The End of the Turk in Europe
Winston Churchill said at Dundee on Saturday great events were developing in the Dardanelles. We take it that he meant that the allies would soon be thru the straits and the Bay of Marmora, and before Constantinople. That means that the Turk, "bag and baggage," will be out of Europe and across into Asia—forever. The falling price of wheat would indicate that American speculators in Chicago and the grain buyers in Britain were convinced that the allies would soon clean up the Dardanelles, and that Russian wheat would get into the open market.

DUNDEE, Scotland, June 6.—Conscription for the British army is not necessary at the present time and probably will never be necessary. This was told Dundee audience yesterday by Winston Spencer Churchill, former first lord of the admiralty and now chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, as he to the Dardanelles, heavy losses on land and sea were to be expected, but the British and French forces there were within a few miles of victory such as this war has not seen, a victory which, when it comes, will make amends for all. The fleet employed there had been made up of a surplus of warships after all their other needs had been provided for. He added that those who supposed that Earl Kitchener had embarked on these operations without thorough consideration, were mistaken.

HEAVIEST LIST ISSUED OF BRITISH CASUALTIES
Nine Hundred Officers and Twenty Thousand Men Were Lost During Last Week.
LONDON, June 7.—3.00 a.m.—The casualty lists for the week end are the heaviest issued since the war began. They include 80 officers and 20,000 men, of whom 1,074 were killed. This brings the total of British losses during the last week to 900 officers and 20,000 men.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 6.—A treaty was last week ratified in Petrograd between Sweden and Russia, governing financial, commercial and industrial interests of the respective countries.

The War Goes Well
Everyone wants to know where Kitchener's army is. It will be heard from in due time. It is probable that it can be suddenly concentrated on the battle front. It awaits the cue from the stage manager and it will come. Something ought to happen soon. President Wilson is also waiting to come on at the proper moment, and he will do so. The Kaiser some further concern. There isn't much for the Kaiser in beating back the Russian lines—he is beating them back. But he is not advancing in France or Belgium, and that means that his western plans have failed. He can't get much stronger; the allies can and are; for they have enlisted many more men, have got into training, and are greatly increasing the production and purchase of munitions. Italy has joined in, and therefore the allies are growing stronger every day at more points. The Kaiser has seen his best day.

LONDON, June 6.—Following up their successful resistance and breaking up of a great German offensive north of Arras, the French army in this section of the battlefield inflicted a series of local reverses on the German arms today, according to the French official statement issued at Paris tonight and received here. The struggle today developed with success for the French on both sides of the Aix-Noulette-Souches road, at Neuville St. Vaast, at the Labyrinth, north of the Aisne, where two successive lines of German trenches, about two-thirds of a mile wide, were captured, and the Champagne, north of Beauvergne, where an advance was made to the mine on the heights of the Meuse.

Slow Headway Gained.
Some success was gained on both sides of the Aix-Noulette-Souches road and fresh ground captured in the wood to the east of it. Several groups of houses were captured in the northern part of Neuville St. Vaast, and the investment of a German shelter was tightened by the occupation of the passageway to it.

IRISH GUARDS NOT GAZETTED AS YET

Surprise Felt That Regiment Has Not Been Officially Noted.

DRILLING ALL WINTER

Organization and Finances in Good Shape and Uniforms Are Sure.

It was in April of last year that the idea of the Irish Guards of Toronto was laid before the department of militia, and it was then expected that early action would be taken, and the regiment formerly gazetted. The promoters of the regiment were given to understand that there would be no delay, and the plan was most favorably considered. The Duke of Connaught was also understood to be very friendly to the idea, and under these auspicious the work of organization was pushed along with zeal.

It was at once settled as fundamental that the regiment should be strictly non-sectarian. For Colonel Major Boyd Alcock, who had served in the Munster Fusiliers with distinction, and had organized a body in the South African war, was chosen.

Drilled All Winter.
The city gave the use of St. Lawrence Hall for headquarters, and drill has been carried on all winter, the final drill of the season being set for Thursday evening next. Should the regiment be gazetted drill will be resumed at once. The regular number of men is 450, but the enlistment has been half as much again, and can be indefinitely increased.

The regiment is in fine shape financially, and in its general organization. Many donations have been given and promised. Difficulties were an and named about uniforms, but the regiment will supply its own uniforms, and there is already a fine and drum band, while a band of Irish whistles is being organized. Sergeant Major Kent, surprise is felt at the delay in gazetted the regiment.

RAID ON JEWISH CLUB

Police Visit, Rendezvous Arrest Seventeen Charged With Gambling.

Four persons were injured, two of them seriously, at the corner of Bloor street and Gladstone avenue yesterday afternoon, when a five-passenger motor car, after running down a bicyclist, swerved across the roadway and crashed into a hydro electric pole.

The cyclist is William Manley, 870 Gladstone avenue, and he was removed to the Western Hospital with four broken ribs and other injuries. Percy Sheppard, 422 Montrose avenue, owner and driver of the motor car, was thrown from the machine and also had one of two ribs broken, and John and Alex. Davis, 604 Ossington avenue and 862 West Bloor street, the other two occupants of the motor car, were badly shaken up.

The motorists were all removed to their homes. Sheppard explained to the police that his view of Gladstone avenue was blocked by a rig, and when Manley drove out on Bloor street he only had time to swerve the car across the road in an attempt to avoid an accident. Manley, however, was thrown from his wheel, and it is believed the rear wheel of the motor car passed over his chest. The motorist was unable to apply the brakes before the heavy machine was brought up against the concrete pole. The car was badly damaged.

of munitions. Of late it has been noticed that the Turks are extremely sparing in the use of shells and the fact that supplies are short and the ability to manufacture them is decreasing seriously has just been shown in a rather extraordinary manner. The Turkish shells found on the battlefield have their thickness of iron casting reduced to the minimum. Their strength is being added to by the use of wood inside the shell. Another factor that is causing the Turks a great deal of trouble is the grip of our submarines on the straits and Sea of Marmora, when a submarine recently penetrated as far as Seraglio Point at Stamboul, and under the fire of those guns, together with those at Scutari on the Asiatic side, sank a German ship and leader lighter. Serious panic was caused in Constantinople and all the shores were hurriedly shelled.

POPE DECIDES TO STAY IN ROME DESPITE WAR

Special Cable to The Toronto World.
PARIS, June 6.—Austrian and German agents continue to spread reports that the Pope is seriously thinking of leaving Rome and taking refuge in Spain, where King Alfonso has offered him the Palace of the Escorial for his residence. It is certain that all the influence which Germany and Austria possess will be brought to bear to induce the Pope to leave Italy. They reckon that would predispose Roman Catholics all over the world against Italy, but Benedict XV. is too far-seeing to allow his hand to be forced. He knows that once he left Rome he might not be allowed to return. The Pope would be a blow to the prestige of papacy, from which it might never recover. It is certain, therefore, that the Pope will bow to the inevitable and submit with good grace to the temporary inconveniences to which he is being subjected. He is doing everything in his power to reduce these inconveniences to a minimum.

SPEED SAVED MEGANTIC CAPTAIN TELLS STORY

Submarine Pursued for Three Miles, But Couldn't Get Near.
QUEBEC, June 6.—The story that the steamer Megantic had been chased by German submarines at the beginning of her westbound trip was confirmed here tonight on the arrival of the vessel, by Capt. Metcalfe. The commander stated that the Megantic had been chased for three miles by the hostile submarines which had attempted to get within striking distance of the ship. The Megantic was due to the speed of the Megantic and continuous deviation from her course. He said that during the chase he had seen two or three submarines which were responded to by a number of British submarines and patrol boats.

GREAT PROSPERITY AWAITS DOMINION

Canada Enters New Era Before Long, Declares President Falconer.

DISCUSS CHURCH UNION

Presbyterian Assembly Decides to Meet in Winnipeg Next Year.

Special to The Toronto World.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 6.—Church union was under discussion at yesterday's session of the Presbyterian Assembly, but at noon when adjournment was made, it was allowed to stand over until Monday. The report on church union was presented by Rev. W. J. Clark, Montreal. The committee recommends that the basis of union, principally in view of the new conditions created by the war, be referred to a vote of presbyteries and congregations next fall, and that the result of the voting be reported by the union committee to the assembly at the meeting in June, 1916.

President Falconer, of Toronto, who had to leave the city early, was the first speaker. He said the church union must be regarded in a new light, owing to the greatly changed conditions in the world during the past ten months. Yet, they could say, as far as they could see that the cause of the war had been providential, for God had been leading them in a way they knew not and they believed that He would bless them. To whom is this Canada of ours to be committed? asked President Falconer. "Is it to be committed to the youth of the land?" "Before long," he said, "this country will enter upon a period of great prosperity. What is the meaning of a heightened material prosperity not duly guarded? Germany provides the answer. Germany's material prosperity was not directed by spiritual aims. But there is one thing that Germany has taught us, and that is heightened efficiency. In Canada there has not been efficiency and in years to come there must not be a waste of our moral and religious resources.

Conservative Forces. "The demand of the work in the future will be efficiency. We must use every effort to conserve our forces and spend them where they should be spent. When the war is over we will not have the number of young men that we had before it broke out and we will also have to conserve our resources in this respect.

"Bring your morals and your religious life as much together as possible. So that it will not be chilled by materialistic forces," said the Toronto University president.

"We have been lifted onto a high level by Dr. Falconer's address," said Dr. Clark, "and I hope we shall keep on that high level."

Dr. Clark proceeded to review the work done by the union committee for several years past.

The hour of adjournment having arrived, the discussion of the report was adjourned until Monday.

BIG SALE OF HOLSTEINS HELD AT BROCKVILLE

Prof. Barton Delivers Address on Ayrshires—Lad Injured by Cap Explosion.

Special to The Toronto World.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 6.—The Ayrshire Breeders' Association of the Brockville section assembled in large numbers at the farm of W. H. McNish, near Lyn, for a conference, at which Prof. Barton of Macdonald College, St. Anne de Bellevue, Que., delivered the principal address. While his remarks were for the most part confined to the proper breeding and handling of Ayrshire cattle, he discussed other aspects of general farming both from economic and aesthetic sides. He emphasized the need in Canada of more thoroughness in the handling of cattle, especially that pertaining to pedigree. At the subsequent sale of Holsteins, conducted by Brockville breeders, Prof. Barton was one of the heaviest buyers for the college.

Gilford Towe, 11, touched a percussion cap, and in the explosion which followed was thrown violently to the ground. He was badly cut about the face and hands and also sustained a fracture of one thumb.

Nine young women graduated as nurses from the training class of the Brockville General Hospital. They were: Charlotte H. Ross, Mrs. Mae McNell White, Elizabeth, Viola, Adie Beckett, Canton, N.Y.; Gladys H. Kilborn, Burlington, Ont.; Grace E. Billings, Lynn; Lila J. Johnston, Toronto; Lenora Ross, Dartmouth, N.S.; Mrs. Nellie Gamble, Ottawa.

The body found floating in Indian Lake, near Newboro, was identified as that of E. Kerr of Chaffey's Locks.

The death occurred here of W. J. Mackey, for almost a quarter of a century a resident of Brockville. He was born in Ottawa and was a son of the late William Mackey, a pioneer lumberman of the capital.

He came to Brockville from Arnprior, where he married Catherine Walsh. Four sons and one daughter survive.

Truce Gladier, a Brockville veteran of one hundred fights, is determined to go to the front. Altho his applications for enlistment in the first, second and third contingents have been negative because of the age limit, he is not discouraged. He now intimates his decision to pay his own way to France and enlist with the French forces. He paid his own way to South Africa, where he enlisted with Scott's Railway Guards and did great work.

T. W. Gummer, a Brockville volunteer at the front, writes home that he was injured three different times in one day. He gives the story thus: "First, a shrapnel bullet went thru my ear early in the morning. Shortly afterwards in an attack I stopped a rifle bullet in my left knee. I managed to crawl into a trench the boys had captured; then the real thing happened. The Germans had mined the trench and I went up in the 'boy ride' with nine others. We were thrown thirty feet into the air and I fractured three of my ribs."

VICTORY IN SIGHT IN DARDANELLES

Churchill Forecasts Great Success for British Arms in Stirring Speech.

SUNDAY WORLD NEWS

Italians Fifteen Kilometres Beyond Frontier on Road to Isonzo.

Winston Churchill's statement at a public meeting at Dundee, Scotland, that the Dardanelles victory will be forthcoming soon was the most cheering news given recently by a British statesman.

"The forces at the Dardanelles are within a few miles of victory such as this war has not seen," said the former first lord of the admiralty, "a victory which when it comes will make amends for all."

The further advance of the Italians army across Isonzo was reported by The Tribuna of Milan, and it was stated that the Italian artillery was sweeping the important road which is the key to Ward Pleszo and Carpetto. The use of a herd of savage bulls by Italians in the attack upon Mount Corrado resulted in being brushed aside and the surrender of the Austrians holding the position.

CORNWALL SOLDIERS PRISONERS OF KAISER

CORNWALL, June 6.—Mrs. J. A. Cameron of the South Branch has received a letter from her son, Pte. A. D. Cameron, who was reported missing. He writes: "Pte. Cameron expects to be interned until after the war. Pte. John J. Cameron, son of J. A. Cameron, also of the South Branch has written home that he is also a prisoner of war in Giessen, Germany. Both were in the battle of Langemarck.

Commencing on Monday, June 14, the C.P.R. will inaugurate a two-passenger train a day service on their Montreal-Cornwall branch instead of the present service of one train a day each way. The new service was granted as a result of a petition from local manufacturers and business men.

A. L. Killey, C.E. of Cornwall, who has been acting superintendent of the Trent Canal for some time past, has been appointed permanently to the position.

J. Ford Strickland, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Strickland, Cornwall, and a nephew of Mr. Justice Leitch of Toronto, who was recently called to the bar in Toronto, has joined the firm of Bennett & Goodwill, Peterboro.

The Co-operative Tire

That Canadian Workmen and Canadian Users Put on Top in 4 Years

This is the famous Fortified Tire—made in the big Goodyear factory at Bowmanville, Ont. Note its balance—note its matchless beauty.

It was started four years ago in a modest way. But here is a tire that skilfully fortified users against the major causes of trouble. Some soon found it out and told the many. Hence on March 1st we doubled our capacity.

For men bought in numbers last year, more than one Goodyear Made-In-Canada Tire for every car in the Dominion. And thus as users multiplied our output they cut our factory cost per tire.

Prices Reduced

So in the face of the February war tax, we announced our third great price reduction. Co-operation brought that saving largely.

And now you can buy Goodyear Fortified Tires 37 per cent lower than the prices of two years ago.

Yet in those two years we added costly defenses. They protect you against the worst attacks that a tire must meet. And Goodyears are fortified now in five separate ways—all allied for balanced construction.

Exclusive Features

Our No-Rim-Cut feature best combats rim-cutting. Millions of tires have proved that.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 7.

The Huns in Africa.

Germany's two principal African possessions seem destined to pass under British control should the war end in the way we all believe. It is certain that the Union of South Africa will never consent to a renewal of the menace presented ever since the Germans gained a footing in the southwest. From that moment all their energies were bent on preparing for the ultimate struggle with Britain when they hoped to extend their flag over the neighboring British and Dutch States. Indeed it would appear that German ambition soared to the height of expecting that all Africa would eventually pass under German rule. Had events developed as the Germans hoped and the war been confined to continental Europe France would certainly have been stripped of her African territories, would have lost her great coal and iron deposits in the districts now under enemy occupation and been reduced to the level of a second rate power.

With all their boasted efficiency the Germans have proved to be poor colonizers. What they actually did they did well looking rather to a more or less remote future than to immediate results. Vast sums of money were spent—the amount is estimated at about $40,000,000—in the effort to create a new Germany after the manner of the old. Instead of allowing full scope to free individuality and initiative they proceeded to reproduce all the machinery of bureaucracy and to impose all the minute regulations which may have been adapted to the situation in Germany in Europe, but were wholly unsuited to countries rich in natural resources but only sparsely populated. In the endeavor to make their colonies self-supporting very high taxes were imposed and with the laudable endeavor of preventing speculative exportation free development was made almost impossible.

After years of effort the white population of the German African colonies only numbered about 17,000 Germans, of whom 2,500 were white soldiers, nearly 700 white police and many of the remainder officials of various kinds. The native population, chiefly in east Africa, totaled about 14,000, 800. In southwest Africa, where cruel and brutal methods stirred up a revolt of the Hereros, the natives were reduced to less than 100,000 after a campaign that lasted for several years and cost $100,000,000. The denuded territory of native workers and the southwest Africa had the largest white population—14,816—of whom over 12,000 were farmers. Under the union rule conditions are certain to improve and the fine harbor at Walvis Bay will materially aid settlement. With east Africa also under the British flag Cecil Rhodes' dream of a Cape to Cairo railroad entirely on British territory will become a reality.

Operations in the Dardanelles.

In his speech at Dundee, Mr. Winston Churchill made it plain that highly important operations are in progress in the Gallipoli Peninsula and that he looks for a highly successful result. Although the late first lord of the admiralty has shown himself inclined to be too optimistic with regard to rapid progress under difficult and hazardous conditions, he no doubt spoke on this occasion with greater knowledge of the present situation in the Dardanelles than is yet available to the public. Hope will, however, be general that in this instance his confidence will be justified by the victory of the allied troops charged with the duty of occupying a territory of exceptional defensive strength. What has already happened makes it abundantly clear that a passage could never have been forced by the navy alone against an enemy able to take advantage of the cover so amply provided by the nature of the country.

Apart from the moral effect that would follow the fall of Constantinople, there are weighty reasons why the attack should be pushed home no matter at what cost. Russia has been seriously handicapped by lack of guns and munitions and the disparity between her troops and the well supplied German armies has tended to become greater with the lapse of time and the numerous losses in the field. To some extent the operations in the Gallipoli Peninsula have tended to assist Russia, since they have compelled the German masters of the Turks to concentrate their Turkish armies near Constantinople and to draw on Germany for heavy artillery and supplies. They have also relieved Egypt from the threat of renewed invasion and delayed the undoubted German intention to interrupt traffic thru the Suez Canal. Then again Russia has large stocks of grain available for export, and their release would not only bring down prices but enable Russia to establish credits in London against her necessary purchases.

The Dardanelles, too, afford an excellent opportunity for the utilization of the types of warship that preceded the appearance of the dreadnoughts. Although hopelessly outclassed for fighting in the open sea where high speed is essential, they are well adapted for the task presented by the Dardanelles. They are heavily armored and armed, and the vulnerable to the torpedo and the mine are not likely to be seriously crippled by shell fire from modern warships. Mr. Churchill was able to assure his audience at Dundee that the fleet employed in the Aegean Sea and the straits was composed of a surplus of warships after all other needs had been met. As Mr. H. W. Wilson remarked in the May issue of United Empire, when writing on the work of the navy in the war, "It is always sound policy to utilize your entire force against the enemy continuously and concurrently."

The Bryan Idea

Secretary Bryan has made a financial suggestion acclaimed by Wall Street as "daring" and "brilliant." It was thrown off as a mere suggestion during an after-dinner speech, but has set financiers thinking.

Just now the South American countries are anxious to borrow money and Mr. Bryan suggests that the credit of the United States be loaned them in the following way: He would have the smaller countries issue 4 per cent bonds and exchange them for United States 3 per cent bonds. They could get the money without delay on the paid their 4 per cent interest, the United States Government would be out nothing for interest and would be 1 per cent to the good. This additional 1 per cent, however, would not be retained by the United States Government for its own benefit, but so capitalized as to pay off the bonds of the smaller republics within 47 years.

Thus the United States would lose nothing and would be recompensed for its trouble and risk by closer and more cordial trade relations with the borrowing nations.

This "amortization scheme," if it can be worked out, may be developed in many directions. We might give it some thought in Canada. It might be better, perhaps, for the Dominion Government to have loaned their credit to the railway companies in that way. It may be, after normal times return, that we will find the Dominion Government aiding provinces, and even municipalities, in like manner.

Meanwhile, The New York World makes merry over the entente between Bryan and Wall Street. It recalls how Wall Street, after opposing, finally acquiesced in the federal reserve banks. It suggests that the financiers may yet come to endorse Mr. Bryan's propaganda for the guaranteeing of bank deposits and even hail the free and unlimited coming of silver as the greatest of all panaceas.

German Immigration to America

Some wild statements have been made regarding that part of the population of the United States which is of German birth or descent. Not long ago a prominent financial newspaper in New York ridiculed the prevalent notion that one-quarter is in that position, and pointed out that, according to the last census, this alleged German population, of which four-fifths were born in the United States, all sizes, men, women and children, is less than ten per cent of the United States people. "This element," he added, "seems to have decided what has been humorously called the German 'intelligence' department, very much as it was decided in expecting a revolution in Ireland, a Dutch revolt in South Africa, or a Mohammedan uprising against British rule."

This view is borne out by Dr. P. H. Bryce, chief medical officer of the Interior Department, in an address on "German Immigration and the Anglo-Saxon" read before McGill University Graduate Club of New York. Quoting from the official records, he gave the total immigrants into the United States from 1820 to 1913 inclusive, as 36,868,944, of which 8,448,773 came from Germany. Of these 2,315,568 entered before 1870; 2,094,350 between 1870-88, and 1,933,255 between 1890 and 1913. Dr. Bryce also gives corresponding figures relating to Canada, from which it appears

TREATMENT IS FAIR

So Writes Times' Correspondent, Who Visited Number of Camps.

LONDON, June 6.—The Times' correspondent describing prisoners' camps in Germany says they have a high level of health, between 10,000 and 20,000 each. Latest official information gives total number of prisoners interned as 800,000.

"Dissemination of propaganda through the empire may be necessary or desirable as a practical measure, but it is inspired by another motive by dotting camps all over the country, they are accessible to the whole civilian population and form ocular demonstrations of the success of the German army. On Sundays and holidays I saw immense numbers of people going to visit the prisoners of war. The spectacle may engender sympathy or arouse passion, but it is quite certain to give a feeling of satisfaction and security to Germans at home. To see a large number of French, Russian, Belgian, British, Indian and other prisoners safely interned behind barbed wire in the Fatherland is a gladdening sight to German eyes. More and more prisoners are to be seen at work outside the camps, on farms and in factories. The authorities evidently hope the labor problem, which must grow more difficult as the war goes on, will be solved in part by the use of prisoners.

WILSON'S NOTE WILL BE SLIGHTLY REVISED

GERMANS OVERCONFIDENT

No Secret That German Soldiers and Russian Prisoners Are Sowing Wheat on Invaded Territory

What will the harvest be when the ripe heavy russet heads of the full-grained wheat hang heavy in the August sun?

Unmindful of the ominous grinding forward of the allies the Germans are actually sowing the fields behind their lines of entrenchment, and with all the assurance of peace times that they will harvest the grain despite the grim lines wearing them backward, inch by inch, towards those fair green fields upon which many of these farming soldiers will later have the last revelle, perhaps before the grain is sown.

The British flag will not stop this side of the Rhine, nor may it stop there if wisdom dictates its further advance, for the United Kingdom on European soil today is to make the stay of the unbidden guests in France and Belgium as brief as the lavish expenditure of treasure and the courage of its battalions can accomplish.

In France and Belgium the Union Jack is held in as reverent esteem as their own national banners, for British colors backed by British courage, in which Canadians are playing a most meritorious part, stand as a bulwark between them and the monstrous foe to liberty.

LONDON, June 6.—The Daily Telegraph says: The Neuste Nachrichten, principle paper of Leipzig, has a very flamboyant article on the visit of Zeppelins to London. QUEEN ATTACKED KING OF GREECE?

Ruler Said to Be Suffering From Thrust of Paper Knife.

QUARREL OVER WAR

Queen Sophia, Sister of Kaiser, is Devoted to German Cause.

Canadian Associated Press Cable.

Paris, June 6.—The attack of pleurisy from which King Constantine of Greece is now recovering, according to a statement today by a diplomatic person of a neutral power, who has best means of knowing the truth and the accuracy of which is vouched for, is due to a tragic episode that occurred in April during a heated discussion between the king and his wife, Queen Sophia, who is a sister of Kaiser William, and who, notwithstanding her conversion to the orthodox Greek religion upon her marriage, remains passionately devoted to the policy of her imperial brother and to the cause of Germany.

A very animated conversation took place in the king's library in the evening, which developed into a violent quarrel, during which Queen Sophia, whose occasional outbursts of impetuous temper are well known to all about her, seized a sharp pointed metallic paper knife, and scarcely realizing what she was about to do, being carried away by her hot temper, plunged the paper cutter into her husband's side. The blade pierced the pleura and grazed the lower lobe of the king's lung. Queen Sophia instantly expressed keen sorrow at the consequences of her impetuosity.

The king after this episode earnestly desired that the queen return to her own family. The truth was hushed up, and the king gallantly attributed the pleurisy that set in owing to the wound to the result of influenza. This dramatic explanation of King Constantine's malady is declared to be absolutely accurate.

Abundance of Men Volun-

Winston Churchill.

Mr. Churchill said: "I do not believe it will be necessary,
and I am sure it is not necessary now.
On the contrary, the only places which will never lack volunteers are the bloody trenches in France and Flanders. No nation has at any time in history found such a spirit of sacrifice;
it is widespread, almost universal, in the masses of the people."
The question of service for home defence, to keep the fighting men abroad properly maintained, seemed to him to stand on a different footing.
"We are confronted with a foe who would without the slightest scruple extirpate every man, woman and child by any method open to him, with as little scruple as a gardener would have in smoking out a wasp's nest," said Mr. Churchill. "The whole nation must be organized and mobilized to secure a victory which will bring lasting peace."

Germans' Desperate Attacks.
Just after the French divisions operating north of Ypres had realized
further important gains, the Germans
Saturday afternoon and night and Sunday morning made a series of desperate efforts to expel the French from the positions that they had won in this part of the front by the fighting of the past month, but by this afternoon the French War Office was able to announce that the German offensive had been broken down everywhere.

The Germans opened operations
by a bombardment of the whole front from Ablain to the territory particularly at the Souchez summit. The artillery fire of the enemy was particularly violent and sustained, and was replied to with good effect by the French guns. The German infantry then attacked the French up the Lorette slope five times,
and it also attacked their opponents
in the wood situated east of the road between Aix-Noulette and Souchez.

Overwhelmed by fire,
At the point did the Germans suc-

ing them by their superiority of fire,

YOUNG EMBRO OFFICER MAY LOSE LEFT LEG

LONDON, Ont., June 6.—Lieut.
James Gordon Ross, machine gun officer of the Fifth Royal Highlanders of Montreal, who was officially reported wounded a few days ago, in a letter from Boulogne to his father at Embro, states that his left leg was completely shattered by shrapnel and that the limb will probably have to be amputated. Lieut. Ross was consulting en-

Canada Has Set
Britain Example

Spirit of Co-Operation of Industries Manifested in Making Munitions.

ARE OF BEST QUALITY
Firms Engaged on Orders Aggregating Two Hundred Million Dollars.

By a Staff Reporter.
OTTAWA, June 6.—The recent speech of Mr. Lloyd George on the necessity of utilizing to the fullest extent the industrial resources of Great Britain for the purpose of providing munitions of war has attracted attention to what has been accomplished in Canada under the direction of the government.

Shortly after the outbreak of war the minister of militia conferred with the prime minister on the subject, and as a result the "shell committee" was constituted under the chairmanship of Gen.
Bertram. The work has been steadily expanded, and its scope widened. Gen-Bertram will speak before the Canadian Manufacturers' Association on Thursday next, and will give a statement of the results up to date. Nearly 200 factories in Canada are engaged in the work of manufacturing munitions of war under the direction of the shell committee.

A splendid spirit of co-operation and mutual helpfulness on the part of all the industries engaged in the work has been manifested. The orders with which the committee has dealt aggregated at least $200,000,000. The quality of the shells and other munitions produced is second to none, and has been especially commended by the authorities of the war office.

Have Large Staff.
The headquarters of the shell committee are at Ottawa, where a very large staff is constantly engaged in the various phases of the work which devolves upon the committee in dealing with business affairs on so vast a scale. Alexander F. Riddell of Montreal has agreed to accept the duties of financial director of the committee's work, and his long experience and ability will be of great value in the management of the work.

The work of organizing the industries of Great Britain along the lines suggested in the recent speech of Mr. Lloyd George will probably be undertaken under the direction of a similar committee,
as it is freely acknowledged by the officials of the war office that the example of Canada and the work which has been so effectively performed in this country in utilizing our industrial resources for the benefit of the mother country.

the most forward trench, though we still

The result of these operations is that we have made an advance of 500

strengthening our lines."

French Did Fine Work

PARIS, June 6.—2.30 p.m.—An attack over the whole Turkish front at the Dardanelles, as a result of which the French and British troops gained considerable ground, was announced today at the war office. The statement follows:

"On June 4 the allied troops made
an attack on the whole of the front,
with the object of seizing certain points
of support of the enemy. The Turkish trenches, over a depth of 400 metres. The first French division took the first line of the enemy.

"During the operations the allied fleet gave efficacious support. The losses of the enemy were very high.
Several hundred soldiers and ten officers were made prisoners. Among the prisoners there are six German sailors.

"The artillery of the enemy has been dominated constantly during the fight by ours.

"Two Turkish counter-attacks during the night of June 4-5 were repulsed easily."

HERE'S THE BOOK THAT TELLS YOU HOW

Look it over carefully—if not satisfied return it and
get your money—
$1.50—it will save
you many times
its price in a single season—there
is no book of its kind in all this world at any price
so complete.

To Sunday World Readers
Here is a thought for the man who is tired of the city's grind and the rattle and bang of things—the man who is nearing fifty and knows that his productive years as a "salary man" are coming to an end. To lose his position might mean going away off among strangers to hide the fight with poverty and old age. But why go "away off"?
Take a ride on any of the suburban lines and see the hundreds and thousands of acres of idle land lying close in—held for speculation—not farmed
—not used for anything—and all within a half to an hour's ride of your lifetime associates. What is the matter with a few cows that you can own? Ten acres which you can lease? What is the matter with a neat bungalow and garden,
and, if necessary, a man to help you do the work? Ten cows are a living for a good-sized family and their own up-keep.
Chickens thrive where cows thrive, and what with milk, butter, eggs, chickens and garden truck—all you can use and plenty to sell—the prospect of living just outside of the din is anything but disheartening. Our book tells you just what to do about these things.

BOMB CAUSED INJURY
TO A GALT SOLDIER
Pte. John Lavender Hurl'd Thru
Air by Explosive Shell
in London.

Special to The Toronto World.
GALT, Ont., June 6.—When a bomb
dropped at his feet and exploded, Pte.
John Lavender, aged 18, of Galt, was hurled twenty feet in the air and was badly wounded. He is now a patient in one of the London hospitals, and is reported to be doing very well. This news comes in a letter from a relative in England.

Pte. Lavender was born in England
but had been in Galt three years. He enlisted with the 29th Regiment here. A brother, Charles Lavender, lives at Galt,
while his father lives in Victoria, B.C.
Another brother, Bert, was killed in action on May 16. He enlisted at Galt, but was also a former resident of Galt.

In one of the closest and hardest-fought football matches witnessed here this season,
New Dundee played the Galt City team to a tie, 1 to 1, in a league game
Saturday afternoon.

H. G. Hammond, provincial secretary of the Boy Scouts, this afternoon reviewed the Galt Scouts on the Wilket Flat-top on the Grand River. A large number of people witnessed the review, and the boys went thru their various exercises
very creditably.
