The Awakening of Faith in France

The Paris correspondent of the London Times in affirming that "one result of the war has been a distinct religious revival in France" adds, "the so-called clerical peril has disappeared from the popular imagination in face of the real peril of the German invasion." To the facts which I have already recounted of the vote face, these others may be added.

An official order issued from the headquarters of the French army has acknowledged the bravery and devotion to duty of Sister Julie and her assistants, who, when the Germans shelled Gerbeville, did not take refuge in the cellars as did the other inhabitants of the place, but went up and down the streets gathering in the wounded. When the Prussian officer ordered her to leave, she refused and answered, "Mother Superior has put me here, and until she bids me go, I shall remain." And stay she did with her companions, all through the bombardment. She belongs to the Congregation of St. Charles. Not only has the army praised her in its reports, but the Government has sent M. Mirman, Prefect of the Meurthe-Moselle Department, to thank her and her Sisters, in the name of France, for their heroism.

If the parish-priest of Niort was agreeably surprised when he was invited to bless the sabres of the hussars, what must have been the joy and wonder of the cure of Laigle (Orne) when at three o'clock one morning, he was roused from sleep by the clamorous ringing of his door-bell. He opened his bedroom window, and peered down into the garden below. "What is it, a sick call?" he demanded. "No," came the astounding answer, "perhaps Monsieur le cure doesn't know that I am a priest, and that I should be very much pleased if he will allow me to say Mass in the church." "Tiens! I'll be down in a minute." When the door was opened, and a light lit, the astonished cure saw a colonel. Behind him on the road was his regiment. "And as he gazed his wonder grew," for immediately the colonel told him that he had heard the confessions of two hundred and fifty of his regiment, and that was why he wanted to say Mass, as they all wished to receive Holy Communion. The church was quickly opened, the soldiers marched in, and the colonel-priest celebrated Mass. Along a road red with the dawn they marched shortly afterwards to a field redden with blood. The Lord Jesus they saw not when they took Him at the sanctuary rail, led many through the shadowy way of death unto the City, the light whereof is the Lamb, and the joy His blessed face.

Everywhere as the soldier-clerics arrive to take their place in the ranks they are cheered, Jesuits, Dominicans, Benedictines, abbots, cures, seminarians and novices, they come literally from the four corners of the earth whither they had been banished. It is queer that the enemies of France in times of peace should be welcomed back in time of war. And droll it is to see so many monks with guns in their hands, if writers of all the fiction against the priests were permitted to go to the field of the Aisne, they could gather excellent material for their pens. Truth once more would be stranger than fiction. So moving is the sight that the arch-enemy of the religious, Clemenceau, exclaims: "What a surprise it will be to the Germans to see in our army the very monks we drove from the country."

That these churchmen are as good soldiers as they are priests is testified to by all. Abbe Luchat, a sergeant in the bicycle corps, was killed on the field of battle after having been mentioned in dispatches of the previous day for conspicuous gallantry in action. Abbe Monbrun and Abbe Grenier, both of them lieutenants, were killed leading their men in a charge. The Journal Officiel has this to say of one of these soldier-priests: "Abbe Buscoz, adjutant of the 97th Infantry, has died a hero. He had just been made a second lieutenant on the field of battle for two acts of bravery. His last hours were admirable. He leaped forward at the head of his men, crying, 'I am a priest. I fear not death. En avant!'"

A soldier was overheard saying to a comrade in the trenches: "I never did like those cures; a good-for-nothing lot I thought them. But, hang it all, I did them a wrong to so ill-judge them. I've seen the stuff they're made of. They fight as well as the best of us; are ready for the posts of greatest danger; are eager to go on when we're for quitting." At the barracks of Orleans an officer gave up to one of his soldier-priests his own private room to be used by the latter for a chapel. Although the troopers get up at five, and have to drill until ten, before they are free, still they fast until that late hour in order to be able to go to Holy Communion. Many are the first Communions, some of the recipients being over thirty years of age. During the day the troopers make visits to the Blessed Sacrament reserved in the room.

In a restaurant some artists were gathered. They were giving a farewell supper to one of their profession, off to the war. His regiment would be one of the first to face the Germans. He was serene, not noisily gay as was his wont. His chums chaffed him over his calmness, which they thought came from dwelling on the certainty of being killed. They misjudged the cause of his subdued demeanor. "No, it isn't that," he told them, "it's because I've been to confession, Mass and Communion this morning." Not a jeer, not even a look of mockery came from those men who had mocked at anything that touched religion.

A dashing dragon, on the gayest and fairest boulevard of Paris will stop, with a splendid salute, a chance-foued priest and say: "Monsieur l'abbé, I'd like to make my confession to you." "Eh bien, mon brave, let's go to the church," the cavalierman hasn't time. There and then as they walk along, the sins of many years are told, and the absolution given. They reach a corner and are parting. "Will Monsieur l'abbé give me a medal?" The medal was given. A week later the papers told of a dragon, in whose dead hands a medal of the Blessed Virgin was found.

Many an incident of the awakened Faith of France is told. All are consoling. Let us pray that the graces which have revived the practices of the Catholic religion will ever be cooperated with, so that the dawn of the now will wax to the full and shining day of the future. The Faith suffered much since the war of 1870. Only God knows now if victory will make good the prophetic words of Pius X, written when he beautified the Cure d'Ars, "I beg of you to be convinced with me, that God will soon work wonders to show you that France is still the eldest daughter of the Church, and you will have the joy of seeing this in word and in work."

Travelling 140 years Ago

MR. MOORE'S "NEWLY CONSTRUCTED" COACH

In these days of quick transit by road, rail, sea and air, the day of the turbine driving thirty or forty thousand tons through the ocean with the speed and ease of a fish, the day of the automobile with its blinding swiftness, of the hundred-ton engine thundering along its steel track and dragging in its wake thousands of tons at forty or fifty miles an hour, and of the graceful, gliding aeroplane which seems almost to annihilate the achievement of Sir Boyle Roche's famous bird—it is interesting to look back and contrast our ancestors' ideas of rapid locomotion with those to which we are familiar. Just 143 years ago an ingenious gentleman named Moore brought out in London certain vehicles by which he succeeded in showing, to the wonderment of many Londoners, a fact previously unrecognized, namely that large wheels enabled vehicles to roll with comparative ease over the ground.

The journals and newspapers of the year 1771 contain many such announcements as the following: "On Saturday evening Mr. Moore's new constructed coach, which is very large and roomy, and is drawn by one horse, carried six persons and the driver with amazing ease from Cheapside to the top of Highgate Hill. It came back at the rate of ten miles an hour, passing coaches-and-four and all other carriages it came near on the road."

Another account gives a description of the vehicle itself, from which we learn that the body, which was like that of a common coach reversed, was hung between two large wheels nine feet and a half in diameter, and drawn by a horse in shafts, the passengers sitting sideways within, and the driver being placed upon the top of the coach. Once Mr. Moore went in his coach with five friends to Richmond, where he had the honor of being presented to George III., who passed great commendations on the vehicle.

BAD BLOOD

Is the Cause of Boils and Pimples.

When boils or pimples start to break out on your face or body you may rest assured that the blood is in an impure state, and that before you can get rid of them it will be necessary for you to purify it by using a good medicine that will drive all the impurities out of the system. Burdock Blood Bitters is a blood-purifying remedy. One that has been on the market for the past forty years. One that is known from one end of the country to the other as the best blood purifier in existence. It cures boils, pimples and all other diseases arising from bad blood.

BOILS CURED. Mr. Andrew E. Collier, River Glade, N. J., was troubled with boils for years, in fact, did not know what it was to be rid of them until he used Burdock Blood Bitters. It cured him.

PIMPLES CURED. Mr. Otto Boyce, York, Pa., had his face and neck break out with pimples. He tried several kinds of medicine with out success. Two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters banished them.

How long will the war last? a tramcar passenger asked his neighbor.

"I'll end in October," said his friend decisively.

"What makes you think that?"

"I had it on very good authority. Who was it? (breathless interest on the part of eavesdroppers)."

A member of the City Council told me this morning.

BEWARE OF WORMS.

Don't let worms gnaw at the vitals of your children. Give them Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup and they'll soon be rid of these parasites. Price 25c.

Oh, Georgie, Georgie! exclaimed a fond mother when she saw her small boy considerably battered up and dirty, you have been fighting again. How often have I told you that you shouldn't fight?

Well what are you going to do when a fellow hits you?

Why, keep out of his way, said the mother.

I'll bet, said the youngster, he'll keep out of mine after this.

A SENSIBLE MERCHANT.

Milburn's Sterling Headache Powders give women prompt relief from monthly pains, and leave no bad after effects what ever. Be sure you get Milburn's price 25 and 50 cts.

The enemy's ship, Leipzig, is still above water, but its days are likely to be short when the three big British warships sight her.

There is nothing harsh about Laxa Liver Pills. They cure Constipation, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, and Bilious Spells without gripping, purging or sickness. Price 25 cts.

I don't know what I'm going to do with that boy, said the worried teacher. Is he stupid?

Not exactly. I asked him who the rulers of Europe are and he didn't know, and he bet I didn't either.

Minards Liniment Cures Neuralgia.

How much the baby looks like its father, said the visitor, who meant to be agreeable.

It's only the wet weather, replied Mrs. Rasper. The child is usually bright, cheerful and handsome.

The Old Fashioned Purging and Gripping Action of PILLS is Now Done Away With.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills gently unlock the secretions, clear away all waste and effete matter from the system, and give tone and vitality to the whole intestinal tract.

They do this by acting directly on the liver, and making the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood, and thus causing constipation, jaundice, catarrh of the stomach and similar troubles.

Mrs. L. M. Ratchford, Peterboro, Ont., writes: "Having been troubled for years with constipation, and trying many different remedies which did me no good whatever, I was induced to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I have found them most beneficial for they are indeed splendid pills, and I can gladly recommend them to all people who suffer from constipation."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are also a relief to all who are afflicted with indigestion, or malic acid on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Swearing doesn't help to play the game, said the young minister on the golf links. Besides, it's very wicked.

It may be verro wicked, as it may not help the player, but it's a great aid to conversation, replied the sophisticated caddy.

Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, paid a flying and secret visit to Montreal Friday. Among steel men there it was rumored that Mr. Schwab may be contemplating building submarines in Canada, because the United States would not allow them to be constructed there.

The Canadian Government has decided to place at once an order for forty thousand water-proof coats lined with sheep skins for the expeditionary force. All the stocks of coats of this kind in Canada have been bought by the Imperial authorities for the British army, but the manufacture of the supply for the Canadians will be rushed with all possible speed.

During his visit in France, King George conferred the Order of Merit on Sir John French commander of the British forces on the Continent. On Friday according to a Flanders despatch to the Times, King George met King Albert of Belgium at the Belgian border and reviewed the Belgian troops. He invested King Albert with the Order of The Garter. King George returned from Boulogne to Dover in a torpedo boat.

The French Cabinet is to return to Paris from Bordeaux and the French Parliament will meet in extraordinary session in Paris on December 22.—The announcement of the return of the Government to the capital is taken as an indication that the allies are convinced that they now have in northern France forces of sufficient strength to check any further advance that the Germans may attempt to make.

Sir Edmund Osler stated in Toronto on the 5th that he had resigned from the board of governors of Toronto University, as a result of their action in the matter of the three German professors. The action of the board of governors of Toronto University in granting leave of absence, with full pay, to the three German professors has elicited considerable protest among a large section of the community, and a movement is on foot to hold a public meeting in Massey Hall to discuss the governors action. It is proposed to ask Sir Edmund Osler one of the governors, to preside.

Enlisting and mobilization of the 34,000 additional men which are being recruiting in Canada will be local centres as well as divisions. This was emphasized by Major-General Hughes in Ottawa on Monday. The plan is to have recruiting carried on not only at the divisional centres, but at all the large towns and cities in each division. The men enlisted locally will also be quartered and trained in the local centres wherever sufficient accommodation can be secured. For instance, in the London division, there likely will be recruiting and mobilization at St. Thomas, Windsor, Chatham, Stratford and other large centres. Later the men will be mobilized in the divisional centres for larger manoeuvres, and in the spring it is very possible the men will be assembled again at Valcartier camp.

A decline of $24,000,000 in the revenue of the Dominion for the eight months of the present fiscal year is shown in the financial statement published on the 4th. The total revenue up till the end of last month, since April 1st, the commencement of the present fiscal year is $90,468,002 compared with $114,640,295 in the same time last year. The Nov. receipts for 1914 are $9,495,536, as against $13,536,981 in Nov. 1913. The big decline has been in the customs revenue. Postal receipts have maintained a good average. From consolidated account $73,708,627 was spent in the eight months of this year, compared with $77,678,969 for last year. On capital account the outlay has totalled $28,231,933, a decrease of eight millions. The dominion on December 1st stood at $354,843,247, an increase of $12,167,848 for November alone.

Progress of the War.

London, Dec. 1.—The battle in Northern Poland, concerning the progress of which there has been so much mystery, is now being fought out under the eyes of the German Emperor, on the one side and the Russian Emperor on the other. These two monarchs left for the front today, so that virtually all the heads of the nations which are at war are with their troops. The King of England is in France; the King of Belgium, as usual, is spending all his time with his soldiers, while M. Poincaré started today for another visit to the northern battlefield. Official news from Poland continues to be scanty, and, with both headquarters claiming successes, it is impossible to say how the battle is going. Of its intensity, however, there can be no doubt. The Germans, when they started for Warsaw, dashed full tilt into a mass of Russian troops and forced their way so far in that the Russians closed in on them. This was taken in Petrograd to mean that some of the German divisions had been cut off and that their surrender or annihilation was inevitable. It appears, however, that fighting for their very lives, and in the knowledge that a great defeat would end the German offensive and compel them to fall back on their own border, the German troops succeeded in breaking through the Russian lines at one place, and at another in holding their entrenchments against all the Russian attacks. Their flanks are still being harassed by the Cossacks, but seemingly the Russians are not in a position to gain the sweeping victory they had anticipated.

London, Dec. 2.—Belgrade which until the outbreak of the war was the capital of Serbia, was today occupied by Austrian troops, the Serbians having previously evacuated the city. Thus, on the 66th anniversary of the reign of Emperor Francis Joseph, who again is reported seriously ill, and four months after the outbreak of the war, his general reports one of the most important successes they have obtained. Belgrade was frequently under bombardment early in the war, and but for the general European war which compelled Austria to send her troops against Russia, must have fallen an easy prey to Serbia's big neighbor. Apparently Austria miscalculated the nature of the Serbian opposition, and only after Bosnia was invaded did she send a sufficient force against the Serbians to drive them back. Now they are being forced backward and are eagerly looking for the advance of the Russians into Hungary to afford them relief.

London, Dec. 3.—With the lull in the battle in the west which has assumed the proportions of a heavy cannonade at widely separated points, with only occasional infantry attacks interspersed in now almost entirely centered in the struggle between the Russian and German armies in the east. At last the Russians have approached within firing distance of Cracow, their steady advance from Przemyel having proceeded without any real check. They were reported today to be mounting heavy batteries around the town of Wieliczka, which they occupied yesterday, and from which the outer forts of Cracow can be reached. Important as this is, for the fall of Cracow would lay open the roads to Vienna, Breslau and Berlin, the main interest in the east continues to rest with the operations on the irregular front from Czenstochowa through Lodz and Lowicz to the east Prussian border. Official pronouncements as to the progress here are guarded and indefinite and it is thus difficult to arrive at a conclusion with regard to the course of events. It is apparent, however, that a new battle has developed to the southwest of Lodz, where the Germans have formed a new line with fresh forces brought from Kalisz, and are again trying to penetrate the Russian centre. The Russians, too, have had time to straighten out their line, and in the eyes of the Allies another battle following so closely that just concluded in this region must help them in the long run, for it is argued, win or lose, the Germans must be further weakened, and, in addition, will soon have to turn their attention to the Russian offensive against Silesia and around Cracow.

London, Dec. 4.—There is still lacking reliable news of the progress of the battle in Poland, which continues to monopolize interest. An unofficial despatch from Petrograd says the battle of Lodz has ended in success to the Russians, but this statement is opposed to that of the Berlin official report, which says the German offensive of Poland is taking its normal course. The fact is that the fighting in this region has developed into such a jumble that it is almost impossible to follow it. The most important factor from the allied point of view is that the German advance on Warsaw seemingly has not succeeded in its object, nor has it had the effect of diverting the Russians from their forward movement through the Carpathians, and on to the plains of Hungary, or against the fortress of Cracow, around which they are drawing a closer ring of men and artillery. With the case of Przemyel, which has held out so long against the Russian attacks, before them, military men do not look for the early fall of Cracow, and are rather inclined to believe that the armies of Emperor Nicholas will endeavor to keep the large Austrian force inside the fortress, and enter Silesia from the south-east. However, much depends on the battle which is being fought with such intensity further north, between the Rivers Vistula and Warta, and in which all agree the losses on both sides have been very heavy. There is an inclination to believe that had there been any probability of an early success for the Germans in this field Emperor William, who has returned to Berlin, would have remained to witness the victory of his troops. The battle in the west continues in a condition of stalemata. The Allies and the Germans have attempted to take the offensive at different points along the front, but as neither claims to have made any advance, and as both official reports mention repulses of the enemy, it is evident that the attacks which have been made have not met with much success. Under the title, "Four Months of War," the French bulletin of the armies, is publishing a report of the entire operations of the war. In it the explanation is made that the French were unable to take the offensive until the British army was ready, and that the advance into Alsace, which has been criticized as bad strategy, was designed to draw the Germans from the Belgian front. This plan did not succeed, it says, and the Allies were driven back to the Seine. The arrival of Australian and New Zealand contingents in Egypt on forty transports is quoted as another triumph for the British navy. The German cruiser Emden was not far from this fleet of transports when she was overtaken by the Australian cruiser Sydney and destroyed. It is taken for granted, however, that the conveyance of the transports was so strong that even the Emden would not have dared attack them. The statement made in the Italian parliament by Premier Salandra that Italy should maintain her attitude of watchful and armed neutrality has created a lot of interest here, and much sympathy is expressed for the aspirations of the Italian people.

London, Dec. 7.—It is officially announced in Berlin that the Germans occupied Lodz Sunday. Lodz is a city of some 150,000 population, is the chief manufacturing centre of Russian Poland. It has numerous textile mills, the majority of them for the manufacture of cotton goods. In addition, it has flour mills, brick-yards, machinery plants and breweries. The population is made up of Poles, Germans and Jews. London, Dec. 6.—An official announcement from Berlin declares that the Germans have occupied Lodz, where a series of battles have been in progress for some time. Lodz is the centre for the railways leading through Northern Poland. There is no news from south Poland beyond a German denial of success reported to have been achieved by the Russians at Czenstochowa. The capture of one of the advanced positions at Przemyel is regarded as conferring a valuable advantage to the Russians in their attack on the fortress. Leaving this city to the attentions of the besieging armies, the Russians are pushing in small bodies, steadily across the plains of Hungary, and fugitives are said to be pouring toward Budapest. In the face of the Austrian advance in Serbia there has been talk of the removal of the capital from Nish to Mitrovitz, but Serbia denied that that step actually has been taken. The Allies continue to push forward in Flanders and in Northern France, but the Germans explain that they are giving ground for tactical and strategic reasons. The advance, as far as Flanders is concerned, seems to have been checked on the outskirts of Langemark. There has been a recrudescence of hard fighting in the Argonne district where the French claim they are making progress. On the whole, however, in these siege operations, these successes and reverses mean only a gain or loss of a few hundred yards, and a slight readjustment of positions. Seemingly, more important is the unofficial statement that the French have seriously interfered with the German communications between Metz and the Woerwe district in France, for here, as elsewhere, command of the roads is of the greatest importance to the armies. It was officially announced tonight that during his visit to France King George conferred the Order of Merit on Field Marshal Sir John French, and also pinned the Victoria Cross on the first Indian soldier to win that decoration.

London, Dec. 7.—After a long battle fought with greatest stubbornness, the Germans have succeeded in occupying Lodz, Poland, which is an unfortified city. According to the Berlin report, the Russians suffered severe losses and are in retreat.

Amsterdam, Dec. 8.—British troops have captured Passchendaele, on the railroad between Ypres and Roulers. This represents another advance of the Allied lines and opens the way for a flank movement upon Menin, a long line.

Republics Fear Trouble.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Grave controversies between nations of South America and neighboring countries of Europe led today to the calling of a conference for next Tuesday of the governing board of the Pan-American Union. Before this board, which consists of the diplomatic representatives of twenty American republics with the Secretary of State of the United States, as chairman-ex-officio, will come with various suggestions which have been made by Argentina, Chile, Peru, Uruguay and Ecuador for a stronger assertion of the rights of neutrals, and the exclusion of belligerent warships from the waters of the Americas.

Evidence of the seriousness of the situation in South America, due to the presence of belligerent warships on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts was contained in a despatch received tonight by M. Mujica, the Chilean Ambassador, from the Minister of Foreign Affairs at Santiago. The fear is expressed by the Chilean officials that Germany's alleged violation of the neutrality of Chile may influence the other belligerents to disregard the territorial jurisdiction of Chile and perhaps cause them to send their warships within the three mile limit to stop German operations.

The Chilean government made it plain that it did not perform one scheme of action to another, but urged that whatever steps are taken should have the earnest united support of all the American republics. Originally Great Britain and France asked the United States to exercise its good offices with Colombia and Ecuador to secure a strict observance by those nations of neutrality obligations. Although this controversy, according to latest reports, is being adjusted, the menacing situation in Chile has emphasized the dangers to South American republics of the continued presence of foreign warships off their coasts.

Much interest was aroused among Washington diplomats when the purpose of the meeting became generally known. The knowledge that the nations of this hemisphere would endeavor formally to reach an understanding, so they could speak as with one voice to the belligerents of Europe on such questions as wireless regulation, coal and the restoration of trade, was received with marked attention by the European diplomats who are following the movement closely.

Lost Millions.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 2.—Financial deals which are alleged to have cost the road several million dollars, and bonds representing almost as much money which are said to have dropped out of sight, were mentioned in testimony given today at the inquiry into the affairs of the Pere Marquette Railroad which is being conducted here by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Auditor Clarence S. Sikes, of the Pere Marquette road, who was on the stand all day yesterday and again today, was questioned at length concerning transactions which stockholders allege, helped to plunge the road into bankruptcy.

Sikes declared that $2,500,000 worth of bonds and discounts, supposed to have been issued during the last fourteen years, have not been accounted for. He also testified that prior to 1908 the railroad sold bonds and notes aggregating a face value of $5,000,000, to J. P. Morgan & Company, but that only $7,000,000 was realized because the securities were sold at a discount.

The Morgan firm refused to accept the bonds, without additional securities, he charged that the Pere Marquette was forced to put up securities amounting to $10,000,000 to obtain the cash. When the road was unable to meet its indebtedness to Morgan that firm sold the bonds and notes for $6,000,000, Sikes said, and the Pere Marquette was obliged to stand the $2,000,000 deficit.

Sikes probably will conclude his testimony tomorrow. Interesting developments are expected when the inquiry attempts to ascertain the physical condition of the road.

Sure of Success.

Bordeaux, via Paris, Dec. 5.—The Bulletin Des Armees, after reviewing at great length the military operations since the outbreak of the war, sums up the French situation on December 1st as follows:

"In numbers the French army today is equal to what it was on August 2, all the units have maintained their full strength. The quality of the troops has improved infinitely. Our men today fight like veterans. They are all deeply imbued with their superiority, and have absolute faith that they will be victorious. The higher command, renewed on account of necessary dismissals, has not committed during the past three months any of these faults noted and punished in August.

India's Loyalty.

London, Dec. 6.—(Through Reuters Ottawa Agency)—A telegram from Delhi, India, says:

All the great native states of India have now expressed regret to the Viceroy that Turkey has joined Germany in fighting England, under whose benign rule the Moslem has enjoyed perfect religious freedom.

All the ruling princes continue to take keenest interest in the war. There are now subscribed about £190,000 sterling to the Prince of Wales relief fund, and approximately $800,000 to the expenses of the war. This includes $400,000 from the Nizam of Hyderabad and $380,000 from the Maharaja of Mysore.

A further sum of nearly $80,000 has been given by the chiefs to provide motor cycles, telescopes and kindred equipment, and $24,000 has been given by Maharaja Scindia of Gwalior, who has also presented a motor ambulance, consisting of forty-one cars, for the use of the troops in Europe, and is arranging for the establishment of a convalescent home in East Africa.

Besides these gifts many of the chiefs have presented a large number of horses, mules and camels, and even their private motor cars. A hospital ship, which is splendidly equipped, is another of their donations.

In the French Trenches.

Flanders, via Paris, Dec. 5.—A visit to the French trenches in Flanders by an Associated Press correspondent under the auspices of the French general staff, is here described:

Standing in the shelter of a wonderfully ingenious and deep dug trench on what undoubtedly is the bloodiest battlefield in European the first server is one of utter surprise at the absence of movement and the lack of noise. Within one's range of vision with a strong field glass, there are probably concentrated no fewer than 100,000 men, yet except for the few French soldiers with rifles in their hands standing or kneeling in the immediate vicinity and keenly peering over the flat land toward the position known to be held by the Germans no human presence was noticeable.

A staff officer supplied the information that behind a slight slope some 300 yards away, many German guns were hidden from sight, and only an occasional burst of flame and a sharp whirring sound coming from an indefinite point told of the presence of this artillery.

A little forest to the left is believed to be bristling with machine guns backed by infantry in rifle pits and covered trenches. The approach to these positions has been made almost impossible from the standpoint of an infantry attack by barbed wire entanglements strewn with brush and branches of trees and having the appearance from a distance of a small copse of heather.

When he unlatched the gate of his home in the dusk of the third day he breathed more freely, for no sign of trouble was visible. The house wore a cheerful appearance.

The next day was Sunday, and she succeeded in avoiding all day an interview with the man of the house. In the twilight, when he came as usual to sit with his mother, she went over to see Mrs. French.

John entered his mother's room and kissed the hand which lay outside the counterpane. Just then the doctor stopped in on his way home to supper.

John thought he would. This strangely prevent arrangement and the legacy had set his scruples at rest. He did not take account of her selfishness.

Eleanor ventured down into the library for a book. She started back when she saw him, but he called her with such a thrill of mastery in the tone that she stood still with downcast eyes.
