Nervous Dyspepsia

A DISEASE VERY COMMON AT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE, BUT NOW QUICKLY CURED. A SURE CURE.

FERROZONE.

In a case of nervous dyspepsia doctor sees two things, first, that the digestion is deranged, and second, that the nerves are in a starved, irritable condition. If abreast of the times and in touch with the latest discoveries the doctor is sure to advise Ferrozone, which is now universally prescribed in cases of acute indigestion and dys-

Ferrozone is prepared specially for diseases of the stomach and bowels, and as a sure cure for nervous dyspepsia has proved itself a thousand times to be superior to all others.

Where Ferrozone is taken after each meal, it is impossible for dyspepsia or indigestion to exist. It digests the food before it has had time to ferment in the stomach, and by its regular use one is enabled to eat and drink anything at any time, without fear of Ferrozone relieves that distressing headache, and burning feeling in the stomach peculiar to dyspepsia. It regulates the action of the bowels, kidneys and liver; strengthens the nerves and makes the sad-looking dejected dyspeptic feel like a new man in twenty-four hours.

The general manager of a Toronto Manufacturing Company who used Perrozone with very marked results, says: "The strain of conducting a large business brought on a seige of Nervous Indigestion about a year ago, which I endeavored in vain to shake off. Doctors told me only a complete rest would cure me, but not being able to spare the time, I used Ferrozone instead. It perfectly restored my good health in a short time. I have confidence in the merits of Ferrozone.

and am pleased to recommend it." What Ferrozone can do for you can be best proven by giving it a trial. Every reliable druggist recommends and sells it, price 50c a box, or three boxes for $1 25. Sent to your address by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

FLEEING FROM VOLCANO

Inhabitants of Towns and Villages Forced From Their Homes.

Guatemala City, Oct. 30.-There have been serious earthquakes throughout Guatemala and the volcano of Santa Maria is in great eruption. There were tremendous detonations, like heavy cannonading, at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning.

result of the impetus which has been imparted to prospecting and development in every part of the province.

The latest discovery reported to the crown lands department is of great is a revelation of the jealousies which value from an economic standpoint. It is a deposit of molybdenite, which occurs in the southeast corner of Haliburton, and which, from all the inforthing like a satisfactory mutual un- mation that could be obtained by sinkdertaking. Mr. Kruger takes pains ing a few test pits, is quite extensive. The veins are several feet wide in some places and are very rich in large crystals of the precious article, some of which are from three to four inches across and one inch in thickness.

Molybdenite producing 50 to 55 per cent of molybdenum is worth $400 per ton, and the product is worth $1 55 to $2 per pound. Molybdenum is used mainly as an alloy of steel, to which it imparts an especial hardness, thereby considerably improving its quality and

Paris, Oct. 29. — The national committee of the Miners' Federation, accompanied by several Socialist deputies, called on Premier Combes today in regard to the progress made towards arbitration of the matters in dispute between them and the coal companies. Not receiving any satisfaction beyond an expression of hope by the Premier that he could secure arbitration, the committee later sent him a formal letter, notifying him that the Government would be interpellated on the subject in the Chamber of Deputies tomorrow. It is said that the committee has learned that the mine owners have not agreed to treat with the striking miners or respond to the Government's offer of arbitration. The purpose of the inter-pellation is to establish before the country the responsibility for the continuance of the conflict. If Premier Combes' response in the chamber is not satisfactory, the Socialist deputies will propose a resolution calling for a Parliamentary investigation of the Coal Dealers in Court.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 29.-Thos Miles, & Sons, through their solicitors, have issued a writ against the city corporation and the five aldermen composing the fuel committee, for $10,000 damages for breach of contract. When the coal famine was on the fuel committee of the council bought 500 tons of coal from Miller & Sons, and the same amount from A. Rogers, at $8 per ton, to be delivered immediately. the city began to cut on the prices of coal below the coal dealers' figure of retail, these dealers kicked and threatened an injunction to prevent the city from dealing in coal. The committee through Mayor Hendrie at once canceled the order for all 'undelivered coal, and thus the suit. Hard coal is being delivered to customers, here today at $8 per ton, and is likely to go lower until the old price is reached.

SLAVE TO COCOAINE HABIT Weak Men

Sad Case in Emergency Hospital, Detroit.

Young Married Woman Has Become a Physical Wreck.

Detroit, Oct. 30 .- Young, and with evidences still of prettiness and charm, Laura Short lies in Emergency Hospital a physical wreck and deliriously raving from the effects of the morphine and cocaine habit, says the News.

A few short years ago, she was a bright, pretty school girl, with a good home and desirable friends, leading an innocent and happy life, the pride of her parents. One day she married one of her young school fellows and went to keeping house in much the some manner as she had played with

The young people lived happily and were popular and much sought after for dances and parties. Just how the young wife first tasted the insidious drugs which have since become her master no one seemed to know. The first step proved the beginning of the end, and she went down the ladder of the horrible vice, step by step, until today she is completely a slave, dead to all else but a craving for drugs.

About a month ago the wretched girl and her young husband came to Detroit from Binghamton, N. Y. in the hope that in new surroundings some effort might be made to control the habit which was fast overpower-ing every other sense. At first she seemed to be better, but the intense desire for the stuff had taken too strong a hold, and she lived only to secure it. The little money and few poor possessions all went to buy mor-

He Sliced a Cancer From His J. Aspinwall Hodge Wins an Im-Own Tongue.

He May Live for Months, But Such Retirement of Preferred Stock Was Cases End Fatally.

New York, Oct. 30. - With a growth underneath his tongue that two of the most eminent surgeons in New York has diagnosed as cancer, which would certainly produce death within eight months unless immediately operated on, Andrew Murray stood before a mirror in his office, and with a knife he had used in performing operations on dumb brutes, cut away the affected parts of the tongue with his own steady hand.

Murray is the superintendent of the advertising department for a big drygoods house. Among his accomplishments he numbers a thorough knowledge of veterinary surgery. When his disease was pronounced by Drs. George R. Fowler and A. Warner Shepard to be cancer, Murray had ideas of his own, and declared his trouble was merely a fibrous growth under his tongue.

He agred to undergo an operation, to be performed by Dr. Fowler on Oct. 21. but he failed to appear at the time appointed, and instead became his own surgeon. Tightly holding his tongue between his teeth, Murray cut away its diseased parts. He then wrapped his neck in camphorated flan-nel, and has not lost a day from his business office, although the operation was exceedingly painful when performed without the use of anaes-

When Dr. Shepard was informed of Murray's act he said: "'He may live more than eight months, but such cases are fatal in the end. It may his days to think he is not going to die."

REITZ REMAINS

And Says He Will Never Be a British Subject.

WANTS A HOME IN MADAGASCAR

His Account of an Interview With Mr. Roosevelt and Opinions of British Leaders.

New York, Oct. 30. - A tall, strongbuilt man of 58, in whom the years show only in the ashen beard and the thin, close-cropped hair, an erect military figure, broad and deep in the chest, in a word, a sturdy type of man with an alert eye, and a tight handclasp-is T. W. "And a strange meeting occurred just as we were leaving, and that's why the captain smiles. We were going out of the doorway, when whom should we meet coming up but Sir Michael Herbert, the British ambassador. Capt. Dutoit was in full Boer uniform, but I don't know whether Sir no sign. He had a military attache with him, who swiveled his eyes at us. Perhaps he knew. 'We had a very pleasant visit to Mr. Roosevelt. He spoke to me of my son, who was here some time ago, and we chatted for quite a long time about affairs in general. Boer affairs? No, they were hardly mentioned. He shows no sympathy at all with the people. But leave him there," he added, his eyes twinkling, 'It keeps the pot boiling.' Why do you supose the German Emperor so suddenly changed his mind about receiving Gens. Botha. Dewet and Delarey, after he nad invited them to Potsdam?'

A PUT-UP JOB. "That was a put-up job, done by the British," the Boer replied quickly. "I don't believe the German Emperor ever invited the three generals to meet him. Why should he do so? And I'm sure they wouldn't have asked for an audience or suggested that they wished to be invited. The English newspapers reported the invitation simply in order to have opportunity to publish afterwards what would seem to be a disheartening snubbing of them by the Emperor. It was the English papers which started the lie about the Dutch people being so antagonistic towards Prince Henry, Queen Wilhelmina's husband. And it was the same sort

IT IS DOUBTFUL

If Local Applications Alone Ever Cured a Case of Catarrh.

Most remedies for the treatment of catarrh are in the form of strays, in-halers, powders, washes or salves, all purely local applications, and many of them often give temporary relief, but the reason none of them ever really cure chronic catarrh is because catarrh is not a local disease and it cannot be cured simply by treating the local symptoms. Moreover the more serious forms of catarrh, like catarrh of the stomach and catarrh of the bonchial tubes, cannot be reached at all by local applications and the fact that neglected catarrh of the head very soon involves the bronchial tubes, stomach and liver, demonstrates that the disease blood disorder, a constitutional malady and not at all a local disease. To really cure catarrh the system

VIEWS OF KITCHENER.

"What are your impressions of Lord "My idea of Lord Kitchener is that if left alone he will speak the truth sometimes. There have been times when he has done the unmanly thing. He and Lord Milner promised us that at the coronation of King Edward they would ask for general amnesty for the Cape rebels. When amnesty was being discussed, when he had met to sign the treaty of peace, Lord Milner would not hear of it, he opposed it from the first, and was very bitter. But Lord Kitchener turned to Con But Lord Kitchener turned to Gen. Botha as he went out, and said to him, out of Milner's hearing, 'If Milner does not agree to amnesty, I'll make him.' "We believed, and in that belief had signed the peace treaty, but there was nothing in the treaty itself about general amnesty. Mr. Chamberlain repudiates the statements made to us, and Lord Kitchener sits by, afraid.

"I am keenly disappointed that Lord Kitcheners' promise has not been ful-Kitcheners promise has not been fulfilled. Chamberlain says that only what is inclosed by the four sides of the treaty is binding. He seems to think, too, that I signed in my personal capacity, but I did not. I said to Lord Kitchener, at the time, 'You understand, do you not, that I sign this paper in my representative, not my personal, capacity?' and he replied, 'Yes, certainly.' Now Kitchener says that Milner is the best man in South Africa, the best man to manage affairs there, and in a speech to a crowd of 'hands-uppers' or 'joiners,' as we call them, the men who have yielded, that he couldn't understand why De-wet and Steyn were still up in arms unless it was to gain money for them-

Toronto, Oct. 29.-Miss Priest, of this city, who has spent several years already in the Indian mission fields, is returning to India to continue her work. She will leave Toronto tomorrow morning, accompanied by Miss L. Pratt, of Petrolea, for a new mission just appointed by the Baptist Foreign Mission Board. They will sail from New York on the steamer Mesana. Toronto, Oct. 2) .-- There was a meeting today of a committee at the Methodist mission rooms in connection with the proposed $50 000 fund for the extension of the missions in the Northwest. It is proposed to start the campaign to raise subscriptions for the fund with a monster mass meeting of Methodists in Toronto. The meeting today was to arrange some details for the meeting. The $50,000 will be raised entirely by subscription.

RUMOR MONGERS BUSY

Seeking to Stir Up Strife Between Milner and Chamberlain.

London, Oct. 30 .- The rumor-mongers are seeking to stir up strife between Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Milner. Many stories are current respect-ing disagreements between the two men, and appeals from the judgment of one to the decision of the other, and there are emphatic assertions that Lord Milner will submit the nose, throat and trachea are freed' with bad grace to the official visitation of the Secretary of the Colonies. All lects and causes the hawking, spitting gossip of this kind is unfounded and malicious.

Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Milner have disagreed over the conditions of peace, the suspension of the constitution of Cape Colony, the political relations with the leaders of the Bond and many other questions, but their divergence of views on matters principle and policy has not affected their personal friendship. Each is loyal to the other, and there is no jealousy. South Africans here are confident that circumlocution and red tape will now be dispensed with, the settlement of countless matters of detail faciliated by the Colonial Secretary's presence in South Africa, and that Lord Milner's work, which now passes without observation, will command general appreciation when his official chief is in position to direct attention to it

DREARY ENDING OF A FAST LIFE

Pretty Young Actress Dying in New York.

PENNILESS AND FRIENDLESS

Once a Favorite of the Rich, Now Hopeless Victim of Consumption and Drink.

New York, Oct. 30.-Mabel Bouton is one of the annual sacrifices on New York's altar of pleasure. She came here from the west, young, beautiful and inexperienced. Broadway seized her, wined her, dined her, flattered her and finally devoured her.

Four years ago she was the life of many a gay midnight party in the places where those who burn the candle at both ends gather. Today she is dying in Bellevue Hospital, a consumptive and a drunkard. In a less conspicuous way her life has been that of the ill-fated Bettina Girard all

Mabel was the youngest child of a large family. Two of her sisters were on the stage before her, Madeline and Cloy. Madeline made a great success as an actress and retired from the stage about two years ago, after marrying Baron Guido Nimptsch, a Ger-man nobleman. Cloy married a handsome prize fighter and disappeared from the stage.

The home of the Boutons was originally in Hamburg, Ia. Mabel was born there 24 years ago. When she was a little child her father moved to Reno, Nev. He became the owner of the opera house and all his children came in contact with stage people. First Madeline was seized with the longing for the footlights. Cloy was the next to go. Then Mabel. When she was but 16 years old Mabel came to New York and got an engagement in "Little Christopher." burst into the glare of Broadway on the opening night with a dance that made her famous in the world that calls such trifles fame. Immediately the little western girl from Reno was courted and feted. Men admired her. Some loved her and others professed to. They put fortunes at her twinkling feet and she helped to spend them. Broadway woke up one morning to find that the mind of the little west-ern girl had given way. She was in the Presbyterian Hospital. While there she tried to kill herself. She was sent to an insane asylum but after a few months she recovered and was released. She did not return to the stage. Instead, she kept on her reckless liv-ing. She was supported by a man who had known her in her better days, but she became so depraved that he finally left her. Then she disappeared and was seen no more until yesterday. She was on the verge of delirium tremens and had evidently been on a prolonged debauch. I used to have plenty of admirers.

but there is not a soul now I can call my friend." Mabel whispered the words in Bellevue. Looking at her, nobody would have believed that she once was so charming that a perfume company paid her well for the use of her picture as an advertisement.

The Mayoralty.

With the year 1903 drawing near, there is more or less speculation as to who will be the mayor of the city. Mr. Beck has not, we believe, made known his intentions; but it is doubtful if he will be a candidate for re-election. His duties as a member of the Legislature will keep him out of the city for two or three months during the period when the council is especially engaged on important civic business; and if he were mayor the office would simply have to go into commission. It would be utterly impossible for him to attend to the duties of both positions. It has been in- should not be condemned before timated that he will, instead, be a can- they have had a reasonable time didate for hospital trustee, in place of | to adapt themselves to Canadian cus-Mr. McCormick, who, on account of ill-health, is not disposed to continue longer in the position he has so ably selves above want and poverty. Four-

Mr. Taylor was a member of the council for many years and would be likely to poll a large vote.

The Free Press has been suggesting the name of Ald. Campbell. This gentleman has served the city for ever twenty years on the Board of Educa- which is held in trust for them, and tion, the Board of Health, and in the City-Council. No man is better acquainted with municipal matters, and no one would fill the office any better than he could. But he talks of retiring from the council at the end of the year, and it is doubtful if he could be persuaded to become a candidate. The names of Ald. Stevely and cf Mr. Waterman are also mentioned. But the probabilities are that other name: will come before the people, and that some other than those now speken of will preside over the affairs of the city next year.

Mr. Chamberlain's Journey.

Mr. Chamberlain's decision to go to South Africa has something dramatic in it which has almost startled the public, and has fastened attention upon him to a greater degree than ever. It is not likely he would undertake so hazardous and onerous a mission for mere show purposes, and his resolve is taken to mean that conditions in South Africa are too grave and preplexing to be dealt with at long range. Mr. Chamberlain's own position is embarrassing. Before the war he insisted on giving an absolutely free hand to Sir Alfred (now Lord) Milner, who practically dictated the policy which led to the crisis. Since then Mr. Chamberlain, in deference to the Cape Colony Ministry and to the sentiment of other colonies, has rejected Lord Milner's advice to suspend constitutional government at the Cape, and to that extent has repudiated the man whose judgment was virtually the British Government's sanction in going to war. It is reported that the Premier, Sir Gordon Sprigg, is not succeeding in his well-intentioned plan parliamentary government, which he thought would operate as a safety valve. Mr. Chamberlain may have to decide between Sir Gordon Sprigg and Lord Milner. Beside the political troubles at the Cape there are the financial and economic problems in the Transvaal. Mr. Chamberlain has shouldered a great task.

If the Colonial Secretary finds time to visit Australia and Canada he will be enthusiastically welcomed. There is no British statesman who fills so large a place in the eye of the British Em-

Mr. Foster.

Mr. R. L. Borden is doubtless sincere in saying that he would like to see Hon. George E. Foster in Parliament again, but it is not likely that Mr. Foster is over-ready to grasp the glad hand. The Ontario Conservatives might have offered him more than one safe seat after his defeat, but he was deliberately overlooked and it would be human nature if he refused to come to the aid of an ungrateful party in the hour of its need. In addition, Mr. Foster has a very comfortable berth as manager of a trust company in Toronto, and may not feel like sacrificing it for the less remunerative, if more conspicuous, post of financial critic of the Opposition. He may think his own finances are of more importance to him than the Government's. The Opposition miss him sadly in the budget debates, as they have no one to put up against Fielding, Cartwright and other Liberal heavyweights. Mr. Borden is not at home in fiscal questions; Mr. Osler is a clever financier, but a lame speaker, and Mr. Monk is a good speaker, but not an adept at figures. As a debater and orator Mr. Foster was head and shoulders above any Conservative in the House of Commons, but it is amazing that with all his intellect he should be so narrow-minded. "A thin, acrid man," as Carlyle said of a famous character, Mr. Foster has been always singularly ungenerous in public life and in many respects has shown himself a very small politician. Since his retirement he has posed as an idealist and has spoken a good deal in of coal per day, which is 190 per cent more than the Cedric, and she will public on general subjects, but when need 256 more hands to work her. Cur-

he gets on a political platform he is the same Foster as of old. His speech at Toronto Junction in the West York bye-election less than a year ago made even his friends ashamed of him. His inflammatory appeal to race prejudice -the anti-Tarte "racket" was then being worked-was quite unworthy of a man of his standing. It is not surprising that despite his very great taients he has no following in his own party and was not thought of for the leadership when Sir Charles Tupper

The Doukhobor Craze.

Some 1,100 Doukhobors, under the influence of a religious fanatic, have left their homes and marched to Yorkton, Assa., where they are being temporarily cared for by the immigration authorities. The incident is made the occasion for a political attack on the Minister of the Interior, though the the bringing of the Doukhobors to the country was praised at the time by the Toronto Mail and other opponents of the Government as an act of humanity and good public policy. Morgnatic Marriages.

[Goldwin Smith.] Marie Corelli's new novel, "Temporal Power," revives under a thin disguise the strange story of a morganatic marriage contracted by the Prince of Wales when he was Duke of York, with the daughter of a British naval officer. No such thing as a morganatic marriage is known to British law or custom. The term is foreign, specially German, and denotes a marriage of disparagement, in which the bridegroom gives his left hand to the bride, in token that he does not impart to her his rank or anything of pacifying the Boers by preserving attached to it. The morganatic marriage is valid so far as it goes. But a marriage contracted by anyone in the ine of succession to the British crown and under 25 years of age, without the royal consent, would, under the Royal Marriage Act, be absolutely void in law, though morality might frown upon a second union. We may feel pretty sure that the junior members of the British royal family are so watchfully guarded that no clandestine marriage of any sort can have taken place.

Our White Star liner Cedric the largest ship in the world, will go seventeen knots with 14,000 horse power. But, says the Shipping World, the Kaiser Wilhelm will burn 750 tons PETROLEA WILL PLAY IN GALT. Petrolea will play a sudden death game in Galt for the junior O. R. F. U. championship of the western district. Yesterday the Petrolea Club decided to accept Galt's offer of $100 to play the game there, and named Nov 1 as the date for the match. The day selected was not suitable to Galt, as two association matches are slated for Saturday, and it is likely that the game will be played on Nov. 8.

WARD LEAVES FOR GRAND RAPIDS.

Detroit, Oct. 30 .- Mike Ward, the Canadian lightweight champion, accompanied by his brother Andy, came to this city from Sarnia yesterday, and last evening started for Grand Rapids, where tonight Ward and Jim Duggan clash in a 10-round bout. Ward looks to be in excellent shape, much better than when he fought at Delray, and is more than a pound below the scale, 138 at 3 o'clock. He has' been promised a match at the armory this winter with Counig or Sieloff, if he wins tonight.

A dispatch from Grand Rapids says that Jim Duggan, who finished his training there, has made a big hit with the local sports, who gathered at the Niagara A. C. to see the boy work out. BROAD IS AFTER McGOVERN.

Chicago, Oct. 29. — "Parson" Davies, manager of Broad, has posted a forfeit of $500 with Al Smith in New York supporting a challenge on behalf of Broad to Terry McGovern, the boys to meet for a fight of any length and upon terms mutually agreeable. Davies says he has not had any notification as to acceptance or otherwise from any of the McGovern party.

BASEBALL.

LAJOIE LOYAL TO CLEVELAND. Cleveland, Oct. 29.—Capt. Napoleon Lajoie, of the Cleveland Baseball Club, referring to a report that he had or was about to sign a three-year contract with Brush for a compensation of $25,000, said this evening: "The story is pure rot and without the slightest foundation. My contract with the Cleveland Club does not expire for two years, and if I live and am able to play ball it will be fulfilled. I am perfectly satisfied with the treatment and salary paid me by the Cleveland Club and nothing would tempt me to break my contract."

KILLILEA MAKES DENIAL. Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 29.—The state-ment from New York today that Henry Killilea, owner of the Boston Club, was after the management of New York in the American League, is indignantly denied by Mr. Killilea, who said tonight: "The story is ridiculous and without foundation. have no interest in the New York Club whatever; only I wish to see the American League have a strong team there for the good of the league. The Boston Club is all I want."

MCALEER WILL GET MATHEWSON OR WILL PROSECUTE. Pittsburg, Oct. 29.-It is apparent tonight that Christy Mathewson has got himself into trouble. Big Christy is fullback for the Pittsburg football team. When pressed to give out his position tonight the big fellow declined to appear, but sent Coach Richardson to talk for him. Said Richardson: "Matty has signed with the National and got his advance money. He says he will go back to New York."

Manager James McAleer, of the St. Louis American League Club, was called up at his home in Youngstown, O., and made the following plain state-"I am sorry to hear Mathewson has signed with the National League. He signed with St. Louis for the American in the latter part of July and took our money. I gave him $500 advance. I have been given to un-derstand that he has since signed with McGraw and also taken advance money from him. This means trouble. St. Louis signed Mathewson fairly. He insisted that it should be an iron-clad contract, and I cut out the 10-day clause. Bowerman got the same and took the same amount of advance money. The St. Louis American League Club will surely hold Mathewson to his signed contract."

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION PLANNED.

New York, Oct. 29 .- The formation of a national cricket association for North American was one of the many ideas brought out at the annual fall meeting of the Metropolitan District Cricket League. The proposal came from the president of the league, A. E. Rendle, whose idea is that every league or association of cricket clubs in the United States and Canada should be eligible for membership. The idea was most favorably received, and the president of the league was requested to appoint a committee to take the matter under consideration and advise the best means for its promulgation.

MINING VENTURE

Started by Oil Men in Western Pennsylvania.

Have Begun Opening Ten Large Mines -More to Follow.

Pittsburg, Oct. 30.-Work has just been started on a most important mining venture in Western Pennsylvania. Gussey & Queen, oil producers, associated with the old Carnegie Steel Company interests, have formed the Great Lakes Coal Company, with $5,-000,000 capital; have acquired 25,000 acres of coal near Brady's Bend, and have begun the opening of ten large mines, and will open five more, giving them a daily output of 12,000 tons. It is the intention of the company to enter aggressively into the great lakes coal trade during the coming spring. Preparations have already been made to stock the coal in the coming spring, and ship at the opening of navigation to Conneaut harbor over the Pittsburg, Bessemer and Lake Erie Railway. Over 1,000 men have been put to work constructing 18 miles of what will be a 50-mile line from Red Bank to Newcastle, thoroughly opening the tract. It is the expectation that this road, known as the Western Allegheny will become an important link in the Pennsylvania system to relieve the freight congestion of the Pittsburg dis-

Consults With Mr. Prefontaine and Hon. L. P. Brodeur.

Montreal, Oct. 29.-Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who arrived in town at 1 o'clock, met ex-Mayor Prefontaine by appointment. Mr. Prefontaine remained with him for some time, and on coming downstairs stated that the Premier noon, and that he would probably accompany him. He was not in a position to say whether any appointment had been given to him. Hon. L. P. Brodeur had an appointment with the Premier for 3 o'clock. While waiting to see Hon. L. P. Brodeur the Premier was interviewed by Hon. Lomer Gouin, Mr. L. O. David, Hon. F. L. Beique, Mr. Godfroi Langlois and others. He left at 4 o'clock. Lady Laurier did not accompany Sir Wilfrid, as she is ill at her home in Arthabaskaville.

Baron Rothschild's Rules.

A London newspaper says that Baron Rothschild had these rules posted in his bank: Shun liquor.

Dare to go forward Never be discouraged. Be polite to everybody. Employ your time well. Never tell business lies. Pay your debts promptly. Be prompt in everything. Bear all troubles patiently. Do not reckon upon chance.

Make no useless acquaintances. Be brave in the struggles of life. Maintain your integrity as a sacred thing. Never appear to be something more than you are. Take time to consider; then decide positively. Carefully examine into every detail of your business.

A Multiplication-Addition Table.

The following table was worked out by a Harvard professor. It is interesting to look at, but one is thankful that it is not included among the multiplication time 9 plus 2 equal 11.

12 times 9 plus 3 equal 111. 123 times 9 plus 4 equals 1111. 1234 times 9 plus 5 equals 11111. 12345 times 9 plus 6 equals 11111. 123456 times 9 plus 7 equals 111111. 1234567 times 9 plus 7 equals 111111.1 12345678 times 9 plus 8 equals 11111111.1 1 time 8 plus 1 equal 9. 12 times 8 plus 2 equals 98. 123 times 8 plus 3 equals 987. 1234 times 8 plus 4 equals 9876. 12345 times 8 plus 5 equals 98765. 123456 times 8 plus 6 equals 987654. 1234567 times 8 plus 7 equals 9876543. 12345678 times 8 plus 8 equals 98765432. 123456789 times 8 plus 9 equals 987654321. -From the November Success.

TODAY'S MARKETS

THE LOCAL MARKET.

The market was not up to the average as far as supplies and attendance were concerned. The wet and disagreeable weather doubtless prevented many of the farmers from attending the market. Prices were unaltered to any extent, with the exception of dressed hogs and potatoes.

the exception of dressed nogs and potatoes.

Grain—Twenty loads of oats sold higher, at 88c to 90c per cwt. No wheat offered. Hay and Straw—Eighteen loads of hay were on the stand; sales were easily made, at 39 to $10 50 per ton; only two loads at the last-named price.

Butter and Eggs—The supply of butter was light; prices ranged from 17c to 19c for crocks and 18c to 20c for pound rolls. Eggs were firm and in good demand, at 19c to 20c per dozen wholesale.

Vegetables and Roots—There were about 15 large loads of potatoes offered; prices ranged from 90c to $1 10 per bag, the latter figures for a single bag. Onions a slow sale, at 60c to 65c per bag. Turnips, 25c to 35c per bag. 25c to 35c per bag.

Fruits-Very light supply in this line, and consisted mostly of apples, which sold at 50c to $1 10 per barrel. Grapes were plentiful, at 20c to 30c per 10-pound Dressed Hogs-About 40 carcases were on sale; prices went lower, at $7.75 per cwt for most of the offerings; a few Ringle hogs at $3.

Poultry—Prices ruled about the same as per quotations; a few large lots of cressed turkeys sold at 10½c to 11c per Growth of the Iron Trade. The development of the iron industry of the United States has been marked with surprises, says the Engineering Magazine. From complete dependence ipon the old world the country has leaped to a pre-eminence so complete that even its rivals believe and tremble. In the great railroad building period of 1870-72 England furnished the rails and other materials at prices two or three times above those which are now deemed abnormally high. Then England produced three times as much iron and steel as the United States. Since then Germany has challenged the supremacy of Great Britain, and passed her in a decade of remarkable growth. . And yet, in the current year of 1902 the United States of America will produce more iron than England and Germany combined. Indeed, there is a margin of excess to spare about equal to the product of France. If we add to this statement another fact viz... that even this vast production is not sufficient for home requirements, and that the United States is today, in spite of a stiff tariff, the best customer in fron and steel that Europe has, credulity is taxed to the limit.

HE CAN PROVE IT

Mr. Chalker Is Prepared to Substantiate the Truth of the Statements He Has Made.

Housey's Rapids, Ont., Oct 27. open letter of Mr. George C, Chalker, of this place, published in the daily papers some time ago, has created quits sensation and considerable inquiry from those who do not know Mr. Chalker. His friends are well aware that he would not put his name to any statement that he could not substantiate in every particular, and to those is prepared to substantiate the truth of every assertion he made. In the letter he said: "I was laid up with Kidney Trouble and was so bad that I could not do a day's work. My back was very sore. I ad heavy, aching arms and bloated eyes, I was very weak and much reduced in weight. MORGANS TURNED DOWN. The efforts of the promoters of the Morgan "tube" railway scheme to procure the re-establishment of the parliamentary status of their original franchise bill as a whole led to an hour's debate in the House of Com-mons last night, the only result of which was the withdrawal of the endeavor. The Morgans intend to ask later for the recommittal of the bill, granting right for their proposed 'tube" and other line without regard to the London United Tramway Company, which was to have been operated in connection with the Morgan "tubes," but which was privately bought up by the Yerkes interests.

SHARP TALK. Thos. G. Ashton, who moved the recommittal of the Morgan bill, accused the London United Company of dishonorable transaction, and said he doubted whether "so dirty a transaction" had ever been done by parties coming before Parliament. He said also that the house should resent this action by passing the Morgan bill, thus giving the Morgans a chance.

Mr. Ashton's proposition was greet-ed with cries of "No, No!" Mr. Ashton's motion' was opposed y Sir John Dickson-Poynder who said the Morgan scheme was now a truncated affair, and that it was not within the province of Parliament to intervene in the dissensions of rival speculators.

James W. Lowther agreed that the Morgan promoters had been badly used, but said their enemies were those of their own household. Sir Lewis McIver, chairman of the House of Commons railway committee, and others also opposed the motion, which finally was withdrawn.

INVITED TO AUSTRALIA. Friends of Mr. Chamberlain are much gratified by the announcement that the Australian Government is inviting him to extend his South African tour to Australia. It is suggested that Canada should officially support the invitation, with an addendum that Mr. Chamberlain shall return to England via Vancouver. It is understood that such an invitation would stand chance of being considered unless strict limitations were placed on the number of Canadian engagements. The English and the continental press accept Mr. Chamberlain's four as a signal tribute to the force of the new imperialism, opening a way the establishment of something like a past test for British ministerial rank, namely a personal and practical knowledge of the self-governing col-

GLOOMY STATE OF RUSSIA The London Times St. Petersburg correspondent says the Grazdanin publishes a pessimistic article regarding the present state of affairs in Russia, referring to the political and economic despair and mysterious ill-omened gloom hanging over the country.

Alluding to Western Europe and the French revolution, the article says the French people, down-trodden they were, won recognition for the rights of man, whereon western civilzation is the outcome.

The Times correspondent says the article created some sensation, hat it is surprising that the Grazdanin, the defender of obscurantism bureaucratic despotism should publish such doctrines.

THE MOLINEUX CASE

Evidence for Prosecution Concluded— Advantage Secured for Defense.

New York, Oct. 29.-The prosecution in the Molineux case rested to-day after the defense had secured an important advantage in the decision by Justice Lambert that the reading of the testimony given at first trial by Mamie Melando and Detective Farrell, both of whom are beyond the jurisdiction of the court was inadmissible. The greater part of the session was levoted to the examination of & handwriting expert who, like all those who have preceded him, testified that one hand wrote the poison package address, the Barnet and Cornish letters and letters admittedly written by Molineux. The presentation of the case for the defense is expected to occupy two days and interest centers in the decision whether Molineux will testify in his own behalf

New York, Oct. 30 .- Counsel for the defense in the Molineux trial moved today that the court direct the jury to acquit the defendant on the ground that the evidence was insufficient. Justice Lambert denied the motion. New York, Oct. 30.—At the request of ex-Governor Black, whose voice failed him, the court granted an adjournment of the trial until tomorrow

EXODUS OF BOUKHOBORS

A Number More Are Leaving Home for Yorkton.

Stories of Their Wretched Condition and Insubordination Discredited.

Yorkton, Assiniboia, 0ct. 29.-Word has been received by the immigration officials that in addition to the 1,300 Doukhobors who arrived here yesterday, 400 more are on the road and 300 are preparing to desert their villages and farms.

The leaders of the fanatics have no practical nor definite idea as to future action. They desire, they say, to convert people and find the "new life."

LUCAN.

Lucan, Oct. 29. - The Biddulph Teachers' Association met in the public school, Lucan, Friday, Oct. 24.fl In the absence of the president, Miss T. Hod-gins, the vice-president, occupied the chair. She presented a thoughtful pa-per on "The Relationship Between Teacher and Pupil," which was followed by a paper on "Knowledge and How to Make Pupils Love It," by Miss Box. Considerable discussion was evoked by this relative to the establishment of libraries in public schools. In the afternoon excellent addresses were given by John Fox, chairman of the public school board, and Rev. J. A. Ayearst, B.A. The former spoke on "The Teacher's Work as Viewed by an Outsider," and the latter on "The Ideal Teacher.' M. F. A. Stuart, B.A., principal of the Lucan Hight School dealt "Recent Changes in the Curriculum" in a way that showed that he was thoroughly conversant with our educational system, its virtues and defects. The meeting was then adjourned, each member feeling that an exceedingly pleasant and profitable time had been spent.

A Tip in a Sermon. On Aug. 29, dedicated to St. John the Baptist, an ancient festival takes place in the outskirts of Vienna at Brunnlweise, where St. Agnes is popularly believed to have appeared. Although the pilgrimages to these meadows are railways, where is was found that the sternly forbidden by the clergy, the crowds increase every year. This year the Brunnl will draw still greater numbers, as the 29th is also the 150th anniversary of the Small Lottery, so dear to the hearts of the people and so bound up with superstition and family neglect. This lottery, with its 90 numbers, was the discovery of the famous mathematician, Lorenzo Tonti, of Genoa, in the seventeenth century, and was first allowed in Austria by the Empress Maria Theresia, when, suffering from financial embarrassments, she received for the concession 260,000 florins, a large sum in those days. Only Austria and Italy now retain this socalled Lotto. The women, seized with a passion for this speculation, wait ours daily in the street to see the numbers appear, or spend a great part of the day in the churches praying for The well-known Father success. Loritz preached in the sixties and seventies a violent crusade against such gambling and its attendant evils. An odd incident once occurred when he was preaching. He said: "If you women only hear such numbers as 28, 65, 92, you all leave to go and take To his astonishment, within five minutes his hearers had all vanished in order to obtain these supposed lucky numbers. Since the time of Father Loritz no active measures have been taken by the church. You can scarcely believe what a oothing effect Norman's Necklaces have on cross babies. 50 cents by mail. Money back if you want it. STOTT & JURY, BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

He Repented. "One of my first cases," said an old Detroit lawyer, as he smoked his cigar the other evening, "bade fair to be a delicate one to handle. The widow of a certain man who had gone to war in one of our state regiments and been killed in battle, waited a year and then remarried. Husband number one was not killed, as reported, but taken prisoner and held to the end of the war. He came home to find a new man in his came home to find a new man in his place, but instead of raising a row he came to me to see what could be legally I advised that husband number two be sent for and a conference held. The man promptly appeared, and although he was naturally appeared, and atmostled he was naturally astonished to see the dead alive, I thought he also appeared greatly relieved in his mind.

"I ain't blaming you, of course,' said number one to him, "but naturally I want my wife back."

"Yes, you certainly do,' replied number two."

"'I expect you'll kick and raise a row about it, but the lawyer here tells me—
"'Durn the lawyer!' interrupted number two. This is a case for you and me to settle, and we don't want no lawyer

"'But ain't you going to kick?'
"'Not a blamed kick.'
"'Won't you want a hundred dollars or so to get out?"

"'Lands, no! Look-a-here, Bill, we all thought you was dead, and I thought I was marrying a sure-enough widder. It turns out that you are alive. It turns out that you've come back. It also turns out that if you will come over and claim your old women and take her off my your old woman and take her off my hands and make her live with you I'll give you $200 and a yoke of brindled

"It was settled on that basis." tinued the lawyer, "and Bill was duly out in possession of his own. I don't think he was quite satisfied, though. A month after the reunion he dropped into my office and said:

"'D'e know, I think being shut up in Andersonville made me a fool?"
"'Why do you think so?' I asked.
"'If it didn't then I'd have made Jim Snover pay me at least a thousand for unloading the old woman back on me

Acetylene for Trains.

The lighting of railway trains by oil gas has been notably improved by the admixture with the gas of a certain proportion of acetylene. This idea was first employed on the Prussian state mixed gases gave a far superior light to that of the old gas alone. In France this system has been taken up Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean Railway, and a generating plant is being in-stalled adjoining that already in use for the production of oil gases. generator is of the Pintsch system, in which the carbide is dropped into a large volume of water. The apparatus consists of a cylindrical vessel of galvanized iron filled to about threequarters of its height with water, the top being closed and carrying a castiron chest containing the mechanism for feeding the carbide. This chest contains two compartments, each holding about two kilograms of carbide, and arranged in such a manner that either of them may be placed in com-munication with the main cylinder without permitting the escape of gas. The acetylene gas, disengaged by the contact of the carbide with the water, is led off through a lateral pipe connecting with the mains. The oil gas and the acetylene are passed through respective meters, these being connected by chain gear, the sprocket wheels being arranged so that the mixture of the gases is made in the ratio of three of oil gas to one of acetylene.-Engineering Magazine.

Sandy Got Through. Old Sandy C-, who used to collect the mining royalties for the Duke of Hamilton was a bit of a wag. One day Sandy ton, was a bit of a wag. One day Sandy was late for his train for Bo'ness, and the only way he could catch his connection was by walking across the line. A certain gentleman informed Sandy that it was useless for him to attempt to cross by the railway, as there was a watchman stationed at the camp bridge who would allow no one to pass over it.

"What sort o' countryman is he?" inquired Sandy. quired Sandy.

quired Sandy.

"An Irishman," was the immediate rejoinder.

"Well," responded Sandy, "if he is an Irishman, I'll get over," and straight away he went.

Coming up to the bridge, Sandy espled the Irishman coming out to stop him, but before Pat had got time to breathe Sandy gasped out, "I beg your pardon, sir. I see you're a man of authority, and I have just to throw myself on your tender.

just to throw myself on your tender mercies!"
"Jabers, go on!" returned Pat, without a moment's hesitation. Had the watchman, Sandy used to say, been a Scotchman, he would have had to fight him, and had he been an Englishhe would have had to debate the Commerce building, noon wire, Bart lett, Frazier & Co., N. Y. New York, Oct. 30.—Although London houses were sellers at the open ing, the market quickly developed a rallying tendency, due partly to coverrallying tendency, due partly to covering by traders and partly to a cessation of the liquidation which caused yesterday's decline. The recoveries were naturally most marked in the stocks such as St. P. and Mo. Pac., which were the yeakest yesterday. Mo. Pac, was bought by Eutler & Bro., while St. P. advanced, the expectation being that at today's meeting an tion being that at today's meeting a issue of $10,000,000 of stock at par t stockholders will be authorized. Well off traders were credited with havin covered a good many stocks during th first hour and there was some biddin up of stocks by a room trader, who is supposed to have covered his short yesterday and to be anxious to put them out again at higher figures Apathy characterized the market after the first hour, but the prices were well maintained, and there was stil no pressure to sell.

DIED IN HAMILTON

Brother of Rev. John Ten Eyck Passed Away Yesterday.

Ald. M. H. TenEyck died at the city hospital at 12:30 yesterday after the pendicitis, says the Hamilton Spectator, which adds:

Ald. TenEyck was one of the best and most favorably known of Hamilton's citizens who have served the city in the council. He went into the council first in 1892, and in that and the next year was chairman of the hospi-tal committee. In 1894 he was out of the council, but was elected again in 1895, and in the years 1896, 1897 and 1898 was chairman of the sewers committee, holding that position when the sewage disposal works were introduced. In 1899 he was chairman of finance, continuing in this position over the next year. In 1901 he ran as a mayoralty candidate, being defeated in a three-cornered fight with Mayor Hendrie and Ald. Findlay as his opponents. Last January he again offered himself as an aldermanic candidate and was elected from the city

The deceased had lived in Hamilton for many years and was known all over the country as an expert in his profession of veterinary. He conducted a flourishing business on Jackago, was advertised for in this and son street east. He was unmarried and leaves to mourn his loss two brothers—Joseph, of the fire department, and Rev. John TenEyck, of London, the latter arriving in the city in time to be with his brother before his death. The deceased was born on the famly homestead near Woodburn. His father died only a shore time ago. He was an Oddfellow, a member of Lodge of Strict of Observance, A. F. and A. M., Murton Lodge 14, and Hamilton Sovereign Chapter, Scottish Rite and Royal Arch Chapter and Knights Templar; also of Rameses Shrine.

Nye's Little Joke.

Mr. Bartram Still Fighting for Cavendish Street.

A good many years ago, before it was the fashion for every prominent puglist to go on the stage, a shrewd manager organized an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, with the late Peter Jackson, the colored heavyweight, in the part of Uncle Tom. At that time Jackson was a prominent candidate for the heavyweight championship. He was the most generally popular of colored fighters and the manager who put him on the stage figured correctly that he would be a drawing card.

The manager of the company knew Nye and escorted him to a box, from which and escorted him to a box, from which he could get a splendid view of the stage. The big black, whose tremendous muscular development was always a wonder, stalked out and had no trouble at all in putting the heavy villain to sleep with an uppercut on the point of the jaw. "But," said Rich, with a sudden look of interest, "this will necessitate a little change in a certain document which I procured from the city clerk a short time ago-how very fortunate that this discovery was made before the tenth!" "True; it would make matters a trifle awkward, I confess," said Mr. Halstead,

The next morning that gentleman himself visited Bellevue Hospital and had an interview with Margaret Fox, recognizing her at once; and, questioning her further regarding her confession, he was fully satised with the truth of it and that he had indeed found his son.

CHAPTER XL.

Miss Waldemar, Rich and his father returned to Lynnell the third day after their arrival in New York, and they re-ceived a most cordial welcome from every member of the family.

All were glad to have the suspense ended, for they had experienced no small amount of curiosity concerning the important and mysterious business which had called Audrey so suddenly to New

Her story, when she related it, created considerable excitement and surprise, while Rich was heartily congratulated upon the happiness which Margaret Fox's revelation had brought to him, and also upon his future brilliant prospects.

"I have felt from the first that there was good blood in his veins. It has always seemed to me that he could not have sprung from any ordinary source."

Mrs. Campbell remarked, when talking these things over miletly with Audrey Campbell remarked, when talking things over quietly with Audrey afterward.

"That has been my own feeling too," returned Miss Waldemar, "but it seems very wonderful to me that Arthur's boy, of all others, should have been commit-

of all others, should have been committed to my care."

"The whole affair, from beginning to end, is the most romantic story I everheard of in real life, and," with an arch glance at Audrey, "I never saw such a change in anyone as there has been in Mr. Halstead since our first meeting."

Audrey blushed. She knew there had been a change in her also. Something of the beauty and hope of her early life had returned to her, as well as to him, and had shed a very different light upon their future, thus leaving its impress upon their faces.

Arthur Halstead was no longer the sad, self-repressed man he had been for twenty years and more. The shadows of disappointment and grief had all been swept out of his countenance, leaving it genial and beaming as in the days of his searly hopes, while there had come an genial and beaming as in the days of his early hopes; while there had come an energy and buoyancy into his manner that had long been foreign to it.

Audrey's lassitude and paleness all fled before the dawn of this new day, and she seemed to grow young with a beauty at which her friends all marveled. The score or more of years that had elapsed since her separation from her lover had touched her very lightly, despite the sorrow of which she had been ever conscious, and now, at forty-two, with the future still holding so much of hope for her she did not seem a day over thirty her she did not seem a day over thirty. "Mamma, I am not sure but that Miss Waldemar will make a lovelier bride than Annie," Grace Campbell remarked only a day or two before the wedding.

It had been decided that there should be two weddings instead of one.

Audrey told Arthur Halstead that she would become his wife whenever he pleased, and he was unwilling to wait for the fulfillment of his hannings, a day fulfillment of his happiness a day longer than was necessary; so it had been arranged that after Rich and Annie should have plighted the vows which would make them one, Mr. Halstead and Miss Waldemar should also me married, without any show or ostentation.

There was no reason why they should There was no reason why they should delay; it would save the labor and excitement of preparing for another wed-Rich and Annie were to take a trip to the White Mountains and thence to Saratega, where they intended to spend a couple of weeks; so it would be a couple of their return. Meanwhile a couple of weeks; so it would be a month before their return. Meanwhile Mr. and Mrs. Halstead, senior, would repair directly to New York to await the home-coming of the young couple. The evening of the ninth arrived, and everything was in readiness for the all-important event of the morrow. Miss Starkey was tired but happy, for all things had moved along as smoothly as anyone could have any right to expect, and the old homestead was in pect, and the old homestead was in perfect order—swept and garnished from attic to cellar, no pains or expense having been spared to 'have things done up in shape." in shape."

"Audrey., my own," Arthur Halstead aid, as he parted from the beautiful woman who was to be his wife on the morrow, "I can hardly realize this great happiness, but it almost makes me for-get all those lost years of my life." She lifted her lovely face to him, and it seemed is if it shone with almost holy beauty.

"Do not let us call them lost years, Arthur," she said, "for I do not believe they have been, even though they have held so much of pain for both of us. You have faithfully fulfilled the duties which seemed to be laid upon you in such an unaccountable way, and no one can do that without having both heart and character ennobled and purified. While surely I cannot feel that the years were lost, which have brought so much of comfort to me, in watching and helping to forward the development of such a boy as Rich has been."

"No, indeed; the influence of your work no one can estimate," returned Arthur, almost reverently. beauty.

no one can estimate," returned Arthur, almost reverently.

"And the knowledge," continued Audrey, with a tender smile, "when it came to me, that Rich was your son—that, though we had been so strangely separated, I had been working for you all these years, was my crowning joy—my recompense—as I told you the other day. Oh no they have not been lost years. Oh, no, they have not been lost years, Arthur; they have only been a sort of sowing and growing time, and now we sowing and growing time, and now we are about to reap a beautiful harvest, and shall. I believe, realize and appreciate our happiness far more than we should have done if we had had everything our own way in those old days." "Perhaps you are right, Audrey," Mr. Halstead said, gravely, yet the pain of the oast had been so great that he could not look back upon it even now without regret.

She glanced up at him wistfully.

"I have gradually grown to feel sure," she said, in a low, reverent tone, "that God's ways are always best. Someone has said that life is something like a carpet, Gazing upon the wrong side of it, it looks very much mixed; there is apparently no nattern or plan or harapparently no pattern, or plan, or har-monious blending of color. But the other side is perfect; and so, when we other side is perfect; and so, when we are permitted to gaze upon our lives from the other side, we shall see and understand just how the pattern has been growing into beauty of design and according to the plan of One who never makes a mistake. Arthur," she continued, gravely, "I am not going to look backward any more; all the past has been for a purpose, which will be revealed to us by and bye, and we have no longer anything to do with it. Our cup has been filled to the brim now—let us keep it full as we go along and not embitter its contents by vain regrets."

Arthur Halstead bent and touched the Arthur Halstead bent and touched the upturned brow with reverent lips, feeling almost as if she stood upon a higher plane than he, but believing that If perfect happiness could be attained in this world, he should experience it with Audrew Waldemar as his wife.

The feuth dawned a perfect September

The tenth dawned a perfect September day.

The weddings were to occur at two in the afternoon, in season for the bridal party to have plenty of time to catch

mr. Hamilton and Mrs. Allen, together with a few other friends, had come on from New York the previous day to do honor to the occasion, while Mr. Hamilton had been chosen to perform the ceremonics. Annie Noble made one of the loveliest brides that "e'er the sun shone on." Miss Waldemar and Grace Campbell had planned her dress to suit them-selves, after receiving a hint from Miss Starkey regarding the matter. Starkey regarding the matter.

"I want things done right up to the mark," she had said, when the question of material and make had been under discussion. "It's not likely that George Washington and I will ever marry of anybody again, and I don't want any half-way work about this wedding. We half-way work about this wedding. We love the child with all our hearts, and she's going to have the best there is, as long as we can give it to her. So you fix her up as pretty as you can, and don't count the cost."

But Annie's wedding-dress was com-paratively simple, after all, for they de-cided that white tulle over white silk would be the most effective for her style of beauty; and the result proved that they were right, for when she stood arrayed in it on her bridal day she was simply perfect from the crown of her golden head to the tip of her white satin

The dress was made en train, and the masses of fleecy tulle, floating out behind her, seemed like a cloud of frostwork; while her really elegant veil added character and richness to the whole.

Her corsage was made high at the throat while her only arraments. throat, while her only ornaments were a simple cluster of real orange blossoms fastening her veil, and other upon her breast. But her beautiful hair shone like purest gold, through the mistlike veil, and her eyes vied with heaven's own blue. The most delicate bloom was on cheek, and her lips were like a thread

Everyone forgot her dress when they oked into that lovely, girlish face, with nder love shining through it, and the perfect happiness resting upon it. [To be Continued.]

RACING AT NEWMARKET.

RACING AT NEWMARKET. London, Oct. 29.-The racing at Newmarket today was attended by the crowd of fashionable people who generally witness the contest for the Cambridgeshire stakes, for which the entries were more numerous than usual. William C. Whitney's Ballantrae was a hot favorite for the event of the day. King Edward was an interested spectator of the races. William C. Whitney's Ballantrae won the Cambridgeshire stakes at the Houghton meeting at Newmarket today. St. MacLou was second, and Nabot third. Twentyfour horses ran. GAVE UP THE TASK.

New York, Oct. 29.-After another session today the National Board of Arbitration gave up the task for the time being of trying to settle the Western baseball war. The board adjourned to meet in Chicago, Nov. 15. Meantime a truce has been declared between the Western League and the American Association with regard to taking each other's players. Conferences have been going on all week with the American Association, represented by Presidents Brice, of Columbus, and Watkins, of Indianapolis, while M. H. Sexton, of Rock Island president of the Western League, and T. H. VanBrant, of St. Joseph, the financial man of the league, have looked out for the interests of their organizations. Acording to a member of the board the American Association people want the Western League to get out of both Kansas City and Milwaukee, VanBrunt to get a half-interest in the Kansas City team. MUSIC AND DRAMA

TONIGHT AT THE GRAND. "A Trip to Coontown," the attraction at the Grand tonight, scintillates with sparkling dance music, catchy songs and most laughable comedy scenes and situations. It is a hurrah of laughter from start to finish, a comic opera with real comedy, with singers who entrance and with comedians whose fun is wholly original and delightful.

COMING ON SATURDAY. Henry Esmond's successful play, which appears at the Grand for Saturday, matinee and night performances, is a story of the foolish ways of boyhood, and the saving wisdom of middle age. It reveals how mature counsel, given at the right time, may save a youth from the snares which lie in the path of 21. It presents, too, a quaint love story, involving laughter and tears, designed to take the spectator back to the days "When We Were Twenty-

One.' A STRIKING SUCCESS. Malcolm Douglas' melodramic production, "A Fight for Millions," will be seen for the first time in this city at the Grand on Monday evening. The play has achieved one of the greatest successes of its kind ever known.
