The attention of the Council of the Church Association having been drawn to the correspondence between tive to the removal of Capt. Sullivan from Her Majesty's ship London lately laid before Parliament, and to the speech of Mr. Ward Hunt thereo have just addressed a memorial to the First Lord of the Admiralty pointing out that Dr. Phillimore, as Dean of Arches, in his judgment in the case of Ephinstone vs. Purchas, laid it down as "unlawful to wear stoles of any kind whatsoever, whether white black, or colored, and worn in any manner." This remains the law of the land, which ought to be obeyed b every naval chaplain, as well as by lished Church of England. The Council of the Church Association therefore venture to submit that it is not open to a Minister of the Council of the Council of the Council of the Council of MRS. JOHN MALLISTER, adjoining to a Minister of the Council of the Counc to a Minister of the Crown, responsible for the discipline of one of the most important branches of Her Majesty's service, to allow naval chaplains to wear stoles in the performance of Divine worship, in defiance of the declared law of the land, and they therefore urge that measures should be at once taken to prevent unauthorized innovations in future.

This article appeared to have been caused by the fact that a petition on the subject addressed to the Italian Parliament reached the hands of his Holiness. Among the signatures it bears the names of some prelates and priests, and it prays that the election of the Pope shall be as in ancient times, by the clergy and the peo-

One day Dr. M'Kenzie, well-known in the region of Clydesdale, was dining with a large party, among whom were the Hon. Henry Erskine and other legal magnates. Toward the close of the meal a large dish of cresses was placed upon the table, and Dr. M'Kenzie, who was exceedingly fond of the esculent grass, helped himself largely; and not only so, but he are with a keen relish, it not voraciously, carrying the food to his mouth with his fingers. Mr. Erskine watched for a time, and being struck with the oddity and grossness of the proceeding, he resolved to give the clergyman a hint for the better regulation of his conduct. Said the wit: 'Dr. M'Kenzie, are you aware that you put me in mind of King Nebuchadnezzai while in his state of condemnation?'
