HELD GUN WITH VISE.

Lowell Coal Dealer Takes His Own Life.

IN NOVEL WAY. Determined to Die, He Fastened Butt of Shot Gun in Vise Then Stood in Front and Pulled the Trigger. Was Financially Embarrassed.

Amherst, N. H., Nov. 23.—Constant worry over financial difficulties culminated today in the death of Walter T. Moore, manager of the Lowell Coal Co., of Lowell, Mass., who committed suicide at his summer home in this town by sending a heavy charge of shot into his heart.

The deed was apparently premeditated and Moore evidently came here with the purpose of ending his life. Moore arrived from Lowell at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, having driven to his farm. At the farm, Moore was met by Alonzo Staples, the man in charge of the place, and to him he said that financially he was in a bad way. After requesting Staples to pass a horse into the stable, Moore hurried into the house and he was not seen alive again. Staples heard a noise from the house but paid no attention to it. He returned to the house unable to find his employer, although the latter's coat and vest were on the dining-room table. He went to the woodshed and there almost stumbled over the body of Moore.

Moore had lost little time after reaching the farm in making preparations to end his life. He removed his coat and vest and then secured an old single barrel rifle, put a charge of shot and went to the woodshed. He securely fastened the butt of the rifle into the jaws of a vise, then stepped up to the gun and placed his left breast against the barrel and at the same time reached forward with his right hand and pulled the trigger. Death must have been almost instantaneous. For the wound was big and ragged and the heart was pierced.

LEGISLATORS SOLD AS ARE SAUSAGES.

Remarkable Statements by Thomas W. Lawson With Regard to Bay State Affairs—Declares Henry M. Whitney Was Head of a Machine.

Henry M. Whitney, brother of the late William C. Whitney and President of Boston's Chamber of Commerce, is the target of Thomas W. Lawson in the installment of "Everybody's Chance," published in the Christmas number of Everybody's Magazine, issued yesterday.

The story set forth by Mr. Lawson is sensational. Whitney figured in the gas war which Lawson and Addison C. Rogers, on one side, and Henry H. Rogers and the Standard Oil Company, on the other, were warring in this way, according to Lawson: He claimed to control an invention by which the low-grade Nova Scotia coal could be converted into gas which could be sold to the consumer with good profit at 50 cents a thousand feet.

What Lawson Discovered. H. M. Whitney has never before figured in gas deals. He was chiefly known, Lawson says, for his ability to get street railway franchises from the Legislature. Up to that time, Lawson says, he had only indefinite knowledge of legislative corruption.

How Legislators Are Worked. Lawson describes in detail the alleged handling of the Legislature to get the charter for the Whitney company, the Massachusetts Pipe Line. He says: "The Whitney machine for the manufacture and moulding of legislation was complex but efficient."

How Legislators Were Paid. Second in command, Lawson says, was Mr. Patch, Towle's secretary and factotum. Of the methods employed Lawson writes: "Towle, on final-payment day, would have the members of the Massachusetts Legislature march through his private office, one at a time, and handing each of them their lot."

THE ST. JOHN EVENING TIMES, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1904.

NEWS OF SPORT.

ST. JOHN CURLERS TO GO TO WINNIPEG BONSPIEL.

The Maritime Provinces Will Probably Have Two Rinks in the Big Event... Driving Club Meets... Choynski Bested... A Chess Challenge.

CURLING.

St. John Will be in it. The following is taken from the Winnipeg Telegram of recent date. It is altogether likely that a rink of Maritime province curlers will compete in the Big local bonspiel this coming winter. According to a communication received by H.H. McDonald, who used to curl in St. John, N. B., and is still a member of the Thistle club, of that city, from a club member, two curlers of the club are certain to be here during the bonspiel. They are endeavoring to prevail upon a couple of other enthusiasts to accompany them and so make up a rink solely of Eastern men. In case they fail in this, two former St. John residents now in Winnipeg will fill the rink. The Maritime Province association of this city will also be represented by a rink in the 'spiel', which will give the East two representatives.

THE TURF.

Gentlemen's Driving Club. The annual meeting of the Gentlemen's Driving Club was held last night, when secretary-treasurer John Ross made his report showing the receipts for the year from stock subscriptions, driving tickets, and sundries as $525. The disbursements, including rent of track and sundries, amounted to $475, leaving a balance of $75. The receipts for the September races were $1,700, and the expenses $1,550, leaving the net profits $150. There was paid on last year's indebtedness $200. The officers elected for the coming year are: President, H. J. Fleming; 1st vice-president, Dr. F. Fred Johnson; 2nd vice-president, L. B. Knight; secretary, John Ross; executive committee, J. M. Johnson (Calais), J. H. Pullen, H. H. Mott, H. J. Fleming, John Ross. The old board of directors were re-elected, as follows: Dr. Thos. Walker, H. J. Fleming, D. Magro, Jr., Henry Gallagher, Thos. Fugaley, Jas. H. Pullen, L. B. Knight, James Collins, E. D. Jewett, David Watson. A vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring president.

THE RING.

Fight Tonight. Tommy Ryan will fight Jack Root six rounds to night at Philadelphia. Root is considered a good one, but he is going up against a tough proposition in 'Tommy' who is maintained that he is the world's champion midweight.

Williams Bets Choynski. At Philadelphia last Monday night Jack Williams got the better of the go with Joe Choynski of Chicago at the Washington sporting club. In the fourth round Choynski roughed it, showering short right and lefts to Williams' body, but without doing much harm. Choynski kept right after Williams in the sixth and landed several good rights, but Williams was always willing to mix it up, and toward the close gave more than he received.

Don'ts For 'Mitt Men.' Chicago, Nov. 22.—W. A. Phton, Jr., sporting editor of the Journal, has stirred up the boxing bugs by publishing under his signature, the following don'ts: "Every boxing season has its lessons, which are learned by the promoters and the fighters slowly and with much thick headedness. One of the biggest seasons of all—don't overcrowd the business—has never been learned, and never will be. As long as there is boxing in Chicago, but so long will there be five times as many clubs as are needed, and just so long will our city be swamped with pugilists. It is, however, sincerely hoped that three lessons have spoken in-Don't knock. Don't run too late in the summer. Get better referees. Knocking is apparently a necessary part of most promoters' makeups. Running through the hot weather is merely an evidence of money hunger. And the refereeing, last season was fierce ever."

Don'ts for the promoters. Don't give every Eastern pug who blows into town a windup to the exclusion of local talent, and if you are so foolish, don't howl when the Easterner flukes and the public fails to pay. Don't cut out part of your show because the money isn't there. Just for a change refund the coin.

Don't let every scrub politician see to it that "his boy goes on." This practice results in the punkest, sickest fights that ever were. Don't let the medical end of your club be wholly imaginary. Have a doctor right there. Don't tie yourself to a no good referee. Get a real good one, and then stand by him. Don'ts for the fighters. Don't wrangle for 10 days about one pound of weight. Don't imagine you are worth $250 because, once or twice, many years ago, you fought a draw with a champion who had the Jimjams. Don't pose, loaf and stall. There are some fighters in this town who are hated like hyenas because of this kind of work.

BASKET BALL.

The League Schedule. The following are the schedule dates for the Senior Basket Ball League of the Y. M. C. A. to take place at the gymnasium. Nov. 22—Greens vs. Yellows. Nov. 23—Blues vs. Reds. Dec. 2—Yellows vs. Maroons. Dec. 5—Blues vs. Greens. Dec. 9—Reds vs. Yellows. Dec. 12—Greens vs. Maroons. Dec. 15—Blues vs. Yellows. Dec. 22—Reds vs. Greens. Jan. 6—Maroons vs. Blues. The games commence at 9 o'clock sharp.

FOOTBALL.

Football Profitable. Yale's football receipts for 1904 will be about $70,000. The main features of the total are as follows: Yale-Harvard game total, about $22,000; Yale's shares $31,000; Yale-Princeton game total $44,000; Yale's share $22,000. Yale-Columbia game total, $22,000; Yale's share $11,000 making a total of about $64,000 for the three big games of the year. The receipts from the minor games will be about $7,000, making the total for the season about $70,000. What the expenses are have not been figured up yet, but there will be a big surplus at the end of the season.

The Moore Trophy. The executive committee of the intermediate football league will meet Thursday night, when the Moore trophy will be presented to the champion Neptune team. It is understood that the Carleton football team in the intermediate league have forwarded a written protest to S. B. Wilson, chairman of the executive against the game with the Neptunes last Saturday. The ground of protest is that Mr. Grace, who played for the N. R. C., was a senior and therefore not eligible. The point will be decided at the meeting of the executive.

CHESS.

Lasker Challenged. Dr. Emanuel Lasker, chess champion of the world, has received a challenge from E. J. Marshall, the Brooklyn master, who secured chief honors in the masters' tournament, held at Cambridge Springs last spring, and again at St. Louis in October. Marshall says he is ready to play for a stake of $2,000, considered by the champion to be the minimum amount for such a contest. Dr. Lasker has accepted.

Piles.

Dr. Chase's Ointment. It proves to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, burning, sore, swollen, and protruding piles. The manufacturer who guarantees to refund your money back if it does not cure you, is Dr. J. C. Chase, of New York.

intimated he will accept, and considers next April a good time for the contest. One of his stipulations is that the match be one of eight games up.

A TRUNK MYSTERY.

A trunk was drawn tightly around the neck and a handkerchief was stuffed in the mouth. Medical investigation revealed the probability that the murderer first gagged the victim to prevent her making a noise and then strangled her with the rope. Afterwards he cut the body in pieces for the purpose of packing it in the trunk. Another trunk left by the same man contained letters, photographs and other articles, providing useful clues to the identity of the perpetrator. From these it appears that the victim was the young wife of the murderer, to whom she had been married a very short time. Further clues lead to the supposition that the murderer fled across the frontier to Germany on his way to London for Liverpool and New York.

ATHLETICS.

Great Sprinter Robbed. Myer Prinstein, who a few years ago was numbered among the champion athletes of the world, having carried the colors of Syracuse University to the front in many events, has been despoiled by a sneak thief of several valuable trophies kept in his residence here. The losses include cups, medals, watches and plate and the athlete's law school diploma. The trophies were from games held by almost every one of the Eastern colleges and universities, and by some abroad.

AQUATIC.

New Swimming Record. San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Francis Galley has lowered the world's quarter mile swimming record during the Olympic Clubs tournament. The former record was held by F. Daniels of the New York Athletic club whose mark was 9:39.20. His new record is 8:59.4-3.

YACHTING.

Cup Race Romance. New York, November 21.—Miss Lydia Vogelin, daughter of the Rev. Dr. F. E. Vogelin, of Newark, was married by her father yesterday to Walter A. W. Millville, of Glen Ridge, chief accountant for Sir Thomas Lipton. The marriage is a sequel to a romance following the race between the Shamrock II and Columbia. Mr.

Melville had carried through the financial arrangements for the race, and was then stricken with appendicitis. An operation was performed in Mount Sinai hospital, Montclair, and it was while Melville was hovering between life and death that he became acquainted with Miss Vogelin, who was a nurse.

THE STORM OF LONDON.

Sensational New Novel in Which the Author Supposes Metropolis Devoid of Clothing. London, Nov. 21.—Not since Guy Thorne wrote "When It Was Dark," has a novel been published in this country, with anything like an original plot as this new romance which has just made its appearance. This is "The Storm of London," by F. Dickerson, and here is its opening situation: One night London goes to bed while a fierce storm is raging and in the morning every solitary thing in the way of clothing, from one end of the city to the other, had absolutely disappeared. Presumably through some queer action of the atmosphere resulting from the storm, fabrics of every kind have been reduced to nothingness. Not only clothing, but rugs, carpets, everything of a textile nature has vanished. Of course, at first everybody remains in the house, but this state of things continues for a fortnight or more, when results brought about by lack of exercise force all and sundry to emerge into the streets exactly as God made them. The conditions of the Garden of Eden have been introduced into twentieth-century London. It should be said at once that the ingenious author of this work handles his theme without a single trace of suggestion, occasionally, however, skating over decidedly thin ice. His idea is inspired by Carlyle's famous speculation in Sartor Resartus as to what men could be like without their clothes. The first result of the remarkable happening described in "The Storm of London" is a practical inability on the part of everyone to distinguish their friends from utter strangers, clothes having been hitherto been so universal, if unconscious of a means of identification. It being practically impossible to distinguish a duke from a dustman, or a countess from a cook, a state of almost absolute democracy soon comes about and all sort of social reforms follow speedily. Newspapers having disappeared through lack of anything to print them on, the intelligences of the day is shouted through telephones. This remarkable state of things is confined to England alone and one of the earliest results is the formation by religious, and influential folk, of an organization called the S. P. D.—Society for the Propagation of Denudation, to speed the benefits of what the author calls an Edenite existence in foreign lands. The first missionary sent out to France by the society is, however, arrested on the Calais pier by the French police and obliged to undergo the most "shameful of all penalties," the wearing of clothes. Many other as extraordinary developments follow.

HE DESERVED IT.

His suffering from Sciatica was so great, but thanks to Nerviline he was cured. "I suffered for three years from sciatica," writes E. S. Jenkins of Portland, "and no man ever suffered more. I spent a small fortune on different remedies but the only one with real merit was Nerviline. I used a few bottles of Nerviline and was perfectly cured. I can recommend Nerviline as a sure cure for sciatica; it's excellent also for rheumatism and neuralgia." Try Nerviline, 25c. at all druggists.

OFFICER FIRED AT.

London, Nov. 23.—According to a despatch from Tangier to the Daily Mail, Kasr, Sir Harry Macdonald, commander of the Sultan of Morocco's body guard, while travelling from Larache to Tangier, by way of Arzila, 125 miles Southwest of Tangier) was fired upon and his horse killed. The Kasr was not injured. General Sir Harry Aubrey DeMear was formerly an officer of the British army, serving in the 69th foot, and was made a K. C. M. G. in 1901 for services rendered to the British government.
