"Isobel, my dear little cousin, what is it?" said Conyers, as after one wild cry of "Basil!" Isobel clung speechlessly to him, shaken by tearful sobs. He was shaken himself by the relief, the unmistakable gladness in her voice. He was not altogether unwelcome then. "You've been too long alone. You've got scared by the cold and darkness, and this is what the Stormont folk would call an 'unco place' with a glance around the gorge, now a black pit of thundering noise. Your mother was getting anxious about you, so I thought I'd better take a look around for you. I'm afraid I started you coming so suddenly upon you, but I thought you'd hear me on the bridge, though the water does make a row, he went on, to give Isobel time to recover—an unconscious Orpheus, had he known it, who had brought his Eurydice back from the very brink of the shades. To the girl's disordered fancy she seemed already to have overstepped the boundary, and the familiar tones striking across "the voice of many waters," the sudden transition from the chill touch of Death to this warm human clasp was for the moment too bewildering.

I think, too much about in here, and always wanting to climb up and out of the valley. But the guides say there is too much fresh snow; they are caution itself, and I suppose it's better so." Isobel was saying, catching at a safe subject, when the click of a falling stone caught Basil's ear and he glanced behind. They had passed the first of the electric lamps, considerably placed on the outskirts of the village, and in the circle of a strong, blue-white light, which deepened all the shadows beyond, Ashe's tall, slight figure, the easy carriage of his handsome head, were at once recognizable. Basil paused. "Do you mean to say that that fellow has had the cheek to follow you here?" he exclaimed. "He is here, at least," said Isobel, involuntarily quickening her step a little. A sudden thought struck Conyers. Could the fellow have had anything with Isobel's extreme agitation on the bridge? There had been more than one alarm in her sudden cry. "The Stormont folk have met her—she has closed very tight—should stick."

"I know you think I'm a bit of a prejudice against Ashe," said Conyers, although a former experience had led him to leave the subject alone. "When I know—something of his—well, I hope—he hasn't—well—on today." For the moment Basil bit on no other word to express his sudden fear, and its grotesque inappropriateness to that encounter under the chapel portico forced an odd, desperate laugh from Isobel. They were passing another lamp, and Conyers looked at her in uncomfortable surprise. "Worry me—why should Mr. Ashe worry me?" she said with her head a little higher. "By the by, we needn't give him the impression that we're running away from him, deliberately eluding her pace a little. Basil must not imagine that she was afraid of the glare, whose shadow, elongated by the glaring lamp, almost touched their path. But Ashe made no effort to overtake them. He had provided "Miss Stormont" with quite sufficient food for thought, and while at first he was somewhat surprised to see her with an escort, he was by no means ill-pleased to recognize Basil Conyers. The drama on which the curtain had now been fairly rung up would be played with a fuller stage; that one all. His triumph would be the more complete since it would be witnessed by the one favored rival, the husband almost of Miss Isobel—Stormont. He could afford to let him have his brief innings now. (To be continued.)

A Minister Who Knows

Rev. Mr. Blanchard, of Clairmont, knows what he says in stating the only cure for Hay Fever is Catarrhosis. "For two months of the year for ten years I suffered. Catarrhosis cured me so perfectly that the disease has not returned. Others in my parish I know have been permanently cured by Catarrhosis which I strongly recommend for Hay Fever, Asthma and Bronchitis. $1.00 at druggists.

ANOTHER ROYAL WEDDING

Princess Victoria of England and Russian Grand Duke. COPENHAGEN, Sept. 4.—Reports of the engagement of Princess Victoria of England, and the Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, of Russia, are revived, and in responsible quarters are confirmed. The Grand Duke will accompany his mother, the Dowager Empress of Russia, on her coming Scandinavian cruise, when he will meet Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria. A number of Russian detectives have arrived here as a bodyguard to the Dowager Empress during her visit. They are quartered at a villa within the castle grounds. Their presence is due to the colony of Russian fugitives here, which has increased rapidly since 1906, and now numbers 2,000, including several adherents of the Terrorist organization.

"Let us go back to the hotel," he said hurriedly. "For once I won't object to the electric light glaring among the queer old chalets; I want light and plenty of it," turning away with a shiver from the loud water and the dim world beyond it, to which she seemed to have drawn so near. And Basil was quite inclined to follow her lead as long as he could. He was no more inclined to wear his heart upon his sleeve, or to court another rebuff than the average man; but while there was nothing of the excoimob about him, there lurked down deep in his heart, the result perhaps of old associations, the belief that Isobel was not absolutely indifferent, that somehow she still belonged to him. Nor could he rid his mind of the thought, that if it were not for her father's "morbid meddling," as he disparagingly styled it, he might even yet win love for love. But whether such a consummation of earthly desire were possible or no, Isobel would never lack help if he could give it. Something in the tone of Lady Stormont's letters struck him as unsatisfactory, and when he heard of Ashe's appearance at Caix, the natural man could stand no more. "Well, I hope they won't be in too great a hurry shutting up shop, now that I've come. There wasn't very much going on at home. One can't always be shooting, and when I heard you were coming up here I thought I'd renew my acquaintance with some of these jolly chaps," with a comprehensive nod toward the majestic peaks far up among the stars. "It's too late in the season, I know, but if the weather holds, one might do some good work yet." "I'm afraid you won't be able to start or bring a guide to go with you. My father has been trying it. He feels, like my-

Daily Fashion Hint for Times Readers.

Various models in nobby top coats for the ensuing fall and winter are already being shown, and perhaps the most attractive of these are the belmore, a garment of three-quarters length with semi-fitting back, the waistline of which is dropped about three inches below the natural waistline, giving the back of the garment a very mannish effect and one which is strikingly becoming to slender figures. These coats are seen in all sorts of novelty fabrics used in plain tailored suits and separate coats this season. The skibo serge is their novelty mixture are specially smart. Being a severely tailored garment, the sleeves are long and moderately full, the fronts double breasted and the neck having a turnover notched collar like a man's coat.

MOORS TROUNCED IN A SEVEN HOUR FIGHT

Battle in the Vicinity of Casablanca on Tuesday—Much Casualties Light.

Casablanca, Sept. 4.—Eight Frenchmen were killed and seventeen wounded in an engagement yesterday outside the camp. The dead include Major Prevost, of the first battalion of the foreign legion, and Lieut. Benizza, of the second battalion of Algerian Sharpshooters. The Moors concentrated the largest force they had yet mustered in this vicinity and returned to the attack again and again after encountering the deadly fire of the French artillery and machine guns. The enemy's losses are described as enormous. The fighting opened at 5 a. m. and lasted seven hours. Major Prevost conducted a scouting expedition, which was the actual cause of the battle, the object being to locate the enemy and prepare the way for an extensive offensive movement later. The major advanced about eight miles in a southerly direction meeting only with scattered bands of Moors which were easily dispersed. He then gave the order to return and it was when nearing the camp that his force was assailed by hordes of Moors, who were formed his men in hollow squares with the irregular Algerian cavalry in front. General Druce quickly reinforced Prevost and the engagement immediately developed into a desperate conflict, from which the Moors retreated only after their ranks had been decimated by a deadly fire which it was impossible to withstand.

NOT PLEASED WITH CHOICE

Ontario Liberals Object to Laurier Taking Graham Into Cabinet.

Toronto, Sept. 4.—There was almost a mutiny this afternoon among the Liberal stalwarts here at a meeting of the Ontario Reform Association. The trouble was over the withdrawal of Hon. George Graham from provincial politics. All had gone smoothly at the meeting until about the time for adjournment. President Mowat thought the meeting should not break up without "hearing from Archie Campbell, but Mr. Campbell refused to speak. Dr. Chamberlain, at this point, arose uninvited with a protest against the way in which the old Liberals had fought the battles of party had been thrust aside when chances of preferment came round. The remainder of his speech was drowned in the noise that followed, and President Miles, of West Toronto, gained the floor. "I say," he began, "that I think it is a disgrace for Sir Wilfrid Laurier to take away our honored leader and leave us stranded this way." But he got no further, a motion commending the selection of Mr. Graham was thrust in and carried. Among the speakers were Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, who paid a tribute to Mr. Graham as the right man in the right place. He had been chosen because he was unequalled by any other man in the province. Mr. Graham spoke briefly, promising to devote his attention particularly to Ontario, and he hoped to assist in securing a majority from the province for Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the next election. The outlook was not discouraging in provincial affairs, he said. He urged the members of the legislature to get together at the earliest possible moment and choose one of themselves as the new leader. No action was taken by the association re the selection of a leader, but it seemed to be the opinion of those present that the position will go to Hon. A. G. MacKenzie, of Owen Sound. While he declines to commit himself, it is understood that Mr. Graham views Mr. MacKenzie's probable succession to the leadership with satisfaction. A consensus of opinion seems favorable to an early calling of a caucus of members with a view to definite selection, this caucus probably to be followed by a manly provincial convention, at which the new leader will be formally introduced and assist the party in determining a strong line of policy.

FLAGS FOR RURAL SCHOOLS

Ontario Department of Education Will Purchase Canadian Ensigns.

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—In pursuance of the plan formulated some time ago by the department of education is calling for tenders for the supply of flags for the rural schools of Ontario. The ensigns are to be "Union Jacks, with the coat-of-arms of the Dominion of Canada." The offers of firms having such flags for sale will be received until Wednesday, Sept. 11. For the purchase of ensigns of this type the legislature voted an appropriation of $5,000 as a beginning. Each school will receive a flag, which must be displayed in the classroom at the discretion of the trustee. The ensigns are to be flown on high days and holidays from the flag-staff. No provisions has been made for presenting them to the urban schools. That step may be taken later.

HARRY THAW'S NEPHEW BECOMES MISSIONARY

Young Stephen Thaw Takes Up Religious Work in Syria.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 4.—Stephen Bow Thaw, nephew of Harry Kendall Thaw, has just arrived in Syria as a missionary for the Presbyterian Church. The fact that the young man has entered the missionary field came out only when letters were received from him announcing his safe arrival. He sailed three months ago just after graduation from Yale. Stephen Thaw, who is twenty-one, will be heir to one of the largest fortunes in Pittsburgh—his father, Benjamin Thaw, being immensely wealthy. The killing of Stanford White by Harry Thaw is said to have affected the young man deeply, and since that time he has taken a greater interest than ever in church affairs.

NEW DOGMAS FORCE YOUNG CLERGYMEN FROM PULPITS

CARDIFF, Sept. 4.—The Rev. R. J. Campbell appealed at Llandudno on behalf of several young ministers who had been driven from their pulpits in consequence of their acceptance of the New Theology. He wished that some means could be devised to help them, not as makers of schemes—they did not want that—but to provide a platform for the utterance of their message despite the intolerance of the churches.

FINANCIAL and COMMERCIAL

THE FIRST WEEK OF SEPTEMBER An Interesting Period, and What it Should Reveal in the Stock Market.

(New York Evening Post.) It may be said of the majority of recent years that the first week of September has suddenly lifted the curtain of obscurity and doubt from the situation, and has disclosed the realities which were destined to govern the course of the autumn markets. Last August ended, it is true, with a 12 per cent call money rate, with a 4 per cent rate on time loans, and with a $2,800,000 surplus bank reserve. But the Stock Exchange was excited and optimistic, predicting long continuance of the "Union Pacific boom." And, in fact, stocks rose again after Labor Day, but a moderate gold import was instantly met by a rise in the London bank rate, and the autumn strain on capital was in sight.

September, 1905, though not perhaps so closely traced as the first week of 1906, the week's speculation for the rise showed what the autumn's story was to be, and the fall of $8,000,000 in the surplus reserve, followed by a further $10,000,000 fall in the three succeeding weeks, pointed to the price of that speculation. Yet a reasonably high level for reserves and a low rate for money—both of them the result of the large mid-summer accumulations—were a sign of what was to come.

That the bank surplus should have been well maintained in the Labor Day week of 1905, with money easy and the market very quiet, was a forecast of the immunity which the autumn money markets were to enjoy—as much so as the rise in call loans to 8 per cent, and the same week of 1902, and to 35 shortly afterward, with two months' money at 18 per cent, prepared the mind for the rise in reserve on the 20th, and for the collapse of the unbound fabric of speculation.

One plain inference from this reminiscence is, that years when preparation for the autumn has been made in summer escaped the severe strain which was the first week of September commonly sounds the warning.

THE ISSUE OF "SCRIP DIVIDENDS" The Erie's Expedient of Last Week, and the Precedent For It.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Decision of the Erie Railway directors not to pass their 4 per cent dividends on the first and second preferred stock, but to pay it in "warrants" redeemable in 1917, and bearing 4 per cent annual interest, has come for more or less condemnation. Among bankers the expedient was criticized as incurring debt, to the extent of $1,000,000, in a market where there were strong reasons for avoiding it. The warrants have subsequently sold on the curb at 55 or 60 cents on the dollar.

The "scrip dividend" expedient is not enough, and in general has ended in disfavor and discredit. As a rule, it has been adopted under such circumstances as now exist. The Northern Pacific, on Sept. 14, 1882, pressed for a dividend by the preferred shareholders, paid a dividend of 1 1/2 per cent, in 6 per cent interest-bearing scrip, alleged to represent accumulated profits. The scrip was to run until 1888 and be then redeemed in cash. The result was, that when the date arrived, a ten-year debenture bond was offered in payment. This singular operation was never fully understood and was generally condemned. The Norfolk and Western, in 1883, suspended dividends to pay off floating debt, but gave its preferred shareholders a 3 1/2 per cent dividend in scrip. In January, 1884, it issued debenture bonds to redeem the scrip; in other words, it borrowed in the end to pay its dividend. That the expedient has unquestionably done the discredit it then incurred. It has always meant new debt.

Mr. Robert Mantell, when he comes to the Opera House on September 16, will be in five roles, all Shakespeare's and all "great," regardless of the actor who may play them. They will be King Lear, Macbeth, Shylock, Hamlet, and King Richard III. Theatregoers of St. John had a taste of this fine actor's quality in Shakespeare last year, when he filled an engagement of five nights and one afternoon in the Opera House, leaving on Saturday without acting because of the necessity of taking the Maritime express to Montreal, where he began his tour of Quebec and Ontario on September 24.

Mr. Mantell has had a magnificent success since he was last here. The newspapers of the United States have taken notice of his acting wherever he appeared; and he filled two engagements of four weeks each in New York city, and one in Chicago, one of a month in Boston, and a notable special engagement in Philadelphia. Unless his plans change, he will be in the Opera House on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, next. Sale of seats opens tomorrow.

He—Let's all three take a plunge. They—if you mean in matrimony, I go, but if you mean to take a plunge in the sea, I will not. I will not.

stand more than they think they can," he said. A few hours later Daniel Duffy, a freeman, came out of the stockpile and leaped over the side. Nobody was hurt, and the black water swallowed him up. The officers of the ship tried to keep the matter quiet, as such an affair casts a gloom over the passengers on an ocean voyage. But the ship's crew would talk and the story leaked out. Duffy was sorry when he heard that he had been brooding over it and became despondent. They threw the man overboard and he did not drive him crazy, but it was a misfortune which caused him to commit suicide.

These schools will open early in November, and will continue in session throughout the winter. The idea is that there shall be six or seven teachers in each school—men adapted to give a good technical training in lines most needed by students in their chosen business or professional business. The studies will be what are most useful to the men in whatever occupation they may be engaged, for instance, mining, iron work, plumbing, carpentry, architecture, or whatever it may be.

A moderate fee will be charged, not as much, or not at all, for the purpose of deriving a revenue for the school, but because it is considered that a man will appreciate more highly and more fully profit by something he pays for than something he gets for nothing. Whatever one gets for nothing is not apt to be so much prized as what one pays for. But the fees will not be high and they will be largely returned to those who show a determination to work. The student who goes to these local technical schools and who attends only half the lessons, or who wastes this time by neglect, will pay for his experience in the loss of his class fees, but he who works, who makes the best of the opportunities presented to him, will, under the system that it is proposed to adopt, get back all or the major part of the money paid in.

The task of selecting teachers who are properly equipped for the work of these schools is not an easy one. It is, indeed, one of the most difficult features of the organization of the whole scheme. Nevertheless, good progress is being made, and by the time the schools open in November it is believed that the Nova Scotia technical education system will in this respect be found to be satisfactory and efficient.

WHAT IS A LIBERAL? What is a Liberal? The time would seem to be opportune for a definition to which enquiring minds could be referred with some sort of finality.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, casting about him for the real article, brings the Hon. Dr. Pugsley to the surface, and holds him up to the admiring gaze of the people. But, the St. John Globe dissents. It does not discover in Dr. Pugsley those evidences of political caste which would make him a true Liberal yoke-fellow.

Note the engaging gentleness with which the whip is laid upon Dr. Pugsley over the shoulders of Mr. Robertson and Mr. Cheley. They were not opposed by the Liberals—and they became Liberals; Dr. Pugsley is not opposed by the Conservatives—and in due time he may become a Conservative.

PROMPT ACTION CALLED FOR It is stated that the citizens' harbor committee recommended the appointment of an interim commission of three—say an engineer, a member of the city council and a member of the board of trade—to assume control of the general scheme of harbor improvements, and to expend money loaned by the government for this work, pending the adoption of a plan of nationalization.

It is settled that the government will assist the city to go on with the work immediately needed, and the question to be settled is whether that work shall be controlled by the council or a commission. It is said that some aldermen, who would greatly dislike to be shorn of any authority, are strongly opposed to a commission. It is even suggested that there may be enough of them to vote down the proposition.

The commission plan of control is the more desirable. The sooner the city council can relieve itself of responsibility for the harbor the better it will be for the promotion of civic work in the other departments, which so sorely need attention. There should be no difficulty in securing three competent men to form the commission, and the work in their hands would progress with far greater rapidity and far less bungling than if it were under the control of the board of works. There is now an opportunity to place the whole scheme of harbor extension in such shape as will ensure more rapid construction of needed works. The minister of public works has declared his intention to assist, and has not only invited but urged the citizens to make it possible for him to present a bill in parliament which would practically ensure the early carrying out of projected plans long delayed. The personal feelings of a few aldermen relative to matters of petty patronage and authority must not stand in the way of the larger good.

Regarding Ontario's legislation on the question of pulpwood forests Mr. J. S. Crote writes to the Toronto Globe: "The Ontario government on January 10, 1900, upon consideration of the report of Hon. E. J. Davis, commissioner of crown lands, approved and enacted regulations prohibiting the export of pulpwood cut on lands of the crown under authority of timber license or permit, and also stipulated that pulpwood cut from crown lands under lease or permit must be manufactured in Canada. The regulations clearly specify that the word 'manufactured' shall mean 'made into merchantable pulp or paper.' The results of this legislation are just commencing to be felt in Ontario, but it will be noted that while Wisconsin goes to Quebec and strips the lands of pulpwood, Ontario cuts the spruce, grinds it in Canadian mills, and then sells manufactured pulp to Wisconsin at the latest market quotation."

A St. John despatch to the Charlottetown Guardian, noting the fact that Father Burke and Dr. Pugsley came down from Ottawa together, says: "Father Burke urged upon him the merits of the tunnel scheme. The minister assured Father Burke of his hearty sympathy with the plan and promised immediate action toward bringing the matter definitely before the government. Hon. Dr. Pugsley has always been a believer that justice to the island demanded the tunnel and will undoubtedly use his best efforts to bring it about."

Strong feeling was manifested at the meeting of the Ontario Reform Association in Toronto yesterday, over the removal of the Hon. Geo. F. Graham to the apex of federal politics. The provincial opposition is left in a weakened state without its leader, and there are some who think Sir Wilfrid might have chosen a federal member for the cabinet. All this has a tendency to lessen party enthusiasm.

If Senator Borah, of Idaho, chief counsel for the state in the recent famous Haywood trial, should be convicted of conspiracy to defraud in connection with timber land entries in that state the socialists and labor men would have another taunt to fling at capital.

In an editorial on the Quebec bridge disaster the Montreal Star makes this astounding statement: "We are informed that the government had not even an engineer at the work, to safeguard its interests."

POLITICAL NOTES Says the Montreal Gazette: "The attacks on the Quebec government are multiplying in number and severity, and are evidently affecting public opinion in the province. The Baron de l'Epine business will not down, and the ministers seem to have abandoned their attempts to crush it. The signs point to a reorganization or a collapse, and if the reorganization is put off much longer there may be no alternative to collapse."

The Toronto Mail and Empire (Con.) thinks history will repeat itself in the experience of the Hon. Geo. F. Graham. We quote: "The taking of Mr. George F. Graham into the Ross cabinet in Ontario was the last card played by that administration. It was represented that Mr. Graham was a prodigy, and that in the office of provincial secretary he would do wonders. The election followed, and the end came. Now Mr. Graham enters the Ottawa cabinet under similar circumstances. The situation at Ottawa so strongly resembles that which prevailed at Toronto at the time of the great change that it is almost possible to hear the popular rejoicings which will mark the termination of the wicked regime and the elevation of Mr. Borden to the position in which he will give the people redress and relief, and the country rectitude and reform."

BEST AVAILABLE MAN. (Victoria Colonist.) Mr. William Pugsley is a gentleman of ability. He is a shrewd business man, and a lawyer of repute. He has an exceedingly pleasant manner, and the trick of giving the soft answer that turneth away wrath. He has not been hitherto distinguished for the strength of his political convictions. As a speaker he is not especially strong, although he can on occasion be forcible. He is as fluent as most public men are, but as a rule speaks with a great deal of caution. He ought to be able to administer the affairs of his department acceptably. He scarcely possesses the breadth of view which Mr. Blair had, and he can hardly have a better head for small details than Mr. Emmerson possessed, but he is tactful and full of resources. We are of the opinion that of all the available men, he is the best who could be chosen at this juncture.

WITTY JURY VERDICT. There's a lot of humor and, besides, a splendid moral for the young business man in a verdict recently rendered by a coroner's jury:

"We, the jury, find from the physician's statement that the deceased came to his death from heart failure, superinduced by business failure, which was caused by speculative failure, which was in turn the result of failure to look ahead."

FOREIGN MISSIONS

Annual Meeting of Baptist Foreign Mission Board Held Yesterday.

The annual meeting of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board of the Maritime Provinces was held yesterday in the office of the Maritime Baptist, Gormain street. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Rev. Wellington Camp, president; W. H. White, vice-president; Rev. W. V. Higgins, secretary, and Rev. Dr. W. E. McIntyre, treasurer.

The salary of the secretary was fixed at $200, and that of the treasurer at $800 a year. The meeting was well attended. Three new members—Rev. W. Alton (Sussex), Rev. J. E. Grant (Hampton), and W. Peters, who were elected at the convention, were present. Rev. Mr. Higgins and T. S. Simms were appointed a committee to introduce the scheme of a laymen's movement in foreign mission work. The object of the movement is to bring together the business men in the interest of mission work. In the United States the plan has been adopted with much success and representatives of business men are in several cases laboring in the foreign field. A committee consisting of Rev. W. Camp, Rev. D. Hutchinson and Rev. Dr. McIntyre was also appointed to take charge of men and women candidates offering for the foreign field.

WORK ON NEW WHARF Good progress is reported by Clark & Adams on the building of the four cranes for the new 600 foot berth. No. 1 crib now in position, will be sunk in a few days, and No. 2 is sufficiently advanced to be towed in position as soon as the dredging on the site is completed. The others will be brought around and built up to keep pace with the dredging on the remaining site, so that no delay may occur. The warehouse on the D. C. Clark wharf is expected to be finished by the end of this month. The difficulty experienced is that they are only able to have one crib in the slip at a time. The contractors say they are right up with the dredging and perhaps a little ahead of it.

The Ideal Laxative for Children

Mothers cannot be too careful in what they give children to move the bowels. Calomel, cascara, senna, salts, cathartic pills, castor oil, and purging mineral waters irritate the bowels—upset the stomach—and eventually lead up to chronic non-action of the bowels—Constipation. Fruit-a-lives are the finest medicine in the world for children.

What you work for is Bread.

That's sure! There are no two ways about it, the one struggle from morn till eve is bread, isn't it? But why not good bread; bread that is wholesome, pure; bread that keeps moist three days. It's easy to have—costs no more—your grocer sells it—Scotch Zest Bread. It's made and baked just that you may have better bread. Then why not ask your grocer for Scotch Zest Bread and enjoy working for bread that is bread.

NASTY CASES IN THE WESTMORLAND CIRCUIT

DORCHESTER, Sept. 4.—In the Westmorland circuit court, which opened here on Tuesday all four criminal cases are from Moncton, and are as follows: The King vs. Michael Cronin, John Weir and John Donnelly charged with theft.

The King vs. Henry Horseman, charged with unlawfully cohabiting with one Annie Leaman.

The King vs. Henry E. Berry, charged with unlawful conduct with Sarah E. Perkins, his stepdaughter.

The King vs. Ezra P. Cook, charged with furious driving.

Judge Truck is presiding and in his address to the jury on opening he referred to the fact that there were a large number of criminal cases within the past few years, but not many of a very serious nature. Two of the present cases were of such a nature as to make a man blush. He referred particularly to the cases against Henry Horseman and Henry Berry.

Speaking of the Horseman case he said that the parliament of Canada had taken the crime of adultery from the criminal code, but it still remains a criminal offense under the laws of New Brunswick. He thought that if the evidence given in the case was to be believed, the grand jury would have no difficulty in bringing in a true bill. Speaking of the Berry case he said that it was of a beastly nature.

Berry was arraigned this morning, pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence.

In the Horseman case, after a number of witnesses were examined the jury disagreed eight being for conviction and four for acquittal. He was bound over in $400 for a second trial at the January term.

A MARINER'S REQUEST

St. John, Sept. 4. Editor of The Times: Will you allow me space in your valuable paper to ask the government officials who, last spring, announced that $100,000 was to be spent on improvements to lights and fog alarms in New Brunswick, where is the fog alarm that was to be in operation in June on Cape Spencer. I am a mariner and was glad when I thought the day would come that we would have some guide to find the harbor. After contending with fog some times for two days coming down the Bay of Fundy we have no guide to the harbor in thick weather and at this time of the year we spend many an uneasy hour in the dark and fog. I noticed that some person has cut down the trees on the Cape for the site and that is all that was done. If some of the government officials had to contend with the harbor in thick weather and at Cape Spencer some dark and foggy night with a strong south west wind they would soon respond to the requests of the mariner. I remain yours truly, MASTER MARINER.

CORNELIUS RYAN BROKE HIS NECK

Halifax Stevedore Well Known Here Made a Mistep That Cost Him His Life.

(Halifax Chronicle, Sept. 4.) Missing his footing as he jumped from the barge on which he had been working, Cornelius J. Ryan, of 138 Argyle street, struck against Pickford & Black's wharf yesterday afternoon, breaking his neck and dying almost instantly.

Ryan, who has been a stevedore for thirty years, was working on one of the Dominion Coal Co.'s barges at Pickford & Black's wharf yesterday. With the other stevedores he attempted to jump ashore when work was over at six o'clock, but missed his footing and struck his chin on the edge of the wharf. He fell back into the water, and a fellow workman named Bradbury, tying a line around his waist jumped over after him.

The body had been floating on the water, but when Bradbury seized it he sank, dragging the would-be rescuer down. Some of the men on the wharf seized the line and hauled Bradbury and the body of his lifeless friend to the surface where they were picked up by a boat.

Willing hands applied first aid treatment to Ryan, but he was past all aid, and when Dr. Reid, who had been hastily summoned, arrived, he pronounced him dead. The body was taken to Undertaker Spencer's rooms where Medical Examiner Finn examined it and pronounced that death was due to dislocation of the neck. Mr. Ryan was about fifty years old. He was a native of Tipperary, Ireland, and leaves a widow and three children, John, of Halifax police force, Cornelius T., and Miss Christina.

SYDNEY MEN ARE SORE

Not Satisfied as to Wav Firemen's Tournament Sports Were Conducted—That Hose Reel Race Protest.

(Sydney Post.) Five of the local men, three from the Ward V. department, arrived home last night. One of them, Lowden, informed the Post that the events were being run off in a very loose manner. There seemed to be no judge in the affair. In the 440 hose reel race, which was won by Sydney and protested, the rope on the reel broke so that the Sydney men started to run. The starter called them back and on the ground that they should not have gone back a protest was lodged. On the run a judge examined the coupling. One of the judges yelled to him not to do this, and he stopped. When the run was finished a judge examined the coupling to see that it had not been loosened on the run, and found that it had not. The judge's examination of the coupling while Sydney was in charge.
