MASSEY SELECTION ON PARLEY AGENDA

IMPERIAL DELEGATES TO FIX EXACT POWERS OF NEW APPOINTMENT

South Africa Favors Free State System of Independence

By HERBERT DALEY, British United Press. LONDON, Oct. 26.—Vincent Massey's appointment at Washington will come up for discussion at the Imperial Conference this week to determine the exact powers which Mr. Massey will assume at his new post. The other Dominions will be interested in this discussion because it may influence their future attitude towards similar appointments on their part.

Hitherto, Australia has favored the appointment of a liaison officer to the Foreign Office to keep Australia specially informed on foreign affairs, but Canada has never shown any enthusiasm at this departure, preferring to let the High Commissioner act as its diplomatic representative.

WORK WITH EMBASSIES Australia is now talking about having a right to appoint diplomatic representatives to work in connection with the British Embassies at the capitals of foreign nations in which they are directly interested.

It is understood that Premier Bruce is pressing for more definite and constructive proposals for the development of trade within the Empire. He is said to be very disappointed at the small amount of progress made in this direction, and he feels that the conference will come to an end without any greater attention is devoted to this problem.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON, Staff Correspondent, Canadian Press. LONDON, Oct. 26.—A despatch from Cape Town announcing that Dan Goetze, chairman of the Nationalist party, led by Premier Hertzog, is joining the former Premier of South Africa, General J. C. Smuts, is leader of the London morning papers. "Except among the most extreme Nationalists," London Daily Mail, "opinion in South Africa will be well content if Premier Hertzog's claim to independence, recognition of South Africa's independent national status is not pursued further at the Imperial Conference. The feeling among the English-speaking South Africans has hardened into one of indignant resentment."

BIRKENHEAD'S VIEW The Earl of Birkenhead, who as secretary of state for India, leads the Indian delegation at the conference, does not believe that Premier Hertzog really "differs on essentials" from the views of those who either in South Africa or here, have attempted to reconsume the elements of bitter differences.

EDITORIAL COMMENT The Morning Post editorially observes that the dominions' right to be consulted on empire affairs, was written in blood at the Somme, Gallipoli and in the deserts of Mesopotamia, and was honored in the treaty of Versailles. The editorial adds that consultation and agreement between the Imperial government and the governments of the dominions to be practical, must be on general lines of policy. With these settled, a good deal must be left to the "executive hand" of the posts.

JAP EARTHQUAKE TOKYO, Oct. 26.—The Kumagaya observatory in Satsuma prefecture reported that a severe earthquake occurred at 1 o'clock this afternoon, somewhere in the South Sea, probably in the vicinity of the Marshall Islands. The seismograph indicated the quake continued for an hour. No reports of damage have been received.

OPPOSED BY DRY OTTAWA, Oct. 26.—G. Howard Ferguson, premier of Ontario is to be opposed by a "dry" candidate who will contest the riding of Grenville, where in the last provincial election, Mr. Ferguson was returned over William Hunter Buchanan, U. F. O. candidate by a majority of 2,176 votes.

Queen of Scots' Letters Bought By American

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The Daily Sketch says a collection of letters of Mary, Queen of Scots, and also of James I. of England, probably will go shortly to enrich "the largest private library in the world, owned by an American in California." A commissioner, William H. Robinson, of Newcastle, says the Sketch, acquired them from a Scottish castle, where they had been for centuries. Letters written by James I. are not rare, but those written by Mary are in existence.

LEBLANG'S BODY BEATEN BEFORE END IS REPORT

Autopsy at Buctouche by Drs. Oulton and Cyr

Official Was Engaged in Checking Up Lobster Poachers in That Section

Special to The Times-Star. MONCTON, Oct. 26.—Suspicion in connection with the death of "Gippy" LeBlanc, fishery inspector, of Buctouche, whose lifeless body was found during the week-end after it had apparently washed ashore when his boat had swamped when he went out to investigate lobster poaching, has been strengthened by the findings of an autopsy held on the remains yesterday morning. The post mortem examination was held by Dr. M. A. Oulton, M. L. A., of Shediac, and Dr. Cyr, of Buctouche, called in for the purpose by Hon. Dr. D. V. Landry, coroner, of Buctouche.

The examining surgeons are of the opinion, according to the coroner, that death ensued as the result of blows before the body was in the water.

PROTEST OVER NEW FLAG. Back of Goetze's move is seen a growing sentiment in South Africa against the Hertzog government's proposed bill to establish a new national flag which will not contain the Union Jack and a belief that the Nationalist party is quietly working towards the secession of South Africa from the British Empire.

Fickle Polar Bears Also Like Blondes

LONDON, Oct. 26.—It now develops that polar bears—as well as gentlemen—prefer blondes. Sam, the London Zoo's favorite polar bear, for many months has been perfectly content to hob-nob with a large brown female bear. Recently, however, he was introduced to a new arrival, a complete and perfect blonde from the Arctic. Forthwith Sam deserted his "brunette" friend for the new blonde.

FORGOT POLICE IN MAKING BUDGET

POMONA, Argentine, Oct. 26.—When making out his annual budget, Pomona forgot to include its police force. The police, however, with that sure loyalty that makes a police force possible in any part of the world, remained at their posts for month after month, their pangs of hunger not in the least alleviated by the physical exercise received while walking their beats. When they discovered that their heart-rending efforts to coax a few pesos from the provincial coffers were entirely unavailing, they not only became thoroughly disheartened but organized as well.

COAL DISCOVERY REPORTED IN N. B.

Head of Fraser Companies, Ltd., in Interview, Says it is "News" to Him

Reports of the discovery of a rich deposit of coal on the lands of Fraser Companies Ltd., in New Brunswick were in circulation in the city during the week-end. It was said that a vein some 24 feet in depth had been found and that engineers were being employed to make a survey of the discovery.

Coal Crisis Over Shortly, Says Horne

NEWCASTLE, Eng., Oct. 26.—"If Great Britain were to receive another blow like the coal strike she might never recover," Sir Robert Horne, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, said in a speech here Monday. He added that the present situation is not entirely black, however, and expressed the belief that the crisis would be over in a short time.

Shorn of Power

Schooner Off Lunenburg Identified as Horatio G. Foss

HALIFAX, Oct. 26.—The three masted schooner Favonian, Captain Frank Rangdale, piled ashore at Three Fathom Harbor, 15 miles east of Halifax, last night, and late this morning was rapidly breaking up. The crew of seven got ashore in the long boat shortly after dawn, and were brought to Halifax by train. The schooner was launched September 17, with a cargo of molasses, bound for Charlottetown.

STORM DAMAGE GREATEST IN SOUTHERN N. B.

Chief Road Engineer Kinghorn Receives Many Reports

Special to The Times-Star. FREDERICTON, Oct. 26.—The reports received by Chief Road Engineer B. H. Kinghorn today, concerning damage done to the highways of the province by the big rain of Sunday night and Monday indicate that the storm had its greatest severity in the south. The central counties received some damage, but the North Shore escaped with little; in fact there was more damage done by the storm of last Thursday than by the week-end storm.

MIROR DAMAGE TO RAILWAY

The St. John Valley has received only minor damage and the district around Moncton, also has sent in few reports. The trouble occurred usually at culverts, although there was some trouble from landslides and washing out of road bed. The culverts were not constructed to carry off so abnormal a fall of rain.

The bridge division of the Provincial Department of Public Works has received no report of bridges being damaged. This is believed to be due to the fact that the rains did not reach frost height, the run off of the rain being quite rapid. Any extensive damage would have been reported before this.

Pacific Cable Board Dispute Is Settled

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The Pacific Cable Board dispute has been finally settled and an official statement to this effect will be issued shortly. The settlement marks a victory for MacKenzie King because Australia and New Zealand agree to a reorganization of the board to suit Canada and a new system of electing its members by rotation and a distribution of profits according to the Canadian contention that the profits should go to the reserve and should not be devoted to duplication of cables.

MANY ATTENDED

Fifty tables were occupied at the card party at Stella Maris church last evening and a most enjoyable time had by those present. The winners were: Ladies, first, Mrs. D. A. Gaffney; second, Mrs. W. Hopper. Gentlemen, first, E. J. McDonald; second, J. P. Laskey. The door prize was won by Nicholas Kennedy. It is the intention next week to hold the hard party on Thursday instead of Monday.

REPEATS CHARGE

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Called to book in the House of Commons today for his recent allegation that he had seen members drunk in the House, Dr. Alfred Salter, Laborite M. P., not only declined to withdraw the charge, but repeated it. In a motion later adopted by the House, Dr. Salter was declared to have grossly libelled the House and exceeded his privilege by his charge.

Boy Out Late Is Taken By Police

A sixteen-year-old boy was arrested early this morning by Police Constable P. L. Lobb as he was walking along Pond street. According to the officers he could not furnish them with a satisfactory account of himself. When arraigned on a charge of vagrancy this morning he said the reason he was walking the streets at the hour was due to the fact that his mother had told him to be home at 12 midnight and that when he arrived he found the doors locked. He was remanded pending further investigation.

Treat Is Winner of Criterion Stakes

NEWMARKET, Oct. 26.—J. Arkwright's two-year-old Treat won the Criterion Stakes this afternoon by three lengths from Lord Astor's Nerve Cross. Adams Apple, owned by C. Whitburn, was third, another two lengths back. Six ran. Treat is a bay colt by Tetraloma-Dinner. The betting was 100 to 12 against the winner, six to one against Nerve Cross, and one to two on Adams Apple. The latter, overwhelming favorite on his past record is a pennant colt. The race, one of the greatest 2-year-old races of the season, was over the six furlong course, and was worth about $4,000. This was the 97th renewal.

ENTERTAINMENT

The weekly Gyro Club luncheon at the Admiral Beatty Hotel at noon today took the form of a brief musical entertainment, the guests being Prince Chavcharade and Earl Spicer, who gave a few selections. Roland Miller was in the chair. There was no speaker today.

Charged with operating an automobile in the city without a license and with obstructing the passage of the police patrol while on its way to answer an ambulance call, Frank Dashwood was given a hearing today and dismissed with a warning. The youth said that his father had given him permission to use the car, and that he did not know that it was necessary for him to have a license.

IS GIVEN FREEDOM

Stanley H. Hanson, who was brought back to Saint John from Nova Scotia to stand trial on a check case was released yesterday afternoon after he had made good a $15 check to Kenneth Irving who declined to prosecute the case.

AUTO WITHOUT CLUTCH OR GEAR

M. Constantinesco and his gearless motor. Future automobiles may be without either clutch or gears, judging by the sensation created at the 20th annual automobile show in Paris by a tiny five-passenger, two-cylinder, two-cycle motor. The newest thing in motors is the invention of M. Constantinesco, French automobile designer. All that is necessary to put the new-style car in action is to press the starter and "step on" the accelerator, the connection between the motor and the wheels being made gradually through a system of gears actuated by centrifugal force, after the manner of those used on steam engines. The motor uses five litres of gasoline per hundred kilometers and has a maximum speed of 60 kilometers an hour.

Wants China Represented On League Intellectual Body

By HENRY WOOD. United Press Staff Correspondent. GENEVA, Oct. 26.—Chao-Hsin-Chu, the new Chinese member of the League Council and incidentally the stormy petrel of the League of Nations, when it comes to asserting and maintaining China's claims for equality before the entire world, just filed a new protest with the League.

This time it is because China is not permanently represented on the League's Commission of International Intellectual Co-operation. Since the recent donation by the French Government of a permanent home to this institution at Paris it has become one of the League's most important activities. In his letter of protest, Chao-Hsin-Chu declares that China, with its oldest civilization in the world, running back for 6,000 years, is permanently entitled to a place on the commission.

GIVES REASONS

The Chinese minister declares that from the theoretical point of view the intellectual life of China of today may be divided into two parts: 1.—Abstract science such as philosophy, literature, morality, etc., in which he declares the western nations have much to learn from China. 2.—Concrete science such as astronomy, mathematics, medicine, etc., in which he declares China possesses some of the most important discoveries dating back to two thousand years before Moses.

Chu insists on the necessity of entrusting the Chinese representation of the Commission of International Intellectual Co-operation to Chinese scientists who are real depositors of all the ancient Chinese culture, science, tradition and morality. He suggests as candidates for members of the commission the names of several Chinese scientists and a permanent representative at Paris.

BEGINS MEETINGS

The Women's Auxiliary of St. George's Church, W. E. The Women's Auxiliary of St. George's church, West Saint John, held the first meeting of the season last night in the church hall with a large number present. Mrs. Corey Green, the president, led the devotional exercises. Mrs. Frances Stetson, secretary of the Grenfell Mission, gave an interesting address on conditions in Labrador and made a further appeal for money and clothing for the mission. It was decided to give a donation to the Interprovincial Home for Girls at Cornerbrook, N. B. Encouraging reports were given by the respective officers. It was decided to hold the future meetings on Monday afternoons of each week, except the monthly business meetings which will be held on Monday evenings. It was also arranged to hold the annual meeting of the society on Monday, November 15.

Heavy Damage In Storm At Quebec

QUEBEC, Que., Oct. 26.—Roofs were carried away, steel trestles, telegraph and telephone poles and thousands of trees were blown down and much other minor damage was caused throughout the city and district of Quebec during the last 24 hours, by one of the most furious winds and rain storms that has been experienced here in ten years. It was preceded yesterday afternoon by an electric storm and unusual darkness. A drop in the 58-mile an hour wind was noticeable this morning.

Worries Over Dollar Owed For 20 Years

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 26.—About twenty years ago a local dealer put through a sale a gun for a farmer living in Wilton. When he paid the farmer the money, the dealer forgot to keep his commission. The other day the farmer drove into the city to pay up the $1 which he had promised if the sale was accomplished. He told an interesting story of his recent conversion and his worry over the money which was not rightly his. The dealer is Rev. C. A. Jones, who, after his superannuation from the Methodist church, kept a shop on Princess street for a number of years. He is now living at 610 Davison street, and is 92 years of age.

Imperial Secretariat in order that the Dominions may be better informed on matters of foreign policy and that there may be a better response from the Foreign Office in matters of special interest to the Dominions. Australia is willing to drop the experiment of having the liaison officer at the Foreign Office if such a secretariat is appointed, but says that the experience gained by the appointment of such an officer has been so valuable that it is the best possible argument for the creation of such a secretariat. It is this which will be discussed by the committee of Premiers rather than any general question of foreign policy which it is fully recognized cannot be changed by the conference.

OLD TIME MOVIES HERE TOMORROW

"The Greater Glory," being shown at the Imperial for the first time in a remarkably fine First National 10 reel drama of the war period in gay Vienna—a highly discriminating class picture. Tomorrow Norm Shearer, Conrad Nagel and a splendid supporting company of Metro Goldwyn stars present "The Warning Sign." Coincidentally with this feature will be an extreme novelty in an exact reproduction of an old Biograph two-reel drama made nearly 15 years ago, in which Mary Pickford, Ben Moore, James Kirkland, Florence Lawrence and other stars perform. A comparison of the old-time movies and those of today will be most entertaining and instructive.

Elderly Lady Buys Ancient Castle At Bargain Rates

Canadian Press. LONDON, Oct. 26.—Amberly Castle in Sussex, one of the few remaining corners of medieval England, in the ruins of which for centuries ghosts have been reported to prow about on stormy nights, has been sold by the Duchess of Norfolk who has made up her mind to get rid of all the eerie things on her estate of some 20,000 acres. Arundel Castle, the wonderful Sussex home of the 17-year-old Duke of Norfolk—the premier Duke and hereditary Earl Marshal and chief butler of England—was closed a year or so ago, not on account of ghosts, however, but on the score of expense. The Norfolk estate now has only three castles remaining, all of which are said to be free of ghosts.

Nearly Voted Against His Own Cabinet

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Prime Minister Baldwin came without two steps of voting against his own government in a division of the House of Commons in its recent sitting. He had called the Premier's cabinet together to continue the Emergency Regulations. On the division of the vote, the Prime Minister was found blithely marching into the Opposition lobby under the impression that it was the Conservative Government that was to be dissolved. The irrepressible Home Secretary, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, spotted him and seized him by the arm, thereby preventing an embarrassing error.

COAL SHIPMENTS TO PORT OF MONTREAL

Nova Scotia Mines Have Sent 1,201,817 Tons, Says Official Report

Though shipments of British coal to Montreal have shown a marked decrease from last year and from the high figure that was predicted for them at the end of last season, the Cape Breton coal mines have been advantageously affected by the British strike and by improved conditions, judging from the amount of bituminous coal that has been shipped into Montreal this season. The volume shipped last year was 1,201,817 tons for the entire year, the highest record for this product in the history of the port, for already 1,201,817 tons have been landed on the Montreal wharves, this total having been carried up the St. Lawrence in 150 ships.

In addition to the bituminous coal shipped to Montreal from the Nova Scotia mines, there has been 45,014 tons of coke brought up in 43 shipments which compares with 6,802 tons last year, when the coal strike was in progress, and none the year before. It can be reasonably surmised from these figures that a considerable market for coke is being built up in Montreal, which will react to the advantage of the Cape Breton mines.

STATEMENT MADE ABOUT VALERIAN

Parliamentary Secretary Tells House of Commons of Naval Disaster

LONDON, Oct. 25.—In the House of Commons today owing to anxiety on the part of members of the House of Commons, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Admiralty, explained that the Valerian was returning to Bermuda after taking the Governor of the Bahamas to visit outlying islands which had been damaged in the September hurricane. The Valerian was close to Bermuda when the hurricane broke and reported to the commander-in-chief in the West Indies that she had her way to southwest of Hamilton Friday morning. Nothing more being heard, the commander-in-chief ordered a search by the cruisers Curlew and Capetown. The Capetown reported that she had picked up 19 survivors. The search was continued until nightfall without further result.

INT. PAPER AND BACKUS FIRM NEGOTIATING

Talk of Merger Stirs Montreal Financial Circles

SPECULATION RIFE

Sir Herbert Holt Believed Actively Engaged in Uniting Eastern Companies

MONTREAL, Oct. 26.—There is more talk at present in financial circles respecting what portends in the pulp and paper and power business than on any other subject. Long conferences here recently between E. W. Backus, Minnesota pulp, paper and power millionaire, operating chiefly in Western Canada, and A. R. Graustein, president of the International Paper Company, and of the Canadian International Paper Co., have added to the general interest and speculation.

A combination of the International with its vast interests in eastern Canada, and of the Backus interests in the west, would be a formidable array against other pulp and paper companies in the event of dissension in the industry. On the other hand, if other rumors are correct, eastern Canada is the "huddle" of another combination that may ultimately become equally powerful.

SIR H. HOLT ACTIVE

Financial men gave Sir Herbert Holt credit for activity that may unite some of the strongest companies in the east, and link them up with Shawinigan to provide for the exploitation of power as well as of timber lands. There are no indications of trouble breaking out in the industry, but it is thought that the men actually in the business know better what is going on than those on the outside, and that if they are combining and feverishly working to control strong independent companies and their timber holdings, there must be some factor in sight that is urging them on.

Today's talk to the effect that St. Maurice Valley, which includes Belgo-Canadian and St. Francois, and which brought more closely in harmony with the Port Alfred Paper Industry, and that Wayagamack, which had just announced its long-awaited stock reorganization, is preparing to enter the prospective Eastern Canada merging interests. Coupling up more or less closely with Shawinigan to increase power, this would be a most important factor in both paper and power.

RETURN TO NEW YORK

Whatever has been in the wind these last few weeks is likely to come to a head shortly. Mr. Graustein has returned to New York and Mr. Backus has gone with him. In addition, the party contained Col. J. B. White, vice-president of International; N. C. Hess, assistant to the president and a secretary. The International party has been spending some time in the Gattineau looking over International works there.

The fate of Laurendeau, an attractive concern in the paper industry, which has been the centre of some interesting dealing lately on the Montreal stock exchange, is also believed to be wrapped up in the largest affairs of which rumors are being heard.

All parties interested, or alleged to be interested, in these deals, decline to talk. Reports that Laurendeau was asked to fix a price on its stock set 125, which was turned down, persist, but this also is among the reports for which no confirmation can be secured.

IS RESCUED

Police Constable Journey was called to the West Side ferry boats on Sunday afternoon, where he found a dog suffering from exhaustion. The animal had fallen between the wharf and the ferry steamer and was in the water for a considerable time before it was rescued. The officer took it to the police room where it regained strength.

ESTABLISHED NORTHERN POST

The farthest north customs house, post office and police post in Canada was established late in the summer by the Dominion Government party that patrolled the Arctic archipelago in the steamer Beothic, and three men of the Mounted Police were left to man it. The post is situated on Bache Peninsula, on the east side of Ellesmere Island. The illustrations show: Top—An Eskimo couple and their summer home on Bache Peninsula. Centre—George P. MacKenzie, three members of the R. C. M. P., and a native carrying timber for the foundation of the new government building. Not Always Swimmers' Fault They Fail to Beat Channel As Experiences of Some Show

There were several instances of sheer hard luck during the channel-swimming game was up, and he was forced to climb aboard after eight hours of swimming. He was a fine athlete, whose failures were entirely the fault of others.

Yet a swimmer might get lucky breaks in catching the tides and meeting favorable conditions. This probably happened to Miss Elderie. The helpful flood tide waned she was not swept back, as was expected, by the reverse. Whether it was her swimming ability or the shifting of the wind that cheated the tide, experts cannot agree, but many think she met freak conditions that helped her.

Miss Elizabeth Walker, of Formosa, and three small children, Everett, Dorothy and Annie, all at home. He had resided in King's county all his life and was engaged in farming at Titusville, where he had gone about seven years previously. He is also survived by his parents, eight brothers and two sisters. The brothers are Melbourn, Leonard, Horace, Gordon, Stanley, John, Woodard and Harold and the sisters are Mrs. John Lockhart and Miss Bertha at home. All reside in Upland on the vicinities with the exception of Horace, who is in Providence, R. I.

His funeral will take place from the late residence in Titusville on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

2 KILLED IN BLAST OF STEAMER BOILER

ORVINGTON—ON—THE HUDSON, N. Y., Oct. 25.—A man and a woman were killed and nine other persons narrowly escaped death today when the 125-foot steam freighter G. F. Brady, of Peekskill, capsized in a gale that swept the Hudson and was torn to pieces by a boiler explosion. The dead are Mrs. De Mund, cook and Charles Hayes, fireman. The rest of the crew were saved from the water, suffering only from shock and exposure by a tug.

HAVE BAD LUCK

Both Ernest Vorketter and Mrs. Chlorette Corson had a touch of bad luck before they succeeded. On his first attempt Vorketter swam for 10 hours and then his French boatman said the compass was broken and they could not go on. He was forced to quit, but the next time, with the shrewdness of his race, his contract read that his Calais tug would be paid for in Dover, which meant that the tug had to go to Dover whether he swam the distance or not.

Mrs. Corson planned an attempt some days before she actually swam. She crossed from Dover to start from Gris Nez, but became so seasick on the crossing that she couldn't enter the water.

CAPTAIN QUILTS

Olav Farstad, the Oslo traffic policeman, had two bitter experiences. The first time he swam he was accompanied by a small Boulogne boat. He went off without fuss, scoring grease, goggles and cap. After a few hours he got into rough water and wind, but went on doggedly. When he got hungry his friends would toss him a banana. At one stage he got separated from his boat at night and swam for nearly an hour without sign of help. Yet he was not discouraged. Finally the boat found him again, but the captain refused to continue in face of the weather conditions. Farstad, still going strong, was furious, but he had to abandon or be left alone in the sea at night after sixteen and a half hours of courageous swimming.

TO MUCH WINE

On his second attempt, some days after, Farstad had a Calais tug and a Norwegian naval officer to act as pilot. He also had four or five Norwegian sailors to help with the small boat and keep him company. They carried about a quantity of wine and other cheerful provisions. The swimmer, although out of heart, took the wine about dawn in a dense fog which lifted an hour later. The sea got rough and Farstad's Norwegian friends, not having been to bed, got sleepy and went below. Jabez Wolfe, the English trainer, was aboard as a guest and official observer, and beer was left alone on deck to advise the swimmer. The engineer of the tug helped himself freely to the wine. Finally he went to sleep and let the fire go out. All sorts of difficulties arose on board while the gallant Farstad was struggling on. The boat drifted and he got hopelessly

POLICE UNEARTH BIG BOOZE CACHE

Conspiracy Involves Millions—Great Quantities of Liquor Found on Yacht

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—A gigantic smuggling conspiracy, which, it is believed, has been in operation for several months, involving millions of marks in loss of duties to the State, has been discovered by the police and custom's authorities.

Ten persons, including a Berlin banker, are under arrest, and detectives are hunting for several missing suspects.

The chief of the gang is the owner of a large and handsomely appointed motor-yacht, flying the flag of "The Imperial Yacht Club"—a club which still exists under that title though its on-line patron and commodore, the ex-Kaiser, is no longer an emperor.

This yacht, the Nixe, was a familiar craft on the waterways leading from Berlin to the Baltic, and it has only just been discovered that its ostensibly pleasure cruises were really smuggling expeditions.

TANKS CLEVERLY CONCEALED

Tanks capable of holding 650 gallons of spirits were cunningly built into the structure of the yacht that there was no visible evidence of their presence.

Working in co-operation with this yacht and constituting a sort of "run down" on its own was an auxiliary-engine schooner called the Pelican, which was kept as a floating base for spirits in the Baltic behind territorial limits.

BANKER FINANCES ORGANIZATION

The now-arrested Berlin banker financed this part of the organization. Foreign distilled spirits, whose source is still a mystery, were loaded into the Pelican and later transferred to other men-of-war in the motor-yacht Nixe working from the shore.

Then the vessels were landed on dark nights at various remote villages on the waterways running through the countryside beyond Berlin.

Here they were pumped from tanks into casks, which were afterwards collected and distributed by other members of the smuggling gang to Berlin agents.

A raid by the police on a suspected garage where a large quantity of spirits was found led to the unravelling of the conspiracy.

Deaths

Russell L. Scott

Russell L. Scott, of Titusville, King's county, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Scott, of Upland, passed away in this city on Oct. 25, after a short illness. He had come to Saint John for treatment and succumbed to the effects of blood poisoning, caused by a scratch on the hand from wire. The accident happened only about three weeks previously. "Fery" Scott, who was very sympathetic will go out to the bereaved relatives.

He leaves his wife, who was formerly Miss Elizabeth Walker, of Formosa, and three small children, Everett, Dorothy and Annie, all at home. He had resided in King's county all his life and was engaged in farming at Titusville, where he had gone about seven years previously. He is also survived by his parents, eight brothers and two sisters. Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

By FRANCINE

Copyrighted 1924 by P. O. Beauty Features

Take Care What Kind of soap touches your face

The kind beauty experts use themselves—how to use

To endanger a good complexion with an unproved soap is a folly. The only kind of soap to use on your face is a true complexion soap. Some soaps that are excellent in many ways are too harsh for the skin.

Laundry, scrub, with any soap you wish. But if guarding a good complexion is your aim, take care. Use a soap made to protect it.

Thus Palmolive is so widely used—a soap made solely for one purpose: to protect the complexion. A soap made by experts in beauty to be used freely and lavishly on the skin.

The accepted beauty method today is the simple rule that follows—Nature's formula to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion." Leading skin experts urge... Thousands with beautiful complexions prove its results.

Follow this rule one week—Note the improvement that comes.

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

THREE MEN HELD IN YARMOUTH AFFAIR

Three Young Ladies Also Implicated in Breaking and Entering

YARMOUTH, Oct. 25.—Chief of Police Bain today took into custody three young men, Henry Muise, Raymond Jacquard and Emeline Tebo, who are charged with breaking and entering the residence of John Burrill, Star's Road, Avonlea. The break occurred when the house was closed for a few days whilst Mr. Burrill was visiting in Kentville. There were also three young ladies implicated in the affair, one of whom at one time was housekeeper for Burrill. It is supposed that she, knowing the premises, took the others there and the sextette had a real party, lasting all through the night.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 26, 1926.

The Imperial Conference and Foreign Affairs

OF THE objects of the various Premiers and delegates to the Imperial Conference now sitting in London, the public has a fair idea. Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King has let his general views on Imperial subjects be known, and these—evidently desiring to keep on a plane of elastic generality which will exclude everything not of purely Imperial moment.

Australia and New Zealand are apparently more concerned with Imperial communications and their defence than with foreign affairs. The attitude of General Hertzog, the South African Premier, seems to puzzle the London press. Possibly London has overlooked the incident which caused the question of "international national status" to become an acute issue.

It should not be difficult to achieve this recognition without resorting to binding formulae. A tendency to require something of this sort is to be met in all in line either with Imperial precedents or with Mr. Mackenzie King's views of foreign affairs on behalf of Canada.

ALTHOUGH it is at present denied that King Ferdinand of Rumania has cabled his queen commanding her return, there cannot but be concern in Rumanian court circles on account of the lurid publicity which is being thrown on the royal family of that Balkan state.

Queen Marie may be her Holiness's historical and temperamental. She may make money. But she is not doing good service to royalty in general, whilst as regards the Rumanian dynasty she seems almost to have placed a weapon in the hands of a political party which, from the outset, opposed her trip across the Atlantic.

IN VIEW of the visit of the Governor and two directors of the Hudson's Bay Company to Saint John, it is interesting to note the company's change of policy in relation to Canada. There was a time when it was regarded merely as a fur-trading company, but now it has much to do with the mercantile life of the West.

Mayor Webb quickly learns how important a factor the Hudson's Bay Company is in their mercantile life. Now that it is giving attention to the matter of immigration, its service to Canada will be infinitely greater. Saint John extends a cordial welcome to these visitors.

Broadening Out

FROM an economic point of view, Saint John is bound to receive unlimited benefit from the conventions which have been held here within the last few months and from those which are scheduled for the near future. But far more important will be the effect these events will have on the general outlook of our people.

Be On the Alert

WHILE the contents of the Duncan report are not yet known there are indications that its recommendations will be very carefully scrutinized and perhaps in some quarters in a not too friendly spirit.

It is not at all in line either with Imperial precedents or with Mr. Mackenzie King's views of foreign affairs on behalf of Canada. British constitutions have been built up gradually by creating precedents to meet problems as they occurred.

England is steadily increasing in sobriety. Economic necessity has something to do in bringing about this result.

REPORT FAVORS MORE MARITIME SUBSIDIES AND LOWER RAIL RATES

Duncan Commission Recommends Economic Concessions, Development of Coal Supply, Coking Plant for East—Federal Harbor Board Here Urged

(From The Financial Post.)
MONTREAL.—The Duncan Commission's report on Maritime rights contains a recommendation to increase materially the subsidies of each of the three provinces immediately, at least this is the exclusive information which comes to The Financial Post from authoritative sources. Moreover, it is understood that the report recommends the following immediate interim payments to each of the provinces of Nova Scotia, $275,000; to New Brunswick, $500,000, and to Prince Edward Island, $125,000.

In the meantime the report has been pigeon-holed, much to the general disgust of the Maritimers. Many feel that the withholding of the report was simply due to the by-elections which will soon take place. The government might perhaps be wiser at these elections through the publication of the commission's recommendations. Moreover, many Maritimers feel that pigeon-holing the report will simply delay any action which ought to be taken for another year at least.

MANY SUGGESTIONS

But there are many other important recommendations and suggestions contained in the report which it is understood entirely bear out most of the long-stressed contentions of the Maritimers. While all the information which The Financial Post has gleaned from sources reliable that it is well-nigh impossible to doubt their accuracy, yet it is obvious that this information does not and cannot carry any official imprimatur.

FOR LOWER RAIL RATES.

It is understood that the report points out that C. N. R. rates have been increased 22 per cent in the Maritimes as against 55 per cent in the rest of Canada; thus there are the recommendations that Maritime rates be reduced some 20 per cent, that the Atlantic region be extended to Diamond Junction or beyond and that reductions in the rates be charged not to the railway, but to the federal government. It is further recommended that the proposed changes in rail rates which the report recommends, have been worked out to enable Maritime manufacturers to obtain wider markets.

There is another suggestion which affects the C. N. R. This has to do with the boat service between the mainland and P. E. I. It is recommended that this service be increased and that the cost be charged to the country and not to the C. N. R. One rather interesting point which is made in the report is that in the commission's opinion the union of the provinces would not help to surmount the various economic handicaps under which the Maritimers labor—those from other sections of Canada have often complained. The point that the union of the three provinces would prove an excellent basis upon which easterners might better obtain increased consideration at the hands of the federal authorities. The report also points out in the up-keep of their roads and bridges those provinces have a heavy load to maintain.

TO DEVELOP PORTS

One of the major points which the commission considered was the further development of the Atlantic ports—an objective which apparently has long met with general approval in other sections of the Dominion. The commission has recommended establishing federal harbor boards at Saint John and at Halifax. At present these harbors are owned and administered by the respective cities. In fact, the report advocates the further development of all the Atlantic ports. In the past Maritimers have pointed to the extravagant expenditures on such projects as the Toronto harbor by the federal government, whereas nothing has been done to build up or encourage trade on the Atlantic seaboard. It has been felt in the Maritimes that the government has usually responded not to reason but simply to public clamor in making expenditures for navigation. Naturally the clamor has been the loudest from those sections where the most votes are obtainable.

Then the present plight of the Nova Scotia steel and coal industry has been given thought by Sir Andrew Rae Duncan and his associates. The steel industry is now being considered by the tariff board—doubtless action of some sort will be taken. It is understood that the commission has advised the immediate establishment of coking plants. In order to expedite these projects, subsidies should be given the operators. Such a recommendation is

Confidential Communications Between Two Charming Girl Friends—One Married

DEAR KITTY:—
I think you are just terrible! You say you don't intend to stir up trouble between me and Jack and then you keep right on doing it.
The way you talk about sowing wild oats is shocking and I don't think I can ever forgive you for it. If you could just see Jack you would know—just by looking into his honest blue eyes—that he is the kind of a fellow a girl can trust.
Mother was feeling better yesterday and I drove her down town for a little while to help me shop. I bought an ensemble and stockings and underwear and the most darling evening gown you ever did see. Mother used to live in Calais, you know, and she reads a Calais paper occasionally. She confirms what you tell me that Saint John stores have just as much variety, just as big stock as to select from, as stores in other places. In fact, mother has always been strong for Saint John stores ever since she came here. She says it is all nonsense going over to Calais to shop.
Jack is coming home tomorrow and I'm going to tell him how you have been worrying me and everything.
Yours,
KATY.

NOTE—Jack is coming home. What will he have to say about his time spent in Fredericton—his old girl—saw Kitty's insinuations? Kitty is getting suspicious, although she is trying to hold her faith in Jack.

Blame Sun Spots

FRANCE IS VISITED BY VIOLENT STORMS

PARIS, Oct. 26—Violent storms are raging all over France with deluges of rain in the west and heavy squalls in the central and eastern portions. The gales are particularly fierce along the Atlantic coast. The Cunard liner Mauretania, which arrived last night at Cherbourg from New York, was struck by lightning and sustained no damage. All harbors are crowded with storm-bound shipping. All the packet services are delayed. From Touraine come tales of houses unroofed, telegraph poles blown down and trees uprooted. The storm has destroyed a number of places of electric lights. Intense cold prevails in the eastern and southeastern regions of the country.

POLYGAMY IS ABOLISHED BY TURK RULERS

New Law Makes Bigamy a Crime—Harems Must Go

LONDON, Oct. 26—Polygamy and harems have been the accepted privilege of the Turk for nearly a thousand years; now bigamy is a crime in the land of the Crescent. A Turk, no matter how wealthy, may have only one wife, and he cannot divorce her by simply telling her to go back to her mother.

The most startling and sweeping change ever made in the established laws of a country has just been made in Turkey. The Turkish National Assembly has adopted the Swiss civil code, supplanting the old Mohammedan religious laws which have governed family life and personal status since the chronicles of Turkish history. Not only has Turkey cast aside her ancient customs and "westernized" herself, practically at one fell swoop, but the country has resounded to the modern march of femininity. A few years ago Turkey was, as she had been throughout the centuries, a land where a man was a woman's true lord and master in the true meanings of the words. A wife could be repudiated at will, and exchanged or bartered.

Today the Turkish girl enjoys equal rights with a man in the obligations of matrimony. She must be wooed and won in the accepted sense.

IN FORCE NOW.

The new laws came into force at midnight on October 4, and until the stroke of 12 a Turk could divorce his old wives and marry four new ones—four was the legal number.

The report was that the change caused a tremendous rush on the part of those who wished to enjoy the full life of multiple marriage and easy divorce. In Constantinople there were 300 demands for marriages under the old system. Scores of wealthy husbands divorced their wives in the old time-honored way and then rushed to the "registrars" with two, three and four new ones.

In a large number of instances, however, the Turks who tried to drag young girls to the altar under the old polygamous laws were faced with a new and hitherto unprecedented difficulty. The girls simply would not obey. By hook or by crook many of them managed to preserve their independence until midnight when they were able to "snap their fingers" at their would-be husbands and rejoice in a legalized freedom.

One effect of the present law is to raise the marriage age of girls from 14 to 18 years.

SOME COMMENT.

A journalist writing from Constantinople says that one Ali Hassan told him all about the mighty change that had fallen over the land as he sorrowfully slipped black coffee and mused on women and life.

"Evil days have fallen upon us," said Ali. "I can't see any good in this new notion. It is against the Law of the Prophet. Mohammed said if a man couldn't get along with one wife he could marry three more. I believe it is from the good system, although many people think it has something to do with all the wars Turkey has been in for the last 600 years. The Turkish Army always reported that the men living with four wives were always the first to enlist for service at the front, and seemed more at home in battle than their unmarried brothers. The Koranic Law gave him the means of ridding himself of undesirable wives whenever, and as often, as he pleased. All he had to do was to drop three stones in front of his wife, and repeat three times, 'You are no wife of mine,' and that finishes it." Ali added that the men would take to the new law about as readily as they would take to bubonic plague.

COMBINE OF MAIL ORDER FIRMS SEEN

Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward Companies to Consolidate Interests, Report

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 26—The Herald and Examiner today prints a story based on "authentic reports in Laclede St." that a consolidation of Sears Roebuck and Company with Montgomery Ward and Company, the two largest mail order houses in the country, is imminent. The two concerns have aggregate assets of $230,000,000. The newspaper says the proposed combination, which has been talked of for several years, originated with several of the larger stockholders of the two companies, and had reached a stage where application had been made to the federal trade commission for governmental approval.

EX-POLICEMAN HELD Charged With Robbing Hamilton Man of $3,500

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 26—John Kublitz, former member of the Hamilton police force, was taken into custody last night by local detectives on a charge of robbing Louis Riche on September 6, of $3,500. Police allege that Kublitz headed a gang who, posing as provincial liquor inspectors, entered Riche's home and, after beating him, took the money which was Riche's receipts from a number of fruit stands he operated at the Canadian National exhibition.

The Foolish Old Mother Who Forces Her Son to Wait Until After Her Death to be Married—What Makes a Girl Popular?—How Can a Fellow Find Out Whether or Not a Girl Loves Him?

DEAR MISS DIX—I am engaged to be married to a man who is 33 years old. He promised his mother, who is 75, that he would never marry as long as she lived. Now I am not selfish nor jealous of her, for I think there is nothing more beautiful than a son's love for his mother, but it is horrible to me for us just to sit and wait for her to die. My fiancé's mother is well off financially, and has seven other children. Do you think that our happiness should be sacrificed to her selfish desire to keep her son with her? I am willing that she should come to live with us in a home of which I am mistress, but I am not willing to go and live with her. Please let us what to do. PUZZLED.

DOROTHY DIX

Of course, the old lady justifies herself by saying that she won't live long, but that is as may be. In these days of the prolongation of life, 75 isn't old, and it is quite on the cards that she is good for another ten years or more, which would effectually blight your romance and rub all the bloom off of it.

For a long engagement is the most nerve-wearing experience that a man and woman can go through, and even when it ends in marriage its thrills have been so long discounted that both parties feel that it is a sort of anti-climax.

But what a foolish old woman she is, and how little does she know her own interests when she sets her death before her son as something to be eagerly looked forward to! She makes his happiness, his possession of his woman, his setting up his own home, and having children of his woman her duty, and he would be more than human if he did not make him wish her dead and begrudge every hour that she lives.

How much wiser would she be, how much more would her son love her, how much more she would really have her son, if she urged him to marry, if she were willing to make any personal sacrifice for his happiness, and if she welcomed with open arms the woman he loved!

It is no part of a son's filial duty to sacrifice himself for his mother's outrageous selfishness, and it will be folly to give in to it, so let the wedding bells ring.

Many old people get to be merely spoiled old children and have to be treated as if they were spoiled children. And the results are the same. They are far happier if they are made to behave themselves and their demands are kept within reasonable bounds.

You are also quite right in saying that you will receive your mother-in-law as a guest in your house, but you will not be an enforced member of her household.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Will you please answer these few questions? What other qualities must a girl have to make a boy fall for her beside being pretty and well-dressed? Why can some girls get anybody they want, while other girls cannot get any boys at all? SALLY, ROSE AND DOT.

ANSWER: It is undoubtedly greatly to a girl's advantage to be pretty and well dressed, but these alone will not make her popular with boys. She must have intelligence. The beautiful but dumb makes a bit at sight with men, but they soon tire of her and forsake her for some girl who can interest and amuse them.

And while men like to be seen with a girl who is well dressed, they soon are out on the bias and shirred in the middle.

Chief among the qualities that attract boys are good nature and kindness. What we call good-hearted girls are almost universally popular.

One of the most popular girls I know is actually homely, and by no means brilliant, yet she never lacks a admirer, and wherever she goes she has a crowd of boys and girls around her. I asked a boy the reason of this and he replied, "Oh, we are all crazy about Sally, because she is so sweet. She never says anything mean or catty about anybody, and she is the sort you can depend on. There is nothing in the world she wouldn't do to help you if you needed it."

Then a girl to be popular needs to be able to do things. She must know how to dance, or else she won't be invited to balls, and she must know how to swim or else she will be left out of the swimming parties. She must know how to play golf and tennis and a good game of cards, or else she will be left behind when the other young-people are playing about. And it is hugely to her advantage if she can play the piano or some other kind of musical instrument. It is just as necessary for a girl to know how to do parlor tricks as for her to have any other education.

Perhaps in answering your first question I have also answered your second question as far as it can be answered.

But why some girls can get any men they want, and other girls can get none, is one of the unsolved mysteries of the world.

DEAR MISS DIX—Is there any way a fellow can find out if a girl likes him or not? Not that I wish to get married right away, but I would just like to know. This question is important not only to me but to others as well, as she goes out with other fellows as well as me.

Something else I want to ask you. My friend goes out with a girl and she has what is called a good time, plenty of kissing and petting. My friend is falling in love with this girl, and he wants to know whether he should keep on the way he is doing or change and try to calm the girl down.

ANSWER: There is only one way to find out whether a girl cares for you or not, and that is to ask her. But it doesn't seem to me that a man has the right to put this question to her unless he means business and is ready to pop the question to her.

It may be a son to his vanity to have her tell him that she loves him, but it isn't giving the girl a square deal, and certainly no honorable man should drive all of a girl's other suitors away unless he not only is willing to supply their place, but is in a position to do so.

Just remember that a girl's youth and beauty are her capital with which she expects to establish herself in life, and if you let her waste them upon you, you have robbed her of her opportunity for making a good marriage.

I would certainly advise your friend to calm down his lady friend if he means to marry her. Not many men care for wild girls for wives.

Black Is Popular, But Always With a Bit o' Color

By MME LISBETH
BLACK frocks are as popular as ever this fall. Always with a touch of color, however, and frequently with more than a touch. Sometimes it's gold that relieves the sombre black, sometimes white, and again a brilliant shade. Each of the dresses pictured above are black combined or trimmed with white. The afternoon frock on the left is black and white—chiffon voile over satin. There is a yoke-like effect in the upper section and the skirt is a series of scalloped ruffles. An elaborate white belt is a noticeable feature of the frock. Also the long, full sleeves which repeat the scalloped motif at the lower section.

By MME LISBETH
Black is the color of the skirt of the central figure and orange the background for the brilliantly colored bodice. The design was chosen from the Escholovskian peasantry and consists of a tight fitting little bodice brilliantly embroidered in a floral design. It is slit in the front to show a white chemise. The skirt is a series of acedimian pleated black silk crepe ruffles.

A turban shaped hat is worn with this costume, embroidered metallic cloth being used for its creation. June Marlowe posed for the model.

The third model—right—is a simple but charmingly pretty dress of the always popular black satin. The bodice is bloused slightly and made with long sleeves and high neck. The skirt is made of many tiers of scallops and an enticing bouquet of flowers is embroidered in colored wools at the belt. The belt, color and cuffs are also touches of color on the black background.

A chiffon velvet hat in the silver-tone shade is worn with the gown. June Marlowe again posed.

Two other models that attracted attention and carried out the black with color motifs were one of black tulle and another of black tulle and black crepe with an interesting tulle treatment and embroidered in metal and bordered in magenta ribbon; and a flat black crepe suggesting classic lines in a rippling full-length jabot which, with the skirt, was edged with gold metal.

When Miss Fairbanks arrived in New York from the coast, she told Miss Swanson and Mr. Parker she desired to make her own way in films and for this reason wished to discard the family name. After numerous conferences the name Florence Fair was decided upon and the public duly advised of the change. But after a few weeks, it was learned there were several other Fairbanks and Fairs on the stage and the films.

Whereupon, Miss Fairbanks went back to her own name. Her previous motion picture experience has been confined to several extra bits. She is a blonde and is about five feet two inches in height.

Among the other new faces Miss Swanson will have in her picture are John Boles, musical comedy star; Agnes de Segrora, Impresario and opera singer; and Hugh Miller, who has been starred in English and German productions.

Florence Vidor will soon return from Hollywood to New York to make "Face to Face," her next starring picture.

Movie extras have been known to grumble at the inconspicuous parts that often make it difficult to distinguish them from the scenery, but for total obliteration, John Clark, now working in Luther Reed's picture,

Charles Chaplin and has had seats sold at $25 per each.

By the way, what ever became of that fellow—what's his name—that flew over the pole? . . . And that girl, Gertrude something-or-other, who swam the English channel? . . . And what the dickens was the name of the girl from Oklahoma who won the Atlantic City beauty prize? . . . Broadway didn't so much as get a look at her and will never forgive her for that.

Saw Luke O'Connor, the ex-saloon keeper who gave John Masfield his famous job as spittoon cleaner in a famous old bar in the Village. . . . That was thirty years ago. . . . Masfield, now one of Britain's great poets, now comes as guest of the Morgans at lib. . . . While Luke lives in retired luxury on the second floor of a Village made-over tenement.

And the tale goes that, after Masfield became famous, Luke's place was beset by literary ladies from Sheboygan and way ports demanding all inside information on the poetic tendencies of the lad who came into port on a sailing ship and, quite broke, was taken under the wing of the fine old Irishman. . . . So, both times did they become that Luke got one of his newspaper friends to write out a stock list of anecdotes to be passed out whenever anyone came around asking questions.

BEHIND THE SCENE

ANOTHER member of the Fairbanks family has come to the screen and within the period of a few months has won an important role. She is Florelle Fairbanks, daughter of John Fairbanks, brother and manager of Douglas, and she now is playing the part of Gloria Swanson's sister in the star's production of "Sunya."

While Albert Parker was directing Douglas Fairbanks in "The Black Pirate" last year, he made a screen test of Miss Fairbanks, who had just been graduated from college. Gloria Swanson has been looking for new faces for her production and Mr. Parker, who is directing "Sunya," showed her the test of Miss Fairbanks.

When Miss Fairbanks arrived in New York from the coast, she told Miss Swanson and Mr. Parker she desired to make her own way in films and for this reason wished to discard the family name. After numerous conferences the name Florence Fair was decided upon and the public duly advised of the change.

But after a few weeks, it was learned there were several other Fairbanks and Fairs on the stage and the films. Whereupon, Miss Fairbanks went back to her own name.

Her previous motion picture experience has been confined to several extra bits. She is a blonde and is about five feet two inches in height.

Among the other new faces Miss Swanson will have in her picture are John Boles, musical comedy star; Agnes de Segrora, Impresario and opera singer; and Hugh Miller, who has been starred in English and German productions.

Florence Vidor will soon return from Hollywood to New York to make "Face to Face," her next starring picture.

Movie extras have been known to grumble at the inconspicuous parts that often make it difficult to distinguish them from the scenery, but for total obliteration, John Clark, now working in Luther Reed's picture,

Charles Chaplin and has had seats sold at $25 per each.

By the way, what ever became of that fellow—what's his name—that flew over the pole? . . . And that girl, Gertrude something-or-other, who swam the English channel? . . . And what the dickens was the name of the girl from Oklahoma who won the Atlantic City beauty prize? . . . Broadway didn't so much as get a look at her and will never forgive her for that.

Saw Luke O'Connor, the ex-saloon keeper who gave John Masfield his famous job as spittoon cleaner in a famous old bar in the Village. . . . That was thirty years ago. . . . Masfield, now one of Britain's great poets, now comes as guest of the Morgans at lib. . . . While Luke lives in retired luxury on the second floor of a Village made-over tenement.

And the tale goes that, after Masfield became famous, Luke's place was beset by literary ladies from Sheboygan and way ports demanding all inside information on the poetic tendencies of the lad who came into port on a sailing ship and, quite broke, was taken under the wing of the fine old Irishman. . . . So, both times did they become that Luke got one of his newspaper friends to write out a stock list of anecdotes to be passed out whenever anyone came around asking questions.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.
Lord, to be grateful for all this good, ever along my way; ah, to regret it in thankful mood, humbly, from day to day! This would I ask, when sweet pleasures through them let me not forget Love that has guided me all along. Love that is with me yet. Not need that the breeze thrill, I am the wind-stirred grass. So I would go with you to day; Lord, to be grateful for all good things waiting along my way! Yet, Oh, Lord, there is one boon more: Grant when the shadows fall, troubles and sorrows and trials sore, I may give thanks for all!

WELLINGTON KOO.
Wellington Koo, one of the best known Chinese in foreign lands through his occupancy of the Foreign Ministership and other positions and his efforts at Versailles and Washington, is a brilliant man, a gambler and a poker player and likes all card games. Paraphrasing it may be said that all Chinese take to gambling, and the Chinese intellect is fully "up" to bridge, but it is usually a tendency for a Chinese player to trick not only his opponent but his partner as well. With such an individualistic style of play, poker seems naturally to fit the Chinese better than bridge.

HEALTH SERVICE
Overeating Harmful After Middle Life

By DR. MORRIS FISHBIN.
MOST of the illnesses that afflict the man beyond middle age are due to the fact that he does not realize his intellectual limitations. The most pernicious misdemeanor after middle life is overeating. The person who works out-of-doors is, of course, able to dispose of more and heavier food than does a brain-worker. The brain-worker who tries to eat more than three times a day will find himself, in most instances, in better condition if he eats meat only once each day, but in this condition quantity of food is more important than its nature.

COOKED FOODS.
The human being gradually has been adapting himself to more and more refined and thoroughly cooked foods. Nevertheless, it is not desirable for him suddenly to change to foods that are coarse and indigestible.

These perhaps will aid elimination, but at the same time they will irritate the delicate lining of the intestines and permit the more easy entrance of bacteria into the body. Too much starch, proteins or fats is harmful because it will not be digested fully and will encourage the growth of bacteria in the intestines. As one becomes older his tolerance for sugars, sweets or starchy foods, he is likely to develop disorders of sugar elimination.

All health authorities are agreed that the greatest danger for the man beyond middle age is overeating. The records of great insurance companies show that the average expectancy of the man slightly underweight at this age is greater by far than that of the man who is overweight.

As the old farmer expressed the matter, pigs would live longer if they did not make hogs of themselves.

DON'T leave it to a friend to remind you of that bad cold! Don't go about spreading infection among your own family circle. To banish colds and chills in the direct and most effective way, you must take PEPS.

As they dissolve in the mouth Peps give off powerful healing and germicidal fumes. These you breathe into instant direct contact with the innermost recesses of the chest and lungs.

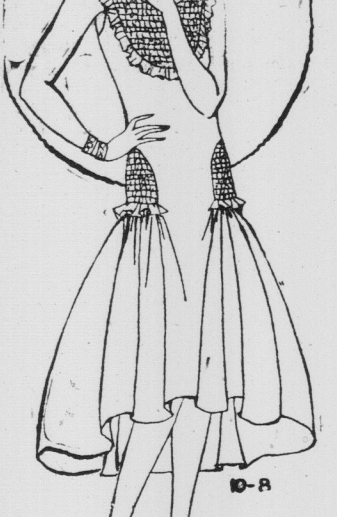

Peps soothe, strengthen and invigorate the entire breathing system. They clear the throat and air-passages of mischievous germs, remove soreness and inflammation, and end the danger to chest and lungs. Make no mistake! You must have Peps, the breathable medicine in tablet form.

An Unusual Ceremony (Winnipeg Tribune).
Civil war in China caused an unusual wedding ceremony in Peking, recently, when a pretty young Chinese girl was married to a photograph and solemnly carried to her new home. The picture marriage was decided on when the Chi Shihshu, a sub officer in one of the numerous armies, failed to get leave he had requested for his marriage ceremony. Parents of the bride and bridegroom, who had arranged a huge wedding feast, decided to carry out the ceremony and kowtows were made before a photograph of the bridegroom in his absence.

WHITE TAFFETA SHIRRED IN BLACK MAKES THIS UNUSUAL BOUFFANT FROCK

By Marie Belmont
Frocks of the picture variety continue to hold a definite place in the evening wardrobe. Most young debutantes choose at least one bouffant frock for their wardrobe.

A delightfully youthful model is shown above in white taffeta, which employs black thread to accent its shirring pattern. The dress is made with a deep yoke and flat insets of shirring at the hips.

A Double Escape
DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER'S STORY

Another Toronto home provides evidence of how a simple cut, scratch or bruise, may pave the way to deadly blood-poison, and how vital is the need for keeping Zam-Buk, always handy?

When called upon at 3, Bushness Avenue, Mrs. J. Ez Zealey, daughter of the late Dr. Hevan, of St. David's, S.S. Wales, said:—"My boy Alfred scratched his leg with the brass tag of a shoe lace. A nasty poisoned sore developed and it defied all the usual ointments. Hearing splendid reports about Zam-Buk, I decided to give it a trial. To my great relief, the balm soon caused healing to set in. All inflammation and poisonous matter was quickly removed by Zam-Buk, and it healed the sore without leaving a scar."

"Again when I fell over a steel fence and injured my knee badly, Zam-Buk saved me. My daughter, a nurse, was of the opinion that only an operation could remove the mass of inflammation and pus. But I again pinned my faith to Zam-Buk, and it cleansed and healed the wound." All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at fifty cents per box. Equally valuable for eczema, pimples, cuts, burns, etc.

Planning for Busy Time for Newsboys' Club

MAYOR WHITE has received a gift which he prizes very highly, copies of some of the ordinances of the city passed in 1776, when Thomas Campbell was Mayor of the city. At the time these ordinances were passed the city was only ten years old, its charter having been granted in 1765.

Quaint Laws in Old City Of Saint John Code Which Comes To Mayor As Gift

The city at that time was composed of six wards, four in the city proper and two in Carleton. The city wards were Queens, Kings, Dukes and Sydney and the Carleton wards were Brookes and Guys. The city government consisted of the Mayor, recorder, aldermen and assistant aldermen.

The ordinances contain very strict regulations for the observance of the Sabbath Day. One of the interesting laws was that relating to swine. They were not permitted to run at large in the streets in Kings and Queens wards but might roam the streets in the other wards of the city provided they were "ringed." Any person who found a hog at large was to be fined five dollars.

The Rockefeller money is forthcoming in installments proportionate to the cash collections of the university executive.

THE EVENING TIMES-STAR, SAINT JOHN, N. B., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1926

MAKES PLEA FOR LESS CRITICISM OF PUBLIC MEN

Dr. Brittain Stresses Need of Education in Moulding Character

MAKING a plea for less destructive criticism and more effective co-operation with public officials, Dr. Horace L. Brittain, director of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada, gave an interesting address on "The Foundations of Citizenship" before the Saint John Rotary Club yesterday.

There were three main institutes which had been established in order to meet the needs of man. These were the family, the church and school. All were fundamental to the production of a high standard of citizenship.

The family, or home, said Dr. Brittain, was the basic unit of human relations and was the nursery of citizenship. In the home the selfish young human animal learned to subordinate his desires to the group. Here he received his first painful lessons in co-operation with mother as the team manager and father as the first umpire. The family which graduated its children as self-centred individuals had not only handicapped its children in the battle of life, but had delivered to the state a liability, not an asset.

STRESSES EDUCATION

Dr. Brittain stressed the importance of education and the school in moulding the character of the young citizen. A great deal depended on the influence of teachers, especially with children up to the age of seven years. Schools today were doing much more in teaching civics than when the speaker was a boy, and he hoped the time would come when civics would be regarded as the equal in importance of any subject now taught.

"It has become the fashion in certain high-brow quarters to decry the character of the young citizen. 'With this personality I have no sympathy. What would be the condition if all churchmen were scattered? Would there be less crime? Would life be more secure, and would children be more unselfish and untruthful? And yet while believing there should be as in Canada complete separation of church and state, it seems to me that the teaching of citizenship, which is fundamentally a department of ethics, should be the vital concern of every church and Sunday school."

SPRIT OF HARMONY

In concluding, Dr. Brittain declared that a spirit of destructive criticism was abroad in the land. There was much more disposition to find fault with public officials instead of appreciating their work. There were far too many shrieks being thrown at public men and far too few bouquets. A man who was conscientious and desirous of doing his best in the interest of his country was not appreciated as he should be. What was needed was more of the spirit of harmony, more co-operation with our public officials.

RUSSIA BACK OF CANTONESE ARMY

Insurgents Now Claiming Six Provinces Although Hold Insecure

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 26—Cablegrams from China continue to recount the progressive subjugation of large sections of the huge republic by the Cantonese Government which is said to be aided by Russian gold and officers. Within a few months, by force of arms and with Oriental intrigue, the Cantonese control of Kwangtung and Kwansi Provinces in southern China has spread, although insecurely, to six provinces and with threats to others.

In its campaign for so-called nationalization of China, as stated by the Kuomintang (National peoples' party) dominating it, the present tenure of the Cantonese covers 620,000 square miles, with an estimated population of 179,286,169. This tenure, however, is subject to day by day fluctuation of control.

Provinces claimed by the Cantonese are Kwangtung, Kwansi, Hunan, Kiangsi, Huguang and Szechwan, with fighting and intrigue proceeding in all but the first two.

The huge province of Szechwan, consisting of 218,383 square miles and a population estimated at 46,782,810, is the latest to be claimed by the Cantonese. Chungking, one of its largest and most important cities, has fallen into the hands of the southern troops.

How Harvard Won

There was only one minute to play, as is always the case in the best football stories. It was getting dark and the air was chilly, and Harvard was losing. So far it was an old plot for Harvard, but the new twist came when Jerry, came tearing through the line and ran 47 yards for a touchdown.

TASTES OLD GLORIES

For the moment at least Harvard is tasting the glories of the old days when Neil Mahan and Eddie Casey, "Tacks" Hardwick and Charley Buckley went through their immortal paces. On an afternoon that saw Yale losing to Brown, Harvard men leaped out of their dormitory windows after the game and shouted a pean of triumph that hasn't been heard in Cambridge since the days when Harvard was Houghton and Houghton was supreme.

MASTERLY FILM AT IMPERIAL IS GREATER GLORY

Striking Story of Austria After War—Miss Nilsson in Lead

When the storm cleared away last night Imperial Theatre seemed to be the mecca for crowds of people. The big house was filled to capacity. The chief feature on the program was the tremendous ten-reel First National production "The Greater Glory," a compelling tale of the Austrian side of the late war—and a heart-searching tale it was! Many a picture has been heralded more vociferously and higher prices paid to see it but it is doubtful if the Imperial ever screened a more arduous or true-to-life depiction than the present attraction.

GOOD PLAY AND FIDDLERS AT OPERA HOUSE

Mae Edwards' Players Entertain Well in "The Natural Law"

Although slightly overdrawn, "The Natural Law," a drama in four acts, starring Mae Edwards, which was presented by the Mae Edwards' Players at the Opera House last night, was a success from start to finish, if one can be guided by the incessant applause of an appreciative audience who received the play with whole-hearted enthusiasm. Excellent support was given by the cast, particularly by Charles T. Smith, whose acting throughout the presentation was capable and masterful. He was the backbone of the play.

HAD DIFFICULT TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Randall, of Buffalo, N. Y., motored to Saint John yesterday via St. Stephen. The trip from the New Brunswick border was made under very difficult conditions and the big car which Mr. Randall was driving was hard put to make progress. The roads in some places on the highway are almost impassable and in several instances he noted small bridges washed away as a result of yesterday's storm. He had a narrow escape from going over an embankment when the car skidded in the mud and was just stopped from taking a bad plunge.
