A. A. CAMPBELL,
Real Estate, Loans and Investments, Molsons Bank Buildings.

Our office is the "Real Estate Clearing House" for London. Sales are constantly being effected. Why? We have properties to suit all classes of buyers; we make exchanges which, in a great many instances, suit both parties better than selling for cash, and then buying; we advance money to complete purchases; and when we recommend a purchase it's a sure "tip."

Here are a few open for purchase, viz.:

King street—A new modern 14-story brick cottage; every modern appointment; $2,300.

Wortley road—Handsome new 14-story brick cottage, grate, bath; $300 cash, balance monthly.

Queen's avenue—Complete new brick cottage, $2,000.

King street—Two-story brick, large rooms, two minutes to Market Square, a decided snap. Inquire at once.

A number of choice residential properties from $3,000 to $8,000. Particulars, photos and inspection permits at office on application.

"The Peach"—That eligible building lot, occupying the northwest corner Princess avenue and Waterloo street. When it is gone there are none left.

Building lots, cottages, residences, farms, acreages, business chances, etc., "For Sale," "For Exchange," "For Rent."

You are invited to call. No trouble to give information or show properties. We have an office staff for that purpose.

November Weather...

plays havoc with the lips and hands. It doesn't require much exposure to subject you to the annoyance of rough and red skin or chapped lips. The usual remedies, Glycerine, Cold Cream, Vaseline, etc., are either sticky or greasy. You can only use them conveniently upon retiring. Even then your feelings are not the most agreeable. HAZELINE may be used at any time, and is soothing and healing every time you use it. Apply it to the hands, rub gently, and it vanishes; it is absorbed. This new and dainty toilet lotion is a true skin food. It is the peer of all remedies for the complexion. HAZELINE purifies as well as beautifies. Price 25 cents.

The Political Home

Can Not Be Right Until the Mothers Are There.

Then Interests of Home Will Be Protected by Genuine Home Workers, Says Dr. Amelia Youmans— An Able Lecture at Dundas Center Church.

"When Mother Comes Home" was the title of an interesting lecture delivered last evening at Dundas Center Church by Dr. Amelia Youmans, of Winnipeg, vice-president-at-large of the Dominion W. C. T. U., in which the talented speaker strongly presented the claims of women to equality with men in the government of the country. She was greeted by a fair-sized audience, which would doubtless have been much larger had the weather been less disagreeable. Mrs. Gordon Wright, president of the local union, presided, and the pastor, Rev. E. B. Lanceley, and Mrs. May R. Thornley took part in the devotional exercises. The church choir led the singing.

When introducing the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Wright said Dr. Youmans had for the time being left a large practice at Winnipeg in order to advance the cause of the union here.

Before entering upon her lecture, Dr. Youmans referred to the comprehensive work of the W. C. T. U. as it was revealed at the recent convention at Toronto. In its 40 different departments of human interest, all were reached. There was no one that did not receive some benefit from the organization, she said. Proceeding, she gave a vivid description of a home where the mother is absent, and the change brought about by her home-coming. The home before the mother's arrival she likened to the present political system—this half-orphaned civilization. There was great need of home-comings, and in this sense "mother" meant all women. The true spirit and character of a mother did not belong only to those who entered the bonds of matrimony. Miss Frances E. Willard mothered humanity.

Dr. Youmans went on to speak of the condition of things as they are, dealing particularly with the liquor traffic. "We in Canada," she said, "consent and connive at hiding under mother early yearly 3,000 drunkards, while our lunatic asyiums hold as many more." After drawing an analogy between the human heart and the heart of the body politic, she spoke of the position of woman in her relation to the government. It would be a good thing if they would allow women to assist in the national house-cleaning, she said. It was woman's God-given duty to protect home interests, and she should do it. They could not, however, get recognition until they got the right to vote. In Manitoba they had twice asked, and they were going to ask again, for the passage of a bill making it necessary to secure the signature of women as well as men in all communities on petitions for saloon licenses. A woman's child was her life, her best work, and yet her best work was being destroyed and she could do nothing. The voices of half the people were hushed in the government of the country. Should men be the sole judges? They could not look on the work with a mother's eye. Every interest except the mother's interest is protected by those interesed in it. Women were trapped and caged by laws in which they had no say. No man can represent motherhood in the political home. It is only when the women come in that home interests will be protected by genuine home-workers. At present the political home is like the half energized human heart, deprived of its God-given sustenance. When one considered this the utmost political corruption was not surprising. By the disfranchisement of women is prevented the transmutation of half the forces of the community into their responsible political force. The speaker thought it was all nonsense to say that women don't want the vote. Natural and spiritual laws united in demanding it. As another reason for expecting good from the coming of women to the political home, the speaker referred to the results of "equality" in the several states and other countries where it exists. In conclusion, she briefly referred to the great questions that would confront the political home even if men and women had a common interest in it. She did not predict the millennium, but they would then be walking on a natural plane, doing right things, and it would be easier to right things.

CELEBRATING THE FIFTH.

Orangemen Hold a Banquet to Commemorate the Anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot.

About 150 Orangemen celebrated the anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot last night by a banquet at the Hodgins House, corner of King and Talbot streets. An excellent supper was provided by the host, and followed by a number of toasts, to which happy replies were made. The master of the district, Bro. J. E. Showler, was chairman, and Bro. James Long, the deputy master, acted as vice-chairman.

Bros. W. C. Coo and Sergt. Burwell replied to "The Army, Navy and Volunteers." "The Governor-General and Dominion Government" brought an address from Ald. Carrothers. "The Day We Celebrate" was coupled with the names of Bros. E. T. Essery and John Siggins. "The Learned Professions" was replied to by Messrs. U. A. Buchner and Arthur Essery. "Sister Societies" were well represented by Mr. Alf. Butler, of the A. O. F., and Mr. Dan Donaldson, of St. Andrew's Society. Interspersed with the speeches were songs by Sandy Drennan and Bros. Chittick and Sam H. Woods, a recitation by Bro. Harrison, and a whistling solo by Bro. Woods.

GOLD NEAR BY.

Reported Discovery of a Vein in the Vicinity of Chatham.

Chatham, Nov. 6.—It is reported that a vein of placer-mining gold has been found in Raleigh township,about eleven miles from Chatham. The parties who made the discovery are very reticent about the find. Some of the sand was tested by a Chatham druggist, who estimates that it would, pan out several hundred dollars to the ton. He refused to tell the exact location of the land where the find was made, but said that the vein was about six feet deep and extends across the whole farm.

INVENTOR MERGENTHALER IS BURNED OUT.

WORDS OF COMMENDATION FROM SOME OF THE CURED.

THE RESULT OF A COLD.

Miss Lizzie Sewell, Newbury, Ont., says: "I contracted a severe cold through getting my feet wet. My health failed so rapidly that I was subject to frequent fainting spells, my appetite failed,and my friends all thought that I was in a decline. Doctors were consulted, but their treatment did not help me, and for nearly two years I was in this low condition. Finally my mother decided that I had better give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and the result is that they have transformed me from a sick and despairing girl to one full of health and energy, and I shall ever speak of this great medicine in terms of the highest praise."

RHEUMATISM OF THE JOINTS.

Mr. Jules Gravel, farmer, of St. Tites des Cape, Que., says: "For upwards of five years I suffered from rheumatism of the joints. The attacks would occur periodically, sometimes keeping me in bed for several weeks. I tried a score of medicines without getting any benefit. Then I saw in a paper the statement of a sufferer similar to myself who was cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I procured some and began taking them, and by the time I had used my sixth box I was able to go to work in the fields, and I have not since that time experienced any further trouble from the rheumatism."

HEART TROUBLE CURED.

Mrs. John Sagar, wife of a prominent farmer living near Egan Creek, Ont., says: "I am glad to have an opportunity to make known to other sufferers the wonder-working powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was very sick for over six months, and was unable to do work of any kind for that time. I was extremely weak, subject to dizziness, pain in the side and faint and smothering spells. The doctor pronounced my trouble heart disease, and nothing seemed to relieve me until a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon found benefit from them, and after the use of eleven boxes was as well and strong as ever I had been, and am now able to do my housework without any trouble. I can heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those troubled as I was."

TOLD BY A TEACHER.

Mr. P. McGuigan, teacher of the advanced department of the Fort Augustus, P. E. I., school, says: "A few years ago I contracted a severe cold which resulted in hemorrhage. I did not recover my strength, and my friends feared that I was doomed to an early death. I used a number of medicines, but did not make any material progress. I then began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and to them I owe my renewed health and activity. There are many here who know how serious my illness was, and to these my restoration seems wonderful. I shall always warmly praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

DO YOU NEED A TONIC?

Are you easily tired, lack energy, feel weak in the back; do not care for food; cannot relish your work and take no interest in life; are you nervous and subject to headaches? If so, it is a tonic you need.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People—the best tonic in the world—can not harm the most delicate.

They make people STRONG.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

Mr. G. H. J. Jordison, of Monteagle, Hastings county, writes: "I am a farmer by occupation, but also follow the business of dehorning cattle to a large extent. While engaged in this pursuit in Renfrew county during the winter of 1896, I was attacked with a severe pain in my back, and thought I would have to give up and return home. A friend at whose house I was stopping advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as he had received great benefit from their use. I procured a few boxes, and soon found myself completely restored to health. I had been periodically subject to these pains before I began the use of the Pills, but since then have not had a single attack, and I feel sure they have driven the trouble from my system."

ST. VITUS' DANCE CURED.

Mr. Jacob Snyder, jun., of Bloomingdale, Ont., says: "About three years ago Adeline Webber, aged eleven years, an orphan adopted by us, showed symptoms of St. Vitus' dance. At first we did not realize what the trouble was, but as she was growing worse we consulted a doctor, who told us what was the matter, but did not seem to help her. In fact she was growing worse and her limbs twitched and jerked terribly. We then consulted another doctor under whose care she remained for about a year, and although he was very attentive, she was steadily growing worse. Her limbs became so unsteady that she could not walk, and she had wasted away to a skeleton and we had no hope of her recovery. One day while in conversation with Mr. Martin Simpson, of Berlin, he told me that a daughter of his who had suffered in the same way had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and advised that they be tried. After she had used two boxes there was considerable improvement, and after the use of four boxes more all the symptoms of the disease had left her, and from that time she steadily regained her former strength. Her case seemed to us a desperate one, and we believe that had it not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she would not have recovered."

DYSPEPSIA CURED.

Miss Lila Laughlin, a young lady who is teaching in the Fort Stewart public school, says: "Some months ago I was suffering with a severe attack of dyspepsia. I procured some medicine from the doctor which seemed to help me for a time, then it apparently lost its effect and I became worse. I had a terrible pain in my stomach which caused me much distress. Then vomiting set in and continued until I was so weak I could scarcely stand, and at times my sight would seem to leave me. While in this state one of my friends advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I procured a half dozen boxes. By the time I had used them I had fully recovered my health and I can recommend them to others similarly suffering."

City Military Stores.

London Field Battery Increased to Six Guns.

Much Old and Useless Material To Be Disposed of Soon, as a Result of Col. McDonald's Visit to This City.

As a result of the visit to London of Col. McDonald, director-general of stores for the Dominion of Canada, there will likely be many changes to the stores department in this city in in a very short time. Col. McDonald spent two days here inspecting the stores, kept at the old building formerly used as Carling's brewery. He was not well pleased with the gun sheds, which are leaky and cold. The colonel thoroughly examined all the stores, and will recommend that a great amount of the material be sold or burned. In one shed there is a pile of useless gun carriages and wheels, which have been laying around the country one place or another ever since the Crimean war. Several of the marquee tents used here at camp time will be sold, with 150 of the smaller tents. There are thousands of useless knapsacks, some of which have never been in service. There is also a large quantity of old smooth-bore, shot and shells, 9, 24 and 32 pounds, which is decidedly out of date. This will be returned to Ottawa, and other shot and shell of more modern manufacture will replace it. Of the old blankets only 280 remain to be sold or sent to the Indians. A few weeks ago 600 of these old blankets were shipped to the Windsor, N. S., fire sufferers. Within the last few days nearly 600,000 rounds of steel Lee-Enfield rifle cartridges have been received, together with a large quantity of diaphragm shells of various descriptions. Besides these there are about 38,000 rounds of Martini cartridges, 52,000 Snider rifle cartridges. The old Snider rifles, returned by the Seventh Fusiliers, have all been thoroughly cleaned, and look as good as new. The long triangular bayonets, which have been superceded by the short sword-bayonet, lie in small piles at convenient places. They are very unlike the old rusty arms returned a few days ago, having all been polished, and they glisten equally as brightly as the new arm. These bayonets and rifles will be boxed up and returned in a few days to the militia department at Ottawa. One hundred and eight Martini-Metford rifles will also go back.

Sergt. Henry Pratt, an old soldier, who entered the service in 1860, and has been for the last 28 years in the stores department, is in charge of the place, and the cleanliness and order seen there reflect great credit upon him.

MORE GUNS FOR THE BATTERY.

When the orders are issued for the artillery, they will be very different from those sent out last year. Two weeks ago two nine-pounder field guns were received from Hamilton, thus making the London Field Battery six guns instead of four. This of course will necessitate the enlistment of one-third more men than the battery has heretofore numbered. The guns and accoutrements are in charge of Sergt.-Major Taylor, who keeps everything in a very creditable condition.

SWORE SHE WAS SIXTEEN.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 6. — Herbert Brown tried to get a license at Mason to marry his cousin, Frances Brown. As the latter was but 14 the license was refused. Herbert then came to Lansing and swore before the deputy county clerk that the girl was 16. He got the license, and they were married. Now Herbert is in jail, charged with perjury.

Mayor Elliott, of Brantford, Thursday afternoon received a letter from the Verity Plow Company, asking to be relieved from their agreement to build new shops in that city. The Veritys employ some 200 hands. It is supposed they intend to locate in Toronto.

The marriage of William J. Barnhart, of Chicago, and Miss Susan S. Patterson, of Woodstock, was celebrated at Fairlawn, Vansittart avenue, Woodstock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. McMullen, of Knox Church, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties only.

A committee oppointed by the Presbytery of Stratford have visited Millbank, Wellesley, Hampstead, North Easthope, St. Andrews, Shakespeare and Tavistock charges, and it is likely that the result of their investigations will be that St. Andrews and Shakespeare congregations will have a minister of their own, as will also Tavistock congregation.

DEGEAR'S DEATH.

Chatham, Nov. 6.—The coroner's jury in the case of Wm. Degear, who was killed on the G. T. R. here last Monday, found "That the deceased came to his death accidentally by jumping off the train; that the jump was caused by the action of Conductor Freeman in knocking the man's hat off his head, which, in the opinion of the jurors, was equal to a command for the deceased to get off a moving train. This action of the conductor was wrong and reprehensible on the part of a railway employe."

IN A LION'S DEN.

Unique Wedding in a Boston Amusement Resort.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—In a cage containing two lions, Miss Louise Charlotte Wibergrand and Arthur St. Andrassy were married last night by Rev. Mr. Thurston, of the South Boston M. E. Church, in the presence of a great crowd that had gathered in the main hall of the Boston amusement resort. The pastor and the bridal couple stood in one end of the cage, the lions in the other. The lions were kept calm under the unusual circumstances by their trainer.

As the marriage had been rehearsed a number of times in the cage the animals did not exhibit much anxiety to eat either the bride or groom. It was noticeable that the groom was the most nervous person in the crowd, whether from fear of the lions, or because it is a way bridegrooms have, was not ertain.

From the viewpoint of the manager of the wedding the affair was a great success, for it put lots of extra dollars into the box office. The young couple will remain in Boston a week or two to receive congratulations as publicly as they were married.

The bride is about 25, Boston born, but of Swedish extraction. She is tall, willowy, fair, and passably good-looking. The groom is 26, a Hungarian by birth, and a violinist by profession. He came here from Ohio five weeks ago, and fell in love with Miss Wilbergand, who was a waiter in a restaurant, at first sight.

In the Dining-Room.

SUNDAY, NOV. 7.

BREAKFAST—Baked quinces. Steamed eggs. Waffles. Coffee.

LUNCHEON—Princess potatoes. Oyster macaroni. Sea-foam sandwiches. Blackberry jam. cake. Tea.

DINNER—Roast duck, with baked apples. Mashed potatoes. Celery. Lima beans. French puff pudding. Coffee.

Cut out these recipes and paste them in a scrap-book.

Steamed Eggs—Butter five patty pans and break an egg in each one. Place in a steamer and set over a kettle of boiling water; steam till the whites are cooked. Take out on a hot platter, sprinkle over with one small half-teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, and pour over all a tablespoonful of melted butter.

Oyster Macaroni—Break enough macaroni into inch pieces to fill up a pint cup. Put in a saucepan and cover with boiling water. Keep at the boiling point till tender (20 or 30 minutes). Have ready one pint of oysters, a teaspoonful of salt, a saltspoonful of pepper and a half cupful of cream. Drain the macaroni, and put a layer in buttered baking dish, sprinkle over a little of the salt and pepper, little dots of butter and a little cream; then a layer of the oysters, and another of the macaroni, with more of the seasoning. Sprinkle cracker crumbs over the top, add little bits of butter and a little more cream or rich milk, if necessary. Put a cover over the dish and bake till nearly done; then remove cover and continue baking till a delicate brown.

Sea-Foam Sandwiches—Spread crisp sea-foam wafers with butter and a sprinkling of grated cheese and very finely chopped celery or olives. Place two together and keep in a cool place till ready to serve.

Blackberry-Jam Cake—Rub to a cream one-half of a cupful of butter, gradually add one cupful of sugar, the yolks of three eggs and the whites of two (reserve the other white for frosting), one-half a cupful of sour milk or thin cream, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one level teaspoonful each of cinnamon and allspice, two scant cupfuls of sifted flour and one cupful of thick blackberry jam or preserves.

Roast Duck with Baked Apples—Take a young duck that weighs about four pounds; singe and wash quickly; wipe dry, and rub both the inside and outside of the fowl with the juice of half a lemon (reserve the other half for the pudding sauce); then fill with a dressing made of three cupfuls of light but stale bread crumbs, one large cookingspoonful of softened butter, one small onion minced fine, one large sour apple cut in rather thick slices, one teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper; mix all, place in the fowl, sew up and bake in a hot oven till tender, basting often. (Two or three very thin slices of bacon laid on any fowl when put in the roasting pan improves the flavor and color.) Serve with tart baked apples.

French Puff Pudding—One-third of a cupful of butter, one small teacupful of sugar, two eggs beaten separately, one teacupful of sweet milk, two teacupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of soda and one slightly heaping teaspoonful of cream tartar. Put the batter in muffin rings or gem pans and bake in a quick oven; take out on a hot platter, and when ready to serve pour over a sauce made of one tablespoonful of flour rubbed smooth with three tablespoonfuls of softened butter. Put in a saucepan, add one cupful of sugar, one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water and the juice and grated rind of half a lemon.

A Few Doses Gave Permanent Relief.

James Allen, of St. Stephen, N. B., writes: "I was troubled with very severe pains in the heart, pain in the side, and shortness of breath. I became completely exhausted with the least exertion. Doctors said my case was a hopeless one. I procured a bottle of Dr. Agnew's Crue for the Heart. A few doses gave permanent relief, six bottles entirely cured me. Today I am well."

The Toronto Trades and Labor Council held a special meeting on Wednesday night for the purpose of revising the constitution, which had been placed in the hands of a committee some time ago. The attendance was large, and the meeting was chiefly remarkable for an attempt to exclude from membership men who are not actually engaged at their trade. The resolution, which was no doubt aimed at D. J. O'Donoghue, was defeated by a vote of 41 to 3.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles!

SYMPTOMS.—Moisture; intense itching and stinging, mostly at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue, tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. Swayne's Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. All druggists, or by mail, 50 cents. Toothache, as an excuse for absence from duty, is not recognized in the postoffice of Geneva, Switzerland. When an employe complains of an aching tooth, a government doctor pulls it out.

THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—a pulmonic of acknowledged efficacy. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claim to public confidence.

In the formation of a single locomotive steam engine there are nearly 6,000 pieces to be put together, and these require to be as accurately adjusted as the works of a watch.

A DINNER PILL.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment, it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convey the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia.

QUEEN SENT NO MESSAGE.

London, Nov. 6.—The Chronicle says that being convinced by the "most unqueenly language" of the Queen's alleged congratulations to ex-President Cleveland upon the birth of a son that the report that she had sent such congratulations were untrue, it has obtained a personal denial that Mr. Cleveland has received a message from the Queen.

Great Britain, however, has something else to do than clear the world of her ships in order to inflict a fine on New York, but when the Wall street bear wants a pretext for a scare anything comes handy." All the morning papers comment upon "such alarmist rumors" as a "Wall street dodge to send prices down." None of them believe that they should be taken seriously.

MARK TWAIN ATTENDS THE REICHSRATH

London, Nov. 6.—The Vienna correspondent of the Times says: The all-night sitting was the most disorderly ever witnessed in any parliament. Some of the anti-Semite expressions were of such an improper character as to defy production. "Liar," "Disgraceful scamp," "Drunken clown," and similar villainous expletives and suggestions were common remarks. Herr Wolff called Dr. Lueger (burgomaster of Vienna) "the Vienna thimble-rigger." M. Verestchagin, the Russian painter, and Mr. Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) were in the visitors' gallery. The former made sketches of various scenes, and said he regarded them as good substitutes for street fighting and the barricades of former days.

Mark Twain said it reminded him of an American lynching meeting to punish a horse-stealer, adding: "I supposed somebody had been hanged, but I was not there long enough to make sure of it." He asked Herr Lueger to give notice of his next twelve hours' speech, and said he would be there and sit it out. Herr Lueger took the observation seriously, and replied that he hoped next week to repeat the performance, and perhaps to improve upon it.

THE PRESIDENT OF BRAZIL

Narrowly Escapes Being Shot by a Soldier—His Minister of War Killed.

London, Nov. 6.—A dispatch to the Times from Rio Janeiro says: At 1 o'clock this afternoon (Friday) a soldier of the Tenth Battalion, which constitutes a part of the local garrison, attempted to shoot President Moraes with a pistol. The president was just landing at the marine arsenal, after visiting the steamer on which Gen. Barbosa, minister of marine, had returned from Bahia. The bystanders frustrated the attempt, but Col. Moraes, the president's nephew, was slightly wounded on disarming the soldier, Gen. Bittenceur, minister of war, then interfered, and was himself stabbed. The wound was so serious that he died soon afterwards. The attack has caused the greatest agitation throughout the city.

The Hospital.

Present Building Should Be Materially Improved.

The Hospital Trust Recommend an Outlay of $45,000.

Would Leave the Erection of a Children's Pavilion, Costing $10,000 Additional, With Citizens' Committee—A $25,000 Building for Private Patients Would Be a Good Thing.

The regular meeting of the city hospital board of trustees was held yesterday afternoon, with all the members present. The principal business was the decision to submit to the city council on Monday night the following report, accompanied by plans of the proposed new buildings and alterations in compliance with the request of the council:

The report states the trust are of the opinion that the hospital should be very materially improved, and calls attention to the report of the hospital for the year ending Sept. 30, 1897, which shows that 842 patients were admitted during the year. The number in 1888, being the first year the trust had charge of the hospital, was 494, which has increased year by year, till the number 842 was reached during the past year. This is not due, the report continues, to any epidemic, but is indicative of the steady increase in the demand for public hospital accommodation.

The original design of the present buildings was that the center portion would ultimately be used for administration purposes only, and these buildings the architects value at between $30,000 and $35,000.

Messrs. Moore & Henry, architects, were requested to prepare plans for a complete hospital, using as far as practicable the present buildings, and their plans have been approved by the medical profession in the city. From them it will be seen that a hospital including pavilions for children and private patients, will cost about $80,000, the amount being made up as follows:

Men's pavilion	$12,000
Women's pavilion	8,000
General alterations	10,000
Contagious diseases, isolated pavilion	15,000
Total	$45,000
Private pavilion	$25,000
Children's pavilion	10,000
Total	$35,000
Grand total	$80,000

As you are aware, the law relating to hospitals is that a municipality may aid in the erection or maintenance thereof, and as citizens generally, may differ in their opinions respecting the extent that aid should be given, the trust thought it best to have plans prepared and submitted which would enable the citizens to erect a hospital with pavilions for children and private patients if they considered both the latter necessary.

The hospital, with pavilions for children and private patients, will cost $80,000.

Without the pavilion for private patients, it will cost $50,000, and if the children's pavilion is also dispensed with, it will cost $45,000.

The observations or suggestions which the trust consider they should submit with reference to the matter, are as follows:

With reference to the children's pavilion, the trust think it would be best to leave the erection of that in the hands of the citizens' committee. The trust have not found that the number of children requiring hospital treatment is large, there being seldom more than two or three children in the hospital, outside of the infectious ward, and if the number did not largely increase after the erection of the new ward the cost of the treatment per patient would be very large, if the cost of heating, lighting, furnishing, etc., is added to the original cost of the building. Then to isolate one, two or three children is not desirable, and would be very lonely for them. The trust do not desire in any way to restrain the citizens from erecting such a ward, as it would tend to make a complete hospital, but only to point out the extent to which it would probably be used, and the cost likely to be incurred, leaving it to the citizens to say whether the need justifies the outlay.

With reference to the private wards, the trust are of the opinion that if such were erected they would be used to a considerable extent. There appears to be an increasing demand for private hospital accommodation, and the objection which once existed to going to a hospital for treatment is fast dying out. It is, however, rather the purpose of the city hospital to provide accommodation for those who cannot afford to pay, than for those who can, and the trust believe, apart altogether from the financial aspect of the matter, that it should be the first consideration of the council to provide accommodation for such as cannot otherwise obtain it, and if, after that is accomplished, they feel that it is within their power to provide the private wards for paying patients it is very desirable to do so. The money expended in the erection of such wards would not be without some compensating advantages and it is possible, though not probable, that the private wards could be made self-sustaining.

The trust unanimously favor the erection of the contagious diseases pavilion. Being isolated it will require separate heating, lighting, etc. The advantages to be derived from isolation are apparent, and it cannot be foreseen when an epidemic may break out and such a pavilion be badly needed.

The trust also unanimously favor the erection of the men's pavilion, the present westerly long ward to be torn down and the men's pavilion erected west of it, a two-story building capable of acccommodating 38 patients; and they favor the extension of the women's pavilion so as to accommodate a sufficient number of women. The requirements of the hospital demand this, particularly if the present private wards are used in the way suggested in the architect's report, i. e., for consumptives.

The view the trust take of the matter is that they recommend as a necessity the erection of the men's pavilion, the extension of the women's pavilion, and the erection of the contagious diseases pavilion, the cost being estimated by the architect at about $45,000. This will give the citizens a complete public hospital with the administration buildings in the center, with all the present outbuildings removed from the river bank. Such a hospital would be much improved by the erection of the children's pavilion, at a cost of $10,000, and by the erection of private wards at a cost of $25,000, but the trust, while quite willing to take charge of these, if the citizens wish to erect them, do not regard them as an absolute necessity, or feel their need to be so great as the other public requirements of the hospital.

The trust feel that this is a question about which there should be no difference among the citizens; even doctors should not differ. The trust believe all desire the public good, and the work done by the jubilee committee, if handed over to the council, will be a very material aid in securing the first-class hospital desired by the citizens generally. The trust regard the present site as healthy, and the prospect very good, and if the buildings shown by Messrs. Moore & Henry's plan are erected there, a complete hospital for all purposes will be the result, and if the public part only is erected, the present hospital will be very much improved, and the actual requirements of the public for many years to come be provided for.

The plans show that all the proposed buildings, with the exception of the contagious pavilion, would be connected by corridors, the total length from the private patients' building at the east end to the children's ward at the west being 400 feet. The contagious pavilion would be erected southeast of the present building, and 100 feet away from any other building. The situation of all the buildings is peculiarly favorable for the admission of sunlight—an important consideration. The new children's pavilion, if built, would accommodate 22 patients, and in the other buildings, aside from that for private patients, provision would be made for 110 patients.

A very pleasant event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wiles, Concord street, Strathroy, on the eve of Nov. 3, being the marriage of their eldest daughter, Viola L., to John A. Patterson, a prosperous young farmer of Caradoc township. The bride was assisted by Miss G. Kenneally, of London. The bridegroom was accompanied by his brother, Mr. M. Patterson. Mr. Thomas Wiles gave the bride away. She was beautifully attired in pale heliotrope, carrying a bouquet of pink and white roses. The bridesmaid looked radiant in white silk with pearl trimmings, and carrying white roses. The Rev. Mr. Hazen, pastor of Frank Street Methodist Church, tied the knot. About 60 guests sat down to a bountiful repast. There were a large number of beautiful presents, testifying to the popularity of the young couple.

A GOLD DUST FAKIR.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Toronto detectives are searching for a fakir who has been working the farmers in Oxford, Waterloo, Dufferin and Halton counties during the past month. He wears a miner's outfit, says he made $50,000 in the Yukon district in ten weeks, but had tired of the hard life, and was now on the outlook for a good farm. He stopped over night here and there, and, leaving a small quantity of alleged "gold dust," which he carefully weighed out on a delicate pair of scales, as security, he borrowed $10, $15, $25, or as much as the farmer's pocket would stand, and decamped as soon as a favorable opportunity presented itself.

STRATHROY OLD BOYS.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—The old boys of the town of Strathroy residing in Toronto, will hold their annual reunion this year at their native burg on Thanksgiving eve. They will be banqueted by the town, and the guest of the evening will be the Hon. Edward Blake. Besides the honorable gentleman, Hon. George W. Ross, Dr. Montague, M.P., and Mr. W. D. McPherson will be present. It is anticipated that upwards of 200 former residents of Strathroy will take part in the jubilation.

Canada's new industries continue to multiply. The latest is crab-canning, and the headquarters have been fixed at Burrard Inlet, Vancouver, B. C.

The London, England, Daily News says that "the guidance of Canada is in the hands of strong, patient and far-seeing statesmen." When Sir Chas. Tupper reads this he will have a fit.

Even the Ministers have quit mentioning the surplus.—Guelph Herald.

The surplus is there all the same, or where does the annual interest from investments at the credit of Ontario come from?

The Hamilton Times refers to Mr. Whitney as the leader of the Opposition and the Central Prison Pig. This is scarcely fair to Mr. St. John. He has reserved for himself exclusively the position of Central Pig leader.

The roofs of New York's high houses are not wholly without use. Last summer one enterprising Gothamite turned the roof of his place into a concert garden. He now announces that for the winter it will be used as an ice skating rink.

There will be a total eclipse of the sun, visible in India, on Jan. 21, 1898. Three expeditions will go out from England to observe it. Important results are expected. Science lets slip no opportunity to get new light on the wonders of creation. Without the exercise of inquiring intelligences, in what darkness would the world now be.

Paving blocks made of meadow grass, says the New York Sun, are now manufactured. It is impregnated with oil, tar and resin, pressed into blocks, and then bound with iron straps. The advantage claimed for these blocks is that they are noiseless and elastic, resist, wear well and are impervious to heat and cold. The inventor is a clergyman. Cannot someone invent a profitable use for city tree leaves?

Mr. Hugh Clark, the versatile editor of the Kincardine Review, who has been appointed managing editor of the Ottawa Citizen under its new ownership, got a splendid send-off from his old home. He was presented by the mayor with a purse of gold, subscribed by his friends in all ranks of life, and addresses were made by leading citizens of both political parties, bearing testimony to Mr. Clark's many manly traits. Subsequently, Mr. Clark's brethren entertained him at a banquet, where many pleasant things were said of him. Mr. Clark goes to his new sphere at the capital with the best wishes of a large circle of acquaintances in Western Ontario. He is a distinct acquisition to the newspaper talent of the capital.

The Proposed Return of the One Hundredth Regiment to Canada.

The proposed return to Canada of the One Hundredth Regiment (Prince of Wales' Royal Canadians), must bring to the recollection of many the circumstances under which this regiment was raised in this country in 1858, and the survivors of the 1,200 men who originally formed the regiment will take an especially deep interest in its return.

When the great mutiny in India was in progress in 1857, the people of Canada offered to furnish the Mother Country with a body of infantry. The loyalty of Canadians being thoroughly aroused, it was not difficult to raise the necessary men for the new regiment. It was provided that the organization should be called the One Hundredth Prince of Wales' Royal Canadian Regiment.

The new barracks and the old fort at Toronto was the rendezvous for recruits from Upper Canada, and after a short course of drill the men were sent in detachments to Quebec, which was the headquarters. Recruiting sergeants from the regular army invaded the towns and country districts, accompanied by fifer and drummer, and many a lad, allured by the glittering promises of fame and glory, held out by the sergeant, "took the Queen's shilling," which bound him to serve Her Majesty for a period of ten years. Those who repented of their act before being "sworn in" could obtain their release on payment of 21 shillings, but after being "sworn" £21 sterling was requisite to obtain their discharge.

There were many excellent and noble men in the ranks, some of them of superior education and attainments, but as was to be expected, there were some whose conduct in the ranks was not meritorious. A few of the officers were transferred from other regiments, but the majority were Canadians, who obtained their commissions by enlisting a required number of men. The first colonel was Baron de Rottenburg, and Major Dunn, a Canadian who had won the Victoria Cross in the Crimea, was next in command. Hon. C. A. Boulton, senator for Manitoba, was one of the first officers, and was held in the highest respect and esteem by the men under his command.

The regiment left Quebec in 1858 for England, 1,200 strong, and for stature and physique, the men were superior to most regiments in the army. They were first sent to Shorncliffe Camp, then to Aldershot, and after undergoing a thorough course of drill, were sent on foreign service to Gibraltar, Malta, Canada and India, after which they returned to the United Kingdom. A depot for the enlistment of recruits was maintained in this country until 1861, after which it was abolished and a depot established in England. Owing to losses by death, desertions, purchases of discharge, and the transference of the depot to England, whereby vacancies were filled by recruits from that country, the regiment began to lose its nationality, and in the course of ten years it was unrecognizable as the "old One Hundredth." This denationalization was completed when the historic numbers of the line regiments were abolished, and the territorial system of designation was adopted instead, the regiment being then known as the First Battalion Prince of Wales' Leinster Regiment. Its identity is now lost, and except as a matter of sentiment, for recollections of its formation, Canadians cannot take as deep an interest as they would, had it retained its old name of the "One Hundredth Royal Canadians."

Though 39 years in existence, the regiment has never seen active service, while others during that time have been through several campaigns. Several of its retired officers are now residing in Canada, and many of those who served in the ranks at its formation are also here, but the number is lessening year by year, and a very few years will remove those who now survive of the original 1,200.

For the sake of old associations, we would gladly extend a hearty welcome to Canada to the "One Hundredth," for as such only can we know them. May they come, and have their stay in Canada extended, and be rendered as pleasant to themselves as it would undoubtedly be to the citizens. The understanding is that the regiment would replace the Berkshire Regiment, now stationed at Halifax, N. S.

An Unfounded Attack.

Hon. Mr. Blair, Dominion Minister of Railways, says there is no truth in the statement that the Department had given an order for locomotives to a United States locomotive company, and that the Kingston Locomotive Company had been unfairly treated. Mr. Blair says that when a new contract is given out, the Kingston company will be given every opportunity to capture it, if their figures are reasonable, the Kingston locomotives having proved most satisfactory to the Intercolonial management. Will the Opposition newspapers which have been traducing the Minister and his colleagues, as a result of the circulation of an erroneous conclusion, now have the fairness to take it all back?

Men and Things.

A King street head of a family says: "I can manage my two boys very well, even in these long fall evenings, and find them ready to go to bed when they complete their lessons, if a neighbor would oblige me by keeping his boy at home. Just as my lads are going to bed this chap comes whistling along on a wheel, and an insurrection invariably occurs, which is hard to quell. The question is put: 'If Mr. Blank's boy can go out now, why can't we?' No reasoning that I can use seems to convince my boys that they are not unfairly treated, while a schoolmate is allowed to roam at will. Does not this prove the force of example, the strength of contamination? Parents who allow their children to run around after dark should think of their responsibility. They not only aid in the demoralization of their own children, but in those of their neighbors."

Canada may not pan out much on the Baconian theory; but is much interested in the baconian fact that her bacon now stands at the top notch in the British markets.

"Vive Cuba!" writes my old friend, Mr. John Law, of this city. "I stood on the spot where eight young Cubans were shot down in cold blood by the Spanish authorities. The oldest, only 21 years of age, was the son of a widow, who offered his weight in gold for a pardon. Another was the son of a wealthy Cuban, who was ready to pay $1,000,000 of ransom, but Gen. Weyler would not hear of it. And so they died, shouting 'Vive Cuba!' That was their latest utterance, and it rings throughout the length and breadth of Cuba today. Had the advisers of the Spanish Queen-Regent accepted the kindly counsel of the advisers of our beloved Queen—God bless her, and cause her long to reign over us!—there would have been no insurrection, no destruction of life and property, peaceful progress would have guilded the sky over the Queen Island of the West Indies. The paltry excuse for the execution of these young men was the scratching of severe words on the glass plate placed at the resting-place of one of the editors of the Government press, who was loyal to the Spanish crown, but blind to the chains which held down the brave people. This man foolishly went to Key West, Fla., to fight a duel, after the fashion of the royalist princes of Continental Europe. He was killed, and Uncle Sam expressed sorrow, and sent the dead editor home in a frigate draped in black! What will be the outcome of the struggle? Ask Lord Salisbury or Mr. Joseph Chamberlain. If Uncle Sam says 'Fight,' the end will not be yet. If Don Carlos puts up the money, they will fight to the finish. If the Beast that St. John saw rise out of the sands of the sea should give its power to the quarrel, it might array the republics of the world against the ungodly crowns of Europe, who crush out the liberties of the masses that flee to the mountains of these republics, and build up a government for the people and by the people."

Mr. Law's reflections are always striking.

Shakespeare up to date is now given thus: All the world is a track, and men and women are scorchers.

It is often the punctual man who loses his time waiting for the others.

Speaking of conventions, a delegate to a recent gathering in a neighboring city writes that owing to the increasing number of bodies holding annual conventions, and the large number of delegates sent, the work of billeting has become a serious matter. One of the difficulties is that a large number of names of persons who do not attend are sent in. The billeting committee are asked to provide for, say 500 delegates. They succeed in billeting, say 450, and arrange for the remainder to be sent to hotels and boarding-houses. Many hostesses who offer to entertain delegates very naturally ask to look over the lists and select those whom they wish to entertain. The committee agree to send those selected, and the names are so entered in the billeting book. The day of the convention arrives, but not all the delegates whose names have been sent in. Among those who fail to turn up may be 25 or 30 of those asked for by hostesses, and while these billets are unoccupied and families put to inconvenience and expense preparing meals for guests who do not come, the billeting committee are sending other delegates to hotels at an expense perhaps of $75 or $100. A very simple remedy would be to have a fee of 25 cents accompany the name of each person desiring a billet. This would tend to prevent the sending in of the name of any person who had not a reasonable prospect of attending, and would also provide a fund for the local committee. This plan has worked admirably in the London Methodist Conference, the fee in its case being $2.

The civic candidates may not all be men of promise, but they are always men of promises.

Strength Has Returned.

"My whole system was run down. I was so weak I could scarcely get around to do my work. I finally began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after using five bottles I found that my strength had returned and my appetite was better. I now feel as strong as ever." MRS. KELLEY, 9 Wellington avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

The great lung healer is found in that excellent medicine sold as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages, and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain, or soreness of the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

It is calculated that if the children under the care of the London school board were to join hands, they would reach from London to Carlisle, a distance of 300 miles.

What Habit Does.

It binds us with a chain that is harder to break the longer you put off the breaking. We all get into ruts sometimes, and goodness only knows how hard it is to get out of them again. But it is easy to say to your grocer: "I want Tillson's Pan-Dried Rolled Oats, please, after this." It was only habit that made you overlook the fact that there WAS an absolutely clean, easily digested, rich, nutty flavored, wholesome, breakfast food like TILLSON'S brand of

Head and Limbs

All Covered With Eruptions—Could Not Work, the Suffering Was So Great—Hood's Has Cured.

"I was all run down with complaints peculiar to my sex, and I broke out in sores on my body, head, limbs and hands, and my hair all came out. I was under the doctor's treatment a long time without benefit. They called my trouble eczema. Finally I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after I had used three or four bottles I found I was improving. I kept on until I had taken several more bottles and the sores and itching have disappeared and my hair has grown out." MRS. J. G. BROWN, Brantford, Ontario.

"I was all run down and had no appetite. I had a tired feeling all the time. I was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so and it benefited me so much that I would not be without it." MRS. G. I. BURNETT, Central Norton, N. B.

Hogs—Receipts, 1,642 head; firm, at $3 80 to $4 10.

EAST BUFFALO.

East Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Cattle—Receipts, 4 loads; market quiet; there was a moderate supply of veals; best sold at $6 50 to $6 75; common to fair, lots, $5 25 to $6 25; heavy fed, $3 50 to $4 25.

Hogs—Receipts, 45 cars; good demand and prices 5c to 10c higher; Yorkers, $3 85 to $3 90; mixed packers' grades, medium weights and heavy hogs, $3 85 to $3 87; roughs, $3 30 to $3 50; stags, $2 75 to $3 25; pigs, $3 25 to $3 90.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 24 cars of fresh arrivals and 3 loads that held over; the receipts included about 10 loads of Canadas; the market opened with a good demand, and all the native lambs were readily taken as fast as they arrived at stronger prices; sheep were also in good inquiry and stronger; the ten loads of lambs that arrived late on Wednesday were sold in the afternoon at about steady former prices; good to choice brought $5 35 to $5 45, with common and bucky lots at $5 15 to $5 35; lambs, yearlings, choice to prime, $4 65 to $4 75; fair to good, $4 25 to $4 50; culls to common yearlings, $3 60 to $4 10; natives, choice to extra, $5 65 to $5 75; fair to good, $5 40 to $5 60; culls to common, $4 75 to $5 25; native sheep, choice to selected wethers, $4 50 to $4 75; good to choice mixed sheep, $4 15 to $4 50; common to fair, $3 50 to $4; culls to common sheep, $2 75 to $3 25; export ewes to prime wethers, $3 75 to $4 50.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—Flour—Receipts, 5,300 barrels; market firm; patent winter, $4 80 to $5; do, spring, $5 25 to $5 50; straight roller, $4 35 to $4 50; extra, $3 80 to $4; superfine, $3 50 to $3 70; strong bakers', $4 75 to $5 15; Ontario bags, $2 to $3. Wheat—No. 2 Manitoba hard, 97c to 99c. Corn—33c to 35c. Peas—57c to 59c. Oats—26½c to 27½c. Barley—40c to 42c. Rye—50c to 52c. Buckwheat—37c to 38c. Oatmeal—$1 60 to $1 70. Cornmeal—80c to 90c. Pork—$16 to $17. Lard—7c to 8c. Bacon—11c to 13c. Hams—12c to 14c. Eggs—14c to 16c.

TORONTO.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Offerings at the western cattle market today were heavy, and the market was a poor one; there were quite a few catte left in the pens at the close of the day; receipts were 93 cars; the Grand Trunk alone brought in 95 carloads yesterday and today; hogs are still going down; receipts of stuffs included 2,100 sheep and lambs, 4,100 hogs, 29 calves and about 14 milch cows and springers.

Export Cattle—There was a quiet demand and prices were low; what was considered the best load of cattle on the market sold for 3¾c; some deals were made at from 3½c to 3¾c; cables report trade dull.

Butchers' Cattle—There was a poorer market, chiefly a result of heavy offerings; quite a few remained unsold at the close of the day; common cattle sold for low prices; some heifers sold for $2 per cwt; there were quite a number of deals at 2¾c per lb; cattle sold for 3½c per lb, and they were of pretty fine quality; some picked lots of cattle taken by Alex. Lavack sold for 3¾c per lb; one carload of cattle, of good quality, sold for 3c per lb, and $15 over on the deal.

Bulls—Export bulls were quiet, at from 3¼c to 3½c per lb, and stock bulls found a fair inquiry at from 2½c to 2¾c per lb; good feeding bulls will sell.

Stockers and Feeders—Trade was a little off in this line, the demand for stockers for Buffalo being a little quieter; for light stockers the prices ruled from $2 70 to $3 30 per cwt, and feeders sell fairly well at from 3¼c to 3½c per lb.

Sheep and Lambs—Lambs were off a little, going down to 4c per lb before the close of the market; some of the better class sold for $4 10 per cwt, or perhaps a fraction better; the demand for Buffalo has fallen off somewhat; sheep for export are dull, at 3c per lb, only odd fancy ones going a trifle above that; there is some demand for young thin ewes for breeding purposes, at $3 to $3 50 each.

Calves—Demand steady and prices firm, at $2 to $8 each; choice veals are in demand; poor calves hard to sell.

Milch Cows and Springers—Firm; all in sold readily at steady prices, from $25 to $45 per head; choice cows wanted.

Hogs—Offerings were heavy, and the tendency is still downward; best selections sell for 4c per lb, weighed off the cars, 4¼c to 4½c being paid for hogs that had been bought to arrive; thick fat, $3 90; light, 4c; stores, 4c; stags, 2c; prospects are for lower prices.

A New Biography of Queen Victoria.

Interesting Extracts From Her Majesty's Journal—Mrs. James Brown-Potter Somewhat Disgruntled.

Special Cable Letter to The Advertiser.

London, Nov. 6.—A new biography of Queen Victoria, written by Richard R. Holmes, F.S.A., the Queen's librarian at Windsor, appeared on Friday, and is attracting much attention. It was prepared under the immediate supervision of her majesty, abounds in family incidents, shows the Queen has never entirely abandoned the relaxations of her earlier years, and points out that within the past fifteen years she has sung with Tosti and has taken drawing lessons from Leitch. The biography gives among other matter an extract from her majesty's journal in 1855, describing her pilgrimage to the Invalides during her state visit to Paris. It reads: "I stood at the arm of Napoleon III., his nephew, before the coffin of England's bitterest foe. I, the grand-daughter of that king who hated him most and who most vigorously opposed him, and this very nephew who bears his name being my nearest and dearest ally, the organ of the church playing 'God Save the Queen' at the time. Strange and wonderful, indeed. It seems as if in this tribute of respect to a departed dead foe, old enmities and rivalries were wiped out, and the seal of heaven placed upon that bond of unity which is now happily established between the two great and powerful nations. May heaven bless and prosper it."

NOTABLE TRAGEDY RECALLED.

An echo of the famous Ardlamont tragedy was heard at Leeds on Wednesday, when Alfred J. Monson (who in 1893 was tried on the charge of murdering his pupil, Lieut. Dudley Cecil Hambrough, the jury bringing a verdict of "not proven") was summoned for deserting his wife. The latter said her husband had left her in February, 1896, and had failed to provide for her and her six children, all of whom are under 16 years of age. Lieut. Hambrough, who was connected with a leading banking house of London and New York, and who was heir to a large state upon coming of age, was discovered dead, with gunshot wounds in the back of the head, in the preserves of an estate in Scotland which Monson, the young man's tutor, had left London to purchase for the latter. It developed that the pellets which killed the lieutenant were from Monson's gun, and the tutor explained that after they had left the house at Ardlamont to go shooting they had exchanged guns. The tutor was eventually arrested and tried for murder, as it was shown that the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, a short time previous to Hambrough's death, issued to Monson two policies for $50,000 each upon the lieutenant's life, in which insurance Mrs. Monson was the beneficiary. It was also demonstrated that Monson negotiated with other companies for insurance, with Mrs. Monson as beneficiary, upon the life of Lieut. Hambrough, the whole amount aggregating more than half a million dollars.

THE SALE OF WALES' YACHT.

From the comments heard in the clubs it is not likely that Mr. John Lawson Johnstone, of Kingwood, Kent, the principal director of a well-known and largely-advertised company, who turns out to be the purchaser of the Prince of Wales' famous racing cutter Britannia, will be received with open arms in yachting circles. In fact, it is rumored that the prince sold the yacht on the express condition that the purchaser should not race here, and that she is to be rigged as a cruiser. In an interview Mr. Johnstone said: "I do not feel at liberty to state the sum I paid for her. I may tell you, however, that I did not get her cheap. I paid a very substantial sum, but should not care to run the risk of incurring his royal highness' displeasure by making it public." Mr. Johnstone also told the interviewer how he had recently paid £750 for a bed upon which Prince Charles slept before the battle of Culloden. This he offered to present to Queen Victoria, who replied that only on one or two occasions had she accepted presents from a commoner, and she did not see her way clear to accept the bed. "However, it was a very pleasant letter; very pleasant," said Mr. Johnstone, who added that the Duke of Argyll had promised to come and sleep in the bed so soon as the matter could be arranged. The newspapers jeer at the inappropriateness of the selection, as the Campbells, of which clan the Duke of Argyll is the head, were the deadly enemies of the Stuarts.

THEATRICAL.

Mrs. James Brown Potter does not speak in the most complimentary terms of the Australian managers, under whose direction she was introduced to London as a star. The season of eight weeks at the Duke of York's Theater, for which the contract with Mrs. Potter and Mr. Bellew were engaged, closes tonight, and the American actress will rest in London for the winter, after years of hard work. While "Francillon," which was the play Mrs. Potter appeared in here, has not attracted great houses, the quality of the audience has been of the best. "I did not expect to set the Thames on fire when I came to London," Mrs. Potter said; "but I am greatly gratified by my success. Ten years ago, when I entered the profession, I determined to achieve a reputation over-reaching the borders of the United States, and I think I may say without boasting that I have in some measure succeeded."

Grand Trunk Elevator and a Quantity of Grain Destroyed.

Schooner Badly Damaged—Two Tugs Scuttled and Sunk—Change in Wind Prevented a General Sweep of Sailing Craft and Other Property.

G. N. W. Special to Advertiser.

Goderich, Ont., Nov. 6.—Fire broke out last night in the Grand Trunk elevator, completely destroying it, along with a large quantity of grain. The fire communicated with the lumber yard of N. Dyment, of Barrie, and burned along the water front, consuming Dyment's yard and the lumber belonging to the yard of Wm. Rutson, of Goderich.

A gale was blowing at the time, and but for a change in the wind the probabilities are that a number of other buildings, lumber scows and sailing craft would have been destroyed, as they were hemmed in and could not get through the burning lumber floating in the harbor.

As it was, the schooner Todman was badly damaged, her masts and rigging being destroyed and her hull scorched.

The tug Evelyn made her way out with difficulty, and is safe. Two tugs are scuttled and sunk.

The fire extended for 300 yards along the wharf. The cause of the fire is heavy.

FORCED TO MARRY THEM.

Circle City Miners Had Their Own Ideas as to a Collector's Powers.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 6.—George W. Ross, deputy collector of customs at Circle City, was compelled by a miners' meeting to marry a couple last spring against his will, and though he had no authority to perform such ceremony. Ross is just out, and says:

"Miners at Circle City have queer ideas as to the duties of an officer of the government in that country. Last spring they were called upon to settle a case between one of their number and a young woman, and, to do full justice to the latter for the wrong she had sustained, it was decided that the man must marry her. There was no one in the country authorized to perform the ceremony, so the miners came to me and told me to do it. I tried to explain that as deputy collector I was not vested with authority to marry people, and declined. The miners simply insisted that I should, and, when I still refused, ordered me to do it, as I was the only official in the country, and the mandate of the miners' court had to be carried out.

"To satisfy them I drew up a contract in writing setting forth that both the man and woman agreed to become husband and wife. This was signed by the parties, duly witnessed, and then I swore the contracting parties to the truth of the same, and affixed my seal to the certificate. It was only a contract marriage, but it took with the miners, and since then other parties who wanted to get married were willing to do so by the same formula, and the business proved quite remunerative.

"Yukon miners have a decisive way of treating those who have proved dishonest. When a man is charged with stealing, the charge is carefully inquired into by a miners' committee. If the guilt of the man is proved he is not sent to jail or strung up. Instead, he is furnished with an outfit sufficient to carry him out of the country, and told to go and never come back. He never returns. There has been no stealing at the mines. One could leave his sack of dust outside his cabin with security, but now that the rush has commenced, bringing all manner of people here, it will be different."

KILLED FIVE COLTS.

Alvinston, Ont., Nov. 6.—Five valuable colts were killed on the G. T. R., three miles south of Alvinston, yesterday morning. Three of them belonged to Benner Bros., one to Wm. Oke, and the other to A. Evans. They had got out of the pasture and wandered on to the track. Loss at least $400.

Do You Wish to Dye a Fast and Everlasting Black?

It is only within the last few years that it has been possible for an inexperienced person to dye a black that would not crock, fade or wash out. Even blacks dyed by city steam dyeing establishments were seldom reliable and fast.

The advent of three Diamond Fast Blacks—for wool, for cotton, and for silk and feathers—has changed all this. With a ten cent package of one of the Diamond Dye Fast Blacks the first trial has given perfect success. The directions on the packages are so plain and simple that even a child can get better results than the experienced dyer of a few years ago.

Success in home dyeing is secured only when the Diamond Dyes are used. Do not be persuaded by any dealer to buy soap grease or imitation package dyes that have no past record to recommend them. The Diamond Dyes are the only warranted colors for domestic dyeing.

This is a strong claim, but we make it unhesitatingly for the . . . . .

Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Co.

Because

1. Security—Its reserve is $3,176,716, being $145,000 more than Government Standard, and its additional surplus exceeds $200,000.

2. Policy Contract — These "are models, being a simple promise to pay," containing privileges which make them "strength in simplicity."

3. Profits—A comparison of actual results of policies for a term of years, or for their full term, shows the Ontario Mutual to be peerless. A careful examination of present profit-earning power of life companies also places the Ontario Mutual at the head of the list. A critical examination is invited.

MUTINY ON THE MONTSERRA

Attributed to Gen. Weyler's Brutality —A Number of Persons Killed.

Matanzas, Cuba, Nov. 6.—The Spanish transport Montserrat, upon which Gen. Weyler left Havana, for Spain, and which put into Port Gibara in Eastern Cuba, yesterday in distress, is reported to have had a serious mutiny aboard. She sailed with over 600 returning military invalids and wounded privates, in addition to the retiring captain-general's personal staff and upward of 100 army officers.

The soldiers had made open protest when, before going aboard, they had demanded their salaries, several months overdue, in gold, but were forced to accept flat bills of the Havana Bank at par. Once embarked, they were huddled below like so many sheep, in order to leave the decks free for their gold-laced superiors. Even the government health officers predicted that dozens would die on the voyage daily unless better facilities were provided, but their suggestions were unheeded.

The feeling against Weyler grew rapidly, and it is understood trouble occurred during the second day out from Havana. The men insisted upon their right, in view of the cramped condition of the hold, to come up on deck. Weyler ordered that they be driven below, when a serious encounter is reported to have occurred in which a number were killed on both sides. This is not the first time that returning Spanish troops have mutinied during the past six months.

Ex-Mayor Grey, of Seaforth, is stopping at the Grigg. He will be here till Friday evening. Mr. Grey is offering to London investors the remaining 500 shares of the present issue of 3,000 of the Merchants' Fire Insurance Company of Toronto. This class of investment yields, from 25 companies doing business in Canada, an average of 26½ per cent annually, and is not often obtainable. Appointments with intending investors can be made by telephone at the Grigg House.

FAGGED OUT.—None but those who have become fagged out know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength has gone, and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there was nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

Minard's Liniment Cures Neuralgia

Dominion Bye-Elections.

The popular tide continues with the Liberals of Canada. This afternoon nominations took place to fill the vacancies in the Dominion House of Commons for Arthabaskaville and Drummond, Temiscouata, and Rimouski. In the first-named constituency only have the Conservatives resolved to put up a fight, but it is believed that Mr. Lavergne, the Liberal nominee, will have no difficulty in defeating Mr. Noel, the Opposition candidate. In Temiscouata, Mr. Gavereau (Liberal), and in Rimouski, Dr. Ross (Liberal) were elected by acclamation. The next bye-election will be in Toronto Center, where Mr. Lount, M.P., has resigned, it is understood, to become a judge.

Topics of Today.

Toronto shipbuilding yard owners say they will be busy this winter.

Farmers from South Dakota are finding their way to Manitoba. They know that under new and better conditions they will prosper.

It is said that Mayor Wilson Smith of Montreal will be knighted within the next year. Why not knight the mayors of all cities of the first class?

London is to have a new enterprise. The Canada Gazette contains notice of application for a charter by the Acetylene Lighting Company, with a proposed capital stock of $15,000. The principal place of business is to be in this city.

The policy of turning city lots into vegetable gardens for the poor has proved highly profitable in Kansas City. On an outlay of $468 for tools, seeds and a superintendent, the city this year benefited the poor to the extent of $2,380.

Gooderham & Worts' distillery in Toronto will be shut down completely for a year or two because of the decreased demand for whisky. Only a few men have been employed since June last, when a partial shut-down was decreed.

At the banquet in his honor, at Vancouver, B. C., on Friday, Hon. Clifford Sifton, minister of the interior, was very warmly welcomed. He declared, amid loud cheers, that the government's policy in the Yukon was to compel every man to observe the law, to provide an all-Canadian route, and to confine the trade as far possible to Canadian channels. That is a programme which will meet with general acceptance.

LATEST WEATHER FORECAST.

Toronto, Nov. 6—11 a.m.—Probabilities for the next 24 hours for the lower lakes region: Westerly to northwesterly winds, falling to moderate or fresh by night; generally fair and decidedly cooler, with a few passing showers or snow flurries. Fair and cool on Sunday.

Around the City

—Detective Sadler, of Detroit, was in the city today.

—In future Inspector Bell will examine and measure all relief wood before it is delivered.

WITHOUT A GRUNT.

Walla Tonka, the Indian Ball Player, Receives News of His Reprieve.

De Queen, Ark., Nov. 6.—Advices from Indian Territory have just been received here, stating that Walla Tonka, the famous Indian ball player, who was convicted of murder, was to have been shot on Thursday, still lives. Hundreds of whites and Indians had gathered to witness the execution, which was to have been a double one, as Wallace Crosby, another Choctaw, was to have shared a similar fate. Last Wednesday, as they were all camped around the sulphur springs, a courier arrived from the capital of the Choctaw nation with a stay of execution, pending a new trial, which was ordered by the judge of the Supreme Court of the Choctaw nation.

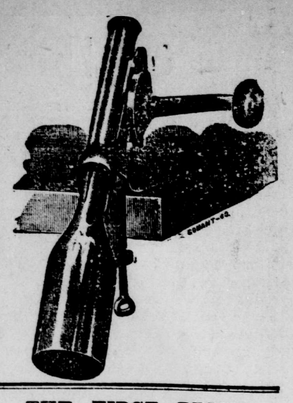

The condemned men received the news with true Indian stoicism. Walla Tonka was almost absolutely unmoved, he did not even emit a grunt when he learned that he was to have another chance for his life.

SENSATION IN THE QUAKER CITY

Philadelphia, Nov. 6.—A sensation was occasioned in political and official circles today by the arrest of several government employes of prominence, charged with conspiracy and the issuance of fraudulent naturalization papers. The men arrested are Eugene Lindsay, in the city prothonotary's office; John Merrick, assistant clerk for the United States, and Richard Merrick, a clerk for the United States court. It is said that naturalization papers were furnished to foreigners for $17 apiece, and that quite a number have been issued.

Shot for a "Shine"

Murder by a Buffalo Bell Boy and Bootblack.

Result of a Quarrel Over Polishing a Pair of Shoes.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Harry Richardson, 37 years old, the buyer for Kellett Bros., cattle merchants, of London, England, was shot down in the office of the Crandall House at East Buffalo at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon by Timothy Morley, a porter and bell boy employed in the hotel. The men quarreled behind the railing in the hotel office, Morley claiming that Richardson had not paid him for shining his shoes yesterday. Richardson will die. Morley was turned over to the police.

Shortly after 12 o'clock today Richardson entered the hotel office and went inside the railing to look for his mail. He was met by Morley, who asked him something concerning pay for shining shoes. The exact conversation was not overheard. Suddenly Morley pulled a revolver and shot Richardson through the breast. He cannot live. But little is known of Richardson, except that he was always gentlemanly, and was well liked by the cattle dealers of East Buffalo. He represented one of the biggest cattle firms in England.

HEAVY SNOW STORM

Cattle in the Dakota Mountain Ranges Suffer Considerable.

Lead, S. D., Nov. 6.—There is a very heavy snowstorm in the northern hills. Reports from the northwest cattle ranges are that the cattle have suffered considerably. Cattle on the way to Bellefourche to be shipped will be affected most.

THE U. S. ELECTIONS.

Senator Gorman's Prospects in Maryland Gone—Retirement of Henry Watterson.

Columbus, Nov. 6.—The contest for control of the Ohio Legislature is considered to be ended today. The Republicans on joint ballot appear to have a majority of five. Gorman will have to go.

Louisville, Nov. 6.—A 20,000 plurality for the free silver hosts has induced Henry Watterson to retire from active politics. He regrets the verdict, but accepts it, and says he will make no further effort to direct the councils of his party. "We go," he said, "to political annihilation with perfect composure without a single resentment or regard, having fought out to the bitter end a profound conviction in perfect fairness and good faith." "With charity for all," etc., he bids farewell to the world of active politics.

THE LASH.

Brockville, Ont., Nov. 6.—In the county judges' criminal court, William Moore, a middle-aged man from Detroit, was found guilty of committing an unnatural crime. He was sentenced to one year and 360 days in the Central Prison, with 30 lashes with the cat.

THE SEAL CONVENTION SIGNED.

Washington, Nov. 6.—A convention between the United States, Russia and Japan, looking to the joint protection of the seal, was signed at the state department today at 12:15 p.m. It will require the ratification of the Senate to become effective.

HUSBAND AND WIFE IN ONE COFFIN.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Mrs. Mendenhall died yesterday morning at her home aged 81 years. Forty-five hours before, her husband, Dr. Elijah Mendenhall, had passed away, at the age of 82 years. The husband and the wife were buried in the same coffin, made double width. They had been married 56 years.

YELLOW FEVER.

New Orleans, Nov. 6.—The warm weather—80 in the shade—has not helped the fever situation. Thirty-five new cases and ten deaths reported. At Montgomery, Ala., one new case and one death. Selma, Ala., reports a clean bill of health, and the churches will resume services next Sunday.

DIED IN HIS CARRIAGE.

Stratford, Nov. 6.—On Thursday evening Mr. Henry Deering, a highly-respected resident of South Easthope township, while driving home from here with his wife and three children, suddenly fell forward towards the dashboard, and died almost instantly from heart disease. In the excitement that ensued the horse ran away, upsetting the rig and throwing out the occupants, but, strange to say, hurting no one.

THE FIRST BRICK

From the Hammond Reef Mine, Near Fort William.

Rat Portage, Nov. 6.—The first brick from the Hammond Reef mine, Saw Bill district, near Fort William, was sent east yesterday. Its weight is about five pounds, from 259 tons of ore and a run of 304 hours. Preparations are being made to enlarge the stamp mill. The run is considered very satisfactory in view of the extent of the veins.

The run of two weeks at the Olive gold mine, Seine river, produced 113 ounces of gold.

Too Strong to Carry Coal.

Many a man who is strong enough to play golf all day, or "hold out" a hundred pounds, finds a scuttle of coal too heavy to lift.

The trouble is that a great deal of coal is full of slate. Slate is heavy and it won't burn.

We sell coal that's all coal. A lump of it is lighter than a lump of slaty coal, and there's a heap more heat in it.

HONORE'S FATE.

Theodora did sing with her cousin, once or twice, and then once or twice alone; then once or twice with Mr. Keith, but Honore had not been asked, when, feeling the neglect acutely, she rose and said that she must go home.

"Jane told me to be early," she explained, standing before Mrs. Trent, with a fading flush upon her cheeks. And just then the mirror gave back a lovely picture, while Royden Keith stood waiting for his hand-shake. There was no intentness in his gaze, yet for all his life this picture lived unblemished in his memory.

"This is a new idea, Honore," observed Capt. Trent, coming forward with a shade of annoyance on his face. "Why should Jane's wishes be paramount? Are they not alone at the Larches tonight?"

"I hope so."

"Whom are you afraid of finding at home?" inquired Theodora, wondering why Mr. Keith smiled, when, of course, he could not understand anything about Honore's home.

"I know," drawled Hervey, with his lazy smile. "It's little Slimp."

"Yes," echoed Honore, demurely; "it's little Slimp."

"Slimp—Slimp? I have surely heard that name before," put in Royden, with a great amusement in his eyes. "I almost think I have had the honor of seeing the gentleman to whom the name belongs; a man of huge proportions and frank expression of countenance; a man without fear, or guile, or—why are you laughing, Miss Craven?"

"If you had tried to describe the exact opposite of the Mr. Slimp I know," said Honore, "you could not have succeeded better."

"Indeed! Then please describe to me the Mr. Slimp you know."

"Not I, Mr. Keith," laughed the girl, "except to tell you that, like Slender, 'he hath but a little wee face, with a little yellow beard—a Cain-colored beard.'"

"And you do not like him?"

"Like him!" The shy, proud color was rising again, under Royden's steadfast gaze. "Not one atom!" she said, as she gave her hand to Mrs. Trent. And in that tone of proud contempt she dropped the subject.

"If you are walking home, you will, I hope, allow me to walk with you, Miss Craven."

Theodora looked up in surprise. One of the men-servants had always been sent to attend Honore back to the Larches after an evening at Deergrove. Surely that was sufficient, without Mr. Keith offering his escort.

"That is unnecessary," interposed Capt. Hervey, stopping as he loitered toward the door; "I am going with Miss Craven."

"And you, Mr. Keith," said Theodora, advancing with her gracious smile, "must stay and play that game of chess which I have set my heart upon. See how early it is, and I am ready. Good-night again, Honore."

* * * * * * *

"Mamma," said Theodora, an hour later, when the mother and daughter were left alone together, "you must ask Mr. Keith to stay with us for a week or two; he is only at the hotel, you know, and you might quite properly do it while Hervey is here."

Mrs. Trent's breath came for a minute in hurried gasps.

"Theo," she said, "I have been surprised at you all evening, and I am doubly surprised now. Pray do not let Hervey see this sudden and ridiculous infatuation."

"Hervey will never see anything in me which is ridiculous," was Theo's complacent rejoinder; "but, mamma, you must own how immeasurably superior Mr. Keith is to the men one generally meets."

"And, after all, what do you know of him?" inquired the elder lady, pettishly.

"This," replied the younger one, as if the subject was a pleasant one to her, and she were quite willing to linger over it. "We know that he is a thorough and perfect gentleman, to whom society has evidently thrown open her doors. We know that he has traveled a great deal, and seen a great deal, and is very clever. We know how different he looked from all the gentlemen at the castle the other night, and how jealous the girls were about him; and we see how womanish he makes Hervey look. And we know," concluded Theodora, moving her head slowly before the glass to catch the light upon the jeweled butterfly in her hair, "that he is very rich."

"Theo, my dear," urged Mrs. Trent, cautiously—for, like all weak and indulgent mothers, she dreaded her daughter's displeasure being turned directly against herself—"of course you can enjoy Mr. Keith's society while he stays in this neighborhood, but you will be most unwise if you excite Hervey's jealousy. Mr. Keith may be a rich man—I do not doubt—but what would his wealth be compared with that which Hervey is likely to inherit? Remember, Theo, that my heart is set upon your making a good match. It is," concluded Mrs. Trent, pathetically, "the only aim for which I care to live."

"All right, mamma," returned Theodora, brusquely: "I will take care that your aim is attained. I will not quarrel with Hervey, but I will do as I like at present."

* * * * * * *

Royden Keith had, like his fellow-guests, walked to Deergrove that evening, and now was walking back to Kinbury. It was a pleasant autumn night, and he went leisurely and thoughtfully along the highway, until he entered the town close to the hotel where he was staying. Then he quickened his steps, for in front of the lighted entrance there stood a tax-cart and a foaming little thorough-bred which he knew. A servant man in a livery of white and green—a livery we have seen before at the roadside tavern near Abbotsmoor—touched his hat from the driver's seat as Royden passed into the vestibule of the hotel, while another servant, in the same livery, came forward to meet him.

"What is it?" asked Royden, as he pleasantly returned the man's respectful greeting.

"A letter, sir.'"

"Any orders to yourselves?" inquired Royden, as he took the letter.

"No orders, sir, except what you should give us."

"Then go back at once. Say I am coming tomorrow. Take something at the bar, and send Morris to do the same; then drive back at once. Good-night."

Seated in his own room, with the lamp lighted and the shutters closed, Royden read the letter. The writing was clear and the lines uncrossed, but yet it took him a long time to read; for the sheets of paper were large and transparent, as if the letter had come from, or was destined for, some distant country.

When he had finished and replaced the two thin sheets within their cover, he rose and rang his bell.

"I want," he said, when the door was opened by a grave, middle-aged man in black, "to speak to Edwards. Send him up here, will you."

"Yes, sir."

"Are the other men gone?"

"Some time ago, sir."

The groom, whom his master called Edwards, donned his livery hastily when his master's valet summoned him.

"I know what it is," he muttered, "a gallop all the way to the Towers and back. That's just like him."

"If you mean he'd take the gallop himself, and think nothing of it, you're about right," returned the valet, curtly; "but unless that is what you mean, you are a good way off being right; for he isn't one to send his servants galloping about when they ought to be in bed."

"No, he isn't generally," acquiesced the groom, a little less sulkily; "but it does make one cross to have to dress again. Do I look all right now, Mr. Pierce?"

The "gentleman's gentleman" smiled with generous condescension. "You are a vain, churlish fellow," it said, as plain as smile could speak; "but what else can one expect in a groom—and so young a one?"

He smiled still more when the groom returned to him in ten minutes' time, brisk, alert and good-humored, as he had been in his master's presence.

"If it's 'just like him,' for the master to drive his men about inconsiderately and inconsistently," the valet remarked, aloud, "I wonder why they should look as if they felt all the pleasanter for their interviews with him. He doesn't quite treat you as if you were cattle—eh, Edwards?"

"He's going off at dawn," explained the groom, ignoring that question; "'I'm to have Princess saddled by the first glimpse of daylight. He's writing now, and told me to tell you not to stay up. He'll be back tomorrow afternoon, he says. Where do you think he's going, Mr. Pierce?"

"I know," said Pierce, quietly, as he turned away; "he's going home."

"Home!" echoed the younger man, when he was left to himself. "I don't know much, p'raps; but I do know what that means."

E. J. Musson, Jun. Sings the Praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills — He Was Bedridden for Months and His Strength Was Sapped by Diabetes — He Found His Cure in Six Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Catharines, Nov. 1.—For several months E. J. Musson, Jun., one of the most capable painters in the city, was confined to his bed, a sufferer from that painful disease—diabetes. The complaint sapped his strength, fed upon his muscles, and reduced him to a skeleton almost. Then, providentially, he heard of what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done in similar cases. He bought six boxes. This is what he says of their work: "After using the third box, I could lift light weights. I used the other three boxes, and now I am well. I have tried many other medicines, and consulted many doctors. All gave me poor encouragement. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

Can't You Sleep?

Sleeplessness is one of the most frequent symptoms of heart and nerve troubles. It affects all classes and all ages. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills restore the nerves to healthy action and regulate the heart. Mr. Miles Boone, Fredericton, N. B., tells how they work. "I could never rest well, and often woke up with a start, and then sleep left me for the night. These pills gave me almost immediate relief, giving me healthful, refreshing sleep, and I am now strong and well."

Rawdon's Awful Tragedy.

Details of the Slaying of Mr. Nulty's Children.

The Assassin Still at Large—An Axe Used for the Terrible Deed.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—The scene of the Nulty butchery at Rawdon, Que., is far removed from any other farm. There is a name mentioned in the dispatches from the place which, in the interests of justice, it is thought wise to suppress.

The facts of the tragedy are these: Four children have been butchered in cold blood, the appearance of the eldest girl, aged 18, indicating that she had previously been assaulted. Two children were actually beheaded. These were the youngest. The other two—a boy and the eldest girl, evidently ran towards the barn for safety. The boy was slain on the roadway. The girl reached the barn, and there met her death under circumstances too horrible to mention. The butchery was first discovered by a Mr. Morin, who, coming from the village of Chertsey to visit the Nultys, found the house and farmyard a veritable slaughter house.

The parents, Mr. Michael Nulty and his wife, are almost insane. They had left in the morning to go to St. Julienne, some twelve miles distant, leaving their children to mind the farm.

As yet there is no clue to the perpetrators, or perpetrator, of the terrible crime. The neighbors are out with every kind of weapon, seeking for the murderers. The ages of the murdered children are 18, 16, 14 and 10 years respectively.

The Nulty family are among the oldest settlers in the district. Their farm is nine miles outside of Rawdon, but is in the parish. They were highly respected, and the grandfather of the children, Patrick Nulty, is still alive, and lives in Rawdon. The trouble is that it will be very hard to catch the murderer, as the nature of the country gives ample opportunity for the culprit to remain in hiding until the affair is blown over.

The only new development in the case was the arrest of a suspicious character named Murphy, but as there was no evidence to connect him with the crime, he was set at liberty. Detectives are now working on the case.

As time passes the tramp theory gains more credence. The Nulty farm is on the eleventh concession of Rawdon township, in the midst of a thickly-wooded district, and far removed from any other dwellings. An axe was used as the murderous weapon. A tramp was seen in the neighborhood that day. Suspicion rests upon him, and he will be arrested on sight.

General Superintendent McGuigan, Superintendent Fitzhugh, Engineer Crowley and District Passenger Agent Dickson, of the G. T. R., were in Port Dover this week inspecting the site of the station recently destroyed by fire and considering the advisability of erecting a new and improved building. It is probable that this will be done shortly.

The work on the extension of the Tilsonburg, Lake Erie and Pacific Railway, better known as the Port Burwell line, will be pushed forward vigorously. The grading from the present terminus at the air line into the town is expected to be completed by Christmas. It is the purpose of the company to erect a steel bridge across the Otter river at an estimated cost of $20,000.

DIED AT HIS MOTHER'S FUNERAL

Manchester, Miss, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Katherine Flinn, a widow, aged 80, was buried from St. Mary's Church. Her son, Barney Gorman, upon entering the carriage at the church door, apparently fell asleep, and not till he was driven home was he found to be dead. The cause was apoplexy.

TROUBLE AT ST. VINCENT DE PAUL PRISON.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—The insubordination at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary was resumed Thursday night. Three hundred convicted criminals banged so hard on the doors with buckets about 1 a.m. that the town was aroused. The disturbance lasted until 4 a.m. A late report is to the effect that No. 6 company, Sixty-fifth Battalion, has been called out to co-operate with the prison guards.

MURDERED IN BED.

Detroit, Nov. 6.—A deliberate murder was attempted Thursday night at 622 St. Antoine street. John Nieding, a shoemaker, 53 years of age, who has a shop at that number, was shot while he lay in bed asleep. He is now at Harper Hospital in a dangerous condition. His wife was sitting up in bed, and saw the murderer, who had gained access to the house by way of a window, enter the room. The intruder lighted a match, aimed at Nieding and fired. He then made his escape.

SCARED BY A BICYCLE.

St. Thomas, Nov. 6.—A serious accident occurred in the east end Thursday night, three persons being injured. Mrs. Richard Heard, who resides near Pinafore Lake, was driving along the street, accompanied by her two daughters, Louie and Lena. The horse became frightened at a passing bicyclist, and ran away. The occupants were hurled into the ditch. Mrs. Heard had her collar bone fractured and the wheels of the vehicle passed over Louie. The bicyclist did not give his name, but dismounted and aided Mrs. Heard and her children.

BEATEN TO DEATH BY HIS PUPILS.

Sedalia, Mo., Nov. 6.—James Allen, teacher in a school at Wheatland, Hickory county, was beaten to death on Thursday by his pupils. As a punishment for misconduct, Mr. Allen kept several boys in after school was dismissed Thursday night. When released the youths went away angry, and later, as the schoolmaster was on his way home, they waylaid him, pelting him with stones and clubs. Mr. Allen was knocked down, and his skull crushed. He did not regain consciousness, and died next morning. The youths have been arrested.

Only 24 white elephants have been caught since the commencement of the Christian era.

DR. ROSS' KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS

Cure

Liver Complaint

Read What Mr. Thos. Adams, The Pioneer Shoe Dealer, 764 Queen street east, Toronto, has to say:

I take pleasure in testifying to the merits of Dr. Ross' Kidney and Liver Pills. I have been troubled for years with Liver complaint and I have found these Pills give me more relief than any other preparation I have ever tried. As a cure for Sick Headache they have no equal, and I feel it a duty I owe to my fellow beings to let them know what a good and simple remedy is within the reach of all.
THOMAS ADAMS.

Kidney Disease

Kidney Disease Cured With Five Bottles of Dr. Ross' Pills.

From a Well-known Contractor of the East End:

It affords me great pleasure to testify to the merits of Dr. Ross' Kidney and Liver Pills. I have been a sufferer from Kidney trouble for years and tried several remedies but without success, until I was advised to try Dr. Ross' Kidney and Liver Pills, and now after taking five bottles of these Pills, I am enjoying perfect health. I can heartily recommend them to any sufferer. If this testimonial will be of any value to introduce this medicine, you are at liberty to publish it.
JAS. P. DALY,

Constipation

A SUFFERER FOR YEARS.

I can highly recommend Dr. Ross' Kidney and Liver Pills to anyone afflicted with Liver Complaint, Sick Headache and Constipation. I have been a sufferer for years and have tried all kinds of medicines without deriving any benefit from them, until a friend of mine who had taken Dr. Ross' Pills advised me to try them. I did so, and am pleased to say they have given me entire satisfaction, and are the best medicine I have ever used.

Sick Headache

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

It affords me the greatest pleasure to testify to the merits of Dr. Ross' Kidney and Liver Pills as a cure for Sick Headache, Biliousness, etc. Of all the medicines I have tried Dr. Ross' Kidney and Liver Pills are the best. I cannot speak too highly of them for the good they have done myself and family, and I would advise every mother and housekeeper to keep them in the house.
MRS. ELLMAN,
261 Dard St., W.S., Cleveland, Ohio.

Rheumatism

Read what Mr. Palmer, 18 Grant street, has to say—One of the largest produce buyers in the eastern section of the city.

I have used Dr. Ross' Kidney and Liver Pills for Biliousness and Sick Headache caused by a torpid liver, and have found them the finest medicine I have ever taken. They have given me relief after years of suffering, when all other remedies and doctors have failed. I have recommended them to several of my friends, who have used them and derived great benefit from their use. I cannot praise them too highly.

A Local Budget

—The many friends of Miss McCarthy, daughter of James McCarthy, Horton street, will regret to hear of her serious illness. Blood poisoning is the cause.

—Special music will be rendered in Christ Church tomorrow evening. The duet and chorus, "Looking This Way," will be given in memory of the late Tracy O'Brien.

—The wedding is announced of Dr. T. Flaherty, of Mount Carmel, to Miss O'Brien, also of that place. Dr. Flaherty was gold medalist of London medical college in 1894, and has since been a very successful practitioner at Mount Carmel.

—The Bishop of Huron will hold confirmation service at St. Stephen's Church, Sandwich South, on Monday afternoon. Next afternoon he will hold consecration services at St. Andrew's Church, Harrow, and on Nov. 9 in Colchester.

—Referring to the statement that Rev. Rural Dean Hodgins, of Seaforth, had no desire to change to East London at present, the Seaforth Sun "is glad to hear of his decision. St. Thomas' Church was never in a more flourishing condition than it is lately, which is due in a great measure to the untiring efforts of Mr. Hodgins, whose zeal in the Master's work is everywhere noticeable."

—The friends of Robert Gardner, the popular clerk of the Tecumseh House, London, and son of D. Gardner, of this town will regret to learn that he is in London hospital, the result of falling off a bicycle and hurting his knee. It was at first thought that he would have to lose his leg, but we are pleased to learn that this will not be the case, although he may have a stiff leg.—Clinton New Era.

—Sarnia Observer: Instructions have been received from the railway postoffice department to the effect that, commencing on the 7th inst. (tomorrow), a Sunday mail will be made up in the Sarnia office in locked bags for London Hamilton and Toronto, the same as on other evenings of the week, the mail closing at 9 p.m. These bags will carry mail matter for intermediate places that would be advanced by this means. The demand for a Sunday evening mail has been of long standing, and compliance with it is one result of the severance of the railway mail service from the general service. Mr. McWhinney, the new superintendent, was not long in deciding that the request was a reasonable one.

—The preliminary hearing in the case of Michael Doxtater, Alex. Nicholas and Eli Powless, the Oneida Indians charged with stealing a black and white steer from John and Wm. Leach, of Delaware, on Oct. 14, was conducted yesterday afternoon by Squire Smyth. A number of witnesses were heard, the most important evidence being given by William and John Law, butchers at Southwold Station, who told of the purchase of the steer from Doxtater and John Ninham, at 4 o'clock one morning. Wm. Law had agreed to buy a heifer from Doxtater for $20, but Doxtater brought the steer instead, and as it was a superior animal, he was paid $22. The hide was saved, and it had been identified by the Leaches as that of the stolen steer. Ninham cannot be found. No evidence whatever was produced to connect Powless and Nicholas with the theft, and they were acquitted. Doxtater was sent for trial.

FROM FAR FORMOSA.

A letter has been received at the Presbyterian Church offices in Toronto from Rev. Dr. Mackay, of Formosa fame, describing the mission work in that far-away land. The letter is dated Formosa, Tamsui, Sept. 16. It is exclusively devoted to glowing accounts of religious services, at which the attendance of natives was large, and many conversions took place. "I went," Dr. Mackay says, "to Ki-li-gan. The day was excessively hot, so we arranged benches under the waving bamboos, and had a glorious meeting. Four were baptized. The letter gives a most encouraging report of the work.

AUGUST HYLLESTED.

Nov. 26 is the date of the pianoforte recital by the great Danish pianist, August Hyllested, court pianist to Princess Louise. A programme of much excellence is being prepared for the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, that evening, which will be announced shortly. Letters are arriving from surrounding towns and cities, asking that seats be secured, and it will be well for our musical people to avail themselves of the opportunity to secure reserved seat tickets at an early date from Heintzman & Co., 236 Dundas street. Students of music are not likely to have the opportunity again to hear a pianist of the great ability of Hyllested.

CITY MASONIC NEWS.

Six members of St. John's Lodge, No. 209a, city, have died in the eleven months of the present year, and at last night's meeting it was announced that since the previous communication there had died R. W. Bro. George C. Davis, Bros. Wm. McCormick and John Tracey O'Brien. Feeling references were made to their deaths, resolutions of condolence with their families were passed, and the members resolved to wear a mourning badge for 30 days.

A lodge of instruction will be held in London on Friday, 26th inst., by R. Ex. Comp Robert Scott, of Petrolia, grand superintendent of Royal Arch Masonry for London district. The lodge is under the auspices of St. John's and St. George's Chapters, and St. Thomas and Aylmer brethren have been asked to participate in the work.

R. Wor. Bros. Hungerford and Munson have presented to Mrs. McMillen, widow of the late D. D. G. M., the resolution of condolence passed at the last meeting of the district. Mrs. McMillen expressed her warmest thanks for the kindness of the brethren.

Ill. Bro. A. B. Munson, 30 degrees, T. P. G. M., of London Lodge of Perfection, and Puissant Prince A. G. McWhinney, 18 degrees, senior warden of the same lodge, attended the reunion of Toronto Lodge of Perfection last night.

London's Fine Police Force.

The Men Who Guard the Peace of the City.

Sketch of Chief Williams' Interesting Career.

Men of Fine Physique—Their Years of Service, Height and Weight.

London's police force comprises 37 men, two horses and a patrol wagon, and it is maintained at an annual expense of over $27,000 per year. In 1894, $27,311 was set apart for police purposes; in 1895, $26,400; in 1896, $27,450, and in 1897, $27,300. There are two classes of policemen, first and second. The first-class police receive $1 75 per day, and the second class $1 35. This to many may well seem meager pay. A policeman's life is not always a happy one. He is subject to irregularities sufficient to kill manhood less sturdy. He is exposed to all kinds of weather and innumerable dangers which are often lost sight of in estimating his value. The true policeman is a terror only to evil-doers, and usually they who speak ill of him have at some time or other made his acquantance in an official capacity.

Each man on the force is supplied with an overcoat and cape every four years, a helmet every five or six years, two pairs of pants per year, a cloth tunic every year and a serge the next. During the past twenty years the London police force has seen many changes in its ranks, and from time to time these changes were of a progressive character.

It is just twenty years ago this month since Chief Williams took hold of the reins at the police headquarters here, and these have been years of faithful service. He succeeded Chief W. S. Wigmore, who was appointed police court clerk immediately after the appointment of the present chief.

Chief Williams was born in Cornwall, England, 55 years ago, and when 12 years old, like many other boys of that ardent age, he, with a companion, ran away from home and stowed away aboard ship. After this adventure, which included a trip through the Mediterranean Sea, he returned home, no richer, save in experience. His companion he never saw afterwards, for the ship on which he sailed foundered and was lost in the Indian Ocean in a typhoon. At the age of 18 years Mr. Williams was 6 feet 3 inches in height, and much more fleshy than at present. He took to soldiering, and enlisted in the British army as a private in the Second Life Guards. He soon rose to the rank of corporal. After a short term in the Guards, to use his own words, the chief thought he controlled the whole British army, and consequently thumped another officer of the same rank for insolence and refusal to obey orders. This might have been overlooked had not Corporal Williams refused to obey a superior officer a few minutes after the assault. This led to his reduction as a matter of course, but at the same time there was an understanding among the officers in command that young Williams should receive the next promotion to the rank of corporal. This humiliation was too much for his independent spirit, and his application for discharge was granted with reluctance. Then began Mr. Williams' police experience. After holidaying for a short period on the savings he accrued in the army, he joined the constabulary force of the Isle of Wight, where his executive ability soon earned him promotion to the rank of inspector of police. After some years of service at that place he became connected with "A" division of the metropolitan police force of old London. He rose to a sergeant on the finest force in the world, and while in that position gained considerable knowledge of the tactics of criminals. He resigned to come to this country, and after being in Canada for some time he joined the Toronto police force. He soon rose to the sergeancy, and was one of the officers in charge at police headquarters. It was his good work in that capacity that formed one of his strongest recommendations when appointed to the London vacancy.

In the year 1877 London's police force was composed of the following men: Sergts. Baskerville and James Crawford; Detectives E. Murphy, Harry Phair and R. Wigmore, and Constables John Larkin, Patrick Wallace, Jas. Hobbins, Larry Powers, John Boyd, Fred. Templar, Mat. Calderwood, Wm. Rowan, R. Hudson, G. Christie, Wm. Rider, Robt. Weir, Jas. Lutnam and Robert Adams. Some of these have passed away, while some of them are yet in the same capacity as they were then. The longest period of service was that of Mr. Patrick Wallace, who resigned on Jan. 1 last, after 41 years of continuous duty. The force as it is today is made up of the following men:

	Joined.	Years' Service.
Chief Williams	Oct., 1877	20

Frank Darville	Nov., 1894	3
James Highstead	Jan., 1895	2

W. H. Downs, W. H. McPherson and Arthur Saddler appointed August, 1897.

The force is composed of men of fine phsique. Thomas Howie is the largest policeman possibly in Canada. He is 6 feet 5 inches, and weighed when he joined the force about 228 pounds, but he, like most of the others, has put on flesh, and now weighs 260 pounds. As to the best-looking man on the force, where there is so much manly beauty, it would require an artist to discriminate.

The height and weight of the other policemen at the time they joined was:

	Feet.	Inches.	Weight.
McPherson	6	0	180
Saddler	5	11	180
Downs	6	0	208
Robert Birrell	6	0	195

Sergt. Maguire	6	2½	210
John Morgan	5	10½	195
Sergt.-Major Adams	5	9	175

The members of the constabulary who died in the service were:

George Christie, who joined the force in 1874 and died April, 1882.

Wm. Insell, joined in 1878, and died at the station of heart failure on Sept. 16, 1878, after arresting and subduing a prisoner.

Detective Harry Phair, died in October, 1892, shot by the tramps. Wilson and Burke, who were tried for murder, and sentenced to 12 years at Kingston.

John Larkin, died in April, 1890.

Wm. Pope, killed on Jan. 7, 1891. His death was caused by the horses in the patrol wagon becoming unmanageable, and running away, throwing him out and dragging him along the hard pavement.

STAPLES

It is simply impossible for the Staple Department to fall behind in a store like Kingsmill's. It is, as it were, the needle that indicates the course being followed by the whole establishment. It is likely that you have never seen such a complete department as that to be found at the first two counters on the east side of our store. Everything is there in the way of Flannels, Flannelettes, Wrapperettes, Cottonades, Shirtings, Sateens, Calicoes, French Flannels, etc., etc. To give prices is unnecessary, as they are the lowest

Satisfaction guaranteed — that is how we do our business. Nos. 130 and 132 Carling street, with 9,900 feet of floor space exclusively for the display of Carpets and House Furnishings, is situated on the north side of Carling street, directly opposite one of our Dundas street stores, through which entrance may be had to this department. Many residents in all parts of Canada are familiar with the size and range of the stock we here carry. To those who are not, we would say that it is a sight worth seeing—Carpets to the right of you — Carpets to the left of you, Carpets in front of you piled four tiers high, 60x100 feet—that's the position. Without prejudice to any other department in our three stores, it can be said that the Carpet and House Furnishings Department takes a particular and special place in this store's business. A carpet trade cannot be done on a few rolls or in cramped space. We built our warehouse with a Curtain and Drapery Department upstairs, where your every want can be completely satisfied. Oilcloths, Oilcloth Mats, for under the stove, at proper prices. Window Shades, Store Blinds, everything in House Furnishings can here be supplied at lowest prices.

Ordered Clothing made to fit well, to wear well, at prices that sound well. Ladies, perhaps you have a husband, anyway you have a father and brothers, or uncles, or nephews, or cousins, haven't you? And of course they often need underwear, shirts, collars and ties—but men are so foolish when it comes to shopping—they would like to go to the most expensive furnisher in the province to supply their wants. They would pay 50c for the name on the tie, and 25c for the stuff that's in it. Now we sell the tie for 25c and don't put our name on it at all. Besides we have an immense stock—far larger than most furnishers—and we sell correspondingly cheap. Come to Kingsmill's when in need of

There Is Hope.

There is hope for those who suffer from biliousness and liver complaint. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver and restores health and vigor. Here is the proof:

"Dear Sirs,—I was troubled with biliousness and sick headache, and could get no relief until I tried B. B. B. I have taken four bottles, and am now completely cured. I recommend it as the best cure for all liver troubles. Mrs. GEORGE HADDOW, Walkerton, Ont.

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believed it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

The Institute Overcrowded.

A Situation That Needs Prompt Rectification.

Principal Bryant Exonerated From a Charge of Breach of Rules.

His Action in Correcting Unruly Pupils Appoved by the Committee.

Collegiate Institute extensions, an increase in its teaching staff, reports concerning fractious scholars, and a charge against Principal Bryant, of Princess avenue school, were the matters that occupied the attention of No. 1 committee of the board of education at its regular meeting last night.

The recommendations of Inspector Seath, in his report, regarding the Collegiate Institute, was taken up. As the attendance was greatly in excess of the teaching capacity, he emphasized the advisability of providing more class room accommodation, and increasing the staff of teachers. This was necessary if the efficiency of the school was to be maintained.

Mr. Merchant, of the Collegiate Institute, was asked to inform the committee regarding what was really necessary. Mr. Merchant said he could say very little more on the matter than Inspector Seath had said in his report. He explained the division of the forms and classes. In the first division of the commercial form there were 60 pupils where there was only room for 40. The second division was overcrowded also. The second and third forms were so crowded that good results with the present teaching staff could not reasonably be expected. The fourth form was the only one not overcrowded. He thought that if three teachers were appointed, one should go to the commercial class, one to the second division of form I., and the other to form III. He advocated the establishment of a commercial class apart from the other departments of the work and distinct from the commercial forms of the lower schools. The attic could be used for the purpose, and if not, a building should be erected. Over 400 of the 700 pupils who passed the entrance took the commercial work. This grade in the Collegiate Institute corresponded with the old fifth class. In the country schools the commercial work of the lower form was taught, but, of course, not the languages. About a hundred pupils were now taking the commercial course.

Mr. Logan asked if the commercial course could not be taught in the public schools.

Mr. Murphy and Mr. Greenlees did not think it could be done with satisfaction. It had been tried here before, and had been a failure, and great difficulty was being experienced with this method in Toronto, where commercial work was taught in the higher grades of the public schools.

Mr. Merchant said it could not be done satisfactorily in the public schools. If the work were taken up there, the pupils would still have to pass through the first form for the languages. The majority of pupils took the commercial work in connection with the languages. This was desirable, as a boy could not start his Latin too soon, and he was inclined to the belief that as a rule it was not taken up soon enough. The only solution of the matter was the appointment of another teacher. All the schools in the city were continually passing scholars, while others were coming in all the time. This accumulation was going on more and more, and if better facilities were not provided, fewer scholars should be sent there. It was impossible for one teacher to handle some of the classes.

Mr. Logan—What would become of the pupils if we refuse to provide facilities. Would not these pupils have to go to the commercial colleges and pay for it?

Mr. Merchant said that even if they did this, they would have to attend the Collegiate for languages. The arrangement was such that a pupil having to take so many subjects, it was so arranged that he could take the commercial course in preference to some subjects which would be of no practical use to him. If he went to a business college he would have to go to the Collegiate, and be compelled to go through subjects of no use to him, for the sake of getting one or two useful ones. The cry had been made that too much money had been spent on higher education. That frightened people who were not aware that the money was being spent on what was practically a higher grade of public school education. There was only one of two things to do, either to appoint three more teachers, or establish a strong commercial class, separate from the institute.

Mr. Logan wanted to know, if the commercial form were established, if fees could not be charged. He did not see that the board should supply commercial education free.

Mr. Merchant—The question of fees is another matter. You should have the school properly equipped, whether fees are charged or not. You could hardly charge one-half the school fees simply because they took the commercial course, and not charge those who did not, when it is a matter of choice. Continuing, Mr. Merchant said he cared little whether the commercial class was taken away from the Collegiate or not. The time had come, he thought, when the board should take some active steps to maintain the efficiency of the school by providing more teachers. If the attic were used it would have to be greatly altered.

It was the unanimous opinion of the committee that the matter was worthy of consideration, and had better lay over until they thoroughly comprehended the situation.

Mr. Logan thought it might be left over until next year.

Mr. Merchant—The matter has been laid over before. The way it stands now, you are spending money and getting very little for it.

The question was laid over, and at a convenient date in the near future the chairman will call a meeting to consider the subject.

Mr. George Taylor, 571 Adelaide street, addressed a letter to the board protesting against the conduct of Principal Bryant, of Princess avenue school. He charged that on Oct. 12 Mr. Bryant had, without sufficient cause, caught his son by the arm and pulled him into the hall from his class room, jammed him against the wall, tore the sleeve nearly out of his coat, and otherwise mauled him, threatening him all the time that he would "fix him." Mr. Taylor stated that he had called on Mr. Bryant and informed him that his son had been kept home sick, and that he was satisfied with his son's progress. The letter continues: "Mr. Bryant acted very defiantly, and informed me that he would do the same again. Therefore, I object to sending may boy to a master who may in a fit of temper treat my son as he has in the past, and, with the chairman's permission, pending the action of your honorable board, he is now attending the Lorne avenue school."

Mr. Taylor was present, and explained that the boy had been absent through illness. A note had been sent, to which some exception had been taken. Mr. Bryant had asked his son who was "running him." This question Mr. Taylor argued merited a flippant answer, which his son had given. Mr. Taylor said he was not going to have his son, simply because he was a little larger than the average boy, made an example of to strike terror into the other scholars. Mr. Bryant, he said, seemed to have some pick at him, and he showed it on every occasion. Mr. Taylor said he had asked Mr. Bryant to forgive the boy, but Mr. Bryant had turned on him then, and had not been very courteous. Others had complained about the treatment of Principal Bryant.

Mr. Bryant was prepared to meet the allegation. He pointed out that in order to obtain good results and maintain discipline, the teacher had to have control. The teacher met with two classes of boys—those who did wrong occasionally, and those who were habitually bad. In a case of this kind it was necessary to have some knowledge of the boy's conduct and character before the committee could decide whether or not his action was justified. Young Taylor's example was bad. On several occasions he had used profane language, was backward, had maltreated smaller boys, had insulted the caretaker, and generally disturbed the religious opening services of the school, and came without home-work. This kind of boy, who left unpunished, gave the others the impression that it mattered little whether they did as they were told or not. The morals and intelligence of the pupils depended a good deal on the discipline, and he had trounced the boy for being impudent, defiant and rebellious. Mr. Bryant denied having torn the boy's coat or done anything unwarrantable. He was not looking for sympathy from the committee, but he asked them to remember that it was just such boys as this one who had driven three principals away from that very school. He looked for censure if he had done anything wrong, and asked for an honorable acquittal if his action was confirmed.

Mr. Taylor said he had not come before the committee to discuss the character of his son. He had made a charge which Mr. Bryant practically admitted, as by the rules a teacher had no right to put his hand on him. "I have not come here," he said, "to go back over Mr. Bryant's past character. I didn't come here and say that Mr. Bryant was under the influence of liquor, and that this led up to it. I didn't think this was necessary, but such things might be."

Mr. Greenlees, Dr. Teasdall and Mr. Stevenson supported the teacher.

A resolution, which Mr. Logan had specially prepared beforehand, was passed, exonerating Mr. Bryant.

Principal Baker, of St. George's school, reported that he had expelled George Cahill, under sections A., D., E, F, G, H, J and M of the rules for unbecoming conduct, and asked the committee to confirm his dismissal under section 22 of the board's rules.

Mr. Greenlees enlightened the committee to some extend regarding Cahill's character. To begin with, his grandparents, with whom Cahill resided, were separate school supporters. Cahill's example was calculated to demoralize younger boys, and seriously interfered with good government and discipline at the school. On one occasion while being remonstrated with he had deliberately picked up a slate and broken it over his knee, and on several occasions had spitefully and defiantly torn up good books.

Some of the members were in favor of giving the boy another chance, but after hearing the report of his conduct, Mr. Baker's action was confirmed. The general opinion of the board was that Mr. Baker should have chastised him severely for such actions, notwithstanding that he might have been brought before the board for doing it.

Messrs. Greenlees, Logan, Stevenson and Dr. Teasdall expressed themselves as ready to stand up for the teachers, as law and order and progress depended upon them. If their hands were tied in this matter it meant that the scholars would run the teachers.

The application of Mr. James Henley for permission to send his children to St. George's school, which they had been compelled to leave on account of his inability to pay the non-resident fee of 50 cents per month, was again discussed. Mr. Henley's letter stated that although he lived on the other side of Huron street, a few feet away from the city limits, he spent all his earnings in the city, and thought he should be accorded some privileges. The nearest country school was 2½ miles away.

The committee decided to recommend that the petition be granted.

Miss A. C. McArthur, who was transferred from Victoria school last September to the position of principal of Wortley road school, in a communication asked for an increase of salary, as her duties in consequence had been greatly increased. She now receives $450 per annum, the same as when at Victoria school. The application was filed.

A number of applications for positions on the staff of teachers were referred to the inspector.

A motion was made granting supplies to the Protestant Orphan's Home, and the committee adjourned.

Those present were Trustees Dr. Teasdall (chairman), Dr. Wilson, Stevenson, Murphy, Inspector Carson and Mr. Merchant.

Athens and Socrates.

Entertaining Lecture at St. Andrew's by Mr. R. A. Little, B.A.

The Ancient and Modern Greeks—Characteristics of the Great Philosopher.

A goodly number braved the elements last night and gathered in St. Andrew's Church school room to enjoy a lecture by Mr. R. A. Little, B.A. They were rewarded by a most able and entertaining treatment of the subject, "Socrates in Athens." His address was prefaced by a short programme, comprising a duet by Misses Walker and Taylor, and a solo by Miss Constance Fraser. Rev. Robert Johnston was the chairman, and introduced the lecturer.

Mr. Little briefly compared modern and ancient Athens, and showed how the Athens of today was reviving everything that belonged to the ancient city—political institutions, national characteristics, language and architecture. Modern Greek was practically the same language in which St. Paul delivered his discourse on the hill of Mars. After two thousands years, the Greek of ancient literature was paramount again. As a people, they were intensely proud of their nationality, whether residing in Greece or in neighboring lands, and they believed in their future political union and dominion over the shores of the Eastern Mediterranean. Touching on the influence of environment on Greek character and art, the lecturer said that the beauty, grace, elegance and harmony of Grecian architecture were the products of minds which drew daily inspiration from skies of serenest blue. Through a transparent atmosphere they looked upon a most glorious landscape, beautifully diversified by land and water, mountain and valley, land and dale, all bathed in the purest light. This union of magnificent scenery with so many historic scenes had a wonderful influence in developing the Athenian character.

Ancient Athens had a population variously estimated at 120,000 to 192,000 people. In this small city, within the span of one human life, there lived and worked Miltiades, Themistocles, Pericles, Alcibiades, Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Aristophanes, Pheidias, Thucydides, Socrates and Plato. There was nothing like this in the whole history of mankind. At a time when Athens contained only about 20,000 full citizens it was a city whose citizens, taken as a whole, formed simply one large school of artists, thinkers and speakers of the highest order. In the middle of this great age (500 to 400 B. C.) came he, who the oracle said would be one day the wisest man in Greece—Socrates, the greatest and most original of the Greek philosophers, whose uninspired wisdom made the nearest approach to the divine morality of the Gospel. He was rough and uncouth in outward appearance, but as keen as a Spartan hound in following an argument. Socrates confessed that he had never had a teacher, although he had always desired to have one; but he was too poor to pay the fees. He engaged in the military service of his country, and in the field, as in the city, was strangely distinguished among his fellows. In a time of bitter frost he would march barefooted over the ice in his ordinary dress, with more ease than others comfortably shod. At the battle of Delium the Athenians were defeated, but had they shown the same courage as Socrates the result might have been different. He was subject to fits of abstraction, and claimed to have frequent visits from what he called his daemonium, a warning voice which always called him from a wrong action. These were indications of the same profound, meditative spirit, which in all ages has produced prophets, martyrs and mystics to stir men from their moral and intellectual torpor, to destroy abuses and subdue new kingdoms in thought and morals. Even his voice had a magical quality. The ideals he pursued were clean living and clear thinking. He was completely unworldly in the sense that he despised political influence and the praise of the vulgar. From force of necessity he twice participated in the discussions of the assembly, and on each occasion showed the same independent spirit which always characterized him. Neither the threats of the powerful class nor the clamor of the mob could shake his resolution. He had a special liking for and a wonderful effect upon young men. His love was returned; he was the center of attraction, often of affection, of all the gentler youth of Athens. He walked with them, ate with them, sang and told stories with them.

Socrates brought down philosophy from heaven to earth. All previous philosophy had dealt only with physical phenomena. Socrates showed that the explanation of these was of far less importance than the explanation of man himself, and his mental and moral nature. Resolutely and persistently he declined to work for his living, notwithstanding that he was married and had several sons. He might be described with some appearance of truth as an idler and a street loafer. But he felt strongly his divine mission from God to teach the citizens of the republic.

It so happened that Alcibiades, whom the Athenians believed to have been instrumental in causing their defeat in the Peloponnesian war, and Critias, the tyrant of Athens, were two of Socrates' most prominent pupils, and to this was largely due the resentment of the Athenians against Socrates. Even in the hour of death he was the same strange, unconventional man that he had been throughout his life.

The Athenians of that age formed a very small class of free and privileged men, personally known to each other, living on terms of absolute equality, passing their lives in public, mainly in the porticos of the temples and marketplaces, talking over politics, art and business, having no real work to do; not only patriotic, but educated in certain things far beyond the height of modern culture, passionately keen about grace and beauty, wit and intellect. "For their love of beauty, culture and art, we have substituted a material production; for their public magnificence, private luxuriousness; and for their social intercourse, domestic privacy. In Athens we see to what heights of perfection humanity can attain under the most favorable conditions without the supernatural light and guidance of Christianity."

At the conclusion Mr. Little was tendered a hearty vote of thanks. The lecture was given under the auspices of the King's Messengers' Missionary Society, which is composed of young ladies of the church.

Interesting Experience

Of the Trip From Seattle to Dawson City.

The Perilous Climb to the Summit of Chilcoot Pass—Tempestuous Voyage Up the Lakes—Shooting the Rapids—Hunting Moose—Safe at Dawson—Food Going To Be Scarce.

Mr. E. T. Welburn, son-inlaw of Mr. James Wilkins, No. 264 Dundas street, recently went from Seattle to Dawson City, where he will manage a sawmill for an American firm. Mr. Welburn, in a letter to friends in this city, thus describes the trip, which took nearly two months:

We left Seattle on Aug. 1, and arrived at Dyea on the 6th. We had a fearful time getting the sawmill and goods into shape to be packed over the Chilcoot Pass. It was impossible to get packers at any price, and we had to turn in and pack for ourselves. The climb to the summit of Chilcoot Pass was simply terrible, it being necessary in some places to CLIMB HAND OVER HAND.

After arriving at Lake Linderman, it was a good deal better. We reached Linderman on Aug. 28, built our boats and started up the lakes. We arrived at Lake Bennett on Sept. 8, when we again started up the lakes. We lost our rifle while trying to hoist sail in rounding the first point. Here the small boat had to run into shelter. The waves were six or seven feet high. At 7 o'clock we struck West Arm, where

A HEAVY SEA WAS ROLLING,

and the men were kept busy bailing water. At 11:30 p.m. we reached the end of Lake Bennett. Sept. 9 we started at 4:30 a.m., and rowed till 1 a.m. against a head wind, then put into camp and finished the scow, putting on the deck and splash-boards. At 5 p.m. we started to go across Lake Mares, but went to the wrong side, and had to go back two miles. We then got on the right side and followed it up to within half a mile of Little Windy Arm, where we went into camp. Here J. Harman and myself caught a fish and killed a duck, which we ate for supper.

On Sept. 10 at 4:30 a.m. we started, and the wind carried us nearly across to the left bank. We had hard work to get back. We crossed Little Windy Arm and made it all right, and camped at Big Island. Left Big Island at 6 a.m. and crossed Windy Arm all right. After that we struck a fair wind, and made good time across Tagish Lake, reaching the custom house at 5 p.m. After paying our duty, we pulled out and set sail down the river, reaching Lake Marsh at 6 p.m. Sept. 12 we set sail at 6 a.m. across Lake Marsh to Lewis River, which we reached at 12:30, then went on down the river till within six miles of the Comison Rapids. Three of the men took the small boat and making it all right. They came back and took the scow through at 6 p.m. We made the dash for our lives through the canyon; went to the left side and struck the whirlpool, but after hard work we righted. The scenery along the rapids was beautiful, and as we went whirling through, I thought it one of the grandest sights I had ever seen.

Sept. 14, at 5 a.m., we started again. We had to haul the scow up the stream, but we secured a lot of men to help us, and got in shape to start at 11 a.m.

AMONG THE ROCKS.

After going a short distance we struck shoal rock, and scraped the bottom of the scow badly, breaking one board, but we took no water, and went on, with great difficulty keeping off the rocks. Reaching Tekkena River at 2:40 p.m., and the mouth of the river at 6 p.m., we went into camp. Sept. 15 we started at 5 a.m. to cross Lake Le Barge, when we struck a fine sailing breeze, which at last rose to a high wind, and we were compelled to seek shelter. Sept. 16, 8:30 a.m., we started again, but on account of the current only made 35 miles, and then went into camp. Sept. 17 we started at 5:30 a.m.; made very poor time. I strained my arm, so I could not help. We passed Big Salmon River at 11 a.m., and met a lot of Indians, who called out "Him moose meat." We went on down the river with the Indians, and went into camp at 5:30 p.m.

HUNTING MOOSE.

We saw a moose, and two of the boys went with one of the Indians to try to shoot it, but the Indian said: "Boston man make too much noise; way went moose." We bought some skins from the Indians, to make moccasins, Sept. 18, at 5:30, we started down the river; had a fine sail till about 9 a.m., when we struck a good many small islands and sandbars, and went aground and broke an oar.

DUCKS FOR DINNER.

At 12 we went into camp. Shot some ducks for dinner, made an oar, and started again at 3:45, and went on down to within ten miles of Five Finger Rapids, when we went into camp. Sept. 19, we started at 6:30 a.m., and made the rapids at 9:30 a.m., reaching Rush Rapids at 10:30 a.m. There was no trouble in making either of these rapids. Rush being shoal water, we went on down, and went into camp ten miles from Pelly River. Sept. 20, started at 6 a.m., and reached Pelly River at 9:20, when we stopped for a couple of hours and traded with Indians. I bought some moccasins.

AT DAWSON CITY.

Sept. 22 we arrived at Dawson City all right. Food is going to be wofully scarce this winter, but we will have enough food, I am sure. There are no new strikes, but everything is booming. Lumber is in large demand. We are confident of success. It is warm in the daytime, but frosty at night. The country is for the most part rocky and barren. We are all in good health, and are gaining flesh.

Canadian Produce.

Recent Sales of Apples, Cheese, Eggs and Butter.

Our Poultry Being Bought Up for the British Holiday Trade.

[Trade Bulletin, Montreal.]

CANADIAN APPLE TRADE.

One of the leading features of the apple market during the past week has been the operations of a buyer in Montreal, representing a large firm in Bradford, England, who has bought thousands of barrels here and in the west at pretty high figures. In Montreal he purchased a number of car lots of choice winter varieties at $3 to $3 50 per barrel. Several lots that were on the way from the west for shipment to England were sold to this buyer, the prices paid by him showing good profits to the sellers, who considered that "a bird in the hand was worth two in the bush." Good sound stock arriving in good condition has recently sold in Liverpool at prices which netted shippers in the west from $2 42 to $4 62, while other sales of inferior fruit and in poor condition only netted $1 20 to $2; but even these were good nets considering the poor class of the goods. Everything now points to a continuance of good profitable figures during the present season, owing to the unprecedented shortness of the crop. Still prices may be carried too high, as there are so many other kinds of fruit to take the place of apples if values are pushed up too far. The sale is reported of 6,000 barrels of choice winter stock, comprising Spies, Baldwins, Spitz and a few greenings at $3 f. o. b., west of Toronto and a lot of 300 barrels red stock at a point east of Toronto at $3 35 f.o.b. In this market sales of choice to fancy red fruit have transpired at $3 50 to $4, and seconds at $2 to $2 75.

The shipments of apples from Atlantic ports till the close of last week this year were 269,536 barrels, compared with 1,238,573 barrels for the corresponding period last year.

Latest cable advice from both Liverpool and Glasgow indicate a weaker feeling with lower prices expected.

THE CHEESE MARKET.

It is true the cheese market has been on the tumble during the past week or ten days; but during that time there has been probably 40,000 to 50,000 boxes of cheese bought in Montreal and in the country on the basis of 8⅝c to 8⅞c for finest Western Septembers, and at 8¼c to 8½c for finest Quebec and eastern townships, and at 7½c to 8c for undergrades. There is considerable difference of opinion regarding stocks in Montreal, some estimating them at 400,000 boxes and others at 250 000 boxes. Most of the eastern cheese has been bought up.

POULTRY FOR BRITAIN.

Buyers in Ontario both east and west of Toronto are busy contracting turkeys for the Christmas markets in England, one large exporting firm in Montreal having secured a large quantity at prices ranging from 7½c to 9c per pound, to be ready for shipment via St. John or Portland by the latter part of the month. A few lots of fancy large birds have been taken at 9½c, but 9c is said to be the top average. Geese and chickens have been bought at proportionate prices.

THE EXPORT EGG TRADE.

Further business has transpired in choice fresh gathered eggs for export as well as in pickled stock. A few days ago a sale of 1,000 cases of choice fresh eggs was made by a Montreal house for Glasgow account at 8s 9d c. i. f., while 500 cases of pickled were placed for Liverpool account at 6s 9d, and prices range from 6s 4½d to 6s 9d for pickled c. i. f. Liverpool and Glasgow. The exports from Montreal for the season up till last week were 103,891 cases, as compared with 90,015 cases for the same period last year, showing an increase of 13,876 cases. The great bulk of recent shipments went to Liverpool and Glasgow, which are the two principal markets for Canadian eggs, a few lots going to Bristol and London. In the latter market they appear to be very little known, though there should be a good field for them in the World's Metropolis. The supply of fresh eggs suitable for export is about exhausted for this season, and the sale of 1,000 cases above mentioned is probably the last for the present year. According to recent mail advices French eggs sold at 10s 6d to 11s 6d in Liverpool and London, and Russian, which some time ago sold as low as 4s 6d, are now bringing 6s 6d to 7s.

BUTTER.

United States butter, held in bond at Montreal, is being shipped back to Chicago and New York. That is found to be more profitable at present than shipment to Britain.

You think of Scott's Emulsion as only for those who have consumption or who have inherited a tendency to it. Almost its greatest use is for those whose condition is so impaired as not to be able to get the good they should out of their ordinary food. In nearly every case with these, Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil brings back appetite, stimulates digestion, restores color and plumpness, and controls the diseases of thinness. Smuggling in the Tires.

European Revenue Dodgers Find a New and Unique Use for the Wheel.

Revealed by a Boy's Trick — Bicyclists Now Have to Deflate Their Tires at the Border.

The smugglers' latest aid in amassing wealth by cheating the revenue officers of their due is the bicycle. Those who haunt the border between Belgium and France have attained a world-wide notoriety by reason of their audacity and the extraordinary number of novel devices they have brought to bear on the alert officials of the French republic, and their latest scheme fully sustains their reputation for originality and nerve.

The price of pepper in France is so outrageously high, in consequence of the enormous duty exorted before it can be brought into the country, that poor people have almost ceased to know what pepper is, and even the moderately well-to-do Frenchman is to a great extent compelled to strike it from his list of condiments. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that the smuggler at the Belgium border has come to regard smuggling pepper as an art of no less importance than smuggling diamonds, and the customs officers on the boarder are always on the lookout for suspicious looking packages that may contain the valuable table accessory.

SEARCHING THE SUSPECT.

For some time past it had been known that pepper was being smuggled into the country in large quantities, and many changes were made in consequence among the officers on the border, a number of whom were suspected of being in collusion with the rogues. This unjust suspicion led the revenue officials to concentrate their energies on the detection of these pepper smugglers, but still the smuggling went merrily on, and would probably be going on today were it not for the fact that an unlucky accident happened a few weeks ago and gave the snap away.

The road that leads across the border between Belgium and France is overrun with bicyclists, who are always carefully searched for their contraband goods before they are permitted to enter France. The bicyclists have been rather under the ban all along, for much smuggling has been done by these up-to-date travelers. In one of these wheelmen a watchful official recently recognized a well-known suspect. He made him dismount, and put him through a rigid examination, with the result that not an ounce of incriminating goods could be found upon him.

SUDDEN CHANGE OF FEELING.

The supposed smuggler smiled good-naturedly during the examination and bantered the revenue man on his idle suspicions, and the latter was beginning to get angry over the non-success of his attempt, when something happened that changed the expression of both men's faces. It was then the wheelman's place to look dismayed, and that of the revenue officer to laugh. What had happened was this: The lively lads who reside along the border between France and Belgium are as much given to playing practical jokes as are any youths the world over, and it was one of these who had caused the change in the situation by prodding the tire of the bicyclist's wheel. The tire exploded with a loud report, and lo! instantly the air was filled with a choking, blinding, pungent dust which the revenue officers had no difficulty in recognizing as pepper of the strongest kind. The smuggler tried to escape while they were clearing their eyes of pepper, but was seized.

BOTH STUFFED FULL OF PEPPER

An examination of the other tire showed that it also was stuffed full of pepper; and the revenue people quickly realized that this must have been the way in which they had been deceived all along. But as one of them remarked: "Who would have thought of looking for smuggled goods in a bicycle tire?"

All that day the officers were kept busy compelling bicyclists to deflate the tires of their wheels, and immense was the contraband stock seized before the day was over. It had been a practice for the smugglers to ride across the border daily with tires stuffed full of the highest-priced pepper, and had it not been for the mischievous boy who simply wished to make a supposedly innocent tourist shoulder his wheel and walk, the smugglers would still have been working their clever game. As it is, the revenue officers, while congratulating themselves on having spiked another gun, are saying to one another, "What will they get at next?"

HAPPY PEOPLE

Who Are Made Well and Strong by Paine's Celery Compound.

No Return of Disease.

Cures Are Permanent and Lasting

A Letter From a Montreal Gentleman Cured Four Years Ago.

Medical colleges conferred upon Professor Edward Pheips, M.D., their highest honors for his invaluable investigations in medicine, but all this seems small in comparison with the grand chorus of gratitude that has gone up all over the world from men, women and children who have outgrown weakness, lack of health and disease by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, the noble professor's grandest medical discovery.

Paine's Celery Compound justly boasts of one grand advantage over all the advertised remedies of the day, whether they be pills, nervines, bitters or sarsaparillas. The cures effected by Paine's Celery Compound in cases of rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver troubles, nervousness and dyspepsia are permanent and lasting.

Thousands of glad letters like the following from Mr. Charles Bowles, of Montreal, are received every year:

"Over four years ago I gave you a testimonial for Paine's Celery Compound after it had completely freed me of rheumatism of many years' standing. I am happy to state I have had no trouble from the disease since your Paine's Celery Compound cured me, proving conclusively that your medicine works permanent cures. I am always recommending Paine's Celery Compound to the sick, and particularly to those troubled with rheumatism."

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

TENANT.—In April, 1896, A rents a farm for one year from B, who, in the fall, sold to C. Then A rents from C by lease for one or five years. Now C rents to D. When does A's time expire? Ans.—At the end of the first year upon the facts stated. Consult a lawyer.

I. M.—If one has peaceable possession of land without lease or payment of rent for ten years, will he be the owner? Ans.—Not necessarily, but he will have a good title by possession if the real owners were not under disability to sue at the commencement of the ten years' limitation, the date of which depends upon how possession was first acquired. 2. If such person builds on said land without asking permission of the owner, can the owner collect rent for said building? Ans.—No.

Highway.—Mr. A has moved a fence from the original survey line along roadside from three to six feet into the highway. Can he be made to return said fence to its former or proper place, or what is the penalty for said action? Ans.—Yes, it is the legal duty of the corporation to compel the removal of the fence off the street at his expense. Report the matter to the council. There is no penalty other than the expense and legal costs of recovering them from him. If the council refuse to act the legal remedy is a mandatory order from the high court as to the propriety of which consult a lawyer.

WILL.—In the event of a man making his will, and the wife's portion being settled upon her for life, by an agreement made when deed was made to son, now, if no legacy is made to her or to any others of the family, who have already received their portions, can they claim any of the effects after his decease, or should it be stated in the will that they, having received their portions, no further bequeaths are made to them? Ans.—The other members of the family can make no claims, nor can the wife, if the settlement upon her was in lieu of dower. It is, therefore, not necessary to refer to this matter in the will, but it would do no harm to do so. The wife can claim her dower if the settlement does not prevent her.

Householder—The Toronto Globe says the Ontario Legislature has made it an offense to point a gun or pistol, loaded or unloaded, towards any person. Please refer me to the statute and tell me what I am to do should a burglar enter my home. Ans.—We know of no Ontario statute on the subject which is not within the jurisdiction of the Legislature. The Globe probably intended to refer to section 109 of the criminal code, 1892, which provides "that every one who, without lawful excuse, points at another any firearms or airgun loaded or unloaded, is guilty of an offense." To point a loaded or unloaded pistol at a burglar in your home would not be an offense, because you would have a lawful excuse not only to point but to fire at him.

BICYCLE.—Is a milk drawer, with a load of from a ton to a ton and a half, obliged to give half of the road to a person on a bicycle? Ans.—No, but he must where practicable allow the bicyclist sufficient room on the traveled portion of the highway to pass to the right. 2. How many legal holidays can a hired man take from the 20th of March to the 20th of November? Ans.—Good Friday, Queen's Birthday, Dominion Day and Labor Day, but he can only take them subject to necessary work, like as on Sundays. 3. If a hired man takes sick and is not able to work for two or three days, can he be made put in the time he lost while sick? Ans.—Not necessarily; the master has a right to determine the contract of service as soon as the man ceases to work, and to make a new arrangement as to his time lost and his future services; but if that is not done, there is no legal, although there is a moral obligation on the part of the man to put in lost time.

Accidents Will Happen.

John Brown, a G. T. R. veteran, of 2,446 Marshall street, Philadelphia, says: "By a mere accident I came across Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. I was a great suffered from that dread malady—Catarrh. This wonderful remedy effected a speedy and permanent cure in my case, and I have been so thankful for it that I am willing to spend the remainder of my days in spreading the good news to my fellow-sufferers."

LONDON.

London Township Council met at Guest's bridge, con. 5, on Oct. 5, to consider what steps should be taken to protect the bridge from destruction by floods or other causes. All the members were present. The matter was referred to the county commissioner to ascertain what proportion the county council will bear of the cost of such work as is required, and the clerk was instructed to inform Messrs. Elson and Jackson, county councilors, of the action taken by this council. Council adjourned.

Council met Nov. 1, 1897. All the members were present. The minutes of previous and special meetings were read and signed. A communication from Messrs. Fraser & Fraser, re injury to Mr. Moore, on the Governor's road, last September, was read and referred to the street railway company. Orders for the following amounts were issued: James Magee, $6 for five marriage registers; T. D. Box, $3 for one lamb killed by dogs; J. White & Co., $2 75 for drift-bolts for Adelaide street bridge; W. Irwin, $1 for putting plank on bridge; D. C. McRoberts, $19 50, one-half cost of 20 cords of gravel; D. Burnett, $3, one-half cost of 20 cords of gravel; J. McVey, $2, one-half cost of overseeing and spreading gravel; J. Grant (clerk), $1 40, amount paid by him for registering deed; R. J. Worrall, $3 50 for gravel and trapdoor; P. McIntyre, $19 25, one-half cost of gravel bee on Town Line; D. H. Flanigan, 50 cents, one-half cost of repairing culvert; G. F. Mitchell, $1 25, for repairing approach to bridge; J. Birrell, $4 50, for plank and repairing two bridges on 8 and 9 road, con. 5, spikes for bridge, etc.; Free Press, $5 70, for advertising; B. Kennedy, $5 for repairing bridge; I. Crouse, $94 66, for extra work on and around Adelaide street bridge; Thomas Hodgins, $2, for putting up guards to stop the travel over Adelaide street bridge after the washout; E. C. Logan, $30, for privilege of roadway across part of his farm, said amount to pay for all present or future damages to his farm resulting from said privilege; John Ardil, $6, full amount for privilege of roadway across his premises during work on Adelaide street bridge.

Moved by J. McLeod, seconded by T. Clark, that Henry Sifton be paid $5 for privilege of crossing his property during the fixing of approach to bridge and abutment at Adelaide street bridge. Lost. J. H. Hodgins and Edward Dann were paid $14 each for time and expenses to Toronto re amalgamation of river front with the city; T. Council adjourned till the first Monday in December. JAMES GRANT Clerk.

BARRELS MADE OF PAPER

Invention of a Cleveland Man Which Means a Great Saving.

[Toledo Commercial.]

John Vandevelde, of Cleveland, is the inventor of two articles which will have a tendency to decrease the price of several commodities. His inventions are paper barrels and paper bottles for beverages. For a long time the price of many liquid commodities sold in bulk have been gauged by the price of the barrels in which they are transported. The barrels are constructed for the greater part of paper cardboard, which is impervious to water. They are slightly shorter in height than the ordinary barrel, but will hold as much, as they are without the usual bilge of the wooden barrel. The paper in the walls of the barrel is three-fourths of an inch in thickness, of many piles, between which are thick coatings of a specially prepared glue.

About the middle of the barrel is a single hoop of steel three inches wide and three-eighths of an inch thick. This, therefore, extends from the barrel to such a distance as to permit of the barrel being rapidly swung about on its center. Pressed over the ends of the walls of the barrel are rims of pressed steel three-fourths of an inch thick and extending downward three inches. It is on an indented surface, in the inner portion of this rim that the head of the barrel rests. The heads are also made of paper, slightly thicker than that in the walls of the barrel. They are held in place by three bolts passing through the barrel from end to end. Nuts on each end hold them in place and permit of the heads being easily removed or placed in short order.

The Bladder

CURED BY

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

I was troubled for three years with inflammation of the bladder, the neck of which was nearly closed up. Doctors and medicines gave me no relief until I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. Seven boxes completely cured me. I work in Tuckett's tobacco factory, and all my fellow-employés know of my disease and can testify to my wonderful cure.

CATARRH!

Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure

SPEEDY, INEXPENSIVE AND ABSOLUTELY PAINLESS.

See, Bessie, this is the way mother does.

You insert the tube and give one good blow and away she goes. And do you know I have never had bad breath or a touch of headache since using it. Now just let me try it on you and I am sure it will help that cold in the head and fix up that red nose.

Is the breath foul?
Is the voice husky?
Do you ache all over?
Is the nose stopped up?
Do you snore at night?
Does your nose discharge?
Does the nose bleed easily?
Is there tickling in the throat?
Is the nose sore and tender?
Do you sneeze a great deal?
Is this worse towards night?
Does the nose itch and burn?
Is there pain in the back of the head?
Is there pain across the eyes?
Is there pain in the back of the eyes?
Is your sense of smell leaving?
Is there a dropping in the throat
Is the throat dry in the mornings
Are you losing your sense of taste?
Do you sleep with the mouth open?
Does the nose stop up at night?

If so it is sure and certain indication of Catarrh.

DR. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE

Gives instant relief—in less than a minute after the first application the air passages are freed, and the breathing becomes natural and easy—the most acute attacks of cold in the head are cured in a few hours—cures the most inveterate catarrh in a few days—and will permanently cure most chronic cases in from one to three months—it allays pain—counteracts all foulness of the breath—heals the ulcers—and in an incredibly short while absorbs and dries up all discharge. It contains no injurious ingredients, such as cocaine, the use of which, like morphine, in many cases has been the means of contracting the dreaded narcotic habit. Beware of catarrh cures containing such ingredients. Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is sure, pure, harmless and easily applied. Dr. Chase's Improved Inhaler accompanies every box free of charge. Follow directions closely. Here are a few from a thousand or more testimonials who have been helped and cured.

A BAD CASE BUT A PERMANENT CURE.

For years I suffered from that dread disease—catarrh—I spent a small fortune in medicines without receiving any relief—I had the disease in a very bad form, and nothing seemed to reach the seat of the trouble until I procured and used Chase's Catarrh Cure. I got almost instant relief and I declare that, though I can hardly credit it myself, I have been permanently cured, and gladly give my testimony to the merits of this great cure.

ARTHUR P. THORNE.

CHRONIC CATARRH FOR 15 YEARS.

I had been a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years—it became chronic. I have spent a lot of money and tried many doctors. I also treated with a catarrh specialist in London—in fact, had tried most everything I saw advertised without getting any benefit. I was directed by the advertisements and testimonials I read to try Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I used three boxes and a complete cure was effected. I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from catarrh.

WOMAN AND THE WORLD

Leaving the Queen's Presence.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune has some interesting things to say about the difficulties and dangers attendant upon the walking backward which etiquette makes imperative upon those who are leaving the presence of Queen Victoria, and other European sovereigns.

Let any one try to walk backward along the full length of a big hall, bowing every few steps, never looking backward, and yet keeping in the proper direction, and he will see how difficult it is to preserve either one's dignity or one's bearings; and very often the walking backward has to be done, not merely on the level, but also up and down steps and stairs, which is still more arduous, and requires an immense amount of practice.

On one of the rare occasions on which Queen Victoria presided at the opening of Parliament she was attended by the Duke of Argyll, who, during duty for the nonce as lord high steward of the realm, carried the crown on a velvet cushion. At the conclusion of the ceremony, during which he had occupied a place on the dais of the throne in the House of Lords, he proceeded to move backward from the presence of her majesty.

He forgot, however, the steps of the dais, and when he reached the edge of the dais he felt backward all huddled up in his long and heavy ermine-barred red peer's robes, from the folds of which he was extricated with difficulty. The crown shared in the mishap, for it rolled from its cushion to the ground, and a number of the stones dropped out.

The queen, whose face showed more concern than amusement, although the gravity of those about her was sorely taxed, spoke a few kindly words, expressing her hope that the duke was not hurt, and begging him not to be troubled about the affair, and then swept out with her cortege.

No sooner had she left the gilded chamber, however, than those present, comprising ambassadors, great officers of state, peers and peeresses of the realm, prelates and judges, were requested by the officials of the house of lords not to stir from their seats, or to approach the throne until the stones which had dropped from the crown had been collected.

Of course, the object of this precaution was to prevent the gems from being injured from being trodden on. But it sounded for a moment as if the officials entertained apprehensions lest some impecunious peer or lady diplomat should take advantage of the clumsiness of the Duke of Argyll to pocket a crown jewel.

Sometimes this walking backward does rise to rather pretty and even theatric devices on the part of those who desire to avoid accident. Thus I recall the case of a relative who, on returning from active service, was summoned with several other brother officers to Buckingham Palace to receive from the hands of the sovereign the order of the bath.

He had lost his right leg so near to the hip joint that there was no means of wearing an artificial limb, and he was consequently dependent upon crutches.

When he entered the royal presence it was noticed that he held, fastened apparently to the handrest of either crutch, a couple of lovely bouquets. A third of the distance up the long room he stopped, made the regulation bow as best he could, and dropped one of the bunches of flowers to the floor. Then he made his way up to the Queen, tendered her the other bouquet, which she graciously accepted, received his order of the bath, which she herself faster i to his uniform, with many a kindly word, and then he proceeded to withdraw from her presence.

If ever there was a case in which the walking backward might have been dispensed with, it was there, and the faces of the Queen and of those around her betrayed signs of anxiety lest some mishap should overtake the colonel. He, however, backed away, displaying some hesitation, until he reached that part of the room where he had purposely left the first bouquet on the ground.

That gave him his bearings. He knew where he was then, and leaving the flowers there he reached the door in safety, the Queen kindly nodding and waving her hand to him in appreciation of his somewhat arduous act of homage.

To Relieve Aches and Pains.

[New York Evening Post.]

"I complained so much of my aches and pains," relates an old lady, who seems never to have either any more, "that my son, who is a naval officer, became interested in their relief. 'What you need,' he said, 'is exercise, to keep the muscles supple and give strength. We use,' he went on, 'in the training of our boys and men for the naval service, a set of eighteen exercises to strengthen the muscles, expand the chest and to give them an erect carriage. These exercises are equally beneficial for young girls and older ladies; you may in a measure renew your youth.' I took his advice, and have practiced these exercises faithfully, and found them in a short time very beneficial. I think other women of my years may be glad of their formula. Care should be taken to perform the movements just as directed. When muscles which have been seldom used are called into play, a feeling of soreness may be felt for the first few times; this will disappear as custom brings ease in the movements."

First exercise—Neck. (1.) Standing erect. Heels on the same line and together. Feet turned out equally, forming with each other an angle of 60 degrees. Knees straight. Body erect on the hips. Hands on hips, fingers to the front, thumbs to the rear. Elbows pressed back. (2.) Front. Incline the head forward, looking down till chin as nearly as possible rests on chest. (3.) Straight. Raise head to natural position, with head erect. Repeat.

Second exercise—Position of the head. Stand as above described. (1.) Rear. Turn back the head as far as possible. (2.) Right. Carry the head to the right as far as possible, face down. (3.) Left. Carry the face to the right, face up. (4.) Straight. Raise head to natural position. Repeat.

Third exercise—Elbows to front and rear. Stand as at first described. (1.) Front. Bring the elbows forward in line with hips. (2.) Rear. Turn the elbows back till the shoulder-blades meet, expand the chest, head erect. Repeat.

Fourth exercise—Stand as before described. (1.) Up. Raise arms laterally until horizontal, palms of hands up, fingers extended. Chest well out. (2.) Down. Gradually lower the arms. Stretch them to their uttermost.

Fifth exercise—Extension of the arms. Stand as before described. (1.) Place the closed fists against chest, knuckles down, thumbs out, elbows well to rear. (2.) Front. Briskly extend the arms to front horizontally. (3.) Back. Resume first position (as in pain). (4.) Up. Briskly raise arms vertically, knuckles to the front. (5.) Down. Force the arms obliquely back, and gradually down to the sides. Repeat.

Sixth exercise—Arms in circle. Stand as before. (1.) Raise the arms laterally till horizontal, palms up. (2.) Circle. Swing the arms circularly upward and backward, from front to rear, body erect. Arms not to pass in front line of chest.

Begin easily, do each set five times, and having done the whole six, rest a bit. Then do them seven times, then ten times, even more, but do not exercise violently too long.

An Awful Trial.

A curious custom prevails in Bulgaria. All newly-married women are obliged to remain dumb for a month after marriage, except when addressed by their husbands. When it is desirable to remove this restriction permanently the husband presents her with a gift, and then she can chatter to her heart's content.

House Decorating Ideas.

Don't put borders on carpets for small rooms.

Don't hang chandeliers or lamps in low-ceiled rooms.

Don't be chary of rich, warm tints in northern rooms.

Don't buy what suits the fancy, regardless of their combined effects.

Don't select anything because it is good.

Don't have any apparent, much less any regular, arrangement of furniture.

Don't believe for a minute that expensiveness is essential to beautiful effects.

Don't make a table a pivotal point from which the rest of the furniture radiates.

Don't make a narrow door narrower with a heavy drapery. We drape too much.

Don't use decided patterns for upholstery if you have done so for wall and floor coverings.

Don't use large patterned wall paper in small rooms, or a deep border with low ceilings.

Don't have any fanciful, fixed arrangements of window draperies in rooms in daily use.

Don't buy chairs that are not well made and comfortable, or lounges that are not low and broad.

Don't let aestheticism dominate sense and get plain carpet (filling) for the floors of rooms in daily use.

Don't delude yourself into thinking that beautiful rugs spread over homely floors are more artistic than all-over carpets.

Women, Men and Colleges.

A writer in the Critic, replying to the objection made by a college man to women's colleges, acknowledges gracefully that the woman's colleges are somewhat remiss in the matter of training students for the duties of wifehood and motherhood, and adds: "Perhaps they are modestly waiting for the men's colleges to take the initiative. When Yale and Harvard provide their proposed courses in husbandry and fatherhood, I have no doubt the colleges for women will establish parallel courses. Meanwhile, if 'the end of education is the development of character,' may not one reasonably expect that colleges having this end in view will graduate students who will be, as the case may demand, good citizens, good Christians, good fathers and mothers, good wives and good husbands, without special training for any of these functions?"

Household Hints.

Rain water is the best and purest water for bathing delicate complexions.

A soft cloth wet with milk and rubbed over boots and shoes three or four times a month will improve the appearance of the leather and help to keep it soft and thus make it last longer.

It is well to soak under-flannels that have become hard from much perspiration in a weak solution of soda and water for half an hour before washing them in the regular manner.

The white of a raw egg is the most satisfactory of pastes, and is better than any prepared mucilage or paste one can buy. Papers to be put over tumblers of jelly and jam will hold very securely and be all right if dipped in the white of an egg.

A wash that will remove the oily appearance of the skin consists of a teaspoonful of tincture of benzoine added to 15 teaspoonfuls of golf water, shaking thoroughly. Put this on the face with a small sponge or bit of old linen rag, and let it dry on. It leaves a dainty fragrance much resembling mignonette or heliotrope.

Spectacles and eyeglasses should be kept perfectly clean and clear, otherwise the eyes will be strained and injured. A famous optician says glasses and spectacles should be washed with soap and rubbed with a soft nail brush. Polish them with tooth powder and give them a final rub with tissue paper. A few drops of ammonia may be added to the water in which the glasses are soaked.

Chocolate biscuits are a dainty novelty for a luncheon, and are delicious when carefully prepared. Break six eggs, separating the whites and yolks. Add to the yolks half a pound of powdered sugar, and beat the mixture thoroughly. Beat up the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, and add three-quarters of a cup of flour that has been thoroughly sifted. Stir the flour in, taking care that the "cells" of the beaten eggs are not broken. After this add the yolks and sugar to the whites and flour, stirring them carefully, and finally add four tablespoonfuls of freshly grated chocolate. Pour the batter into little paper cases, and bake in a moderate oven until they are light and thoroughly done.

MODERN man is gradually waking up to the fact that he can utilize everything. Coal is not only a source of heat and light, but a storehouse of colors, tastes, medicines, perfumes and explosives. From 140 pounds of gas tar in a ton of coal over 2,000 distinct shades of aniline dyes are made.

A CURIOUS marriage was celebrated in Glasgow on Oct. 1, the contracting parties being a woman who is blind and wants both legs and several fingers, and a man who wants an arm. The woman makes her living by reading the Bible, being wheeled about in a chair, and her former husband, who died a few months ago, was also blind.

SCOTLAND is great on anniversaries. The Wallace memorial gatherings at Stirling have been followed by festive functions at Dundee, in which the Earl of Camperdown was the leading figure. The famous victory over the Dutch by Admiral Duncan was the occasion. It is 100 years since the poet Motherwell died, and Paisley, the home of poets, has not been oblivious of the fact.

THE house in which Sir Isaac Newton lived with his niece, Catharine Barton, a few doors down St. Martin's street, is doomed. The house was formerly occupied by the Danish minister in London, and among the famous people of the day who there visited Newton were Halley, Wren, Swift, Sloane, Addison, Bentley, Whiston and Lady Betty Germaine. Dr. Martin Burney, the father of Madame D'Arblay, also lived there.

BOHEMIAN sportsmen during the year 1895 shot and killed 50 men, women and children, and wounded 2,104 persons, chiefly gamekeepers. They also killed among other game over 150,000 dogs, 8,762 cats, 2 horses, 15 cows, 132 calves, 276 goats and 129 sheep. For this they had to pay collectively over $500,000 for doctors, fines and indemnities, and to spend 74,388 days in jail. The Austrian Government collects the statistics.

THERE is a plant in Jamaica called the life-plant, because it is almost impossible to kill it, or any portion of it. When a leaf is cut off and hung up by a string, it sends out white thread-like roots, gathers moisture from the air, and begins to grow new leaves. Even when pressed and packed away by a botanist it has been known to outgrow the leaves of the book in which it was placed. The only way to kill it is by the heat of a hot iron or of boiling water.

ACCORDING to one of the judges of St. Louis, the applications for divorce in that city amount to one-seventh of the number of marriage licenses issued. Owing to the growing tendency to regard lightly the marriage tie, as evidenced by the applications for divorce, judges have come to scrutinize every case with the greatest care, especially when no defense is made, and the case is put on the default docket. By far the largest number of divorces are applied for on the ground of desertion.

THE Sydney Australasian has the following: "A witty Canadian lady tells the story of her dealings with a crossing-sweeper in Regent street the other day. The man appealed for a sixpence, and the lady shook her head. "You gave me a coin three months ago, miss," said the man reproachfully. "Three months ago," replied the lady, smiling, for she is really a grandmother, "I was in Toronto." "Toronto!" exclaimed the crossing-sweeper, with enthusiasm. "Are you a colonial? Then give me you 'and."

THE Duchess of Fife is one of the most unassuming young ladies in her grandmother's realm. She lives her own quiet life either in London or among the Braemar hills, where she goes about doing her errands like any crofter's wife, and is always quite out of the social whirl, so engrossing to her parents and the rest of the royal family. Two little girls, of whom she is the proud mother, and the duke, whom she married for love, adore this model of a princess, and may always be seen by her side.

MISS CORA ROBINSON, who for the past ten years has been a servant in a North Branch, Lapeer county, family, one day last week visited Detroit, where she purchased an outfit of men's clothes and attired herself in them. She went out into the street, but was arrested while entering a barber shop to have her hair cut short. She told the police she was on her way to California, and had decided to wear men's apparel in the future. As the police had no reason for holding the new woman, she was released, had her hair clipped and started for the west.

SEVENTY-FIVE years have come and gone since Shelley was drowned, and the body recovered with that of his friend on the shore near Via Reggio. Once in a letter the poet said that—

"When a man marries, dies, or turns Hindoo,
His best friends hear no more of him."

If that be so, his case is somewhat different, for just recently a memorial tablet to him has been placed on the house in Pisa where he wrote "Adonis." "The Sensitive Plant" was also written in the same house.

IN A recent interview Premier Reid of New South Wales thus speaks of his impressions of England: "I came here expecting, may I say, to find a wearied and depressed nation, that had reached the apex of its power and energy, and was now growing weaker rather than stronger; in place of that I find you are a young people"—and, his sleepiness all gone, the premier brought his hand down on the little table with a crash to emphasize his point—"I see in England more vigorous, more enterprising, more full of fire, of life than ever before. It is a marvelous thing, when one comes to think of it. Here are your forty millions of people cooped up on 120,000 square miles of land, and yet able to thrive and lead the world."

THE Glasgow police are making inquiries with a view to tracking an English tourish who disappeared in a most mysterious manner in that city. Arthur John Wilkinson, 33 years of age, manager of a corn mill in Ulverston, Lancashire, left there on Saturday, Sept. 18, bicycled to Edinburgh, and thence to Glasgow, where he arrived on the following Monday. He had sent on his bag to the Central station, and uplifting it on Monday, went to the Old Waverley Hotel, where another gentleman was heard addressing him by name, although he had no friends in Glasgow. He left the hotel, and was to have traveled home that night; but he has never been heard of since, and no trace has been got of his bicycle, which was never booked at the station. His father resides at Nottingham. An examination of his books has been made, and they are all in order.

AN English weekly paper is collecting samples of queer prayers. Among them is one of Bishop Leslie, "the fighting bishop," who, before a battle in Ireland, prayed: "Oh, God, for our unworthiness we are not fit to claim Thy help; but if we are bad our enemies are worse, and if Thou seest not meet to help us we pray Thee help them not, but stand Thou neuter this day and leave it to the arm of flesh." The United Service Magazine compares with this the supplication which an officer offered before one of the battles for Hungarian independence in 1849: "I will not ask Thee, Lord, to help us, and I know Thou wilt not help the Austrians; but if Thou wilt sit on yonder hill Thou shalt not be ashamed of Thy children." A similar prayer is credited to a Scottish Highlander, Macdonald, who pleaded that if the Lord would not help him, let Him at least not help the other clan, and he, Macdonald, would trim them properly himself.

Doctored Nine Years for Tetter.

Mr. James Gaston, merchant, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "For nine years I have been disfigured with tetter on my hands and face. I have spent hundreds of dollars with doctors and tried scores of remedies. At last I have found a cure in Dr. Agnew's Ointment. It helped me from the first application, and now after using it for two months I believe I am permanently cured, as my skin is smooth and soft and free from every blemish."

THIS TELLS THE WHOLE STORY.

A Hamilton lady restored to Health.

Mrs. A. Simpson spoke to our reporter as follows, at her cosy residence, 113 Locke St., Hamilton, Ont. Said Mrs. Simpson, "For the last two years I have suffered greatly from heart and nerve troubles, also pains in my head. My appetite was very poor, and I felt very miserable all the time, hardly able to do my household work. My heart was so bad that I frequently fainted away, and was liable to drop down at any place or time.

Sometimes my heart seemed to bound into my throat so that I thought I would smother. My rest was very much broken, and I grew quite discouraged after using so many medicines without relief.

When I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them, and procured a box at John A. Barr's drug store, and now after having used two boxes can say that I am completely cured. My appetite is good, indeed it seems as if I wanted to eat all the time. I sleep well and am thoroughly toned up. Truly I am better than I have been for many years."

An Ingenious Little Old Man.

A little old man of the sea
Went out in a boat for a sail;
The water came in
Almost up to his chin,
And he had nothing with which to bail.

But this little old man of the sea
Just drew out his jackknife so stout,
And a hole with its blade
In the bottom he made,
So that all of the water ran out.

Odd Things About Rainbows.

Did you ever see a rainbow in the west?

In discussing this curious question the Philadelphia Times gives some interesting facts in regard to a rainbow and how it is formed.

1. It is never seen except when the sun is shining in one part of the sky, and rain is falling in the other, or opposite, part.

2. It is generally seen in the east, because our showers come from the west, and pass off toward the east.

3. It cannot be formed in the east except in the afternoon.

4. It cannot be formed in the west except in the morning.

5. It is never seen at midday, because the sun is then above us, and we cannot, therefore, stand between it and the rain.

Some of you may wonder why a rainbow is always semi-circular in shape. As a matter of fact, it is always a complete circle, because the earth cuts off our view. If we were poised in the air, high above the earth, we could see it all. The circular shape is due to the fact that the raindrops are round and that each drop reflects but one color to our eyes. It may strike you as a strange thing, but it is true, that no two persons see the same bow. That is because no two persons can possibly occupy the same position, and thus the reflections fall differently upon their eyes.

The Midnight Sun.

Our talk was of the far, far north,
And Norway's sleepless sun;
A bashful little voice piped forth,
When other folks had done:

"How lovely it must look, mamma!"
(Was Sidney's sage remark)
"To see the sun, like some big star,
A-shining in the dark!"

Five Arab Maxims.

Never tell all you know; for he who tells everything he knows often tells more than he knows.

Never attempt all you can do; for he who attempts everything he can do often attempts more than he can do.

Never believe all you may hear; for he who believes all that he hears often believes more than he hears.

Never lay out all you can afford; for he who lays out everything he can afford often lays out more than he can afford.

Never decide upon all you may see; for he who decides upon all that he sees often decides on more than he sees.

Two Kinds of People.

The two kinds of people on earth I ween
Are the people who lift and the people who lean.

Wherever you go you will find the world's masses
Are always divided in just these two classes.

And, oddly enough, you will find too, I ween,
There is only one lifter to twenty who lean.

In which class are you? Are you easing the load
Of overtaxed lifters who toil down the road?

Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear
Your portion of labor and worry and care?

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

A Desk With a History.

If the thousands who have occasion to sit in the president's reception-room waiting their turn for audience only knew it, they might make the time seem less monotonous by contemplating the chief article of furniture. Many of these visitors are anxious to go to foreign parts. The massive desk which occupies the center of the room has traveled further than any of the candidates will. It has circumnavigated the globe by a route which no human being has followed. The president sits behind it and writes his messages to congress. With its massiveness and wealth of carving the desk gives no indication of its historical origin. School boys know that Sir John Franklin went to discover the north pole and never came back. The good ship Resolute drifted and drifted in the Arctic Ocean currents, spared from destruction in some mysterious manner, until she reached the waters of the adventurous American whalers off the shores of Alaska. She was boarded and claimed by those who found her. When the Resolute reached San Francisco the United States bought her, repaired and refitted her, manned her with an American crew, and sent her to England with international compliments. Twenty years ago the old ship was broken up. From the soundest of the timbers was made a handsome desk, by direction of the queen, to be presented to the then president of the United States. That is the desk which stands in the reception-room at the White House, and upon which the state papers of six administrations have been written. Few of the president's visitors know it.—New York Mail and Express.

Her Awful Dream.

A little maid of tender years
Had such an awful dream!
She came to me almost in tears
"I just was going to scream

"When both my eyes came open wide,
And, oh, I was so glad
To find it was a dream," she cried.
"Because it was so bad."

"What could it be, poor child?" I said.
"Were you pursued by bears?
Perhaps your dolly broke her head?
Or did you fall downstairs?"

"Oh, dear! It's most too bad to tell!
You know, in school our class
Are having 'zaminations. Well,
I dreamed I didn't pass."

Dolly's Failing.

Dottie—Mamma, I guess my dolly's mamma must have been a very unpious lady.

Mamma—Why so, Dot?

Dottie—Why, she made her so her knees won't bend. I have to put her on her stummick to say her prayers.

Baby's Conundrum.

[By Ella Beecher-Gittings.]

"A conundrum for the baby!"
Little Margarita said;
"Tell me, dear, why mother's lap
Is better than the bed?"

Baby speaks in queer crow language,
And he bobbed his cute bald head;
"That's an easy one, you folkses—
"'Cause 'tis mother's lap," he said.

A Chimpanzee's Memory.

[By Margaret Holmes Bates.]

During the winter months a big chimpanzee named Johanna is kept in the Central Park Arsenal in New York. In the summer Johanna goes traveling around the country with the other animals of the Barnum & Bailey menagerie.

A year or two ago Johanna had a mate named Chiko, who died. He had been dead several months, when a visitor at the Arsenal asked the keeper if he believed that Johanna remembered Chiko.

"Let me show 'you," he answered, as he took from his pocket a photograph of Chiko and handed it to Johanna.

She took it and squatted on the floor of the cage, holding the picture in both hands. She looked at it intently for a moment, then pressed it to her lips as if kissing it. Next she rubbed it up and down on her face, and then gazed on it again, looking so sad she seemed about to cry. Presently she folded her arms about it, and, going away into a corner she swayed her body to and fro, as a mother rocks a little human baby.

An amusing instance of Johanna's memory is her experience with a seltzer-bottle. One day a friend of the keeper brought a bottle for him, with the usual siphon attachment. Johanna is very curious. As soon as she saw the bottle she was quite eager to have it in her hands.

She begged so earnestly that the keeper placed it within her reach on the outside of the cage. Instantly she grasped it, but handled it very gently.

She seems to understand the nature of glass since she was so unfortunate as to break a mirror.

The siphon puzzled her. She turned the bottle round and round, fingered the cap, and at last held it in such a position as to point the nozzle straight in her face.

At the same instant she happened to press the spring. The seltzer squirted into her face and over her head. Then such screaming!

Johanna held on to the bottle, and, not understanding what had caused the flood, she kept her finger on the spring until the bottle was nearly empty.

How frightened she was! The keeper, fearing she might be savage, did not dare to enter the cage and relieve her, but after a while succeeded in persuading her to place the bottle on the floor.

Then poor Johanna lay on her back screaming and moaning alternately, and it was some time before her keeper could quiet her. He tried to explain the mystery of the bottle to her; she would not listen to him, but went scudding to the furthest corner of her cage at sight of the cause of her shower-bath.

By and by the keeper succeeded in pacifying her, but her curiosity in regard to bottles was fully satisfied. Since this misadventure she is very much afraid of them.

Sometimes Johanna gets cross and peevish without any apparent cause. Then she is willful and sulky, and will not allow her keeper to wash her hands and face, which is his daily custom. When he finds that kindly coaxing will do no good, he takes an empty bottle from a convenient corner and gently shakes it at Johanna. That is enough. She at once becomes pleasant and obedient.

Johanna's bill of fare for each day is usually eighteen oranges, as many bananas, twelve apples, and twelve eggs; and as much bread as she can coax her keeper to give her. He says bread is not good for her, but she is very fond of it.—The Outlook.

Turkey's Content.

"Gobble! Gobble!" cried the turkey,
"What a happy life is mine!
Our great world is full of beauty,
Gilded o'er with God's sunshine.
Those dear red and yellow leaflets,
Decking all the gaudy trees,
Are the cutest little dancers!—
And how sweet this autumn breeze!"

"This self-satisfaction, madam,"
Cried the nervous Mr. Drake,
As he paddled up the mudstains
In his muddy little lake,
"This self-satisfaction, madam,
Is the ruin of a hen!
On Thanksgiving Day, dear madam,
Pray you, who will 'gobble' then?"

"Gobble! Gobble!" sang the turkey,
"Not a quack, dear sir, care I,
Would you think a lake less lovely
That you could not swim the sky?
I shall sing the song you laugh at,
Finding all the cheer I may,
Thus to end my life most fitly,
Queen of cheer, Thanksgiving Day."

A mere literary man is a dull man: a man who is solely a man of business is a selfish man; but when literature and commerce are united they make a respectable man.—Dr. Johnson.

The Poets.

Man's life is but a working day,
Whose tasks are set aright;
A time to work, a time to pray,
And then a quiet night.
And then, please God, a quiet night,
Where palms are green and robes are white,
A long-drawn breath, a balm for sorrow—
And all things lovely on the morrow.

—Christina G. Rossetti.

An Epitaph for a Husbandman.

He would start life and rise
Before the crowing cocks—
No more he lifts his eyes,
Whoever knocks.

He who before the stars
Would call the cattle home—
They wait about the bars
For him to come.

Him at whose hearty calls
The farmstead woke again
The horses in their stalls
Expect in vain.

Busy and blithe and bold,
He labored for the morrow—
The plow his hands would hold
Rusts in the furrow.

His fields he had to leave,
His orchards cool and dim;
The clods he used to cleave
Now cover him.

But the green, growing things
Lean kindly to his sleep—
White roots and wandering strings,
Closer they creep.

Because he loved them long
And with them bore his part,
Tenderly now they throng
About his heart.

—Charles G. D. Roberts.

A Vagabond Song.

There is something in the autumn that is native to my blood—
Touch of manner, hint of mood;
And my heart is like a rhyme,
With the yellow and the purple and the crimson keeping time.

The scarlet of the maples can shake me like a cry
Of bugles blowing by,
And my lonely spirit thrills
To see the frosty asters like smoke upon the hills.

There is something in October sets the gypsy blood astir;
We must rise and follow her,
When from every hill of flame
She calls, and calls each vagabond by name.

—Bliss Carman.

The Carpenter.

That evening, when the Carpenter swept out
The fragrant shavings from the workshop floor,
And placed the tools in order and shut to
And barred, for the last time, the humble door,
And going on His way to save the world,
Turned from the laborer's lot for evermore,
I wonder—was He glad?

That morning, when the Carpenter walked forth
From Joseph's doorway, in the glimmering light,
And bade His holy Mother long farewell,
And through the rose-shot skies with dawning bright,
Saw glooming the dark shadow of the Cross,
Yet, seeing, set His feet toward Calvary's height,
I wonder—was he sad?

Ah! when the Carpenter went on His way,
He thought not for himself of good or ill,
One was His path, through shop or thronging men
Craving His help e'en to the cross-crowned hill,
In toiling, healing, teaching, suffering—all
His joy, His life, to do His Father's will;
And earth and heaven are glad!

—Alice Ranlett.

THE CRAB ORCHESTRA.

Beautiful Yarn of Crustacean Melody Spun by a Prize Story-Teller.

"There are many strange things to be seen and heard along the sand islands of the Mexican Gulf," remarked Assistant Engineer Thomas Pitt, of Arkansas Pass Harbor, to the New Orleans Times-Democrat recorder of yarns, "and some of the things are almost beyond belief. When I first came to Mustang Island I got into a habit of wandering on the brown sands of the beach when the moon was full. One night, as I was seated upon a great log that had drifted to the shore, my ears caught the faint sound of what seemed to be an Eolian harp. The night was almost still, and but a faint breeze swept the sea. Then, as I listened, the sounds increased in strength and sweetness, the notes changing and the harmony varying each instant, producing an effect that was indescribably delightful and mysterious. I gazed about, but could see nothing that might produce the melodious noises. Still, the sounds grew in intensity, and apparently proceeded from the sand a short distance from where I sat, although the beach was apparently devoid of anything that might account for the mystery. Then I caught a distinct air; something familiar. I soon recognized it as one I had often whistled while in the vicinity of the old log, and this made it doubly strange. I got up from the log, and determined to investigate the problem, but search as I would, I found nothing. At last the melody became more familiar. It was the old song of 'Down in a Diving Bell,' and then I caught sight of a number of small objects moving upon a little damp knoll of sand. Creeping carefully in that direction, I at last found the cause of the music. It may sound incredible, but there, upon the sand knoll, were eight crabs. Each crab held a small conch shell in one of its claws, and, as the crustacean would elevate and sway the conch shell it caught the breeze in its recesses and emitted a clear, whistle-like sound, just for all the world like blowing into the mouth of a bottle. To say I was amazed would be putting it light. I was absolutely paralyzed with astonishment, and as I looked at the crabs their claws began to work with some force and energy, and as each shell was raised the air resounded in its depths, each shell being of a different size and possessing a different note, the eight making a perfect octave. And there they played, and I'll be hanged if they did not play every tune that I had been whistling during my wanderings on the beach. Forgetting myself, I made a noise, and the crabs scampered into deep water, leaving the shells behind. I now treasure the natural curiosities. For a few weeks the music was not heard on the beach, but at the expiration of that period, the eight denizens of the sea managed to collect another octave, and had added a drum fish to the band, increasing the violence of their music and creating an orchestra, the like of which I doubt if the world had ever known before."

A Smile: A Laugh.

Modernized.—"Our clergyman forgot himself this morning."

"What did he do?"

"He asked the congregation to sing that good old hymn, 'From Klondike's icy mountains.'"

New house surgeon (to wife of an injured man he was examining)—I fear your poor husband is dead.

Supposed corpse—No, I ain't.

Anxious wife—Hush, John, be quiet; the gentleman must know better than you what's the matter with you.

An old lady who was opposed to the use of tobacco, saw an ex-drunkard, who vaunted his repentance, smoking a pipe. "I am a brand plucked from the burning," said the reformed man.

"Anybody might know that," said the old lady, "for you're smoking yet!"

"Now, Robbie," said mamma just before the company sat down to dinner, "remember, you must not ask for more pie."

Robbie didn't; but he finished his first piece with much promptness, took a long breath, and addressed himself very audibly to the guests at his right: "Ain't that dandy pie?" he asked.

A gentleman calling at a hotel left his umbrella in the stand in the hall with the following inscription attached to it: "This umbrella belongs to a man who can deal a blow of two hundred and fifty pounds weight. I shall be back in ten minutes."

On returning to seek his property, he found in its place a card thus inscribed: "This card has been left by a man who can run twelve miles an hour. I shall not come back."

The Washington Star does not give a detailed description of the old man's mule, nor is it necessary.

"I reckon," said the old colored man, "dat I better change de name o' dat mule."

"It doesn't make much difference what you call a mule, does it?"

"No. But I likes to hab it somethin' 'propriate. Did you eber heah tell 'bout sukumstances ober which you hab no control?"

"Yes."

"Well, dat's what I'se gwinter call him, 'Sukumstances,'"

When Andrew D. White, now the United States ambassador at Berlin, was minister to Germany, nearly twenty years ago, he received some queer letters from Americans, asking for his influence in their behalf in court circles.

Perhaps the funniest of all was a very mandatory epistle from an old lady living in the west, who inclosed in her letter four pieces of white linen, each some six inches square.

"We are going to have a fair in our church," she wrote, "and I am making an autograph quilt. I want you to get me the autographs of the emperor, the empress, the crown prince and Bismarck; and tell them to be very careful not to write too near the edge of the squares, as a seam has to be allowed for putting them together."

It is generally best to curb our impatience before giving it vent in words, as at such times one's language may convey a different idea from its real meaning. Miss Kate Sanborn, in her "Abandoning an Adopted Farm," relates her annoyance at being besieged by agents, reporters and curiosity-seekers.

I was so perpetually harrassed that I dreaded to see a stranger approach with an air of business. The other day I was just starting for a drive, when I noticed the usual stranger hurrying on. Putting my head out of the carriage, I said, in a petulant and weary tone:

"Do you want to see me?"

The young man stopped, smiled, and replied, courteously, "It gives me pleasure to look at you, madam, but I was going farther on."

Many of the North American Indians were magnificent specimens of physical manhood. This was due, largely, to their active out-door life. Nevertheless, they had the wisdom to know that an active life in the open air alone, would not keep a man healthy. They had their medicine-men, who gathered herbs from field and forest and brewed decoctions to assist the natural processes of the various vital organs.

Modern civilized men do not as a usual thing recognize the same necessity until it is too late. They ignore medicine until they are within the grasp of some serious or fatal disease. The time for a man to begin taking medicine is when he begins to feel out of sorts. If a man is thoroughly well and healthy he does not feel that way. If he does feel that way he may be pretty sure that he is half sick. When he is half sick it does not take long before he is "whole-sick." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for a man when he is sick or getting sick. It puts him all right all round. It puts his stomach right to begin with, and that is the most important point. It puts his liver right, and that is the second most important point. It purifies his blood and fills it with the life-giving elements of the food he eats, and that is the third important point. It drives out all disease germs and impurities of every discription. It makes the appetite keen and hearty. It is the greatest blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, weak lungs, spitting of blood, obstinate coughs and kindred ailments. Thousands who were given up to die have testified to their recovery under this marvelous medicine. An honest dealer will not urge a substitute for the sake of a little extra profit. He gives you what you ask for.
