rapped from Talbot street school on Tuesday afternoon, is now at New-castle, Ont., at the home of her grand-felter, R. J. Eilbeck. The child een on the village streets last evening. Her mother, a former resident of the fillage, was also seen. Their appearance caused a mild sensation, for the story of the girl's kidnapping from the London school had appeared in the Toronto evening papers and the resdents of Newcastle were cognizant of the trouble here.

Remaining Indoors. The mother and daughter were still at the father's home this morning, but remained indoors. Traces were seen of them, but it is claimed that Mrs. Barron had talked to none of her former acquaintances there. Whether she will contest the habeas corpus writ of her husband for the custody of the child, or what action se will now take, is unknown. Over long-distance telephone this morning, her father, R. J. Eilbeck, former sheriff of Yukon Territory, refused to dis-Refused to Talk.

A Close Call.

The speaker vividly related the hor-rible experience of a young immigrant woman arriving in Toronto recently. He did not mention any names, but stated that all such information was in his possession.

The young woman in question was seated next to a respectably dressed woman in the coach as they were approaching this city from the east. The stranger inquired if she knew anyone in Toronto, and if she had a boardinghouse to go to when she arrived. Public Morals Discussed.

Considerable objection was taken to the form of the report on social and moral reform. It opened with a statement regarding the progress of ocal option and the various temperance and other legislation secured for the purpose of moral reform during

There was too much dependence upon legislation to produce morality, ontended Chancellor Worrell. He did not think so much pride should be taken in the quantity of restrictive laws secured during the year. It was the duty of the church to educate the growing generation regarding the principles of morality. Then it would not be necessary to fly continually to the lawmakers for aid. Canon Ingles agreed that education was necessary but thought it should also be made difficult for people to offend.

Gambling on Tracks. The portion regarding the attempts oprohibit "race-track gambling" prought a protest from Mr. H. T. Peck. Why had race-track gambling been singled out alone for attack? It was not when a rich man was fool enough to throw $5 away on a horse that the most harm was being done. There were worse forms of gambling, the committee should make it more in stocks and other ways, going on in the city every day. It was the great general gambling spirit of the age that was doing the most evil, and he feit that the social and moral reform committee should not confine itself entirely to "race-track gambling," which was only possible a few days out of each year. This portion of the report was sent back with orders that comprehensive comprehensive

LONDON, FRIDAY, JUNE 13.

WHERE WAS THE FLAG?

The great circus has been to Lon don. There was a long procession of bands of music, gilded chariots, wild ladies and gentlemen on horses. And Stripes. The ladies wrapped the banner of the republic around their shapely limbs. It floated in the breeze from one end of the procession to the other. But where was the Union Jack?

And what were the flag-flappers of Canada doing? Here is a loyal Conservative Government in the Dominion, another just as loyal in Ontario, and an equally loyal mayor in London. They are always enthusiastic for the old flag-and an appropriation. The flag was waving on our streets on Thursday, but it was the Yankee flag. The appropriation was ample. But it went from the hands of Canadians into the pockets of Yankees. There was something evidently wrong with the special guardians of the British flag. Did they all have free passes for the circus?

kreat honor to the Union Jack in having it as one of the exhibits of a circus parade. To use the symbol of our Empire's glory as a circus advertisement, or for any similar purpose, seems to us the poorest use to which it can be put. But when there are hundreds of flags of different nations flying on our streets, we should have thought the self-appointed custodians the job and had their banner un-

An essential element of loyalty in a of the people, and by a vote of their to have it repealed, but as long as it remains on the statute book it must be That is the British system. Now, the majority of the people of Ireland want home rule. The majority of the people of Great Britain say they should have it. The majority of the Ulster representatives ask for it. That has been decided both by vote of the people, and by vote of their representatives. But a section of Ulster objects to it. They have a right to do so by all constitutional means. But they go beyond that. When they will not allow a cabinet minister to speak at a meeting (an act of which our correspondent seems rather proud), they only show their disregard for British fair tart of the burial. Play. But when they arm and drill to resist the Government by force, when a member of Parliament declares that if the King acts as a constitutional monarch and signs a bill passed in due course by Parliament, he will no longer sing "God Save the King," but will be prepared to resist both King and Parliament, when his audience applaud Marconi "scandals." Just what is the him with enthusiasm, and when some of the people, without any rebuke from their leaders, declare they will be prepared to transfer their allegiance to the German Emperor if they cannot have their own way, then we can only say it may be Ulster loyalty, but it is not

British As for the excuse that the passage of home rule will mean that England turns Ulster out of the Empire, that is more sound than sense. Under home rule Ulster will be more closely conmected with the Imperial Parliament and will be more under its direct control, than is Canada. But we have not seen any signs of being pushed out of the Empire by home rule. We have really been drawn much closer to it. It is to be regretted that so much religious animosity has been injected into this question. * We can understand that many ultra Protestants dislike the idea of being under a Government a majority of whose supporters are Catholics. But they should remember that for centuries the Catholics of Ireland have been under the rule of a Protestant Government. And the Irish policy of that Government has not been always creditable to either its Protestions are far better now than they have been. But many years of misgovernment have only made the great majority of the Irish people more anxious

There is a delicious old-world sound about the word "brigand." Formerly he was a regular feature of Italian or Spanish landscape, and had his counterpart on the fringe of civilization in terpart on the fringe of civilization in terpart on the fringe of civilization in the fringe

In the meantime, if they had a true onception of loyalty, the minority rould not want to rule the majority, out would submit with the best grace ossible. We cannot conceive that heir fears of ill-treatment from the najority are well founded. But if that should be the case, the Imperial Parament will be prompt enough and strong enough to see that any evils are

MR. ROWELL COMING.

Every time Mr. Rowell discusses the political issues of the Province in a large way, his strength grows. The signs accumulate that a landslide from Whitneyism will quickly materalize. Many of Mr. Rowell's political opponents admit rather freely that he will be the next premier of Ontario.

There is a rebellion stirring within the Government ranks against the Premier's absolute, stone-wall obduracy, in resisting all reforms, especially taxation and temperance. Thinking men beasts in cages and on foot, tinselled who have hitherto supported the Government must perceive that the recent the wagons carried the Stars and farce of an investigation into the Proudfoot charges, the Thorne letter, which Conservative journals were afraid to print, the damaging admissions forced from Sir James Whitney and Mr. Hanna, and the lowering cloud of disclosures probably yet to be made, have seriously discredited the Government, and the particular things on which it was wont to trade. On the other hand, Mr. Rowell brings before the public with educative and increasing clearness what needs doing in this Province. It becomes more and more evident that he is the man who understands and will carry out what is to be done.

There is a sting in his comparison made in the Aylmer speech between Hungary and Canada. He showed the exact parallelism between the acts of Hungarian ministers and those of members of the Whitney Government. The Hungarian cabinet resigned, Sir James and his men hang on. But Mr. Rowell is certainly right in his belief that "the people of this Province are not less sensitive than the Hungarians on questions affecting the honor of their public men and the honest administration of public affairs."

It may be that many electors and many partisan journals are willing to of the Union Jack would have been on condone everything in a "Tory" Government in order to keep the "Grits" out of office. They will endure the national odium of the licensed barroom, an antiquated system of taxation, the A correspondent, whose letter ap- unending postponement of workmen's compensation, the illegal actions of combines, the alienation of more than Ulster loyalty. > and educational departments of the Government; all this they will endure and shut their eyes and ears against the Thorne revelations, to keep a man of Mr. Rowell's conspicuous capacity away from the premiership. But the out-and-out partisans will not avail to do this. A reckoning is coming, and Mr. Rowell will be given a chance to attack the mountain of things that the Sleepers have left undone. PRIZES OF THE BRITISH TURF.

Statistics of British horse racing ately published show that more than $2,500,000 was won in prizes in Great only constitute a record but indicate the steady growth of public interest in racing, for "mammoth" prizes have almost ceased to exist, yet total winnings grow.

Twenty years ago some of the stakes were worth more than 10,000 pounds but now it is practically imposs de for a horse to reach the high earnings achieved by Isinglass and Donovan, for the Eclipse stakes is the only mam. moth prize remaining, and such races little greater value than they were two generations ago.

In the past thirty years more than 5,000,000 pounds has been won in Great Britain in racing prizes, which shows the greater amount of public support that is now assisting the owners and managers, derived from gate money. It has been only within recent years that the great bulk of the spectators have not been admitted free; formerly they contributed little or nothing to either the rewards or the expenses of the meeting.

BILLIE BURKE KIDNAPPED. Brown-Eyed Young Woman Claims To Be Her Mother.

Leaves Cynthia Grey Lamenting. If this story were only written in poetry it might be entitled "The Lament of Cynthia Grey," but in any case it concerns the kidnapping from the precincts of Miss Grey's desk of a flaxen-haired, barefooted, winsome lit stove. CHAPTER II.

Hialmar went to bed a wee bit earlier Tuesday night, because he wanted know whether the Dustman had another dream story ready for him. He had hardly touched his little head to the pillow when dear Dustman aved his magic wand over the furniture in the room, whereupon each began to talk like real reople!

Each talked about himself or herself. It was so strange to hear them all Right over the wardrobe hung a large picture in a frame. The wand uched it, and, lo and behold, the birds in it began to sing; the boughs of the rees in it began to wave and the clouds in it began to move!

The Dustman did a funny thing then. He picked little Hialmar up and ished his legs into the picture. There the child stood with his feet in the ep. cool grass. He ran over to the edge of a little stream, climbed into a small, red boat nd some beautiful swans began pulling his boat along the stream. Oh, that was lovely!

The butterflies chattered. The trees in the woods along the banks of the ream whispered to each other. And here and there Hialmar caught glimpses and doubles over into pocket size. great castles where little princesses waved to him.

They each held little sugar images. Hialmar reached out and caught part of one of these, while a beautiful princess kept the other. Among all the princesses and castles and woods and birds and butterflies Hialmar saw his dear old nurse. She smiled when she saw HIM and sang ullaby to him. He was listening to her song when the Dustman suddenly disappeared and he was alone again,

"I wonder if he will come back to me tomorrow night," thought the little by as he turned over in his warm, snug bed.

Why not make your favorite flower a real and interesting part of your life?

There is a young girl, who, to be sure, can afford to indulge her tastes, who has given a good deal of attention to her favorite flower. It is the clover, the big o find at the florists. They send her birthday cards with clovers on them.

Clover pink, of course, with deeper shades of the red clover for accessories, forms the foundation color for most of her house and evening frocks.

Every woman, of course, has not time, and cretonne with a clover design is inclination or money to indulge her liking made into coverings and cushions for for a flower to this extent. Gift Book Novelties

Book-shaped gifts which any friend would be glad to receive as a birth anniversary token, include a trim-looking little volume in red leather inscribed "My Trip Abroad." In addition to pages especially for the steamer's log, there is plenty of space for the daily happenings, a map of generous size and a lead pencil or fountain pen compartment. Heavy, oddly-woven linen fringed with a raffia-like fabric, covers an engagement book of narrow, oblong shape, small size and many leaves of thin, but stout paper. A business-like looking little address book with generous spaces for names and addresses and a booktelephone register of most inoffensiva proportions are also bound in the raffia-fringed heavy linen. Fitted with innumerable thin, firm leaves and cal-culated to hold an amazing amount of script is a tiny brass-bound memorandum book which opens flatly like a pad

LONDON GOT TO BRADSHAW PETES BLANK AND SCORED A PILE OF RUNS "SHAG'S" TEAM

Made Seventeen Hits Off Keenan's Star Twirler for Total of 10 Runs-Chaput Pitched Good Ball All Through, But He Broke Up a Little in Final Stages.

There may be other teams in the league over which Bill Bradshaw, the Berlin boy box artist, can cast a mystic spell, but his dope doesn't mix well over at Tecumseh Park, that little green plot across the river where the home talent endeavors to lick all comers. Little boy Bill has appeared in our midst twice this season, once in the last series and again yesterday. Each time the Eerlin star has had to carry his little old spiked shoes from the ball mark with a hoor that may be series and again yesterday.

park with a heart that was heavy and a load of worry in his noddle. He admits that when it comes to hitting the sud ball this London team is the biggest bunch of grapes in the vineyard. Yesterday the Deneau Devourists got to Brad for 17 hits, every man on the team breaking in with some kind of smash. It was a real field day, and the small parcel of fans who were present witnessed a rare treat. The final score was 10 to 3. CHAPUT HAD A GOOD DAY.

'Frenchy" Chaput was the particular party opposed to Bradshaw, and his Copper Country puck chaser had one of his good days. He was combed for a total of eight hits, four of which came in the ninth inning. The other four were scattered throughout the other tight sessions, no two of them coming in the one inning. In the final session he eased up and the tailenders were not slow to take advantage of it. Two two-baggers and two rip-snorting singles produced two runs before the side was retired. FINE RACING AT SEAFORTH CLOSING

Larabie Gyp Captured the 2:22 Pace in Six Heats.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Seaforth, June 12.-Continued fine veather, a bumper attendance and weather, a bumper attendance and fine racing marked the closing day of the Seaforth Turf Club's meet. Two races were run off, the 2:15 trot and 2:22 pace, the former lasting six heats and finally won by the Sunderland gelding. Rippy acted badly, making several bad breaks in the first heat, but finished third, and winning the next two heats by Macey's skillful driving, Larabie Gyp at his wheel each heat. The fourth heat was Gyp's all the way until the stretch was reached, when Maud A, in a tremendous burst of speed, almost nosed him out. Maud A, continued her good work in the fifth heat, which she won, Cherrier displaying the best of judgment in driving. Hamilton Man for Stratford Position

Fireman Cook May Be Head of the Classic City Brigade.

Hamilton, June 13. - Fireman W. R. Cook, of the Ottawa street fire station, it is said, has been practically assured that he will receive the appointment of fire chief at Stratford. The position was made vacant by the death of the late chief, who was killed at a fire.

Fireman Cook, who has been on the local department for some years, is a first-class fireman. He was born in Mitchell, a small town five miles from Stratford. He is well known both in that district and in Stratford If he should get the position there is no doubt that he will make good as all the other firemen who have gone from here to take high positions on the departments of other cities have done. During the past five years several men from the local department have gone to fill the position of chief in western towns and cities and have

Personal Mention

Mrs. Fred Wilson, of King street, has left on an extended trip to the Archie J. Gibb, for some years with the Prudential Insurance Company here, is leaving for Toronto today. Mr. Gibb is to be assistant superintendent in Toronto. NEW BAN ON TREATING.

Members of the National Liberal lub of London announced not long ago that they proposed to start a crusade against treating. They have formally declared that the practice of saying: "Have another with me," is silly beyond expression, besides being harmful physically and mentally. When Mrs. A. Woods made a business trip the invitation of one man in a group to London recently. of, say, seven, begets a return invitation from every other of the seven in regular order. It is pronounced specially hurtful

A number of those belonging to the club who passively acquiesce in the treating habit have been chafing the champions of the crusade. They, have ollected a bunch of statistics to show that there is a great deal of harm done in treating even when intoxicating drink is not the subject of the treat. It seems to be a fact that the treat habit is ingrained, apart from the use of beer, wine, brandy or whiskey. Men stand treat-as they call it-for carfares. Sometimes a coin is flipped to see who of a group will stand this sort of treat, Women stand treat for soda, -which the anti-crusaders declare begets a return treat and sickens the stomach with sweets. The dinner and lunch treat of today force a return treat tomorrow, and in many instances the treaters feel impelled to spend for this sort of dinner or lunch a sum far in excess of what they would in the course of the ordinary day dinner or lunch. The ways of the anti-crusade shoes and hats "treats" go steadily to proceed against the bad habit,

Everybody is building Concrete Roads

CONCRETE roads have literally taken Canada by storm. From Halifax to Vancouver, road commissions, town and county engineers, town councils and good roads associations, have been quick to discover the remarkable advantages of the concrete pavement. Its use, either for country highways, or for city streets, is so clearly the best solution of the good roads problem, that there has been little of the delay which usually accompanies the introduction of a comparatively new method.

Experiences such as the one which Mr. Hines reports are responsible for this rapid growth in popularity:-

An Authority's Statement

Extract from paper recently presented by Edward N. Hines, Chairman of the Board of County Road Commissioners, Wayne County, Mich., before the National Association of Coment Users, at Pitteburgh, Pa.

"It is a sad commentary on the conduct of an undertaking of any magnitude, that individuals, municipalities, states or nations, all seem to find it necessary to do a certain amount of experimenting and dillydallying before accepting the conclusions and avoiding the failures of previous demonstrations. This is particularly true of the various phases of the good roads movement.

The initial cost of a good concrete road is little, if any, greater than that of a first-class bituminous road. One of the greatest fallacies indulged in by communities starting to improve their highways is that cheapness in cost of original construction of roads means economy and that the highway official who can build the greatest area of roads at the least outlay per square yard is working for the community's best interest.

"On one of the main highways out of Detroit, Grand River road, the first two miles is tar macadam. If someone had offered to build this road absolutely without one penny's cost to Wayne County, stipulating only that we should maintain it in a fairly average condition, at the end of eight years we would have been money ahead by rejecting the offer and building it of concrete under our present specifications. Of course, six years ago, when we built this road, we did not possess this knowledge, but our experience was one of the reasons for abandoning the construction of this type of road and turning to concrete. When it comes to annual cost, the concrete road stands pre-eminent. With more than 60 miles of concrete road in Wayne County, some of it in its fourth year, we have spent less than $300 on its surface for maintenance and this is what makes this type of road the cheapest of all roads,"

Our Good Roads Lectures, illustrated with lant-ern slides showing photographs of roads of all kinds, and delivered by members of our own staff of road experts, will be given free of charge to town councils, road commissions, good roads assocouncils, road commissions, good roads asso-ciations, or any other organizations interested in better roads. Skin Diseases

ARE PAINFUL AND UNSIGHTLY.

Among the most prevalent are Salt Rheum, Eczema, Tetter, Rash, Boils, Pimples and Itching Skin Eruptions. These troubles always arise from the blood being in a bad condition and it is absolutely impossible to eradicate them from the system unless you put your blood into good shape. This you can do without the slightest trouble by using Burdock Blood Bitters.

It drives out all the humor from the blood, and makes it pure and rich. Thousands of people have used it during the last thirty-five years and have been cured. Mr. Robert Gamble, Jones Falls, Ont., says:-"I write with the greatest of pleasure to recommend your great blood purifier, Burdock Blood Bitters. My wife and I had itching sores on our face and ears, and tried everything to help them, but found no relief. The show was bright and clean in every respect, and well merited the generous patronage ac- sake.

A Fine Menagerie.

The menagerie in itself was an educa-tional feature, which the crowds appreciated to the full. An hour before the performance began the big tent was filled with people inspecting the great congress of wild beasts gathered from all quarters of the globe. There were the three herds of elephants, droves of camels, zebras, bears, lions, tigers and other weird creatures, which seemed to justify the remark once made by the Yankee farmer: "There ain't no such animal, b'gosh."

All were clean and well-kept. Features of the menagerie were the three giant giraffs and the huge blood-sweatbehemoth, in other words, a hippopotamus. A Superb Spectacle.

The big performance in the main tent began with the promptitude which marks the good show. Beginning with the superb spectacle of Cleopatra and end-

May and Margaret Also Popular, and One Miss Was Christened "Jane St. Patrick."

New fangled names may come and new fangled names may go, but, like Tennyson's Brook, the old-fashioned names go on forever. There is every indication that the next generation at least, will be known by the old-fashened names that have been popular for the past hundreds of years. The "Johns," the "Jameses, the "Marys" and he "Elizabeths" are just as popular as hey ever were. It is true that the iblical names-the Adams, the Timohys, the Marthas, the Josephs, and so on, are passing, but the old standbys still seem to be more than holding their own against the encroachments of the newer and high-sounding
