D. W. MACAULAY, BORN IN MONCTON, DIES IN BROOKLINE

oston, Aug. 17.—The death is announced in Brookline of George Whit-Macaulay, a prominent Boston lumber dealer, and native of Moncton (N.S.).

death was caused by blood poisoning in an injury to his leg three weeks ago. Mr. Macaulay was at his summer home at New Found Lake (N.S.), and is at a news stand one day another suit case down behind him.

Macaulay turned to run for a car stumbled over the case, causing an injury to his leg. He thought little of it at first, but it gradually grew worse and attended to business until blood poisoning set in a few days ago.

Macaulay was widely known in the lumber trade and for more than 20 years conducted a business at 805 Myrtle street. He was born in Moncton, N.S., in 1855, and came to Boston in 1880 and was employed by the firm until he established a business of his own. He was a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Massachusetts Association, Boston Athletes' Association, Mt. Lebanon Lodge, and the Corinthian Yacht Club.

He is survived by wife, who was Miss Margaret Waggoner, and four children. He died at his home in Brookline, Mass., at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was 64 years old.

TARIFF BILL VOTE LIKELY NEXT WEEK

Good Progress Made On Free List

The Paper Schedule Was Practically All Passed

Proposal to Make Trust Controlled Articles Duty Free to Be Considered—Free Wool Agreed to—Other Items Disposed of.

(Canadian Press.) Washington, Aug. 25.—Ratification of the free list in the tariff bill with reservation of a few commodities for later consideration; agreement by Democrats of the finance committee to consider an amendment by Senator Kenyon, which would automatically transfer trust-controlled articles to the free list, etc.

in the midst of this progress, however, were injected several set speeches which precipitated a long colloquy between Senators Lippitt of Rhode Island and Smith of South Carolina, over relative conditions in New England and southern cotton mills.

Paper Schedule Agreed to

The paper schedule was agreed to, as amended by the finance committee with the exception of the paragraph on the wrapping paper, which was passed over at the suggestion of Senator Hughes in charge of the schedule.

The sundries schedule was taken up, and the paragraphs on brads, brooms, brushes and buttons agreed to. Senator Bristow protested that the reduced duties on iron pins was another discrimination against products in which the farmers were interested.

Senator Cummins protested against the reduced duties on the cheaper grades of buttons, claiming that the rates proposed would put the Iowa manufacturers out of business.

During the afternoon Senator Ashurst delivered a general defense of the bill and the paragraphs agreed to. Senator Lippitt also made a speech in support of the bill.

1,000 NEW YORK 'LONGSHOREMEN' OUT ON STRIKE

New York, Aug. 25.—One thousand longshoremen employed on the docks of the Hamburg American Line, went on strike this afternoon. They demand re-orientation of the pay check system recently abolished, and the discharge of non-union dock men.

Let the average married man do the household shopping for a week and see how the cost of living will jump.

Women are more constant readers of advertising than men. Women read advertisements because they appeal to their innate sense of values.

WATT MUST PAY THE PENALTY

Amherst Man to Die for Murder of Infant Next Thursday

Amherst, N. S., Aug. 25.—Charles Watt, who murdered an illegitimate child of his sister, April 19, 1913, and who was sentenced to death at the June sitting of the supreme court in Amherst by Judge Sir Charles Townsend, was informed today that he would have to pay the extreme penalty for his crime, between the hours of 6 and 10 Thursday morning, Aug. 28.

A strong petition, signed by 600 Amherst citizens, and several personal pleas for commutation of sentence had been sent to the minister of justice and the evidence of the case was reconsidered. This evidence was of such a nature, however, that the sentence of death had to be sustained.

Sheriff R. B. H. Davidson received word this afternoon that all appeals had failed. The scaffold is being erected at Watt's bearing up well and is gaining flesh. He does not appear to worry as the day of his death approaches.

It is understood that no person, with the exception of the officials, will be present at the execution.

ELECTRICIANS AT ROYAL PALACES OUT ON STRIKE

Quit in Sympathy With Painters Who Were Replaced on Admiralty Jobs by Non-Union Men.

London, Aug. 25.—A strike of house painters and decorators in London, for increased wages, which was followed by the employment of non-union painters at the admiralty, has brought about a strike of electricians under the control of the office of public works, in protest against the employment of "knickerbockers."

MRS. PANKHURST TIRED OF FIGHTING

Writes Her Pugnacious Lieutenants to Take a Holiday—Only One "Doing Time" Now.

(Canadian Press.) London, Aug. 25.—Rumors which have been current of a truce between the militant suffragettes and the British government seem to find support in a letter written today by Mrs. E. Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, to her followers, advising them to take a holiday for the present. She says:

"I am gathering up strength for a renewed battle when the holiday season is over. I hope that every one of you will also take advantage of the present lull in political activity to take the rest and change you have all so richly deserved."

Another indication that an agreement has been reached is the cessation by the authorities of the enforcement of the provisions of the "Cat and Mouse act." Out of forty-three suffragettes sentenced to imprisonment for various offenses, only one is now in jail. Most of the others are following their ordinary avocations and no attempt is made to re-arrest them.

It is widely believed that Mrs. Pankhurst has at last agreed to a truce in order to strengthen the hands of those members of the British cabinet, who are working to make the enfranchisement of women a government measure.

CO-OPERATION THE CURE FOR INDUSTRIAL MILLS

Earl Grey Champions the Plan

Tells International Co-operative Alliance Congress That It Would Reduce the Cost of Living, Increase Wages and Give the Producer More Profit—Would Also End Labor and Capital Struggles.

(Canadian Press.) Glasgow, Scotland, Aug. 25.—Co-operation, as the basis of the ideal state of the future, was the keynote of the address of Earl Grey, former governor general of Canada, at the opening of the Congress of the International Co-operative Alliance here today.

Co-operation would put a barrier against the tyranny of the trusts, he said, and would reconcile the warring forces of labor and capital. Six hundred delegates were present, representing 3,000,000 members of co-operative societies in America and Europe, and Earl Grey's views, enunciated with much fervor, were warmly applauded.

He declared that the application of the co-operative principle to the industrial life of Great Britain, the United States, France, Germany, Denmark and Ireland, was proved by the substitution of organized distribution for unorganized distribution, co-operative buying for individual buying, co-operative transportation and marketing for individual selling and the co-operative use of power for the individual use of machinery.

WILSON'S ENVOY TO QUIT MEXICO

John Lind to Leave the Capital Today—Rumor That Huerta Will Resign.

Mexico City, Aug. 25.—President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind, will leave the Mexican capital tomorrow, proceeding to Vera Cruz.

Mr. Lind called on Foreign Minister Gamba today to say good byes, but there was nothing in their conversation regarding the resumption of negotiations or to indicate that Mexico would recede from her position.

Mr. Lind will sail from Vera Cruz at an early date, presumably on a battleship. It is expected that William Bayard Hale, who has been in Mexico City in an official capacity, will accompany Mr. Lind, or leave soon afterwards.

PRINCE ARTHUR TO SUCCEED FATHER IN CANADIAN POST?

London, Aug. 26.—It has been virtually decided, according to the Daily Graphic, that Prince Arthur of Connaught will succeed his father, the Duke of Connaught, as governor-general of Canada.

TWO BRITISH CABINET MINISTERS SAIL FOR CANADA

LORD HALDANE, LORD HIGH CHANCELLOR

(Calais, which of course was English territory at that time. When the Cardinal left Calais to go further abroad he left the Great Seal with the Master of the Rolls, Thomas Taylor.

In response to further inquiries Viscount Haldane brought the history of the Great Seal down to the 20th of the last century when Lord Brougham took the seal to Scotland and gave umbrage to King William. "Now of course," continued Lord Haldane "the seal has been properly placed in commission, so no trouble will arise. However, I am not going to stay long away as it is important the Lord Chancellor and the Great Seal should not be separated for any length of time. Only two such voyages ahead—countries as the United States and Canada ventured to suggest my going so far away."

Speaking of his coming address at the meeting of the American Bar Association in Montreal, Lord Haldane said it would be broad in scope and would cover matters of interest to both countries. "The Lord High Chancellor, in addition to his sister, is accompanied by Sir Kenneth Muir-Mackenzie, the Permanent Secretary to the Lord Chancellor to respond readily. This means four tons to the seven, which is a bumper crop.

CUTTING 1,000,000 ACRES DAILY IN SASKATCHEWAN

Estimate of Dean Rutherford of Saskatoon College—Ideal Weather for Harvesting and Bumper Crops Assured—Nova Scotia Crops Never Better—Apples Will Be About Half of Former Years.

(Canadian Press.) Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 25.—Dean Rutherford of the agricultural college estimates that 1,000,000 acres of the wheat in Saskatchewan are being cut daily. Taking the average yield at 20 bushels per acre, which Hon. W. C. Sutherland estimates as most conservative, this means that 20,000,000 bushels of wheat are being cut daily.

Taking seventy cents as the average price a farmer will receive per bushel, it means that every day of such weather as prevailed on Saturday, is worth $14,000,000 to the farmers of this province. Mr. Sutherland has cut most of his 800 acres of wheat and says he will finish this week. "A couple of fields of late wheat," he says, "will go forty bushels to the acre."

At the university cutting commenced Saturday. Estimates of a 20 bushel an acre crop for the whole of Saskatchewan are made and except on stubble land the crop is quite heavy.

Halifax, Aug. 25.—Crop conditions in Nova Scotia have improved considerably as a result of the recent rains. The hay crop is generally 75 to 80 per cent above that of last year. It has been in good condition as ever went into the barns. At the Agricultural College, Trenton, one block of seven acres produced 25 tons of first class hay. This means four tons to the acre, which is a bumper crop.

SUSSEX PHYSICIANS FOOLED BY STRANGER

Norwegian Visited Five of Them Complaining of Illness and Received a Prescription for Liquor From Each—Afterwards Charged Them With Violating Scott Act And They are Placed on Trial.

(Special to the Telegraph.) Sussex, N. B., Aug. 25.—Intense interest in being manifested here today in the hearing of a number of alleged violations of the Canada Temperance Act, in which several prominent doctors of the town are charged with violating Section 126, Part 2 of the act by illegally giving prescriptions for intoxicating liquor.

The cases are being heard before Magistrate Pollock and at the two sessions held today the court room was packed to the doors. Evidence was taken in three cases, one each against Dr. W. H. White, Dr. E. H. McAlister and Dr. G. N. Peasman. J. Arthur Freese is conducting the prosecution and G. W. Fowler, M. P., is representing the defendants.

The chief feature of the evidence taken today was the story of Anton Olsen, a Norwegian, who is said to have come here from Moncton about the first of August and represented himself to the people as being interested in lumber lands. This story seemed plausible, as for some time a party of Norwegian lumbermen have been operating a short distance up the line. His evidence was to the effect that he had gone to the doctors named and procured a prescription for liquor without specifying that it was for sickness.

The three doctors, whose cases came up today, went on the stand and said that they had given the prescriptions in good faith, as the man claimed he was sick and at the time his appearance would lead them to believe that he was not well.

CANADA'S TRADE STILL BUOYANT

PREMIER ROBLIN NOT LOOKING FOR ANOTHER JOB

Says He Would Not Accept Strathcona's Position, or Any Other for the One He Has Got.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Sir Rodmond Roblin, this morning gave out the following statement with regard to the Ottawa despatch mentioning him as a probable successor to Lord Strathcona, in the Canadian high commissionership of the old country.

"It is worse than idle rumor, and absolutely unwarranted. There is no public position on earth I would accept in lieu of the one I hold."

ASK CONCILIATION BOARD FOR GRAND TRUNK DISPUTE

1,300 Telegraphers, Station Agents and Despatchers Want More Pay.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—The department of labor is in receipt of an application for the establishment of a board of conciliation and investigation under the industrial disputes investigation act, to deal with matters in dispute between the Grand Trunk Railway Company and its railway telegraphers, comprising operators, station agents and despatchers, to the number of 1,800, employed on the company's entire system.

The employees referred to have been in conference with the company for some little time past, relative to the adoption of certain wages and conditions of employment. It is understood that a settlement has been reached on some points at these conferences, and that the board application covers the schedule and other matters still outstanding. The application is under consideration by the Hon. C. J. Doherty, acting minister of labor.

NEW YORK PAINTERS FORESTALL STRIKE BY A LOCK-OUT

Men Asked for a 44-Hour Week, $20 Minimum Wage, and Recognition of Union.

New York, Aug. 25.—Contractors in the painting and paper-hanging trades closed their shops in many parts of the city today against employees, who they learned, were preparing to strike tomorrow. At the time the lock-out was ordered and made effective for one week, a committee of the International Painter and Paper Hangers' Union was preparing a circular for distribution tomorrow morning calling upon 30,000 members to quit work.

The committee announced that the strike was decided upon after the employees failed at recent conferences to respond to the men's demands, which include recognition of the union, a minimum weekly wage of $20, a forty-four hour week, protection against accident for scaffold workers, and abolition of sub-contracting.

It is said that he at first refused to give the prescription, and while the man was on the way out he felt that he really needed the stimulant and called him back and gave the prescription.

C. H. Fairweather, Scott Act vendor for Kings county, told of supplying the liquor in each case.

Two cases against Dr. J. B. Gilchrist, and one each against Drs. D. H. McAllister and J. H. Ryan are scheduled to come up tomorrow. It is said tonight that six reports have been made against a druggist of the town, who is reported to have made himself scarce and also a fruit dealer for selling liquor without a license. All but two of the doctors of the town are connected with these cases and it was brought out in evidence that these two were also approached but refused to give the order.

W. G. Asbell, Scott Act inspector for Kings county, is the informant in all cases. The trial has created a great deal of interest and some sensational developments are anticipated.

"This is a matter I am to bring to the notice of the Nova Scotia union of municipalities, and to request them to lay before the government the necessity for such a procedure."

"Under present conditions there is no standard price for Nova Scotia municipal securities. Halifax is selling its bonds at a low figure. Other towns are forced to do the same. Every figure is different and these facts affect all the towns vitally."

"I am proposing to the union that they should endeavor to induce the government to guarantee all municipal securities. If the government would do this the towns would be placed on a good financial footing, the price could be standardized, and our bonds would be recognized as a safe investment. Unless this can be done I do not see where in this province will land."

Great Increase Over Last Year

Amounts to $100,000,000 a Month So Far This Year

Imports Almost Double of Exports—Customs Receipts of Fiscal Year Nearly $3,000,000 Ahead of Similar Period Last.

(Canadian Press.) Ottawa, Aug. 25.—The customs department statement for July and the first four months of the current fiscal year, indicates a most striking growth in Canadian trade.

The total trade for July was $100,000,000, as against $91,428,000 in July last year. For the four months, trade totaled $325,868,000, compared with $285,638,000 in the same period of 1912. The duty collected in the four months was $88,201,000, as against $85,990,000 in the corresponding period last year.

The imports for July are given as $59,928,000 and exports of Canadian produce $88,080,000.

For the four months imports were $228,870,000 and exports of Canadian produce, $117,190,000.

THINK SYDNEY MAN WAS MURDERED

Stone Hidden in Bushes, Covered with Blood, Indicates B. S. Atkinson Was Not Killed by Fall from Carriage.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 25.—Evidence has come into the possession of the crown which makes it seem likely that B. S. Atkinson, who was supposed to have been killed by a fall from his buggy on the Mira road, a few miles from Sydney, was murdered.

Mr. Atkinson was found dead on the morning of Aug. 15, and the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental death. The evidence since gathered seems to show that Mr. Atkinson was killed a little distance from the road, and that his body was carried to the roadside afterwards. A stone with blood marks on it has been found hidden in a clump of bushes, and there are blood marks at places other than where the body was found.

The crown has other evidence which would seem to make it pretty clear that there was foul play, though no one to the murderer has been found yet.

The dead man was not robbed, and it is not thought revenue could have been the motive for the crime, as he was universally popular.

SERIOUS PROBLEM FOR MUNICIPALITIES

Mayor of Sydney Advocates Provincial Guarantee of Civic Loans, in Order to Float Them at Reasonable Interest.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 25.—Mayor Gunn, in an informal discussion with the members of the city council prior to going to the municipalities convention at Bridgewater, said, speaking of the city finances:

"The prices at which western cities are selling debentures has utterly ruined the bond market, and we cannot expect a favorable price for our issue, or any part of it; nor can any other town in the province secure better terms unless the government comes to our rescue and guarantees the bonds of all towns and municipalities in the province."

"This is a matter I am to bring to the notice of the Nova Scotia union of municipalities, and to request them to lay before the government the necessity for such a procedure."

"Under present conditions there is no standard price for Nova Scotia municipal securities. Halifax is selling its bonds at a low figure. Other towns are forced to do the same. Every figure is different and these facts affect all the towns vitally."

"I am proposing to the union that they should endeavor to induce the government to guarantee all municipal securities. If the government would do this the towns would be placed on a good financial footing, the price could be standardized, and our bonds would be recognized as a safe investment. Unless this can be done I do not see where in this province will land."

THE CHURCH AND SOCIAL PROGRESS. Mr. Frederick Harrison writing recently on the evolution of some specific forms of religion, speaks as follows regarding the relation of the church to social progress:

"We seldom find the Church or any eminent body of churchmen, take the lead in seeking to prevent a war, to abolish cruel sports, to put an end to social wars, to assuage the violence of strikes and lockouts, to check the greed of capital and the anarchy of its victims."

The Church is more interested in the discussion of an abstract point of theology than it is in the pressing moral problems of the twentieth century; that the social problems of the Hittites and the Jesuites of a former day are more interesting than those of the Nainimites and the Giuseppees of the present day; that she has never raised her voice with sufficient emphasis against war and that she has more often blessed than banned those who unsheathed the sword, and on the whole, that she has failed to relate herself organically to the mighty movements which make for the betterment of social and industrial conditions.

So, many disillusioned worshippers are wandering about in quest of a church of the deed instead of the creed, and seeking a new spiritual habitation better fitted with all the modern conveniences—a church which will interpret the political economy of salvation more satisfactorily. Whatever crimes may be proved against organized religion, it is difficult to find a faith that seems particularly well adapted to meet this need.

Faiths narrow and intolerant, and others broad and inclusive, have been tried, sermons on a high intellectual level, and others on a low intellectual level, have been preached; rituals have been refined and have been abolished in the effort after a new weather-tight habitation, but only ritual gleams of spiritual vision have resulted. No positive advance can be recorded as a result of the most persistent application of scientific method to religion. All manipulation of machinery has left the heart cheerless and cold.

Even the "rationalist" might have expected this result. The institution must work with the material lying at its hand. If the church has not achieved the success that many hoped for, the cause is clear. The people who are too busy to give time and energy to the church, the primary, the party conventions, will not make a strong church or a strong government or a strong anything. We cannot make a rope of sand, or an army of sheep; neither can we maintain the old freedom without winning new ones. When the strong in every community always seek to appropriate to themselves the lion's share of the conquests and inventions achieved by the people and convert them into excess and excess of wealth for themselves and excess of poverty for the masses—the church finds but indifferent material with which to build up a human brotherhood. The beam is not in the eye of the church, but in the eye of the material with which the church is compelled to work.

But has the failure of the church been so complete as many are inclined to take for granted? It has visited the sick and fed the hungry. It has always been the whitest light in history, and has stood out through the ages as a torch, sometimes perhaps a smoky torch, to point the way. It has not solved the problems of social unrest, chiefly because it has considered as its chief work the breeding of social unrest. The dynamics of the gospel will always create social unrest. When the church finds people satisfied with low physical, mental and moral ideals, it seeks at once to create dissatisfaction with these conditions. But where it creates dissatisfaction, it must lead the way to social peace. When it arouses social unrest it must go to the root of social suffering and cut it out. It cannot surrender its place to the social agitator who has no compassion for the ill he professes to cure, and it must love its neighbor as it loves itself, before its ideals can be accomplished.

"TRADE WITH THE YANKEES." According to the official figures of the Department of Commerce, at Washington, Canada is now a larger purchaser of the products of the United States than any other country except the United Kingdom. The total value of the exports from the United States to Canada in the fiscal year of 1912-13 was $418,000,000 against $216,000,000 in 1910. The gain for the single year of 1912 to 1913 was $86,000,000, a larger increase than in any earlier year. The United States supplies, according to figures recently given out at Ottawa, sixty-three per cent of the imports of Canada in 1912, as compared with 68.4 per cent in 1902, a decade earlier.

Notwithstanding the Tory election cry: "No truck or trade with the Yankees," Canada's imports from the United States have practically doubled in the last three years. Her exports to the United States amounted in 1912 to $168,605,800. Here is where the defeat of the trade agreement proposed by Mr. Fielding, has dealt the Canadian farmers a serious blow. They have lost millions by the failure to arrange with the United States for reciprocity in natural products.

The United States tariff, for the benefit of the people, is being lowered after a long trial of high protection. Naturally that is an advantage to Canadians who, in spite of phenomenal rates, are one-third lower than those of the regular tariff, on imports from Great Britain, are increasing their trade with the United States; but the advantage is small in comparison with what it would have been under the reciprocity agreement. The vigorous growth of imports from the United States is due in part to the lower cost of transportation, but more, apparently, to other facilities in trading, including the adaptation of goods to the needs of Canadian domestic trade, and reciprocity would have meant a great saving to the Canadian consumer. Canada is not now getting for nothing what the Liberals would have sought, as Conservatives declare. That is the basic weakness of their argument. To give the people a square deal, there must be a general remodeling of the Canadian tariff. Important reductions ought to be made without delay. It will not do to let well enough alone.

A HEAVY BURDEN. The protest of Mr. Lloyd George against the rapidly rising volume of expenditure for armaments, should set the advocates of arbitration thinking about new ways and means for minimizing resort to arms. Speaking in the House of Commons the other day, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, whose duty it is to find the funds for supporting the British army and navy, expressed the conviction that the world-wide profusion of militarism would before long receive a rude check from peoples who pay taxes. He did not suppose that there would be an anti-militarist revolution in any country, but he looked for some form of revolutionary protest from a population goaded beyond patience by the demands for money, for more soldiers and more battleships.

"Nothing," he said, "has done more to create the money stringency and to arrest new trade orders than the sudden feverish activity for armaments in France, Germany and Russia. With every additional pound spent on armaments they are destroying their credit and confidence which create the activity and energy of commerce. Money spent on social reform improves the health of the people, and makes better and more efficient men."

While the world has often heard similar declarations, that the limit of the tax payers' endurance has been reached, and has as often seen the same tax payers go down into their pockets at the request of the war ministers, there is no doubt that Lloyd George is correct in his assertion that the world steadily increases its armament, which means that its military and naval appropriations keep step with the growth of armies and fleets. There were not so many warships in service and not so many men training for land campaigns when the first peace conference met at the Hague in 1899, as there are now. France, Germany, Russia and Great Britain are strengthening their gigantic fighting forces, and in Great Britain there is an agitation for compulsory military training for soldiership, such as the other countries mentioned have. The United States is going slowly—but each year sees additions to her fleet. It simply means that millions of men, kept either in the barracks, on expensive warships, or on the battlefields, are not only withdrawn from productive labor, but are a direct and dead weight on the people whose work produces the nation's wealth. It seems certain that, some day, the man lowest down, upon whom the tax bears heaviest, will insist on knowing just why this wasteful and burdensome expenditure is made. In the meantime, as a writer on the subject recently pointed out, while peace advocates are pondering their plans, it would be well for them to consider whether or not the methods of their peace propaganda have always been well adapted to their purpose. All peace advocates are not intemperate in their language, but those of them who call soldiers "butchers" or "feathered barbarians," and are fond of repeating that there is no peace that is a bad peace, lay themselves open to the charge of becoming as fanatical in one direction as the sword-rattling militants are in another.

LOOKING AHEAD. Mayor Frink, in his very interesting address to the newspaper men of the Maritime Provinces on Thursday evening, brought to public attention several matters which are worthy of immediate consideration. One of these was the rapid growth in the volume of trade passing through this port and the necessity for greater space in enlarging our transportation and terminal facilities in order that we may keep pace with the demands of the traffic.

His worship recalled the words of the late Charles M. Hays, delivered at a dinner in St. John two years ago, when he warned the people of this city that even if they set about the work of preparation on the following morning they would still be unable to complete it before the new traffic began to come.

The Mayor's words are emphasized by the application of an important line of steamers for berth room here which at this time is not available. While the port of St. John is making great progress and has much reason for satisfaction in some respects, it is necessary to remind ourselves that we have not done nearly so much in the way of providing new facilities as practically every other thought we should at the time the late Mr. Hays spoke here.

As the Mayor has said, this is not a matter of politics, but of national transportation. The facilities needed here are required by the trade of Canada, and therefore the work of providing for them in time is a national work and a Federal duty.

His worship also directed attention to the lack of railway facilities at the southern end of the city, and said a word about the possibility of the city taking over sufficient land in that quarter to provide additional truckage and industrial sites. He said that his words on this subject might lead some to regard him as a dangerous radical. That may be so. If it is to be said that St. John needs many more "radicals" of the same stamp, and we trust that the Mayor will take up the proposal which he made tentatively and place behind it the full weight of his knowledge and authority as the head of our civic government.

Such steps forward are progressive rather than radical; and they are sadly needed.

THE BUILDING BY-LAW. Calgary's building regulations (by-law No. 1866) contain the following: "Every apartment house of over two stories in height shall be built of fireproof construction, and of over three stories in height shall be of fire-proof construction, and have all external windows and doors fire-proof, nor shall any building be altered for use as an apartment house unless same is made to conform to the above condition."

"No apartment house shall have living rooms in basement, except quarters for janitor, unless basement ceiling is at least six feet above grade level, in which case the basement shall be considered as a story."

"No wooden apartment house shall hereafter be erected, nor shall any wood building be hereafter altered or converted to such use, when such buildings exceed two stories in height, exclusive of basement; nor shall any wooden tenement house wider than thirty feet and deeper than sixty feet, or the equivalent in area be hereafter erected unless the interior be subdivided by fireproof walls to that size."

Calgary is a rapidly growing community, and land values are high. Presumably its local transportation facilities are better than St. John's. Here one people have no street railways to carry them to the suburbs or even to some outlying portions of the city. This, however, is a defect that cannot long be tolerated. As we must assume that quick access to the outlying districts will be available before long it seems unwise to go on building dangerous or unhealthful houses in the city proper. The three story wooden house is probably not favored by any very considerable portion of our population. If we could get a general and representative vote on the by-law it would no doubt be carried easily enough. It is important that citizens should examine the question in a broad-minded way for themselves and vote on it.

A FREE PRESS. The first newspaper that ever appeared in England was when Queen Elizabeth tried to arouse the national spirit in the year of the Armada. We are familiar today with the power of the press on public opinion, but in the days of Elizabeth there was absolutely no precedent to which she could refer, and one of the great discoveries of political genius she anticipated in a most unusual way was the experience of history.

Joseph Nelson, the great jurist, said on one occasion: "It took a long time after the art of printing had been perfected before we learned the priceless value, the sovereign dignity, and usefulness of a free press. But these lessons have been taught and learned; taught for the most part by the prophets of our race, men living in advance of their age, and understood only by the succeeding generations. But you have the inheritance."

A free press has led to most of the blessings which the civilized world at this time enjoys, but the advantages of this freedom may be defeated by its abuse.

ST. JOHN'S INTEREST IN A NEW KNIGHT. The citizens of St. John who read that Mr. E. J. Chamberlain, President of the Grand Trunk, has just been made an Honorary Knight of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem will honestly wish him joy of this coveted distinction—but they will be thinking, at the same time, that if he were soon to receive another distinction in connection with St. John of New Brunswick. This St. John waits to hear from Mr. Chamberlain some definite news about the plans of the Grand Trunk Pacific at this port, and is awaiting the active preparations necessary to give the new transcontinental a direct connection with St. John and to provide for the expedition handling of export and import freight here. So far as the public knows, our city government has not yet heard from the Federal authorities or from Mr. Chamberlain anything definite about a connection between the Transcontinental and the Valley railway, or about the location and construction of grain elevators, passenger and freight depots and immigration sheds for the new line, although the fact is known that the G. T. P. is very soon to become a big factor in the moving of the western crop.

When the freight begins to move it must find an outlet. If St. John is not ready for the new winter business the traffic will have to go elsewhere. It has been suggested in some quarters that the G. T. P. cannot operate a train ferry at Lewis on account of the ice, and that therefore St. John need not expect any of the new business until the Quebec bridge is finished. This, however, is not the view of transportation men who know what is both possible and necessary. It appears that there is lack of understanding and cooperation between the government and the Grand Trunk Pacific authorities both with respect to the operation of the line from Winnipeg to Moncton and the construction of the necessary terminal facilities here.

How long is St. John to submit to inaction and uncertainty in these matters? The question is not a local one; it affects the business of the entire country.

GOOD AND BAD LAWS. The poet who wrote, "We are masters of the situation," declares Hon. Mr. Haazen with an authoritative air, and forgetting all about the Senate—Ottawa Free Press.

The scheme for the international police force in the form of a fleet under an international admiralty board, to compel the observance of the "law of nations," has been rejected at The Hague. Theoretically, such a force should prevent war and enable nations to disarm, but from a practical point of view, it is doubtful if it could yet prove to be a success. But the time is coming.

fair protection, presupposes a knowledge on the part of the framers of the tariff of every conceivable branch of every imaginable industry in all its varied relations. It is only by guess-work that the widespread effects of any provision can be determined. Favoritism builds up one industry, but in rejoicing over that one we forget the myriad of legitimate industries which this favoritism injures or destroys. Like a bad physician it barries the victims of its malpractice before the sight of criticism.

How are the deliberations of the men who construct tariffs guided? Nothing is clearer in the present discussions in the United States Congress, than that it is class against class and interest against interest. As a general rule the legislators are ignorant of the main consideration, and still more ignorant of the practical application of any proposed item. They must depend upon those who are sufficiently interested to go to Washington or to employ others to go there to argue with congressional committees as to the fairness of what each asks for himself. Each is careless of the effect upon others of the particular item which will benefit him, and he is jealous of the effect upon him of legislation desired by others. So the different tariff items are generally decided by a friendly arrangement among those interested, by which each abandons opposition to the other in consideration of the other agreeing to stand aside from additional benefit to himself. Legislators have not the omniscience necessary to arrange these laws in a much better way. As a rule they are a body of men who know something more about politics and something less about business than their fellow-citizens who are engaged in non-political pursuits.

The true nature and office of government is best described by Adam Smith when he said that the great cause of property was allowing the people to manage their own affairs in their own way. To confer a favor on one occasion is a loss and injury to others, and this all governments should hesitate about doing. It is most often by repelling obnoxious, vicious enactments that legislators entitle themselves to the gratitude of humanity.

I have compiled a cutting treatise for self help (book form) which I am pleased to send absolutely free by mail in a perfectly plain, sealed envelope to any man anywhere who writes for it. Over a million copies have already been thus distributed to those who wrote for them from all over the world. There is no obligation whatsoever involved in this offer, nothing which you are required to pay, nothing which you are required to pay for in any way, either now or in the future. It is just simply an out-and-out free proposal. In this little book of 72 pages, 8,000 words and 30 half-tone photo reproductions, I have endeavored to give a straight forward talk to men, young and elderly, single and married, a concise compendium for self-reference, a perfectly plain discourse upon those important personal matters relating to vital strength of men, the preservation of vitality, its possible self restoration, its legitimate uses and its wanton abuse. Every man should be in possession of this book. One part describes a little drugless mechanical vitalizer, which I make and distribute, but whether or not you wish to use one of these vitalizers is for you yourself to determine.

However, aside from anything it contains in reference to my vitalizer, the book should be read by all for its own real worth. Therefore, please use free coupon below.

Reader, the whole world is today alive to the importance of a better general understanding of sex hygiene. The much discussed science of eugenics is teaching the great mass of people that strong, healthy, rugged parents beget equally sturdy children.

Manhood, no matter where you live, is what condition of life we find it, is the single power that most fascinates both men and women. The one who radiates this manly influence, this result of a vigorous, sturdy nerve force, is the one who forges to the front, while weaker people stand aside.

It is my opinion that any man may hope for complete restoration of his manhood and vigor if he but make up his mind that he WILL conquer himself.

To gather information as to the needs of the city. 2. The organization of a company to provide for workmen's small, well-built houses on reasonable terms, situated in properly planned areas. 3. To take advantage of the housing act just passed by the Provincial Legislature and petition the City Council to pass a by-law to guarantee the securities of the contemplated Hamilton Housing Company."

Venezuela's troubles are many, and Castro seems to be only one of them. Uprisings, apparently not connected with Castro's cause, are reported in different parts of the country, and the indications are that these outbreaks against the Gomez regime are serious. There is a suspicion that the fine Italian hand of Gomez had something to do with the first uprising, on the theory that it might help him to have the country in a state of war at the time of the coming elections. If there is ground for that suspicion, Mr. Gomez is likely to be disappointed.

The New York Journal of Commerce, taking it for granted that they will be handed over to the authorities for removal from Canada, points out that there is a great difference between Canadian and American immigration methods. "In the United States," it says, "a man is considered undesirable if he has a distinct promise of employment, while in Canada undesirability is dependent upon lack of good prospects of work. A man who is likely to become a public charge through unemployment is not wanted there, while another who has agreed to work for an employer is considered a suitable immigrant."

The Journal points out further that this difference in legislation and in administration probably accounts for the difference in the character of the immigrant population in the two countries.

How Advertising Helps Province Colonel Arthur Morris, recently of the Duke of York's Royal Military School, Gupton, Dover, England, together with his wife and family, have been guests at the Brunswick Hotel this week while making an examination of the resources of Seasideville parish, Colonel Morris, who has been in correspondence for some months with parties in this vicinity, respecting its agricultural and shooting advantages, has decided after looking over the section, to purchase the Herbert Richardson farm, on Brooklyn Road, which comprises some one hundred acres together with a mill pond site. This farm, which is one of the best in the locality, also affords splendid snipe shooting.

It will be very gratifying to those who have interested themselves in boosting the resources of Seasideville and parish, to learn that Colonel Morris was largely influenced in coming to Seasideville by facts set out in the board of trade booklet, and still more after looking over the ground he is of the opinion that the section is even far better than represented.

The Company Doesn't Want To

Would Like to Lease Cochrane-Winnipeg Part Only—Grand Trunk Officials Arrive in Canada On Inspection Trip and Question Is Likely to Be Settled—Homestead Entries Decrease.

Ottawa, Aug. 24—Homestead entries in western Canada for the first half of the present year totalled 15,124. This is a decrease of 3,774, or over twenty per cent, as compared with the first six months of 1912, despite a considerable increase in immigration.

The arrival in Canada Saturday from London of Chairman Smithers of the Grand Trunk board of directors, accompanied by two other members of the board, will probably soon bring things to a head with the government in regard to the attitude of the latter towards the company in connection with carry- ing out the compact for leasing and operating the National Transcontinental Railway.

THE MASTERS OF THE "MASTERS"

(Toronto Globe.) "We are masters of the situation" Now, who are these masterful "we" Of what situation are they "masters" And by whose authority? The proud words were spoken by Hon. J. D. Hazen. His colleague was Hon. Robert Rogers. The lofty talking was done, so the despatches say, before a gathering of Conservatives in Vancouver two nights ago: "We are masters of the situation, and we intend to hold that position."

The situation which they pretend to have under thumb is the naval defence policy of Canada, which the government has muddled and bungled to the humiliation of the whole country. In justification of their boasted "masterfulness" they could point to a debate in the House of Commons in which the government dared not trust their own supporters in open argument, and in which they tried to silence also their opponents by introducing into the parliament of Canada the clause " gag" of a brute-force majority. The patented-lath power of these "masters" is witnessed in the refusal of parliament to pass the unauthor- ized naval "contribution" measure which the government "gagged" through the House of Commons without a mandate from the people. The confident courage of these "masters" was tested when they were challenged again and again to sub- mit their case and their conduct to the judgment of the electors, and, as men afraid of their own shadows, they stubbornly refused.

The humbling of these "masters" is in this, that, swaggers as they may on the Pacific coast, when they come back to Ottawa they feel the galling of the anti-British French-Nationalist yoke into which they put their necks when they took their step from the treason-talkers whose impudent boast it was that under the "tricolor of France" they would march to "shoot holes through the Union Jack." Neither Mr. Hazen with all his complacent Saxonian nor Mr. Rogers with his bullying bravado ever once dared to resent the insult of Cabinet association with men whose proclaimed intention was disloyalty to their country's flag.

Masters of the situation, foolhard! These men are not even masters of themselves. Mr. Rogers probably dictates to the Prime Minister, and were the Government allowed to spend the $35,000,000 "contribution" without review by the Public Accounts Committee, as their proposal stipulated, he would be the real rake-off-master, but in matters of the naval policy of Canada the anti-British Nationalists of Quebec have dictated to the loyal Conservatives of the whole Dominion—Orangetime, United Empire Loyalists, and all—ever since the Drummond-Arthabaska election. They are the masters of the "mas- ters."

WORTH WATCHING.

(New York Sun.) It is a common mistake to think that rudeness—which in some fearfully mud- dle headed way is sometimes thought to be "democratic"—is a sign of indepen- dence—London Spectator. In no other way can a certain type of honest gentleman express himself. That is why he invariably asks you "to pardon the blunt manners of an outspoken man." He is worth watching, and careful watching too.

GREAT VICTORY FOR THE SOUTHWEST GOVERNMENT

In Chesterfield Bye-Election Against Both Tory and Labor Parties.

London, Aug. 22.—By the Liberal victory at Chesterfield, the Unionist candidate in their campaign slumped and slumped, while the government is encouraged in its forward frame of reform.

A more serious lesson has been taught Labor party, whose officials disavowed the Liberal-Labor candidate, on ground that the alliance would violate the constitution and destroy the independence of the Labor rank file.

The Chesterfield constituency is composed mainly of miners, who are Radical to the backbone. The election has clearly indicated that the call of the Liberal will not alienate them from the Liberal.

The problem before the Labor party is the present time is whether they can stand to cut themselves adrift from the Liberal, which has equally at heart the massive cause.

Chesterfield seems to think it cannot.

Kitchener on a Holiday. (New York Times).

Lord Kitchener, British agent in Egypt, is now in England, enjoying his first vacation in three years. Despite his sixty-three years, he is said to work fifty hours a day, and does practically the whole work of the Egyptian government himself. His great ambition is to transform the Sudan desert into a cotton-bearing land, and this necessitates the building of two high dams on the Nile and White Nile above Khartoum which will cost $25,000,000, of which Kitchener has already secured $15,000,000 from Chancellor Lloyd George.

Missionary Declares Country is Governed by Atheists

TELLS OF HIS WORK

Rev. E. C. Hennigar, in Farewell Address, Makes a Strong Plea for Financial Assistance—Extent to Which Japan has Influence Over China—Some Striking Incidents.

That Japan is governed by agnostics and atheists, and men uncertain morally, was the declaration made by the Rev. E. C. Hennigar, who with his wife will leave St. John today as the missionary of the St. John Methodist district, at a farewell service tendered him at Centenary Methodist church last night.

Mr. Hennigar's address was listened to with close attention by a large congregation, and was a statement of his reasons for returning to Japan to continue his labors there in the province of Toiyama.

"The decay of all native religion in Japan is a constant call to western christianity," remarked Mr. Hennigar in commencing his farewell address. "This is especially true in the educated, the middle class, and the aristocracy. A religious census taken at the Imperial University of Tokio just before I left last time, showed that of 4,000 students only about 100 professed any religious belief at all. Of this 2.8 per cent. were Christians, and the remainder were largely true of all schools and colleges in Japan. And from the Imperial University is recruited the diploma men, the legislature, the learning and the teaching profession of the nation. The men who today are leading Japan politically, intellectually and morally are chiefly men who profess no faith in any religion whatsoever. Some Illustrations.

"In order to show you the extent to which Japan has reached in its influence over China, 70 per cent. of the present provisional government of that great republic are men educated at the Imperial University of Tokio. Nine out of the seventeen governors of Chinese provinces are men who have graduated from the schools of Japan. Japan exercises thus a tremendous influence on China today.

"This is the most striking incident in Japan is opening the sluice gates to a flood of vice and immorality. In order to show you this, here are two anecdotes. University was returning to the college one night when a woman leapt out of a dark hallway and stabbed him in the back. It turned out that the woman was his wife, who had left her several weeks previously and was at the time living with another woman who was not his wife in a different section of the city.

"In a similar town the principal of the high school was known by the students to be a constant frequenter of houses of ill-fame. This being the case the students thought that they might also visit the places, and their expulsion followed. Then the whole school struck, saying that what was good for their principal should also be good for them, and the government, forced to action, removed the principal.

"The province of Toiyama is on the border of Japan, a province scarcely touched by civilization and one to which the railroads have only recently reached. I consider it the best field for missionary endeavor in Japan. The Methodists are responsible for the success of the work in that province alone, having split the province with the Presbyterians. I shall live in a city of 80,000 and superintend a grammar school. The entire Methodist work there is financially dependent upon the people of the St. John district and I appeal to this congregation for financial aid as well as prayer for the success of my work."

An attractive programme had been arranged and was carried out by the Methodist Young People's Society in honor of Mr. Hennigar and his wife.

Miss Mary Chaisson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus A. Chaisson, of King street east, led the country as well as the city in High School entrance examinations this winning the lieutenant governor's medal.

FAKE ROAD SALES

ENGINEERED TO MISLEAD PEOPLE

(Carleton Sentinel.)

A real, genuine Tory road sale, was held at Lakeville on Saturday afternoon last. "The Deal road," so called, running from Lakeville to Wilmet and Charlton, is and has been for some years, practically impassable, and not long ago, the good Tories of that vicinity with a great flourish of trumpets, announced the fact that the local government had made a grant for the improvement of this road, of $800.

Notices of the sale for Saturday afternoon were posted in the village, but the specifications were carefully concealed. Just before the sale a caucus of the leading Tories of the village, with G. L. White, M. P. P., and the commissioner, was held in W. Wilson's store, where the plans were laid, and they immediately proceeded to the appointed place to carry them into execution. The superintendent of the road, Mr. White, commended that no sale was to be made, but obligingly carried out the programme.

The first piece was put up at auction, and promptly bid in by William Wilson, he of alderman fame, at $1.50 a rod, about one-half of what it would cost. Of course this precluded further bidding, and for the commissioner would fall to carry out his instructions. Mr. White, the member, quietly informed him that he was not bound to accept any person's bid. Then the commissioner allowed that the work would have to drop. The next section being the more difficult one, was then put up, and Sidney DeWitt, a prominent Conservative, agreed to build that portion for $60 a rod, about the correct figure. The commissioner, under instructions refused to let the contract.

The third piece was put up, with the same result, and Mr. White announced that the work would have to be done by the Tory. Previous to this J. F. Williams, the Tory councillor, made a speech eulogizing the Flemming government for honesty in the administration of public affairs. It was announced that the work would not be commenced until next spring, and probably just before the next election $800 or more would be squandered by the Tory heifers of that portion of Wilmet, for the purpose of inducing votes, the result, of course, being no road, and as usual the money squandered.

Mr. White is young at the business or he would not have gone through with the farce exhibited on Saturday last. Messrs. Flemming and Munroe are older, have had more experience in getting hoodling and do not make the mistake of pretending to put up public work for the Tory. Mr. White will learn and in future, no doubt, he will hear nothing further from road sales and he will allow his friends to squander the money as usual.

A good illustration of how this is carried out, was seen just below Lakeville, one day last week, when one of the new Tory road commissioners, after having spoiled all the smooth portions of the road with the road machine, was seen with himself, his team, his car and man, carting sods from the swamp with which to fill up a few holes in the road. The result being more mud, and $10 of the public money squandered. The other road sales and he will allow his friends to squander the money as usual.

The following transfers of real estate have been recorded:
Harold Chadwick to Lloyd Chadwick et al, property on Ludlow street, Carleton.
Harold Chadwick to Lloyd Chadwick, property on British street.
Samuel Galbraith to Ethel A. Shanks, property at Lancaster.
C. A. Morrison to L. W. Ledbrook, property at Lancaster.
E. L. H. Smith to the Penton Land and Building Company, property on Seely street.

The following five sales made by Allison & Thomas go to show that St. John real estate is being bought and sold regardless of the fact that the real estate business in practically every city in Canada has been very inactive of late. The large terrace of three modern residences Nos. 10 to 14 Mecklenburg street, lately owned by Mrs. Cruikshank, has been sold by Allison & Thomas to H. A. Doherty. This property has the large frontage of eighty feet on the south side of Mecklenburg street and the houses have been built only a very few years and are thoroughly modern in every respect and situated in one of the best residential districts of St. John. Allison & Thomas have sold one of the Josiah Fowler cottages in Wright street. The property consists of a large freehold lot, 40x220 feet, with a modern particularly well built cottage. A tenement house and warehouse on the east side of Long wharf near Main street, a leasehold property, has been purchased from Allison & Thomas by a local man. A large freehold property at the corner of Tower street and City road, lot 10x110, formerly a portion of the Gwynor estate has been sold to an outside purchaser; also a freehold lot on the corner of Charlotte street extension and City line has been sold by Allison & Thomas to a local buyer.

REAL ESTATE

John McDonald, Jr., inspector of inland revenue, has purchased the W. G. Dunlop property on King street east. It is a double tenement, and will shortly be removed there. Mr. McDonald and family will remove there at an early date. Philip Grannan, M. L. A., has bought the W. G. Estabrook property on Douglas avenue and will shortly remove there. Mr. Grannan recently through Messrs. Taylor and Sweeney. Shortly after the sale he traded the house with Mr. McDonald, who had acquired the Douglas avenue house.

It is understood that negotiations are in progress between Mr. Curry and the Toronto syndicate for the sale of this property consisting of three houses with

WOMAN IN CASE OF ALLEGED SUICIDE

Hartley Coyle, Desperately Wounded, Says His Own Hand Sped Bullet—Mrs. Kelly's Presence May Be Required in Court—"He Wanted to Marry Me," She Says—A Neighbor's Story.

Saturday, Aug. 23. A shot from a high powered rifle; a woman running desperately away from the scene; a Salvation Army convert lying in an alley, his life-blood flowing from a wound just below his heart—these are the facts which threaten to engulf the local police force in one of the most complicated cases they have ever had to deal with.

The man shot, Hartley Coyle, twenty-six, 8 Brimley street, in a statement made at the hospital last night, told the doctors that the wound that it is believed will kill him, was inflicted by his own hand. Circumstances surrounding the affair, however, point to a woman having been mixed in it, and the police will ask her to tell what she knows in court.

"He wanted to marry me," said this woman, Mrs. Thomas Kelly, when she was located by a Telegraph reporter at her husband's home in Sheverson street, last night, "but I wouldn't have him. He tried to commit suicide before. His mother told me."

Another Woman's Story.

About the only information concerning the connection of the woman with the case was secured on Saturday, when a Telegraph reporter who was on the ground soon after the shooting.

Last night Mrs. A. Carr, who lives at No. 7 Brimley street, returned home about 8 o'clock. Having some visiting to do, she left the house in charge of a girl and a young man, who lived with her, and instructed them to lock the front door, saying she would return by the back way. A short time before 9 o'clock she returned home, going up the stairs towards the back way.

At the end of the alley she saw a man leaning against the kitchen door of the next house. She called out and asked who he was. He replied: "It's only me, Hartley." Thereupon she entered her own house, thinking nothing more of the incident, as she lives next door to Coyle's.

"When I got inside the house," stated Mrs. Carr to the Telegraph last night, "I found that I needed some oil. I got the oil can and went out by the back way again to the store on Haymarket Square. When I was passing through the alleyway on my way out I did not see Hartley."

"I got the oil and started along City Road toward Brimley street. Just as I got to the corner of that street, a woman whom I recognized as Melia Dunham, known as 'Melie' to her friends, Mrs. Kelly, rushed passed me, dragging behind her an eleven-year old girl whom she had, I believe, adopted. I watched her, astonished, as she sped along City Road toward Haymarket Square.

Found the Body.

"Then, with a feeling that something was wrong, I hurried home. The entrance to the alleyway is only a few feet from the alley on Brimley street. When I got there I heard somebody groaning. Groping my way along a little way I felt a man's body lying on the ground and my hand struck something wet."

"Frightened, I hurried inside my house, lighted a lamp and called to the young man in the house to follow me. We went back to the alley and I found the man on the ground to be Hartley Coyle. Blood was staining his shirt at the side. Near his feet lay a small 22 calibre rifle. I did not touch anything inside an exploded cartridge.

"Some of the neighbors collected, and Edward Riley, who owns the four houses in the row, called the ambulance. Sergeant Smith was soon on the scene and he took charge of the rifle."

Regarding the woman Melia Dunham, Mrs. Carr has been reluctant to speak. Finally, however, she said:

"That woman has been living with Hartley and his brother Albert nearly all the summer. Soon after she came to the house, Mrs. Coyle, Hartley's mother, told me that she had heard her son had been shot, and I had often heard them quarrelling."

Other neighbors present said that they had heard Coyle and the woman Dunham quarrelling last night, just prior to the shooting.

Both the woman and Coyle, it is stated, are about 26 years old. Albert, Coyle's brother, is 22. The latter stated last night that he was in his room on the second story of the house washing when the shooting occurred. He did not hear any shot, he said.

A curious feature of the case is that both Coyle and the woman Dunham were converted by the Salvation Army last week, according to Mrs. Carr.

Up until a few weeks ago Coyle and his brother were employed as laborers by the city. The wounded man had not worked for a week, according to Mrs. Carr.

Mrs. Carr herself is a quiet, elderly lady of pronounced English speech. The tragedy has unnerved her. It is stated that Mrs. Coyle, Hartley's mother, is in a state of collapse. Hartley's brother Albert was at the hospital until a late hour last night.

The chief clerk said last night that he was looking fairly into all the phases of the affair. The woman Dunham was being searched for, he said.

Mrs. Kelly's Story.

Mrs. Thomas Kelly, better known as Amelia Dunham, was in bed last night at her home, 184 Sheffield street, when a reporter called.

"Two police officers called here tonight when I was in bed," she said, "and asked me about it too. They seemed to think that I had something to do with the shooting, and when I made the statement to them, they told me I would probably have to appear to give evidence in the police court."

"The young fellow mentioned your name when he was taken to the hospital, and before he lost consciousness he told of a love affair in which he was disappointed," said the reporter.

"Yes, he wanted to marry me, but he knew very well I couldn't, and if I could, I wouldn't."

"Some of the neighbors saw you about the house during the night, and it was thought that you might know his reasons for doing as he did," continued the reporter.

"Well you see, it's this way," continued the woman. "Coyle's mother is very ill. My family and hers had been neighbors and when I heard about the case last March I took compassion on the poor woman and went to live with her. She was very kind and I stayed with her for her. Her two sons, Albert and Hartley lived in the house. Hartley pretended to love me and wanted to marry me, but he again wanted me to be small, I took it, thinking that it was my kindness to his old mother."

"I left the house and went back again about July 12 and remained there until last Monday, when I came back to my own home. I continued to help the woman though, although Dr. Bentley had forbidden me on account of my health to live with her. Tonight early I went to her house in Brimley street to get her some clothing which I intended washing for her. When I went to the door, Hartley came to the door. When I went in he told me I had better stay, as I refused and told him I had to go right home. He again wanted me to marry him. I refused and he went out of the room apparently dejected. I bundled my clothes together and left the house seeing no more of Hartley. I got home here about 9:15 o'clock, and I knew nothing about the shooting until the policemen called here."

"Coyle is reported to have again asked about Coyle. She said that she did not feel able to appear in the police court. Her husband who was in the room during the interview advised her to go to the hospital and see the young man. She said she would do so in the morning."

It was Sergeant Smith and Policeman O'Neil who called at the woman's house.

At the hospital the authorities stated that every effort was being made to locate Coyle, and that an X-ray search would be made for the bullet. His condition, however, was given out as "very serious." The bullet entered the breast, passed very near the heart and lodged in the lung.

The man was conscious but suffering great pain.

"I shot myself because my girl left me," Coyle is reported to have answered when asked as to the shooting.

LATER.

At an early hour this morning the case took on a more serious turn when Patrick Coyle, father of the man who was shot, Albert, his brother and Miss Coyle, who lives at 184 Sheffield street, Miss Amelia Dunham, were taken to central police station and detained as witnesses. The police say all were in the house when the shooting occurred. The latest word is that the man who was shot, and who the bullet had not been recovered.

Monday, Aug. 26.

Hartley Coyle, aged twenty-six, who, it is alleged, shot himself on Friday night as a result of disappointment in a love affair, died in the General Public Hospital, after a long illness, at 11 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. He had been in the hospital since the afternoon of his injuries, the bullet having passed through the left lung and lodged in the back. Before his death the young man made the statement that he had committed suicide because his "girl had gone back" on him; but in spite of this admission, the police are suspicious.

Mrs. Carr has been secured from three persons alleged to have been in the house in Brimley street when the shooting occurred.

When Coyle arrived at the hospital on Friday evening, the physicians there were hopeful that he would live. X-ray photographs were taken in an effort to locate the bullet, but early Saturday morning he was taken to the morgue and he succumbed to the wound below the heart about 2 o'clock.

The three persons who were taken to the morgue and saw the body. To a Telegraph reporter he said that he would probably hold an inquest.

The three persons who were taken to the morgue were Patrick Coyle, father of the man who was shot; Albert, his brother, and Amelia Snow, alias Mrs. Thomas Kelly, who are alleged to have been in the house when the man was shot, and who were taken to the police station a few hours after the shooting, and detained.

Coroner Berryman will probably empanel a jury today and view the body before it is buried. When asked last night if the police had any intention of making an arrest, Deputy Chief Jenkins answered that there was none.

Coyle's body will probably be taken to his late home in Brimley street, where he was not converted by the Salvation Army, as was at first stated, but merely attended one of the meetings. He had been living with his father, mother and one brother.

Mayor Took Big Chance.

(Manitoba Free Press.)

Hamilton (Ont.), is celebrating its centennial this week. The whole city is gaily decorated. Mayor Allan has, in addition to Union Jacks, the Stars and Stripes flying from his own residence. It seems almost too much to hope for that Hamilton's week of rejoicing will come to a close without some brainless Empire-saver giving a hysterical demonstration that the flag of a feebly neighboring nation has the same effect on him that the traditional red flag has on a bull.
