

O'DONOVAN ROSSA SHOT.

A CHARMING WIDOW SENDS A BULLET INTO HIS BACK.

The Widow Not Necessarily Dangerous—Story of the Occurrence as Told by the Injured Man—Recurrence of His Assault.

New York, Feb. 2.—At 5:12 o'clock this afternoon, as O'Donovan Rossa was passing in front of the Stewart building, on the corner of Broadway and Chambers street, he was approached by a handsome young lady, dressed in plain clothes. She wore spectacles, and had the appearance of an intellectual looking school teacher. She drew a five-barrelled revolver from her dress pocket, and leveling it at him fired one shot. Rossa threw his hands above his head and cried "I'm shot."

He then fell heavily to the sidewalk. The woman fired the remaining bullets in her pistol, as the policeman, arrested the woman. She then calmly walked off with the smoking revolver in her hand. She was followed by a large crowd while a still larger mob surrounded the wounded dynamiter.

City Marshal James McAuley, in the absence of a policeman, arrested the woman. She was conducted to Twenty-sixth street station house in the city. She was described as a woman of about 35 years of age, but she does not appear to be over 18. A number of questions were put to her while in the station, but she preserved a dignified silence.

The woman was looked up, and all reports were denied admission for the present. She gave her name as Mrs. Violet Dudley, and said she was a native of England and a hospital nurse by occupation. She described herself as a widow 24 years of age, but she does not appear to be over 18. A number of questions were put to her while in the station, but she preserved a dignified silence.

New York, Feb. 2.—The following statement was made by O'Donovan Rossa to-night at the hospital before Coroner Kennedy: "On Saturday, Jan. 31, about 4 p.m., I received a letter at my office, No. 12 Chambers street. The message was in writing, and was delivered by a messenger boy. The note stated that a lady wished to see me, that she was in the Irish cause, and desired to assist me. She said she would call on me and remain waiting there until I came. She would only ask for ten minutes' time. The boy and me the lady was waiting at the door of the Stewart building, corner of Broadway and Chambers street. I went with him and met her. I told her I was waiting for her to come home, as the telegram office was closed. She then came in, and we talked for some time. She said she was a hospital nurse, and she said she would be able to give considerable money if anything good was done. She said she would call Monday, Feb. 2, and she would send another messenger to my office, and I went to the telegraph office and there I was to go. She then showed me a paper which I was to sign. She then said that we were to go to some other place. We went to the corner of Broadway and Chambers street toward Broadway, and she fired two or three shots at me. One of the bullets entered my back. JEREMIAH O'DONOVAN ROSSA."

At the Hospital.—New York, Feb. 2.—Rossa was placed in a cot in the ward with Capt. Pugh, who was stabbed in Rossa's office three weeks ago. An examination of the wound showed that the bullet had penetrated his back about half an inch above his left shoulder blade. The ball ranged upward and inward toward the spinal column, but did not touch the vertebrae. The bullet is evidently lodged in the muscles of the back and beyond the slight shock Rossa has sufficient little. It was feared the missile had penetrated a lung, but as the wounded man has expectorated no blood this was afterward pronounced impossible. Had the spinal column been injured, there would be signs of paralysis, but none have appeared. The doctors probed unsuccessfully for the bullet. They concluded that no large blood vessel had been injured, and as Rossa is a fleshy, muscular man of robust constitution, there was no danger to be apprehended. The doctors will probe again for the bullet to-morrow morning. Some time after his admission to the hospital Rossa was removed to another ward. At about 6 o'clock he had his thought his condition was serious enough to warrant his making an announcement statement, and the coroner was sent for.

A Fourth Explosion at Pittsburg.—Pittsburg, Feb. 2.—Another explosion of artificial gas in the collar of Walker & Sons' paper box manufacturing company today shattered every window in the building and set fire to the woodwork. The flames were extinguished without much damage. The concussion shook the building in the vicinity and created intense excitement.

Extensive of Extrajudicial.—ALBANY, Feb. 2.—In the assembly, Rosch introduced a resolution calling upon President Arthur to intercede with the British government to secure extended application of the extradition treaty so that defaulters and embezzlers, etc., of each country escaping to the other could be handed over for punishment.

ARRAIGNED AT BOW ST.

EXAMINATION OF CUNNINGHAM, THE DYNAMITER.

The Case for the Crown—Witnesses Identified a Number of Persons Connected with the Mysterious Movements and Surroundings.—LONDON, Feb. 2.—Cunningham, the suspected dynamiter, was arraigned at Bow street today. He was conveyed from his cell in Clerkenwell prison to the court in a strong van. He was the only prisoner within the van, but several armed constables accompanied him. On one side of the driver was an armed policeman and officers with exposed revolvers stood upon the steps. The conveyance was driven slowly to allow the armed escort to keep alongside and enable the detectives who followed on the sidewalks to be near in case of emergency. Very few persons were admitted to the court. Before the commencement of the proceedings a number of witnesses were associated for the purpose of identifying the prisoner as the man they had seen engaged in suspicious movements just before the explosion. Cunningham was placed in a crowd, but three of the witnesses, one of whom was a woman, the other two being constables, had no difficulty in identifying the man. The man who had given information about the transfer of the trunk was unable to identify Cunningham. He looked up at the witness and told his story he has been got at and threatened.

In his opening address Mr. Poland, the solicitor for the prosecution, said Cunningham was 22 years of age and was a dock laborer. He was not alone in the act of causing the explosion at the tower, but was in league with others whom the government hoped soon to have in custody. The prisoner had lived in the United States several years, and had been in England last November. He came aboard the steamship Adriatic and landed at Liverpool. He took up his quarters there in a small hotel at No. 3 Robert street. When he left there he came to London. The government had no way of knowing just how Cunningham had employed himself during the interval between his arrival in London and the date of the explosion. That was as yet a matter of conjecture. It was proved that the prisoner on the 23rd and 24th Dec. was at Broad street railway station causing the explosion at the tower of America, and that the trunk was shown later. Besides the trunk the prisoner had a bag. He left both at the station over night and the trunk was taken to the man in the meantime he secured lodgings at No. 30 Prescott street, Whitechapel. For these lodgings he engaged to pay five shillings a week. It was further proved that the trunk and bag removed. While the prisoner lived in Prescott street the trunk mysteriously disappeared. Cunningham changed his lodgings and took rooms in Scarborough street. It would appear that the prisoner began to "jog" about Prescott street, and removal from Prescott street, and that he visited the tower buildings in the morning before the explosion. Poland produced a plan of the tower, and pointed out the spot where the explosion occurred. The result was the conviction of Cunningham, and the government has a conviction among the operators. The declaration was at once contradicted in the witness stand. Cunningham was the most important prisoner yet arrested for dynamite crimes. This impression was confirmed by the extraordinary number of witnesses taken by the government to prevent escape or rescue.

By the time the examination was concluded the crowd that pressed around the building numbered many thousands. The tops and every window in the neighborhood were crowded with people curious to witness the trial. The streets through which the prisoner was taken were lined with thousands of well-dressed and fairly well-to-do people.

Cunningham in New York.—New York, Feb. 2.—Inquiry at the docks of the Morgan steamer to-day developed the fact that Tim Cunningham had been employed there. Since the arrest of Cunningham, the London dynamiter, he has stated to his fellow-workmen that the prisoner is his son. At the company's offices it was said that Cunningham had been employed on the docks some time ago and that he lived with his father. The father, however, having a 15-year-old son but denied that Cunningham was his son. The London dynamiter was not confident of this.

Confession in the Camp.—St. Louis, Feb. 2.—The exposures concerning the identity of Cunningham, the alleged London dynamiter, has caused a terrific commotion in the dynamite camp. The confession was made by the prisoner in the order and in the presence of his associates. The man said to have made the confession is James M. Carmack, formerly a member of the dynamite organization in the American C. I. He recently had quarrel with the editor, Charles O'Brien, who was arrested in Ireland in 1880.

Is It Professor Rezzero?—New York, Feb. 2.—A man supposed to be Prof. Rezzero, promulgator of the dynamite doctrine, is lying dangerously ill in the hospital here, the result of an assault committed upon him a few nights ago by unknown parties.

Joy Among the Paris Politicians.—PARIS, Feb. 2.—John Morley, one of the actors in the late London outrage, has arrived in Paris. He has been long identified with the Irish revolutionary movement. A woman known as Kate accompanied him. She helped him to escape from Ireland in 1867. She was concerned in the tower explosion. A banquet has been held in Paris to celebrate the outrage of Jan. 24.

The Innocent Suffer for the Guilty.—DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—London correspondent writes from London, Ireland, that the police are dismissing all their Irish employes. The very fact that detectives were employed to watch the establishments of persons of Irish birth were employed proved so irritating to the owners of the concerns that they had to be dismissed. The police command—the wholesale discharge of the Irish employes in London on Saturday last had dismissed from their employ the very person of Irish birth.

WORRYING MINISTERS.

ANXIETY OF THE OTTAWA OPPOSITION FOR INFORMATION.

Petition Against any Amendment to the Scott Act—Tear and the Independence of Parliament.—The C. P. R. LOAN.—OTTAWA, Jan. 2.—The house at one hour and ten minutes this afternoon and transacted only routine business. It was a great day for the temperance boom. Twenty-five petitions, principally from Ontario members, were presented, praying that no alteration be made to the Canada temperance act. Sir Richard Cartwright presented no less than seven separate petitions himself. Mr. Small (East Toronto) introduced a private bill providing for a reduction of the capital stock of the Federal bank of Canada by $250,000. The receipt of the government if it had prepared the list which he had moved for last session showing the full names and residences of all Grand Trunk railway shareholders and stockholders, and Mr. Casey (West Eglon) followed this up by asking when the government would introduce a bill to amend the act relating to the department and he would give full explanations when he returned.

There are a couple of fire balls in Peter Mitchell's eye, and he is so sore that he is going to give the government some trouble. It is not likely, however, that the government will give a good thing right along out of the government treasury in the shape of printing, etc. He is the only member of the opposition who has not yet got around the independence of parliament act that concerned was made into a private stock company. Mr. McMillan asked Sir Hector Langevin if he would give full explanations what amount had been paid the Montreal Gazette from 1882 to 1884.

Amid cheers, Mr. Shakespeare (British Columbia) moved that the government introduce a bill to amend the act relating to the immigration of Chinese into the Dominion. The whole question of the Chinese had been referred to a commission who would report to the house in a few days. Until that report was received the government would not say what they would do about the almost-erected ceiling.

Mr. Charles, Sir Leonard Tilley said the net public debt of Canada on Jan. 30, 1884, was $11,914,885. Sir Hector Langevin had increased $7,154,933. In reply to Mr. Small, Sir Leonard Tilley said $18,591,600 of the $22,500,000 voted by parliament last session had been expended by the C. P. R. to Jan. 29, 1885.

Richard Cartwright had four notices of motion on the order paper to-day, and more definite information about the trade and navigation returns and the amount of the money on deposit in the various banks. Mr. Henson withdrew his notice for a 24-hour adjournment. He stated the postmaster-general would make a report on this subject.

Relieves from the Lobby.—OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—The workmen and women of Canada seem to have some friends left. Dr. Bergin (Stornton) asked the government if it would introduce a bill to amend the act relating to the public accounts, trade and navigation returns, and the amount of the money on deposit in the various banks. There are 131,552 Indians in Canada, and they cultivate 80,000 acres of land.

Another dynamite case was reached the police yesterday by the omission of a boy from a newspaper office left a pencil near the gate yesterday while he was up stairs. When he returned the police were ransacking the contents of the paper, but only found a few harmless publications.

The senate sat with closed doors this afternoon. It is a peculiar habit of the senate to sit with closed doors. It is the old ladies' chamber. It is said the work of the secret session was the consideration as to whether Senator Alexander should be re-elected or not.

Richard K. Fox of New York passed the afternoon in the ladies' gallery. He was accompanied by Mrs. Fox, and made an Ottawa speech relative to purchasing $400 worth of furs.

The girls held a caucus to-day. All the prominent Liberal leaders except Mr. Mackenzie were present. The caucus decided that James David Edgar should be brought to the prominence of Mr. King, who has in the hands of the province of Ontario, who has joined the "Kling Kongs" was in the house all the afternoon. He was accompanied by H. H. Knowlton. Mr. Knowlton requested that a complete set of the geological reports of the Dominion be sent the public library of Toronto. Mr. Small said if they appointed a conservative chairman the library would receive these books. This is rather a suggestive proposition.

Representations from the House.—WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—In the House Mr. Belmont introduced a resolution requesting the secretary of state to inform the house whether any representations had been made to this government by the British government growing out of the use of dynamite in London. If such representations had been made in writing they would be transmitted to all communications that have passed between the two governments on the subject. If there were no such communications have been verbal then the statement of their tenor of report.

Socialist Riot in New York.—NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Two thousand socialists met to-night in Concord hall. Justus Schwab and Herr Most tried to control the meeting. The socialists were armed with Pistols, knives and revolvers were drawn and Capt. McCullough and another policeman were knocked down and clubbed. Peter Brown, a rioter, had his leg broken, and several men had their skulls cracked. Justus Schwab was arrested.

As Bad as Dynamite.—NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 2.—Mary McGee, who threw vitriol upon William Clark, a pretentious member of the Newark works was to-day sentenced to 10 years. The judge said persons who threw vitriol were as dangerous as those who threw dynamite, and must expect to be punished to the full extent of the law.

MR. VAN HORNE INTERVIEWED.

He Indignantly Denies That the C. P. R. Had a Preference for E. S. Labor.

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—Mr. Van Horne of the C. P. R. arrived in the city this morning. He met a number of Toronto gentlemen in a private room in the Russell house this evening. The World was present and Mr. Van Horne spoke as follows about some of the important questions in connection with the big railroad. He said that his company would offer no objection to any railway crossing the laws, notwithstanding the monopoly clause in their charter. The clause was thought a great deal more of by outsiders than by them. A provisional board had been formed in Brandon for the purpose of building a road from Brandon to Devil's Lake, with T. M. Day as president. In reply to Mr. Small and Mr. Hay, Mr. Van Horne repudiated the allegation that among the C. P. R. employes there was a preponderance of Americans, and said that out of 110,000 dollars employed in Manitoba only 17 were Americans. Of the whole number only 9 per cent were Americans. He said that the clause in the charter was not to his knowledge one American and at Montreal only three. At the commencement it was absolutely necessary to employ a few Americans. They had got them on the other side, as they were the only people who had the necessary knowledge to build a prairie road. He said that the company had been purchasing goods outside of the do as such a report showed that the company had always taken special pains in the way of the work possible in Canada. They had secured the mechanical superintendent, machinists, blacksmiths and good builders who were thought likely to be of use to the company. He said that the company had always taken special pains in the way of the work possible in Canada. They had secured the mechanical superintendent, machinists, blacksmiths and good builders who were thought likely to be of use to the company.

Who Owned the Horse?—With reference to the item under the above heading in the issue of yesterday, it went too far in stating that the lawyer who took Mr. Godefrid's horse by mistake for the one ordered by the plaintiff, was stopped while driving on the street, as we find that he was not stopped by any police officer, but was detained by a policeman who had found out the mistake when the affair was treated as a joke.

A HORSE COUR ROOM.—The court of assizes pending an aspect quite "horse" yesterday during the trial of Lordon v. Smith. Judge Ross' probably heard more about the fine and the stable and witness stand. Professor Smith, though it is a tradition that his venerable and reverend father had an eye for a horse or a trade in his early days. The plaintiff's wife was engaged in a short split contract with a trades and looked as innocent as he was youthful—his twenty-first birthday had to be waited for.

The defendant, John Cooper Smith, was sitting as usual in his heavy fur-bound overcoat and side-whiskers. The leading counsel was B. R. Oster, the head-headed Tartar of the Toronto bar, and Wm. Lount, the sub-locked-plaid lawyer come from Barrie. Both of these gentlemen pretended to know all about the turf. Mixed among the audience and witness stand, Professor Smith, the Veterinary College, irreverently called "Doc," and who is and always has been on the best-dressed man from the horseman's point of view in the city. John Halligan, the deputy master of the hunt, and Joe Dugan, the lord of the twinning Woodbine, sat together and turned pale at the revelations made by the witnesses. A W. Godefrid dropped in to represent the Toronto hunt and Tommy Jones did a like office for the Jockey club and was drinking coffee over the well-known hunting ground.

Drink, puppy, drink, let every puppy drink. The Jocks were represented by Frank Pearson and Albie Bates and the Trainers by Charles Wain in a suitable hat, a collar of fur and a moustache that almost touched his eyebrows in his upward curl. Doc Campbell had on his well-known sporting coat. But the Hon. C. J. Douglas of Oxbridge and member of the English Cartilage society, with his other eye for the Shire horse, was there in his mouse colored top driving coat, which is the envy of all the horsemen in the town. Sam Beatty, too, was there partly on account of the "broader" party on account of the fact that Mr. Douglas attended. Roddy Pringle, tall, grey-haired and all the way from Cobourg, entered himself handicapped with a fine Persian lamb overcoat. Mr. Joseph Abington with brother Charles and Robert Bond were also in their Persian lambs. Fungus Mackie came in his sea-green overcoat and diamonds. Dick Jackson, a confidential adviser, nobly supported the defendant. He was robed in bay rum and shampoo mixture. The Honorable William Edmond Owens of Leavelle supplied Mr. Lount with all the pointers necessary for Mr. Lount's behalf.

When counsel address the jury to-day a seat will be left vacant. John F. Ross and the Woodstock detachment have asked by telegraph if they can keep seats on the result; at all events to keep them front chairs.

Indications of a Thaw.—METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, TORONTO, Feb. 2.—A thaw is expected to-morrow which will be a relief to the depression in the North-West. The weather has become somewhat milder in the last few days, but it is not clear and will be very cold. In the North-West the weather is very cold, and will be very cold.

A SPIGY SPORTING CASE.

SOME POINTERS IN CONNECTION WITH HORSE-RACING.

London v. Smith—A suit involving the ownership of Lloyd Daly and scalper at the Assizes.—A case peculiarly interesting to horsemen was begun at the civil assizes yesterday before Justice Rose and a jury. The plaintiff is Alexander Loudon, better known as Alfy, and the defendant John C. Smith, of the firm of Cooper & Smith. The action is brought to recover $2000 which plaintiff had invested in horses in partnership with defendant. There were a large number of lovers of horse flesh in court, and some spiky developments were brought out in evidence about how some races are won and lost. Wm. Lount, Q. C., and R. S. Neville appeared for the plaintiff, and B. O. Oler, Q. C., and C. H. Ritchie for the defendant.

Mr. Neville said defendant and plaintiff had entered into an arrangement to purchase some running horses. Each put in $2000. Loudon was to be manager of the horses and Smith was to be a "spiky" partner. The horses were to be equally divided. Lloyd Daly and Scalper were the horses bought by Loudon and put in the Alexander stable, London had the horses at the Woodbine track here in the spring of 1884 and afterwards ran them at the Chicago races. Defendant then disposed of the horses to the horses to the Saratoga meeting in charge of Wm. Lount, and had managed them himself afterwards.

The first witness examined was the plaintiff who was subjected to a severe cross-examination by Mr. Oler, to whom he admitted he had been allied off at Chicago for entering the Alexander stable in his own name as owner. Witness had been accused in Chicago of paying a "spiky" who rode horses in court $2000 to "spiky" him. The horse that was to win stumbled and fell and Scalper eventually won the race. Witness admitted showing Smith a receipt for $500 from Phelan of Lexington, Ky., when defendant advanced the $2000 to him. He said that defendant would lose the $500 unless he got the advance asked. At that time he had not said anything on the horse, but could Smith be had, as he was in a "fix."

A number of letters were put in between the parties, that was exhibited in most of the evidence, beginning "My dear Jack" and "My dear Alfy." A statement of the plaintiff's disbursements and receipts from Smith, and a receipt for $2000 from Smith, from which it appeared that the winnings had not been as much as the expenditure during the time of plaintiff's management.

An agreement was put in between the parties, dated December 31, 1883, in which plaintiff had agreed to give the defendant $2000 for the purchase of the horses. The horses purchased were Scalper for $2000 from China of Harrodsburg, Ky., and Lloyd Daly for $2000 from Phelan of Lexington, Ontario. Loudon admitted to Smith that he had kept two sets of books, in one of which he had put down the price paid for the horses as $2000 each, and in the other "false" book, and was only to show to people who wanted to know too much. The other was his "true" book, in which the actual price paid for the horses was entered.

William Owens testified to Mr. Smith having told him a deposit had been paid by Lloyd Daly, and he wanted witness to go to Lexington after the horse. Witness did not go, but found Wm. Lount. He understood from Mr. Smith that he was owner of the Alexander stable. At the time of Lloyd Daly's death the horse was worth $2000. Witness would have given ten to twelve for the horse if he had the money.

Mr. Oler—Oh, yes; if you had got the money I had wanted it. Witness had not been assisting Loudon in the suit, but had gone to Montreal to get a declaration from the jockey Brennan, that Loudon had not paid him $2000 to scalp the horses in Chicago. He had not been promised any money if Loudon won the suit.

Mr. Mitchell—You merely went to Montreal for sport and not solely to get the declaration. Witness—I'm not doing much for sport myself. Charles Wain testified that he was employed in the Richmond stable, formerly called the Alexander stable, and was paid a monthly salary by Mr. Smith of the horses in the stable now were Brewwood, Northland, Miss Archibald, Disturbance, Scalper and Charlie Ware. Could not say whether Mr. Smith owned all the horses or not. He brought Daly from Lexington and put him in the Alexander stable. Got in evidence a receipt for $2000 from Wm. Lount. When Daly was killed at the Woodbine, he was entered in Mr. Smith's name. While then nearby, plaintiff told witness to go to Harrodsburg and get a receipt from China for the money paid Scalper. China was playing poker when witness got a receipt for $2000, but the horse was bought by Loudon for $2000. Witness could not say whether Loudon had given a receipt for $2000 to get a receipt for $2000 for Lloyd Daly from Phelan, but the latter refused to give it.

Witness further testified that Brennan rode Scalper in the Cook county race in Chicago. The other horses in that race were John Forbes' Miss Moulton and Mr. Ackerman's Old Boy. Loudon had told witness that Scalper was not to win, but that the stakes were to be divided. Witness cautioned Brennan when he was going on the track that he would have to win the race. The judges also warned the jockeys against any money business. Miss Moulton fell and Scalper won the race. Loudon seemed taken back at this and said he guessed he would have to stand one-third of Forbes' loss. Managers can't always tell whether jockeys are going to ride "straight" or not. Brennan told Smith in presence of witness and Loudon that the latter had directed him to lose the Cook county race, and that he (witness) had told him to win.

Other witnesses examined were Frank Pearson, William Loudon, father of plaintiff, and Howard Crowe. Their evidence was unimportant. The case will be concluded to-day.

Metropolitan Office, Toronto, Feb. 2.—A thaw is expected to-morrow which will be a relief to the depression in the North-West. The weather has become somewhat milder in the last few days, but it is not clear and will be very cold. In the North-West the weather is very cold, and will be very cold.

OUR LONE FARM GATE.

CANADA'S EXHIBIT AT THE NEW ORLEANS EXPOSITION.

A Walk Through the Main Building—What is to be Seen There—Hints for the Toronto Show Managers.

Dear World: I have started with the building. Cost's Thread company have a splendid canopy of their spool threads arranged in colors. Clark's show the manufacture from the raw material to the completion of the spool, their manager giving all explanations. Their show is both interesting and good.

Biscuits—The show is something that cannot be described. Our Mr. Christie had better come and see it and get wrinkles for our exhibition. The trip will pay him.

Soup—Where is "Morse's Mottled"? Come John Taylor, word your way to New Orleans and see the finest display of soups of all kinds the world ever saw, even to leaf or book soup. You can now carry your own. The manager presented me with a book. You can read it and it is enough to wash your hands.

Drugs—In this department is very grand. In this department is very grand. In this department is very grand. In this department is very grand.

Stoves—Come on, Gurney. See the large exhibition of stoves of every kind ever made. One made at Louisville is the best and most useful article for ordinary family houses I ever saw.

The Hero Tea House—They have a canopy of bamboo, a pretty counter, and a cup of their best for all visitors.

Silver Exhibit—Near one of the entrances is a mass of silver in its pure state. It is the Mexican exhibit. The pieces weigh 5430 pounds, and is valued at $14,000.

King & Lumb of Chicago have an splendid display of prepared cereals formed into a canopy and a pyramid, and made entirely of their preparations.

Wines—A California firm show a very large display of native wine and brandies, and as it was just time to see the governor of California, we visited. Both wine and brandy are of excellent quality. I think the train will exhibit at Toronto. The customs seem to trouble them. Mr. Hill must see a man. I mean the California wine man. An English house shows a very large stock of ale, wine, spirits, champagne, etc.

Tobacco is a very large and interesting show. It begins with the seed and so on to every manufactured article.

Canned Meats—The Banner packing company has a large space, and their display of all packed meats is one of the best in the building. I spent over thirty minutes looking through it.

Turkish Store—I do hope our exhibition committee will not allow one of the swindlers in their building. They are here a perfect nuisance, running after ladies to buy. I got into one of the officers in charge to stop it.

Mexican Band—During the afternoon this band of sixty players played various selections; some of them quite native, as their songs come in at intervals. I tried to talk, but forgot all my Spanish, and could only utter a few words here and there. The band is a very fine one, and a credit to any country.

Russian Exhibition—I got very unkind. Jamaica shows a splendid exhibit of all her native growth and manufactures. A floating stove is one of the features; the piece on exhibition weighs about five hundred and doesn't sink. We took it up and pushed it down, but it came again.

British Honduras has a magnificent display of woods. The exhibit reminds me of that in the English exhibition. They show one cedar log 3 feet square by 24 feet long, a mahogany log 2 feet by 24. One would call "knock me back" would answer well for policemen's staves.

Japan has a splendid exhibit of all her native growth and manufactures. A floating stove is one of the features; the piece on exhibition weighs about five hundred and doesn't sink. We took it up and pushed it down, but it came again.

Merited success. In attending the Anglo-American Medical society in the introduction of their special and eminently successful method of curing catarrh, loss of voice and hearing, and all chronic diseases of the air passages, we learn that their parlors at 39 Adelaide street east are crowded daily, and that some of our most prominent citizens have already consulted them.

Five thousand patients have been issued on curbs in this country, and still there is no way to make cream rise on pump water.

It may be only a trifling cold, but neglect it and it will fasten its fangs in your lungs, and you will soon be carried to an untimely grave. In this country we have had such changes, and must expect to have such changes. We cannot avoid them, but we can effect a cure by using Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, the medicine that has never been known to fail in curing coughs, colds, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest.

"A w, no, thank you, I own't stay, yer know," said a young society swell to a lady on whom he was calling. "I weally must go, for I only came here for a little west." "You're wrong this time," interrupted the young lady's brother. "They said 'w' for 'w' and 'e' for 'e' more, it's 'w' and 'e'." The swell didn't stop to pull down his vest.

"Mrs. George Simpson, Toronto, says: 'I have suffered severely with corns, and was unable to get relief from treatment of any kind until I was recommended to try Holloway's Corn Cure. After applying it for a few days I was enabled to remove the corn, root and branch—no pain whatever, and no inconvenience in using it. I can heartily recommend it to all suffering from corns.'

THE COMBAULT'S CAUSTIC BALSAM! It is undoubtedly the most valuable, reliable and reliable Vaseline Remedy ever discovered. It has superseded the Actual Caustic or hot iron; produces more than four times the effect of a blister; takes the place of all liniments, and is the safest application ever used, as it is impossible to produce a scar or blanchish with it. It is a powerful, active, reliable and safe remedy that can be manipulated at will for severe or mild effect. Thousands of the best Veterinarians and Horsemen of this country testify to its many wonderful cures and its great practical value. It is also the most economical remedy in use, as one tablespoonful of Caustic Balsam will produce more actual results than a whole bottle of any liniment or ointment ever made. Price $1.50. To Dyspeptics.

The most common signs of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are an oppression at the stomach, nausea, flatulency, water-brash, heart-burn, vomiting, loss of appetite, and constipation. Dyspeptic patients suffer untold miseries, bodily and mental. They should stimulate the digestion, and secure regular daily action of the bowels, by the use of moderate doses of Ayer's Pills.

After the bowels are regulated, one of these Pills, taken each day after dinner, is usually all that is required to complete the cure.

POINTS FOR PLUMBERS.

Interesting Paper Read at Last Night's Meeting of the Sanitary Association.

The fourth of a series of monthly lectures, under the auspices of the Sanitary Association, was delivered in the lecture-room of the education department last night, when an exhaustive paper on sanitary plumbing was read by George Curry, architect.

Mr. Curry first took up the subject of plumbing and drainage in its connection with the ventilation of houses.

He then proceeded to the subject of the ventilation of houses, and the importance of the chimney flues.

Speaking of drainage, Mr. Curry said it was not an uncommon thing for those engaged in laying drains, in cases where they are not to be laid in a trench, to lay them in a shallow trench, instead of removing the obstruction to leave it in its place and recommence the drain on the other side of it.
