The form that this will take has been seen in outline for some time and is likely to result in the logical promopresent cabinet to more responsible positions, with a later move to follow in the course of a year or so. According to the expectations of those in touch with government affairs, Hon. J. J. Foy will go to the senate at Ottawa. The portfolio of attorneygeneral will then be taken by Hon, W. J. Hanna, who in turn will be succeeded as provincial secretary by Hon. L. B. Lucas. There will then be two positions for the government to fill with new men, viz.: the offices of attorney-general and provincial treasurer. Sir James Whitney is expected to stay at the helm of state for at least a year, and according to the condition of his health and the vigor of his constitution at present, he will of a British subject in constitutionalist lead his administration for a much longer time. Should this arrangement, which is understood to be at present gaining the serious consideration of the premier, come to pass, it is likely that a strong man with distinct financial bected to a courtmartial at Zacatecas treasury. The Eligibles. Speculation still centres about the likely choice of the government. According to cabinet experience the eligibles would narrow down to Sir Adam Beck, R. F. Preston and Col. Hendrie. It is understood, however, that none of these are particularly desirous of the responsibility. Moreover, the eastern and western extremities of the province are claiming a right to new cabinet representation and are proposing possible men. It would not be altogether improbable if a man of financial standing in Western Ontario should find a seat at the council board, and that the public works department would be placed under the control of a minister chosen from the eastern counties.

A BEAUTIFUL NEW FLOWER.

A beautiful new flower has been evolved by a resident of California, who has succeeded in budding a rose to a blackberry bush. Following the budding, the bush grew rapidly and here profusely, and the new flower it white, with irregular leaves shooting out from the centre very much like the bloom of a carnation. The foliage and stems retain the characteristics of the blackberry. In spite of the many crosses made by botanists, they have resulted in the creation of relatively few new fruits for consumption.

Big Crowds Gathered at Fores ters' Hall to See Floral Show Staged by Toronto Horti cultural Society-Rose Classes Attracted Many Compe titors.

Flower-growers of the Toronto Horticultural Sciety who had part in the display at Foresters' Hall last evening had their reward in the unprecedented number who filled the hall, crowding the alies and galleries, surfering themselves to be crushed and crowded, and many, after having made the rounds of the beautiful exhibits, seating themselves upstairs, being loth to leave the abode of so much loveliness.

What the society is doing in an educational way was evidenced from the ingrease in variety of bloom of many species, and in endless and matchless have and shade. Other evidence was given by the intelligent inspection and comments seen and heard on every hand. May of the visitors spoke of the exhibits with the kowledge of science and the terretarness of the lover of the beautiful. Pride was shown by the passerby who, in his outspoken praise, was giving but justice to the industry and method that mad produced the fine collection.

All the exhibitors were not competing. Among those who robbed their gardens, fust for the purpose of giving encouragement, is Miss Blacknock, who showed great white pasenies—Dessert's, all the way from France—columbines of the most delicate varieties; larkspur and other favorites. Sir E. B. Osler had a display of choice vegetables, as well as flowers, the tomatoes, cauliflower and radishes looking quite tempting. The large, firm textured strawberries shown by R. B. Canadian Press Despatch.

PEKING, July 3.—Manchuria and eleven of the eighteen provinces forming China proper are declared to be free of opium, and the British Government, satisfied that this declaration is correct, has agreed that, according to a previous arrangement, no Indian opium hereafter shall be permitted to enter these provinces. The success of the anti-opium campaign in China is conspicuous, considering the government's inability or lack of serious effort to terminate brigandage and other evils.

OTTAWA, July 3.—Geo. Lyon of Lambton and Bryce Evans of the Country Club, Wav-eriey, Mass., were the winners today in the semi-finals at the championship tournament of the Royal Canadian Golf Association. Both the matches went 36 holes, and were played in magnificent summer weather.

After being one down at the turn, George Lyon came back to his game in the afternoon and beat Fritz Martin by 4 and 3. Of the last 14 holes, Lyon won 9, lost 3 and halved 2. He for the eighth time. Martin did splendid work in the morning, but the latter stages saw him go to pieces. In the morning he took the 12th with a 30-foot putt.

Bryce Evans of Boston defeated T. B. Reith, Beaconsheld, by 1 up after two extra holes had been played. Evans, whose wonderful driving has carried him thru, was 3 up at the half, and he increased it to 6.; Then he grew careless, and Reith, by a magnificent uphill game, managed to win the 13th and square the game for the first time. The 37th was halved in five the Evans again outdrove his opponent, reaching the green in three, while Reith took five. At the next, Reith hooked his tee shot into the rough, while Evans skied his iron drive and lay dead on the green in one. Reith recovered with his second, and, after missing a three, left Evans almost stymie, but the Boston player showed remarkable nerve and reached the tie-up after a 10-foot putt, his ball just grazing that of Reith.

Principal of St. Mark's Hall of Theology Speaks of Western Problems.

Once more the dignified halls of old Trinity have echoed the plaudits of her sons, when yesterday afternoon at a special convocation, the degree of doctor of divinity was conferred, honoris causae, on the Very Rev. Charles Pressley Smith, M.A., dean of Charles Pressley Smith, M.A., dean of Argyll and Isles of Cumbrae, and rector of Oban, Scotland, and on Rev. Charles Allen Seager, M.A., one of her former graduates, and principal of St. Mark's Hall of Theology, Vancouver, R.C.

Promptly at 4.30 the academic pro ession slowly wended its way to the dais and platform, where Provost Macklem presided. Chancellor-elect Dr. J.-J. Worrell in introducing Dean Smith for the honor to be conferred upon him speke of the distinction and upon him, spoke of the distinction and honors which had already been given the distinguished cleric since his graduation from the University of Aberdeen, from which university also the revered founder of Trinity College, Bishop Strachan, had himself graduated. His lordship, Bishop Sweeny, then introduced Rev. Mr. Seager, of whom he spoke in the most glowing terms. glowing terms, commenting especially on the very excellent parochial work

He then recalled the gradual development of the new Vancouver, with which he is connected in the capacity of principal. Mr. Seager urged the need for men and funds to carry on the work of the boundless west, and mentioned many ways in which work is needed there.

We need to be reminded that color charms the eye and tempers the social atmosphere as well. Green and white has the effect of a cooling breeze no matter where mercury is soaring, Once upon a time none would use green coloring in food because they feared arsenic poisoning, but some very good coloring and flavoring extracts are now found on the market to carry out this and similar color schemes.

If a day is dull and cheerless and out of season, yellow brightens things wonderfully and inspires hostess and friends. Whenever possible carry out color decoration with flowers. For pink use carnations and roses and for a graceful effect, sweet peas.

A rainbow luncheen gives opportunity to use all the flowers available, but not altogether. Have small tables and arrange each one in a different color. Even the ices may match the special hues.

When decorating you must consider your rooms and ff certain colors make impossible combinations with your wall paper do not attempt to use them. Much can be done in this case by shading the lights. Inverted domes that throw the lights teilingward, and give a soft reflected glow below, help greatly.

Take no thought as to what you shall eat or drink until you have found out what you are to wear. Often have well-meaning women been cast into depths of chagrin by remembering at the last second their gown for a pink tea was magenta red.

As it has been proven millions of times that simplest things please most try always to keep your decorations seasonable. In springtime the wildflowers are the loveliest things in the world and the early springtime foods are more deficious than anything imported. In the fall, autumn leaves and autumn fruits satisfy us as only nature's bounty can. Why then, try for the unnatural and the hard to attain? Common sense and a little experience soon enables one who so wills to dispense hospitality gracefully. It has never been so, for Shakspere told one of his beroines who had this beautiful habit of making things comfortable and attractive:

"She little recks she finds the way to heaven By doing deeds of hospitality." And away back in Numbers iv., 7, we read: "And on the table they pread a cloth of blue, and put thereon the dishes, and the spoons, and the wls and the covers to cover withal." If, after all that, there have come down to us no hard and fast rule

Roses In Canada

The main trouble with many gar-deners who ardently desire roses is the fact that they have not the courage of their desires. ### Eugenics

Some day we are going to wake up in this country and decide that it is worth while to be well born; that to live a decent life ourselves and give a decent heritage to our children is far Some of us already are having the fact borne upon us, and we are beginning to hear more and more about a science called "eugenics." What is eugenics: some ask. It is, perhaps, best told in the story of one man: He was born in England in Queen

Elizabeth's time. He was a clergyman and he lived an upright life. So did his wife.

His son came to America and be-came an honorable merchant. His son, in turn, became a merchant, up-right and honored. His son became minister. This learned man had son who also became a minister. In 1900 this one family, started by man in England who lived an upright life and gave that heritage to hisc hildren, produced:

1394 descendants of this man hav een traced and identified; 295 were callege graduates; 205 were college graduates; 13 were college presidents; 65 were professors; 60 were physicians;

108 were clergymer 101 were lawyers; 30 were judges; 1 was vice-president of the United

75 were army and navy officers; 60 were prominent authors; 16 were railroad and steamship pre sidents.

And in the entire record not one has ever been convicted of a crime. It seems to pay; this living along upright lines and handling a clean life down one's children, doesn't it? And that is why we should more and more take keener interest in eugenics.

How to Make a Real Wrinkle Remover

In these days of cleverly advertised "beautifiers" of 57 varieties and more, it is hard for a woman to believe she can make a simple home remedy for those hateful marks of age, worry and illness, which will do her more good and cost her much less than the average made preparation. There's nothing in the world so effective for removing or preventing wrinkles, crowsfeet and creases as a solution made by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch nazel. Every druggist has the ingredients.

Use this harmless mixture daily as a refreshing lotion, bathing the face in it two or three minutes at a time. The quick and satisfactory results will surprise you. Even the first application produces wonderful improvement. The wrinkles are less in evidence, and the face has a firm, "solid," comfortable feeling.

It was the residence of the late Sir Daniel Dixon, who was lord mayor of Belfast for many years, and who sat in parliament for a short time as member for the City of Belfast.

And no wonder. The Viennese boys are tired of so many things. They're tired of the government. They're tired of home. They're tired of school. And they're tired of mothers—and, most of all they are absolutely deter-mined to get rid of fathers—once and

They've organized clubs all over Vienna and the clubs have grown and grown till every boy in Vienna Culture Club. The other day the clubs applied to the government to make themselves legal, and to found a magazine. A copy of the proposed statutes was laid before the Home Office and the Board of Education. That's Statute No. 1 calmly provided for the abolition—the complete and total abolition of the home. Statute No. 2 declared for the abolition of the school, and Statute No. 3 enjoined the members of the club to put pressure on their parents to obtain flats for themselves.

Other items on the program were: Suggestions invited for an up-to-date substitute for the home, and for school, and, most of all, for parents. And nobody in the whole kingdom of Austria even smiled. Now the government

I'd be delighted at the club. I'd praise him for joining it. I'd tell him that I'd been awfully worried about him for a long time, he seemed so dependent and so helpless. But now I could see that he really was a man—

What One Mother Did.

I'd tell film that he wasn't a bit more tired of me than I was of him. And I'd just pack little brother's trunk so fast that it would make him dizzy to look at me. I'd wish him God speed and good luck and good-by and I'd sing so that he could hear me when he went down the steps.

I wonder where little brother would go—I wonder what he would do?

Wouldn't it be interesting to watch him?

A woman I know did that once with a little boy I know. The little boy had been out finding the ball for the big boys and he felt very masculine, and very independent. He called his mother into his room for a good

"I'm too old. I'm too big and too smart to be ruled by a woman any more," said the little boy, standing with his feet very far apart and looking terrifyingly deflant. "I'm going to be my own boss, I'm going to picy with the Ruggles kids. I'm not going to wash my face unless I want to, and I shan't change my clothes just for a little teensy tear. I'm not going to school unless I feel like it, and if I want two pieces of pie at the table I'm

"Little Boy," said the woman I know, as soon as she could manage her voice, "Little Boy, you'll have to give me time to think a minute—this is all so new to me. Come back in five minutes and I'll tell you what I'm ng to do."
"All right," said the little boy in a spirit of great fair play. When the glad you've told me all this, Little Boy," said the woman I know. I think it's every bit true. Of course, if you are too old, and too smart, and too big, to be bossed by a woman any more, you can't think of letting a woman support you any longer. So I'll just pack your things, and give you an extra dollar for luck-you have two or three dollars in your little bank, you know—and we'll part the very best of friends. Only one thing you must promise me, and you must do that because you are big and strong and brave, and I am little and weak and sometimes my heart trembles—if you are sick or in trouble you must promise to send for me."

And the Dittle Boy promised. He got out his little trunk and he helped to pack it—he hesitated a while about a certain suit.

"I wouldn't put that in," said the woman I know, kindly. 'Of course, I'm only just advising as a friend; they're your own clothes and this is your own affair—but you'll be poor now, you know, and you won't need such a suit as that. I'd take thick, warm underclothes instead."

When the Little Boy packed his mother's picture, and a little card with kittens on it, the woman I know had to go out of the room a minute. But she came back again presently and was very smiling—and very helpful. And the Little Boy locked his little trunk, and took his bank in his hand, and put on his hat and started down the steps. At the foot of the steps he turned on the very last step.

"Have I got to go?" said the little boy, and his voice shook and in another instant he was in his mother's arms-just a sorry little boy againand the battle was won-for always.

I wonder if the government of Austria wouldn't be just a little bit the better for a nice little visit with the woman I know. I do actually believe that she might be able to tell them something about the way to manage a boy. I wonder if she could.

Useful Hints for the Housewife By Ann Marie Lloyd

SALADS have an essential place in the summer dietary. They contain valuable mineral salts which are important for the cooling and cleansing of the blood, as well as to counteract the affect of too much meat eating.

The nutritious value of the salad depends upon its component parts. Naturally one finde of eggs would be of more food value than one of lettuce.

Fresh vegetables are easily obtained at this season and are pleasingly inexpensive, so the vegetable's salad has an economic reason for existence.

Housekeepers should realize that to be perfect a salad must look "good enough to eat." It has great possibilities as a table adornment. The household departments of the shops are well stocked with fancy cutters of various forms, which add to the attractiveness of the vegetable salad. Plain potator saiad sarnished with little stars of beets and circles of hard boiled eggs may be made delightfully ornamental.

Salad vegetables must be cold and crisp. Gil must be of the best quality. Lemon juice is a commendable substitute for vinegar.

To have served on her table a juicy, tender ham, whose delicate pink slices seem to literally melt in one's mouth, is the aim of every good housekeeper, yet few realize that the cooking of the ham has almost as much to do with this desirable result as the quality of the ham itself.

Almost all hams are greatly improved by being soaked over night. First wash the ham thoroly with cold water, using a small scrubbing brush; then lay it in an oval graniteware kettle, cover with cold water and add one white onion, stuck with whole cloves, two bay leaves, three stalks of chopped celery, a blade of mace and two broken sticks of cinnamon.

Allow it to stand in the water with the vegetables and spices over night and in the morning set the kettle over a very moderate fire, so that the water may heat gradually.

and in the morning set the kettle over a very moderate fire, so that the water may heat gradually. It should not reach the boiling point for at least two hours. Skim carefully and simmer gently, allowing 15 minutes for each pound of ham, from the time it begins to simmer. Let it cool in the spiced liquor in which it has been cooked. When cold remove from the water and take off the rind without cutting the fat. Brush, the fat over with beaten egg, sprinkle thickly with dried bread crumbs and place in a quick eyen for about 15 minutes to form a crisp brown crust. Serve on a large platter garnished with parsley. If the ham is to be served hot, it is removed from the water when cooked and after the rind has been removed, it is covered with egg and crumbs and browned immediately. Serve it surrounded with a border of vegetable flowers and tiny potato balls that have been sprinkled with chopped parsley.

Aid in Doing Cross-stitching

A cross-stitch pattern can be worked in any position without regard to the threads of the material. This is done by basting a piece of cross-stitch canvas on the goods and then taking the stitches over the threads of the canvas. These threads are removed after the motif is completed, leaving the cross-stitch design on the material.

motif is completed, leaving the cross-stitch design on the material.

By the use of canvas, a Fosebud motif could readily be applied to the round neck of a child's dress. Baste the canvas at regular intervals around the neck line, so that they will radiate in the right direction and work the motifs over the pieces of canvas.

PONGEE PARASOLS. To carry with simple morning frocks pongee parasols, with borders three or four inches deep of celored satin, are appropriate. These are mostly made with natural wood handles, sometimes with enameled ones. PUFFY OMELET.

If you want a particularly puffy omelet beat the whites and the yolks of the eggs separately just as you do for a cake. Add the milk and sait to the yokes and then whip in the stiff whites of the egg and turn into a well greased frying pan. Cook over a moderate fire until the omelet is well set. Turn one half over the other with a cake turner and serve garnished with parsley. One egg with one tablespoonful of milk for each person makes a good portion. The new method of factory construction has very greatly increased the amount of daylight allowed the workers. Modern office buildings are now as full of windows as sieves are of holes, and the whole world appears to be learning that the sun was placed in the eternal skies for more general use than was once supposed necessary or safe.

However, before the glass house of the future becomes a reality, human nature will have to go thru a process of evolution. Suppressive measures will have to be applied to that large and agile section of humanity which has a penchant for throwing stones. Otherwise we would be too prone to ascribe the frequent sound of shattering glass to other reputations going to smash.

A GREAT IMPERIALIST.

Few British statesman of modern times have achieved so great a hold on Chamberlain, whose passing recalls a lifetime of public service. Perhaps he can be ranked, in that respect only with Gladstone, to whom he was often compared, altho their careers were neither parallel nor sympathetic. The older statesman, starting life as the rising hope of the Tories, ended as the pioneer and apostle of the later public life as a Radical of the Radicals. gradually drifted into close alliance with the aristocracy he denounced as those who toiled not, neither did they

He resigned office eight years later and left it, what it has since remained, the office of widest and most fruitful endeavor. Whatever be the verdict passed on his share in the political controversies of his time, his work as an imperial statesman will ring thru the corridors of time.

The National Municipal League has ust issued from Philadelphia a pamphlet dealing with the commission plan of government and the commissionnanager plan. before the end of the month; a third that a number of Liberals wish Hon. George Graham, now editor of Sir Hugh Graham's Liberal paper in Montreal, to come back to Toronto as leader of the provincial opposition. Mr. Arthur Hawkes writes a letter to The Globe of yesterday suggesting that Mr. Rowell find a place in Dominion politics and that he take the leadership of a new movement in that field.

The report that Sir Adam Beck is to withdraw from the Whitney government lacks confirmation, nor does it seem to jibe with the statement that Hon. Mr. Rogers is to forthwith take over the Canadian high commissionership at London. That Mr. Rogers has the call for the place is generally admitted and is freely asserted by his closest personal and political friends at Ottawa. But how is Mr. Rogers to be spared, if we are to have the Dominion elections this October? Perhaps, after all the Borden government has no intention of going to the country for another year of two, and meanwhile Mr. Rogers is to realize his ambition. Then as to the rumor that Hon. George Graham is to resume the leadership of the Ontario opposition to which we may refer later on. It must be remembered that as yet netther the resignation nor the deposition of Mr. Rowell has been suggested, unless that suggestion is to be found in the letter of Mr. Hawkes, already referred to.

After commenting somewhat de-ressingly upon the economic condi-ions in Canada, and suggesting that hey are likely to become worse, Mr. lawkes complained that Sir Robert Hawkes complained that Sir Robert Borden and his government have made no effort to relieve the situation except by holding out elusive promises of an immediate return of good times. Our crowded cities, the duplication of railways, the enormous expansion of the past few years, all require that a careful study be made of the social and economic conditions, and we read:

Immediately after coming into office Mr. Borden's government sent a commissioner thru the country to master the fundamentals of the immigration problem, which is the fundamental of our prosperity. His report was full of precisely the warnings that are renewed today. Those warnings were personally pressed on the premier and have been frequently repeated to him.

But even as late as the opening of the late session Sir Robert Borden assured parliament that in a few months the former prosperity would come back. He was rehearsing what had been said by the finance minister: who has had every opportunity of knowing better. For constructive, courageous vision we must look for leadership in Ontario, which should also lead Canada. Surely Mr. Rowell has a unique chance without waiting for anything or anybody.

The Manitoba elections to be held.

The Manitoba elections to be held next Friday grow interesting as the determined and outspoken hostility of the Orange Order to the return of the Roblin Government becomes every day more manifest. The fight is being ied by the Orange Sentinei which seems to be voicing the views of the Grand Lodge of British North Amer-ica and of the Grand Master of Man-

Grand Lodge of British North America and of the Grand Master of Manitoba.

The subject matter in dispute is the amendment to the Manitoba school law (the Laurier-Greenway settlement) made by the legislature in 1912 known as the Coldwell amendments. Mr. Coldwell, it may be explained in passing, is minister of education in the Roblin Government and is a prominent member of the Orange Order. The amendments were passed without much discussion altho they were recognized as intended to please the Roman Catholic element. Their efficacy in that direction was tested in the federal by election in Macdonald in 1912, and the French Catholic vote undoubtedly went with the Conservative party. Archbishop Langevin of St. Bonitace described the new law as an anodyne, which by no means settled the Manitoba school question.

The dispute now on concerns itself less with the actual law than with its administration and the possibilities which may ite concealed in its phrase-ology. Indeed the statute itself seems almost unintelligible at this distance, the main provision being:

"The word school wherever it occurs in this act, shall mean and include any and every school building, school room or department in a school building owned by a public school district, presided over by a teacher or teachers; it shall be the duty of every public school board in this province to provide school accommodation according to the requirements of the public schools act when so requested by ments and were told that the amendments were necessary in order to enable the public school board of Winnipeg to take over and operate the private Roman Catholic schools of that city, containing several thousand children. Some little delay was asked by these members who thought they could have the Winnipeg school board deal with the situation, without amendments being made to the school act. Just what reply Mt. Coldwell made is a matter of dispute, but a day or two later the amendments were put thru the legislature without division. Subsequently, as we understand it, the Roman Catholic schools in Winnipeg became public schools in Winnipeg became public schools aitho attended exclusively by Roman Catholic children. The teaching, it seems, is still being done by the Christian Brothers and the Sisters because we find in The Sentinel complaints of teachers in religious garb appearing in public schools and religious emblems being displayed in the school rooms. It is not claimed that the Coldwell amendments provide for separate schools, as we have them in Ontario, in theory and in practice, but separate schools in practice as they exist in some parts of the maritime provinces.

The position of the Roblin government was stated by the premier in his speech at Dominion City. When the Grand Lodge of Manitoba recently asked for the repeal of the Coldwell amendments they were referred to this speech by the attorney-general. The essential statement in it reads:

his speech by the attorney-general The essential statement in it reads:

"Myself, the government, the legislature, the Grand Orange Lodge of this province, have all declared in an official way that it would be in the public interests if the public school board would take over the 4000 Roman Catholic children in Winnipeg under the Public Schools Act, and thus secure for them the benefits of our splendid educational system. The Coldwell amendments, of which we hear so much, and over which some people are anxious to create dissension among our people, at least a part of them, were intended to assist the board to that end. The particular clause that was supposed to assist them was that the school act of 1890, with the amendments of 1897, clearly stated that under certain conditions where there are a certain number of children of Catholic or non-Catholic parents, the parents or guardians may petition for a Catholic or non-Catholic teacher, the teacher thus engaged shall teach the children of the petitioners, whether they be non-Catholic or Catholic. That is all there is in the Cold-well amendments; nothice viewing the Manitoba situation adversely to the Roblin government, but with considerable restraint. From it we quote the following somewhat cryptic passage, which would indicate that, in the opinion of the writer, certain commitments. Certain commitments were made by Messrs. Roblin and Rogers in their uphili fight of 1911:

At the session of the legislature in 1912, for some reason not yet clearly explained, the government decided that certain amendments were necessary to the Manitoba school law, known as the Laurier-Greenway settlement. The peculiar fact here is, that altho this act had been in force for fifteen years, twelve of which the present government was in power, no amendments or changes were deemed necessary until the very first session of the house after there had been a change in the political party in power at Ottawa. All at once amendments were found to be necessary, and those amendments were not asked for by amendments were not asked for by the Orangemen, the Protestants, or the great majority of the peo-ple of this province. Who asked for them? Governments are hu-man; they do not usually go hunt-ing for trouble, and they do not throw such contentious questions into the political arena unless pressure is brought to bear from some quarter. Where did it come from? The answer is not far to seek.

Now, if we may revert for a moment to Ontario. Mr. Rowell left immediately after the election for a trip to Maine and no one is authorised to speak for him. But it may be said with confidence that he has no desire with confidence that he has no desire to remain as leader of the opposition unless his retention be demanded by the entire party. He would not of course sacrifice his own views on the temperance question to mere expediency, but among those near him there is a general disposition to regard the people as having definitely pronounced against, the banish-the-bar policy, and that the judgment must be accepted. This will not, however, prevent Mr. Rowell or his party from demanding advanced legislation with prohibition as the ultimate goal in view.

Mr. Rowell, it is stated, has no in tention of entering federal politics, altho Sir Wilfrid Laurier is anxious to have him do so. Hon. G. P. Graham, it is said, may retire altogether from politics and, should he do so, the demand for Mr. Rowell to become firs lieutenant and the representative of Ontario at Ottawa might become insistent to be ignored.

The boys resented this and expressed their views on the matter in the presence of Mr. Pyatt in such a way that he went to one of the boys' parents and demanded an apology. Then came the fight, and within a minute Mr. Pyatt found himself on the floor and the bunch on the top of him. The next door neighbor came and stopped the row, but not before damage to the extent of $10.25 had been done to Mr. Pyatt's property and unstated damage done to his face.

Toronto Sculler Defeated in Semi-Final by Italian-Harvard Wins From Winnipeg -American Crews to Fight It Out.

HENLEY-ON-THAMES. July 3.—All doubt as to the destination of the Grand Challenge Cup this year wis dispelled to-day, when the Union Boat Club of Boston defeated Mayence Rowing Club, and Harvard second eight beat Winnipeg in the semi-final round.

The prediction of Robert K. Herrick, the American coach, has thus come true, and the two American crews will row up the course here tomorrow in the final for the edification of English oarsmen.

Both American combinations did the distance of 1 mile 550 yards in the fast time of 7 minutes flat, which had been beaten only on three previous occasions. Their performances, therefore, gave promise of a great race tomorrow, altho the Englishmen prefer Harvard's style and condition to that of Boston.

Smallpox is on th wane in Ontario. So persistent has been the campaign waged against this scourge by the board of health thru local officers and the use of pamphlets that in corresponding months in the years 1913-14 the number of cases has been cut in two. One reason why some of Mr. Chamberiain's critics have complained that he sprang surprises on the country, and others have charged him with sheer want of principle, is that they did not realize how absolutely independent he always was of any they did not realize how absolutely independent he always was of any school of political theory. Thus, in his early days, he acted with the Radicals because they were bent on destroying institutions which he regarded as mischievous in practice, and he flouted the official Liberalism of the day because it would not take part in the crusade he was preaching. A few years later he was found working in partnership with the very men whom he had previously denounced, because in the meantime they had adopted several articles in his program.

VERDICT OF MURDER CARETAKER ACCUSED

Canadian Press Despatch, MONTREAL, July 3.—A verdict of murder was returned this morning by the coroner's jury against Rickard, who was caretaker at the Chateau Tait, which was mysteriously razed to the ground by fire early in January.

The recent finding of the body of an unknown man in the ruins of the destroyed chateau renewed interest in the sudden disappearance of Rickard ac companion, who is said to have been with him in the Tait residence at the time of its destruction.

A warrant will be issued for the arrest of Rickard, who, so far, has eluded the police and detectives.

TORONTO stocks moved along a narrow groove yesterday. The market was very quiet. It was not influenced by a better tone prevailing both in New York and in London.

A few issues showed strength. Brazilian was in this class. Others closed at a lower price than the opening. Bonds were neglected altogether. Brazilian opened at 77. After selling at an advance of 1-8 it rose to 1-2. The close was lower at 1-4. Barcelona on the other hand closed weaker at 23 1-2. This was a loss of 3-8. These two issues should have responded to the better news from abroad.

Maple Leaf preferred held firm at 90 to 91. Steamships sold at 70. Canadian General Electric was down to 98. A small lot changed hands at the price. Bread sold at 30 1-2. Steel of Canada preferred brought 70. Six bank stocks were dealt in. The prices did not vary much from former quotations.

The performance was conducted for the benefit of Willis Williams, representative of St. Paul, Minn., papers. The drillers are greatly excited, believing that the well is gradually "bringing herself in," as they call it, by reason of the tremendous gas pressure in the oil sands.

The wet gas produces an average of five gallons of the highest grade gasoline to one thousand cubic feet of gas. The Dingman wells produce about 2,000,000 cubic feet of this wet gas every twenty-four hours. It is said that the officers and stockholders of the company have an immense fortune within their grasp.

Monarch Strike Expected.

"I am expecting a strike at any moment." said Geologist Dunn of the Monarch Oil Company. He speaks from a thoro knowledge of the district around the Monarch holdings. Drilling has been going on at rapid pace, as much as five feet an hour being recorded.

AGAIN FEARED

Anxiety Caused Firmer Tone in Wheat Quotations at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Disquiet regardg chances of black rust damage in ing chances of black rust damage in the next 48 hours gave the control of the wheat market most of the time today to the bulls. The close was steady at a range varying from 3-8c off to 1-4c up, compared with last night. Corn suffered a net decline of 7-8c to 1c, and oats a loss of 1-8c to 1-4c. Pork finished 10c to 20c down, but otherwise provisions showed a gain of 2½c to 10c.

Profit-taking on the part of early buyers had considerable to do with taking some of the edge off the wheat market in the trading near theiend of the session. There were also emphatic denials of yesterday's reports that the dreaded black variety of rust had appeared at Wilmot, S.D. In addition, despatches from the Atlantic seaboard asserted that export bids were out of line, and there were signs that the movement of the new winter crop would assume larger proportions next week.

Auspicious reports on the progress of growth, especially in Illinois pulled support out from under the corn market. ket.
Oats sagged with corn, but hedging pressure was lessened, and shipping demand brisk.
Unloading by longs brought about a setback in pork. Ribs led the rest of provisions in a fair advance.

The total freight movement of 8.588.081 tons is 2,595,582 tons below the total for June, 1913. In practically every article of freight, except flour, eastbound, and hard coal, westbound, shipments fall short of the totals for June of last year.

shipments fall short of the totals for June of last year.

Vessel passages for the month were 2805, with a registered net tonnage of 6,665,134, as compared with 3413 vessels with 8,640,442 tonnage last year.

During the month nearly twice as many vessels passed thru the American locks as were sent thru the Canadian canal, but the volume of freight handled thru the Canadian waterway was 720,029 tons greater than shipments for the minute of the subsidiary company.

A subsidiary of the Maple Leaf Milling Co., the Hedley Shaw Milling Co., has been formed to take over the business of the former at Medicine Hat, Alberta. It has a capital of $1,000,000 and an authorized bond issue of $250,000. Rumors of new financing have been current regarding the Maple Leaf Co., but it is apparent that the only issue will be that of the subsidiary company.
