HARTLAND HAS FINE RACE HORSES

Greatest String of Speedsters Assembled in One Stable This Season

Four people in Hartland or elsewhere know that right here in town there is one of the very finest strings of racing horses that was ever assembled in New Brunswick or Northern Maine. These horses are kept in the new modern stable erected by Dr. Macintosh last summer, and are cared for by George Stoddard, of Williamsport, Pa., who is one of the best known and most successful trainers in either New England, where most of his years of experience has been, or in New Brunswick.

Among the horses are two owned by Hartland's Driving Club—Ben Ali, 2:08 1/4, is eligible to the 2:15 class next season. He is a bay gelding by Wrentham, and was the largest money winner on the grand circuit in 1917, winning the Chamber of Commerce $10,000 stake, pacing two heats in 2:02 1/4. Colorado Rose, standard and registered, has a heat record of 2:21 1/4, and is eligible to any class in 1921; by Colorado B. 2:02 1/4, out of Minnie-the-Hotness, the dam of four with records, including Tim J., 2:04 1/4. She is half-sister to E. Colorado, 2:02 1/4.

Dr. Macintosh himself has four developed speedsters and four very promising colts. Xanthia, standard and registered, is a black filly, four years old, heat record 2:19 1/4; eligible to any class in 1921; by future Todd, out of Ubi A., dam of Emptiness, 2:08 1/4, full sister to Xanthia; also Lena Redcum, 2:16 1/4. Miss Peter Splap, standard and registered, has a record of 2:20 1/4; a bay trotter by Peter the Great, 2:07 1/4, world's champion extreme speed sire. Lena Marie, 2:15 1/4, bay mare, standard and registered, by George Muscovite, 2:06 1/4, eligible to any 2:30 class in 1921. Has been quartered in 25 seconds and half mile in 1:45. Alice Homeland, 2:19 1/4, has paced mile in 2:16; bay mare of Homeland, 2:19, eligible to 2:30 class.

Other speed horses in Hartland and vicinity are Old Glory, bay trotter 2:19 1/4, by Bingara and a full brother to Millie Irwin—owned by C. H. Taylor.

Peggy Hal and Molly Wood, owned by C. R. DeWitt. The former by Allie Wood. Both eligible to any class.

Irring Heart, 2:14 1/4, bay trotting stallion, by Great Heart, owned by Frank Hayden.

Onward Wilkes, bay pacing stallion, by Abbott Wilkes, owned by Stanley DeWitt.

Lady Bell, 2:19 1/4, by Baron Bourbon, bay pacer, owned by W. N. Stevens.

Lady Dufferin, bay trotting mare, by Lord Dufferin, owned by H. I. Kennedy.

Cassie W., the ice queen, by Aroostook Vassar, by Vassar, eligible to any class next season. Owned by G. Murray McLeod.

Dr. Macintosh's colts include Ruby Hill and Muster Hill Jr., a three and a two year old Muster Hill 2:19, by Autograph, by Alcantara, by George Wilkes, out of Rose Bourbon, by Baron Bourbon, by Baron Wilkes—Rose Bourbon on her dam's side is only three removed from Netwood. These colts are hard to beat for breeding. Vera Hill, standard and registered, brown filly, three-year-old, by Muster Hill, 2:19, out of Adeline Deveraux, 2:18 1/4. Babe Marie, a yearling filly, by Woodcliffa King, 2:09 1/4, out of Lena Marie 2:10 1/4. This filly is entered in the New England Stallion Breeders' Stakes for 1922 and 1923. She is a natural pacer and a most promising looking colt.

A FORWARD STEP

Thirteen of the Directors of the United Farmers Co-operative Company of New Brunswick met at Woodstock last Thursday to discuss the question of providing for an extension of the territory covered by their system of Co-operative stores to embrace any communities in Nova Scotia or Prince Edward Island which desire to unite with their system.

The meeting continued for three hours and was exhaustively discussed. Some of the directors pointed out very correctly that their company had been growing from the first and asked for consideration of the desirability of making time for a sufficient period to consolidate thoroughly the ground already covered by the system. Others argued that the spirit of co-operation demanded the extension of the system to any community where a sufficient number of persons were interested to make a new store practical. It was also pointed out that each new store was required by the by-laws to pay in sufficient capital to ensure its own success. At the same time, the whole organization was gaining in business strength and in general strength so as to make possible a more efficient administrative staff. These and other considerations pro and con were advanced.

Finally a resolution was passed unanimously on a standing vote as follows:

"In compliance with the request of the United Farmers of Nova Scotia, we the Directors of the United Farmers Co-operative Company of New Brunswick do recommend that the above Company extend their system of Co-operative stores to cover Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, the head office to be located at such a point in New Brunswick as will conveniently give best service to all three provinces."

Work will be taken up with a capitalization increased to $1,000,000.00. The annual meeting of the Company was postponed until December 25th in order that some of the officials might attend the sessions of the Canadian Council of Agriculture.

LIFE CRUSHED OUT BY BULL

Death of John Christie Occurred on Saturday Night

The death of John Christie occurred on Saturday night. Mr. Christie owns a large farm at Etouabine and was driving some cattle to Perth, where he was to sell them. On arrival there he was herding the cattle when one of them slipped and fell on Mr. Christie, crushing him to the ground. When the animal got on its feet it was found that Mr. Christie had been frightfully bruised. He was taken to a nearby house and medical assistance summoned, but he was so badly injured internally that he passed away. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Christie, and several brothers and sisters.

CONFERENCE RE VALLEY RAILWAY

A conference will be held soon in Montreal by representatives of the C. P. R., the C. N. R., and the provincial government to go into the matter of an agreement with regard to running rights for the St. John and Quebec Railway over the C. P. R. rails between St. John and Westfield. Premier Foster so announced yesterday.

The C. N. R. started operations over the Valley railway last year and the operation of the line from St. John to Westfield was carried on under a tentative agreement with the C. P. R. The Canadian Pacific officials are now asking that this agreement be made permanent and the premier said the C. N. R. refuse to sign on the grounds that they do not wish to assume any responsibility. Besides the payment for running rights the matter of bearing a portion of the costs of maintenance of the section of line is in question. If it is found at the proposed conference that the C. N. R. will not assume the liability, the premier said, he expected that the provincial government would have to do so in order to keep the line in operation.

IMPORTANT CHANGE OF TRAIN TIME

Possible to Have Connection with Late Train From St. John

There will be a general change of train time on Monday next. The most radical change affecting trains on this division will be that the south-bound express will run more than two hours earlier passing Hartland at 2:45 Atlantic time. The north-bound express will leave at 2:08, nearly an hour later than at present. The evening train from Woodstock will leave at 6 p.m., but there will be no change in the morning train for Woodstock.

The railway authorities have announced that if they could be convinced that there is a real demand for connection with the evening train from St. John to points between Woodstock and Aroostook, arrangements may be made so that the evening train from Woodstock will be held to connect with the train from St. John and Fredericton, as well as Houlton, arriving at Woodstock at 2:55.

There is no doubt that such an arrangement would be very pleasing to the people all along the line, and would result in increased traffic. Such an improvement in the service has been suggested by The Observer at each revision of the time table during the past ten years.

A BOOM AT STICKNEY

S. W. Smith has purchased a mill at Stickney and is completely rebuilding it over about 500 feet north of present site. He is installing two rollers and will be in a position to buy all the green pulp wood offered in the vicinity or on the river above Stickney. This will be in the long lengths which will save the producer a great deal of work as the green wood would have to be cut into four feet lengths and loaded into box cars. He will buy your logs and pulp wood altogether and pay highest prices.

He has also opened a branch store at Stickney which will be very convenient for the people of that vicinity as he will keep a larger assortment of goods than has been kept in that vicinity with prices as low as possible consistent with value and good business. He solicits the patronage of the people of that vicinity.

POST-NUPITAL RECEPTION

On Thursday and Friday of last week Mrs. C. D. Dickson held a reception for her friends for the first time since her marriage. Her mother, Mrs. M. M. Cummings of Canterbury, received with her and her young sister, Margarette, was in attendance at the door. Mrs. N. Franchette poured the tea and Misses Evelyn Todde and Abbie Drake served. The bride looked very winsome in her bridal gown of white satin. The rooms were charmingly decorated with white carnations and ferns. Many friends were in attendance and a very pleasant and social time was spent.

SUFFERING OF YOUNG WOMEN

This Letter Tells How It May Be Overcome—All Mothers Interested.

Toronto, Ont. I have suffered since I was a school girl with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I am a children's nurse, and I was on bed at times when I was unfit for work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines, but was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to perform an operation, but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how thankful I am that I tried it, and how relieved from pain and cramps, and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women, as I am only too glad to recommend the medicine. —JEAN KENT, 42 Blanford Ave., Toronto, Ont.

A HOSTAGE TO VANITY

By OTILLIA F. PFEIFFER

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

It was vanity and opportunity that caused Muriel Dymos to fall into the temptation and error of her life. Roger Bird had invited her to the opera and for his sake she wished to appear at her best. It needed no art to enhance her natural beauty and gracefulness, but like every young girl, self-adornment appealed to her and the chance of her life to particularly shine in the eyes of others lured her into a maze of trouble.

She had been the home teacher of little Mina and Paul Secrist, children of very wealthy parents, and both Mr. and Mrs. Secrist were kindly indulgent to her and allowed her to share in the best there was in the house. The parents were going away for a few days and Mrs. Secrist, who had learned of Roger's invitation, spoke pleasantly the morning of their departure.

"You are at liberty to wear my opera cloak tomorrow evening, Muriel, and any of my trinkets or jewelry that meet your fancy," she said.

"Oh, thank you!" beamed the delighted Muriel, "you are too kind to me."

"I fear I am working against my own interest in encouraging Mr. Bird to some day steal you away from us," said Mrs. Secrist smilingly.

"Oh, I think there is no danger of that," responded the blushing Muriel, but secretly hoped so.

Everybody about the house idolized the charming girl who had a smile and a kind word for the humblest mortal. They all admired her and sympathized in her anticipated evening of enjoyment with the manly, handsome young fellow who was to escort her to the opera. All the afternoon the housekeeper and the nurse took charge of the children so that Muriel would have ample leisure to prepare and dress for the occasion.

About dusk Muriel went into Mrs. Secrist's room of which she had been left the key. She was enchanted to think of the generous invitation to use what articles of jewelry she liked and a modest neck pin and a ring with a neat setting were chosen and worn with complacent happiness. Pleased and satisfied with her choice, Muriel was about to go downstairs when chancing to open a drawer, her eyes were fixed upon an article of adornment that fairly fascinated her. In enchanted ecstasy Muriel fastened her eyes on the beautiful necklace that looked up at her from its nest of satin.

"It is the lovely one that Mrs. Secrist wears on grand occasions, so precious and envied," she murmured. "How careless to leave such a valuable belonging in an unlocked drawer. Oh, you beautiful! How does it look on me? Oh, if I dared—if I dared!"

She thrilled and trembled at the suggestion of what a rare three hours pleasure she could have from wearing this marvel of worth and beauty. Her breath came quick as she gazed upon her reflection in the mirror. How proud Roger would be of her! For once she could pose as a grand lady. Indeed, yes she dared. Where was the harm? She would return it safely and no one would be the wiser.

"You make one think of some royal queen," Roger whispered to her as removing her wraps at the opera house she suggested the acme of royal opulence. Muriel was in a fervent glow of delight all that evening. The tender parting words of Roger rewarded her for looking so lovely. She ran up the stairs to her room satisfied, jubilant, perfectly happy, and then—

"The necklace! It's gone!" fell from her appalled lips.

Well might the words almost scream from her ashen lips. Well might she quiver and reel. She sank to a chair gasping for breath. A cold horror came into her face. Then she ran down the stairs through the vestibule even out to the curb, looking everywhere, returning sick at heart, weeping in despair that seemed to shroud the world in darkness. She restored the open cloak to its wonted cabinet and went to her bed feeling guilty as some thief.

She passed a restless night. In the morning sending word to the housekeeper that she was ill. Roger called, to go away anxious and despondent, for he would not see him. What would Mrs. Secrist say at the loss of her priceless possession? How could she atone for this reckless dalliance with vanity at such a frightful cost?

Muriel dreaded the hour when confession must come. She shrank away among the pillows the second morning when she heard Mrs. Secrist in the hall solicitously inquiring about her.

"The poor dear!" sounded the sweetly sympathetic tones, "I must console and nurse her. Tell the house to be very quiet until our dear is quite well again."

"Oh, Mrs. Secrist, the necklace!" burst forth Muriel as the lady entered the room, and then she was dumb as her startled eyes fell upon the necklace in Mrs. Secrist's hand.

"Yes, I found it caught in the lining of my opera cloak. It is only the replica, you know, worn for ordinary occasions. The real necklace is at my bankers. Why, my love—quick! quick!" screamed Mrs. Secrist. "Miss Muriel has fainted away."

It was to arouse sobbing out in the loving arms of the kind-hearted lady the wretched story of her two days of dread and sorrow, a hostage to vanity.

MORE OR LESS A MYSTERY

Few seem to know the Real Facts Concerning the So-Called Monkey of Mons.

Are you acquainted with the monkey of Mons?

An array officer brought home from Belgium a replica—a tiny silver figure with one clawish hand posed reflectively against its chin and with a look of introspection in its deepest eyes. In showing it to a friend he mentioned that, like a number of officers who had been to Mons, he carried the thing as a memento. The friend told a woman about it, and she, being unacquainted with the monkey of Mons, asked a soldier who had been there.

"Never heard of it, but you can't judge by me, as I was only in Mons a couple of days—got great coal mines there, though."

Another soldier who had been to Mons long enough to go sightseeing was impressed mainly by the cathedral of St. Waldevius—built in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries; Gothic architecture, and the monkey must have been there of course, but—

Then the woman extended her inquiry to a private who had hobbled around Mons for two hours while waiting to get away.

"Sure I saw it. Bronze statue in a street—or maybe it was one of those gargoyles things on the church wall, but, anyhow, I saw it—at least it looked like a monkey, though I wouldn't be willing to swear to it."

Which is the way of this cry: "Are you acquainted with the monkey of Mons?"—Washington Star

KNIFE ENDED ALL SQUAWKING

Pets of Clemenceau No Longer Created Disturbance, After Undergoing a Slight Operation.

M. Clemenceau's love of pets, of which much has appeared in the press since his recent visit to London, once involved him in trouble with his neighbors. Twelve years ago, during his first term as premier, he had a number of peacocks and storks installed in the gardens attached to the ministry of the interior. There are no trees in these gardens, only lawn and flower beds, which M. Clemenceau's opinion lack animation—hence the peacocks. But other people living in the Place Beauvau complained that these birds were too animated, their cries being so persistent as to render sleep impossible.

Things reached such a pass that the prefect of police was asked to indict his official superior for disturbing the peace of his neighbors, who were all the more indignant because M. Clemenceau went home every night to sleep at his flat in the Rue Franklin, far out of the range of the peacocks' cries. However a scandal was averted by the premier allowing a slight operation to be performed on the vocal chords of his pets, which, without otherwise injuring them, rendered them incapable of squawking.

And Still Eggs Are High

The hens need a walking delegate. Grinding the beaks of the poor unprotected fowls seems to be the modern poultier's long suit. Witness the modern working day of an unhappy hen on an up-to-date chicken farm, where as many as 18,000 eggs are hatched at one time.

Electric light has done it. The lights burn steadily until 10 p. m. At 2 a. m. they are turned off gradually until their full glare wakes the hen. The poultry then sit up and rub their eyes and think, "How short the nights are getting! Yet it's certainly daylight. Well—just one darned day after another!" Nights are short. The touching innocence of the hen victimizes it to the extent of getting only six hours sleep a night. Eight-hour day! Why, the chicken works as long as the farmer!—The Nation's Business.

WIDOW OF JOHN CAMPBELL DEAD

At the home of D. A. Campbell, Hartland, at noon on Friday, Nov. 19, the death occurred of his mother, Mrs. Louisa, widow of John Campbell, who died at his home at Peel 20 years ago. Mrs. Campbell was 76 years of age and had been a sufferer from heart trouble for a long time. She was brought from Peel on the Saturday previous to her death to spend the remaining days of her life with her son here. But her days were few. Although she had been able to be on her feet up to the day of her death, the end came suddenly, yet peacefully.

Mrs. Campbell was the daughter of David Ebbett and is survived by children as follows: Earl at Peel; D'Archele at Hartland; May (Mrs. Linden F. Shaw) in California; John, Peel, and Harry in California. There also survive brothers and sisters—Emerson Ebbett, Mrs. Hill; Harvey and Thomas, Peel; Joseph in the west; Mrs. Eliza Harmon, Mrs. John Corey, Mrs. John Foster, Peel; Mrs. A. W. Clark, Hartland.

The funeral was held at the old home on Sunday, Rev. E. A. Tristen preaching comforting sermon. The remains were laid to rest beside those of her husband in the burying-ground at Upper Brighton, where sleep many of her old neighbors.

ROBERT STEAD'S NEW ROMANCE

Robert Stead, once of Calgary now of the Civil Service in Ottawa, is today second only to Ralph Connor in popularity as a Canadian romanticist. Like the author of "The Sky Pilot," he has chosen the west as his stamping ground. From his early boyhood he lived in the prairie country and no one knows all its many-sided life better than he does. Out of this adventurous region came his first novels, "The Ball Jumper," and "The Homesteaders." His first novel, "The Cow Puncher," is also wholly western in its atmosphere and action. His new story, "Dennison Grant," so-called from the name of the hero, offers some variation in his previous novels in that it shifts from east to west and from west to east, just as the author himself has done. The opening chapters are laid in the ranching country of Alberta and describe the tragic rivalry of the Y. B. gang and the Grant gang in their contention for the hay rights in a wild valley in the foothills of the Rockies. It was in the course of this exciting melee that Dennison Grant first came into touch with old Y. B.'s daughter, the wild and vivacious Zen, the most attractive of all Stead's heroines. The story swings from Alberta to an eastern city, which has no name but is probably Toronto, then back to Alberta once more. The climax is remarkably free from conventionality and will thrill the reader with its passion and unusual dramatic situations. An intensely interesting love story, this romance is bound to be one of the big sellers of the season. It is published by the Munson Book

Listen!

Have you heard about Peps? Peps is a scientific preparation put up in pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles.

Peps contains certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapour and are breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey, they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs.

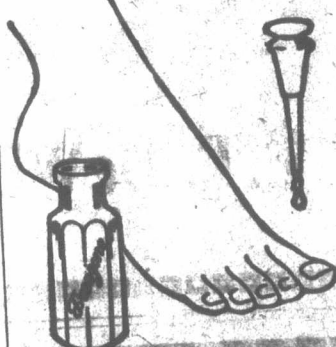

However, whether in liquid or solid form, Peps gets to the lungs and air passages, these Peps fumes get there direct, and at once commence healing.

CREAMOLINE

FORT FAIRFIELD HAS A FINE HOTEL

The Observer man recently spent a weekend at The Plymouth, Fort Fairfield's splendid hotel, of which D. T. Day, a former Hartland boy, and favorably known along the St. John river as a hotel man, is the manager. He seems to be holding down his job with a high degree of success.

The Plymouth Hotel is owned by a company of business men and farmers who had such faith that a really good hotel would attract such numbers of people to the town, people of the free-riding class, that they built and equipped his splendid hostelry at a cost of nearly $100,000. The hotel itself has never paid a profit, but it is considered that the investment pays handsomely as an advertisement for the town and through the fact that it has all times from 30 to 60 people who can afford to pay $5 a day for their board, and who, it is reasonable to assume, would also spend considerable money around town. The local merchants find that guests at the Plymouth are free buyers at their stores.

The hotel building is a four story wooden structure of very pleasing design. Its interior is beautifully finished and modern to the last degree. Of the 60 sleeping rooms 20 are furnished with private baths. Included in the furnishings of each room is a steam radiator and a telephone. The house is also equipped with an electric passenger elevator. The dining room will seat a hundred or more and at dinner on the Sunday on which the writer was there 80 guests were at the tables at one time. An orchestra furnished pleasing music during the meal. The food and service is, of course, of the highest standard.

Mr. Day says that especially at weekends every room in the house is often occupied; and during motor-ing season Sunday dinners are served from 30 to 100 guests.

If the town of Hartland possessed a hotel about one quarter as elaborate and otherwise with service just as good as the Plymouth it would be one of the very best investments for the town's welfare that could be made.

Growing Old Together

THIS aged couple, mellowed by time and the experiences of life, are happily growing old together.

They are happy because they are healthy. Life is still full of interest to them, and they are wide awake to new ideas.

These are the kind of old people that everybody likes. For, in spite of the years, they are cheerful and optimistic.

It is only natural that the blood should get thin and vitality wane as age advances, but there are ways of keeping up the quality of the blood and maintaining health and vigor.

Very many men and women have found in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food exactly what they need to restore energy and strength and keep them healthy and happy.

As an example Mr. Stephen J. Leard, North Tryon, N.C., writes: "At seventy-five years of age my heart gave out and became very irregular and weak in action and would palpitate. My nerves also became weak and I could do nothing but lie in bed in a languishing condition, losing strength and weight. In that condition I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and am cured. Had I not obtained this treatment I would now be in the box with the roof over my nose. At eighty-one I have an energy which I wish to go on and I am writing this letter so that old people like myself may prolong their health and strength by using this great medicine."

There can be no doubt that this treatment contained exactly what was required to build up Mr. Leard's system.

We are constantly receiving so many letters of this kind that we can, with the greatest confidence, recommend people of advanced years to put Dr. Chase's Nerve Food on trial, as a means of restoring and maintaining health and vigor.

Here is another interesting letter. This time from a lady:

Mrs. Joseph Lalonde, Hydro Glen, Ont., writes: "I have to thank you very much for what your medicines have done for me, especially the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills. I was so run down and nervous last summer that I was in bed most of the time, unable to do any work. I have also been troubled with my kidneys for over twenty years and tried every doctor I knew of without any permanent results, but I can say that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills have made me feel quite different. Since taking this combined treatment I have been able to do my housework, and although I am now 76 years old, I feel better than I have for years."

"I know Mrs. Joseph Lalonde and believe her statement regarding Dr. Chase's medicines to be true."—W. F. Plannery, Postmaster.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. Only the genuine bears the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, on every box.

Thomas A. Edison

From Edison To YOU!

EDISON'S NEW DIAMOND AMBEROLA

The World's Greatest Phonograph Value

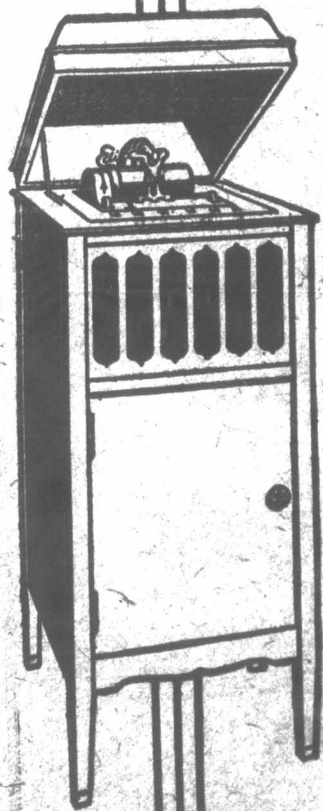

THINK of the vast difference between Edison's Amberola and ordinary phonographs or "talking machines". The Amberola is the product of matchless inventive genius—of inspiration. Other phonographs are plain, factory-made machines, devoid of inspiration.

Thomas A. Edison's master mind conceived the Amberola to entertain mankind. Commercial phonographs are put together with just one object in view—to sell at so much profit.

No wonder the Amberola has demonstrated its superiority time and again in public comparative tests with "talking machines" and commercial phonographs.

The marvelous tone of the Amberola—the permanent, genuine Diamond Point Reproducer (no needles to change)—the practically unbreakable, everlasting Amberol Records—all reveal the genius of Edison. And the surprising, low cost of the Amberola puts high-priced "talking machines" and commercial phonographs to shame.

Let us show you how easy it is for anyone to own an Amberola. Call at our store or write to us in the next few days. Even if you are convinced you cannot afford an Amberola, put it up to us to make it possible. So remember—call or write—soon.

HENRY J. SEELEY, Hartland, N. B.

Judge Carleton on Thursday, having been committed for trial and elected for speedy trials. Harry Roddie (colored) and George H. Joffel were accused of breaking into the warehouse of the United Farmers and stealing goods. Roddie pleaded guilty. Joffel was represented by R. P. Hartley. Roddie was the chief witness against Joffel, swearing that Joffel stayed outside while he went in and got the stuff. The officers making the arrest gave evidence of finding part of the goods in Joffel's possession. The defence set up an alibi, producing several witnesses who swore that at the time the accused was alleged to have been at the warehouse he was at a meeting of the Holy Rollers. The accused gave no evidence. The judge found him guilty of the charge of breaking and entering. C. J. Jones acted for the crown. Joffel and Roddie were each sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Wilnot Brock was tried on a charge of an offence against a young girl, his niece, and was acquitted. C. J. Jones for the accused.

Sheriff Foster left Thursday for Dorchester with the two prisoners—Woodstock Press.

You can have all these helps on the farm

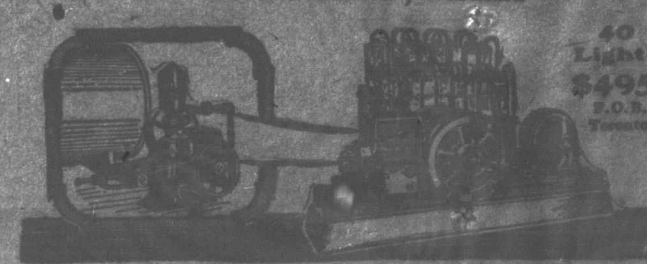

IN the best lighted farm homes, brilliant, clean electric light floods every room, cellar, stairways, stables, and other buildings at the touch of a button. These folks also have running water in bathroom, laundry, kitchen and outbuildings by turning a tap. No one turns the separator, grindstone, fanning mill, or churn—the "F" Power and Light Plant does all these jobs as quickly and easily as it pumps water.

The womenfolk are not slaves to the wash tub, and there are no lamps to fill and clean—the "F" Plant ends such drudgery. They save time and labour by using an electric iron and vacuum cleaner. The farm help is contented, does more work and becomes attached to the place.

You can live under the same happy and prosperous conditions.

Call in the first time you are near and learn how the "F" Power and Light Plant will save dollars, and work for you.
