and cynicism as a man hedging on a race course changes when he hears something detrimental to his favorite. If, said Lord Salisbury, the enthusiasm of the Healyites is disinterested it is worthy of the highest applause, but if it is merely a screen for political maneuvering it is worth the deepest condemnation.

Lord Salisbury proceeded to denounce the Gladstonians for offering the Chief Secretaryship for Ireland to Parnell while the foremost things were alleged of him and Capt. O'Shea's action for divorce was pending. Would anyone, he asked, select as a partner, banker or agent, a man against whom an action for bigamy was pending? The Great Medical Discovery of the Day.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Sir Joseph Lister, in a speech at King's College on his return from Berlin, announced that within a month the world would be startled by two new discoveries. LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Argentine Committee made considerable progress Tuesday, but the great divergence of the English and foreign members of the committee as to the nature of the relief to be suggested to the Government resulted in the withdrawal of Her Hausmann and Caban Danvers, the French delegate. CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Ex-Congressman John F. Finerty yesterday declared Parnell's breach with Gladstone would not hurt the home rule cause. He said: "England never gave up anything unless she was forced to. An alliance of Parnell with Gladstone has been a curse to Ireland. The English cannot be trusted where Ireland is concerned. Parnell's great aim is the means of Ireland's political regeneration."

PARIS, Dec. 4.—The Customs Committee of the French Chamber of Deputies have adopted the following resolutions: 1. LONDON, Dec. 4.—After reading the text vote in the Parnellite meeting in London Tuesday night Mr. O'Brien, on behalf of his colleagues, sent the following cablegram to the editor of United Ireland: "I am glad to hear that the Parnellite party in London insist that the representatives of the people shall not be bullied. They speak from solemn convictions that Parnell's leadership means destruction. LONDON, Dec. 4.—Lord Salisbury, in a speech at Waterford, Lancashire, last evening, said that while he praised the moral outburst against Parnell, he regretted that the breaches of the sixth and eighth commandments committed by the Irish people had hitherto been allowed to pass without blame. He said that he had turned and rent him. The Liberal leaders, Lord Salisbury said, had no decided view regarding Parnell until they saw the effect which the revelations had on the religious portion of the community. He challenged Gladstone to give the success of the Irish cause in Parliamentary legislation is assured. If you do not, all the success of the last few years will result in final failure.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The News publishes a letter from President Evans, of the Liverpool Reform Club, with whom Parnell said the evening after his interview with Gladstone at Haverden. Evans says Parnell conversed freely with him regarding the purport of the interview, and was evidently much impressed with Gladstone's cordiality and still more with the thoroughness of his proposals concerning Ireland, which Parnell said went further than the proposals of any great English statesman could be expected to go, and meant a most satisfactory solution of the Irish question. Parnell told Evans that the next Parliament would witness the historic scene of the Parnellites crossing the floor of the House, and for the first time in his history sitting on the Government side, provided Gladstone was in power.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Lord Salisbury, in his speech at Waterford, Lancashire, last night, asked what right Messrs. but says that in every other respect he has failed. He has succeeded in attaching to himself only one-third of the Irish members of the House of Commons. The triumph of patriotism over Parnellism is certain. The paper denounces the Clancy amendment as a continuation of Parnell's obstructive tactics, which the majority who have taken stand against the fallen despot should sternly reject. The temporary arrangement of Parnell will not avail.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Nationalist members of the House of Commons met again at noon to further consider the question of Parnell's leadership. All the Irish members but one were present. Mr. Parnell occupied the chair. After the meeting had been called to order one of the members read the manifesto issued yesterday by the Catholic hierarchy in Ireland declaring that in consequence of the revelations of the O'Shea divorce case which convicted Mr. Parnell of one of the greatest offenses known to religion and society, the hierarchy could not accept as a leader a man wholly dishonored, and that the continuation of his leadership would imperil the cause to which he professed to be devoted.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—During the proceedings of the Nationalists yesterday Mr. Parnell announced that the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Commons had granted the Irish members the use of the committee room until 7 o'clock. Mr. Healy disputed that official's right to determine the length of their deliberations, and requested that he be notified of that effect. Mr. Parnell declared that the message that Mr. Healy suggested be sent to the Sergeant-at-Arms was impertinent.

FIFTY VESSELS FROZEN IN. CHARLESTOWN, P. E. I., Dec. 4.—Reports of the late disastrous storm still continue to come in. It is said that there are nearly 50 vessels frozen in at different island ports. The schooner Mary D., Capt. Reid, lies stranded at Squaw Bay, inside of Crown Point, this island. The Mary was loaded with hay at Wallace, N. S. She left there Sunday night. The storm struck her, and after a terribly rough and dangerous passage the captain and crew worked their way to the block house, where they were rescued. The hands were saved. Capt. Reid reports his brother left Wallace about the same time as he did in another schooner, loaded with hay also. She has not been heard of since.

PARNELL AND MRS. O'SHEA.

They Cannot Marry Without the Captain's Consent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Quite a number of public men in this city during the past week allowed themselves to express the opinion that were Mr. Parnell to make the only repatriation left in his power by marrying the divorced wife of his former friend, Mr. Gladstone and John Morley, together with his colleagues of the Irish Parliamentary party, might be induced to overlook the position in which he has placed himself and to continue to recognize him as the leader of the Irish people.

Those who take this view, however, are altogether ignorant of the procedure in English divorce courts. A prominent English lawyer now visiting this city said to-day that even were Mr. Parnell inclined to adopt the suggestion, there is an insurmountable barrier in the way.

In the first place, six months must elapse under the English law before the decree granted to Capt. O'Shea can be made absolute, while in the meantime neither the Captain or his ex-wife can marry again. Not only this, however, but the motion to make the decree absolute must be initiated by Capt. O'Shea himself. If, therefore, the latter has no desire or inclination to involve himself in another matrimonial entanglement and to equally determine that his ex-wife shall not be given an opportunity to marry her paramour, he can accomplish his end by allowing the decree to remain in its present condition, what is known as a decree "in solido." This would have the effect of preventing his ex-wife from ever marrying again, and were she to become Mrs. Parnell by the present arrangement, she would be liable to prosecution for unlawful cohabitation should she return within the jurisdiction of the English courts. It will therefore be seen that so far as the domestic affairs are concerned, both Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea are absolutely at Capt. O'Shea's mercy.

THE IRISH LEADERSHIP.

What Irish-Canadians Say on Parnell's Retention of the Office.

In reply to the request of the ADVERTISER, the following additional opinions in regard to the question whether or not, in the interests of Irish unity, Parnell should resign his office, are here published. Additional opinions have been received:

Peter Ryan, Toronto.—The cause of Ireland's legislative independence ought to be dearer than personal loyalty to any man. A good, imperious cause should have a clean, moral leader.

C. J. Doherty, Montreal.—Parnell should decidedly not retire. Ireland needs and can trust Parnell. She can do without and cannot trust Gladstone.

Hon. T. W. Anglin, Toronto.—The evidence which proved Parnell guilty of the charges made by O'Shea proved him also, utterly unfit to lead a religious people in their struggle for legislative independence because he is beyond doubt thus guilty; he should be deposed immediately if he will not resign. No matter what British Liberals or other party may say, his desperate efforts to retain the leadership will prove ineffectual, but if they are prolonged, as now seems possible, they may do much mischief.

H. J. Cloran, Montreal.—As requested, I send the following opinion: Parnell's usefulness is too great to be hastily cast aside. The cause of home rule needs his wisdom, his judgment and his statesmanship to bring it to a successful and adequate issue. If Parnell's retirement became a political emergency it should be accomplished only on the advice of his friends and on the demand of the Irish people, and not at the dictation of opponents or strangers, or by the intrigues or maneuvers of world-beating successors to the Irish leadership. Ireland and the cause of freedom owe too much to Parnell to deprecate him on the impulse of the moment.

Senator Donoghue—I am of opinion that in the interest of the Irish cause, so long and ably maintained by Parnell, he should for the present retire.

Kicked to Death.

PETROLIA, Ont., Dec. 4.—A man named Louis Davidson was killed yesterday at Oil Springs by a kick from a horse.

During Robbery in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—In broad daylight Tuesday afternoon, J. N. Asier, cashier of the Alton Packing Company, was held up by a party of unknown men and relieved of $3,200 in cash. Eighteen hundred men were working in the packing house of which the office is a part. A messenger who entered the office was covered by a revolver. Backing out the robbers thrust a jimmy through the outside latch of the door to the office and escaped with their booty.

Cut with a Saw.

ESSEX CENTER, Ont., Dec. 4.—William Patterson, employed at the stove mill here, got his arm caught between a belt and the pulley which drives one of the saws, and was drawn down upon the saw. One of the men noticed him in time to pull his head to one side or it would have been severed from his body. The saw glanced along the left side of his head, shaving off a portion of the skull. His left arm was badly smashed. Patterson is 55 years of age, married, and has a small family.

Verdict Against the Government.

OTTAWA, Dec. 4.—Judgment has been delivered by Mr. Justice Burbridge, in the Exchequer Court, in the case of the North-west Navigation Company vs. the Queen. The plaintiffs sought to recover $11,651.50, balance of an account for $21,069 rendered to them by the Government for the transport in July, 1885—from Grand Rapids to Selkirk—of 1,585 officers and men, under the command of General Middleton. There was a delay of eight days, occasioned by the Major-General waiting at Fort Pitt for Big Bear to come in and surrender. During that time ten of the steamboats and barges were lying idle. Judgment for the North-west Navigation Company for $4,900 in addition to the sum already paid.

Lost With All Hands.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 4.—Intelligence was received here last night of a terrible disaster in the bay of Fundy, off Harborville, Cornwallis, a schooner being capsized and going down with all hands. The disaster occurred Monday, two miles distant from the shore, being witnessed by parties on land, who were unable to render assistance. The vessel sank ten minutes after turning over. The identity of the schooner is unknown, but wreckage began to wash ashore two hours after the disaster.

The schooner J. W. Durant, which went ashore yesterday near Souders, is a total wreck. She was a new vessel of 150 tons register, and owned by D. A. Huntley.

"I SHOT HER STONE DEAD."

A Lito-Prisoner's Death Bed Confession Why William Rowlands Killed

[From the Kingston News.]

"Bister, can I see William Rowlands, the life prisoner from the penitentiary, who is a patient here?" said a News reporter to-day to the lady janitor at the Hotel Dieu this morning. "Certainly," replied the nun, and the reporter was ushered to the sick man's bedside. There lay an old man, who had passed the three score years and ten allotted to man, and who has spent the evening of his life expiating an awful crime—the murder of his wife. Death had already laid his hand upon Rowlands, and the prisoner knew it. The old man lay in his bed, looking calm and peaceful, and apparently resigned to meet the grim enemy advancing to claim him for a short story of his life, he said: "I am 75 years old. I was born in Tipperary, Ireland. I lived at Chatham. I always tried to live well, and may God forgive me for the crime I have committed, but I was driven to it. I had a good farm near Chatham. After my father-in-law got married to Pat Congreve my wife and I always at me to divide up my fine farm. My two sons, Pat and Mike, were just as bad as she, and never gave me a moment's peace at home. I know that my wife used to drum me for food. I was in fear of my life at times. On Oct. 18, 1882, I came in from the barn at 4 p.m. I was nearly dead at the time. I said, 'I told you before not to try and drum me. She laughed. I went up stairs and got a shotgun and came down and shot her stone dead. She fell without a word. I didn't feel sorry at the time for since I have realized my terrible work. May God forgive me and have mercy on her soul. My sons were bad men and put my wife against me. I have been eight years in the penitentiary."

The dying man appears to be thoroughly repentant. He wound up his statement by saying: "God bless you, sir, whether you are a priest, or whether you write things for a newspaper, I hope you'll tell the public that poor William Rowlands, although a condemned murderer, is not the hard-hearted ruffian that people think he is. I know I deserve my punishment, but God knows I've paid my debt, at least I've tried to by sorrow. I have been eight long years in the prison, and I hope that night has come, or never an hour that I haven't asked God to pardon my few seconds of passion that robbed me of the woman I loved and courted 40 years ago, that took me from my children for ever, and that put me here a disgraced man. I am sinking into my grave now, but please give the people my last few words, and tell them that I, William Rowlands, though justly punished by the law, had no murderous feelings in my heart. I believe that my poor old wife will meet me with open arms in that great eternity where I am nearly due."

The old man wanted to talk more, but the News man seeing that he was over-tiring himself, gave him a kindly good-bye and left.

The old man's pathetic words and manner would have brought tears to the eyes of a harder-hearted man than the reporter, when he held out his withered hand and said, in his quivering old voice: "Good-bye, sir, good-bye. You and I won't meet here again, but please God, wicked murderer as I am, we'll meet in Heaven."

Rowlands was tried by Judge Haggarty in Chatham in 1882, was convicted and sentenced for life. He managed to escape after the crime. He placed his dead wife on the bed and then asked some neighbors to get an officer to arrest him.

He was brought from the penitentiary to the Hotel Dieu a day or two ago to die.

A MINISTER RECANTS. We are a good way from Napierville, Quebec, and the contest for the seat in the Dominion House of Commons has not excited a great deal of interest among us.

London has also been experimenting with the taxation question. Various manufacturers have been helped through being given a fixed assessment for a period of years.

OTHER NEWSPAPERS. ALL WOULD BE BENEFITED. Halifax, N. S., Chronicle. If anyone can name any industry in this Province that would not be benefited by the policy of reciprocal trade with the United States we should like to hear of it.

BRITISH CATTLE DISEASES. The authorities in Britain should exercise vigilance and enforce what may at times seem rigorous measures such as those against cattle from portions of the continent and the United States, in order to prevent the inroads of contagious diseases.

THE BOTTLE AHEAD OF THE KNIFE. New York Nation. Medicine has for the last twenty years lagged behind surgery, and threatened the physician proper with the loss of a portion at least of his professional income.

The performance was made at the Gaelic Athletic Club grounds at Woodside, L. I., and was witnessed by T. P. Conroy, Manhattan Athletic Club; M. O'Sullivan, New Jersey Athletic Club, and H. S. Harding, Suburban Club.

Louis Cyr, who claimed to be the champion strong man of the world, and who it is said has lifted 3,539 pounds of pig iron without artificial means, has arrived in New York. Cyr stands 5 feet 10 inches in height and weighs 304 pounds. Dimensions: Chest, 58; biceps, 21; thigh, 31; calf, 27, and 49 inches round the waist. He was born in San Joan, Province Quebec, Oct. 11, 1863. It is Cyr's first visit to New York, and as Police Gazette office he said: "I am prepared to make a match with any man living at the following fees for $1,000 a side: Holding out the heaviest weight, putting up the heaviest weight with one hand, lifting back lift (with out harness) and lift the heaviest barrel with one hand and shoulder it."

BASKETBALL.
Washington is the golden vintage. "Busted" is the deep intrigue. Bowed the head of Albert Johnson; Conroy goes to the hospital. Mercifully draw the curtain. Look out for the show. Turn your heads and pass unheeding—Johnny Ward is eating corn.

CRICKET.
Winter bowling practice will be carried to a great extent in New York this year. This will insure a high standard in this important department of the game next season.

Harry Coyne, who played for the Chicago Cricket Club last season, has returned to New York, and will wear the red and black of the Manhattan again next year.

BILLIARDS.
Schafer and Slosson played their four-table billiard game of billiards at New York Monday night for $1,000 a side and a championship emblem in Chickering Hall, 2,000 people being present. Schafer won by 800 to 600. Schafer's average was 29, and highest run 128. Slosson's average was 15.94, and highest run 60.

THE TURF.
Maud S. was sold for $40,000; Faxtell, $105,000; Bell Boy, $31,000; Stamboul, $50,000; Sanol, a. b., $41,000; Acolyte, $40,000; Pochantons, $40,000.

Philip Dwyer has announced that if the Belmont horses are put up at auction he will buy the Futurity winner, Potomac, no matter how high a price he may have to pay.

The Wellington Stable's Appomattox ran twelve races this year, winning $1,225. He was unplaced only three times, winning three times, running second four times and third twice.

The profits of the New York Horse Show were about $50,000. The association gave the proprietors of Madison Square Garden $8,000 and half the profits for the use of the building.

George Forbes' Evangeline won the second race at Guttenberg Tuesday, with the Pynchley Stable (Montreal) Bush Bolt second. Winners of other races were Sallybury, Mohican, Folsom, Kenwood and Anonily.

At the races of the Blood Horse Association at San Francisco Saturday afternoon Minnie won a mile and a quarter in 2:07. This is the fastest time in which the distance has been made by a 2-year-old. Rinfax was bred by Palo Alto.

A remarkable horse race took place recently at Windsor, N. S. W., between two local horses owned by Messrs. Clemens and Smith. The horses ran five successive dead heats, though the jockeys had been changed twice. In the sixth run-off Mr. Clemens' horse won.

Although Budd Doble's stable has been full to repletion this year with fashionably bred trotters only one has had marked success and that is McLowell, a horse of unknown breeding, purchased of a farmer in Wisconsin last season. With this horse he has won many races, and scored a record of 2:15.

The total number of days racing in and around the regular Western circuit amounts to 335, or 22 more than there are working days in the year. This racing was sustained by about 1,000 horses, and the amount of money hung up in stakes and purses footed up close to $1,000,000. This estimate does not include the entire year, but from Jan. 1 to Nov. 22. This will show, however, to what an enormous extent the Western turf has grown in the past ten years, for in 1880 there were only 65 days' racing in the Mississippi and Ohio Valley Circuit.

SONG AND SENTIMENT.

Annual Dinner of "D" Company, Seventh Fusiliers.
A Jolly Evening at the London House—The Menu and the Toast List.

Forward, march! At the order being given about 40 red coats in double file wended their way with military precision down the stairs to the gracefully-festooned dining-room where the "Red, White and Blue" waved above them. For one hour afterwards warfare was waged on the good things provided by Host Humphidge, and if thoroughly as the knife and fork, they must indeed be a formidable array. It was the annual supper of "D" Company, of the Seventh Fusiliers.

"D" Company claim to be the crack corps of the battalion, as it was in the old regiment. If the others don't agree with the statement they can at least acknowledge it to be in a remarkable state of prosperity, both in the quantity and quality of its members, in their efficiency of drill and marksmanship, and in their determination to bring the company as near perfection as possible by steady practice.

But to the supper. When the victory over the menu had been most gloriously obtained, the table was cleared ready for the speech-making. Capt. Ashplant took the chair, having on his right Lieut. Colonel Tracy, Lieut. Howie, "E," and Sergt. Major Ironside, on his left Major McCrimmon. Sergt. Webb occupied the vice-chair. Around the table were: Color-Sergt. Garde, Sergt. Niall, McCrimmon, Fala, Lance-Sergt. Thompson, Corp. Hayman, Lance-Corps. Smith and Vick, Privates T. Hughes, A. F. Luard, A. Frederick, Geo. Yates, J. Simmons, A. D. Huff, A. D. Miller, H. L. Milligan, W. H. Wood, A. Miller, H. J. Cahill, R. Clark, H. Gahraib, W. S. Owens, A. Ferguson, F. J. Collette, Zimmerman, A. E. Burwell, John Gault, Drummer J. Barker, Bugler C. Manville and others.

A detachment of the Seventh Band rendered the good old martial tunes in stirring style. In proposing the toast of "The Queen," Capt. Ashplant referred to her long and prosperous reign, and the noble example of virtue set by her Majesty, who of some present had had the privilege to defend. Her health could not be drunk more heartily than by the fair sons of Canada. The toast was honored in the usual way, with accompaniment by the band.

Sergt. Webb then took up the toast list, first reading letters of regret from Capt. Payne, Sergt. Major Munro and others.

"The Governor-General and Dominion of Canada" was replied to by Major Beattie, who was received with "Ere Ho" and "Jolly Good Fellow." He supposed they had called on him because he was an Irishman, like the Governor-General. (Laughter.) He was glad to be here and to see the good feeling in the company. There was a feeling among the older inhabitants that the battalion was not going to be a success, but he hoped such would be disappointed. In fact there were many who threw obstacles in the way; that is partly the reason why he joined it. (Applause.)

"The Colonel and Officers of the Battalion" was enthusiastically honored, bringing Col. Tracy to his feet. He assured them of the pleasure it gave him to be present. Whether drilling or getting up a dinner "D" Company performed it in proper style. (Applause.) He had no doubt they would continue to be the crack corps, and as the D. A. G. expressed it, a credit to any regiment. Times were not mending tended to improve a man's appearance as much as drilling; the habits of promptness, obedience and discipline he received could not fail but to be of benefit to him. When the time came for any man to turn out for his country he would do so, no matter what difficulties he might have to encounter. (Hear, hear.)

Lieut. Howie delivered his maiden speech, and a very good one he made. He was glad to express it to the finest body of men he had ever met, and the best corps in Canada. N. G. came next. (Cheers.) By this time next year they expected to be No. 1, but they would have to hustle to get there. (Hear, hear.) But they were hustlers. That's so. He hoped they could charge a battle like their gallant captain led to the charge of her Majesty's troops.

Lieut. Howie also spoke well. He could repeat the pleasure it gave him to be there. If they wanted to be the crack company, as they admittedly were, they must struggle to hold it.

"The Army and Navy" was responded to by Private Palmer. He had served in the navy and was now in the Fusiliers, where all had treated him like a man.

Captain Ashplant sang "Rule, Britannia," the chorus being joined in hearty fashion.

The health of "The Medical Staff" was drunk, although the members were unavoidably absent.

"Free Lance" was sung capitolly by Sergt. Webb.

"Our Company" brought "For We Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Captain Ashplant spoke of the "pulling together" qualities of the company, and the words of the Colonel could only come from practical observation, and should be well applied. There was an honorable rivalry in the battalion as to which should be the best, and he was glad to see it. If "D" Company secured the cup, as their captain he would fill it to the brim. (Cheers.) There was nothing becoming a city more than a good band and battalion; as a business man London's interests were his. The city would be what the young men made it.

VOICES OF THE PEOPLE.

The License Question.
To the Editor of the ADVERTISER.
Apropos of the agitation which is at present taking place for a reduction of the number of liquor licenses in the city, the appended article will, I doubt not, be of special interest. It is taken from the autobiography of the famous English criminal advocate, Montague Williams, Q.C., a man who was probably never during the period of his active practice, in more criminal cases than any other living man, and one who was consequently in the best position to form an accurate opinion on the subject under consideration. The quotation is from his recently published work entitled "Leaves of a Life," and is as follows: "I believe one-half of the crime of the metropolis (London, Eng.) certainly in such districts as Greenwich, Deptford, Whitechapel and the surrounding dense, hovels, slums and darkness—is largely due to the reckless manner in which licenses have been granted about like pepper from a pepper-box by the licensing authorities." Yours truly, London, Dec. 4.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.
Edwin Booth expects to travel to the end of his harness, and he has no thought of retiring to his country.

A Chinese theatrical company is playing a native drama in Boston, and a local critic reports that one can clearly follow the un-derstanding of the three distinct plots without the slightest knowledge of the picturesque language in which the play is carried on.

Clyde Fitch's new play for Rosina Vokes is called "Frederick Lemaitre," and is said to be a single incident in the life of that master of disguise and con-man, who love with a girl, beautiful, but with no mental capacity. He tries to teach her his art, but in doing so gets disgusted at her inability to learn. At first she does not care for him, but after being in constant association with him, and seeing him actually, she becomes fascinated. But by long care, she sees it and dies of a broken heart. Out of this thread Mr. Fitch has woven a one-act piece.

POLITICAL POINTS.
It is currently reported at Ottawa that Parliament will meet Thursday, March 12. Dr. Gillies, M. P. for West York, will be understood that the petition against the proposed amendment to the constitution is not supported.

Sir Richard Cartwright visited Meaford Wednesday. He was met at the station by Mr. J. J. Cleland, M. P.; Thos. Harris, M. P.; and Mr. J. R. P. Forster, secretary of the association, and others. He was driven to the Royal Hotel, and the above named gentlemen and a large number of prominent Meaford citizens, went to dinner. Sir Richard spoke in the Town Hall at night. Mr. R. J. Doyle and Benjamin Allen, ex-M. P., of Owen Sound attended the meeting.

"Don't We Bother You?"
But it is "bargains, bargains; nothing but bargains," and you know that such a battle like their gallant captain led to the charge of her Majesty's troops.

"The Army and Navy" was responded to by Private Palmer. He had served in the navy and was now in the Fusiliers, where all had treated him like a man.

Captain Ashplant sang "Rule, Britannia," the chorus being joined in hearty fashion.

The health of "The Medical Staff" was drunk, although the members were unavoidably absent.

"Free Lance" was sung capitolly by Sergt. Webb.

"Our Company" brought "For We Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Captain Ashplant spoke of the "pulling together" qualities of the company, and the words of the Colonel could only come from practical observation, and should be well applied. There was an honorable rivalry in the battalion as to which should be the best, and he was glad to see it. If "D" Company secured the cup, as their captain he would fill it to the brim. (Cheers.) There was nothing becoming a city more than a good band and battalion; as a business man London's interests were his. The city would be what the young men made it.

Color-Sergt. McCrimmon spoke of the enthusiasm of the company, especially in the drill exercise.

Private Owens promised to do the best in his power to bring the company to the top. Private Gault congratulated himself on tumbling into "D" Company. They wanted more young men about his size and build. (Oh, oh.)

Bandman S. Charlton said he had been in the army for 30 years. He had two uncle Johns who fought in the Crimea under Wellington, and had their photographs. He was bringing up his five sons for the Seventh.

"The Battalion" was first responded to by Color-Sergt. Garde, who as an old English volunteer, recommended them to stick to pure volunteer system. Sergt. Niall, Corporal Hayman and Private Clarke spoke in jolly style.

CURING DISEASES.
A London Layman on Koch and His Consumption Antidote.
Remarkable Healings Effected by the Agency of Potash.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:
I have been studying with great interest the telegraphic reports in the New York Herald of the curative principle of Prof. Koch and the examples so far of the treatment. It is certainly a very fascinating idea to the medical profession and to those requiring the aid to be told that the professor has discovered a remedy whereby the dread disease of consumption is either controlled or cured. From the various cases of scientific men who have journeyed to Berlin and who ought to be perfectly independent in their opinions and judgments, it is, to say the least, a mild surprise to the cure of tuberculosis. One eminent man declares it only good as a diagnostic. Prof. Koch himself treated a case of lupus, and declared he had made a cure. Two days afterwards he was intensely mortified to find the disease as active as before treatment. A telegram from Berlin of Nov. 29 states that in Munich five patients who were under treatment for lupus, and also died. The curative lymph is described as one of the most powerful medicines discovered, and cannot be applied too cautiously. Prof. Koch himself says it is placed in the hands of all practitioners more deaths would result from its use than were ever caused by consumption. I think it may be taken for granted that from the above description and its consequences that the lymph is a subtle poison, the object of which is the destruction of the bacilli, microbe, germ, or by whatever name you may designate it, by hypodermic injection. It is, if you can believe the telegraphic report, more dangerous than any other medicine. It is not the bacilli, but the chemical cause that produces either tuberculosis lupus, or any other disease is ascertained, there can be no intelligent or logical treatment to recovery. I have devoted many hours to the study of the life of my life in searching, through the aid of chemistry, into the causes of many diseases. I propose to give you the results with a few cases of well-known citizens, whose lives, I have every reason to believe, have been saved to their families. Take as an example tuberculosis. How does it originate and how perpetuated? I take for granted from the researches of scientists that tuberculosis, or what is commonly called consumption, is caused by germs called bacilli, or by other microbes. It is not the parasites themselves that produce the disease, but the irritation they cause to the parts affected, which is caused by some bacilli, or other microbes, causing the mucus membrane to secrete an acid mucus, on which they feed, live and propagate. If this acid mucus could be neutralized, the parasites would die because it is their habitat.

I now give you the practical view of a case of tuberculosis and its treatment chemically: Fred Poel, a young man aged about 25, son of John R. Poel, a very old resident. This young man had been ailing for some time, had a very bad cough, hectic flush, night sweats, etc. He had been attended by two medical gentlemen, and finally declared by them to be in the last stages of consumption. They advised his parents to that effect. The father, who has been an old personal friend for the past 30 years, appealed to me to think if I could benefit him. I agreed to do so, provided he would have him examined by one of our most talented young physicians, who stated that long lung were badly affected, one being very soft, in addition to which the liver was much enlarged. I commenced the treatment, and within seven weeks he was enabled to go into the country to a farm house, and live on good cream and milk, and in now in Philadelphia, hearty and well. The only remedy received by him during the seven weeks of active treatment was potash in various forms. Why? Because, as I explained before, the parasites caused an inflammatory action, which was said. The mucus on which the parasites fed and propagated was acid, and as soon as the mucus became neutral from the use of the alkalies, internally and externally they died from want of their natural food, and of course ceased to propagate, and the patient recovered.

Case two is of a very interesting one and known to many medical men—that of Mr. W. Fraser, a highly-respected G. T. R. conductor, who was troubled with a general ulceration of nearly the whole external system. He had spared neither money nor time in trying to effect a cure for about three years. He was very emaciated. In almost every time he was as healthy a man as it was possible to be, and looked fully ten years younger. This case was also cured by the use of potash in various forms.

Case three is a very remarkable one. Mr. Frank Kirschner, now the popular manager of the Opera House, a man of fine physique, standing over six feet, came to me, and asked if I could cure some ulcers on his legs that he had been afflicted with for over seven years. I asked who had attended him lately. He said Dr. Moore (since deceased), who told him he had done all that science could do for him, and that the several other prominent musical artists.

A strong feature is Sugimoto's troupe of Japanese performers, whom Cleveland brought to the country from Japan by special permit from the Mikado. They are the acknowledged superiors of all others in feats of daring and skill on the high wire, the balancing ladders, sword walking, fencing and their repertoire of acrobatic and balancing feats is varied and wonderful.

Florists and Gardeners.
At the regular meeting of the Florists and Gardeners' Society on Monday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: President, C. P. Bennett; vice-president, S. H. Craig; secretary, W. M.
Gammage; treasurer, G. Cairnes. Messrs.
Cairnes and Winton were elected representatives to the Western Fair Association.
A vote of thanks was passed and ordered.
A copy of the minutes was read and tendered to Mayor Taylor and each of the city papers for the very liberal assistance which they rendered at the recent flower show. Pitches to Messrs. Fisher & Manda, of Short Hills, N. J.; Peter Henderson & Co., New York; Nathan Smith & Son, Adrian, Mich.; Webster Bros., Hamilton; and to Messrs. J. B. Lamb, of Kayestville, N. C.; Liebrecht & Wadley, of New Orleans, for their exhibit of orchids and other curiosities. Notwithstanding the show had not been a financial success, the members are not discouraged with their first attempt. Already preparations are being made for next year.

Teasdale Park Lots Sold.
The sale of Teasdale Park lots in the City Hall last evening was fairly well attended. Mr. J. W. Jones conducted the sale for the London Trust, and succeeded in disposing of about one-third of the lots offered. The prices obtained were fairly satisfactory, the aggregate amount realized by the sale of the eleven lots being $5,716 41. The following lots were disposed of: Lot No. 20, east Richmond street, W. Scarrow, $10 spent in social chat and singing.

Seymour Thatcher, M.D., of Hermon,
N. Y., says WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY cures a cough by loosening and clearing the lungs and allaying irritation, thus removing the cause instead of trying up the cough and leaving the cause behind.
A highwayman is as much a robber when he plunders in a gang, as when single, and a nation that makes an unjust war is only a great gang.—[Franklin.]

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confused with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority to the system. Dr. Parmentier's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and cover the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or Dyspepsia.

"Do you find enough to keep you busy these days, Jim?" "You bet. I'm putting in a bigger day's work these days than ever I did before." "Why, I thought you'd given up your job." "So I did. I'm looking for another."

After a man has made a certain amount of money his neighbors begin to hear that he had succeeded.
Peculiar.
In the combination proportion, and preparation of the ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla actually fails. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and exercising an aperient.

There are men and men, as there are sandwiches and sandwiches. There is nothing in some of them, and in others the more there is so much the worse.
Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto, sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Constipation, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

Mr. Bloomer—I tell you woman's intellect is enslaved even in this nineteenth century. Bloomer—You're ought not to be. You have been freeing your mind for twenty years.
A Wood Tourist in the Highlands—Dear me,
I don't wonder these natives are so musical! The guide-book states that their ancestors were in the habit of lifting cattle!

Why will you allow a cough to locate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive grave, when by the timely use of Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain is allayed and the danger avoided? This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc.

Smokers Should Read.
London is well known throughout Canada, particularly as the city from which the celebrated "Highland Lassie" cigar is shipped to all parts of the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Messrs.
H. McKay & Co., the manufacturers, take a special pride in their "Lassie" cigar.
It has been completely tested by the majority of the smokers of the country, who pronounce it the choicest article on the market. Nothing but the best filers and wrappers are allowed in its composition, and when once tried, it convinces the most sceptical of its superiority.
Messrs. H. McKay & Co.'s immense establishment, with its products, is a credit to the city.
