'Somewhere in France.'

Somewhere in France the fevered day is ending. Belated wild birds in their homeward flight circle and stir the white, with sweet insistence. They voice their soft complaining to the night. Somewhere in France the warm green of her meadows. Gleams red and dark beneath the brooding stars. But what to her are blossoms time and harvest. Whose fields are sown and garnered by red Mars?

Somewhere in France the sodden trenches cover Dreams of warm vineyards basking in the sun of little children calling through the twilight. Of love, and peace and home when day is done.

Somewhere in France the silent night is nearing. Ringing no drums in those who would forget. But great and strong to find who know no rest.

For whom the sun shall no more rise and set.

Rural School Fairs.

Rural school fairs are no longer regarded as novelties; they now form a regular part of the work of the district representatives, says Gordon Farrow in the Toronto Globe. A few years ago when these fairs were in the experimental stage many of the farmers, the school trustees, and even the agricultural representatives thought that the idea was a little premature. How could mere school children hope to successfully conduct a fair when the majority of the regular ones were barely holding their own.

The ordinary country fairs, particularly this year, are losing some of their popularity. The reason for this is not hard to explain. Too many exhibitions are almost entirely devoted to horse racing. This form of sport while appealing to many, does not suit the farming community as a whole. Again, many fairs give too much encouragement to the professional prize winners—that is men or women who make collections of different prize-winning fowl, fruit, live stock, or even quilts, or who take a certain racehorse and enter it at all the different fairs in the neighborhood, the result being that the bulk of the prize money of that particular section goes to only a few men. Too many fairs encourage fancy, instead of utility breeding.

Most of the farming in Ontario is mixed. The people are interested in cows that are kept for their milking or beef qualities or both, in poultry that lay eggs or make good roasters, and in horses that work. The one on the other hand, seem to have as many classes of exhibits as possible. Though only two or three breeds of cattle may be kept in the community, you will find classes for at least half a dozen. Poultry exhibits show a surprising variety. Fancy fowl carry off more prizes than these strictly bred for utility purposes. It is not strange, then, to find fairs going back and the rural school fairs coming to the front.

Rural school fairs were established to encourage better agriculture among the children in the country schools, to teach the pupils the advantages and disadvantages of different grain and clover seeds, to show the results of better breeding of live stock and the best methods of cultivation of the soil. Have they done it? A trip to any of the school fairs would convince the most skeptical that they have. The method by which children of ten and twelve years have been taught what men of twenty are learning at agricultural colleges is very interesting.

In the spring the District Representative visits the country schools. He gives them a general agricultural talk. Children are asked what experiments they wish to carry out. Some choose a few pounds of grain, some flower seeds, and others decide to take a dozen "red lay" Barred Rock eggs. A few enterprising young farmers will train a collie or call for the fair. This year pupils have also taken up the "war-pipe" idea. For this the pupil marks off a piece of ground one rod by two rods, and plants it in potatoes. The crop is either given direct to the Patriotic Fund, or the proceeds from the sale of it are handed over. The children do all the planting, cultivating and harvesting of their plots.

Accurate reports are kept of all the work. Are the children interested? Just watch them working in their plots and you will get your answer. According to the District Representative, parents of the children state that they cannot keep the boys and girls away from their experiments.

A few days ago the writer was an interested visitor at the second annual Cannington Rural School Fair, held under the direction of District Representative R. M. Tipper and A. W. Street. The fair was held in a little park on the outskirts of the village. About 10 o'clock children and parents began to arrive. From then till 5 in the afternoon the clerk was kept busy handling the entries. The attendance by that time had reached five hundred.

The tables in the tent were soon covered with a great variety of exhibits. Nearly a hundred plates of splendid apples tempted you as you entered. In spite of the lateness of the season there was a remarkably good display of flowers. Old fashioned sewing by the girls was placed opposite their brothers' handiwork with the jack-knife. A strict watch was kept over the table of home cooking. Next to the wall on each side was a school exhibit consisting of many varieties of fruits, flowers and vegetables, arranged very attractively. An excellent display of carrots, mangels and greens was also on hand. Outside a row of chickens cooped house-some very fine birds. There was an fancy foot here. Big, healthy poultry which would be a credit to any farmer were the attraction. One had especially engaged in showing how his Angus calf could be

Perhaps the facts that impressed the stranger most were the business like way in which the children handled their exhibits and the intense interest they displayed over the results of the judging. The effect these fairs will have on these future agriculturists cannot be estimated. The stimulus alone, outside the lasting effect they will have, makes the trouble and expenses of conducting these gatherings well worth while.

Meaning of Half-Mast.

You have noticed that whenever a prominent person dies, the flags on public buildings are hoisted only half-way up. This is called "half-mast." Did you ever stop to think what connection there could be between a flag that was not properly hoisted and the death of a great man? Ever since flags were used in war it has been the custom to have the flag of the superior conquering nation above that of the inferior or vanquished. When a strong land itself hopelessly beaten it hauled its flag down far enough for the flag of the victors to be placed above it on the pole. This was a token not only of submission, but of respect. In those days, when a famous soldier died, flags were lowered out of respect to his memory. The custom long ago passed from purely military usage to public life of all kinds, the flag flying at half-mast being a sign that the dead man was worthy of universal respect. The space left above it is for the flag of the great conqueror of all—the angel of death.

Bad Cold in the Chest.

"I am happy to tell you that I used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine and was promptly cured of a very bad cold in the chest," writes Miss Josephine Gauthier, Dover, N. H., N. S. You can depend on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine to relieve and cure all inflammation and irritation of the throat and bronchial tubes.

Harmless Gossip.

"With every death a reputation dies," does not poetic license to truth, but unfortunately it has a superstructure of fact. Scandal most decent people shun, but everyone seems to have a secret hankering for "a harmless gossip."

When a group of individuals gather together all talk about people or things, and ideas is exactly in accord, along with their mental ability. Petty minds can't think beyond the affairs of the neighborhood. Little souls must look at life personally and deal in concrete conceptions in which Mr. A. and Mrs. B. and Mrs. C. figure.

Broader minded men and women are interested in events, in happenings of life about them in the larger world news. And really superior minds concern themselves with speculation, with mental experiment, with the sort of thing that has made for growth and progress and discovery. I wonder why so few of us remember that the way we interpret other people's actions has to be based on self-knowledge. If we know each in our own soul that a seemingly innocent thing would mean ignoble purpose in our own case, naturally we must conclude that it means the same in another case.

Each of us takes ourself as the standard of measurement. Each of us interprets other people's actions in terms of what we would mean if it were the same thing. Each of us must look at life through his own eyes. A little thought and every one of us will grant the truth of this statement. Then there is the thought that ought to make us all tremble at the thought of gossip. If we sincerely and suggestively comment on the se-tion of another we are only confessing that in like case we would not be acting decently and indiscreetly. So against gossip there are three great arguments: in talking about people we acknowledge ourselves too stupid to conceive of life impersonally in terms of things and ideas, we do irreparable harm to innocent people and by malicious interpretation of simple acts we confuse ourselves practically incapable of acting with simple decency.—Beatrice Frazier.

German System of Espionage.

"Je la deteste, cette vie, mais je dois la suivre." Those words, spoken by a German cavalry officer, reveal the sentiment that surrounds the greatest system of espionage that the world has ever known. His uniform bore absolutely no trace of battle, although around him one of the keenest fights in the history of the war was raging with ever increasing fury. At his feet lay the woman's garb that had just been torn from his shoulders by his British and French accusers.

He was charged with spying within the Allied lines and he made no effort to deny it. The discipline of the German army had trained him into one of the most despicable occupations that humanity has ever supported, and that same German discipline would have punished him with death and he acted in his duty.

The tragic scene was laid before the British headquarters in Ypres. For days a kindly disposed old lady had made herself the friend of rank and file alike. To the men in the trenches she had been zealously devoted. Carrying them food and drink, she never neglected an opportunity to prolong her stay until conditions demanded her departure.

But, strange to say, the enemy, lying without the walls of British and French steel, seemed to possess an unusually good knowledge of the allocation of the various units. For days it had puzzled the officers.

At last the mystery was solved. From the tower of the Hotel de Ville, one night a signal passed. A guard was immediately placed upon all exits. Shortly afterwards a human form passed swiftly out of the obscurity and solitude of the ancient pile. The guards followed. To their consternation they learned that it was none other than the old woman, the "friend" of the troops.

The scene that followed was similar to hundreds of others. The feminine garb was torn off, and before the startled gaze of the surrounding officers and men, stood a fully equipped German officer. He could not speak English, so he continued his French as he had employed it in the guise of the Belgian woman.

His story was the story of many other members of the German organization of spies—he had risked his life and all against his will, but he would die as the other spies had died. The trial was brief and the following morning at daybreak the German spy was led out to the shooting block, where he paid the penalty of his crime.

The world will never fully know and understand the completeness and cunning of the German system of espionage. It teaches out and embraces every corner of life and it has proved one of the most powerful weapons against which Great Britain and her allies have had to combat. Its history goes back to the days of the Franco-Prussian War, and from that moment, when Germany planned the conquest of the universe, her hired submarines have traversed every foot of world territory known to civilization.

Three times were the British completely surrounded by the Germans, in the retreat from Mons, but on one occasion was the situation more critical than others. It was then that the French failed to come up to the support of General French. The "contemptible little army" carried its way through the enemy's lines as it had done before, thanks to a tremendous Worn Worried Women.

HER MANY DUTIES AFFECT HER HEALTH AND OFTEN HER BREAKS DOWN COMPLETELY. It is little wonder that there are many times in a woman's life when she feels in despair. There is no nine hour day for the busy housewife. There are a hundred things about the home to keep her busy from the time she awakes until it is again bed time. What is the result? Often her nerves give way, her good looks suffer, her blood becomes thin, her digestion is disturbed and her system threatened with a complete breakdown. Every woman should do all possible to protect her health and good looks. — There is one way in which she can do this, and that is by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These actually make new, rich blood, strengthen every nerve and every organ, bring the glow of health to the cheeks and brightness to the eye. These pills have done more to make the lives of thousands of women sunshiny than anything else in the world. Mrs. Daniel Thiel, Wajetloo, Ont., says: "I was very much run down, my blood was thin and watery and I would faint at the least excitement. I suffered from headaches and dizziness, and often it seemed as though there were clouds before my eyes. Finally I was forced to go to bed with weakness. I doctored for six weeks while in bed without receiving any benefit. Finally I was induced to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and when I had taken ten boxes I was completely cured, and never felt better in my life. I am convinced that what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me they will do for others, and I warmly recommend them to all weak women."

Hunger in Berlin.

Calm and confident as is the tone of the German press, yet they do not disguise the fact that the pinch of hunger is being felt, and that many in Berlin are suffering from lack of food. Whether this is due to a shortage of supplies or to economic conditions placing many necessities of the table out of reach of the poor, it is impossible to say. But the hungry exist in Berlin, and the fugitive Rudolph points the following pathetic picture of the sufferings of the poorest: "Can nothing be done to end the pitiful spectacle of which the Berlin military depots and barracks are constantly the scene? Toward noon, day after day, a motley crowd assembles at the door of these buildings. It is composed of shamed men, women and children armed with the most grotesque receptacles. They take their stand there and wait patiently for an hour and a half, sometimes in a pelting rain, until the cookhouse sweeper appears carrying a huge tin saucepan containing an impossible medley, the leavings of the soldiers' dinner, pieces of fat meat and bone, bread, potatoes, and table scraps of all kinds. At his appearance a momentary sparkle of anticipation lights up the faded eyes and gives new energy to the poor, old bodies as they hobble forward to present their pots and pans. The younger and more robust, ever soon elbow and push them aside, with the result that the older ones go, as they come, with their hands as empty as their stomachs. Then they try again the next day until they collapse."

The Brave Man.

I like the man who faces what he must with step triumphant and a heart of cheer; Who fights the daily battle without fear, Whose his hopes fall, yet keeps unfaltering true; That God is God; that somehow, true and just, His plans work out for mortals.

—Sarah K. Bailton.

NOT ENOUGH CHILDREN

ever receive the proper balance of food to sufficiently nourish both body and brain during the growing period when nature's demands are greater than in mature life. This is shown in so many pale faces, lean bodies, frequent colds, and lack of ambition. For all such children we say with unmistakable earnestness! They need Scott's Emulsion and need it now. It possesses in concentrated form the very food elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength! It makes them sturdy and strong and active.

Report of Temperance Alliance Meeting.

A fair representation of the members were present at the meeting of the Kings County Temperance Alliance, which was held at Berwick on Friday, Nov. 19th.

Expressions respecting the progress of the principles of total abstinence for the individual and prohibition for the state were, upon the whole, encouraging. But conditions in Kings county were the subject of much unfavorable comment which was prompted by mingled feelings of regret at the impositions practised on the temperance people, and of determination to assist in bringing about a better condition of affairs.

Two resolutions relating to political action were unanimously passed. These resolutions, it was considered, would be of more or less value according as they might be backed by consistent action. The first had reference to the application of the provisions of the Nova Scotia Temperance Act to the city of Halifax as follows:

"Whereas, a strong delegation of temperance workers representing the Provincial Alliance, churches and temperance societies, recently waited upon Premier Murray urging upon the government the importance of bringing the city of Halifax under the Nova Scotia Temperance Act;

Therefore Resolved, that the Kings County Temperance Alliance respectfully urges the local government to apply the Nova Scotia Temperance Act to the city of Halifax, thereby cancelling after March 15th, 1916, the privilege now conferred on the city council of issuing licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors. Also that this Alliance hereby respectfully urges our county representatives to vote in favor of such government action."

The second resolution referred to the use of the influence of the Alliance in securing suitable representatives in parliament, and was as follows:

"Whereas, the policy of the Alliance is to refrain from placing candidates in the field, unless forced to do so by the neglect or refusal of the regular parties to nominate suitable men;

Therefore Resolved, that in the event of an election, either for the local or federal parliaments, we renew our appeal to the Liberal and Conservative associations of the county to nominate men who will represent our principles, and for whom we can conscientiously vote. In case such men are not nominated by either or both of the parties, we hold ourselves at liberty to take independent action."

The idea of having the pastors of the county use their influence towards securing such legislation as will place the city of Halifax, where so many of our soldiers are located, under the Nova Scotia Temperance Act, was suggested, and, on motion, Rev. A. W. Robbins was appointed a committee to call a conference of the pastors with this end in view.

A request was made that the secretary be asked to devote the whole of his time to the interests of Alliance work in the county, and upon his signifying his willingness to do so, he was, on motion, so appointed, with the understanding that he begin work as soon as his engagement elsewhere will permit.

Annual Public Exercises of Wolfville High School.

On Friday, Nov. 12th, this popular function occurred in the Opera House. As on former occasions of this kind, the house was filled with an expectant audience very soon after the doors were opened. The exercises were opened and interspersed with several patriotic songs, viz.—"Union and Liberty," the famous "Marseillaise Hymn," "O Canada" and "God Save Our Men," each of which was magnificently rendered by a chorus of seventy voices from High School and grades VIII, VII and VI under the leadership of Principal Ford, with Miss Gertrude Bondas at the piano. The shrill, sweet voices of the children charmed the audience with their accurate time and rhythm, tuneful melody and enthusiastically clear enunciation of words. At times they just rolled out torrents of melody.

During the first chorus—"Union and Liberty" the pupils waved "Union Jacks" high above their heads as they poured forth the stirring words:

"Up with our banner bright,
Dyed with its crimson light,
Spread its fair emblems from mountain to shore.

While through the sounding sky,
Lead rings fit nation's cry,
Union and Liberty, one evermore."

A little later the audience was thrilled with the martial strains of the "Marseillaise," the famous French national hymn.

Nine little girls from Grade V, under the direction of Miss West, gave a flower-loop drill, which was enthusiastically encored and was repeated.

A double quartette called "Come to the Wildwood" was beautifully rendered by the Misses Purdy, West, Titus and West, and Messrs. Hudson, Pick, Curry and Rand.

Principal Ford then took the chair. With him on the platform were Mayor Pitch, Rev. N. A. Harkness and Dr. I. B. Osken.

High School certificates were then presented to the thirty students who were successful in obtaining the certificates for which they wrote. The following ten were in the Grade XI or graduating class: Francis Archibald, Grace Porter, Grant Magee, Donald Grant, Robert Elderkin, Olive Wickwire, Basie Chase, Muriel Starr, Ruth Elderkin, Ora Woodman.

Prizes were then awarded as follows:

GRADE XI.

First.—Acadia College Scholarship, value $24.00, won by Mr. Francis Archibald for highest standing in class.

Second.—Five dollars, won by Miss Grace Porter, donor, A. V. Rand, Esq.

GRADE X.

First.—Three dollars, won by Pauline Parry, for highest standing in class, donor, F. J. Porter, Esq.

GRADE IX.

First.—Ten dollars, won by Miss Marjorie Wickwire. This prize was offered by Dr. W. L. Archibald, to be awarded to pupil meeting highest standing in the school.

Second.—Two dollars, won by Miss Ariene Bishop, donor, F. J. Porter, Esq.

GRADE VIII AND X as follows: To the little girls for best essays on "Why Should Wolfville Girls be Interested in Temperance?"

First prize—Five dollars, won by Miss Pauline Parry.

Second—Two dollars and a half won by Miss Ruth Morrison.

To the boys for the best essay on "The Attitude of Modern Commerce and Industry Towards Drinking of Alcoholic Beverages."

First prize—Five dollars, won by Leslie Fry.

Mayor Pitch, in a few well chosen words, remarked upon the efficiency of the school and pointed out the need of more accommodation and teachers. He was followed by Rev. N. A. Harkness who spoke of the value of the public school as an asset of any town, and complimented Wolfville on her fine public school. In earnest, thoughtful and pleasing words he emphasized the importance of the teacher's vocation in building character and providing material for future sterling citizenship. Dr. Osken heartily agreed with the remarks of the previous speaker and in the strong language of a man of wide experience in school matters, congratulated the principal upon the fine work done by his pupils; he also congratulated the pupils on their success. He called attention to the need of one more teacher, at least, for the High School, closing his remarks with a warm tribute to the memory of the late Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., the father of public education in Nova Scotia. Rev. R. F. Dixon, then, on behalf of the audience, presented the principal and his staff with a vote of thanks for the evening's entertainment. After singing the national anthem and "God Save Our Men" the exercises closed.

The instalments may be paid in full on and after the 3rd day of January, 1916, under discount at the rate of four per cent per annum. All payments are to be made to a chartered bank for the credit of the Minister of Finance. Failure to pay any instalment when due will render previous payments liable to forfeiture and the allotment to cancellation.

Applications, accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent of the amount subscribed, must be forwarded through the medium of a chartered bank. The bank will issue a provisional receipt.

This loan is authorized under Act of Parliament of Canada and both principal and interest will be a charge upon the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Forms of application may be obtained from any branch of any chartered bank in Canada, and at the office of any Assistant Receiver General in Canada.

Subscriptions must be for even hundreds of dollars. In case of partial allotments the surplus deposit will be applied towards payment of the amount due on the January instalments.

Script certificates payable to bearer will be issued, after allotment, in exchange for provisional receipts.

When the script certificates have been paid in full and payment endorsed thereon by the bank receiving the money, they may be exchanged for bonds with coupons attached, payable to bearer or registered as to principal or for fully registered bonds without coupons.

Delivery of scrip certificates and of bonds will be made through the chartered banks.

The interest on the fully registered bonds will be paid by cheque, which will be remitted by post. Interest on bonds with coupons will be paid on surrender of coupons. Both cheques and coupons will be payable free of exchange at any branch of any chartered bank in Canada.

Holders of fully registered bonds without coupons will have the right to convert into bonds with coupons, payable to bearer or registered, without payment of any fee, and holders of bonds with coupons, will have the right to convert, without fee, into fully registered bonds without coupons at any time on application in writing to the Minister of Finance.

The issue will be exempt from taxes—including any income tax—imposed in pursuance of legislation enacted by the Parliament of Canada.

The bonds with coupons will be issued in denominations of $100, $50, $1,000. Fully registered bonds without coupons will be issued in denominations of $1,000, $5,000 or any authorized multiple of $5,000.

Applications will be made in due course for the listing of the issue on the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges.

The loan will be paid at maturity at par at the office of the Minister of Finance and Receiver General at Ottawa, or at the office of the Assistant Receiver General at Halifax, St. John, Charlottetown, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary or Victoria.

The books of the loan will be kept at the Department of Finance, Ottawa.

Recognized bond and stock brokers will be allowed a commission of one-quarter of one per cent on allotments made in respect of applications which bear their stamp.

Subscription Lists will close on or before 30th November, 1915.

Let everyone reserve this (Friday) evening for attending the Boy Scouts' entertainment in the Opera House, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Come to hear a splendid program and assist the boys' cause.

FLASHLIGHTS—Best line in town at Borden's.
Will all ladies who can give even a long glove, or the long wrists of any sort of kid gloves, kindly communicate with Mrs. DeWitt, who is endeavoring to collect a "boxful" to forward to the Queen Mary's Needlework Guild, which requires them for the purpose of making soldiers' vests.

Furs are cheaper this year than usual. C. H. Borden is showing a large range of men's Fur Coats at prices that can't be beaten.
Mrs. Richmond will give a recital in Kentville Thursday evening, December 2nd, under the auspices of Mr. Newcombe. The program will take the form of a Pupil's Recital, the soloists being Mr. Morash, Mr. Pick and Misses Nelly, Hilda, Knowles, Curry, and Murray. The male quartette will be composed of Messrs. Hudson, Morash, Wilson and Pick, and the Chorus of twenty-two of her advanced pupils. Mrs. Richmond is arranging for a similar concert in Port Williams two weeks later.

Large assortment men's Fur Coats—Raccoon, Silks Beaver, Imitation Lamb, Russian Talpa, Tungara Coon, etc., at C. H. BORDEN'S.
Rev. G. W. Miller, pastor of St. Andrew's church, has received a call to his old pastorate at Clyde and Barrington. On Sunday morning last the pulpit of St. Andrew's church was occupied by Rev. Mr. Layton, of Kentville, who read the citation to the congregation and session to attend a meeting of the Halifax Presbytery on Monday next to give reasons why the translation should not be made. A meeting of the congregation was held on Monday evening for the purpose of appointing representatives to attend the meeting.

Men's Bilk, Imitation Lamb Coats! Just the coat for warmth and durability. Have a look at them at C. H. BORDEN'S.
Mr. F. J. Porter, of this town, has been receiving congratulations during the past week on his appointment to the responsible position of High Sheriff of the county of Kings. Sheriff Rochwell finding the duties of the office too heavy for him, has resigned and again taken the position of probationary, and Mr. Porter has been appointed in his place. It is understood that the latter will continue to reside in Wolfville. Sheriff Porter was certainly entitled to consideration at the hands of his party and his appointment is regarded as a most satisfactory one.

J. F. Herbin's lines of Ivory, ebony, china, brass and cut glass and silverware are larger than ever for the season.
An interesting Temperance meeting was held in the Canning Methodist church last Sunday evening. The members of the congregation who were present in Halifax at the interview of the N. S. Temperance Alliance with the Premier of the Province gave their impressions of that meeting. At the close there was an extended discussion on the present Temperance situation in the province. There was a decided unanimity in feeling in the meeting that the time was ripe for the impartial application of the N. S. Temperance Act. To secure this, influential members of the congregation will interview the Premier of the Province and local members.

If you do much driving you can't afford to be without a Fur Coat or Sheep-lined Coat. C. H. Borden is showing a big range in both of these lines. Call in and look them over.
Next Sunday morning at the Methodist church the minister will preach the sixth in the series of sermons on the Beatitudes of Jesus. The subject is, 'The Pure Heart and the Uncloaked Vision.' In the evening the minister will preach on 'The New Holy War—a Call to Arms.' A special invitation is given to young people to attend the evening service. Bright singing, good music and a friendly welcome. Beginning next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, Mrs. Armitage conducts a young people's class in the study of a splendid book entitled, 'Young People's Problems.' The course will be very helpful to young men and women, and a welcome is awaiting any who care to attend.

Personal Mention.

(Contributions to this department will be made by received.)
Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bars have closed their pretty bungalow here and have gone to Halifax to spend the winter.

Miss Edna Pickles, of Annapolis, has been visiting this week at the home of her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Williams, University avenue.

LT.-Col. Seely, who is in command of the company guarding the Radio Station at Barrington, was in town for a short time last week, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Archibald.

Mrs. Jack Kaye arrived home on Saturday after spending a pleasant month between Ottawa and the United States. While in Ottawa she was the guest of her son, Mr. Ernest Hosterman, of the firm of Allen Cochane & Co., Ltd. While in Massachusetts she visited her daughter, Miss Emma Hosterman, who is a nurse in Trinity Home, Roxbury.

Mr. W. F. Parker returned recently from a visit of some weeks to New England cities. He accompanied his son Arthur, who spent some time in a hospital on account of the injuries he sustained last summer in the motorcycle accident at Halifax. Mr. Parker also visited his son, Dr. F. G. Parker. His many Wolfville friends are glad to welcome him home again.

A Most Interesting Musical Event.
The concert given in College Hall Thursday evening, Nov. 18th, proved a rich treat for music lovers. The program was the first of three concerts to be given in connection with the history of Music Class, of Acadia Conservatory of Music, and represented the work of composers of the Seventeenth Century, Handel, Pignani, Veracini, Corelli.

Two of the Conservatory staff appeared for the first time—Miss Dora Gilbert, contralto, and Miss Madeline Bryant, violinist. Miss Bryant revealed a high standard of artistic excellence. She possesses a full, rich, smooth tone, excellent technique and true musical appreciation. Her rendering of 'La Polka' received well merited applause which was responded to in a delightful manner.

Miss Gilbert, the possessor of a voice of rare beauty, finely toned, sang superbly. Her work in 'He was despised,' from the Messiah, reached a very high level of excellence, and the audience was insistent for more. The work of Mr. McKee in the concerted numbers with Miss Bryant, and Miss Frost's work as accompanist, while not so conspicuous as the work of the soloists, was most meritorious. Not should the work of Miss Miller and Miss Starr in the Veracini Sonata be left without mention.

It was an evening of rare enjoyment which whetted the appetite for more. We congratulate the Conservatory on its fine musical contribution.

Obituary.
At Roxbury, Mass., September 27th, Mrs. Sadie Hazelwood passed away to her eternal reward. She made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Shelley Gannett, of Roxbury. In early life she united with the Methodist church at Berwick. She married young and moved away but always identified herself with the church of her choice in the place where she lived.

Her Christian life was very beautiful. She was never happier than when doing good for others. Her illness, of a long duration, was born with Christian fortitude and without complaint. She would often say 'It is well; I am going home.' 'It will be done.'
She leaves to mourn her loss two Christian children, Percy Hazelwood and Mrs. Shelley Gannett, both of Roxbury. She brought them up in the fear of the Lord.
She also leaves one sister, Mrs. (Dr.) J. W. Brown, of Wolfville, to mourn an irreparable loss.
Interred in the dead who die in the Lord.

For years I was a sufferer from Constipation and Head-ache, and I was miserable in every way. Nothing in the way of medicines seemed to help me. Then I finally tried 'Fruit-a-Tives' and the effect was splendid. After taking one box, I feel like a new person and I am deeply thankful for relief from those sickening headaches."

Her Little Boy.

Cathryn Cafe, Ottawa.

I've a little soldier near me

Getting ready for the fray,

I hear him in the nursery

Calling bugles every day.

He can make his paper bullets

Piled up ready to destroy,

But he couldn't kill a spider.

He is such a little boy.

He watches at the window

For the "Soldier-boys" to come.

And he makes the house resound

With the tap-toe of his drum.

He's the cutest thing in khaki,

With a big sword for a toy.

But he cannot go and leave me.

He is such a little boy.

Then I think of other mothers—

White-faced, stricken with despair.

Whose big sons turned to warfare,

Just as my own kiddie there.

But I must be patriotic.

So I hide my wicked joy

And thank God that my darling

Is such a little boy!

FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN

As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Dispelled Backache, Headaches and Dizziness.

Piqua, Ohio.—"I would be very grateful if I failed to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I hear a woman complain I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked with a severe case of organic weakness. I had backache, pains in my hips and over my kidneys, headache, dizziness, lassitude, had no energy, limbs ached and I was always tired. I was hardly able to do my housework. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on one other occasion, and it had helped me so I took it again, and it has built me up, until now I feel like a new woman. You have my hearty consent to use my name and testimonial in any way and I hope it will benefit suffering women."

Mrs. ORETTA TYNAN, 421 S. Wayne St., Piqua, Ohio.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Her Little Boy.

Cathryn Cafe, Ottawa.

I've a little soldier near me

Getting ready for the fray,

I hear him in the nursery

Calling bugles every day.

He can make his paper bullets

Piled up ready to destroy,

But he couldn't kill a spider.

He is such a little boy.

He watches at the window

For the "Soldier-boys" to come.

And he makes the house resound

With the tap-toe of his drum.

He's the cutest thing in khaki,

With a big sword for a toy.

But he cannot go and leave me.

He is such a little boy.

Then I think of other mothers—

White-faced, stricken with despair.

Whose big sons turned to warfare,

Just as my own kiddie there.

But I must be patriotic.

So I hide my wicked joy

And thank God that my darling

Is such a little boy!

As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Dispelled Backache, Headaches and Dizziness.

Piqua, Ohio.—"I would be very grateful if I failed to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I hear a woman complain I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked with a severe case of organic weakness. I had backache, pains in my hips and over my kidneys, headache, dizziness, lassitude, had no energy, limbs ached and I was always tired. I was hardly able to do my housework. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on one other occasion, and it had helped me so I took it again, and it has built me up, until now I feel like a new woman. You have my hearty consent to use my name and testimonial in any way and I hope it will benefit suffering women."

Mrs. ORETTA TYNAN, 421 S. Wayne St., Piqua, Ohio.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Gifts That Girls Will Enjoy

Collar and Cuff Set for Christmas

Quaker collar and cuff sets of organdy are easily made and among the most fashionable of dress accessories. They make charming Christmas gifts, and may be made at small cost.

Sheer materials, in cotton or linen, are used to make them, with hem-stitched, narrow lingerie laces or embroidery in small sprays forming the decorative features. A quaker set edged with cluny lace is shown in the picture.

Gauze Bag Holding Puff Balls

Gauze bags, made to hold individual powder puff balls, are among the popular new fads that make lovely Christmas gifts. They are made of chiffon, silk muslin or gauze, gathered over a silk-covered embroidery hoop. Hangers of light satin ribbon are fastened at each side of the hoop with a rosette.

The balls, of absorbent cotton, are finished with tiny bows of baby ribbon matching the hangers in color. As soon as used they are thrown away.

Flowered silk muslin makes pretty bags, with ribbon hangers matching the flowers in color. The little bows are sewed to the balls. The bags hang at the side of the dressing case for the convenience of guests.

Calendar and Hatpin Holder

An attractive calendar for a girl's room and a hatpin holder are shown in the picture above. The hatpin holder is merely a small pasteboard box covered with moire-ribbon with tiny brass buckles, handle and straps of a narrow ribbon. It simulates a golf bag and a hatpin imitating a golf stick goes with it.

The calendar consists of a circular piece having two small feet on opposite ends, cut from a sheet of celluloid, two small oblong openings, one long or than the other, arc cut opposite the feet.

The face of the calendar is decorated with a painted holly wreath and gilt lettering within it.

Two smaller circles swing on a pivot back of the calendar's face, with the names of the months on one and numerals from 1 to 31 on the other. The tiny pivot is concealed by the lettering.

The calendar is supported like an easel by a strip fastened on its back.

Her Vision.

She was the daughter of abject poverty. Even experience could not see that as she wandered up and down the streets of the town, desperate, impelled to go on by a force too strong for her to resist. She trod the pavement, yet loathed the necessity and hated herself for her compliance. She had only to look forward to the jail or the hospital, yet there was always the river. Had it come to that? Was there nothing else? She lifted her eyes from the stone walk as hard as the heart of the world, and found herself opposite a brightly lighted building. She leaned against the door. From within came the sound of music, the strains of a hymn, words of prayer. The light streamed from her face from the stained window. This was a church of God. Stained window, stained woman, confronting each other, in the night!

There was no God for her. There might have been once, but she had committed the unpardonable sin against society and society was God. There was no place for her anywhere, save the jail or the hospital or the river. That last was the best. She turned away. In her pathway stood a figure seen dimly in the darkness. It stood in the shadow beyond the broad light from the painted window. There was something strangely familiar about it. She glanced up at that window. Had the figure there stepped down and embodied itself vaguely on the walk before her?

The street was deserted. She had thought it not a good place in which to ply her trade! She made a step forward and stopped. What was that? Who was this? As she started the outline drew nearer. A man shrouded strangely stood before her. He was headless and in long draperies. He was insensible to the cold, it appeared, in which she shivered. She put out her hand and something folded it back upon her breast. She opened her lips and something scalded them.

As she watched the figure slowly moved. It bent forward and went slowly down on its knees on the sidewalk. The white hand began to trace strange, mysterious, unknown, incomprehensible characters upon the pavement. She watched with abated breath, some memory of another sinful woman of whom she had heard in childhood coming back to her present mind. Yes, and there behind the figure stood others, hateful and hating, very violent, passionate men.

WORRY Upsets the NERVES

Far more women than men suffer from nervous disorders. And little wonder, when you come to think of the thousand causes of worry and anxiety which come daily to the woman in the home.

Particularly to those who are nervously energetic the many demands of society, the numberless details of home life, and the exacting attention required by the children, sooner or later wear on the nervous system.

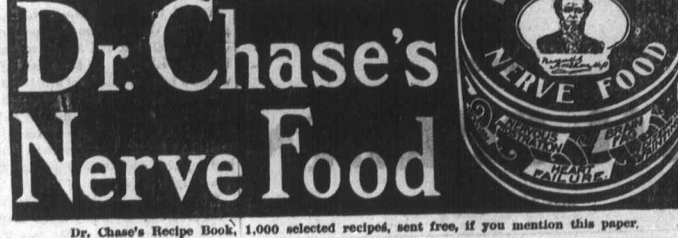

You begin to worry, and worry upsets the nerves. The more irritable the nerves become the more you worry. And thus is formed a vicious circle, and there is no end to your troubles. Since the nervous system holds in control all the functions of the body there soon arises a thousand little ills to make life a burden.

Nervous headaches, spells of indigestion, irritable temper and attacks of the blues tend to make you feel miserable. You cannot rest by day or sleep at night, and what reserve forces you have rapidly disappears.

It may not be convenient for you to get away for a change and a rest, but there is within your reach Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and there never was found a nerve restorative which could be compared to it.

Use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly and you will soon be able to take a cheerful view of life, enjoy your daily work and forget to worry. For with good health comes new energy and strength, new hope and courage, happiness and success.
