De. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—Four years ago while in the employ of A. P. Perley & Go., Danvers, Mass, we had a horse that become spavined during the first year of my stay with them, and remained so for four years, although we used every remedy we knew of or could hear of but of no avail. Some time during the fifth year, (for I was in their employ between five and six years), we were recommended to try Kendall's Spavin Cure, and after using it two menths, the Horse was cured, the enlargement being entirely removed, and thus believing it to be a valuable medicine I fully recommend it to all who have occasion to use it.

Respectfully. Respectfully, P. H. LYONS.

Nervous Headache, Neuralgia AND SCIATICA.

Is one of the best preparations now before the public for the cure of those distressing compilaints that have bailed the skill of physicians for ages past. It is perfectly safe and reliable, being prepared from the prescription of a surgeon in the British army, who compounded it for the cure of those Nervous Diseases existing in the regiment to which he was attached, and by this Remedy he was enabled to effect a positive cure in every case. Wherever it has been used according to directions, it has never faited to produce the most satisfactory results. It has but recently been introduced into this country, but during the last two years it has been used here, its cures of the above diseases have numbered more than that effected by all ther remedies combined; it has cured cases of rom one to twenty years standing, as can be conched for by the testimony of most reliable lishiterested parties.

Frank Siddell's Soap

USE winter or summer, but don't scald or boil any of your clothing, no matter how dirty or stained. Brightens colored goods. Goes farther than other soen, and cheaper for a poor family for scrubbing and washing dishes. Softens woolen goods. A large wash done in a couple of hours. No clothes mending. No finger rubbed size. The saving in fuel alone more than pays for the soap. Clean, sweet, and white clothes without boiling or scalding. Just think. No heavy wash boiler to lift about. No steam to spoil wall paper or furniture. No nasty, flithy small in the house,

Where water is soarce, or has to be carried far, remember that the Frank Siddall's way of washing only takes a few buckets of water for a large wash.

This is no humbug, but a reliable article. Try it and you will use no other kind. GEO. HATT & SONS.

August 8 AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trified with by the majority of suffer-ers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

d A Terrible Cough Cured. 4 In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now & years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

Croup. - A Mother's Tribute Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYBR'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitudic? Sincerely yours, 159 West 1281 St., New York, May 16, 1882. "I have used AVER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried.

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1682. "I suffered for eight yer's from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no suc-cess, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHER-RY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN." Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung tombles. Patestine, Texas, April 22, 1822. No case of an affection of the throat of lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AVER'S CHERRY PECTORAL and it will always cure when the discase is not already beyond the control of medicine.

These Shifting Tops have no rival, as a glance at the cut will show for itself; it is so simple, It requires only one person to take it off or put it on, and when off no one would think a Top had been on, as no unsightly ends are sticking out. When the Top is on it is as firm as a rock, it can be put on any carriage in use. Persons ordering Buggies or Canopy Top Carriages should see that they have this Rail, as it will be greatly to their interest.

IN THE STUDIO.

In the word was spoken so softly and shily that it passed unheard. Daisy Lester raised her eyes and peered round the coffice urn, thereby elongating and distorting her pretty reflection in its well-polished surface, until it appeared to consist chiefly of one great, staring eye, the other features being insignificantly small.

Her husband was so deeply interested in the morning paper that he was quite unconscious of her scrutiny.

"Justin, dear," she said, a little louder, "H'm?"

As he did not look up, this inarticulate murmur failed to express any interest in what she might have to say.

"Is that model of yours coming today?" she asked, with the colour slightly showing in her white forehead.

"H'm?"

"Do you expect the model to-day?"

No reply. "Will she stay long, dear?"

"Him," he said, affirmatively, with a slight not in the direction of the paper "Will abe stay long, dear?"

When her maid was gone, Daisy sat down and sighed once more.

"The prettiest woman he had ever painted, he called her. And she has such a 'sweet expression.' And I am 'too short!' I wonder what he married a short girl for, if he wants to paint tall ones. I could have stood on something!
No, it isn't because I shouldn't do. He likes having her, I know he does. Well, the picture will be finished soon, and then she'll be done with. I suppose he doesn't think I should look well in a Gainsborough hat and long cloak."

She fetched some water and refreshed

"How dare—no, no' I won't be angry! but, Daisy, look at me. Have I ever given you any reason to think so basely of me!"

"No, Justin," she owned.

"Well, what you did see I can't think. I message to say she was ill, and she has not been since. Why, can it be possible, look here!"

He started up and threw back a screen trevealing a lay figure, life size, dressed in the costume of the lady in his picture.

She fetched some water and refreshed the plants that bloomed in the window, though with a melancholy and resigned air, like a much illused woman resolved to bear her wrongs with patience. After that there were so many little house keeping duties to fulfil, that, by degrees, her fancied griefs were forgotten,

She rang the bell for Jones to clear away the breakfast things, after a few minutes of gloomy reflection.

"It wasn't the muddle, after all, ma'am Master sent her off again. She wanted subscriptions for something. And this one always goes to the studio door, I remember now—Ain't you well this morning, ma'am?"

"Quite, thank you, Jones," said her mistress, almost severely, not liking her ift of depression to attract attention.

"Master made me go and look at his pitcher, ma'am; the one on the weasel. Beautiful, I call it."
