MAY DAY MAY SEE THE REVOLUTION.

Russia in a Panic--Prisons Filled to Overflowing--Wealthy People Going Abroad--There Was no Naval Battle--Gorky Will Not Be Tried.

TOKIO, April 14.--Noon--The naval department pronounces the reports of a naval engagement recently off Saigon to be unfounded.

Tokio, April 14.--3 p. m.--The following official announcement was made today: "Our force advancing eastward via Fuhai and Hailing road, encountered and defeated the enemy on the morning of the 12th at Erhhoula, seven miles east of Yingpin. The enemy's strength was one regiment of infantry, six squadrons of cavalry and four guns. Our forces then occupied Tsangshih, about 19 miles west of Yingpin. The enemy, in retreating toward Hailing, fought at every step. The enemy on the Kirin road had gradually retreated since the eleventh, a portion of this force still retaining to bar the passage of the Yushu river. No change has occurred in the Changsu or Fakhmen districts except occasional cavalry skirmishes."

Beware of May Day.

St. Petersburg, April 14.--Developments all point to a crisis in the present agitation among the workmen of the cities and the peasants in the country on May day, and appeals are pouring in from all quarters of Russia for military protection.

The St. Petersburg workmen are preparing for a great demonstration. Arms and bombs in large quantities have been smuggled in and hoarded on a large scale is feared. Wealthy persons who ordinarily go to villas on the islands of the Neva or to neighboring country places this year are going abroad. The government has taken for some months past to meet the situation, evidently relying on the troops and police to guard the capital.

Alarming News.

The news received from the interior is alarming, especially from the Baltic provinces, where the entire population is in a state of intense excitement. The cities are being flooded with revolutionary proclamations, calling on the people to rise on May day. The criminal classes are taking advantage of the situation to pillage and plunder, while in the country the landlords are powerless to cope with the peasants and demand the stationing of troops at every station.

BURNED 300 BUILDINGS.

Springvale, Maine, Almost Wiped Out This Morning--A $100,000 Fire in New York.

Springvale, Me., April 14.--The greater portion of Springvale, together with many dwellings, was destroyed by fire today, amounting to loss estimated at about $100,000. Fire apparatus sent by the Portland department arrived in time to prevent the entire town from being obliterated. The fire started early in the day in the boot and shoe factory on Oak street owned by the W. H. Fisher & Son Co. of Newburyport, Mass., and spread rapidly to a group of wooden buildings in the vicinity.

Reform Begins.

Tiflis, Caucasus, April 14.--A proclamation of Count Von Vorontsoff-Dashkoff, the new governor general of the Caucasus, was gazetted today, announcing that in accordance with the intention of Emperor Nicholas the governor general will, when he assumes office, convolve conferences of representatives of all the towns, peasant communities and Orthodox, Armenian and Mahomedan churches, with the view of concerting measures for the establishment of public security, defining the amendments necessary to the judicial procedure of the Caucasus and introducing zemstvo administration.

Will Not Try Gorky.

St. Petersburg, April 14.--On account of the condition of his health and the fact that the evidence against Maxim Gorky is not strong, the government has decided not to try him.

Arrived at Sargon.

Manila, April 14.--Rear Admiral Train, in command of the American fleet, to Asiatic waters, received a telegram at three o'clock this afternoon, from Saigon, the capital of French Cochinchina, reporting the arrival there of the Russian hospital ship Orel, at eight o'clock on Thursday morning, of April 13. The Orel had many wounded on board.

Russians at Kirin.

Tokio, April 14.--It is reported that the main force of the Russians which retired in the direction of Harbin, closely in touch with the Japanese vanguard. The main force, which retired from Kirin, is reported at Kirin, with a rear guard of eight thousand men at Jichow, Haklusu and at Suifu, keeping in touch with the Japanese force. Chang Cheng is evidently the rallying point for the Changtia and Fakumen forces. Although a force, estimated at 15,000 men has been detailed to occupy Penchua and 8,000 men to hold Panchuan, the latter force seems assigned check and retard the Japanese advance.

RAILWAY MEN WELL PLEASED.

Ottawa, Ont., April 14.--(Special.)--The manager of the Union Telephone Company of New Brunswick has been summoned to give evidence before the special parliamentary committee now looking into this question. The Intercolonial and Prince Edward Island railway men have returned home, all well pleased with their visit to Ottawa.

NOTICE.

The citizens are hereby warned that spring is due to arrive, officially, in a short time, and that they must make provision for the proper disposal of garbage. The dumping of garbage on any of the public dumps of the city is prohibited. As no incinerator has been provided, the method of destruction is not available. It has therefore been enacted by the city council that on one day of each week the citizens shall abstain from their ordinary food, and eat the garbage of the preceding week.

The Saxon Pirate, A.D. 449. "After the withdrawal of the Romans, in addition to the Scot-cum-Pict troubles in Britain, others arose in the shape of the Saxons, who descended upon the East Coast and established themselves in the country."

SHOULD BE A WARNING.

Death Came Near to Unknown Man on Midland Railway Last Night.

Truro, N. S., April 14.--(Special.)--A fatal accident was narrowly averted on the Midland railway last night on the train leaving Windsor at five o'clock. About ten miles out of Windsor, Driver McCurdy saw a man lying on the track, he reversed the brakes, and stopped within three inches of the body. The man was found to be dead drunk, and had it not been daylight, he would have been crushed to death. The man was removed, but it was impossible to arouse him. Section men were sent to take care of him. His name is not known here.

FOR MORE BRIDGES.

Estimates to the Extent of $300,000 Brought Down Last Night.

Fredricton, April 13.--(Special.)--Estimates for the permanent bridges amounting to $300,000 were brought down in the house last night. They included an item of $68,000 for steel bridges to be erected across the St. John River at Pokiesing Windsor.

Both of Them Richly Deserved Their Fate--A Sensational Break.

Lester was fatally shot Max Wollenberg last June, while attempting to escape after being detected in the act of robbing Wollenberg's store in this city. He was captured after a long and exciting chase, in which many shots were fired.

Meats and vegetables will be about the same price as last week, while eggs are reported very plentiful and prices dropping considerably. Butter is scarce and the good article remains high. EBEN PERKINS WON HIS CASE.

Liquor License Commissioners Each Fined $40 or One Month For Violating the Law--Case to be Appealed to Supreme Court.

Eben Perkins has gained his case against the liquor license commissioners.

The case was again before Judge Ritchie this morning, and judgment was delivered against the defendants who were fined $40 each or one month's imprisonment. W. H. True-man who appeared for the defence announced that the matter would be appealed to the Supreme court. His honor carefully reviewed the evidence that had been given in the case and referred to the circumstances under which the license was granted. The liquor license commissioners could under the conditions of the act have issued an extension of the Harris license to Colohan, but not to Savage. If this had been done on special grounds there was nothing in the evidence to show what they were.

The Times New Reporter.

Mr. Jamesey Jones did not tender for the waterworks contract. He was unable to learn whether the lowest tender would be accepted or to get a definite assurance that his would be accepted if it were not the lowest. "But," said Jamesey, "I may shall abstain from their ordinary food, and eat the garbage of the preceding week."

This method of disposal has been decided upon as the most expeditious and satisfactory. It shall be the duty of the police to report all cases of infringement or violation of this by-law. The board of health has instructed its officials to cooperate with the city council. If a man is found with garbage in his whiskers it will be accepted as evidence that he is endeavoring to obey the law, but will not necessarily be accepted as conclusive.

Those weary Titans, Wun Lung and the Daungyong, are sadly wondering when they will be relieved of their burden.

It has been suggested by an ardent pro-Britannian that the new ferry steamer be named the Nebagotoff. She is certainly in no hurry to get off or on.

JAPS KNEW ALL ABOUT IT.

The Story of the Capture of an American Blockade Runner Bound For Vladivostok.

Seattle, Wa., April 14.--In a letter written to a friend in this city, Ot-tawa, chief engineer of the Northwestern S. S. Company's steamer Tacoma, which was captured by Japanese cruisers, while attempting to run the blockade to Vladivostok, dispels the mystery which has surrounded the history of that craft, since leaving this port on Jan. 6th.

Daniels states that the officers of the steamer knew that they were bound for the Siberian port, and that their cargo was contraband. He says that some of the officers were only prevailed upon to make the voyage by the promises of the Russian agent aboard the steamer. The crew did not know their destination until the steamer reached

A FATAL FROLIC.

Atlanta, Ga., April 14.--A special to the Constitution from Swainsboro, Ga., says that at a frolic a few miles in the country a negro, whose name is not known, fired a rifle into a room in which 40 or 50 negroes were dancing, killing two women and one man. He then made his escape.

WANT CHANGE IN CHEESE WEIGHING.

Montreal, April 14.--(Special.)--Hon. Sidney Fisher, is in the city today in conference at the board of trade, in re the system of weighing cheese. It is claimed the present system is unfair, and the government is being asked to change it.

BIG STRIKE THREATENED.

New York, April 14.--[The board of governors of the local building employers association fail to end the lock out of the carpenters, which has been on for some months, national president Huber of the brotherhood, who is now in New York, threatens to order a national strike of the brotherhood men on all the contracts of members of the employers' association in other cities.

SNOW IS SO DEEP HUNT MUST BE POSPONED.

Newcastle, Colo., April 14.--With the snow two feet deep in every direction from the camp, and from three to five feet in the hills, and the snow storm still continuing, President Roosevelt will be compelled to delay his hunt here or content himself with smaller game than he originally had expected to hunt.

The Crimson Slipper.

BY DORA LANGLOIS,
Author of "A Bolt from the Blue," "The Red-headed Woman," "The Kiss of Justice," "The Secretary's Daughter," "Victoria's Dream," etc.

"I shall do myself the pleasure of seeing you off," he replied. "That is sufficient for the present. Candidly, I am under the impression that you are a woman of no small character, and where no doubt, you have business to transact. If you think of returning to town, we may possibly meet again."
I understood from this that some one was known to me, by sight, would be on the train, and that a new set of men would be posted at the station. I started wildly.
"Very well. But I warn you you are wasting time in shadowing me. There is no necessity in giving details of the gloomy journey that followed. I experienced all the pleasing sensations of the thief, who sees an easy railway car on offer. But as it was over, and at a few minutes past six in the morning, I got out at South-western station, and commenced to walk through the first fog of the season towards Elsinore.
The station was some distance from the village, but not very far from the creek. I strolled along, I caught sight of a tall, fine figure in front of me, robed in grey. My pulses quickened with a sudden leap. I recognized, or thought I did, in the woman ahead of me, the woman of my night adventure on the road.
Why had she been silent so long? By and she failed to carry out the message she had uttered? I was too eager to head the warning. "Let sleeping dogs lie," and I followed her until I reached her side. I laid my hat and said:
"So you always take your capstool very early or very late?"
An angry glance from a pair of grey, deep-set eyes, told me I was not in her identity as she assumed.
"I don't know you," I said.
"Don't you know me?" she asked. "I am Mrs. Mont- gomery's maid," she answered.
"What of it?" I said. "I should like to know when you intend to tell that interesting story about the shoe you saw Mrs. Montgomery lose? I'm anxious to learn if you mean to try to identify her and me with the murder of your late friend, Mr. Danvers?"
She turned on me at once with flashing eyes, and looking straight at me, she said:
"Don't you try to identify me with that man," she cried. "He was no friend of mine, you know. I would not like to know such a fellow, although I am only a servant. I won't have my character blackened by you saying I had anything to do with him."
"Very well," I responded. "Then I've made a mistake, that's all, and Mrs. Montgomery must have two personal attendants who resemble each other strangely. Good-morning."
"What an extraordinary change of front!" I said to myself, as I walked on, looking back at her.
"I know I'm not mistaken in her identity. Has calm reflection shown her the folly of making her own character by admitting her intimacy with the deceased? If so, it's a great stroke of luck for Mrs. Montgomery. Fortunately for her, I don't care much either way. I've other things to look into. How was that desk tampered with? What had Monting been up to? I hardly think that he was bribed to do it himself, but I fancy he has been entertaining friends while Herman and I have been out of the way. I must certainly get rid of the fellow."
He was at the front door when I reached Elsinore, and being clearly still on his dignity, merely acknowledged my nod and asked how soon I would like some breakfast.
"As soon as possible," I answered, and went into the smoking room. There on a table, supposed to be exclusively set apart for my use—a table standing by the wall opposite the big French window—was the desk, the key hanging by a string to one of the silver handles. Taking it for granted that the man who abstracted the paper had come into the house by invitation, it still puzzled me to think how he had had time to search the desk so thoroughly as to find what Miss Densell's lawyer had missed. I untied the string, opened the desk, and saw the modus operandi at a glance. The interior of the desk was wrecked!
Not a scratch on the outside told the tale of the treatment it had received. When opened as for writing the two half-lids still remained intact, but the divisions between the inkwells and the pen-tray were knocked out, and all the woodwork of the interior compartments had been thoroughly treated. There, in a confused heap at the bottom of the desk, lay all those cunningly-fashioned pieces of wood, cut by the finest joiners in the world, which had made the desk such a unique possession. The motifs "thorough" had been followed with a vengeance. My property was thoroughly ruined, the man who has handled it thoroughly convinced that he had left nothing behind.
I shut the desk, and was about to lock it when a voice made me turn. "Good-morning, Duncan. I'm glad to see you back."

It was my friend Herman in his dressing-gown who greeted me thus cordially. He had returned during my absence, it seemed, and I had had doubtless rushed up to wake him with the information that I had turned up as unexpectedly as I had departed.
"Yes, I ran up to town after the sale at the Barrows," I stammered, feeling a strong disinclination to tell my adventures, and a nervous dread of being questioned about them.
"The sale? Oh, yes, you bought that desk there, I suppose," he remarked. "It's a handsome article. Did it cost much, Duncan?"
"Not what it was worth," I answered. "It isn't mine, it's Miss Densell's. I'm anxious to keep it until she wants it."
I made this unnecessary statement, which was but half truth, in the careless way in which men speak when they are so intent on not revealing one thing that they incautiously say too much about other matters. In point of fact I was talking so that something might appear reserved, and that is a very dangerous practice.
I was sorry the moment after because it suddenly struck me that I must not let Miss Densell have the desk. I must not allow her to be connected with it in any way; but I had done later on to regret my incautious remark for a much graver reason.
"You—you won't mind my asking you not to mention that I got it for Miss Densell?" I inquired.
"Well, of course she couldn't bid for it herself, you see."
"Of course not," he interrupted me kindly, "and naturally I shan't mention the matter. I'm very glad you've got back, old fellow. Good-night!"
I half feared you had had some bad news, that something had happened that might detain you for some time, and I feared that I was in for a stay here by myself.
"No bad news, nothing special. You work away, and I just thought I'd run up to town for a few hours. When did you get back yourself?"
"Only yesterday afternoon," he replied.
"But I got off as soon as I could. I thought you'd get hipped all alone here. I know I should, but I trusted myself. I'm a little nervous, but I'll be back in time to try to keep my hand from trembling. This was Saturday morning; the sale had taken place on the night before, and I had the house in a moment. Mistakenly, I had mistaken the friend or friends who had wrecked the desk. He had made a late sitting of it of course after Mrs. Foreman had retired, for it was impossible to suspect her of good steady-going soul, of encouraging any Bohemian tendencies. Thus the man who found the paper had been scurrying to town in time to put me to utter confusion on Friday night.
Just then Monting came in to announce breakfast, and my uneasiness would not ask any questions as to the business that had taken me to town, while he was in the room.
"For the moon this morning, or do you want a rest, Duncan?" Herman demanded, when the meal was over.
"I've got a call to make, if you'll excuse me, old fellow," I answered.
"All right," he said cheerily. "I'll be back to lunch, and then perhaps I'll join me."
He left me, and at about eleven o'clock I set out for South-western station, determined to see Mrs. Montgomery and give her clearly to understand that if she returned to help me, she should be treated as an intruder on my promised silence altogether.
It was early, of course, but I was right in thinking that she would not refuse to see me, or keep me waiting long at the desk. TRIENNIAL CONVENTION. Mrs. Robert Thomson Among Speakers at Women's Council in Washington.

Washington, April 12.—Mrs. Mary Wood Swift, the president, called the National Council of Women together yesterday to begin the work of its fifth triennial meeting. Sessions were opened at 10 o'clock Friday. There were three sessions of the council. In the morning there were various incidental matters attended to; in the afternoon the annual address of Mrs. Swift was followed by reports from various affiliated organizations; and in the evening greetings were heard from a number of prominent women interested in the betterment of childhood and womanhood, including Mrs. Walter Barrett, Mrs. Flo Jamison Miller, Mrs. Frances E. Burns, Susan B. Anthony, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, Rev. Anne Howard Shaw, Mrs. May Wright Sewall and Mrs. Elizabeth B. Grannis.
Mrs. Flo Jamison Miller, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Lillian Hollister, national treasurer, made reports for the various councils all over the world stand pledged in destroying the "white slave traffic." What have you done for this line of work as a council? she asked. "How far are we responsible, when we willfully shut our eyes to the things that are wrong?" She spoke of conditions existing in the factories, instancing notably the glass factories of Illinois, where, she said, hundreds of children are toiling for a mere pittance, and of the importance of the juvenile court, and asked that the council look to the care of dependent and delinquent children. She eulogized the philanthropic deeds of Mrs. Leland Stanford, in a report from the National Women's Association. Rev. Anna Shaw said the organization was larger than ever before. Reports were made by Mrs. Elizabeth B. Grannis of the National Christian League for the promotion of social purity and the Amanda Beye of the Universal Peace Union. Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead, the president of the Army and Navy Suffrage Association, in a speech declared that international duelling or armed peace, even if it is necessary to the economic life of today. This remark prompted Rev. Anna Shaw to declare that both the boy and girl should be taught a love of peace, and not a love of fighting.
Mrs. Mead, resuming, went a little further in her advocacy of peace, and said, referring to the boys, that she would not be surprised to see the Army and Navy forever. This remark was taken up by Mrs. Flo Jamison Miller, who declared she believed in singing patriotic songs, and believed in peace, even if it is necessary to the economic life of today. This remark prompted Rev. Anna Shaw to declare that both the boy and girl should be taught a love of peace, and not a love of fighting.

A BUREAU OF NATURE STUDY

And its Value as Part of an Educational Course.

(New York Times.)
Evergreens of all kinds, holly and mistletoe, with mosses and fungi, woods with the nuts and seedpods which belong to them, birds and insects, with even a pretty little salt water aquarium made the big floor of Grammar school No. 137 at Grand and Ludlow streets, look like a Santa Claus bower last week, and the children belonging to the school are the proud and happiest in New York. The Nature Study Branch of the Public Education Association, with the aid of Mrs. John I. Northrop of the Nature Work Department of the Normal College, is giving one of its regular exhibitions and for the first time in this city.

THE EVENING TIMES.

ST. JOHN, N. B., APRIL 14, 1905.

THE PEOPLE'S AFFAIRS.

If recent events in this city and province lead to a more active public interest in civic and provincial politics it cannot be said that the awakening has come too soon. There is always more of a tendency to grow excited over matters relating to federal affairs than over those which more directly and vitally affect the interests of the citizens.

It may be assumed that the League will not quit the field because its effort to bring about a change in civic administration was not crowned with success. The same exists now that existed when the League was organized. If the discovery has been made that the zeal of some persons for reform is confined upon the ascendancy of certain views and certain people rather than upon the declared views of a majority, there is a that discovery no cause for discouragement.

With regard to provincial affairs, the people of town and country are alike interested in the legislation adopted at Fredericton. St. John is not satisfied with the treatment given to its measures during the session just ended, and the action taken with regard to the Central Railway is likely to cause a good deal of comment throughout the province. If the people are aroused to take a deeper interest in provincial legislation, there will be less likelihood of the dissatisfaction in the future. It can be said that the opposition has covered itself with glory, any more than that the government has escaped criticism. St. John was surprised to observe that the leader of the opposition did not take a measure affecting this city.

In provincial as well as in civic politics there has been too much indifference on the part of the people at large. The professional politician is too much in evidence. There necessarily be men who devote their leisure time to such matters, but there should also be a strong, healthy and clearly expressed public sentiment, to indicate the channels of their activity, and to stimulate or check them in their administration of the general policy by the popular will. If the people are indifferent they cannot hope for improved conditions.

MAY YET AGREE.

There is still a possibility of closer trade relations between Newfoundland and the United States. A St. John's despatch of last evening says: "Premier Bond in the colonial legislature tonight added to the bill respecting American fishermen from coastal waters, a new clause providing for the suspension of the operation of the measure at the discretion of the government. In doing so he declared that he had reason to believe that before the next session of the legislature is convened the United States senate will have acted upon the Hay-Bond treaty, in which event it was desirable that the colonial cabinet should possess the power to move promptly for the suspension of the measure."

The force of this action by Premier Bond is more apparent when read in connection with the following correspondence from Washington, under date of April 12: "The Hay-Bond reciprocity treaty is not dead, and may be ratified by the Senate next fall, after having been relieved of the fatal amendments with which it was loaded during the late session. This assertion, made by a prominent official of the State Department, is supported by leading members of the Senate. Attention is called to the fact that the Senate's action on this treaty was no more final than its failure to act on the Dominican protocol. It is appreciated that Newfoundland is setting strictly within its rights in asserting the modus vivendi, and it is believed that the abrogation would work injury to the Gloucester fisheries and also to the fishing interests of Maine. It is claimed that if it is not these facts which may lead the Senate to reconsider its amendments, but the more important point that the broad statement of Secretary Hay in causing the treaty to be negotiated was not fully appreciated by the Senate when the amendments which promised to kill the treaty were adopted."

With the constant work of the session out of the way, and more time to examine the arguments in favor of the Hay-Bond convention, some of the best minds have come to appreciate the far-reaching effects of the tariff convention. They say that the treaty will doubtless be referred back to the Foreign Relations Committee and there shown of the objectionable amendments, and, if again favorably reported, a determined effort will be made to prevent any changes being made on the floor of the Senate.

When the treaty was first sent to the Senate, Secretary Hay clearly perceived, by consulting more closely the relations between Newfoundland and the United States, that the colony could be saved the necessity of entering into a commercial alliance with Canada, and this country could without material sacrifice, as every American industry, profit by the trade of Newfoundland in the many products of the United States which are not produced there. Closer union with Newfoundland would be an advantage to this country, and it was on the broader grounds that the President and Secretary of State asked the Senate to ratify the treaty. It is now declared that these reasons were not elaborated in the Senate, and that the full import of killing the treaty by loading it with amendments was not appreciated by those who insisted on so doing. One of the hopeful signs for the future of the treaty is that Senator Crane of Massachusetts will support it, and it is believed that Senator Hale, who opposed it during the last session, will withdraw his opposition. Senator Lodge has in the past regarded the treaty as negotiated as undesirable, and, as an influential member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, his opposition was all powerful, but now that his colleagues have determined to uphold the convention, it is hoped that conditions in Massachusetts have so changed as to enable the senator to exert his influence in its behalf, or at least to refrain from obstructing its ratification in such form as will leave an exchange of ratifications possible.

It is not generally known that the last ratification of the Hay-Bond treaty was due entirely to the wishes of President Roosevelt, Secretary Hay having desired the ratification of any reciprocity treaty by the Senate. The hope is expressed here that Newfoundland will not go too far at the present time, as such an action might render more difficult the task of the friends of the convention in securing its ratification.

Sir Mortimer Durand the British ambassador, it is stated, has been successful in his negotiations with the State Department regarding many of the pending questions between Washington and London regarding Canadian fisheries. The sending of warships to Canadian waters, it is claimed, has not been considered by this government.

A frightful slaughter of the innocents occurred at Fredericton in New Brunswick. St. John's fishermen were innocently enough to think that they could obtain legislation giving them some control over the street railway there, and introduced a bill to give their ideas effect. When that bill came out from beneath the influence of the lobby and the government its most ardent friends were unable to recognize it. The railway corporation had triumphed gloriously—St. Croix Courier.

The amendments to the liquor license law which were adopted by the legislature yesterday will be generally approved in St. John. With regard to the hour of closing for beer shops, there is a good deal of force in Mr. Maxwell's argument, as supplied to some of these places. Perhaps a more careful discrimination in the granting of licenses would operate effectively in securing observance of the law.

The statement in today's Times shows that the export of lumber from St. John to trans-Atlantic ports during March was larger than in March 1904. For the three months ending March 31st there was a decline of over 3,500,000 feet of spruce, but an increase of 225,000 feet of birch planks.

The American beef trust has replied to the charges against it by advancing the price of beef. It claims that the cattle owners are responsible. This may silence but will not soothe the consumer.

There is a sense of relief that the legislature has adjourned without any more railway or street railway legislation.

JOHNS SENT TO SUPREME COURT.

Manager of Defunct Yarmouth Bank Sent Up For Trial.

Yarmouth, April 14.—(Special)—The preliminary examination of T. W. Johns was resumed at 8 o'clock last evening. E. Stevens took the stand and gave practically similar evidence to that tendered by his brother, the prosecution rested here and Mr. Johns, having no defence to make at this stage of the proceedings, the presiding magistrate said that sufficient evidence had, in his opinion, been given to warrant him in committing Mr. Johns for trial in a higher court. Mr. Johns' bonds were renewed and the trial will probably take place here at the June sittings of the Supreme Court.

WHERE IS JACKSON?

Guest at an Up Town Hotel Takes a Hurried Departure.

Charles Jackson has "flawed" and left the Yarmouth house, leaving a considerable sum of money. His wife is now at police headquarters. Jackson was before the magistrate a few days ago, on a charge of stealing a quantity of clothing and other articles, and he was committed to prison on condition that he seek employment and take care of his wife and family.

THE DEAL COMPLETED.

There need be no more doubt but that St. John will have a first-class baseball team on the diamond this summer. Arrangements were made this morning for the complete control of the Victoria Athletic grounds by Joe Page's St. John team. The 10 year old Henri Delany Macdonald, the father resides on a Seaboard estate at Rignold, the mother in Montreal. The boy ran away from college to live with his mother, but was by order of the father put in the reformatory. Legal action is now taken by the mother to upset this commitment. The family is prominent in the province. Mrs. Macdonald being of the Globesky family.

W. J. Mahoney received a telegram this afternoon stating that Bishop Casey would leave Halifax by the I. C. R. train tomorrow morning and arrive home at 6.40 o'clock tomorrow evening.

FOR CHEAPER LIGHT. A project is under consideration by some of the principal merchants of King St., to install an electric light service, which would supply light to the stores at a lower rate than they are now paying the St. John Railway Co. Some of the dealers claim that the present rates are exorbitant, and it is contended that a plant could be put in that could furnish light at a much cheaper rate than at present paid.

Decide to Take Active Measures to Secure Government Land Grants.

The question of government land grants was discussed at a meeting of the New Brunswick Military Veterans Association held in Foresters Hall, last night.

J. S. Brown, the president, read a newspaper clipping containing the report of the house of assembly, and quoting Hon. Mr. Tweedie as having said that there were more names on the petition than were contained in any record in possession of the government and it behooved them to move slowly in trying to do right.

James Hunter said the association did not ask 100 acres but would be content with whatever the government would give them. The sending of the petition from their own association was in his opinion a mistake.

President Brown said that after the resignations of Hon. H. A. McKeown and Hon. A. V. Dunn from the government they had no one in the house to speak for them.

Some more discussion took place on the subject, and it was resolved that the next session would find them prepared to carry on a formal agitation.

After the Car. Ride-Dumley, "it was awfully glad to see that man get up his seat to that tired-looking old Kate."

"Don't you know, Uncle Charles, that a pair of shoes are never too small for a woman?"

LIVELY DOINGS.

Salvation Army Metropole the Scene of a Brisk Row Last Night.

There was quite a disturbance at the Salvation Army Metropole last night, and for a time Adjutant Thompson and his assistant had their hands full.

When, for a third time, the money was demanded, he refused to pay. Adjutant Thompson pretended to be in fighting trim, and seizing the old chap by the whiskers, was just going to show him out, when the door suddenly opened, and Mr. Nash entered in.

TWO LEAGUES AT MONCTON.

Baseball Will Boom in the Railway Town This Season.

Joe Page's Montreal Team to Play Fast Picked Team--- Cy Young Talks About Fancy Pitching.

Moncton, April 13.—At a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of local baseballists, tonight, it was decided to organize a city league for the coming season. Four teams, the Franklin's, Y. M. C. A., Trojans and Thistles, had representatives present, and all signified their intention of putting strong teams in the field.

Joe Page's Montreal Team. The following from the Montreal Gazette of the 12th, will be interesting, as it concerns the promoter of the "All-St. Johns": "Weather permitting, a new record will be established in Montreal Sunday afternoon, when the local baseball season will be opened. Joe Page's Parrham team, champions of the Eastern Canadian league, which has been transferred to Montreal for the coming season, will open the ball by playing against a picked team made up of players who will figure in the league during the season."

Cy Young Talks. "This talk about the bewildering reports that are expected to make the batsmen hammer the atmosphere until they are blue in the face, is enough to make one smile," says Cy Young. "When the season opens such twifas as the 'split-ball,' 'snake twist,' and the 'grasshopper shot,' will be relegated to the ice-box and it will be a case of play ball. These fancy names sound all right, but when it comes down to real thing, the fans will find that pitchers are not able to originate a dozen styles of pitching which promise so much in a single season. I think you will find that when the season is at its height, the twirlers who are using the old assortment of puzlers, will be numbered among the top-notchers."

Baseball Will Boom in the Railway Town This Season.

It is rumored that Ed. Haney, the well-known baseball manager will have charge of the proposed Portland this season.

The Philadelphia American league baseball club has released pitcher Applegate and infielders O'Brien and Solito to the Toronto Eastern league club.

Keeler is leading the New York Americans in hitting this spring. Dougherty has not done very good hitting since joining the Highlanders.

Jack Taylor, over whom there was such a disturbance made by the National League this year, is seriously ill with pneumonia and reports state he is in a precarious condition.

The score makers were: For Y. M. C. A.—McAvity 5, Keefe 5, Reed 2. For Trinity—Fisher 1, Church 4. A. Sturdee A. Ramsey S. McDonald W. Brown N. Lee M. Latham V. Lee A. Goddard H. Schofield G. Hanna

The next games will be played Monday night, when the order of teams will be reversed.

NOTES OF SPORT

At the Sportsmen's show in Louisville, Ky., N. J. Cartmell, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania, is credited with running 50 yards in 7 1-8 seconds, which beats the world's record of 5 2-8 seconds held jointly by A. P. Duffy, Georgetown, and V. S. Rice of Chicago. It is said that five times agreed upon the figures and of course application will be made to the A. A. U. to have the new mark accepted. Cowanville, Ont., April 10.—William McClellan and Charles Sylvester are home on a visit after their professional hockey season with the Calumet, Mich. team, champions of the United States. Each player received a gold watch job suitably engraved, as a memento of having won the championship. The team cleared up $2,000 above expenses this season. It may interest hockeyists to learn that the style of play in Calumet is for point and cover point players to rush with the puck forward as far as possible, pass to a forward and then skate swiftly back to position. This works better than lifting.

The international cross country championship of the British Isles was decided recently at Baldoyle race course, near Dublin, Ireland. England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales had teams entered, making a field of

FROM WEALTH TO POVERTY.

Fate of Frank A. Magowan, Once Mayor of Trenton, N. J.

New York, April 14.—A Herald despatch, dated Trenton, N. J., says that Frank A. Magowan, once a power in financial circles of New Jersey, some time mayor of Trenton, and at one time, regarded seriously as a candidate for the governorship, and the United States Senate, but subsequently deeply involved in a series of family and business troubles, lies dangerously ill at St. Francis hospital in Trenton. His sickness was brought about by exposure and lack of proper nourishment. Born in Trenton, Magowan had earned considerable success when the nomination for mayor was offered to him. It was understood among his friends that this office was to be but preparatory to great things. He had organized a so-called rubber trust, and for a time everything he touched was successful. He built at this time a $600,000 mansion, which has since been called Magowan's folly. In 1894 however, he went suddenly to Oklahoma with Helen Edith Barnes. From that time his fortune changed. His wife obtained a divorce and his business ventures failed, and he was charged with fraud. Charges of various natures have been made against the former mayor since then in several cases.

High Duffy signed a pitcher by the name of Harry Miller the other day, after seeing the youngster pitch for a short time during the morning practice, near Dublin, Ireland. Miller has had the idea of the Phillies. Miller has had only some semi-professional experience around Philadelphia.

NEWS FROM NORTH END

Boys Brigade Service.

There was a very bright and profitable Boys' Brigade Service in Portland Methodist church last evening. Five companies from the city and Fairville were represented, most of them in uniform. The boys soon found that they had a friend in Mr. Shaver, one who understood and sympathized with them. His words of experience in boys' brigade work gave him easy access to the youthful hearers, whose earnest attention and warm interest he held all through the service.

He began his address by stating the principles, both negative and positive, by which the brigades are supposed to be actuated and especially remarked that to be a true Christian one must be a Christian. He then took for his text 2 Kings 18: 20—"Is the young man Absalom said, are needed to make a boy or a young man safe. He must be thoughtful, trustful, and prayerful. He illustrated each of these points by stories mostly gathered from his own experience as a worker in boys' brigades. Some of these anecdotes were humorous enough to excite hearty laugh, and others were such as to impress the boys with a deep sense of their need of Christ, and of the nobility of a true Christian life. Towards the close of the service a number of the young people and others stood up to show their decision to be followers of Christ.

The service was under the personal direction of Major T. A. Arrows. It is expected that Mr. Shaver will close these special evangelistic services with the Portland Street Church on Sunday evening. To the services tonight and on Sunday the public are cordially invited.

Drawings of the flags of all nations in the school room of the Portland Methodist church on Saturday 15th from 2 to 5 p. m. There will be some 300 pictures, the property of Evangelist Shaver, and all party of St. John boys and girls, and those older, are cordially invited to this free exhibit.

Condition Critical.

George Peacock, the young man who drank carbolic acid at his home on Sheriff St., yesterday, was in a critical condition today. He is suffering very much with his throat, which was badly burned. Dr. Roberts reports that Peacock is not yet out of danger.

A peculiar thing about yesterday's happening, is that Mr. Peacock was a chum of George Robinson, who committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid, about four months ago.

The condition of Hiram Giggey, mate on the steamer Maggie Miller, at Millville, with heart trouble, remains unchanged.

The First Steamer.

The steamer "Springfield" left her wharf at seven o'clock this morning for up river, she carried but little freight. The Springfield will endeavor to get up as far as Woodman's Point, also left for Brandy Point. The body of the late James Day was on board. The interment will be at Brandy Point.

There was a crowd at the Springfield's wharf, through the invitation of the captain, a few North End residents, went up on the trip.

Springfield Broke Down.

The steamer Springfield, which left this morning for up river, did not get further than Grand Bay, at Sand Point, the cross-head was broken, and she proceeded to Grand Bay, where she anchored. A tug will be sent up after her tonight. This accident will cause a delay of four or five days before the Springfield can go on the route.

Expect a Freshet.

The water is rising rapidly at Indianton today, and a high freshet is looked for. The ice in the Long Beach, is expected to break up hourly, and it can only hang together for a few days longer.

Residents of North end are watching anxiously for the big flood to pass, but there is a likelihood that it will pass during the night, as it has done for seven seasons past.

Fell In A Fit.

Francis Arnold fell in a fit on Main street this morning. He was standing on the edge of the sidewalk near Douglas Avenue, when he fell out into the street, striking his face on the pavement, and cutting it quite badly. Mr. Arnold was carried to a nearby drug store, where he soon gained consciousness, and was able to walk to his home.

North End Boy In The South.

A letter has been received by Taylor Bond, from William P. McCormick, a north end boy, who left a short time ago, for the South. Mr. McCormick is situated in California, and is engaged in the lumber business and is doing well. He is much improved in health since he has been in the South, and expects to be as well as ever in a few months. It will be remembered that Mr. McCormick, who is a lumber survivor, was injured in Carleton last fall, by falling from a car. His many friends in St. John, wish him every success in his new home.

Minor Notes.

Charles McCormick, formerly of Adelaide St., who left the city for the west a few weeks ago, is at present in Winnipeg, where he has signed on one of the western Canada baseball teams.

Closing Scenes at Fredericton -- Dick Tibbitts in Luck -- The Tartars Organize.

Fredericton, N. B., April 14.—(Special)—The local legislature was prorogued at nine thirty this morning by Governor Snowball, with the usual ceremony. A guard of honor one hundred strong, was furnished by the Royal Regt., and commanded by Captain Nagle. The men wore khaki and made a fine appearance.

Less than half the members were present at prorogation, and very few spectators. A representative of the American Vitagraph Co., photographed the governor, troops and members.

Dick Tibbitts, of base ball fame, left this morning for Coatesville, Pa. to accept an engagement for the summer at a salary of fifty dollars per week.

The T-tar Base Ball Club met last evening and organized for the season. H. C. Gaylor, in a Burden, J. D. Black, Vice Pres.; A. McNeill, Secy.; George Burden, Capt.; J. McManis, Vice Capt. The proposal to form a provincial league was heartily approved.

Members of the local government will remain here until tomorrow to the prorogation. Putting the session wind up business, 104 bills were introduced, of which 92 passed and 12 were withdrawn.

MOVING PICTURES COMING.

At the Opera House the week of 17th, will be shown a very remarkable series of five views taken recently by the American Vitagraph Company, entitled "Scenes in Life of the Man With the Ladder and the Hoe."

The first part of the series shows the most dashing and realistic fire run that has ever been obtained. The powerful horse-drawn drawing engines, trucks, hose carts, hooks and ladders, dash wildly down the street, urged on to their utmost speed by the drivers, and to the beholder seated in the theatre, they appear to jump right into the audience. Following this comes a fire scene of special interest, vitagraphed at night, during a fire in New York.
