

COURT REPORTS OF PERJURY

ELECT MACDONALD HEAD OF BRITISH LABOR PARTY

Member for Aberavon, Glamorganshire, To Pilot Faction in Parliament—Henderson Named Chief Whip, With Ben Spoor Acting in House.

CHOOSE JOHN CLYNES AS DEPUTY

London, England, Nov. 21.—James Ramsay MacDonald, member of Parliament for the Aberavon division of Glamorganshire, and long prominent as a Labor leader, was today elected leader of the parliamentary Labor party.

John R. Clynes, former chairman of the parliamentary party, whose election to the leadership had been generally anticipated, was elected deputy leader, Arthur Henderson, long Labor party leader in the Commons, who failed of election to the House in the recent by-election, was made chief whip, with Ben Spoor, the acting chief whip in the House of Commons.

Excuse Remark.

Too much importance should not be attributed to the ebullience of feeling manifested at the ceremony in the House of Lords yesterday in connection with the opening of Parliament, when a new Labor member of the House of Commons, who was in the gallery, ejaculated, "We will smash all this." As a matter of fact some excuse is being urged on behalf of the member in question, Captain pretzman, a Conservative, speaking in the House of Commons, referred rather patronizingly to the effect the "atmosphere of the House" was likely to have on new members.

Mr. Hon. J. H. Clynes, leader of the Labor opposition in the House of Commons, referred to the utterance in question, and said that, at any rate, he could give the wholehearted

FINDS IRELAND NOT IN THROES OF REVOLUTION

Advertiser Correspondent Declares Dublin Goes About Business and Avoids Talk.

DEFENDS DEATH PENALTY

Mulcahey Tells Dail Life of Erin Must Be Preserved.

Special to Advertiser (Copyright). London, Nov. 21.—Have just returned from Ireland after spending a few days in Dublin and vicinity.

Those who think of Ireland as a country torn by civil war, and who think between Dublin and Belfast there is being waged irrepressible conflict would be surprised to see the tranquility of the city. Dublin is more like Toronto than any city in England, and people go about their business quite oblivious to any conflict of opinion, with Ulster at arms with De Valera's irregulars.

Neither on the boat across the canal, in the train or in the hotels did I hear a word spoken of revolt. Republican is not a word except in reply to my inquiries. It is either universal policy to ignore the subject and discourage agitation, or it is found personally prudent to avoid talk. The news that comes out of Ireland gives an exaggerated idea of the importance of the revolting minority.

The Free State has an overwhelming popular support. No war exists, but a violent few, mostly boys under 20, commit violent acts at intervals. When Dublin papers came out Friday afternoon, the city was startled to learn that four irregulars had been executed that morning.

Not Armed Gang.

They were boys aged from 18 to 23 and they were tried, sentenced to death and executed for having been found carrying concealed weapons. Not an armed gang of four, but individuals who were separated.

In Canada they would have been fined ten dollars and costs. Here they fell before a firing squad at dawn.

The Free State government is determined to suppress lawless acts or irregulars and carrying arms is a capital offence.

On the afternoon when this news came Eirke Childers was on trial before private military court charged only with offence of being found armed, and the executions of the morning was significant of the probable fate of Childers.

Deemed Shock Necessary.

In the Dail Eirke said the same night Johnston raised the question of execution and spoke of shock to Dail and opinion generally. Mulcahey replied that the government deemed the shock necessary to play at revolution to convey the sense of deadly determination of authorities to suppress senseless crimes.

The nation was more important than the lives of many individuals, and not only famous or notorious offenders (meaning Childers), would merit severe punishment, but those who play at revolution must be made to know the dangers of what they do, he said.

With these executions on Friday the trial of Childers ending Saturday, but result not known; with Mary McSwiney on hunger strike in Mountjoy prison, and her sister hunger striking outside jail, attended by crowds of sympathizers who knelt in prayer, it is felt that if irregulars are to break out again current events must hasten that moment.

Children Now Weep.

Children, they say, is now but a wreck of his former self. The irregulars threaten vengeance on leaders of the Free State if Childers is executed, and that execution seems certain, unless British influence can bring a sentence of life banishment.

Sunday morning I walked through peaceful streets with children going to worship, and got a newspaper, telling how on the night before, irregulars about to plant a mine under the bridge at Inchicore, a suburb of Dublin, had a premature explosion, and six of them were completely blown to pieces that authorities were unable to identify them.

In the afternoon, I walked along O'Connell street, in Happy Rows, where an hour later women agitators started a row near Nelson's statue. Free State troops came. Someone in the crowd fired shots. Troops replied, and half a dozen men were wounded.

Those compelled to judge assert that Congrave is the man who will make the Free State mark, talks seldom, and acts firmly.

The incidents referred to make it appear that Dublin is the scene of strife, but far from it. One sees the city utterly at peace, and rides or walks anywhere by day or night without anything occurring. Yet one comes to the neighborhood of the Four Courts, where whole blocks of buildings were shot down, and the scene is like the wholesale district in Toronto after the great fire.

Lloyd George was not in his seat yesterday, and his absence left a great gap in the scene. The Chronicle will announce for tomorrow a debate on the situation, denouncing the danger to parliamentary institutions of the Free State, and the division by the Liberal party. It is expected to be the opening gun in a campaign for United Ireland.

LLOYD GEORGE'S SECRETARY.

London, Nov. 21.—The keeper of more secrets than anyone in the British Empire is a young and pretty and fair-haired and charming woman.

She is Miss Frances Louise Stevenson, for nine years—the most crucial nine years in Britain's history—confidential private secretary to Lloyd George, and the first woman in the world to be secretary to a premier.

Compared to her the oyster is garish and the clam a chatter-box. She won't even be interviewed about herself. She is the greatest proof in the world that women can and do keep secrets.

Miss Stevenson was graduated from Clapham High School and Royal Holloway College, and got her Bachelor of Arts degrees from London University.

Then she entered civil service. She became a clerk in a government department. That was usually means burial for good and all.

Lloyd George Notices Her.

But, somehow, by her skill, efficiency, attention to detail, Miss Stevenson was brought to the notice of Lloyd George. And in 1913, when

MAY BE PUT ON SCHOOL BOARD WITHOUT FIGHT

First Six Nominees to Qualify May Get Acclamation, Officials Believe.

UTILITIES VOTE UNLIKELY

Interest in Mayoralty Race and Battle in Ward Three Grows.

The indications are that Commissioner T. W. McFarland and R. J. Webster will be returned by acclamation as members of the public utilities commission. Both have qualified and it was the report at the city hall at press time that the other three nominees will not stand for election.

Mrs. Tut, school board nominee has also notified the city clerk that she will not be in the race.

There is a distinct possibility that the first six candidates to present themselves for the board of education can be returned by acclamation.

But few of the 25 persons nominated Monday for that office have shown even a passing interest in the proceedings, and up until Tuesday afternoon but two of them had qualified at the city hall, one of whom will be disqualified, it is assured.

Trustee A. N. Udy, chairman of No. 1 committee, and one of the three members of the board who fought the last election against the purchase of the Oliver and Trafalgar street property, was the first to sign the necessary document which provides that his name be placed on the ballot.

Mrs. Etie Palmby, representative of the Women's Labor Party, was the next to qualify, but whether her name will be placed before the electors has yet to be decided by the city solicitor.

A protest was filed at the nomination Monday night by a member of the board of education that certain persons had been illegally nominated for the school board, by reason of the fact that their names had been secured by the Trustee A. N. Udy, a separate school solicitor.

Solicitor to Decide.

This question was considered by City Clerk Sam Baker Tuesday morning, who declines to pass an opinion, and the issue must be settled by the city solicitor.

Should Mrs. Palmby be then disqualified, the same fate would befall Ald. Adam Palmer, should he decide to enter the educational lists, as he also was seconded by Mr. Tarrant.

In any event, it is acknowledged that the greatest difficulty is being experienced in persuading anyone to enter the field. It is reported that Trustee A. N. Udy, John Hayman and A. A. Langford have concluded to retire. While Mrs. John I. Hunt is believed to be ready for another term, she has as yet failed to qualify.

"It looks like the first six by acclamation," commented Mayor Cameron Wilson, and his listeners concurred, adding that it would at least, eliminate a certain expense.

Election by acclamation seems practically assured also for the public utilities commission. Up to the present no one has stepped out to oppose Commissioner T. W. McFarland.

PROVES RIDOUT ST. BRIDGE SAFE

Heroic Teamster Hauls House Across Structure Engineer Condemns.

"London Bridge is Falling Down" the words of the old song are still applicable to the Ridout street bridge in the event of any load over four tons attempting to cross it.

The statement, however, is questioned by numerous Steve Brodies, who appear to be ever anxious to take a chance. One of these individuals in the person of a teamster, who was negotiating the structure with a load approaching well over a dozen tons last week.

If an acid test were ever applied to a bridge it was applied to the Ridout street bridge. With a team of four truck stallions, a two-story frame building, weighing at least ten thousand pounds, was hauled across its span in the west end of the city and down Ridout to Horton street. When the driver saw the bridge and realized that only that wobbly structure stood between him and a grave in the "bottom of the deep," he showed signs of trepidation.

Mastering his fears, however, he commenced to traverse the bridge. The top of the house grazed the top of the bridge, and the bolts and spans groaned in wrath and indignation. The bridge was quite a traffic at the time, but it was noted that the cars and rigs were contented to remain behind to do rescue work in case the dilapidated frame refused to hold its load. The heroic teamster, traveled on, no doubt seeing visions of his own tombstone with the epitaph "He failed to bridge the gap."

The last notch of the long journey came to an end, however, without mishap, and the house on wheels lumbered up the Ridout street grade.

The engineer's claim that the bridge is unsafe. When it does splash its back into the river, it will probably be through a small boy attempting to cross it on a tricycle.

MILNE FREED; INSUFFICIENT PROOF GIVEN

Practitioner Is Charged With False Evidence at McMillen Trial.

PLEADS MISTAKEN DATES

Mrs. Long Called by Defence To Support Story of Occurrence.

Sarnia, Nov. 21.—Dr. James Allan Milne, London dentist, charged with perjury at the original trial of Edward McMullen, the convicted Wyoming bandit, was acquitted by Judge Wallace of Woodstock, in the Lambton County judge criminal court this morning, his honor stating that the crown had not produced sufficient evidence to convince him that perjury was deliberately committed.

J. A. McEvoy, K.C., of London, representing the accused, based his defence on the possibility of a mistake in the date on which McMullen had his teeth extracted by defendant and his partner. The date had been recalled because the doctor recalled that Mrs. Long was being attended to at the time when McMullen entered his clinic, and he had requested her to wait until he extracted McMullen's aching molar.

The date of Mrs. Long's treatment had been recorded on a card, which was produced in evidence at the McMullen trial, and the other in the dental diary.

Mrs. Long gave testimony at the trial of McMullen that on October 4, 1921, at 2 p.m., the time and date of the notorious Wyoming bank robbery, that she had seen McMullen, who was in the dental clinic in London and produced a chart recording the date and nature of the operation. The jury disagreed on the alibi, and McMullen's subsequent trial he (McMullen) pleaded guilty to the robbery.

Arraignment of Dr. Milne for perjury was made at the coroner's court of the attorney-general's department.

Five witnesses were called by the crown, including Alex Saunders, local stenographer, who reported the trial, submitted the record in McMullen case and Miss Hetherington, court stenographer, who reported the trial. The defence called three witnesses, Albert Judd, London barrister, who was retained by McMullen as counsel, the dentist, who reported the trial, and Dr. Smyth, partner of Dr. Milne.

The defence contended that there had been a mistake in the date, and also pointed out that the young man could have no interest in the case.

DISTURBER CALLS MAYOR AS WITNESS

Arthur W. Wrightman, Ejected From Banquet, Lays Assault Charge.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 21.—Arthur W. Wrightman, who was ejected from a banquet at the Prince Edward Hotel armistice night, when he attempted to address 300 veterans, laid a charge of assault against William Baxter and Floyd Reid, whom he accused of being ringleaders in the affair today.

Wrightman has summoned a distinguished galaxy of witnesses to appear in the police court and support his action. There are: Mayor W. H. Wilson, Miss Martha Dickenson, city clerk; Ald. Frank J. Mitchell; Col. E. S. Wigie, K.C.; Major E. C. Kenning, K.C.; School Trustee Milton Jacques; P. A. Dewar, and A. M. McLean, vice-president of the McLean Lumber Company.

Wrightman attempted to tell the soldiers of the exploits of an ancestor whom, he claimed, was General Brock's aide-de-camp at Queenston Heights, when the veterans objected. Wrightman had the temerity to tell them there were not enough present to throw him out. He was roughly handled.

The witnesses whom he has summoned were guests at the banquet.

HANG EVIDENCE ON "WOMAN IN GRAY"

State Officials Discover New Witness in Hall-Mills Slaying.

Special to The Advertiser.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 21.—The state is rolling up a tremendous accumulation of evidence against the "woman in gray," and the man whom it seeks to indict for the Hall-Mills murder.

Resumption of testimony before the grand jury today was spurred by discovery of a new witness, George Sipel, a hog farmer, said to be able to identify the driver of the auto whose headlights threw into relief the actual murder scene and disclosed its participants to Mrs. Jane Gibson, the prosecution's star witness. Sipel was in the vicinity of Easton avenue when the murder took place, and he delivered truck, pointing into De Russes' lane. He denied, however, that he had seen either Mrs. Gibson or the man who was with her, and saw the slaying of the victim and the sexton's wife.

The jury expects to finish up today with the witnesses against the establishment of the ground work for the case, and those who found the bodies, and those who saw them shortly after the murder scene and disclosed its participants to Mrs. Jane Gibson, the prosecution's star witness. NEW JERSEY TOWN SWEEP BY BLAZE

Civil and Marine Departments Save National Bank After Hard Fight.

Special to The Advertiser.

National Park, N. J., Nov. 21.—Fire, aided by a high wind, swept along a street here early today, destroying ten houses and bungalows. The damage was estimated at $75,000. The conflagration started in John Hanley's bath house and gained such headway that for a time the entire village was threatened with total destruction.

Fire apparatus was summoned from Woodbury, Westville, Verga, Gloucester, and a fireboat was rushed from the Philadelphia navy yard before the flames were brought under control. The fire was preceded by a blaze at a residence on the corner here, that threatened to destroy 150 buildings of the United States bagging plant. Tall grass set on fire and fanned by the wind required several hours' work before flames through walled streets could be prevented from reaching the powder magazine.

ROBB EXPECTS BIG WOOL SHIPMENTS

Domestic Minister in Australia Finds U. S. Tariff Aids Canada.

Toronto, Nov. 21.—(By the Canadian Press).—With reference to the Canadian Press cable from Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 20, as to Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of trade and commerce, negotiating with the Australian government for a reciprocity agreement, a special dispatch was received by a Toronto paper from Sydney, Australia, on Nov. 16, stating Robb had said that as a result of the United States tariff on wool, direct shipments from Australia to Canada should result.

Mr. Robb explained that in the past a good deal of wool had been imported into Canada from the United States, which was undoubtedly of Australian origin, but it had lost its identity by being purchased in London or Boston. Last year, he said, Canada imported $8,000,000 worth of wool. "If this product is now to enter Canada free," Mr. Robb is quoted in the interview as saying.

"If imported direct, it is obvious that a saving will be made by sending shipments from Sydney to Vancouver."

On the subject of fruit, Mr. Robb said: "There is a good market in Canada for Australian fruit. A recent shipment of Australian oranges has been favorably commented upon."

MAIL DEAD BABY TO UNDERTAKER

Special to The Advertiser.

Albany, Nov. 21.—Police here today are investigating one of the strangest cases of infanticide on record.

A girl baby, apparently two or three days old, which had been smothered to death, according to coroner, by an aunt placing a hand over the baby's nose and mouth, was wrapped in newspaper, placed in a cardboard box and mailed by parcel post to a local undertaker.

The package carried postage sufficient to cover mailing costs within the first or second post office zone, but so far, authorities have been unable to trace it.

In the folds of one of the newspapers was a $5 bill.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 21.—Declaring the results of the recent election were a strong indication that public sentiment favors repeal of the Volstead act, a score of state secretaries of the association opposed to the prohibition amendment, today perfected plans for modification of the dry enforcement law and eventually the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, at the closing session here of a two-day conference.

VESEL IS DISABLED 500 MILES OFF 'FRISCO

San Francisco, Nov. 20.—The steamer Besse Dofar, on the Yokohama-Vancouver run, is reported disabled 500 miles at sea, with machinery trouble, according to a radio message received by the local chamber of commerce. The liner is owned by local capital. A tug has been dispatched from Vancouver to render assistance.

SEEKS HARDING'S HELP TO SAVE MISS MACSWINEY

Washington, Nov. 21.—Peter J. MacSwiney, brother of Terence MacSwiney, who died in London as a hunger-striker, sent a Washington telegram yesterday in an effort to enlist President Harding's aid in behalf of his sister, Mary MacSwiney, who is on a hunger strike in a Dublin prison.

Announcing that he had written a letter to the president yesterday, asking for an appointment, Mr. MacSwiney said he intended to leave no stone unturned in his effort to save his sister's life.

ARREST TRAVELER AS JEWEL THIEF

Hamilton Police Allege Gerald Hogan Admitted Theft From Employers.

Hamilton, Nov. 21.—A morning Joseph Crocker this detective arrested Gerald Hogan, a traveler, charged with stealing a grip containing $6,200 worth of jewelry samples, the property of his employers, John Sweet & Co., wholesale jewelers. Hogan appeared before Magistrate Jeffs in police court this morning, but was remanded until next week.

Hogan is alleged to have confessed to the stealing to Detective Crocker.

According to the detective, Hogan checked an empty telescope bag similar to the one in which he carried his samples at the C. P. R. station in Toronto Saturday morning. The bag was sent to Hamilton on the train that arrived in Hamilton at 10:45. Hogan is then alleged to have entered the baggage room of the T. H. and B. station, and stolen the empty bag.

Several hours later he presented his check at the baggage room, and when the baggage was not found, reported the matter to Detective Crocker. When brought to headquarters, Hogan admitted that the real sample case of jewels was concealed in a house in Belleville. Local authorities immediately got in touch with Belleville police, and the grip, containing 796 rings, 20 pearl necklaces and other jewelry was located and brought back to Hamilton. Further developments are looked for within the next 48 hours.

'EARL' LEAVES FOR JACKSON PRISON

Charlevoix, Mich., Nov. 21.—A. J. Walker Greig, the self-styled "Earl of Blandine," and self-confessed husband of Christina Greig of Toronto, and Sara Turgen Dye, his Cheboygan countess, left for the Michigan state prison at Jackson this morning.

He is a resident of Detroit. He was not to be called until next week.

The Earl has been very blue for two days. He has not by himself in the cells. He has not mingled with the other prisoners, as he used to. In a way they did not invite it. He was a guilty man. As yet they were to be believed innocent.

WEALTHY WIDOW IS FOUND DEAD

Cheboygan, Mich., Nov. 20.—Mrs. Minnie Gerow, widow of Dr. Arthur M. Gerow, was found dead Monday on the floor of her bathroom. Death, it is believed, occurred Saturday night, when she was making ready to retire. Since the death of her husband she had lived alone, her only child, Allen Gerow, being a resident of Detroit. She had planned to spend the winter in Detroit with her son.

STRAWBERRIES AT $8.50 QUART SOLD

REPORTS HALIFAX INFANT DEATH RATE LESSENING

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 21.—Through the public health work of various organizations the infant death rate in Halifax has been reduced from 182 to 90 per 1,000 since the war. Col. H. A. Chisholm of the Nova Scotia Red Cross told a meeting here yesterday of the Halifax Red Cross executive and representatives of various city bodies.

EXPECT MAJESTIC TO BE FASTER AFTER OVERHAUL

Boston, Nov. 21.—Preparations for the White Star liner Majestic, largest ship in the world, for the naval drydock in South Boston, where she has been undergoing a five days' overhauling. She was ready to slip back into the ocean at high tide this afternoon.

The Majestic was found to be seaworthy in every detail. Four new and lighter propellers have been installed and naval architects expect the Majestic to show increased speed. She is due to leave New York for Southampton for Cherbourg and Southampton.

EARTH SHOCKS DAMAGE VILLAGE NEAR ALGIERS

Algiers, Nov. 21.—Two earth shocks today, following five tremors on Saturday evening, sent the inhabitants of the village of Froment, near Cavalaire, into the open country. The "quakes" damaged the principal buildings of the village so that they are crumbling, but no other damage has been reported.

DELAY TAKING SCHOOL PLANS

Members of No. 2 Committee Will Meet Again Tuesday Afternoon.

After a rather cautious and lengthy discussion over the plans and specifications of the proposed new school, to be erected at Trafalgar and Oliver streets, which were presented by Architect Carruthers, No. 2 committee of the board of education, Monday afternoon decided to lay the whole matter over till next Tuesday afternoon, so that Mr. Carruthers would be able to furnish figures on the cost of building the school 18 inches higher than the plans originally called for.

Several of the trustees present had no hesitancy in stating that there would be no repetition of blunders such as had been made in the building of the Central Collegiate, if plenty of questions, and a thorough understanding of plans, would prevent them. For a while, Architect Carruthers was subjected to a rapid-fire of questions regarding the plans, which some thought were not exactly right.

It was finally decided that it would not be wise to go ahead until Architect Carruthers had presented further figures, particularly on the cost of making the basement eighteen inches deeper.

The committee will be prepared to receive the estimates Mr. Carruthers will bring in Tuesday afternoon, if he should be able to prepare them by that time.

Lay Matter Over.

From statements made after the meeting, however, it is probable that the matter may have to be laid over for some time.

Several minor matters were dealt with, among which were the granting of permission, as requested by City Clerk Baker, to use the Workers' hall school on November 22, Adelaide street school on November 24, and Ryerson on November 25.

Knox Presbyterian Young People's Club requested the use of Victoria School gymnasium Friday or Saturday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. The matter was referred to the chairman and the inspector for action as they saw fit.

A letter was read from H. S. Dunn and Company offering one movie machine free with every two purchased for use in schools. Next year's board will have this matter to attend to when it steps into office.

The matter of purchasing a $475 piano for the extremely large hall of price of $275.00, to be used in Victoria School was referred to Mr. Quantz, with the request that he examine the piano, and bring in a recommendation.

Trustee Rowe Speaks.

"Just by way of comparison," asked Trustee Thomas Rowe, referring to the Trafalgar school plans, "how far back from Trafalgar street will the new school stand?"

"Seventy-five feet," answered Architect Carruthers.

"That's right," said Mr. Rowe, thoughtfully. "Now, how far back from Waterloo street is the Collegiate?"

"Sixty-five feet from the street line."

"You see, it's rather hard looking at a building in the abstract—these plans are almost meaningless to most of us, and—well, I dare to admit, I but we got fooled on the Collegiate—it was my fault not to have asked more questions."

Architect Carruthers explained that the floor line was six feet above the street line, but that the terrace would totally surround the school, and would be 30 inches above the street line. The floor line would be about the same as that of the Tecumseh school.

Trustee Rowe thought that the basement would be built under the whole section of the school, to provide for something useful.

Inspector V. K. Greer suggested that the basement might be utilized for lavatories.

Saw Ottawa Schools.

"Well, in Ottawa," put in Mrs. J. A. Hunt, "I saw several schools where the lavatories were arranged very satisfactorily on each floor."

"That seems like a good plan," agreed the inspector.

"Yes," continued Mrs. Hunt, "the principal of each school there was very well pleased with the idea, and thought that that system offered more convenience than ordinarily."

"Well, we have plans for a basement eight and a half feet deep."

"That is of no use," interrupted Chairman (Rev.) A. A. Rice. "I suggest that we make it ten feet six inches instead."

"What would it cost, Mr. Carruthers," asked Inspector Greer, "to build a basement that will be of some use?"

"It would be expensive," answered Mr. Carruthers.

"A child can't stand around, with no place for play, during recess," said Mr. Rice. "What is the child going to do?"

"The child can do like Windsor children do," answered Ed. Smith, chairman of the board of education. "That is—play in the recess—no child does not need recess. The classrooms are the place for children while they are at school."

"The classroom is a place for calculation only," Mr. Smith explained. "The recess is a place for play."

Set in Favor of Basement.

Chairman Smith was not to be convinced so easily, and he quickly retorted, "I'm not in favor of the basement for recess purposes," and then he added, "The only use is to stand around with his back to the wall, taking out his temper."

Trustee Rowe suggested two terraces instead of one, which would, he thought, make a deeper basement, digging deeper in the ground.

Architect Carruthers pointed out that the excavation planned would hardly provide enough earth to make a terrace.

"I'd like to provide for the future," said Trustee Bryden N. Campbell, "but there will not likely be any of it."

His remarks were interrupted by the laughter of Harry Hayman.

"You are a practical man, this is a question of your thinking," Trustee Rowe asked.

"I'm a long building," answered Trustee Hayman. "You can't make it look otherwise."

Set Ten Feet Back.

"Let's set the building back ten feet," made the terrace one foot higher," offered Trustee Rowe.

"Yes," agreed Trustee Campbell. "Set it up a foot, and we'll take a chance on there being enough room in the basement to be put to some useful purpose."

"When they are at it I think they might back it up a foot," said Trustee Rowe, "and make the terrace one foot higher."

"That's a good idea," said Trustee Hayman. "You are a practical man, this is a question of your thinking."

"I'm a long building," answered Trustee Hayman. "You can't make it look otherwise."

Strong Position Shown By Bank of Montreal.

The Bank of Montreal's annual statement for the fiscal year to October 31 is now going forward to shareholders. This year the report of the premier bank of the country becomes of special importance, owing to the somewhat unsettled conditions which prevail in many other countries or of the world.

It should, therefore, be a matter of much satisfaction to the shareholders to learn that the bank has been able to take care of its large proportion of the business and commerce of the country, and at the same time maintain a position of very exceptional strength and condition, as reflected by the fact that of total assets of $713,689,566 liquid, or immediately available, assets amount to as much as $17,819,493, at which level they are equivalent to 89 per cent of liabilities to the public.

At the same time total loans and discounts amount to $13,258,418, which stand at $24,437,890. In addition, the assistance being given to Canadian banks, municipalities and school districts amounts to $13,258,418.

With the increases made during the year, both the capital and rest account now stand at $27,250,000.

Western University News Briefs

The Players' Club is about to begin rehearsal of a one-act play, "Aria da Capo," to be presented at an early date. Miss Blanche Tancred has issued a call to the members and associate members of the Players' Club, and those desirous of qualifying for membership, to arrange for try-outs.

ANNOUNCE RUGBY DANCE.

Conversation at the "U" this week hinges mostly on the big event of the season—the 4th annual Rugby Dance—which is to be held Friday evening, Nov. 24, at the Winter Gardens. The dance committee, composed of Miss E. White, A. A. Rice, and G. A. Watnwright, is busy with final details.

FRENCH CIRCLE MEETS.

Wednesday, Nov. 22, at 8 p.m., the French circle will hold an organization meeting in room 5, Arts Building. It is expected that plans for the year will be discussed. All French students at the university are invited to attend.

"Bean Soup" of "Thirty Days" Fame To Be Offered Public by Local Pressmen

Two or three thousand Londoners have already made application for an inspection of jail diet, before making preparations for their Christmas dinner.

An opportunity will be given them at the presentation of "Thirty Days," that spectacular offering of the London Press Club, which will be presented in the Majestic Theatre Friday and Saturday, Dec. 15 and 16.

Portions of "Bean Soup," from the famous "Has-Been" preparations, will be given the boxholders, for purpose of analysis, and the leading local chefs will certify as to its flavor.

From the bean soup the menu passes to "Just Deserts," which forms the chief article of diet, and the public will learn in sensational manner what Magistrate Graydon, who is declared to have written the play, considers the "Just Deserts" of the "Newspaperman."

A famous Mexican recipe for "Chili Con Carne" and "hot tamales" may also be gleaned from the action of the play, and from "Cook," one of the central figures of the drama.

Leading police court officials have lent their support to the play, and much of the plot has been written around the past experiences of the London newspapermen, although for obvious purposes the characters have been disguised to a certain extent.

The traveling representative of a big New York company has called for "Thirty Days" the most sensational feature of the year, and it is not at all unlikely that the company will be asked to go on the road, following their first appearance in London.

CITY CHESS CLUB MAKES PROGRESS

New Organization at "Y" Attains Membership of Twenty-Five.

Two sessions of the London Chess Club, held at the Y. M. C. A. last week, will be followed by a third tomorrow evening. Tentative games to promote a fairly comprehensive idea of the chess ability of each individual member were played Wednesday and Saturday last. Each started off as a pawn and to date eight persons have advanced to bishops.

Set in Favor of Basement.

Chairman Smith was not to be convinced so easily, and he quickly retorted, "I'm not in favor of the basement for recess purposes," and then he added, "The only use is to stand around with his back to the wall, taking out his temper."

Trustee Rowe suggested two terraces instead of one, which would, he thought, make a deeper basement, digging deeper in the ground.

Architect Carruthers pointed out that the excavation planned would hardly provide enough earth to make a terrace.

"I'd like to provide for the future," said Trustee Bryden N. Campbell, "but there will not likely be any of it."

His remarks were interrupted by the laughter of Harry Hayman.

"You are a practical man, this is a question of your thinking," Trustee Rowe asked.

"I'm a long building," answered Trustee Hayman. "You can't make it look otherwise."

Set Ten Feet Back.

"Let's set the building back ten feet," made the terrace one foot higher," offered Trustee Rowe.

"Yes," agreed Trustee Campbell. "Set it up a foot, and we'll take a chance on there being enough room in the basement to be put to some useful purpose."

"When they are at it I think they might back it up a foot," said Trustee Rowe, "and make the terrace one foot higher."

"That's a good idea," said Trustee Hayman. "You are a practical man, this is a question of your thinking."

"I'm a long building," answered Trustee Hayman. "You can't make it look otherwise."

CLAM PUDDLES IN LANE HURT TRADE

Market Merchants Declare Drain Situated in Wrong Place.

The foot of Market Lane, just where it joins the market, is a subject of wrath to all those merchants whose stores are in the immediate vicinity. They hold that the grating which is supposed to remove the surplus water has been placed in the wrong spot, that it completely fails in the purpose for which it was designed, and that as a consequence, whenever there is a rain there is a large puddle, almost a pond, on each side of the street.

Naturally they regard this as poor advertising, their customers having to jump over this disgusting river. And in a general way they feel it is hardly a sightly entrance to the square.

Whatever the reason there is no doubt about the dirtiness of the Market Lane crossing, every car that comes by splashes the sidewalk, and anyone that happens to be on it, is sure to get mud on his clothes.

It should be possible to drain this corner of a busy section, and to make buying on the market a little easier, the irate merchants declare.

PLANS MOTHER-AND-SON WEEK FOR NEXT MONTH

It was the unanimous decision of all who attended the boys' committee meeting of the Y. M. C. A. in the association building Monday night, that a Mother and Son Week would be held this year. The dates set were December 3-9.

All the co-operative units in the city interested in boys' work will be asked to assist in emphasizing the fact that boys need a closer relationship should exist between mother and son, and also in making each boy realize that his best friend should be his mother.

Last year the undertaking turned out to be a very successful one, and the Mother and Son Week created a lot of interest throughout the city. The churches to which a great deal of credit is due for the success of the week in 1921 will be asked to lend their aid again this year.

FINDS LITIGATION IN COUNTY WANES

Indications that past experience has taught citizens that it is unwise to play with lawsuits are shown in the greatly reduced number of writs being issued in this locality. According to the report of the justices of the supreme court, 40 per cent less writs have been recorded this year than last.

Apparently the cause of decreased litigation in the community is the realization that in many instances the issuance of a writ is not only expensive, but futile. This year the majority of suits are launched only after irrefutable evidence has been obtained.

LEAPS TO HIS DEATH IN PRESENCE OF 300

New York, Nov. 20.—Within sight of the falling givra, a score of whom fainting, William Lee, a draughtsman, leaped to his death from the Brooklyn end of Manhattan bridge Monday.

Lee's brother, an inseparable companion, Joseph Lee, had died Sunday. William, crazed with grief, walked to the bridge, mounted the railing of the footpath, and after murmuring a prayer, jumped.

PAGEANT HELD AT CITY SCHOOL

Ryerson Pupils Review Canadian History by Costume and Story.

Yes, they were all there, all the people who have made Canadian history what it is, dressed in characteristic garb. The red men who were here first gathered the sticks, made the fire and ground the meal—or, no, it was the women who did these things. Then came the runners with tales of white-winged ships carrying the pale-faced Frenchmen. The Indians watched the planting of the French standards, and then started to trade with the newcomers and to fight them between times.

Such was the spirit of the evening at Ryerson School, Monday, when the children put on a pageant in costume and excellent in performance, depicting the development of Canada from the days of first record up to the present time.

Told of Days of Old.
In character the story went on to show the days of the old French seigneur, who gathered from his tenants his rents in produce of the soil, and of the alarm with which he told the habitants of the coming of the British. And then came the British, and the struggle at Quebec carried the Union Jack.

And so it was that, step by step, Wolfe, Montcalm, Sir Isaac Brock, Tecumseh, Laura Secord, and scores of others, all clad in the costume of their time, came and departed in order that Miss Canada of today might gaze upon the history that had been written in the past, each of which marked one more step in making Canada the nation of today.

Finished Production.
The entire pageant was executed in a finished manner, and every one of the youthful participants deserves no small degree of praise for the masterful way in which each played his or her part. This pageant was written and produced by Miss L. Cook, a teacher of the school, and is entirely original. This is the third play of this kind that Miss Cook has written in recent years.

The title role of "Canada" in the first act, played by Miss Mary Sawyer, was handled in a veteran style. Her handmaidens—the Misses Mary Morahan, Eulalia Murray, and Greta Campbell—were equally charming in their elocution and dress.

The "Spirits of the Yesterdays," introduced by the Indian period, the French period, the early British period and the later British period, were ably portrayed by the Misses Nancy Greene, Olga Hunt, Ruth Lawson, and Margaret Curtis, respectively.

The spirit of Father Time, played by Alfred White, was a most interesting character in the pageant and worthy of particular note.

In Title Role.
Miss Helen Nash handled the title role of "Canada" in the second act in a manner worthy of a much older person, and the charm of her acting was enhanced by the presence on the stage of nine handmaidens, each of whom symbolized one of the Canadian provinces.

In the last act Miss Evelyn Taber played the role of "Canada," introducing the spirits of "Today" and "Tomorrow," and handled this in a really expert fashion.

In this part the entire school sang "O Canada," followed by a pleasing variation when the boys alone sang "The Maple Leaf" and the girls "The Land of the Maple."

A great amount of credit is due to Miss Cook for writing and producing this playlet, to Miss M. Lancaster as assistant director, and to J. Carr for directing the choruses.

The auditorium of the school, where the pageant was presented, was crowded to overflowing, and every available seat of any kind was brought into use, many of the audience even having to stand along the sides and at the back of the hall.

The costumes of every one of the players were remarkable in their diversity and charming design and were shown up to new advantage by the simplicity of the stage arrangements.

AGREE NURSES' HOME NEEDED

Representative Citizens Find Present Building Badly Overcrowded.

The important fact that the new nurses' home, required for Victoria Hospital, on which the people are to vote at the coming elections, can be built without increasing the cost of hospital service is expected to insure the passing of the bylaw with little or no opposition.

The building will be of durable construction, and will last for an indefinite number of years, and since it will serve the citizens of the coming years quite as much as the population of today the cost will be paid off in comparatively small amounts from year to year, over a period of twenty years. Thus the taxpayers of the present time will only pay their fair share for the service they receive, and they will not be asked to assume the costs of serving the coming generations.

Without Cost.
The yearly amounts now required will be readily met without increased cost out of the savings which have been brought about during the past few months through a re-organization of the hospital work, one important change being the inauguration of the plan of having nurses on duty in their own homes by the medical officer of health.

Though the fact that there will be no increased cost is most important, the principle consideration is that the new building is absolutely essential. As it is, the representatives of the various organizations which have studied the situation, and all of the numerous private citizens who have been given first-hand information at the hospital, are convinced that the work had already been too long delayed. There has been more or less urgent need during the past ten years, and the pressure is now so great that there is grave danger of impairing the efficiency of the service. As it is, patients are frequently turned away because of overcrowding, and they are compelled to go in hundreds to other institutions over the city. Provision must always be made to receive emergency cases for the victims of accidents or sudden misfortune, and the hospital must be ready to receive them at any time.

The real reason for the need of the nurses' home is not actually to house the nurses; that is the secondary reason.

Badly Overcrowded.
The first consideration is that the wing now used as a nurses' home is so badly overcrowded that scores of nurses, even with a drastically limited staff, are unable to find rooms and pavilions which were never intended for that purpose, and to which patients are by right entitled. The nurses are concentrated in one building which should be available for patients, and other quarters for the nurses are not available. Patients to sleep and live in will afford space for certain laboratories and dispensaries which must be provided.

The nurses' home which is proposed to build will be constructed on homelike, comfortable and sanitary lines, with no needless expense or ornamentation. Additional pupils nurses, who are anxious to enroll, and who are badly needed in the hospital, will be accepted, and it will then be possible to inaugurate an eight-hour day for these young girls, who are now forced to work ten and twelve hours a day, and to study from one to two hours each day in addition. The change is certain to increase the efficiency and alertness of the staff, and to provide of direct advantage to the patients.

Weeks: York, John Judge; Kingston, Ewart Weston.

Fathers of Confederation—Stuart Forbes, Allen Aylesworth, Clifford Stevens, Jack Gorville.
Immigrants—English, Scotch, Irish, Italians, Chinese (Pearl Wong and Madeline Crawford), Japanese, Swedes, Russians, Greeks and Poles.

Soldiers of Great War, Clifford Axtell, Keith Grant; nurses (Red Cross), Helen Tomlinson, Frances Watson, Harold Paddock.

STUPENDOUS SCENES IN MAJESTIC FILM

Betty Compson Stars in "Al-ways the Woman," Showing for First Half of Week.

A Goldwyn picture, "Always the Woman," featuring Betty Compson, forms the main attraction at the Majestic. The old theory of reincarnation provides the theme of the story, and the scenes are laid in the shadow of the pyramids, and in the luxurious quarters of a big modern liner.

Celia Thaxter, played by Miss Compson, is a little American dancer, who in the course of her travels in Europe comes in contact on the ship with a certain rich man who thinks she recognizes in her a long forgotten friend. Through the intervention of an Egyptian mystic, who is also a passenger, he learns that in a future incarnation he will be the lover of the temple he became the lover of the queen of Egypt, whose soul now lives again in the little American girl.

There is another man, an American, who loves Celia Thaxter, and can also an Egyptian prince who appears in the role of villain, and the story in the land that had once seen them as actors in another age, provides a story that holds one's interest, and a picture that part from its dramatic side includes some lovely scenes on land and sea.

Another big attraction of Monday night's program is a splendid dramatization of Irving Bachelors' famous novel, "The Light in the Clearing."

Roache's limelight includes one of Hal Roache's inimitable comedies, in which a series of extraordinary complications in the course of an attempted elopement, and a weekly instalment of "Go, Get 'Em, Hutch," called "The Crushing Menace," in which Charles Hutchison as the hero, pulls off some thrilling stunts.

The nurses' home which is proposed to build will be constructed on homelike, comfortable and sanitary lines, with no needless expense or ornamentation. Additional pupils nurses, who are anxious to enroll, and who are badly needed in the hospital, will be accepted, and it will then be possible to inaugurate an eight-hour day for these young girls, who are now forced to work ten and twelve hours a day, and to study from one to two hours each day in addition. The change is certain to increase the efficiency and alertness of the staff, and to provide of direct advantage to the patients.

EVERYBODY'S "aying!" Why not you, too? Keep your eyes open for news and win two tickets for the Grand Theatre.

On the road between London and St. John's, a team of horses drawing a load of wood on a sleigh—O, and P. C.

In a local drygoods store, a small boy, who when his mother started to walk up the stairs, said: "Oh, mamma, let's ride up on the alligator."—R. H.

Walking down Dundas street, and passing a furniture store, where they were displaying wicker fern stands, an elderly lady remarked: "What funny baby cribs!"—A. B.

A conductor on an Oxford street car, standing in the vestibule smoking. On his attention being drawn to the "No Smoking" sign, he replied that that was only intended for the passengers.—C.A.C.

A manager of a store on Saturday tossing balloons from an upstairs window to the children; but very few children got one, owing to a crowd of grown men and women being able to reach farther and grab them.—V. A. B.

A large box, containing a varied assortment of shoes, most of them rather out of date. The box stood in front of a shoe store and was decorated with an advertisement that stated "The New Styles Are Simple and Pleasing." From a personal inspection I can subscribe to the first statement.—X. Y. Z.

A young man, selling lead pencils from door to door on Simcoe street, presenting a card at his house with the announcement that he was "deaf and dumb." At one house the old lady residing therein refused his request, but on second consideration, just as he was walking away, she called to him that she would help him, whereupon he quickly turned around. Later I also heard him buy some tobacco at the corner grocery.—H. M.

Poor Old Cigarette! Once Favored by Flapper, Gives Way to Dinky Pipes

If Sir Walter Raleigh, founder of that celebrated institution, the potato, and discoverer of that equally notorious weed, tobacco, were alive today he would no doubt realize the great havoc his discoveries have wrought among the modern feminine gender.

As a staple article of the diet of the modern flapper, the potato takes precedence over all other foods. But since the latest style forbids the slightest suggestion of corpulence, our apple-like sisters have ingeniously placed it on the taboo list. Grocers report a diminishing demand for the unpretentious tuber. It is a shock full of starch; it is the one edible that enables "Skinny Minny" of circus fame to retain her surplus.

The jam-like situation, directly caused by the potato, is a sad one, according to many grocers, the cause of decreased profits. The once popular spud is no longer our vegetable vamp. It winketh its wicked eyes at fair matrons without effect. It is a has-been.

But, as if to atone for the unpopularity of the discredited potato, Sir Walter's other noted find, tobacco, is becoming the favorite diversion of femininity as well as flapperdom.

An American tobacco journal announced editorially last week that its friends had noticed a new craze among women were becoming increasingly accustomed to the cigarette. The source of this growing craze is a new and the Volstead act. The young things have found that cocktails are difficult to procure. They satisfy their desire for intoxication, therefore, with a cigarette. It makes them dizzy.

Although the medical fraternity denounces the use of the odorous weed, especially for women, cigarette sales among women are becoming voluminous. Husbands may rail, brothers rant and puritanical "papas" may rant, but the girls will have their fun. The social horizon, however, is flushed with the rainbow of a brighter day.

Recent style reports from Paris say that the cigarette is becoming obsolete. Chic Parisiennes of any pretense to style are smoking little silver pipes. It is quite probable, in fact, that the first question the irrepressible flapper shall ask the blasé flipper, when he proposes to her "Wendy night, is: "Have you got any Old Chum?"

Will try to halt huge water loss. Experts state 2,500 gallons escape city pipes each hour.

After a week's activities pitometer experts from New York City, employed by the public utilities commission, have discovered that the city is losing in two blocks—Dundas street, from Talbot to Clarence streets—water at a minimum flow of 2,500 gallons an hour.

There is an underground leakage at some point between the two thoroughfares, and the experts will endeavor to find it. The city is losing money for the city to be lost," explains General Manager E. J. Buchanan, "and we must stop the leakage. We can not understand at this moment where we can lose 2,500 gallons an hour during the middle of the night, when there are no places of business using water in this district other than a couple of cafes."

The experts will continue their probe until they have covered the entire city.

Rev. A. R. Stone of Grace Church, Ealing, delivered the address at the regular meeting of the Wellington Street Epworth League Monday night, dealing with value and necessity of education in present day life.

FROM FERRYBOAT

Unknown Man Jumps Overboard As Boat Leaves Walkerville Wharf.

Windsor, Nov. 20.—Just after the ferry Ariel of the Walkerville-Detroit Ferry Company pulled away from the Walkerville dock shortly before 2 p.m. today, an unknown man jumped from the rail of the upper deck into the river and was drowned.

After striking the water the man floated for about 100 yards, and then sank. He did not rise again, and a boat was hurriedly lowered from the Ariel and sent after him, but it was impossible to locate the body. All that was found was his hat.

So quickly was the jump made that there was no possibility of preventing the man's action, nor could any definite description be obtained. Eyewitnesses on the Essex, which was passing the Ariel at the time, however, stated that the man appeared to be a foreigner.

George Gilfoyl and Nelson Lucier, deckhands, who were seated in the forenoon cabin of the Ariel, saw a heavy object pass the windows, apparently falling from the upper deck.

"Someone has jumped overboard," cried Gilfoyl, and the two men rushed from the cabin and notified the captain.

Passengers and the two deckhands saw the man come to the surface twice, staying down when he sank for the third time.

Capt. Kerr of the Ariel immediately had a lifeboat lowered, and the vicinity where the man was last seen was unsuccessfully searched for several minutes. A cloth cap, the top of it spotted with red paint, was picked up by the boat crew.

Gilfoyl, from seeing the man struggling in the water, stated that the man was wearing a dark overcoat, a khaki shirt and a brown suit, and weighed about 175 pounds. He was of medium height and apparently about 40 years of age. This description was corroborated by Gilfoyl and Lucier.

Lloyd stated that he remembered the man because, when passing through the office to the boat, he had absent-mindedly neglected to pay his fare. Capt. McCarthy, former master of the Ariel, who was standing in the waiting-room, stated that he had seen the man excused himself pleasantly and politely in good English, and remedied his oversight.

Mr. Lloyd believes the man to be a resident of Ford City.

Passengers on the Ariel stated that the man took a running jump over the rail, grasping one of the upright stanchions to aid him in hurdling the obstruction.

Will Mr. Wood Explain?

Mr. Henry Wise Wood, the director of the farmers' organization in Alberta, lost no time in stating at the time of the Progressive meeting in Winnipeg, that there was "an irreconcilable conflict of opinion" between Mr. Crerar and those "who believe in democratically organized citizenship taking political action as such." It is a fact that the views set forth by Mr. Crerar were adopted by the conference at Winnipeg, where Mr. Forke was chosen as the leader of the Progressive party. Such being the case, Mr. Wood's position makes it incumbent upon him to come forth and state in plain English just what he does believe, and what he does not believe.

The Winnipeg Free Press was a staunch supporter of Hon. T. A. Crerar all through the time he was leader of the Progressives in Parliament. The Free Press calls upon Mr. Wood of Alberta, to come out from the atmosphere of parables and fables in which he dwells, and tell in plain language just what he does believe about political organization, and the best way in which to give expression to the political aspirations of the people of the west, or any other part of the country for that matter.

Nor does the Winnipeg paper mind words when it calls upon Mr. Wood to come along and defend his case. The Free Press states:

"The people hear Mr. Wood delivering himself of formulas, platitudes, declarations, fine-sounding phrases; but out of the mass of verbiage they see no practical, understandable scheme of government emerge. They see him talking democracy and practicing, in his own person, autocracy. They observe, with astonishment, that in Alberta, where the doctrines of democratic organization, beginning with the individual elector and ascending to the top, are most ardently preached there is the most clearly defined manifestation of political boss rule in Canada. With the 'boss' and the preacher of political democracy one and the same person. They observe principles of exclusion and proscription applied under the specious disguise of democratic equality. They would like an explanation of the mystery and Mr. Wood will come out in the open and tell them what his system really is and how he proposes to work it so that he will be able to give effect to the economic and social reforms which he is in common with those he criticizes favor. He will be certain of a careful and attentive hearing. He must of course, fit his plan into our system of government, which is too firmly rooted in the affections and the confidence of the people to be removable short of at least a half century of agitation."

There can be no disguising that invitation to come out in ink and say what is in the innermost soul of this much-spoken-of Wood from Alberta. His theory of vocational representation is hard to grasp. He holds that farmers, for instance, should get together and elect farmers, and that other callings should do the same. On the face of it there is more chance for common ground between men of a district, taking in all callings, than there is for common ground between men of the same calling all over the country. Right in the western country it would be safe to say that a doctor, merchant, banker, publisher, farmer, blacksmith, or any other vocation, would be more or less interested in the very same things in the very same district, and they might be very much at variance with the views of a similar group of men (vocational) in the province of Ontario or farther east.

Mr. Wood should take up quickly the invitation of the Winnipeg Free Press to state his case. He should do so in order that there may be no further mystery in regard to where he stands. If clarity of explanation is the one thing necessary he should supply it. We have heard much about Mr. Wood of Alberta, and it would be well to get it first-hand just where he stands and why.

Why Blame America?

Under this heading the New York Times, in an editorial replying to foreigners who criticize America's indifference to European troubles, claims that England's and France's attitude is one of a dog who bites the hand that feeds it. With a sentimentality characteristic of many well-meaning Americans, the Times refers to the United States' tremendous sacrifices in materials and men, and in the same breath denounces those who say that America sold her soul for a pot of gold.

While the Times may be justified in attempting to repel alien attacks on its country's character, the unprejudiced must realize that there is much to be said for both sides. The war brought wealth and prosperity to United States, and misery and discontent to several European powers. In proportion to population, Canada's losses in men and money were more than eleven times those of our southern friends. To apply, in fact, the word "treason" to America's sacrifice of young men is little short of exaggeration, when it is realized that as many souls as the United States lost in the late conflict die from natural causes in that country every week.

If "Old Glory" had stood the assaults of the tricolor of France or the Union Jack, European statesmen would never have condemned America's present indifference to old world affairs. But, they contend, America has waxed fat on the cream of other nations, and great wealth automatically imposes new obligations to those less fortunate.

An unbiased man cannot blame Europe for her bitterness towards America, nor can he blame America for her natural antipathy toward Europe when handled with un diplomatic hands. What he may justly denounce, however, is that accentuated patriotism which takes no account of the feelings of others.

Someone has said that the most appalling crimes are committed in the name of patriotism. Another has said that cosmopolitanism is the remedy that will right the world. This is patetically true.

Tolerance of all nations, the creed of the cosmopolite, is the vehicle on which humanity shall ultimately arrive to universal understanding.

What Man Do You Fear?

Jack Johnson, the prizefighter, testifies in a legal hearing in New York that he is "always afraid of a smaller man."

Johnson says a big man never worries him, but that small men are more dangerous than big men because they are more cunning.

"They can run around your legs quicker," laments Jack.

Boxing fans can elaborate this into a discussion of the relative importance of weight and punch, compared with "leg work" and speed in general.

All of us can apply the idea to everyday life—the man of quick decision and swift action beating the man of big standing, much influence and great power.

Most of us, if we had to face Jack Johnson in a fight, would rather be eight feet tall and tip the scales at 250 pounds, instead of the small man who annoys him.

Nevertheless, Jack's views should increase the self-confidence of the gentlemen who have to stand on tiptoes in a crowd to see the girl-demonstrator in the drug store window.

The secondary importance of size or strength has been recognized by the philosophers since before Socrates.

Napoleon, "the little corporal," was short.

And you know how an elephant is terrified by a mouse.

Size and strength are secondary to speed and brain power. And, of all human forces, brain power is the mightiest. Charles Darwin, one of the most powerful men that ever lived, was a physical weakling, spending all but a few hours a day in bed during his most creative period.

A child of 15 could have knocked Darwin through the ropes. He couldn't carry a pail of water a block without collapsing. Yet Darwin exerted a greater power than all the prizefighters that ever lived.

Foolish young men, vainly boasting "I feel my muscle," will realize later in life that what really counts is brain, not brawn.

The truly wise man will develop both brain and brawn. Together they make an unbeatable team.

The office boy did this: Why do dentists speak of their parlors? Why not drawing-rooms?

There are two sides men can take on political issues—the outside looking in or on the inside looking out.

Our idea of divine friendship is a laundryman being on good terms with the man who makes celluloid collars.

And now someone rises to remark that a right-of-way is what a fire-truck has when it comes down the road.

And just imagine—we thought we had put an end to trouble when we got out and celebrated the first armistice day back in '18.

Now that eggs are around 60 cents a dozen an industrious hen can make more money day by day than a young lawyer who has just hung up his shingle.

Robert Forke, M. P.

One of those who came out of great tribulation. Notices of Crerar's successor's career have told something of his experience as reeve of Pipestone for twenty years, his presidency and secretaryship of the Union of Manitoba Municipalities, all of which works were immensely to his credit, and did their bit in preparing him for the larger sphere that turns on the Ottawa axis. But the experience that truly made the full-grown Forke of today belongs to the unembellished truth that he homesteaded a day's drive south of Virden forty years ago and went through the experience of farming on the prairie before anybody knew how to farm. All the vociferousness in the Grain Growers' movement doesn't come from the real old-timers, but a heavy proportion of the hard common sense does.

Mr. Forke farms two sections and a quarter now, and still mainly stays his hope of fortune in wheat. In the Pipestone Valley land sells for almost scores of times what it didn't fetch when this Berwickshire farmer's son was finishing his homesteading duties in 1885, and hoping to pay for his pre-empted hundred and sixty acres at two dollars and a half each. Long after that the owners of the land grant that had been given with the charter for the Regina to Prince Albert Railway (which only cost $5,000 a mile to build) couldn't sell their property for a dollar an acre. And it was in the general election of the winter of 1890-1 when Minister of the Interior Dewdney, wishing to save his seat for Eastern Assiniboia from the assaults of a young store-keeper of Alameda named Furbush, the same lone Progressive senator who helped choose Forke last week—

Your Health

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D. Commissioner of Health, New York City.
An eruption of the skin is humiliating and distressing. It is entirely painless. There are certain conditions which are certain to send their victims to the doctor. Some skins are particularly susceptible to local irritation or systemic disturbances. From the most trifling cause there may be angry-looking spots, swollen area or sensitive surface of limited parts of the body's surface.

One of the most commonly met disturbances is called "urticaria." It is characterized by the sudden development of what the doctors call "wheals."

If you are struck across the face by a whip-lash there is produced a red, swollen streak, which is apt to disappear quickly. This is a wheal. Ordinarily, however, we think of a wheal as a round or irregular spot, red and swollen at the edges, and pale in the centre. The sting of a nettle produces a typical wheal.

In urticaria the attack comes on suddenly. The first sign is a redness and itching of the skin. This symptom may be most pronounced.

Sometimes there is fever. In such cases, nausea, vomiting and possibly diarrhoea may be noted. We are inclined to look upon urticaria of this type as due to some error in eating or to bad food.

Urticaria is only one of the many conditions which result from the careless handling of food. When once a child picks up a cold, and the ill-health due to decayed and infected food there will be few cases of poisoning and fever of urticaria.

This condition appears at all ages, attacking children and women more commonly than it does men. This may be due to greater susceptibility of their more delicate skin surfaces to any internal poison or local irritant. The same condition makes such a common rash in the hands of extremes of heat and cold.

Poisoning by the bites of insects, the sting of nettles or other similar accidents may produce wheals and all the symptoms of urticaria.

There are certain articles of food which are peculiarly liable to produce this trouble. Shellfish and strawberries are among these. Pork and oatmeal affect some persons.

In jaundice, diabetes and Bright's disease it is an occasional symptom. In nervous disorders or on the skins of nervous persons it may be observed.

Ordinary nettle-rash is easily recognized. It is more difficult to recognize when it is caused by some drug. The condition disappears within a few hours or in a day or two. Unfortunately, however, it is very likely to recur. Unless the cause is found and avoided, frequent attacks are common.

If the bowels are emptied and the stomach sweetened the symptom disappears quickly.

Locally, there is no better application than hyposulphate of soda. A tablespoonful to a quart of water, poured on the affected parts, will stop the itching and relieve the congestion.

A. B. Q.—Will you kindly tell me what should be done in a case where a person takes a fit?

A.—Open the neck-band and remove the collar. Remove any foreign body from the mouth, such as chewing gum or tobacco. If possible, insert a stick between the teeth to keep the tongue from falling back. Give 20 drops of aromatic spirits of ammonia in a little water when the patient is able to swallow.

L. M. Q.—For the last six months I have been sneezing constantly, and there is also a profuse discharge from my nose. Please tell me the cause of this condition.

A.—Your symptoms may be due to some intra-nasal condition which needs medical or surgical treatment, or you may be suffering from hay fever. Consult a nose specialist for an examination and advice.

French-Canadian Cow

How much does the Ontario dairy farmer know of the French-Canadian cow? She is easy to keep. She thrives and gives a good profit in places where other breeds would pine away or would not find sufficient feed to maintain their lives.

There are many reasons why the little creature that she has received, especially during the winter months, has made her accustomed to hardships, and therefore she is a good "ruster."

She is well adapted to farms where production is limited. Her qualities may be summed up as follows: rusticity, frugality, good dairying qualities, milk rich in fat, long milking period.

Going back to the origin of the breed, we find that it has a common origin with the Jersey and Guernsey breeds, and the Normandy and Brittany cattle, introduced in Canada at the beginning of the 17th century, also played their part. This breed is the oldest found in the Province of Quebec, and the treatment that the breed has received during those two centuries and a half, have caused changes in color and shape.

The color of the French-Canadian cattle varies from black to white, but a brown skin is preferred, and in this case there is a yellow or fawn stripe along the back and a gray or yellow ring around the muzzle. It should be stated here that this fawn color, this stripe and this gray circle do not, in any way, indicate infusion of Jersey blood in Canadian cattle, as is so often claimed. There is nothing astonishing in the fact that striking similarities are found among animals of both breeds; it simply shows their identity of origin.

A characteristic of the French-Canadian cow is the production of rich milk, and under this head she comes between the Jersey and Guernsey. Her milk yields an average of 4.5 per cent of fat, but she is not quite equal to the other breeds as regards the quantity produced. However, in order to qualify for the record of performance, a cow must give the following quantities of milk and fat in 365 days:

Age Milk Fat
lbs. lbs.
2 years 4,400 193
3 years 5,200 234
4 years 5,900 275
5 years 6,800 306

Today, in localities where this breed is raised, the cow is being improved as regards fitness of form, early maturity, increased weight, and milk production, while keeping the same time the percentage of fat.

The color of the French-Canadian cattle varies from black to white, but a brown skin is preferred, and in this case there is a yellow or fawn stripe along the back and a gray or yellow ring around the muzzle. It should be stated here that this fawn color, this stripe and this gray circle do not, in any way, indicate infusion of Jersey blood in Canadian cattle, as is so often claimed. There is nothing astonishing in the fact that striking similarities are found among animals of both breeds; it simply shows their identity of origin.

The market now calls for heavy-weight cattle for killing. These are cattle that will weigh from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds. The feeder buyer should keep this in mind when buying Yearlings and two-year-olds weighing from 750 to 900 pounds will make, after five or six months feeding, the right weight of finished cattle to put on the market.

MIDDLESEX STOCK MAN,

The Evening Story

(Copyright, 1922, by W. Werner.)
Ella Dyer, gazing out into the cold, gray November morning, felt like the spray from a cataract, was filling the air. Altogether the outlook was inexpressibly dreary. Yet the interior of the small, shabby house was no less so. Therefore Ella looked out of the window rather than at her surroundings.

Ella Dyer was 67, a gray old woman, with a patient expression of countenance. Life had never been very pleasant to her, but now she knew it possessed had subsided and left her alone and lonely, for the town had suddenly receded from Pleasant street and hastened toward the city.

Pleasant street was very pleasant still, but more or less abandoned, and the people who lived there now were "renters" of a younger generation, who showed little intention of neighboring with a little old woman who had no diversion to offer them.

For year now Ella had not attempted to do any sewing except for herself. Her hands were becoming too stiff. Besides, she had had her day as a dressmaker. Miss Green of Depot street got all the custom now. There was nothing left for Ella to do. Never had she been so aware of it as when she began to sew.

"It might as well go to bed and stay there till they come for me with the hearse," she thought to herself.

The room was growing chill. She drew her knit shawl close about her shoulders and glanced toward the stove. There was not a glint of light to be seen through the murky slatglass. She had allowed the fire to go out. "Now I'll have to go to bed to keep warm or else build the fire up. I guess I'll go to bed," she thought. "I didn't sleep well last night, and a cozy little nap would do me good."

Her bedroom was just off the sitting-room. She went in and drew the warm blankets over her. But instead of sleep she began to think. "I've got friends. I know I have," she said to herself. "If I were sick they'd rush to see me. But as long as they know I am well and able to look after myself they will attend to their own affairs and leave me lonely. And I am very lonely."

Her chin dropped. "Suddenly her lips tightened and into her eyes came a twinkle that they had not shown in years. Ella lay in bed all the rest of that morning, only rising long enough to make herself a cup of tea and a piece of toast at noon.

At 4 o'clock Mrs. Tracey, her next-door neighbor, hurried in. "Mrs. Dyer! Are you sick? I missed you sitting by the window. I've grown so used to seeing you there that it gave me an awful scare. What can I do for you?" she asked.

"You can telephone to Mrs. Slater to come to see me if you will please, Mrs. Tracey," replied Ella. Mrs. Slater was her oldest friend

FINDS FORDNEY
TARIFF PROVES
BIG BOOMERANG

Wall Street Journal Questions
Principle on Which Measure Was Framed.

CANADA BUYS OVERSEAS

Financial Paper Declares
Legislation Blocks Passage of Raw Materials Needed.

New York, Nov. 21.—(By the Canadian Press).—The Fordney tariff has placed the United States in the position of the French hunter "who found it great sport to hunt the Indian tigers, but terrible when they hunted him," the Wall Street Journal declares today. The financial journal makes this assertion in commenting upon an article published recently by a Canadian paper which shows that overseas markets are being developed by the Dominion, and that the tariff will be a great boon to the United States.

What, for instance, was the necessity of a tax of 45c a bushel on flaxseed, which is now worth about $2.30? For some years the industrial use of flaxseed in the U. S. has been more than twice that of Canada. Farmers only raise it on a small scale, principally in the northwest. (Mosses, Fordney and McCumber also came from the northwest) even the price of $6 in 1919 did not stimulate acreage.

"New lands of Western Canada produce flax until wheat can be put in. The United States bought that flaxseed to use in its industries. Now, if a bushel comes across the border, it must pay a tax of 45c. Oats of better quality for breakfast foods are produced in Canada, due to climatic reasons. But a tax of 15c a bushel was placed on them, which is about equal to an ad valorem tax of 60 per cent. That is a tax on the change or equalize the difference in soil and climate; but it does interfere with the passage of raw materials needed here.

"Canada is a large importing country in proportion to its population. Last year its imports were about $500,000,000. Of this, $100,000,000 came from the United States. It did this because it sold more of its goods here than to any other country. Where a man sells, there will be a buyer.

"But with a tariff prohibiting Canadian imports into this country everything was changed. The people on the other side of the line are just as active, aggressive and resourceful as our own—and less mixed, in race and thought."

WANT DECISION ON NATURAL WEALTH

Manitoba Suggests Question
Be Referred to British Privy Council.

Special to The Advertiser.
Winnipeg, Nov. 20.—Manitoba has suggested to the Dominion government that the question of the terms under which control of natural resources shall be transferred to the province, should be referred to the judicial committee of the privy council in London.

This statement is contained in an official pronouncement issued by Premier Bracken in respect to the natural resources conference just concluded at Ottawa.

Reference to the privy council is suggested because the Dominion province failed to reach an agreement by mutual consent, and secondly failed to find a common agreement as to a referendum on arbitration. No decision was reached in reference to the privy council, but the matter is still open.

To obtain the natural resources for Manitoba, and at the same time to lose the subsidy received at present in lieu of the resources, would create a liability, rather than an asset for the province, Premier John Bracken stated today on his return from Ottawa.

Thus in negotiating for the resources, Manitoba's representatives felt that the resources, as well as the subsidy should be received by the province, in view of the fact that when the population of Manitoba reaches 1,000,000 a year, the resources in the meantime, Mr. Bracken pointed out, were a liability, money being spent on their development, with no return.

KANSAS TAKES STEPS FOR OUSTING KU KLUX KLAN

Special to The Advertiser.
Topeka, Kansas, Nov. 20.—Legal action to oust the Ku Klux Klan from Kansas will be taken from the state supreme court today, Governor Henry J. Allen told the United Press.

The action will be on the grounds that the Klan, a Georgian organization, is operating in Kansas without a charter. Governor Allen said the action would be taken by the attorney-general, and would name secretaries and other officials of the "Invisible Empire" as defendants.

Mayor Wilson Says Experts
Give $800,000 as Road
Value.

TO FIGHT FOR PURCHASE

Will Take Public Platform
Tuesday Night at Wortley Road School.

It should not be incumbent upon the citizens of London in 1922 to even part with as much as $900,000 for the London street railway system, with its tracks, rolling stock or other equipment, explained Mayor Cameron Wilson Tuesday.

In the absence of Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, his worship undertook to shed further light upon the proposed purchase of the road, and its possible value two years hence.

It is expected that Sir Adam will return to the city to speak to the electors upon two occasions during the campaign, when he will deal exclusively with the contemplated purchase.

"We chose the maximum—$900,000—but as a matter of fact I do not believe that we shall in 1925 consider that to be the actual value of the road," Mayor Wilson is of the decided opinion that more than likely a figure between the two would then be considered a reasonable purchase price.

In addition to this, it has now been learned that the board of arbitration, which was set up to settle the dispute between the city and the railway, has decided that the value of the road is $800,000.

THINK BRITAIN WILL AGREE

Sir J. Bradbury Seeks Definite
Policy of New Government on Reparations.

Paris, Nov. 21.—Sir John Bradbury, British member of the reparations commission, is going to London tonight to learn the definite policy of the new British government regarding reparations. The indication is that the policy will not be materially different from that followed by the Lloyd George ministry, except that it is thought Great Britain probably would now to declare Germany voluntary bankrupt if she failed to carry out her obligations.

The British government has not yet finally decided to approve the holding of the reparations conference for consideration of reparations problems and Allied war debts, according to information in British newspapers, and much will depend upon the outcome of the conference between Premier Poincaré and Prime Minister Bonar Law, which is expected to be held within the next ten days.

QUAKE EXPOSES
OLD CEMETERY

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 21.—The existence of an ancient Indian burial ground within ten miles of Copiapo was disclosed by a fissure, opened up by the recent earthquake, says a dispatch to the Mercurio today. Several skeletons, different kinds of pottery and domestic objects were found there.

Copiapo advises say the earth tremors are continuing in that vicinity.

LLOYD, WEALTHY RADICAL,
STILL HUNTED BY POLICE

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Wm. Bross Lloyd, wealthy radical, under sentence for violation of the state sedition law, still was outside prison today, as thirteen of his associates started on the second day of their terms, six in the Joliet Penitentiary and seven in the Cook County Jail.

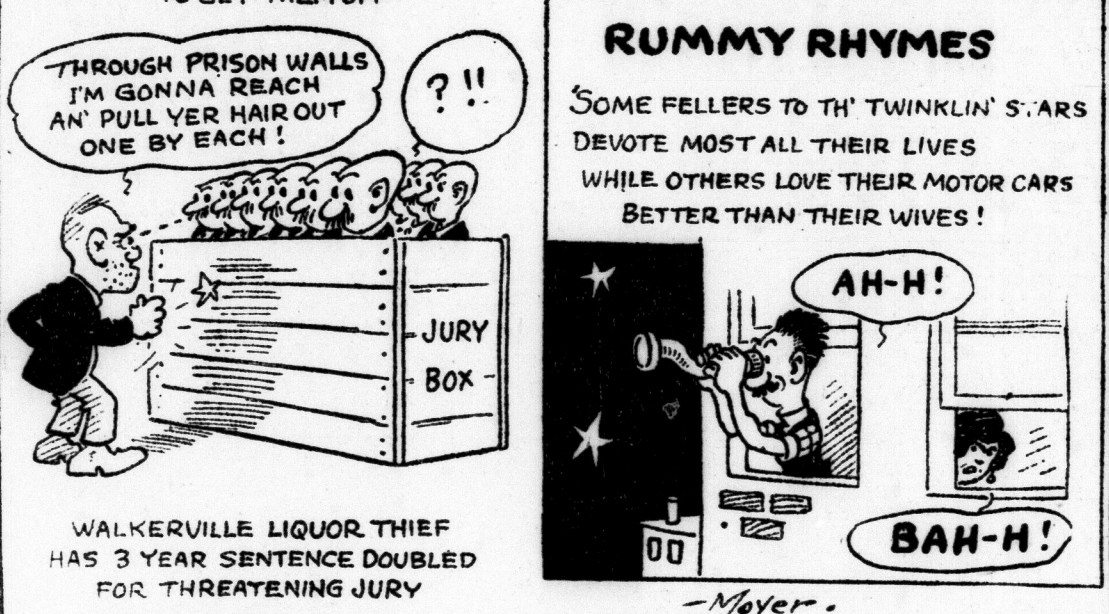

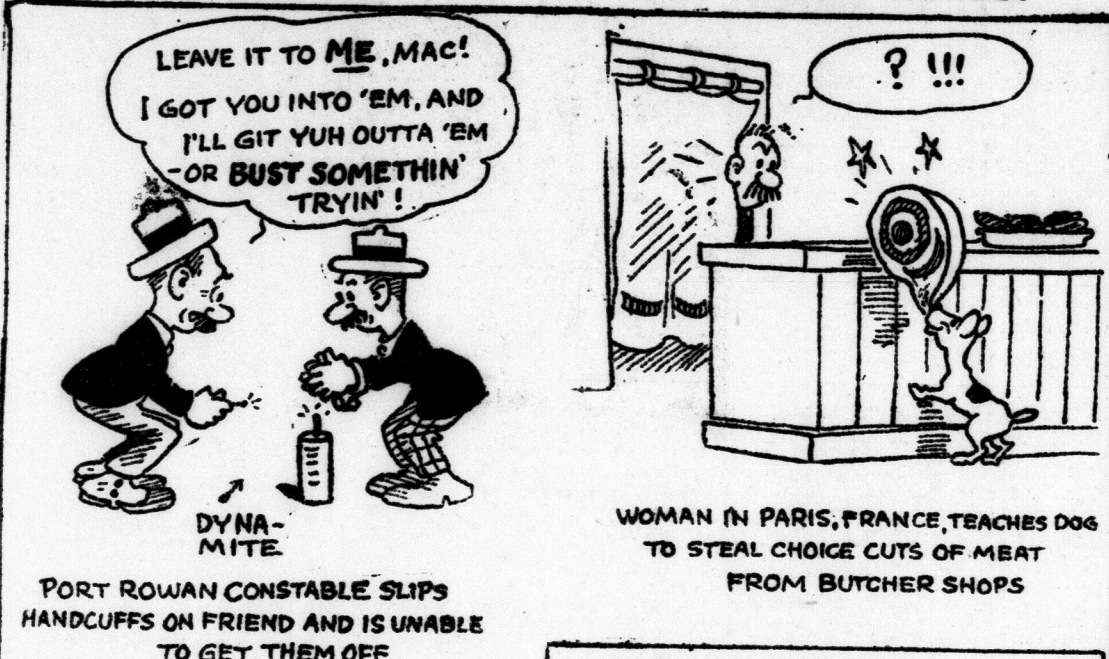

Lloyd, according to his counsel, voluntarily will give himself up Thursday. However, the faith of his attorneys has not kept officials from scouring the country for him. But no trace of his whereabouts has been reported. Three of the six who have not begun their prison sentences, excluding Lloyd, are fugitives from justice.

LIBERALS WIN SHETLAND

London, Nov. 21.—Canadian Press Cable.—The final election returns from Orkney and Shetland show that Sir R. Hamilton, Liberal, defeated Sir Malcolm Smith, Georgian, the sitting member, this being another Liberal gain. Following was the vote: Sir R. Hamilton 4,814, Sir Malcolm Smith 4,369.

Ship.

Hong Kong, Nov. 21.—Stories of a female pirate leader and her desperate band of Chinese buccanniers who yesterday seized the British steamer Sui-an, overcame the crew after a sanguinary battle, and then escaped with all the cash and valuables on board, were related by the passengers, who were landed from the vessel yesterday.

Throughout the piratical adventure the woman leader is said to have calmly directed the movements of her band. She was wounded, together with three of the buccanniers, when the passengers and crew engaged them in battle. Two of the ship's crew were killed and several wounded.

CLEMENCEAU MOVED BY

"Tiger" Finds Widow Eagerly
Awaiting Glimpse of Him While Entering N. Y. Home.

New York, Nov. 21.—Georges Clemenceau, advocate of France, attended a reception last evening of the Franco-American Society at the home of Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co.

He made no formal remarks, but chatted with many of his hosts, whose number included Chairman Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Elihu Root, and Chauncey M. Depew. Clemenceau devoted extra attention to Mr. Depew when the former senator disclosed that they had been neighbors in the Greenwich village of a half century ago.

Clemenceau appeared deeply moved, when, upon entering the Lamont home, he found the widow of a French soldier, with her three little daughters, waiting for a glimpse of him.

The little girls shyly presented him with bouquets and he rewarded them each with a resounding kiss. He spoke in French for a moment to their mother.

CANADA TO PARTICIPATE
IN BRITISH 1923 EXHIBITION

Minister of Interior Declares Do-

Square Feet.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—Canada will participate in the Imperial Exhibition to be held in London in 1923 to the extent of occupying 150,000 square feet of space, and erecting the buildings necessary therefore. This promise was given by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of interior, to Major A. E. Belcher and Col. A. Christie, director of the exhibition, who were here today.

The minister, however, was unable to state the amount of money it is proposed to spend, though the Dominion, with its highly efficient and organized exhibition staff is in a position to make a splendid showing quite economically.

PASTOR ENDS LIFE
AFTER RESIGNING

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 20.—Rev. Otto Heinzelman, 42 years old, Lutheran pastor, living three miles from Greenville, committed suicide by hanging Monday. Sunday he preached a powerful sermon and resigned from his charge. His body was still warm when discovered hanging to a tree in the rear of his home. He had recently taken treatment for a serious nervous disorder.

BERLIN CLAIMS HANDLING OF TREATY ADDS EXPENSE

Berlin, Nov. 21.—In reply to Premier Poincaré's assertions regarding Germany's spendthrift financial policy, it is semi-officially stated that the increase in the number of government officials is due to the execution of the Treaty of Versailles, the conversion of the German railway into an imperial undertaking, and to other changes. It is contended that the number of officials has been reduced and the payroll cut.

The comparative absence of unemployment is attributed to the fact that articles which formerly could be advantageously purchased abroad are now produced at home.

REQUESTS LIGHT ON BRIBE RUMOR

Winnipeg Tribune Sees Attempt To Gloss Over Facts.

Special to The Advertiser.
Winnipeg, Nov. 20.—Attorney-General Craig will not be permitted to drop the matter of the $50,000 bribe alleged to have been offered him. If he thinks his statement will appease, his mind will be disabused by the editorial comments of the Winnipeg papers.

The Tribune of Monday afternoon said: Mr. Craig's latest statement to the press leaves the situation with regard to the attempt at bribery quite unchanged in the public estimation. Mr. Craig now presumes to accept as fact a subterfuge through which he saw clearly at the time. The public will not. It still has the right to know the name of the man who took the offer of a bribe to Mr. Craig and through him the name or names of the principals, for whatever action the law officers of the crown may find possible.

At least, the Tribune would lay clear to the public and to the authorities the identity of those responsible for and interested in violation of the temperance laws.

The Tribune points out that the attorney-general has reported the substance of his conversation with the man who brought the offer—for offer it was, concealed though it may have been by the impersonal attitude of the man who brought it, and by the flattery for the recipient, which was sugar-coated.

Mr. Craig knew then, and knows now, that it would have been quite possible for him to have brought this conversation to an entirely different conclusion. If he had the slightest interest in the proposal the deal would have been closed probably on the spot. Clearly that was what Mr. Craig believed when he reported the matter to Rev. Dr. Gordon. He saw it at the time, and Dr. Gordon also saw it, as an attempt at bribery.

The proposition has come, to the knowledge of the public without the consent of the attorney-general, but since it has, there is nothing gained by trying to cover it up. Members of a government are servants of the people, and when an effort is made to tempt them from the path of duty the people are entitled to know all facts surrounding it.

THROWS LIGHT ON TURK
CRISSIS NOTE TO CANADA

Winston Churchill and Lord Curzon Wage Controversy
Through English Press as to Who Was Responsible for Divulging of Message to Public.

CAUSTICALLY ASSAIL EACH OTHER

Special to The Advertiser.

Further light upon the crisis of Sept. 16, and the message sent to the dominions about the eastern crisis is made available by an interesting controversy between the Marquis Curzon and Mr. Winston Churchill, which is recorded at length in the English daily papers of Nov. 10.

The Marquis had stated in a speech delivered in the city of London on Nov. 8, that the communique issued to the newspapers on Sept. 16 was issued without his knowledge.

Mr. Churchill charges that this is an incomplete disclosure of the facts. His version is that the communique was prepared by the Marquis, and was sent to the dominions on Sept. 16, definitely decided upon exertions to prevent the Turks from carrying the war into Europe and selling the straits to the Germans.

It was also agreed that the dominions should be informed of the situation and invited to send help if the need arose. This decision was specifically recorded in the cabinet minutes, and Lord Curzon, who was present at the cabinet, indorsed all the decisions taken.

Sent Telegrams to Dominions.
Mr. Churchill avers that Mr. Lloyd George that same night sent a telegram to the dominions in accordance with the wishes of the cabinet, and that he (Mr. Churchill) took care to send a copy of it to Lord Curzon that same night. In the morning it was thought desirable by Mr. Lloyd George and other ministers that the public should be more fully informed of the gravity of the situation which was developing, and a communique was prepared covering the ground of cabinet decisions taken the day before.

This communique, says Mr. Churchill, involved no decision of policy, but simply took the place of the statement which in some form or other would have been made to Parliament had it been in session, and he thus proceeds: "The urgency for such a statement is shown by the fact that the reasons of New Zealand troops became public, and the Empire at large, and throughout the Empire a few hours later, an event which would have been, but for the statement, entirely unexplained."

On Saturday morning his colleagues were amazed to discover that Lord Curzon had left London on the day night for one of his country, that if he had remained in London he would have been the first to have been consulted and probably would have been asked to draft the communique. Mr. Churchill adds that the expense of the foreign minister's love of his comforts, and his quietude.

Requested to Return.
On Sunday, the 17th, Lord Curzon was definitely requested by Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Chamberlain to return to London. He replied that he was remaining in the country because his home in London was not safe, and he was finally induced to return to town on Monday, when a meeting of ministers was held. To this day I do not know how the problem of the leadership's accommodation in the Metropolis was ultimately solved.

His final judgment is summed up as follows: "It certainly does not lie in the mouth of a minister who is absent from his post at a most critical juncture, on grounds which are not the offer of a bribe to Mr. Craig and through him the name or names of the principals, for whatever action the law officers of the crown may find possible."

At least, the Tribune would lay clear to the public and to the authorities the identity of those responsible for and interested in violation of the temperance laws.

The Tribune points out that the attorney-general has reported the substance of his conversation with the man who brought the offer—for offer it was, concealed though it may have been by the impersonal attitude of the man who brought it, and by the flattery for the recipient, which was sugar-coated.

Mr. Craig knew then, and knows now, that it would have been quite possible for him to have brought this conversation to an entirely different conclusion. If he had the slightest interest in the proposal the deal would have been closed probably on the spot. Clearly that was what Mr. Craig believed when he reported the matter to Rev. Dr. Gordon. He saw it at the time, and Dr. Gordon also saw it, as an attempt at bribery.

The proposition has come, to the knowledge of the public without the consent of the attorney-general, but since it has, there is nothing gained by trying to cover it up. Members of a government are servants of the people, and when an effort is made to tempt them from the path of duty the people are entitled to know all facts surrounding it.

manner, upon those with whom he had been working, and who had sustained him loyally through his long months of illness; and takes this final shot at his late colleague: "By this change he secured his position in the new administration, and is able to present himself blandly and brazenly as an enlightened and far-seeing critic, but that is no reason why he should allow the public to sustain an incomplete impression of his conduct during this interesting period in our political history."

WAS MUCH ANNOYED.

Lord Curzon evidently was much annoyed by this statement of Mr. Churchill, which as his view was, "Characterized by copious inaccuracy and no small malevolence," for he replied to it immediately with a counter-statement. He admits his presence at the cabinet meeting of Friday, Sept. 15, and says that he was engaged at the foreign office at 8 o'clock in dispatching the telegram upon which the cabinet had decided, after which he left for Basingstoke. Next morning he was called up on the phone by Mr. Lloyd George, but there was no hint of his being required in London or of the issuance of any press statement.

On Sunday morning I read with consternation the manifesto in the press, which I afterwards learned, without surprise, was the production of Mr. Churchill himself. It was, I believe, seen by two or three members of the cabinet, including the prime minister, but by no one else, and was issued to the press the afternoon following.

"Neither I nor the foreign office were informed."

On Sunday morning Mr. Chamberlain came up from Chequers. Here Lord Curzon gets in a shot: "Where the gravity of the crisis had not prevented him from foregoing with Mr. Churchill and others to enjoy the pleasures of the prime minister," to complain that the foreign secretary had not been in London at the time of the crisis.

Lord Curzon explains that he was endeavoring to rebuild his health, and takes credit that, with the exception of a few days, he had remained steadily in London ever since. At the next cabinet meeting he protested against both the contents of the manifesto and the manner of its appearance. In replying to the other charges, Lord Curzon declares that he had protested against the sudden calling of a general election, that he had been much upset by Mr. George's Manchester speech, which had made his continuance at the foreign office a matter of great difficulty.

Curious Facts Emerge.
Some curious facts emerge from this interesting controversy. It is plain that the message to the dominions was sent upon the advice of the cabinet, and there is both the Marquis of Curzon and Mr. Churchill's authority for the statement that it was dispatched on a Friday night, and that it was the equivalent of 4 p.m. in Canada; government messages have precedence, and these dispatches should have been in Ottawa some time between 6 and 8 p.m. on the Friday night.

But the ministers derived their first information about the crisis from the afternoon editions of Saturday papers, and it has been intimated that the official message did not arrive in the capital until 3 p.m. on the Saturday. Two explanations are possible: either our cable service is woefully deficient, or the machinery now available for the management of our external affairs is woefully inadequate. Parliament in any event should insist upon some ventilation of the mystery.

Candidate in Lanark By-Election
Thinks Administration Working in Businesslike Way.

Smiths Falls, Nov. 21.—David Findlay of Carleton Place, Liberal candidate in the Lanark County by-election, addressed a mass meeting here last night. Others speakers were G. N. Gordon, member for Peterboro, and deputy speaker of the House of Commons, Col. Andrew Thompson of Ottawa, and Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of immigration.

Mr. Findlay asked that the electors before voting look up his standing in his home town, and what success he had made of his own affairs. He held that the present government, though not long in power, had made a very creditable record, and had taken hold in a businesslike manner. He hoped that in this election the people would mix a little less of judgment with their politics and send to Ottawa one who would have the sympathy of the government.

LAST CASE NOTED MONDAY

Special Provision for Girl
With Deaf and Dumb
Mother.

Enforcement of the adolescent school attendance act in London is practically 100 per cent, according to board of education authorities. But one child, it is explained, who comes within the provisions of the new regulations, is not attending the classes at the Technical School, and it is proposed that he will be otherwise provided for by reason of medical requirements.

The last youngster to obtain suitable employment was noted Monday, the officials state. This was the case of a girl, between 14 and 16 years of age, with a widowed mother, who was both deaf and dumb, and special provision is being made in this instance.

The authorities explain, however, that success has not been attained without continued effort, and not a little misunderstanding on the part of the parents or guardians of the adolescents.

As an instance, one mother presented herself at the public school attendance department to seek a working permit for her child, on the grounds that the school of her district was over-crowded and the principal was unable to provide suitable accommodation for her.

This contention was found to be without foundation, however, the officials state, and the girl is back at her lessons.

Judge's Ruling Permits Julia

Special to The Advertiser.
Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Until Mr. Justice Hodgins delivers federal judgment, Julia Agnes Stacey, 9-year-old daughter of Benjamin Stacey, remains with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson of Elmley Township, near Perth. In supreme court yesterday, Justice Hodgins issued an interim order that the child be left with them in accordance with the 1915 death-bed wish of her mother.

He reserved his judgment on the habeas corpus action taken by the father and will issue it from Toronto. Argument took up the time of the court at Monday's proceedings. I. H. Hilliard, K.C., for the father, and the Plaintiff Stacey, declared that the atmosphere in the home of the father and his third wife, both Methodists, was as good as that in the Anderson home, where the child is being brought up a Roman Catholic in accordance with the desires of the deceased mother.

"The fact that the child had missed only a few days' school in the two years, in spite of a two-mile walk to get there, showed that the father was such that she could be safely transferred to the father's home. She had also received the same education at which the change could be made."

George F. Henderson, K.C., for the Andersons declared Mr. Hilliard had glossed over the important question of the child's religion. If given to her father, her religious convictions would be disturbed at a tender age. As to the father's financial position, Stacey's mother, leaving the baby girl in Mrs. Anderson's care. He was now simply a tenant on a farm with few possessions.

Officers Began Liqueur for Unruly on Steam Cruiser Jacinto.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 21.—Two men were injured, probably seriously, last night when the deck crew of the steam cruiser Jacinto, bound from this port to Gray's Harbor, Washington, mutinied soon after the vessel cleared the Golden Gate. Capt. Werthman and his officers forced the mutineers into the forecabin and subdued them. Two members of the crew were stabbed by shipmates in the rioting incident to mutiny, ship's officers reported. Two other members were placed in irons. The vessel sailed back to San Francisco with its police flag flying. Six members of the crew were arrested. The cause of the mutiny was liquor, according to ship's officers.

States That Holders of 1922 Victory Bonds Can Cash Them Now At Banks

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—(By Canadian Press.)—In a statement issued this evening the department of finance announces that holders of 1922 Victory bonds, due December 1, can have their bonds paid off in cash at any branch of any chartered bank in Canada. As the total amount of the bond issue maturing on December 1 is $178,000,000, and conversions totalled over $100,000,000, cash payment for bonds will be in the neighborhood of $78,000,000.

The statement from the department follows:

"Under their terms the principal of these bonds is payable only at the department of finance, Ottawa, and at the offices of the assistant receivers-general at Charlottetown, Halifax, St. John, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Victoria. But, in addition, and for the greater convenience of the public, the minister of finance has entered into special arrangements with the chartered banks for the payment of the bonds through their branches, without expense to the holders."

JOHN D. GIVES AWAY 5 DIMES

Shows Appreciation of Courtesy of Photographers Who Did Not Take Pictures.

New York, Nov. 20.—Five bright new dimes which John D. Rockefeller recklessly squandered on four newspaper photographers a few days ago are not going to be frittered away on empty pleasures. Each of the cameramen, after almost a week of arguing among themselves, today decided to retain them as lucky charms. One is keeping that dime in a jewel box. Another plans to have his friend, but the others are carrying their dimes around with them, confident in the belief that no Rockefeller dime would burn a hole in anybody's pocket.

After a long life of careful saving it probably is pleasant to enjoy a spendthrift moment now and then. This is the lesson the photographers admit they are pondering. They have seen the richest man in the world give away 50 cents in dimes—real coin—all in one whack. Incidentally, since then Mr. Rockefeller has started for his winter home in Ormond, Fla., for a rest.

FORWARD NIPIGON REPORT TO BECK

Hydro Asked To Rush Agreement With Pulp and Paper Company.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Following a meeting of the cabinet council today, announcement was made that the Ontario government had forwarded to Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the hydro-electric power commission, the interim report of the Gregory commission with instructions that the hydro commission should endeavor with the least possible delay to consummate an agreement with the Great Lakes Pulp and Paper Company for the annual sale of 10,000 horsepower.

Women of Middle Age

THE critical stage of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 55, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness, irritability, melancholia, heat flashes which produce headache and dizziness, and a sense of suffocation. Guard your health carefully, for if this period be passed over safely, many years of perfect health may be enjoyed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Its value is proven by many such letters as these:

Viscount, Saskatchewan—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female weakness. I had pains in the back and bearing-down pains in the abdomen and was in a general run-down condition. I could not sleep, rest, or work, and was quite unfit to do even slight household tasks. A friend told me about your Vegetable Compound and I in my turn truly recommend it, as my severe symptoms vanished and I am better in every way. I do my own work, look after my children and see to chickens, a cow, and my garden. I also recommend it for young girls who are weak and run-down, as my 16-year-old daughter has taken it and is quite her own gay self again."—Mrs. FRED WILEY, Viscount, Saskatchewan.

Brockville, Ontario—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and female disorders. I was so weak at times that I could not stand up. I had been this way for nearly three years, and the different medicines I had taken had not done me any good. I found one of your little books at my door one day, and I thought I would give your medicine a trial. I am now on my fifth bottle, and it has helped me. I am feeling much better, have no weak spells and can do all my work now. I am recommending your Vegetable Compound to all I know."—Mrs. CASEY LEMERY, 170 Abbott St., Brockville, Ontario.

TIMOTHY BRINGS
FINE MARKET PRICEClean Looking Potatoes Sell at $1 Bag—Also Offered at $1.40 Cwt.

Today's market was a very quiet one, with few offerings. Hay went at from $13.14 per ton; this price was for timothy of good quality. There is little clover coming in, and that not of very high standard. As some of the dealers put it, there is too much hurry nowadays to allow the farmer to take the time required to cure clover hay. It is thought to be cured in the field, and it is a hay loader, and it came to the market sweet and green.

There were one or two loads of potatoes on the market, fine clean-looking tubers, and they sold for $1 per bag. Oats remain steady and those offered today went for $1.40 per cwt. A slight rise in the price of a three-corn load of hardwood brought in by one farmer, in the past few weeks, has brought in seventeen such loads, and has experienced no difficulty in getting rid of them. Today he sold his load at $16.

Apples and vegetables were very slow. There was only a poor supply and not a very large demand.

HEALTH MESSAGE TO THE WORLD

Take "Fruit-a-lives" And Make Yourself Well.

"Fruit-a-lives," the marvellous medicine made from fruit juices and herbs, is the most beneficial medicinal agent that has ever been given to mankind.

Just as oranges, apples, figs and prunes are nature's own medicine, so "Fruit-a-lives"—made from these fruit juices—but concentrated and intensified—is the greatest Stomach and Liver Medicine, the greatest Kidney and Bladder Medicine—the greatest Blood Purifier—the greatest remedy for Headaches, Constipation, Indigestion, Nervousness and Bad Complexion—in the world.

To be well, take "Fruit-a-lives." 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 15c.

At dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.—Adv.

Are you protecting your throat?

Do you realize that the throat is infection's direct route to the system, that it is the gate-way to seven passages entering head, lungs and stomach?

Destroy the disease germs before they have a chance to develop. Carry the germ-killing throat tablet with you.

Formamint dissolves slowly and releases a potent, yet harmless germicide that mixes with the saliva and thus carries its disinfecting action into every tiny fold and crevice of the throat and mouth.

Formamint

GERM-KILLING THROAT TABLETS

To acquire you with Formamint use will send a trial Tube on receipt of 2c in stamps to defray mailing cost. Address: The Baur Chemical Co., 113 W. 11th St., No. 1, Chicago.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

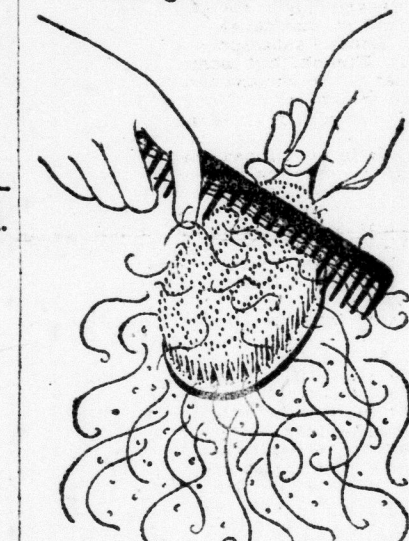

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Menthosulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ-destroying qualities, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ringworm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles' Menthosulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Adv.

DON'T LOSE ANOTHER HAIR

35c "Danderine" Saves Your Hair—Ends Dandruff! Delightful Tonic

Don't lose another hair! Don't tolerate destructive dandruff. A little Danderine now will save your hair; thicken and strengthen it; double its beauty.

Falling hair never stops by itself! Dandruff multiplies until it forms a crusty scale, destroying the hair, roots and all, resulting in baldness.

Your druggist will tell you that "Danderine" is the largest selling hair saver in the world because it corrects and tones sick, ailing hair of men and women every time. Use one bottle of Danderine, then if you find a single falling hair or a particle of dandruff, you can have your money back.—Adv.

WEDDINGS

PARKS-MILLER.

On Wednesday, Nov. 15, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller of Kingsmill, was the scene of a pretty wedding, when their daughter, Leah Beatrice, was married to Arthur E. L. Parkes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Parkes, of Kingsmill, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends.

Promptly at one o'clock, to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal March played by Miss Gertrude Parkes, sister of the groom, the bride entered the drawing-room with her father. Beneath an evergreen arch the happy couple were united in matrimony by the Rev. Mr. Huxtable of New Sarum.

The bride looked charming in a gown of crepe de chine, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. She wore the groom's gift, a beautiful diamond necklace. Following the ceremony the guests sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast, after which the happy couple left on a honeymoon to Detroit, Flint and other points.

The bride wore a traveling gown of brown tulle with coat of brown velvet trimmed with beaver. Guests were present from London, St. Thomas, Aylmer and other points.

After Dec. 1 Mr. and Mrs. Parkes will be at home to their friends at the groom's farm at Kingsmill.

McALLISTER-McINTYRE.

At the Presbyterian manse, Rutherford, the marriage was solemnized of Miss Kate McIntyre and Mr. Elsworth McAllister, both of Dawn. Rev. Mr. Readie was the officiating minister.

FEGAN-McGUGAN.

A happy event took place Saturday, Nov. 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McAlpine, sister of the bride.

Daughter Plays "Company."

Playing "company" is one of the favorite games of the little girl. When my daughter wishes to "entertain" in the playroom, I give her some cookies and milk and show her how to set the table in the grown-up way. Playing teaches her a child's politeness and teaches herself.

When Miss Flo McGugan, daughter of Mrs. Christina McGugan and the late Archie McGugan of Lobo, became the bride of Arthur Fegan of Toronto.

Elder J. B. Slauson of Ridgeway performed the ceremony.

The bride looked charming in a smart tailored suit of navy blue, wearing a bouquet of Ophelia roses and was attended by Miss Beattie McLachlin of London, who wore a dress of navy blue tulle, with a corsage bouquet of Richmond roses. The wedding march was played by Miss Margaret Peabodies of London.

After a wedding breakfast the happy couple motored to London. They will reside at 58 Olive avenue, Toronto.

RYLEY-MOORE.

The wedding took place quietly at the home of the bride's mother in King street Monday afternoon, when Nora Moore, daughter of Mrs. Moore and the late Dr. C. S. Moore, was married to Clair Ryley of Montreal, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. U. Ryley of Winnipeg. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ryley left on a honeymoon trip, and upon their return they will reside in Montreal.

HIGHER WAISTLINES.

New sport dresses from Paris show a higher waistline than the one to which we have become accustomed. Many of the one-piece dresses are made princess style and have no belts at all. The waistline is indicated by embroidery or trimming.

Mrs. M. D. Fraser, accompanied by her son, Leonard, left last week for Berada, where she will spend the winter.

Miss Clara McPhillips, Hayman Court, has gone to Toronto, where she will spend the winter with her brother.

Miss Helen Chapman, Piccadilly street, was the hostess recently of a jolly party, the guests including her school friends.

Mrs. W. H. R. Smith, Victoria Apartments, was the hostess recently of a charming tea given in honor of Mrs. Smith of Toronto.

A smart affair of Tuesday evening, to which many are looking forward, is the annual bankers' at home, being held in the Winter Gardens.

Mr. Frank Macbeth, manager of the Molsons Bank in Calgary, was a guest last week with his sisters, the Misses Macbeth, Central avenue.

Mrs. William Archibald Wyatt, formerly Miss Olive Ila McEwen, will receive for the first time since her marriage, Friday, Nov. 24, at her home, 12 Horn street.

Mrs. George Gunn Jun. will receive for the first time since her marriage, on Wednesday, Nov. 22, at her home, 456 Piccadilly street, and afterwards on the first Wednesday of each month.

The eucharist and dance held under the auspices of the Janey Canuck Chapter, O. D. D., on Monday evening at the De Luxe Cafe was a charming affair. Forty tables had been arranged and the many guests were welcomed by Mrs. Walter J. Glassford, president of the chapter. A dainty supper was served during the evening. The proceeds are in aid of the chapter's fund toward the War Memorial Hospital, and the committee in charge of the arrangements were Mrs. F. A. Moore and Misses Alexander, Wilden, Arcot, and Liddle.

Many teas have been held recently by members of the Wortley Road Baptist Church in aid of the bazaar being held at the home of Mrs. D. J. McLellan, 172 Wortley Road, the afternoon and evening of December the first. Among the hostesses who have loaned their homes for showers are Mrs. May, Mrs. Wray, Briscoe street, and Mrs. Dalgleish is holding a shower Tuesday afternoon. The following are conveners of the various booths: Mrs. Margaret Clarke, in charge of the tea-room; Miss Dugan, the novelty counter; Mrs. Wray, the kitchen booth; Mrs. Thomas May, the hankie table, and Mrs. Holland, the sewing counter. Mrs. J. P. Finnegan is acting as general convenor of the affair.

The bazaar given under the auspices of the Women's Association of Knox Church Thursday afternoon and evening promises to be a most successful affair. A feature of the affair will be the Made-in-Canada booth in charge of Mrs. J. M. McEwen. Mrs. John Stevenson is acting as general convenor. A most attractive tea room will be in charge of Mrs. Ferguson, during the tea hour, and high tea will also be served with Mrs. Cahill as convenor. The following are in charge of the various booths: Apron, Mrs. A. A. Fitzsimmons; candy, Mrs. W. Temple; fancywork, Mrs. Robert Gray; home cooking, Mrs. F. O. Kester; Men's wear, Mrs. William Love; novelty, Mrs. H. J. Sutherland; plum puddings, Mrs. F. McLellan. A program is being arranged for the afternoon.

FASHIONABLE HOSIERY.

This season it is not necessary to match one's slippers and hosiery for evening. Delicate-toned hosiery worn not only with the gold and silver metal cloth slippers, but with black satin ones as well.

CLUB NEWS

POSTPONES ANNUAL BANQUET.

The annual banquet of the Centennial Cavell Club, which was to have been held Thursday evening, has been postponed until November 30, owing to the illness of the teacher, Mrs. William Huddleston. The club is making plans for a bazaar to be held early in December, the date of which has not been decided upon. The girls are preparing an assortment of attractive articles suitable for Christmas, and it is expected that the affair will be equally as successful as in former years.

Y. M. C. A. WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

That 983 meals had been served during the month of October was shown by the report of the house committee at the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Women's Auxiliary held Monday afternoon. It was decided to make various improvements in the kitchen, also to purchase new kitchen equipment. The meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. J. P. Finnegan, was opened by a Bible lesson by Rev. George T. Watts.

MAKES SPECIAL RATES.

Reports given at the meeting of the executive of the Women's Music Club held Monday afternoon at Miss Ray-ward's studio gave every evidence of a bright season for the club. The arrangements were made for the first artists' concert being held December 7 in the Masonic Temple, where the club will present the Canadian cantata, Evelyn MacNevin, who comes from New York. Whitney Sherer of Chatham was an accompanist. The club has decided to have special rates for students for this recital.

MAN INJURED AS SCAFFOLD BREAKS

Blenheim, Nov. 20.—This afternoon, at Simon Burk's in Harwich Township, while some men were at work on his new house which is being built, William J. Sterling of Shillington was injured by the breaking of a scaffold upon which two men were at work, and part of the scaffold falling on his head, making a gash which required the services of a physician. It appears that he and two others were carrying some material under the scaffold when it gave way, hitting him. The others escaped without injury. He was brought to town for medical treatment. It is expected no serious results will follow.

A Pretty Morning Frock.

Made of gingham at 15c per yard and trimmed with chambray at 30c per yard, this new house dress costs about 55c. If you are one of the many busy housewives who love pretty things but can't always take much time to make them, you will be pleased to know that you could make this style in about an afternoon. You could cut two of different materials at the same time and finish both in a day. The two could be completed for less than what it would cost you to buy one good one of this style, and you would then have a pleasant change in house dress.

The pattern No. 1584 cuts in sizes 35, 40 and 44 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch material with 1 1/2-yard 36-inch contrasting. Price 15c, stamps or coin (coin preferred).

SEEKS REDRESS,
CHARGING ABUSEDeported Veteran At Sarnia
Claims Self and Family
Cruelly Treated.

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, Nov. 20.—Deported from Port Huron with his wife and two children after 25 days' imprisonment during which he alleges he was cruelly treated, Emanuel Joseph today communicated with United States and Canadian authorities seeking redress, through Wilfred S. Haney, Sarnia barrister.

Joseph is a Canadian citizen and a veteran of the Canadian army, he told Rev. R. Weaver, secretary of the soldiers' aid commission, who is caring for the family. He claims that he was deported for failure to pay a poll tax.

Cruelties which he charges were exercised on himself and his family while they were held in the St. Clair county jail resulting in serious injury to his wife, he represents in dispatches sent by Wilfred S. Haney, his barrister, to the United States secretary of state and the Canadian minister of immigration.

Joseph told officials here today that he was born and raised in Chatham and went from there to war in 1914. He was discharged to recover from serious gas wounds in 1916. He married a girl from London, and later moved to Sandusky, where he was discharged two months ago.

He soon got work in Port Huron, he said, but aroused the antagonism of fellow-workmen when he labored 14 hours a day. They discovered that he was a Canadian, and immigration authorities were summoned to investigate. Imprisonment of himself and his family and deportation followed.

During their imprisonment, Joseph claims, medical attention was not furnished for his wife, and they were abused and sent out of the country without money.

The dead body of Samuel Sylvester, aged 65, was found lying on his bed at the residence, 365 Devine street, this morning, death having resulted from a heart attack.

His presence having been missed at the breakfast table, members of the family went upstairs to see what was the matter and found Mr. Sylvester lying on the bed fully dressed. Three years ago it is said that Mr. Sylvester suffered a very severe stroke. Deceased was a prominent Orangeman.

CRITICIZES BUDGET OF AUSTRALIA'S GOVERNMENT

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters.)

—W. A. Watt, ex-treasurer of the Commonwealth, and leader of the Liberal wing of the Nationalist party, speaking at St. Kilda today, criticized the government's budget, and declared that he was no longer able to support Premier Hughes, and added: "The people of Great Britain have scrapped the coalition government. They were tired of hectic politics and desired a period of quietude. That is Australia's need."

Buy Eggs by Grade

CANADIAN standard grades for eggs intended for the export market have been in force for four years. The system has proved to be a great success in establishing confidence in the quality of Canadian eggs abroad. It will have a similar effect in establishing confidence in Canadian eggs at home.

The Government advocates standard grades for domestic consumption. Ask your grocer for graded eggs. To determine the quality of eggs, the dealer "candles" them, and puts them in the grade to which they belong. The Government has laid down specific definitions by which Canadian eggs are graded. In grading eggs, the following are the principal factors taken into consideration: Weight, size of air cell, firmness of white, and density of yolk.

Four Grades of Eggs

1. Specials Eggs grading as "Specials" are attractive in appearance when cooked alone or in combination with other foods, and give a delicious flavor to the prepared dish. These eggs are not found on the market at all seasons.
2. Extras Eggs grading as "Extras" are very satisfactory, giving good results when cooked alone, or in combination with other foods. These eggs can always be obtained and should prove very popular as the housewife can be sure of the results from this grade.
3. Firsts Good eggs, which may be scrambled, fried or used for any other cooking purpose, but not of the uniform quality of "specials" and "extras."
4. Seconds This grade consists of eggs which may be used for baking and dishes in which eggs are used in combination. This grade includes stale eggs and eggs with watery whites and heavy yolks.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH THEFT AT WALLACEBURG

Special to The Advertiser.
Wallaceburg, Nov. 20.—Ida Richardson, a young woman, hailing from Montreal, was this morning committed for trial on the charge of stealing $50 from Andrew Rossetti.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and stated that the money was given her by Rossetti, whereas it was stated by a witness that the money was handed by the complainant to the prisoner for her to take care of for him. Upon returning from work one evening, the complainant found that the prisoner had gone away and his money also. She was arrested in Chatham.

GALLI CURCI PAYS HER FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—While in Ottawa last week, Madame Galli Curci took advantage of her presence at the seat of the Canadian Government to settle her account with the federal income tax office.

It is understood that she paid a very substantial sum covering arrears of a previous concert tour in Canada.

R. W. Bradner, commissioner of taxation, stated that she was permitted to state the amount paid, and he was emphatic in stating that there was no question of seizure, the account being settled in quite regular form as a matter of course.

Madame Galli Curci's share of the receipts at the concert here amounted to nearly $2,000.

THIEVES CARRY OFF CLOTHES AND CASH

Gents' Furnishing Store At Preston Broken Into Sunday Morning.

Special to The Advertiser.
Galt, Nov. 20.—Early Sunday morning thieves gained an entrance to R. A. Holden's gents' furnishing store in Preston by breaking a cellar window, taking several overcoats, a couple of suits and some change in the till. The safe, the floor of which was left open, was ransacked, but nothing taken. On the previous Friday night the Cumming garage was broken into, $4.80 taken from the cash drawer and two auto tubes were also missing.

After spending the whole day on the assumption that the cause of the revision reserved all decisions. This morning evidence was submitted by A. A. E. Willard, who appealed the assessment of the entire city to show discrimination. Witnesses being called from every section of the city, but the court, after arguments, reserved a decision. The non-committal decision was then announced to deal with the list of 561 personal appeals, some of the appeals being a ground to take the decision to be handed down by the Willard case, while others fought their own cases. It is an abnormal condition, says the court of revision. When a decision is reached, the conclusion is a mystery, even to the members of the council.

On the recommendation of the finance committee the city council tonight granted a request of the South Waterloo Agricultural Society for the submission of a bylaw to the electors at New Years to raise $10,000 to Hall in Dickson Park, which is not large enough now for the fall show.

CANADA TO PARTICIPATE IN BRITISH EXHIBITION

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—(By Canadian Press).—Canada will participate in the British Empire Exhibition to be held at Wembley Park, near London, in 1924, and will have a pavilion covering approximately 150,000 square feet of space.

Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, in his interview this afternoon with Major E. A. Belcher, assistant general manager of the exhibition and head of the mission which has toured the provinces and placed the matter of participation before the various governments.

The amount of money which it is proposed to spend of the Canadian exhibit for the occasion was not stated. The space being taken, however, is the same as that being taken by Australia, which is spending $1,250,000 on its display of Australian products for the exhibition.

Major Belcher expressed satisfaction with the result of his tour of Canada.

Whiskey Bottles Floating in Lake Erie Eagerly Sought by Norfolk Residents

Special to The Advertiser.
Simcoe, Nov. 20.—Reminiscent of pre-prohibition days is the scene today at the cove five miles west of Port Rowan, where the steamer City of Dresden, laden with 500 cases of Canadian whiskey, foundered about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The heavily-laden ship, with Captain J. S. McQueen of Amherstburg in command, bound from Port Huron, was caught in the sweeping gale which threw Lake Erie into a fury on Friday and Saturday. The boat sprang a leak and the water poured in so fast, all hope of reaching Port Burwell was abandoned, and Captain

McQueen headed the vessel for shore. The treacherous undercurrent consistently swept the boat back although several times she was but 300 yards distant. A small lifeboat was launched with oars and lifebelts, but the heavy seas capsize it. The second skiff was lowered minus oars and belts and the captain and four mates clambered in. The captain's son, Percival McQueen, aged 21, while assisting one of the men who was rendered partially helpless by a wooden leg slipped, was caught on the crest of a huge breaker and was seen no more.

The five survivors managed to reach the beach in safety after a battle with the furious waves. Exhausted, they were carried to the nearby home of Dell Rocky, and are still in a battered condition. The vessel is fast disintegrating, and hundreds of quart bottles are being eagerly captured by residents of the neighborhood. Whole cases are being loaded into waiting automobiles and conveyed to unknown destinations. The boat has listed to one side, but should the wind turn to the north will probably right itself. Meanwhile the cabin, intact, has been carried on to the beach.

The City of Dresden was condemned some 20 years ago when Captain McQueen purchased it and installed a completely new set of high-powered engines. Young McQueen's body has not been found.

SAYS COLONIES SHOULD SHARE EAST BURDENS

P. W. Wilson States Britain Should Not Face Difficulties Alone.

FIRE STILL SMOLDERING

Toronto, Nov. 20.—That the burden of responsibility in connection with problems growing out of the Near East and other complications is heavier than Great Britain should be asked to bear alone, and that the self-governing overseas dominions can very well afford to take a generous view of what Britain does for the preservation of her ideals and traditions, was the opinion expressed today before the Canadian Club by Mr. P. Whitwell Wilson, former member of the British House and a newspaper man of wide experience. Mr. Wilson is a leading writer for the New York Times and also American representative of the London News. He has had an unusual opportunity of coming in contact with men of high office, of studying political subjects and of observing the drift of current events.

Choosing "The Eastern Question" as his subject, he took occasion to give passing opinions upon the causes and results of the upheaval in British and United States elections. It was upon the expressed belief that Britain is standing as a buffer against the assaults of other races whose interests are different, that he based the remark as to the sympathy which should be shown by Canada and other dependencies.

Reviews History.

Giving a most enlightening resume of troubles which have centered around the Ottoman Empire for a century, Mr. Wilson dealt with recent history pertaining to Kemal's leadership of the Turks, of the part the French, British and Greeks had played in the changing scenes in the Near East and pointed out that now the fires of war and discord were still smoldering. It would take but a small breeze to fan them into anger.

The events culminating in the temporary success of the Kemal forces and the burning of Smyrna, the speaker termed a tremendous tragedy. "So serious did the outlook at one time become," remarked Mr. Wilson, "that Mr. Lloyd George and his colleague, Mr. Chamberlain, sent out the fiery cross. It was not just the way to appeal to the great dominion governments, but whatever may be said of that it is at least worth while to know that the Turk was brought to his knees."

Passing on to the intrigues and ambitions of European and Asiatic powers, the speaker during his remarks made some trite statements, including these:

"You are playing with fire when you arm the Turk."

"Germany is always the brains of the Slav body. She is taking a great part in the reconstruction of Russia on what I may call a semi-capitalist line."

"Never forget when you think of these Eastern problems, that Russia is still co-terminus with India. She may yet prove a terrible menace for the Turks and Russians are close together."

Drawing conclusions from what he saw going on, Mr. Wilson declared: "This business of war and destruction will never be solved till we have a higher ideal of international relations. Britain has great problems to constantly face and solve. She can not act without being misunderstood. She cannot take an aggressive step without being suspected of personal motives and selfishness. The time has come, I think, when all who consider that they owe something to her for the civilization of today, to realize that she cannot always stand aside. A great deal, I think, does should appreciate and I think does appreciate the load which Britain is carrying. You can afford to be generous toward her when you know what she is doing to maintain the ideals and principles for which the Anglo-Saxon race stands."

EXPECT DEVELOPMENTS IN HAMILTON ROBBERY

Hamilton, Nov. 20.—Further developments in the robbery at the T. H. & B. Railway here on Saturday will take place within the next 24 hours, the police declared tonight, after the day investigating the theft of $6,000 worth of jewelry contained in a traveler's sample case in the checkroom of the railway office by Gerald Hogan, representative of a firm of manufacturing jewelers.

The police story is to the effect that Mr. Hogan checked the case for the week-end, but he presented the check for the bag at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when the bag was discovered missing. One man was on duty at the time, and is unable to account for the disappearance of the bag.

Insurance of the case is held with Lloyds, London, England.

Provincial, local and railway police are working on the case, also including the representative of the insurance company.

Wallaceburg, Nov. 20.—Ida Richardson, a young woman, hailing from Montreal, was this morning committed for trial on the charge of stealing $50 from Andrew Rossetti.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and stated that the money was given her by Rossetti, whereas it was stated by a witness that the money was handed by the complainant to the prisoner for her to take care of for him. Upon returning from work one evening, the complainant found that the prisoner had gone away and his money also. She was arrested in Chatham.

GALLI CURCI PAYS HER FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—While in Ottawa last week, Madame Galli Curci took advantage of her presence at the seat of the Canadian Government to settle her account with the federal income tax office.

It is understood that she paid a very substantial sum covering arrears of a previous concert tour in Canada.

R. W. Bradner, commissioner of taxation, stated that she was permitted to state the amount paid, and he was emphatic in stating that there was no question of seizure, the account being settled in quite regular form as a matter of course.

Madame Galli Curci's share of the receipts at the concert here amounted to nearly $2,000.

THIEVES CARRY OFF CLOTHES AND CASH

Gents' Furnishing Store At Preston Broken Into Sunday Morning.

Special to The Advertiser.
Galt, Nov. 20.—Early Sunday morning thieves gained an entrance to R. A. Holden's gents' furnishing store in Preston by breaking a cellar window, taking several overcoats, a couple of suits and some change in the till. The safe, the floor of which was left open, was ransacked, but nothing taken. On the previous Friday night the Cumming garage was broken into, $4.80 taken from the cash drawer and two auto tubes were also missing.

After spending the whole day on the assumption that the cause of the revision reserved all decisions. This morning evidence was submitted by A. A. E. Willard, who appealed the assessment of the entire city to show discrimination. Witnesses being called from every section of the city, but the court, after arguments, reserved a decision. The non-committal decision was then announced to deal with the list of 561 personal appeals, some of the appeals being a ground to take the decision to be handed down by the Willard case, while others fought their own cases. It is an abnormal condition, says the court of revision. When a decision is reached, the conclusion is a mystery, even to the members of the council.

On the recommendation of the finance committee the city council tonight granted a request of the South Waterloo Agricultural Society for the submission of a bylaw to the electors at New Years to raise $10,000 to Hall in Dickson Park, which is not large enough now for the fall show.

CANADA TO PARTICIPATE IN BRITISH EXHIBITION

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—(By Canadian Press).—Canada will participate in the British Empire Exhibition to be held at Wembley Park, near London, in 1924, and will have a pavilion covering approximately 150,000 square feet of space.

Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, in his interview this afternoon with Major E. A. Belcher, assistant general manager of the exhibition and head of the mission which has toured the provinces and placed the matter of participation before the various governments.

The amount of money which it is proposed to spend of the Canadian exhibit for the occasion was not stated. The space being taken, however, is the same as that being taken by Australia, which is spending $1,250,000 on its display of Australian products for the exhibition.

Major Belcher expressed satisfaction with the result of his tour of Canada.

LIBERAL MEMBER IS RETURNED UNOPPOSED

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The return of John G. Robichaud as Liberal member for Gloucester, N.B., by acclamation, was announced in a message received at the prime minister's office shortly after the close of nominations today.

RECOVER BODIES FROM LAKE WITH DYNAMITE

Quebec, Nov. 20.—The bodies of nine victims of the recent drowning in Lake St. Lawrence, near Shuter Bay, have been recovered, it was announced last night by the Ontario Pulp and Paper Company. Donat Therrien, who was driving the motor boat which sank, is the only one who has not been located. Dynamite was used by the searchers to recover the bodies.

Whiskey Bottles Floating in Lake Erie Eagerly Sought by Norfolk Residents

Special to The Advertiser.
Simcoe, Nov. 20.—Reminiscent of pre-prohibition days is the scene today at the cove five miles west of Port Rowan, where the steamer City of Dresden, laden with 500 cases of Canadian whiskey, foundered about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The heavily-laden ship, with Captain J. S. McQueen of Amherstburg in command, bound from Port Huron, was caught in the sweeping gale which threw Lake Erie into a fury on Friday and Saturday. The boat sprang a leak and the water poured in so fast, all hope of reaching Port Burwell was abandoned, and Captain

McQueen headed the vessel for shore. The treacherous undercurrent consistently swept the boat back although several times she was but 300 yards distant. A small lifeboat was launched with oars and lifebelts, but the heavy seas capsize it. The second skiff was lowered minus oars and belts and the captain and four mates clambered in. The captain's son, Percival McQueen, aged 21, while assisting one of the men who was rendered partially helpless by a wooden leg slipped, was caught on the crest of a huge breaker and was seen no more.

The five survivors managed to reach the beach in safety after a battle with the furious waves. Exhausted, they were carried to the nearby home of Dell Rocky, and are still in a battered condition. The vessel is fast disintegrating, and hundreds of quart bottles are being eagerly captured by residents of the neighborhood. Whole cases are being loaded into waiting automobiles and conveyed to unknown destinations. The boat has listed to one side, but should the wind turn to the north will probably right itself. Meanwhile the cabin, intact, has been carried on to the beach.

The City of Dresden was condemned some 20 years ago when Captain McQueen purchased it and installed a completely new set of high-powered engines. Young McQueen's body has not been found.

CANINE ATTACKS INFANT PLAYMATE

Special to The Advertiser.
Lion's Head, Nov. 20.—Left alone for a short time at her home Thursday night, Lillian, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thornley of Griffith's Island, began to play with a big dog, which became enraged, knocked the child down and attacked her.

Attracted by the screams of the little girl, her parents found her cruelly bitten and scratched about the arms and head.

The child was immediately taken to Big Bay and rushed by motor to the General and Marine Hospital, Owen Sound.

The dog was shot following the unfortunate affair.

URGE HOUSE RUSH IRISH BILL

Speech of King Expected To Deal With Important Foreign Affairs.

London, Nov. 20.—The king's speech at the formal opening of parliament on Thursday, it is understood, will begin with an important reference to foreign affairs, followed by an allusion to affairs at home as compared with the unsettled condition in Europe.

Legislation establishing the new constitution of Ireland, however, will be mentioned as the sole matter which necessitated the meeting of parliament for the second time this year, and the house will be invited to pass upon it without delay.

The universal view is that ten working days should suffice for the debate on the reply to the address from the throne and the passage of the Irish bill, but it is regarded as somewhat doubtful if the government's program for a very short program can be strictly adhered to.

Contrary to the usual experience after a general election, the opposition, as represented by the augmented number of members, is in high spirits over the reinforcement of its numbers, and is not likely to forego willingly the opportunities the debate will offer. An amendment raising the problem of unemployment and enabling Labor proposals on this subject, it is expected, will be pressed on the government, and other amendments may be moved, while the benches will be crowded with young members from the north eager to address the house on matters in which they are keenly interested.

Robert Smylie, president of the Scottish Mace, and a member of his executive committee at Glasgow today that, although Labor is now about 150 strong, they must not expect a millionth part of the seat in the next general election.

Months, but they might look for a vast improvement in the conditions of the workers.

The two Liberal parties will also be active, and it may be necessary to offer special days for the debate after the Labor party is transacted.

Asked whether Newbold, the solitary Communist in the new parliament, would take the oath of allegiance to the king, the Communist party's parliamentary secretary admitted that the oath did not accord with the principles of the party, but added that "as a matter of expediency" no practical difficulty was anticipated.
