THE WORLD WILL STILL PRINT THE NEWS

The World has cleaned up on The Telegram: chased it out of the city hall, where it had been a discredited, but persistent boss of everyone; substituted progressive policy and a greater Toronto for Wee York and little ideas; and finally helped Mayor Hocken to get up to the people the question of the recovery of the street railway

The Telegram's men in the departments, its own special controllers (his-master's-voice kind) are out of business. Making deals with men to help them into the greater offices of the city if they will swear to work out Telegram's policy is now a lost art. Only one of The Telegram dealers of this kind is left and he will have to cut the connection. The Telegram does not now own the city hall.

Baffled and beaten The Telegram can only rage against The World and seek to misrepresent W. F. Maclean as a member of parliament. It blames him for everything bad at Ottawa. It sent a few resolutions and a fakir into a couple of meetings in South York. Because The World reports as well as it can what the Liberals say they'll do with the navy bill in the senate and the supply bill, The World is, according to The Telegram, egging the Grits on to raise a rebellion! And a lot of other matter out of a sore head.

The Telegram denies freedom of any kind to anyone it hates and abuses everyone that it can't answer. Hence its declining influence. It would be a joke if it were not mad.

have been found with energy enough to make the motion. On the other hand, history tells us On the other hand, history tells us that the hearty M.P.'s of the past have frequently defied the Ottawa summer at its worst. In 1903 the Grand Trunk Pacific bill kept parliament in session all summer and well into October; in 1905 and 1908 the house struggied with the autonomy bills and the Manitoba election its respectively until the dog days of mid July. So it will not do to assume that all the courage of the opposition will ooze out with the coming of the heated term. Indeed the angry passions of men are apt to be most violent when the rays of the sun are flercest. July is the month in which has occurred nearly every great revolution; in all large cities the police force is doubled in summer because crimes of violence are so much more common. We are not anticipating anything very violent not anticipating anything very violent from the opposition in parliament and certainly nothing which savors of crime or revolution; our point is that the hot weather, which at first makes our political warriors so languid and inert, may eventually excite them to defiance and battle. defiance and battle.

A Quiet Finish.

Those who crowded the galleries of the house on Wednesday night anticipating dramatic scenes and resistance, even unto the shedding of blood, upon the passage of the closure resolution must have accounted the time they spent as an evening all but wasted. The division was taken almost without incident after several hours of uninteresting debate. One wetsern Liberal member, who is not English, but may have celebrated St. George's Day by dining a trifle too well, kept shouting "cowards" as the vote proceeded, indignantly rejecting advice volunteered to him from the government side that he go soak his head and go to sleep. A few Liberals shouted "shame" when the prime minster rose to vote, but this demonstration was quite overcome by the volley of cheers which greated Mr. Borden from the government benches. The analysis of the fresult was reacted.

the one-sided debate upon the closure resolution, came nearer to getting under the skin of the government than anyone else. He was shrewd enough to see that it was folly to accuse the present prime minister of being ruthless or tyrannical. He intimated rather that the weakness of the Borden Government was its quality of indecision. To quote:

One might be pretty sure about this government, so far as I have any experience of them, that if they have three possible roads they will always choose the worst, and they have done so in this case. The reason why they have taken this particular course is not far to seek. I think Burke, in discussing political leaders in one of his writings gives us the reason in a famous epigram. He says:

"Indecision is the natural accomplice of violence."

THE LAOCOON OF TORONTO Or How Malevolence and Jealousy May End

While he spake, a fearful scene presents itself, and strikes terror and confusion into our minds. Laocoon, chosen by lot to act as a priest of Neptune, was sacrificing a buil at the old customary altars, when two huge serpents [Malevolence and Jealousy] with flery eyes and blood-stained crests, speed across the sea from Tenedos. With undeviating course they make straight for Laocoon, and, first enveloping in their colls his two sons and burying their poisonous fangs in the hapless lads, they seize the priest himself, when he comes to their aid, in deadly embrace;—Virgil.

ALD. ROWLAND FOR PURCHASE

From Health Standpoint It Would Be Big Thing to Extend Transit System to the Outskirts.

One of the strongest supporters of the proposition to purchase the Toronto Railway Co. system is Ald. Rowland. His only stipulation is that the cost price agreed upon is worth paying by the city. He is most actively interested in board of health matters, and realizes that much of the development of that work along practical lines is held up because the city has not control of the rapid transit service.

"We have gone thoroly into the problem of betterment of housing of the class that now fills the tenements, and we find that the solution is the establishment of villages beyond the limits, with the extension of the rapid transit service of the city to the villages," he said. "Until we control the transportation service we cannot establish the villages and we will have to put up with the tenements. "Then there is the matter of the lo-cation of an isolation hospital. It bears largely upon the city controling its rapid transit service, for we cannot get a site satisfactory to the people generally while we have to depend upon the present transportation facilities, which limit us to a restricted area.

"Another view of the situation is that the city is rapidly extending, and we cannot work in the new streets with the old streets for rapid transit service until we have full control of all our streets. It is a most humiliating position for a city of the size and importance of Toronto.

Should be buy out the Toronto Railway Co. system we could at once perfect plans for admitting the radials to the heart of the city, and thus develop to the utmost the trade of the immediate contributory territory. A city like Toronto should not have the radials hung up at the limits.

"To buy out the Toronto Railway Co. means so much to the advantage of the city that an offer at a fair price should be accepted as promptly as pos-

MAY TRY RECALL

Aldermen who are determined that the city's business shall not be blocked by the two Tommies are considering the desirability of introducing the system of recall in preference to with-drawing the salaries of the obstreperous controllers or removing them from office by the vote of the council. These aldermen declare that they have no intention of giving the two Tommies any opportunity to pose as martyrs.

Whether to introduce a system of recall or adopt a persistent policy of looking altogether to Controller Mcinformation about the several civic departments, is what is being quietly debated by the aldermen.

Were the system of recall decided upon, the responsibility of keeping business-blockers in the council would be upon the voters and might not work always to the advantage and the interests of the city, vote-chasers having a peculiar capability for staying in office.

Should the policy of ignoring the controllers who will not carry out the instructions of the council be adopted, there would be the possibility of the two Tommies posing as martyrs and working up a lot of sympathy, which might develop into a dangerous force. Supporters of the system of recall are gaining numerical strength. They are declaring that there is no use in taking two bites at a cherry, and that Toronto has become too big and important a city to carry business-blockers in the council for a whole blockers in the council for a whole year. What may be proposed is that the people be appealed to to petition for the recall of any member of the council who blocks the civic business.

A Great Crusade Against Out-of-date Kitchens

Toronto women take up arms for better conditions, less labor and more leisure from their home duties.

During the past week the housewives of this city have been declaring themselves for freedom from drudgery in the kitchen in no uncertain manner. In less than five days more than 200 women have joined the vast army of "Hoosier" Cabinet users.

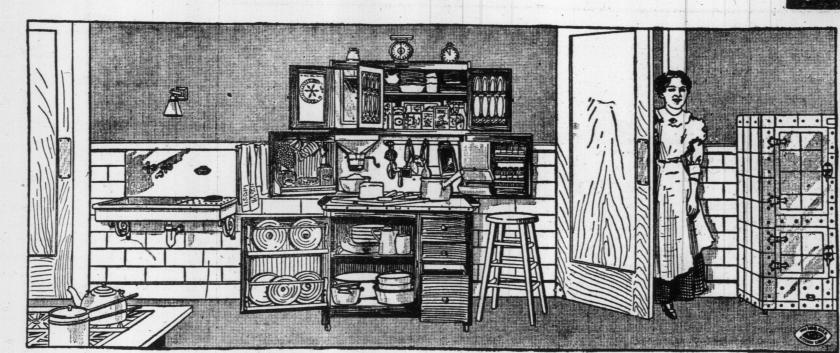

Kitchen work without the aid of a "Hoosier" Cabinet is drudgery—there is no getting away from the fact: you can't escape from it. The tramp, tramp, tramp from pantry to kitchen, from table to sink, down to the cellar and back, bringing things you need together, and when you are through, carrying them all back-it's drudgery, pure and simple.

It takes little persuasion to convince any woman that she cannot get along without a "Hoosier" once she sees it and learns of its wonderful convenience. Handsome, imposing, splendidly built and finished-the "Hoosier" captivates all. No woman can resist its assurance of easier work, its promise of splendid order without effort, with its shining aluminum table top, its scientifically constructed flour receptacle, its automatic sugar bin, its rows of metal-topped crystal coffee, tea and spice jars. Why should she, now that it is so easy to have this wonderful labor-saver, if she acts quickly and gets a "Model Club" membership before was designed to make it easy for women to have this wonderful "Hoosier" Cabinet without any financial strain-just a little sum, $1.00 down and $1.00 per week, for a few short weeks, and your kitchen work is forever after a pleasure.

The moment a "Hoosier" Cabinet comes into the house, it stops the miles of useless steps that old-fashioned kitchen arrangements require. No more aching feet and back, instead of standing and walking all day doing your work you sit and reach. Having everything you use in cooking all in one place saves endless time-time that you can spend in pleasant, healthful recreation or necessary rest.

Model Kitchen

You couldn't imagine kitchen work accomplished under better conditions than a kitchen equipped as the illustration above portrays, with its "Hoosier" Cabinet concentrating almost all the effort of the day's work, so that one can sit comfortably before the cabinet, having every article needed for preparing the three daily meals right within arms reach, entirely doing away with any need for scattering the utensils or materials. Everything being in its place when you are through with it, you simply have to close the doors, and thus overcome all the disagreeable tidying-up process that has to be gone through in the old way.

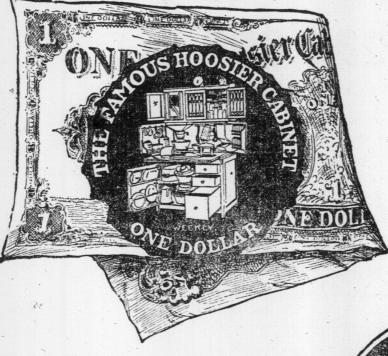

We are doing our part to help Toronto housekeepers one and all to possess a Model Kitchen. Will you do yours?

Drugless Treatment for Disease

Oxygen Transmitted by the Farador Brings Relief to Toronto Sufferers After Other Remedies Failed.

There is no disputing the fact that the induction of oxygen attains wonderful results in the correction of human ailments. The letters and testimonials arriving daily are conclusive evidence. Below is an indication of what Toronto people say about the Farador

One gentleman who was suffering from nervous debility for a num-of years decided, out of sheer desperation, to give the Farador a. I. The results were so apparent that he purchased another chine, and the family have used it for constipation, quinsy, catarrh lumbago, with highly satisfactory and beneficial results. (Name address on request).

Another lady in the city, who was a martyr to sciatica and nervousness, and had been treated by doctors for some considerable time, was advised to try our oxygen cure. She was skeptical at first, but finally decided to get a Farador. The results were so satisfactory that she says: "I would not part with my Farador at any price." (Name and address on request).

We have still another lady who suffered untold agony from rheumatic gout. Medicines had been prescribed, but failed to bring permanent relief. Out of curiosity she decided to try the Farador, never anticipating any results, but to her surprise the pain gradually diminished, and now she is enjoying good health. This lady is loud in her praise of the Farador. (Name and address on request).

We have also treated a little girl (aged 7), suffering from dia-betes. For a long time she was the despair of her parents, but, thanks to the Farador, she is now romping about as lively as a cricket. Her parents are extremely well pleased with the results. (Name and address on request).

We could quote many more if space would permit. A booklet is now in the press to illustrate the growing popularity of the Farador machine by those who have proved it out. The Farador is assuredly a blessing to those suffering from disease. It offers a permanent cure for all human ailments. No drugs, no doctors, just natural treatment. Oxygen, the life-giver, is the remedy. Bacteria and other disease germs become oxidized or burnt up, and the body becomes healthy and active.

The Farador is several times more powerful than any other similar device on the market. If you have another machine, bring it to us. We will test it on the Unithern Detector, an instrument which registers the energy of any dia-magnetic device. You will then appreciate the superiority of the Farador.

Write or call for our little booklet, "The Natural Way." It tells all about Oxygen Therapy, and how to apply the Farador. An enquiry costs nothing. Our advice is free to all.

W. K. McNaught Explained His Purpose in Introducing "Electric" Bill.

In addressing the North Toronto Liberal-Conservative Association Friday night, W. K. McNaught vindicated the action he took lest week in introducing into the legistature the bill to enable to city to purchase the stock and assets of the Torento Street Railway and Toronte Electric Light Companies. Mr. McNaught explained that, besides being a member of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, he was a citizen of Greater Toronto and could not turn of Greater Toronto and could not turn a deaf ear to the cries of the citizens for better transportation. He gave a lueid explanation of Mayor Hocken's plans to take e er both companies, and bred eted that if the mayor was successful in his task the people of Toronte in years to come would look back at the testilation with the grentest appreciation, in the course of his remarks be referred to the attacks made upon him by The Telegram, and was cheered by those present when he replied to them and pointed out that in none of his actions had he done anything to hurt the hydro-electric scheme. "I would not take anything back," he said, "and I am not sorry for anything I have am not sorry for anything I have

'Madame Sherry'' Coming to Grand

Famous Farce to Be Presented Here For the First Time at Grand Prices.

Lest the uninitiated do not under-tand, we will explain that the term, 'French vaudeville," means much the same as American musical comedy. The exception is that the French variety has more plot than the average spineless efforts, from the workshops of our land, where scores and books are hammered together by gentlemen who ought to carry union cards. In "Madame Sherry," which come wise old uncle from abroad, who finds the nephew he has been sending mone o for years for a musical education ssociated with an actress in the man The young man's efforts to provide a ready-to-order family with the assistance of the janitor's vife, the actress and one of the later's South American admirers, make neat farce which could be, and has The second and third acts are given aboard a yacht. CABBAGE CULTURE IN THE PROVINCE

No Vegetable Grown in Canada Is Raised More Easily.

INFORMATION IS GIVEN

In Pamphlet Issued by the Central Experimental Farm.

There is perhaps no vegetable grown in Canada that is more easily raised than the cabbage. It does well in almost any soil provided with a reasonable quantity of moisture and massimal callon large Algiers and Walcheren are exsonable quantity of moisture and massimal callon large Algiers and Walcheren are exsonable quantity of moisture and massimal callon large and almost any soil provided with a reasonable quantity of moisture and manure: it thrives from the most southerly part of the Province of Ontario to Dawson City in the north and from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts. The cabbage does best in a moist cool soil and responds well to heavy fertilizing and good tillage. Market gardeners have learned not only this but also that there are great differences in the value of different varieties. It has been found by actual experiment that it is possible to have more than $200 per acre difference in the value of the crop of a poor and good strain.

The Real Secret of Rejuvenating the Face

(From The Clubwoman.)

(From The Clubwoman.)

She holds the true secret of facial refuvenation who has learned how to remove the dead skin particles as fast as they appear. It's a secret anyone may possess. The aged, faded or discolored surface skin may be gradually absorbed, in an entirely safe and rational manner, by the nightly application of ordinary mercolized wax. Within a week or two the underlying skin, youthful and beautiful to behold, has taken the place of the discarded cuticle. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day there's no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are nience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face. The mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store (an ounce is sufficient), is applied like cold cream. In the morning it is erased with soap and water. It's the best thing known for freckles, blackheads, pimples, moth patches, liver spots and fine surface wrinkles.

For the deeper wrinkles an excellent recipe is: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in 1/2 pt. witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution produces quick and Violin Recital.

A recital by some of Mr. Frank E. Blachford's violin pupils was given in the Conservatory concert hall, which demonstrated the very satisfactory nature of Mr. Blachford's teaching, and in several respects presented striking features. The playing of Miss Beatrice Prest and Miss Frances Wood in difficult works by Vieux temps and Lalo, gave special satisfaction, from the swing and masterly grasp of the instrumental requirements and the general finished and musicianly grace of interpretation.
Mr. Harold McIlvain gave a mazurka by Musin with much brilliancy, and Mr. Walter Stevenson, Miss Jean Pennington, Miss F. E. Carswell, and Miss Laura Baker were the remaining and highly pleasing violinists. Miss Irene

One of Onr Readers Tells How She Obtained a Marvelous Growth of New Hair by the Use of a Herb Remedy After Hair Specialists and Tonics Had All Failed.

I had what most people would call a peautiful head of golden hair. I prized it most highly, as I considered it my chief attraction. Suddenly it began to come out very rapidly, and at times I had intense itching of the scalp. Physicians and hair specialists said my case was one of dandruff germs, hair microbes, etc., but nothing that they gave me did the slightest good. On the contrary-, my hair seemed to come out even faster, and I was now fearful lest I should become entirely bald. In my despair a friend told me of Mr. G. Michell, Mr. H. B. Thornton,
Mr. Fred Wehrwley, Mr. Frank Park,
Mr. Boyce, Ryrie Glynn, Mr. Geo. E.

Resolution Offered in Congress That Would Reduce Discrimination.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(Special.)

An amendment to the constitution which, when ratified by two-thirds of the states, would give congress the power to make uniform the hours of labor thruout the United States, is proposed in a resolution introduced in the use today by Representative Curley of Massachusetts. Representative Curey contends that the difference in the ars of labor in many states, varying from 54 hours a week in Massachusetts to 66 hours in the southern states, creates an "unwarranted discrimination" in favor of manufacturers located in states where the long hours prevail. It was for the purpose of eliminating this discrimination that the resolution was offered.

The Test

Compare Lawrence's Bread with the bread of any other bakery and you will find that you not only like Lawrence's as well, but BETTER. It was always the better bread. It won its custom when all bread was the same price—5 cents. Other bakeries have raised the price of their bread. Why? Because they could not compete with the quality and fine flavor of Lawrence's Bread at Lawrence's price. Even at the higher price they are faring no better, for Lawrence's Bread wins out on every trial made of its quality. A test convinces that it is the right bread at the right price.

ESTIMATING LAND VALUES FOR TAXES

Methods Used by Assessors in New York Are Elaborate But Not Complicated.

The deputy tax commissioners, who are charged with the duty of estimating the value of land for taxation purposes in New York, are guided in their work by certain rules and principles and are aided by maps and records.

These maps are drawn with the streets clear of printed matter, to allow for the recording in the streets of the frontage value. Where the parcel is of irregular shape, or subject to corner influences, the actual value is derived from the value per front foot, 100 feet deep, of an inside lot, after making due allowance for shape and position. The frontage value decorded is the value per front foot of a vacant inside lot, 100 feet deep, lying normally with reference to the grade of the street and being of normal or common size and shape.

When the opopsite sides of a street are of the same value the figures when the opopsite sides of a street are of the same value the figures are recorded in the centre of the street to indicate that they stand for both sides. Where the frontage value changes in any given block the change is indicated by marking the frontage value at two or more places

A corner lot, or any lot coming within the range of the corner influence, and having a higher value on that account, is not to be considered as an inside lot, and in determining the assessed value of such a lot proper allowance is made for the corner influence.

Where there are large tracts which have not been subdivided into building lots, and the assessment of which ng lots, and the assessment of which has been calculated by the acre, the price per acre for the entire tract is recorded on the map at or about the centre of each tract.

Whenever it occurs that a piece of acreage property has frontage on one or more streets, in addition to marking the price per acre for the whole tract, the frontage value on the streets of a lot 100 feet deep is set down in

A Great Success

A Complete Set of Model Offices is One of the Chief Features.

The popularity of the Toronto Business Show, which opened Thursday evening in Massey Hall, is clearly shown by the large attendance shown every afternoon and evening so far. With the thousands of delegates coming from all parts of Ontario to attend the fourteenth annual convention of the Retail Merchants' Asso-ciation, which opens Monday in Massey Hall, the interest in the business show will greatly increase It was to give the outside mer-chants and business men of all kinds an opportunity to examine the latest devices in office equipment that the show was held, and the local men have already showed great interest in the way things are displayed.

One of the departments to which great attention is being paid is the model office, situated at the right, as one enters the hall, and which was laid out by an expert. The space is limited, but everything is complete, including the switchboard, the accounting department, the receptionoom, manager's office, stenographers' department, mailing-room, etc. The itmost taste is displayed in choice of simple and practical fur-niture. The reception-room is fitted up both as a waiting-room and a place samples. Everything is simple and plain, and made for service; and the best filing and labor-saving devices are used in the proper places.

The kinemacolor pictures in the basement are no little attraction, and on the main floor impersonations of Harry Lauder are given at frequent intervals. Tuesday night the great typewriting contest will take place. There have been far more entries than at first anticipated, but room will could not help but feel.

Not two years ago a real estate man told her if she could sell books she could sell real estate.

Finally she was pursuaded to take on the job, and in six months' time she had sold seventy-five thousand dollars' worth of western real estate. It was only then that she realized her own ability. If she could sell seventyfive thousand dollars' worth of rea estate for someone else why not do it for herself?

Last October she took a trip out west and bought a block of property in Moose Jaw, on the Lynwood in Moose Jaw, on the Lynwood Heights, and a sub-division in Wilkie a divisional point on the C.P.R. She returned to Toronic and bought seventy-five thousand dollars worth of property on College Acights and Ken-

She has been instrumental in raising every cent to finance these deals. Then she bought thirteen thousand dollars worth of Kerr and Malone property and last but not least, she has purchased sixty acres in Kensington Gar-dens, worth ninety thousand dollars. She has turned over fifty thousand dollars since February. She has a controlling interest in the D'Esterre Company, Limited, of which she is president and general manager, and the company already represents business of over a quarter of a mil-

Ten Thousand Dollar Woman, Mrs D'Esterre when asked if she would take a given salary said that ten thousand dollars a year would be too little for her to take. A peculiar determination dominate Mrs. D'Esterre, and she is a personifled hero-worshipper.

WILL FLY ATLANTIC

Comte de Lambert Believes Hydroplane Will Complete Journey From Sunrise to Sunset.

PARIS, April 26.—"I think it will be done before ten years have passed, and not only so, but I think it will be done between sunrise and sunset."

Such was the deliberate reply of the Comte de Lambert to my questi-"How long do you think it will be before the Atlantic from the United States to England is crossed in an

The value of this reply depends on the character of the man who gave it. The Comte de Lambert, as every-one who has followed aeronauties from the beginning is aware, is one of the leaders of the little band of French gentlemen to whose enthusi-asm and quickness to realize the importance of a new discovery France largely owes her aerial pre-eminence today. He is also the inventor of the hydroplane, or skimming boat. "The two great difficulties," he said,

"will be to keep on one's course if one is out of sight of ships and the wind changes, and to avoid being smashed up by waves when one alights to re-plenish with petrol.

"As things are today, no machine could get across without stopping en route for fuel. Hitherto the greatest distance flown at a stretch is about 625 miles. Take a machine weighing a ton, everything included. Suppose the whole distance across to be 2,000 miles, and the machine to fly at the moderate speed of 62 miles an hour To drive the machine at 90 feet a second means an effective thrust of 40lb., or 66 h.p. To obtain this in practice a motor of 100-120 h.p. would be required, consuming 110 lb. of petrol and cil in an hour. Thus, in order to do the distance in 32 hours, the one-ton machine would have to start with 11/2 tons of fuel-which is

"Hence, before we can fly across without stopping we must find a better fuel than petrol, or a more efficient motor, or a machine which requires less than 440 lb. thrust, and I do not doubt that we shall succeed. Mean while, I consider the scheme of flying across with stoppages to replenish perfectly practicable. It is merely a question of luck and having two days of calm weather. A slight following wind would make a great difference.
"One would use, I suppose, two engines, or perhaps an engine of which half can be in use at a time, as is sometimes done with the 14-cylinder

The Magic Wand of The Musical World

History of the Little Black Stick Which Waved in so Many Successes.

It may seem a bit foolish and flippant that there are still those of us in this enlightened age who believe in "luck" and "talismans," or in a socalled "lucky day," or date of the week. month, or year.

And so it is that in the world of music in a great metropolis, where "Little Boy Blue" first was presented, that the maestros of the baton, who preside over the melody-makers in the it of the Broadway theatres, reason it out that the success of "Little Boy Blue" was assured from the very first, On the night of the opening of the New York Casino, two decades the occasion was made further memorable by the American premiere of "The Queen's Lace Handkerchief."

It is now the last week of April, and the market is not yet able to scent any possibility of a bull movement. A Berlin correspondent writes thus regarding the proposition to impound $30,000,000 gold (in conjunction with $30,000,000 silver) in the present war chest of the German Empire:

propose to withdraw it gradually from the home circulation, which is sat-urated with gold to a greater extent as is claimed, than that of any other country in Europe. MINING COMPANIES PAY BIG DIVIDENDS

That mining companies which make good return large profits to their shareholders is shown by the compilation of dividends for the first quarter of the year of 114 mining concerns. They disbursed in January the amount of $23,304,320. LONDON BANKERS ADOPT SPIRIT OF GREAT CAUTION

In High Financial Circles Alarm Is Felt Over Constant New Capitatl Creations.

MANY LOANS PENDING

And Market Is in No Shape to stant New Capital From Financial Viewpoint.

NEW YORK, April 26 .- (Special.)-The London correspondent of The Evening Post cables the following com-ment on the financial situation: It cannot be said that the financial markets are greatly concerned over Montenegro's defiant attitude since its capture of Scutari. Nevertheless, the Imperial Bank Will Withdraw Promise is For Record Production settlement of the terms of peace is important, because such a settlement now would coincide with more favorable money market conditions than are likely to prevail later on.

Nor is there any surprise that the continental state banks have this week Winnipeg reports to Bradstreet's say that the whole west has risen above tight money conditions. This is chiefly due to promises of a record productive season. Seeding is general in all three prairie provinces, both in north and south. Some estimate a million acres increase in wheat. Weather for three weeks has been ideal. Only "The government's plan for creating another gold hoard of £6,000,000 raises the inquiry where this gold is to be obtained. It is understood in Berlin obtained. It is understood in Berlin will be maintained if crop outlook is realized.

In the government's plan for creating lion acres increase in wheat. Weather for three weeks has been ideal. Only in real estate and building is there a slackening up. Real estate values will be maintained if crop outlook is realized. Decided improvement is manifest in practically all lines of business.

Merchandise is moving more freely, esaware that the strain of financing the war is still to be felt.

Markets Are Stagnant.
The main cause of the existing stagnation on financial markets here, howpecially for rural trade. New, and sorting orders in dry goods are satisfactory. Business in footwear is gratifying, and the same is reported of hardware and groceries. Collections, while still under normal have ever, is the large amount of new se-curity issues, actual or impending. The difficulty of obtaining adequate public response to low interest-bearing stocks may be gathered from the fact that the improved this past week. Authorities predict that 1913 will be the west's may be gathered from the ract that the Southern Mahratta Railway 4 per cent. debentures for £2,500,000, offered at 99, with the Indian Government's guarantee, obtained only 10 per cent. response from the public, the underwriters having to take up the remaining 90 per cent. RAILWAYS COMPARE

Yankee Roads Have Lowest Capitalization Per Mile—Pay litalization Per Mile—Pay London. It will probably be successful, however, since the yield is well over 5 per cent.

It is likely to be shortly followed by a Chinese government twenty-five million loan, of which about eight milat $60,000 per mile, British at 255,000 per mile, French at $141,000 per mile, German at $112,000 per mile, lions come to London. Much of the recent selling of stocks has been due to preparations for application for these borrowings, and on their sucand Austrian at $115,000 per mile.
The average pay of American railway employes is $668 per year, of British $251 per year, of French $260 per year, of German $382 per year, and of Austrian $260 per year.
The average charge for hauling a ton of freight 100 miles is in the Unitcess depends largely the immediate course of the markets here. The recentral or the markets here. The re-cent Japanese loan for eight millions sterling at par was a huge success, and undoubtedly has done something to bring out the hoarded money of the French people. Conceivably, the Bra-zilian and Chinese loans may also stimulate confidence in a similar way ed States $6.75, in England $2.80, in France $2.20, in Germany $1.64, in Austria $2.30.—Howard Elliott, presistimulate confidence in a similar way, but financial hesitation pending their issue is perfectly natural.

Bulls Are Disheartened. The award of your arbitrators in the railway firemen's wage dispute seems to us reasonable. Nevertheless it provides another instance of how your great corporations are them-selves, thru the increased wages and the demand for further increases, affected by the rising cost of living. It directs attention to the increasing It directs attention to the increasing difficulty of your railways in placing their bonds on the former easy terms. Our people believe that President Wilson will take all possible measures to conciliate Japan. The unfortunate part of California's attitude is the extent to which it may stimulate the Jingo agitators of Japan itself. 5)

Professional bull operators in American stocks are undoubtedly disheartened by the recent fall in prices at New York. But in the best financial quarters here, the earlier rise was deprecated. The general spirit of caution in high finance is sufficiently explained by the patent fact that it is in these quarters that the full measure and significance of the constant new loan creations is most fully appremistic. They are careful about giving credits, that is all. New orders have shown an expansion about on a par Bailey shown an expansion about on a par with increases in other years, and they have no reason for complaint regarding collections. They find deliveries from some of their mills fardy, and the local teamsters' strike has put immediate business behind. Goods are coming forward from England in good time. The tendency of prices is

FIFTY-TWO HOURS SEEKING WAY OUT

Miners Found in Exhausted Condition After Terrible Struggle to Gain Their Freedom.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 26.—Charles Crawl, who with Philip Legier was taken alive last midnight from the Cin-cinnati mine of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Co. at Finleyville, where a disastrous explosion occurred on Wednesday, was also a survivor of the Marianna mine disaster of Nov. 28, 1908, when 154 lives were lost. In that explosion Crawl lost his right eye.

The rescue of Crawl and Legler, both of whom are 36 years old, was effected by J. McVickers and Clyde Gibson, members of the coal company's rescue crew, who entered the mine late last crew, who entered the mine late last night after the expert helmet men and mining inspectors had given up work for the night. When McVickers and Gibson reached a point 2 1-2 miles from the entrance they heard a faint cry, towards which they groped and discovered the two miners in what is known as room 10, or entry 20. The men were barely conscious and had to be practically dragged thru the long tunnels to the opening. It was contunnels to the opening. It was considered miraculous that they had survived at all, for the explosion and poi-sonous gases had already claimed the sonous gases had already claimed the lives of 96 men.

Crawl is a widower and has two children. His first words when rescued were a plea to see his children at once. He said it seemed he had been in the mine for a week.

At the hospital this morning Crawl had recovered sufficiently to tell his story.

"I entered the mine at 6.20 Wednesday morning," he said. "Legler and I were eating lunch in the room where we were found. Shortly after 12.30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, we heard a dull explosion, which seemed to be far away. We continued eating and finished our lunch. I began to get nervous when I did not hear the other miners at work and I went to investi-gate. I found dead miners lying all around and then I knew what the explosion had been.

"Remembering my former experience I told Legler to follow me and we crawled into the old workings in an effort to find a way to get out. I think we had been crawling 52 hours. In we had been crawling 52 hours. In that time we had only a slice of bread apiece and we quenched our thirst with sulphur water from the mine floor. We crawled and crawled and we could not find any great least floor. We crawled and crawled and we could not find any way out. I gave up hope of ever getting out alive several times, but as long as my strength lasted I pushed on. Legler wanted to lie down and die, but I urged him on. In room 23, entry 10, we found an old more and his son. They were alive but man and his son. They were alive, but could not move. We tried to carry them, but their weight was too great and we were exhausted. When we left the old man and his son my mind seemed to wander, but I held to Legler's hand and in some way we got back to where we started from after the available.

When Crawl was taken from the mine, a message was found scribbled in chalk on the legs of his overalls. dren, God bless you." Good-by, my chil Legler furnished a simple account of his experiences, giving credit to Crawl for saving his life.

"Only for Crawl," he said, "I would have given up 100 different times, but he urged me on. I never expected to see daylight again, but God was with us and helped us thru."

On their trip the two rescuers found the bodies of eight miners, which brings the total known dead up to 96.

Day of Prayer For Welfare of China

Church of China and United States Will Pray Simultaneously For New Republic.

NEW, YORK, April 26.—The Chinese Government having asked Chinese Christians to set apart tomorrow as a day of prayer for the welfare of China, Christians of the United States have decided also to set apart the day to the same end. Almost all churches in New York will in some manner make mention of the unusual manner make mention of the unusual circumstance.

Secretary McFarland of the federal council of churches, which recom-mended this simultaneous obser-vance, said today that most New York ministers will have prayers for the new republic. A few will preach ser-mens on Chine mons on China.

mons on China.

The federal council enumerates the things to be specifically prayed for. They are the things designated by the Chinese Government and are: The new national assembly, for wise deliberations; the new president of the republic, whoever be may prove to be; wisdom in framing the new constitution, early recognition of the new republic by the world powers, for peace in China and in all the world, and for the election of strong and virtuous men to China's legislative bodies.

By a mighty effort Sunderland, who lost the English Cup a week ago, were able to safely land the English League championship on Saturday. It was no easy task they had on hand at Bolton, yet with a display of that form which has characterized their play for the latter part of the season, they managed to do the trick all right, and on the closing Saturday of season 1912-13 they had the distinction of becoming league champions. It is a fitting conleague champions. It is a fitting con-summation to a brilliant season, and with the enormous "gates" which have fallen to their lot they will find plenty of consolation for the loss of "ta coop." Of course, shad they brought off the

That Chelsea were not risking any chances of being sent down to the enances of being sent down to the second division has been evident of late, and in their closing three matches they have brought off magnificent vic-tories. On Saturday they fairly overwhelmed Notts County, who were seeking to get above them, and it is the lacemen who, along with Woolwich
Arsenal, drop down from the charmed circle. The "Pensioners" have come away splendidly in the closing games, and it is well that they did, for at one time their position was a most precari-the personnel of the teams since last season, and the organization looks more evenly balanced than in former years. Spring and Woods were the Dufferin selection, while Manager Carley of the Iron Dukes relied on Hawkins and Nye. Dooney Hardy handled the indicator.

The Wellingtons annexed a quartet of tallies on charities to Graham and Baldwin, singles by Hickey and Smith, and a pair of boots by Batewell.

The Dukes counted again in the second. After Grogan had made a sensational catch of Hawkin's fly, errors by Downard and Spring and Hickey's hit gave Carley's crew a pair of counts.

The Dufferins earned a run in the second half of the same inning on Baldwin's error of Batewell's grounder and Downard's double.

The fourth saw the Dufferins add two more on Weaver's error of Verrall's offering and successive doubles by Spring and Grogan.

Commission Gave Him Permission Until His Case Is Decided at a Special Meeting on Wednesday.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Tyrus Cobb is to play with the Detroit team of the American League tomorrow, according to information given out at the office of B. B. Johnson, president of the American League, here today. It was said that Cobb had been reinstated by Johnson pending the outcome of his application for reinstatement which the national commission is to consider at a meeting in Chicago next week. Johnson left his office for the day without making any definite announcement in the case.

CINCINNATI, April 26.—The National Baseball Commission at its meeting in Chicago next Wednesday will consider the application of Tyrus Cobb of the Detroit American League team for reinstetement. This announcement was made here today by Chairman August Hermann of the commission.

"Cobb's application for reinstatement was officially received this morning," said Chairman Hermann, "but the commission will have to acquaint itself of the retails of the case before any action will, bet aken."

YOU MADE WHAT?

After Tuesday's Bout Kilbane Will Desert the Lighter Class-Will Be Favorite.

By W. W. Naughton. SAN FRANCISCO, April 26 .- For a while, the heavyweights, lightweights, and middleweights will have to take a back seat. We have a classy featherweight event to focus attention on therweight event to focus attention on now; and, by the same token, it is a world's championship affair.

McCarey's arena at Vernon will be the scene of the encounter, and April 29, the date. The principals will be two Johnnies—Kilbane and Dundee—and, unless all signs fail, the bout will be a memorable one.

Kilbane has said fraquently that the go with Dundee will mark his farewell appearance as a featherweight Johnny has advanced a double reason for his desertion of the 122-pound division. Increasing weight is the main thing which impeles him to throw in his lot with the lightweights, and he is also influenced by the reflection that Dundee is almost the only featherweight left to by the reflection that Dundee is almost the only featherweight left to fight.

For the Last Time.

"When I box Dundee, who is there for me to meet?" is Kilbane's favorite way of putting it.

It is a notorious fare that, when a champion ringman says anything, his remarks are shredled and analyzed by critics and others, who want to satisfy themselves as to whether any hidden or double meaning lurks in them. The usual course is being followed in the case of Kilbane, and someone has discovered that Johnny's reference to the scarcity of opponents, increasing poundage, and a consequent change of class, suggests that the champion is laying the foundation for an alibi, in case things go wrong in the clash with Dundee.

"The fellow who looks ahead is the wise guy," said a man who inclines to the belief that Kilbane is intentionally ambigous. "If Dundee wins, it will not surprise me if Kilbane says: I knew I would reaken myself making the weight, and I was foolsh to try it. I had already given out that it was to be my last fight as a featherweight. The one before should have been my last."

This merely goes to show how a champion's word may be weighed. It must be said, however, that if Kilbane is assailed with an atom of doubt in respect to the result of next Tuesday's bout, he is concealing the fact wonderfully. Everything he says breathes of the utmost confidence. He is even accredited with the desire to back himself to the tune of $10,000, but this is probably one of the innocent bluffs that high-class, fighters are sometimes allowed to get away with. If any backer of Kilbane were to say: "What odds do you give?" Kilbane would probably say: "I want even money," and, as supporters of Dundee can do better than that in the open market, there is small probability of Kilbane's ten thousand dollars being tapped.

Kilbane for the Heavier Class.

The chances are Kilbane is sincere about joining the ranks of the lightweights. He has frequently shown already formed.

Whatever the cause, Rivere has shown a falling away in several of his recent fights, and in the absence of any other explanation, some of his friends are insisting that there is a very old proverb which says: "A young man married is a man that's marred."

It will be time enough to talk of a Rivers-Kilbane match, however when the Kilbane-Dundee contest is a thing of the past. In the event of Killbane winning, it is practically a certainty that he will be signed with Rivers. But it may be that the program will be changed, or at least that there will be a postponement in the event, that Dundee relieves KilRaincoats for S:y.e and Service

Welsh and Packey Would Be Good Naturally, the sports would prefer to see Welsh and McFarland clash. There has been a bitter rivalry be-tween these clever exponents of timer. Youth will be served, you tween these clever exponents of boxing for a number of years; and, altho they have met three times, the question of supremacy has never the product of the product of supremacy has never the product of supremacy has never the product of the produc been satisfactorily settled. Five years ago Packey was given the decision in a ten-round bout at Milwaukee, but Weish's friends made a roar that the verdict was unjust. A few months later they went twenty-five rounds to a draw, according to Jim Jeffries, who refereed the mill. Packey has never forgiven the big fellow for that decision, which, he claims, was the rawest deal he ever received. The twenty-round meeting in London two years ago also ended in a draw, altho the English papers stated at the time that Packey had made the better showing.

Britton's record the past year is a most impressive one. He has met with but one reverse, and that at the hands of the great McFarland. If Rivers is reckoned a worthy foe for Ritchie on the strength of his bouts with Cross, then Britton must certainly be given a look-in for the title. Provided, of course, he can make the weight, and he says he can. In his bouts around here, he has not been forced to do 133, but, as a rule, has scaled only a pound or two over that figure.

Is wonderfully fast, and has a great pair of legs, a set of underpinning that should stand years of strenuous work. He has a very strong arm, and stands up to the plate and hits at the ball like a natural batsman.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Of all the champions in the several classes of professional puglilism, Johnny Kilbane, head of the featherweight division, is the only one who seems to be willing to take a chance in the ring. Since defeating Abe Attel at Los Angeles over a year ago, Kilbane has appeared in more than a dozen bouts. True, these affairs have been limited to ten or twelve rounds; still, there is no getting away from the fact that he has given the best boys of his weight chances over the abbreviated distances. What other champion of recent years—barring his immediate predecessor, attell—has a record that will compare with Kilbane's? Not one, after a long so-dourn in the land of the kangaroo. The advices do not state whether he serificated for home, after a long so-dourn in the land of the kangaroo. The advices do not state whether he solves do not state whether he register that the last strips right here in the second that will compare with Kilbane's? Not one, after a long so-dourn in the land of the kangaroo. The advices do not state whether he solves do not state whether he very beak with him. Sam will find different sort of a game awaiting in this country. His ancient meny, Joe Jeannette, is already pre-paring to give the "tar baby" a warm deeption. And, for some mysterious meason, this same Kilbane is about as popular with the rank and file of newspaper writers as a rainy day with a baseball magnate. Especially is this true right here in Gotham, where the champion has shown his goods, the same looked softer, and Jeannette the champion has shown his goods, the champion has shown his goods, and the suprement with the reark and file of the critics as difficult to understand, when it is considered that Johnny has outpointed his rivals in every instance. With one exception, in the local starts, he falled to knock his men out; but in every case established supremacy beyond question.

While oth

Attell. Johnny Dundee, the New York feather, will be his opponent on this occasion—and the local man is acknowledged as his most formidable rival.

From the little I have seen of Kilbane in action, I think he measures well up to the standard of the title-holders in the division of the past. He has about everything a champion needs. He is a clever boxer, a hard hitter, and a good ring general. I believe he outclasses the rest of the feathers, and is fully equal to the task set for him next Tuesday.

Why don't some enterprising match.

Why don't some enterprising matchmaker bring Freddy Welsh and Jack Britton together? These boys have been challenging each other for several weeks (in the papers), but I haven't heard of a match being clinched. The English champion says he is willing to meet Britton, and Jack claims nothing would suithin better than a bout with Welsh. With the boxers in this humor, it seems to me it shouldn't be a hard job to arrange a match.

Britton and Welsh would draw big in this city. Both boys are skilful, brainy boxers, and, on the dope, fairly well matched. Outside of a bout in which Willie Ritchie or Packy McFarland would figure as Welsh's could not be staged.

March match with Murphy.

If Wolgast is the wise little fellow I think, he will quit the game right away. It seems cruel to have to say so, but Ad is a "has been," like a lot more of us. A shame, too, that a boxer of 25 has to throw up the sponge at a time when he should be at his very best. But we can't let the "docs" carve us up and hope to "be there." The surgeons claim the appendix is a useless plece of machinery, but that sort of talk smacks of the "bull." Ad's case serves to answer the time-worn question: "Can a boxer lose his appendix and retain his vitality?" Answer, "No."

Every Suit a Travelling Ad.

We make them in any design required and each one perfect in every way

We pride ourselves on the possibilities of the Scotland Woolen Mills Company tailoring. That is, in the opportunity the customer gets in the matter of the design of his clothes or the pattern of the cloth he desires to secure.

It should be a very easy thing for you to pick out some suit or overcoat from the hundreds of fashion plates which the cutter can show you, and in the matter of cloth there is a select variety of wonderfully fine imported patterns which it is not possible to find beyond our doors.

You will notice there is considerable difference in the shoulders of the men's coats being worn in the United States and Canada. Of course, the natural English shoulder is the one adopted by stylish men, still many fashionable men are asking for the concave American shoulder, and it is being largely worn.

The Scotland Woolen Mills Company looks forward to building up even a larger business than it now boasts of, and realizes, to do this every suit turned out must act as a travelling advertisement.

What Shoulders Would You Like?

Many of the younger men have been asking us to give them the American concave shoulder and so we have brought on two special cutters from one of our branches in the United States. We are, therefore, able to furnish on demand these designs in full or half concave. You may also secure the English sloping shoulder which is ultra-stylish everywhere.

Your Choice of Material Made-to-Order Suit or Overcoat

It is because we make a great many suits and overcoats that we are able to sell them for Fifteen Dollars. It is because of the perfect system we have in our workroom building that the output is so carefully handled. There are employed in our workrooms experts on the several lines, such as vests, trousers, coats, fine finishing of linings and trimmings. Each man is made personally responsible for the job. entrusted to him. The superintendent carefully examines every piece of work turned out.

We have only one store in Toronto and one in each of the other cities of Canada. The Toronto branch is located at 139 Yonge Street, just opposite Temperance Street and in the Yonge Street Arcade corner. We do not want you to confuse our store with any other in the city or the country.

Final Shipment of Spring Cloth

We are able to announce that last week we received the final consignment of fine woolen weaves to complete our Spring stock. It would, therefore, be wise if intending customers visit us as soon as possible and make their selection.

If we get your order in before the rush it will mean, naturally, that we can handle it leisurely and insure prompt delivery.

Also, there being some lines of cloth not so extensive as others, the early visitor will have a more complete choice.

We desire to specially call attention to some very fine lines of Blue Serge, in many weights for Summer wear, which were included in the last shipment. This serge is made from solid Botany Bay yarn, dyed in the wool, and guaranteed fast colors.

Highway Improvement

Loud and deep were the complaints this spring regarding the condition of the roads in the suburbs of this city. Many were impassable and for the rest were all but closed to traffic for a period of time causing an infinity of trouble and annoyance to those requiring to use these supposed means of communication. Such recurring interruptions of traffic ought not to happen but apart from that it is not creditable to a province like Ontario that improperly made roads should exist in the Emmediate neighborhood of its capital city. Every one admits that good roads are a necessity and of supreme importance in the movement and exchange of products. Difficulties in transportation are fruitful sources of waste of time and money and add greatly to the cost of living. The surprising feature is that the people immediately concerned should so often appear indifferent to the improvement of the highways and so slow in responding to suggestions made for their betterment.

The annual report on highway improvement for 1911 by Mr. W. A. McLean, provincial engineer of highways, has recently been issued by the department of public works and calls special attention to the amendments made in the legislative session of that year to the Highway Improvement Act. These amendments were the most extensive and important since the revision of 1907. As summarized in the report the act authorizes county councils to assume a system of roads for construc-tion and maintenance and this usually includes roads that will accommodate the greater part of local market travel. The mileage of roads assumed is usually from 12 to 15 per cent. of the total road mileage of a county and the direction and superintendence of the work is placed in charge of a county engineer or capable superintendent. Roads are to be built in accordance with the regulations and the government makes an annual grant in aid. The general system thus established and the provisions otherwise thus seem to be sufficient.

In some counties a tendency has been shown to distribute work in short sections rather than to take up one road and build it from end to end. This may occasionally serve a useful purpose but the practice the report notes adds largely to the cost. The tendency is greatest in counties with numerous market centres and less in those with one well defined centre such as York with roads radiating from Toronto. The report notes that foremen experienced in road construction are very limited in number in the province, a condition which is creating temporary difficulty in obtaining the best results from road expenditure. One of the needs of the day is the creation of a body of skilled road makers, a class more easily obtained in England and France, where practically continuous employment obtains. Another urgent need is an efficient system of repair and maintenance in all municipalities in the province. Constant repair is the basis of the excellent road systems of Europe and New York State and wherever good roads are consistently supported. Prompt and systematic repair was the form most urgently sought by the great French road engineer Tresaguet and by Telford and Macadam in Britain. Mr. McLean's report is full of practical advice and recommendation and should be carefully practical advice and recommendation and should be recommendation. practical advice and recommendation and should be carefully studied by the authorities responsible for highway improvement.

Cotton in the Empire.

On Wednesday the British House of Commons unanimously approved a proposal that the government should guarantee payment of the interest on a loan of $15,000,000 for the purpose of encouraging the cultivation of cotton in the Egyptian Soudan. This calls attention to the fact that the problem of enlarging the world supply of raw cotton has for years been foreseen as one of continually increasing urgency. It has arisen simply because the spindles of the world have risen in number far more rapidly than has the crop. This has made it more and more difficult for British manufacturers to obtain adequate supplies of the particular kind of fibre they need. Lancashire requires the medium and long stapled cottons of the United States and Egypt because India, once a considerable source of supply of these varieties, no longer grows them to any material extent. The natives of India are too conservative to abandon their shorter varieties for the more valuable product altho in Sind the persistent efforts of the agricultural department has led to an improvement.

The cotton belt of the world extends roughly from 40 degrees north to 40 degrees south of the equator and within this belt are enormous stretches of land under the British flag, as the director of the Imperial Institute in 1904 pointed out, "suitable as regards soil and climate, for cotton cultivation and large enough to provide for the present requirements of the British cotton industry and to keep pace with its natural increase for years to come, provided that cotton of a suitable quality can be grown." Within that area are situated Northern Australia, the East and West Indies, Uganda, Nyasaland, Rhodesia, Malta, Cyprus, Egypt and above all the Anglo-Egyptian Soudan. In all of these cotton growing has been attempted with more or less success, the matter of efficient labor presenting the greatest difficulty. Among the more favorable districts are Uganda and Nyasaland where, the natives being of a progressive type, readiness to undertake cultivation has been remark-

The Soudan, to which the latest authorities look for the best and earliest results, has been described by a recent expedition of investigation as "one of the very finest cotton propositions in the whole of the British Empire, both for Egyptian and American cotton." The Soudan is half the size of India and has immense potentialities with every facility for irrigation, transport and shipping. Lord Kitchener has already devoted much attention to cotton cultivation and to the improvement of the staple which is specially fitted for the production of the highest class of cotton goods. The superior kinds are particularly valuable owing to the possession the debentures. of qualities favorable to "mercerization" and other supplementary treatment resulting in fabrics closely resembling silk, but at much lower cost. Anti-Jap Legislation

California is ignoring the protest of President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan against the adoption of a law barring al Asiatics from owning land in the state.

The object of the measure is to prevent agricultural and residential lands from passing into the hands of Japanese and Chinese.

Mr. Wilson's protest was caused by the belief that such legislation would be contrary to the existing treaties between the United States and Japan. These nations are supposedly on peaceful terms, but on the Pacific Coast there is a big Oriental question constantly in view. ing into some of the congested districts and his report on the conditions there existing has created a sensation. He has ascertained that houses unfit for human habitation are paying their owners almost one hundred per cent. per annum revenue. Foreigners are herded into badly ventilated and ill-lighted rooms in a manner that must seriously affect the morals of those people. The reason for this is the almost entire lack of suitable accommodation for people of small means. They are forced by high rentals to sub-let to tenants and the more sub-tenants the less heavy the high rent falls upon the original tenant.

Hon. W. J. Hanna has introduced a bill empowering municipalities to deal with this situation. Under this legislation houses may be erected and rented to the public at rates

A long felt want has existed in the matter of presentation of this order, and that the limited number of strictly first-class organizations, presenting Shaksperean plays have been augmented by a company headed by so mented by a company headed by so eminent an artist as Mr. Power will be welcomed by those who lend their support to dramatic offerings of a higher order. That all educational institutions and scholastic bodies will be interested in the coming of Mr. Power and his company in "Julius Caesar," there can hardly be any doubt, and that the general theatregoing public will welcome a change going public will welcome a change from the surfeit of musical comedy and melodrama, that seems to have been the vogue for a few years past, seems also probable.
Since the death of Mr. Richard

Mansfield much discussion has been given to the question as to who was his logical successor. Judging by the acclaim with which the New York critics heralded his recent appearance as Brutus in "Julius Caesar" there seems to be little doubt that on Tyrone Power's shoulders rightly falls the mantle of fame of such exalted actors as Booth, Barrett, McCullough, Keene and Mansfield.

Acton Davies, critic of The New

Acton Davies, critic of The New York Sun, says: "Tyrone Power's glorious voice and great figure made Brutus a notable and imposing figure. Undoubtedly he is one of the greatest actors of the stage today." William Winter, America's greatest critic writes: "Tyrone Power's impersonation of Brutus in 'Julius Caesar' is a triumphant success. He will become the rightful and acknowledged come the rightful and acknowledged leader of the American stage."

Otis Harlan in a Beautiful Operetta the Drawing Card For This Week.

The Alexandra Theatre, this week, will have as its attraction "Little Boy Blue," described as a joyous operetta. It is presented under the management of Henry W. Savage and is one of the largest theatrical organizations traveling. "Little Boy Blue" has had extended runs in the east, notably one of six months at the New Lyric Theatre, and has been most highly commended for its daintiness and class. Orig-inally produced in Europe under the title of "Lord Piolo," the book is by Rudolph Schanzer and Carl Lindau with music by a young Viennese composer whose work is becoming popular in his own country, by the name of Henry Bereny. Its adaptation for America was entrusted to A. E. Thomas and Edward Paulton, who gave it the title of "Little Boy Blue" from the fact that the famous Gainsboro painting, "Blue Boy," figures in the development of the story.

eretta take place in a famous Parisian cafe, and those of the second in Highlands of Scotland, consequently it partakes of the atmosphere of both localities, and is so bright and sparkling that it calities, and is so bright and spark-ling that it appeals to all classes of theatregoers. The story concerns the adventures of a wisp of a girl who masquerades as a boy, impersonating ther brother in order to save certain ancestral estates. She has another motive, a part of the double love story. Of course, she gets into many difficulties, but at the right moment the real heir appears and everybody is happy ever after. is happy ever after.

The company is headed by Otis Harlan, and the cast is practically the same as appeared during the New York engagement. In addition to Mr. Harlan, others are: Kathleen Clifford, who charmingly interprets the title role; John Dunsmure, Maude Odell, Franklyn Farnum, Kathryn Stevenson, Roland Hogue, Victor Kahn, and Charles Hines, Good looking boys and pretty girls form the singing and dancing chorus, the latter being especially attractive when they appear in regulation Scotch kilts. The music of "Little Boy Blue" is mostly Viennese in character, but there are several interpolated numbers and in one of the scenes a medley of those rare old melodic Scotch airs is introduced with soul-stirring effect.

Here Miss Russell is content to appear as a sentimental lady of a past generation, and should be a charming figure in the voluminous skirts, the dainty cap and mincing, exquisite sentimentality of the eighteenth century. Her fel-low-players will all enjoy the limelight of broader characterization, notably Oswald Yorke as Captain Absolute, George Giddens as Bob Acres, John Westly as Faulkaland, and Ffolliott Paget as Mrs. Malaprop. Miss Annie Russell has just brought to a happy conclusion one of the most ambitious projects of her professional career. With the endorsement and patronage of a group of distinguished men and women, Miss Russell under-took to give a season of nine weeks of English classical plays at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre, New York, and formed for this purpose a stock company, composed of players trainin the requirements of old Eng-comedy-vivacity, refinement, good on, and training. The two aspirants went staight ahead, however, and today their success justifies both their wisdom and their ambition. They play to crowded houses and are considered an event wherever they go. Their course, however, has not been devold of failure and discourage ment. Their experience with "Antony and Cleopatra" at the New Theatre in New York was far from happy. "Macbeth" has been a doubtful success from the artistic standpoint. Mr. Sothern's Shylock has been viewed askance in high quarters, especially when he first essayed the role; and certain phases of his Hamlet and Romeo have aroused displeasure. They will also run a tour from Toronto to Waterloo on the morning of July 1, in which between 200 to 300 of the boys will take part. It was also announced that four other clubs have already applied for affiliation with the new body, which will be decided at the meeting of the board of directors next week.

The Wanderers' Motorcycle Club commenced their schedule of weekly runs on Sunday with a very enjoyable run to Oshawa. About 25 enthusiasts met at the club-rooms at 9 o'clock and proceeded on their journey vis the Kingston road to Pickering, south to the base line, then on to Oshawa The roads were in fine condition for the time of year. The air was charp and bracing, but the ridgers had come prepared, and did justice to the viands set before them at their destination. The return trip was made in good time, and the boys all expressed themselves well pleased, and are patiently awaiting the call of the tour master for the next run, which will be to Jackson's Point, Sunday, April 27. The runs are conducted by the Wanderers' tour master, Herb, Hodgkinson.

The Teronto Motorcycle Club's regular meeting was held on Wednesday evening, and, after the minutes of the previous meeting were adopted, the balloting for new candidates was taken up. There were 43 applicants, who paid their fees, and were accepted, which brings the total new members for the month of April to 104, or a grand total of 446 for the club.

The secretary of the racing committee announced that the program for the 24th of May was practically completed, and that, after next Monday, the entry blanks would be given out.

A welcome visitor to the club was Mr. William Gladish, who for the last year has been assistant editor of The Motorcycling of Canego, but who has resigned that important to New York. He gave

J. MOON ATTENDS AUTOMO-BILE BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

A Definition of Automobile Service

This is a much talked about subject. Every dealer, every manufacturer, talks about it. Some are specific, some only suggest what it might be. This is our definition.

See if you do not agree that it is the most important in the consideration of your motor car purchase.

No man, no matter how experienced, can know what service any car will render. No two drivers operate their car alike. No two cars are called upon to render the same kind of service.

Machinery will wear out. It must be attended to, and some one expert, willing and broad in mind, must be there to see that the car gives the service you expect it to give.

A car must be built with a sufficient allow-ance to take care of the average demand made upon it,

No dealer can give service who is not succesaful. Motor car satisfaction is largely a matter of dealer satisfaction. To be able to give such service the dealer must make a profit. He cannot sell his cars at a discount. He cannot make unreasonable allowances for old automobiles in order to make a sale and have a profit left sufficient to give the service that should go with every motor car.

He must see the broader possibilities of conducting his business upon a service basis than is often found, especially among dealers whose only interest is in making the sale.

NO LOOSENED TREADS

SUNDAY MORNING

LARGEST AIR CAPACITY

Never Did Rim-Cut

Here's the story of a tire which has set all America talking because it set new standards in tire mileage and was the first and only tire to make freedom from skidding a realizable factor in motoring. This tire, which is patented by us, stands alone in the whole field of tiredom as the anti-skid without a rival for efficiency. It is the one tire in Canada which has a built-into tread. That exclusive feature alone saves Canadian motorists 30% of tire life.

Unique Construction

Have you ever noticed closely the construction of Dunlop Traction Tread? As many motorists say, this tire is the most stylish anywhere, yet every point in its construction serves a purpose, and, therefore, serves you.

"Classy" in Action

Have you noticed how under application of the brake, the "V's" of Dunlop Traction Treads act upon the wet or greaty pavement? Each "V" finds a footing, so to speak, passes off the greasy mud by means of its side channels, and finds dry pavement for each succeed-

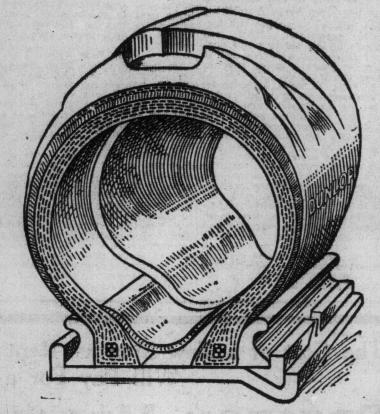

Other Tires Ineffective

Other so-called anti-skid tires just wiggle through the mud or over the asphalt-on chance. Each "button" or "wart" just pushes aside some of the grease for the next button to slide on.

No Loosened Treads

With Dunlop Traction Treads in service there is no "wave of rubber" being pushed ahead, as with other tires, because with Dunlop Traction Treads the tire runs along under pressure, each "V" expanding the maximum amount without touching the next "V." You see, there is a space between each "V" as big as the width of the "V" itself. This exclusive Dunlop Traction Tread feature prevents loosening of the tread, a defect in ordinary tires eating up 30 per cent.

Dunlop Traction Tread Straight Side Type

Most Envied Tire America

Air-Cooled Feature

The construction of Dunlop Traction Tread "V's" prevent neating of the tire tread when the car is going at high speed. It's a matter of common-sense that the greater you make the depth of your antiskid corrugation the greater opportunity you afford for the free passage of cooling air. Dunlop Traction Tread anti-skidding feature is made larger than that on any other tire in the world, because the tread of the master tire is built into place.

The Old Way

Other anti-skids merely possess a strip of rubber covered with "bumps," said strip being stuck onto the tire. Tou probably have noted with ordinary tires that all the "buttons," no matter their shape, are of one depth. This is because if the "buttons" of the stuck-on type of anti-skid were made big enough to really be effective they would air-fill in the process of manufacture and crumble away in first usage.

Comfort to Passengers

With Dunlop Traction Treads, no unevenness is felt by the passenger or driver. The deep, resilient rubber absorbs all shock, and removes altogether that consciousness of tire contact with the road, common to so-called anti-skids. Motorists tell us they notice how often different manufacturers have their cars equipped with Dunlop Traction Treads when they take the prospects out to demonstrate the comfortable riding qualities of the cars.

Exit to Skidding

That extra depth of rubber, an exclusive Dunlop Traction Tread feature, besides giving double tire life, absolutely ensures to the motorist a real anti-skidding feature, and a feature which lasts with the life of the tire. You know yourself that with ordinary tires the socalled anti-skidding virtues vanish after a few hundred miles of tire usage, then the rear tires are shifted to the front of the car to do "plain"

Passing of Punctures

Punctures are almost unknown to Dunlop Traction Tread Tires, because of the impenetrability of the combined depth of tread and heavy fabric wall. You see, Dunlop Traction Tread in use has approximately one inch space between that portion of the tire touching the road and that portion of the tire which contains the inner tube. No other tire in the world gives the user such protection from those obstructions on the road commonly found in motoring experience.

More Rubber--More Air

Dunlop Traction Treads are larger than any other tires made in Canada. Actual tests made in our laboratory show that users of Dunlop Traction Treads-or, for that matter, Dunlop Tires in general-get an average of 66 more cubic inches of air capacity. That means Dunlop Tires are larger than so-called "over-size" tires, or any other kind of

Never Did Rim-Cut

Two years' search for information from the men who know about rim-cutting in actual experience—dealers and motorists—proves that Dunlep Tires are the one make of tire which never did rim-cut. All the tires which come to our repair shops labelled; "Defect; rim-cutting," have some other maker's name moulded into them.

The Dunlop Line consists of Tires for Automobile, Motor Truck, Motorcycle, Bicycle and Carriage, Rubber Belting, Packing, Hose, Heels, Mats, Tiling and General Rubber Specialties.

MANY MILLIONS SPENT ON ROADS

Report of American Highway Association Shows Remarkable Growth Movement Has Achieved.

NEW YORK. April 26.—That there are nearly $400,000,000 of good roads onds issued and outstanding is indiated by the Good Roads Year Book of the United States, the 1913 edition of which has just been issued, containing a resume of the whole road situation. It is evident that whatver may be the faults in methods of construction and maintenance money is being spent in sufficient amount to bring about a vast improvement in

The Year Book shows $137,000,000 of state and road bonds authorized, and $156,000,000 of county roads outstandng on January 1, 1913. making a total of $293,500,000. As this is based on reports from about 75 per cent. of the counties in the United States, and as a large number of the individual townships have not reported, it is estimated that the amounts not reported would run the aggregate up to probably $350,000,000, to which should be added ten or fifteen million dollars of the bonds voted in 1912 which have not yet been issued.

Gratifying progress in road con-

Gratifying progress in road construction during the last few years is indicated by the statement in the Year Book that while the percentage of all road improvement in the United States at the close of 1909 was 8.66 per cent. the revised statistics to December 31, 1911, show an improved mileage of 10.1 per cent. or a net gain of 1.44 per cent. This does not sound so impressive in terms of percentage, but it means that in the two year period more than 34,000 miles of improved roads were constructed.

The American Highway Association, which issues the official Good Roads Year Book, has Logan Waller Page, director of the United States Office of Public Roads, as president. The chairman of its executive committee is W. W. Finley, president of the Southern Railway Company.

"In the double-cure tire, the carcass only, which is the fabric foundation of the tire, is made upon the iron core, which is then put into a full mold and partly vulcanized. After this has been accomplished, the tread is applied to the carcass and the vulcanization completed.

"The double-cure tires are made in two ways. First, after the carcass has been semi-cured, the tread is applied to the carcass before the carcass is removed from the core. It is then wrapped and the vulcanization finished. The Goodyear process, how-ever, is exclusive, in that the semicured carcass is removed from the core, the tread applied, then inflated upon a rim with an air bag inside, wrapped and vulcanized. This Goodyear process insures the completion of the vulcanization of the tire in exactly the same shape which it will have when in use, equalizing all the strains in the fabric, and reducing the possibility of fabric breaks and blow-

"Our opinions regarding these are as follows: The one-cure wrapped tread is the easiest method of manufread is the easies, themos of manufacture. It is usually employed by those companies who are young and inexperienced and meet with considerable difficulty; making the other two types without a large percentage of loss. The advantages of this method are that there is no danger of fabric pinching, but any inexperienced tire-maker can build the tire without defective workmanship showing in the finished product, which makes it the natural selection where skilled and experienced labor is not available. The disadvantages of this process are, that the fabric is not thoroly impregnated with rubber, that there is not sufficient pressure for proper vulcan-ization, and the tire tends to separate and disintegrate prematurely. can be overcome to some extent by using the highest possible quality of material. In common practice, how-ever, this process is usually selected by firms making unguaranteed tires. or low quality tipes, where the defects of this process are emphasized.

"The second, or full molded type of tire is the cheapest method from the standpoint of first cost, where the workmen are sufficiently skilled to avoid fabric buckles and pinches. Its disadvantages are, that the thin side walls and thick tread are subjected to the same heat for the same length of time, and the fabric and friction on the side walls are cured more than the fabric and friction on the tread. the most undercured portion of the whole tire being where the tread unites with the carcass in the centre. This tends to cause tread separation and tends to cause tread separation and fabric disintegration long before the tread has worn out, the consumer thinking he has a good tire one day, and having it go to pieces the next. In other words, it is not a well-balanced tire. Also, this process has the disadvantage that in case there is any fabric pinching or buckling, it is not apparent to the inspector, and large quantities of tires are liable to be manufactured before the defect is discovered. In many cases, the first covered. In many cases, the first knowledge of the defect comes to light when the tire is returned for replace-

PRESTON METAL GARAGE

Hamilton, Sept. 16th, 1912. The Metal Shingle & Siding Co., Preston, Ont. : Dear Sirs,-I received and have erected the Portable Garage ordered from you and feel that I should write and express my satisfaction in it. I have had a cement floor put in mine, and really it is one of the most complete buildings one would wish to see. Yours truly, (Sgd.) JOSEPH MORRIS 197 Sparks St., Ottawa, Ont., August 21st, 1912. Dear Sirs,—Since I re-ceived the Steel Portable Garage from you I have the greatest comfort and convenience with my car. I find the garage satisfactory in every way and recommend the same to any owner of motor car.

Yours very truly, R. MILTON GRAHAM, D.D.S.

ABSOLUTE PROTECTION FOR YOUR CAR

A Preston Metal Garage is the safest home you can have for your car, and the most satisfactory. It is fire-proof, lightning-proof, and weather-proof. You can erect it anywhere—its handsome appearance gives it a place alongside even the most expensive homes, while its cost places it within the reach of anyone who can afford a car.

Clip off the attached coupon and mail it to us. We will send you our catalogue and full particulars about these modern garages. If you are at present using a public garage, a few months' rent bills will pay the cost of a permanent home for your car.

Cheaper than wood, brick or any other structure, conforms to all building regulations, and costs nothing for upkeep.

Mileage Records make Sales Records

Tires are no longer bought for what they are; they are bought for what they will do. Men buy the tires that have given them the most mileage in the past. Men who have never used automobile tires ask to see their friends' tire-

Canadian Sales Jumping Along

In the Fall of 1910 we started to make No-Rim-Cut Tires in Canada. Our out-put was 25 tires a day. In scarcely more than two years after entering the Canadian market we have increased our tire out-put to 500 tires per day. In that short time from a standing start, we have jumped our total Canadian sales to over 90,000 tires. That is equipment for over 20,000 cars. It is clear that these Tires are saving money for amount of credit to the son of Bas-setlaw—Lady Betz, for undoubtedly grand-looking province-breds ferno, Slaughter, and Seismic, sons of Havoc, that won the much-coveted guineas for Joseph E. Seagram, president of the O. J. C. However, the performance of St. Bass in the race of 1911, when he galloped in a win-ner a dozen lengths ahead of Powof 1911, when he galloped in a winder a dozen lengths ahead of Powderman, his nearest competitor, and running the mile and a quarter in 2.08 4-5, establishing a new record for the event, 1½ seconds faster than it had ever been run before, fully justified all that had been said of him previous to race day.

of him previous to race day.

Now, many of the same experts

Consider Hearts of Oak a better-lookconsider Hearts of Oak a better-looking 3-year-old than St. Bass, and the same critics figure that, if nothing unforseen happens between now and race day this spring, he will win the historic event just as easily as did his near relative.

Comparing the two, there is not much difference in conformation, altho there is something indescribable that gives Hearts of Oak the appearance of possessing a little more finish in his conformation. His measurements are much the same as those of St. Bass when the latter was a 3-year-old, but it is disclosing no secret to say that Mr. Giddings considers his present candidate the better of the two. The big race is a month off, and many things that would change the complexion of things may happen between now and then, but, all being done by any of the horses now quarwell, the master of Cedar Grove, to say tered at the Woodbine they are all well, the master of Cedar Grove, to say the least, has a royal chance to repeat his success of 1911.

Hearts of Oak ran eight times as a 2-year-old, and scored four victories. His first start was in the Coronation stakes, at the spring meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club, and he won this valuable feature in the easiest tered at the Woodbine they are all getting useful work, and the trainers are well pleased with the conditions of the track which is rapidly getting good. With the Hendrie, Giddings and Davies horses all here and also many less pretentious stables, there is no lack of activity at the big track.

of the Ontario Jockey Club, and he won this valuable feature in the easiest possible manner, winning by five lengths, and running the 4½ furlongs in 56 3-5 seconds, over a heavy track. At the first Hamilton meeting he won a 5-8 of a mile race, off by himself, in 1.01 2-5. and at the next meeting in Hamilton, he won at 5½ furlongs, also easily, in 1.07 4-5. His first defeat came at Windsor, August 29, when, after being practically left at the post, the big alt finished third to his stablete, Ondramida, and the Seagram dy, Battle Song. However, in this Ay, Battle Song. However, in this race, the colt gave a brilliant performance, after he did get under way, and he ran like a champion.

He was beaten at Montreal by Auster, but was giving the rivers of the property of the

As a rule, the arautumn meeting the Giddings' colt rival of the Seagram horses means was started against the crack youngsters of the year, and giving to each of the seven other starters. except the winner, Leochares, that was probably the best 2-year-old of 1912, he finished a good fourth, after showing the way nearly to the wire. Frabbergast and Tankard, in receipt of 8 and 7 pounds, respectively, finished second and third Cogs, Rifle Brigade, Lewin, and Afterglow, were in his wake, and, altho the track was sloppy. Hearts of Oak led at the half in 48 4-5 seconds. Two days later, in a race for home-breds he won by three lengths at 51/2 furlongs, over a heavy track. The most important point in a King's en the left-hand side of the shelves, and working down to the thinnest and smallest on the right, Sir William says:—

Who's Who in England SIR WILLIAM H. LEVER

"My next picture is of a lad of nine years of age, continually extending and adding to rabbit-hutches, and adding to rabbit-hutches, and the same statement of the same and adding to rabbit-nutches, and conceiving the idea that to put four inches of soil on the top of the rabbit-hutches and plant wheat would enable him to grow a crop of corn for his rabbits. Needless to say, this attempt to reveal a project the rabbit and the to revolutionize argriculture proved a miserable failure, otherwise we might have had the tops of the barns and farm buildings all over the country adding thousands of acres to the cultivable area of our farms.

"My next recollection is of the grocery business, and of a youth of sixteen cutting and wrapping soap. My next is of a youth of twenty arguing with his father that it was bad economy to keep him (the youth) glued to next is of a youth of twenty arguing with his father that it was bad economy to keep him (the youth) glued to an office desk making out invoices, which work could be done by another youth of similar age for 20s. a week, whilst the son could be put on the road est a commercial translation to England.

LONDON, April 26.—The eldest bachelor in the country is Mr. Robert Crichton, of Caterham, Surrey, who is just 101 years of age.

A native of Perthshire, he went to Australia over seventy years ago and joined his brother and sister in run-whilst the son could be put on the road as a commercial traveller, to solicit orders. The son, in his youthful enthusiasm, felt quite capable of doing this, for which a salary of £150 to £200 a year would have to be paid.

First Beginnings.

"My next recollection is of a young"

Mr. Crichton enjoys splendid health for a man of his great age. He was able to play billiards at ninety-seven. He is a teetotaler, a non-smoker, and can never remember having taken medicine. He is descended from the family to which "The Admirable" Crichton belonged.

La Brasillana,

Beautiful Society Wedding in London Honorable Diana Lister Marries Percy Wyndham at one of the most picturesque figures in the business world is that of Sir warried, making arrangements with a soapmaker to produce for him a soap to his own ideas called 'Lever's Pure Honey Soap.' My next is of the same young man as a commercial traveller, who one day in the year 1876 had, owing to various causes, finished his calls on that particular day as early in the afternoon as 3.30, and was depart headway he has made is due entirely to his own exertions. CURE SKIN TROUBLES BY CLEANLINESS.

Perhaps you would be surprised to learn that one of the most efficient methods of curing bad complexions, and some of our very common skin troubles, is by the use of simple pure water. Isn't it reasonable to suppose that if you remove the cause of bad complexions and skin troubles you will cure the disease? By applying ointments, pastes and powders to the skin you are not removing the cause, you are merely trying to cover up the effects. To remove the cause you must clear your system of the terribly poisonous waste that accumulates in the human body. This waste clogs in the lower intestines and generates poisonous matter, which is absorbed into the system, permeates the blood and displays itself not only on the surface of the skin, but in various ways that cause illness more or less serious.

the surface of the skin, but in various ways that cause liness more or less serious.

This commonsense treatment we speak of is Dr. Charles A. Tyrrel's J. B. L. Cascade, now recommended by the best physicians and used by over $00,000 people. If you are a sufferer from any of these skin tortures profit by the experience of Wm. DeVoy, 702 Seventh Avenue, Lethoridge, Alta., who writes as follows; "I feel it my duty as a thankful patient to express my enthusiasm for the great blessing the J. B. L. Cascade, has been to me. Previous to using it I could not go a day without a drug of some sort. Since using it I have not, on my word of honor, swallowed five cents' worth of drugs. I spent over $800 in the two years previous to hearing of the J. B. L. Cascade. Would that all young men and women I see in this town with their faces covered with horrid, unsightly pimples might use it. They would won get rid of them as I did." with their faces covered with horrid, unsightly pimples might use it. They would soon get rid of them as I did."

Mr. James Stopford, M. P., a brilliant young man of London, Eng., is about to visit Lady Heatherington, and ask her hand in marriage. He halls a cab and is startled to find it is already occupied by a beautiful young lady, who is apparently under the influence of a drug. Stopford endeavors to rouse her and learn her identity, but his only reward is the remark that she must catch the boat-train at Charing Cross at 9.15 for Paris, and then for Monte Carlo. Rather than leave her to the mercy of the authorities he decides to take her to his apartments. Stopford retires for a short time to dress and finds on returning the mysterious girl has disappeared, also a letter and small package containing a present for Lady Heatherington. Lady Heatherington's father, Major Rawton, calls on her with the object of borrowing money and shows keen anxiety at the prospect of her marrying Stopford. Miss Mimosa Varles, a distant connection, also calls with the same object in view. When Stopford arrives later he has difficulty in concealing his surprise on finding Lady Heatherington wearing his intended present. They go to the opera and Stopford leaves for a short time, presumably on business, but in reality to go to Charling Cross and learn more of the mystericus girl of the cab. He returns later in the evening in a very nervous frame of mind, and Major Rawton, draws their attention to a diamond earring later in the evening in a very nervous frame of mind, and Major Rawton, draws their attention to a diamond earring pinned to Stopford's coat. The ornament is identical to a pair owned by Lady Heatherington, but which she has left at home, locked in her jewel box. They part later in the evening, both greatly affected by the mysterious happenings of of the past few hours. Stopford is awakened next morning by the jangling of the phone and a summons by Major Rawston to come immediately to Lady Heatherington, but which she has left at home, locked in her jewel box. "Yes, yes, I know," she interrupted, drying her tears. "But listen, and I'll tell you what I've arranged. I'm going to employ a private de-tective, place the affair in his hands—a thoroly reliable man."
"Yes. And suppose he fails?"

"Well, then, I suppose I must inform the Hetherington family. But you'll be my husband, they couldn't suspect you then. And the jewels will be found; I know they'll be found.

She looked at him with tear-stain. And with it the terriole fear that, in spite of what Mary had said, she was responsible for the missing jewels.

CHAPTER VII.

Stopford had been the best part of two days in Monte Carlo without being able to trace Mimosa. From the hour of his arrival he had started to look for her; but it was his first visit to Monte, and, altho the town, set like a tiny jewel in the blue of the sea, was small enough, yet its white villas, and innumerable hotels, perched on the rocks among the trees and climbing the sides of the mountain itself, were bewildering.

On the first night Stopford just looked into the Casino, tho he did not feel like facing the picturesque crowd there, and, moreover, it seemed the last place where he would find Mimosa.

Instead of laughing at the act of the young man the selfish woman flew into a white heat of passion and declared she would leave at once.

An Encouraging Message

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the torture due to female troubles and the consequent despondency and mental agony almost to the point of despair, and I have been restored from this condition to a state of vigorous health, and to the happy, exhilarating frame of mind which accompanies physical well being. This change has been brought about wholly by the use of ORANGE LLY.

In addition I have had the privilege and pleasure of inducing multitudes of other suffering women to give ORANGE LLY a trial, and have received thousands of enthusiastic acknowledgments of the blessings it has brought to them. The following is a sample:

Truro, N. S., April 5, 1909.

knowledgments of the blessings it has brought to them. The following is a sample:

Truro, N. S., April 5, 1999.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—Your very kind letter was received yesterday. In reply to your question about my health. I am thankful to say that I am very well. As I have never given you a statement of my case you may be interested in it.

For several years I have suffered untold agony. This suffering was continuous, but I would have violent attacks every few weeks, each attack lasting several days. The first Sunday in November, I felt the pain increasing and so did not go to prayers. The rest of the family did go, and soon after the forcing down pains seized me and I had to remain on the floor until their return. I was in great pain all night and was very sick for a whole week.

Then Mrs. L. came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine. I got my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to write myself. (My doctor could do nothing for me.) I have used 5 boxes of ORANGE LILY, have had three months of good rest, and am now well, never better in my life. I have not had the old pains since. I often ask my husband if it is myself that is going around and doing my own work. I can scarcely believe it. It brings tears of joy to my eyes. I could shout it to all the world. I cannot speak enough in its praise, Your friend, MRS. E. H. F.

Receiving, as I do, dozens of such reports each day. I feel impelled to make known to my suffering sisters the merits of ORANGE LILY. It differs from other so-called remedies in that it is not taken internally. It is a strictly local treatment, and is applied directly to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissues, expelling the stagnant foreign matter which has been irritating the membrane and oppressing the nerves, and a growing feeling of physical and mental relief is noticeable almost from the start. It is a positive, scientific remedy and even if you use no more than the Free Trial treatment you will be very materially benefi

What they mean, no doubt, is that the same idea may be used as the foundation plan for fic ing itself to my attention during the first reading of this new book by W. J. same foundational hypothesis. same foundational hypothesis.

To put the situation baldly: The novelist places a young girl in some conditions or circumstances which secude her almost entirely from the life of the outside world; at a certain stage he projects her suddenly into that unknown region of experience. He has now to show how the new experiences react upon a character that is as yet react upon a character that is as yet unformed so far as it is concerned with the complexities of modern life.

Josephine Daskam Bacon handled this problem by imagining her heroine brought up on an isolated island not far from New York City; then by a sudden turn of fate cast her into the mazes of the great metropolis. The Williamsons employed the more hack-neyed plan of a convent training from infancy of the young lady, bursting the bonds by the revelation of noble parentage and the bestowal of a fortune.

We cannot linger in that lovely world. It would never make a story.
Remember we said John Risca was unhappily married. Because the mar-riage was one of unhappiness, the unwritten law of Stella's court had kept her from all knowledge of it. It must be recorded, however, that they (Risca and his wife) had been living apart for several years. But she still bore his name, and when she suddenly became a notorious and sensational figure in the press thru arrest and trial for abusing and torturing a young girl whom she had taken from the orphanage to act as maid of all work, Risca went to her defence. The case, nevertheless, was readily proven; she was found guilty of the most inhuman treatment and sentenced to prison for three weeks.

New Character-Creations.

This does not say that W. J. Locke has not given a fresh and original story. He has not only produced a distinctive setting but he has created several characters that stand out with that striking combination of personal qualifies that give living individuality to brain-creations of the novelist. Stellamaris, the involved girl; John Risca, the journalist; Walter Herold, the actor; and Unity Blake, the work.

Together.

Perhaps Herold saw what the outcome would be. Perhaps you see it. How could be. Perhaps you see it. How could John Risca break the unwrite and close friend of John Risca, the jurity in the little court. These are the persons intensely concerned with the closing action of this rather unusual life-drama. And the closing is particularly effective, developing altogether unexpected situations and purifying our minds with the exemplification of noble ideals. Taking it in its totality, W, J. Locke, has written nothing finer than this book.—Bell & Cockburn, publishers.

Of course the scandal did not seriously injure Risca's future as a jour-The earlier portion of the story nalist. He was too strong a man for that. It made him for a time more reserved and exclusive, but he could not forget it. Very soon after his return to London he decided to look up the child who had been so terribly maltreated. She was back at the orphanage in care of the Sisters-in-charge. And she was well cared for, but the atmosphere was so cold and formal and such a contrast to that of another invalid's room he had in mind that he soon decided to have her removed as n as possible, and Unity Blake, the waif, was shortly afterwards sent to Southcliff to convalesce. Strict or-ders kept her from any possible contact with the Kingdom of Stella-maris, and altho by an accident Unity one day made her way into Stella's room she was speedily sent away and another sort of fairy tale manufactured to account for her presence.

John Adopts Unity.

Next comes the adoption of Unity as John's ward, for John had an eccentric sense of honor and felt bound to the book not exceeding 75 words in who bore his name. Out at Croydon lived his anut, Gladys Lindon. It was Herold's forethought that suggested ng about a maiden aunt and

Tribute to Bliss Carman

Unique in conception, tasteful in design, and sincere in its tribute, is a commemorative booklet issued on the occasion of the fifty-second anniversary of the nativity of the Canadian poet, "the sweetest lyrist of all America"—Bliss Carman; who was born April 15, 1861.

Only one hundred copies of this brochure have been printed. These are numbered, and autographed by the contributors. R. H. Hathway pens an earnest and appreciative "tribute"; Dr. J. D. Logan contributes "An Epistle in Verse"; Newton Mactavish becomes prophetic in "A Forecast"; E. J. Hathaway explains "The Printer's Part." And those of us who have the courage and good taste to appreciate true poetry whether it be written by living Canadians or by long departed literary demigods will thank these "four admirers" for their kindly thoughtfulness in conveying thru their words our unspoken but heartfelt co-tribute.

The notoriety and scandal struck John Risca hard. He felt that he had come to the end of his career so far as England was concerned and made white the solution: Stella Blount, rapidly recovering from her This gives us the dramatic factors as England was concerned and made up his mind to leave, to go to Australia. His friend Herold opposed, but in vain. To his entreaties John replied: "Who on God's earth really cares for me except yourself? It will be a wrench parting from you, but it has to be." Herold spoke of Stellamaris." She is only a child," said John. "She'll soon forget," and when asked about bidding her farewell, said he would write. "You'll be doing a damnably cowardly thing," urged his outspoken band; John Risca, the erratic, honorable, loveable, big clumsy giant of a man, tied ot a creature of villainy, lov-ing, almost unknown to himself, that pure and fragile girl now growing into strong womanhood; Walter Herold, true and close friend of John Risca,

2-WHAT PLANTS EAT.

THE DAY'S WORK

We were talking last week about the way plants store up their food in bulbs and tubers. To a certain extent, they do the same thing in the seed, but the young plant soon absorbs all the food of the seed-leaves and begins to draw on another store—the soil. Seeds may be made to germinate in wet sand or sawdust or between moistened layers of blotting paper or cloth; but the growth will soon end if no soil is at hand for the roots to reach and fasten into.

Upon burning up plants, or wood which comes from large plants—for trees may be so regarded, we find an ash left, or ashes, as we call it. Indeed, one of these chemicals, potash, is obtained by the burning of large quantities of seaweed. The analysis of the ashes from plants shows that potassium nitrate (nitre or saltpetre), sodium chloride (common salt), calcium sulphate (plaster of Paris), magnesium sulphate (Epsom salts), calcium phosphate, and chloride (or sulphate), of iron, are constituents of the food supply of plants. Mr. R. Gourlay McKenzie, the Scotch baritone and teacher of singing had the pleasure of a long interview with Mr. John McCormack when he was in the city and they both having studied in Milan under the same renowned master, Sig. Sabatani, they recalled many pleasant reminiscences of student days. Mr. McCormack expressed himself in hearty accord with the system and methods being used by Mr. McKenzie as he continues to follow those used by their old master, which methods have made Mr. McCormack and others famous. A very enjoyable concert was given in the German Lutheran Church last Monday evening, at which Frau Martha Mayer-Herber and Herr August Meyer, two operatic singers just from Germany, where for a number of years they sang in the opera at Carls-bad, sang for the first time before a Toronto audience. Frau Mayer-Herber has a beautiful alto voice, of Herber has a beautiful alto voice, of exquisite quality, mellow, and extensive in range. Her selections were: "An den Wassern von Babyion," Dvorak; and "Herzield," Goldmark, which afforded her an opportunity to reveal her excellent qualities as a public singer. In a duet with Herr Mayer she was equally successful. Miss Isabelle Eden, soprano, also sang two songs most acceptably; and Herr Henry Lautz, the well-known tenor and composer, was heard to great advantage in "Gebet," by Hiller, and "Ave Maria," by Kleinberger. The choir sang splendidly, and a great deal of credit is due Mr. Fritz Thiele, the organist, for the clever arrangement of the program, and the very capable way in which it was carried out. The first of a series of ensemble recitals by the Toronto College of Music was given in the Greek Theatre of the Margaret Eaton School last of the Margaret Eaton School last Thursday evening. Those taking part were: the Misses Marion Porter, planist; Olive Lloyd Casey, soprano; Dolie Blair, pianist; Mr. Roland Roberts, violinist, and Mr. F. S. Watson, 'cellist. The ensemble numbers were the Mendelssohn Trio in D Minor, Op. 49, and Reissieger's Trio in E Flat, Op. 77. Miss Porter played a group of solos, Miss Casey sang two arias, the first with 'cello obligato and the second with violin. The audience was large and demonstrative and the program was carried out artistically.

The many friends of Miss Lillian Lavine Hallighan will be delighted to hear of her success in London, where she has been singing at numerous fashionable musicales. At one of these she was heard by Mr. Albert Visetti, of the Royal College of Music, who sent her to Covent Garden, and, in a letter to her teacher, Mme. Olga de Nevosky, said: "I do hope Covent Garden will make satisfactory arrangements with your pupil, as she deserves every consideration." Miss Hallighan, who is now known as "Miss Lavine," sang recently at a choral concert in North Devon, of which the press says: "The special soloist engaged for both performances was Miss Lillian Lavine, the Canadian Nightingule. She is a vocalist of first-class reputation, and displayed her finely modulated voice to the great delight of the audience. In the tenderly exquisite parts her singing was melodiously beautiful, while in the more dramatic passages, there was no lack of power and expression. On a wall in Mrs. Hector Charles-worth's house hangs a very valuable steel engraving of John Bannister, the comedian for fifty years associated with Drury Lane. It is one of the most valuable of all her engravings and was made in 1787 by John Raphael Smith. A pompous-looking old fellow he was, this Bannister, with a decided Launcelot Gobbo chin. One would associate him with many brace of partridge and several nips of brandy.

Another very interesting engraving is the Carolyn Watson engraving of David Garrick, showing him in civilian dress, and round about him are representa-tions of the different characters in which he appeared. Old Shylock—how one involuntarily prefixes that name by the epithet "old"—with his money-bags, and his perpetual frown, and Moloallo, who courted milady's favor by the ludicrous addition to his costume of a cacy of handling required, also the unvalve of sun tipped exactlyings, held it. pair of sun-tipped stockings, held in place by the assistance of cross-garters!

Our Embroidery Design

DESIGN FOR TABLE RUNNER

Any material can be used but table runners are usually made in all white, tan or dark brown.

Transfer the pattern and outline all portions in and around the punch work dots. This must be completed before embroidering the punch work. Use a double or single thread of floss, just as desired, and only a single thread for the punch work.

This pattern would be very handsome if worked with rope silk. Work all silk parts first, then use linen thread or floss. D.M.C. white floss should be used on white linen.

The leaves and scroll effects should be embroidered in solid satin-stitch. Preserve the central vein in the flower by working from that line to the extreme edges of the leaves.

Heavy padding is not appearing in the newest embroidery. Instead the idea is to faithfully follow the contour of flower and petal to give a most natural effect.

To Transfer.

Put a cake of soap in a pint of hot water, stir vigorously; remove soap. Saturate the design with the mixture, then remove the excess moisture. Place the fabric to which the design is to be transferred on a hard, flat surface and lay the design face down on the material. Cover with a dry sheet of thick paper and with the bowl of a table-spoon rub hard till the design is transferred, being careful to rub from rather than toward you.

Do not wet the material or rub the face of the design with damp fingers. To remove the design after the article is complete wash in warm water, with soap.

Tea tasting can well be called one of the fine arts. A man who can taste several hundred cups of tea a day, and, by his keen senses, detect the slightest difference between them, and, blindfolded, car tell where each and every tea was grown, not only the country, but the particular district, and often the very plantation—such a man is the professional tea taster.

The head man in our Red Rose tea room, Mr. W. R. Miles, is a master in his profession. He learned the business in London, Eng. and is a tea taster by right of birth, as both his Father and Grandfather were tea tasters. It came natural to him and he is recognized as one of the best judges of tea in America.

He and his assistants do nothing but taste the teas and superintend the blending. You will like the rich, smooth flavor of

An ordinary bread pudding or a simple lemon pie may be greatly improved in appearance by the addition of beaten white of egg and sugar, baked on the top until a delicate brown. Such a mixture is known as a "meringue." Sometimes this meringue is tough, sometimes it liquefies and falls, but when properly made and baked it should be delica ...ly colored and firm enough to hold its shape when cut.

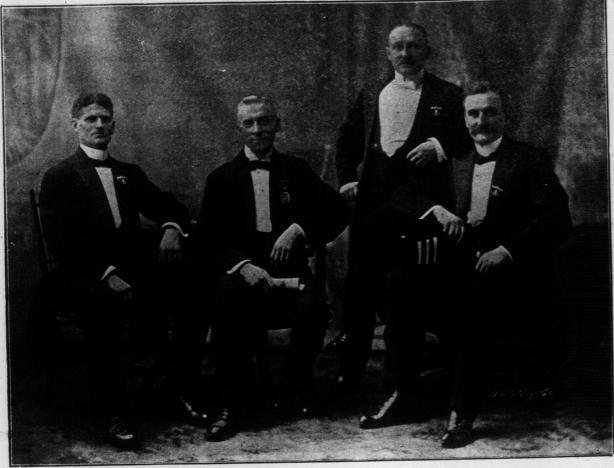

Just how this is accomplished? Well, in making meringues the points to be considered are these: Have the eggs cold, and do not beat until ready to bake them. Then beat thoroughly and add sugar carefully, so that no air once incorporated escapes. Have a slow or moderate oven, and bake the meringue long enough to color delicately and be-come firm; but not too long, as it will then become tough.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN You can eliminate one source of your "stocking expense." You can wear O.M.C. Hose Supporters and do away with the ripping and tearing which the ordinary supporters cause.

You can also avoid untidy or "loose" stockings by wearing C.M.C. Hose Supporters, fitted with a clasp that never accidentally comes un-done. Yet, on the other hand, it is the easiest and quickest clasp to adjust that was ever devised. The C.M.C. clasp grips like a vise with smooth, even surfaces that don't tear or slip, and never let go.

In the ten years that the C.M.C. Hose Supporter has been on the market millions of Canadians have worn them continuously, and are prepared to endorse their superiority.

Hose supporters, though small things in themselves, can cause considerable "stocking expense" and personal inconvenience if not properly constructed, therefore—
