpose of going there, and in fact, all about himself in general. Dr. Dewart, then young Dewart, answered the questions readily enough, and the horseman told him that when he arrived in town to seek him out, and stay with him until he was better situated to cope with the necessities of life, and gave him his card. Dewart was very much surprised to see the name of Egerton Ryerson, M.D. He wished to speak to the illustrious promoter of education, but he had ridden away. But he remained one of the firmest friends of the prospective Methodist as long as he lived.

The Pace That Kills.

According to paragraphs that appear from time to time in the papers, sometimes backed up by more or less elaborate statistics, heart disease and paralysis are increasingly prevalent and fatal. It is not to be wondered at. This is a strenuous age, so strenuous that men are hurried along with its rapid current at so terrific a speed and with such constant application to work that body and mind are taxed beyond their powers of endurance. Our grandfathers, nay, even our fathers knew nothing of the stress of life as we feel it, who are engaged in its dire struggle to-day. No wonder that often the rupture of an engorged blood-vessel in the brain, or the failure of a sorely taxed valve in the heart, suddenly puts a stop to it all, and the man who thought that business must be attended to, no matter at how great a cost of without him. There are physical sins as well as spiritual sins, and many men ruin their bodies, who would not dream of doing damage to their souls. The plea of necessity is no valid one either, for no man is compelled to sin against either his body or his soul. And yet, as we said just now, in this strenuous age it is no wonder that heart disease and paralysis are on the increase. Men rush—and a little farther—and drop in the track. It would be better to slacken the pace, and hold out longer. We should get more done, and do it better.—Christian Guardian.

The Man Who Succeeds.

He was making all haste to reach Quebec, and hated to stop over night in Montreal. The passenger steamer of the Richelieu Navigation Company left her wharf at 7 o'clock p. m., the very hour at which his train from Ottawa reached Montreal. How could he possibly make the connection? At Prescott he sent a telegram to the captain of the steamer—"Hold boat for me ten minutes. No fail." Upon reaching the railroad station he jumped into a cab and drove like mad to the wharf, reaching it nine minutes after 7. The steamer was waiting. The captain seeing a man dashing up the gang-plank, ordered the lines cast off and advanced to the side of the vessel with outstretched hand to greet him. "In good time, sir," he said, deferentially, as the boat sailed away. "Ample, thank you." The best stateroom was assigned to the stranger, who acted as if he owned the line. Without a word he went ashore in Quebec next morning. The captain has since learned that he is only a commercial traveler instead of a supposed director of the company. River pilots often twit him about the "masterly bluff that he didn't call."

Hon. A. E. McPhillips, Attorney-General in the new British Columbia Government, was born at Richmond Hill in 1861. He was educated at Manitoba College, and in 1882 was called to the Bar. In 1891 he removed to British Columbia. Mr. McPhillips held a commission in the 90th Rifles during the Riel rebellion, and wears the medal and clasp. In Dominion politics he has always been a Conservative.

WE HAVE A HISTORY.

The Talbot and Simcoe Celebrations emphasize the Potent Fact.

The unveiling of a monument to Governor Simcoe, like the Talbot anniversary celebration, carries us back a century, and gives us a feeling that this Province has a history. Simcoe was the first Governor of Upper Canada after the Province was divided into a French and English section. He was a member of the Parliament which passed the Constitutional Act of 1791, and heard the debate between Pitt and Fox. Fox declined against the bill, as an attempt to introduce into the New World those aristocratic notions which were declining in the old. He asked if those red and blue ribbons which had lost their lustre in the Old World were to shine forth in the new. It seemed to him a peculiar proposal to introduce hereditary honors in America, where those artificial distinctions stunk in the nostrils of the natives. He condemned the setting aside of the clergy reserves, and also the separation of the French and English inhabitants of Canada. The bill was intended to give the people the shadow of the English constitution, while denying the substance.

Simcoe certainly believed that he was giving to Canada "the express image and transcript of the British constitution," and made a conscientious effort to carry out that idea. History gives us a pleasant account of the calling of the Little Parliament at Newark, now Niagara, and how the honest settlers found their parliamentary honors embarrassing, as they were called away from their farms in the busy harvest season. Those who could were detained only a month, and in the beautiful October weather, they wended their way home on horseback, through forest paths or in bark canoes. In honoring such men as Talbot and Simcoe, we make our nearest approach to honoring the pioneers to whom we are so largely indebted. McMullen has given a most interesting account of their labors.

"The backwoodsman, whose fortunes are cast in the remote inland settlements of the present day, far removed from churches, destitute of ministers of the Gospel and medical men, without schools, or roads, or the many conveniences that make life desirable can alone appreciate, or even understand the numerous difficulties and hardships that beset the settler among the ague swamps of Western Canada. The clothes on his back, with a rifle or old musket and a well-tempered ax, were not infrequently the full extent of his worldly possessions. Thus lightly equipped, he took possession of his two hundred acres of closely-forested land, and commenced operations. The welkin rings again with his vigorous strokes, as huge tree after tree is assailed and tumbled to the earth, and the sun presently shines upon the little clearing. The best of the logs are partially squared, and serve to build a shanty; the remainder are given to the flames. Now the rich mould, the accumulation of centuries of decaying vegetation, is gathered into little hillocks, into which potatoes are dibbled. Indian corn is planted in another direction, and, perhaps, a little wheat. If minded, the lonely couple struggle on in their forest oasis like the solitary traveler over the sands of Sahara, or a boat adrift on the Atlantic. The nearest neighbor lives miles off, and when sickness comes, they have to travel far through the forest to claim human sympathy. But, fortunately, our nature, with elastic temperament, adapts itself to circumstances. By and by the potatoes peep up, and the corn blades modestly show themselves around the charred maple stumps and girdled pines, and the prospect of sufficiency of food gives consolation. As winter approaches, a door now and then adds to the comforts of the solitary people. Such were the mode of the first settlers in Western Canada."

We do well to honor all those who discharged faithfully their duties as the builders of Canada, says The Toronto World. But we should like to see a monument erected somewhere to these pioneers themselves, both men and women, whose names and industry transformed a wilderness into the pleasant and wealthy country in which it is our good fortune to live.

HAVE YOU NOTICED

That if your stomach is right nothing bothers you — Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will Make and Keep your stomach Right.

This warm weather has a tendency to make one feel dyspeptic and nervous and miserable, and in that condition the heat bothers one twice as much as it otherwise would.

Probably you have noticed that if your stomach is right nothing bothers you, not even the heat. Doesn't it strike you then that you owe it to yourself to keep your stomach right.

You can do this thing by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They have never been known to fail. All over the country people are telling of benefits received from them. Mr. Mongeot, of Masson, Que., speaks of them as follows:

"I suffered from Dyspepsia and was terribly troubled with nervousness. For eighteen months I was miserable. One fortunate day an advertisement led me to try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. The first box helped me, and I was soon completely cured."

"I recommended Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to my friends and without a single exception they have given good reports of them."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets never fail to drive away the despondency indigestion brings.

GOOD WORDS FOR THE GRAND TRUNK.

During the summer months a very large number of tourists make their way into Canada, and this year the summer resort districts situated on the Grand Trunk Railway System seem to be the favorite objective point for this large influx into Canada. Many of these tourists send "travel letters" to their home papers, which is a means of advertising the Dominion to a very great extent. A letter that appeared in the Norristown Pa., "Daily Times", of Friday, July 24, is a sample of these, an extract from which reads as follows:—

"The Grand Trunk Railway is equal in every respect, and in some points superior to any great railway system in the States. The road-bed is in first class condition, the first-class coaches, judging from their appearance, are of the most modern type, and are very comfortable, and the Pullmans the most luxurious and conveniently equipped in use."

The Grand Trunk runs its own dining cars, in addition to what are called Cafe-Parlor Cars, these latter being about the nicest thing of the kind I have ever encountered. One half of the coach is equipped as a parlor car, the other is a dining car with a smoking compartment in the centre. In the dining-room section a varied assortment of well-cooked viands is served in a style equal to that obtained in the most famous restaurant and at prices much more reasonable. An adjunct to these cars is a free library service containing a well selected list from the Booklover's Library, of Philadelphia.

A BRUTAL ATTACK.

Carbolic Acid Rubbed Into a Woman's Eyes.

Owen Sound, Aug. 13.—The wife of a highly respected Bay street resident was locked in the police cells last night, charged with a most serious crime. Yesterday morning, a woman named Emma Boyce was at her home on Bay street north, when a woman, a stranger to her, but whom she afterwards identified, entered the house unannounced. She walked deliberately up to the Boyce woman and dashed the contents of a small bottle of carbolic acid into her face and eyes. With her hand, which had evidently been greased as an antidote to the acid, she rubbed the chemical into the woman's face and eyes, and then made her escape. Stupid with pain, the woman groped around in a half-blinded condition, and then with the aid of the sight of the left eye, which had not been destroyed totally, came up town and consulted a physician, after which she laid the case in the hands of the authorities. The girl will lose the sight of one eye and possibly the sight of both, as the left optic is burned with the acid. Bail for the release of the woman in custody has been refused. She indignantly denies the charge, and her friends claim that she will prove an alibi. The afflicted woman, Emma Boyce, has a long police record, and only recently was discharged from the Mercer, where she served one year for deserting her child. It is assumed that whoever is guilty of the crime was prompted by jealous motives.

AMERICAN TUG FIRED ON.

Chased by the Canadian Boat Petrel.

Erie, Pa., Aug. 13.—The fishing tug Silver Spray came into this port at 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, riddled with shot fired by the Canadian revenue cutter Petrel. Captain Shaw claims that the Canadian cutter was not justified in firing upon him, and will report the matter to the Secretary of State. According to the captain's story his tug was cruising where the imaginary line between the two countries lies. He is sure that he was not in Canadian waters, and at any rate had not dropped his nets and there was no fish on board. The cutter came on him before he was aware of her approach, and blew her stern towards him to starboard, and he shoved his hard to port, believing that it was her intention to ram him. The two vessels passed, and as the tug was the faster of the two, Captain Shaw, remembering the fate of other tugs which have been taken by the Petrel, put on full steam and made for this port. The cutter again signalled for him to stop, and as the tug kept its way she opened fire. In all ten shots took effect, lodging for the most part in the cabin and rigging of the tug. After chasing the tug for a mile the cutter gave up the pursuit, and the Silver Spray returned to port. No one was seriously wounded, though one of the crew was scratched on the face with a splinter and another shot came within a few inches of Capt. Shaw's head.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine stated last night that he had no information in regard to the report that the Canadian cutter Petrel had riddled the fishing tug Silver Spray with bullets. As to the American claim that the Kittie D., seized by the Petrel some weeks ago, was at the time of the seizure in United States waters, Mr. Prefontaine said the Government's information was all the other way, and that the Kittie was a good two miles on the Canadian side of the international boundary line.

U.S. MOB RULE.

Lynchers Simply Brutal, Savage Murderers.

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 13.—The Rev. Dr. Dean Richmond Babbet, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, Brooklyn, answered John Temple Graves of Georgia, in an elaborate address yesterday at the Chautauqua Assembly on lynchings and mobs from an American standpoint. Dr. Babbet's address was the chief one of to-day on mobs. The interest in the mob question grows deeper every day of the five days allotted to it at Chautauqua this week. Dr. Babbet contrasted the southern view of lynching, justified by Mr. Graves, with what he called "the general and the better view of the American nation," showed the prevalence and increasing violence of the mob spirit, and its tendency to leap the color line and to lynch for minor offences. He dwelt on the psychology of the mob, and gave the Wilmington lynching of the negro White as typical, and denounced the officials who refused to protect any prisoner of any color or for any crime.

One marked feature of Rev. Dr. Babbet's address was his emphasis he put upon riotous lynchings as murderers in the eye of the law and of good morals, and the terrible responsibility of every man or woman who engages in a mob, participates in a lynching, or who by word of mouth or sign supports a sentiment or helps make a public opinion in favor of mobs and lynchings.

Dr. Babbet said in part:—"Mob anarchy, brutal lynchings, can have no excuse morally, legally or politically. Lynchings are plain, brutal, savage murders, and should be treated so by the authorities and by all worthy to wear the name of American citizens. Let us henceforth call things by their right names; arrest, try, convict and punish every rioter and lyncher, and do it deliberately with Anglo-Saxon calmness. We have not gone so far in American civilization as to have to mutilate persons to prevent rape, nor to forcibly exile negroes because we cannot control them. The first is a reversion to barbarism, the second to feudal sentiments and are utterly un-American. Enforce the law, though we have to become a nation of soldiers to do so. More morality, less prejudice, stricter law, quickly applied fair play to negro and white, and both the race question and the mob question will assume less dangerous dimensions."

EASTERN WAR CLOUD.

One Hundred and Fifty Revolutionists Killed.

Constantinople, Aug. 13.—One hundred and fifty revolutionists were killed, according to official Turkish reports, in the fighting at Sorovich, August 9. The same despatches, which have been communicated to the Russian and Austrian Embassies, state that the insurrectionary movement is increasing daily. Hilmi Pasha, Inspector-General of the Sultan's Macedonian reforms, reports that the young men in all the Bulgarian villages are fleeing to the mountains to join the insurgent bands. Many among the Bulgarian peasantry wish to remain neutral, but were compelled by threats to help the revolutionary committee.

Hussein Hilmi Pasha, who has been appointed Vali of Monastir, reports a similar spread of the insurrectionary movement in the Vilayet of Salonica, where, he says, the committees are resolved on the same campaign of massacre, incendiarism and pillage as in the Vilayet of Monastir.

Telegrams received yesterday morning from Monastir announce that the Town of Krushevo is still occupied by the insurgents. Four thousand Turkish troops with artillery surround the town and are preparing to attack, and, if possible, retake the position. Fighting with the rebels is in progress in the district of Dibra, where it appears that the Albanians are attacking Bulgarian villages.

The insurgents continue to devastate the district of Koritza and have captured important Turkish supplies of provisions. More or less severe fighting is reported in the districts of Kastoria and Florina. Three hundred insurgents are assembled on the heights between Gievveli and Yozije, twenty-six Mussulman peasants have been massacred in the Village of Zivernini, near Perlepe, by the insurgents. Stringent military precautions have been taken in the Town of Uskub to prevent threatened dynamite outrages. Salonica, Aug. 12.—Dr. Mandelstam, the acting Russian Consul at Uskub, who has been appointed to succeed M. Rostkowski, the murdered Consul at Monastir, reached that town to-day. Some anxiety had been felt for his safety, as nothing had been heard of him since he left his post at Uskub a couple of days ago. The Mutesarifi of the Uskub district refused to give Dr. Mandelstam an escort. The Consul insisted on proceeding to his new post, and, having obtained an escort from Hilmi Pasha, he started on his own responsibility across country for Monastir.

LEASE NOT CANCELLED.

Coal & Steel Directors Are Not Agreed.

Montreal, Aug. 13.—There is scarcely a doubt that the different interests on the Boards of Directors of the Dominion Coal and the Dominion Iron & Steel Companies are strained as regards a basis on which the lease of the Coal Company should be cancelled. About two weeks ago, after four days' deliberations, they announced that the lease would be cancelled on terms to be outlined in a circular to be posted immediately to the shareholders, and stated that a general meeting would be held on August 19 to ratify their action. The circular was practically ready for the printers when, apparently, a hitch occurred, and since then the Executive have met and adjourned. It is understood that they are to meet again on Monday. Just what the difference between the two interests is they refuse to discuss for publication, but it is generally believed that it involves a considerable sum of money. There are notes to the amount of $600,000 held by the Coal Company, which in the original agreement were to be cancelled. But the chief difficulty doubtless is just how far the Coal Company is prepared to go in assisting the Steel Company to complete its works in order to secure a separation, and just how little the Steel Company is willing to accept.

A FOG INCIDENT.

Steamer Nubia's Narrow Escape From Disaster.

New York, Aug. 13.—Tuesday afternoon the Hamburg-American Line steamer Nubia, from China and Japan, had a narrow escape from collision with the great trans-Atlantic racer Kron Prinz Wilhelm. The Nubia was feeling her way in the dense fog. Captain Von Hoff estimated that he was about eight miles east of Sandy Hook lights when he decided to anchor. The Nubia had anchored and had barely changed her steam whistle fog signals to those of a battleship, when an immense steamer loomed up in the fog, blowing hoarse blasts, and a collision was imminent. Almost instantly the approaching stranger appeared to see the Nubia; gave a sharp cheer to port and passed close under the stern of the anchored vessel. The passing craft was the Kron Prinz Wilhelm, going at full speed, outward bound from New York for Bremen.

If You Use
LAGER BEER
Watch ⁷/₈ Space

And you will learn much that will be instructive and beneficial.

We intend that the public shall know the difference between a pure and practically perfect Lager Beer and that made in infected cellars and fermentation rooms and sold to hotel-keepers at cut prices, some of whom let their cupidity lead them in to serving their patrons with an inferior article, while charging the patron the same price as for a perfect beer.

Always remember that a perfect beer gives off a delicate aroma of hops and barley malt only, and if any other odor is discovered it has been caused by a foul cellar smell, or the use of preservatives to prevent a poor beer from getting worse, or from unclean pipes. Such beer should be shunned as it is exceedingly injurious and unwholesome.

Pure Water is better than Poor Beer, does not cost much, nor require a physician to counteract its effect.

Pure Beer is better than Pure Water because it contains the properties of Malt and Hops that are a nourishment and tonic.
