Patient's Life. Dr. Agnew is reported as saying : "When I first opened the wound of the president I felt that Garfield had received his death blow, and I have never had any hope of his recovery. At the same time it was my duty, as well as that of my associates, to fight for his life, trusting to the resources fight for his life, trusting to the resources of science, the assistance of nature, and the interposition of Providence in the affairs of men to rescue him from his fate. I have never seen a more patient sufferer. His mind continued clear and logical." The president himself, from all that can be learned from the attendants, never had any illusion as to his fate. It is said that Ag-new was the governing mind in the case since he came to it.

It is thought that 200,000 people will attend the funeral of Garfield.
