P. G. MAHONEY SELECTED MINISTER PUBLIC WORKS

To Succeed Hon. John Morrissey—Will be Sworn in Today—New Member of Government Elected to Legislature in 1912 to Represent Westmorland County.

Special to The Standard.
Fredericton, N. B., May 10.—Attorney-General Baxter arrived here this evening from St. John and the provincial government is meeting this evening. Other members of the government have been in the city since yesterday, but no meeting was held owing to the absence of Hon. Mr. Baxter.

The selection of P. G. Mahoney, M. L. A., of Melrose, as successor of Hon. John Morrissey as minister of public works in the provincial government is assured tonight.

No official announcement to this effect has been made by Premier Clarke, but it is stated that Mr. Mahoney, who arrived in the city last evening from his home in Melrose, would be sworn in tomorrow morning. His Honor Lieut-Governor Wood arrived here this evening.

Mr. Mahoney was first returned to the New Brunswick Legislature at the elections in 1912, and is one of the most influential members of the house. He is one of the leading Irish Roman Catholics in New Brunswick.

It is unofficially reported here that nomination will take place in Westmorland on May 23, and election on May 30.

Mr. F. W. Sumner of Moncton and Mr. E. Grosnard of Moncton, directors of the St. John and Quebec Railway Company, arrived here this evening, owing to the absence of Mr. R. J. Barry of Richibucto, who was detained, no meeting will be held until tomorrow. It is said now that the contract for the uncompleted portions of the St. John Valley Railway will not be awarded until later in the week.

WIMBORNE RESIGNS AS RESULT OF THE IRISH REVOLT

Lord Lieutenant of Ireland Follows Example of Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary.

London, May 10.—The Marquis of Crewe announced in the House of Lords today that Baron Wimborne, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, had resigned.

Baron Wimborne's resignation was not unexpected, it having been believed he might resign on account of the widespread criticism of the administration of Irish affairs, following the outbreak in Dublin. His retirement from office comes a week after the resignation of Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland.

Baron Wimborne was appointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in January of last year, in succession to Lord Aberdeen. There was much anxiety for his safety in the first days of the Dublin uprising, on account of erroneous reports that he had been captured by the rebels. When it was established that he was safe a demand for his resignation was made in the House of Commons.

TRAITORS' NEST DISCOVERED IN VERY HEART OF LONDON
London, May 10.—Discussing the necessity for the defence of the realm regulations, Herbert Samuel, secretary for home affairs, stated today that within the last few weeks there had been discovered in the heart of London a public house (saloon) occupied by a naturalized German, and a resort of other naturalized Germans, where language of the most treasonable and anti-British character was used. He added that it might have become a most dangerous centre.

Mr. Samuel said he doubted whether any charge could have been formulated under the ordinary law, but it was obviously necessary to deal with such cases, and the powers in his hands enabled him promptly to intern the men concerned.

GERMAN SHIPS MADE FOR HARBOR AFTER TWO SHOTS FIRED

German Yarn About Sea Fight in which British Destroyer was Reported Damaged is Denied—Steamer on Way to American Port Met French Warships on Lookout for Submarines.

London, May 10.—A British official statement, issued tonight, quotes the German official claim that a British destroyer was badly damaged in a brief artillery engagement between five British destroyers and two German torpedo boats on May 8. The British admiral denies the German claim. It says that a few shots were exchanged between the torpedo craft and that the Germans then retreated to their harbor.

On Watch for Submarines.
New York, May 10.—An Associated Press dispatch from Chester, Pa., today says: "The British steamer Kinmount, which arrived here today from Cape Haytian, reported that on Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, about 100 miles southeast of Cape Henlopen, Del., the steamer was stopped by two French battleships which inquired if the Kinmount had seen any German submarines."

"On being told that none had been sighted, the battleships, with three cruisers, which had been waiting some distance off, proceeded north toward New York. The warships, the Kinmount reported, were equipped with steel nets strung along their sides. It is believed here the warships were searching for supposed submarines recently reported near the American coast."

Berlin Admits Commander of Submarine Which Sank The Sussex Acted Too Hastily

Washington, May 10.—Germany's new note acknowledging responsibility of the destruction of the Sussex, promising reparation and announcing punishment of submarine commander, was received late today at the State Department from Ambassador Gerard.

The text of the note made public, reveals that Germany, while contending that the submarine commander "acted in the bonafide belief that he was facing an enemy warship," when he torpedoed the Sussex, admits that he formed his judgment too hastily, and did not act in strict accordance with his instructions, and the Imperial government therefore frankly admits that the United States was not adhered to in this instance.

The note expresses "sincere regret regarding the 'deplorable incident,' and declares Germany's readiness to pay an adequate indemnity to injured American citizens. It says the German government disapproved of the conduct of the commander, who has been 'appropriately punished,' and voices a hope that the United States will consider the case settled.

American Note Delivered.
Berlin, May 10.—The American reply to the German note was delivered by Ambassador Gerard to the foreign office at one o'clock this afternoon.

The American answer to the German note has been printed in the morning newspapers here, it having been received in a British news agency despatch.

Commenting on the statement in the document that the United States could not accept any conditions affecting the protection of the lives of Americans, the local Anzeiger says that President Wilson is demolishing a man of straw with this statement.

"The German note," says the newspaper, "contains no such conditions. It merely expresses an expectation, and 'does not doubt' that after the German-American dispute is settled the American government will hold Great Britain to the observance of its duties under international law."

The other newspapers refrain from comment, with the exception of Diepost and Tages Zeitung, in which latter newspaper Count Von Reventlow expresses, by implication, the hope that Germany's "expectation" really amounted to a condition.

Washington Accepts Explanation.
Washington, May 10.—Germany, in a note received by the State Department today by cable from Ambassador Gerard, admits that a German submarine torpedoed the channel steamer Sussex, in violation of assurances given the United States, expresses regret for the incident, announces that the submarine commander has been "appropriately punished," and declares readiness to pay an adequate indemnity to Americans injured on the vessel.

It was indicated at the state department that the German statement that the offending commander had been punished would be accepted, and the Sussex case considered closed, except for arranging for the payment of indemnities to the several citizens of the United States who were hurt. There probably will be no attempt to negotiate for these indemnities or for final settlement of the Lusitania and other cases pending, however, until sufficient time has elapsed to indicate

PEACE ONLY WHEN GERMANY IS BEATEN

British Home Secretary Says Present Generation Must Settle Issue Decisively.

IRISH REBELS DUPES OF GERMAN GOVT.
The Allies Must Win Complete and Decisive Victory Before Peace Negotiations Can be Considered.

London, May 10.—Replying to the protests which have been made in the last few days against the putting to death of leaders of the Irish rebellion, Herbert Samuel, the home secretary, said today that the government would be guilty of unpardonable weakness if it had not meted out stern punishment to the guilty.

The public might rest assured, Mr. Samuel added, that neither the government nor the military authorities had any intention of adopting a policy of wholesale prosecution.

Mr. Samuel thought it would be found that the number of cases in which it was necessary to enforce the extreme penalty was nearing an end, if indeed the end had not already been reached.

Mr. Samuel, who made these remarks in the course of an address at the National Liberal Club, referred also to recent suggestions said to have been made from Germany in regard to the initiation of peace negotiations.

He declared that until Germany was beaten there could be no thought of peace, and continued:

"It is for us in this generation to settle this issue, and not leave to later years, or to the generations of children who come after us, the heritage of finishing and completing the struggle. Whether by military means or by economic means or by combination of both, we must win complete and decisive victory."

In his remarks about Irish uprising Mr. Samuel said it was a foolish rebellion, because its leaders rashly had put faith in German aid. He continued:

"I believe that when the full history of the rebellion comes to be written it will be found nothing has been so significant in this crisis as the manner in which the German government behaved towards those who had duped. Undoubtedly the leaders of the revolt anticipated substantial aid from those they called their continental allies."

SENATOR CHOQUETTE TO MOVE 6 MONTHS HOIST FOR PROHIBITION BILL

Ottawa, May 10.—The senate again today made further changes in the government bill which was aimed to support provincial prohibition legislation. Senator Watson moved to restore the clause which was struck out Tuesday and which provides for the suspension of manufacturing licenses of brewers and distillers of three months for the first offense; six months for the second offense and for a third offense cancellation of the license.

Senator Dandurand moved, in amendment, that this clause be changed by dropping the provision for suspension of license, but making the license liable to cancellation for third conviction.

Senator Daniel said he doubted the policy of enacting such severe laws. In the past laws were very severe, and in St. John once a boy had been hanged for the theft of a loaf of bread. The original bill seemed to embody the ancient laws.

Senator Demille doubted the accuracy of the statement that a boy had been hanged in St. John for the theft of a loaf of bread.

GERMAN ATTACKS WEST OF MEUSE BREAK DOWN

FIERCE THRUSTS AROUND HILL 287 COMPLETELY REPULSED WHILE THE FRENCH ATTACK WINS GROUND—ENEMY TRANSPORT LOADED WITH MUNITIONS SUNK IN ADRIATIC.

On the western front in France, notably in the region of Verdun, which for weeks has been the theatre of the most sanguinary conflicts of the world war, comparative calm prevails. The French, however, have been able to capture portions of a German trench on the west slopes of Le Mort Homme and to put at naught a German attack near Hill 287, between the Wood of Malancourt and Le Mort Homme, launched in an endeavor to advance further the German line toward Verdun.

Latest reports show the Russians have been repulsed in an attack on the Germans south of Garbunovka, suffering heavy casualties.

Constantinople chronicles victories for the Turks against the Russians in Northern Asia Minor and northwest of Mush, and the defeat of the Russians, with heavy losses and the capture of some prisoners, near Mount Bathli.

The bombardment by the Teuton allies of points on the Dobran-Giovev sector of the Macedonian front continues, according to unofficial advices. The Germans with these reports say, after having thrown numerous shells into the town of Mayada, occupied the place but were compelled to evacuate under a French counter-attack. Numerous 17-inch guns are being placed along this front by the Germans.

Enemy Transport Sunk.
Paris, May 10.—A French submarine sank an enemy transport laden with war material in the Lower Adriatic Sea yesterday says a Havas despatch from Rome.

On British Front.
London, May 10, 11.15 p. m.—The British official statement on the campaign in the western zone, issued tonight, reads:

"There has been some mining activity about Fricourt, Souchez, Hulluch and Guntych, but no change has taken place in the situation at the other points.

"The artillery on both sides has been active about Maricourt, Souchez and St. Etloi. Our artillery bombarded enemy positions at La Bosselle and southward of Messines."

A French Success.
Paris, May 10.—The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads:

"On the left bank of the Meuse, after a violent bombardment, the Germans launched strong attacks on our positions in the neighborhood of Hill 287. This attack was completely repulsed. Some prisoners remained in our hands.

"A small offensive action, carried out by our troops on the slopes west of Le Mort Homme, permitted us to occupy some parts of the German trenches. We made sixty-two prisoners and captured two machine guns.

"The day was comparatively calm on the rest of the front."

The Belgian official announcement reads:

"There was an artillery duel in the region of Dixmude and Steenstraet."

WORST STORM IN YEARS SWEEPS OVER MICHIGAN

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 10.—Northern and western Michigan early today were swept by the worst wind, rain and lightning storm in years. The property damage will total nearly $500,000 according to reports received from various points today.

At Petoskey, the streets were flooded by a cloudburst, which followed the electrical storm. Two miles west of Petoskey the Pere Marquette tracks were washed out for a distance of 100 feet, delaying the traffic. From Mackinaw City to Clare poles and wires were reported down.

Senator Daniel said he doubted the policy of enacting such severe laws. In the past laws were very severe, and in St. John once a boy had been hanged for the theft of a loaf of bread. The original bill seemed to embody the ancient laws.

Senator Demille doubted the accuracy of the statement that a boy had been hanged in St. John for the theft of a loaf of bread.

LAURIER'S APPEAL TO RACIALISM

Grit Leader Introduces Bi-Lingual Issue Into Arena of Federal Politics.

PREMIER REPLIES IN STRIKING SPEECH.

Sir Robert Shows that Resolution Cannot Result in any Good and May have Distasteful Results.

Ottawa, May 10.—(Special)—Parliament today saw a remarkable scene, spectacular but ever to be regretted. It was the leader of one of the two great political parties of the Dominion, a former premier whom the Canadian people have signally honored, introducing a provincial issue involving racial feud with all its bitterness into the arena of federal politics. After a lifetime of public duty Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the age of seventy-four appeared before the country today as a French-Canadian sectionalist, he strove to place the introduction of the bilingual resolution upon a high plane, to give it the status of the praiseworthy appeal of a down-trodden minority to the mercy of a majority, but the effort failed. It failed because the Ontario bilingual question had no business to be discussed upon the floor of the Canadian parliament.

Stripped of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's careful phrasing it was nothing more nor less than a political appeal to racialism. It was attempted to be shown that the French-Canadians of Ottawa were face to face with the martyrdom of their language, but there was no attempt to be specific in the charges. There was only the reference to the educational regulations of the province of Ontario and a construction placed upon them which was inimical to the French-Canadian language. There is no grievance in Ottawa, but there is a propaganda, and the propagandists, headed by Senator Belcourt, speaker Landry, and Ex-speaker March have now been joined by the Liberal leader himself. He made an impassioned speech, and he roused to enthusiasm the French-Canadian Liberal members, who applauded him frequently, and were aided in the applause by Hon. William Pugsley and Hon. George P. Graham, the latter gazing up at his chief throughout his speech with the watery eyes of a love-sick maid.

Sir Robert Borden made one of the greatest speeches of his career. Starting with the postulate that the provinces are sovereign and supreme in their own sphere, and that education is their sphere, he declared that "this motion cannot result in any good and may result in much harm."

He said it was an "impossible proposal" to admonish the legislature of Ontario for its educational regulations. Education was the business of the province. He affirmed that he would resist any interference with the French language, "but," he added, "I have great respect for the constitution, and for that reason I believe that the resolution is not in the best interests of the country."

"I will go further and say that it is absolutely opposed to the best interests of the province of Quebec."

There was no reference in the resolution to Manitoba where the French language has been wiped out of the schools as a teaching medium, but, as Mr. Casgrain pointed out, that was because the government of Manitoba was Liberal and the government of Ontario was Conservative.

But, although Sir Robert Borden led the way on the government side in opposing the resolution, it has become more than a party issue.

Designed to make party capital it appears to have found a bulwark in the English-speaking western Liberal representation. And there are more than these Liberals who will oppose their leader on the subject and support his government. Tonight the situation is so serious that the old Liberal party may be regarded as broken up. Sir Wilfrid no longer represents the views of his party, and only the French Canadian section of it. He has become the French Canadian leader rather than the Liberal leader. He has receded from his policy of 1896 when he resisted interference with the affairs of the provinces. He has forsaken Liberalism.

There have been meetings of Liberal members to discuss the situation and decide upon a course to pursue, but the general idea seems to be that the sooner proration comes now the better, and the problem may be solved during the recess.

Ottawa, May 10.—The routine proceedings on the order paper were quickly disposed of and the motion to go into supply was moved giving Mr. Ernest Lapointe, of Kamouraska, the opportunity to declare his desire to introduce the amendment which he read to the House yesterday. Speaker Seigney then gave his formal ruling upon the contention of Mr. W. E. Knowles, of Moose Jaw, that the proposed amendment was not in order inasmuch as it dealt with a subject not within the jurisdiction of the federal parliament. Mr. Seigney ruled that the point of order had not been well taken.

"I beg to appeal from your ruling," announced Mr. W. B. Northrup, of East Hastings at once.

The question, "shall decision of the chair be sustained," was put and a division followed. The Speaker's ruling was sustained by a vote of 134 to 9. Mr. Northrup was the only Conservative who voted to reverse the decision, and he was supported by the following Liberal members: Hon. Frank Oliver, W. E. Knowles, of Moose Jaw; Levi Thompson, of Q'Appelle; Dr. Michael Clarke, of Red Deer; Robert Cruz, of Dauphin; Thos. MacNutt, of Saltcoats; James Douglas, of Strathcona, and W. A. Buchanan, of Medicine Hat.

Mr. Lapointe then arose to speak to his motion. He said that after careful and serious consideration, he had come to the conclusion that it was

GERMAN ARMY'S CASUALTIES FOR MONTH OF APRIL ESTIMATED AT 91,162

London, May 10.—An official British estimate of German casualties in April, issued here today, places the total at 91,162. The number of German casualties since the beginning of the war is given as 2,822,079. These figures were given in the following statement:

"Casualties, exclusive of corrections, were reported during the month of April, 1916, as follows:

"Killed or died of wounds, 17,455; died of sickness, 2,285; prisoners, 1,921; missing, 6,317; severely wounded, 14,557; wounded, 4,001; slightly wounded, 38,779; wounded remaining with units, 5,637; total, 91,162.

"These, added to those reported in previous months, including corrections reported in April, 1916, bring the totals reported in German official lists since the beginning of the war to: Killed or died of wounds, 664,552; died of sickness, 41,325; prisoners, 137,798; missing, 197,094; severely wounded, 335,515; wounded, 254,687; slightly wounded, 1,023,312; wounded remaining with units, 117,856. Total, 2,822,079.

"These figures include all German nationalities—Prussians, Bavarians, Saxons and Wurttembergers. They do not include naval or colonial troops."

his imperative duty to introduce such a resolution. He knew that the course which he had adopted would be disagreeable to many, and that he would receive remonstrances and even castigations. But, he felt that ignoring problems was not solving them.

The member for Kamouraska said that it was impossible to prevent troublesome questions from being thrust into the present arena, but he thought that, after fifty years of consideration, the two branches of the Canadian family should be able to mutise the fanatics and the demagogues and settle their controversies in the spirit described by Abraham Lincoln with malice toward none, and charity for all.

Mr. Lapointe said that the resolution did not call for the disallowance of any provincial laws, and it did not imply any censure upon the course of the government in dealing with petitions praying for the disallowance of recent Ontario legislation. Indeed, said Mr. Lapointe, I personally believe that disallowance would have been unwise. The remedy might perhaps have increased the disease. Operation of any kind will not settle the difficulties. I am a true Liberal and a believer in provincial rights. I will go so far as to admit that to be effective and final, any settlement of the question must be made in Ontario and by Ontario herself."

Mr. Lapointe spoke of the generous treatment which Great Britain had accorded South Africa and said that the same spirit of British fair play was shown in all the enactments of the British parliament with respect to Canada from the Quebec act of 1774 to the present time. He pointed out that the government was recognized as an official language in parliament and also in the naturalization act, which required a candidate for naturalization to be able to speak either English or French. In view of these facts he held that to contend that French was no more than a foreign language in the Canadian provinces, was utter nonsense. Mr. Lapointe said that the regulations of the Ontario education department were said to be intended not to prevent the teaching of French but to improve the bi-lingual schools. There was no doubt in his mind that those regulations proceeded slowly, but surely toward one end, namely, the strangling of the French language. French was to be taught only in schools where it was taught previous to 1912 and only with the consent of the inspector from whose decision there was no appeal. "I cannot conceive," he said, "of how such a condition of affairs could have the approval of a fair-minded man. Surely this is not liberty."

Sir Robert Borden pointed out that Mr. Lapointe had failed to show what respect regulation 17 had resulted in unfairness and injustice to the French-Canadians of Ontario. Without inquiry or even without having before it the legislation in question, the parliament was called upon to question an admission to the province of Ontario, in regard to a matter which had already been thoroughly debated in its legislature.

Reference had been made by Mr. Lapointe to an alleged attempt to prescribe the French language in Ontario. In this regard Sir Robert stated he had been informed that Ontario not only maintained schools for the training of bilingual teachers, but paid their travelling expenses, board and other expenses, and afforded them free tuition and what was more, gave a special grant towards bi-lingual schools. Did that look like prescription of the French language in Ontario? The Premier went on to quote from the B. N. A. Act to show that it placed the French and English languages on a par as the official languages for use in federal affairs and public affairs in Quebec, in the federal parliament and federal courts and in the Quebec legislature and Quebec courts. Subject to this provision the provinces had plenary powers to deal with the question of languages.

For these and other reasons Sir Robert continued, he believed that Mr. Lapointe's resolution was opposed to the best interests of Canada. He quoted from a statement of Sir Edward Blake in 1890 that there should be no disallowance by the federal parliament of provincial educational legislation and that no address should be passed to the crown asking for a change in the constitution in this particular with the consent of the provinces. In 1896 Sir Wilfrid Laurier, himself, in moving a six months' hoist to the remedial bill dealing with school conditions in Manitoba, had laid it down that between the Dominion and the provinces there was no question of superiority or inferiority; all were equal in their respective spheres. The majority must rule and the only remedy of the minority was to endeavor to bring the majority around to its opinion. There was no right of supervision by the Dominion of the legislation of the provinces. Such had been the effect of Sir Wilfrid's words then and yet if the principle embodied in this resolution was not, said Sir Robert, that parliament was to attempt to supervise provincial legislation, then he did not know its character. In 1896 when the subject was constitutionally before parliament, Laurier had declared for no interference. Now, when the question was not constitutionally before parliament, why should there be any interference either?

Laurier's inconsistency.

Sir Wilfrid had denounced the attempt of Sir Charles Tupper's government to bring in a remedial bill without sufficient inquiry. Now he proposed that parliament should admonish the legislature of Ontario without making any inquiry at all. And furthermore Sir Wilfrid had declared that the remedy of interference could never be applied without causing friction and disturbance, producing more dissatisfaction than satisfaction. Could any clearer reason be advanced now for the rejection of the present resolution?

"Another remarkable feature of this resolution is that it omits any reference to the province of Manitoba. I would assume from that very significant omission that the situation in Manitoba as this matter is concerned, must be entirely satisfactory to my friend from Kamouraska."

This statement provoked the reply from Mr. Lapointe that the question of Manitoba legislation was not before the House. He did not approve injustice any more in Manitoba than Ontario, however.

"Since the question of disallowance of legislation of the province of Ontario was dealt with by this government without any objection from the member for Kamouraska, the Ontario situation is no more before parliament than that of Manitoba," rejoined the Premier. "I infer from what my hon. friend says that he intends to make a motion to disallow the Manitoba legislation. It must not be overlooked by the House that some far beyond any of the Ontario regulations objected to."

He went on to quote from Sir Wilfrid Laurier's remarks on Tuesday, favoring the resolution, the statement: "Let us hear both sides and then I believe we will rise wiser and better men knowing better what the rights of the minority are. When the question has been settled, as it ought to be settled, the minority will accept the resolution whatever it may be."

Well, Sir Robert interpreted these words as meaning but one thing. Since only the courts could deal with a matter of legal rights what was meant was that the question should be settled in parliament and that could only be by an amendment to the British North America Act by which the rights of the province legislatures should be cut down. Sir Robert wished to say most emphatically that such a settlement would be most eminently not in the interests of the province of Quebec herself. If it were possible for parliament to pass a resolution cutting down provincial rights no province in Canada would be in a more unfortunate situation, because if parliament could interfere with the autonomy of English-speaking provinces as regards the language question then it would be equally possible to interfere with Quebec. The resolution which Mr. Lapointe proposed was the last step which any member with Quebec's interests at heart ought to advocate.

Laurier Supports Resolution.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier proclaimed at the outset that he rose to support the resolution and to discuss it calmly without passion or prejudice. He disclaimed any intention to deny the paramount power of the legislature of Ontario to pass final judgment on the question. "I rise," he said, "not for the purpose of giving advice to the people of Ontario but to plead with the people of Ontario on behalf of His Majesty's subjects of French origin in that province who complain that they have been deprived of rights which they have enjoyed since this country passed under the sovereignty of the British crown."

There were some who told him he had no right to come to parliament to plead that cause and that the Ontario legislature was the only forum for such a discussion. Only a few weeks ago he had been appealed by the Orange Sentinel in a letter signed by its editor, Mr. Hocken, to interfere in the question and to give his views. "Therefore," exclaimed Sir Wilfrid, "if I am to accept this challenge, this invitation extended to me, where am I to answer it, if not from my place in this House?"

The Orange Sentinel had addressed Sir Wilfrid as the "leader of the French race in Canada," but had feared he was allowing himself to be supplanted by Mr. Henri Bourassa. "I never had that proud title," said the leader of the opposition, "I never surrendered it to Mr. Bourassa." He and Mr. Bourassa had found themselves on opposite sides of many questions and in recent events he thought the latter was nearer to the hearts of friends of the Orange Sentinel than himself. "It has been my honor for 28 years," continued Sir Wilfrid, "to be accepted as the leader of Liberal Canadians, Canadians of all origins, Canadians by birth and Canadians by adoption who found their ideals in those principles of British Liberalism, cardinal among which was the protection of minorities. I have been at their head in good report and in ill report, in victory and in defeat, and in many an agitation and on every occasion I have endeavored to find a solution in the consciousness of the men who love freedom, justice and tolerance. Let me say, whilst I am the leader of the Liberal party, I am also of French origin. I ask no man to follow me on this occasion. I want no man to vote with me unless he believes in his heart that the cause which I am now advocating is the right cause."

Sir Wilfrid said that he could not quarrel with the government for not following the Ontario act dealing with the Ottawa situation. Disallowance instead of giving satisfaction had given rise to many of the agitations which had arisen in the country. If the act had been disallowed it might simply have been re-enacted at succeeding sessions of the legislature. While he did not blame the government for not disallowing the legislation of Ontario he was sorry that the government had not seen fit to draw the attention of Ontario to the complaint of the minority. He looked upon the remedy of disallowance as a device of dissolution, saying that the present agitation was causing antagonism which no decision of the courts could allay.

The leader of the opposition contrasted the treatment accorded by Great Britain to the natives of Africa, who were allowed to use their language and teach it to their children with that of the people of Alsace and Lorraine by the Germans.

"Of the fellow citizens of Ontario," he proceeded, "I ask which is the better example to follow? All I ask is that in the province of Ontario and in Manitoba as well, we be allowed to have the language of our fathers." Regarding Sir Robert Borden's comparison of his attitude toward the Manitoba situation in 1896 with his present attitude he spoke of the Prime Minister's argument as "lacking in dignity and strength." The legislature of Manitoba, he said, had put an end to a system which was obnoxious to it and the parliament of Canada had proposed to pass an education act over the heads of the legislative assembly of the province. The people of Manitoba had resented the action of the federal parliament and he had opposed the proposed federal legislation. He had done more. He had taken the course he was now advocating and had appealed to the legislature and people of Manitoba to end an evil they themselves had created. Manitoba had consented to amend its own act which was agreeable to the majority of its people and was obnoxious to the minority. The Manitoba legislature had now repealed the concession which was granted in 1896 insofar as it referred to the French language.

Sir Wilfrid said that he gave his fullest assent to the proposition that every child in Ontario should receive an English education. "When I ask that every child of my own race shall have an English education," he continued, "will you refuse him the right to have at the same time an education in the language of our mothers and our fathers?" It could do no harm to anybody to have a second education in a second language. It had been stated that there was no disposition in Ontario to curtail the teaching of French. Regulation 15 of the department of education provided that in a section where the French or German element predominated, teaching in French or German might be permitted. This regulation was still in force. Regulation 17, however, declared that in schools where French had on June 30, 1912, been hitherto a subject of study it might be taught in forms from one to four. That meant that the sphere in which French might be taught was restricted to schools in which it had been taught before 1912.

"SALADA" The Tea That Never Disappoints

ROYAL COMMISSION TO PROBE IRISH REBELLION

London, May 10, 4.36 p. m.—Announcement was made today of the appointment of a royal commission to investigate the Irish rebellion. The members of the commission are Baron Hardinge, former viceroy of India; Justice Sir Montague Spearman and Sir Mackenzie Chalmers, former permanent under-secretary of state for the home department.

The commission will inquire into the causes of the recent outbreak and the conduct and degree of responsibility of civil and military authorities in that connection. Baron Hardinge will be chairman.

John Redmond, the Irish leader, expressed, in the House of Commons today, a desire for a wider investigation. Premier Asquith replied that if the area of inquiry were widened no tribunal could undertake the task. Subsequently it was a question between holding an inquiry within limits and having none at all.

In no new schools could the French languages be introduced. Regulation 17 went further and enacted that English should be the language of instruction but that "where necessary," in form one French might be used as the language of communication and instruction with the approval of the chief inspector. Sir Wilfrid Laurier took exception to the view that a French speaking child could be taught English more rapidly by the use of English as the language of instruction than by the use of his own tongue. He cited the case of Sir Oliver Mowatt and of a number of educationalists who held the same opinion.

THE ST. JOHN STANDARD TRAVEL CLUB

SOMETHING ABOUT WHAT THE STANDARD OFFERS TO THOSE WHO DESIRE TO JOIN ITS "TRAVEL CLUB."

The Standard has pleasure in announcing a prize competition open to the Maritime Provinces which it believes will attract a great deal of attention and will be a source of enjoyment and financial profit to a large number of active young men and women, and which will bring a considerable amount of business to this paper. This undertaking is in the form of a "Travel Club." Arrangements have been made whereby this paper has joined with a syndicate of twenty or thirty newspapers in Canada and the Eastern United States in the promotion of an important excursion across Canada to Alaska and return east through the United States. The entire party numbering in the vicinity of two hundred will leave Toronto about the middle of July on a special train, travelling over the Grand Trunk Pacific. Stops will be made at all the important points on the way west. There will be excursions and side trips to different places of interest, the western train trip terminating at Prince Rupert. From there a steamer will be taken for three days northward journey through the wonderful Inland Passage to Skagway where a day or more will be spent. The party will return by steamer over the same route but will go by Vancouver, Seattle and Portland, where the train will be taken for the eastward journey. Coming east stops will be made at many of the principal cities, and there will be a two days side trip through Glacier National Park. The entire trip will occupy about thirty-two days, and all expenses will be borne by the newspapers participating in the affair.

The Standard has made a very satisfactory contract. This paper may send two or more members with the party, the winners of the trip to be selected by the votes of the readers of The Standard.

It has been arranged by The Standard that six trips shall be offered in this way, of which five will be awarded to the five persons obtaining the highest number of votes, while the sixth trip will be given in addition to one member of the club who secures the leading position.

This is an undertaking in which when anyone enters it is easy to secure the co-operation of friends who will save votes for them and who will help in every way possible.

Everything will be over in two months and The Standard strongly advises all those who would enjoy such a magnificent outing as is now being offered or who would appreciate a year in college to get busy at once. Other particulars will be found in announcement elsewhere in this paper and all who are interested should write for instructions. This club will close on June 24th.

Talking with The Standard, J. A. The fine, modern drainage system of Glen Falls is in course of completion, the new sixty-five acre section, known as the Wilkes Farm, will be developed and the numerous woodland walks back on the hillside will be made still more attractive by quaint, rustic bridges.

To those who will drop in at the Glen Falls office, 45 Princes street, the sales agents will be glad to furnish any information and to arrange a motor car trip to Glen Falls.

WHY IS MR. MORRISSEY SILENT?

Apparently, the "Honorable" John Morrissey is in no hurry to inform a waiting public why, contrary to the advice of his Chief Engineer, he awarded the contract for the Moncton Bridge to the highest bidder of the lowest tender. This information would be of much value but Mr. Morrissey is not as eager to give it out as he was to dispute a statement by Hon. Dr. Landry concerning a matter in which public interest is infinitely less. Mr. Morrissey's previous assertion that he awarded the contract as he did on the advice of the Provincial Engineer has been shown, by reference to the letter from that official on the files of the Public Works Department, to be absolutely untrue and further explanation from the ex-Minister is certainly due. As matters stand at present Mr. Morrissey figures as the head of a department who had so little regard for the provincial welfare that he was willing deliberately to inflict upon the province a totally unnecessary loss of $7,207. Fortunately, for the Province, Mr. Morrissey's colleagues in the Government found it out and, by their prompt action in re-opening the matter and calling for new tenders, saved New Brunswick not $7,207 but $22,500. One of Mr. Morrissey's complaints was that his colleagues did not work in harmony with him: here is one case where they did not and where, through that lack of harmony, the Province saved a substantial sum.

But Mr. Morrissey's newspapers now somewhat childishly, ask why was he not at once dismissed when his action regarding the Moncton Bridge tender was brought to light? It would be much more to the point were they to ask why, if Mr. Morrissey had any self respect, did he not at once resign of his own accord when his colleagues sat in appeal upon his judgment and reversed it? Why did he submit to the snub so administered? If he was then unable to appreciate that the action of his colleagues was an expression of lack of confidence in him, that was his affair, not theirs. It was unnecessary for Premier Clarke to dismiss Mr. Morrissey, because the Government by taking matters into their own hands, made it impossible for the Minister of Public Works to repeat his previous action. Mr. Morrissey's newspaper supporters assert that the Government is now charging against him and his department certain irregularities the existence of which they had previously denied. The Government accepted Mr. Morrissey's assurances that his department held no such irregularities as the opposition scandal-mongers charged. In the session of 1915, before the Chandler enquiry revelations were available, and in the session just closed, he again and again defied all persons to find anything wrong in the administration of his department. Therefore the Government cannot be blamed for accepting his assurances until they were shown to be untrue. Mr. Morrissey and his apologists need better ground than this on which to base their position.

Evidence that the ex-Minister of Public Works has been in close touch with the opposition organizer is discovered readily enough now that attention is being turned in that direction. For instance, there is Mr. Carter's letter to "My Dear Dugal," read by the latter in the House, in which Mr. Carter says referring to liquor licenses "Mr. Sullivan himself told a member of the Government WHO INFORMED ME." Mr. Morrissey had previously stated that he was the member of the Government who received Mr. Sullivan's confidence. And, again, on April 4th, last, Mr. Carter caused an inquiry to be made in the Legislature in reference to a speech in Parliament by Hon. Robert Rogers in which Mr. Rogers quoted from a letter received from Hon. J. A. Murray to the effect that "the Government of New Brunswick in session" approved of the new plans for the Valley Railway location. Mr. Carter wanted to know if the expression, "Government in session," meant all the members of the Government, and further asked if Mr. Morrissey had been consulted before that letter was sent. From this, the public can draw its own conclusions whether Mr. Morrissey had not been doing some talking, and in the connection it should be remembered that the oath to which Mr. Morrissey subscribed when he became an Executive Councillor plainly pledged him to "keep secret such matters as shall be debated in said Council and committed to your secrecy."

Once more there is the fact, not disputed by the Morrissey press, that immediately upon receipt of Premier Clarke's letter, Mr. Morrissey hid himself straight to Mr. Carter for advice. Could there be better proof of his duplicity in consorting with avowed opponents of the Government? Mr. Morrissey and his if they hope to apply a coat of white-wash sufficiently heavy to cover the numerous improprieties of which he has been guilty, and which are only now commencing to come to light. Meanwhile the public is awaiting the explanation regarding the Moncton Bridge and the dealings which Mr. Morrissey permitted his son to have with the Foundations Company, the contractors with whom the ex-Minister, in his official capacity, was dealing. He might also furnish information as when he discovered the identity of the president, secretary and manager of Concrete Constructions, Ltd., a company that was never incorporated in this province nor had paid any fees to do business here, but to which his department paid $24,787.30 in the year 1913, and concerning which company Mr. Morrissey informed Mr. Pelletier during the session of 1914 that his department had no knowledge as to its officers. Is it possible that after the Province had paid nearly $25,000 to Concrete Constructions, Ltd. Mr. Morrissey or his secretary had no knowledge concerning the company's officers? On these matters the ex-Minister of Public Works could furnish much interesting information and his failure to do so is decidedly a suspicious circumstance.

THE KYTE CHARGES.

"Kyte Charges Fully Proven" was the caption the Daily Ananias used yesterday to describe the developments at Tuesday's session of the Meredith-Duff Commission of Enquiry. Perusal of the text of the article, however, failed to show warrant for the sensational headlines, so it is evident that the political fictionist of that newspaper has returned from his gardening expedition in Albert county to assume direction of the head-writing department. The only shadow of evidence upon which the headline was evidently based was found in the statement of Lloyd Harris of the Russell Motor Car Company to the effect that he had been unable to secure fuse contracts for his firm, but was advised by Col. Carnegie to see Col. Allison. It will be remembered that the charges made by Mr. Kyte were four in number, and had to do with the contracts awarded to the American Ammunition Co., the International Fuse Co., the Edwards Valve Co. and the Providence Chemical Co. He also charged that there was an agreement between Col. Allison and Messrs. Yokum and Lignault under the terms of which they would divide commissions on contracts. Not a shred of evidence has as yet been introduced in support of any of the charges. It was never denied that Col. Allison had been active in securing companies to undertake the business of shell making, or that he had done valuable work in that capacity. But it was denied that he had made undue profits, that he had acted corruptly or illegitimately in any way, and these denials stand unrefuted. The Daily Ananias and its friends are welcome to all the consolation or comfort they can derive from the proceedings before the Commission. The enquiry is not yet half over but, so far, every contention made by the promoters of the charges has been shattered and it was with full knowledge of this that Mr. Carvell went begging to the House of Commons to have the scope of the Commission enlarged. The Government quite properly refused to permit a dignified court to be converted into a theatre for the staging of a Grit fishing expedition. Mr. Carvell cannot make good by legitimate means so it is quite in accordance with the Grit policy that his unprincipled newspaper organs should now commence to distort and twist the facts in an effort to help him save his political face.

HON. P. G. MAHONEY.

Mr. John Morrissey's assertion that his colleagues in the Clarke Government were attacking him because he was an "Englishman" and a "Catholic," was not believed when he made it, but utter proof of its falsity is afforded by the announcement from Fredericton that his place in the Executive Council will be filled by the appointment of Mr. P. G. Mahoney, one of the members for Westmorland. The new Minister is both an "Irishman" and a "Catholic."

It is hardly necessary, at this time, to reiterate that ever since Hon. J. D. Hazen formed his first ministry fair representation has been given to every section of the population of the province and that policy will be continued. Mr. Mahoney's appointment will be generally commended throughout the entire province. A keen business man, standing well not only in his own constituency but wherever he is known, he was elected to the Legislature in 1912 and has since been a valuable member of that body. The administration of the Department of Public Works will be absolutely safe in his competent hands.

The Standard joins with his many friends in extending to Hon. P. G. Mahoney hearty congratulations upon his advancement to one of the most important positions in the Government of New Brunswick.

The announcement that Mr. C. B. Lockhart, M. L. A., has been appointed to succeed the late Hon. A. T. Dunn as Collector of His Majesty's Customs for the Port of St. John, will be received with distinct approval. Mr. Lockhart has been a valuable citizen and a staunch Conservative for many years. There is no doubt that in the important office to which he has been called he will be found a faithful, vigilant and courteous official.

Mr. E. S. Carter, opposition organizer, and Mr. Harry M. Blair, ex-secretary of the Department of Public Works, returned from Ottawa yesterday where they had been in consultation with Mr. Pugsley and that other apostle of purity, F. B. Carvell. Now that these worthies have enjoyed a cheek-by-jowl conference with their chief in the nation's capital, watch for some new "political fiction" in the columns of the Daily Ananias.

KINGS TO CONFER SEVERAL DEGREES IN ABSENTIA

Large Number of Graduating Class on Military Service.

ST. JOHN MEN TO RECEIVE DEGREES

Three Professors in Khaki—Board of Governors Heard Report—Judge Forbes Elected to Board.

Halifax, May 10.—Convocation of King's College has begun. Because of the war the number of graduates is small and several of those taking degrees are now on military service. The alumni met this morning with an unusually small attendance. In the absence of the president Canon Vroom occupied the chair. The business dealt with the report of the executive committee. This began with a well-come to the newly appointed president of King's, the Rev. T. Stannage Boyle, D. D., who has recently assumed the duties of his office. The report referred to the number of students who had enlisted for active service at the front, mentioning the names of Professors Major Sturley and Mr. Wadley and Capt. Judd, of the 112th Battalion, headmaster of the King's College School, who had not allowed the call to duty to come unheeded. The report showed that the King's College School had a successful year, and that Dr. Hunt had consented to assume the headmastership for the coming year in the absence of Capt. Judd. New members elected to the alumni were Rev. Dr. Boyle, Rev. R. J. Kingford, Windsor, Messrs. Silver and Harvie. Prof. McCarthy was appointed to the board of governors. Other governors elected were: Rev. W. S. Morris Middleton, Judge Forbes, Rev. Archdeacon Martell, Rev. A. B. Wiswell, Canon Smithers. Canon Vroom was re-elected vice-president. Rev. Noel Wilcox, curate at All Saints Cathedral, Halifax, and Dr. J. W. Allison were elected to the executive committee. The treasurer's accounts showed a balance on hand of $50 on general account, and $274 on alumni prize account. They also showed investments on general account of $3,622, and on prize fund account $22,000. Alexandra Society. The Alexandra Society met this afternoon, and Miss Gena Smith, of Edgemoor, was re-elected president; Mrs. A. W. Harley, recording secretary, and Mrs. E. Dimock, treasurer.

ST. JOHN MADE RECORD FOR BIG BEEF CARGO

This Port During Season Handled Greatest Shipment of Fresh Beef Ever Sent Across Atlantic.

What is claimed to be the largest cargo of fresh beef ever shipped from any port in America, or that ever went across the water in a single bottom, was shipped from this port to a trans-Atlantic port one day during the season just closed. This cargo was sent over by one of the large Canadian packing houses and speaks well for the enterprise and ability of Canadian concerns who have gone out in the open market and captured this business in competition with United States packers.

It took about 25,000 head of cattle to make up the cargo, and averaging the weight at 500 pounds per dressed carcass, it would make a weight of twelve million and a half pounds, or in tons, it would be 6,250. Allowing forty tons to a car it would make a train of one hundred and fifty-six cars.

NEREPIS BRIDGE DAMAGED BY FIRE

Volunteer Firemen Prevented Total Loss, but Damage Done Was Considerable.

Shortly after two o'clock yesterday morning it was discovered that the western end of the Nerepis bridge was on fire.

The bridge which runs from Westfield and connects with Woodman's Point district, was destroyed for a distance of about seven or eight spans from the western shore.

The bridge had recently been thoroughly repaired and put in first-class condition. It is not known what started the fire, and while some believe that the fire was due to a spark from a passing locomotive, others appear to think that it may have been of incendiary origin.

DELEGATES TO W. A. HAD A BUSY DAY

Three Sessions Held Yesterday at Which Many Matters of Importance to the Work was Discussed.

The members of the Women's Auxiliary spent another busy day yesterday. The delegates assembled at 9 in the St. John (Stone) church, where they spent a half hour in meditation and prayer.

Mrs. Charles J. Cusker, secretary-treasurer of literature, also reported and urged a more widespread reading of the leaflets by the members of the W. A., and in this connection suggested that there be a leaflet secretary appointed along with the other officers.

Mrs. John M. Hay discussed the disposal of life membership fees for diocesan, Canadian and foreign needs. In each of the three fields there were alternative propositions and ballots were distributed to ascertain the pleasure of the meeting.

Following the noonday prayer which was led by His Lordship Bishop Richardson, Rev. W. P. Dunham delivered a sermon, "Launch Into the Deep."

A resolution was moved by Miss Elsie Millidge, and carried, defining the duties of the girls' secretary, to be added to the by-laws and constitution.

After luncheon a conference on Dorcas work, led by Miss John Hay (the Dorcas secretary), took place. This was opened by prayer and Mrs. Hay gave a short address saying that the Dorcas members must remember that while they are sewing members, the W. A. stands for prayer and study also, and prayer above all.

A largely attended public missionary meeting was held last evening in St. John's (Stone) church school room. His Lordship Bishop Richardson presided. The meeting opened with a hymn and prayer.

PICTURE THEATRE LICENSES AGAIN BEFORE CITY COUNCIL

Mayor Hayes Suggests That Future Arrangement Provide for Tax Graded According to Seating Capacity — Other Matters Discussed at Yesterday's Meeting.

The meeting of the common council yesterday was devoted to routine business. The mayor suggested that as the time for renewing the licenses of the moving picture houses was at hand the council should consider whether it would not be well to adopt a sliding scale based on the seating capacity of the theatre.

The commissioner of harbors, ferries and public lands recommended that the warehouse on the new pier (so-called) lately leased to Wetmore and Kennelly be now leased to Gandy & Allison for 500 per annum payable quarterly.

Mayor Hayes referred to the fact that the time for renewing licenses for the moving picture houses was at hand and said he thought the present tax was hardly a fair one, as it made the small house pay the same amount as the large one.

Commissioner Russell moved that the overdraft of $7,000 for ferry maintenance which was laid over from last week be passed, carried.

Commissioner Fisher reported a change in the agreement with the N. B. Telephone Company whereby instead of a payment of $300 they made

OLD TIME CHAMPION UNFOLDS MOTH-EATEN EXCUSE FOR VAGRANCY

Wine, Women and Song Helped Johnnie Reardon to Squander $40,000 in Seven Years.

New York, May 9.—Johnnie Reardon, once champion welterweight prize fighter, pleaded guilty to vagrancy in the Tombs police court, New York, today. His home, he said, was in "the back rooms of bawdy saloons." His downfall he attributed to the old trio, wine, women and song. He boasted of having retired from the ring seven years ago with $40,000, having fought 367 battles and being knocked out only once.

COFFEY AND CARL MORRIS MAY FIGHT IN WEST

Sam McClintock, an Oklahoma promoter, is in New York arranging terms for a bout which will bring together Jim Coffey and Carl Morris in the west. Gunboat Smith has already signed to fight Morris and Moran has been offered a purse of $15,000 to fight in Oklahoma. Carpenter, the European champion, is still fighting for his country in the great war. He has announced his intention of returning to the ring after the war and will probably come to America.

BUFFALO FIGHT KINGS WANT "GO" FOR WELSH

Jimmy Duffy or Johnny O'Leary May Get Coveted Chance to Cross Arms with Champ.

Buffalo, N. Y., fight promoters are reported to be angling for the appearance of Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, in that city, against either Jimmy Duffy or Johnny O'Leary. Welsh is admittedly on the toptop. Fortunately, indeed, will be the youth with his strength and stamina who will be the one to wrest the crown from the champion, for his fortune is made with this accomplishment. Welsh recently suffered a severe laceration of the eye, a comparatively unknown light-weight from Chicago. Welsh is the Canadian champion, whose latest fistic coup was a knockout victory. He wants another chance at Welsh, for he, too, has once fought the titleholder. He met Welsh in Wintuog in a twelve-round, no-decision bout. At that time Welsh was going good and was fast. Today he is a tired pugilist and getting old. In the first round of that bout O'Leary nearly won the crown by knocking Welsh off his feet.

THE EMPIRE'S MEAT TRADE.

Among the subjects dealt with in the Agricultural War Book of Canada is "the Empire's share in the meat trade." It is pointed out that Australia and New Zealand have each about forty freezing works to deal with the exportable surplus of live stock, and that these countries are practically the only regular and reliable sources of supply within the Empire. Together, they furnished in 1915, 284,056 tons of meat out of 664,508 tons imported into the United Kingdom. There was a small import from Canada, and a still smaller import from South Africa. The War Book thinks that there are great possibilities in the expansion of Canadian live stock production. Undoubtedly there are, but these possibilities must be worked out by the various provinces and communities for themselves. In New Brunswick there is undoubtedly room for increased live stock production, but we are debarred from exporting any surplus that we might have by the absence of proper slaughtering facilities. This subject was touched upon at the recent Board of Trade luncheon by one of the speakers, who pointed out that federal inspection of meats had been withdrawn from St. John because of the primitive and unsanitary slaughtering conditions which exist here.

WAR MAY PUT CRIMP IN HOCKEY AND FOOTBALL

Montreal Says N.H.A. Will Suspend if Hostilities Continue—Football also Affected.

It is certain there will be no football next fall if the war is still in progress, and the intimation comes from Montreal that the National Hockey Association will suspend till further notice if European hostilities continue. A situation of this character would affect about sixty professional hockey players and several thousand fans as well as four big rinks and many club owners.

The vessel then went on her way, reporting the fire as small.

ON WHOM IS THE LAUGH!

Port, Ont., May 10.—It was a novelty. Wherever it went the eyes of a crowd followed it and the lips of a crowd spoke of it in wonder and in praise. Its highly polished body flashed in the sun as it sped up and down the streets. In the slang of today, it was considered "some class," this model A-C Ford when it was put into service in Geraldton, West Australia, in 1906 by Mr. W. B. Fallowfield, now mayor of that city.
But even then, it wasn't a new car. It had been shipped to Mr. Fallowfield from England where it already had established a record for dependability. Also it had established a record for speed. Entered by its English owner in a reliability test race between Morecambe and Sheffield, it had won the contest easily from a representative field of competitors.
In 1914 he was induced to part with Model A-C as part payment for a newer car of the same Ford family. The new Ford was purchased from Williams & Company, of Geraldton, which company became the owners of Model A-C.
It didn't stay with Williams & Company for long. It's old "four seater" body with back entrance to the rear seats, and steps instead of footboards, was removed and replaced by a "van" body of twenty gauge galvanized iron. The old dash was also extended and a "home-made" windshield fitted and stayed.
These alterations were made by its present owner who purchased it from Williams & Company. He uses it to travel through the country, following his occupation of harness repairman.
For this car has "made good" where the particular horse, perhaps, at which it may be looking has failed. The car, early in life, as do many horses, won renown on a race course. Like many good track horses, the car later was sold into less spectacular but much more serviceable use. Now these horses are always more or less of an expense to their owners. They get sick, they break their harness and in other ways keep up a considerable drain on their owner's pocket-book.
This, undoubtedly, still makes a faithful Model A-C smile as its present owner pats away at a broken harness and pockets the money for his work.
If the car smiles when it sees a horse, it may be pardoned for smiling. The laugh's on the horse.

Shipping Shares Failed fluence Market for Time in Fortnight—Lower.

New York, May 10.—The noteworthy feature of today's aside from its further irreverence was the marked curtailment of sales. Even the first hours of trading were only nominal, and the trading steadily diminished. A certain trend of the opening, occasionally relieved by spasms of sales or declines, but these have no actual significance in a few prominent issues, movements resulted from well-known causes.

Mexican affairs continued to attract the attention of speculative investors and the pressure against a federal query of the coal situation, some selling of stocks, which came within the scope of such speculation.

Trade authorities referred to "slow-down" in the steel and inquiry, and the United States April tonnage statement, which all previous records, seemed on barren ground.

Bulls were fairly active, but selling shares contributed to the news of that group. Rock Island's outstanding feature, a moderate setback, while like Union Pacific, Reading and York Central were under pressure with heaviness on New Haven.

Peace rumors, which were tangible or vague than in the past session, were again resorted to for the pressure against munitions and declines varied from 1 to 2 points. Mexican Petroleum, Texas and United States Alcohol backed and filled in coal.

For the first time in a few shipping shares failed to exercise slightest influence. Mercantile and United Fruit lost 1/2 their advantage and prominent metals that outside interest seeking control of those properties.

Sugar shares alone were tently strong. American Sugar's unusual activity and gain with 1 to 2 points in others of same group. Final prices were at lowest levels, fresh selling renewed weakness. Total amounted to 420,000 shares.

Bonds were lower, with the exception of Rock Islands, the debt and refunding issues making response to reported re-organization proceedings. Total sales, par $3,325,000.

CLOSING LETTER N. Y. MARKET E. & C. RANDOL

(McDOUGALL & COWAN)
New York, May 10.—Following today's increased activity, the market was quieter than for some time. The market drifted after the close and gave no clear indication of any one way or the other. The tonnage statement showing a decrease of nearly 600,000 tons filled orders at end of April compared with a month previous, had a tendency to effect on market.
This was an enormous addition what was already a record total filled orders on the Corporation books interference with production because of labor troubles accounted for a small part of the increase. The steel corporation has been remarkably free from labor difficulties, its voluntary increase of wages, talk which has been heard in the market for a few days past, with railroad stocks have been strong in the war stocks weak, was much in evidence today because growing belief that England and Germany are unwilling to talk peace.
No news during the day of the steel statement to influence market, and under such conditions regularity was naturally to be expected. Sales 426,100. Bonds $4,500.

PEACE RUMORS AFFECT MUNITIONS SHARES

Shipping Shares Failed to Influence Market for First Time in Fortnight—Bonds Lower.

New York, May 10.—The only noteworthy feature of today's market, aside from its further irregularity, was the marked curtailment of operations. Even the first hour's business was only nominal, and there after trading steadily diminished. The uncertain trend of the opening was occasionally followed by spasmodic advances or declines, but these proved to have no actual significance, except in a few prominent issues, whose movements resulted from well-defined causes.

Mexican affairs continued to engage the attention of speculative interests, and the possibilities of a federal inquiry of the coal situation caused some selling of stocks, which may come within the scope of such investigation.

Trade authorities referred to a "slow-down" in the steel and iron inquiry, and the United States Steel April tonnage statement, which broke all previous records, seemed to lay out a barren ground.

Rails were fairly active, but realizing sales contributed to the heaviness of that group. Rock Island, yesterday's outstanding feature, received a moderate setback, while leaders like Union Pacific, Reading and New York Central were under restraint, with heaviness on New Haven.

Peace rumors, which were less tangible or vague than in the preceding session, were again responsible for the pressure against munitions, and declines varied from 1 to over 3 points. Mexican Petroleum, the Motors and United States Industrial Alcohol backed and filled in confusing fashion.

For the first time in a fortnight shipping shares failed to exercise the slightest influence. Mercantile Marine and United Fruit lost some of their advantage and prominence of analysts that outside interests were seeking control of those properties.

Sugar shares alone were consistently strong, American Sugar showing unusual activity and gaining 3 3/8, with 1 to 2 points in others of the same group. Final prices were mostly at lowest levels, fresh selling causing renewed weakness. Total sales amounted to 420,000 shares.

Bonds were lower, with the exception of Rock Islands, the debentures and refunding issues making further response to reported re-organization proceedings. Total sales, par value, $3,325,000.

CLOSING LETTER OF N. Y. MARKET BY E. & C. RANDOLPH

(McDOUGALL & COWANS.)

New York, May 10.—Following yesterday's increased activity, trading today was quiet for some time past. The market drifted aimlessly and gave no clear indication of tendency one way or the other. The steel tonnage statement showing an increase of nearly 500,000 tons in unfilled orders at end of April as compared with a month previous, had absolutely no effect on market.

This was an enormous addition to what was already a record total of unfilled orders on the Corporation's books. Interference with production because of labor troubles accounted for a small part of the increase, but the steel corporation has been remarkably free from labor difficulties, due to its voluntary increase of wages. Peace talk, which has been heard in the market for a few days past, while the railroad stocks have been strong and the war stocks weak, was not as much in evidence today because of the growing belief that Engard and Frantz are unwilling to talk peace. There was no news during the day outside of the steel statement to influence the market, and under such conditions the regularity was naturally to be expected. Sales $26,100,000.

BUOYANCY ORDER ON MONTREAL MARKET

Exceptions to the General Strength Were Few and Unimportant.

STEEL OF CANADA IN FRONT RANK

Disputed Supremacy With Scotia and Iron—Another Spectacular Movement by Detroit United.

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, May 10.—Yesterday's evidences that the local market was breaking forth into the proportions of a fervid bull movement were supplemented by the action of the market today, the first broadening out of a striking extent while buoyancy was the general order of the day. Exceptions to the general strength were very rare and rather unimportant.

The steel list stood out very prominently, Steel of Canada once again disputing supremacy with Scotia and Iron while Detroit United made another spectacular price movement to a fresh high level. The Power group and a number of specialties such as Carriage Factories, Ontario Steel, Bridge and a few others were also important features of the trading.

The revival of interest in Steel of Canada was no doubt due in a large measure to the announcement that the March earnings had developed to the basis of 50 cents on the share, a record for the company on the common. Preceding months in the current year indicated a strong trend in that direction and when that important level was reached it strongly supported the expectations that such conditions would strengthen the hand of the board in approaching the question of the establishment of a dividend policy for the common in the near future.

A forward movement in Power, fore-shadowed by an exceptionally strong tone for the past few days, was the outstanding feature of the afternoon session.

Cedar Rapids shared in the strength of the Power group, advancing from 76 to 77 1/2 while Shawinigan was steady at 123 1/2.

With the exception of Scotia the Steel group held around the level of the forenoon closing but slightly under the best. Steel of Canada rose to 61, and Iron 52 3/8 to 53 1/2. Scotia dropped back to 115 1/2 from 116 1/2 and the high and 117 1/2 at noon. Detroit continued active, but was reactionary at 117 1/2 to 116 1/2 the high having been 117 1/2.

Recently Established Status of Ontario Steel Products Very Satisfactory—Probably on Toronto Stock Exchange Soon.

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, May 10.—The marked strength yesterday and today in Ontario Steel Products was attributed in part to the information that Toronto interests are acquiring a substantial interest in the stock on the good showing of the company and that steps have been taken to have the shares listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

The progress made by the company, and the indications of permanence to the recently established status of earnings have been so satisfactory that it is expected the company will, with the next quarterly distribution on the preferred, put it back to the regular 7 per cent. basis by paying 1 3/4 per cent in place of 1 per cent for the past few payments.

One department of the Company's plant is stated to be booked two years ahead on purely domestic business, which will not be interfered with by war conditions. Other departments are also busy.

NEWS LETTER FROM MONTREAL EXCHANGE

Montreal, May 10.—We certainly had a big strong market today. Stocks were in good demand. The uncertain tone of the Wall Street market checked it after a while, but, considering everything, our market acted remarkably well.

Steel of Canada was one of the strongest and most active stocks, and closed over a point higher than last night. Montreal Power closed at the highest price it ever has. The buying of this stock has been very good lately. The Wall Street market acted peculiarly even after the big tonnage that U. S. Steel showed, there was no snap to the market.

Traders in the Canadian market are ignoring New York at present. While we had reactions towards the close, it was only natural after such a sharp advance, and the market took it very well.

"Which We Call Life"

"Oh, are you still so blind? Must I tell you?" she cried, lifting her head proudly. "Why did I live here in this wilderness? Why did I work for you—contrive for you—and seek to make this desolation a home for you? Often my heart cried out its secret to you—but you never heard, often it trembled in my voice, looked at you from my eyes—but you never guessed—Oh, blind! blind! And you drove me from you with shameful words—but—oh—I came back to you. And now—I know you for what you are, after all, and—even yet—she stopped, suddenly, and once more hid her face from me in her hands.

"And—then yet, Charmian?"

Very still she stood, with her face bowed upon her hands, but she could not hide from me the swift rise and fall of her bosom.

"Speak—oh, Charmian, speak!"

"I am so weak," she whispered, "I hate myself."

"Charmian!" I cried—"oh, Charmian!" and seized her hands, and despite her resistance, drew her into my arms, and, cupping her close, forced her to look at me. "And even yet—what more—what more—tell me. But, lying back across my arm, she held me off with both hands.

"Don't," she cried, "don't—let me—let me go."

"God knows I am all unworthy, Charmian, and so low in my absence that to touch you is presumption, but—oh, woman whom I have loved from the first, and shall to the end, have you stopped in your infinite mercy, to lift me from these depths—is it a new life you offer me—was it for this you came to-night?"

"Let me go—oh, Peter—let me go."

"Why—why did you come?"

"Loose me!"

"Why did you come?"

"To meet—Sir Maurice Vibe."

"To meet Sir Maurice?" I repeated dully—"Sir Maurice?" And in that moment she broke from me, and stood with her head thrown back, and her eyes very bright, as though defying me. But I remained where I was, my arms hanging.

"He was to meet me here—at nine o'clock."

"Oh, Charmian," I whispered, "are all women so cruel as you, I wonder? And, turning my back upon her, I leaned above the mantle, starting down at the long-dead ashes on the hearth.

But, standing there, I heard a footstep outside, and swung round with clenched fists, yet Charmian was quicker, and as the door opened, and Sir Maurice entered, she was between us.

He stood upon the threshold, dazed a little by the light, but smiling, graceful, debonair, and point-devise as ever. Indeed, his very presence seemed to make the mean room the meaner by contrast, and, as he bent to kiss her hand, I became acutely conscious of my own rough person, my worn and shabby clothes, and of my hands, coarsened and grimed by labor; wherefore my frown grew blacker and I clenched my fists the tighter.

"I lost my way, Charmian," he began, "but, though late, I am none the less welcome, I trust? Ah?—you frown, Cousin Peter. Quite a goulsh spot this, at night—your probably find it most congenial, good cousin Timon of Athens—indeed, cousin, you are very like Timon of Athens." And he laughed so that I, finding my pipe upon the mantelshelf, began to turn it idly round and round in my twining fingers.

"You have already met, then?" I inquired Charmian, glancing from one to the other of us.

"We had that mutual pleasure nearly a week ago," nodded Sir Maurice, "when we agreed to disagree, as we always have done, and shall do—with the result that we find each other agreeably disagreeable."

"I had hoped that you might be friends."

"My dear Charmian—I wonder at you!" he sighed, "so unreasonable. Would you have us contravene the established order of things? It was pre-ordained that Cousin Peter should scowl at me (precisely as he is doing), and that I should shrug my shoulders, thus, at night—your probably find it most congenial, good cousin Timon of Athens—indeed, cousin, you are very like Timon of Athens." And he laughed so that I, finding my pipe upon the mantelshelf, began to turn it idly round and round in my twining fingers.

"You have already met, then?" I inquired Charmian, glancing from one to the other of us.

"We had that mutual pleasure nearly a week ago," nodded Sir Maurice, "when we agreed to disagree, as we always have done, and shall do—with the result that we find each other agreeably disagreeable."

"I had hoped that you might be friends."

"My dear Charmian—I wonder at you!" he sighed, "so unreasonable. Would you have us contravene the established order of things? It was pre-ordained that Cousin Peter should scowl at me (precisely as he is doing), and that I should shrug my shoulders, thus, at night—your probably find it most congenial, good cousin Timon of Athens—indeed, cousin, you are very like Timon of Athens." And he laughed so that I, finding my pipe upon the mantelshelf, began to turn it idly round and round in my twining fingers.

"We had that mutual pleasure nearly a week ago," nodded Sir Maurice, "when we agreed to disagree, as we always have done, and shall do—with the result that we find each other agreeably disagreeable."

"Your—husband?"

"I am going to marry your cousin—Peter Vibe."

The pipe slipped from my fingers and shivered to pieces on the floor, and in that same fraction of time Sir Maurice had turned and leapt to wards me; but as he came I struck him twice, with left and right, and he staggered backwards to the wall. He stood for a moment, with his head stooped upon his hands. When he looked up his face was dead white, and with a smear of blood upon it that seemed to accentuate its pallor; but his voice came smooth and untrifled as ever.

"The Mind Feminine is given to change," said he softly, "and I shall return—yes, I shall come back. Smile, madam! Triumph, cousin! But I shall come between you yet—I tell you, I'll come between you—living or—dead!"

And he turned, and was gone into the shadows.

But as for me, I sat down, and, leaning my chin in my hand, stared down at the broken fragments of my pipe.

"Peter?"

"You are safe now," said I, without looking up, "he is gone—but, oh, Charmian! was there no other way?"

She was down beside me on her knees, had taken my hand, rough and grimy as it was, and pressed it to her lips, and so had drawn it about her neck, holding it there, and with her face hidden in my breast.

"Oh—strong man that is so weak!" she whispered, "Oh—great philosopher that is so foolish! Oh—lonely boy that is so helpless! Oh—Peter Vibe! what does it mean?"

"It means, Peter—"

"Yes?"

"That—the Humble Person—"

"Yes?"

"Will—marry you—whenever you will—if—"

"Yes?"

"If you will—only—ask her."

CHAPTER XL

Now, as the little Preacher closed his book, the sun rose up, filling the world about us with his glory. And looking into the eyes of my wife, it seemed that a veil was lifted, for a moment, there, and I read that which her lips might never tell; and there, also, were joy and shame and a deep happiness.

"See," said the little Preacher, smiling upon us, "it is day and a very glorious one; already a thousand little children of God's great cathedral have begun to chant our marriage hymn. Go forth together, Man and Wife, upon this great wide road that we call Life; go forth together, made strong in Faith, and girded with Hope, and the memory of Him who walked these ways before you; who joyed and sorrowed and suffered and endured all things—even as we must. Go forth together, and may His blessing abide with you, and the peace that passeth all understanding."

And so we turned together, side by side, and left him standing amid his roses.

Silently we went together, homewards, through the dewy morning, and leafy arch overhead, where trees bent to whisper benedictions and shook down jewels from their heads; and as we passed, and chattered, and gurgled of love and happiness, while over all rose the swelling chorus of the birds. Surely never had they piped so gladly in this glad world, though—never for the gentle Sponser, though he says:

"There was none of them that feigned to sting, for each of them him pained; To find out merry, crafty notes They ne'er spared not their throats."

And being come, at length, to the Hollow, Charmian must needs pause beside the pool among the willows, to view herself in the pellucid water. And in this mirror our eyes met, and of a sudden, her lashes drooped, and she turned her head aside.

"Don't, Peter!" she whispered; "don't look at me so."

"How may I help it when you are so beautiful?"

And, because of my eyes, she would

Stomach Was Bad.

Could Eat Hardly Anything.

When the stomach gets out of order the whole system seems to become affected in one way or another. The breath becomes foul, the tongue furred, the appetite becomes distasteful, nausea and vomiting occur, there is a rising and souring of food caused by the acidity of the stomach, and the stomach and bowels become distended causing flatulency. Unless these symptoms are met with immediately, dyspepsia or some other serious trouble is liable to follow, as a consequence.

That grand old remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters, has been on the market for the past forty years, and we claim, without any fear of contradiction, that there is no other medicine on the market to-day that can compare with it for the cure of all disturbances of the stomach.

Miss Lillian E. Phillips, Plummesco, N.B., writes: "My stomach was so bad I was in pain and misery. I could eat hardly anything. I had been treated by skillful doctors for it, but they did me no good. I was giving up in despair when I happened to hear of Burdock Blood Bitters. You can't think how fast it helped me, for I had only taken two bottles before I was better. I will recommend your medicine very highly to all my friends and sufferers."

have fled from me, but I caught her in my arms, and there, amid the leaves despite the jealous babble of the brook, for the second time in my life, her lips met mine. And, gazing up into her eyes, I told her how, in this shady bower, I had once watched her waving leaves into her hair, and how, her head bent to her reflection—and so—had stolen away, for fear of her beauty.

"Fear, Peter?"

"We were so far out of the world, and I longed to kiss you."

"And didn't, Peter?"

"And didn't, Charmian, because we were so very far from the world, and because you were so very much alone."

"And because, Peter, because you are a gentle man and strong, as the old folks say. And do you remember," she went on hurriedly, laying her cool, rosy hands on my eager lips, "how I found you wearing that locket, and how you bumbled and stammered over it, and pretended to read your Homer?"

"And how you sang, to prevent me?"

"And how gravely you reproved me?"

"And how you called me a 'creature'?"

"And how you deserved it, sir—and grow more helpless and ill at ease than ever, and how—just to flatter my vanity—you told me I had 'glorious hair'?"

"And so you have," said I, kissing a curl at her temple; "when you unbind it, my Charmian, it will cover you—like a mantle."

Now when I said this, for some reason she glanced up at me, sudden and shy, and blushed and slipped from my arms, and fled up the path like a nymph.

So we presently entered the cottage, flushed and panting, and laughing for sheer happiness. And now she rolled up her sleeves, and set about preparing breakfast, laughing my assistance to scorn, but growing mighty indignant when I would kiss her, yet blushing and yielding, nevertheless. And while she bustled to and fro (keeping well out of reach of my arm), she began to sing in her soft voice to herself:

"In Scarlet town, where I was born, There was a fair maid dwelt; Her name was Barbara Allen; Her name was Barbara Allen."

"Oh, Charmian! how wonderful you are!"

"All in the merry month of May, When green buds they were swelling—"

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustreous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

"Surely no woman ever had such beautiful arms! So round and soft and white, Charmian." She turned upon me with a look held up admiringly, but, meeting my look, her eyes wavered, and up from throat to brow rushed a wave of burning crimson.

"Oh, Peter!—you make me almost afraid of you," she whispered, and hid her face against my shoulder.

"Are you content to have married such a very poor man—to be the wife of a village blacksmith?"

"Why, Peter—in all the world there never was such another blacksmith as mine, and—and—there—the kettle is boiling over."

"Let it!" said I.

"And the bacon—the bacon will burn—let me go, and—oh, Peter!"

So, in due time, we sat down to our solitary wedding breakfast; and there were no eyes to speculate upon the bride's beauty, to note her changing color, or the glory of her eyes; and no healths were proposed or toasts drunk, nor any speeches spoken—except, perhaps by my good friend—the brook outside, who, of course, understood the situation, and babbled tolerantly of us to the listening trees, like the grim old philosopher he was.

The Picture Game

played in what is felt will prove his greatest vehicle ever presented on the screen or stage. The story has to do with the lives of a hard-working and kind Italian grocer, and a wealthy banker, both of whom are called to the other side to defend their colors. The many dramatic qualities of the plot are offset by various incidents of unusual heart-interest which are brought out to particular advantage and in a manner such as only George Beban can present. Aside from the merit of the story itself, the production offers many qualities, the combination of which results in making this one of the best subjects yet given to Paramount patrons by Oliver Morosco.

being invited. The pastor, Rev. F. S. Dowling performed the ceremony and there was special nuptial music by the organist, Mr. Cochran; and Miss Valde Fenton sang a marriage solo. The bride, who wore a charming dress of pearly willow tulle, with Georgette crepe, and Princess lace and bridal veil, with a bouquet of pale pink Ophelia roses, was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Eunice Macaulay, as bridesmaid. The bridesmaid's dress was of pale mauve soft satin, also with Georgette crepe and lace. She carried a bouquet of sunburst tea roses. The groom was accompanied by Mr. G. Bruce Burpee, Montreal, as groomsmen, and Messrs. Ernest Everett and Frank A. Kinnear were ushers. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. W. B. Howard, and is well known in St. John, not only for his association with fine underwriting, but as for many years secretary of the No. 1 salvage corps. Among the many presents there was a handsome mahogany clock sent by the corps in appreciation of his work. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Howard left for Upper Canadian cities and will spend a short time with an aunt of Mr. Howard's in Millville before returning to St. John. They will spend the summer months at Westfield with the bride's parents and in the fall will take up their home in Elliot Row.

The marriage took place yesterday afternoon at the rectory of St. James' church, by the Rev. H. A. Cody, in the presence of the immediate relatives of Mary E. Leonard, daughter of John and the late Mrs. Leonard, to J. Dupon McAfee of Portland, Me. The happy couple left on the Boston train for Portland, Me., and will spend the summer at Old Orchard.
