LADY IRIS' MISTAKE;

—or the—
Hero of 'Surata'

CHAPTER X.

"Twenty generations perhaps," she replied, carelessly.

"You think that they would not be gentlefolk within a shorter period than that, Lady Iris?"

"I should say not," she answered.

"You would not call the son of such a man a gentleman?" he asked, slowly.

Her reply was quick and decided.

"Oh, no! How could I?"

Then quite suddenly she remembered to whom she was speaking.

She saw him turn with mortification and pique, and she at once regretted her words.

"Why do you ask me such questions?" she said. "I am annoyed with myself for having answered you. But let me tell you that nothing of what I have said was intended to be personal to yourself."

Just as her first words had deepened, so her last words had deepened in his mind owing to the fact that she was more gracious than usual to him that day.

She simply intended by her kindness to prove to him that there had been no personal meaning in her words; while he thought that her kindness indicated love.

He determined to know his fate as soon as possible. He might have been happy for a few weeks longer had he waited; but the fierceness of his love hurried him on; he could not bear the suspense.

Marie watched him with sorrowful eyes. She saw that he was growing thinner and paler; and it was apparent to her that he was almost mad with the passion that had seized him with such relentless fury. In vain she warned and advised him.

"Do something to interest her," she would say to him. "You talk about getting into Parliament. Why not do it, and when you have made for yourself a name, then ask for her hand? It will be useless now."

"Come away from all human sounds," he answered, and she felt compelled to gratify him.

The singer could not be heard now, but the song of a nightingale rose clear and distinct.

"There are other sounds," she said, "where are you going?"

Then some faint suspicion of what he was going to say came to her. He caught hold of one of her hands, and she was too bewildered and dazed to withdraw it. He clasped it more closely.

"You must forgive me," he said; "that music has maddened me. Pardon me if I am brusque and abrupt; have pity on me if my words and actions do not please you. Here is a seat under this almond-tree. See—the blossom falls so that it touches your beautiful golden hair. Happy almond blossom! Oh, Heaven, help any man who loves a woman as I love you!"

She was carried away by his wild reckless impetuosity, and was too much surprised to interrupt him. She did not even recover herself sufficiently to take her hand from his or to push away the almond-blossom that touched her face. All that she knew in her bewilderment was that she was sitting underneath the almond tree, and that he was kneeling upon the ground at her feet with his head bent and hot passionate tears falling from his eyes like rain. She felt them drop upon her hands, and, brave as she was, she began to grow uneasy.

"I am mad," he said at last in a low broken voice—"I know it. The wind from over the mountain, the wind of fervent passionate love, has breathed into my soul and driven me mad! I have brought you here because I could bear the pain no longer. I must speak to you or die. I love you—ah, Heaven knows how I love you! Will you be my wife?"

She had no power of speech to stop the torrent of words that fell from his lips.

"I know," he continued, "that the stars up yonder are not further from me than you are. You are a gentle high born lady, while I am only a rough plebeian. But I love you devotedly. Love will make me all that I should be. Ah, believe me, there is love enough in my heart to transform me into something quite different from other men."

She was silent from sheer excess of wonder. His tears fell no longer, but his pale face was raised in the moonlight to hers. It was utterly transformed by the fervor of his love; all that was coarse or common had been blotted out by his great passion; even at that moment she was struck by its expression.

"You will ask me how dare I say this to you," he went on, "how dare I ask for your love. But my answer is that love dares anything.

Ironized Yeast Produces Remarkable Results on Blood and Complexion

Is a 'Few Days' Time

You, madam, are only one of the millions who have worked day after day struggling, working, wishing to have and to hold that precious thing, an exquisite complexion. These days of beauty-labor are over. Ironized Yeast is the one great Nature-secret of a beautiful complexion. It is not a mere mixture of yeast and iron, but is yeast ironized, which is a substance all by itself. It is Nature's perfect skin beautifier, all in one! Man has never before been able to equal it! Ironized Yeast begins to act immediately on blood, nerves, tissues and complexion. It compels skin spots, mudiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads—all beauty thieves—to vanish in their place you will notice your complexion blooming out in new beauty like a chrysalis into a vision, but a fact. Nature does it that's all we know. Start using Ironized Yeast today. Sold at all drug stores at $1.00 a package. Each package contains 60 tablets, each tablet sealed. They never lose their power. Sales Agents. You will find like budding yourself after you have used Ironized Yeast a short time. Also with the added use of your favorite cream and powder, you will own at last the exquisite complexion you have always dreamed of having. Beware of imitations.

For a Summary Completion All the Year, Take Ironized Yeast!

As they left the drawing-room and stepped out on to the lawn the words followed them, "The wind that comes from over the mountain maddens me." He would not pause to think; he must know his fate—he could wait no longer. They walked some little distance; but the sound of the sweet voice with its sad burden still followed them.

"Where are you going?" asked Lady Iris.

At another time she would have resented the tone in which he spoke, but no, her strong will subdued her for the moment. She rose without a murmur and went out with him. He trembled with emotion; his face was deadly white, his eyes glittered and his hands shook.

He crossed the room and stood suddenly by Lady Iris' side. She started almost in alarm; the exquisite stillness was broken. He could not have chosen a more inopportune time than this in which the first faint dawning of love had come to her. He made no apology—he was too deeply in earnest for that—as he bent over her.

"I must speak to you," he said. Will you come out into the moonlight? You must come!"

A DANGEROUS DRUG.

There are certain appetite-producing drugs which, as every one knows, only a person with a doctor's certificate is allowed to administer. I almost wish it were possible to forbid in the same way the administering of the heart medicine sympathy, by any but those who understand the human heart well enough to administer it wisely.

A Medicine If Wisely Administered.

For sympathy is a spiritual medicine. Administered in just the right way, at the right time, and in the right quantity it is a heart medicine of the highest order. It stimulates the tired heart, it gives courage and hope. But sympathy also has the properties of a drug in that if it is given unwisely or too often it starts an appetite. And an appetite almost as harmful to the character as the craving for drugs.

Self pity is one of the worst states of mind into which one can get. Self pity enervates character; it makes people look at life through blue glass; it breaks up homes, because if people get to pitying themselves too hard they are sure to have no pity on others. Now unwisely administered sympathy often has the effect of getting people into this self pitying state of mind.

Almost Any Home Could be Broken up.

I don't believe there are many couples so happy that they couldn't be set at loggerheads by a friend (?) who knew how to administer sympathy in just the wrong way.

Such a friend can take a contented wife and pity her because she has to work so hard, because her husband is not willing to go to dances, because she has to have her mother-in-law visit her twice a year, because her husband expects her to keep account of the money she spends and because she has to live in an unfashionable part of the town—all things that have hitherto seemed to her reasonable and justified,—work her up into such a state of self pity that she loses all sense of proportion and feels a sense of grievance toward her husband. Naturally she is going to resent that. The wedge has been entered and if the friend keeps on administering sympathy at the psychological moment she may be able to bring about serious trouble.

Careless Sympathizers Pave a Well Known Road.

I have sometimes known people who seemed to give sympathy in a deliberately mischievous spirit. They are rare, of course, but people who give sympathy carelessly are legion. They mean to be kind but they supply a good many of those well known paving stones.

Almost every human being is sympathy greedy by nature. It is a greediness one needs to control in oneself and to beware of in others.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

I DON'T WANT TO GO TO BED.

World-wide over this is said: "I don't want to go to bed."

Dads and mothers, far and near, Every night this chorus hear.

Makes no difference where they are, Here or off in Zanzibar.

In the igloos made of snow Of the fur-clad Eskimaux,

In the blistering torrid zone, This one touch of nature's known:

In life's various tongues it's said: "I don't want to go to bed!"

This has ever been the way Of the youngsters at their play.

Laughter quickly dries their tears, Trouble swiftly disappears.

Joy is everywhere about, Here and there and in and out;

Yet when night comes on they cry That so good a day should die.

And they think that they will miss Something more of precious bliss.

So shouts every curly-head: "I don't want to go to bed!"

Armistice Arranged With Kemalists.

Near East Tension Slackens Somewhat.

France Feels That Danger Point Has Been Passed --- British Press Advises Caution --- Patrick Cosgrove Murdered in a Hotel.

WILL MEET TOMORROW.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1. Turkish Nationalist authorities have agreed to an armistice conference in Mudania on Tuesday and have requested the Allies' Commissioners to appoint delegates.

ARMISTICE ARRANGED.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1. Orders for the cessation of military movements in the Chanak region in Asiatic Turkey, and for suspension of activities by Turkish irregular forces in Thrace, have been issued by Mustafa Kemal Pasha.

EREN KEUI EVACUATED.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1. The Kemalists have evacuated Eren Keui and the British now control the whole coast of the narrows from Chanak to Krabourna. The latter points to the possession of an excellent key, enabling warships to anchor in deep waters.

CONFERENCE AT MUDANIA.
PARIS, Oct. 1. An armistice conference has been called for Tuesday at Mudania where the military representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy, will meet those of the Turkish Nationalists and discuss evacuation of the neutral zones on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles, the withdrawal of the Greeks from Thrace, and the possible occupation of Thrace by the Allies. The call for the conference has been accepted by France and it is believed Great Britain will also accept it. The proposed conference has been arranged through the efforts of M. Franklin Bouillon, French Envoy, in agreement with Mustafa Kemal Pasha, who approves of the plan, and appointed Ismet Pasha to represent Turkey.

BRITISH OPINION CAUTIOUS.
LONDON, Oct. 1.

With the virtual acceptance by Kemal Pasha of a conference at Mudania on Tuesday, or as soon as possible hereafter, the whole Near East situation is considered temporarily easier. However, the fact that Turkish troops are still concentrating in the island zone, notwithstanding the fact that they have retired in the Chanak zone, would indicate, according to remarks made after the British Cabinet's 2nd meeting to-day, "Kemal is still playing a game. It is pointed out that the very basis of the conference is respect for the neutral zone, and before it begins the Turks will be expected to evacuate the Chanak zone entirely. On this point there had been quibbling until the Cabinet permitted General Harrington to send a virtual ultimatum to the Turks to clear out. Another question which may arise within the conference is the form of Government or control to be established in Thrace, pending the terms of peace. It is certain the Turks will demand that they be permitted to take over and occupy Thrace immediately, for the purpose of protecting the National interests, keeping order and preventing confusion. In some diplomatic quarters there is certain optimism over the situation, it being pointed out that the Turks are "too wise to fight," when they know they risk all by such a course.

ANOTHER FOUL MURDER.
DUBLIN, Oct. 1. Patrick Cosgrove, uncle of William Cosgrove, President of Dail Eireann, was shot and killed yesterday in a hotel here, by four armed men, who raided the place. The intruders ordered everybody to throw up their hands. Mr. Cosgrove refused, and was shot.

grappled with one of the men who shot him.

CONFERENCE PRELIMINARY.
PARIS, Oct. 1. Armistice proposals to the Allies by Mustafa Kemal Pasha, through M. Franklin Bouillon, provides that the British and Turks shall temporarily hold their present positions, without further movement, until the armistice conference, called at Mudania for Tuesday, has settled the question, says a Havas despatch from Constantinople. The despatch adds that the peace conference, if all goes well at Mudania, should be held about Oct. 15th, according to belief prevalent in Turkish quarters. In the meantime it is felt that the mudania meeting will relieve the tension.

FRANCE IS HOPEFUL.
PARIS, Oct. 1. The general feeling in Paris to-night, is that the danger point in the Near East situation is past. Withdrawal of the Turks from Eren Keui, and, as semi-official reported, also from their positions at Chanak, is accepted as proof of the Ankara Government's readiness to comply with the Allied terms. Great Britain is given credit in France with having held a dignified and firm attitude, which has greatly contributed to the solution of the difficulty. At the same time, Mustafa Kemal Pasha is praised for having shown a conciliatory attitude, which is hoped the British will not overlook as the Kemalists will have evacuated the neutral zone first. French officials are anxious that Great Britain will find the means to satisfy Turkish public opinion.

VENIZELIS WILL ACT FOR GREECE.
ATHENS, Oct. 1. Former Premier Venizelos has telegraphed the revolutionary committee here accepting the offer to represent Grecian interests abroad. He reaffirms his determination, however, not to re-enter politics at home.

QUAKER CITY STRANDED.
LONDON, Oct. 1. The steamship Quaker City is stranded on rocks half a mile south of Cruden in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, in a very bad position.

Motor Accident.
CAR CRASHED INTO POLES.

Yesterday afternoon a motor car containing four young men, met with an accident at the corner of Parade Street and LeMarchant Road as a result of careless driving. The car came over LeMarchant Road at a rapid rate, and on turning into Parade Street the hind wheels left the ground and the rear part of the car hit a pole. The impact caused the driver to lose control of the steering wheel with the result that the machine hit a second pole a few feet distant. The wind shield was smashed to pieces and the mud guards badly battered. Fortunately the occupants escaped injury.

Well Known Citizen of Rose Blanche

DIES AT NORTH SYDNEY—BODY SENT HOME BY KYLE.
The remains of the late Jonas Thomas, who died at the home of his son, Abner Thomas, Gannon Road, were taken to Newfoundland last evening by S.S. Kyle and will be laid to rest in his native place in Rose Blanche.

The deceased and his wife had been living with their son for the past year or more and Mr. Thomas, Sr., had been ill for about seven months. Disease of the heart caused death. Mr. Thomas is survived by his widow, three sons and three daughters. The sons are Abner, with whom he has been making his home here lately, Henry, of Rose Blanche, at present in Glace Bay, William in North Sydney. The daughters are Mrs. Clarke of Rose Blanche, who was present at her father's death bed; Mrs. Robert Edwards, of Rose Blanche and Mrs. Thos. Bowles, of Boston. There is also one sister, Mrs. Thomas Pink, of Rose Blanche, and two brothers of the same place, Abner and William. The latter, who is on the schooner Ada B. M., which is in port and two grandchildren from Newfoundland, Miss Maud and Mr. Epiphane, children of Henry Thomas, Jr., were present during the deceased's last hours.

A service was held at the Thomas home, Gannon Road, last evening and the remains will be interred at Rose Blanche with the rites of the Church of England.—North Sydney Herald, Sept. 27.

Wedding Bells

The R. C. Cathedral, on Tuesday, 36th inst., was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Mr. Ambrose Perks (Printer), and son of Mary and the late Henry Perks, of this city, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Bride Slaney, daughter of G. and Mary Slaney, of St. Lawrence. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Carter in the presence of a host of friends. The bride was very neatly attired in a dress of white silk crepe de chene with hat to match, and was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Donald Murray, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. James Perks. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful gold band bracelet. After the ceremony the happy young couple motored to the groom's home where the reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Perks leave by the Glencoe en route to St. Lawrence, where the honeymoon will be spent. We wish them many years of wedded bliss.—COM.

Body Brought to Town.

WILL BE SENT TO FORTUNE.
The tug Hugh D. returned to port on Saturday from Cape Race with the body of Mr. John Lake who met his death there by falling from a wireless mast. On arrival the body was taken to Collier's mortuary room, where it was embalmed and coffined. On Wednesday morning the body will be sent out to Fortune, the unfortunate man's former home for interment.

Rally Service.

GEORGE STREET A.R.C.
The rally service at the George St. Adult Bible Class will long be remembered by those who attended yesterday. The attendance was a large one. Rev. D.B. Hemmings' address was excellent and extremely interesting. Suffice it to say that those who did not attend missed a treat. The class is very much indebted to him, and wishes him a safe and pleasant voyage back home to Canada. The Pastor, Rev. R. E. Fairbairn also favoured the class with a short rally talk, which was much appreciated. Other features were a violin solo, and a vocal solo by Mr. Karl Trappell. Mr. Trappell's solo is worthy of special mention, it was wonderful. The hymns were heartily sung with old time vim, with Mr. Christian at the organ. The service was easily the best for some time, and we hope that the succeeding sessions will be of the same nature.

Susu in Port.

HAD A STORMY TRIP.
S.S. Susu, Capt. Roberts, returned to port yesterday from the Fogo Mail Service, after having encountered a very stormy round trip. The ship brought along a full freight of fish and oil and the following passengers:—Capt. Jesse Winsor, C. Atwood, J. Ferrer, W. Leslie, Constable Bennett, N. W. Gillingham, Miss E. M. Andrews, Mrs. Butler and 7 second class. The Susu sails on schedule again tomorrow.

This Morning's Fire.

ONLY SLIGHT DAMAGE DONE.
The Central and East End Fire Companies were called at 1:30 o'clock this morning to the residence of Mr. Herbert Parsons, Hayward Avenue where a blaze was in progress in an upstairs room. With the use of chemicals the fire was put out without much damage being done. Sparks from a grate igniting the woodwork underneath the thing was the cause of the outbreak.

Avoiding a Conflict.

Every effort of the European Powers appears to be devoted to ward avoiding a conflict in the Near East, but the Turks are apparently determined to precipitate hostilities, if the press dispatches of last week are to be relied upon, or are any index of the actual state of affairs existing. Too often foreign news is colored to suit financial exigencies, and the steady decline in English exchange as quoted might have been, and in all probability is the result of overdrawn pictures of Eastern conditions. Be that as it may Oriental diplomacy and intrigue are difficult to overcome, the western ideals of meum et tuum not being acceptable to the wily Turk, who is just as ruthless to-day as in the past ages when he massacred and slaughtered all and sundry that stood in his path to conquest. The "butcher of Europe" has not changed. Both his religion and upbringing forbid that. He is as ready now as ever to wade through blood to attain the domination that he once held, and in that desire perhaps he is encouraged by the millions of his Asiatic and African coreligionists. The news at the end of the past week showed that all the parties involved were but marking time, with the exception of the Kemalists, whose aggressive tactics have not been in any way curtailed. Notwithstanding ultimatums and threats of immediate war the forces of Mustafa Kemal have been all the time advancing, slowly but surely, until at length they have almost surrounded the British, who obviously will have to bear the brunt of any attacks made upon their positions, as all the other European soldiery have been withdrawn from Chanak. Kemal is insistent in his demands that the British withdraw from this position, and with true Oriental subterfuge promises that if this is done he will remove the Nationalist forces slightly from the neutral zone. Note the word slightly. That a state of war exists between Britain and Turkey cannot be doubted, though no overt act on the part of either country has yet brought on a conflict. As peace has never been included between the British and the Ottoman Empire, their relations are still governed by the terms of the 1918 armistice, which have not yet been readjusted by either party thereto. The situation, therefore, is dangerous in the highest degree, for a moment may be sufficient to kindle the spark of combat, and bring about the ever impending battle for supremacy between Christianity and Islamism. Only by walking warily in diplomatic paths will this universal struggle be averted. The Turk knows he holds most of the cards in the game, and is playing them to suit his own purpose. Whether the meeting said to have been arranged between the British Commander-in-Chief at Chanak and the Nationalist leader, Kemal Pasha, will materialize in an amicable adjustment of present questions and claims, we shall doubtless know to-day. Meanwhile it is not altogether good policy to place too much reliance upon the made to be broken promises of the unspeakable Turk.

Canadians not Opposed to N.F. Development.

The special London correspondent of the Halifax Herald, E. Monti-Zambert, cabling from the English capital on September 22 to his paper makes the following statement:—"Apropos of the Washington cable recently published here stating that Canadian financiers will oppose the Newfoundland scheme because of their jealousy over Newfoundland forestalling them in the London money market, your correspondent is informed on good authority that prominent Canadians and many others with interests in Canada—would be glad to see the British Government lending money to build up a great industry and relieve unemployment, whether in Newfoundland or Canada, where any influx of capital is welcomed. No Canadians have borrowed money in the local market for over eight years."

And so we find that all the bother was made in United States, and our e.e. of Duckworth Street fell as usual for the kite flying of American journalistic propagandists. What excuse has it to offer?

Inadvertently Omitted.

In the Belvedere Collection List, published on Saturday, the name of James J. Parker Esq., was inadvertently omitted. The sum which should stand opposite Mr. Parker's name is $100, and we make this correction to-day specially, as the donation is not included in the current list appearing in another column.

Supreme Court Opens.

THREE INDICTMENTS PRESENTED

The fall session of the Supreme Court opened this morning at 11 o'clock, and the following Grand Jury were sworn in:—Denis Galtway, Foreman; Lorenzo Moore, A. Barnes, Ed. Cahill, Wm. LeDrew, E. J. Godden, J. D. Cameron, W. Ebsary, Jas. J. Colford, J. S. Currie, Frances Milley, Robert Dawe, Fred Smallwood, J. J. St. John, Jas. Nugent, Wm. Blackler, Elijah Bishop, Samuel Eddy. The Chief Justice, after the Grand Jurymen were sworn, stated that there were three indictments for their present consideration, the first being Denis O'Brien, of Freshwater, who is charged with manslaughter, due to the death of his brother, Thomas O'Brien, which event occurred in a barn on March 26th last. The second indictment was a charge of Larceny preferred against Samuel Dawe and John Butler, in that they did break and enter the store of P. J. Fortune, Water Street, on Sept 8th, 1922. The third indictment was against Geo. W. B. Ayre, charging him with misappropriation of funds, the property of Jane Taylor to the value of $10,233. The Jury, after hearing the charges, retired to consider the evidence, and at 1 p.m. returned to Court again with a true bill in the case of Samuel Dawe and John Butler. They also found a true bill against Geo. W. B. Ayre. On motion of Mr. Summers, Deputy Minister of Justice, Dawe and Butler will be arraigned to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. Howley, K.C., moved for the arraignment of Geo. W. B. Ayre on Thursday. It was ordered accordingly. The Grand Jury will sit this afternoon to consider the Bill of Indictment against Denis O'Brien.

Police Court.

A BUSY MORNING.

A former tinsmith, who was given in charge by Adm. Fraser, S.A., for being drunk was allowed freedom, as he had been in the cells from Saturday night. Four other drunks who were arrested on Saturday night were released. A carman of Quidi Vidi, who was accused of beating his mother-in-law whilst he was drunk, was allowed to go, as there was no prosecution, and his Honor had received a letter from the complainant offering excuses for his conduct. A woman shopkeeper, who was charged on complaint of a number of people with selling hop beer, overproof, was ordered to pay costs. In the witness box she denied the accusation that drunken men were found on her premises. She explained to the Judge how she reduced the strength of her beer, but on the present charge she had not time to make the necessary dilutions of water before the police pointed on her. It being the first offence His Honor suspended sentence. John Teems, who refused to obey a summons to appear last week on a charge of fighting on the public streets, stated to the Judge that he was working hard and had not time to appear. His Honor remanded the prisoner for eight days, informing him that a charge of stealing $50 worth of groceries had been preferred against him.

Methodist Conference.

Report Will Be Presented Condemning Delay in Bringing About Church Union.

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—A report on church union, which will be laid before the quadrennial meeting of the general conference of the Methodist Church in Canada which opens here to-morrow morning, will condemn the delay in bringing about the union of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches and will express the opinion that "to substitute co-operation for organic union as the continued policy of the churches would imperil all that has been done and would break faith with hundreds of communities in which people have abandoned their old allegiance on the basis of the solemn declaration of the three bodies in favor of union."

The question of the admittance of women to the ministry will also be discussed at the conference.

Delegates have been arriving all day from different parts of Canada and 400 are expected to be present at the opening session to-morrow morning. The conference will continue about two weeks.

Two Schools of Fishermen.

Salt cod vs. fresh seems, according to the latest despatch from Halifax, to be at the bottom of the question of the eligibility of the Mayflower for the International Fishermen's Regatta. The men of Nova Scotia still engage in the saltfish trade, as did their ancestors before them for generations.

Bostonians have turned to fresh fishing in place of the old salt-fish trade. Their fortune lies in quick trips in from the Banks, whereas the Nova Scotians are in for long cruises and do the salting while at sea.

As the result speed is the prime requisite of the fresh fishermen, whereas endurance and the ability to ride out all weathers are demanded of the salt fishermen. The Nova Scotian boasts go to the Banks and remain until they have packed away and salted down their catch to the limit of their carrying capacity.

This is naturally a test of staying power. The strain on the ship is greater and the work of the crew infinitely more trying. To spend a few weeks anchored on the Banks is comparatively easy for men and boats, but when the season is long and the fish are running slow, and morning after morning the little dories are dropped over the ship's side to refill with the day's catch, and the task of cleaning the fish becomes intolerable, and it seems as if there would be no end of packing them away, then are endurance and patience demanded of the men and stanchness of the ship. The constant pitch and toss in a never quiet sea is a strain that tells in the end.

That the Nova Scotians who make the long seasonal catches look down upon the Mayflower as nothing but a fresh fisherman is very natural. If they wish to confine the regatta to salt fishermen they are well within their rights. But if, as the Mayflower's owners claim, she can do the work of the salt fishermen it is not the part of reaction to exclude her because she embodies certain new departures in rigging intended to give her speed, but which are not to the taste of the old school of Nova Scotian salt fishermen.—Ex.

Death Warrant of Secretariat.

NOTED WRITER CONDEMNS THE BRITISH CABINET'S MANIFESTO.

London, Sept. 26.—(Canadian Press)—Swift MacNeill, ex-M.P., the noted constitutional writer, in a letter to the Times, condemns the Cabinet's manifesto in anticipation of a war with Turkey as an incident without parallel in the history of cabinet government.

The manifesto was due to the existence of the cabinet secretariat, which, Mr. MacNeill says, is an institution unknown to the constitution and the sole creation of the present Premier. This unfortunate foreign policy manifesto, he adds with the Foreign Office out of the picture, ought to be the death warrant of the secretariat.

SUSPECTS UNDER ARREST.—The police have under arrest two men suspected of complicity in the robberies which occurred during Friday night, when the store of Mr. J. C. Sapp, Water Street West, was entered and goods to the value of $300 stolen.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

BACK AGAIN. MOSCOW, Oct. 2.

Premier Lenin is to resume his duties to-day, according to a definite announcement in the Premier's name. He will preside over a meeting of the commissioners to-morrow, when international matters of importance will be discussed. Lenin's last public appearance, before he was stricken with illness, was last March.

OPTIMISTIC. LONDON, Oct. 2.

A feeling of relief is evident in all British official circles this morning as a result of favorable week-end developments in the Near East situation. Authorities are hopeful that the conference between Kemalists and Allies will have good results. A similar feeling is noticed in despatches from Constantinople, where Kemalists are less threatening around the neutral zone, and additional British reinforcements inspire assurance. No results are expected from the Mundania conference until the middle of the week, and meanwhile the Government marks time with the Premier in the country, and no Cabinet meeting scheduled for to-day. Government officials reiterated to-day the complete evacuation of the neutral zone by Kemalists, as required, before parleys can begin.

DESTROYERS LEAVE. MALTA, Oct. 2.

The first British destroyer flotilla and a number of L. class submarines, with a submarine depot ship, is leaving for Constantinople to-day.

HAS L. G. RECEDED? CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2.

Great Britain's recession from the neutral zone controversy caused surprise here, and disappointment, but it is generally admitted that this step is the only thing that could have saved Kemal's hand. It is now conceded that tact and tolerance, coupled with the timely arrival of reinforcements from England, prevented the Turks from striking at Chanak. It is expected that the Mundania conference will drag on for several days, with the Kemalists bargaining and haggling over every point. The British will insist upon occupying the Asiatic banks of the Straits, even at the peril of failure of the conference, and may also contest immediately the withdrawal of the Greeks from Thrace. The inviolability of the Straits will be stoutly defended.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, Oct. 2, '22.

If you want a really good nerve and general tonic, we can offer you nothing better than a bottle of our Nutritive Hypophosphites, which is made from a well tried formula and which has in numerous cases given real benefit to the person who has given it an honest trial. It is a concentrated remedy containing no alcohol, and is economical in use and very moderate in price. Two sizes: 50c. and $1 a bottle.

Meat Merger Reported.

Chicago hears that Armour and Co., Wilson and Co. and possibly the Cudahy and Morris packing companies may figure in a giant merger. El Cudahy and Nelson Morris declare their firms are not involved. Messrs. Armour and Wilson are in the east.

BORN.

On Sept. 28th, a daughter to A. E. and Mrs. Pack, 77 Meeting Rd.

MARRIED.

On Sept. 26th, by Rev. Dr. Carter, Miss Bride Stanley, St. Lawrence, to Mr. Ambrose Perks, St. John's.

IN FOND AND LOVING MEMORY of Phoebe May Wareham, who died October 2nd, 1918, aged 20 years. Days of sadness will come over us, Tears in silence often flow; For memory keeps you ever near us, Though you died 4 years ago.

Time will pass and years roll on, Whatever be our lot; As long as life and memory last, You will never be forgot.

In our hearts we mourn the loss of her we loved so dear, What words we give to clasp her hand, her gentle voice to hear; Her loving smile and welcome voice that was so dear to us, She's resting now in heaven above in God alone we trust.

Friends may think I have forgotten, But they little know the sorrow, But they little know the sorrow, That smile hides all the while.

No pen can write, no tongue can tell, Our sad and bitter loss; But God alone has helped us well, To bear our bitter cross.

—Ever fondly remembered by mother, sisters and brothers.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mrs. John Clow, of Ferryland, wishes to thank the following:—Mrs. Thos. Costello, Mrs. Mary Ryan, Miss Beatrice Morey, Sisters of the Sacred Heart Convent for wreaths, Hons. M. P. Cashin, P. P. Moore, Mrs. and Mr. John Brothers for messages of sympathy.—adv.

Waterford Bridge and Surroundings.

FATHER RAWLINS' NEW CHURCH.
(By a Visitor.)

Saturday afternoon I left for an hour's recreation, a change from frequent attachment to a walk through the city, and as the Yankees say "I put her" for Waterford Bridge. Though the afternoon was not all that one would desire for an outing, yet I must say, that I felt on my return, well pleased with my journey. The road from the Cross Roads to Waterford Bridge, is in a good condition, and the scenery along the route is entrancing. The fields have assumed the hues of autumn, and the leaves are just beginning to show their emerald colour to the eye of the low. Passing on to my destination, which was a visit to the energetic and genial "Sogarth Aroon" of Kilbride, Rev. Father Rawlins, my heart was stirred with the musical and patriotic lines of the poet, as I viewed the rushing river, which courses its way through the valley "onto the sea". "Near Waterford River I oftentimes ramble, Which flows thru' the beautiful vale of Kilbride; And out at the 'Steady' I've oftentimes angled, And landed the trout by that fair river's side."

THE NEW CHURCH.

Having reached the fetter of my aspirations, I first became enamoured with the new church, and by the way, it is not a bit too premature, at least I do not think so, to say right here, though at present in its "infant state" that to my mind it will be, when completed, second to no other of its size in the country. Hon. W. J. Ellis is the contractor, Mr. Michael Hartley, foreman, and Mrs. Charles McCarter, Architect, three splendid specimens of the mechanical art, men who have an unsullied reputation for industry, sobriety and ability in the walk of life which Nature placed them. The church is planned on the Romanesque style. It has two towers, with a cross on each, and a cross also in the centre of the nave. The highest tower is seventy-one feet from base to apex, and the smaller tower fifty-seven feet. The length of the building is one hundred feet, and its width forty feet. The work was begun on the church on June 5th, 1922, and Father Rawlins, believes that in the early spring of 1923 the edifice will be completed.

THE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.

The good pastor has also in course of erection a beautiful school house. This building stands a short distance from the roadside, opposite the Littlefield Academy. Here in future will be taught the children of the peasantry residing at Kilbride, Topsail Road, and nearby surroundings, and who, knows, humble though it be, that within its walls may be educated some coming Solomon, to help guide the destinies of our native land.

THE OLD CHURCH.

From an historic point of view, it seems that a brief description of the dedication of the old church, at Blockmaker's Hill, which took place on Sunday, June 21st, 1823, would be of interest. Dr. Mullock, Bishop of St. John's, preached on that memorable occasion, and Dr. Dalton, Bishop of Harbor Grace, celebrated High Mass. The procession which left St. John's for the church, was composed of the members of the Benevolent Irish Mechanics and Total Abstinence Society, and No. 4 Rifle Company, in full uniform. It was accompanied by four bands, namely, College, Avalon, Total Abstinence and Rifles. Six handsomely constructed arches were placed at different sections along the line of route. The following names of priests were at the consecration, all of whom have long since passed to their eternal reward:—Father Walsh (12), Vereker, O'Donnell (2), Conway, O'Brien, O'Connor, Trogue, Duffy and Scott. The last named was the late Monsignor Scott, whom many of my readers will remember as a very learned and lovable gentleman. I wish to insert here an extract from a lecture delivered some years ago by the late Archbishop Howley, in relation to Rev. Mr. Scott. His Grace said: "Father Scott has given almost a lifetime to his adopted country; his locks are now like my own, showing some, but I remember him, when as a handsome little boy with curly locks he played David in old Bonaventure's to some gigantic Goliath from Placentia Bay."

THE NEW BRIDGE.

We are told by the poet that "a thing of beauty is a joy forever." We have no hesitation in saying that when the new Waterford Bridge is completed that all the philosophy of the hard will be befitting the bridge. The contractors, Messrs. Spratt and Phalen, are deserving of praise. Sprung from worthy sires, whose work yet remains as monuments to their art and industry, their offspring are none the less talented and industrious. Both have made a reputation since they first asserted themselves as master mechanics. It would require the knowledge of the artisan to depict the construction of the bridge. However, I will do my utmost from a novice point of view. The bridge has four radials walls, each looking towards the different roads. These walls are built of native whinstone, pointed with soldress belting or tape pointing, 1/2 of an inch in width. It is all square hammered work. The arch ribs facing the river East and West will contain concrete panels, pebbled dashed with marble. Four beautiful pilasters made of concrete, two on each side, with an iron hand rail and caps, will constitute the construction of the bridge. All those who have seen it in its present embryo condition admit when completed that it will be one of the handsomest bridges in the country.

THE OLD BRIDGE.

Road Surveyor Thomas Byrne said of the old Waterford Bridge in his report of Bridges for 1840, "This is a good stone bridge. The span of the arch is 35 feet, the height of the abutments four feet, the width of the roadway twenty feet, the parapets are nearly one hundred and ten feet long on each side of the road and two feet thick. The average height of the retaining walls and parapets is about 12 feet." The first bridge constructed at St. John's was King's Bridge. History tells us that it was built by the Ordnance Department. Job's Bridge was built in 1828.

Curious Whitsun Customs.

HOW OUR ANCESTORS CELEBRATE THE OCCASION.

It was at Whitsuntide in the old days that our forefathers tried to raise funds for the Church by the sale of Whitsun, or Church Ale. This curious custom was in the public interest may be doubted. Indeed, Stubbs, in his "Anatomy of Abuse," 1855, expresses a very strong opinion to the contrary. Writing of "The Manner of Church Ales in England," he says:—

In certain towns where drunken Bacchus bears sway against Christmas and Easter, Whitsuntide, or some other time, the church wardens of every parish, with the consent of the whole parish, provide half a score or twenty quarters of malt, whosoever they buy the church stock, and some is given them of the parish; others themselves, everyone conferring somewhat according to his ability; which malt being made into very strong ale or beer, is set for sale either in the church, or some other place assigned for the purpose. Then, when this is set afloat, well is he that can get the soonest to it, and sip it the most at it. In this kind of practice they confine six weeks, a quarter of a year, yes, half a year together. The money, they say, is to repair their churches and chapels with; to buy bibles for service; cuppes for the celebration of the sacrament; surplices for Sir John, and such other necessities. And they maintain their extraordinary charges in their parish besides.

SCRAMBLING IN CHURCH.

Another curious, but discreditable, Whitsun custom, which fell into abeyance in 1879, was the distribution of bread and cheese. The food was cut into little squares, brought in baskets to the church, and on the conclusion of the afternoon service thrown all over the sacred building, to be scrambled for. As years went by, the scramble was transferred to the churchyard, and then beyond the churchyard gates.

A curious custom survived for many years at Kingsteignton, Devon. A lamb, draped with garlands, was carted round the parish on Whit-Monday, while money was solicited from all passers-by. On Tuesday the lamb was killed and roasted whole in the middle of the village, slices of the roast meat being sold cheaply to the poor afterwards.

This custom was rooted in a local tradition. Once the neighbourhood, it is said, suffered from a drought; and when the people prayed to their gods a spring of water appeared in a field adjoining the village. As a thank-offering to the gods a lamb was sacrificed by the people.

A curious Ascension Day custom is mentioned by a correspondent writing to the Echo newspaper in May, 1879. He says:—

On Thursday (Ascension Day) the Bethesda Slate Quarries are entirely closed, not, however, out of respect to the religious character of the day, but in defence to a superstition which has lingered for many years amongst the Penryn quarrymen, that working on Ascension Day was sure to be attended with a fatality or accident of a serious character. Some six years back the management, succeeded in partly overcoming this feeling, and several of the men worked, an arrangement which was continued about

Poultry Breeding in Newfoundland.

(By W. K. Chassey, Grand Falls.)
Article I.

Before proceeding to write up market eggs, market poultry or the Poultry Industry in general, I would like to venture the opinion that as far as the commercial end of it is concerned Newfoundland has barely touched the fringe of it as a strictly business proposition. While not exactly a beginner, the writer is still in the learner's class and is keenly alive to the fact that he does not know it all. If any gentlemen who do know it all notice a few discrepancies as these articles proceed, will they please bear patiently with the writer for having reached that stage yet, and try and recollect that the whole of it is written to try and be of some aid to the beginner. Some few facts and figures follow with the specific purpose in view of proving that poultry breeding is not the nice quiet game of "old maid" that some of our jovial friends imagine it to be. As a business enterprise it calls for knowledge, experience, adaptability and of course work. If success is to be attained, if a man with average opportunities has proved a "dud" in any other line of business and turns to the poultry business hoping to prove a howling success, well, it will be another guess gone wrong. As a business it is a man's size game to tackle. Let us throw into the discard the abnormal and inflated figures and values that existed during the period of that great war, and take some figures and facts from the more normal years of 1910 to 1912. In 1912 the British Isles paid to foreigners the tidy sum of £2,394,824 for eggs alone. In the United States the Poultry Industry was known as "The Billion Dollar Industry" and out of $250,000,000 appropriated by Congress to boost the production of live stock, $148,000 was given to stimulate the production of poultry and eggs. In spite of this boost, authentic figures were produced one particular year to prove that fifty million dollars worth of eggs had been "candied" or tested out, and found unfit for human consumption and of course were condemned and destroyed. This sounds like a nice slice to be taken off any business, and as it was attributed to ignorance on the part of the majority, and perhaps carelessness on the part of a few, the Government was justified in spending money for educational purposes and making certain regulations to offset such a national loss as far as possible. On the "Yesterlaid" Commercial egg farms there are five if not more, large houses with a capacity of one thousand laying hens each. The proprietors of this plant have an incubator that if filled to the very limit would hold some two hundred thousand eggs. They put about five thousand dollars worth of eggs at a time in this machine, and get returns or around eight hundred chicks to every one thousand fertile eggs. The Buckeye incubator of 2,400 capacity was no doubt thought a fair sized machine in its earlier days; now this Company has a market for machines of 18,000 to 66,000 capacity. And a building 65 x 110 feet is necessary to house the larger machine. These large machines are of course used only by the largest Commercial Hatcheries with an enormous baby chick trade. Many poultry farmers do not bother to hatch chicks on their own premises, but buy the day old chicks from reliable hatcheries and brood them under covers on their own farms. There are numbers of large fattening stations in the United States which make a profitable business of buying live poultry from farmers and poultry breeders and fattening them for market. Their cost of doing business and their profit comes entirely between the difference in weight of the poultry when bought by them and the weight at which they put it on the market. Some have capacity for around ten thousand head of poultry at one time, and by merely adding a couple of pounds to a bird, by special feeding methods can make a good profit out of this branch of the business alone.

Leaving for Bermuda.

CARPENTERS GO BY S.S. SILVIA.

A party of 25 carpenters, selected by Major Butler of the Employment Bureau will likely be leaving by S.S. Silvia on Saturday next for Bermuda. The men will be given 12 months work, provided they prove satisfactory. This party is exclusive of the 100 men asked for by Hon. J.P. Hand, for work on the new hotel. It is likely that other than skilled labour will be needed in Bermuda and in all probability employment for good labourers and joiners will be found by Major Butler.

VICTORIA PARK CONCERT.—The last open air concert by the C. L. B. Band will be given this evening in Victoria Park. During the season, hundreds of citizens have patronized the park concerts and by so doing, have helped considerably towards the upkeep of the various brigade bands. Two years. Strange to say, there was always an accident, and Ascension Day continues to be an idle day so far as the Penryn quarrymen are concerned.

MILNARD'S LINTMENT FOR GARGET
IN COWS.The New
of Europe.*BATTLES SIKI'S TRIUMPH.

Scientists, in summing up their charts as to the people from which the new champion comes, say: "Battles Siki, it appears from records, comes of a hard-bolled tribe. The anthropologists point out the Senegal produces a minimum of civilization and a maximum of hardships. One does not survive there without having to overcome a lot of things, that would put a white man out in the first round. Battles Siki, they say, looks like the fittest of survivors. He has the arms and shoulders and chest of his comparatively recent ancestors. Above the shoulders, they admit, he has not much except a parking place for his hat, but what brain he possesses functions amazingly on what to do in a rumble. There is not a pot or a cake-eater or a statesman in his pedigree, and he has not been softened by the luxuries of so-called civilization. Hitting him on the head with a maul gets no further than to put the maul out of business."

MANY OFFERS FOR SIKI.

The new light-heavyweight champion is receiving many offers for a bout since his defeat of Georges Carpentier.

Tex Rickard, after receiving a cablegram from Hellens, expressing willingness to bring Siki to the United States after Jan. 1, cabled an offer to match the Senegalese with any prominent light-heavyweight, including Harry Greb, the United States title-holder; Gene Tunney, former champion, or Tom Gibbons, St. Paul boxer.

Rickard, however, said he had made no financial proposition to Siki and would not do so pending a reply.

In addition, Dave Driscoll, matchmaker for Ebbets Field, has cabled an offer of $100,000 for Siki to box Harry Willis, negro challenger for Dempsey's heavyweight title, on October 12th, and Thomas F. O'Rourke, matchmaker for the Republic A.C., has put in a bid of $25,000 for a contest with either Willis or Greb, preferably the latter, some time in October, at the Polo Grounds.

Meanwhile, the only indication of Siki's attitude toward any of these offers was contained in cable despatches quoting his manager as rejecting O'Rourke's terms, and demanding 1,100,000 francs, or $25,000 at the current rate of exchange, for the African's end of the purse.

A Road Through the Earth.*KEEPING THE AIR CLEAR UNDERGROUND.

The building has been started in New York of what will prove to be the greatest of all vehicular tunnels. It will pass under the Hudson River, uniting New York and New Jersey, and it will have a length of over three miles.

The Rotherhithe Tunnel, under the Thames, which cost £2,000,000, is just under a mile in length. But the problems that confronted the American engineers were entirely different. The bed of the Hudson is largely composed of silt and shifting sand, and there was the question of ventilation.

Experimenting For Health.

In order to solve the latter problem an experimental tunnel was built. It was 400ft. long and a duplicate of the one now being bored. It was lined with an array of very sensitive instruments in order to test the temperature, humidity, and air pressure set up by the types of motor vehicles that will use the subterranean roadway.

All petrol-driven vehicles give off a certain amount of poisonous fumes. In order to find their effect upon the human system in a confined area, samples were taken of the drivers' blood before and after each test. As a result of these experiments it was discovered that it will be essential to change the air in the tunnel thirty-two times in the hour, and this will be effected by means of sixty-five electrically driven fans.

The tunnel will consist of a double roadway, laid 50ft. below the bed of the river, each 20ft. wide, with a two-foot pathway for policing purposes. It is expected that three and a half years will be spent on the work, and that the cost will be over £5,000,000.

Wisp of Wisdom.

The best cure for hard luck is hard work.

An ounce of caution is worth a ton of regret.

If you try you may; if you don't, you won't.

Conscience warns us as a friend before punishing us as a judge.

Keep your face to the sun and the shadows will fall behind.

The man who never made a mistake never made anything.

Tell not trial and error companions with out the gleam of hope that makes them beautiful.

To breathe is not to live. To live is to think, to plan, to dare, to do, to achieve, and do it all with charity in your heart.

The Miracle of Nor Glands.

Inside half a dozen little glands, the whole of which you could easily slip into your waistcoat pocket, there are hidden the springs of your character and personality (writes our Medical Correspondent).

Modern science is able to show that we are largely the creatures of our secretions, the products of those ductless glands of which the well known thyroid may be taken as the type.

Everybody has heard of the magical results achieved by the administration of thyroid to orphans, those so-called "human plants" met with, so often in the Swiss valleys, who neither smile, cough, nor laugh, but sit like sphinxes, warped in body and mind, breathing, but not showing any appreciation whatever of their surroundings.

Living to the age of twenty or more without any indication of what we call mind, the cretin may yet at that age, by the administration of thyroid extract, be transformed into a rational being, able to recognize the people around him, and enjoy the limited life that is his lot. Soul and body seem to be made anew.

Nevertheless withdrawal of the treatment by thyroid is followed almost at once by a return to his former state of merely vegetative existence.

On the other hand a person may suffer in quite a different way because he has a thyroid gland that produces an excessive quantity of secretion. In that case, the patient, who usually happens to be a woman, develops what is called (after its discoverer) Graves' disease, and most prominent symptoms of which are an enlarged thyroid gland, protuberant eyeballs, and abnormal mentality.

Then there is another ductless gland, the adrenal, found above the other end of the kidney on either side of the spine. This causes, amongst others, the disease known as pellagra, often followed by a well-marked and frequently fatal form of insanity. In this case degeneration of the gland which is the prime cause of the disease is due to the absence of an essential vitamin from the victim's food.

Again, excess of the secretion of the pituitary gland (just underneath the brain) produces an arrested, childish condition of the body, and sometimes dullness of mind, which can be greatly improved by feeding with pituitary extract.

The adrenal gland is powerfully affected by the emotions. It promptly responds to such feelings as rage and fear by at once pouring the blood into the muscles of the lungs, filling them with quickly available ammunition in the form of sugar, so that their owner is ready either to fight or seek safety in flight. At the same moment the blood is prepared so that it will clot rapidly should bloodshed take place.

The Silent Messages. There, then, we find mind and body in active co-operation. As an authority on the subject has very aptly put it, mind and body are like husband and wife, they never can decide which is master. But in the large majority of cases they manage to pull together just the same.

These glands we are considering are as has just been noted in the case of the adrenal, very much under the influence of the emotions, and one or other can be obviously stimulated or retarded in the pouring out of its secretions by the various thoughts, sensations, and desires that come into our mind.

It is of course through the nervous system controlling these glands that messages to stimulate or sound their action are sent by ourselves. And as these secretions have a very powerful influence on our health, it is not difficult to understand why self-suggestion should be able to influence one's health to the extent that is claimed for it.

East person lives best who does his best for one day at a time, and then refreshes himself for his level best the next day.

Young people frequently reply on affected manners to win admiration and praise, but most of us are quick to discern affectation of any kind and have a contempt for it. Give up affectation—be natural.

The Wood Harvest.*DYE USED BY ANCIENT BRITONS.

Wood, with which the ancient Britons used to stain themselves, is grown in that part of Lincolnshire which abounds with dykes and windmills, and along the borders of Cambridgeshire. If allowed to go to seed the wood often grows to three and four feet in height and has a pretty yellow flower.

The first crop of tender green shoots is picked in July or August, and during the harvest men and women are to be seen creeping along the fields on their hands and knees all day long.

The shoots are put into large wicker baskets and sent to a factory, of which there are three or four in that part of the country. When they are five they are squashed into pulp and allowed to ferment. Later they are made into balls and dried.

These balls remain drying for several weeks and are then broken into pieces and stirred for a lengthy period. Eventually they produce a coarse powder-like substance, deep blue in colour. Lastly, the powder is dampened, stored in vats, and sold to dyers and manufacturers of woollens and other articles of apparel.

The enduring blue of the policeman's uniform is obtained from wood and though it is an expensive dye at the outset it is the cheapest in the long run.

Chemists have tried hard to fathom this secret of nature, but without success; and it is doubtful if the industry would continue to exist but for the official desire to procure uniforms that are durable and of fast color.

"Georgious George"
Not Satisfied.*STILL DISPUTING THE DECISION.

Paris, Sept. 26.—The controversy over the dramatic finish of the Carpentier-Siki fight continues, and the former's manager, Descamps, persists in his appeals to the boxing federation for a reversal of the judges' decision awarding the championship to the Senegalese. Many of those who have seen the motion picture films of the contest maintain that Carpentier was clearly tripped by his opponent.

Victor Breyer, one of the judges, is one of those taking this view, but expresses the belief that such a foul by Siki could not have affected the outcome, as Carpentier was already a beaten man.

Some of the newspaper experts say it is possible the Federation may yet award the bout to Carpentier. In any case Descamps is set upon having another meeting between his protegee and Siki as soon as possible.

Georges now bears few marks of the beating he suffered, but his physicians are keeping him in bed because of his sprained ankle and fractured right hand. He broke the hand on Siki's skull.

"He has a hard head, that negro," said Georges. "I was wrong in trying to get him by those hooks to the jaw."

The majority of French sportsmen say Carpentier should retire, but only after a final match in which to re-establish his reputation as a brilliant fighter.

Georges himself is not considering retiring and scoffs at statements that he is planning a stage career.

The New Novel

By James Oliver Curwood. Never has Mr. Curwood written a more virile, gripping or swiftly moving story than "The Country Beyond," in which he tells of the love of Jolly Roger, the outlaw, for Nada the "foster-girl" of Jed Hawkins and of their enforced separation through the tracking down of Jolly Roger by Cassidy of the Royal North West Mounted Police. "The Country Beyond" which is packed with thrills is one of the most spacious and fascinating stories that has yet come from the pen of this brilliant writer. Price $1.50.

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review.)
Codfish—The exports of dried codfish this week totalled $4,577 quintals as follows.

From Outports—By schr. Gerda, W. J. Moores, Valleyfield, 3000 quintals to Alliance; by schr. Alice Roberts, from L. Cheeseman and Son, Burin, 1250 qts. to Halifax; by schr. Ingrid, from Nfld. Labrador Export Company, 2700 qts. to Oporto; by schr. Lief from Elliott and Co., Change Is, 3,500 quintals to Malaga; by schr. Helen, Valr from G. A. Buffett, Grand Bank, 2150 quintals to Halifax; by schr. Cavalier from Farquhar and Co., Salmonier 1387 quintals to Halifax; by schr. Bessie L. Lake from S. Piercey, Grand Bank 769 quintals to Halifax; and by schr. Arlette from Strong and Murrell, Little Bay, 2694 quintals to Gibraltar for orders.

From St. John's—By S.S. Sachem to Liverpool from Messrs. Tracy, G. M. Barr, A. E. Hickman Co., Harvey & Co., A. H. Murray, Bowring Bros., R. F. Goodridge, Jas. Ryan, Job Bros., T. Hallett and the Newfoundland Atlantic Fisheries. By S.S. Digby to Demarara, and 300 quintals via Halifax from James Baird. By S.S. Silvia to New York for transshipment to West Indies, 4203 quintals from Messrs. A. E. Hickman Co., Ltd., James Ryan, Kemp and Son, C. F. Bennett, R. F. Goodridge, Bowring Bros. and P. Templeman.

Codfish—The export of codfish this week amounted to 22,232 quintals. The S.S. Sachem took 12,000 quintals to Liverpool from the Union Trading Co., and 2520 from A. H. Murray, also to Liverpool. S.S. Silvia took 3197 quintals from Esbary & Co., 6240 quintals from the Franklin Agencies and 425 quintals from Job Bros. Limited to New York. By S.S. Manos, Job Bros. sent 2901 quintals to Montreal. The local price is somewhat weaker than last week and holds from $110 to $112 per ton.

Cod Liver Oil—There is no doubt that Cod Liver Oil is attracting the attention of the scientific world to a greater degree than it has ever done in the past. What the outcome of all these investigations will be it is difficult to predict. One fact, however, seems to be clearly established viz., that codliver oil as a medicine has exceptional merit. The next is that the prejudice that so many people had against taking this oil is not nearly so great as in former years. This is the result of the good work of our refiners in turning out an improved grade of oil. It is now regarded as a pleasant food instead of an obnoxious and disagreeable medicine. Judging from the improvement in prices in foreign oil journals we can't help believing that the visit of Dr. Silva to Newfoundland has frightened the Norwegians and they are trying to unload at any price.

Lobsters—The foreign demand has fallen off with a consequent weakening in price in the local market. There are some lobsters still in the hands of packers, but it is doubtful if they will at any time within the next six months do as well as they could have done in August and up to the middle of September. The shipments since last issue amount to 125 cases. Over two-thirds of the catch has been shipped to market.

Flour—The excitement in the wheat market, consequent on the war rumors seems to be subsiding, and the total advance of eight cents a bushel is being gradually wiped out in retro-active movements, and now that peace in the Near East is in sight it is expected that the market will soon be back to the old level again. Chicago September wheat was 104 on Thursday and Winnipeg 97. The local flour quotations are $8.75 for good brands, and is expected to decline further when new wheat comes to move more freely to the Mills from the West. The imports since last week were 5320 barrels and 500 sacks.

Pork—The price of Fat and S.C. Clear declined from $29 to $28.75 per barrel in the local market this week. Other grades, however, remain unchanged, viz., Ham Butt $32; Grocers Family Meat $33, and Spare Ribs $24. The large total quantity of hogs to come into the market in packing centres within the next three months would indicate that prices will be forced to lower levels. The Sable I brought in 155 barrels this week and the S.S. Silvia 54.

Beef—N. Y. Boneless advanced twenty-five cents during the week from the low point prevailing for about a month. Other grades, however, show some weakness as indicated by recent declining in various grades of Family Beef. The local quotations are to-day: Box, Flank $21.50; Extra Family $21; Family Special $17.75; Chicago Boneless $16.25, New York Boneless $17. The imports this week were 700 barrels by S.S. Sachem and 405 by Silvia.

Molasses—A moderate business in molasses is reported this week at Barbados, where offers have been made at lower prices than prevailed early in September. The schooner Annie L. Warren is now due to leave Barbados with a part cargo for St. John's, which will probably be the last for the season—The local quotations are 75 to 80 cents a gallon for Fancy, and 70 to 74 for Choice whole-sale.

Sugar—The New York market is easier in Raw and Refined. Second hands are shading the prices, but retailers are keeping it up to $7.25 per 100 lbs for granulated. The local prices are the same as last week. The imports since last week were 250 barrels and 900 sacks by the S.S. Silvia. St. John's wholesale price is $11.20 per 100 lbs. in barrels, a decline of 25 cents per 100 lbs from last week.

Potatoes—At the present time potatoes in Canada are selling lower than for many years. In fact in many cases the farmers are barely getting their costs at the low quotations ruling, viz., $1.40 to $1.50 for Cobblers, and $2.25 to $2.35 for Long Island, 105 lb. sacks. The P.E.I. quotation is not yet announced for export. The local crop harvesting began this week and reports generally are good. The price has declined to $3 per barrel.

Oats—The oats market is now steady and firm at Montreal. No. 3 Canadian Western are quoted at 54 and a half to 55 cents a bushel for car lots on the track, and No. 2 at 51 to 52 and a half. White Ontario oats are 45 to 46 and a half for No. 3. The S.S. Manos brought in 1120 sacks of 4 bushels each last trip to this port.

The local price is $16 per sack for Mixed and $17 for White. Local importers are now placing their orders for Fall requirements.

Apples—The S.S. Rosalind brought in over 1000 barrels this week from Halifax. The market is easier and Gravensteins are selling in the local market for $5.50 per barrel. Domestic are $5.25, and No. 3 $5.00.

Hay—Liberal supplies are now coming forward from the farmers of Western Canada to Montreal, who have a big crop to work off. They are anxious to sell as much as possible before "burning" for the winter, and car lot sales have been made at Montreal this week as low as $16.50 for No. 2 Timothy. The S.S. Manos brought 378 bales to St. John's last trip. The local price is now $34 to $36 per ton for baled hay according to quality.

The "Tax on Knowledge" Removed.

The repeal of the Paper Duty, voted on October 2, 1861, was the first step towards the development of the power of the Press which, for good or evil, has been the salient feature of the history of the last half-century.

The Paper Duty was established in 1604. All makers had to take out a £2 license, and make a sworn declaration, not only of their business and private addresses, stores, etc., but of the quantity and kind of paper made. This latter declaration had to be repeated every six weeks. There were £50 fined for neglecting to declare and for removing or concealing paper for delay in payment of duty, for resisting Crown officers (Excise-men), etc.

The duty varied from a penny to sixpence per pound, according to class of paper, but averaged about twopenny halfpenny. In 1836 Mr. Spring Rice proposed a uniform duty of 1½d. per pound. Mr. Gladstone brought forward his resolutions for the removal of "taxes on knowledge" in 1860; the Government majority in the House of Commons on that occasion was a narrow one—fifteen votes.

The penny newspaper dated from the repeal of the Paper Duty; the halfpenny sheet followed in due course. Voltaire's process for making mechanical pulp (i.e., for preparing paper from wood, now currently used for newspaper, instead of rags, etc.) was patented in England in 1860, and the manufacturing and political revolution in the paper trade thus went hand in hand.

STAR OF THE SEA ASSOCIATION.—A Special Meeting of the Star of the Sea Association will be held on Monday night at 8 o'clock. Important matters relating to the rules of Association will be discussed. Members of the Society are expected to make a special effort to attend this meeting. By order, WM. F. GRAHAM, Sec'y.—sept10, 21

Have You Seen the JEWETT CAR? THE JEWETT IS PAIGE BUILT.

The new Jewett is of Paige conception, designed and built by Paige engineers and mechanics in the Paige shops. From its Paige origin the Jewett inherits those unmistakable marks of Quality, characterizing the work of a group of men, who for ten years past, have been building the fine six-cylinder cars, bearing the Paige monogram.

Let us demonstrate to you its remarkable power and quality—5 passenger touring—$2200; Sedan $2850.

Oh! It's fine to get up in morning,
When the sun begins to shine,
At four, or five, or six o'clock,
In the good old Summer Time.
But when the snow is snowing,
And outside the north winds blow;
Oh! It's grand to get up in the morning
Of the WESTINGHOUSE COSY GLOW.
