The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. TO THE Geography (or rather Cosmography) that most Pleasurable and Useful Science, which is the Subject of the following Treatise, needs no Rhetorick to recommend it, the great Utility, and the no less Pleasure that attends the knowledge thereof, rendering it acceptable and delightful to all persons who engage in the study of it. By the help of this the Merchant may take a view of those several Countries from whence his Factors make him such profitable Returns, and may know what Commodities are peculiar to every Country, and consequently what Merchandize to Export and Import to and from the several parts of the Universe: Nor is it less useful to the Sea-faring man, who without danger of Shipwrack may with pleasure take a view of the Ocean, and of those several Seas, Straits and Gulphs he hath sailed through, and cast Anchor in those Ports and pleasant Harbours which he so much longed for and desired, when tost and tumbled by the tempestuous Waves. Here

the valiant Soldier may take a view of his Enemies Camp, without fear of the murdering Cannon, or danger of an Ambuscade. The Divine may travel through the Holy Land, and view the several places mention'd in Sacred or Ecclesiastical History, and may trace the

the whole Terraqueous Globe in all its essential Parts, viz. The Land, divided into Continents, Islands, Peninsula's, Isthmus, Promontories or Capes: And Water, divided into Oceans, Seas, Gulphs, Straits, Lakes, Rivers. All which parts are most compendiously handled in the following manner.

Of Continents---	} It is briefly declar'd	What Countries they contain.
Of Islands---		How they lye in respect of the Conti.
Of Peninsula's---		To what place of the Continent they are adjacent.
Of Isthmus---		What Penin. they joyn to the Contin.
Of Promontories---		How they extend into the Ocean.
Of Oceans---		What Countries they inclose or surro.
Of Seas---		With what Countries they are inclosed or surrounded.
Of Gulphs---		How they bend up into the Continent.
Of Straits---		What Seas they joyn.
Of Lakes---		Where they are to be found.
Of Rivers---	What are their new and old Names and how they run.

This being the substance of the first Part, I come now to the second, wherein I have taken a particular view of the Terrestrial Globe, in its chief and principal parts, and that by considering all the remarkable Divisions, Subdivisions [expressing their Situation and Extent] as also Cities, and chief Towns of the whole Earth. In doing this I have follow'd a new method, more clear than any that I know as yet publish'd; for I have not only reduc'd the particular Divisions, Cities and chief Towns of every Country to a compendious Table, but have also so order'd these Divisions, Cities and Towns, that the Reader may not only have a full prospect of the whole Country at one view, but likewise

To the Reader.

likewise may find those Divisions, Cities and Towns in the Map, as soon as he reads their names in the Table. Its true some late Authors both English and French, have made and publisht several Tables expressing the chief Towns in most Countries of Europe, yet those Tables (being only a bare Catalogue of Names, confusedly set down without any order) are of so little use to the Reader, that his pains are no less than before to find out those Names in the Map; whereas in the following Treatise those Divisions their Cities and Towns are so laid down before him (with particular Directions how they lye) that without any difficulty he may point out these places in the Map, as fast as he can read their Names in the Table. This new Method being as followeth, of the 32 Points of the Compass, I have made choice of 8, namely, The 4 Cardinal, to wit, East, West, North, South, [expressed by the single Letters of E. W. S. N.] and 4 Intermediate, as North-East, North-West, South-East, South-West, express'd thus, N.E. N.W. S.E. S.W. By those 8 Points, I briefly show the situation of all Countries in any Kingdom, and that in the following manner. Having reckon'd up the several Divisions of every Country, and the Cities or chief Town in each of those Divisions, I have exactly considered the situation of all those Divisions, in respect of those 8 Points above-mentioned, and as I find a competent number lying in a straight Line, between any two of the aforesaid Points, I have accordingly set them down, expressing their situation, so that those Divisions or Countries can be no sooner seen in the Table, than known how they lye in the Map. e. g. In treating of the Kingdom of Portugal (Pag. 54.) the Reader will find its Divisions thus set down.

 signifie that the two opposite Provinces, [viz. Entre Douro and Tralos Montes] are found from West to East. The other (having N. to S. affix) do show that the four opposite Divisions are found in the Map from North to South.

Note, That those Letters denoting the 8 Points of the Compass above-mentioned are still applied to the situation of Counties or Divisions expressed (as in the aforesaid Example) and not to the Cities or Towns in those Counties or Divisions, except when Cities or Towns only are mention'd, then in such a case those Letters denote the situation of them, as Pag. 67.

Note also, That many times a little Brace must be added within a greater, as Pag. 77.

Portugal

To the Reader.

The little Brace affixt to Norwich and Ipswich doth shew that the two opposite Counties Norfolk and Suffolk, (lying South and North) are both taken together, and considered as one Division when reckon'd with the following Counties of the Circuit in respect of their situation, expressed on the outside of the last Brace. What is here said of the situation of Counties, the same is understood of Islands, either in respect of one another, or the next part of the Continent, as Pag. 83. and 84. where the Islands of the Mediterranean Sea are so set down.

If it happen that neither Divisions nor Towns can be so ordered as to have their situation exactly expressed, then the distance of these Towns from some remarkable Cities adjacent, is particularly declar'd in English miles, as may be seen (Pag. 45.) where most of the Towns in the Circle of Snabia are mentioned with their particular distance. The same method being observed throughout all the rest of the second Part of this Treatise, I suppose what is already said will be a sufficient Clavis to the whole.

I now proceed to the third and last Part, which comprehends a brief Narrative of the Air, Soil, Commodities of all Countries; as also the Manners, Government and Religion of the People inhabiting those Countries. The Reader cannot expect a very large account of all these several heads, it being impossible in so little room to say the half of what might be said on many of them; however he may there find all those things that are most essential; these few sheets being an Epitome of what is more largely expressed in the greatest Volume. In this Part I have treated of all Countries in the same order as they are mentioned in the former, so that both Parts contain the same number of Chapters and Sections with the same Titles.

To the Reader.

Here the Reader may be pleas'd to know, that in mentioning Countries both in this and the former Part, I have made their Situation my only Rule, begining still with those lying towards the North. This Rule being once laid down as a sure guide, I have exactly observed the same both in Continents (excepting North America, where I thought good to end at the Pole) as also in those Islands which are particularly handled, namely, the Bri-tannick. I know this is very different from many, who begin with those Countries which were very famous of old, or are now reckon'd most considerable; but this I have carefully shunn'd, as knowing it might be offensive to several; and that none might take exception, I have (in mentioning Countries) regard'd neither the antient or present worth of them or their Inhabitants, but (as aforesaid) have made their Situation my only Rule.

Those six general heads, handled in this Part, being subjects that do not much admit of new relations, I judge my self to be no Plagiary, to grant that I have receiv'd the assistance of others, esteeming it needless many times to alter the Character either of a People or Country, when I found it succinctly worded by a credible Pen.

I resolv'd once to have set down all the particular Dominions belonging to every Crown'd Head or Prince in Europe, but nothing being more alterable by reason of our present Wars, I laid aside such thoughts, in hope that the same may be sufficiently learn'd from those who have written the Present State of Europe, and still continue it by their Monthly Accounts. However, in stead of those Dominions in Europe, I have subjoin'd a short Appendix to this Treatise, comprehending the chief Plantations (whether Countries, Towns, Forts or Factories) which belong to the Europeans in the East and West Indies, this being as useful (if not more)

To the Reader.

to be known than the former. And lastly, in the latter part of that Appendix, I have made a Proposal (I hope very Reasonable, and I wish acceptable) concerning the Propagation of the blessed Gospel in all Pagan Countries.

This being the summe of the whole Treatise, I shall no longer detain the Reader by way of Preface.

GENERAL VIEW,
 Of the whole
Terraqueous Globe ;
 In all its constituent parts of Land and Water.

I N T R O D U C T I O N.

THE Terraqueous Globe (whose Superfice is the Subject of this Treatise) is always considered by Geographers as a Spherical Body made up of Land and Water; and (for the better understanding of it in all its external parts) is commonly surrounded with many imaginary Circles. The chief of which are 8 divi- ded into	{ 4 greater	{ Horizon, Meridian, Equator, Zodiac.	} into	{ 5 Parallel	{ Equator. 2 Tropicks. 2 Pol. Circles.

Of these, and some other Circles are formed Zones, Climates, Longitudes and Latitudes of places.

Zones are 5	{ 2 Frigid, 2 Temperate, 1 Torrid.	} comprise	{ The Polar Circles and Poles. The Polar Circles and Tropicks. between the Tropicks.

Climats are in number 48, { 24 North.
24 South.

Longitude is the distance from the first Meridian, and measured upon the Aequator.

Latitude { South } is the distance from the Aequator to either Poles, and measured upon the Meridian.

The Globe hath three Positions viz.

- { Parallel having } The Poles in { Zenith, Nadir. }
The Aequator in the Horizon.
The parallel Circles parallel to the Horizon.
- { Right having } The Poles in the Horizon.
The Aequator in { Zenith, Nadir. }
The parallel Circles perpendicular to the Horizon.
- { Oblique having } The Poles { one above } the Horizon.
{ one under } the Horizon.
Aequator partly { above } the Horizon.
{ under } the Horizon.
Parallel Circles oblique to the Horizon.

The foresaid Rivers are those that are most remarkable in the Four Continents: As for Rivers in Island, belonging to these Continents, the chief and most famous of them all are the Rivers of the British Islands, particularly these following;

Thus we have briefly mentioned the most considerable Rivers in the World, expressing also their old Names, and how they run; which Rivers will be found very necessary for the better understanding of the following part of this Treatise, wherein we design to consider all the remarkable Divisions, Subdivisions and Chief Towns of the whole Earth, but more especially those of Europe. Now since these Rivers above-mentioned, belonging to the Continent of Europe, do consist of several considerable Branches very necessary to be known, we shall therefore rehearse such Rivers, and annex to each of them their chief or principal Branches.

IN the foregoing Treatise I have briefly reduc'd the whole body of Modern Geography to a short and (I hope) an exact Analysis, whereby any person (especially if directed by a Teacher) may in a short time arrive to a very considerable perfection in that great Science; for by that small Treatise he may form not only a general Idea of the whole Terraqueous or Terrestrial Globe, in all its constituent parts of Land. [namely, Continents, Islands, Peninsulas, Isthmus, Promontories or Caps] and Water [viz. Oceans, Seas, Gulphs, Straits, Lakes and Rivers] but also, by it he may completely learn all the Remarkable Divisions, Subdivisions, (together with their Situation and Extent) and the chief Towns of the whole Earth; and all these so dispos'd in such a natural method, that the Memory (the chiefest faculty of the Mind employ'd in this Study) may be thereby wonderfully cas'd. in being altogether freed from from that woful confusion which generally attends many Authors who have handled this Subject.

But since a young Student of Geography may possibly startle and be discouraged at the first sight of so great a multitude of Words, which he must of necessity learn by heart, I shall (for his encouragement) subjoin to the aforesaid Analysis, a compendious treatise of by Cosmographers, which being both necessary and pleasant, may probably incline his Mind to a more vigorous undertaking of that Study; for having perused the following relation of various Countries and their Inhabitants, he cannot in reason rest satisfied there [these being only the Borders of Geography] but rather it's to be hop'd that thereby he will kindle or stir up his Curiosity to know and search after the Situation, Bounds, Extent, Distances and Subdivisions of those Countries, concerning which he findeth such relations; especially considering that they (without a competent knowledge of those places) are very dark and obscure; the truest History, without Geography, seeming little better than a Romance. The most remarkable things which Cosmographers ordinarily consider, may be reduced to these following heads: viz. The Air, Soil, Commodities, brievely of all Countries; as also the Manners, Government and Religion of the People inhabiting those Countries. These six general heads shall be here treated of with all brevity imaginable; and to handle them without confusion, I shall travel through all Countries according to the method laid down in the former Analysis. Therefore,

§. 1. The Kingdom of SWEDELAND

Air. THE Air of this Country is every where very cold, but (if not too nigh some Lake or Marish) its very pure and wholesome, so that the Inhabitants do frequently live to a Hundred Years, especially they who abstain from excessive drinking, a thing too much practised by many of them.

Soil. Notwithstanding there are frequent and very hard Frosts in this Country from the Month of October to the end of April, yet the Ground produceth abundance of Grain; and where the Soil is less fertile in Corn that disadvantage is recompenced with tollerable Pasturage: Its numerous Lakes are very well stor'd with various kinds of Fishes. Its Mounrains are generally covered over with Trees, and many of them lin'd with considerable Mines of Silver, Tin, Brass and Iron.

Commodities. The chief Commodities of this Country are Metals, Oxe-bides, Goat-skins, Buck-skins, and costly Furs, Pine-Trees, Fir-Trees, Oakes, Tallow, Tar, Honey, and such like.

Manners. The Swedes (for the most part) are Men of big and strong Bodies; Men whose very Constitution doth fit them to be Soldiers, but generally they weaken Nature by their extravagant excess in drinking. Their Genery are said to be very civil to strangers, and many of them become become considerable proficient in several Arts and Sciences. The Commons are esteem'd good Mechanicks, but look upon by all us too much given to laziness in point of improving their Country, by not cutting down many unnecessary Forrests, and imploying that Ground to better advantage.

The Kingdom of Swediland having suffered various Governments of Fortune, in being frequently disturb'd by the adjacent Nations, at last got rid of them all, and becoming terrible to others, did spread it self over a considerable part of its Neighbours Territories. It's now govern'd by its own King, who (since the last Age) is Hereditary, being formerly Elective. The Nobility do still retain a great power in their own hands, so that the Government is partly Aristocratical, but we choose rather to term it a Limited Monarchy.

The Inhabitants of this Country are strict Lutherans, Religion, except in Livonia, where there is a considerable number of Papists inermixt. The Christian Religion was first planted in this Kingdom by the care and diligence of Ansgarius, Arch-Bishop of Breme, the Apostle General of the North.

§. 2. The Kingdom of DENMARK.

The Air of this Country is much the same with that in the South part of Swediland, it being very cold, but in most places very wholesome.

The Soil is very good for Grain and Pasturage. Here is great abundance of Fish, especially Herrings. Here also are many wild Fowls, and most kinds of wild Beasts, so that this Country is generally esteem'd very fit for Hunting.

Its chief Commodities are Fish, Tallow, Furniture for Ships, Armour, Ox-hides, Buck-skins, Fir-wood, and Waincot, &c.

The

Manners.

The Dants are almost of the same temper with their Neighbours the Suedes and Germans, but that they are generally esteemed to be a People more given to Pride and Cunning, than either of the former: They are said to be industrious and Frugal enough: They are also considerable lovers of Learning, but generally greater lovers of Excess, whether in Drinking or Eating.

Government.

This Kingdom formerly was Elective (although still they advanced the next Heir to the Crown) until the year 1659. that Fredrick the III. having bravely repulsed the Suedes, besieging the capital City Copenhagen, it was then rendered Hereditary to his Family. The Nobility here have also a great stroke, yet notwithstanding this (they being most affectionate to their Prince) the Government is truly Monarchical.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of this Country are of the Reformed Religion, according to the Doctrine of the Lutheran Churches, the whole mass of Popery being abolished by King Fredrick the I. about the year 1525. which was above Three Hundred and Seventy Years after that Denmark was fully established in the Christian Religion by the means of Pope Adrian the IV. (an English Man) who before his assumption of the Popedom, was called Nicolaus Breakpear.

§ 3. The Kingdom of NORWAY.Air.

The Air of this Country is to extremely cold, especially towards the North parts of the Kingdom, that it is but thinly inhabited; and that by the meanest of People.

Soil.

By reason of the excessive coldness of the Country, the Soil is very barren, not having force enough to produce the necessaries of Life, the common People being forced to use dry Fish in stead of Bread. In short, the Country is over spread either with vast Forests, barren Mountains, or formidable Rocks.

Its chief Commodities are Stock-fish, rich Furs, Train-Oyl, Pitch and Tackling for Ships, as Mats, Cables, Deal-boards, and the like, which the Inhabitants exchange for Corn, Wine, Fruits, Beer, and other necessaries for Mans Life.

The Norwægians are esteem'd a simple and grossly ignorant People. Towards the North parts they have very few Towns, but generally live in Tents, and travel in great companies from one place to another in Hunting.

This Kingdom was once a distinct body by it self, and independant of any other, but is now subject to the King of Denmark, who (besides particular Governours in the five Castles of Bahus, Aggerus, &c. mentioned Page 23.) doth ordinarily keep a Vice-Roy there for the better administration of the publick Affairs of that Kingdom.

The Inhabitants of this Country are of the same Religion as in Denmark, only that in the Northmost parts of the Kingdom they are mere Heathens, and gross Idolaters, usually worshipping the Sun, Fire, Trees, Serpents, and such like.

S E C T. II.

Concerning Norwægia.

THE Air of this Country is very cold, particularly towards the North, where Snow and Ice are usual for three quarters of the year. In the Southmost parts they have very frosty heats in the Summer, which continue about the space of six weeks.

The Plains in this Country are very full of Marshes and Lakes; towards the North are vast Forests, and generally in those parts the Ground is so barren, and extremely cold, that what they sow doth seldom or never Commodities. The chief Commodities of this Country are Furs, Sables, Martins, Wax, Honey, Tallow, Train Oyl, Caviers, Hemp, Flax, Slad, Iron, &c.

Manners. The Moscovites are generally lookt upon as a rude, deceitful and ignorant sort of People: They are much addicted to excessive drinking, and to unlawful and beastly pleasure; the abominable sin of Sodomy being too frequent among them. They are said to be great abhorers of Tobacco, and do strictly inhibit the Importation of it into their Country under the severest Penalties.

Government. This great body was once under the Tartars, but (having shaken off their yoke) it hath now continued above an hundred years under its own Prince, who taketh the Title of Czar, which signifieth Emperour, yet more commonly he is termed the Great Duke. He is an Hereditary Monarch, and his Government truly Despotical, his Subjects being willing to subscribe themselves his Slaves.

Religion. The Inhabitants of this Country do generally profess the Christian Religion, according to the Doctrine of the Greek Church, but differ from it in several material points. The Moscovites are said mortally to hate both Jews and Papists, but that they suffer some Lutherans and Calvinists to live among them. Towards the East parts of the Country adjacent to Tartary, they are either gross Idolaters, or incline to Mahometanism. The Christian Faith was first planted in this Country about the year 987. by the preaching of some Greeks sent thither by the then Patriarch of Constantinople.

great excess of heat and cold, which ordinarily attend those Countries that extend very far either towards the South or North.

By reason of the good temper of the Air, the Soil is Soil.
extraordinary fruitful, particularly in Corn, Wine, Fruits, Hemp, &c. There are few Countries in the Christian World, to which Nature hath been so prodigal of her choicest Blessings, as she hath been to this: The Fields thereof being large and open are so intermingled with Corn and Wines, and every Hedge to befit with choice of Fruits, that the most curious Eye need not desire a fairer Object. Here are many Forests, and they well stor'd with variety of wild Beasts, fit for Hunting. Here are several Mountains, and those covered over with numerous Flocks. Here also are many excellent Pits of Coals, and Quarries of Stones. And besides all these, there are several rich Mines to be found, especially in the Southmost parts of the Kingdom.

The chief Commodities of this Country, are Salt, Fish, Commodi-

The French are generally a quick and active sort of Manners.
People. Many of them in matters of Learning are blest with a clear conception and ready expression. Of late they have advanced the Republick of Letters to a very considerable height. This Age hath produced several of that Nation, who are famous through all the learned World for their singular parts.

Government.

This Kingdom being formerly under the Romans, was gain'd from them by the Franks, Goths and Burgundians, especially the Franks, by whom was raised a Monarchy, which being continued in the succession of Kings of three several Races, is now as great as any in Christendom, which at present is subject to its own King; whose Government is Monarchical, and Crown hereditary in his Heirs Male, all Females being excluded by the Salique Law. The whole Kingdom being divided into twelve Governments; over each Government is set a Government, term'd the Kings Lieutenant General or Gouverneur, having the like power as the Lords Lieutenants of England had formerly in their several Countries.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of this Country at present are mostly Roman Catholics; the Popish Religion being openly professed by the generality of the Kingdom: There are several as yet of the Protestant Communion who live obscurely since the year 1525. The Christian Faith was first planted here by some of S. Peters Disciples (as is most probably thought) sent thither by him at his first coming to Rome.

S E C T. IV.

Concerning Germany.

Air.

THE Air of this Country towards the North is very cold, but in the Southmost parts of that great Continent, its of the like temper with those places in France that lye under the same parallel.

Soil.

By reason of the great difference of the Air in various parts of that Country, the Soil is very different according to the situation of those parts. In the Circles lying farthest South, as also those in the middle part of the Continent, particularly the Upper and Lower Rhine, there is hardly any Country in Europe can compare with them for great plenty of North, namely seventeen Provinces coming to perle Pasturage, they Country in most and profitable, cessary, but also Life of Man.

for great plenty of Corn and Wines; but towards the North, namely the two Saxonies, Westphalia and the Seventeen Provinces, the Soil is not so fertile (Vines never coming to perfection there) however as for Corn and Pasturage, they are abundantly furnish'd with them. The Country in most parts is generally pleasant, healthy and profitable, abounding not only with all things necessary, but also with most that are comfortable to the Life of Man.

The chief Commodities of this Country are Corn, Commodities Metals, Allom, Salt, Wine, Flesh, Linnen, Quicksilver, tins. Armours and Iron-works, &c.

The Germans are generally a tall and big kind of People, and commonly of a Phlegmatick Constitution. Those of the poorer sort are laborious, painful, and of a sincere and honest carriage: the Nobles (for the most part) are either Scholars or Souldiers, and said to be true lovers of Honour. The greatest excellency of this People lyeth in the Mechanical sort of Learning, as being very eminent for several Mathematical Experiments, strange Water-works, Medicinal Extractions, Chymistry, and such like. To them we owe that incomparable Invention of Printing, first discovered by a Souldier; as also that fatal Instrument the Gun, found out by Bertradius Swart a Frier. Among all their Mechanical Operations, the most remarkable are the Wooden Eagle and Iron Fly, made by that cunning Artizan and excellent Mathematician Regiomontanus.

This great Body comprehends above three hundred Governments Sovereignties, but all, or the most of them are homagers to one head, viz'd the Emperour of Germany. The Empire is Elective, and govern'd by Dyets, almost like the General Estates of France. The whole Empire being divided into ten Circles, (as Page 27.) each Circle hath a Director both Secular and Ecclesiastick, who preside together at their Assemblies; two or three Circles may meet when one of them is attackt from without, or in any confusion within. The General Dyets consist of three three bodies, viz. The Electoral Princes, other Princes, and Imperial Cities; but more particularly,

In this great body we may reduce all Sovereignities to these five, viz.

- The Emperour. Secular Princes.
- The Electors. Free Cities.
- The Ecclesiasticks.

1. The Emperour (being of the Houe of Austria) doth claim three sorts of Dominion; viz. that of Austria as Hereditary, Bohemia as his Right; and Hungary by Election. In his life time he cauleth his Son, or Brother, or next Kintman, to be Crowned King of Hungary, afterwards King of Bohemia, and then (if the Electors are disposed for it) he is also chosen King of the Romans, that is to say, his Successor presumptive to the Empire.
2. The Electors are in number eight; viz.

Arch-Bishop of Mayentz —	} Who is	Great Chancel. of the Empire in Germany .
Arch-Bishop of Treves —		Great Chancel. of the Empire in France .
Arch-Bishop of Cologne —		Great Chancel. of the Empire in Italy .
K. of Bohemia [who hath only a Seat in the Election]		Cup-bearer.
D. of Bavaria —		Great Steward.
D. of Saxony —		Great Marshal.
D. of Brandenburgh —	Great Chamberlain.
Pr. Palat. of the Rhine —	Great Treasurer.

And lately the D. of Hanover is named to be one of the Electoral Princes.

3. Ecclesiastick Princes (besides the first three Electors) are several. The Arch-Bishop of Salzburge is great Master of the Teutonic Order: Besides him are many Bishops, Abbots and Abbesses, who are absolute over the Temporality of their Benefices; the Election to their Dignities belong to their several Chapters, wherein neither the Pope nor Emperour have any right to meddle.

4. Among the Secular Princes, is the Arch-Duke of Austria, and besides him several other Dukes, Marquesses, and Landgraves, as also some Earls and Barons who have power absolute enough in their own Dominions.

5. The free Cities are either Imperial or Hans Towns: Imperial Cities are those who bear the Eagle of the Empire in their Arms, and have right to send their Deputies to the Diets of the Empire. Hans Towns are those that are in league together reciprocally to assist one another in the time of distress: Of these the chief are Lubeck, Lunenburg, Cologne, Brunswick, Dantzick, Hamburg, &c.

To the Government of Germany we may add the three following Republicks, viz. Holland, Switzerland, Geneva.

1. The United Provinces of Holland (being seven in number) are under a Democratical Government, or (as it were) they are several Common-wealths; but all joining together do make up one the most considerable in the World, govern'd by the Assembly of the States General, who do ordinarily meet at the Hague; for thither each Province sends its Deputies, where they compose three Colledges or Assemblies; viz. The States General, the Council of State, and the Chamber of Accompts. In the Assembly of the States General, it behoves all the Provinces to give their consent in general and particular to the resolutions there taken, there being no such thing among them as plurality of Voices. Gelders taketh place first, as being the eldest, and because her Plenipotentiaries first propos'd the Union. In their Assemblies all the seven Provinces have still given their Votes in this order following, Gelders and Zelam first, then Holland, thirdly Zeland, fourthly Utrecht, fifthly Frisland, sixthly, Over-Iffel, and lastly Groningen.

2. Switzerland is under a Popular Government. Its a large Commonwealth made up of many little ones. The body of their State consisteth of three distinct parts, viz. The Switzers themselves distributed into thirteen Cantons. Secondly, Those States confederate with them for their common Liberty and Protection. And Thirdly, The Prefectures that are subject to them, whether by Gift, Purchase or Chance. The body of the Cantons is governed by each Canton, having its particular Magistrate chosen by the Plebeians; by whom (with a standing Council chosen out of the People, which assisteth him) all particular Controversies of the Canton are heard and determined. But when any publick Cause doth occur (which relate to all the Cantons) then each of them doth send its Commissioner to the General Diet, where every Canton hath one Vote, and matters are determined by the Major part. The chief of the Confederate States (besides Geneva) are the Grisons, an adjacent Commonwealth [chief Town Coire] govern'd in like manner as the Switzers. The chief of the Pretectures of the Switzers are those Countries and Cities of Baden and Sargans, with many other Towns and Valleys, situated high unto or among the Alpes.

3. Geneva being a free Republick, is govern'd by its own Magistrates, and is in Confederacy with the Cantons of Switzerland. This State is principally directed by the Civil or Imperial Laws, the Judge whereof is called the Lieutenant Criminal, before whom all Causes are tryed, and from whom there lyeth no Appeal, unless it be unto the Council of Two Hundred, whom they call the Great Council. Out of this Council, there is chosen another lesser of Twenty five, and out of them four principal Officers, whom they call the Syndicks who have the sole management of the Commonwealth, except it be in some great matter, as making of Peace or War, offensive or defensive Leagues, hearing Appeals, and such like general concerns, which the Great Council of Two Hundred must determine.

Religion. The Inhabitants of this Country are mighty various in point of Religion. Here we find Jews intermixt with Christians, and these divided into Papists and Protestants, the latter also divided into Lutherans and Calvinists, &c. But more particularly, the Roman Catholick Religion doth in a special manner spread it self over the Duchies of Austria and Bavaria, with the Kingdom of Bohemia, as also the D. of Cleves and Juliers. The Doctrine of Luther doth chiefly flourish in Franconia, the two Saxones, the lower Palatinate of the Rhine, and the Landgrave of the greatest part of these Countries there are found Paintermixt, all Religions being tolerated in several Towns for Tradings sake, as particularly at Amsterdam. The Christian Faith (according to Dionysius Bishop of Tyre) was planted here by S. Thomas Surnamed Didymus, one of the Twelve: but that Author being of very small esteem, it's thought generally best to say with the Magdeburgians that too at different times) the various parts of that great body receiv'd the Preaching of the blessed Gospel.

Concerning Poland.

THE Air of this Country is of a different Nature, Airs
according to the nature and situation of the different parts of that Kingdom, for in the Provinces towards the North-West, it's very cold, yet very pure and wholesome; but towards the North-East parts, particularly Lithuania, it's not only cold, but also very gross and unwholesome, which chiefly ariseth from the vast number of Lakes in that part of the Country, whose standing waters send up infectious Vapours, which being intermixt with the Air, do easily corrupt the whole mass thereof.

The nature of the Air still having a great influence on Soils
the Ground lying under it; the North-West Provinces of this Country are abundantly fertile, affording all sorts of Grain and Fruits in so great measure, that they cannot only furnish themselves, but also transport some quantity of them to other Countries. In the middle part of this Kingdom are some Mountains, and those well stor'd with rich Mines of Silver, Copper, Iron, and Lead.

The Provinces towards the North and North-East are very barren in Fruits and Corn, but very full of Woods, Lakes and Rivers.

Commodities. The chief Commodities of this Country are Wax, Linnen, Boards, Masts for Ships, Birch, rich Furs, Salt, Amber, Potashes, Soap, Corn, Milk, Butter, Cheese, Rozin, &c.

Manners. The Polanders are generally handſom, tall, well proportioned, good Souldiers, and ſpeak Latin very fluently : The Gentry are more prodigal than liberal, coſtly in their Apparel, delicious in their Diet, and extravagant for their exceſs in Drinking. The Peaſants are no better than meer Slaves to their riotous and tyrannical Landlords. The abſolute power, and ill uſages of the Nobles towards the Commonality, and feuds one with another, was the great cauſe of the revolt of the Coffacks, and produced many lamentable diſorders in that Kingdom.

Government. The large body of Poland is govern'd by its own King who is Elective, and that by the Clergy and Nobility alone, the Commons having no hand in it. His Government is termed Monarchical, but (if rightly conſidered) it's rather a real Ariſtocracy, the Nobility in their Elections having ſo limited the Kings Power, that without their Conſent in Council, he may neither make War, nor treat of Peace, nor do any thing of importance, that concerns the Publick.

Religion. The Inhabitants of this Country are for the moſt part Roman Catholicks, yec (all Religions being tolerated) there are many of the Greek Church, as alſo Lutherans, Calviniſts, Jews, Quakers, &c. and toward the Northmoſt parts, particularly in Sanogitia, there are found ſeveral who are as yet mere Heathens, worſhipping the Sun and Moon. The Chriſtian Faith was planted in Poland at ſeveral times, and by ſeveral perſons. In Poland properly ſo call'd, Chriſtianity was firſt eſtabliſht in the time of their Prince Micciſlans Son of Memomiſtus, A. D. 563. In Litoria by the preaching of one Minarcius,

SECT. VI.

Concerning Spain.

THE Air of this Country is very clear and calm, Air being seldom obscur'd with Mists or Vapours, and in the Summer time extremely hot, it being both dangerous and inconvenient for the Inhabitants to stir abroad about Noon in the Months of May, June, July and August, because of the violent and scorching heat of the Sun beams.

The Soil of this Country (where it is fertile) yields Sol not to any part of Europe for Delights, Pleasures and Commodities, especially Fruits, which are here in greater ripeness and perfection than in other places; but in many parts it is either over-grown with Woods, cumbered with wild and rocky Mountains, or of so hot a Nature, and so Sandy and chaly, that it is not very fit for Tillage, and so deficient in Water, as not good for Pasturage. But these outward disadvantages last mentioned are fully recompented by some Commodities within, namely the great plenty of Silver, Steel, and Iron Mines, where with these Mountains abound.

The chief Commodities of this Country are Wines, Commodi Oils, Sugar, Metals, Rice, Silk, Liquorish, Honey, Flax, tiss, Saffron, Anniseed, Raisins, Almonds, Oranges, Lemons, Cork, Soap, Anchovies, Sumach, Wood, Lamb-skins, and Tobacco, &c.

The

Manners. The Spaniards are of a swarthy complexion, black hair, and of good proportion, stately in all their actions, of a majestic gait and deportment, grave and serious in their carriage: In offices of Piety very devout, not to say superstitious; obedient and faithful to their King; patient in adversity; not prone to alter their Resolutions nor Apparel; in War too deliberate; Art they esteem dishonourable; much addicted to Women, and by Nature extremely proud.

Government. Spain is govern'd by its own King, whose Government is Monarchical and Crown Hereditary. This great body of old was divided into many Kingdoms, but now all under one Monarch, who possesseth many and vast Dominions, but more Titles, in particular, that of the Catholic King.

Religion. The Inhabitants of this Country are very punctual followers of the Church of Rome, and that in her greatest Errors and Corruptions, tasing up their Religion on the Popes Authority, and therein so tenacious (or rather pernicious) that the King doth suffer none to live in Donations, who profess not the Roman Catholic Religion, all other professions being expell'd by that Ant-Christian Tyranny of the bloody Inquisition, as well devised and set up by Pedro Gonzalez de Mendoza, Archbishop of Toledo, against such converted Jews and Moslems as did return again to their superstition. but of late is hath been chiefly turn'd upon those of the Protestant Communion. The Christian Faith was first planted here (if we may believe the Old Spanish Tradition) by S. James the Apostle, within four years after the death of our Redeemer; but this Tradition (though receiv'd for a long time) is of late rejected by several Learned Men of the Church of Rome, and that upon good grounds.

What is here said of the Spaniards in respect of Air, Soil, Commodities, Manners and Religion, the like (almost in every thing) may be affirmed of the Portuguese. As for the Nature of Civil Government establish'd among them, the Kingdom of Portugal was formerly under

Spain, but (since that time) govern'd by a truly Monarchical,

SECT. VII.

Concerning Italy.

THE Air of this Country is generally pure, temperate and wholesome, except in the South-west parts thereof, that for several months in the Summer, it is scorching hot, (it being on the level of all with the Air of those parts in Spain) and like unto the same parallel) and in several places of the Land of the Church, it is ordinarily gross and unwholesome, but generly through all other parts of that Country, there is no Air more wholesome to breath in than it is.

The Soil of this Country is very fertile, and that generally every where yielding in great abundance the choicest of Corn, Wines and Fruits. Its Woods are for the most part continually green, and well stored with the best kinds of wild and tame Beasts. Its Mountains do yield several kinds of Marble, and some in Tuscany and Naples are said to afford rich Mines of Silver and Gold. Here is also great quantity of true Alabaſter and pure Marble. In short, this Country is generally esteem'd the Garden of Europe.

The chief Commodities of this Country are Wines, Corn, Rice, Silks, Velvets, Taffeties, Grains, Peas, Beans, Gold wire, Cotton, Armour, Glaſs, and such like.

The Italians are generally grave, reserved and industrious. Their Character by some is, that in all they are natural. In their Manners unpolish'd, in their Actions decent: To which may be added, That they blaspheme rather than swear, and murder a man sooner than slander him. But this being rather the fault of some, than humour of all. It's observ'd by moderate and impartial men, that (for the most part) they are obedient to their Superiours, courteous to Inferiours, equal to their Equals, and very affable to Strangers. In Apparel they are said to be very modest; in their Furniture of their Houses, sumptuous; at their Tables, neat; and in their Reputation to exceeding tender, that whosoever slandereth any one of them, if it come to the parties ears, he is sure to dye for it. In short, for civil carriage and behaviour they are inferior to none, but for their extrem strictness to their Wives (being extremely jealous of them) they exceed all Reason.

GOVERN-MENT.

The Government of Italy cannot be duly describ'd, without considering the chief Divisions of that Country, there being so many Sovereignties therein, independant on one another, and not subjected to one Head: The whole Country being divided (Page 50.) into upper, middle, and lower.

The upper part [or Lombardy] being again divided into one Principality, five Duchies, two Republicks, and one Bishoprick. That one Principality, viz. Piedmont, is under the Duke of Saxony, except those places lately taken by the French. The five Duchies, viz. those of Montferrat, Milan, Parma, Modena and Mantua, are under several Sovereigns; for Montferrat is partly under the Duke of Saxony, partly under the French King. Milan is under the King of Spain, for which he is dependant on the Emperour. Parma is mostly under its own Duke, who is dependant on the Emperour: And Mantua is mostly under its own Duke, who is feuditary to the Emperour. The two Republicks being those of Venice and Genova (of whom particularly afterwards) are govern'd by their own Senate and Magistrates. The one Bishoprick being that of Trent, is subject to the House of Austria.

The middle part being divided into the Land of the Church, the Duke of Tuscany, and the Republicks of Lucca and St. Marino. The Land of the Church, or St.

Papal Patrimony is for the most part in the hands of the Pope, and ruled by several Governours set over its particular Divisions. The Dukedom of Tuscany is for the most part under its own Duke, except the Towns of Siena (for which the Duke is Tributary to Spain) and Cortona belonging to the Spaniards. The Towns and Republicks of Lucca and St. Marino, are governed by their own Magistrate as free States. But of those afterwards.

The lower part of Italy being the Kingdom of Naples, is subject to the Spaniards (for which he is Homager to the Pope) and govern'd by his Vice-Roy there residing. Besides these there are several other Princes in Italy who are under the protection of some higher Power, viz. The Emperour, the Pope, or the King of Spain.

To the Government of Italy we may add ^(Venice.)
the four following Republicks, viz. ^(Genova.)
^(Lucca.)
^(St. Marino.)

1. Venice. This Republick is under an Aristocratical Government, being manag'd by the principal Men of the City both for Birth and Breeding, the common people having no hand in the Affairs of the State. The chief Officer in this Commonwealth is call'd their Duke (or Doge) whose Authority is a mere Chimera, and he no better than a Sovereign shadow. In all affairs both publick and private, he is still assisted by six Counsellors, without whom (at least four of them) he can do nothing, and yet they without him may conclude of any thing; yea, he is so restrained in all things to the power of the Senate, and to three Officers call'd the Capi, that he may not go out of Town without their consent, and by them is prescribed an Order in his Apparel; so that he is little better than a Prisoner at home, and a Traitor if he stir abroad; at best he may be truly call'd an honourable servant. The Senate or great Council consisteth of all the Gentlemen of Venice of above twenty five years of Age, which may amount to the number of twenty five thousand, though it seldom haith that number do assembl'd at one time. This great Council is parcel'd

into

the Duke of the Province, or only these called the Principals of the Principality of the Province, who do make up the Council of the Province, and commonly consist of the Duke, and his Councilors, who have been formerly called of the Principality. The Councilors of the Province are universal judges over all Affairs, even those of the greatest importance, were first constituted in the Council of the Province. In the Council of the Province, the Duke, and his Councilors, the Council of Ten, and all the other principal Offices, have their voice or suffrage. But the supreme Majesty of the State may be said principally to consist in the Council of Ten, with the Duke and his Councilors.

2. Genoa is under an Aristocratical Government very like to that of Venice, for its principal Magistrate hath the name of Doge, to whom there are assistant eight principal Officers, who with the Duke, are called the Signori, which in matters of the greatest concern) is subordinate to the general Council, consisting of several hundred persons, all Gentlemen of the City; they which do constitute the whole body of the Government. The State is more famous for what it doth produce, than for what it doth receive, being now on the decline of its former greatness, and the protection of the Principality of the Principality, there being beyond the Principality Territories belonging to the Duke, several Principality free, and others tributary to the Duke.

3. Genoa is under a Commonwealth (whose Territories are the Principality in company, and these very fertile and well cultivated) is under the Government of one principal Magistrate, called the Consul, changeable every year, upon the death of a certain and determined number of Citizens, whom they change every six months, and during which time they live in the Palace of the Principality. This State is under the protection of the Emperor of Germany, to whom it payeth homage.

It consisteth of about five thousand Inhabitants, who do boath of their State being a free Commonwealtb about a thousand years. The Inhabitants of Toly are of the Roman Cathelick Religion, and that partly in reference to the Pope, partly for fear of the Inquisition, and partly by being kept in gross Ignorance of the Protestant Doctrine, of which they are taught many false and monstrous things. The Christian Faith was first preached here by S. Peter, who went thither in or about the beginning of the Reign of the Emperour Claudius, as is generally testify'd by some ancient Writers of good account.

SECT. VIII.

Concerning Turkey in Europe.

THE Air of this Country is very different, accord- ing to the situation of the various parts of it, which extend themselves considerably towards all quarters, but generally its a good pleasant temperate Air, abundantly wholesom to breath in.

The many Countries comprehended under Toly in Soile Europe, are very various in their Soil, some of them being much more fertile than others, but considering the whole together, it generally yields in Corn, Wine, Oyl, Fruits and Pasturage. Amongst those Divisions of this Country (mentioned Part 1) that are situated to the South of the Drave, the Tartars are not to be found in some places full of sandy mountains, and barren ground. Transylvania (abundantly fertile) is to have a very bad and unwholesome Winter Air.

Turkey in Europe.

(because of its vicinity to the Sea) is frequently visited with cold and piercing Winds, which render the Soil in some places less productive than others.

Commodities. The chief Commodities of this Country are Metals, Sulphur, Vitriol, Wines, Oyls, Velvets, Damask, Turkey-Grograins, &c.

Manners. The Turks are generally well complexioned, of good stature, proportionably compacted, no idle talkers, no doers of things superfluous. They are hot and venerous, servile to their Prince, and zealous to their Religion. They nourish no hair upon their heads, except it be a tuft upon the top of their heads, by which they think that Mahomet will snatch them up into Paradise at the day of Judgment. They account it an opprobrious thing to uncover their heads. In their ordinary salutations they lay their hands on their bosoms, and a little incline their bodies, but accosting a person of Rank they bow almost to the ground, and kiss the hem of his Garment. As they pass in the streets, they prefer the left hand before the right, as being thereby master of his Sword with whom they walk. Walking up and down they never use, and much wonder at the walking of Christians. They are expert at their bow, and shooting is their ordinary recreation.

Government. The Government of this great body is not the same in all its parts, there being different Sovereignities to whom it belongs, particularly the Emperour of Germany, the Great Turk and Venitians. Those belonging to the Emperour and Venitians are rul'd by particular Governments set over them. Those in the hands of the Great Turk are also govern'd by Bassas and Sangiacs to whom the care of the different Provinces is immediately intrusted. But to know more exactly the true Government of that vast body in all its parts, let us particularly view every one of its Divisions (mentioned Page 55.) Therefore, 1. Hungary (reckon'd a part of Turky in Europe for methods sake) may be said now to be wholly under the Emperour. 2. Transylvania is under its own Prince or Waywode, once Tributary to the Turks, but now now under the protection of its own Prince, subject to its own Viceroy, though now in possession. 5. Little Tartary, the great Cham, with 5. Romania, 7. Bulgaria, the Turks. 9. Sclavonia, 10. Bosnia is chiefly under the Emperour, and is mostly under the Emperour, under the Venitians, Greece divided into Achaia and Morea. Macedon and Thessaly, other three, namely, partly under the Turks, last of all, to wit, Morea. To the Government of the Republick of Ragusa in Dalmatia upon the coast of the Adriatick is call'd the Republick, an hundred Senators; month, the people be bereave them of their continued) he might to their dreaded Neighbour for this end the Citizen our of their Castle, always in the night State payeth Tribute Venitians. Lastly, Greece divided into Macedonia, Albania, Thessalia, Epirus, Achaia and Morea. The first and third of these, viz. Macedon and Thessaly, are wholly under the Turks; the other three, namely, Albania, Epirus and Achaia, are partly under the Turks, partly under the Venitians; and the last of all, to wit, Morea, is now wholly under the Venitians.

To the Government of Turky in Europe we may add the Republick of Ragusi, which is a small Commonwealth in Dalmatia upon the Adriatick Gulph. Its chief Governour is call'd the Rector, he is assisted by a Council of an hundred Senators; his Government is changed every month, the people being greatly afraid that (if longer continued) he might either gradually or treacherously bereave them of their Priviledges, and to become a prey to their dreaded Neighbours the Turks and Venitians; for this end the Citizens do every day change the Governour of their Castle, who must enter into his Command always in the night time, and that blindfolded. This State payeth Tribute to the Great Turk and the Venitians. It is under the protection of the King of Spain, to whom it also payeth Tribute in the person of the Vice-Roy of Sicily.

The Inhabitants of this Country (or rather of these Regions many Countries) are of various Religions, yet chiefly reducible to these two, viz. Christianity and Mahometanism. They who profess Christianity are divided into many Members, especially those of the Greek Church, the Church of Rome, and several of the Protestant Communion: But more particularly (to run over the Divisions of that great body, as they are laid down, Page 59.) in Hungary the Roman Catholic Religion doth chiefly prevail, next to it that of the Lutherans and Calvinists, here also are several Jews. In Transylvania the Doctrine of Luther and Calvin is chiefly embraced; besides in it are some Roman Catholics, Greeks, Antitrinitarians and Anabaptists. In Valachia and Moldavia they are mostly members of the Greek Church. In Little Tauris they are (for the greatest part) zealous followers of Moslems Principles. In Romania, Bulgaria and Serbia, they are Christians after the manner of the Greek Church. In Bosnia, Scythia, Croatia and Dalmatia, the Doctrine of the Church of Rome is chiefly taught, but there are several of the Greek Church intermixt, together with many Mahometans. Lastly, in Greece the Christians are generally of the Greek Church: Here are also Jews, Mahometans, &c. and several Sects of Men, all Religions being tolerated by the Great Turk. The Christian Faith was planted in this great body at various times, and by different persons: For Hungary received the blessed Gospel about the year 1016, by the industry and preaching of Albert, Arch-Bishop of Prague, Bulgaria was fully converted to Christianity about the year 860, and Greece was watered with the blessed Gospel by the powerful preaching of S. Paul, who (Acts 16. 12.) was particularly moved by the Holy Spirit to go into Macedonia, from thence to Thessalonica, and then to Corinth, that he might spread among those People the glad Tidings of Salvation, through the means of a crucified Redeemer. Other Provinces of this vast body, whether on the South or North of the Danube, were instructed in the Christian Faith at other times, and upon other occasions. And so much for the Air, Soil, Commodities, as also the Manners, Government and Religion in all Countries of the Continent of Europe. Now followeth,

Of all those Islands the Britannick being the most considerable, we shall in the first place particularly consider them, and then take a general view of all the rest. The Britannick Islands being divided (Page 72.) into Greater and Lesser, we shall here confine our selves to the former, viz. Those of Great Britain and Ireland, comprehending three different Kingdoms, and one Principality. Our method of mentioning Countries in the former Analysis being still to begin with those situated towards the North, we shall therefore continue the aforesaid method, and in treating of the Isle of Great Britain, shall first consider the North part thereof, namely,

SCOTLAND.

The Air of this Country is generally very pure, and Air, to extraordinary wholsom to breath in, that several persons in the Northmost parts of that Kingdom, do frequently arrive to greater Ages, than are usual in other Nations of Europe.

SECT

Notwithstanding this Country is of a Climate considerable-ly Northern, yet it produceth all necessaries, and many many of the comforts of Humane Life. Its Seas are infinitely stored with most kinds of excellent Fish; its Rivers do wonderfully abound with the choicest of Salmon; its Plains do sufficiently produce most kinds of Grain, Herbs and Fruit; and many of its Mountains are not only lin'd with invaluable Mines, and the best of Coals, but also several of them are so cover'd over with numerous Flocks, that great droves of Cattle do yearly pass into the North of England.

Commodities.

The chief Commodities of this Country, are most sorts of Fish in great abundance, much Linnen Cloth and Tallow, vast numbers of Cattle and Hides, as also excellent Honey, Lead-Oar, Iron, Train Oyl, Course Cloaths, Frizes, &c.

Manners.

The Scots for the most part are an active, prudent, and religious sort of people. Many abominable Vices too common in other Countries, are not so much as speculatively known among them. They generally abhor all kinds of excess in Drinking, and effeminate delicacy in Diet, choosing rather to improve the Mind than pamper the Body. Many of them make as great advances in all parts of ingenious and solid Learning, as any Nation of Europe. And as for their singular Fidelity (although slanderously spoken of by some) its abundantly well known and experienced abroad; for an undoubted demonstration thereof is publickly given to the whole World, in that a Neighbouring Prince, and his Predecessors (for almost three hundred years) have committed the immediate care of Their Royal Persons to them, without ever having the least cause to repent, or ground of change.

GOVERNMENT.

This Kingdom hath always enjoy'd an Hereditary Limited Monarchy, though many times the immediate Heir, or next in Blood, hath been set aside, and another more remote hath mounted the Throne. Since its Union with England, both Kingdoms are under one King, who is still'd, The Monarch of Great Britain. perly Officers of State, and others of the Nobility and Gentry, whom the King pleaseth to appoint. The Officers of State are eight in number, viz. The Lord High Chancellour, the Lord High Treasurer, the Lord President of the Council, Lord Secretary of State, Lord Treasurer Deputy, Lord Register, Lord Advocate, and Lord Justice Clerk. The Administration of Justice in Civil Affairs is lodg'd in the Lords of the Session, who are fifteen in number, whereof one is President, and to those are joyn'd some Noblemen, under the name of Extraordinary Lords of Session. This Court is esteem'd one of the most august and learned Judicatories in Europe: From it there lyes no Appeal, but to the Parliament, which is now made up of the Peers, the Commissioners of Counties, and those of Free Burroughs. The Kings Person is alwayes represented in Parliament by some Nobleman, who bears the Title of Lord High Commissioner. The distribution of Justice in Criminal Matters is committed to the Court of Justice, which is composed of the Lord Justice General, the Lord Justice Clerk, and five or six other Lords of the Session, who in this Bench are called Commissioners of Justiciary. Over and above these two Supreme Courts of Justice, there are a great many subordinate Judicatories, both for Civil and Criminal Affairs, through the Kingdom, as Sheriffs-Courts, Courts of Regality, and the like.

The Inhabitants of this Country are of the true Re-Religion. formed Religion. Here the Protestant Doctrine is carefully taught in its purest splendour, and the numerous professors thereof are extraordinary sincere in their Principles, and generally do practice conformable to their professions. No Christian Society whatsoever doth excel them for their exact observation of the Sabbath day; and few can equal them for their singular strictness in punishing scandals, and severely censuring of all vicious persons (who fall under the Church Discipline) and that impartially enough, having little or no regard to the persons of Men, but prosecuting all (of what Quality soever they are) according to the nature of their offence. Here are some Papists, and a small number of Quakers. The Christian Faith (according to the best accounts) was planted in this Country about the beginning of the third century. By reason of the Dionysian persecution many Christians are said to have fled from the Continent into the Isle of Great Britain, and particularly (as an Ancient Father expressly testified) into that part of the Island, in quam Romana Arma nunquam penetravit, which (without all doubt) must be Scotland. St. Regulus, or Regulus, is said to have brought over with him the Arm, or (as some affirm) the Leg of St. Andrew the Apostle, and to have buried it in that place where now the City of St. Andrews stands. These first propagators of Christianity seem to have been a kind of Monks, who afterwards by the beneficence of the first Christian Kings of Scotland, came into the seats and possessions of the Pagan Druides (a sort of Religious Votaries to the Heathen Gods) and had their principal Residence, or rather Monasteries, in the Islands of Man and Jona, and passed under the name of Caldes.

Air.

The Air of this Country is far more mild and temperate than any part of the Continent under the same Climate. As in Summer the gentle Winds, and frequent Showers qualify all violent heats and droughts, so in Winter the Frosts do only meliorate the cultivated Soil, and the Snow keeps warm the tender Plant. In a word, here is no need of Stoves in Winter, nor Grattoes in Summer.

Soil.

This Country is blessed with a very fertile and wholesome Soil, watered abundantly with Springs and Streams, and in divers parts with great Navigable Rivers; few barren Mountains and craggy Rocks, but generally gentle pleasant Hills and fruitful Vallies, apt for Grain, Grass, and Wood. In short, the excellency of its Soil may be learn'd from those transcendent Elegies bestowed on her by Ancient and Modern Writers, who call England, The Granary of the Western World, The Seat of Ceres, &c. that her Vallies are like Eden, her Hills like Libanus, her Springs

Butter, Cheese, Beer, &c. And for some years past, they have made all sorts of Writing and Printing Paper, to as great perfection as any is made in Europe, there being a Company incorporated and confirmed by Act of Parliament for that purpose.

The English according to their Climate, are of a mild Manner temper, the Northern Saxons, and the Southern Mex- ical temper meeting in their Constitutions, renders them ingenious and active, yet solid and persevering, which nourish under a tolerable Liberty, inspires a Courage generous and lasting. For solidity of Matter, for elegancy of stile, and method in their Sermons, Comedies, Romances, as also in their Books of Divinity, Philosophy, Physick, History, and all other solid Learning, no Nation hath surpassed the English, and few e-quall'd them.

The Kingdom of England is a Famous, Antient and Govern- Hereditary Monarchy; a Monarchy that can seldom admit of any Inter-regnum, and so is free from many inconveniences, whereunto Elective Kingdoms are subject; yea, such a Monarchy (in the words of that worthy Gentleman Dr. Chamberlain, Author of The Present State of Eng- land) as that by the necessary subordinate concurrence of the Lords and Commons in the making and repealing of Statutes or Acts of Parliament, it hath the main advantages of an Aristocracy and Democracy, and yet free from the disadvantages and evils of either. In short, it's such a Monarchy (continues the aforesaid Author) as by most admirable Temperament affords very much to the Industry, Liberty and Happiness of the Subject, and reserves enough for the Majesty and Prerogative of any King, who will own his People as Subjects, not as Slaves.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of this Country are (for the most part) of the true Reformed Religion, publicly professed and carefully taught in its choicest purity. All Sects and Parties at present are tolerated; the number of Papists in this Kingdom is not very considerable. The Doctrine of the Church of England is contained in express words of the Holy Scripture in the thirty nine Articles, and the Book of Homilies. Her Worship and Discipline may be seen in the Liturgy and Book of Canons. The Christian Faith was planted in England, Tempore (ut scimus) summo Tiberii Caesaris, according to ancient Gildas afterwards Anno 180, the Christian Religion is said to have been professed in this Kingdom by publick Authority, under King Lucius, the first Christian King in the World. In general this is certain, that Christianity was propagated here in the earliest Ages of the Church.

W A L E S.

Air.

The Air of this Country is much the same as in those Counties of England, that lye in the same Latitude with it.

Soil.

This Country is generally very Mountainous, yet some of its Vallies are abundantly fertile in Corn, as also very fit for Pasturage. It hath several Mines of Lead, Oar, and Coals. It is likewise well stor'd with large Quarries of Free-stones and Mill-stones.

Commodities.

The chief Commodities of this Country, are Cattle, Butter, Cheefe, Welch-Friezes, Cottons, Bays, Herrings, Hides, Calve-Skins, Honey, Wax, and such like.

Manners.

The Welch are generally reputed to be a People very faithful and loving to one another in a strange Country, as also to Strangers in their own. The Commons (for the most part) are lookt upon as a very simple and ignorant sort of people; but their Gentry are esteem'd abundantly brave and hospita'. They are generally very choleric, being soon moved to anger, but as soon pacified.

All are tolerated; the number is not very considerable. England is contained in the thirty nine Counties. pacified. They value themselves very much upon their Pedigrees and Families.

This Principality of old was govern'd by its own King or Kings (there being sometimes one for South, and another for North-Wales) but being fully conquer'd by the English, it's now annex'd in Government with England, and the Kings eldest Son (during his Fathers Life) is call'd the Prince of Wales.

The Inhabitants of this Country (at least the most intelligent of them) are of the Reformed Religion according to the platform of the Church of England, but many of the meaner sort are grossly ignorant in all Religious matters. The Christian Faith is said to have been planted among them at first in the time of King Lucius, which was towards the end of the second Century.

I R E L A N D.

The Air of this Country is almost of the same nature with the Air of those parts in Britain, which lye under the same parallel, only different in this, that in several parts of the Kingdom (by reason of its many Lakes) it's of a more gross and impure temper; for many vapours arising from the Marishes and standing water, do intermix themselves with the whole mass thereof.

The Soil of this Country is abundantly fertile, but naturally fitter for Grais and Pasturage, than it is for Tillage; as may be seen in such places where the Industry of Man is aiding to the Natural goodness of the Soil; but where that is wanting, the Country is either overgrown with Woods, or incumbred with vast Boggs and unwholsom Marishes, yielding neither profit nor pleasure to the Inhabitants. It's remarkable of this Island, that it fostereth no venomous Serpent, and that no such will live there, though brought from other places.

The Iris by Natural constitution are generally strong and nimble of Body, haughty of Spirit; careless of their Lives, patient in Cold and Hunger, implacable in Enmity, constant in Love, light of Relief, greedy of Glory; and in a word if they are bad, you shall no where find worse; if they be good, you shall hardly meet with better.

ernment.

The Government of this Country is by one Supream Officer, who is commonly term'd the Lord Lieutenant, or Lord Deputy of Ireland: no Vice-Roy in Europe hath greater Power than he, nor cometh nearer the Majesty of a King in his Train and State. For his assistance he hath a Privy Council attending on him. As for the Laws of this Kingdom (which are the standing Rule of all Civil Government) they owe their beginning and original to the English Parliament and Council, and must first pass the Great Seal of England. In the absence of the Lieutenant, the Supream Power is lodged in Lords Justices, who have the same Power with a Lieutenant, but only that they cannot hold a Parliament.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of this Country are partly Protestants, partly Papists. The best civilized parts of the Kingdom are Retorned according to the platform of the Church of England. The Old Iris (and many of the better sort of the Nation also) either adhere unto the Pope, or their own superstitious fancies, as in former times. The Christian Faith was first preached among them by St. Patrick (Anno 435.) affirmed to be the Nephew of St. Martin of Tours.

Having thus particularly considered the Islands of Great Britain and Ireland; we come in the next place (according to our proposed method) to take a transient view of the rest of the European Islands, whether situated on the North, West or South of Europe: In doing whereof, it may here suffice to consider in general, that the Nature of the Air and Soil of these numerous Islands, is exceeding various, according to the various Climates in which they lie (they being strangely dispersed through the South and Northern Seas) as also, that the Inhabitants of those Islands are for the most part the same in Manners and Religion with those People in the Continent to whom they belong (they being frequently inhabited by some of them); it therefore chiefly concerns us to know or nominate those Sovereignties and States in the Continent, who do actually possess those Islands at present. Therefore,

The European Islands being situated on the North, West, South of Europe.

1. Those on the North being the Scandinavian, viz. The Swedish, Danish and Norwegian (particularly mentioned Page 71, and there set down according to the different Kingdoms they belong unto) are subject to the Crowns of Sweden and Denmark. The seven first in order, viz. Rugia, Bornholm, &c. belong to Swede, and all the rest to Denmark.

2. The Islands on the West of Europe being the Britanick Islands, And the Azoris.

The first of these, namely Island, belongeth to Denmark. The Britanick Islands being divided into Greater (already treated of) and Lesser, (particularly mentioned Page 82. and 83) are all subject to his Britanick Majesty, the King of Great Britain.

The Azoris in number nine (particularly mentioned Page 83.) belong to the Crown of Portugal.

3. The Islands lying in the Mediterranean Sea (mentioned Page 83. and 84.) are subject to various Sovereigns, but particularly as followeth;

SECT. I.

Concerning Tartary.

THE Air of this Country is very different because of its vast extent: from South to North, the Southmost parts thereof having the same Latitude with the middle Provinces of Spain, and the Northmost parts being extended beyond the Arctic Polar Circle. Air.

The North parts of this Country are extremely barren Soil being every where incumber'd with unwholsom Marishes, and uninhabited Mountains; but towards the South, the Soil is indifferently good for tillage and grazing, especially the last of these. Some parts towards the East are said to be abundantly fertile in Corn (when duly manur'd) as also in several sorts of Herbs, especially Rhabarb.

barb. This Country is generally well stor'd with Camels and Horses, especially those parts that are best inhabited, and fittest for grazing.

Commodities.

The chief Commodities of this Country are Sable, Martins, Silks, Camlets, Flax, great store of Rhubarb, Musk, Cinnamon, &c.

Manners.

The Tartars are a people of a swarthy Complexion, and middle Stature : They are said generally to have broad Faces, hollow Eyes, thin Beards, thick Lips, flat Noses, and ugly Countenances. In Behaviour they are rude and barbarous, commonly devouring the flesh of their enemies, and drinking their blood, so soon as they are in their power ; and that to express their fury and indignation against them : their ordinary food is horse-flesh, which they greedily tear and eat up like so many Ravens upon a carrion.

Government.

The vast body of Tartary is subject to several Princes, who are wholly accountable (in their Government) to one Sovereign, term'd the great Cham, whose Government is most Tyrannical, and Crown Hereditary. The Lives and Goods of his Subjects are altogether in his power, he having liberty to take away either of them when he pleaseth, without so much as giving them any reason for his so doing it. His Subjects call him the Sun and Shadow of the immortal God, and they render unto him a kind of Adoration, never speaking unto him face to face, but falling down upon their knees with their faces towards the ground. He looks upon himself as the Monarch of the whole World, and from that vain opinion, he causeth his Trumpets to sound every day after Dinner, thereby giving leave to all other Kings and Princes of the Earth to dine.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of this Country are partly Pagan, partly Mahometan, and partly Christian. Paganism doth chiefly prevail in the Northmost parts of this vast Country, they being generally gross Idolaters in those places. Towards the Southmost parts they are followers of Mahomet's Doctrine, especially since the year 1246. and towards

Jews, thought by some to be the off-spring of the Ten

Christian Religion (overgrown of late by Nestorianism) are scattered up and down several parts of that Country;
but their greatest number is to be found in Cathay it self,
and in Cambalu they are said to have a Metropolitan.
The Christian Faith was first planted in this Country (as is generally believed) by the labours of St. Andrew and St. Philip, two of the Apostles.

S E C T. II.

Concerning China.

THE Air of this Country is generally very temperate,
only towards the North, it is sometimes intolerably cold,
and that because of a great many high Mountains,
whose tops are ordinarily covered with Snow.

This Country is (for the most part) of a very rich and fertile Soil, insomuch that its Inhabitants in several places are said to have two, and sometimes three Harvests in a year. It aboundeth with Corn, Wines, and all kinds of Fruits. Here also are found many Pearls and Bezoar of great value. The Lakes and Rivers of this Country are abundantly furnish'd with Fish; its Mountains are richly lin'd with Mines of Gold and Silver. Its Plains are wonderfully good for Pasturage; and its pleasant forests are every where stor'd with all sorts of Venison.
In a word, the whole Country in general is esteem'd to be one of the best in the World.

The chief Commodities of this Country are Gold, Silver, precious Stones, Quicksilver, Porcelline Dishes, Silks, Cottons, Rhubarb, Sugar, Camphire, Civer, Musk, Ginger, China-wood, &c.

x

The

Manners.

The Chinois [a people of a swarthy Complexion, short Nosed, black Eyed, and of very thin Beards] are great lovers of Sciences, and generally esteem'd a very ingenious sort of people. They are said to have had the use of Printing long before that most useful Art was known in Europe. Their Language consisteth only of about three hundred words, but above fifty thousand letters. In writing they differ from all other Nations; for as Christians do write from the left hand to the right; the Jews from the right to the left; they make their lines from the top of the sheet down to the bottom.

Government.

This great Kingdom was formerly under its own particular King or Emperour, but of late conquered by the Tatars, to whom it is at present subject, and govern'd by a Vice-Roy, sent thither by the Great Cham, under whom [for the better governing of this vast body] are established six Sovereign Courts. The first is the Council of the State, which hath power to nominate the particular Magistrates and Judges of Provinces. The second is to receive the publick Dues and Customs to the Great Cham. The third is establish'd to take care of Temples, Priests, Sacrifices, and all things which concern Religion. The fourth hath the charge of the War, and all things relating to it. The fifth hath inspection over all publick Buildings, as Temples, Bridges and Palaces of the Princes Royal. And lastly, another Court is established to examine and decide all Causes criminal.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of this Country are all Pagans (some Jews and Mahomedans being intermixt) except those that of late are converted to Christianity by the Jesuits, at whose first coming was few or no remainders of Christianity, which at first was planted among them in former times (as is commonly believed) by St. Thomas, of some of his Disciples, according to an ancient Breviary of the Indian Churches, containing these words, *Per D. Concerns India, comprehending the Great Moguls Empire.

THE Air in the North Provinces of this great Country is of the like nature with that in the Southmost parts of Tartary, but in the two Peninsula's of India, namely, intra & extra Gangem, especially in the South-most parts, the Air is of a hotter nature, yet very temperate, considering the Northern Latitude of those Countries to be very small.

This vast Country is generally very fertile in all sorts Soil.
of Corn and Fruits, except Wheat and Vines, in which it is a little defective. It aboundeth very much with Spices of all sorts, and Civets. It furnisheth the best Medicinal Drugs, and all kinds of Metals, except Copper and Lead. It is also very famous for abundance of Camels, Apes, Serpents, Rhinoceros and Elephants. In a word, there is no Country in the World richer than this; one of its Peninsula's, viz. that of extra Gangem, in its Southmost part, now called Chersonese d' Or, was formerly esteem'd so rich, that some do think it to be the Land of Ophir, to which Solomon did send his Ships.

This great body falling Naturally into three parts, Commodities. [viz. The Great Moguls Empire, the two Peninsula's of India, intra & extra Gangem] and all those parts affording great plenty and variety of Goods for the Merchant, I shall separately set down the chief Commodities belonging to each of them. Therefore the chief Commodities of the Great Moguls Empire, are all sorts of Spices, Aloes, Musk, Rhubarb, Wormseeds, Civits, Indigo, Lacque, Borax, Ogium, Amber, Myrabolans, Sal Arago-niack, Silk, Cottons, Callicoes, Satins, Tartaries, Vil-

Commodities of Peninsula India intra Gangem, are Me-

Ginger,

Manners. The Inhabitants of this Country, viz. the Indians, (there being many Tatars, Persians and Arabians, intermixt) are generally affirm'd to be a People tall of Stature, strong of Body, and in Complexion inclining to that of the Negrois. In their Behaviour they are said to be abundantly civil, and many of them are wonderfully ingenious. They abhor fraud in their dealings, and are punctual observers of their word. The meaner sort of people go almost naked, and feed very sparingly, but those of Noble Families observe a kind of Majesty, both in their Diet, Attendants and Apparel.

Government. This vast body comprehends a great many Kingdoms, some of which are free, some subject to others, and the most of them tributary to one Sovereign, namely, the Great Mogul, whose Government is most Tyrannical, and Crown Hereditary: Both the Curtes and Persons of his Subjects are wholly at his disposal, he being Lord of all, and Heir to every Mans Estate. His Imperial Seat is ordinarily at Agra, in the Province of Agra, which lyeth about the center or middle of that great Country.

Religion. The Inhabitants of this Country are mostly Pagans. In the Great Moguls Empire, next to Paganism, the Religion of Mahomet doth prevail, it being chiefly embrac'd according to the Commentaries of Hab. Besides these, there are several Jews and some Christians, there being a toleration of all professions. In Peninsula India intra Gangem, they are for the most part strict Mahometans, especially towards the Sea-coasts; but those in the midland living among the Mountains, are gross Idolaters. In several of the Sea-Towns are found a considerable number of Jews, and many European Christians, both Protestants and Papists. In Peninsula India extra Gangem, they are Idolaters of the grossest sort, except a few that are converted to Christianity. The Natives believe Concerning Perſia.

THE Air of this Country is very temperate, eſpecially towards the North beyond the vaſt Mountain of Taurus, but in the Southmoſt parts it is ſcorching hot for ſeveral months.

The Soil of this Country is very different; for in the North parts adjacent to Tartary and the Caspian Sea, the ground is very barren, producing but little Corn, and few Fruits. But South of Taurus, the Soil is extraordinary fertile, the Country pleaſant, and plentiful of Corn, Fruits, Wines, &c. It's abundantly furniſhed with rich Mines of Gold and Silver, as alſo with all the neceſſaries, and with moſt of the comforts of Human Life.

The chief Commodities of this Country are curious Silks, Carpets, Tillus, Manufactures of Gold, Silk and Silver, Seal-skins, Goat-skins, Alabaſter, all ſorts of Metals, Myrrh, Fruits, &c.

The Perſians are a people [both of old and as yet] much given to Aſtrology, many of them making it their great buſineſs to ſearch after future events by Aſtrogical calculations: They are naturally great diſſemblers, flatterers and ſwearers, exceſſive in their luxury and expences, much accuſtomed to Tobacco and Coffee, and generally addicted to plays and pastimes. Thoſe of them who betake themſelves to Trades, prove (for the moſt part) very ingenious in making of curious Silks, Cloth of Gold, and ſuch like.

This great Country is wholly subject to one Sovereign; namely, its own Emperour, commonly stild, The Great Sapa of Persia, whose Government is truly Despotical, and Crown hereditary. The Will of the King is a Law to the people. His Subjects do in some manner adore him, and never speak of him but with the highest respect.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of this Country are for the most part exact followers of Mahomets Principles, according to the explication and commentaries made by Haly. They differ in many considerable points from the Turks, and both parties are divided into various Sects, between whom are tossed many Controversies with flaming zeal on either side. Here are some Christians who live after the Nestorian Sect, as also many Jesuits and several Jews. The Christian Religion was first planted in this Country by St. Thomas the Apostle.

Air.

THE Air of this Country is of the same nature with that of Persia, India and China, especially in those parts that lye under the same parallel. In the Northmost Provinces of this vast body the Air is very temperate, but towards the South it is so exceedingly hot that the Inhabitants could not be able to endure it, did not a refreshing Dew fall every night and qualifie the same.

Soil.

The North part of this Country is abundantly fertile in Corn, Wines and Fruits. It produceth Saffron and Cotton in wonderful quantities. It is generally well furnished with excellent Pasturage; and here are several rich Mines of Gold, Silver, Brass, Iron, Allom, &c. Some of its Mountains are reported to be well furnish'd with Mines of Gold, and upon several parts of its Coasts, they fish some excellent Pearls of great value.

The chief Commodities of this Country in its North Provinces are Raw Silks, Camlets, Cottons, Skins of several Colours, Callicoes, Tapestries, Grograins, Soap, Scammony, Opium, Wines, Fruit, Oyl, Honey, Galls, Corn, Wool, Wax, Leather, Furs, Bivers, &c. In its Southmost Provinces (viz. the three Arabia's) the chief Commodities are Gold, precious Stones, Balsam, Myrrh, abundance of Frankincense, Cassia, Cinnamon, Manna, Benjamin, and such like.

The Turks in Asia are of the like temper with those of Europe (mentioned Page &c.) Many of them are generally reported to be a very lazy sort of people, except the Arabians, who are more laborious. Several of them are exceedingly addic'ted to Robbing, Travellers being forc'd to go in numerous companies on the High-way, otherways they are sure to be attacked by them.

This great body is for the most part subject to the Govern-Grand Seignior, who governs it by nineteen Beglerbegs, or Bassa's, set over its principal Divisions, namely, six in Natozia, three in Syria, four in Turcomania, and six in Dierbeck. These Governours have under them one hundred ninety eight Sangiacks, and one hundred and two Castles.

The Inhabitants of these various Countries are mostly of the Mahometan Religion, whose professours are divided into many Sects and Parties, who frequently harass one another upon the account of difference in opinion. Some Jews are scattered up and down these spacious Countries. And in Asia the less, Syria, Palestine and Armenia, are a considerable number of Christians, (all tolerated by the Great Turk) who live under their fit to be Souldiers. They are said to have vast Memoabundantly civil in their deportments; but covetous of honour, and impatient under the least affront.

These Islands are govern'd by several petty Kings and Govern-Princes, who are all subject to one Sovereign, stild, The ment.
Emprour of Japan. His Government is altogether despo-

him, they turn their countenances down to the earth.

The Christian Religion had once got considerable footing in these Islands by the means of Jesuits, Religion.
Franciscans, Jacobins and Augustine Fryers, but all openly professing Christianity were expelled since the year 1514, and the Natives embrace the Pagan Religion, commonly adoring the Sun, Moon and Stars, and giving divine honour to wild beasts.

§. 2. The Phillipin Islands.

The Air of these Islands is very moderate, notwithstanding land the Southmost of them is not above six degrees north of the Line.

Their Soil is generally very fertile, producing in great abundance most sorts of Grain, Herbs and Fruits; they also are very fit for Pasturage, and several of them well furnish'd with rich Mines of Gold and other Metals.

Their chief Commodities are Rice, Pulse, Wax, Honey, Sugar-Canes, Gold, Cotton-Wool, &c. *Commodi-

The Natives of these Islands are valiant, and as yet Manners.
maintain their liberty in several places. They are said to be civil and honest enough in their dealings with the Christians and Europeans.

Government.

These Islands are mostly subject to the King of Spain, who still keepeth a Vice-Roy in Luconia (the biggest of them) for the better governing of all the rest; but the Natives (as aforesaid) do as yet maintain their Liberties in several places.

Religion.

Many of the Natives are converted to Christianity by the Fryers and Jesuits; others (not subject to the Spaniard) are gross Idolaters.

§. 3. The Isles des Larrons.

The Isles des Larrons (so call'd from their Inhabitants who are excessively given to Thieving) being but badly known, I shall pass on to.

§. 4. The Molucques. or Moluccoes.

Air.

These Islands being situated on either side of the Equator, the Air is extremely hot, and generally esteem'd very unwholsom.

Soil.

The Soil of these Islands is not reckon'd so fertile as that of the Phillippin, especially in Grain, but for abundance of Spices, and rich Mines of Gold, they far surpass them.

Commodities.

The chief Commodities of these Islands, are Gold, Cotton, and Spices of all sorts, especially Cinnamon, Pepper, Cloves, Ginger, Nutmegs, Mastic, Aloes, &c.

Manners.

The Natives of these Islands are by most esteem'd treacherous, inhumane and base kind of people, much given to beastly pleasures, and generally walking naked.

§. 5. The Islands of the Sound.

The Air in these Islands is extremely hot (they being situated under the same parallel with the Molucques) and in Sumatra it's mighty unwholsom, by reason of many Lakes wherewith that Island abounds.

The Soil of these Islands is generally very good, especially in Java and Sumatra, affording great plenty of Fruits and Corn, mightily abounding with the choicest of Spices, well furnish'd with various kinds of Fowl, and wonderfully stor'd with rich Mines of Gold, Tin, Iron, Sulpher, and several other Minerals.

The chief Commodities of these Islands are Gold in great quantity, most sorts of Spices, plenty of Wax and Honey, store of Silks and Cottons, some precious Stones, and the best kind of Brass.

The Natives of these Islands do considerably differ in point of Manners. Those of Borneo are generally esteem'd men of good Wits, and approved Integrity. Those of Java are very treacherous, proud, and much given to lying. And the Inhabitants of Java are affirm'd to be good Artificers, cunning Merchants, and several of them expert Mariners.

In each of these Islands are several Kings. In Borneo there are two, one Mahometan, the other Pagan. In Sumatra and Java are many Kings, some Mahometan, some Pagan. The chief of those in Sumatra is the King of Acheen, and Matran is the chief in Java. The Hollanders have establish'd several Factories in these Islands.

The Natives of these Islands who live in the middle parts, are generally gross Idolaters, but those who are high unto or upon the Coast, do profess (for the most part) the Religion of Mahomet.

Egypt was, and is still accounted as fertile a Country as any in the World; its Soil being wonderfully fatned by the yearly overflowing of Nile. It is exceeding plentiful of all sorts of Grain, and for its vast abundance of Corn in former times, it was commonly term'd, Horreum Populi Romani.

Commodities.

The chief Commodities of this Country, are Sugar, Flax, Rice, all sorts of Grains and Fruits, Linnen cloth, Salt, Balsam, Senna, Cassia, &c.

Manners.

The Egyptians now a dayes (being persons of a mean Stature, tawny Complexion, and spare of Bodies) are generally reckon'd cowards, luxurious, cruel, cunning and treacherous. They much degenerate from their Ancestors in every thing, save only an affectation of Divining, which some yet pretend to.

Government.

This Country (of old very famous both in sacred and profane History) being now a Province of the Turkish Empire, is govern'd by a Bassa, who commonly resideth at Cairo.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of this Country (namely Moors, Turks, and Arabians, besides the Natural Egyptians) are for the most part strict observers of Mahomet's Doctrine. Here also are Jews in great numbers, and likewise many Christians call'd Copti, who are Jacobites in Sect, yet not concurring with them in every point. The Christian Faith was first plant'd here by Sr. Mark, who by all is acknowledg'd to have been the first Bishop of Alexandria.

This Country (though very full of Mountains and Soil. Woods, especially towards the Mediterranean Sea) is very fertile in Corn and most kinds of Fruits. It breedeth many kinds of Beasts besides Cattle, particularly Lyons, Dragons, Leopards, many Apes, and some Elephants.

The chief Commodities of this Country, are Honey, Wax, Oyl, Sugar, Flax, Hemp, Hides, Cordevants, Commodities. Dates, Almonds, Mantles, &c.

The Barbarians are a people of a dusky colour. Their ordinary character is, that they are inconstant, crafty and unfaithful, active of body, impatient of labour, and covetous of honour. Some of them are studious in matters of their Law, and others are inclin'd to the Liberal Sciences, especially Philology and the Mathematicks. Manners.

This large Country (comprehending several Kingdoms) Government is chiefly under the Great Turk and Emperour of Morocco; some places in it are free, and several do belong to the Europeans (of which afterwards). The Kingdoms of Morocco and Fez are subject unto, and govern'd by their own Emperour, who ascribeth to himself the following Titles, namely, King of Morocco, Fez, Sus, and Taflet, Lord of Gago, Dava and Guinea, and great Xerif of Mahomet. The other Kingdoms or Provinces of this Country (mentioned Page 96.) are for the most part subject to the Great Turk, and govern'd by his particular Bassa set over them; only one of these (to wit Algiers) being a free Republick tributary to the Turk, notwithstanding some of his Bassa's are particularly ordered many times to reside in it.

The Inhabitants of this Country being Moors, Turks, Religion. and Arabian, are zealous professors of Mahomeranism, with these are several Europeans, both Christians and Jews intermixt. The Christian Faith was first planted in this Country by Evastus, one of the seventy Disciples, and S. Simon the Apostle, surnam'd Zelotes.

Guinea.

S E C T. VI.
Concerning Guinea.

THE Air of this Country is extremely hot, and Air.
very unwholesom, especially to strangers with whom it so disagreeeth, that many live but a short time after their arrival in it, they being frequently taken ill of some dangerous distemper.

The Soil is wonderfully fertile, producing the choicest Soil.
of Grains and Fruits. This Country is well stor'd with Elephants, whose Teeth bring great gain to the Inhabitants when either sold or barter'd for other Goods of those Merchants who trade with them. Here also are several inexhaustible Mines of Gold; and in many of its Rivers are found some Pearls of great value.

The chief Commodities of this Country are Gold, Commodi-
Ivory, Hides, Wax, Ambergreece, Guinea-Pepper, Red-ties.
wood, Sugar, Civet, &c.

The Natives of this Country are reported to be great Manners.
Idolaters, very superstitious, and much given to itealing. In Complexion they are of the blackest sort, and most of them walk quite naked without the least shame;
some of them are given to Trading, and understand Commerce tolerably well, but generally they are a proud, cruel, lazy and stutish kind of people.

This Country is subject to several Kings, the chief of Govern- whom is he who is ordinarily stil'd the Emperour of ment.
Guinea, to whom other Kings and Princes are subject.
Next to him is the King of Binin, who is esteem'd a powerful Prince, having several States subject and tributary to him.

The Natives of this Country are gross Idolaters, and very superstitious in observing some ancient Customs in Religion.
their Pagan Worship. Here are many Enropeans who are partly Christians, partly Mahometans.

Concerning Nubia.

Air. THE Air of this Country is every where extremely hot, it being very seldom qualified by showers of Rain.

Soil. Towards the Nile (which passeth through this Country) the Soil is abundantly fertile, producing great quantities of Grain, Herbs and Fruits. It produceth also a kind of Poyson, which is wonderfully subtil, one Grain thereof being enough to poyson ten persons; the Inhabitants are said to sell it at ten Ducats an ounce. Those parts of this Country that lye remote from the Nile, are generally very barren, being nothing else but formidable Mountains of Sand. Here are many Elephants, some Sugar-Canes, and (as several report) a few Mines of Gold.

Commodities. The chief Commodities of this Country, are Gold, Giver, Sugar, Ivory, Arms, &c.

Manners. The Nubians are said to be a fierce and courageous sort of people, much given to War, very Laborious, and exceeding Wealthy, there being establish'd a considerable Traffick between them and the Merchants of Cairo in Egypt.

Government. This Country is govern'd by its own independant King, who is said to be a very powerful Prince. One of his Predecessors call'd Cyriacus, upon information of the Christians being oppressed in Egypt, is reported to have raised one hundred thousand Horse for their relief.

Religion. The Inhabitants of this Country were once all Christians, but for want of Ministers to instruct them, are now fallen off from Christianity, and become either gross Idolaters or strict Mahometans. The Christian Religion was at first planted among them even in the days of the Holy Apostles.

S E C T. VIII.

Concerning Ethiopia.

This vast body of Ethiopia being generally considered as divided into Interior and Exterior, I shall separately treat of them both. Therefore,

§. I. Ethiopia Interior, or the Land of the Abyssins.

This Country being wholly within the Torrid Zone, Air, its Air is generally very hot, but yet in some Vallies it's extream cool and temperate, by reason of the many and vast high Mountains, which are so situated that in many places they incompart a large Plain, and thereby intercept the scorching beams of the Sun for a considerable time of the year.

The Soil of this Country is very different, for in some Soil, places adjacent to the numerous branches of the Nile, the Ground doth produce most sorts of Grain, Fruit and Herbs, in great plenty; but in those places that are Mountainous, and far remote from the Nile, nothing is to be seen but vast Deserts, sandy Mountains, and formidable Rocks. Among the many Hills of this Country, the most remarkable is that of Amava, a Hill very famous if only the tenth part of what is spoken of it were true.
This Land is also said to produce great store of Sugar-Canes, Mines of Iron, a great quantity of Flax, and plenty of Vines, but the Inhabitants either know not, or care not to make use of these things to any considerable advantage.

The chief Commodities of this Country are Gold, Me-Commodi- tals, some Gems, Corn, Cattle, Salt, Flax, Wines, Su-ties.
gar-Canes, &c.

The Inhabitants of this Country being of a tawny co-Manners.
lour, are generally esteemed an ignorant, lazy and per-fidious

fidious sort of people, nor to be credited unless they swear by the Life of their Emperour. They are reported to hate a Smith as the Devil. Several of them are said to betake themselves to a devout and religious way of living.

Government.

This spacious Territory is subject to its own Emperour, commonly term'd Prester John. This Ethiopian Monarch fancieth himself to be sprung from Solomon and Maqueda, (or Nizale according to Josephus) the Queen of the South. His Titles are very great and numerous, expressing all those Provinces by name comprehended within his Dominions; as also stiling himself, The Beloved of God, sprung from the Stock of Judah, the Son of David, the Son of Solomon, the Son of the Columne of Sion, the Son of the Seed of Jacob, the Son of the hand of Mary, the Son of Nathu after the flesh, the Son of St. Peter and Paul after the Spirit, &c. His Government is altogether despotical, his Subjects being treated as the worst of Slaves. He is so reverence'd by the greatest of them, that at his very Name they bow their bodies, and touch the ground with one of their fingers.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of this Country are mostly Christians, but very much corrupted, using many Jewish Ceremonies, and differing from other Christians in many material points. Intermixt with these are many Mahometans, as also Pagans in considerable numbers. The Christian Faith was first publish'd here by the Eunuch of Queen Candace, who was baptized by Philip the Evangelist, and one of the seven, more generally embrac'd afterwards by the preaching of S. Matthew the Apostle hereof, but not totally propagated over all this Empire till about the year 470.

nature of Air or Soil in all its parts : For in Biafara and Corgo the Air is generally extremely hot, and would be intollerable to the Inhabitants, were it not qualified in the first of these Kingdoms by daily showers of Rain, and in the other by violent Winds which frequently blow from the West Ocean. In Monomotapa and Monomangi, as also the Coasts of Cafres, the Air is much more temperate, in Zanguebar very unwholsom, in Ajan and Abex extremely hot.

The various Divisions of this great body being situated in different Climates, the Soil must of necessity be very different. Biafara is said to be less fertile than Corgo ;
the Empires of Monomotapa and Monomangi do produce abundance of Grain, and generally esteem'd very fit for Pasturage ; the other Divisions on the East of the Abyssines are for the most part very barren in all sorts of Grain, yet productive enough of some Sugar-Canes, several kinds of Fruit and Spices ; as also furnished with some considerable Gold and Silver Mines, and every where abounding with Elephants and Lyons.

The chief Commodities of all these Countries, are Gold, Silver, Ambergrece, some Pearls and Musk, Rice, Mill, Cattle, Lemons, Citrons, Ivory and Oyl. Commodi-tits.

The Inhabitants of these various Countries are generally a savage kind of people, and many of them are said to be very treacherous, especially those of Biafara, who are also much given to thieving ; those inhabiting the Cafres do live mostly in Woods and Caves in manner of wild beasts. Of all these people, the Inhabitants of Zanguebar are said to be most tractable, and those of Monomotapa are esteem'd somewhat courageous. Manners.

The various Divisions of this great body are subjected Gover-ment. to various Sovereigns ; particularly, the Kingdoms of Biafara and Corgo are govern'd by their own Kings, to whom several Princes are subject. The Empires of Monomotapa and Monomangi are govern'd by their respective Emperours to whom several Kings are tributary. Those people inhabiting the South and East Coasts of this great body

body (except those of the Casies, who know little or nothing of Government) are subject to several, as Zanzibar is govern'd by some petty Kings of its own, and many places on the Sea-Coasts are tributary to the Portuguz. The Coast of Ajan is partly under its own Kings, partly under the Turks. And lastly, the Coast of Abyss doth principally belong to the Turk.

Religion. The numerous Inhabitants of these many Countries are generally gross Idolaters, except some few on the Sea-Coasts that are converted to Christianity by the Jesuits; excepting also those who live in the Provinces belonging to the Great Turk, who are for the most part Mahometans; but every where else they either live without all sign of any Religion, or what they profess is the blackest Idolatry, many of them worshipping Stocks and Stones, and some adoring the Devil himself.

The Air of these Islands is generally reckoned very Air.
unwholom, especially in S. Jago, the biggest and chief of them all.

Their Soil is different, some being very fertile, and Soil.
others of them very barren. Main is famous for a great Lake, whose waters (by the Sun-beams) are turn'd into vast quantities of Salt, and the Ile de Fuogo is so call'd because of two burning mountains that frequently vomit out fire in a most frightful manner.

From these Islands the Portugueses transport incredible *Commodi-

(of which they make excellent Cordevants) and likewise from thence may be brought most sorts of pleasant Fruits; particularly Rice, Lemons, Citrons, Oranges,

§. 3. The Canary Islands.

Air. The Air of these Islands [inclining to heat] is generally esteem'd extraordinary wholesom.

Soil. The Soil of most of them is wonderfully fertile. In the Island Canaria they are said to have two Harvests in one Year. Tenriffe is famous for its high Pike, Laurel, and Dragon Trees, where the Canary Birds do warble their pleasant Notes. And Fero (destitute of Springs) is most remarkable for a wonderful Tree, whose top (according to the unanimous relation of the latest Geographers) being every night encompassed with a thick misty Cloud. its Leaves do drop as much Water every day, as can sufficiently serve all the Inhabitants. In short, these Islands (besides their great plenty of Grain and Fruits) are most famous for producing in great plenty the best Wine in the World.

Commodities. The chief Commodities of these Islands, are Wine, Honey, Wax, Sugar, Oad, Plantons, Dragons-blood, Canary-Birds, &c.

Manners. The Inhabitants of these Islands being the greatest part Spaniards are the same in Manners with those on the Continent. The few Natives yet remaining do mostly live in Mountains, Dens or Caves.

Thus having particularly considered the chief of the African Islands, we come (in pursuance of our proposed method) to take a general view of all the rest. These less remarkable Islands being strangely scatter'd up and down through the Ethiopick and Atlantick Oceans, do mightily differ in their Air and Soil according to the Climate they lye in, and as for the Humours and Religion of their Inhabitants, we may sufficiently learn them by naming those States or Sovereigns on the Continent to whom these Islands belong (they being generally peopled by some of them): Therefore,

SECT. I.

Concerning Nova Hispania.

Notwithstanding this Country (for the most part) Air. lyeth within the Torrid Zone, yet its Air is very temperate, and generally reckon'd very wholsom to breath in.

This Country is blessed with a very fertile Soil, producing many sorts of Grain, as Wheat, Barley, Pulse and Matze; several kinds of Fruits, as Pomegranats, Oranges, Lemons, Citrons, Malicacous, Cherries, Pears, Apples, Figs, Cocoa-nuts, and variety of Herbs, Plants and Roots. Besides all these, this Country is enrich'd with inexhaustible Mines of Gold and Silver; and so well furnish'd with excellent Pasturage, that few if any Country in the World can feed so many Cattle as it doth.

The chief Commodities of this Country, are Wool, Commodi- Cotton, Sugar, Silk, Cochineel, Feathers, Honey, Balm, ties. Amber, Salt, Tallow, Hides, Tobacco, Ginger, and divers Medicinal Druggs.

The Natives of this Country are esteem'd to be now Manners. a people civil and docile, and very faithful to those they love. Some of them are also extraordinary ingenious, especially in Painting, and making most lively Pictures, with the various colour'd Feathers of certain little Birds. Others are said to play incomparably well upon divers Musical Instruments. In short, the generality of this people is now so civiliz'd, that they live after the manner of the Spaniards, save a few, commonly residing in the Mountains, who continue as wild and savage as ever.

ment

This large Country was of old govern'd by its own Kings, called Kings of Mexico, and had long continued (so as can be conjectured) a mighty and flourishing Monarchy for many Ages, before it was invaded by the Spaniards; but being fully conquer'd by them, Anno 1521. under the valiant Ferdinando Cortez, it hath ever since remained subject to them, being govern'd by a Vice-Roy commonly residing at Mexico, and to him is intrusted the oversight of all the Governours of the various Provinces belonging to his Catholick Majesty in North-America.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of this Country are partly Christian, partly Pagan, and (as it were) a mixture of the two. The Spaniards are all rigid Catholicks, according to the strict profession of Popery in their own Country. The Natives in considerable numbers remain as yet most ignorant and gross Idolaters, and some multitudes of them are converted to Christianity according to the Doctrine of the Church of Rome, but (by our latest accounts of them) they are as yet hardly perswaded of the truth of those Doctrines taught them.

The Natives of this Country are gross Idolaters, commonly worshipping the Sun and Moon, They mightily respect their Priests (who are generally great Sorcerers) and call them by the name of Joanas.

This vast body comprehending many different Countries (particularly mentioned Page 107.) doth enjoy very different kinds of Air according to the various situation, but generally it's very pure and wholesom, agreeing indifferently well with those various Nations of Europe, who in great multitudes have gone thither, and are spread over a great part of the new found World.

Soil.

As the Air, so the Soil of this great body is very different, according to the various Climates of these numerous Countries comprehended under it. The North part of this Country lying North of the great River Canada, is not so fertile as those Countries on the South, it being very cold, and full of Woods, yet it's well stor'd with Sags, Conies, Fowl, Fish, and several considerable Commodities, particularly mentioned afterwards. most part a simple, innocent sort of people, imploying most of their time in Hunting, both Men and Women travelling in vast companies through Mountains and Woods, with Bowes and arrows searching after their prey. Those in the Northmost parts of this great body are said to be of a more savage and cruel Nature, not according to well with the Europeans as the former do.

The Natives dispersed through the various Divisions Govern- of this vast body are (for the most part) subject to particular Commanders of their own. Those people inhabiting the North parts of Canada, are divided into various Nations, who are said to be govern'd by the chief or eldest of their Families, named the Samogises. Those Natives inhabiting the South parts of the River Canada, are reported to live in several places under the Rule and Government of several Lords, commonly called their Wierous. The Europeans here planted are chiefly the English and French. Some of the North parts of Canada are now in the hands of the French, and ruled by a particular Governour residing at Quebeck. The rest and far better part of this vastly extended body does belong to the English, commonly term'd the English Empire in America, whose various Divisions (mentioned Page 107.)
are ruled by several Governours living under the protection of, and appointed by his Sacred Majesty, the King of Great Britain.

Religion.

The Inhabitants of these many Countries are (in short) either Pagans or Christians. The Natives (except a few converted to Christianity) are gross Idolaters, and live in woful ignorance. The Europeans do profess Christianity according to the different manners of the Countries they came from; the English having the Protestant Religion establish'd among them, according to the platform of the Church of England; and the French enjoying their Religion according to what they profess'd in France.

Concerning PERU.

Air. THE Air of this Country is of a very different nature, being in some places extremely hot, and in others extraordinary sharp and piercing.

Soil. This Country consisteth of many large and pleasant Vallies, and as many high and lofty Mountains. The Vallies in some places (especially towards the Sea-Coasts) are very sandy, and frequently subject to Earthquakes; in other places they are generally very fertile, and the Air extremely hot. The Mountains (particularly the Andis) are for the most part continually cold in their tops, yet exceeding fertile, and are wonderfully lin'd with most costly Mines, beyond any Country in the World. In general, this Country was esteem'd by the Spaniards the richest of all their Foreign Plantations.

Commodities. The chief Commodities of this Country are vast quantities of Gold and Silver, costly Pearls, and abundance of Cotton, Tobacco, Cochineal, Medicinal Drugs, &c.

Manners. The Natives are said to be a people very simple and grossly ignorant. Those towards the Equator are esteem'd more ingenious than the rest, but withal much given to those detestable practices of Dissimulation and Sodomy.

Government. This rich Country (by most probable conjectures) was govern'd by its Incas, or Hereditary Kings, above three hundred years before the Spaniards got any footing therein; but being fully master'd by them (Ann. 1532.) under the conduct of Pizarro, it hath ever since been accounted a part (and that a very considerable one) of the King of Spain's new Dominions in America, and is govern'd by his Vice-Roy, who ordinarily resideth at Lima. In several places the Natives as yet maintain their Liberties, and are rul'd by some particular Caciquis. The Concerning Brasil.

Air. THE Air of this Country is generally very wholesome, and notwithstanding Brasil is wholly within the Torrid Zone, yet (in the parts as yet best discovered) it is exceeding temperate, being sufficiently qualified by cool breezes of Wind which daily blow from the Sea about Noon.

Soil. The Soil of this Country (especially in those parts already discovered) is reported to be extraordinary fertile, producing in great plenty several excellent Commodities as followeth.

Commodities. The chief Commodities of this Country are Red-wood, call'd Brasil-wood (much used for Dying) in great quantities, abundance of Sugar, as also Amber, Rozin, Balm, Tobacco, Train-Oyl, Confectures, &c.

Manners. The Brasilians are reported to be generally a cruel and revengeful sort of people, yet some are more civiliz'd, and prove very ingenious. This vast body comprehending several very different Nations, the chief of them are the Toupinambous, the Marajois, the Tapuyes, &c. They are ordinarily distinguished from one another by the wearing of their Hair. They generally go quite naked, and in many places of the main Land are great multitudes of Canibals.

Government. The Brasilians being divided (as aforesaid) into many different Nations, several of them do choose certain Captains or Governours by whom they're rul'd; others wander up and down, and live without any Order or Government among them. Concerning Chili.

THE Air of this Country in the Summer time, is Air. generally as temperate as in Spain, but in the Winter the cold is so excessively piercing that both Man and Beast do perish frequently in great numbers.

The Mountainous parts of this Country are generally Soil. dry and barren, but in the large Vallies towards the Sea, the Soil is exceeding fertile, producing great plenty of Maize, Whear, and most sorts of other Grain; as also Herbs and Fruit. The Vines brought from Spain do prosper here extraordinary well. This Country aboundeth likewise in rich Mines of Gold and Silver. It's well stored with excellent Cattle, delicate Pasturage, and the choicest of Honey.

The Natives of this Country (according to the best Govern-

Thus we have briefly considered the chief of the European Plantations in the East and West Indies: We come now to the latter part of the Appendix, namely,

A Proposal for the Propagation of the Blessed Gospel in all Pagan Countries.

BY what hath been briefly said in the Third Part of this Treatise concerning the state of Religion in all Countries of the World, it may sufficiently appear in general, That the Christian Religion is of a very small extent, if exactly compared with those many and vast Countries which are wholly overspread with gross Idolaters, numerous Mahometans, and many others, who either know not, or (at least) own not the Blessed Messiah. But more particularly, this great and sad Truth doth farther appear by the following calculation, ingeniously made by some, who dividing the inhabited World into 30 parts, do find that 19 of them	} are possessed by	} Blind and gross Idolaters .

6 of them			} Jews , Turks and Saracens .
2 of them				} Those of the Greek Church .
3 of them
	} the Protestant Communion .

Thus Christianity taken in its largest Latitude, bears no greater proportion to the other grossly false Religions, than 5 to 25. This melancholly consideration doth force me to bewail the woful neglect of the best part of the Christian Church, for not being so diligent, as others are, in endeavouring to abolish Heathenish Idolatry, Idolary, and that most lamentable Ignorance, which as yet overshadoweth so great a part of the inhabited World. I am not ignorant of that commendable Society, of late established at London, (under the name of the Company for the Propagation of the blessed Gospel) and which was singularly encouraged by the famous Mr. Boyle, now deceased: I also know that their progress in such a noble design is not yet so considerable as might be wish'd, and that chiefly for a reason which I'm truly ashamed to declare, and no true Christian can read without blushing, namely, The Unchristian unconcernedness of many term'd Christians, and the less (than lukewarm) Zeal of the generality of men to be any wayes instrumental in promoting so good and so great a design. It's undoubtedly well known, that the effectual performance of such a work as this would require a far greater Stock of Money than what is already contributed by the aforesaid Company (it being now impracticable to make solemn Missions, or qualify men for them without considerable Charges) and yet such a Fond of Money might be so easily raised, that none could reasonably complain of the burden, should the following Proposal be to happily made as to meet with a due reception.

“ Did every Freeholder of the Three Kingdoms advance only
 “ for one Year the First Hundredth part of his Yearly incomes: “ Did those Merchants of this great City (who are particularly “ concern'd in our Foreign Plantations, and daily employ great “ multitude of Pagan Slaves in their Service) allow the Two “ Hundredth part of one years gain: And finally did the Clergy “ of the Three Kingdoms (whose Zeal in such a matter would “ probably transcend others) appropriate to this pious use One “ Hundredth part of their Yearly Revenues. I say, did Priest “ and People thus unanimously combine together in carrying on “ this most Christian Design; what an easie matter were it in “ a short time to raise such a Fond of Money, that the Annual “ Interest thereof might sufficiently serve to send Yearly some “ pious and able Divines into all quarters of the World. And “ since Rational Methods might be taken to have several Pagan “ Tongues taught in this our own Island; a considerable part of “ the aforesaid Money might be likewise employ'd to educate a “ competent number of young Students of Theology in these “ Foreign Languages. which number being still continued would “ serve (as a choice Nursery) to afford a constant supply of able “ men, who might Yearly go abroad; and be sufficiently qualified

Great Sirs,

Pardon this Proposal here offer'd to the serious consideration of those whom it chiefly concerns; and give me leave to declare unto you, how infinitely it would tend to the Glory of God, the good of his Church, and honour of our Nation, did we sincerely endeavour to extend the limits of our Saviours Kingdom with those of our new Dominions; and to spread the true Reformed Religion as far as the English Sails have done for Traffick. With what anxiety of Mind, and fatigue of Body, do we pierce into the remotest Countries of the World? And all to heap up a little White and Yellow Earth, or to purchase some things (call'd Precious by Man) which [abstracting Human Fancy] do differ nothing from common Pibble Stones; and yet what a supine neglect doth attend us? in doing that which would bring more honour to our Holy Religion, and prove at last more profitable to our selves, than the actual possession of all the Treasures in the Universe. What a lamentable thing is it? That those very Indians who inhabit near on the English Pole (not to mention some thousands of Negroes who slave in our Service) should still continue in most wretched Ignorance, and in stead of knowing and worshipping the true God, should as yet reverence not only Stocks and Stones, but also adore the Devil himself. O Christians, shall we covet and thirst after their Talents of Gold? and yet keep hid in a Napkin that Talent entrusted to us. Shall we greedily bereave them of their Precious Pearls? and not declare unto them the knowledge of the Pearl of Price. No! No! Let us not act as others have done in making Gold our God, and Gain the sole design of our Trading; but let us effectually improve those choice opportunities (now in our hands) for the singular Glory of our great God, and of Jesus Christ our blessed Redeemer. And let our Planters duly consider, That to extirpate Natives, is rather a transplanting than planting a new Colony; and that it's far more honourable to overcome Paganism in one, than to destroy a thousand Pagans. Each Conquest is a Conquest.
