Will Transfer Seat of Cabinet From Petrograd

Alarm at German Activities in Riga Gulf is Probable Cause of Transfer From Capital--Washington Hears Nothing of Move

By Courier Leased Wire.

Petrograd, Oct. 19.—The Government has definitely determined to move to Moscow in the very near future.

The newspapers publish an official announcement that the bombardment of fortified Town Revel on the Baltic at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, has begun. The schools at Revel have been closed. The inhabitants of the city are being sent to the interior of Russia.

Announcement that the government will move to Moscow was made to-day by M. Kishkin, minister of public welfare.

After the capture of Riga by the Germans preparations for removal of the government to Moscow were begun. The failure of the Germans to develop their offensive after taking Riga, as well as the approach of winter weather, making open campaigning impracticable relieved the fears for the safety of Petrograd for the near future. Last week announcement was made that such action for transferring the seat of government had been stopped, as there was no prospect that such action would be necessary, at least for some time. The new offensive operations by the Germans resulting in the capture of Oesel and Moon Islands and the threat of an invasion of Estonia again changed the situation, however, and may be responsible for the decision to remove the government to Moscow. The turbulent political conditions in Petrograd and the presence there of large numbers of extremists and agitators may also have influenced the cabinet.

Reval, a town of about 65,000, two hundred miles southwest of Petrograd, is a naval station, and with Helsingfors, and Hango on the northern coast of the Gulf of Finland, guards the approaches to the Gulf. The landing of German forces on the Estonian coast would menace this town from the rear. The sailors of the main Baltic fleet are reported to be keen to fight. The men at Kronstadt are demanding that the ships be sent out to meet the Germans, but the government is understood to have taken the position that as the enemy forces are of superior size it would be disastrous to leave Petrograd undefended.

NO WORD AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Russian officials here had no dispatches to-day on the removal of the Russian provisional government from Petrograd to Moscow, but said that the plan of moving the seat of government to Moscow, some time ago, undoubtedly had been hastened by the German advance in the Riga territory. Ever since the removal of the capital was first discussed, Russian officials here have reiterated that the Kerensky Government felt it could work with fewer hampering influences in Moscow than Petrograd, which is the center of opposition. The German advance, Russian officials here say, undoubtedly has strengthened the extreme radicals in the Council of Soldiers' and Work-

Cards for Romanoffs.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Petrograd, Oct. 19.—The family of Nicholas Romanoff, former Emperor of Russia, now procures its food supplies by the use of cards. The authorities in the Tobolsk district are issuing food cards and the Romanoffs must obtain their food the same as other citizens.

Gurko in England.

London, Oct. 19.—General Gurko, former commander on the Russian southwestern front, has arrived in England with his wife on board a British ship.

The correspondent of The Daily Express, who travelled on the same boat, says that the ship was lying at the entrance to the river outside the port of Archangel awaiting orders to depart for England, when late at night a tug stole alongside and two unidentified passengers walked up the companion ladder. They registered under assumed names and it was not until several days later that their identity was established by a few of the other passengers.

"How General Gurko evaded his enemies at Petrograd," the correspondent says, "and reached Archangel, how he found friends and remained in retirement in Archangel must remain a secret."

General Gurko told newspapermen last night that he was given permission to leave Russia as soon as possible after his release from imprisonment in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul.

"I was imprisoned," the general said, "because letters which I had written to the former Emperor were cited as evidence of my ill-feelings toward the republic. After several months of confinement nothing was found to justify a trial and I was released. My intention is to remain in England until matters in Russia become more settled."

An Explanation Needed
London, Oct. 19.—The Daily Mail condemns what it calls the failure of the British fleet to prevent the German fleet from becoming master of the Gulf of Riga and demands that the Admiralty make an explanation of this humiliating display in the Baltic.

"After recalling the successes of the British submarines against the Germans in the Baltic in the summer and autumn of 1915, the newspaper says:

"The Germans have accomplished all they were prevented from achieving in 1915 and they have done so without a single blow being struck at them by any arm of the British navy—a navy far stronger than it was two years ago and recently reinforced by the addition of the American fleet."

GERMAN U-BOAT SUNK BY BRITISH DESTROYER.

Sub Attacking Japanese Vessels, Destroyed by Warships in The Atlantic Ocean

By Courier Leased Wire.

A Pacific Port, Oct. 19.—Officers of a Japanese steamer that arrived here to-day from a European port said they saw a British destroyer sink a German submarine in the Atlantic, August 16. The submarine had just made an attack on another Japanese freighter which arrived here last week with the story of its escape.

The mate of the vessel arriving to-day said the two vessels were near together when the U-boat opened fire. His ship put on full speed and got out of the way, while the other stood the brunt of the attack. When the other vessel escaped, the submarine turned to attack the remaining Japanese, which made ready to use its stern gun. Just then, according to the mate's story, there was a sheet of water thrown up from the British destroyer as a shell struck the submarine. A cloud of smoke followed. The submarine, the mate said, apparently had failed to observe the approach of the destroyer and was unable to submerge in time to escape its shells.

WEATHER BULLETIN

Toronto, Oct. 19.—Since yesterday the centre of disturbance has moved from Northern Wisconsin to the upper Ottawa valley. Rain has been general in Ontario and light snow falls have occurred in parts of the western provinces. East of the great lakes, the weather is mild and to the westward it is cold.

Forecast: Strong winds and moderate gales from westward; showery, Saturday.—Strong westerly winds, mostly fair and much cooler.

BOMBS DROPPED.

London, Oct. 19.—Many bombs were dropped yesterday, with satisfactory result on the Varsener (Flanders) by naval aircraft," says an official announcement given out here to-day.

"All our machines returned safely."

SUPPORT FOR UNION.

Hull, Oct. 19.—The Chronicle (Liberal) in a leading article to-day comes out in support of the "Union Government" in the course of the article it says:

"Co-operation with a Union Government does not require a Liberal to leave his party or a Conservative to leave his. In these circumstances and these purposes this paper believes that the Liberal party of Nova Scotia should give its co-operation to the new Government."

FRENCH RAID ENEMY LINES

100 Prisoners Taken In Attack on Hun Trenches on Aisne Front

By Courier Leased Wire.

Paris, Oct. 19.—The French last night attacked the German lines on the Aisne front after a heavy bombardment. The War Office reports that German positions were taken.

A German attack on the Verdun front, on the right bank of the Meuse, was repulsed. The announcement follows:

"After particularly effective artillery preparation a series of aerial operations enabled us to penetrate the German defences in the region of Bray-en-Laonnois and Laffaux Mill. We destroyed German defences and brought back 100 prisoners belonging to four different divisions. An enemy attempt against our small posts in the Cherbourg salient was repulsed."

"Between the Miette and the Aisne we carried out an attack in the course of which we inflicted serious losses on the enemy and captured materials. In the Champagne one of our detachments penetrated the German trenches north of the Casque, pursued the retreating enemy and after a spirited combat returned to its own lines."

"On the right bank of the Meuse we repulsed a German attack north of Chailion-Sous-Les-Cotes."

"Twenty bombs were dropped by aviators last night in the region of Dunkirk. No victims are reported. On October 15, two German airplanes were brought down by section 510 of the automobile artillery."

ALL CLASSES GIVE ALIKE TO RED CROSS IN LONDON

Over Three Million Dollars Collected, Irrespective of Street Contributions; Royal Family Gave Nobly

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Oct. 19.—More than £270,000 irrespective of street collections was contributed yesterday to the British Red Cross. Thursday was designated "our day" and from daylight until dusk, 8,000 women, including wives of cabinet members, titled ladies, society leaders and actresses, canvassed the greater city. They plucked the theatres, hotels and stores.

King George set a good example by doubling his usual Red Cross subscription. His Majesty gave £10,000. The members of the royal family also contributed generously. Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra each giving £1,000. The Prince of Wales donated £3,000, the Princess Victoria £1,000 and Prince Albert £50. One of the pleasant surprises was a gift of £118,000 from the people of Egypt.

WOULD WE BE HAPPIER IF GIVEN A SECOND LIFE?

J. M. Barrie Sets Forth the Problem in His Fantasy "Dear Brutus"—Well Received in London

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Oct. 19.—Barrie's new play, "Dear Brutus," produced at Wyndham's Theatre last night, sets forth the problem as to whether people if given a second chance of life, would be any happier for it. The second act passes in "the wood of a second chance," where the problem is worked out. Visitors to the wood are given their second chance, but they find in the end that they are altered. The play gets its title from the lines in "Julius Caesar."

"The fault, Dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves, that we are underlings." The Chronicle describes the play as a delicious little fantasy full of wit and human tenderness. The Daily Graphic says it will live as a classic among exquisite fantasies.

HOPE FOR TERMINATION OF COAL WORKERS STRIKE IN U.S.

Miners Realizing Futility of Trying to Force Increase in Price of Fuel—New York Facing a Sugar Famine

By Courier Leased Wire.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Hope for the early settlement of the unauthorized strike of nearly 70,000 coal miners in Illinois was held out to-day by Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Federation of Miners, who said the men are beginning to realize the futility of trying to force Dr. H. A. Garfield, national fuel administrator, to grant increased prices of coal at the mines.

More on Strike
Hazelton, Pa., Oct. 19.—Claiming they have received no satisfactory adjustment of grievances, two thousand anthracite miners collieries of the Wilkes-Barre coal company at Anderson, Green Mountain and Honeybrook, struck to-day. The chief complaint is in reference to payment for the removal of rock. The output of the operations is 2,500 tons a day. According to the men the company was given warning several days ago that to expect in case of failure to adjust matters.

Revoke Charters
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 19.—In telegrams sent this morning to local miners' unions in Illinois, now on strike, Frank Farrington, state president of the miners' organization, declared that in mines where the men were not back to work by Monday, October 22, local charters will be revoked.

Sugar Famine
New York, Oct. 19.—With wholesale sources of supply virtually shut off and refineries unable to get the material, New York is threatened with a sugar famine. Many stores have been without sugar for several days, and those dealers who have a supply on hand are limiting sales to a few pounds to each customer. Alarmed at the scarcity, many housewives went about the city buying a pound or two and carrying it home as fast as they could find it. Prices have gone up, and some sales as high as 15 cents a pound have been reported.

Henry Moskowitz, the newly appointed city commissioner of shut-kits, planned to meet with refiners, wholesalers and retailers to-day in an effort to arrive at some solution of the problem. Meanwhile householders have been urged by the commissioner to practise rigid economy in the sugar supply. Many restaurants already have abolished the sugar bowl and customers are served one lump apple.

The coal shortage is also causing...

PULL OUT FOR GERMANY WHATEVER OBTAINABLE

Huns Will Seek to Gain From Peace Negotiations—Secret of Ambiguity and Equivocation Surrounding Teuton Peace Declarations

By Courier Leased Wire.

Copenhagen, Oct. 19.—The key to the policy of the German Government in refusing to make any definite statement of peace terms is furnished by Herr Hoch, a Socialist member of the Reichstag. German newspapers report that the deputy told yesterday how Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg before his retirement as imperial chancellor, declared to the Socialist members of the Reichstag that as chancellor, he could not commit himself, but must pull out in the peace negotiations whatever could be obtained for Germany. Herr Hoch cited this as proof of the ambiguous game the government is playing with its various indefinite peace declarations.

HURRICANE IN INDIES

Island Grand Cayman Visit by Most Violent Storm of History

By Courier Leased Wire.

Georgetown, B. W. I., Sep. 29.—Correspondence of The Associated Press—The Island Grand Cayman was visited by the most violent hurricane in its history on September 24. Wind of great violence reached a velocity of 120 miles an hour, a heavy rain and giant breakers from the Caribbean Sea combined in damaging shopping and property. The property loss exclusive of shipping, is estimated at $300,000. Two lives were lost, a watchman on a vessel in the harbor who was swept into the raging sea and an old woman who was crushed to death in the ruins of her home. The damage to crops of all kinds as well as that to property was greater than in the hurricane of 1876 and the cyclone of 1903.

Houses Sheltered
Two Lives Lost, While Material Damage Is High

The outbreak of the tempest was preceded by a sharp change in barometric and atmospheric conditions. From September 15 on there were thunderstorms and the clouds appeared to be very dense. There were few breezes from the sea and the daily maximum temperature was from 85 to 90 degrees in the shade. To add to the unpleasantness the island was visited by a plague of mosquitos a few days before the storm broke.

Houses built to withstand the ordinary hurricane in Caribbean were shaken to their foundations. Windows were shattered and doors and roofs were carried away. The streets and roads were flooded with water and filled with uprooted trees. One hundred and twenty houses were blown down and many more were damaged severely. The wind abated after midnight, but it continued to rain almost incessantly for another 24 hours. The shipping losses have not been estimated, but every vessel at anchor around the island was damaged. Thirty vessels were driven ashore and two were turned upside down by the wind and water.

The island of Jamaica, which lies southeast of the island of Cayman, was struck by a hurricane on September 23. Much damage was done to crops and buildings and nine persons were killed at Port Antonio.

SALONKI DEWASTATED.
By Courier Leased Wire.
Washington, Oct. 19.—According to an official dispatch reaching Washington to-day from Athens about 800 persons were rendered homeless and destitute by the recent fire in Salonki, of whom some sixty thousand are Jews.

More than 10,000 of the victims are camping in the environs of the city. The major part of the funds for conducting relief work is expected to be sent from the United States.

Knew Not the Man.

Amsterdam, Oct. 19.—Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, did not know Bolo Pasha, the Frenchman known as a spy in France, according to The Ageblatt. Discussing the Bolo affair, the newspaper says:

"In connection with the Bolo Pasha episode, and the disclosure of Secretary Lansing concerning the part alleged to have been played by Ambassador von Bernstorff, and Foreign Secretary von Jagow, we are informed by a competent source that the personality of Bolo Pasha was not known to von Bernstorff in Washington inasmuch as the ambassador did not have recourse to sources in the United States which might have been at the disposal of official quarters here. It is also established that the name of Bolo Pasha was never made known to von Bernstorff and his banker intermediaries did not mention him. Consequently the passage in the alleged telegram published by Secretary of State Lansing in which von Jagow asked von Bernstorff 'What is new about Bolo?' is false. This warrants the obvious deduction regarding the trustworthiness of other details in this telegram."

The Tagliche Rundschau says that the mention of Bolo's name in the von Jagow despatch is "another forgery of Secretary Lansing's for transparent purposes." It adds that Bolo's name was not mentioned for the simple reason that von Bernstorff did not know that Bolo was the man who was negotiating for The Paris Journal.

Among the telegrams given out by Secretary of State Lansing on October 5 was the following:

"No. 206, May 31. The person mentioned in telegram 692 of March 20, has not reported himself at the legation at Paris. Is there any more news on your side of Bolo."

"JAGOW."

In the inquiry into the Bolo affair in New York early this month, it was learned that Bolo had an accomplice in Switzerland, through whom he had learned the terms on which Germany would conclude peace with France. Bolo Pasha is said to have received more than

HEALTH COLUMN FOR NEWSPAPERS

Should Be As Indispensable As Joke Column, Says U. S. Doctor

By Corrier Leased Wire
Washington, Oct. 19.—That a health column in the newspapers might well be as indispensable as the joke column, is the suggestion for health education offered by Dr. John W. Trask, assistant surgeon-general of the United States public health service, in an address before a section of the American Public Health Association here to-day. It was also urged that family magazines and educational periodicals "increase their usefulness by maintaining well edited departments for the discussion of matters relating to personal and community hygiene" for "instruction of the people in the principles of hygiene and sanitation instruction in how to successfully and fully as important as instruction in reading, writing and arithmetic."

The world war's end would be hastened by the application of the principles of engineering and technology to plants engaged in the manufacture of war supplies, declared Dr. Frederick S. Lee of Columbia University, in an address, "The human machine in war industry," before the Association of Public Health Hygiene. Dr. Lee pointed out that one of the most striking features of the present war is the unprecedented use that is being made of science and that the accomplishments of physiology must be added to those of mechanics, engineering and chemistry, because men and women are necessary as ever to the performance of industrial work.

Important medical problems of the world war has been broad subject for discussion at a general session to-day of the Public Health Association Surgeon Major Eduard Rist of the French scientific mission, was to speak on "French army sanitation."

MARKET COMMENT

NEWS OF THE EXCHANGES

(Written especially for The Brantford Courier.)

Active Trade in Iron—Montreal—The trading in Dominion Iron again overshadowed everything else, Montreal real buyers and Toronto seller at 56 to 56 1/2, compared with 55 1-2 to 56 yesterday. The local market considered Iron attractive at this level, and Toronto's reason for selling was observed. One suggestion was that traders had been called for additional margins on their New York accounts, and were selling in the west market they could get to provide them, and in other quarters the selling was looked upon as routine scalping operations. Local sentiment on Iron is stiffened by the feeling that additional distribution will be forthcoming in the next quarterly declaration; if not straight increase, at least an extra, possibly for a Victory Loan boost.

C. P. R. Earnings for the week ending October 14th, 1917, were $3,333,000, an increase of $299,000.

Atchison for Year—Atchison for the year ended March 31 earned $15.02 on the common stock, against $12.30 the previous year.

Exchange Closes Oct. 24th.—New York—On Liberty Day, October 24th set apart by President Wilson to promote the Liberty Loan, the stock exchange here will close at noon, it was announced to-day.

Illinois Central—The Illinois Central has declared its regular quarterly dividend of 1-1/3 per cent. and an extra dividend of 1 per cent.

Two operations were performed on Constantine in 1915, the first not having resulted in the healing of the wound, and for a time his life was despaired of. Reports were current at the time that he had been stabbed, but they were denied, and it was said he was suffering from pleurisy.

EVENCROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

If Feverish, Bilious, Constipated, Give Fruit Laxative at Once

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative" and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy. Mother, a little given to-day saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

THE SITUATION.

The Germans are doing just about as they please in their new offensive against Russia. Following the taking of Oesel Island, they have now also seized Moon Island, and thus have practical control of the Gulf of Riga. In this regard the Alano Islands will probably be the next to go. In addition, as the result of an action with a part of the Russian fleet, one battleship was lost by the latter and other of their ships have been cut off from their bases. While this tragic turn of events is going on anarchy continues to grow in the new Republic and the people are getting more and more out of hand.
It is also not surprising to hear that still more German and Austrian troops have been taken from the Russian front to help in the fighting against the Italians.

Artillery work of great intensity prevails on the Western front, but infantry actions still remain in abeyance.

There has been mutiny on some of the Austro-Hungarian war ships.
Following so closely upon trouble of a like nature in the German fleet the circumstances demonstrate that a feeling of revolt is growing among all the people of the Central allies.
It is announced that British plans for reprisal air attacks on German centres are becoming rapidly completed.

POLICY OF THE UNION GOVERN-

The first statement issued by Sir Robert Borden since the formation of the Union Government sets forth in clear and concise terms the program of the new Administration.
First and foremost the fact is emphasized of the paramount duty of Canada to continue to "carry on"
with every efficiency in connection with the war. That is the thing which most emphatically matters just now—in fact, anything else is of very secondary importance, indeed. To this end all the resources of the Dominion are to be coordinated and there must be the heartfelt and self-sacrificing cooperation of all classes of the people.
The Courier is pleased to note that there will be a representative of Labor in the Cabinet and that there is to be a separate war committee of the Ministers. Without doubt the work can be much better handled in that manner and conclusions then submitted for the endorsement of the rest of the Ministers.
Sir Robert's pronouncement is couched in that forceful and statesmanlike tone which Canadians have learned to expect from him.

PROMOTED TO CAPTAINCY

Deserved Honor Is Awarded To a Brantford Boy

The reorganization of the Machine Gun Corps of No. 2 military district shows Major Richard L.
Peniston taking command with his present rank. Lieut. George T.
Cockshutt steps up to the rank of captain, with the post of adjutant.
Lieut. Allan F. Lynch becomes officer instructor, and Hon. Capt.
Hugh Murray becomes paymaster.
Capt. Cockshutt is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cockshutt. He was nine months in the trenches at the front and saw heavy fighting.
He was slated for a captaincy while on the field, but was invalided to England before the commission was issued.
Many Brantford friends will join in hearty congratulations upon his promotion.

SWEDISH CABINET.

BORDEN'S GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

To the Premier must without any doubt be credited the happy issue of a Government representation of both parties in this time of crisis. Faced with many difficulties, he for weeks clung tenaciously to his patriotic purpose, and the outcome has been properly acclaimed far and wide as one of the most notable of Dominion achievements.

The religious press of to-day should be regarded as free from party bias, and it is interesting to note that they also join in the general acclaim of praise.

The Christian Guardian says:
"After lengthy and difficult negotiations, persisted in with commendable patience and considerable sacrifice of party plans, Sir Robert Borden has at last succeeded in forming a Cabinet which will include a number of leading Liberals.

"Undoubtedly the creation of a Union Government in Canada to-day will greatly please a vast majority of the people who have felt their allegiance to party weakening and dwindling away by reason of the stress and strain of the past few years. Many were getting impatient at what seemed like the continued triumph of narrow partisanship, and were getting into a mood bordering upon desperation. But now that this splendid move has been made nearly every one will be ready to say that perhaps it could not have been made much sooner, and will forget the past in his eager hopefulness for the future. And we can all rejoice at the prospect that under a Union Government, Canada's part in the great world struggle will not show the terrible anti-climax that at one time seemed all too likely. That Canada has done well can surely be claimed without boasting. And now we are assured that Canada will continue to do well right through to the end of the struggle. Canada's Union Government is one of the finest achievements of her history."

In like tone, "The Presbyterian" remarks:
"Sir Robert Borden deserves praise for his persistence in the effort to accomplish union. He has been rewarded in the quality of the men who have joined forces with him—men of high character and understanding ability."

History will certainly have the name of Sir Robert high upon its scroll, when those of other men more flashy and in many respects perhaps more magnetic, will have been forgotten.

Mr. Webb is an ex-official of the Brantford returned soldiers' association, and is assisting in arranging plans for the governor-general's approaching visit to the Telephone City, to formally open the G.W.V.A. club rooms. A Packard automobile has been presented to the Brantford G.W.V.A. by fourteen little girls, members of the Kitchen-er club. The car is used for meeting Brantford's wounded and disabled heroes. Spence, Collector of Customs; and Charles Stelmis, Chief Constable, was held in the police station, when six applicants for admission to the R. F. C. were interviewed. Practically all those who appeared before the board provided satisfactory references, and their transportation to Toronto, where they will again appear before a medical board, and if successful in meeting the requirements will try the examinations qualifying them for entrance into that branch of the service.

BOYS' CAMPAIGN. To-day is the end of the campaign among the boys for Y.M.C.A. members, and at six o'clock members of the two teams, the Reds and Blues, will meet at supper and learn the results of their efforts. The boys have been working hard and have turned in many members, both new and renewals, but the keenness of the competition has caused the respective captains to withhold many names, and final results will not be known until the last returns are in this evening. On Wednesday evening the Red team had a big lead, but Thursday's results brought the teams practically level and a few members either way may turn the scale. The interest is consequently intense and it is expected that every member will be on hand promptly at 6 p.m. with his final report. Mr. H. V. Hutton, chairman of the Boys' Committee of the Y.M.C.A. will occupy the chair at the team supper.

St. Luke's Day, Oct. 18th, was fittingly celebrated yesterday in St. Luke's Anglican church by special services conducted throughout the day. In the morning, communion was celebrated, and in the afternoon the Ladies' Guild held a tea in the school room.

The evening service was conducted by the Rev. Rural Dean Seton Adamson of Paris, who spoke upon the example and inspiration of the life of St. Luke. He emphasized the humane characteristics of St. Luke, leading his congregation toward humaneness in their contact with their fellow men. This text, the speaker applied to the present British Red Cross campaign, and made an urgent appeal for support of this organization.

THE BRANT. Oriental in its conception, "Barbary Sheep" starring the beautiful Elsie Ferguson in her initial appearance on the screen, scored a great triumph among the patrons who visited the Brant Theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. The play is founded upon the book of the same name, and was admirably screened. Miss Ferguson in her introduction of Brantford theatre-goers has secured many admirers through her finished and attractive portrayal of Lady Wyverne. The star is supported by a fine occasional cast, and the production is well presented.

WOMAN HAD NERVOUS TROUBLE. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her. West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had nervous trouble all my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nerves and for female troubles. It helped me and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it shows that I stand it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I have also had my oldest girl take it and she has been good. I keep it in the house and I recommend it." Mrs. D. W. S. Danby, N. Y. Sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, headache, dizziness, dragging sensations, all point to female derangements which may be overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

TALENT, TEA A SUCCESS. Ladies Auxiliary of 125th Raised Over $59.00 Yesterday. Over fifty-nine dollars toward a Christmas fund for the men of the 125th First Brant Battalion, was raised by a talent tea given at the officers' quarters in the armories yesterday afternoon by the auxiliary of the 125th battalion. The members of the auxiliary were in charge of the various tables and booths from which home-made cooking and candy was dispensed, while Mrs. W. F. Cookshier and Mrs. A. K. Bunnell prepared tea. The rooms were prettily decorated with patriotic effects and ferns, and the attendance throughout the afternoon was very satisfactory. The success of the undertaking may be credited to Mrs. M. E. B. Cutcliffe and the other members of the executive who worked indefatigably toward ensuring a most pleasant and profitable afternoon. The fund still remains open, and anyone wishing to contribute toward the Christmas fund for the boys overseas may address their donations to the secretary, Miss Emily Bunnell, or to Mrs. Cutcliffe.

BORDEN DEFINES POLICY OF UNION GOVERNMENT

Official Statement on Formation and Personnel of New Ministry—Main Object to Carry on War—Finance for Women

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—Twelve lines of policy which will be followed by the new Union or National Government, and upon the strength of which it will appeal for endorsement by the people at the general election soon to take place, are set forth in a statement made public by Sir Robert Borden last evening. The platform was formulated after thorough discussion of the needs of the country at the present time by the full Cabinet, and it is a comprehensive and constructive one.

"Impressed by the urgent necessity of putting aside all minor considerations of sinking all party differences and of presenting a united front at this solemn and momentous juncture in the nation's history," says the manifesto, "the Government have come together in the duty of service to the national interest."

Naturally since the issue between the new Administration and its opponents at the approaching battle at the polls will be most sharply drawn on the question of war policy, the statement deals first with that subject. It pledges the Government to vigorous prosecution of Canada's part in the war, to immediate enforcement of the Military Service Act and to thorough co-operation with the Governments of Great Britain and the other overseas dominions in so far as matters pertaining to the war are concerned. Further, the Prime Minister defines the attitude of himself and his colleagues toward domestic problems which will arise during the continuance of the state of war, and which will involve upon the termination of hostilities.

Reduce Cost of Living
They stand for the general enfranchisement of women throughout Canada. The new Ministry has not been unmindful of the increasing cost of living in the Dominion or of other economic problems of the day. It includes in its platform a declaration that it will seek "effective measures to prevent excessive profits, to prohibit hoarding and to prevent combination for the increase of prices and thus to reduce the cost of living." It further pledges itself to encourage co-operation among those engaged in agricultural production with a view to diminishing the cost of production and marketing so that the price paid to the producer may conform more closely to that paid by the consumer."

Added to these pronouncements of policy is the twelfth plank of the platform which pledges the government to "adequate consideration of the needs of the industrial population; the maintenance of good relations between employers and employed, and such conditions of employment as will ensure suitable standards of living among the laboring classes."

Touching upon the question of federal financing, the manifesto calls for a measure of what has been called "the conservation of wealth." It pronounces in favor of "adequate taxation of incomes, as necessitated by the continuance of the war." It further provides for the reduction of public expenditure, the avoidance of waste and the encouragement of thrift in a nation at war.

Transportation Policy.
An advanced transportation policy is succinctly laid down in the Prime Minister's statement. Already steps have been taken in the direction of co-ordination of railway facilities in the Dominion. The national Government proclaims itself in favor of the co-operative management of the various railway systems so as to secure economy in operation, to avoid unnecessary construction and to secure the widest and most effective use of existing railway facilities." It goes further and includes in its platform "the encouragement and development of the shipbuilding industry, the establishment of steamship lines on both oceans and the Great Lakes and co-operation with the various Provincial Governments in the improvement of highways."

PULL OUT FOR
$1,700,000 from Bernstorff to aid in carrying out his plot.

The Hague, Oct. 19.—Emit Zimmermann, in The Vossische Zeitung has a long editorial on "German colonial politics in an English-American looking glass" in which he treats of German Central Africa as an important factor in peace negotiations.

"To facilitate the European situation," he writes, "Central Africa is one of most vital importance."

"I recognize that our Central African plans would be most painful to the English and Americans. A German Central Africa that develops steadily would be the natural ally of the Latin-South and Central American states and together with the Arabian and Turkish powers, would make for a strong influence in the Indian Ocean. Just this would create an enormous modification in Germany's war aims on the European continent. If England and America are honest with their allies, they must support this idea of German colonial expansion, even if they object to it."

Herr Zimmermann says that if Germany cannot acquire room for its surplus population abroad, it must seize it on the continent.

In his new book on Central Africa, Zimmermann says he has shown how that region could be defended by a colonial army of fifty thousand, but his ideas have been strongly opposed by the English and by President Lowell of Harvard University.

When the Americans and Englishmen get excited over a German colonial army, he says, they should remember that the Belgian Congo army counted 17,000 natives. He asked what is to be attained by "justifiable" attacks on German colonial politics.

"Every reasonable being even abroad," he added, "must admit that the present conflict can only be settled if the German people are given more room, if not in Europe, then abroad. The English and Americans say they wish to relieve the tension in Europe."

Herr Zimmermann asserts that if they now oppose this idea, they would plainly rather sacrifice either French or Belgian territory than colonial.

"Certainly the English and Americans have a keen appetite for Congo territory," he says, "or perhaps, the Anglo-Saxons really believe that a powerful centralized German Central Africa would shake the English world to its foundation."

He asserts that this idea is exaggerated, as Germany is by no means a world conqueror.

"A big German colonial policy," he says, "is necessarily peaceful, as it has always been, because only through cultivation will the Germans learn civilization."

President Has Praise For Accomplishments of Gen. Haig's Troops

By Courier Leased Wire
London, Oct. 19.—(via Reuter's Ottawa agency)—In an interview with Reuter's correspondent, the president of Portugal said: "This terrible conflict has already made the two oldest of the Allies closer than ever. My country has always been certain as to what will be the end and through good or evil, Portugal will continue with the Allies. What I saw on my recent visit to the battlefield and what Field Marshal Haig's splendid troops are doing make me more certain than ever of our sure victory."

The president expressed much gratification with the cordiality shown by their majesties and Field Marshal Haig.

BRITAIN'S ARMY DOING WONDERS THO' AMATEURS

The Citizen Army is Performing Miracles in Warfare
SET IN PURPOSE AND DETERMINED
 The Assurance of Competence is Visible Everywhere

"The amazing quality of our men" is the subject of an article by the war correspondent of the Times, who says:
 One talks about it less now than one did a year ago, because then our armies were untried and their gallantry came, not, indeed, unexpected but confirming our highest hopes, and a revelation. But now the thing is familiar. We know how the men are going to fight anywhere and every where. Instances of individual heroism are still passed about, but they are little compared with the heroism of the masses, of which one thinks it necessary to speak no more than in mentioning a rose is it necessary to dwell upon its scent and hues and shape.

"Simply magnificent." Talking to a divisional commander recently, I asked about the general behaviour of the men. "Oh," he said, "they're rippers, absolute topers, every man of 'em!" His men came chiefly from certain manufacturing districts in the north of England. Within the last two days an army commander, replying to the same question, broke out: "Oh, they're extraordinarily good; couldn't be better, no matter where they come from." And an army commander's men come from most parts of the empire. Another divisional commander had spoken for some time of the splendid way his men had fought. "And the way they stick by each other," he had said, "is simply magnificent." Who are the troops of mixed English country regiments, and have suffered since the war began as heavy losses as any division in the army. "Are they tired?" I asked. Do they want peace? "Not a bad peace," was the quick reply, "not one of them. They understand now that the war is about, which at the beginning they didn't."

From my own observation I believe this to be true. Of course men get tired individually, physically and mentally tired, but the British army is very stern and set in its purpose now. Many men there are, undoubtedly, who fight the love of fighting, but in the mass our men fight, out from adventurousness, not from discipline, but because they propose to win the war and know that, for the world's sake, win it they must. "It might have been a very nice war" said a sergeant, "if the Germans would have fought it right," but those illusions are gone. The German has not fought it right, and our men know it now, and know that there is nothing else to do but crush the power which made it so.

New As Good As Old
 A never ceasing subject of curiosity with me when talking to officers of almost every grade is the quality of the new drafts, and I have never yet met a case where the officer was not satisfied with his latest drafts and apprehensive about his next. This has been so for two years. Just as the old fears as to the quality of Territorials and the First Territorials feared for all the later men, so each successive layer of the newest fears for the layer that will come next. And the last year gets kneaded into the lump, and with it shares the old fears as to the quality of those who will be coming after. So it goes on—and look at them!

Who would say whether the men of this company swinging along the road had been out here for two months or two years? It is not a very full company, for the men are "coming out," but mark the copper-bronze faces and the confidence and rhythm of the march. And the young officer at their head, Godness knows what he was two years ago, but to-day he is an officer and a soldier, every inch of him, fit for men to follow.

Another company passes them on the road, going the other way, fuller in strength and without the stains of recent battle on their uniforms. But the faces are as bronzed and the tread is as firm. The two pass in silence with friendly measuring eyes—those just coming out from the doors of death and those just passing in—but there is no criticism in the gaze of the one nor envy or apprehension in that of the other; neither is there pride of duty well done on the one side, nor fear of failure to do it on the other.

of half France, one is never out of earshot of the machine-gun rattles of their engines? And the transport drivers how comes it they are all brave. All possessed of an equal and supreme possession for shells when they have a job to do? If you ask an infantryman or gunner, who was the bravest man he had seen, he will speak probably not of another infantryman or gunner in the exercise of his ordinary duties, but of some runner who carried messages, some engineer of "signals" who had the care of telephone or telegraph wires, or some stretcher-bearer. So it is all through the army, and it is impossible not to wonder daily how these men hid their qualities before the war, and what has shaped them to what they are to-day.

TUTELA WOMEN'S INSTITUTE
 The Tutela Women's Institute held their regular meeting on Tuesday October 16th at the home of Mrs. R. W. Henry, Mohawk Rd., when a visit from the Onondaga Branch was enjoyed.
 The meeting opened in the usual manner, with the president Mrs. Hird, presiding. Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted and a splendid report was given by the Red Cross Secretary.
 The chair was then taken by Mrs. McMillan president of the Onondaga Branch and an excellent programme was given by the visiting institute. Mrs. Wood gave a very fine paper entitled "Paying the Price."
 Instrumental duets by the Misses Tawa and Edwards, Mrs. Oughtred sang very sweetly. Let us have a "Thanks" giving and what it means to us. An instrumental was then given by Miss A. Fair.
 Roll call was answered by "Something we are thankful for," both institutes taking part.
 After a hearty vote of thanks had been given for the enjoyable programme provided by the visitors the meeting was closed by singing the Maple Leaf.
 A tasty lunch was then served by the hostess.

B.C.I. RUGBY.
 With only two changes in the line-up the B.C.I. rugby team will take the field against Guelph boys on Saturday afternoon at Agricultural Park with practically the same team as defeated Galt last week. The contest will decide the temporary leadership of the Inter-scholastic League, for the Brantford and Guelph teams have each taken one game at the expense of Galt, and in this, their first encounter, should provide a lively battle.
 Jack Littler will be placed somewhere in the back division, and Andy Paterson will be given a place in the scrum. The boys have been practicing regularly and faithfully, and under the able direction of Coach Jack McElvey are confidently anticipating a victory, although they expect to encounter a stiff opposition. Brantford defeated Galt by a score of 16-6, while the Guelph representatives turned the trick by the overwhelming score of 52-0.

Hughie Jennings May be Boss of Red Sox

Manager of Detroit Tigers May Appear in New Role Next Year As President of Boston Americans

By H. G. SALSINGER.
Detroit may have a new baseball manager next year, and Boston may have a new president. It was learned to-day that there is a movement on foot, and it has gained considerable headway, to make Hughie Jennings president of the Red Sox club. Harry H. Frazee, present owner of the Boston club, is extremely unpopular in the American League. Also, those associated with him in the ownership do not bring forth any round of wild greeting and happy handshaking when they meet the other magnates. Ban Johnson, who was opposed to Frazee buying the club from the very start, will do all he can to sidetrack him as an owner. That has been the general understanding right along.

Now comes a syndicate ready to take over the Boston ownership. It is said that Frazee and his associates have paid but $150,000 of the purchase price agreed upon and therefore it would not be a hard task to separate them from the franchise as it would be rather difficult for Frazee to raise the balance, considering the present condition of the Boston team, from a playing standpoint, and its questionable future as a money-maker under the present regime.

Detroiters Back Hughie.
This syndicate that is now dickering to take over the franchise is said to consist chiefly of Detroiters. Jennings is more popular in Boston than any manager the club has had, Bill Carrigan included, and it is easy to figure how Jennings, at the head of the club, could bring it back to a fat dividend-paying basis. The syndicate, insiders say, is willing to go almost any limit financially to put the deal over and place Jennings in charge of the club.

Frank J. Navin could not be found this morning and therefore a statement from the Detroit side is necessarily lacking. The story is told by several men who claim to have absolute possession of facts.

Ban Johnson has never made any pretence of his feelings toward Frazee, and Ban's utterings in September, as carried by the various newspaper press services, show that he has not changed his mind after having Frazee in his league for a season. This statement, in which he termed Frazee's play as theatrical clap-trap, came after Frazee had published a statement, offering $1,000 to every member of his team if they won the American League pennant. At that time, the Red Sox had to win all their remaining games, while the White Sox lost all but two, in order to land the championship.

Billboards for Harry.
Frazee has never pulled well with his team. There was trouble even before the season opened. At that time Frazee insisted on having a lot of "three sheets" printed. These were to be used in the eight cities of the American League the same as theatrical companies use them. Frazee wanted to advertise the Red Sox as a circus is advertised. He intended having large colored lithographs of Barry and Leonard and Lewis in action and spread them over all the billboards. They were to carry announcements that would have been a lesson to P. T. Barnum's circus agent. It took Barry and all the friends that he could summon several days to force Frazee to change his mind. Before buying the Boston franchise, Frazee was in the theatrical business and connected principally with the burlesque end of it. He has tried to introduce the same methods in baseball and put the game on a better business basis, as he argued.

Ban Johnson has had several con-traverses with Frazee and the other owners have been at odds with him more or less ever since he came into the league.

Pays Lannin $150,000.
The Boston franchise was disposed of by John I. Taylor in 1911. A syndicate, headed by James McAleer, bought it then. This syndicate made McAleer president. The Red Sox won a world's championship under his guidance, and were eminently successful until the world series scandal when the loyal rooters of Boston were "ripped" out of their seats and as a result, boycotted the club. McAleer was not blamed as much for this as Robert L. McRoy. The last named was an officer in the club, placed there by Ban Johnson for the alleged purpose of looking after Johnson's interests. Both McAleer and McRoy had to leave the Boston ownership and J. J. Lannin, a true sportsman, purchased the franchise. The club did exceedingly well under him and last year they won another world championship, after which Lannin decided to sell the franchise. He got hold of the franchise during the winter, he and his associates, as remarked above, paying $150,000 of the purchase price agreed upon.

A few weeks after he bought the club, he demanded a gold watch. The Boston players had each received a gold watch, valued at $50, for winning the world series. Frazee demanded a watch because he was now the owner. And after that "break" he followed with a lot more, just a continuous stream, until the patience of Johnson and the owners of other clubs is now exhausted.

"Hobby" New Manager.
Along with the various rumors concerning the Boston club is a story told by one of the star members of the Red Sox team. This player, Duffy Lewis, said yesterday that Richard Hoblitzel, the first baseman, whom Boston secured from the Cincinnati Nationals a few years ago, has already signed a contract to manage the Red Sox in 1918. Ever since Barry was appointed manager of the team, the outfit has been divided into two factions, Hoblitzel heading one and Barry the other. It is generally agreed that the Red Sox were strong enough to repeat this year, but lacked the necessary punch due to this internal dissension. Barry failed to work in accord with the owners of the club, for reasons stated, and under the conditions he did not find any harmony among those under him. Even when the Red Sox passed the White Sox this season the leading members of the team said they could not beat out Chicago. It was a demoralized aggregation.

Barry admitted to intimate friends more than a month ago that he did not expect to have his job next year, and the story that Hoblitzel has signed as manager does not come as a surprise.

PAPER PUT TO MANY USES IN OLD LAND
Paper String Used Everywhere, Paper Shoes Being Introduced

Associated Press.
London, Oct. 19.—"Paper string is being used for commercial purposes everywhere now," says a report of the Board of Trade. "Even tissue paper can be used in its manufacture. With regard to textiles, paper is being used for making sacks for commercial use in place of burlap, and these have been found to equal the former sacks in every way. Paper shoes are being manufactured on a small scale in England, the paper being used for the uppers. The material is plaited paper closely woven, somewhat similar to that used in the manufacture of paper hats. Paper fibre is also used in making a cheap grade of imitation felt hats for men."

Discussing the measures taken during the past year by Germany to deal with the growing shortage of clothing, the Board of Trade Gazette says: "Much of the clothing now worn throughout Germany, including military uniforms, is made from materials diluted in varying degrees with substitutes such as paper and cellulose, the warmth and wearing qualities of which are doubtful as compared with materials spun, woven or knitted wholly from wool and cotton."

FLOWERS BLOOM ON FIELDS OF WAR

A Variation From the Usual Stories of Devastation and Carnage

Associated Press.
London, Oct. 19.—A letter written by a young officer in the fighting line in Flanders, sent to the Times, varies the stories of devastation daily transmitted from the front. The writer said:—

"The other day we took over trenches from a well known Scottish regiment, whose reputation for making themselves comfortable was well known throughout the division, and when I went to examine my future abode I found everything up to the standard which I had anticipated. Standing on an oak table in the middle of the dug-out was a shell case filled with flowers, and these not ordinary blossoms but Madonna lilies, mignonette and roses. After having duly appreciated this most unexpected find, I enquired where the flowers had been gathered, and was told they had come from the utterly ruined village of Pampoux close by. I set out to explore. Sure enough, between piles of bricks, shell holes, dirt and every sort of debris, suddenly a rose in full bloom would smile at me and a lily would waft its delicious scent and seem to say how it had defied the destroyer and all his frightfulness.

Among innumerable shell holes there was a small patch of ground absolutely carpeted with buttercups, over which blazed bright red poppies intermixed with the bluest of cornflowers. Here was a really glorious corner, and how quickly came memories of home."

TORONTO PASSES FIRST OBJECTIVE FOR RED CROSS

With One Clear Day to Go, Workers Are Out To Break Record

MANY DOUBLED GIFTS

Lightning Convass of City to be Made by Augmented Teams To-day

Toronto, Oct. 19.—The half-million-dollar objective of the British Red Cross campaign in Toronto was reached last night, and to-day the drive will continue in the hope that last year's record of $750,000 will be left behind. At six o'clock the weary but still energetic band of workers returned their lists for the afternoon, and when everything had been tallied up the adding machine showed a grand total of $510,000. No will enthusiasm heralded the result, but a smile of satisfaction beamed on every face, satisfaction that Toronto instead of falling down was more securely "on the map."

What happened yesterday afforded another proof that the citizens when confronted with a noble cause can be relied upon to rise to an occasion. Just how much those in the inner circle realized on Wednesday evening that failure was certain if the public did not make a generous response to the last appeal will remain a secret, but this much can be said: that the fear was present and genuine. The success which attended yesterday's drive can be accounted for in many ways. Above all, there was a stern realization on the part of the people that it was up to them to turn defeat into success even if it meant doubling subscriptions already given and this happened in scores of cases. Only those engaged in the work of collection know how deep this feeling grips. In short, Toronto felt itself called upon to protect its honor in the past, and the $510,000 in the coffers of the Red Cross is the result. Another reason is that the organization was lashed into a force never before experienced. New plans of campaign were brought into play, and nothing left undone that a body of the most astute business men in the city could think of in order to gather in the dollars.

DISCHARGE DEPOT EQUAL TO DELUGE

Quebec Receives 2,000 Convalescent Soldiers in One Day; Cares for Them

Official Canada shipped the meaning of demobilization when a hospital ship, a big liner, and a train from Halifax, each loaded with discarded warriors from overseas, arrived simultaneously at the Discharge Depot of the Military Hospitals Commission last week.

There were 2,000 men, an exuberant, excited crowd which would have passed for 10,000 in the run. They flowed from the coaches and gangways in long khaki streams which threatened to engulf the great structure like an incoming tide. There were men on crutches, men in bandages, men on stretchers, but whatever their state not one but writhed happily at the touch of Canadian soil.

The business of registering this army of home-coming Tommies, feeding them and getting them away at night was a task for any organization, and the machinery of the depot moved without a hitch. "Lights out" saw every man tucked away between white sheets in the long wards, and 17 tourist's sleepers filled with the overflow.

The task of feeding the multitude was one of the most spectacular feats of the whole performance. A larder and kitchen staff which can stand up under the onslaught of such an aggregation of appetites speaks for itself, but only a short order cook or a housewife with unexpected company can fully appreciate the achievement of feeding 2,000 men in 15 minutes as they did, and served them well.

The installation of cafeteria service in the depot is largely responsible for the despatch in service. The men carry their own trays when they are able, and receive their food directly from the ice- or steam tables. Seating arrangements provide for 600 at one time.

The incoming men are released at the rate of 160 a day, before which they are meticulously bandaged and vocational histories taken. Those retained for further treatment or re-education in the hospitals and vocational training classes of the Military Hospitals Commission are directed to institutions near their homes; while men who have lost an arm or leg are sent to Toronto to be fitted with artificial members.

Every man who is able to travel alone is allowed to go home to his people for a two weeks' furlough before he enters upon further treatment.

Voghan in Fine Shape After Taking Tanlac—Has Gained 12 Pounds

"I appreciate Tanlac and recommend it because it has just about made me over into a new man," declared James H. Voghan, a valued employee of the Leggett and Platt Spring Bed Company, residing at 21 Marquette street, Windsor, recently.

"Four bottles of Tanlac have increased my weight twelve pounds," Mr. Voghan continued, "and I tell you it would make most anybody rejoice to get the wonderful relief I have. My stomach had been giving me trouble for more than six years, and although I dieted myself I still suffered. I had severe, gnawing pains after eating and was constantly belching up my food, sour and undigested. My head ached terribly and I was so nervous I couldn't hold a cup of tea steady enough to drink without spilling it. I lost weight continually, and while I tried every kind of medicine I knew of, I got in such a bad fix I lost a great deal of time from my work. For three months on a stretch I couldn't work, and when I started on Tanlac I had been out for four weeks. I just felt tired and miserable all the time.

"I read such high endorsements for Tanlac that I couldn't help believing it had merit and it certainly has proven its value in my case. I eat just any and everything I want now and never have any trouble afterwards. My nerves are calm and steady, my headaches are gone and I sleep every night like a log. I'm putting in full time at my work every day and feel as fresh and strong as I used to before my trouble began. So I have the best of reasons for praising Tanlac. I know what it has done for me and I'm glad to make this statement for the benefit of others who are needing just such a medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Brantford by Milton H. Robertson and Co., Ltd., in Paris by Apps Limited, in Montreal by A. Yeomans, in Middletown by William Peddie.

WOMEN LABOR IS UNIVERSAL THRU GERMANY

Empire in Wartime Has Become Dependent Upon Its Females

Rotterdam, Netherlands, Oct. 19.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The German Empire, to some extent, has become dependent upon women labor, declares a German correspondent of the Nieuwe Rotterdam Courant. In the hospitals, at railroad stations, in shops and in offices, even in the most responsible positions, the work is principally done by women. In even first-class restaurants girls and women have replaced the waiters. The traveller who enters a hotel encounters a porter in long skirts, who carries with his hebehests as quickly as before. Street traffic is largely in the hands of the women. Women conductors, drivers and inspectors are dressed in the uniform of their male colleagues but with skirt or bloomers.

Passengers meet with better treatment than was the case with the male staff. On the railroads women are serving in booking offices, as guards on the trains, or porters. Letters and telegrams are delivered by women and girls. Most of the few automobiles are driven by women. But the main work of women is in the factories. The skilled work has now more and more passed into their hands, as well as carrying of heavy loads. At the turning benches, at the furnaces, everywhere they are met with. Their wages at 7 or 8 marks a day are equal to men's earnings for like labor. They work in blue smock frock and bloomers with a sort of sailor's cap or cloth on their heads, with black hands and rolled-up sleeves; and in the meal hour they are more and more to be seen in the streets, even with bare legs, for stockings are a superfluous in factories, at the furnaces and such like occupations.

The results of women's work in the mining industry are termed very satisfactory. The sorting of sweepings, old iron and brass, the unloading of freight-cars, is performed by woman's hands and arms, and a newcomer, as amazed at the way in which she clambers about and lifts and shoulders loads. In agriculture, women have always supplied auxiliary labor, but now also do the heavy work like mowing, plowing and threshing.

Dress has naturally been brought into accord with the new work. On the railroads, and partly on the street cars, skirts are being replaced by bloomers and gaiters, and ribbed and feathered hat or cap or headcloth. But there is a sailor's collar for the uniform jacket, a flower in the buttonhole; the jacket is open at the neck, the cap is worn in slanting fashion, a watch-chain is fastened on the breast, a bit of lace adorns the sleeves.

HOLLAND HAS MIDAS TOUCH

Netherlands Are Obtaining More Money Than They Have Use For

The Hague, Netherlands, Oct. 19.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The position of Holland is beginning to show an uncomfortable resemblance to that of Midas, at whose touch everything turned into gold. In stead of the urgently needed goods, more and more gold, not to mention $200,000,000 worth of credit paper, has been sent to Holland by her belligerent neighbors.

This is far more than she can employ, with the result that the gold stocks of the Netherlands Bank have quadrupled since the outbreak of war amounting now to some $265,000,000. This means that the central bank's directly callable liabilities, in the form of bank notes and current account balances, are backed by gold to the extent of 77 per cent., which compares with only 17 per cent. in Germany.

"But of what use are our big gold reserves," Hollanders are beginning to ask, "if our productive capacity is being more and more reduced, ever more businesses are being brought to entire or partial standstill for lack of raw materials or coal, workmen dismissed, the supply of foodstuffs cut off, and our colonies, one of the nation's main stays, likewise hard pressed by the prevailing circumstances?"

If he need further evidence that the world has turned upside down, the Hollander may find it in the curious fact that his normally much-coveted gold is declined with thanks in Sweden, whole gold exports to Spain, are impossible on account of the obstacles in the way of shipment. The unpleasant result is that the Swedish exchange has risen. Holland's exports thither are too small to balance her imports from Sweden. Nothing would appear more logical than to pay in gold for the excess imports, but the Swedish Bank refuses to accept it.

From practically the commencement of the war the Swedish government has taken the standpoint that it wants goods paid for in goods, the population needing foodstuffs and other necessities rather than gold. Hollanders are beginning to keenly feel the strange limitation which has been placed on the powers of gold. Holland's heavy debt, which stood at $440,000,000 before the war, has nearly doubled in the past three years. The added burden amounts to date to $326,000,000. It

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat Less meat if you feel Backache or have Bladder trouble
No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing his kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood and then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

BORDEN DEFINES

It even indicates an intention to investigate the possibilities of the... (Continued from Page Seven) service "for important national purposes."

Other planks in the platform are a progressive policy of immigration and colonization, with provisions to induce settlement on the land, to encourage increased agricultural production and to aid in the development of agricultural resources, general development of Canada's varied resources, effective arrangements for demobilization of the overseas forces, for caring for the disabled and for pensions and the inclusion of the outside service within the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission.

An important announcement is that there will be two permanent committees of the Cabinet, instead of one, as was originally intimated. One of these committees will be charged with the duty of dealing with the details of war policy; the other will consider the lines of domestic policy laid down in the manifesto. The statement also makes it clear that a representative of labor will be brought into the Cabinet "forthwith."

Lines of Policy.

"1. The vigorous prosecution of the war, the maintenance of Canada's efforts by the provision of necessary reinforcements, the immediate enforcement of the Military Service Act and the most thorough co-operation with the Governments of the United Kingdom and of the other Dominions in all matters relating to the war."

"2. Civil service reform with a view to extending the principle of the present Civil Service Act to the outside service and thus to abolish patronage, to make appointments to the public service upon the sole standard of merit. The Civil Service Commission has already been directed to make a report to the Prime Minister as to the necessary steps for that purpose. Such arrangements will be subject to the existing regulations which give preference in appointments to returned soldiers who are duly qualified."

"3. Extension of the franchise to women, with suitable provisions for enabling married women to determine their nationality and to obtain naturalization, notwithstanding marriage."

"4. Adequate taxation of war profits and increased taxation of incomes, as necessitated by the continuance of the war."

"5. A strong and progressive policy of immigration and colonization, accompanied by suitable provisions to induce settlement upon the land to encourage increased agricultural production and to aid in the development of agricultural resources."

Care for Veterans

"6. Effective arrangements for demobilization, for the care and vocational training of returned soldiers, for assistance in enabling them to settle upon the land and for adequate pensions to those who have been disabled and to the dependents of those who have fallen."

"7. The development of transportation facilities, the co-operative management of the various railway systems so as to secure the widest and most effective use of existing railway facilities; the encouragement and development of the ship-building industry and the establishment of steamship lines upon both oceans and upon the coast."

"8. Co-operation with the various Provincial Governments for the improvement of highways, the investigation of the possibilities of air service for important national purposes."

"9. The reduction of public expenditure, the avoidance of waste and the encouragement of thrift."

"10. Effective measures to prevent excessive profits, to prohibit hoarding and to prevent combination for the increase of prices and thus reduce the cost of living."

Co-operation Among Farmers

"11. The encouragement of co-operation among those engaged in agricultural production, with a view to diminishing the cost of production and marketing so that the price paid to the producer may conform more closely to that paid by the consumer."

"12. The general development of all the varied resources of Canada and their conservation and utilization to the best advantage of the people with the co-operation and assistance of the State in every reasonable way for that purpose."

"13. Adequate consideration of the needs of the industrial population; the maintenance of good relations between employers and employed, and such conditions of employment as will assure suitable standards of living among the laboring classes."

"14. The policy of the Government will also aim at a truer understanding and comprehension between the various communities, both east and west, and the development of a national spirit of united effort among our people as the trustees of a great heritage."

FAKE WIRES FLOOD DISCHARGE DEPOTS

The Men Attempt To Cut Home Folks "Dying" To See Red Tape Defences

"Home casualties" keep the wires hot and the messenger boys on the run when the transports land at the eastern ports with their loads of discarded warriors, returned to Canada, unit for further service.

Picking the trumped up messages from those based upon fact is the business of the O.C. and staff, and deciding how dead a man's father is after 75 out of a hundred messages have proven fake is a test for any man's intuition.

Job for Clairvoyant

These boys have had pretty tough luck overseas, in some cases," declared Lieut.-Col. Marriott, O.C. of the Quebec Discharge Depot, "but it's nothing in comparison to the line up of troubles that greet them when they land in Canada. If you were to judge by the telegrams we receive."

"They are anxious to get home, and their people are just as anxious to have them, and the nearer they get the harder it seems to wait. In many cases we have found that the boys have sent telegrams asking their relatives to wire for them."

"Get Benefit of Doubt." "In many cases they have put it over on us, but we catch most of them. In case of death you can't be too sure even though there is a lot of dramatic talent loose in the place, for you'd rather be on the safe side and fooled, than hold a man up by the regular routine and find out too late that the wire was authentic."

"We try to get the fellows off with all the dispatch we can muster. Not a man is held over a day longer than is necessary, and once they have been here a day or so they realize that, but when they first land, all they want is to get home, and every man thinks that he is the first one who ever thought of wiring for himself."

Twenty-two members of the wrecked American steamer New Orleans have been landed in safety. One hundred cases of coal on route for lake ports have been commandeered at Akron, Ohio.

Finally, about three o'clock, nobody else being disposed to "buy," although Wes provided several good openings, the captain and the passengers made their final farewells and went aboard.

The little Tewkesbury backed out of the mud and turned her nose upstream with a heave and a snort at every stroke of the piston and a great kick-up astern. The little group on the shore adjourned again to Maroney's for something to pick them up against the flat feeling that oppresses those who are left behind.

On board the Tewkesbury, the white men gathered on the forward deck around the capstan and continued their talk.

There was Wes' Trickett and Matthews, his engineer; Joe Mixer and Pete Staley, who were taking up an outfit to Gisborne portage to start a store and Ralph. Meanwhile the half-breed crew ran the boat.

The warmth of the sun, the peace of the river, and the late potatoes at Maroney's joined to produce a lulling effect on the group. Conversation became fitful. Joe Mixer fell asleep with his back against the capstan.

The Tewkesbury was not exactly a river greyhound; six miles an hour was her rate; and since the current ran four, her net progress upstream was about two.

On the banks of the river, where the deep water ran swiftly under the bank on the wide side of the arc, it was nip and tuck between the little Tewkesbury and the river. No one on board expressed any impatience. "You got to go either forward or back," said Wes' philosophically; "and if you ain't goin' back, you're bound to arrive some time."

"Let her puff," said Pete Staley comfortably. "Tain't comin' out of our lungs."

Ralph was rarely happy. The weight of weeks of boredom was lifted from his breast. After all, life was a sporting affair. He never tired of watching the moving brown flood spotted with foam, endlessly and serenely opposing their progress, ever yielding under the vessel's fore-foot, without giving back.

From the water he lifted his eyes to the clean, pine-clad hills insolently slanting themselves in the path of the river and forcing it to go around.

The afternoon sun was lavishly sliding the southerly slopes. Overhead the sky was an inverted bowl of palest turquoise. Ralph naturally kept these poetic comparisons to himself.

Wes' Trickett, Matthews' Mixer, and Staley were a hard-headed, scornful tobacco-chewing quartet. The deck-house was a rough shanty, with a wide sliding door at each side and one in front. From where he sat near the capstan, Ralph could see Nahnya within, sitting on a box by one of the side doors, with her hands in her lap and her eyes on the river.

Her quiet and self-contained air stimulated his curiosity.

He wondered what she was thinking about. The fact that she had forbidden him to approach her on the boat kept his desire to do so, ever fresh. He cast around in his mind for some way to get around her prohibition.

She had removed the ridiculous hat to her lap, and her bare head, bound round with a thick, black braid of hair, was wholly beautiful and graceful against the light. "Where did she get that proud look from?" thought Ralph. "All she needs is a diadem and an emerald cloak."

Ralph was not the only man on board who had remarked the good-looking passenger. By and by Joe Mixer woke up and blinked at her sideways from between his thick lids. "Good-looking gal, Joe," said Pete Staley.

Joe grunted by way of affirmation. Joe Mixer was a well-known character up and down the Campbell.

THANKS

Mamma handed Linda a nice slice of bread and jelly.

"Thank you, mamma, dear," said Linda, who was a very polite little girl.

"You're entirely welcome, dear, but there's some one else we should thank," replied her mamma, and she went about her work leaving Linda thinking over what she had said.

"I have it!" exclaimed Linda, after she had eaten the bread, "mamma means the grocer!"

"Away Linda run down the street to the grocery store."

"I've come to thank you for the lovely bread you sent us," said Linda.

"So it was good!" smiled the grocer. "Then I'm sure it's the baker, for you want to see, for it was he who baked the lovely loaves."

Linda ran over the hill until she came to the bakery shop and asked if he had made the bread the grocer had sold her mamma.

"Yes, indeed," replied the jolly baker, "but if it hadn't been for the fine white flour the miller gave me, the miller I never could have baked the bread."

Linda inquired where the miller lived and when the baker told her Linda trotted down the road to the old flour mill.

The wheels were humming and the miller was very busy, but when he saw Linda's wistful eyes, he stopped the wheels and invited her inside.

"What can I do for you?" he asked, with a smile.

Linda told him she had come to thank him for making the lovely white flour the baker had put into a loaf of bread which he had sold to the grocer.

"Ho! Ho! Ho!" laughed the miller. "It is wonderful for the beautiful wheat fields giving us their grain. I never would have been able to grind such lovely flour."

"I never knew before how many people give us to thank for just a slice of bread," said Linda, and she followed the road until she came to a beautiful wheat field waving in the breeze.

"Beautiful wheat field!" exclaimed Linda. "At last I've found the lovely grain you gave to the miller."

And Linda told the wheat field how far she had come to thank for the lovely slice of bread her mamma had given her.

"Well, dear little girl," replied the wheat field, "we are certainly glad you are pleased with our golden grain. But has it never occurred to you whom you must thank for our lovely grain?"

"Linda shook her head."

"No, tell me," she cried.

"It's the great ruler who makes these over us all day after day. He makes the sunshine which gives us life. He sends the cool rains to quench our thirst and to grow our grain. He is whom you must thank for our golden grain," replied the wheat field.

Linda slowly went back home.

"Why, dear, where've you been?" asked mamma.

Linda told her all about her trip.

"But, mamma, dear, whom did the wheat field mean?" questioned Linda, with a puzzled look on her face.

"That ruler, dear, is God, the Great Power we call God," replied mamma, kissing her little girl.

Linda closed her eyes and bowed her head in silent thanks to God the Giver of all good.

build you a shack."

"I think about it," she said.

"Dominion Day there's going to be a whale of a time at the Fort," Joe went on. "Riding and firing and dancing and free eats for everybody. Like that?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, you come down to my place ahead of time, and we'll float down to the Fort on a raft."

"Thank you," she said.

Joe, overjoyed at the progress he was making, drew his box closer and laid a hand on one of her slender brown ones. Ralph, observing the move, ground his teeth angrily.

"You're all right!" said Joe unctuously. "You and me'll be good friends. I'm a liberal feller, I am. A good-lookin' gal can get what she likes out of me."

The girl drew away. "They see you outside," she said warningly.

Joe laughed thickly. "You're shy, eh? That's all right, sis. I like 'em a little bashful at first. Me and you'll have a talk later on when there ain't nobody around."

When Joe returned to the others, it was with the air of a conqueror. Ralph's eyes, fit instinctively doubled at the sight of his fat complacency, but for the present he had to content himself with picking out the spots where he would like to plant it.

"She's all right," said Joe patronizingly. "Nice little gal."

"What's her name?" Where does she live?" asked Staley.

Joe repeated what she had told him. Ralph breathed more freely. "She's lying," said Staley coolly. "I traded at Mellwraith Lake six weeks off an' on. I ought to know. She never come of Sikkanna stock; they're an under-sized people and narrow-eyed."

"Well, she's half white, maybe," said Joe.

"She never showed her face on Mellwraith Lake when I was there," said Staley. "I know them all. There's no hunter in the tribe called Scarface Jack Black. She was strimmin' you."

"I don't care," said Joe. "It don't hurt her looks any."

By RUTH CAMERON

What Would You Do It—?

I wonder if there is ever anyone however practical who does not sometimes indulge in delicious day-dreams of what he would do if some one should die and leave him some money.

Except perhaps the very rich, or do rich people find as much excitement in planning what they would do if someone left them a hundred million? I wonder.

I Never Plan on More Than Fifty Thousand.

Anyhow I am sure they cannot find half the fun in it that I do when I put off getting up in the morning for a stolen ten minutes or drift off into dreamland at night, while I plan what I would do if someone should leave me ten or twenty-five or fifty thousand dollars. Strangely enough I seldom plan on more than that. Perhaps it is foolish when I might have all I care to take out of imagination's golden store. But somehow I seem to like better to plan on the smaller sums.

Perhaps the limitations, the being obliged to select and choose, give the dreams reality.

That Painless Generosity.

Sometimes I plan my house, again my trip abroad again my charities. How generous one always is with such trifles and how one often enjoys one's own generosity and glow over it! It's so painless.

But suppose, you say, one has no rich relatives who might leave one money. Oh, that does not matter much. To be sure it adds interest to the game to have some distant relative who might by some miracle quarrel with all his natural heirs and leave you his money. But that is not at all necessary. Besides it has the drawback that when he ultimately does die and leave you not a sou marquis (what do you suppose that is, by the way) that fact intrudes itself on your future enjoyment of the game.

Did You Ever Play "Long Lost Uncle"?

No, one does not need rich relatives. All one needs is the eternal habit of hope. Anything is possible in this world. "Someone" might be a former suitor who has never married and who has cherished one's image in his heart. One reads such things in the paper every day. Or if that is impossible some undeclared suitor whose affection one never suspected. Or he may be that blessed fairy god father of one's childhood dreams, a long lost uncle. People do have long lost uncles. I really knew someone once who had an uncle whose existence he never knew of, turned up. To be sure the uncle borrowed money instead of leaving him any but what of that? That proves they do exist. And yours and mine I know will be rich and the first thing we will hear about him is when a lawyer comes to tell us that he has left us fifty thousand dollars.

Shall we start building the house of our dreams first or go abroad. Considering the present state of affairs I think it had better be the house.

CHILD'S CREEPER.

By Anabel Worthington.

The tiniest member of the family is a very busy person when he first begins to explore his little domain, and he prefers to do it on his hands and knees a garment that will stand lots of wear and tear is the most sensible choice. The one piece romper or creeper, No. 8443, is just the thing for this purpose, for it is easy to make and easy to launder. The creeper is cut with short kimono sleeves and the square neck is slashed for a short distance at centre front, so that the garment can readily be slipped on over the head. It is fastened with buttons between the knees.

The creeper pattern, No. 8443, is cut in sizes 1, 2 and 3 years. The 2 year size requires 1½ yards 30 inch material, with ¾ yard 18 inch contrasting material.

DIAMOND JUBILEE OF ST. BASIL'S CHURCH

A Brief Resume of Seventy-Five Years of Catholicity in the City—Progress Has Been Steady and Achievements Many

Red letter days for St. Basil's church and parishioners will be Wednesday and Thursday of next week, when the diamond jubilee of the parish and the fiftieth birthday of the present church will be jointly celebrated, with both religious and social recognition of the event.

Seventy-five years ago, in 1842, Father Bardou's pastored the parish and there are few Brantfordites of to-day who do not cherish fond memories of that universally respected and beloved priest, who for a period of twenty-eight years guided the church to prosperity and success. His health necessitating his resignation, he bade reluctant farewell to the vineyard where he had labored so long and faithfully, and in 1911 the present pastor, Very Rev. Dean R. E. Brady, formerly of St. Lawrence's church, assumed charge of the parish. Under his administration, three of the city's finest buildings were erected, in St. Basil's denary, on the corner of Pearl and Palace Sts., St. Basil's school and St. Joseph's convent, adjoining on Pearl St. To his energies are due two countless improvements which have been introduced into the church. His assistants are Rev. Father L. Drogorski and Rev. Father A. Catania.

Later Pastors In 1882, Father Bardou's pastored the parish and there are few Brantfordites of to-day who do not cherish fond memories of that universally respected and beloved priest, who for a period of twenty-eight years guided the church to prosperity and success. His health necessitating his resignation, he bade reluctant farewell to the vineyard where he had labored so long and faithfully, and in 1911 the present pastor, Very Rev. Dean R. E. Brady, formerly of St. Lawrence's church, assumed charge of the parish. Under his administration, three of the city's finest buildings were erected, in St. Basil's denary, on the corner of Pearl and Palace Sts., St. Basil's school and St. Joseph's convent, adjoining on Pearl St. To his energies are due two countless improvements which have been introduced into the church. His assistants are Rev. Father L. Drogorski and Rev. Father A. Catania.

The Church To-day St. Basil's church to-day, built of white brick with stone trimming and roofed with slate, is a model of the purest Gothic architecture. The church boasts one of the finest organs in Canada, the gift of Mrs. E. P. McDermott, its value being estimated at $10,000. Affiliated with the church are such societies as the League of the Sacred Heart, the Altar Society, the Ladies' Aid, and the Society of the Blessed Virgin, and of each of these much might be said. In addition is the ladies' club, an organization for social and church work, under whose auspices the bazaar is conducted each week. Catholic fraternal societies represented in the city include the Knights of Columbus, C. M. B. A., and the Catholic Order of Foresters.

VERY REV. DEAN BRADY Ever zealous and efficient, the present pastor of St. Basil's church enforces the respect and esteem of his congregation and citizens generally. Crown street the ladies of the church will open a bazaar to continue the entire week, a solemn requiem Mass will be sung, for the memory of deceased parishioners. A similar program will be observed during the two days at St. Mary's church.

Founding of the Church. For a longer period of time than the memory of most can span, St. Basil's church has been the pillar of Catholicity in Brantford, and from the earliest years of its existence its name and its congregation have been linked alike with the best interests of the city, which fosters them. A brief history of the growth of the church at such a time as the present must thus be of interest to all.

Prior to the year 1842, the church of Brantford was minus a Catholic church, and many a weary mile did the faithful settlers of that religion judge every Sunday, to hear Mass at Dundas. The need of a nearer place of worship becoming urgent, property on Crown street was acquired for the purpose, and the first Catholic church, a white frame building, erected there. In 1842 the church was formally opened, and Father Mills of Dundas assumed charge of the newly created parish.

Early Pastors His stay was but a brief one, however, and for the first eleven years of the church's existence no pastors came and went. Rev. Stephen Ferguson, Rev. James Quinlan, Rev. John O'Brien, Rev. P. O'Dwyer and Rev. J. J. Mahoney, S.J., were pastors of Father Mills in the parish, all remaining for but a brief incumbency.

In 1853 came the Rev. J. Ryan, who remained pastor of the church for a period of six years, giving place in 1859 to the Rev. A. Caravan. During these years the congregation had increased rapidly in numbers, until the original church was no longer of sufficient size to accommodate the parishioners, and the erection of a new church was undertaken, on the site of the present church. In 1869 the cornerstone was laid, and in 1872 the following year the building was completed. Seven years later, Rev. Father Donavan having succeeded Father Caravan, the church was again enlarged by almost twice its original size, and interior improvements carried out which make the
