BAPTIST QUARTERLY MEET- ING.

An Interesting Session—Next Session at Simonds—Revival Services.

The Quarterly meeting of the Baptist church for Carleton, Victoria and Madawaska counties opened at Hartland last Friday evening. There were present a large number of brethren from various sections and Rev. Messrs. Hayward, Wetmore, Akinson, Barton and Carter. Very interesting sessions were held all through until Monday, and special evening services have continued since.

On Saturday evening a largely attended missionary meeting was addressed by Rev. E. P. Carter.

Sunday morning Rev. A. H. Hayward preached the Quarterly sermon from Joshua 13:1. There remained very much land yet to be possessed.

Sunday afternoon there was a platform Sunday school meeting by Rev. Mr. Atkinson, and addressed by special number of those present.

Sunday evening Rev. Mr. Barton preached in the Baptist church. Rev. J. D. Wetmore in the Reformed Baptist and Rev. A. H. Hayward in the Free Baptist church, after which a mass meeting was held in the Baptist church, which was highly attended and in which much interest was manifested.

The music throughout was excellent and was furnished by a large choir, with Miss Lumsden as soloist.

The business transacted was mostly of a routine nature, the reports showing the churches generally prospering to be in good condition.

The next Quarterly meeting will be held at the church at Simonds, Nov. 3, 1900, to preach the opening sermon Rev. J. D. Wetmore to preach the quarterly sermon and Rev. Mr. Atkinson to preach the missionary sermon.

The meetings that have followed have been largely attended by all classes and persuasions, and will continue at least over Saturday. A number have come forward to the mercy seat, and many rich spiritual blessings are looked for.

Good Newspapers.

Of all Canada's fine daily newspapers The Montreal Daily Herald, (not the Star) is fast getting the lead. It is the largest and has the best telegraphic service. We are authorized to state that until Feb. 1st the price will be only $1 per year, or the ADVERTISER and Herald together for the low sum of $1.50. The Herald, remember, comes every day—its 12 to 30 large pages filled with reliable and late war and other news and the choicest miscellany—everything but the local news, and the ADVERTISER furnishes that. Take them both.

Wedding At the Commercial Hotel.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Commercial hotel, Wednesday when Miss Irene Kildow was married to William McAllister, station agent at St. Croix. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Darggett in the presence of about 25 guests. The marriage took place at 2:30 p.m., after which luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. McAllister took the four o'clock express for Calais where a reception was given them by the groom's parents.

Public L. O. Meeting.

It is the present intention of Hartland L. O. L. No. 41 to hold a public mass meeting on New Year's night. The speakers expected to be present are Grand Master Hipwell, J. M. Queen, County Master for Carleton, D. A. Thomas, County Master for York, Mr. Phelan of Houlton and Rev. Jos. Blakenev.

WAR NOTES.

Woodstock, Dec. 2.—The special order from London is issued, says there is to be no news whatever of Canadians in the war office.

Woodstock, Dec. 2.—As there is a possibility of the Woodstock Field Battery having to contribute its quota to the second Canadian contingent the officers of the battery say that they will have no difficulty in getting all their men trained. A petition has been circulating from men who have taken courses at the gunnery school.

The second Canadian contingent will be sent to the front by the Imperial mail service. It will consist of 1,041 men; 339 horses; 18 guns; 265 mounds of powder and other war material; 265 from the Royal dragoons and militia cavalry regiments; 513 from permanent artillery corps and militia field artillery.

There are eleven cavalry regiments from which to draw a squadron and a half. The 8th Hussars of St. John will furnish a quota; and out of 17 field batteries Woodstock, Sydney and New York are to be called upon.

The contingent will get away from Hartland about January 10th. The train will be one of the transports.

THE GAIL QUESTION.

In regard to the county jail case the defendants in the injunction matter have upon the advice of attorney A. B. Thibault, and the decision being given by the Judge of the county court that the plaintiff, Dr. Gail, did not sustain any special damage more than any other ratepayer, and therefore the suit should have been brought in the name of the ratepayers. The plaintiffs have been given leave to convert his bill into a petition for a writ of mandamus, which will stand as it is until after the meeting of the Council.

Good Organization.

Mr. J. W. Miller, Liberal organizer for New Brunswick, who has been holding meetings in Queens county during the past few weeks, has been meeting with good success. On Monday evening he held a meeting at Grandview and he and Hon. L. P. Farris spoke on the issues of the day. The meeting was presided over by Mr. John W. D. Key, parish vice president for the Liberal association. At the close of the meeting organization was effected and committees for the parish appointed.

Sundry Notes.

John Barnett, jr., has arrived home to spend his Christmas holidays.

C. A. McDorman of the Peoples' Bank left yesterday to spend his holidays at his home in Great Village, N. S.

A mass meeting in connection with the Twentieth Century Movement of the Methodist Church of Canada will, D. V. be held in Hartland Church on Wednesday Jan 3, 1900.

Rev. W. H. Spargo of Contreville and Rev. James Crisp of Jacksonville are both expected to be present and give the addresses of the evening. The deputation is a good one. The subject is an interesting one. Come all who can.

A Belgian Christmas Legend.

The children of Belgium have a charming Christmas legend about Santa Claus' pony. They always place their wooden sabots on the window ledge, stuffed full of oats, hay and fodder for the dear Christmas pony. In the early morning they run on tiptoe to look, and behold, the hay is all gone, and the shoes are humming over with toys and sweetmeats! Then the children clasp their hands with glee and wished they could have only waked in time to see the pony munching his oats. That would have been much fun.—Ella F. Mosby in St. Nicholas.

THE CHRISTMAS DISPLAYS.

Stores Finely Decorated—Good Bargains Given.

Although the stocks of Christmas goods put in by the merchants have been greatly depleted by the liberal buying of the past week, there is still enough left in each store to make a fine and inviting array. There is only one day left in which to make purchases for Christmas, and doubtless the merchants will be kept bustling. The trade this season has been away in excess of last year.

Ben & Plummer have been fitting window displays, managed by their clerks J. A. J. Ward, and Miss Bessie Aiton. All along their store has been a bower of attractions, being artistically arranged with arches, chains, wreaths, etc. They have been showing an elegant line of goods.

Shaw & Dibblee's hardware store is also finely decorated, the work of J. A. Fowle, the color scheme being red and white. In the window is the Hartland bridge in miniature. On the bridge is a team loaded with tacks which is very suggestive, as the future bridge will be a toll one. They have been showing at this store a lot of nice things suitable for Christmas presents—lamps seem to have been a speciality with them, as a great many fine ones were displayed.

The children are greatly pleased to see old Santa Claus, who has taken his stand in J. T. G. Carr's window. It revives their fast sinking belief that he is a reality, as one youngster was overheard to exclaim "See, there he is; I knew he wasn't a hoax. I'm going to be awful good now as I want a new sled." Mr. Carr has been showing a great variety of well assorted goods.

And it has been all along the street, at Richardson's, Watsons, Thorntons, Campbell & Nixon's, Bakers, Porter & Son's, all have been offering large and beautiful displays of holiday goods, such as have not been seen here for years, if ever.

Ray & Curtis and C. Humphrey Taylor have shown displays the equal of their competitors across the street. The former offer special bargains from now to clear out their stock, while at the latter store if you want the latest thing in neckties call there.

At Chase's there is a grand display in fruits, candies, nuts, tobacco, cigars, canned goods, etc., and everyone who buys 10 cents worth is entitled to guess how many pieces of candy are in a quart jar on his show case. The one guessing nearest will be presented with a fine clock.

Miss A. M. Gray at the Ladies' Emporium has had a fine exhibition of fancy goods, imported and home made, which she has been selling at very reasonable rates. Her store is tastefully arranged.

The Advertiser Free.

Two weeks ago an announcement appeared to the effect, that this paper would be sent free for six months to any person who would send the addresses of five people who once were residents of Carleton or Victoria counties, and who now live elsewhere. This offer is still open. A large number of names have already been received. By the way, what a nice present the ADVERTISER would make for the absent friends.

The time draws near the birth of Christ. The moon is hid, the moon is still. A single church below the hill is peeping, hidden in the night.

And once again Christmas is at hand, when throughout all Christendom there is to a greater or lesser extent rejoicing and good feeling among all classes. In one or another way, every one seeks to celebrate Christmas, and often the celebrating is very much the reverse of what it should be. But always there is good cheer or an attempt at it. The ADVERTISER wishes all its friends peace and good will and a merry, merry Christmas.

The Canadian Turkey.

Western Ontario will furnish 150,000 Christmas and New Year's turkeys for the British market this year. This is almost double the quantity shipped in 1898. But it is not one-fourth the quantity that might have been exported if the birds were procurable.—Toronto World.

The Dundas (Ont.) Banner:—"No doubt the good shooting of the Canadians will be attributed by the Boers to the exercise they got shooting polar bears out of the street car windows."

The holidays are fast approaching, and as our efforts have been the best for our readers, we now wish them all the compliments of the season.

AMICUS

Complicating Christmas.

We are very busy during the busy season of Christmas.

Edward has we call the December Ladies' Home Journal, that it must be some reason and growing departure from the right and best way of celebrating Christmas when each recurring year we hear a larger number of men, young, well, and true, thanksgiving. Christmas business is over, and they are led to this remark generally by seeing their wives, mothers, sisters or daughters reach Christmas day utterly tired out, with the prospect of a severe illness as soon as Christmas is over. And it must be confessed that this state of affairs exists in thousands of homes. Women themselves frequently acknowledge their satisfaction when the day is over. Now there is always something wrong when we make a burden of our pleasures. And if one of our sources of pleasure in the calendar's greatest gala day is derived from a feeling of thankfulness that it is over, there is something askew either in the way we prepare for, or spend, the day.

New Brunswick's Need

Hon. C. H. LaRoche, Commissioner of Agriculture, talking with the Globe Friday said he was greatly encouraged by the steady development of the agricultural and dairy interests in the province. More butter and cheese are being manufactured, more wheat sown and new mills being established. Another gratifying feature is the steady increase in the growing of fruit. From all parts of the province the reports were encouraging and the outlook was that next year would see even greater activity in these particular lines. The present need of the province, Mr. LaRoche said, was a pork-packing establishment, and he had but one plan in mind to be erected ere long. If that plan would be carried out, the province would be a great success.

THE LIGHT THAT FAILED.

(Written for the Advertiser.)

Two little lay stretched beside the hearth
One clear cold winter night.
The moon, with light, gleamed o'er the Earth
Her fairy, mystic light.

One was a rich man's son—a youth
Whose every wish was met.
The other knee-grimed, dingy tooth,
And P. Varty's hair let out.

But now, beyond the book
At Mother's side he lay,
Forgoing, in longing for the book—
As story perils' s'actance—

His misdeed in the shadows hid
Of how he'd come to light,
And how he'd come to light,
Biting his lips, by night.

Dim o'er the chimney, with moon's rays move,
Scarcely seen, that would not—
And as an angel's face, his love,
The moon's light, and his look.

Upon the moon, and the stars,
When he'd been, and his eyes
A wonderful spirit, he appears!
And joy, and his eyes—

See, the old story, and up there!
With his eyes, and his light,
With his eyes, and his light,
Right through the stars, and sky!

See, there he is across the moon,
Ah, now, so long a loan!
Surely "I will hide the moonbeams soon!"
And eagerly he showed.

His scolding friend the strange, dark thing
That slowly, slowly passed
Across the moon, till but a ring
Of light remained at last.

"Stilly!" the other cried, "Indeed!
'Tis but the moon's eclipse,
When, 'twixt the sun and moon, we read,
The air earth's sometimes slips.

That's what's the matter—Santa Claus?
Why, he doesn't come, it's folks,
Your dad and mine's as ever was,
And all the rest's a hoax."

"Ah!" with the dream in his eyes,
The light upon his brow,
Spoke the pale boy—"I see his team
Of reindeers clearly now."

The rich man's son, moves merrily
Amid his shining toys
Around the laden Christmas tree,
With other bright cheeked boys.

And Poverty sits empty-lapped
Vague wonder in his eyes
That somehow Santa Claus, it happ'd,
Got lost up in the skies.

THOMAS M. JONES.

Rev. Edward Everett Hale.

This eminent divine, known the United States over for his great work not only in the church but as an author and a man who has done years of work for the needy, is quite a hale and hearty man yet, and his mind is as bright as a new dollar. He knows how to live, how to take life easy, and to make every one around him happy. On his annual trips to Southern Pines, N. C., section he makes that whole settlement of winter visitors happy and they look forward to his annual visits with great pleasure. He knows more ways of making people happy than any other man, and when on the steamers between Boston and Norfolk, Va., it does not take the passengers long to spot the tall prominent man towering above every one around him both in intellect as well as stature, his manners are so winning that the most timid is drawn to him, and it is a great pleasure to spend a day with Dr. Hale on the steamboat pilot, waiting in Southland. Many prayers go up to the Throne on High constantly that this good man may live many years to make this world better. Dr. Hale can not conceive of the great love the people have for him.

"Oom Paul" on Lion Hunting.

"Oom Paul" Kruger of the Transvaal, has a certain grim humor which reminds one of Irving's Kickerbockers. According to a visitor from Cape Town, he was speaking recently to some foreigners of the issue between his country and England, and closed his talk with a quaint metaphor:

"We Boers have hunted the African lion too long to fear the British one. It's one thing to meet the beast in his hunting veldt; it's very different when he comes in front of your window where you are standing with a loaded rifle." Saturday Evening Post.

There have been poultry books printed costing fifteen dollars and more, but there never has been one at any price with more beautiful colored reproductions of poultry, than those found in Birds, Poultry Book, an announcement of which appears in another column. The paintings were made direct from best birds of the different breeds and the coloring and clean artistic shape of each breed are perfect. As for the text, there never was a book printed containing more practical, up-to-date information. Its chapters include: "Hatching," "Hatching the Eggs," "Raising of Chicks with Hens and Brooders," "The Successful Care of Incubators," "The Poultry Flock," "The Village, Home, and Farming," "Diseases and Remedies," "The Old and New School in Poultry Raising." One man wrote the publishers that "the notes alone at each chapter, having been worth the cost of the book." Twenty-two and copies of this admirable work have been printed. See advertisement of the Birds Book in this week's issue of the Advertiser. The price is fifty cents, free by mail; address the publishers, Wilmer Atkinson Co., Philadelphia.

A Flourishing Institution.

Twenty years ago the Canadian Order of Foresters began doing business in the Province of Ontario, and in later years it has been enlarging its operations and now it has branches in every Province in the Dominion, having at the present time upward of 34,000 members.

IDEA FROM NEVADA.

Traction Engine Combined with Road Roller Might Prove a Profitable Investment.

I send herewith a sketch of a 13-ton traction engine, capable of doing the work of 80 horses for less than it would cost to feed the animals.

The motor will haul several three-wheeled wagons, which will carry from seven to ten tons each.

An increase in the amount of ore transported and a revolution in Nevada freighting are looked for by the experts.

NEVADA TRACTION ENGINE.

I suggest that if the steam-roller and traction-engine were combined more than one village corporation might keep its roads and pay for it by granting a franchise for towing farmers' milk and produce to the railroad station.

Given a reasonably good road, and a traction-engine would make almost as good an investment as a canal-boat and be much more flexible as to route.

PATENTS PROMPTLY SECURED. Write for our interesting book 'Inventor's Help' and 'How you are swindled'.

such regions the worst results of isolation of farm life are a direct result of the past. They should be everywhere, if road metal must be shipped to a railway.

Mend the Road in Summer. During dry weather is the best time to prepare the roads for wet weather.

Beley Is Expensive. Fix the road when it is all broken. Don't wait until it must be fixed.

Don't Go Well Together. Motor-carriages and mud won't agree worth a cent.

RANGE FOR TURKEYS.

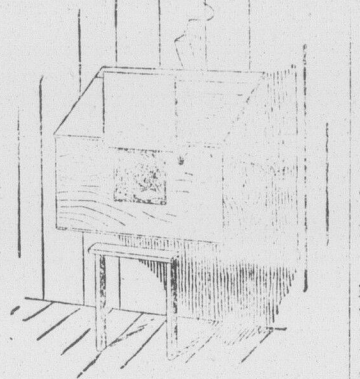

The Birds Should Not Be Confined, Except a Few Weeks Before They Are to Be Sold.

The turkey is a fowl that has been least time domesticated by man. The Indians never tried to tame them, and it is considerably less than 50 years since any attempt was made to domesticate this bird.

AN AUTOMATIC NEST.

It Acts Somewhat Like the Cash Registers to Be Seen in Many City Stores.

liberated, after taking the hen's number and marking her eggs. Thus one can find the best layers, and breed for better layers each year.

WITH THE BUSY BEES.

Nothing irritates bees so much as a sudden jar.

The best trees to set around the hives are fruit trees.

When bees build comb in their natural way an excess of drones is usually produced.

The life of a bee depends upon the work it does. When it works its life is shortened.

Use Grease with Caution. Grease as a means of fighting lice on little chicks needs to be used with caution.

Grease as a means of fighting lice on little chicks needs to be used with caution. Too much grease will prove very destructive to the chicks, as well as to the lice, as it seems to blister the skin.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

HEMLOCK GRAY HUD.

Salutary Effect of Road Bonds on the Home and the Health of Rural Communities.

It is not uncommon for agricultural writers to complain in winter that farmers cannot afford to buy their wives and families can go to town when they like and attend churches, societies, lectures, farmers' clubs, granges, literary clubs and Chautauque circles, for study and entertainment.

AN UNPAVED CITY STREET.

poem; but there is neither beauty, poetry nor romance in being mud-bound. The first step in civilization is the step up and out of the mud.

At a certain farm club, recently, one member by previous assignment distributed the influence of electric roads upon the value of the farm and its produce.

We have a town in which several hundred gallons of milk are shipped to the city daily the year round.

Some of the milk is hauled three miles or more to the station, rain or shine, mud or dust, and as much more goes to cheese factories.

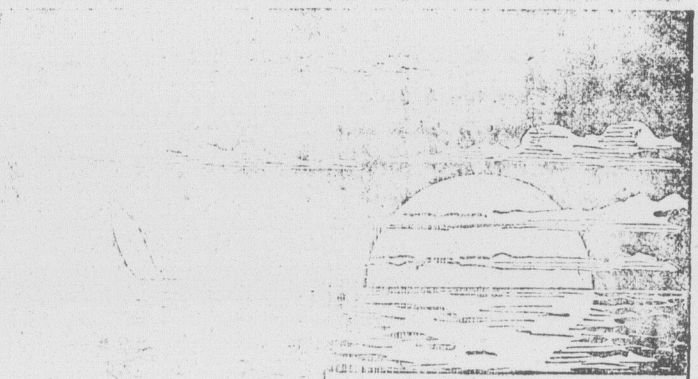

There are beds of fairly good gravel in three parts of the township or just across the line. It is sandstone, quartz and granite gravel with very little shale.

IDEAL POULTRY FOOD.

According to One Authority, Linseed Meal is the Greatest Egg Producer Known.

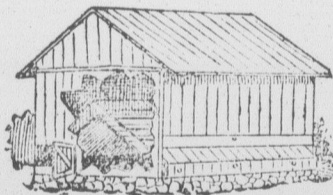

Mr. F. L. Hooper, Baltimore, who claims that linseed meal stands ahead of all other foods, says that linseed meal is to-day about the nearest perfect food for fowls that you will ever obtain for egg production. It contains the substances nearly similar to the composition of the egg. Its nitrogenous substance is large, with phosphates, potash, lime and other mineral matter in a large supply, and if it was not for the nuisance of poultry feeders and writers in advocating its use in a small quantity to help the fowls shed their feathers most persons would think it only a medicine for feather pushing, and good for no other purpose. Make use of a liberal supply of this wonderful egg producer, muscle grower, bone-maker, flesh former, health promoter and digester (better than grit), and a preventive of roup, indigestion and many other disorders of the fowl family. Remember that linseed meal is a cooked food, and also the fact that you cannot feed it separately, which is its only drawback, because by using it separately it gets clammy, or mucilaginous, and fowls fail to relish it, but it is an excellent feed to mix up in the drinking water of the fowls, say, about a gill to the gallon of water. Three-fourths of the production of oil cake made in the United States is sold in Europe. Is not this a crying shame on the total ignorance of the American feeders in not knowing its great value as an article of food for stock of every kind? Instead of making fowls shed their feathers when fed regularly, it has an opposite tendency. The feathers seem to get a better hold, and the beauty of plumage the birds get from feeding it is a special recommendation. It is questionable if raw oyster shell is a proper food for lime. It is liable to produce a caustic state, to some extent; it must so act to become soluble lime. In this state it would cause inflammation. Air-slacked lime is preferable, because it is soluble, and the carbonate of lime would be in the exact state for the hens to make use of it. Old plaster would be still better, because it would supply carbonate and sulphate of lime, the latter containing some nitrogen, besides a lot of grit, as most plaster contains sharp sand. Linseed meal is cathartic. Begin with a teaspoonful per hen and gradually increase to a gill if necessary, given every day.—Journal of Agriculture.

THE CHICKEN COOPS.

Health and Productiveness of the Flock Depend Upon Their Being Kept Clean.

The necessity of cleanliness about a poultry house is well understood by all who have had experience with fowls. Especially is this true in regard to roosting places, where one diseased fowl will communicate an infection to a whole flock of healthy birds. The coop should be cleaned every few days. By a simple arrangement of perches and slanting floor beneath this can be made a light and easy task, whereas it is generally a long and disagreeable one.

The perches should be placed in the form of an A roof, the top being through the middle of the coop. The pitch should be just enough to bring each perch well out from under the one immediately above. The bottom perch should be at least three or four feet from the ground. The slanting floor should be built on the same pitch as the perches and from one and one-half to two feet below the perches. At the sides of the coop, where the floor joins the side, a long box reaching the entire length and about a foot wide is placed to catch the droppings from the perches.

The opening for cleaning this box can be made at the end, if it is not too long. One end of the box can be elevated a couple of feet above the open end, thus, with a device made in the shape of a hoe with handle long enough to reach to the farther end, making an easy and quick job. By letting the end of the box-like trough extend a foot beyond the end of the coop a wheelbarrow or cart can be run beneath it and the contents emptied directly into it. If the coop is too long for this mode of emptying the receptacle, take a board one foot in width and make a door to close an opening along the side of the box. You can use this door as the side of the box. Fasten with hinges at the top and place buttons to hold it in place when closed. Also put a button above to hold the door up while cleaning. In the accompanying illustration a part of the front of the coop is left out to show the perches in position. Both ways of emptying the box are also shown.—Ohio Farmer.

The GROSS DYSPEPSIA CO., LTD.
ST. JOHN, N. B.

GENTLEMEN.—For over one year I suffered with what the four doctors I consulted in N. B., called dyspepsia. For hours at a time every day I suffered the most excruciating pains. The cramps would double me up so that I would lay on my back. I would vomit up everything I ate for days at a time. I was terribly wasted and so weak that I could scarcely get up to my mouth. Nothing I could get would do me any permanent good. Finally a friend persuaded me to try GROSS'S Botanic Dyspepsia Syrup. I took four bottles and am now able to do good day's work. It is six weeks since I finished the last bottle. I eat anything I ever was fond of and suffer no inconvenience. I send you this voluntary testimonial, hoping that you may use it and that some one who reads it may be benefited by the use of GROSS'S Botanic Dyspepsia Syrup as I have been.

Yours Truly,
