A few hours later the waggon was struck by a train at Passaic Junction, on the Susquehanna and Western railroad, and the ocupants of the vehicle bere hurled

The oldest child, Rebecca, aged 17 rashed headfirst into a telegrah pole. Her skull was crushed and she died instantly. The mother was partly blinded by cuts across the eyes and was hadly bruised. Sigentof was hurt about the head and legs. The other children, whose ages range from 2 to 15 years, escaped with slight injuries. A balky horse caused the road crossing, which is not guarded Sigentof, who was driving, saw the train. He thought he had time enough to cross the tracks before the rain arrived, and he would have it the horse had not become refractory With the waggon in the path of the onrushing train, the animal stopped The locomotive hit the rear of the waggon and human forms and bits o iron and wood flew to the ground The train was stopped and the dead girl and in injured persons were placed aboard. At the hospital it was found the in uries of Mr. and Mrs. Sigentof ne. essitated that they stay at the institution. The injured children were discharged after treatment.

Opening of His New Store

At 167 Water Street, on To-morrow, Saturday, September 30th, and thanks Citizens for patronage in the past.

To the Citizens of St. John's:

Our customers and well wishers in the Outports, our patrons of the past, our patrons of the present and our patrons of the future all over the Colony we take this opportunity of announcing to you that on to-morrow, SATURDAY, Sept 30th, we will open at 167 WATER STREET, in that large and commodious store formerly known as Woods' Hardware, and a little west of the Martin Hardware Co. with a varied and well selected stock of General Dry Goods. We desire before going further to emphasize our appreciation of and sincere thanks for the unstinted and continuous patronage given us by all classes since our starting business two years ago. That patronage has been so broad and so generous permit us to reiterate that, indeed, it has enabled us to break down all the barriers and press onward at steady pace in the fierce battle of commercialism. As in the past moderate prices and satisfaction to customers will still be our motto.

Again thanking all for the confidence reposed in us, and soliciting a continuance of same, we beg to remain

Turkey Yields Tripoli.

Last evening news arrived in the city that Italy had declared war against Turkey, and intelligence of actual hostilities were awaited. The loss of a destroyer by Turkey is reported. Whether it was attended by bloodshed or loss of life is not reported. The war in Tripoli itself seems to have pursued its way to an early close quite peacefully, re-lieved only by a bit of dramatic staging. If the London Chronicle's Constantinople despatch is trustworthy, the war is practically over the Sultan of Turkey having yielded Tripoli to force, This report seems not unreasonable. Turkey in all probability has a much more efficient and powerful army than Italy possesses.

If the success of the two armies within the last sixteen years affords a criterion. At Adowa the Italians suf-fered a decisive defeat and the whole Abyssinian campaign proved a fiasco. hand, the ease with which Turkey disposed of Greece in 1897 showed that her army had profited by its reorganization under German officers But Turkey cannot strike Italy ex cept over the sea, nor can she pu up a fight worth while in Tripol without transporting her European troops across the sea which divide. Tripoli from Turkey. She can attempt neither of these necessities. Her sea power is a negligible quantity, while on the other hand Italy is one of the sea powers of the world and possesses and can maintain com which possesses probably not a sin-gle formidable modern battleship. The parties in this action are residents of Flatrock. The dispute between the parties arose over the mat ter of ownership of land. Defendan entered on plaintiff's land and removed wood therefrom. The action was taken for damages or this account. The case assumed a somewhat unusual interest by reason of the presence of a number of the old residents of the settlement who had made a division of the property over 30 years ago. The deft. on his cross examination afforded those present in court an in-teresting quarter of an hour and prov-ed that he was as youthful in an argument as any. The parties are all well known to His Honour, who de-livered and excellent judgment and in doing so paid a tribute of especial merit to Mr. Ml. Garrison Called Upon to Surrender

Special to Evening Felegram. TRIPOLI, To-day. The Italian squadron cruising in the offing, came close in shore this morn-ing and the destroyer Garibaldino steamed into the harbor at noon, flying the white flag. An officer landed in a boat. Turkish soldiers surround-ed the pier. The officer asked for the Turkish commander. When taken to him he formally announced that the Italian fleet had been ordered to occupy the town. He demanded the instant surrender of the whole Turkish garrson. The Turkish command er replied that he was unable to com ply with the demand and emphati-cally refused to surrender. The in-cident was witnessed by the foreign residents who gathered round the talian officer and cheered him enthusiastically. The boat then return ed to the destroyer which rejoined the fleet. A number of residents of Tri-poli spent the night, camped on the beach, alarmed at the possibility that the Arabs would get out of hand and begin pillaging. Arabs are constantarriving from the country. Mosques are kept open, and through-out the night were filled with praying Arabs.

THE FORCES OF ITALY. Italy's Standing Army, 1910-11, numbered approximately 225,000 men and 14,000 officers. A far greater and 14,000 officers. A far greate number could be put in the field in despatch from the Turkish ommander of forces at Tripoli, built and building,—15 battleships, ? stating that the Italians began to disembark yesterday and that the Turks succeeded in sinking the first ers, 36 first class torpedo boats, and two barges. Plain Truths About the Trouble i Morocco and Elsewhere.

"The competition of nations can be fought out in peace." Reading this extract from the Kaisers recent remarkable speech at the banquet given in his honour by the Hamburg Senate, the question which naturally arises in the mind of the average man in this country is why, when His Majesty holds such views as these, Germany has adopted such an aggressive attitude in regard to the Moroccan crisis; and why, while 100,000 members of Labour organizations in Berlin attended a demon-Von Reventlow are publicly declaring that Germany's "compensation" demands will end in a miserable fiasof the entire French Congo from life-blood of the Fatherland.

Power, Mrs. Edward,

The "Mailed" Fist." It is contended that the very existence of the "Fatherland" depends on the acquiring of colonies of commercial value which will enable the country to develop its trade. Practically speaking, Germany has no colonies-at least, none of any great commercial value—which provide good outlets for the surplus population and new markets for their home manufactures. The great feature of recent German history has been the growth of trade and commerce, and we get an illustration of Germany's determination to found new trade outlets by the manner in which, in 1897. she seized the opportunity, when two German missionaries were murdered care Gen'l Delivery in China, to secure many valuable concessions in mines, railways, etc.

> Practically speaking, the same thing is happening in Morocco, Germany, as an excuse for her attitude. saying that the interests of her subjects in Morocco were endangered by the French expedition into Fez. when the Sultan's oppression led to a rebellion. In Morocco are vast coal and iron resources, and Germany is quite prepared to fight for these, knowing that her demands are not likely to be granted by peaceable negotiations. When one country coolly asks another for one of its most promising colonies, well knowing that its 'demands cannot be granted, only one conclusion can be drawn-those two countries will be at war sooner or later. Germany has asked France for the greater part of the French Congo, and France has refused; and, although there is no immediate prospect of war, authorities assert that Germany will be forced to fight France.

Sure Cure For Thrush

Worst Cases Yield To Douglas' Egyptian Liniment.

Mr. J. L. Boyes, Secretary of the Napanee Driving Park Association has had a deal of experience with thrush on horses' feet, and has tried various remedies.

"I have cured bad cases of diseased feet or thrush on horses with Egyptian Liniment with two or three applications, after calomel, salt, coal oil, etc., had completely failed to do the work. I consider it a waste of time to use anything but Egyptian Liniment for thrush".

Such an emphatic statement from an experienced, horseman speaks volumes Douglas' Egyptian Liniment. Another man who has found it most effective, is John Garrison, Morven, Ont. He says:—
"One of my horses had thrush so bad that his feet became offensive, and the neighbours advised me to shoot him. Before doing so I decided to try Egyptian Liniment, and in a short time my horse's feet were as sound as ever".

Special to Evening Telegram.

ROME, Sept. 29 The Minister of Marine, it is be ieved, has sent orders to the Italian fleet of Tripoli to act immediately This action followed a meeting of the Cabinet, at which it was decided to proceed with the measures previously determined on. Concurrent with the announcement of a state of war, Italy made provision for the safety of Italians and foreigners at Tripoli.

Special to Evening Telegram:

Italy has declared war on Turkey vas the official announcement made late this afternoon. The two countries are declared to be in a state of war beginning at 2.30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 29th. This is the hour on which the Italian ultimatum to Turkey expired The announcement was followed by a Turkish reply was considered and ound unsatisfactory. Though every ndication pointed to this action by the Italian Government, there was always the possibility that the good offices of other governments would be successful in avoiding hostilities When the final decision of the Cabinet announced the excitement hroughout the city was intense. During the earlier hours of the day, the papers had issued special editions. announcing that the Italian fleet was moving in plain sight off the coast of Tripoli, intimating that war might oe declared at any moment.
