E. E. Sheppard, one of the Conservative leaders in past years, who is at Ottawa as a newspaper correspondent, writes to his paper, the Toronto ters upon Hon. Clarke Wallace. He alone engaged in the task it would not be improper to impute the motive, in addition to revenge, of desiring to obscure the issue by involving another. If he be not exclusively engaged in this effort to include Hon. Mr. Wallace, but is being assisted by party newspapers and those controlled by personages interested in the Government, then it must seem to be a plot of the rump Government to kill off the ex-Controller of Customs, destroy his influence and prevent him from standing as a sentinel to save public good, as he has done. Is the system of political assassination to go on? Are men to be taken by the throat and persecuted for right-doing? Are political careers to be destroyed that intriguers may gain their end? It seems so. The reconstruction of the Cabinet does not seem to have ended the performances of the thug and bravo."

The same writer gives this effective warning to his party friends, who are alleged to be preparing a high tax campaign platform for the ensuing general election:

"These will be great campaign cries: The old war horse of Cumberland, the old flag, closer connection with England, more public works'—and may the good Lord save us from the latter preparations for war.

"A party in Canada that dare outrage decency, the safety of home and the integrity of the empire by playing upon the latent war spirit, should be sat upon at once, be it Grit or Tory. I do not understand what is meant by the reference to the necessity of strengthening the Canadian defences. I hope this means no jinga policy. (Hear, hear.) We are at with our eighbors. It is true that there was a little ripple a few days ago between Great Britain and the United States, but I am glad to say that the best feeling in Canada and in the United States today would regard a war between Great Britain and the United States as being as fratricidal as that in which 30 years ago were shed pools of blood. It is contended that there is a deep-seated hostility in the United States against Great Britain. I deny the proposition altogether. I know something of the American people. I am free to say that the war of emancipation has left in some classes a feeling or irritation against Great Britain, but I venture to say among the mass of the nation, among the better class of the nation, there is nothing but feelings of love towards the old land, which is the motherland of the United States as well as the motherland of Canada. I who is suspected of becoming warlike was moved and touched to read just a few days ago in what is perhaps the most American of the American poets, Whittier, these lines addressed to the English people:

between the two parties was not as to Mr. Greenway, because he might make concessions to the minority, but they should remove Mr. Greenway from power and give it to his opponents. He was glad to know that the result on Wednesday was in favor of the party which, in the language of the Attorney-General, and its principal organ, the Tribune, was ready to consider the claims of the minority, and if a grievance were found to exist it was ready to give them the measure of relief they were entitled to. At the same time, the principle of Provincial autonomy must not be lost sight of. Mr. Laurier reiterated the fact that he was anxious the Manitoba minority should have their full rights, but that if they were to be maintained, the proper course was a conciliatory one, adopted after a full investigation into all the facts. The contrary course had been adopted by the Government at Ottawa. Mr. Laurier dealt with the claim of the Government that they were bound by the constitution to take their course, and pointed out that the constitution in their hands was an instrument which was or was not to be used, just as party expediency demanded. He instanced the violation for Naperville, Ill., to enter upon study at the Northwestern College seen for years.

The galleries were crowded while the eloquent Liberal leader spoke, but many left when Mr. Foster rose to reply. Sir Richard Cartwright, who followed, taking up the blundering remedial order, aid it would have been well if Mr. Foster and his associates had paused before issuing that order, which they may yet have to repeal. As to Mr. Foster's attack on Mr. Laurier, Rir Richard pointed out that the Ministers are paid hundreds of thousands of dollars for dealing with this and other questions—dealing very badly with them, he was bound to say. (Laughter.) Now, these gentleman were saying to the Opposi-"Tell as what to do, for heaven's tion: sake; tell us what to do." Such attacks as had been made against the leader of the Opposition were foolish. If there was one man in Canada who could not be accused of of inconsistency, that man (turning toward the leader of the Opposition) was Wilfrid Laurier. (Cpposition cheers). No public man had ever taken his political life in his hands under circumstances of greater difficulty, and if any man had been more straightforward and consistent in dealing with this question than Wilfrid Laurier he would like to know his name, Sir Richard Cartwright declared, for he was not in this chamber. (Renewed cheering.) He had said from the first that this was a question of fact, and that it should be investigated, that you should investigate and then negotiate, and by that means get a settlement with the Province of Manitoba of this complicated question. Mr. Foster knew that The band have resumed their regular twice a week practice, and are progressing well.

Mr. Laurier had steadily and consistently advised that this course be taken, whereas members of the Administration no sooner issued the remedial order than they conducted elections in Haldimand, in one Province, and in Vercheres in another, on diametrically opposing lines, giving the blundering order in each case an entirely different meaning. Manitoba had given her answer to such a programme, and so had the Dominion constituencies of Montreal Center, Jacques Cartier, Cardwell and West Huron, in all of which the Ottawa Government were defeated. Sir Richard also made a telling exposure of the high tax policy, pointing out that by it Great Britain was discriminated against, though she receives all our products free of taxa-

Mr. McMullen suggested that as Sir Charles Tupper, who admitted that the Government lied in 1891 when they said they had a reciprocity treaty with the United States, had been taken back, Sir Hector Langevin should also get a portfolio, and Hon. Thomas McGreevy should be taken into the Cabinet.

Attorney-General Blair, the Liberal Premier of New Brunswick, occupied a seat on the floor of the House this afternoon and heard the debate on the address. Speaking afterwards, Mr. Blair expressed great admiration for the Liberal leader's speech, and entire accord with his sentiments. He said: "I have heard Mr. Laurier before, but never to such advantage. It was a splendid speech. I was particularly impressed with the latter portion of it. The Spectator in the Outlook seems to be a very noticing and ententaining ing the hip-band, and omitting the footgentleman, and where'er he takes his band, using the material of it in part as walks abroad, it is amazing what ina side panel, the gown would suit a shorter, stouter figure. It is a cleverly designteresting things he sees. His latest is ed style for various fabrics, and peculiarly that he was sitting alone in an omnibus when his attention was caught by the hurried motions of a man who sprang suddenly from the sidewalk and ran up the ladder that led to the top of the bus. The next moment the stage was stopped and a young and very pretty woman opened the door and entered the body of the vehicle. She was evidently in extreme agitation, and she kept her hand on the lock of the door, ready to spring from her seat at an Instant's notice. "Could anyone come down from the top of this 'bus except by that ladder?" she asked the Spectator. The Spectator assured her that the ladder was the only accepted means of descent. Then the young woman settled herself to weep openly, sobbing aloud as if her heart was breaking, but her watchful eyes never left the ladder. The Spectator stood this as long as a man might. He could not decide whether the girl was in pursuit of the man above, or he in pursuit of her, but, fearing that the latter was the case, the Spectator Anally leaned forward and asked the stereotyped question, "Can I do anything for you?" "Nobody can," sobbed the girl. "That's my husband up there. He's running away from me because I caught him, myself, walking with her. They told me well adapted to the economical intent of the woman who is in the depths of "makhe was fooling me, but I wouldn't being over"-that bugaboo of the wardrobe. lieve it till just now, as I was coming home from a visit to mamma. I In lusterless corded silk, with Persian lamb this is an excellent design for a gown saw him with her myself, and I walkfor second mourning, in which case the ed right up to them, and he ran away frem me. You'll tell me if you see with a border of dull jet, and a tiny inner him getting down on that side, won't you? I must speak to him." "Don't lusterless jet ornament completing the you think you had better wait and speak to him later, when you are quieter?' said the Spectator, soothingly. He knew he would have acted more wisely to be silent, but the girl was very young and frantic with grief. "Pray go back to your mother," urged the Spectator, "I don't think you can accomplish anything by following your husband in this public way." "We have only been married six months," sobbed the poor wife, anl the Spectator's heart was wrung for her; and yet to this day he is not sure that the husband did not have at least extenuating circumstances on his side. A woman who indulges in a stagecoach confidence with any provocation is, to put it mildly, neither very delicate nor properly reserved, and this young woman was also plainly well ble to defend her rights. The 'bus topped suddenly, and she wiped her eyes to look out. A block of carriages as ahead, and in the pause the Spectator saw a stealthy foot feeling its and had dropped from his perch before the Spectator could decide on any course. In a flash the girl was out of he 'bus, and flung herself from the tep, and was clinging to her husband's arm. Checked in full flight, he urned furiously and flung her so roughly from him that she staggered. he Spectator started from his seat. he street was too full of traffic for uch trifling. To the Spectator's reef, the young husband, with a sudden repentance, caught his wife back him, and dragged her to the sidevalk, still clirging to the arm she had lutched.

"It's a shame," said the ardent patriot, "that our girls should be married away into Europe, as they constantly are."

"Yes." replied Sinnicker, "but it might be worse."

"How?"

"They might masist on their husbands living in this country."-The Star, Washington.

By the way, did it ever strike you, how nearly all the witty women are to be found in the ranks of the great women's suffrage movement. There seems to be about as much fun and merriment going on in that camp as anything else. Harken to Mrs. Minor Meriwether!

"While we are talking of Paul's teaching, let me say its application is uncertain. Granted that a woman must be in subjection to her own hushand, that often is the reverse of disagreeable. Husbands may, many of hem, be like my own, a rather nice fellow. But neither Paul nor amyone else pretends that we must be in subjection to each other's husbands. If we submit to taxation without representation imposed by a government of men, we are in subjection to other people's husbands, for which there is no injunction in Scripture."

A Short-Lived Tupper Regime, Two causes have contributed to bring Sir Charles Tupper into the public dife of Canada on the eve of a Dominion general election-the demoralized condition of the high tax leaders, imperilling his continuance in office, and his own anxiety to seize the Premiership, and if possible hold on it in reversion for his equally grasping son. Now that he is about to enter Parliament, through a conspiracy that has brought publicity to no end of treachery, corrupt bargaining and demoralization in the high tax ranks, the elder Tupper may be expected to start once more on a career of promising and false prophecy. That and the prodigal expenditure of public money are the stock-in-trade of this Nova Scotia politician. He induced Parkament to "clap on all sail" in the matter of spending money, by pledging his word as a statesman in 1880, that inside of 000. The debt is now over $250,000,000. again votes confidence in a Tupper Administration. It was Tupper who promised that the sale of Northwest a power which tolerated outrages of to want it quick. When bye-elections the construction of the Canadian Paci- ly firearms, Maxim guns and kindred disgusted with the Government and fic Railway. Up to this year (1896) the equipment, the stricken peasants are lands has been absorbed in expenses oppressors, often directly countenfor surveys and management. It was anced or winked at by the central aumany thousands of additional ironto be provided.

And now we are told that it is intended to have another era of Tupper inflation, of Tupper additions to the debt. of Tupper additions to the al- they ready heavy burdens on the people. If the opponents of the high tax rulers in the present Parliament can meanwhile prevent the exploiting of the treasury for the benefit of a few favorites, there does not seem to be people will see to it that the cormorants who hover around Ottawa, with Sir Charles Tupper as the most voracious of the brood, are deprived of the opportunity, promote their schemes for greatly adding to the burdens of the taxpayers.

This country needs, and means to have, lighter tax burdens, not continued addition to them, as has ever been the programme of this ambitious and far from scrupulous politician.

On the strength of his personal magnetism, Sir John Macdonald managed to obtain a pardon from thousands of Canadian voters for the maladministration of Sir Charles Tupper. When Sir John passed away, Sir Charles Tupper's hold on the independent electors passed away also. Without that ald, so potent at last general election, when the Government came within a few seats of being defeated, no party with a bad record and a reckless leader, such as that at Ottawa is booked to have at the next general elections, can weather a popu-

A POLITE CHILD.

Prof. Sully, in an article in the Popular Science Monthly, commenting on the jealous regard for ceremony and the properties of behavior as seen in the enforcement or rules of politeness by children, cites a delightful instance that fell under his own observation as he was walking on Hamp-stead Heath. "It was a spring day, and the fat buds of the chestnut were bursting into magnificent green plumes. Two well-dressed 'misses,' aged, I should say, about 9 and 11, taking their correct morning walk. The elder called the attention of the younger to one of the trees pointing to it. The younger exclaimed, in a highly shocked tone, 'O, Maud, you know you shouldn't point?' The notion of perpetrating a rudeness on the chestunt tree was funny enough, but the incident is instructive as il-lustrating the childish tendency to stretch and generalize rules to the ut-

A Remarkable Case

Rheumatism of 20 Years' Standing Radically Cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Sarah Browning, an estimable resident of the Ambitious City, was for twenty years a sufferer from acute rheumatism, and her restoration to health is so remarkable that we present the case for the benefit of our readers, many of whom are doubtless sufferers from this painful complaint which arises from blood poison. Mrs Browning says: "I used only one bottle of Scott's Sarsaparilla and received such benefit that I continued taking only at intervals for two months. That is seven months ago, and the pain has not returned. I had spent a fortune in various "treatments" and was told by one medical man that a cure was impossible, as I had suffered so

Grand Jurors Are Through.

The Grand Jury at the Middlesex Winter Assizes Completes Its Work-The Presentment Made-Suit for Damages Against London West - Verdict in a Note Case.

The grand jurors for the Middlesex Winter Assizes have completed their labors, and gone to their respective homes. They were told off to their duties by Chief Justice Meredith at the opening of the court on Monday, and after returning a bill in the only criminal case on the calendar, began visiting the various public institutions in the county. They made their pre-sentment this morning, and were dis-Their pay roll amounted to charged. $150, the lightest grand jury bill in the history of the county. The pre-sentment bade Chief Justice Meredith a hearty welcome on his first appearance in his native county in the capacity of chief justice, and thanked him for his lucid exposi-tion of the law in his opening address. The jail and its surroundings were found neat, clean and in a condition generally creditable to the oxicials. There were only fifteen prisoners confined therein-14 men and 1 woman, the smallest number in years—and they had no complaint to make regarding their treatment, the jailer, matron and other officers being very attentive to them. Sixty-five patients were confined in the City Hospital. The Insane Asylum was a and there were found under treatment 1,016 partients-476 of whom were men, and 540 women, "Under the guidance. of Dr. Buchanan and an assistant, said the jury, "we visited the several wards, and the kindness of the officials and assistants proved conclusively to us that there was nothing lacking on the part of the officials to make the lunatics as comfortable as possible, the faithful staff throughout being apparently favorites of the inmates.' Joseph's Hospital was well equipped in all its departments, orderly and well kept, and had 35 patients. The county House of Refuge at Strathroy was carefully managed, and the 106 in-mates were well pleased with the treatment they received from the keepers, Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins. Concluding, the jury expressed thanks to Sheriff Cameron, Crown Attorney Ma-Detroit, Jan. 17.—Fire broke out at 2 gee, Col. Macbeth, clerk of the court, and other officials for their countesy and assistance. Chief Justice Meredith

> In the case of Dancey (Goderich) vs. Chisholm (Port Huron), an action on a note, a verdict or $590 was returned for the plainenf. The court this morning took up the case of Flood against London West. J. H. Flood, of this city, is the plaintiff, and he is asking for $1,000 damages for injuries sustained by being thrown out of a rig on the Wharncliffe road. The accident happened in March last, when Flood and two other men were returning from the country. When they reached the C. P. R. bridge in London West they struck a snow bank, which they contend the village should have removed, as it was danger-ous to travelers. Wm. Knox, one of occupants of the rig, had several factured From Wood Pulp. We have had the golden age and the iron age and various other ages but the present will probably be known as the wooden or paper age. Paper dress material masquerading as silk is the latest invention in the paper line and threatens to drive the silk-worm out of the business. Spruce sawdust, cotton or jute waste and alcohol are put into t e machine and come out at the other en shining, delicately colored, rustling silks suitable for the most fastidious lady's gown. Of course this paper silk doesn't wear so well as the real fabric, but think how much cheaper it will be!

Enthusiastic paper manufacturers say the new woman and the new man will dine off paper dishes. It is not improbable that the hat of the future will be an indestructible paper affair impervious to fire or water. Over in Paris any enterprising milliner will be able to show you stylish bonnets and hats made entirely of paper, frame, trimming, ornaments and all. Parasols of paper do not seem to have been thought of yet, but satchels and trunks of paper are common enough. The paper trunk despite its frail sound is the despair of the baggage smasher. It refuses to smash.

So do paper car wheels. They have been in use for years on some of the most important railroads in this country. It must not be supposed that the wheels are made entirely of paper. This material only forms the interior shell. Having been subjected to terrific pressure it is moulded and firmly bolted to the outer rim which is of steel. Greater durability and lightness are claimed for these wheels, but don't let the idea of lightness lead you to get under one. If you do you may possibly have use for one of the paper coffins which are being turned out at wholesale by a firm at Westfield, Mass.

The railroad train of the future is likely not only to have paper wheels but to run on paper rails. These are made entirely of paper and are formed in moulds under great pressure. They have been used to some extent in Russia and Germany and are said to be free from many of the defects of the ordinary steel rail.

Paper horseshoes are another European invention. Among the advantages claimed for them is that they maintain a rough surface enabling the horse to get a good grip on the smooth pavements. German paper-makers have put on the market a substance called "papier sculptor" which is used instead of clay for modelling. It is simply paper pulp kept soft enough to be worked.

Papier mache ceilings and wall decorations are very fashionable. They may look like leather or brocade or a thousand and one handsome embossed effects, but they are wood pulp just the same.

The housefurnishing departments in the big shops furnish interesting evidence of the extent to which paper enters into ordinary life. Paper pails and tubs are appreciated by the suburban dweller who hasn't "set" tubs. They are much lighter and easier to keep clean as well as cheaper than the old style. Water coolers are made of paper. So is the muchabused cuspidor Peach baskets, berry baskets and butter boxes are made of paper, and almost everything under the sun-sait, which used to come in pretty blue and white bags, oatmeal, crackers, ice-cream, candy, shoes, corsets, dresses-is sent home in a paper box.

In Japan, they say, some folks live in paper houses, and in this country paper boats are in use. Nor must the necessary sewer pipe be forgotten. Paper pipes for carrying water, steam or electricity are not uncommon. As conduits for electricity they are considered safe, even though the wire be not insulated.

SHOT A WHITE BULL.

Gen. Maury's Adventure That Landed Him in a Cactus Bush.

Gen. Dabney H. Maury, the war veteran, has a fund of anecdote and plenty of wit for spicing it, and his stories are listened to with much pleasure. His favorite tale is of his battle with a cactus bush:

"It happened when we were stationed in Texas upon the banks of the Rio Grande, and being a little anxious one day regarding a small speck I saw moving in the distance I determined to go softly forward to investigate it. I did not tell any one of my movements, fearing to be laughed at as a false alarmist. As I crept through the bush toward the moving speck it suddenly grew much larger, and I saw it was coming straight toward me. I had no field glass, but as I enjoyed an adventure I determined to meet the enemy, no matter what it was. So I stood boldly up and waited.

"In a minute it was in shooting distance of me, and then I saw it was a splendid white bull. Now, I was never afraid of Taurus, though I had had several experiences with him on the prairies, so, standing my ground. I let fly at him with my rifle again and again. "I think I must have struck him, for he snorted and charged toward me. I shot again, the shot taking effect in his head. But my shot only angered him and gave him fresh strength. With a terrific bellow he lowered his head and made for me. I took one look at his horns, realized that there was not time to fire again and dodged him. I jumped to one side into a pile of underbrush and landed in the midst of a great cactus bush. Do you know what a cactus bush is? In its wild state it is a bundle of razors, newly sharpened and turned blade toward you, and I fell on top of twenty keen knives. "I lay there until I could find courage to crawl through the blades, and, terribly cut, I crept home. When I told my story, my comrades did not believe me. 'Go over there half a mile, and you will find a white bull dead in the brush,' I said. He fell as I lay on the cactus points, and if I had it to do over again I'd take my chance with the bull."-New York Recorder.

A Reasoner, "There, Willie," said the lad's mother,

"Why, Willie, you know you are saving up your money to give to the heath-"Y-yes'm, but the Chinese are heathen aren't they?"

"Yes, dear." "And the Chinese make the firecrackers, don't they?" "I am told they do."

"Well, then, the heathen'll get my money just the same, so it's all right."

FINEST FISH THAT SWIM.

Hogfish, Grunt or Pigfish is the Toothsome Delicacy. A correspondent of the United States fish commission, writing from Hunger's Wharf, Va., said, in a letter about the

"In my estimation, it is the finest fish that swims. It grows to the size of about one pound, and is now rather scarce. When I was a boy, about forty years ago, they were very plentiful, and I have known 300 pounds caught at one haul of the seine. They have since gradually become scarcer. They come about the 1st of July, and remain until November." The hogfish, or grunt, of the Chesa-eake is also called pigfish, or grunt, in the Gulf of Mexico, and is known in South Carolina, as well as in Bermuda, under the name of "sailor's choice." Its color is thus described: "Body above pale brown, below silvery; sides marked with numerous orange-colored or yellow spots; those above the lateral line disposed in irregular oblique lines, those below it in horizontal lines. Dorsal, anal and caudal fins, with similar spots; sides of the head pale bluish, with a silvery tint, and marked with yellow spots; lower jaw orange at the angle of the mouth; inter-nal surface of gill membrane bright or-qualities of things edible, pronounces the hogfish to be the greatest delicacy that grows in the sea, and declares that if it could be introduced to the whole country the verdict would be unanimous. Now and then, says the New York Press, but very rarely, he manages to get an invoice of the fish from Norfolk at his Washington hotel, but when he finds his appetite for hogfish coming on he travels to Nor folk or Fort Monroe to appease it. He shares the Norfolk opinion that the only additional article needed at a hogfish dinner is a sliced tomato that has been kept in a cold place a proper time before it is served.

SWALLOWED HIS BATON.

French Drum Major Introduced a New Act and Was Promptly Suppressed. A decidedly unique variation of a drum major's usual performance when on review occurs in one of the French regiments of the line-or, rather, did occurfor the colonel of that regiment has now put down his foot and issued a positive fiat that his subordinate shall henceforward confine himself to orthodox tricks. The musical leader in question had at one period of his life been a mountebank, and evidently a good one, for, after practicing in secret a number of times, he astonished the regiment, drawn up in review one day, by suddenly throwing his stick high in the air, catching it in his mouth upon its descent and swallowing fully one-half of it. Having accomplished this gastronomic diversion, he stood for a moment while the spectators gazed in awed amazement, and then disgorged the half of the baton which he had swallowed and continued his march down the

He repeated this trick a good many times and the regiment was very proud of him, but it brought it such an unenviable reputation that the colonel finally had to stop him. Now his performance is thoroughly conventional.

It was thought that in all the previously mentioned forms of earning money one spends much to gain little. While such ways might not be harmful, they thought there was a higher and nobler form of enriching the Lord's treasury—one by which every cent given should be His, without any heavy de-duction for expenses, and that was the still more old-fashioned Biblical method-older, even, than bazars and "autograph quilts," viz.-that of a free will offering to the Lord. John Seaton, whose arrest and committment for trial were noted in last evening's "Advertiser," is over 75 years of age, and totally blind. Seaton is charged with conspiring to burn several of his own buildings in Strathroy for the purpose of recovering the insurance. He was arrested by Chief of Police Dodd, and at the preliminary hearing before Police Magistrate Noble damaging evidence was given by Geo. Mitchell, who claims that he was to have been the firebug on payment of $125. Mitchell swore that he was to burn the Revere House, Seaton Hall and the stables at the rear. Instructions were given as to how and where he was to set the several fires going. The hotel was to be ignited in the rooms, the barn was to go from the hay mow, and the stores from under the counters. Early Sunday morning was the time set, but Mitchell failed to carry out his undertaking, he told Seaton, because a horse in the barn was sick, and men were about attending to it. He claimed that Seaton gave him $10 on the con-tract, and $1 to buy coal oil. He also gave him a key, which was produced. E. Hall, W. Fitzgerald, Joseph Campbell and P. O'Dwyer gave evidence in support of Mitchell's story. Seaton is one of the best known men in the western part of the county, having been an extensive contractor for years. He became pretty wealthy, and put his money into a motel, "a block of stores and other buildings. Lately he has borrowed money on the property, and became financially involved.

HOCKEY.

LONDON IN A TIE MATCH. A team from the London Hockey Club played a match at Berlin last night, which resulted in a tie, the score at the call of time being 4 to 4. Berlin claims the game, however. When time was about to be called, the home team managed to get the puck within an inch or two of going through the goal, and London's men ceased to play, thinking that the goal was scored and taking it for granted that the game was over, as the time-keepers came on the ice. The goal judge declared no goal, and before London had a chance to get into position the puck was driven between the stakes. Then the whistle blew. Berlin claimed the goal, but the referee would not give a decision. London disputes the home team's to the goal, and the matter will have to be settled by the executive of the Ontario Hockey Association. "Magic Liquid.

Much amusement may be afforded at a party by pouring out of the same bottle a liquid which assumes three different colors. This is how it is done: Steep logwood shavings (they may be bought at any drug store) in water, and when a good red color has been obtained pour the liquid into a wine bottle. Take three tumblers and, without being observed, rinse one of them out with strong vinegar; put a little powdered alum into the second and leave the third without any preparation. Pour from the bottle some liquid into the first tumbler; this will assume a straw color; pour into the second, and the liquid will pass gradually from a bluish gray or black on being stirred with a steel key or any piece of iron which has been previously dipped in strong vinegar; pour into the third, and the red liquid will assume a Educated Soldiers.

It speaks well for the German army that of the 250,000 recruits who joined the colors in 1894 there were only 617 who could not read or write. According to the official reports issued at Paris no less than 22,000 were ignorant of these elements of education among the 310,000 conscripts who joined the French army during the same period. At Lisbon-admittedly the most highly educated town or city in Portugal-more than half of the population can neither read nor write.

New Species of Ape.

The Zoological Gardens at Berlin have just received from the Dutch East Indies an ape utterly unlike anything of the kind ever seen before in Europe. It is of the orang-outang species, and of a bright, flaring red, with bare neck and a remarkable hooked nose. The inhabitants of Sumatra are said to regard it with superstitious revence. It is alleged that these apes can swell their larynxes to an enormous extent, uttering loud sounds which cannot be described in words.

of the presence of spectators. "And I, for my part, promise," continued the doctor, "that neither my wife nor I will say another word upon this subject in presence of the boy, until after he has given you his answer at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning; and he shall be with you this evening, on condition, always, that my secret is religiously kept. Do you promise for yourself and the ladies, abbe?" "I swear it, doctor."
"That is finished, then." And Dr.

Le Baron so plainly wished the interview also to be finished, that Valerie indignantly rose to go; but Despard, preventing her, said in his genial fashion:

The doctor bowed profoundly in reply to Valerie's profound courtesy, but neither spoke, heither offered a hand, neither sought the other's eye. The next morning about 10 o'clock Master Lazarus again entered the sitting room. His mother sat in her ample outfit. He sat in his leathern chair beside the garden window of the study, smoking his pipe, and narrat-ing his adventures in a tone of whimsical gravity all his own. As the boy entered he became silent, and looked at his wife; she less self-conscious, looked at her son, her soul in her eyes. Lazarus came close to her side, laid his arms about her neck and kissed her tenderly, then, going to his father, slipped a shy hand into his, saying: "They've sailed, father; and the gen-

"Well, well, it's all over, then, is it? "Yes, father, quite all over."
"There, then, go to thy mother, and she'll comfort thee as mothers can. You have done well, my boy, and escaped right easily."

yet she never spoke of it.

Valerie's last promise was kept. Never more came tidings over sea to disturb the quiet of that simple home, the hard-fought peace of that strange, nameless life; never flew butterfly or humming-bird from the rose gardens of Provence to the bleak shores of Plymouth Bay, but the pure breath of the Mayflower perfumed those barren shores, and heart's-ease bloomed in shores, and heart's-ease bloomed in but surely their concern for their own Mary's garden plot, nor failed as the honor would be their first considerayears went on.

Lazarus married, nor once alone; and his second wife was daughter of the Bradfords. Many children sat around his board, and went out into the world carrying the new name of Le Baron; but the fairest, the best-beloved, the nearest to the father's heart, of all the girls, was his daughter Therese; and it was his whim, or one of them—for this Dr. Le Baron, like the first, was whimsical and reticent—to like to see her dark hair decked with carnation ribbons. On the crest of Burying Hill stands today, just where Dr. Francois uprooted his mistaken memorial, another stone, of black marble, and stately even in its decrepitude; it bears the inscription, true this time, although not all of the truth:

"We have cause to look to the mother country for standards of public honor, and is there any good reason why our standards should be lower? Is it possible to imagine a British Cabinet presenting the appearance the Canadian Cabinet does today, or British Ministers acting as our own are doing? We doubt whether a man in this city will say yes. They would feel as keen a concern for party good, tion, and their country is the better

The Quebec Chronicle (Conservative) thus denounces the seven conspira-"They resigned in a body and left Sir Mackenzie Bowell to find out why they deserted their seats, in the newspapers. They did not even favor him with a copy of their reasons. They who fawned upon him twelve months ago left him without saying so much as good-bye. They did not say to his face that he was incompetent to lead them. They allowed him to find that Commons the story of their desertion, and a wretched story it was. No one sympathizes with them. No one can respect them. They are politically lost and their treacherous conduct should keep them out of politics forever. If they are ruined politically and socially, as they ought to be, the lesson will not be lost."

A Toronto dispatch says: The Catholic Register, which has been all along the most outspoken advocate of the Government's remedial policy, has a scathing article today on the situation at Ottawa, which, it says, can no longer be spoken of in a tone of reserve Criticism now falls short, and con-demnation must take its place. After reviewing events since the bolt, it asks: "Will Sir Charles Tupper, for he is now virtually Premier of Canada, attempt to pass a remedial bill? Will he stake his success upon that issue after what has taken place within the Government? With the intentions of the Government henceforth honest men can have little concern. They are in a discredited, in a ridiculous position before the country. It would be absurd to expect anything definite from them. This is the view we expressed last week, and all that has occurred since has helped to confirm us in our opinion. They have lost every claim to confidence, every right to public trust. They have lost all the instincts of statesmen, even of average politicians; the only characteristic that still clings to them is their dogged pertinacity to retain the fruits of office. We do not apply these remarks to all the members of the Government, for we know not how long or how short it may be until another crisis arises as important as the one now announced over. But the deserters of the last week are for the mo-ment in control of the policy of the Conservative party, and as they are men unworthy of confidence, and equal to any species of political villainy, it is they who must now be judged and condemned for all."

A Kingston telegram says: In referring to Sir Mackenzie Bowell taking back the bolting Cabinet Ministers the Canadian Freeman says: "We are extremely sorry that Sir Mackenzie Bowell did not abide by his deter-mination to die game and show those trusted lieutenants that they played their shabby trick on the wrong kind of a farmer. With the strikers back and the elder Tupper also seated, it will be necessary for the Premier to keep a watchful eye. They betrayed him two weeks ago, and he should not again fool with the fire. His recent speech in the Senate in regard to how he had been treated by his supposed friends brought him to the top of the sympathy ladder, but his allowing the men who did their greatest to politically assassinate him to again take him Senor Canovas, on of the most by the arm as a friend has dropped him down with such force that the recovery of his laurels is out of the recovery of his laurels is out of the question. A TORONTO LADY

GETS A CHRISTMAS BOX WHICH SHE PRIZES HIGHLY.

In tracing up some of Santa Claus' good deeds this year, a lady gives us the following account of her Christmas box. The lady's name is Mrs. H. G. Ferguson, and she resides at 211 Church st. Mrs. Ferguson began as follows:-

"I have for years been a great sufferer with kidney complaint, severe pain under ilders and across back, and latterly so weak that I could not walk out or do housework. Seven years ago the doctor told me I had Bright's Disease. A number of physicians told me I was past help; one of them said I could not live a month. I have taken a great deal of medicine, but without relief, and had given up hope; in fact, told my son that I did not expect to live until spring. My son saw the adver-tisement of the Doan Kidney Pill Co., Dec. 3rd, and told me. I asked him to get a box and I would try them, although I had but little faith in them, because all other remedies had failed, and as a result I had given up hope. He got one box of pills at J. R. Lee's drug store and I commenced taking them. The result has been marvellous. After taking them once I experienced relief, and after tak-ing them three times the change for the better was marked. I have only taken one box of pills, but I feel like a new woman. The pain and other symptoms of the dreadful disease are gone. I am stronger and better than I have been in many years. I am now able to do my housework and walk out without suffering any inconvenience. That box of Doan's Kidney Pills was indeed a grand Christmas box for me. I am glad to let everyone know about this wonderful eure, in the hope that some one who has suffered as I have may try the remedy and be benefited as I have been."

NEW CANON OF WESTMINSTER.

Robert Eyton the Fortunate and Distinguished Individual.

It is officially announced, says the Lononry, to which Rev. Robert Eyton, rector of Holy Trinity, Chelsea, and prebendary of St. Paul's has been appointed in succession to Archdeacon Farrar, carries with it the rectory of St. Margaret's, Westminster. Mr. Eyton graduated at Christ Church, Oxford, in 1869, was appointed subalmoner to the queen in 1883 and rector of Upper Chelsea in the following year. He is a popular preacher in the west end and an ardent supporter of the Christian Social Union. For some years he sat as one of the members for Chelsea on the London school board. At the election in November last he stood as "an independent church candidate," but was Prison Reform movement. -Although one of the youngest of American stars, Walker Whiteside has an unusually extensive repertoire. It has been said of him that in the diversity of the characters he portrays he "runs the entire gamut of human passion." Although "Hamlet" is his favorite character, his reputation does not rest alone upon his masterly interpretation of the melancholy prince, and in the diametrically opposite characters of "Richard," "Shylock" and Richelieu," he has won triumphs equally as pronounced. No two characters known to the stage are more distinctly different than "Hamlet" and "Richelieu," and the ease with which Mr. Whiteside sinks his own individuality in either character is a proof of his remarkable genius. In response to a very general desire, Mr. Whiteside will present during his coming engagement in this city Bulwer's always interesting drama "Richelieu." THE NEW FOREMAN.

CONCERT AT THE ASYLUM. On Wednesday evening last a concert was given at the asylum for insane by the staff of R. S. Williams & Son, the well-known firm of piano manufacturers, assisted by one or two others. The concert, under the personal direction of Mr. John W. Croden, the popular local manager, was rendered in a manner which showed that those who tool part were not only good musicians but also actors of no small merit. The large audi ence present manifested their appreciatio of the treat they were enjoying by applauding each performer vigorously and encoring each number. All at the asylum hope to be soon again favored with a visit from Mr soon again favored with a visit from Mr. Croden and his galaxy of artists. Pen Sketch of Rev. L. H. Jordan, Who

Toronto, published a sketch of Rev. Louis H. Jordan, B. D., of St. James' Square Presbyterian church, Toronto. Mr. Jordan is to take anniversary services at the First Presbyterian church next Sabbath, the 19th inst., and the following summary of his personality and power by his Toronto critic will be interesting to the citizens of London: "When Rev. Louis H. Jordan, B. D., pastor of the St. James' Square Presbyterian church, leaves the screening shelter of the reading-desk and comes out from it a step or two on one side or the other, as he does ccasionally throughout his sermon, you see that he is a man in the prime of life, and and every inch an ecclesiastic. To look at, he is the beau ideal of a churchman, and nobody would ever suppose him anything else. Cultured correctness is in the calm and placid expression of his strong face—cleanshaven, with a well cut nose and a deter-mined ohin—in every contour of his compact head, with its short, very closely-brushed, iron-gray hair; in his smile, which like his usual speech, shows a set of perfect and gleaming teeth. The churchman-like tout ensemble is added to by the gown and bands he wears, which are like you see in pictures of 200 years ago. The black silk gown reaches to his feet, and has voluminous sleeves, which are very effective when the preacher raises his arm as he did on Sunday night, when he pointed out over an imagin-ary door of hell, Dante's words: "All hope abandon, ye who enter here." He pointed out each word as he uttered it so that his hearers saw, in thought, the lurid announcement, duly spaced out over the gloomy portal. The black gown is a very striking background for the immaculate white bands, and as Mr. Jordan possesses natural dignity, and has a high idea of his office, he looks as though he might be anything from a dean to an archbishop He is a strong, definite man; no dreamer; no poet; no doubter; no mystic. Looking back on his sermon I think it shows that he is a master of the art of preaching. All that he says is put clearly, decisively and definitely. There is no muddle. Every word has its due place and every word tells. The consequence is that his discourses are easily remembered. He is deeply imbued with the traditional theology of his communion, and it is not likely that any doubt will be expressed as to his complete orthodoxy. A kindly man and a strong, who finds in the Bible a suffi-cient rule of faith and practice, and who is entirely unswayed by the speculations of these later days, and who will not swerve from declaring what he believes to be the "whole council of God." THE WM. FIELDS CASE

Bright's Disease.

He Follows the Successful Example of Others and Is Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Owen Sound, Jan. 17 .- To say that excitement prevails here is to draw it mildly. The coming to light of case after case in which Dodd's Kidney Pills have effected cures has created an undercurrent of talk which brings some new marvel to the surface every day.

Mr. Wm. Fields, a C. P. R. porter here, was seen by your correspondent, and stated his case as follows: "I was afflicted with Bright's Disease o the Kidneys for three years.

"None of the doctors in Owen Sound in Toronto being able to help me.
"At last, when almost hopeless of a cure I was advised to use Dodds' Kidney Pills. "I acted on the advice, and after using six boxes the cure was affected, and today I am a perfectly healthy man and able to work every day, something I have been unable to do for over two years before taking Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Sold by ail druggists and dealers at 50 cents per box, or by mail by addressing the Dodd's Medicine Company, Toronto.

Are Liars!

Taking one consideration with another, no man can deny the proposition and keep himself in line with the accepted things of today from a strictly orthodox standpoint. Let alone orthodoxy, heterodoxy, your doxy, my doxy, and you'll find yourself standing on the broad principle of right, the basis of which is truth and if truth does not prevail, then all things said and done are as "sounding of brass and tinkling of cymbals." We sell drygoods, we do not give them away, but the prices we ask are below the prices named by those who claim to do so. When you shall have made the rounds of the bargain boomers, come to us and we will show you who the greatest liars are.
