

BIG GERMAN DISASTER!

GERMAN ARMY MEETS ONE OF ITS MOST DECISIVE DEFEATS

Field Marshal Haig's Men Are Victorious on Battle Front of Twenty-Three Miles, Extending From Cojeul River on North, Across the Ancre and Somme Rivers, Almost To Lihons—Thousands of Germans Killed and Captured.

British Take Numerous Towns and Villages and Large Quantities of War Material and Big Guns—Last Night They Were Nearing the Town of Bapaume—Furious Fighting in Several Sections and Great Guns Slaughter Enemy.

With the British Armies in France, Aug. 23—(By The Associated Press)—British armies this evening are vigorously following up their success of today which apparently has been proved one of the most disastrous defeats ever experienced by the Germans.

Victorious on a battlefront of twenty-three miles, extending from the Cojeul river on the north, across the Ancre and Somme rivers, almost to Lihons, the third and fourth British armies, under Generals Byng and Rawlinson are still driving the enemy back.

The enemy has lost wide stretches of ground, numerous towns, thousands of men made prisoners and large quantities of materials and guns. He also again has had heavy casualties.

Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, the German commander, has thrown his men in before the advancing British armies in an effort to stave off the inevitable, but only to have them mowed down again and again by storms of metal which poured from the British guns. One entire enemy battalion was annihilated during the fighting.

Dead Germans in great numbers are scattered everywhere over the battlefield. As an example four hundred enemy dead were observed this morning on one small piece of ground over which the battle had swept.

Allied Losses Light.

With all this fierce fighting, and notwithstanding the fact that the British at many places have fought over open ground against an enemy protected in "pot holes" and strong points of the other kind, the British losses everywhere seem to have been extremely light. This probably is due to the confusion the Germans find reigning behind their lines as they are fighting, instead of stopping the British, simply means that the Germans suffered bigger losses.

Crown Prince Rupprecht today had strengthened his line at many places, but this, instead of stopping the British, simply meant that the Germans suffered bigger losses.

During the night and this morning the front upon which the battle was being fought yesterday was widened, appreciably both to the north and the south, while the ground in the middle between Albert and Beaumont-sur-Ancre, which heretofore had been fairly quiet, suddenly was drawn into the whirl.

The Situation.

From the northern edge of the battle field to the south the situation at last reports seemed to be as follows: New attacks from the River Cojeul and south carried the British across the Albert-Arras Railroad embankment. The British apparently hold Dour, Bequerelle and Boyelles and have passed beyond the Arras-Bapaume Road.

The troops to the south, who for two days had been fighting for and afterwards from the embankment, stormed forward and reached Hamelincourt and are pushing on toward Ervillers, St. Lager and Croisilles. Airplanes reported that British tanks had crossed the road between Ervillers and St. Lager, while some infantry was reported to be less than a thousand yards west of Ervillers some hours ago. At about that time an airplane reported that the Germans had disappeared from their positions north-west of St. Lager and between that town and Hamelincourt and that the fighting British found time in the midst of their task to cheer heartily.

Heavy German Losses.

Apparently the hard-pressed Germans, rather than suffer more here, were made prisoners. Many of the

FRENCH ENVELOP TOWN OF NOYON

The Enemy on Dangerous Ground in Vicinity of Soissons.

(By The Associated Press.)
Over the fifty mile battlefront from the region of Arras to the north of Soissons the German armies are meeting with defeats which apparently spell disaster. Everywhere the British and French forces have continued on the attack the enemy has been unacceptably worsted. And the end of his trials is not yet in sight.

To the British over the thirty miles of the fighting zone from the Cojeul river southeast of Arras to Lihons south of the Somme numerous towns have fallen and enemy territory has been penetrated to a depth of several miles. Where the French are fighting between the Metz river and the territory north of Soissons additional gains have been made in the development of Noyon and the general manoeuvre which seeks to crush or drive out the Germans from the salient between the Somme and the Ailette and to put into jeopardy the entire German line running to Rheims.

A Terrible Price.

The enemy paid a terrible price in men killed, wounded or made prisoners for his temerity.

With the continuation of the French drive from the Metz river around the head in the line to the north of Soissons the Germans still within the lower portion of the old salient apparently are on dangerous ground.

CZECHO-SLOVAKS WIN

London, Aug. 23.—Lord Robert Cecil, the British under-secretary for foreign affairs, announced this evening that reports had been received in London to the effect that the Czecho-Slovak forces in Trans-Balkania had captured the town of Berchlesdinek, south of Lake Balkan, and had achieved a decided victory against the Bolshevik force.

Captured officers were from one regiment. The Germans offered heavy resistance at Chigulmole out, with the assistance of tanks, the Australians hammered through the enemy and swept on, leaving the town and its environs filled with dead Germans.

New Zealander's Act.

South of Achiet-Le-Grand the British did not start today's operations so early as farther north. The New Zealanders here stopped work to let a German counter-attack develop. They "played dead" until the advancing enemy infantry was almost on top of them. Then they put down a heavy machine gun barrage just at the rear of the Germans, who surrendered in a body rather than be killed in their tracks. This happened just north of Miraumont. Many of the prisoners were non-commissioned officers and all of them appeared to be glad that they had been captured. When asked about the Austrians, the prisoners expressed the greatest contempt for their allies as soldiers, saying they were no good whatever.

British Cross Ance.

Slightly to the south the British have crossed the Ancre River and started back in the general direction of Corrolette. Already they are reported to be southeast of Grandcourt. This move means from the rear the German stronghold at Thiepval, which is an old fortress.

Marshal Haig Announces Capture of Five Villages, Enemy Losing Heavily

London, Aug. 23.—On a front of about six miles, from the southeast of Albert to the neighborhood of Grandcourt, east of the Ancre river, the British have pushed forward and gained ground after heavy fighting, says Field Marshal Haig's communication from headquarters tonight. South of Grandcourt a German counter-attack was repulsed. The advance of the British was to a depth of two miles, and large numbers of Germans were killed or taken prisoners. Five villages to the north of Achiet-Le-Grand were captured and the British pressed on eastward from them, says General Haig's statement.

The town of Achiet-Le-Grand has been captured by the British, and also Bihucourt, just to the southeast of Achiet-Le-Grand and about two and a half miles from the railroad junction of Bapaume.

The text of the communication follows: "In the course of an advance of over two miles into German positions, great numbers of Germans have been killed and prisoners taken.

"On the left of the battlefront we stormed the villages of Commeicourt, Ervillers, Hamelincourt, Boyelles and Boiry-Becquerelle and made progress east of these villages.

"On our right center we advanced against German positions on the east bank of the Ancre from southeast of Albert to the neighborhood of Grandcourt and gained ground after heavy fighting. A counter-attack was repulsed south of Grandcourt.

"We have captured Achiet-Le-Grand and Bihucourt and the ridge overlooking Irls. We continued our attacks this afternoon. Several thousand prisoners were taken and heavy casualties inflicted on the enemy."

AN ATTEMPT ON U. S. TRANSPORTS

German Submarines Endeavor To Blockade French Port Where Soldiers Are Landed and Sink Troopships, But Attempt Fails.

Daring Enemy U-Boats Are Sent To Bottom. Instead—Sea Pirates Sink More Vessels Off the Atlantic Coast.

Special cable to New York Tribune and St. John Standard.
With American Destroyer Flotilla, Bay of Biscay, Aug. 23.—Within the past few days Germany has made a sensational attempt to blockade one of the French ports at which the American troops enter. It was one of her most daring submarine exploits, but it has failed because of the American navy. Her newest and biggest U-boats, commanded by her most courageous and resourceful yet foolhardy officers, were consigned by the American destroyer flotilla to the bottom of the sea near the French coast. Unlike recent "Fat Bertha" activities the blockade was prepared for more than window dressing for the discouraged populace. It was a counter-attack for the great land disasters. It was the last hope to prevent American troops from arriving in France. Had it succeeded it would have been a real blow below the belt. Its purpose was to destroy the entire convoy of troop ships from America near the entrance to a French port.

A Great Gamble.
In addition to taking the toll of lives, it was designed to block the harbor and thus square accounts for what the British Navy accomplished at Zebruge and Ostend.

The boats assigned to the task did not lurk far out. Seizing the rare chance for a thrust in the dark, they crept inland to a point where it was believed convoys must pass. Then with torpedoes and mines they waited to sink every big ship before the destroyer escort had time to act. It was a great gamble for great stakes, worth playing for, though the submarine officers knew they would be lost even in winning it.

The biggest ships, particularly those of convoy which were marked for destruction, belonged to Germany in 1914. The silent navy that outwitted the submarines and then destroyed them considers it only as an episode in a day's work.

More Sinkings.

A Canadian Atlantic Port, Aug. 23.—It is reported here that the Gloucester fishing schooner A. P. Andrews and Francis O'Hara have been torpedoed.

Crew Rescued.

Steamer Gone.

PRINCE ARTHUR OF CONNAUGHT CAPTURED ST. JOHN YESTERDAY

Representative of British Royalty Accorded a Right Royal Reception—Streets Gaily Decorated and Crowds Lined Route of Procession From Union Depot To King Square.

Formal Address Presented From Province of New Brunswick and Appropriate Reply From His Royal Highness—Visit To Military Hospital—The Lieutenant Governor's Reception and Garden Party.

Prince Arthur of Connaught captured St. John yesterday afternoon. The people of the Loyalist City were interested in the Royal visitor even before his arrival. The fact that he was the son of a former Governor General, grandson of Queen Victoria and first cousin to His Gracious Majesty King George of England was sufficient to cause eager crowds to line the streets to catch if only a partial glimpse of the city's distinguished guest.

Those who had the honor of meeting His Royal Highness were delighted with his kindly courtesy, his winning smile and his general democratic bearing. He chatted, when opportunity offered, with those around him and throughout demonstrated that General Alderson's description of him as "a good fellow" was well merited.

And at that it is but fair to say that many hundreds of the spectators who lined the flag decked streets were disappointed. The Prince was not announced but in the procession to the Square occupied a car with Major General Lesard, Brigadier General Macdonnell and other military dignitaries, with the result that many missed seeing him. In fact he was not as easily recognizable as some members of the Provincial Government. In this connection there was an amusing mistake on Mill street just as the party reached the corner of North street. Following the car containing Mayor Hayes and the civic representatives came a second car the occupants of which were Premier Foster and Hon. Dr. E. A. Smith, Minister of Lands and Mines. Now Dr. Smith is an imposing figure at any time and as he occupied the car with the Premier and there was a general impression that the Provincial Government were the hosts for the day, many on the sidewalk jumped to the conclusion that the distinguished looking gentleman seated so easily and comfortably beside the Premier was the guest of honor and waved frantically in his direction.

Elsewhere along the route of procession many curious glances were cast in the direction of the good looking Westmorland representative which as a matter of fact, were not intended for him.

Citizens did themselves proud in the way of decorating their places of business. King and Charlotte streets were masses of color, while the decorative scheme in King Square was well worked out. There was not as much cheering and applause along the streets as one would expect; the crowd was too busy looking and as the autos moved at a good rate of speed and there was nothing to distinguish the Prince's car, the Royal visitor passed many citizens before they were able to identify him—and then it was too late to cheer.

On King Square, however, it was a different story. As the Prince mounted the stand to receive the Provincial address he was greeted with a round full throated hurrah, a hearty and sincere tribute of respect for the man and affection for the representative of British Majesty and Dominion. The proceedings on the Square passed with a hitch; the address from the Province was not too long and covered the ground well while the reply from the Prince was of the conventional character, and was also brief.

From the Square the party proceeded to the Military Hospital where Prince Arthur displayed a lively and sympathetic interest in the patients and staff and complimented the staff upon the appearance of the institution and the visible evidence of efficient management.

Lieutenant Governor Pugaie's reception and garden party at Rothesay was a delightful function, devoid of the stiffness and restraint often a tiresome feature of such affairs. The only touch of officialdom was the formal presentation to the Prince and staff. The Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Pugaie proved charming hosts and the guests enjoyed the afternoon to the full.

After the reception the Prince and party entrained at Rothesay and continued their journey, having made an excellent impression upon the people of St. John and it is to be hoped carrying with them a pleasant recollection of St. John and its people.

London, Aug. 23.—That the United States helped India this year over one of the most serious financial currency crises in the history of the British Empire, was a statement made today to The Associated Press by Sir James Meeson, financial member of the viceroy's council.

"Probably few people in America," he said, "realize how vitally important to India and to India's share in the war was the legislation passed in Washington releasing large quantities of silver for use in alleviating the currency situation there. For this action, India, as well as the British Empire and the Allies, owe a debt of gratitude to the United States which is hard to overestimate. This act of the United States has stabilized the whole currency situation in India, and came just in the nick of time, when things looked very critical."

ONE OF GREATEST BATTLES OF THE WAR DEVELOPS

DISASTER THREATENS THE GERMAN ARMY IN PICARDY

Enemy Throws Great Masses of Men Into the Struggle in Hope of Checking Terrific British and French Drive—British Capture More Villages—French Still Menace Important Towns of Roye and Noyon.

Along the front in northern Picardy a battle which seems to be one of the greatest of the war has developed. Disaster is reported to be threatening the whole German army on this front and the Germans are throwing great masses of men into the struggle, in the hope of checking the tide of battle, which despatches from British headquarters say, is setting against them.

From the north of the battle line at Boiry-Becquerelle, Boyelles and Gommiecourt, come tidings of a British advance. Meaulte, near Albert, has been wrested from the Germans. Happy Valley, south of Meaulte and north of Bray, has also been taken by the British, it is reported.

South of the Somme the towns of Chuignolles and Herleville are said to have been captured from the enemy.

Villages Captured.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 23.—(By The Associated Press)—British troops are reported to have captured Chuignolles and Herleville, south of the Somme. More than 1,000 prisoners were taken in this operation which eliminates the bend in the line.

Field Marshal Haig's forces are also reported to have taken Boyelles and Boiry-Becquerelle, and to be still pushing forward. They are piling up prisoners and guns.

The British have reached Gommiecourt, which is considered the chief point of the German defence positions. South of Gommiecourt the British were attacking and pushing forward all along the line.

A battle has developed which seems to be one of the greatest of the war. The town of Meaulte, southeast of Albert, fell early in the British drive. The British troops pressing on here are crossing the Bray-Albert road.

Happy Valley, to the north of Bray, was taken by Field Marshal Haig's troops after hard fighting. Three German battalion headquarters have been taken in the locality of Happy Valley. Additional guns also have fallen into the hands of the British.

Several fresh German divisions have been identified. They were rushed up in the hope of saving something from the disaster which threatened the whole German army on this front.

British Statement.—London, Aug. 23.—A battle is being fought on the line between Lihons, south of the Somme, to the Cogeul River, to the south of Arras, a front of more than twenty-five miles, according to today's war office statement.

The British troops are making progress at several points. The statement adds that two enemy attacks east of Beaucourt were repulsed during the night.

On the Lys front the British line was slightly advanced. At Le Touret, northwest of Neuf Berquin and east of Outtersteen.

French Progress.—Paris, Aug. 23.—Between the Oise and the Aisne French troops advanced their line during the night to Gony and Pont St. Mand, just south of the Ailette River. They hold the

TYPHUS MENACE TO THE GERMANS

Disease Serious in Section of Rumania Occupied By Them—Many Deaths.

Paris, Aug. 10. (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Typhus has again broken out in Rumania, particularly in the part occupied by the Germans, and there has been a large number of deaths. The victims are mostly poor Rumanian peasants, and little effort is made by the German medical authorities to combat the disease. There is a serious shortage of food, and those who do not die of typhus usually succumb to starvation. The Moldavian section of Rumania is practically free from the epidemic. This information was conveyed to The Associated Press today by Herbert Mayer, Secretary to Charles J. Vopicka, American Minister at Jassy, who has just returned from Rumania via Austria and Switzerland.

According to Mr. Mayer, an American physician, Dr. Brockbridge Bayne of Washington, D. C., who was in Bucharest for nearly two years during the German occupation and who is now on his way to the United States, was the only one who had the courage to go into the infected areas in Wallachia and fight the disease. Dr. Bayne usually was accompanied by two or three German physicians, who pretended to represent the German sanitary department, and who would force him to enter the infected houses and bring out the patients for inspection. There had been several deaths among the German physicians from the disease, and as a result all German doctors had an intense dread of it. They refused flatly to minister to the sick or dying.

This work was done by Dr. Bayne, whose humanity from the malady was a constant source of mystery to the Hun physicians. Dr. Bayne, who treated all forms of contagion, would go into the little mud hovels of the peasants and carry the patients out for observation by the German medical officers. The Germans would look the cases over curiously and then declare, "Yes, that is typhus; take the patient back, an dput up a notice in red, 'He who enters here dies.'"

Dr. Bayne would give the unfortunate patient the treatment he could, but he knew it would be only temporary. The Germans showed the most callous disregard for human life, and the strikes in instances of this kind would be left either to succumb to typhus or to die from starvation.

For his heroic and unselfish work among the people in the Rumanian villages, Dr. Bayne received before he left the highest decoration within the gift of the King of Rumania and was everywhere regarded as one of the saviors of the people. Even the hard-hearted Mackensen, the German Field-Marshal, showed him special recognition and sent him cigars and other favors while in Bucharest.

PLUNKETT'S HOME RULE PLAN FAILS

Advocated Another Party in Ireland, But Suggestion Not Well Received.

Dublin, Aug. 10.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Sir Horace Plunkett, Chairman of the Irish Convention, has published a series of articles in the Irish newspapers with the object of inducing the Government to pass at once a Home Rule Act for Ireland upon the lines of the majority report of the Convention.

Pending the putting into operation of the Act, he suggested the establishment of a purely Irish Executive, composed of men of all parties, and responsible either to the Irish Convention which has not been formally dissolved, or to the Imperial Parliament. He appealed for the formation of a middle party in Ireland of moderate views.

Sir Horace's plan was not received with favor by any section. The Freeman's Journal representing the Irish Party objected to the formation of another Irish party on the ground that Ireland has parties enough and that its difficulties are "caused as much by internal dissensions as by external bores."

John Sweetman, for many years a leading member of the Sinn Fein Party, and one of the few wealthy men in its ranks, wrote to say: "I cannot agree that England can now settle the future government of Ireland. She must now govern Ireland despotically till the Peace Conference, and it would be for her benefit to govern us with a little common sense."

This view that nothing can be done about Home Rule till the end of the war is also the view of the Unionists, and William Jellicoe, the most active of the irredemmed Southern Unionists, has put forward his opinion as to the immediate government of Ireland in much the same sense as John Sweetman.

Dublin, Aug. 10.—The Sinn Feiners in Ireland are most actively opposed by the Inland Order of Hibernians, and the conflict has sometimes led to serious incidents. At the Donegal Assizes the judge granted £100 compensation for the malicious burning of the Lettermore A. O. H. hall.

The judge ordered the compensation to be levied of a district in which the Sinn Fein residents predominated, and the Sinn Fein ratepayers have now notified the County Council that they will not pay the rate.

One Man in a Hundred

100 THE American Bankers' Association has compiled the following interesting figures:

One man in a hundred average healthy men, at age 25—when he reaches age 65, is wealthy.

Only four in a hundred are "well-to-do".

By means of endowment life insurance a man can provide for his comfort, at least, in old age and at the same time provide for his family in the event of his death, should he himself not attain an advanced age.

The endowment policy is payable to the beneficiary in the event of the assured dying before he reaches a certain age, but he receives the money himself should he reach the specified age—say, 55, 60 or 65.

Thus a Mutual Life Insurance Policy provides a guarantee upon which your dependents can rely for their maintenance in the event of your death—and upon which you can rely should you attain old age.

There is a particular Mutual Policy—straight life, 20-year term of the endowment described above—suited to your income and requirements.

Write for literature explaining Mutual Policies on other plans. It will be furnished without obligation on your part.

FLICKERS ARE NOT NEEDED TO MAKE GOOD NURSES

So Says Mrs. Higbee, Chief of the Navy Nurse Corps—Must Know How to Handle Surgical Cases, "Mother" Kiddles and Possess Inexhaustible Patience But "Movie Queen" Beauty Is Not Essential.

The romantic young girl, untrained but thrilled with the desire for government hospital service, has learned that smiles and a sweet disposition alone are not so necessary to the conservation of the lives of "our boys" as a sound knowledge of anatomy, the ability to recognize symptoms and an understanding of dietetics, according to Mrs. L. S. Higbee, Chief of the Navy Nurse Corps at Washington, D. C.

Her Work Limitless. "One might consider that the invalid sailor is the sole responsibility of the member of the Navy Nurse Corps. No, indeed, her work is limitless. She must be prepared to 'mother' the little native urchins on the tropical islands of the Pacific Ocean and also to 'mother' the parents, who are nothing more than children of large stature. She must be a trained executive, able to instruct the sailors assigned to the Navy Hospital Corps. Inexhaustible patience and tact are the problems of a nurse in the Navy Nurse Corps.

CAPABLE WOMEN

Mount Dora, in Florida, has a female War Department. It has twenty-five women mail carriers. England has nearly one million female clerks. Women in France are prohibited from buying tobacco. Former Empress Eugenie is now past ninety-two years of age.

Women workers have proved successful in every occupation except as street car conductors in Berlin, it being claimed that they are extremely ineffectual to passengers. Sent out by Miss Lena Ashwell's "Concerts at the Front" organization to Egypt in September 1916, a party has been entertaining the troops ever since, and is now in Palestine. The soprano and the violinist have got married.

New York city has more than 4,000 women barbers and hair dressers. Female school teachers of Tulane county, Louisiana, have entered a Kansas City now has conductresses on its trolley cars. In some parts of West Virginia women are employed as coal miners.

Women in England have entered almost every trade except carpentry. Giving evidence in the Prize Court in England, a lady informed the President that she was a member of the French Women's Seagull Club. While France boasts many women fliers, Mme. Decoree will be the first to enter the flying service of her country since the beginning of the war.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

To save coal in winter burn your tin cans in the furnace. Two or three cans burned each day will aid in keeping soot out of the flue. Reduce the gas bill by using a little gas in lighting the gas. Hold the lighted match to the burner, then very slowly turn on the gas. If gas is turned on full force before applying the match a slight explosion ensues, which affects the meter and sends gas forward rapidly. In an emergency a much needed ice bag was made at home by placing crooked ice in a rubber bathing cap and fastening securely, with rubber bands, around a cork. Pin a towel to your belt when you bake or cook. It saves many steps. Bread will rise quicker and lighter by warming a thick cushion and slipping it under the pan. Keep melted meat fats in a small pitcher, with an inch wide brush to grease cake and bread tins with. If the time stopping to wash the hands after greasing the tins with a paper. A red bandanna handkerchief makes a good dust cloth for the kitchen. It prevents the wear and tear given by the ordinary stick or beater. When making blue water on washing, it is best to use a dash of soda in hot water; this will prevent the blue from making stain marks on the clothes.

WITH THE CROCHET HOOK

The woman who is bored by the oft-recurring occupation of stocking darn, yet who likes to crochet, can combine duty with pleasure by crocheting stocking rents instead of painstakingly weaving a darned needle in and out, in and out, across gaping holes. Use a fine crochet hook and soft split worsted. Go all around the rent first and then with a single crochet stitch work inward toward the centre of the hole, filling in the aperture with the crocheted stitches. This is practicable only when the hole is a large one in the heel or instep of the stocking, but it is a quick method of mending badly worn hose. Crochet hook and cotton may be employed to mend the toes of union suits when the ribbon beading has given out. This beading is usually the first thing to go in women's vests and union garments because of the constant tugging and straining of the ribbon and the strain on the beading in getting the garment on and off. When the stitches have begun to give way so that the ribbon will not hold, mend it with a single crochet stitch and the unbroken beading that remains, and then with a double or triple crochet stitch. By means of two spelling errors, an eighty-year-old schoolboy has recently invented a new phrase in the character of a deservedly unpopular monosyllable. He wrote, "William Rufus had a new forest 'msid.' If anybody was found looking at his 'dear,' Rufus had his eyes put out."

INTERNATIONAL SUGAR COMMISSION KNOWS WHAT SUPPLY IS AVAILABLE AND HAS ESTIMATED NORMAL DEMAND WHICH IS GREATLY IN EXCESS OF COMMODITY AVAILABLE—FACTS AND FIGURES BY CANADA'S WIDEAWAKE FOOD BOARD.

Conservation of sugar has been one of the most urgent concerns of the Canada Food Board. Circumstances have conspired to considerably alter the situation as regards sugar, from that which obtained earlier in the war. In allied countries are reduced to a very low scale of sugar consumption. This scale may be compared by noting the figures of normal consumption, which runs at about 90 pounds per annum or about 1.34 lbs. per week per head of population. In the United Kingdom the weekly ration of sugar is now 8 ounces per head of population, or at the rate of 26 pounds per year. In France 4.1-10 ounces weekly, or about 13.5 pounds per year, and in Italy still less, having lately been reduced to 2.14 ounces or under 7.13 pounds per year. Under the circumstances which have lately arisen, the Canada Food Board has issued an urgent request that Canadians reduce their daily allowance of sugar for personal use to 1.14 pounds per month per person.

The reasons for the necessity for greater conservation of sugar in Canada are not one but several. The sugar supplies for the Allied countries, including Canada, are controlled by the International Sugar Commission with headquarters at New York. Early in the year, after a survey of the available sources of supply, it was expected that with the maturity of the Cuban crop little or no reduction in the allotment of sugar to Canada would be necessary. The great difficulty at that time was caused by lack of sufficient ships to transport sugar. The movement of American troops across the Atlantic and their supplies, in addition to the regular war-time traffic between this continent and Europe had caused a great pressure on every available European port. Great Britain, had to a great extent, before the war, relied upon the raw sugar supplied by Java and upon beet sugar from Europe. The balance of the world's crop on hand and the requirements of the Allies. This survey shows that a reduction will be necessary of some 40 per cent. of the normal consumption of normal which, however, will leave us with a much higher allowance than the average ration imposed upon the populations of Allied countries in Europe.

Added to the complications which make conservation of sugar imperative must be listed the disappointing beet yield from the United States and a reduced yield from the sugar plantations of Louisiana which ordinarily supplement the raw sugar the United States imports from the West Indies. There has been a further demand from Europe, caused by a loss of sugar beets in the acreage of Belgium, which was the source of the first sugar beet crop in the United States. The destruction of many sugar factories in both France and Italy has added to the dependence of these countries upon America. The balance of the world's crop on hand and the requirements of the Allies. This survey shows that a reduction will be necessary of some 40 per cent. of the normal consumption of normal which, however, will leave us with a much higher allowance than the average ration imposed upon the populations of Allied countries in Europe.

Sugar regulations in Canada are, therefore, it is announced, to be strictly enforced by the Canada Food Board. Similar regulations and restrictions are imposed in the United States. The two countries are co-operating closely so far as the distribution of sugar is concerned. To control the consumption of sugar and to conserve as much as possible, it is deemed most advisable to issue regulations for public eating places covering the amount of sugar which might there be served. In the connection it is pointed out that not more than two teaspoonful of sugar, or an equal weight, should be served to any one person at any one meal, and that unless sugar was specifically asked for, it should not be served.

LIFT OFF CORNS DOESN'T HURT!

Few drops stop soreness, then corn or callus lifts off with fingers. The world owes thanks to the genius in Cincinnati who discovered frezone. Tiny bottles of the magic fluid can now be had at any drug store for a few cents. You simply apply a few drops of frezone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callus, and in a few minutes the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose and shriveled that you lift it off with the fingers. Not a bit of pain or soreness is felt when applying frezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin or flesh. For a few cents one can now get rid of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, as well as painful calluses on bottom of feet. Everyone who tries frezone becomes an enthusiast because it really doesn't hurt or pain one particle. Ladies! Keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn or callus ache twice.

CANADIAN RED CROSS

Lady Tilley, organizing president of the Canadian Red Cross Society received a copy of a cable from Capt. Law, assistant commissioner, France, in which he reports the advance stores were moved with the corps to the new battle front, near the first main dressing station. The severe fighting of the last few weeks and the consequent number of casualties among our forces make us realize how great must be the demand upon the stores of the Red Cross, and it is a source of the greatest satisfaction to know that our Canadian Red Cross has been able to meet every request for supplies without a moment's delay. It also should make every person realize how great is our duty at home to see that supplies never cease to go forward in abundant quantities, and that it is not only a duty but very great privilege as well to do our part to help in this wonderful work of mercy.

"We are fighting for a worthy purpose, and we shall not lay down our arms until that purpose has been fully achieved."—H. M. The King.
TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EMPIRE—Every fighting unit we can send to the front means one step nearer peace.

THE WAR NEWS.

The greater portion of the western battle front is again ablaze and British and French troops are treating the enemy to what an Associated Press correspondent refers as "the most disastrous defeat the Germans have yet met." The American forces, on the Vesle River, do not appear to have been heavily engaged yesterday, the brunt of the work falling to the British, Australians and New Zealanders; nor is definite mention made of Canadian participation in the major battle.

From a point some fifty miles north of Soissons up to and well beyond Albert yesterday saw continuous fighting. The casualties inflicted upon the enemy divisions under the immediate command of Rupprecht of Bavaria were among the heaviest of the present offensive, despatches instancing at least one case where an entire German battalion was wiped out of existence by the terrible pounding of the British guns. Every man in that battalion is reported to have been killed and there are other instances where the toll was almost as heavy. Many thousands of prisoners have been taken and frequent cases of wholesale enemy surrender have been noted.

One British army operating southeast of Albert advanced to a depth of two miles on a front of at least six miles, while another gained three miles on a ten mile front and reached a point two and one half miles from Bapaume, which town will be the next to fall. The town of Roye has been reduced to debris and it is believed the German defenders are casualties. The Allies have not yet occupied the town itself as there is practically nothing left to occupy but the surrounding positions have all been taken and Roye itself rendered untenable.

Meanwhile, on the Oise, the French were making splendid progress. They reconquered Noyon and the fall of that centre is hourly expected. Further south General Mangin has executed a brilliant success in the vicinity of Chemins des Dames, and now seriously threatens the whole enemy force in that area.

The fighting is growing in intensity as the enemy, frantically striving to avert complete disaster, is hurling thousands of men into the vortex of death and destruction, but the effort seems to be fruitless as the Allies' superiority in men and gun power are sweeping all before them and the Kaiser's finest troops cannot withstand the shock.

In many places the Allies now face what is believed to be the main German battle positions where the Hun hosts are expected to make their most stubborn stand. As yet the battle has not developed to its peak and the next few days will, it is believed, witness fighting as heavy as in any in the whole war to date.

Altogether the news from the western front is so good as to lead to the opinion that the end of the conflict may be much nearer at hand than was thought possible prior to the commencement of the latest thrust. Each now has the force to carry the line of battle about where he pleases. In the actual front lines it is believed the Germans are heavily outnumbered while thousands upon thousands of reserve troops are in readiness to rush in and complete the victory as soon as a weak point presents itself. For the enemy the closing week of August is certain to prove a period of dire disaster.

INEPT CAMOUFLAGE.

The Times seizes with avidity upon some remarks of the Toronto Globe, made in connection with the recent bye-elections in Ontario, and uses them as the foundation of an infernal defence of the action of the Foster government in refusing to give the voters of Carleton County an opportunity to express their views as to the selection of a representative for the vacant seat in that constituency.

Commenting upon the success of the Hearst Government candidates in the Ontario bye-elections the Toronto Globe says:

"There is but one issue at present for the vast majority of Canadians—the issue of the war. The voting yesterday should go far to convince parties and politicians that the citizen electors, men and women, recognize that they have something much more important than politics to deal with at the present time, and that there is no general public demand for unnecessary war-time elections."

The Globe may accurately represent the conditions and the sentiments of Ontario, but the case set up there can hardly be stretched to meet conditions in Carleton County, where the only people who do not want an election are ardent Fosterite supporters who realize that a polling would give the Opposition party one more member on the floors of the Legislature, and last session the standing of the two parties was so close as to make it almost uncomfortable for the administration.

Carleton County has been robbed of a part of its legitimate representation for 47 days and Premier Foster has given no reason or no excuse for the injustice. It is true that last week he did make a statement to the St. John Globe to the effect that people had something to take up their attention other than local politics, but he made this excuse applicable to a general election. An election in Carleton County would not hamper the war effort of the people of the province, or even of that county, but an election here now would not give the government party workers an opportunity to play on race prejudice and passion as they did in the last contest. They could not say now, as they did say in February, 1917, that "a vote for the Murray Government meant a vote for compulsory military service." The Murray Government was defeated in that election and compulsory military service came just the same. Therefore the people cannot be fooled with the same story a second time. And Carleton County is not a particularly healthy spot in which to attempt such a canvass.

There is no reason why the Carleton vacancy should continue, except it be that the government fears the verdict of the people. The Ontario case is not a parallel, and it is not even apparent, the Toronto Globe to the contrary, that Ontario's war effort will suffer because it was necessary to send two members of the Hearst Government back to the electors for ratification. The people of that province will probably subscribe just as liberally to war funds and buy just as many Victory bonds as if no election had been held. And as far as recruiting is concerned the advent of the Military Service Act rendered it unnecessary to attempt to stimulate interest in that direction.

The real fact of the matter in Carleton County is that if the government's scouts in that constituency had been able to assure themselves that their party would have a chance of success in a bye-election, the election would have been held, war or no war. Premier Foster will not dare to attempt to tell the people of that county that the continuance of the war is the only reason he does not give them their just due. And the Times, calloused prevaricator though it is, will do no more than try to apply by inference the Ontario case to Carleton. Carleton County remains without its representative and members of the government and even the Times are discreetly silent as to the real reason. To attempt to draw a parallel from Ontario is merely inept camouflage.

SOLDIERS OF THE SOIL.

Those lads who yesterday received official recognition for their work as "Soldiers of the Soil" are to be warmly congratulated upon possessing the spirit that prompted them to spend their vacation period in assisting the movement for greater production. The news of the past few weeks indicates with fair certainty that so far as this war is concerned the military crisis has passed. But the food crisis is still with us and will continue at least until next year's harvest.

It must be remembered that even should the war end this fall it will be many months before the men engaged are released from military service and returned to their former occupations. Many more months must elapse before the food situation of the world can again reach pre-war conditions. Conservation and production will be necessary next year possibly to a greater extent than this year and in this situation the Soldiers of the Soil movement, so auspiciously launched this season, should be developed to even greater effectiveness.

All honor to the lads who exchanged their school vacations for the more arduous tasks of farm or garden labor. To them the country owes a debt and while all have not been officially recognized by the presentation of visible decorations, yet all have the benefit that comes from a summer spent in the open air engaged in useful health giving occupation. And they have the added satisfaction of knowing that in the limit of their abilities they have "done their bit."

Hon. Dr. Smith of Westmorland is known to his friends as a prince of good fellows but yesterday he was mistaken by many citizens for a Prince of the Blood Royal. That is what comes of possessing a distinguished appearance as well as the ability to wear a still hat and make it look as if it belonged where it was put.

Prince Arthur of Connaught made a good impression on St. John folk yesterday. Drop in again, Prince, any time you are passing; we shall always be glad to see you.

Generally speaking the "lites" on view yesterday were a cut above those seen in St. John streets on other occasions.

It is announced by the Bohemian that Grand Duke Paul, an uncle of the deceased Czar, is under arrest. According to Bohemian precedent all that is lacking now is the firing squad.

The latest report is that German orators are planning an "oratorical offensive." Offensive is absolutely the correct word.

IN THE EDITOR'S MAIL.

"SOMETHING TO REMEMBER"

To the Editor of The Standard, Sir: I was much interested in an editorial that appeared in your issue of August 12th, under the title of "Something to Remember." As a Canadian born who has lived over twenty-eight years in the United States, I can very readily understand the feeling that must exist among the people of Canada who understand this country, as you so aptly put it, thoughtlessly express themselves as fancying that the Canadians are not exerting efforts to the best their ability in this great and devastating war. I also realize that it is very hard for the Canadian who has not spent many years in the United States to understand the feeling that must exist among the people of Canada who understand this country, as you so aptly put it, thoughtlessly express themselves as fancying that the Canadians are not exerting efforts to the best their ability in this great and devastating war.

NOT SO BAD. "That wasn't a bad epigram on the magistrate's part," said the somewhat educated tramp who had been convicted of vagrancy. "What did he say?" asked the tramp's pal. "Seven days," was the reply. "That isn't no epigram, is it?" "I'm sure it is. I asked a person once what an epigram was, and he says—it's a short sentence that counts light but gives you plenty to think about."

PILING IT ON. Deduce—that man called me a liar, a cad, a scoundrel and a puppy. Would you advise me to fight for that? Old Blunt—By all means. There's nothing nobler in this world, young man, than fighting for the truth.

Knights of Columbus to Make Dominion-Wide Appeal Fixed For Week Commencing September 15th. In Urgent Need of $500,000.00 for its War Relief Work.

Ottawa, Aug. 22—It has been officially announced by the Canadian Order of the Knights of Columbus will make a Canada-wide appeal for financial assistance in erecting and supplying army bunks and chapels for the boys in England and France.

The extensive work of this order in the past necessitates this move, and it is hoped that every big-hearted, loyal Canadian will contribute to the success of this worthy cause.

Last year under the direction of Mr. J. L. Murray, State Deputy of the Province of Ontario, $80,000 was collected in that province alone for this work, which has grown in unprecedented magnitude. This has made the Dominion-wide appeal imperative to carry on this splendid and noble work.

The effect of the morale the Knights of Columbus is bringing to our brave fighting men in France and England, from the contributions received from those who cannot fight, is heartily recognized.

The organizing force is working at top speed and everything seems to be well in hand to make the week of September 15th successful. Announcements urging the necessity of the appeal will be made shortly.

NEED SOLDIERS TWO WEEKS LONGER

Andover, Aug. 22—It is expected that owing to the need of farm help in this county as well as in other sections of the province, the government will be asked to extend the leave of absence granted to the farmer for a period of two weeks. It is stated that with the digging of potatoes the man will be very much needed on the farm. It is practically impossible to obtain help of any kind and there are many cases where the farmer on the farm is an adult physically strong enough to attend to the duties of farming.

The boys who are now enjoying leave of absence are working day and night to accomplish as much work as possible before their leave expires, but in many cases it will cause considerable loss to the crops if the leave be not extended. The young men, back from Camp Sussex speak very highly of the manner in which they are treated in camp and although some of the boys were in Sussex but a short time all appear anxious to go back. All state that they like Lieut.-Colonel McAvity very much and are loud in their praise of the veteran leader of the 56th Battalion.

New York, Aug. 22—Another advance in Liberty 3 1/2's bonds to the level where they commanded a premium of 2 1/2 per cent, was the only feature of more than passing interest on the stock exchange today.

THE BEST QUALITY AT A REASONABLE PRICE Making It Easy For Your Eyes

Defective eyes have to work harder to see. Usually vision isn't as good as it would be if properly fitted glasses were worn. Eye-strain exists, and unless it is removed permanent injury to sight will follow. Glasses help the overworked eyes. They bring normal vision and protect sight. There are very few perfect eyes. Often strain is present when it is not suspected. The sensible thing is to have us examine your eyes. Then you will know exactly what should be done.

At the Depot.
Arriving at the Union Depot the Prince at once inspected the guard of honor which, under the command of Captain J. E. Thomson, lined up on either side of the main hall in the station, and which tendered the royal salute to His Royal Highness. The staff officers present included: Major-General Leppard, C. B., Brigadier-General Macdonell, Lieut-Colonel A. H. Powell and Major C. J. Willis. The party then proceeded by automobile to King Square and on alighting the royal guest was given the royal salute by the guard of honor. Among those on the stage to welcome the guest of honor were: His Honor Lieut-Gov. Pugsley, Premier Foster, Hon. F. B. Carvell, Minister of Public Works, Mayor Hayes, Commissioners Bullock, Hilyard and Fisher, Brigadier-General Macdonell, Lieut-Col. Powell, Lieut-Col. McAvity, Senator W. H. Thorne, Senator Poirier, Senator McSweeney, Hon. Dr. Roberts, Hon. E. A. Smith, Hon. C. W. Robinson, Dr. J. Roy Campbell, M. L. A., L. P. D. Tilley, M. L. A., F. L. Potts, M. L. A., J. E. Hetherington, M. L. A., D. W. Messerian, M. L. A., Sheriff Wilson, Hon. Joseph Wood, H. S. Culver, Judge Armstrong, Chief Justice Sir J. Douglas Hazen, Chief Justice McKeown, Magistrate Ritchie, W. B. Snowball, C. B. Lockhart, R. W. Wigmore, M. P., S. E. Elkin, M. P., A. H. Wetmore, and others.

The Provincial Address.
Premier Foster presented on behalf of the province the following address to Prince Arthur:
To His Royal Highness Prince Arthur Frederick Patrick Albert, Prince of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Thistle, one of His Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian Order, Companion of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, May it please Your Royal Highness:
It is with sincere pleasure that the Government of New Brunswick, on behalf of the people of the province avail themselves of the opportunity of welcoming you among them, and of expressing their hearty appreciation of the compliment which you pay to their province by including a visit to it in your present tour.
We are glad to welcome you, not only for your own sake, and as the special representative of His Most Gracious Majesty the King, by whom you have been entrusted with an important mission to the Empire, but also as the son of your illustrious father, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, who, in common with the other members of your family so endeared themselves to our province, to meet our people, to observe our industries and to have an opportunity of looking into and realizing the many opportunities for enjoyment afforded to visitors, neverthe less venture to hope that in the near future you will be able to visit us again, accompanied if possible by Her Royal Highness Princess Alexandra, and that your stay may be much more extended.

Another reason why we are especially glad to welcome you is because of your connection with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, whose exploits have made Canada's name resound throughout the entire world. New Brunswick is with one exception, the smallest of all the provinces of Canada, and with a comparatively sparse population, yet she has contributed no less than twenty-five thousand men to the service of the Empire, of whom a considerable number have loyally laid down their lives for the cause. Those of us who have remained at home are not unmindful of our duties and we trust in our efforts to increase the production of food stuffs, and the manufacture of munitions of war, as well as our contributions to the Red Cross and other patriotic organizations, have been and will continue to be, instrumental in alleviating to some extent, at least, the distress which the war has brought about.
In conclusion we would respectfully ask you to convey to Our Most Gracious Sovereign the expression of our loyal and dutiful devotion to his person and the Empire of which he is the head, and to assure him that no effort on our part, however small, will be spared, and no service evaded, that will tend to assist in bringing about Prince Arthur, which were heartily given by the large crowd assembled.
On behalf of the Executive Council of the Province of New Brunswick,
W. E. FOSTER,
Prime Minister,
Fredericton, August, 1918.

The Prince's Reply.
In reply the Prince said:
You were kind enough to mention my connection with the Canadian corps on the staff of which it has been my privilege to serve. I shall always esteem it an honor to have been connected with the Canadian corps and to have witnessed those services which they have rendered to the Empire in the cause for justice and liberty.
I need hardly add that the work of the Canadian women both in Europe and in Canada is no less appreciated than that of the men serving in the Canadian forces. I learn with pleasure that the effort made to increase production of foodstuffs and munitions of war has met with so great a measure of success.
You may rest assured that I will not fail to convey to His Majesty the King your expression of loyalty to his throne and person and the unwavering determination of the people of this province in conjunction with those of the other provinces of the Dominion, to grant their support until this terrible war has been brought to a successful conclusion.
At the conclusion of the Prince's remarks Premier Foster called for three cheers for His Royal Highness and these were given with a right good will by the large crowd gathered on the square to any tribute to the dis-

Felt That He Would Never Walk Again
"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Relief.

MR. LORENZO LEDUC.
3 Ottawa St., Hull, P. Q.

"Fruit-a-tives" is certainly a wonder. For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism; being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine but without getting better; and thought I would never be able to walk again.
"One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.
The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly and every trace of the Rheumatism left me.
"I have every confidence in 'Fruit-a-tives' and strongly recommend them to every sufferer from Rheumatism."

On leaving the Military Hospital the party proceeded by automobile to the garden party and reception given by His Honor Lieut-Gov. Pugsley.
The Garden Party.
His Royal Highness on arriving at the Rothesay residence of His Honor the Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Pugsley, was met by them and escorted through the drawing rooms to the lawn, where the guests were received. The presentation was made by Mr. Robert S. Barker, official secretary to the Lieut. Governor. Nearly four hundred guests were present and the reception was informal, the Prince shaking hands with each guest and seeming particularly interested in the returned officers.
After the reception an hour was pleasantly spent on the lawn where refreshments were served in a large marquee. His Royal Highness left at 5.30, being escorted to the station by the Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Pugsley, the Premier and Mrs. Foster and others. As the train was about to leave the Lieut. Governor spoke briefly and called for three cheers for Prince Arthur, which were heartily given by the large crowd assembled.
The entertainment was a very delightful one in every particular and was greatly enjoyed. The beautiful grounds were bright with flowers and festoons of flags were strung among the trees. The tea tables were very prettily decorated with sweet peas.
Mrs. Pugsley wore a lovely gown of blue crepe de chine with embroidery of coral beads, she wore a collar of rose point lace, pointed fox fur and blue net hat with taupe ostrich feather banding.
In addition to the Prince and his staff, among the guests present were: Hon. W. E. Foster, Mrs. Foster, Miss Foster, Brigadier-General Macdonell, Hon. Joseph Wood, Major-General Leppard, Lieut. APPEAL DISMISSED BY THE COMMITTEE

Lancaster Assessment of $616,000 on C. P. R. Property in the Parish Will Stand.

At a special meeting of the Municipal Council assessment committee held yesterday morning, the appeal of the C. P. R. against the assessment on the company's property in Lancaster was dismissed. The valuation remains at $616,000.
The company opposed the assessment by the parish on a valuation of $189,000 on the Cantleiver Bridge and its approaches, against a valuation of $15,000 per mile on 20 miles of track in the parish and against a valuation of $100,000 for coal in Lancaster.
The C. P. R. collector presented figures in support of his contention, and stated that the cost of the railway was $100 per foot for laying and the total cost $9,535 per mile. The assessors' value for the railway is $15,000 per mile, including land and improvements. Mr. Jeffrey agreed that the value of the bridge and approaches should stand at $189,000.
At a previous meeting of the assessors' relief was granted from an assessment of $44,000 on rolling stock, and the C. P. R. is now not assessed on any rolling stock in Lancaster.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Special to The Standard
New Glasgow, Aug. 23 — Another shocking accident occurred yesterday near the Scotia Steel Works when Bruce Wiswell, a man about 60 years of age, was practically ground to pieces beneath the wheels of a train. Whether he attempted to board the train or stopped on the wrong track is not known. At any rate the driver felt some object and immediately applied the brakes. The unfortunate man was found under the first car with both feet almost completely severed. He was also badly torn and mangled about the thigh. He died soon after at the Aberdeen Hospital.

On leaving the Military Hospital the party proceeded by automobile to the garden party and reception given by His Honor Lieut-Gov. Pugsley.

The above are winners in the "Cap Stubbs" drawing contest for children submitted by the Standard a couple of weeks ago. In this contest a great many entries were received and the drawings on the whole were excellent, so that the matter of reaching a decision proved of some difficulty. There were more drawings of "Cap Stubbs" himself than of any other characters and the result indicates very creditable effort on the part of boys and girls.

Some of the competitors made the mistake of not following instructions, and their drawings were disqualified on this account, although none so disqualified would have been prize winners in any event. Some submitted drawings of more than one of the figures, while others failed to enclose the coupon.

Following are among those who sent in drawings worthy of mention:

Secret of the Pandora Magic

NO other range has a flue system just like that of the Pandora.
The flue system of the Pandora Range makes the almost magical efficiency of the Pandora oven—converts the heat in the range to do its maximum of work under the covers, in the oven, in the reservoir and in the warming closet.
The Pandora flue system is the secret of the Pandora baking efficiency, the Pandora fuel economy and the complete control which makes baking and cooking a pleasure and lightens all the other kitchen work.

Note how the Pandora flue system carries the heat to every part of the range, surrounding the oven in walls of heat under perfect control.
See how the heat passes the length and depth of the hot water reservoir.
Note how it passes under the six-hole top in a current which gives the Pandora five "boiling" holes.

TY COBB'S BATTING SYSTEM CAUSES HIS LATE START

Ty Cobb's batting system... He will not be 32 until December 18 of this year...

Cobb tells all about his views concerning himself in an interview in the September number of the Baseball Magazine...

He explains that in the spring it is becoming harder every year to coordinate mind, eye and muscle in the sport...

Another fact overlooked by the immense majority of athletes... Cobb's Three Reasons for Late Start...

Cobb summarizes the primary reasons for his late start as follows: First, he does not feel well at the beginning of the year...

BREAKDOWN OF CAMPFIRE DUE TO AUTOINTOXICATION

Richard T. Wilson, the well known breeder of the turf, has his own ideas on the breeding of horses...

"The general public never know how good a horse Campfire was," said Mr. Wilson in discussing the possibilities of the son of Olambaba and Nightfall as a sire...

"I have always had my own opinion concerning Campfire, and nothing will make me believe that he was not a sufferer from what we would call auto-intoxication in the human family...

"There are breeders in this country who have been prone to overlook the greatness of some of our American families while unduly exploiting the merits of others...

"Virgil spent many of his best years in obscurity; was used as a hack and buggy horse, being driven about the streets of New Orleans by the late Colonel R. W. Simmons...

FOOTBALL SEASON STARTS ON SEPT. 30

New Navy Players At Annapolis, Md., Are Minus Weight—Naval Academy First in Field For 1918.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 23.—The Naval Academy is first in the field of college football for 1918. Glimour Dobie was in Annapolis Thursday and looked over a big squad from the new entering class...

There are, perhaps, a dozen members of the class with sufficient weight and strength to be considered for the heavy line positions...

There are a number of players who have worked at end, and others with experience in that position, and also in the backfield...

Rawlings comes to the Academy with quite a reputation, having played quarter on the University of Cincinnati eleven and on the All-Cincinnati team...

Some dopester has dug up figures to prove that the greatest strike-out pitcher of all time was Hugh Daly, the one-armed twirler who shone around the early eighties...

Mike Brady, the Massachusetts champion, now in Frisco, will leave soon for San Pedro, Cal., there to join the Naval Reserve Officers Training School...

Cricket Hicks recollects when the boys used to go in heavy for art, but there was a picture of an actress with every package of cigarettes...

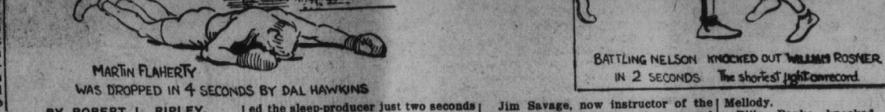

Joe Tinker, once famous leader of the Cubs, has celebrated the sixteenth anniversary of his major league debut, as it was on April 17, 1902...

After winning a pennant for the Windy City in the Federal League, Tinker came back to the National League as the pilot of the club with which he started in the big show...

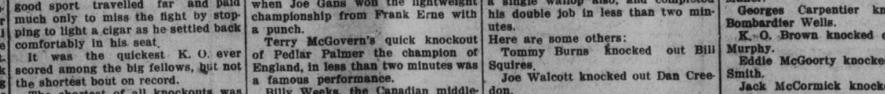

What's my best words to the boys in camp? Just this. Tell 'em they can't go wrong if they keep their feet warm an' their heads cool, their eyes open an' their mouths shut.

FULLON WAS KNOCKED OUT IN LESS THAN A HALF MINUTE—only 3 blows were struck.

MARTIN FLAHERTY WAS DROPPED IN 4 SECONDS BY DAL HAWKINS.

BATTILING NELSON KNOCKED OUT WILLIAM ROSNER IN 2 SECONDS. The shortest fight on record.

Jim Savage, now instructor of the Priars Club, holds the unique record of knocking out two men in the same ring the same night with one punch each...

Terry McGovern's quick knockout of Pedlar Palmer the champion of England, in less than two minutes was a famous performance.

John J. McGraw Will Take a Team To Play At American Centres in France.

Paris, Aug. 22.—It is announced that arrangements have been completed for bringing an all-star baseball team from the United States to play through the season at the American centres in France...

Johnny Evers, who recently arrived in Paris, has come to an agreement on the subject with Gowdy. The games will be played for the entertainment of American wounded.

Some dopester has dug up figures to prove that the greatest strike-out pitcher of all time was Hugh Daly, the one-armed twirler who shone around the early eighties.

Mike Brady, the Massachusetts champion, now in Frisco, will leave soon for San Pedro, Cal., there to join the Naval Reserve Officers Training School...

TY COBB'S BATTING SYSTEM

Ty Cobb's batting system... He will not be 32 until December 18 of this year...

Cobb tells all about his views concerning himself in an interview in the September number of the Baseball Magazine...

He explains that in the spring it is becoming harder every year to coordinate mind, eye and muscle in the sport...

Another fact overlooked by the immense majority of athletes... Cobb's Three Reasons for Late Start...

Cobb summarizes the primary reasons for his late start as follows: First, he does not feel well at the beginning of the year...

BREAKDOWN OF CAMPFIRE

Richard T. Wilson, the well known breeder of the turf, has his own ideas on the breeding of horses...

"The general public never know how good a horse Campfire was," said Mr. Wilson in discussing the possibilities of the son of Olambaba and Nightfall as a sire...

"I have always had my own opinion concerning Campfire, and nothing will make me believe that he was not a sufferer from what we would call auto-intoxication in the human family...

"There are breeders in this country who have been prone to overlook the greatness of some of our American families while unduly exploiting the merits of others...

"Virgil spent many of his best years in obscurity; was used as a hack and buggy horse, being driven about the streets of New Orleans by the late Colonel R. W. Simmons...

A SHORT INTEREST BUILT UP IN U. S. STEEL SHARES

Some of Professional Element Committed To Short Side Work For Reaction.

THE MARKET IS STOP LOSSED BOTH WAYS

New Haven Stock Should Be Bought on All Reactions Its Advice.

(McDOUGALL & COWANS.)

New York, Aug. 23.—There were reasons for believing that a short interest of considerable proportions has been built up in United States Steel in anticipation of a reaction of moderate extent during the next day or so prior to the selling "excitement" on Aug. 23th.

Important accumulation of United States Steel made on the set-back toward par in that stock, have not come upon the market to any large extent according to investigations made in well informed channels exceptionally placed for acquiring information in regard to the market position of United States Steel.

The market seems to be "stop loss" both ways in the leading active issues to a degree greater than seen for some time. This is especially noted in United States Steel, Reading, International Marine and American Sumatra.

While the market may be a little irregular on account of professional activities against prices, we believe good buying opportunities will be presented on moderate recessions and would give preference to equipments including Baldwin, Railway Steel Springs, Car Foundry and American Steel Foundry.

We don't believe stock exchange loans will come and the heading of non-essential, except as bearing on undue speculation. Liquid credit is distinctly essential in these times. It is bear talk.

BETHELEM STEEL STRONG IN P. M.

Market Faced By Conflicting Influences, Good War News and Tight Money.

(McDOUGALL & COWANS.)

New York, Aug. 23.—The rail list followed its upturn in the early afternoon with good effect upon the rest of the market which took on a broader character. Union Pacific, New York Central, Reading and Cincinnati and Ohio were favored as roads which had little to fear from the federal operating contract, but there were also advances in Rock Island, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio and St. Paul.

Hide and Leather Stocks Score New Maximums At 21 3-4 and 94 3-4.

(McDOUGALL & COWANS.)

New York, Aug. 23.—Assurances of a probable relaxation of money conditions in the near future and highly encouraging war advices were the dominant factors in today's stronger and broader stock market.

Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Reading and secondary coals were carried along in the advance of transportation at average gains of one point, some of the Southern lines improving similarly.

U. S. Steel was more active than at any recent session, retaining the greater part of its 1 1-4 point advance, independent issues of the same class scoring equal gains.

Hide and Leather common and preferred supplemented yesterday's material gains at the new maximums of 21 3-4 and 94 3-4, respectively, and Fertilizers had occasional periods of prominence at 1 to 2 point gains.

Marine preferred strengthened in the later dealings and the advances were made by motor subsidiaries, General Electric, New York Air Brake, Texas Company, Industrial Alcohol, and some of the Tobaccoes. Sales amounted to 32,000 shares.

There was a marked increase of demand for foreign bonds, especially French issues at fractional gains. Liberty 3 1-2's failed to repeat yesterday's new high record, but the 4 1-2's were more active and strong. Total sales, par value, aggregated $7,450,000.

Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

THE MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS
TALKS ON IMPORTANT MATTERS

Will Inspect Fort Dufferin and Courtenay Bay This Morning—No Extension of Negrotown Breakwater At Present—Dry Dock and Ship Repair Plant Work Starts Soon—Harbor Commission Would Be Good For All Concerned.

Hon. F. B. Carvell, minister of public works, arrived in the city yesterday and will spend today here, leaving for his home in Woodstock this evening. He is accompanied by Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Carvell will christen the "War Fundy" which is to be launched today from the yards of Grant & Horne.

When seen last night at the Royal Mr. Carvell said his trip was a holiday one, but while here he would look over things. This morning at low tide the minister will visit Fort Dufferin and Courtenay Bay to familiarize himself with conditions existing at these points.

Asked as to the possibility of the extension of the Negrotown breakwater to Partridge Island, Mr. Carvell said this could not be undertaken just at present, although he believed it should be done in the interests of the port.

In connection with the drydock and ship repair plant at Courtenay Bay he understood this work would be commenced in the very near future and when this dock was completed St. John would have one of the finest drydocks in the world.

Questioned about the shipbuilding plant Mr. Carvell said this was a matter for the city and the company to settle between themselves. The government were prepared to give a contract for two ships to any company which could establish the fact that it had the capital and was in a position to successfully engage in the building of ships, and he would give his support to any company which could measure up to the requirements.

The government were not bound to any concern, the field was wide open to all who wished to enter and all could be assured of a fair and impartial hearing from the cabinet.

In connection with harbor commission, Mr. Carvell said the matter would probably be taken up at once now that Hon. Mr. Ballantyne had returned home, but this again was a matter that was largely up to the city. The government were favorable to taking over the harbor, and he personally felt that it would be a good thing for all hands if the harbor were placed in commission.

He believed that with one owner of all the wharves shipping could be handled more expeditiously and more goods could be sent through the port. The city would be relieved of the inter-pressed burden caused by the building of the west side wharves and this would be a good thing for the taxpayers.

He stated most emphatically that if the harbor were placed in commission the citizens might rest assured that capable men would be selected as commissioners.

Sixty-Nine Boys Heard Addresses Yesterday Afternoon and Were Presented With Medals.

The sixty-nine boys from St. John district who enlisted in the greater production campaign were dedicated yesterday afternoon with the badge issued by the government to those who spent three months on the farms of the country helping the farmers to plant their crops and the badges were conferred by Brigadier-General Macdonell, O. C. military district No. 7. Before and after the ceremony music was supplied by the City Cornet band, and after the boys had been decorated, by request of Col. Powell they took their places with the veterans in the stand of New Brunswick. He urged His Royal Highness Prince Arthur of Connaught.

The boys met at the rooms of G. W. Y. A. and marched to King Square where they were drawn up in front of the stand. His Worship Mayor Hayes who acted as chairman, in few words stated the purpose of the gathering, which was to honor the boys who had done their bit by going to the farms and helping in the increased production campaign.

He then called on Premier Foster, who said it was a great pleasure to him to have the opportunity to honor the boys who, too young to go to the front, had done their bit by assisting in raising the food-stuffs necessary to feed the men at the front. He also desired to express his appreciation to the boys of the farmers of the province who had, under great handicaps, put in this year the biggest crop ever known in the history of New Brunswick. He urged the boys to study well the political questions of the day, for on them the future development of this splendid province, rich in mineral and timber, would rest.

Mayor Hayes then called on Brigadier-General Macdonell to decorate the boys, which he did in single file each was invested with the badge, showing that he had done something to aid in the winning of the great struggle for liberty and humanity.

COL. ROBERT S. LOW
HERE YESTERDAY
Says Work of Reconstruction in Halifax Is Proceeding Nicely—Scarcity of Plasterers—People Are Patient.

Col. R. S. Low passed through the city last night en route to Halifax. When seen by The Standard, Col. Low said the work of reconstruction was proceeding nicely, although the scarcity of plasterers made it impossible to get along as fast as would otherwise be the case.

He said the people had been very patient and every one was doing what they could to help in the work of rehabilitating the destroyed part of the city. His company had under construction three hundred and twenty foundations and it was hoped to have all these houses ready for occupation before the cold weather set in and this would practically solve the housing housing question.

DECISION GIVEN
NOT MADE PUBLIC
Matter of New Freight Rates on Sugar Is Awaiting Sanction of the Privy Council.

Lewis J. Seidensticker, manager of the Atlantic Sugar Refiners, speaking to a reporter last evening regarding the new freight rates, stated that nothing of a definite nature had occurred at the time of speaking regarding the lowering of the new rates on sugar.

He said word reached the officials of the company that a decision had been made, but it awaited the sanction of the Privy Council before being inaugurated on shipments.

Continuing, the speaker stated preliminary one of the company officials may go to Ottawa today, or the chances are that he may have gone last evening. Before his arrival at the capital definite word will be forwarded to the St. John office, which would be at once given to the press of the city for the benefit of the public and all concerned.

ENGLISH BOY HAS ENLISTED
States That He Had Been Badly Treated By Up River Farmer—Will Fight For Land of Birth.

A young man reached the city yesterday and enlisted. He is a former resident of England, and came to this country a few years ago on an immigrant ship. Arriving in New Brunswick, he was allotted work on a farm in an up river section. He found the work hard, but worked along uncomplainingly, however, as he says his employer was very cross at times with him. A few days ago, he states, the trouble increased and finally he was beaten, so next day he packed up his belongings and landed in St. John with the purpose of enlisting, which he did.

A military officer, speaking last evening said "That boy is a good chap and the man who abused him is not a gentleman in any sense."
Upon opening his little parcels in an old fashioned suit case, there was his Bible, a book which he read even in spite of difficulties.

The little lad is now feeling himself again, and is enlisting for overseas service to fight for the land of his birth, and Canada, the land of his adoption.

FAMOUS MONASTERY
WILL BE CLOSED
Trappist Institution To Be Sold and May Become Military Hospital—Religious May Go To France.

Because several of the brothers and fathers of the Trappist Monastery at Big Tracadie, N. S., have gone to the war it has been decided to close the well known institution and sell the property. It is probable that the twelve religious now constituting the community will be divided between monasteries of the order at Oka, Que., and Little Compton, Rhode Island, or they may return to France, if conditions there warrant.

It is said that the government may utilize the Tracadie Monastery as a hospital for soldiers. The property is a valuable one consisting of a large farm, mills and other large buildings.

WANT AN EXTENSION.
It is reported there is an urgent request from farmers that their soldiers sons no won six weeks' leave of absence for the haying season be given a further extension of a fortnight. The haying season will be a little late in finishing this year and nearly all the farmers who have their boys back temporarily feel it would be a hardship to let them go at this juncture.

SILO INDUSTRY
AGAIN REVIVING
E. T. Langille Says It Will Soon Be Important Addition To All Farms in the Province.

That the silo industry in New Brunswick is again reviving and will become in a short time an important addition to all farms, is the opinion of E. T. Langille, of Fredericton, N. B., who has made a recent tour of the province in the interests of the De Laval concern, who are now erecting silos.

Mr. Langille said the wood for these silos is cut in this province, but unhappily, due to the proper facilities for curing the wood, it has to be shipped in the Central Dominion, where it undergoes a creosote and tar application, rendering it strictly waterproof.

Asked what was the idea of the silo on a farm, he said green fodder is cut up fine by a cutting machine and blown up into the silos by means of compressed air. It is then packed tightly and allowed ventilation, in the course of time it matures, and recent reports of agricultural journals state the silo feed is one hundred per cent better than any other variety of cured feed as it increases milk quality and quantity.

Asked if New Brunswick farmers were taking to the new silos he added that the trade is growing daily. Twenty-five have been placed in the province in record time, and many more billed for erection. These silos may be of different sizes, and are constructed of iron, or of concrete. Farmers who have had them installed on their farms now believe they could not get along without them.

Mr. Langille leaves today with his family to spend the week-end with his family.

Uncle Dick's Chat With the Children

My Dear Kiddies:— I wonder if you are beginning to count the days from now until you are enjoying your vacation.

But after all, school days are not so very hard as you may think. There are a great number of grown up people who would like to be back in the midst of their school days again.

Yes, it is quite true, kiddies, school days, even the best days in one's whole life, at least in most cases. Therefore, it is up to you what you are still boys and girls to make the most of those days.

Now as to this week's contest feature. You have already looked at the pictures in the center, and perhaps read as to what they all mean.

You know, kiddies, it is really a problem sometimes thinking out those contests which I imagine will annoy you.

The Editor of the Standard has kindly let me imagine what I have written in the recent "Cap Stubbs" contest.

There is one thing I was pleased to notice in the contest, and that was the very large number of entries.

But bless 'em, write all the letters you like to your old friend, Uncle Dick.

In many cases, when newspapers start a page for children, and have some name for the boys and girls to write to, there is no such person.

Well, boys and girls, the chat is a little longer this week, but you know, when I get settled down to work you all, can't you kindly stop, and an only brought to a halt when the News Editor yells out: "Say, Uncle Dick, don't forget that we can only allow one letter for you thousands of readers."

With best of good wishes to you all. From your Uncle Dick

PRINCESS HELENA

A Story To Have Read To You Just Before Mammy Tucks You Snuggly into Bed For The Night.

You will remember that the Princess Helena, with the help of Alwin the Dwarf, escaped a second time from the castle of her cruel stepmother, Derk the Dark, and that a boat bore them all the way down the river that ran through the great forest.

"Here we will hurry a little," he said. "There is a city not far from here, and perhaps it will be better not to pass it until the darkness has settled down on the river."

"And has it many people and many houses?" "Let us stop there—I have never seen a city, you know."

"Yes, it has many people and many houses," answered Alwin the Dwarf, "but it will not be well for us to stop here, dear Princess. King Derk the Dark has friends in the city. We must not let them see us, lest they prevent us from going on our way to the castle of the good King Oswald. Perhaps, some day you can visit the city. As for myself, I do not like cities."

With that, the Princess Helena had to be content. While Alwin the Dwarf went in search of food, she sat beside the river and watched the changing colors of the sky and the night came creeping on. She had felt no fear since Alwin the Dwarf drove off the dragon bird, and she hoped that the morrow would bring them safe to their journey's end.

"Then the moon crept from behind the clouds, and its bright light shined on roofs and on spires and towers high above them.

"The city is beautiful!" said the princess; but Alwin the Dwarf looked straight ahead down the river and said nothing.

Soon they left the city behind them, and then the princess lay back on the pillows at the side of the boat and looked up at the stars; for the clouds had passed from the sky.

"How beautiful the stars are!" said the princess. "This time Alwin the Dwarf turned to her, and his eyes were shining.

"Yes, how wonderful!" he said. "Then he began to sing softly; and the sound of his voice, as it came over the water against the sides of the boat, was the last thing that the princess knew until she awoke to see the light of morning flooding the sky.

"Oh, I hope that we shall reach the castle of the good King Oswald this day!" wailed the princess, when she awoke. "I fortune favors us, we may get there by nightfall, dear princess," answered Alwin the Dwarf, "but we have yet far to go. The cast of the Dwarf King Oswald is not on this river, but it is on a river that joins this one near the sea."

So it was that all the morning and until the light of noon they journeyed down the river. No longer, however, did the great forest border the river all the time. There were fields where men were at work. There were little towns here and there on the banks, but there was no large city like that of the evening before. Several times they saw other boats on the river, but the men in them were not on the boat that bore the Princess Helena and Alwin the Dwarf on their way.

When the sun was highest in the heavens they reached a place where the river became so wide that they could not see the farther shore.

"Here it is that the river that we seek joins this one," said Alwin the Dwarf. "It flows in near yonder mountains that rise from the shore, and thither we must make our way."

So saying, he turned the course of the boat toward the mountains and the heart of the Princess Helena became strangely light at the thought that the castle of the good King Oswald was now not far away.

So the princess slept in her odd chamber and dreamed that she was at least in the castle of the good King Oswald.

Lonely indeed was Thaddeus Quackenshank. Moreover, he was feeling unwell because Ted Burns and Joe Jive, the two boys who lived nearest him had laughed at his name and called it funny. It made him moody, but he could not budge them. Then

CHILDREN'S CORNER

CONDUCTED BY UNCLE DICK. SOMETHING NEW IN THE WAY OF CONTESTS

Tell in Thirty Words Something About Any One of These Pictures. Prizes Consist of a Watch, Flashlight and Story Book—Competition Open To All Kiddies From Six To Sixteen.

Here is something absolutely new in the way of contests for kiddies, and for which handsome prizes are being offered.

First Prize—A Dandy Watch—for boy or girl. Second Prize—A Flash Light. Third Prize—A Splendid Story Book.

Now as to the contest itself. Above you will see a number of small pictures. To color them with your paints, would be very interesting.

Look over the pictures carefully. Pick out one which you think most interesting, then write down not more than thirty words, which will tell exactly what the picture illustrates.

Without waiting for Ted to help him, Thaddeus took hold of Joe's legs, which were now moving very feebly as if their owner had given up hope.

"You're not very big, but you can pull like everything," said Ted. "We won't call you Quackenshank any more," said Joe. "We'll call you Thad."

"We'll build another house in a safe place, where it won't cave in," cried Ted. "Come on, Thad; you help us."

"I'll run and get my shovel," said Thad; and he dashed away with a feeling of great happiness, for in a moment he had gained two good friends and a nickname.

"Tempus fugit," exclaimed the King, looking down from the palace window to the royal gardens below where at the little village princess arranging a bouquet of flowers, with her small companion, the pet monkey, at her side.

"What," interrupted his royal spouse, looking up from the deck where she sat juggling down her engagements in the gold-bound memory pad with which he had presented her the day before.

"I merely remarked, my dear, that time won't stand still," he replied, with another sigh.

WHERE DOES THE LIGHT COME FROM AND GO TO? Telling All About That Tasty Fruit, You All Like, and Where They Come From.

One afternoon shortly after the holidays Jamie felt all out of sorts. He had eaten a great deal of turkey and far more candy than was good for him, and that probably had something to do with the way he felt.

Jamie sat up in his chair. Jean swallowed the lump in her throat, and looked over at her sister with a gasp. "How would you like to be a date?" she asked.

"I never heard a story like that," Jean replied, "but I'd like to hear one."

"Dates, sweet and brown, were eaten by little children thousands of years ago, for the date palm is one of the oldest plants cultivated by man. Three thousand years ago the date palm grew and bore fruit."

"Where?" Jamie wanted to know. "In the countries of the far East, probably Arabia or Southern Asia," Grandmother replied.

"Why, then, do the three wise men come from the East?" Jamie remembered the story of the Babe in the manger, to whom the wise men in the East were guided by a star.

"Yes, and perhaps among the gifts they laid at the feet of the Christ Child, were dates," Grandmother said. The children looked at the dates through Jamie's eyes.

"Grandmother went on. 'The date palm is very high, sometimes reaching a height of one hundred feet or more. It is an odd-looking tree, too, for it has no leaves except at the very top, where it spreads out in a wide, feathery bunch. The leaves are very large, sometimes ten feet long. Up among the leaves are the fruit spines, like apples' Jamie asked.

"No, the dates grow in big bunches, hanging from fifteen to forty pounds. And a single tree will often bear ten or fifteen bunches."

"Why, Grandmother, one tree would furnish an awful lot of dates on it!" exclaimed Jamie.

"Yes, some date trees have as high as five hundred pounds of dates, and they bear for a hundred years, too!" "How pretty the trees must look when they bloom," said Jean. "The color of the blossoms, Grandmother?"

"A clear white," she answered. "I often think how lovely the date palms in blossom must look to travelers on the desert, who are worn and weary from their hot journeys across the sands. You see, the date palm sometimes grows in oases on the desert. You know what they are, don't you?"

"They are water holes in the desert," answered Jamie, eagerly. "But I should think the hot air of the desert would kill the trees!"

"No, the date palm must have hot, dry air to thrive, with lots of water at the roots. So you see an oasis is just the kind of place for it. Of course, date palms are planted on plantations, too, just as we plant apple trees. They are set out in rows twenty-five feet apart, and begin to bear dates when they are about four years old."

"Do the people in those Eastern countries like dates?" Jean asked. "Yes, indeed! Dates form the greatest part of their living. They eat dates, either raw or dried. Sometimes they pound them into solid cakes, to take on journeys across the desert. Wine and honey is made from the sap of the tree. Out of the roasted seeds, they make a drink something like coffee, and sometimes the seeds are ground to get the oil out of them. The young leaves are also eaten, as we eat cabbage. The date leaves are woven into mats and baskets, and the trunks are used to build houses and fences. My goodness!" said Jamie. "Date palms are valuable, aren't they? Do we have any date trees here in this country?"

"Yes, in California, and some in Arizona and New Mexico. The Spaniards brought date palms to California when it was first settled, and some of them are still standing. But we import millions of pounds every year."

"When?" exclaimed Jean. "I should think they would spoil on the way over, they are so sweet. Do they put sugar on the dates?"

"No dates are ever half sugar themselves. And they are cured before they are shipped, in order to keep them. Whole bunches are put in warm moist rooms before they are quite ripe and sort of preserved."

"Smiles had driven the clouds away from Jamie's face. "That story about dates has made me feel better. Let's go out for a run!" he suggested. And away they ran out into the snow.

with another sigh. "Well, who ever thought it waited for anyone?" she said with a laugh, finishing her social memorandum, she sat down at the window. "How she grows," she added after a moment's silence, surveying her small daughter below.

"I suppose," she answered. "I have not had to have her gowns lengthened only last week!" "She is much less willful!" "I hope," so responded the queen, remembering what a willful baby the little girl had been, particularly as to cutting her front teeth. Indeed it must be admitted, she had shown the same willfulness in learning to talk. At one time, the royal household neglected themselves for the most original wording, describing the pictures.

Now get busy, and let me see this contest card, and let me be one of the most successful in the history of the Children's Page. The splendid prizes are well worth trying for.

"I suppose," she answered. "I have not had to have her gowns lengthened only last week!" "She is much less willful!" Indeed it must be admitted, she had shown the same willfulness in learning to talk. At one time, the royal household neglected themselves for the most original wording, describing the pictures.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By DR. WARREN G. PARTRIDGE.

JIMMY COON MAKES TROUBLE FOR FARMER JONES.

It was laughable to see Guy Chuck a prisoner all day long on the famous Groundhog Day. And it was worse still, to see poor Guy Chuck in bed Bobby Skunk as his keepers. These every moment, with Jimmy Coon and two rascals wouldn't let Guy Chuck out of his own bed in his own house, to get a bite to eat. He was a prisoner all day; and Guy was so scared at that loaded gun which Bobby Skunk held at this right temple, that he had a nervous chill, and lay perfectly still in bed, with his head under the top sheet.

There was another funny sight on Groundhog Day; for Farmer Jones and his Farmer friends watched all day at one front window at the Jones Farm, and little William, the Farmer Boy, and his boy friends watched all day at the other front window. Why did they peer so hard all day out of those two windows of the Jones Farm-house.

Why, they were all straining their eyes to see if Guy Chuck came out of his front door, and turned around to see his shadow. And the Farmers argued all day about the weather, and whether it would be an early or a late Spring. And Farmer Jones said, "Now I expect that Guy Chuck will come out of the front door of his little house there in the old pasture any minute; for Guy Chuck never disappoints us. He is as regular as a clock, and comes out every year on the second of February; and I do my planting of corn and other crops according to the signs of Groundhog Day."

And Farmer Jenkins spoke up, "I do hope Mr. Groundhog will not see his shadow today; for I want an early Spring. I expect to make a lot of money on peas this year, if we can plant the peas early."

And little William said, "Father, I don't believe the sun will shine today. See how cloudy it is getting. And it was very laughable to hear those Farmers and Farmer Boys talk and chaff about the weather, and the signs of an early or late Spring."

But the sun didn't shine, and Guy Chuck didn't come out. Of course the Farmers knew why the Sun didn't come out. It was because there were too many clouds; and so the Sun couldn't show his face all day.

And there were dark clouds also in the life of Guy Chuck; and he couldn't show his face all day, because Jimmy Coon and Bobby Skunk kept that funny Guy in bed; and so he hid his frowning face under the top sheet of his little trundle-bed.

And there was an early Spring that year.

TURNIPS OR CARROTS.

In milk, butter, eggs and cheese, are found animal matters in quantity that surpasses the amount used by many persons who have never heard meat served classed as an "abomination," a cruelty or an evil. This makes the thinker consider the vegetarian's creed inconsistent, but no one can deny the wholesomeness or the importance of vegetables as food.

Potatoes, cabbage, onions, carrots and turnips are all flesh forming and nitrogenous, but are not enough alone. Besides them, we need spinach, celery, lettuce, radishes, cress and other fresh vegetables that may be eaten uncooked. The volatile principles found in many of those named, are similar to certain spices and are highly stimulative and strengthening and do not contain the great quantity of starch found in root vegetables.

The starch matter found in carrots, turnips and other roots is transformed into sugar in the early part of their growth, and the flavor of each separate vegetable is caused by their individual characteristics, which exercise differently upon each person and are all needed to supply the body with materials for growth.

When preparing turnips and carrots for the table, take care they do not over cook or stick to the kettle. If you place a pie pan with holes in it in the kettle, first, it will keep vegetables from sticking. Ruta-baga, or Swedish turnips, need longer cooking than white, purple top turnips. They are last will cook in forty-five minutes. Old ones, even if sliced, need to be cooked an hour and to have the water changed twice. The same rules apply to carrots. These vegetables need to be served with meat to make attractive dishes.

Stuffed turnips are well balanced food. Boil whole turnips until tender. Cut off the tops and scrape out the pithy hearts and fill with chopped spiced meat or with pork sausage.

Bake in the oven until the sausage is done, and baste with the dripping. Another dish in which sausage cakes, hamburger balls or meat patties may be used, is called "carrot nests." Make the nests of flat cakes of seasoned, cold, chopped meat, or sausage, and on each one place a slice of boiled carrot. Season again lightly, and place in oven to brown them. Baste with the dripping and when each nest with its carrot slice is golden brown, garnish them with parsley and serve on a flat platter.

Other ways to serve either carrots or turnips, are with onions, and meat stewed, or with macaroni. A cream sauce is needed if macaroni is combined with either of the vegetables.

If you are one of the birds who plan to catch the Christmas worms early, you are no doubt thinking of the dolls, crocheted horse reels and if they are made in gay colors and trimmed with beads they are really quite an addition to the Christmas supply. An easy way to make them is with single crochets worked rather closely. They should consist of a strip to go across the chest and arm pieces at that year's. The labor shortage and transportation difficulties divide the honors in creating this condition.

Meaning did you ever try to knit and crochet toys for Christmas? With help to hold him from falling when taking his first steps. For older children they may be made in gay colors and are then used for playing horse—still bits of yarn left over in your knitting bag that would serve to piece out in making some of the many interesting little toys from wool.

For the very little girl or boy there is a kind of crocheted clown rattle that takes very little wool. The equivalent of a half skein, preferably of white Germantown, is sufficient. An old or new celluloid rattle and three small bells complete the equipment. The wool is crocheted to cover the rattle by means of the afghan stitch, and a face is worked in with colored wool after it is done. A little cap is worked and put over the round end of the rattle and two bells are fastened to the cap and under the chin. If you have no celluloid rattle an old rubber ball will be quite nice as a foundation for the funny face.

WRINKLES

An extremely witty Frenchwoman, now busy day and night with war work and looking about twenty years less than her actual age, says that wrinkles belong to the negligent—to whom they should be left. She has never permitted herself to grow old, and now, busy as she is, she takes a half hour or more each day for her "treatment."

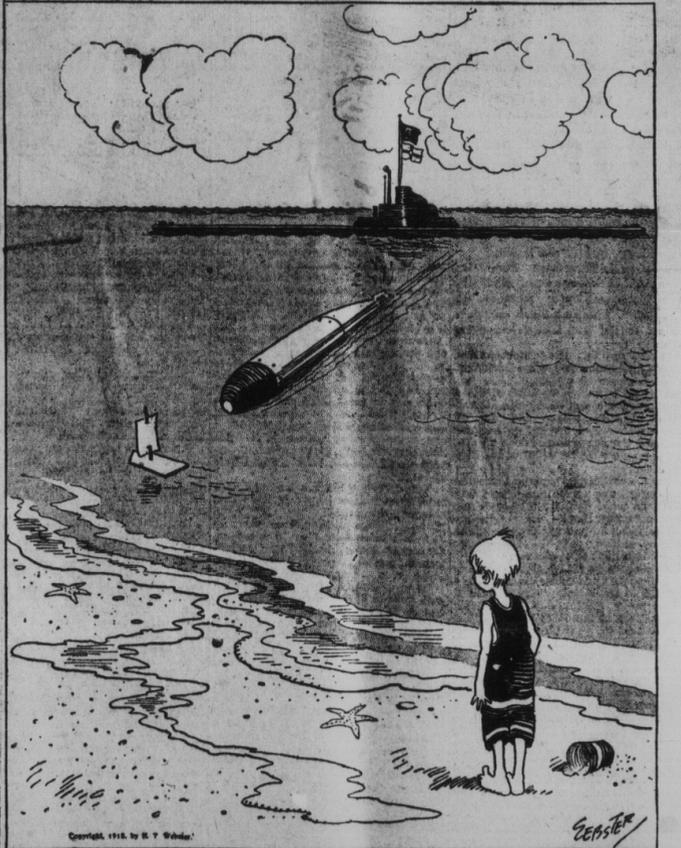

I have her treatment from a friend of hers—an astirgent fairly well known among cosmetic makers. It is:

- Rose water 12 ounces. Alum 130 grains. Thick cream 3 ounces. The alum is best bought as a powder, and the three ingredients mixed together. This is spread over the face, after a warm soap and water wash, and left on twenty minutes. It is astringent, drawing up the muscles and contracting the skin (the pores, which makes it excellent for charged pores. During the time it is on, the woman lies flat on her back, eyes closed, face relaxed. Then the skin is washed in warm water; massaged gently with a cold cream (striving to be very drying); wiped dry; and a piece of ice rubbed over till the skin tingles. Altogether, the treatment takes half an hour—more than some women want to give to it. But it invigorates the skin and it's action is more decided than the ordinary cream massage and is looking about twenty years less than her actual age, says that wrinkles belong to the negligent—to whom they should be left. She has never permitted herself to grow old, and now, busy as she is, she takes a half hour or more each day for her "treatment."

With black brows and lashes and brown eyes, and gold hair, you have a wonderful chance for artistic color effects. You say you are tired of dark blue—have you tried deep brown? This will bring out the dark eyes and set off the gold hair. Black will do the same. Beige will accentuate the brown eyes, but will not set off the hair so well as deep brown. Gray and brown shades will be becoming; black satins with white wool collar and cuffs will also be a stunning contrast. Golden yellows, greens, apricot, grey blues, light rose pinks, and silver, for lighter dresses, and all white with pastel color touches—you can wear all these.

There is nothing new under the sun. So runs an old Persian proverb. There is another Oriental saying, "Life is but a circle of repetition," and it really seems so when we fold back the pages of history. In regard to the very latest things in slang expression will, upon studious investigation, prove to be of very ancient birth. For instance, we know no later slang than "nobody home," as applied to those

Brown Chiffon Bridesmaid's Frock Made Over Shell-Pink Satin.

By Mme. Frances
The Famous Creator of Fashions

It is the bride who is the privileged person this year. It is she who is entitled to economize less, conserve less, and to spend more in these war economy days. Even for a few short weeks she has the divine right to busy herself with silks, satins, laces, bits of daintiness and vivid, bright colors, which her so fortunate sisters have, more or less, laid aside for the present. And why should not this right be hers at this time—the greatest event of her life?

The autumn bride has the advantage of choosing those deep tones and rich colorings associated with this season, and these colors now have a double value, for I find that fashion's early forecast points to shades of brown, copper and gold, and there is a certain tendency toward brigue red. If these shades are sufficiently becoming to be used in her trousseau or for her bridal party, then the autumn bride is indeed fortunate.

Spring and Autumn Sisters

Her sister, the June bride, may choose for her bridal gown the light, dainty materials such as organdie, chiffon, charmeuse or lace. These are timely and in keeping with that early and frivolous season, but it is my belief that the autumn bride should observe the dignity of the season and select the ever-favored, ever-beautiful white satin. It seems to me, too, that the young bride should choose that style of wedding gown generally designated as the "picture dress." By this I mean to carry out those lines suggested by one or the other of the great artists. A gown of this type, like an old picture, will last through generations.

Flower Girl, White Tulle Empire Frock.

For instance, in the gown suggested on this page, I have used as an inspiration the gown of the 1860 period—that picturesque period of basques and lace. The material used in the main part of the gown, the train and the bodice is, of course, ivory satin. The long panel train of the satin is lined with pondily green in soft taffeta silk and intricately embroidered with seed pearls. Sprays of lilies of the valley are used as the motif in the embroidery. It has been my experience that no neck-line is so generally becoming for evening as the one used on this gown. It adds much to the quaint picturesqueness of the bodice, which fits snugly about the figure and has each seam corded and bound with the satin. Real, old Valenciennes lace has been used in the skirt and also to finish the neck and sleeves. Shirred in at the waist in simplest fashion, this skirt of lace hangs long and straight over a foundation of lustrous white satin, over which, in turn, there is a petticoat of sheer white chiffon, daintily strewn with bowknots of narrow lace and rosettes of narrow white satin ribbon. It is most effective and combines quiet dignity with youthfulness—a combination I endeavor to achieve in every wedding gown. Of course, a wedding gown would not be finished without orange blossoms, so I took a long strand and tucked them in under the panel at one side of the gown, and there they nestle. One other touch was added—a narrow ribbon of white velvet. This I tied about the bodice and allowed the ends to hang down at one side.

Bridal Gown with White Satin Basque and Train Adapted from Period of 1860.

The simple veil is of white tulle with the cap formed by placing the tulle straight on the head, partly veiling the face and outlining the head with orange blossoms. The huge bouquet is of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

"Autumn Leaf" seemed the only appropriate name for a bridesmaid's gown—inspired by the wonderful coloring found in an autumn leaf. The material is a rich brown chiffon over a foundation of deep shell pink satin, and the underslip I have veiled in light brown tulle so that the finished effect is ever so soft and misty. A more simple and youthful design could not be found. A fichu and gathered skirt—that is all, and yet the result is delightful. On the bottom of the skirt autumn leaves and chrysanthemums have been embroidered in the entire glory of their natural colorings. This is the only trimming except for the narrow brown silk fringe that outlines the fichu. The dress is quaint and sweet, and not only a lovely dress for the bridesmaid, but one which might well be included in the trousseau of the bride. The hat worn with this gown was suggested by Romney. It is in cream lace, veiled with brown tulle, and trimmed with tiny flowers in autumn colorings. The long streamers are of cream-tinted lace.

Another bridesmaid's gown in hydrangea blue chiffon and taffeta gives an entirely different feeling. I have designed it for the tall, slender girl whose figure demands line, rather than sweet simplicity. You will note that I have used the "apron"—that little feminine touch that has become so popular this season. There are aprons on evening gowns and there are aprons on tailor-mades. The gown itself is in the hydrangea blue chiffon, while the fichu and apron are in soft taffeta silk of the same shade. To soften the effect I have used cream lace, a narrow, pleated fringe on the fichu and a deep border of the cream lace trimmed with garlands of shaded flowers finish the ends of the sash and apron. The foundation is of lavender chiffon and blue satin, combining hydrangea tints, and this gives an enchanting effect. To finish the costume I have made a hat of navy blue chiffon with streamers of narrow two-faced satin ribbon; lavender on one side and blue on the other. One silk flower in combined tints is deftly placed at the side of the brim. As French as French can be is the result.

Flower Girl and Page

These lovely clothes finished, I proceeded to design a frock for the small flower girl and a suit for the page. White tulle, and white tulle only, have I employed in the Empire frock for the flower girl, simply made over a foundation of palest shell pink silk. She wears a poke bonnet of the tulle, trimmed with tiny flowers of pink silk and pale blue leaves. The ribbons are in pink satin. Her robin's egg blue basket is filled with tiny pink rosebuds.

My page boy I consider quite original in his Eton coat of French blue velvet, with knickerbockers of black satin, and quite in keeping with the bride's gown, as well as the frock of the flower girl. He wears black patent leather pumps and white silk stockings, and the sash with a Spanish air is of white satin, as is also the small pillow he carries.

No—something that anyone, no mat-courtesy.

Just the habit of always saying
"good morning" and "Please" and
"Thank You." Just a smile and a

The Hotel Manager Feels the Same.
The day after that chart came to leading hotel managers in the country.

In talking of his waiters he said:

Here you have it again.
It is courtesy in the balance against

A. F. SANDEN CO. Dear Sir - Please for

TWO MEN WHO WERE IN CANADA'S FIRST PARLIAMENT STILL LIVING

They Are Judge A. W. Savary of Annapolis Royal and Sir James Grant of Ottawa—Judge Savary Resided For Time in St. John—Was in Parliament With Macdonald, Tupper, Tilley, Howe and Other Fathers of Dominion.

Of the legislators who were members of Canada's first House of Commons in 1867, two only are believed to be living. They are Judge A. W. Savary of Annapolis Royal, N. S., once a resident of St. John, and Sir James Grant, M. D., the eminent physician of Ottawa. Both grand old men of Canada, were born within two months of each other in the year 1831 and are almost 87 years of age. Judge Savary was asked by the Standard some time ago if he knew of any other men living who were members of parliament in 1867. He replied that so far as he could ascertain Sir James Grant and he are the only survivors.

Sir John Macdonald once described Judge Savary as "an able and cultured man who was of great assistance to me." The distinguished Nova Scotian is no stranger to readers of the Standard, for occasionally he has written for its columns. He is as well posted probably and possibly better, on the affairs and public men of Canada from the time of Confederation, as any one in the Dominion, particularly regarding the history of the Maritime Provinces during the past half century.

Native of Plympton.

Judge Savary was born at Plympton, Digby County, N. S., Oct. 10, 1831, the son of Sabine S. and Olivia Marshall Savary. His mother was the daughter of a Loyalist from New York, who became a member of the Nova Scotia legislature in 1812. The subject of this sketch was educated under private tuition, at Windsor Collegiate School and at the University of King's College. He was graduated from the latter institution in 1854 with honors in classics and a gold medal in modern languages, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts. In 1857 he received the degree of Master of Arts at King's, and in 1868 King's conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law.

Practised in St. John.

In 1857 he became a barrister of New Brunswick and four years later of his native province. In the latter year when the Earl of Dufferin was governor general of Canada he became Queen's Counsel. He practised his profession in St. John successfully up to 1862 and afterwards at Digby.

He became one of the leaders of the provincial bar of Nova Scotia and was appointed a master of the supreme court in 1868. For some years he was inspector of schools in Digby County, having been previously on the editorial staff of the Nova Scotia Chronicle.

After being an unsuccessful candidate for the Nova Scotia house of assembly in 1863 he was returned for Digby to the House of Commons. He was a member of the first parliament of Canada, 1867-1872. He moved the address in reply to the speech from the Throne in 1870 and was complimented on his speech in terms of warm eulogy by all, including the Duke of Connaught, who happened to be present at its delivery.

Friend of Statesmen.

Mr. Savary sat in parliament with Sir John A. Macdonald, Hon. Joseph Howe, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Leonard Tilley, Galt, McGee, Cartier, Dorrill, Archibald, Holton and other statesmen, great leaders of the past, and was a personal friend of them all. He sat until 1874. The Mackenzie government appointed Mr. Savary, County Court judge for Annapolis, Digby and Yarmouth Counties in 1876. He continued on the bench until his retirement on a pension in 1907. At that time as a token of respect he was presented with an address and a gold hunting-case watch by the members of the bar.

In addition to several important contributions to magazine literature, Judge Savary is the author of the following named volumes: "History of the Savary and Savary Families," "History of the County of Annapolis," "The Narrative of Col. David Anning Fanning, a Loyalist of North Carolina, in the American Revolution."

Ardent Imperialist.

Judge Savary is an ardent imperialist and federalist for the future of the empire; an authority on all matters relating to the Loyalist families in the Maritime provinces. He was elected an honorary member of the Manorial Society of England in 1906. He is also a member of the Wiltshire Archaeological Society and the American Historical Association.

Judge Savary has long been prominent in the affairs of the Anglican Church. He has been a delegate to the diocesan synods for many years and was a delegate to the Anglican church congress held in Halifax in 1910, which was attended by many prominent churches from Canada, Great Britain and the United States.

Judge Savary was twice married. His first wife was Miss Basile Crookshank, daughter of H. P. Oty of St. John. They were married in 1877. She died in 1887. In 1892 he married Miss Eliza Theresa, daughter of the late Rev. Abraham Spurr Hunt.

Sir James Grant.

Sir James Alexander Grant was born in Invernesshire, Scotland, Aug. 11, 1831, son of Dr. James G. Grant. He was educated at Martinown, Ont., Queen's College, Kingston, and McGill. He became one of the leaders of his profession with his residence in Ottawa, and was physician to the several governor generals of Canada from Lord Monck's time until 1896, when he was appointed honorary physician at Rideau Hall. He attended H. P. H. Princess Louise while in Canada and when Victoria in 1896 was thanked for his services to the Princess. He has been president of the Canadian Medical Association and president of other national organizations.

Sir James was long in active political life and a supporter of Sir John Macdonald, Sir John Thompson and Sir Charles Tupper. He was one of the "old guard" under Sir John Macdonald and sat in the House of Commons for Russell from 1867 to 1873 and he introduced a bill for the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. In 1895 he supported the motion of the late Nicholas Flood Davina of Regina to extend the Dominion franchise to women. He was knighted in 1887. He and Lady Grant were present at the coronation of King Edward and Queen Alexandra. He is a member of numerous societies, has been highly honored by various countries and has written much. He is one of Canada's remarkable men.

"ELIJAH" SANFORD IS NOT OUT YET

Free Next Month — Young "Elijah" Drafted and Will Go To War.

Despite persistent rumors to that effect and despite the announcement of two local newspapers that Rev. Frank W. Sanford, self-styled modern Elijah had returned from the federal prison at Atlanta and was with his followers of the Holy Ghost and Us society on board the yacht Coronet in Portland harbor, the Rev. Sanford still languishes in his southern prison house, says the Portland Sunday Times.

Coronet reporters made a visit to the Coronet yesterday afternoon in order to secure either a confirmation or denial of the rumor that Sanford was aboard. From some of the Shilohites with whom they talked they gleaned the information that the men and women on board the Coronet were highly amused by the stories of Sanford's return. They said that the members of the Holy Ghost and Us colony at the Hilltop in Durham were in hopes that their leader would arrive home in time for their annual convention, which is held Aug. 25, but that they had no assurance of that fact, and thought it more probable that he would not arrive north until the early or middle part of September. Both here in the harbor on board the Coronet, where the faithful men and women of the Holy Ghost and Us society have awaited the prophet's return for a period of nearly seven years, and at the colony in Durham preparations are being made for his reception when he comes home.

Rumors of Prophet Sanford's return were also pursued to Shiloh by The Press, and information obtained from Mr. J. Brown, the postmaster to the effect that the modern Elijah is expected about Sept. 5. He said that Shiloh was greatly surprised at the report that he had arrived in Portland, and could not believe it. Mr. Brown married Rev. Mr. Sanford's sister, Annie.

John Sanford Drafted.

From Shiloh, also, and from local sources came news that John Sanford, the 22-year-old son of Rev. Frank W. Sanford, who was elevated to the leadership of Shiloh on his eighteenth birthday to retain control until Elijah II returned, was in Portland Saturday, consulting with members of the Holy Ghost and Us society here. He has been drafted and is said to be putting the Shilohite house in order preparatory to his departure with the Auburn contingent Aug. 28.

In connection with the news of the drafting of Rev. Mr. Sanford's son was gleaned the interesting information that at the outbreak of the war the prophet of the Shiloh colony sent to his followers a circular letter in which he not only strongly advocated the war, but came out in favor of the draft. He denied his people the right to claim exemption on religious grounds provided they were drafted, and urged them to do their duty in every way possible. As a result of his causing the death of one of his followers by neglect while on a voyage to this country from Africa. He has been a model prisoner; hence three years were deducted for good behavior. Mr. Sanford's trial was one of the most striking and sensational ever held in the United States district court in this city.

SANDEN, Author.

Reader, the whole world is today alive for the importance of a better general understanding of sex hygiene. The much-discussed science of eugenics is teaching the great mass of people that strong, healthy, rugged parents beget equally sturdy children.

Manhood, no matter where or in what condition of life we find it, is the single power that most fascinates both men and women. The one who radiates this manly influence, this result of a vigorous, sturdy nerve force, is the one who forges to the front, while weaker people stand aside.

It is my opinion that any man may hope for a complete restoration of his manhood and vigor if he but

It is a strange fact but true—as any metallurgist will demonstrate for you—that a motor, like a man or an horse, will do better with a rest from time to time.

For motors and the metals of which they are made, are also subject to "fatigue."

So the crucial part of that test was in its constant running—not a moment's relief allowed from the heat to cylinders or the motion of reciprocating parts.

Our records show many cases where, according to owners' statements, motor cars have gone 100,000 miles—150,000 and even 200,000 miles.

But we don't consider those cases exceptional.

Any Maxwell motor car will live to do that if kept oiled and given reasonable care.

And we are frank to concede that some other makes of cars can show similar mileages—for, as indicated above, intermittent service with rests between, is what the car is intended to do.

That is normal service.

But to withstand the terrific fatigue involved in that 44 consecutive days and nights "non-stop" test; and to cover, with four passengers, 22,022 miles; and, doing that, to average 26 1/2 miles per gallon of gasoline too—that car must be a Maxwell.

You have read of course, that the "life" of the best aviation motor is 150 flying hours.

And you must know that an aviation motor represents the highest development of gasoline engine building.

Must be—to withstand such strains for so long—for when you consider all the conditions, that 150 flying hours constitutes a terrific feat of endurance.

Figured in miles at the rate of speed our own Liberty motor has shown—144 miles per hour—it is 21,600 miles.

And in order to sustain its load in the air that motor is working to capacity all the time.

Now consider the performance of that Maxwell motor which, in 44 consecutive days and nights running never stopped, and covered, with its passengers, 22,022 miles!

It is a strange fact but true—as any metallurgist will demonstrate for you—that a motor, like a man or an horse, will do better with a rest from time to time.

For motors and the metals of which they are made, are also subject to "fatigue."

So the crucial part of that test was in its constant running—not a moment's relief allowed from the heat to cylinders or the motion of reciprocating parts.

Our records show many cases where, according to owners' statements, motor cars have gone 100,000 miles—150,000 and even 200,000 miles.

But we don't consider those cases exceptional.

Any Maxwell motor car will live to do that if kept oiled and given reasonable care.

And we are frank to concede that some other makes of cars can show similar mileages—for, as indicated above, intermittent service with rests between, is what the car is intended to do.

That is normal service.

But to withstand the terrific fatigue involved in that 44 consecutive days and nights "non-stop" test; and to cover, with four passengers, 22,022 miles; and, doing that, to average 26 1/2 miles per gallon of gasoline too—that car must be a Maxwell.
