Break Causes Water Famine in Montreal

Montreal, Dec. 26.—It is estimated that it will take ten days to repair the sixty foot break in the main conduit which has resulted in depriving the city of half its supply of water.

So grave is the situation that Mayor Lavalee has issued an official statement suggesting that manufacturing plants shut down for a few days, and warning citizens of the danger of explosion if the hot water is drawn from the taps in the houses.

On certain streets, while all over the city snow is being gathered and melted for drinking and washing purposes. Controller Godfrey, who is in charge of the water works department, in an official statement gives the following information:

CHRISTMAS AND AFTER

From statements that have appeared in the press during the last three days it is clear that there were hundreds of families in St. John who were not in a position to provide themselves with a substantial Christmas dinner.

Christmas is past and there will not be another for a year, but these hundreds of families have before them a severe winter, which will grow in severity for the next two or three months.

Most important, however, is a study of the conditions with a view to their improvement. There can be no doubt at all that many families which are in want today are in that condition because of ordinary thrift.

PROBLEMS OF THE CITY
An inquiry has lately been in progress in Dublin to learn the facts about housing conditions in that city.

"I could contrast the slums of London with those of Dublin very much to the disadvantage of London. I could show conditions which would not be allowed in Dublin."

It is not surprising that, with such conditions existing in cities in the United Kingdom, the reform measures introduced by the Asquith government

SOME HORRORS OF RUSSIAN PRISONS

International Protest Has Just Been Issued

APPALLING CONDITIONS The Tragedy of Siberia - The Case of Two Innocent Men Imprisoned For Four Years - Fares Paid Home Their Compensation

(Times' Special Correspondence) St. Petersburg, Dec. 15.—Since the Czar's manifesto of October, 1906, promising liberty to the people of Russia, more than 40,000 persons have been sentenced for political offenses. Of these, 3,000 were executed and more than 10,000 thrown into the horrible katorga (hard labor) prisons. "Packed in overcrowded rooms which are devoid of the simplest hygienic equipment and cleanliness, the underfed prisoners are almost deprived of any medical assistance, and become the victims of all kinds of epidemics. Scoury, typhus and tuberculosis decimate their ranks. In some prisons the death rate has reached twelve per cent. Very often these prisons become a centre of infection for the surrounding districts. Those sentenced to long terms of imprisonment—chiefly political—are in actual fact condemned to a cruel form of slow death. "Most tragic is the fate of those tens of thousands of political exiles of whom most are deported to Siberia, without trial, but simply by the arbitrary action of the administration. Most of them are sent to a frozen waste, where, unable to obtain the necessary food, clothing and housing, they perish. "This is a quotation from a recent international protest against the treatment of political prisoners in Russia, signed by many of the most prominent public men in France, Germany and England. In the minds of many people such statements save of exaggeration and a recent issue of a prominent English quarterly actually printed a long article in which it is stated that there are more than another Canada plus several advantages which the dominion would be delighted to possess. Listen to this fresh crop of prison reports. They have all been in the Russian press during the last few weeks. The editors of the papers bold enough to print them are doing time, or paying fines. On Bread and Water In the prison of the ancient city of Casanovo, no fewer than eighty prisoners are even now suffering from typhoid fever. The cells are crowded, so filthy in their state. This sort of thing has been going on since the arrest of the men on October 4, when they were taken up for joining in a strike, as a protest against the Brest trial at Kieff. There are now between 3,000 and 4,000 exiles in Siberia, under direct police supervision. These do not include the prison inmates. The government has sent them to the worst part of Siberia for various political offenses, such as keeping schools, where children and grown up were taught, for holding public meetings in their houses, for circulating the government, in short, for doing the hundred and one little things which everybody can do with impunity in other countries. The upkeep of these 4,000 amounts, according to budget returns, about $80 a year each. This magnificent sum includes the food, lodging and clothing of the happy exiles. They are forbidden to work, because it is a well known fact that people are happier when they have something to do, and also because the pitance they could earn on colonial farms during the short summer would buy them a little more food. But, as if this were not enough, new regulations are being drawn up by Malakoff. The wives and parents of these people are no longer allowed to follow them to Siberia. They are henceforth to add extreme loneliness to their other punishments. A Case in Point. The following is a fine example of what goes on, almost daily, in Russia: Charles Maminski and John Trassaki, two decent workmen employed at the foundry of Wloch, have been doing hard labor for five years, though innocent. In 1907 a policeman and another were wounded near the foundry. A few days later a woman, well known to the police as a receiver of stolen goods and a white slave traffic agent, went to the police station and said she knew who attacked the two wounded men. She pointed out Maminski and Trassaki. They were arrested, tried by court martial and, solely on the woman's evidence, condemned to be hanged. The court commuted the sentence to twenty years' hard labor for Maminski and fifteen years for his comrade. Their employers' declaration that both were quiet, honest men, and their own protestations that the woman gave evidence against them because they prevented her from getting two young girls into her clutches, made not the slightest difference. They were thrown, chained into a cell with the scum of a Russian prison, their wives and families were left to starve; they were sent in chains across the Urals and put to work in the mines. After four years the police began to hear, from different sources, that the two men were innocent. For a long time they took no notice. At last, however, one of the lawyers who had acted as "prisoners' friends," at the court martial, spent some spare time looking up the men's friends and relatives. He found that the woman's own son had shot at the policeman and the comrade. After a year, and much trouble, he made the Central Court Martial of Warsaw look into the case. The woman's son was arrested, and the woman confessed that she had falsely sworn to shield him. The latter was sentenced to ten years' hard labor. While Maminski and Trassaki worked in the Urals mines, they had lost all hope of ever seeing freedom again. Maminski had narrowly escaped death from maul-pox, and Trassaki is bent double with rheumatism. As dangerous criminals (Continued on page 10, second column)

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NEWS OF THE WEEK IN ST. JOHN

Christmas after all was not "green" but "white," a fact that will relieve the minds of nervous people who believe that a Christmas without snow portends disaster during the year to follow. Apart from that, however, snow seems to be the proper accompaniment to the Yuletide festival in any instance, who ever pictured Santa Claus in anything but a sleigh drawn by reindeer whose harness gleamed with the silvery magic of bells for the sound of which many a child has listened long and patiently into the wee small hours of the night before Christmas. Therefore it was a joy to see the snowflakes fall on Wednesday and even though the weather played strange pranks on the festive day itself, it was a delight to see the earth enveloped in its customary white mantle. THOUGHT IT WOULD KILL HIM

Terrible Torture From Chronic Indigestion, Short Treatment With "Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured The Whole Trouble

Chatham, Ont., April 26, 1913. "Some two years ago I was a great sufferer from indigestion. I treated with a prominent physician here for some time, but I did not get any better, so I went in to see him one day and said 'Doctor, what do I owe you?' I am not getting any better and am going to quit you." I paid him his bill and he remarked to me, "Charlie, you have a case of chronic indigestion that will be hard to cure." I left his office, and as I stepped out on the street my eye caught a bill board advertisement of "Fruit-a-tives"—that big "Fat Man and Thin Man," and I said to myself, "If Fruit-a-tives will build me up like that, it's good enough for me." I walked directly over to Parker Drug Store and I bought a box of "Fruit-a-tives." After taking these wonderful tablets for only three weeks, I found myself greatly improved. I continued taking them for a short time longer and cured myself entirely. My case was no light one either, for many times when I was on the street, I was compelled to go into some store or business place until the acute spasms were away. Gas would often form in my stomach and I was in daily fear it would get around my heart and kill me. Today, I have no such fears. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles. C. T. HILL, Esq. Perhaps your case is exactly like Mr. Hill's. If so, do exactly as he did—take "Fruit-a-tives" and cure yourself. "Fruit-a-tives" will prevent the formation of gas in the stomach by making digestion complete. It will assure the food being promptly digested by providing an abundance of gastric juice in the stomach. It keeps the stomach sweet and clean, not only by helping the digestion, but also by regulating Kidneys and Bowels and toning up the system. If you suffer with Indigestion, Dypsy epia, Sour Stomach, Belching, Gas on the Stomach, Heart Pains after Eating, take "Fruit-a-tives." 50c a box, 4 for $2.00, trial size, 25c, at all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Toronto.

English Writers Take Up Dickens Book

GHESTERTON THE JUDGE

Sir James Barrie and Jerome K. Jerome Members of the Jury—Westward Ho as Opera Libretto—Original of Peter Pan—College Student Now (Times Special Correspondence) London, Dec. 10.—Any author who comes forward with a new solution of the famous "Mystery of Edwin Drood," which Charles Dickens left unexplained, is sure of a lively reception from the wise ones on the subject here, and Gilman Vase, whose ingenious work, "The Mystery Solvers," has just been published, is the prey of reviewers, big and little, who are agast at his temerity in reopening the oft-argued question. Meanwhile, the appearance of his book has led to what promises to be one of the most amusing and interesting "mock trials" on record. The project of holding this originated in the ingenious brain of C. K. Chesterton, and it was not until the middle of the month, when John Jasper will then be solemnly tried for the murder of Edwin Drood. The judge will be C. K. Chesterton himself, and the counsel for the prosecution J. C. Langford, who is probably the most eminent English authority on "mystery" now that Andrew Lang is no more. The defence of Jasper will be undertaken by Cecil Chesterton, "G. K.'s" younger brother, who declares that he has an entirely novel explanation of the Drood puzzle to offer. It was Cecil Chesterton himself who told me about the coming trial, and he said, "I had a splendid idea of the trial when I was in Warwick Gardens, where he lives with his parents, now both old people. He added that the jury which will decide Jasper's fate is not expected to include Sir James Barrie, Jerome K. Jerome, W. W. Jacobs, Percy Fitzgerald, a former friend of Charles Dickens, William de Morgan, Coulson Scrabbleman and Sir Frank Bernard, former editor of "Punch" all of whom, he said, are intensely interested in the production. "We all are going to be dressed in the costume of the period," said Chesterton, "and it is going to be great fun, as well as decidedly interesting. The foreman of the jury will, I cannot tell you yet, but perhaps you can guess when I say that it is a very distinguished man, whose name will be announced in due season. The arrangements, by the way, are in the hands of the Dickens club, and we hope to raise several thousand dollars, all of which will go to the 'Tiny Tim' Orphanage." Cecil Chesterton, though not quite so round as the famous brother, must weigh close on 300 pounds, but he lacks, G. K.'s infectious good spirits. He is editor of the "New Witness" and still occupies the position of member of the government of all sorts of misdemeanors, just as if he has not recently been mulcted $500 and cast in criminal libel. The father of Cecil and G. K. Chesterton is the (now retired) head of a prominent firm of land-agents who have the administration of the real estate owned by Mr. Justice Phillimore, before whom

DOMINIONS EXHIBITION
Plans For Great Show at Crystal Palace — Lord Strathcona at Work
(Times Special Correspondence)
London, Dec. 9.—The selection of the Crystal Palace for the British Dominions Exhibition in 1914, is a happy one from many points of view, but more particularly on account of its interesting traditions. A decade ago the visitor to the old country included the Crystal Palace as one of the places he must see quite as naturally as the Tower of London, the House of Parliament or St. Paul's Cathedral. Probably no building so famous all over the world in so short a time as this unique structure of glass, which first stood in Hyde Park close to the Albert Memorial, and was erected for the great exhibition of 1851. It was the opening of this exhibition, indeed, which first revealed to Great Britain and to Europe the resources of the empire and the emigration movement had its inception from the impressions of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert, with whose names the fame of the Crystal Palace is always associated. Here it was that the people of Europe saw for the first time a collection of empire exhibits, which opened the eyes of the world to the wealth of "Greater Britain." Gold from Australia, timber, furs and fisheries from the little known Canada and the wealth of the Indies were here displayed in such profusion as created a new and more accurate assessment. Now Canada is to exhibit her wealth once more, and if it were possible it would be interesting to make a comparison between the two exhibitions.

Lord Strathcona, who is working with all his accustomed energy in connection with this exhibition, was reminded by one of his friends at the Hudson Company's meeting recently that some of the fun sent over to the first exhibition might have been handled by him, and he laughingly agreed that might be so.
Exhibitions—empire and otherwise—have become so frequent and so much a part of our industrial life that it is surprising to forget how comparatively modern is their origin. The great exhibition of 1851 was the first of its class; success was so great that a second was decided on almost immediately. Things moved slowly, however, so that it was not until 1862 that the second exhibition was held. European countries were convinced of the value of such exhibitions and during the next decade, France was the first continental country to follow Great Britain's example. On the other side of the Atlantic the first exhibition of similar magnitude was the exhibition held in Philadelphia in the seventies.
While the Crystal Palace has fallen somewhat from popular favor during the last few years, mainly owing to the growth of rival attractions nearer to town it is still unexcelled as an exhibition ground. No better site could be imagined for the display of the natural resources and principal industries of the empire and for the adequate representation of everything that illustrates the present condition and past history of the nations united under the British flag.
All signs point to the fact that Canada will bulk largely at this exhibition. The council have received support in the dominion far exceeding their expectations. A great deal of this success is due to Lord Strathcona who has determined that Canada shall have fitting representation. It is almost needless to say the biggest exhibition in Great Britain's history.

THE CANADIAN ALMANAC A VALUABLE BOOK
Sixty-seventh Edition Contains Great Amount of Valuable Information.
The sixty-seventh issue of the Canadian Almanac has been received. This valuable publication will find place in every office and library in the dominion, containing, as it does, much information of interest to professional and business men.
Among the numerous matters dealt with in the almanac are astronomical and geographical facts, tide tables, a complete customs tariff, names of banks and their branches, including names of managers, presidents and copyrights in Canada, army and navy news, postal information, names of post offices with the railways on which they are located, or nearest station, a list of Canadian newspapers, with their circulation and political particulars of the government departments, names of foreign consuls in Canada, a complete list of the clergy of all denominations, legal and judicial information, names of county and township officers and of Canadian barristers and solicitors, educational institutions and societies, athletic records, particulars of life assurance with companies' rates, banking news and much other information of value.
The almanac also includes a map of British Columbia, engraved and printed in colors, the whole volume of 580 pages being handsomely bound in dark red cloth. It is published by the Copp, Clark Company, Limited, of Toronto.

THE LATE W. HERBERT CLARK.
Of the late W. Herbert Clark, the Charlottetown Patriot of Wednesday says:—
"Yesterday morning in St. John, N. B., the death of W. Herbert Clark, second engineer of the S. S. Aberdeen, and for many years a resident of Charlottetown, occurred. Mr. Clark was the son of Joseph Clark. He was born in St. John forty-four years ago, but came to Charlottetown with his parents when a young boy. After serving his apprenticeship as machinist with the late Archibald White, Mr. Clark took up marine engineering, his first steamer being the William. For four years he was one of the engineers of the Nyassa, a large steamer plying between Boston and South America. He was subsequently second engineer on the Princess, and the Minto, coming out with each steamer from the old country.
After serving for twelve years on the Minto he was transferred, on the first of January, 1913, to the Stanley, and subsequently to the Aberdeen, the headquarters of these boats being at St.

Business at Christmas Good

The merchants in the North End all report a very successful Christmas season and in many cases it was reported to have been better than in previous years. The snow on Christmas eve accounted for a large increase in the sale of winter goods such as children's slights which were not much in demand while there was no snow and apparently no prospect of any. The buying began earlier than usual this year but there was the usual rush during Christmas week, and especially on the day before the festival. The merchants had a remarkably good season, but it meant work almost day and night during Christmas week. A young man clerking in one of the stores said that after eating his breakfast in the morning he did not get home again until about eleven o'clock at night and had to have his other meals sent to the store for him and he managed to dispose of them while waiting on customers.
A noticeable feature of the Christmas buying this year was the high price of goods sold; the majority insisted on having nothing but the best.
Professor G. Douglas Steel, of Charlottetown, is spending the Christmas with his parents, Rev. George Steel and Mrs. Steel, Main street.
Miss Della Harrington of Boston is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Harrington, Main street.
Mr. and Mrs. James Codner entertained the members of the Kewatin Club to a turkey dinner at their residence, 62 Cranston avenue, on Christmas eve. Among those present were L. O. Bentley, Michael Harrington, William Demming, J. Leonard Brown, J. B. Patchell, Frank Scott, Robert Ward, Sydney Codner and George Crosby. Mrs. G. Carr of Sherbrooke, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Codner, also was a guest. The dinner was much enjoyed by all. During the evening the members of the club talked of their adventures in camp last summer and games were discussed for the future. Games and music were enjoyed.

BLUE FOR THE TORY CANDIDATE NEXT TIME

Government Responsible For Reducing Chatham to a Way Station
(Chatham World)
The conspiracy that robbed 1400 Chatham people of their railway service, and will soon deprive the Nelson people between Nelson Station and Chatham Junction of their railway service, was formed for the purpose of making Newcastle the real Miramichi terminus of the Canada Eastern, and it appears by the news report that the conspiracy has succeeded.
Chatham is to be reduced to the status of a way station on a branch Canada Eastern line, as well as being a way station on a branch of the main line. This is what we have been fighting against from the start—what all Chatham, except one man, has been fighting against. We have done all we could to prevent this outrage, and failed, but are not ungratefully accepting it because we are unable to prevent it. The town make a vigorous protest, whether there seems to be any hope of rescuing Chatham's railway status from the conspirators or not, and thereby show a proper spirit of resentment. The gang that engineered this robbery have won so far. The government is responsible and its candidate in the next election will have to take the punishment.
REFUSE AID EXCEPT FROM UNION SOURCES
Calumet, Mich., Dec. 25.—Inability to give away one cent of the $38,000 collected for relief of the families stricken by the Christmas eve catastrophe, in Newcastle, Dec. 23, were killed, today confronted the committee which gathered the funds.
Every bereaved household that was approached told the men and women in charge of the distribution that they had been promised adequate aid by the Western Federation of Miners, and nowhere was there any assistance wanted.
Efforts to run down the identity of the man who began the public net with some success today. Several persons gave long affidavits to Prosecutor Lucas' investigators, and from a description furnished by one of them it was hoped that an arrest might be made soon.
Calumet, Mich., Dec. 26.—Charles H.

Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, was put on a train and sent out on the copper strike district tonight. The deportation was the direct result of refusal of families stricken by the Christmas eve disaster here to accept relief from a committee, the majority of whose members belonged to the Citizens Alliance, an organization combating the five months strike of the federation.
Skipper Drops Dead.
Sydney, N. S., Dec. 26.—Captain Simon Blake, of the bark Mantlan, a resident of Halifax, dropped dead in Chisholm's restaurant on Dodd street this evening.
Captain Blake came to the city from Lunenburg and was en route to his home in Halifax. After purchasing a ticket and checking his luggage he went into the restaurant for something to eat and was taken ill while sitting at the table.

NEW PARTY IN FRANCE
Paris, Dec. 26.—The "Briandist party," a new political organization, was formed today by 108 Republican senators and members of the chamber of deputies. As its name indicates, the party is headed by Aristide Briand, former premier. It includes among its prominent members, J. Louis Barthou, Stephen Pichon, Alexandre Millerand, Jean Dupuy and L. Klotz, all of whom have served as cabinet ministers. The party is expected to draw supporters from all sections who refuse to obey the newly re-organized Radical party.

Movies at Technical School in Halifax

Amherst, New Glasgow and Sydney Also Getting Educational Films

(Halifax Chronicle)

In the matter of technical education the provincial government and Professor Sexton are keeping the Nova Scotia system well up with the times, and improvements are being made therein. The latest feature to be introduced as an aid to the education in motion pictures, and there is at the Technical College building as complete a motion picture projecting plant and apparatus as can be found anywhere, and operated by technical students for the benefit of the pupils of the evening technical classes. The moving picture exhibitions began last week and will continue Monday and Tuesday evenings of each week until April. On these evenings the gymnasium in the basement of the building is converted into a picture theatre for the evening, folding benches being utilized for seating accommodations. On each evening two shows are given, or rather that of the first at 7:45 o'clock repeated at 8. The gymnasium seats 200 to 240 people, and with four exhibitions on two evenings 800 or 1,000 people see the pictures each week. The films are furnished under contract by a film service concern and are used on a technical school circuit in Amherst, New Glasgow and next, Sydney for the benefit of the technical school pupils in each place. Halifax has therefore two evenings and the other places an evening each. But it must not be supposed blood and thunder pictures, the Mary series, or anything in that line is shown on the technical school sheet. Only films treating of educational, or scientific interest, scenes of different parts of the world are included in the service, the aim being purely educational benefit. The supply of film each week measures about 4,000 feet, and this week's picture series consisted of "Picturesque Tasmania," "Life and Habits of the Wasps," "Cutting Calliformia Red-wood Trees," and "Capture of a Wildcat." Next week's series will be "Montreal, Quebec and Halifax," "The Spider that Lives in a Bubble," "Lions and Operts, Spain," and "The Apple Industry."

A NEW DISCOVERY

Professor LaFontaine has a new discovery that has proven beyond all doubt that hair will grow even on a bald head. It is an exceptional case where the skin has become so tight over the skull as to retain nourishment. Hair has been grown on many who have been bald many years. And persons with lifeless hair and chronic sufferers from itchy and dandruff have been rewarded with wonderful growths of the most luxuriant hair after a very short treatment. The B. V. Marion Company, of Buffalo, N. Y., have arranged with Professor LaFontaine to distribute this wonderful new discovery in each town and city in Canada and the United States, and have appointed a reliable druggist to sell this remedy exclusively and to guarantee it. It has been made to sell at 50c. a large bottle so that no one will be without it. The name of this preparation is SAGE-INE. Makes the hair beautiful when used as a dressing, and it puts a natural wave in women's hair. Chas. R. Watson is agent in St. John. Step in and get a bottle of SAGE-INE without delay. SAGE-INE beautifies hair of every shade, as it restores natural lustre, and is guaranteed to grow hair no matter how diseased the hair follicle may be.

inals, doing time for attacking the police and soldiers, they have been treated going to the mines, they have been chained to a heavy wheelbarrow, fastened to the walls of a wooden hut. They round their wrists, and secured to wrists and ankles. They worked sixteen hours a day with this weight attached to them. The right side of their heads were shaved to the skin—a mark of the worst criminals. Cossacks and jailers used the lash on them with impunity, for were they not there for punishment? They were beaten with a maul, and were made to eat their own excrement. They were not allowed to write to their families, or get letters from them. Their comrades in misery hated them because they saw they were of different calibre, and denounced them over and over again to the jailers.
