UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA BECOMES A GREAT REALITY AMID REVERENCE AND JOY

Official Declaration Made At

PLA'S PRESENTED
Eight Thousand Partake of Communion in Toronto Arena.

By R. E. KNOWLES.
Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, June 10.—The thing is done. A quarter of a century of waiting, hoping, struggling, has become today an hour of palpating joy.

The United Church of Canada was born today, its advent attended by high revelry of rejoicing hearts. Not in temple or cathedral, nor amid long-drawn aisle and fretted vault echoing the note of praise, but as if symbolic of the power and purpose of the new-born church to hallow and to beautify, to make the place of its birth feel glorious, the holy festivities were held within a area set apart to athletic prowess and physical endeavor. "Now these do it to obtain an incorruptible crown—but we are incorruptible."

An Impressive Scene.
Great and impressive was the scene. Several thousands in reverent souls were gathered there, too, but representative of the great host of unto ocean, who have lived to see this day, and seeing have rejoiced, and who there but felt the cloud of witnesses, the throng of men once like us, with suffering tried, but now with glory crowned, have realized long since how trivial is so much that has divided us, how sovereign so much that unites?

It is an hour for national pride and hope. In the highest things of life Canada has led the world. Precedent for this there is none. The adventure is the sole work of those forward-looking pilgrims and the pilgrims of God.

Blended forever are these three great churches now, each living still, each glorying in the sacrifice of man that it might be possible for all to show to the world that nearness to Christ means nearness to one another, and to call the whole Christian commonwealth to the eye-to be fulfilled

LEADING FIGURES IN NEW UNITED CHURCH.
Dr. D. Chown (left), for years superintendent of Canadian Methodism, today officially declared the union of three great churches. This impressive announcement was made in the Toronto arena before an audience of 8,000 people. Dr. C. F. Pidgeon (right), late moderator of the Presbyterian church, followed Dr. Chown in moving the first order of business of the new United church, that of admitting the American Presbyterian church of Montreal. Dr. W. H. Warriner, representing the Congregational churches of Canada, offered to the United church the denomination he represented. Dr. Warriner then read the Scripture lesson at the mammoth gathering.

CONFIDENCE REIGNS

William Duff, M. P., Reviews Fight in Parliament To Prevent Union.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 10.—While the inaugural service of the United church of Canada was being held a short distance away, continuing Presbyterians this morning concluded their congress at Cooke's church in preparation for the assembly, which starts tomorrow. Reports were received from Quebec and eastern Ontario Presbyteries on the strength and prospects of those opposed to union.

These included reports from Glengarry and Quebec, the two oldest Presbyteries in Ontario and Quebec.
Rev. R. J. Gassford of Winchester informed the congress that the synod of Montreal and Ottawa was about evenly divided on the question of union. William Duff, M.P., Lunenburg, N.S., and Senator Gillies of Saskatchewan, both spoke briefly, telling of the fight put up in Ottawa for the minorities before the passage of the legislation which created the United church. Senator Gillies said there were more Presbyterians in Saskatchewan than in any other province.

Rev. W. D. Brown, F.S.D. Deer, who has been one of the leaders of the continuing church, said that Presby-terianism was the greatest instrument for frontier missionary work, as the doctrine and form of government lent themselves admirably to that work.

Asks Divine Guidance.
From 10:30 until 12:45 a.m. the continuing commissioners attended a service of intercession conducted by the interim moderator, Dr. D. G. Mc-Queen, of Edmonton.

Promptly at 12:45 this morning (daylight saving time), Dr. McQueen entered the pulpit and gave out the 110th Psalm. This was followed by the singing of the second paraphrase
"O God of Bethel."

In the prayer that followed Dr.
McQueen interceded for the divine grace to guide them as they reconstituted the court of the church, and to send them forth endowed with divine power for the great work they had to do. Following the prayer the interim moderator stated that this was a continuance of the general assembly that convened in Toronto on June 7.

Notice was given by Dr. Wardlaw Taylor that at the next seditant of the general assembly he would move that reconsideration be given to the report accepted by the assembly at College street church. The delegates eagerly followed the list of reports read, and when he came to the Montreal college report, which had

Illness Fails to Halt Spirit

Col. W. M. Gartshore Wanted Hospital Trust Meeting in Sickroom.

Although seriously ill at Victoria hospital, the institution to which he has devoted much of his life's work, Colonel W. M.
Gartshore, president of the Mc-Clary Manufacturing Company, shows an enthusiastic interest in hospital activities and last night suggested holding a meeting of the hospital trust, of which he himself is a member,
in his bedroom.

Other members of the trust,
however, were unwilling to tax Colonel Gartshore's strength by acceding to his request, and the meeting was held in another part of the building.

Colonel Gartshore's condition has shown improvement recently.

WAR SCARS FAIL TO TEMPER LAW

Alfred Crawley's Shrapnel
Pleas Useless in Liquor
Case—$50 Fine.

Scars of battle do not warrant leniency in London's police court. Veterans of the great war are dealt with as ordinary citizens. A hundred shrapnel wounds would not justify dismissal on an O. T. A. charge, according to Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon. The law makes no provision for the case of a more lenient penalty in the case of wounded war heroes.

Alfred Crawley, 48 years old, a wounded veteran, learned this today when he was convicted of having liquor in a public place and fined $50 and costs or one month. He was arrested yesterday at the Salvation army hostel. He was drunk, and on his person a bottle of rubbing alcohol was found.

Blames 44 Beer.
Although admitting he was drunk, and 44 beer had rendered him in that condition, Crawley argued that the alcohol was used as a liniment for his wounds.

But that excuse had been used by hundreds before he learned, as Magistrate Graydon declared, "That's what they all say."

Crawley continued to plea that his offense should be overlooked, because of his war record, but his requests met a deaf ear. When he commenced to seek leniency through talks of shrapnel wounds, the court interrupted to say that the penalty would be a minimum one—the same as that imposed upon ordinary citizens.

Sympathy Only.
His story of shrapnel wounds would receive sympathy, the magistrate said, but no more leniency than if he suffered from a hundred wounds.

Your excuse of using rubbing alcohol for your wounded leg is like the fisherman who, as proof he had caught a 50-pound fish, volunteered to show the lake in which the catch was made," said Mr. Graydon as he disposed of the case.

CASES POSTPONED.
The two remaining cases of the county court June sessions have been postponed till June 22 by His Honor Judge Macbeth.

Tribute To a Veteran

William Skinner, 98 years old, afternoon receives a tribute from the grand lodge of Ontario in the form of a past master's jewel to mark his 52 years of service with St.
George's lodge, No. 42, A. F. and
A. M.

The grand lodge recently granted a jewel to past masters of 50 years' standing, and Mr. Skinner will be the first London district Mason to be presented with the coveted token.

Owing to Mr. Skinner's failing health, the presentation ceremony will take place at his home. The arrangements are in charge of Wor. Bro. Roy Lutz and other past masters and officers of St.
George's. Rt. Wor. Bro. Birnie Smith, D.D.G.M., will tender the jewel on behalf of the grand lodge.

Mr. Skinner joined St. George's lodge on Feb. 4, 1862, and has been a past master for 55 years. He also served as treasurer for many years, and is now a life member of the lodge.

The new past master's jewel is of old silver and is one of the most distinctive of Masonic awards. The cross-bar carries the Masonic crest, while the face of the medallion is impressed with the seal of the grand lodge.

The mayor happened to be in con-

when the two young men approached him with a request for letters, and the mayor's remark proved an eye-opener on the much-discussed migration to the States as it affects the Forest City.

Search for further statistics on the question led to the office of the American Consul, G. R. Taggart, and here information was forthcoming which was serious or otherwise according to the view point. It was at least interesting.

Consul's Figures.
"This office has issued 1,725 visas since July 1, 1924 to persons desiring to migrate to the United States," stated Mr. Taggart, who went on to explain that the consular year commences on July 1 and ends June 30 which accounted for the period covered by the statistics.

Four skeletons, the remains of people who had been buried when London was a village, were unearthed today in the excavation work being done in the rear of St. Peter's Cathedral, where the new central heating plant is to be installed.

The bones bear evidence of having been interred many years ago, some of them decaying away to the dust from whence they sprang, according to the Biblical pronouncement.

Although the coffins had long since gone, the place they occupied was left as a cave-like sepulchre above the bones. Evidently the ground became so hard before the coffins became a part of the earth about them that it formed a strong arch above the remains.

Workmen discovered the bones when the horses went through and foundered in the holes as the work proceeded. The bones were about six feet below the surface. They will be reinterred in a cemetery.

Toronto Ex-Mayor Returns
Today After Conference
With Hydro Chief.

Ex-Mayor C. A. Maguire, Toronto, former head of the Municipal Hydro Association and an active figure in the Deep Waterways Association, visited Sir Adam Beck yesterday and had long conferences both afternoon and evening.

It was the most important conference yet held by Sir Adam since his illness, with the possible exception of the visit of Premier Ferguson.

Mr. Maguire returned to Toronto this morning. His visit is believed to have had some connection with a possible appointment to the hydro commission.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Perth, Ont., June 10.—A verdict of no bill was returned by the grand jury, station master, arising out of the death of C. P. R. Engineer David Bourne of Toronto, who was fatally injured in a rear end train collision on Feb. 26, when the Toronto-Ottawa express crashed into a standing freight train on a sidcident was caused by the express being switched on the siding in error. Bourne, seeing a crash was inevitable, jumped

POOL MAY BE OPEN THURSDAY

Solution of Thames Park Tangle
Seen As Public Opinion
Strengthens.

CLUBS GIVE BACKING

"Open Pool and See What Happens," Is Attitude of Mayor.

From several sources came indications today that London's bathless week is not to be followed by another one. Pressure of public opinion will force a solution of the Thames park pool difficulty in short order, it is believed. In fact, Mayor Wenige has reached the point where he is prepared to advocate the opening of the pool forthwith just to see what will happen.

"They can't find you guilty before you've done something," he stated;
"and I feel like going ahead and opening the pool anyway and then siding by the consequences. I don't think that under the circumstances the provincial board of health would raise any very serious objection."

General Manager Buchanan of the public utilities commission, beyond admitting that the whole situation was engaging his serious attention at the present time, was noncommittal as to what action the commission would take. He hinted, however, that a possible solution is approaching and may be announced tomorrow.

Representatives of the Kiwanis club and other organizations have visited Mr. Buchanan urging immediate action and to them he explained the difficulty the commission is against.

No Money to Spare.
"There may be such a thing as elastic currency," he remarked, "but

Moscow, June 10.—Six aerothis morning with the object of

is successful, it is planned to

MURDOCK HAS EYE ON TORONTO RIDING

Minister of Labor Likely To Be Offered Nomination
At Early Date.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 10.—The Toronto Star today says: "Hon. James Murdock may be a candidate in Toronto at the next federal election. It is expected that a convention of one of the local constituencies will offer him the nomination at an early date. At least, there is a movement on foot to have the minister of labor run here and he is not averse to accepting a nomination."

"Mr. Murdock will address a meeting in Brampton on June 18, and at which time he will visit Toronto, when he will meet a deputation of Toronto Liberals who are anxious that he be a candidate in Toronto.
Following the Brampton meeting Mr.

SCOTTISH INDEPENDENCE IS STILL AIM OF FEW

Associated Press Despatch.

London, June 9.—A body of Scottish opinion, small in numbers, but possessing an abundance of the national characteristic, perseverance, continues pressing for Scottish independence. In this connection the Scottish national league believes that the Clydeside members of the House of Commons are lukewarm in their attitude towards such aspiration and the league proposes to submit opponents to these members of Parliament in the next election.

Two Saved From Drowning
At Birkett's Bathing Camp

Presence of mind and a knowledge of life-saving on the part of George Williamson, 13, 312 Thames street, and Clifford Handley, 15, 2 York street, saved the lives of two brothers at Birkett's bathing camp on Sunday afternoon.

It was the second near drowning in the Thames river here within two days.

The two youngsters wandered out of their depth, and both found themselves unable to reach shore. Hearing their cries for aid, the Williamson and Handley lads swam to the spot, and after a short fight brought them to the beach. One of the near victims was rescued after he had gone down for the second time.

Although brought to shore in semi-conscious conditions, neither of the brothers seemed to suffer any ill effects from their misadventure.

On Saturday Evan Hayter, 15, of the Bass line road, had a narrow escape from drowning when he stepped into a hole near the traction bridge. He was saved by his chum, Sam Munro, also 15 years old.

BYRON BRIDGE CLOSED FOR FLOOR PAVING

Five Weeks Will Elapse Till Motorists Can Use It.

Five weeks will elapse before motorists can again take their favorite drive from London by the north river road to Byron and home by Springfield drive.

The Byron bridge was closed to traffic yesterday while a new cement floor is being laid. The bridge will be repaved and some new steelwork erected. The contractors, Waltham and Fuller of Kewwood are allowed five weeks to complete the job.

WILLIAM G. MORTIMER WINNER OF RADIO SET

William G. Mortimer, 144 Central avenue, won a high grade radio set recently in a cross word puzzle competition. A Cincinnati radio firm offered several prizes for the best cross word puzzles made from the names of parts manufactured by the concern. Out of 1,500 contestants Mr. Mortimer won a third prize with the cross word puzzle he submitted. As a reward for his efforts he has been presented with a handsome six-tube radio set.

"Gee, but these Glasses are comfortable!"

I never had a pair in my life that felt so comfortable as these that I had fitted at STEELE'S. And the lenses—they are so clear and comfortable that I scarcely know that I have them on my face.

I felt right from the minute I got them that they were going to be satisfactory, because Mr. Steele gave me the most thorough examination I ever had, and, of course, your eyes have to be examined properly if your glasses are going to be right.

I would advise you to see Mr. Steele if you are having trouble with your eyes.

Board of Works Asks City Council For Strict Watch On Vehicles.

SIPHON SANCTION

Telephone Order From Ontario Health Board Permits Start.

Immediate police supervision of traffic over Ridout street bridge, as a means of preventing a disaster due to overloading and disregard of speed regulations, will be asked by No. 2 committee of the city council, following a meeting yesterday afternoon, at which City Engineer W. P. Near brought in a detailed report on the past history and present condition of the structure.

The engineer was instructed to secure data on the approximate cost of a new and thoroughly modern highway bridge at this point, and in the meantime police will be requested to keep tabs on vehicles using the bridge, to insure that no heavily-loaded truck brings about the collapse, in view of the city engineer's report, seems only too likely to occur unless extreme care is used.

The engineer warned the committee that the regulations posted at both entrances to the bridge, as to maximum speed and load permitted on it, were being daily disregarded, and the occasional safe passage of a 14-ton load, such as he personally witnessed two days ago, is no guarantee of safety.

Warns of Danger.

Once the stress on the bridge passes the elastic limit, he warned, a collapse may occur at any time.

"The bridge is structurally weak," stated Mr. Near, "and if daily overloads are permitted, I can't prophesy when a failure will occur, or what the results will be. In its present condition even a full live load of pedestrians (an improbable event) could quite possibly cause the bridge to collapse."

In view of the serious nature of the report, the mayor moved that action be speeded up in looking to the erection of a new bridge, and that strict police supervision be immediately instituted.

Authorize Sewer Start.

Another big undertaking was gotten under way, when the committee authorized the engineer's department to make a start on the big siphon sewer on Evergreen avenue. This job, which will cost $80,000, has been put aside for some time, although the contract has already been let, pending a favorable outcome of the tangle.

For the past 29 years, since the passage of a bill through the Ontario house in 1896, permitting the city to put aside a certain sum each year for purposes of sewer maintenance, funds have been accumulating in this account until the total has become sufficiently impressive to pay for the cost of the sewer.

Seek Mandatory Order.

But there was doubt as to whether the municipality could legally use the money for the purpose, and the question was referred to the Ontario board of health, who notified the city last week that the construction of the sewer was deemed to be in the interest of public health, and that the city should proceed with the work, but Mr. Near requested at yesterday's meeting that he had been in touch with the department by telephone, and had been advised that the notification was to be regarded as a mandatory order. On leaving this, the committee ordered commencement of the work.

During the dying minutes of the session (and it may be remarked that said session lingered from 5:15 until after 7 o'clock) a brisk interchange of opinion occurred as to the rates of pay to be given day laborers by the company who will construct the sewer pipes for this job.

The city engineer, acting on previous instructions, had secured information that the Dominion Lock-Joint Pipe Company, of Woodstock, who have the contract, are paying from 20 to 25 cents an hour. A clause in the contract stipulates that they shall employ bona fide residents of London, who shall be paid the prevailing rate of wages in the city.

The "prevailing" rate.

An immediate difference of opinion was manifested as to the meaning of the prevailing rate of wages. Ald. H. Neely bitterly opposed what he described as an arbitrary attempt by the city to fix prices for labor.

"If this company can get men for 35c an hour, let them go ahead and get them," was his dictum. "I have to work with what I can get."

His remark drew fire from Ald. Ashton, who was emphatic in stating that the rate was far too low. Ald. Kilbourne, himself an employer, took the view that no man could live and support a family on such a rate of pay. Ald. McCormick took a similar position.

It makes no difference to me what the prevailing rate of wages is, I know that no man can live on 35c an hour," he stated.

Finally, on motion of Ald. Ashton, the committee adopted a resolution, "that, in the opinion of this committee, the prevailing rate of wages in London is 40c an hour."

Ald. Neely and Ald. Linnell refused to vote on the resolution.

A great deal of routine business was disposed of at the meeting, which also decided upon inviting members of the police department, London Motor club and London chamber of commerce to a meeting next Tuesday evening at 7:30 to discuss the designation of certain corners as "stop streets," under the new regulations issued by the Ontario department of public highways.

Mayor Wenig was of the opinion that it would be wise to avoid the designation of any so-called "through streets," and believed that the establishment of "stop" corners, where necessary, would serve the need as well.

Ald. Bottrell, chairman of No. 2 committee, was absent from the meeting, which fact drew the comment from Mr. Wenig that he believed that he could have been present if he had so desired.

LONDONERS GO TO LOBO PICNIC

Event of the Year Being Staged At Poplar Hill Park.

Several Londoners left this morning by motor for Poplar Hill where the annual union school picnic and Middlesex old boys' and girls' reunion is being held this afternoon.

The Strathroy military band will head the parade of about 13 public schools in the district, and prizes will be awarded for the schools showing to the best advantage as to marching and general appearance.

A full program of children's races will follow, together with baby show and clinic, band program, baseball between Delaware and Ilford teams and softball between Ilford and Coldstream continuation school girls, adult sport events, and closing with a grand evening concert.

Entertainers who will participate in the evening program, for which Gray, London, will act as chairman, are: Jack Ballantyne, London; J. Reid, Toronto; Jim Fax, Toronto, and the Strathroy military band.

The committee in charge of the picnic arrangements includes: N. P. Campbell, chairman; R. C. Frank, vice-president; James Forbes, 2nd vice-president; M. Sinclair, treasurer, and A. S. Cutler, secretary.

The Lobo union school picnic has a reputation for providing a royal outing for all who attend and this year's program promises to live up to the high standard set in past years.

ROAD PROGRESS IS PLEASING TO CHIEF

E. V. Buchanan, P.U.C. Manager, Comments on Spring- bank Park Project.

Manager E. V. Buchanan is much pleased with the progress made with the new upper road at Springbank park during the time he was away.

The manager is impressed with the possibilities of improvement in handling the traffic at the park with the right-hand turn and one-way traffic predominating. With the placing of the signs directing the traffic and improvement in the roads themselves by reason of travel, Mr. Buchanan feels that the investment of $10,000 on the roads will have been well worth while, particularly as it eased the unemployment situation in the city.

Besides opening up a new portion of the park to the south of the street railway tracks, a new road system relieves the congestion of traffic in front of the zoo by diverting it north through the bank of the Thames river. This latter arrangement will make it much safer for both children and adults in walking around the zoo.

During the next few days officials of the Michigan Central Railroad will send out new posters to be put along railway crossings and which it is hoped will teach a lesson that will have the effect of reducing the number of accidents at such points.

In sending out these posters the railway calls attention to these very important facts which tell a story that is quite startling:

(1) 70% of all crossing accidents occur in daylight.

(2) 63% of all crossing accidents occur in the open country where there is no obstruction to the view.

(3) A large majority of all crossing accidents occur at crossings with which the driver is entirely familiar, usually in the locality where he resides.

(4) 14% of all accidents (1 out of every 7) result from drivers running into the side of moving trains.

(5) Reckless motorists include many whose eyesight and hearing are impaired, boys who are not old enough to understand the operation of a motor car, and those who are age that they are not capable of operating the car safely, and it also includes a large number who drive cars while in an intoxicated condition.

All crossings are not protected, and those that are have various types of protection, such as ground flags, gates, and electric flash signal. All drivers should approach crossings with this knowledge, and know that the way is clear before attempting to cross the tracks, also know that where there are two or more tracks, trains are likely to be moving in both directions at the same time.

Judgment was reserved in the $500 damage case of Mrs. Bertha M. David against Walter Richards, which occupied the attention of Judge Macbeth in county court yesterday.

Plaintiff had several witnesses who swore that Richards had made remarks to the effect that she had used funds for her own use belonging to the Circle of Friends of London, auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Foresters. The remarks alleged to have been made, were denied by Mr. Richards, in the witness box.

Albert M. Murphy acted for the plaintiff and J. M. Donahue for the defendant.

CLAIM CANADIAN CUSTOMS OFFICERS WERE TOO LENIENT

U. S. Federal Officials De-

Found Necessary.

Associated Press Despatch.
Buffalo, N. Y., June 10.—Recent statements by federal officials here that a "lenient attitude" on the part of Canadian customs men toward liquor smuggling prompted the United States to increase its guard along the Niagara frontier, have aroused intense interest here in the steps which are being taken to prevent or decrease smuggling activities.

A few persons, including several newspapermen, who have taken the trouble to inspect the arrangements for the customs men, reported that a "lenient attitude" on the part of Canadian customs men toward liquor smuggling prompted the United States to increase its guard along the Niagara frontier, have aroused intense interest here in the steps which are being taken to prevent or decrease smuggling activities.

Three Principals Opposed To Establishing Junior High Schools In London

Special Committee To Be Guided by These in Report.

TO TAKE NO ACTION
Whole Question Thoroughly Probed by the Principal.

London's three collegiate institute principals are unanimously opposed to the establishment of junior high schools in this city.

In consultation with the special committee appointed by the board of education under Trustee Mrs. John A. Rose, to inquire into the whole question, they expressed their opinion against any such move in no uncertain terms.

Acting largely on the advice of the principals and the data submitted to them by the principals, the committee will report to the board at its regular meeting tomorrow with a recommendation that no action be taken toward establishing junior high schools here.

In discussing the question the United States interpretation of a junior high school, consisting of the higher grades of the primary school and lower grades of the secondary school, was not entertained, the committee holding that in Canada a junior high school would be organized on exactly the same lines as a regular high school or collegiate institute, except that no upper school work would be taught in the school.

Complete Courses.

Should the committee's recommendation be accepted by the board tomorrow, the present policy of complete high school courses in the units, as well as in the central collegiate, will be pursued and upper school work taught in either of the two units in those subjects for which there is a sufficient number of students to make it worth while.

Principal A. E. O'Neill, B.A., of the east unit, went more fully into the question than did Principal E. A. Miller, M.A., central collegiate, or Principal T. S. H. Graham, M.A., of the west unit.

The manuscript prepared by Mr. O'Neill covers the points introduced by the other two principals and as such is given below:

"If the proposal to concentrate all upper school work in one of the three colleges has any validity, it must be assumed that such an arrangement will promote greater efficiency and economy in our educational system."

"Let us consider the question of efficiency first.

"To promote greater efficiency the arrangement will have to improve one or more of the following: (1) The character of the teaching, (2) The character of the students, (3) The tone and spirit of the school, (4) The general organization.

"What About Teaching?"

"Will it improve the character of the teaching?"

"It may in the institution which takes the upper school class, but certainly not in the others. A great deal of the work in certain subjects is done throughout the whole collegiate career of a student (mathematics or classics, for example) is of necessity foundational and hence somewhat mechanical up to the matriculation point. That examination selects from the student body a group for the upper school whose scholastic attainments are such that they are qualified for instruction in what is termed the higher learning."

Siki Loses Pet Monkey

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, June 10.—Battling Siki's pet monkey was absent without leave today. The Senegalese fighter and his mascot, two feet tall, were bound for Coney Island last night. The monkey leaped through the window of the subway train pulling out of the Thirty-fourth street station.

Women shrieked and ran. The monkey did likewise. Two policemen pursued it, but it dodged under the platform and disappeared. Track walkers could not find it. Siki has offered a reward for his pet.

ferred on one collegiate at the expense of the others."

"Will it improve the tone and spirit of the school?"

"The presence of an upper school in an institution doing the work of a student body with a group of leaders who should be the elite of the school. Being older and more highly trained, they have a stronger influence. Their scholastic attainments are an inspiration to others. Finally in the extra-curricular activities of a competitive nature, it must be shown that the school will depend for success and encouragement. What could be more discouraging to a school-to students and staff, yes, and to the community—than to see the choicest of its students periodically drafted into another institution to help win matriculation honors, while the school where those triumphs were discovered, encouraged and developed?"

Organization.

"Will it improve the general organization?"

"There can be no question that a school can be better organized if there is upper school work. Under the present system of examination by which students receive credit for every examination passed, it is a common thing to find students with matriculation marks. They may have one, two, three, or four subjects to write in order to complete matriculation. Now if there is no upper school work in the institution which they have been attending, these students have one of two choices: First, they may either continue in the same school and complete their matriculation, or else they may go to another institution where they may go to the senior institution where upper school work is taught and take some upper school subjects along with the rest of their middle school classes. In this latter case, it should be noted that middle school subjects have to be repeated by students who do not come from the district which the senior institution is intended to serve, thus the senior institution will be required to teach some subjects which are not taught in the institution where they were first taught. This is a waste of time and money. The transfer of students from one school to another is always undesirable, though sometimes necessary. But under the arrangement proposed it would be necessary to transfer students from one school to another in order to complete matriculation. This is a waste of time and money. TOURIST TRADE CENTERED HERE

Highways Layout Will Bring
Many U. S. Shoppers to London.

Ontario, and Western Ontario and London in particular, are now well prepared to take full advantage of Canada's third largest industry—the tourist traffic. During 1924, visitors from the United States spent $150,000,000 in Canada and it is expected that this amount will be exceeded by $50,000,000 this year.

W. H. Wood, secretary of the London Chamber of Commerce in an interview with The Advertiser pointed out that the development of the Ontario provincial and county road highway systems had been fostered in the first place by chambers of commerce, the first move being made in Hamilton, 1916.

"Community publicity, conventions, tourist trade and industrial development are closely allied activities," said Mr. Wood. "London activities as regards tourist traffic are well advanced."

"We are concentrating on the Windsor-Niagara Highway, the International route from Detroit to Niagara Falls and Buffalo. The chamber of commerce along the route have been moving bodies in bringing this highway into existence and have done much work that has produced and will continue to produce business for London and other cities."

"Our Highway." "We refer to it as 'our highway' and letters and literature by the thousands of copies have been broadcasted in the United States regarding the delights of our routes. Plans have been completed that will carry the work through the year systematically and we are receiving publicity from the press that couldn't be purchased with money. Tourist traffic through Canada has trebled since 1920 according to government figures that have recently been released."

Stating that other chambers of commerce in Ontario were fully alive to the possibilities of the tourist traffic, Mr. Wood pointed out that the Peterborough chamber of commerce had long fostered the Trent Valley Travel Association, the St. Thomas C. of C. the Lake Erie North Shore Travel Association, while Sarnia C. of C. was taking care of the Blue Water route.

The chamber was now using a letterhead for publicity purposes with an automobile, flanked by the top flanked by Canadian and American flags. Underneath is a map of the highway from Detroit to Niagara Falls and a list of the principal Windsor-Niagara Highway Association. It also points out that the route is the best, it is international, scenic, passes through the principal Canadian cities, is dotted with charming camps, hospitable hotels, garages, service stations, strategically placed, and a motor league emergency service available, as well as information from motor clubs.

The Officers. The Windsor-Niagara Association recently elected are: Henry Russell, president; J. A. McLaughlin, secretary; wardens of the seven counties bordering the highway: president, J. A. McLaughlin; vice-presidents, S. B. Arnold, Chatham; J. D. Isaacs, London; E. C. Cuthbert, N. C. Clendenning, Niagara Falls; W. A. Malcomson, St. Catharines; A. D. Henderson, Beamsville; C. W. F. Carpenter, Grimsby; Lieut. Col. F. P. Healey, Hamilton; C. J. Parker, Brantford; R. H. Reid, Woodstock; Dr. J. M. Rogers, Ingersoll; E. Odette, Tilbury; W. H. Adams, Windsor. Secretary-treasurer, W. H. Wood, chamber of commerce, London.

London businessmen are alive to the possibilities of tourist trade and tradersmen point out to American shoppers the benefits of purchasing woolsen goods in this country, which are notoriously much better and cheaper than they can get in the States. Sweaters, coats, hosiery, automobile rugs and imported coats all find favor with the visitors. London merchants state, while the jewelry stores benefit from the diamond business with the Americans.

There have been more American cars in London during May and June than there were in the same months of July, August and September are expected to break all records, thanks to the sterling work of the London and other chambers of commerce in Western Ontario.

CATHEDRAL PROJECT IS MAKING PROGRESS

Seven Teams and Many Workmen Prepare Heating Plant Site.

Seven teams and a dozen workmen are preparing the site for the central heating plant which will be installed in the rear of St. Peter's cathedral next week. The plant will heat the cathedral, De La Salle school and St. Peter's rectory.

The heating system will be of the latest type, occupying a space of approximately 35 by 70 feet by 12 feet deep. The excavation calls for a removal of about 30,000 cubic feet of earth. Most of this has been taken out. The walls will be of concrete to the ground level. The highest point above the surface will be nine feet. The superstructure will be of brick.

It is expected that the work will be sufficiently advanced in a week to permit the installation of the boilers.

Crossword Puzzle Walk Is Soon Solved By Children; White Squares Are Cooler

Sidewalk Laid As Experiment in 1899 Has Been Source of Never-Ending Wonder and Delight to Old and Young Folks at the City Hall.

By J. A. M. COOK.
Nine o'clock on the morning following Halloween, back in '99, and the saucer-like orbs of John D. London start from their spheres as he comes along Dundas street towards Snowflakes lie lightly upon a newly-formed sidewalk, just east of Dundas, and . . .

Yes, the snow lies, and then some. The filmy substance is melting, with mathematical exactitude, into 20-inch squares! This strange illusion did not result from a boyish prank. It was just the fruit of experiment in freak sidewalk construction. Go to London's venerable city hall any fine winter's day and watch the warm rays of the sun lick up squares of snow on the mosaic walk. The black squares really attract the heat and help melt the snow much easier than the white blocks. It's just a matter of physics the experts will tell you. Black attracts heat rays. White sheds them. That's possibly the reason the two little girls shown in the picture here are huddling closely together on a white square—to keep cool on a warm June day. These children are daughters of the city hall sergeant-at-arms, Jack McNamara and Mrs. McNamara. Each day finds youngsters of the neighborhood playing on the strange sidewalk. It is a novelty that never wears off and the mosaic pattern is very useful to the juvenile hop scotch, jacks and other wonders of juvenile invention.

An Experiment.
The walk was laid in 1899 as an experiment by P. L. Morden. It was augmented three years later by three more feet in width. It is the only sidewalk of its kind known, except for a bit further east on Dundas and some on Dufferin avenue.

It was built at a time when the fashion in brick, plank and asphalt sidewalks was passing, a quarter century ago. Two years later London was to see the greatest concrete sidewalk in the world, and it was before or since.

But in 1899 asphalt still main-

BALLOON PRIZE MAY GO TO U. S. ENTRY

Pilot Orman's Disqualification
May Be Reconsidered, Experts Think.

Associated Press Despatch.
Brussels, June 10.—The Belgian pilot Veenstra was the only one of the 18 starters in the re-established Gordon Bennett balloon race, yet to be heard from this morning.

Veenstra, who is flying the balloon Prince Leopold has been second only to Ernest De Meyer, the Belgian ace, in most of the European races in recent years, and his admirers are hoping that he is still in the air and will land farther from the starting field than any of the others.

Up to the present De Meyer, in the Belgium, is credited with having covered the greatest distance, landing at Quimper, Brittany, 422 miles away.

The U. S. balloon Goodyear III, Waverly, states, while housewives may yet be declared the winner it was believed here today. The previous assumption of his disqualification may be incorrect, experts said. Van Orman travelled 441 miles from Brussels, the greatest distance so far reported, and landed in the Atlantic, near the Ushant lights.

The receiving of assistance in a landing at sea would constitute disqualification under the conditions of the race. But Van Orman landed on the deck of a steamship, the Vatelard and it was believed today such a landing may not be construed as "receiving assistance."

DOMESTIC HELP STILL SCARCE IN LONDON

London is still suffering from a shortage of domestic help, J. C. Spencer, of the government employment bureau, states. While housewives have been bemoaning the lack of competent help during the winter months, the situation has, as usual, grown worse with the approach of the holiday season.

Many women and girls who have gained experience in the work have flocked off to summer hotels, where wages are higher.

C. H. I. CIRCLE.
The regular meeting of the C. H. I. circle of the Southern Congregational church was held last night at the home of Mrs. W. Adams, Simcoe street, and was well attended. Mrs. M. Todman, the president, occupied the chair, and as this was the closing meeting of the season it took the form of a social gathering. A few plans were made for work in the autumn, when the society expects to have a good display of fancy work for the fall sale. At the close of the evening daily refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Frank Burridge. The meetings will reopen in September.

CHALMERS M. B.
The members of the Pilgrim mission band of the Chalmers Presbyterian church held their regular meeting on Monday. Jessie Findlater presided and the lesson was read by Viola Phillips. Several hymns were repeated in unison from memory by the children, after which Bessie Black read an interesting story, "A Rescue."

It was a purely religious meeting, and May Duncan gave another story, "Harry's Missionary Potato."

It was decided to invite the little workers' mission band of the Presbyterian church to the next meeting, which is to be held on June 29. The program at this time will be given by the Pilgrims.

Workable Agreement With L. S. R., To Prevent Tie-Up, Mayor Thinks Is Best Plan

Wenige Believes This Should Be Aim of Forthcoming Sitting.

BOTTRILL DISAGREES
Alderman Wonders If It Is Not Time to Start Buses.

"What I would like to see as a result of the forthcoming sitting of the Ontario railway and municipal board in London regarding the street railway situation," Mayor Wenige stated today, "would be the adoption of a new agreement with the street railway—a businesslike and workable agreement, mutually satisfactory to both the road and the city. It is the only means I see of preventing a complete tie-up of our transportation system, with all the consequent loss and inconvenience to our citizens which it would entail."

Ald. Bottrill, chairman of No. 2 committee, was a visitor to the mayor's office today, and the talk turned to street railway matters. The alderman wondered if the present time was not a good one to introduce a bus system in London, and referred to Manager Tait's statement in the Advertiser yesterday that if increased fares were refused, the road would cease to function forthwith.

Mayor Wenige expressed himself as still heartily in favor of a bus system as the ultimate solution of the transportation problem, but added that he did not think the present time opportune. It will be five or six years yet, in his opinion, before the automotive industry has made sufficient strides in mass production to manufacture buses at a cost sufficiently low to make their operation feasible on a fare scale equal to that of the trolley lines.

"But when this point is reached, and you have this proposed new agreement with the street railway, what then?" queried the Advertiser. "It would have to be an agreement for a very short term of years, would it not?"

"Well, no," the mayor replied after brief reflection. "The agreement would have to contain a clause which would permit the city to acquire the road at the end of a short period or at any time thereafter when it might become necessary or desirable. I am not sure that the street railway will work, so that there may be no tie-up in street car traffic."

"That's all very well, but how?" rejoined the mayor. "We can't create a street railway out of thin air, and another transportation system over our heads, and in the meantime citizens must ride. That is why I would like to see a new agreement, one that would permit the city to acquire the road at the end of a short period or at any time thereafter when it might become necessary or desirable. I am not sure that the street railway will work, so that there may be no tie-up in street car traffic."

LONDON TO STRIVE FOR NEWS SESSION

C. of C. Backs Move To Bring Weekly Newspapermen to City in 1926.

An effort is being made to bring the 1926 meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' association to London. This organization takes in practically all the publishers of weekly newspapers in the dominion, and is notable for the way in which the members have adhered to the policy of moving the place of their annual meeting. Last year, following a short session in Toronto, the members took a trip to Europe, the year before they were in Halifax; previous to the western meeting the session was held in Vancouver.

This year the session will be held in Winnipeg on June 24, 25 and 26. It is thought that next year it may be the turn of some Ontario center, so for that reason London will forward all the invitations possible to bring the gathering here for 1926.

London has long held a reputation for being an ideal convention center, and it is especially so in the summer season. President Dowler and Major Wood of the chamber of commerce already have the matter in hand, and it is planned to have all the service organizations and the city council join in forwarding invitations to the press association meeting when it is in session in Winnipeg, to come to London for their 1926 gathering.

London was selected as the meeting place for the gathering of some ten counties a few months ago, and the way in which the visitors were looked after on that occasion was highly complimented on by the visitors.

Meanshine, to aggravate the lack of bathing facilities, the Y.M.C.A. has found it necessary to close its pool and showers until the 14th of the month for repairs. "I'm not a prophet. How could I guess that it was going to turn out the next week?" is the plaint of Assistant Secretary W. F. Sherwin when perspiring members voice their lack of appreciation of the improvements which are progressing on the tank.

London for the past ten days has certainly been an inland town so far as bathing is concerned, but relief seems to be in sight.

The Erring Wife and Mother

is the woman who sacrifices her health and consequent happiness to her ambition. We all know such women—women who keep their homes shall be kept immaculately neat and attractive and their children well dressed—they overdo and soon bring on some feminine ailment, which is evidenced by nervousness, irritability, headaches, backache and other aches and pains attending such ills. Every woman should remember that the most successful remedy for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for fifty years has been restoring women to health, strength and happiness. —Advt.

Dorothy Dix

The Case of One Wife Who Should Give Up Her Husband to Another Woman.

Dear Miss Dix—My husband and I have been married 23 years. I am several years older than he. I was kind to his mother during a long illness, and out of gratitude to me, and because his mother desired it, he married me. I knew that he did not love me, but I loved him as I never thought I could love anyone, and have loved him more every day. He has been good, kind and considerate, and supported me well, treating me as a sister. Now he has met a woman he loves, and who loves him. She is a fine, superior woman, fitted to be his mate. He has told me about it frankly and asked me to give him his freedom, offering to provide for me financially. I have refused, because I love him so I cannot bear to leave him, but his health is failing rapidly under the strain and worry, and I feel like a murderer as I look at him growing thinner and more broken day by day. What do you think I should do? BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE.

Answer:

It seems to me that your duty is clear. It is to give him up. Set him free, and let him find what happiness he may for the balance of his life.

You say you love him, but you have not loved him well enough to be unselfish to him. Throughout your whole relationship you have considered your own happiness and not his. If you had not loved yourself supremely, you would never have married him in the first place. You knew when you did so that you took advantage of his generosity to bind him to you in a marriage that could bring him no real joy, that would always be a bondage into which he had sold himself. He has given you 23 years of faithful service, of duty nobly done, and now you should repay him by making the sacrifice he asks of you.

Your case is different from that of the woman whose husband is a philanderer, who has passing infatuations for every pretty face, and who roams from flapper to flapper. That type of man nearly always comes back to his wife in the end, and whatever real affection he has in him he gives to her. But your husband is of a deeper and more serious nature than the philanderer. He will not change. He has never been your lover. He will never be.

You will not lose him any more by giving him up than he is lost to you now. For two people can sit at the same table, and sleep with their heads on the same pillow, and yet be as far apart as if the world divided them. And to keep the body when the spirit of love is gone is like keeping a festering corpse about the house. It poisons the air of the home.

You will not be as unhappy separated from your husband as you are now holding him against his will. For one thing, you will have shrived your conscience, and for the first time since you married a man knowing he did not love you, you will be able to look your soul in the face.

And, for another thing, a great peace comes with finality, with having done with all the arguing pro and con, the hopes, the fears, the indecisions. Having once taken the fatal step, you will cease to worry over it, and be able to build your life on other lines.

And if you really have a great love for your husband, you will be happy because you have made him happy. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have a sister who has three children. She is one of those overanxious mothers who never allows her children out of her sight. She takes them to school and brings them back. She never allows them to mingle with other children, or even to play in her front yard for fear they will learn something bad. Don't you think these children should have the pleasure of companionship, even if they are thrown with children who are not perfect little angels? ANXIOUS AUNTIE.

Answer:

Does your sister think that she is going to be able to go through life holding her children by the hand, and protecting them from

A Queen Writes About Life

QUEEN MARIE OF RUMANIA

Europe's most beautiful royal consort

Tells in a vivid and intimate way of her experiences in European courts, and gives her philosophy of life, love and work, in seven daily articles, starting this Friday.

Queen Marie's Story Will Appear Exclusively in The London Advertiser Beginning This Friday

You are curiously interested in kings and queens. . . You are interested in us as clowns. . . We think it is quite natural to be kings and queens. . . Why is it more absurd to be a queen than a millionaire's wife, a dressmaker or a cook? . . .

I like a man to be a man. . . I would even like him to be a master. . . But I have never had the delicious old-fashioned thrill of being mastered and overruled by a man. . . I like to tame men. . . But I do not like them too tame. . . I like playing with fire. . . My ideal is the big, silent, helpful, honorable man who helps women to be nice. . .

The great beauty is born a great lure, a great temptation. . . Beauty opens every door, nearly every heart. . . But beauty without charm is lifeless. . . I prefer, a thousand times, an ugly girl with a bright, happy, kindly expression, to the glorious beauty imbued with her right to rule over every heart. . .

Almost a Necessity

every difficulty and danger? Does she think that she can make a little sterilized, immaculate world free from all temptations, and purified from all wrong, in which her children will exist when they grow up?

How does she think that they are ever going to be able to take care of themselves or stand on their own feet? How are they to judge people if they are never permitted to know anyone? How are they to know right from wrong if they have never seen anything but the beautiful and the good?

No mother in the world makes such a mistake as the one whose overlove and overanxiety makes her keep her children in perpetual leading strings. She unfits them utterly for life. She makes them soft where she should have hardened their muscles. She makes them weak where she should have strengthened them. She makes them parasites where she should have taught them to be independent. It is by falling down and getting hurt that we learn how to walk warily. It is by getting bumped, good and hard, that we learn to avoid the corners. It is from being thrown on our own that we learn to fend for ourselves.

A wise mother lets her children run risks, so that they may learn how to rely on themselves. She lets them make mistakes, so that they can profit from them, and on acquire judgment and wisdom. She does not try to keep from them the knowledge of evil. She shows them that badness does not pay.

Any mother who doesn't let her children associate with other children does them an irreparable wrong, because the knowledge of how to get along with other people is the most important thing that any man or woman can have. The education that children get from other children in school is just as important as anything they learn out of books. Children teach each other how to give and take, how to play fair, how to be good sports, and that is something that serves them as long as they live.

A child is better off with no mother at all than to have an overanxious mother, who takes it to school every day, and segregates it from other children. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—In the present day of jazz and good times a man who does not dance is not wanted by the girls. In other words, he is classed as a dead one. I am of a quiet disposition, far from a shiek in looks, and have never acquired the art of dancing. Is there any hope for me? LONESOME BACHELOR.

Answer: Alas, I fear you are right, and that it is the heels instead of the heads or hearts that count nowadays. Men used to ask of a strange girl, "Is she beautiful?" Now they ask, "Is she a peachy dancer?" and if she is not, she is relegated to the lemon class no matter how good-looking or intelligent she is.

Girls appear to apply the same test to men, but men are more fortunate, since a girl who is shelved on account of her lack of terpsichorean skill can do nothing but sit up and suck her thumb, whereas a man can always go out and hunt up another girl.

The solution of your problem is either to learn to dance or to seek out some maiden who also fails to shake a mean foot. DOROTHY DIX.

TRAFALGAR CHAPTER ENDORSES CENOTAPH

Holds Yesterday's Meeting at Home of One of Charter Members.

The Trafalgar chapter, I. O. O. F., endorses the Municipal chapter plan for a cenotaph for the city of London at the regular meeting held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Walker, Chesapeake street.

Mrs. Walker is one of the chapter's oldest members and an honorary regent. This year the chapter will celebrate its 25th anniversary in the autumn, and in doing so will announce itself to be the oldest chapter in the city. Because Mrs. Walker is marking the 25th year of her connection with the chapter, yesterday's meeting was held at her home. And during the afternoon she gave interesting reminiscences of the chapter in the early days.

Melbourne, June 9.—The mission circle in connection with the Methodist church held their last meeting before going into the United church in the Sunday school room recently. The president, Miss Muriel Meek, presided. A splendid program was given, including a splendid talk by the pastor, Rev. J. M. Colling. At the close of the meeting, a picture was taken on the church lawn, after which Mrs. Colling served refreshments.

ALL BANDS WILL PLAY TATTOO

Military Organizations Promise
Aid in Lions Bandstand Drive.

Co-operation of every military band in the city was promised yesterday at a meeting between the militia authorities and the executive of the Lions club in a huge military tattoo, which will be held in Tecumseh park on the evening of Thursday, June 25, and which will be one of the biggest events of the kind that Londoners have witnessed in many years. There will be music galore.

By permission of Lieut.-Col. Seeley Smith, the band of the Royal Canadian Regiment will participate, and the brass pipe and drum bands of the Canadian Fusiliers will also take part. Lieut.-Col. George W. Little having given his permission. Similar action has been taken by Lieut.-Col. Fred Taylor of the 1st Hussars and by Lieut.-Col. E. V. Cheesman, commanding the Machine and Veterans' band. To make the roster complete, the Salvation Army band will, in all probability, participate in the program.

Mass Numbers.
A feature of the tattoo will be selections by all of the above-mentioned bands in mass formation. They will also play their regimental marches and a number of concert numbers. A torchlight procession will precede the tattoo, the boys scouts of the city having been detailed in patrols to accompany each band as torch-bearers. Arrangements are being made to have the public school cadets on parade that evening, but this is not yet definitely settled. The physical culture class of the Young Women's Christian Association will put on a demonstration under the direction of Miss Edith Wynne-Pryce.

Senior Bandmaster.
At yesterday's meeting, Bandmaster Slater was elected senior bandmaster for the occasion, and Lieut.-Col. Francis B. Ware, D.S.O., deputy adjutant and quartermaster-general of military district No. 2, is taking an active interest in the military arrangements, which will be on a scale seldom before attempted in the district.

The object of the tattoo is to raise funds for the erection of the new $15,000 bandstand in Victoria park. The Lions have already made some progress with this, and granted fine weather on June 25, they look for an attendance of 10,000 citizens at the tattoo, which will be featured by a brilliant display of fireworks. If their hopes are realized, the tattoo will be practically assured a start on the erection of the bandstand.

UNITED CHURCH FORMED AFTER LONG STRUGGLE

hope and dream of the Christian brotherhood of man.

OFFICIAL DECLARATION.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 10.—Official declaration that the United church had been constituted was made to the great crowd which almost filled the arena here, at 10 o'clock this morning. The declaration was made by Dr. D. Chown, in an impressive silence, "that the Presbyterian church in Canada, the Congregational churches of Canada, and the Methodist church, along with the general council of local union churches, are now united and constituted as one church to be designated and known as the United church of Canada."

The congregation broke into applause. It was the culmination of many years of negotiation and activity looking to just such a result. Rev. Dr. George C. Pidgeon then arose.

"As the first act of the general council of the United church, now constituted," he said, "I move that the American Presbyterian church of Montreal be received into membership in the United church and its minister, Rev. Richard Roberts, declared a minister of the United church."

This first act of business of the new church was approved with applause. Rev. Dr. W. W. Warren then moved that Dr. Pidgeon conduct the communion service and preside over the afternoon meeting, 8,000 See Official Opening.

It was a great and memorable service which saw the union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists into one denomination. There was the tremendous setting afforded by the United church and the women on the floor and in the galleries of the huge building, surrounding the dignitaries of the occasion grouped on a platform. There was a ritual which with simplicity and the utmost dignity expressed the purpose of the union and the objectives of its followers. There was a stately roll to the music, the prayers and responses. There was evident great pride in the accomplishment of union and in the knowledge that three denominations of Tuesday were one this following day.

The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Chown of Toronto, minister and president of the Methodist church, who directed the opening; Rev. Dr. Pidgeon of Toronto, moderator of the Presbyterian church, who conducted the communion; Rev. Dr. Warren of Montreal, general secretary of the Congregational union; Rev. C. S. Elsey of Annerod, who represented the general council of local union churches; and Rev. Prof. Samuel P. Rose of Montreal, who preached the communion sermon.

By means of amplifiers their voices were carried clearly throughout the building. Behind them on the platform sat several scores of ministers and elders prominent in the uniting demonstrations, and in front were 500 official delegates to the general council.

Behind the platform was the massed choir of 300 voices, the women of varied color. Far to the left of the hall and high in the galleries sat men and women gathered from all

FOREIGN POLICE FIRE ON STUDENTS

British Under-Secretary Declares Order in Shanghai Must Be Observed.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 10.—Foreign police in Shanghai fired into crowds of students during the first outbreak of the present disturbances at a moment when the mob was forcing entrance into the police station and shouting "Kill the foreigners." Ronald McNeill, under secretary for foreign affairs, informed the house of commons yesterday.

Mr. McNeill declared law and order must be preserved in China, and that British officials on the spot would receive all the support that might be required.

Meanwhile, he said, the British government wished to express its deep regret that lives should have been lost as a result of misguided agitation.

Minton was travelling west on York street shortly after the noon hour and was struck by Gibson's truck as it turned from the east to pick up some articles at the Canadian Pacific Railway express office at the C. N. R. station. The youth's head was cut and he lost four teeth, as well as being unable to work for three weeks.

Major G. N. Weekes acted for Minton and J. C. Elliott, K. C., for the defendant.

ENROLLMENT JUMP SEEN IN HIGH SCHOOLS

Advance Registration Promises Larger Classes Next Fall.

Last night's advance registration for London's four secondary schools this fall indicates that the enrollment when school reopens in September will be even greater than last year. The three collegiate institute units reported about 65 students registered, while the technical and commercial high school listed about 25.

Both Principal E. A. Miller, M.A., collegiate institute, and Principal H. B. Beal, technical school, are quite pleased with the first night's registration as compared with the first night last year. Principal A. E. O'Neill, B.A., of the east collegiate unit, and Principal T. S. H. Graham, M.A., of the south collegiate unit, are also enthusiastic concerning the outlook for the first year enrollment in the fall.

Mr. Miller pointed out that last year approximately 80 per cent of the students who entered the collegiate in the fall availed themselves of the advanced registration, which enabled the officials to arrange their classes and adjournment would be to June 24, unless in the meantime rights of that body should have ceased under the church union act.

Both parties, on the last day of the Presbyterian church apparently were seeking to preserve their legal rights. The general assembly under Moderator Dr. Pidgeon passed a resolution stating that adjournment would be to June 24, unless in the meantime rights of that body should have ceased under the church union act.

From the last-named port the premier will go either to Fez or Rabat, as Marshal Lyautey suggests, and will confer tonight and tomorrow with the governor-general regarding measures taken to stop the invasion of the Rif tribesmen under Abd-el-Krim.

M. Painleve plans to spend Friday, Saturday and Sunday along the fighting front with Marshal Lyautey, and to return to Paris by aeroplane for the session of the Chamber of Deputies on Tuesday.

SOBER TWENTY YEARS, BUT SLIPS AT LAST

John Ahaden Takes Place in Heavy Line of Wets, Fined $10.

Police court's blotter of bad behaviour revealed a wet London yesterday as the names of eight persons, charged under the C. T. A., appeared this morning. Five were arrested between the hours of noon and midnight on charges of having liquor in a public place and three others were taken into custody as drunks.

All were not found guilty in this morning's court, however. John Murray of Toronto, and Samuel Minty of St. Marys were dismissed. John German of Melbourne paid $10 and cost on a drunk charge but escaped a fine of $50 and costs when he convinced the court that bottle which he had in his possession did not contain intoxicating liquor.

Joseph Kelly of St. Marys was fined $50 and costs for having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling. John Ahaden contributed $10 and costs for being intoxicated and Al-ward Crawley was fined $50 and costs for having liquor.

For twenty years he had lived a sober life, Ahaden told the court. Not once during the early years had he become intoxicated. For this reason he pleaded to be let off, but on hearing the circumstances of his arrest yesterday, the court threatened to impose a heavy penalty. Ahaden had sought shelter at the Salvation Army hotel where police were summoned when he became unruly.

ROUGH PASSAGE FOR STRAWBERRIES

Frost, Sun and Drought Combine For Short Crop.

The weatherman is certainly having a lot of fun with the strawberry crop that isn't appreciated by the grower. First he threatened the early blossoms, then cooked the next batch with the aid of his friend, the sun, and is now retarding the growth of the berries that matured to live through the excitement by chilly breezes.

District growers declare that the crop will be very short, and the poorest quality in years, unless a good rain arrives this week.

Haines was given a scathing lecture by County Magistrate Hawshaw before sentence was pronounced. Mrs. Gillen also being severely censured.

Crown Attorney A. J. H. Haines was arrested by High Constable Wharton on May 27 and Mrs. Gillen ten days later. They were prosecuted by W. E. Kelly of the C. A. S.

BOARD WILL TALK VITAL PROBLEMS

East High and Cadet Questions Tabled For Tomorrow—Extra Sessions Seen.

Business of other than routine nature will so overload the agenda of the regular meeting of the board of education tomorrow afternoon that one or more special meetings will likely have to be called to settle some of the questions on the lengthy docket.

Of first importance, perhaps, is the question of the erection of the new London East collegiate institute on the site of the present Rectory street public school. In this connection there will be tabled a letter from the provincial department sanctioning the board's plan to build the collegiate on that site, providing the board tears down the Rectory school and at the same time secures playground privileges from the Western Fair association.

Vice-Chairman A. R. Cairncross will follow up his stand at the last meeting of the board in favor of the desertion of the board's Rectory street plan, and the addition of wings to the central collegiate to handle the students of the central east collegiate units. There are indications, too, of a further protest against the raising of the Rectory school, with signatures this time selected more carefully from rate-payers and parents in the district, who have children attending the school. The outcome of this question is problematical.

AL DEVENNEY QUILTS "Y" POST FOR COLLEGE

Popular Office Secretary Will Pursue Divinity Studies in Fall.

Allan Devenney, office secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has resigned. He leaves the association Friday. Following the holidays he will enter Knox college, Toronto, as a student of divinity.

It is just a year since "Al" Devenney came from the Ottawa branch to serve with the local staff. During that time he has taken a keen interest in the gymnasium, recreational and social activities in "Y" circles, and has been looked upon as one of the most popular secretaries in red triangle work in the city.

LAD BITTEN BY DOG PROGRESSING WELL

Airedale Not Mad, Inspector Finds—Animal Resented Intrusion.

Little Ralph Gilkes, 448 Elizabeth street, was bitten in the arm yesterday afternoon by an Airedale dog owned by F. Russell, 320 Elizabeth street. Dr. P. C. Clegg, who is attending the youngster, states that he is progressing favorably.

According to Inspector George Tustin of the Humane Society, the boy entered the Russell backyard, while the family was absent and his intrusion was resented by the dog under observation, and states that it shows no signs of being mad. It was the first case of this kind to be reported to the inspector this year.

Only One Reason For It.

Evidence that the government, in seeking to compensate Home Bank depositors, will have to make it very plain that it is not creating a precedent was furnished in two amendments that were produced in the debate. The first was to recompense losers in the defunct Farmers Bank, and the other aimed to include three other institutions, Les Banques St. Jean, Ville Marie and Du Peuple. The government might better close up shop than have the impression go out that it was going to make good losses sustained in financial ventures generally. The case being dealt with now is that of the Home Bank, whose disjunct and hectic career culminated in a crash on July 17, 1923.

The reason why the government has any right at all to grant financial aid to the Home Bank is because officials of the finance department, whose solemn and serious business it was to inspect and verify statements of this and every other bank, failed in their duty. It was their function to know what was going on, so that the depositors and the public generally who did business with the bank would be protected. The depositor who opened an account with the Home Bank did so on the assurance that the bank was operating under a government charter, that its statements were being regularly forwarded to the finance department, and that the proper officials there were carrying out their trust in seeing that the affairs of the bank were in order.

Without delving into the history of the bank from that angle, it is common knowledge that these things were not being faithfully carried out. Officials of the finance department knew conditions were not right—they told the Home Bank that changes were necessary, but that is about as far as they proceeded. They failed in the one great essential of making sure that the people doing business with the bank were safe, and it is that failure that provides the one and only reason for proposing that five and a half million dollars be now handed over to pay for this neglect.

The amazing feature that runs through the whole case is that there should have been management that was so uniformly bad, and scheming and plotting that departed so far from the traditions of honorable banking methods. It has been established by evidence that was as plain as it was painful that the men responsible for the carrying on of the business had known for years that their bank was not sound. The same evidence showed that in the face of this knowledge they manipulated deposits for the sake of presenting favorable reports to the government. They knew they had no business taking deposits from the people who came to their wickets in good faith and left their money.

It was to guard against such business that the government has its finance department, with its trained officials. They did not function, and their neglect allowed the bank to remain open when it was not a safe place for depositors to do business. It is an admission of this fact that has caused the dominion government to bring down its legislation to pay 25 per cent of the losses sustained by depositors.

If there were any added reason needed for making the bank inspection section of the finance department an active and alert institution this bill of five and a half million dollars provides it.

Some Action Needed.

Chicago sanitary drain exploiters failed to get a rehearing of their case. The truth is that Chicago's real idea is the development of electrical energy and the building of a business canal to link up with the Mississippi. The sanitary business is of secondary thought.

What Canadians want to know is when Chicago is going to quit draining the great lakes. These court decisions are all right, and the decision that the case cannot be heard over again is quite satisfactory, yet the bare fact remains that the pouring of that great stream of water from the great lakes continues. In the meantime Canadians are being forced to spend money to dredge river channels, alter docks and make all manner of alterations to conform to the low water level dictated by Chicago.

All the court preliminaries have been staged, and the decision is against Chicago, but when is there going to be some definite action that will finally plug up the leak?

Open vs. Delegate Conventions.

The St. Catharines Standard points to an open political convention held at Windsor by Essex Conservatives, where the decision was made to pick a candidate from that gathering without any preliminary subdivision meetings, and concludes that such is the proper and democratic way to do business. No gatherings beforehand, no accredited delegates—just a big free-for-all, take-your-choice affair.

It is hard to see, from the standpoint of practical politics, or even from the higher level of fairness of representation, how the open gathering has the edge on the delegate convention. Experience will show every time that an open convention can be packed. The doors are open and a candidate with enough backers can get the majority. These backers may or may not be members of the party; they may vote and hurrah at the nomination, and then leave the organization saddled with a candidate for whom the rank and file of the party will not work.

The delegate convention means that the members of the party meet by polling subdivisions, name the number of delegates allotted to their district. These delegates have the right to vote. They represent every section of the riding; they are known as those who will be on hand when organization starts, when lists are to be revised and when personal work is necessary. There is nothing unusual in the plan. A church when it calls a pastor restricts the votes to members of that church; when a school engages a principal or a teacher it is done by those delegated to do that work, and the same plan is followed all through other organizations.

Experience shows that in political action it is the fairest way to get a dependable expression of opinion from all sections of the party, and is far less pliable to those who wish to "load" a convention than the open meeting for which the St. Catharines paper has so many kind words to say.

More Power To Him.

A man who lived near Sarnia secured work in Niagara Falls, and the problem facing him was how to get there with his wife and family. After affairs were fixed for moving he found he had enough to send his wife and children on the train, but no more.

So his wife and children went by train, while the man of the house took to the road, hoping for a lift now and then. We don't know that man, never heard of him before, and may never hear of him again, but we can't help hoping he makes the trip quickly and easily and has a good share of success in his new home. He's made of the kind of stuff that deserves to get along.

They Came—They Drank.

Prohibition must be a more active force in United States than its opponents care to admit, when a party of 1,600 from Kentucky made a special trip to Windsor to sample Ferguson 4.4 beer.

It took twenty-four coaches to carry the parched visitors to the nearest fountainhead of refreshment, and it is also worthy of note that the same number of coaches was sufficient to carry them home again.

Expectations must have run high as to what was going to be served at the other end of the trip. Heat has been terrific in the center states for days, and it must have been an expectant assembly that coughed up 1,600 railway fares to carry them to the land where beer flowed that was a wallop like a kick from a Kentucky mule.

The best comment on what they thought of Premier Ferguson's attempt to please the wets was that all the return tickets to Kentucky were used.

The Time To Stick.

The chairman and vice-chairman of the hospital board at Welland have handed in their resignations because a recent vote of the people turned down a proposal to enlarge the hospital. They interpreted the vote as being due to a lack of confidence in their administration.

Whether this is so we have no means of knowing, but it is a fact that failure to carry a money bylaw for extension to a hospital is not in itself sufficient reason for those who are carrying on the work to resign. If the hospital is suffering for lack of accommodation it is all the more reason for officials to stick to it and see the project through. If they want to resign the time to do so is when their hospital is in good shape and able to take care of itself. If a person has a worthwhile work to do it's a great thing to be able to stick even when it's a hard thing to do.

Note and Comment.

Toronto Globe says the people there have turned to lettuce, onions and all sorts of green stuff during the heat. Why not turn them out to pasture?

All the world loves the man who acts on his own initiative, but many draw the line at the man in New York who took a street car to the hospital to find out what to do for smallpox.

Jilted lover in Chicago, driving home from the scene of his downfall, saw a car carrying a newly-married couple. He stepped on the gas and banged into it. 'Tis love that makes the world go round one way or the other.

Chatham tells of a woman there who bought eggs at a store and heard a chicken picking at the shell. To prove the point she wrapped it in a cloth and now has a real live chick. And it's a fact that we have a fairly elaborate law about egg grading.

The late Thomas Marshall, formerly vice-president of United States, had the faculty of stating great facts in human phrases. This, for instance: "This country needs cessation of law-making. The people are close to death's door through acute statutory indigestion."

Some of the parliamentarians at Ottawa felt the heat so much that they ventured to remove their coats, which led to a rebuke from the chair that "honorable members are required to maintain the decorum of the house according to the rules. I would be sorry that in Canada we should make our politics in shirt-sleeves." Coats or shirt-sleeves at Ottawa makes little difference to citizens at large—it is the stuff above the ears and below the skull that they want to see in action.

The advisory-vocational committee of the technical school followed the idea of giving promotion to a staff member who had proved his worth when they approved Principal Beal's suggestion that W. A. McWilliams, B.A., be headmaster of the technical department of the school. Mr. McWilliams takes the place of A. D. Hone, M.A., who goes to Sault Ste. Marie as principal of the technical school there. The Sault gets an excellent teacher and administrator in Mr. Hone, and the London school will find in Mr. McWilliams a capable headmaster for the technical division.

Ned On Evolution

Wherein he speaks of bygone days, before men donned their squeakin' shoes, decidin' that the folks can have the kind of relatives they choose.

I met Ned Whiskers yesterday, I haven't talked with him for days, nor listened to the views he's got on styles and crimes and people's ways. So when I dropped along with Ned and passed with him the time of day, I was just waitin' for a chance to hear what things that Ned would say.

Well Ned's been readin' quite a lot of evolution and such stuff, and was inclined to forceful words, expressin' thoughts in words quite rough.

"I see as how they have a trial in some place way down south of here, to see if schools be teachin' views that some folks hold is new and queer. As near as I can make it out they want a showdown out and out, to see just what this teachin' be and what the theory's all about."

And Ned he had some clippin's too, he read a string of them to me, a-shovin' how the battle run and what the end was apt to be.

"As far as I can figure out a million years or so gone back, I'm puzzled off to know just how they have been keepin' up the track, but in them days when things was young, when flippers made no honking sound, the folks they went a-runnin' round with four feet hittin' on the ground."

"Yes, they was apes or else baboons, or monkeys climb'n in a tree, not folks who dress and walk about and carry on like you or me."

"Well one day, so I figure out, an ape he passed around the word that he was goin' to change himself and be some other kind of bird. He wanted to be diff'rent like what brown bread is from jellycake, so he quit swingin' by his tail and quit a-actin' like an ape."

"Then after while his children tired of bein' just like their father was, so they got up on their hind legs and started walkin' on two paws."

"And so they kept that changin' up until they quit the bamboo tree, and come to use their hands and feet and carry on like you and me. And then they quit the jungle cold, and snubbed the apes and monkeys there, put squeaky boots upon their feet and plastered ointment on their hair."

"If any man he wants to think how he's descended from an ape, and that his folks in bygone days turned handspins on the garden gate—why I can't see it bothers me or ruffles up my ancient views, for folks can have for all I care what kind of relatives they choose."—ARK.

To the Editor

Half-Day Saturday.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—The scriptures tell us that God made the earth and all therein in seven days, and we, as humans, were commanded: "Six days shalt thou labor, the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord," and to keep it holy, meaning man should have Sundays to rest in mind and body, to be spiritually rejuvenated for the coming week of labor. Many can do that, but thousands of shop assistants throughout the land are so fagged out by the Saturday rush of business, where in many cases a week's business is crowded into one day, that on Sundays they are so all in they cannot be dragged out to either get acquainted with church, town or their own country. I see one firm has changed the day of the weekly half-holiday. This is as it should be, and this firm is to be commended. I, for one, would like to see more firms do the same. Why should we shut up shop on Saturdays at 1 p.m.? Look at the money and business lost. Absolute rot. The idea was that it is the only day when money is spent freely by the people on account of the working classes being paid on that day. This is practically obsolete. If this idea of Saturday closing became a general thing, as it is in England, I firmly believe the debt of the Canadian National Railways could be wiped out inside of five years by the added increase of week-end passenger traffic. It would get the people from the rut of provincialism. People would become more on the move about Canada, and millions of money would be spent in Canada in general by the simple act of making Saturday the stopping-off place from work at 1 p.m. instead of the Wednesday half-day. Yours truly, ARTHUR JACKSON.

Officers Made Prisoners By Seized Motor Launch But It Loses Long Battle

Police Are Carried Far Out Into Lake by Rebellious Boat.

KNOX CHURCH, CULLODEN. VOTES TO JOIN UNION

GET BACK SAFELY

Special to The Advertiser. By Staff Correspondent. Chatham, June 9.—County police today saw the funny side of their midnight experience, that of being tossed about in a motor launch that refused to work right in the rough waters of Rondeau Bay. They had satisfaction, however, in arresting a man whose name is withheld for the present, and in securing information which they believe will aid them in clearing up complaints of bootlegging in Government park.

Chief Peters, assisted by Constables John Sheff, and Alvin Peters, after laying in ambush, watched a motor launch arrive on the park side of the Eau. They rushed to men whom they saw wading to shore, each carrying two cases of beer. One was captured, but the other escaped by wading out into deep water and hiding in rushes. He refused to be coaxed into surrendering even by shots fired by the officers. Several cases of beer were piled in the launch and a flat-bottomed boat held by a towline, which the police seized. Their thrilling experience commenced when the officers attempted to bring the boats to shore. For some reason, the motor launch would persist in moving backward, instead of forward. Owing to the erratic motor and the heavy sea which was running, it was not until an early hour that the police rescued the shore with their seizure. The officers were drenched to the skin.

LOW COST FOUR-WEEK TOUR. Through Western Canada to the Pacific Coast, Yellowstone Park, Salt Lake City and Rocky Mountain National Park.

A never-to-be-forgotten four-week tour of Western Canada and the Pacific coast with a trip through the United States on the return journey has been planned for Canadian teachers and their friends this summer, leaving Toronto by Canadian National Railways on July 9.

The trip is simply crammed with scenic and historic wonders. A visit to Watrous Park, Alberta, where the largest herd of Buffalo in the world is located. Two days are spent at Jasper National Park, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, where the beauty of the mountain scenery is indescribable. From Jasper park westward the party passes snow-capped Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, and stops at the Indian village of Kitwanga, with its wonderful historic totem poles. Then westward again, following the mystic Skeena river, to Prince Rupert, the North Pacific terminal of the Canadian National Railways.

At Prince Rupert a palatial steamer is boarded for the 750-mile trip through the sheltered scenic seas of the North Pacific to Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. This is recognized as one of the finest sea trips in the world. On the journey homeward, a 72-mile motor drive will be taken from Portland, Oregon, over the famous scenic Columbia river highway, and five days will be taken for a motor tour of Yellowstone National Park. Then follows a visit to Salt Lake City, Utah, with a three-day motor tour of Rocky Mountain National Park of Colorado. En route to Denver short stops will be made at Clear Creek Canyon, Idaho Springs, and Lookout Mountain—where Buffalo Bill is buried. Chicago is reached on Aug. 6, and Toronto, Aug. 7.

In spite of the magnitude of the tour, the fare is remarkably reasonable, and as the leaving date is July 9, arrangements should be made at once. Reservations and illustrated booklets with full information regarding the trip can be secured from A. E. Bryson, 44 Silverthorne avenue, Toronto; Martin Kerr, 4 Beulah avenue, Hamilton, or any Canadian National Railways Agent.—Advt. J. 4, 10, 16

GETS BETTER RESULTS

Should the full swing be used for the midiron or mashtie shot?
By LEO DIEGEL
Canadian, Shawnee, Illinois and Florida Open Champion.
No iron club should be played with a full swing. In this connection it should be noted that many players "underclub" themselves—that is, take a mashtie for distance, even when yards, hoping to swing a little harder and thereby obtain added distance. Sometimes they get the shot off, but more often than not the result is disastrous. The swing should be cut down to remain well in control of the player. No first-class golfer ever goes beyond the horizontal club, even when a full iron shot, and many get remarkable distance from an iron club with a three-quarter swing.

WERNKE DAMPENS FUSE OF TEC'S 9th INNING BOMB

Harris' Mighty Homer Starts Last Frame London Rally.

WEBB BUMPED
Kid Gives Way To Veteran When Indians Start Clout Spree.

Two-Gun Pete Harris, converted from golf to baseball, who has seven wins in the last three games, made a quick draw and drove a home run into the rough of the left field to start the ninth inning yesterday.

Webb of Hamilton and heartened his own drooping team-mates that they quickly filled the bases and came within one run of tying the count.

Sam Wernke checked this headlong rush to victory, coming in with the tying and winning runs on bases and one more to spare, and outing Brower on a pop and Sandquist on an infield out. It gave the Hams a spare 6 to 4 win, an even break on the series.

The Ham infielders made haste to calm the tempestuous youngster, but he walked across, which forced the naturally reluctant Baker off third base and over the plate with a run.

A "bunt" whispered some of the amateur strategists as Brower's delivery was touched up by Wernke's delivery. It would have been the worst of baseball with the game on the line.

The game was full of accidents, wrangling with the umpire, and a double play. Harris' homer was a real home run, and he was a real home run.

Command crashed a single through Baker to start the second. Harris' sacrifice hit along. Coogan issued walks to Lopez and Daubert to fill the bases, and Kerner's hit on the double steal effort enabled the front runner to romp home. From there until he left the mound Coogan was always a double play.

Harris' clean-cut triple to center field made the double play. Webb's pitching was a double play for a run, and this was obviously good for a run.

Vermilyea drew a walk but the timely hit was not forthcoming. A single tallied another run in the next round. Baker pulled down a single in the seventh, when he went in almost cold. Coogan's double and McCrea's single manufacturing a run.

Harris was saved further punishment when Brower raced in on Command's short fly and double play. Harris' clean-cut triple to center field made the double play. Webb's pitching was a double play for a run, and this was obviously good for a run.

On the Side Lines

It's developed that Nural lost last race just to see what it would feel like—just for the change—and expenses.

THE IRISH MENACE.
The Holy Cross school nine, according to the Daily Star of Long Island City, is composed of Wolkowski, Gobelevell, Andruski, Brudnicki, Wolkowski, Houch, S. Kowolinski, O'Donnell, Pkorkowski and F. Kowolinski, who batted for S. Kowolinski in the ninth.

What most people will want to know is how that guy O'Donnell broke into the U. S. national pastime.

LOST—ONE DIME, APPLY BUSINESS MANAGER.
It was rumored last night that Buzz Wetzel swallowed a dime when Lefty Harris thumped out his home run in the ninth inning yesterday. Since Buzz has become business manager of the club he sits on the box office seats and watches the combats. It is believed that when things become really critical he will give instructions to Ernie Robertson in code.

Yesterday Buzz was enjoying the game immensely, and in between innings biting nickels and dimes suspected to be mostly plugged. This is one of Buzz's duties as business manager of the club. As many patrons of baseball are base enough to pass off base metals for coin of the realm, it's an important duty.

Buzz usually figures to have his pile pretty well bitten through just about the time the game ends and, with Klein put out of the way, Buzz thought he'd hustle the job along and be ready to greet his victorious athletes as they clambered over the wire fence. He was giving the second last dime a vicious bite just as Harris' homer went sailing out to left field. That was when the dime passed the lump that had risen in Buzz's throat.

Buzz says that business managing is wearing on the teeth, but pretty soft otherwise as it means handling the dough.

WANTED—THINKING.
Pitching has been causing the big league clubs a lot of trouble this year. Pitching also is giving minor league magnates a lot of worry about it. It all because the present day pitcher does not think, according to this question came up: "What seems to be the matter with the pitchers these days?"

A former big league player answered the query in this fashion: "What's the matter? Why, I'll tell you in a jiffy. The boys are not thinking. They can't remember from one day until the next what a batter's weakness is. They don't remember whether a man has a taste for a curve ball, or whether he smacks a fast one on the inside. They're not taking their work seriously. That's the whole trouble."

Too much high life; too much automobile; too much golf; too much eating and too much theatrical show—these were the reasons assigned by this one-time player and now manager of a successful baseball club for the "dumb baseball you look at, both in major and minor league play."

He said: "I'm telling you, he went on, 'that baseball isn't what it used to be. In the olden days a fellow had to think his way out of holes. Nowadays the youngsters just go along methodically and whatever happens, he charges to a slip or to some other fellow. There isn't the good old 'give and take' any more. There isn't the fight and the spirit in the game. I don't know where it's all going to end. But the big fellows some day will put up a barrier. They won't pay the money and they'll give these youngsters something to think about."

This is rather an overstatement, as most old baseball players as in other walks of life, always think the old times were the best. Nevertheless, a good deal of what was said is true.

You see outfielders, infielders and pitchers every day who are guilty of lapses in the minors, but it's not attributable to the high life. It's just a case of not concentrating on the job.

Twenty-Nine Base Hits Pile Up Runs Before Dark-ness.

TWILIGHT FIXTURE
Flint, June 9.—Flint and Kitchener inaugurated twilight baseball here today for the first time during the minor league season, and Kitchener finally won, 12 to 11, after an affair of base hits, field findings, mediocre, coupled with man-nerly blunders that won and lost the game for both clubs.

Twenty-nine hits, including eight doubles, two triples and four home runs, piled up the runs until the game was won before umpire was even deliberating on calling it because of darkness.

Philadelphia Americans Split Series With Detroit by 4-3 Victory.

CLEVELAND WINS

Associated Press Despatch. Philadelphia, June 9.—Reversing proceedings of Monday's contest, Philadelphia earned an even split in the series with Detroit by winning today's game in the ninth inning, after a home run by Ty Cobb tied the score in the eighth. The final score was 4 to 3 in favor of the Mackmen. Until the eighth inning Slim Harris held the Cobblers to five scattered singles, but weakened. A single and two walks filled the bases for the Athletics in the ninth, and Hale blasted a hit to left field that would have been good for two bases, but which counted only as a single.

JABS AND JABBER

Walter Obernesser, manager of Howard Mayberry, doesn't relish the idea of Jackie Jones being lionized in Hamilton.

"Jones didn't show me anything on Friday night," he said. "A looker on a pretty good stage, but against West he wasn't up to snuff. I'll tell you what I think about him. I'll give him a send Mayberry into the ring against Jones any time. Mayberry thinks his boy can make 124 pounds. Conkle has been heard to say that Jackie can make 122. I'll be satisfied if he makes 124, even if, at that weight, he will have six pounds' advantage over Mayberry.

"I think Mayberry can take Jackie's measure, and the bout can't come too soon to suit us," added "Oby."

"Why isn't Howard Mayberry popular to him as they should be? Walter Obernesser. The only answer I could give was that the fans, who idolized Bobby Eber, haven't forgiven him for defeating Bobby, and they refuse to 'warm up' to the former Duluth boy.

"Mayberry is one of the finest little gentlemen I ever had under my wing," said Obernesser. "He is a strict trainer, conscientious, and always ready for action. He can take a lout on a minute's notice and he can always be depended on to give the fans plenty of action. Another thing, howie is a stickler on weight. He has met boys all the way up to 133 pounds, despite the fact that he is under 118 pounds now. He has been forced to refuse matches with heavy boys that he wanted to tackle. Howie is liminary or naïf. He loves the game. Why he isn't popular in Hamilton is something I can't understand."

Jimmy De Forest, Jun., son of the trainer and matchmaker, appears to be following in his father's footsteps. Young James has been a matchmaker at the Ocean View A. C. in Long Branch. Yesterday he booked Izzy Cooper and Sammy Marino for the main event of his first show.

Mr. William Gibson, of the Bronx, seems to be about the most successful of the prizefight managers. Until Mr. Benny Leonard decided to retire Mr. Gibson managed him, and the combination cleaned up an aggregate sum of considerably more than a million.

The greatest work of prizefight managing done by Mr. Gibson was the handling of James Coffey, the more or less celebrated Roscommon Giant. Mr. Gibson found him running a motor car and became aware of the fact that he had considerable sock. Gibson developed him and put forth the prospect of an Irish-born heavyweight champion.

The Roscommon Giant went quite a distance at that. It was not until he met Frank Moran at the latter's recovery was made that the Giant had a jaw of glass. When this became apparent the Roscommon Giant became consistently horizontal and faded from the picture. He went back to Ireland independently wealthy. He never will have to drive another trolley.

Mr. Jack Kearns, who still is the manager of the heavyweight champion in theory, though not working at the present, is on hand to direct the training of Mr. Mickey Walker. Mr. Kearns is actively managing the welterweight champion.

Mr. Kearns was very much disturbed by a rumor concerning Mr. Walker. The nose of Mr. Walker is a trifle retoused, as they call it. It came to the ears of Mr. Kearns that Mr. Walker was considering having it made over.

Mr. Kearns naturally was alarmed. He lost control of the heavyweight champion immediately after Mr.

Verne Donohue and Harold Noonan made up another tie game in the Holy Name league, which was the last in the series between St. Peters and St. Martins at Sunshine park last night. The count read 3-3.

St. Martins threatened to take the fixture with a one-run lead in the fifth, with two men out. Donohue drew a walk, stole second and romped home on Noonan's single.

The south-enders garnered a lead early. In the first inning Conney, who started on the mound for the cathedral outfit, was wild, and was also touched for three hits. Ward got a scratch hit down to short, Sanford advanced him with a single, but B. Clark laid down a choice, which caught the cathedral in a howl.

Moisse brought the other two in with a hit to right.

In the third St. Martins added another run by means of an error by Mogan and a hit by Pook. In their half of the frame, St. Peters got two counters. Dignan drew a walk and Nopper sent him to third on a screaming double to center. They both romped home on B. Clark's error.

BOOTS POSTPONED.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, June 9.—Postponement of the Italian hospital fund boxing bouts scheduled for June 19, in which Harry Wills is to meet Charley Weinert, and Mickey Walker is to face Harry O'Grady for the middleweight championship, was made necessary today by an operation on Walter's right foot.

After physicians had removed an ingrowing nail, they said the boxer champion would be unable to box for a week or ten days.

Dempsey had some extensive alterations made in his back or boxer. Mr. Kearns does not relish the notion of losing another champion by a nose.

Strathroy, June 8.—In an encounter that included everything ever seen in a baseball game anywhere, with the exception of a double play, the local Jacks tonight defeated the Liderton inter-mediate 14 to 11 in a North Middlesex game, and thus went into the league lead.

The hitting of Frank Murphy, local shortstop, was the high light of the hectic mangle. He rapped out two triples and one double, and called it a day for the night.

Strathroy had the game tucked away 14 to 6 in the sixth, but blew sky high in the eighth to give the visitors four counters on one hit. However, they finally steadied down to hold Liderton.

Hudson, on the mound for the losers, showed remarkably good form for a youngster and deserved better support than he received.

The teams: Liderton—Vale, 3b; Caverhill, c.; Wilkie, 1b; Emerson, 2b; Loft, 1b; Campbell, 1b; Hudson, p.; Robson, c.f.; C. Loft, r.f.

HORSE "BORROWER" FINED $10 AND COSTS

B. Hughes, Glencoe, Settles in Court—Lizmore Mare Is Returned.

Barney Hughes of Glencoe submitted to Magistrate Hawshaw yesterday that he was merely "borrowing" a horse from the cottage stables in London south last Wednesday. Mr. Hughes explained that he was making a deal with the owner of the equine, Tom Kyle of Westminster township, but it hadn't been quite completed.

The court however didn't view the matter through the same glasses as Hughes and fined him $10 and costs. The animal was worth $20.

High Constable Wharton visited Glencoe Monday searching for the horse of Philip Lizmore, stolen from the horse pasture last Thursday, and thought that Kyle's horse was the one he was searching for.

A telephone message from a Lucan farmer yesterday informed the high constable that Lizmore's steed was grazing on the road in front of his farm. The black mare was returned to Mr. Lizmore yesterday afternoon.

At its closing meeting until the fall, the Anglican clerical association Monday listened to a scholarly address on the Bible by Very Rev. L. N. Tucker, D.D., D.C.L., dean of St. Paul's cathedral, and president of the association.

A committee was named by the association to arrange for the program when activities are resumed again in the fall. Those named on the committee are: Very Rev. Dean Tucker, Rev. H. E. Bray, Rev. G. O. Lightbourn, and Rev. Roy D. Moss, M.M.

The past season has proven a very active and profitable one for the association and for this no small credit is due Dean Tucker as head of the association.

Foreign Educated Students Want Representation On Shanghai Council.

By JAMES L. BUTTS.

Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright. Peking, June 9.—A committee of the Western Returned Students' association, numbering several thousand American and European educated Chinese, has issued a statement calling on the foreign powers to appoint a mixed committee of foreigners and Chinese temporarily to take over the functions of the municipal council of international settlement at Shanghai.

The statement advocated appointment of a mixed judicial tribunal to investigate the circumstances of the Shanghai incident, and urged permanent change in Shanghai administration, providing for Chinese representation in the municipal council and rendition of the mixed court to China. Finally they declared the time ripe for revision of treaties.

Former Governor of Massachusetts Wants Closer Relations With Canada.

$8,000 FIRE LOSS AT HARWICH FARM

Councillor S. Huffman Loses Barns and Stock in Bad Blaze.

Special to The Advertiser. By Staff Correspondent.

Blenheim, June 9.—A disastrous fire took place about 4 o'clock this afternoon on lot 3, concession 2, W. C. R. Harwich township, when Councillor Leslie Huffman suffered the loss of his fine $8 by 36 bank barn, large tobacco barn and silo, together with the contents, and besides considerable damage was done to a frame residence, in which live the family of the hired man. Fortunately the wind did not blow in the direction of his fine residence, and it was saved.

The flames spread rapidly, and soon the stack and barns were a mass of flames. The alarm was sent to Blenheim by phone, and Mr. Huffman hurried home, but before he arrived the buildings were gone. Neighbors rushed to the scene, but could do little.

Blenheim's small fire truck was sent down with extinguisher, and many other extinguishers were carried from various stores and sent hurriedly, but they could only be used

CROSS IS BURNED NEAR INGERSOLL

Flames Shoot High Into Air, Attracting Many Spectators.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ingersoll, June 9.—A cross about 15 feet in height was burned tonight about 100 yards north of the provincial highway, and about a mile east of Ingersoll. The fire was started about 9 o'clock and at 11 o'clock part of the frame was still burning. Two houses are comparatively close to the spot where the cross burned, but so far as can be learned, no person was seen near the site.

The cross was made of scantling and was about 15 feet in height, with a cross arm about 9 feet long. The scantling were wrapped in canvas and automobile tires, and the whole covered with tar and coal-oil. It would seem very similar to the cross burned in London a few nights ago. Flames shot for many feet into the air above the top of the frame, and attracted attention for several miles, as the spot is on a small elevation,

CANADIAN APPEALS ON PRIVY COUNCIL LIST

City of Toronto's Dispute With Separate School Board To Be Aired.

Associated Press Despatch. London, June 9.—Eight Canadian appeals are on the list for the approaching term of the judicial committee of the privy council. These include an appeal by the city corporation of Toronto against a judgment of the Canadian supreme court in a dispute with the Toronto separate school board over the erection of a Catholic school on Prince Arthur avenue, Toronto. The separate school board has acquired property on Prince Arthur avenue and made plans to erect thereon a school building, but on protest from property owners in the vicinity the city passed a bylaw restricting this particular area to residential buildings. The case was carried eventually to the supreme court at Ottawa which decided against the city. Subsequently the city was given leave to appeal to the privy council.

GOVERNMENT PREPARES FOR OCTOBER ELECTION

Prorogation of House Likely in Fortnight—Much Business Slated.

POINT TO VICTORY

Success in Saskatchewan and N. S. Indications Are Reassuring.

By E. C. BUCHANAN.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ottawa, June 9.—On account of the progress made so far this week it is now believed that the session will be concluded within a fortnight. Government legislation is passing the Commons with unexpected rapidity and ease. Today the Home Bank relief bill, providing $5,450,000 in compensation for the depositors, secured second reading without encountering any considerable criticism. Only the formality of the third reading remains before it is submitted to the consideration of the Senate. The bill authorizing the minister of finance to raise a refunding loan of $640,000,000 was similarly advanced. Thus in two days three important government measures have passed the difficult stage, the Home Bank bill, the loan bill and the bill amending the criminal code for the suppression of hand-book gambling.

At this rate of advancement, there should be little difficulty in reaching prorogation within two weeks. The approach to the end of the session is attended by keener speculation as to the possibility of an early election than there has been for months. A more general disposition now prevails to regard an autumn election as likely. It is discernible in all quarters.

British Seek Island Refuge

Associated Press Despatch.

London, June 9.—The Hong Kong correspondent of the Daily Express says the missionaries and other British residents of Canton have taken refuge on an island, where they are virtually prisoners, as it would be dangerous for them to leave. Three British gunboats guard the island, while French war craft lie close by.

The Yunnanese, who control Canton are stronger numerically than the Cantonese party, the correspondent adds, and it seems likely they will remain.

ters of parliament. No indication has come from the government that a decision has been reached, but the feeling that dissolution will follow shortly after prorogation has been growing stronger since the Liberal victory was recorded in Saskatchewan. The general opinion is that if the triumph is repeated in Nova Scotia on June 25 the government will appeal to the country. It is suggested that the elections may be in October.

Peter Rabbit Is Surprised To See the Baby Hares Jumping Around

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

You know, that means that people sometimes see what they want to see. They really do. They actually make themselves see something that they have set their hearts on seeing. Mothers do this very often. This is why a mother always can see beauty in the homeliest of babies, provided that baby is hers.

Peter Rabbit followed his big cousin, Jumper the Hare, through the Green Forest until he was beginning to get a little tired. Then quite suddenly they came upon Mrs. Jumper, and close to her, nibbling at this and that tender young plant, were four little jumpers.

"Cousin Peter came over to the Green Forest to tell me that he has six of the most beautiful babies that ever lived, born over in the dear Old Briar Patch two days ago. As they are the same age as our babies, I thought he would like to see ours. What do you think of them, Cousin Peter?" said Jumper.

Peter stared all around him. He was looking for an answer. "Where are they?" he asked after a bit. "Where are they?" echoed Jumper. "Where are your eyes? Don't you see those little scamps right here?"

"Yes, I see those," replied Peter. "But where are the babies, the little, teeny, weeny, new-born babies?"

"Well, we haven't had any since day before yesterday," replied Mrs. Jumper. "There they are, hopping about as good, healthy babies should be doing. Don't you think Jumper and I have a fine-looking family?"

Peter stared very hard at Mrs. Jumper. Then he stared very hard at the four lively little jumpers. "But my babies haven't opened their eyes yet. My babies haven't any fur coats."

"Fancy!" exclaimed Mrs. Jumper. "Fancy a baby without a fur coat. I can't imagine such a thing. What homely little things they must be if they have no fur coats."

"No such thing," replied Peter. "They are the most beautiful babies in all the great world. Mrs. Peter says so. Weren't your babies born without fur coats?"

"I should say not," replied Mrs. Jumper. "They were just as you see

OTTAWA TO BUY UP TAX-EXEMPT BONDS

Nontaxable Issues of War Period Will Be Retired.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, June 9.—It is the intention of the federal government to buy up some of the tax-free Victory bonds issued during the war. This statement was made in the House of Commons this afternoon by Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance, during the committee discussion on the retirement loan bill.

The bill provides for the borrowing of about $164,000,000 to retire loans maturing during this calendar year. J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Center Winnipeg) asked if there was not a proportion of this sum which was to be devoted to certain other purposes not defined in the bill.

The acting minister replied: "I had hoped the bill would go through without my having to explain that. But I will tell my friends frankly that if we have any spare money left over we propose to go quietly into the market wherever we can and buy up any tax-exempt bonds that may be on the market."

Port Fruitmen Pick New Berries

Harvest of First Crop Is Started.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, June 9.—Strawberry growers in the Port Stanley fruit belt picked their first fruit today. The quality of the early produce is excellent, but the lack of rain will shorten the crop considerably. The meadows and hay fields are in dire need of water, the hay specially is a light crop.

"Where are your eyes? Don't you see those little scamps right here?"

them now. Goodness, I wouldn't know what to do with babies as helpless as all that. Do you mean to say, Peter Rabbit, that your babies can't help themselves at all?"

Peter was obliged to confess that this was the case. All the time he kept his eyes on those four little hares. He just couldn't believe that they were only two days old, the very same age as his own babies. He couldn't believe it and he didn't want to believe it, because he realized now how foolish his boasting of his handsome babies must have seemed to Jumper. Of course there was no comparison between those little squirming, helpless baby Rabbits and these pretty, lively baby Hares, although they were the same age. Peter just couldn't keep his eyes off those youngsters. Mrs. Jumper noticed this.

"Well," said she, "how do these babies compare with yours?"

"Now, my dear, you shouldn't ask Peter such a question as that," interrupted Jumper.

"It's all right," said Peter. "It's perfectly all right. Mrs. Jumper, if my babies ever get to be as pretty and as cunning as these babies of yours, I shall be perfectly satisfied. My goodness, I hope they'll hurry up and get some fur coats. I wouldn't have believed that a fur coat could make quite such a difference."

NORONIC TO BE SUBJECT OF SEARCH AT CHICAGO

Canadian Vessel Once Again Suspected of Carrying Liquor Store.

Special to The Advertiser.

Chicago, June 9.—The Canadian lake steamer Noronic, out of Sarnia, Ont., is to be held in port here tomorrow when it docks, pending search for liquor and beer believed to be aboard.

John R. Ford, acting collector of customs for Chicago, has assigned two deputies to search the vessel upon its arrival.

The Noronic, Ford said, was relieved of 25 cases of whiskey and 250 barrels of beer before it left Detroit, but authorities have been tipped there was more liquor aboard.

TRUSTEES DISCUSS NEW SCHOOL PLAN

Plan To Amalgamate Township Boards Talked at District Meetings.

Much interest is being taken by the school trustees in West Middlesex in a series of meetings taking place this week for the discussion of the township board bill and other rural educational matters. At the annual convention of the Middlesex trustees' association, held last winter in London, Dr. Karr, director of rural school organization, explained to the trustees why he believed that a township board would be an improvement on the present system of administering our rural schools. He did not succeed in convincing the trustees that the change was desirable, however, the facts he submitted showed very clearly that there was much room for improvement. Both Dr. Karr and the trustees found the discussion so helpful towards a mutual understanding that the present field work in Middlesex was planned to carry it on further. These get-together meetings should be of special benefit now that the township school board bill has been introduced into the house, and gives a definite basis for constructive criticism.

The minister of education, in sending Dr. Karr, stated that he heartily approved of these meetings. He believes that in the free and general discussion of the proposals of the bill, constructive suggestions will be brought forward that will be of great value to him in formulating the policy to be pursued. He is desirous that everything possible should be done to develop a feeling of confidence between the trustees and ratepayers of the rural schools and the department of education, believing that progressive measures are dependent on co-operation between the two.

Meetings, beginning on Wednesday evening, June 10, at Adelaide village, will be held at 7:30 p.m. and evening at Adelaide Village, Mount Brydges, Appin, Nairn and Craithie. The meeting at Craithie is of special interest, as it is part of a community institute, which is being held at the new community hall. It is hoped that the ratepayers as well as the trustees will turn out to these meetings. There is no surer way of instilling a new spirit into rural life than by taking an interest in rural education.

An inspection of the local Canadian Pacific Railway telegraph office was made last night by General Manager McMillan and District Manager Thompson.

Mr. McMillan arrived in the city last night on the early train, and left at 9:40 for Detroit. No special significance was attached to the visit and no changes in the personnel of the London office are planned.

Mr. Thompson remained overnight, and will return to Toronto today, it is expected.

NO WORD IS HEARD FROM YOUNG GIRL

Miss Graham of Parkhill Disappeared About a Week Ago.

Special to The Advertiser.

Parkhill, June 9.—Nothing new has developed locally concerning the disappearance of Miss Graham about a week ago. She left her night clothing in Mr. Baker's mail box, and nothing has been heard of her since.

There are very strong indications, however, that she was helped by someone, and the consensus of opinion locally is, that she will eventually turn up in the Windsor district, where she has some friends.

BRANT INN, BURLINGTON IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Flames Are Discovered by Dan MacAuley of This City.

Special to The Advertiser.

Burlington, June 9.—The Brant Inn, at which the Macaulay orchestra of London, Ontario, is playing this season, was entirely destroyed by fire this afternoon with a loss that is yet unestimated. The fire was discovered by Dan MacAuley, leader of the orchestra, shortly before 4 o'clock in the southwest corner of the building, directly above the ballroom.

Shortly after the alarm for the fire in the inn was turned in by MacAuley sparks started another fire in the drilled on Water street, and one company of firemen was forced to give up the fight against the flames at the inn and go to the other blaze.

The management of the inn places its loss at $10,000.

DRURY SEEKING FURTHER PROBE

Progressives or Liberals Will Satisfy Public On Treasury Scandal.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Milton, July 9.—Former Premier Drury, speaking at the annual meeting of the Halton Progressive association here today, referred to the scandal which resulted in Hon. Peter Smith, provincial treasurer in Mr. Drury's government, being sent to the penitentiary.

Mr. Drury stated that although he regretted that such a scandal should have occurred in his government while he was premier, and a trusted head of one of the most important departments had gone wrong, and for whom he could offer no defence, he believed that Premier Ferguson was still under obligations to probe further and let the public know the truth.

He thought that with the returning to power of a Progressive or Liberal government this would be done to the satisfaction of the general public. Mr.
