L. H. AND B. TRAVELERS ANGRY WHEN TRAIN LEFT IN SIDING FOR EIGHT HOURS WITHOUT ONE MOVE

Engineer Says Poor Coal To Blame for Stopping—Delay in Sending Relief—Passengers Allege Other Grievances Against the G. T. R.

A year is likely to break out up the London, Huron and Bruce line, of the Grand Trunk at any time. G. T. R. officials admit this, but they do not intend making any offensive movement. They will remain on the defence, knowing that the attacking forces, in the form of the residents of that badly-neglected part of the country, have a grievance.

The people who patronize this branch of the G. T. R. are "up in the air" as a result of the morning train out of London being permitted to remain on a siding at Chatham for eight hours yesterday, while Grand Trunk officials apparently did absolutely nothing to get the train in motion. The train was not capable of bringing the train to the poor quality of coal taken on at Chatham.

Only a Little Late. With very little steam, according to the passengers, the train pulled into the Chatham siding at 11 a.m. yesterday morning and didn't turn a wheel again until 9:45 last night, when another engine arrived and brought it through to London at 11:15 a.m. It is about 8 o'clock, and the G. T. R. officials jokingly remark that this is only a little later than an hour behind time. They refer to the evening train, however, whereas the morning train arrived more than an hour after the night train should arrive. The passengers do not know why the train was permitted to remain on the siding for such a lengthy period. Any decent train could make the trip to Chatham and return during the period of the strike of the trainmen at Chatham, and standing on the siding at Chatham.

If the G. T. R. officials had sent an engine from London when they learned of the stalling of the train at Chatham, it could have been brought to London in time to permit most of the passengers to make their connections, the passengers claim. The relief engine did not arrive, however, until the evening train from London went through.

Passengers Indignant. The passengers indignantly claim that the officials of the Grand Trunk show absolutely no interest in what happens on this branch of the road which stands on a siding, and every person who has to use this branch of the road will offer a prayer of thanksgiving when the Government takes it over.

The morning train out of Chatham this morning. Why it was cancelled no one seems to know or care. The train did not go out yesterday morning either, due to the storm, but the fact could be ascertained today, the line between here and the northern town is clear.

FLOODING IS FEARED WHEN SPRING THAW COMES IN EARNEST

Lack of Storm Sewers May Be Regretted.

MUCH SNOW HAS FALLEN

And If Sun Gets At It Quickly Trouble Will Result.

Citizens who voted against additional storm sewers being laid in the city may regret their action if the spring thaw comes on with a rush this year, according to those who are in touch with conditions in the city.

The snowfall has been exceptionally heavy, and there have been few mild days in the winter. A vast amount of snow has accumulated instead of being carried away by successive thaws as last winter. If the cold spell lasts well into the spring and a sudden break-up then occurs, it is likely that the city's drainage will be taxed beyond its capacity and that there will be a few flooded corners and submerged streets to bear testimony to the lack of storm sewers.

Snow is being removed from some of the principal streets by the city street department. This is being done on the property purchased for the Federal Survey, the present city hall. As the work will be continued, it is likely that quite a large mountain of snow will be piled up in the city. It is anticipated that this will defy the rays of the summer sun for many days. It is even possible that it will last well into the summer season.

As the winter wending, his way through the dusty, July streets will be able to cast his eyes on this little mountain of snow and wonder how it got there. It is calculated that a cool breeze will blow from this spot in the direction of the city offices, and the officials will then enjoy all the joys of living in the sun without so much as having to stir from their chairs.

HEAVY SEAS PREVENT TRANSFER OF PEOPLE FROM DISABLED SHIP

Army Transport Standing by Steamer Powhatan.

Halifax, Jan. 21.—By the Canadian Press.—Late this morning the American army transport Powhatan, which for the past three weeks has been in a helpless condition off the Nova Scotia coast, was still plugging about in a heavy sea, with no prospects either of securing a tow or of being relieved of her passengers.

During the night the Western Comet, one of the steamers standing by, succeeded in getting a line aboard the Powhatan and towing her for a distance of 40 miles in the direction of Halifax when she was completely abandoned. The Powhatan is now being towed by the Powhatan cut, and with the Powhatan cut off, the rescue ships found themselves obliged to make a wide berth. The Powhatan was running mad, and it was possible to launch boats, and arrangements were made to transport for a transfer of the passengers were performance abandoned. The reception of any passengers who may be suffering from frost bite in the hands of their being brought to Halifax.

MINISTER AWARDED $400 FOR DEATH OF SON, ELECTROCUTED

Winter Assize Jury Cases Are Finished.

All of the six jury cases on the list for the winter assize court, which has been in progress at the court house during the past few days, have been disposed of now.

The suit of William Foley vs. the Canadian Pacific Railway, which was for $5,000 for alleged slander, has been settled for the sum of $400.

Reverend vs. McNeil, a Lucas case, in which the plaintiff was suing for $5,000 because of alleged slanderous statements, was laid over until the next sessions owing to the illness of a witness.

Bice vs. Haver, a suit in which the plaintiff is asking for the specific performance of an agreement regarding the non-bury cases commences at 10 o'clock on Thursday.

PRESENTS BILL TO ADMIT WOMEN TO PRACTICE LAW

Montreal, Jan. 21.—Henry Miles, member for St. Lawrence, Montreal, appeared before the public bill committee yesterday in connection with his bill to admit women to the practice of law in the province.

If the bill is killed before the committee, Mr. Miles will bring it before the House, and all will be ready for a full dress debate.

AUSTRIAN SOLDIERS ARE FORBIDDEN TO MARRY

Vienna, Jan. 21.—Soldiers and officers in the Austrian army are forbidden to marry, and must waive their political rights under the provisions of the army bill now before the national assembly. The personnel of the army would be limited to 1,500 officers, 2,000 non-commissioned officers, and 30,000 men, who would be permitted to elect councils to protect their interests.

The army budget for 1920 places the cost of military activity at one-sixth the average amount appropriated before the outbreak of the war.

Wandering Pig Is Arrested and Held As a "Vagrant"

180-Pound Porker Put in the Cells of Brantford Police Station.

Brantford, Jan. 21.—(By Canadian Press).—"Grunt, grunt," came from the police cells this morning. Investigation showed that a 180-pound pig had been found wandering around the city streets at a late hour last night, and P. C. Glen promptly effected an arrest. The charge being posted on the sheet was that the pig was a vagrant.

Until her relations could be ascertained, the pig was held in the cells. The pig was a large, fat, pink creature, and was very tame.

UKRAINE HAS LARGE QUANTITIES OF FOOD READY FOR SHIPMENT

Millions of Pounds of Sugar Awaiting Lifting of the Blockade.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Four hundred million pounds of sugar, twenty million bushels of wheat, and large quantities of hides and other materials stored in the Ukraine will be made available for the markets of the world when the general blockade of Russia is lifted, according to an announcement here today by the Ukrainian mission in America.

Ukraine needs medicines, surgical tools, cloth, clothing, shoes and agricultural machinery, according to the mission. The lack of these necessities and clothing alone had reduced to misery great areas of the Ukraine. It was added that the receipt of needed supplies would greatly assist the Ukrainians in fighting the Bolsheviks.

Lady Astor May Be Asked To Move Or Second the Address

Question Is Whether She Will Wear Full Court Dress or Not.

London, Jan. 21.—Suggestions have been made that Lady Astor, the only woman member of the House of Commons, be called upon to move or second the address replying to the King's speech from the throne on the occasion of the reopening of Parliament on February 16. The suggestion is that she should be asked to move or second the address, in which case she is chosen for either place, will wear full court dress in accordance with the tradition which prescribes that the member making the motion or seconding it, shall wear a uniform or court costume.

JAIL-BREAKER FROM TORONTO ARRESTED

John Smith Sent Back to the Queen City.

John Smith, a former Londoner, who recently broke jail at Toronto, has been arrested here and sent back to the Queen City.

P. S. McNeill made the arrest in the east end of the city. The jail-breaker was at that time said to be trying to pass checks to secure money from east end merchants.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS WANT CANADIAN MONEY

London, Jan. 21.—(By Canadian Press).—Discontent is being shown by Canadian soldiers still here that their payments are being made in English currency with a consequent loss of exchange. This, they allege, is contrary to enlistment conditions, and at a meeting on Thursday they appointed a committee of nine to obtain Canadian currency in the future and to recover back balances. If necessary, they will enforce their rights by constitutional procedure.

Y.M.C.A. COMMISSION URGES EXTENSION OF COMMUNITY SYSTEM

Recommends the Services of Women and Girls to Further Cause.

SERVICE TO QUALIFY

Make This Plan a Condition For Eligibility For Membership.

Toronto, Jan. 21.—The draft report of the commission on reconstruction occupied the major portion of this morning's session of the Y. M. C. A. M. C. A. Building. It was read by Lieut.-Col. Gerald Birks of Montreal, who, in the course of his remarks, reminded his hearers that the Y. M. C. A. as a result of its work at the front, had obtained a new viewpoint.

In regard to the general function of the association it was proposed that no substantial change be made from the present accepted definition, except in the relation of the association to other agencies, especially the church, in the carrying out of its function. Efforts should be made to arrange the entire method and scope of the association, either through the association's own co-ordination, or in co-operation with the churches and other religious and social organizations.

The commission recommended that the services of women and girls should be encouraged in activities among men and boys, to create natural and uplifting relationships. A wider scope of community lines, touching both sexes, also should be encouraged.

To Divide Commission. In dealing with the standard program for men's work it was agreed that the commission into four territorial sections, with a national section to act as the executive section. It was recommended that a commission should be appointed to consider a revised basis of membership for Canadian associations, with a view to making precise the qualifying condition rather than the present membership requirements as regards residence.

The policy or program was explained by J. H. Wallace, foreign work secretary for Canada. In reviewing the campaigns of the Canadian association to obtain work he said that the secretaries in the foreign department were Canadians.

RIOTS IN BESSARABIA

Serious Disturbances in Sofia Reported in Dispatches From That City.

London, Jan. 21.—A dispatch to the Central News from Paris says the forces the supreme council will send to oppose the Bolsheviks in the Caucasus are expected to number 200,000.

The correspondent adds it is reported that there is a serious Communist uprising in Bessarabia, and there are disturbances in Sofia.

CANADA MAY BE ASKED TO SEND 50,000 SOLDIERS

[Special To The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Jan. 21.—The rumor has been in circulation that the Imperial authorities have requested that Canada be in readiness to provide 50,000 troops for probable service in Russia, where British possessions to the south are being threatened by the Bolsheviks. While it is fully believed here that such a force could easily be raised by voluntary means, Sir George Foster, who has just returned from Paris, declares that he has heard nothing about such a request.

DUTCH SOCIALISTS ARE IN FAVOR OF ENTERING LEAGUE

Preliminary Discussions Commence in Holland's Parliament.

The Hague, Jan. 20.—The preliminary discussion of the proposal that Holland should enter the League of Nations began in Parliament today. The session was not public. Socialistic members have declared in favor of entering the league, but not until the particular relative to the strength of the Dutch army permitted under the covenant is known.

WINDSOR, JAN. 21.—PROCEEDINGS to have the will of the late Joseph Port, former well-known resident of Windsor and proprietor of the West Side Hotel, declared null and void, have been started by the law firm of Wilson & Wilson, acting for the estate of the late Joseph Port, of Detroit, place of the deceased. The amount involved is $10,000.

Mr. Port died four weeks ago, and left all his property but $1 to his sister, Mrs. E. J. MacNutt. The $1 was left to Miss Bradshaw, who alleges her uncle was of unsound mind when his will was made.

LIBERALS MAY OPPOSE MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE IN EAST KENT; CONSERVATIVES NOT IN THE FIELD

Premier Drury Is Expected To Carry Halton by a Good Majority—Provincial Conservative Leader G. Howard Ferguson Declares Tories Are Watching U. F. O. For Any Break.

[Special To The Advertiser.] Toronto, Jan. 21.—The Conservatives will not oppose the election of Premier Drury and Hon. Manning Doherty, but there is a possibility that the Liberals will fight the latter in East Kent.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader, who is at the Queen's, said this morning that he was in the city in connection with the working out of plans for the calling of the provincial Conservative convention, next summer. He said that he was watching the Provincial Government carefully, and if anything is done that is detrimental to the interests of the province it will be vigorously opposed by the Conservative party.

Mr. Ferguson did not think the return of the two ministers would be opposed by his party, unless the Liberal Conservatives in the ridings of Halton and East Kent were anxious for a contest.

Mr. Hartley Dewar was not in a very communicative mood when asked what the Liberals would do in Halton and East Kent, "I am not giving any interviews this morning," said he. It was learned at Liberal headquarters, however, that opposition to Hon. Manning Doherty has been seriously contemplated. Mr. Dewar himself is a "last ditcher," and will not surrender without a struggle. Even if he has to fight against the Liberals, he is not the kind of man who will quickly throw up the sponge. The Liberals had an excellent candidate in East Kent, who was regarded as one of the outstanding new men in the field. He is a successful businessman, with a

TRADE RELATIONS WITH RUSSIANS WILL NOT BE RESUMED FOR MONTHS

Stockholm, Jan. 21.—Announcement from Paris of the reopening of commercial relations between allied countries and the Russian people came as a great surprise to Sweden.

As all the Russian Baltic ports are now frozen, the exchange of goods must wait until May or June. It is the general opinion here that before trade goes on very long Russia will be called upon to pay for stocks of valuable goods which the Soviet Government confiscated two years ago and for which payment was vainly demanded before the allied countries severed diplomatic relations with the Bolsheviks.

ROTARY CLUB APPEALS FOR $5,000 GRANT IN AID OF BOY SCOUTS

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Members of the Rotary Club appealed to the board of control yesterday afternoon for a grant of $5,000 toward the boy scout movement and for the boys' home. Ottawa's total share in the drive is $37,500. The board of control is expected to meet today to consider the appeal.

Mayor Fisher declared the city fathers to be in full accord with the movement, and although pointing out that a grant would be illegal, hoped that something could be done.

ITALIAN TRAINS OPERATED UNDER PROTECTION OF ARMED GUARDS

Martial Law Is Proclaimed Owing to General Railway Strike.

POLICE ENFORCE ORDER

Theatres and All Places of Business Close in Early Evening.

Paris, Jan. 21.—Northern and Central Italy are in the grip of a general railway strike, but Southern Italy is not so seriously affected, according to the Turin correspondents. The strike has been called off by the Italian Government was able to run a few trains over the principal lines yesterday, the trains being heavily guarded by troops armed with machine guns.

Martial law is enforced in the principal cities of the country, the streets of which are patrolled by cavalry and are under the guns of artillery units, it is said. Stores, theatres and all places of business are ordered to close at 8 o'clock in the evening and everyone is forbidden to use automobiles or bicycles.

Police authorities have ordered the magazines of all automobiles confiscated to prevent the strikers using the machines.

Relative calm prevailed yesterday, there being few acts of sabotage. The only disorders are reported from Genoa, where shots were fired at a train.

WILL CONNECT BAD STRIP OF HIGHWAY

Brantford, Jan. 21.—Canadian Press.—It was announced here this morning that in an interview, Hon. P. C. Biggs, minister of roads and highways, making the announcement that the Brantford and Hamilton road would be connected this summer from Brantford city limits to Chatham, twelve miles away, covering the worst section of a road which, while one of the main arteries of the province, has many bad spots, and altogether is in poor condition.

The only other stretch to be compared with this is the section from Hamilton out to the mountains. The remainder of the road is to be macadamized.

CATARHIAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head and ear noises or are growing hard of hearing go to your druggist and get a course of Catarrhal Deafness treatment, and add to it a pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should also be cleared. Catarrhal Deafness is a disease of the middle ear, and it is easy to prepare. Costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD, TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Most forms of acid which overwork the kidneys are the result of too much meat in the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lousy. When our kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them. Like you relieve our bowels, removing all the body's poisonous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water spouts and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either remedy is good, relief is gained at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast on the first day and on the following days and you will find your kidneys will then act fine. Jad Salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

RAILWAY POSTAL CLERK TESTIFIES

Attacks of Biliousness and Indigestion End After He Takes Tanlac.

"Since I started taking Tanlac I have gained ten pounds in weight and my general health is as good as it ever was," said Albert MacKenzie, a railway mail clerk, who resides at 2140 Scarth street, Regina, Sask., recently.

"For some time I have suffered from a severe stomach trouble and frequently would have bilious attacks," he continued. "After every meal gas would build up and I would feel something terrible, and what little I ate just seemed to form into a solid lump. My appetite was very poor, and I had to force down every morning. At times I would turn deathly sick and become so dizzy it was all I could do to keep from falling and spots of different colors would come before my eyes. I was so nervous I could get but little rest and was so restless I would just roll and toss from one side of the bed to the other all night long, and get up in the morning feeling miserable."

"I had been reading so much in the newspapers from people who had been benefited by taking Tanlac I decided to try it, and after I had taken two bottles my improvement was really wonderful. I continued taking it until now I have taken five bottles in all, and I am glad to say my stomach trouble is a thing of the past. My appetite is simply splendid and I can eat anything I want and all I want without suffering the least bit afterwards. I never have those pains or dizzy spells and my nerves are in such good condition I can sleep all night long without ever waking at times, and always get up feeling greatly refreshed and full of energy. I am sure I am glad I took Tanlac and I never miss an opportunity to tell others about it."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

G.W.V.A. TO STRIKE ANOTHER BLOW FOR A MEMORIAL HALL

Veterans Claim Bylaw Was Defeated Through the Work of the Chamber of Commerce and the "Big" Men of the City.

By sending a deputation of seven men to wait on the city council, one more attempt will be made by the local branch of the G. W. V. A. to have a memorial hall erected. A resolution to this effect was adopted and a deputation was named at a general meeting of the association held at the Hyman Hall last night. The deputation will consist of E. A. Pocock, Butler, Dr. C. H. Reason, J. H. Ashley, Sgt. J. Wilson, B. Devin and R. H. Young.

A resolution was also adopted as follows: "We, the Great War Veterans' Association of London, wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to those who voted in favor of the Memorial Hall, and to those who have been instrumental in its erection. We are proud to have a memorial hall erected in memory of the heroes who will never come back, and by whose sacrifices the country was saved."

Considerable warm discussion on the part of the members regarding the turning down of the memorial hall bylaw took place. Comrade E. A. Pocock did not agree with a statement made by a previous speaker, to the effect that the bylaw was turned down by the large number of by-laws voted upon, and that if the memorial hall proposition were put to the people again it would pass. He said that the bylaw was defeated largely through the work of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Pocock said the bylaw in question was not included in the original draft of by-laws which the Chamber of Commerce undertook to support, but was added because the body feared that its exclusion would alienate support which otherwise might be given with the memorial hall.

Major E. S. Little was also criticized on the ground that he had advocated support for the industrial by-laws, but had made no mention of the deal with the memorial hall.

Beaten by "big" men?

In the opinion of the majority of the speakers the bylaw was defeated by the big men and property owners rather than by the workingmen of the city. Comrade A. Fugle spoke strongly in favor of the association taking the matter into its own hands and by forming a stock company secure funds to build a hall. Col. W. G. Coles, president of the association, advised that the matter be left over for a few weeks until some action was taken by the city council. This idea did not meet with the approval of the meeting.

The deputation appointed to wait on the council will also take up the matter of exemption of taxes for returned soldiers. A list of names of all veterans holding property is being taken by Secretary W. J. Cunliffe at the request of the city council. Ald. Dr. J. C. Wilson assured the meeting that the matter of exemption of taxes was before the committee of the council, and was receiving favorable consideration.

The question as to whether a petition in the interest of furthering such as is being circulated in Toronto, should be presented to the people of this city was raised, but the majority found no favor with the meeting. Col. W. G. Coles said that the left of further grativities should be left to the hands of the Dominion convention, which was called last night.

The meeting was in favor of securing Hyman Hall for the regular meeting place of the association. A formal opening night will be held in two weeks, when the band will render a concert of music. There are four hundred members awaiting initiation, and invitations will be sent them to attend on that night. The purpose of going through the ceremony, notwithstanding the weather, will not be sent until action has been taken through the mails in the future. Arrangements in the press have been found effective, so the papers will be used exclusively.

The competition to secure members conducted by several teams since August came to an end on the first of November last night. The winners were announced by Comrade MacKenzie was first, with 10 members to its credit. Dr. A. Pocock's team was second, with 8. Several resolutions forwarded here by other branches of the organization which were brought up for discussion were filed until action should have been taken on them by the provincial convention.

NEW ORANGE LODGE WAS INSTITUTED ON TUESDAY

Star of Bethlehem Has Record Charter Membership.

With the largest charter membership in the history of the Orange Order in Canada, the Star of Bethlehem Lodge, No. 2769, was instituted on Tuesday evening, Jan. 20, at the Hyman Hall, in London. The new lodge was organized under the auspices of the London district, and the ceremony last night was conducted by the district officers.

Sixty candidates were initiated into the order, Past District Master Joseph W. Carson presiding. The officers of the new lodge were elected as follows: T. Clark, worshipful master; W. J. Wray, deputy master; W. J. Bennett, recording secretary; E. A. Wray, financial secretary; H. J. Wray, treasurer; W. Savage, first lecturer; C. O. Smith, director of ceremonies; James Frith, Tyler; John McKee, R. Orr, J. Kildare, R. Moss and W. H. Morgan, committee. J. J. Oyer was elected captain of the guard.

WILL ENTER TEAMS IN RIFLE LEAGUE SHOTS

The Departmental Rifle Association has decided to enter two teams in the Canadian Rifle League competition to be held this month. The association was organized in London, and the first rifle practice is being held at the Armory this evening.

The officers of the unit are: Capt. E. M. Cartner, quartermaster-sergeant; L. Simpson, secretary-treasurer; general committee, W. J. Wray, J. H. Ashley, J. Wilson, J. Kildare, R. Moss and W. H. Morgan.

GUILTY OF CRUELTY

Farmer Given Suspended Sentence—Neglected Horses.

Amasa Smith, 210 Simcoe street, appeared before Squire Chittick at the county courthouse yesterday, charged with cruelty to animals. He was found guilty and allowed to go on suspended sentence after paying the costs of the case.

Inspector W. H. Burgess of the Human Society laid the charge, after visiting Smith's farm in Westminster Township, where he found horses belonging to the accused in a field without food or shelter.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS

Constipation, although generally described as a disease, can never exist unless some of the organs are deranged, which is generally found to be the liver.

There is nothing more productive of general ill-health than constipation of the bowels, and a regular action is absolutely essential to general health. One of the most common, painful and troublesome troubles caused by constipation is piles, and unless the bowels are kept open by the use of a good laxative such as Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, the whole system will be poisoned.

ERIC ROSS GOULDING DIES IN VANCOUVER; WELL-KNOWN HERE

Was Formerly a Gifted Contributor To Advertiser's Columns.

Eric Ross Goulding, a frequent and talented contributor to the columns of The Advertiser prior to the war, died in Vancouver suddenly recently, according to a dispatch from that city to the Toronto Star.

Mr. Goulding was a well-known figure in the literary world of Vancouver, and was a member of the Victoria Club. He was a writer of special articles for the Province. Later he went to the front as a writer of special articles for the Dominion Government.

Mr. Goulding served as a soldier in the South African war, and was wounded in the campaign. He had previously seen military service for a short time in India. In Canada his poetry and prose were well known and appreciated at different times.

Readers of the Toronto News and the Windsor Record, as well as by readers of The Advertiser and the British Columbia papers mentioned. The news of his death will be received with regret by a great many friends and admirers in this city and district.

BYRON RESIDENT IS RUN OVER BY CUTTER, BUT ESCAPES INJURY

Joseph Young Receives a Severe Shaking As Result of Accident.

Byron, Jan. 20.—Joseph Young of Byron had a miraculous escape from a runaway cutter tonight when a cutter driven by George Wickens passed completely over his body.

Mr. Young had just stepped from the 5 o'clock Springfield car, and was proceeding up the road to his home, when he passed some children making a snow-house. Mr. Young passed over the opposite side of the road, just before the cutter came along, driving a snow-house, which on the road, the cutter passed over his body.

Mr. Young was wearing a heavy coat, and was also crushed down in the seat of the snow-house, which on the road, the cutter passed over his body.

DRURY WILL RUN IN HALTON, DOHERTY TO CONTEST EAST KENT

Hon. R. H. Grant Announces
By-Elections On February 16.

RANEY WILL WAIT

Attorney-General To Allow Party To Select Riding.

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—Premier E. C. Drury is to run in Halton County and Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture, is to run in East Kent. Hon. W. E. Raney, attorney-general, is to wait a while longer before a prospective seat is selected for him. This is the gist of an official announcement made here tonight by Hon. R. H. Grant, minister of education in the Drury Government. The nominations in the two by-elections are to be held on February 9, and the elections a week later. Writs for the by-elections in Halton and East Kent will be issued immediately. In Halton County John F. Ford, the U.F.O. member-elect, has resigned in order to give the premier an opportunity to obtain a seat in the Legislature. The East Kent seat is to be thrown open to the resignation of J. B. Clark, U.F.O. member.

Is No Surprise.
There is no surprise in connection with the East Kent vacancy, but the opening in Halton is a complete surprise to the general public. Mr. Ford, the retiring member, won the seat in the provincial general elections on October 20 in a three-cornered contest with a majority of about 250. Formerly Halton was considered a Conservative riding. Dr. A. W. Nixon, a Conservative, was the last M. P. for Halton. East Kent was won by J. B. Clark on October 20 by a majority of about 1,500. His opponent was J. N. Mowbray, a Liberal.

Hon. Mr. Grant, in his official statement with reference to the coming elections, says:
"In the course of a few days a third riding will be opened by the resigna-

Premier E. C. Drury.
Hon. of a member-elect to enable the attorney-general to enter the Legislature. Mr. Raney's election will take place shortly after the two above mentioned."

The two above mentioned are Premier Drury and Hon. Mr. Doherty. Not Running Three.

In an interview, Hon. Mr. Grant is quoted as having said:
"The reason we are not running the three elections at the same time is that it is said Mr. Raney will be opposed, and we want to have the others over, so as to concentrate and win the election. If the election of Mr. Drury and Mr. Doherty will strengthen Mr. Raney we want him to have this advantage, as there is so much objection to him reported."

Hon. Mr. Grant's official statement contains an explanation for the apparent delay in getting the three seats' ministers located. "In completing its organization in a democratic way, the government has sought to avoid undue delay, as well as undue haste." Mr. Grant goes into details about the work of the committee which had to handle the arranging of seats, and concludes as follows:

"With two elections announced here-with, and the one which will follow, the Government will be in a position to complete the preparation for the work of the session already well advanced, and to convene the Legislature for the dispatch of business."

Not Meet Until March.
It is believed that the Legislature will not meet until March 2 or March 3, the custom being to open the session on a Tuesday.

Secretary J. J. Morrison of the United Farmers of Ontario, denies that the government is being run by the United Farmers of Ontario and the committee appointed to select ridings for the three seats' ministers, as has been asserted in some quarters. "The Government," he said tonight, "has been under the rule of the elected representatives of the people, who chose Mr. Drury as leader and premier."

Secretary Morrison explained his connection with the committee to select three ridings by stating that he had gone over the field and done what the committee asked him to do. He said delay had been caused because the committee wished to secure the voice of the people, rather than follow the old plan of executive domination.

SAYS DRURY WOULD RUN IN S. RENFREW;
FARMERS RESENT IT

RENFREW, Jan. 20.—A veritable bomb was dropped into the United Farmers of Ontario convention at Renfrew this afternoon when A. E. Bradwin, editor of the Arnprior Watchman, announced that he had received the following telegram from Premier Drury:

"Would be pleased to have you bring the matter before convention as you suggested."

This, Mr. Bradwin explained, meant that if John Carty, M.P.P., would resign, Premier Drury would be pleased to accept nomination for South Renfrew. Although utterly taken by surprise, the convention quickly let it be known that Premier Drury would not be persona grata in South Renfrew, nor would Hon. Mr. Doherty, minister of agriculture.

MR. KING AND THE SOLDIER.

Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, has been experiencing a magnificent welcome wherever he has spoken during his Maritime Provinces tour. Especially has he aroused enthusiasm by his declaration that the Liberals would appoint a strong and representative committee to hear and investigate every grievance of the returned men. Canadians who have been in active service overseas will be members of this investigating body. The interests of the returned soldier will be safe in the hands of Mr. King and the Liberal party.

HELP ARMENIA.

On another page of this issue the public is informed of a movement in this city started with the object of sending help to starving Armenia. If the remnant of this persecuted people is to be saved relief in the shape of foodstuffs must be sent at once. Quite apart from the fact that the western Christian world should respond to the call from a distressed sister Christian nation in the near east, it will help towards the establishment and keeping of prolonged peace throughout Asia Minor if the peace-loving, thrifty and industrious Armenian is rescued from his present perilous position and given a safe and independent position under Allied protection. Until this status is agreed upon and Turkey chastised and chained against further persecution and terrorism, the Christian world can keep the Armenians alive by sending a steady stream of food and supplies. From motives that are world-political, as well as motives of sympathy, there should be a generous response towards this fund to help famishing Armenia.

THE AMERICAN RAILROADS.

On the first day of March the United States Government will return the railways of the United States to their owners. Since they were taken over by Washington in December, 1917, they have gone behind more than half a billion dollars. For the years 1918 and 1919 the operating expenses, which the public has supplied, is placed at over $550,000,000, the expenses for 1918 being about 70 per cent to gross earnings, and in 1919, 90 per cent. Vast sums are due the Government from the systems for improvement of equipment made during Government control and management, but much of the betterment was made for purposes of war. In normal periods they will be a drag and expense, instead of revenue-getters. Excluding dividends, the majority of the American railroads today are unable to earn their fixed charges. What is still worse, owing to the transfer of traffic from one road to another, some of the systems have lost practically all their former business. In many instances, too, the rolling stock of all kinds, and the trackage, have greatly deteriorated under Government management. The railways taken over by Uncle Sam in 1917 were, as a whole, in excellent condition. Today, as he hands them back, they are crippled, physically and financially. Is it too late for Ottawa to reconsider what we may be headed for by nationalization of our railways?

LLOYD GEORGE AND CHURCHILL.

British opinion would appear to be sharply though far from evenly divided on the question of entering into trade relations with Russia. Those who see in the radical political theories of the Russian people a menace to existing institutions in other countries clamor for a continuance of the blockade and even for active intervention in Russian affairs. Of quite another mind are those who, like Lloyd George today, are seemingly convinced that the reopening of trade communications with the Russian people will not only relieve the distress in Europe caused by lack of food, but will also throw a flood of light upon conditions which have been clouded by smoke screens of propaganda ever since the Russian debate.

There seems no doubt that on more than one occasion in the past the opportunity of entering into negotiations with the Russians has been blocked by certain French and British elements. Those who favored the blockade and the extending of aid to men like Kolchak and Denikin have had their day and it must be admitted that they have made a sorry mess of it. Kolchak and Denikin are out of the ring today and also gone, by the way, is about eighty or ninety million English pounds that the Churchill element in the British cabinet staked on their success. Lloyd George has to bear his share of the responsibility for this, too, but apparently he has reached the point where wiser counsel is beginning to prevail, for today he is warmly advocating the opening up of trade with Russia. That may well be regarded as the prelude to peace which might well be welcomed by the nations that are so slowly recovering from their war wounds. It does not, however, seem to suit the element which Winston Churchill represents, for they are still clamoring for intervention in Russia, and seemingly would like nothing better than to land the nation in another war, with Bolshevik Russia this time.

Churchill's record ought to be sufficient to settle the question. The man who was responsible for the Antwerp episode and the terrible tragedy of Gallipoli is scarcely the man to be leading Britain into another great military adventure. George Bernard Shaw put Churchill in his place but a few days ago, when he said: "Our governing classes have incultured an overwhelming public opinion that working is low and dishonorable, and that fighting is obligatory and glorious. They forced their idlers, millionaires and all, into the trenches without an act of parliament by sheer force of conviction. The only party that interests me is the party that will force idlers, and all idlers whatsoever, to be it by the same irresistible pressure, into places where people work."

That comes near to the popular ideal of the British people today, an ideal that Lloyd George is constantly holding high, but at which the Churchills sneer. The "ruling class" idea is dying rapidly in England, but it still has its supporters, who in the present instance would land England in another war. The British people will, we think, prefer to go with Lloyd George and take their chance of being contaminated by Russian theories, while Russian wheat pours forth in millions of bushels to relieve their hunger and the starving hunger of the continent.

OUJIA BOARD FACTS AND FANCIES.

[New York Times.]

It is more than a little humiliating for would-be believers in the height of our civilization and the excellence of our educational facilities that a considerable number of adult Americans just now should be taking the oujia board with even seeming seriousness as a means of communication with disembodied spirits. Whoever holds this theory of the instrument, or contemplates it in the slightest degree, must laboriously and carefully refrain from getting the large amount of information available in regard to the workings of the subconscious or to the workings of the human mind—workings that are quite as well understood as those of the conscious mind, and are known, as closely to certainty as is anything connected with mental operations, to be as free from the mystical.

A fundamental fact in relation to the oujia board is that surely half, probably three-quarters, and possibly nine-tenths, of its "communications" are fraudulent—artificial products, that is, of a conscious and deliberate and intentional effort to excite wonder or meet expectation. The detection of this form of deception is difficult, and neither the reputation nor the closing up of its manipulator makes safe the dismissal of suspicion.

Anybody with a little practice can write with the oujia board anything he or she wishes, and to write things that will pass for really wonderful with the credulous and ingenious, it is only necessary to reproduce the flattering or consolatory chatter that every gypsy fortune-teller has at command. By taking a little more trouble, and by producing "mirrored writing," can be acquired, and that is a highly efficient device for supporting the pretense of unintentional and unconsciousness. And "spirit messages" of a character perfectly satisfactory to those who seek them are of easiest manufacture by anybody who knows the mediumistic game. It is a game easily learned.

RELIGION AND HAPPINESS.

[Stratford Beacon.]

Goethe said that Christianity was a religion of sorrow. Another writer, less eminent, but, in this case, more just, expressed the opposite view in a rhetorical question:

"Why should the children of a King Go mourning all their days?"

In our time men are beginning to realize that happiness comes from the greatest measure of self-realization. The young man rejoices in his physical strength. The intellectual rejoices in his power of thought. It is only reasonable that the man who has trained his spiritual nature to larger vision and greater activity should rejoice in his spiritual strength. There is no trace of egotism in such enjoyment. A trained musician hears the C Minor Symphony by Beethoven with ecstasy. He is not admiring his own power of appreciation, but rather the genius of the composer. Similarly, as soon as any musical gift is enlarged by exercise, the pleasure of the man is increased. The early Puritans who groaned at their work and at their worship, the men who lived themselves and their Maker by calling one another "poor worms," were extremists, with a distorted view of life and its privileges. They were the men who denounced laughter and frowned on the play of children. Some of them were great and notable figures who served their generation well, but it is probable that less whining in the nose would have improved them materially and would have given them a greater influence. One wonders what they thought of praising the Lord "with the high sounding cymbals." King David's touches of "frivolity" must have been distressing to them. There is no aid to happiness so effective as a good conscience. The man who disciplines himself by doing his best in all activities; the man who molds his daily life after the highest pattern; the man who has complete confidence in the Divine governance is not a "mourner here below." He thrills to every stimulus. He lives the fullest, the most satisfying and the most joyous of lives. Christianity is not a religion of sorrow. The Forward Movement of the churches will succeed because of the happy enthusiasm of the active members.

A GREAT MOTHER OF A GREAT SON.

[Guelph Mercury.]

Just about two years ago the whole English-speaking world felt a sense of personal loss when the word flashed that the great soldier, physician, poet, Col. John McCrae, had passed away while still in the prime of life. Yet, though he has passed away, he lives and will live as long as men and women read his lines; lines that were an inspiration to civilization at an hour when darkness seemed to cover the face of the earth and the enemy of humanity plunged the world into the blackness of despair.

"In Flanders Fields" proved a clarion call to a wavering, hesitating people. It pictured, as no other picture ever could, the swiftly growing rows on rows of graves, where rested, till the trumpet call should sound, the dead who died that right might live. It awakened an empire to a new life, and beat back the hosts of darkness, and established liberty, love and honor in the hearts of humankind. The mother of that soldier, physician, poet, passed recently from Guelph to the Great Beyond. The passing of the son of her heart in the great battle against evil had cast a shadow over her life that grew deeper and deeper with the gathering years. The mother heart bore grief with a complaining fortitude, for hers was a hope the grave could not hide. While sorrow was her inseparable companion, none but herself and her God knew how heavy it was to bear. The silver lining was slowly opened, and comforted her as the world spoke of the worth of her beloved son. The world's praise was as sweet incense that lightened the burden, and she, like the Mary in Bethlehem, "pondered all these things in her heart."

Janet Simpson Eckford McCrae was a woman who lived to do good. That was her life pleasure. Her smile, a benediction to all, brought comfort and gladness to those bowed down with sorrow like unto her own. With a quiet and gentle serenity of spirit she ministered to the poor. In the holy sanctuary she bowed in supplication and adoration, as became the greatness of her spirit. She was a devoted worshiper at the shrine of truth, sturdy in the faith of her Covenantant ancestry, yet gentle and tender while the gathering years silvered her head. Mrs. McCrae was a woman who loved to serve humanity everywhere. To those in dark heathenism she loved to send a message, and to those near at hand no less kind. A woman of rare talent and virtues, she was one who will never be forgotten. Her illustrious son was what he was largely because of her, and Guelph is the richer for having known her as one of its best citizens.

From Here and There

THE COBBLER IN WILLOW STREET.

[George O'Neill.]

Unless you knew just where to look You couldn't find it out of a book— Willow Street—poss—well, a street and still, Short and shadowed in every nook And hour, as day goes up the hill.

The dark shades slant to west at nine And creep at one up to a line Measuring eastern walls again, And close the gloried morning vine That they have touched enough to stain.

The cobbler's house is half the height That pigeons measure in a flight From bottom of the hill to top; And where his one doorstep is white The cobbler sings and keeps his shop.

Where houses kneel around the church, The pigeons flutter from their perch Down to the narrow, spotless street, To strut and stand and flash and lurch, Crowding about the cobbler's feet.

WHEN THE KING IS ILL.

[Chatham News.]

The British law retains some peculiar provisions with reference to the "illness of the king." These provisions are mere survivals in the present settled order of government. There was a time when the king's incapacity afforded opportunity to assassins without risk of detection. Accordingly, certain wise precautions were matters of law.

In his "Institutes," the great legal commentator, Coke, says: "If the king be taken sick there ought to be a warrant issue from the Privy Council, addressed to certain physicians and surgeons, authorizing them to administer to the royal patient poisons, cypresses, laxatives, medicines, etc., still, none of these should be given except by consent and advice of the council, and they ought to be set down in writing everything done and administered, and they should compound all drugs themselves and not intrust their preparation to any apothecary."

READING THE OLD BOOKS.

[Stratford Beacon.]

An old book—if it is a good one—should improve on acquaintance. The better you know it, the more you can get out of it. To know it better you must read it again from time to time.

The books which you will care to read again will be full of character. Read the old poems again for their music and for a better insight into their meaning. Every day should add something to your emotional experience, and the broader your experience, the more you will get out of the poem. Besides this, you may be able to read it in a new mood and see it in another light—and every poem has a thousand and one lights reflecting from themselves. That is why most people cannot enjoy reading poetry once. Read the old books again!

HARD WORDS FOR AN EGG.

"When I rose to speak," related a martyred candidate, "some one threw a base, cowardly egg at me. It struck me on the chest."

"And what is a base, cowardly egg?" asked a fresh young man.

"A base, cowardly egg," explained the statesman, "is one that hits you and runs."

ATTRACTIVE ADVERTISING.

[Hamilton Times.]

Who says that people do not read the ads? Here is one that nobody will miss:

"I have a baby girl I do not want to chloroform, give away or exchange for a dog. If there is anyone in Houston who will rent us two or more furnished rooms, please address 130D, care post."

An advertisement can be made as attractive as the latest scandal if it be properly composed.

WERE WISE.

[Kingston British Whig.]

The robbers who let a school teacher go past unmolested probably realized that he was in poorer condition than themselves, but they had no such computation with a farmer who came along a few minutes later. They certainly showed discrimination.

AN UNESSENTIAL.

"The officer says you used bad language."

"When he stopped me I was in a tantrum."

"Never mind the make of the car."

"I LIKE GRAVY."

[Forest Standard.]

At a recent dinner party that included the little folk in their high chairs, the guests fell to talking of that custom of the dark ages—making children wait until the second table.

"When I was a little shaver," said a prominent lawyer, "my brother and I were holding forth in the kitchen. Twice the gravy bowl had been refilled. The third time it was returned to the dining-room my brother stuck his head through the door and yelled: 'Don't eat up all the gravy. I like gravy.'"

"A POOR MAN'S NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS TO HIS WIFE."

[Cleveland Plaindealer.]

Now last year, dear, I recollect those resolutions

No sooner were they made, I know, than every one was broken;

So this year I have made a few to keep until I

I hardly think I'll miss on these, no matter how I try.

And first, I know you do work hard, and often should relax.

So I'll take you to every show where they do not charge a tax.

The second resolution I am sure will be good news—

Although it's hard to promise, I am cutting out the booze.

And third, though life is short and sweet, the sweet

I'm going to lose.

And till the situation's changed, no sugar will I use!

FILLS A LONG-FELT WANT.

[London Daily News.]

The new train indicator which will tell you from station to station what the next stopping-place is will save thousands of hours of worry to unaccustomed travelers. It ought to be adopted at once for every form of public conveyance, train, tram or bus. The only wonder is that it was not tried years ago. Are we as bright in these days as we sometimes think when an idea like this can lie around for a generation waiting to be picked up?

HOW DOES SHE DO IT?

[Ohio State Journal.]

Woman's moral courage is known to be superior to man's and we often wonder, as we look about the fashionable restaurants and note what and how much of it a slim young girl can eat, whether it's that or an unusually efficient digestive apparatus that keeps her from doubling up and groaning then and there, as we are certain we should do under like circumstances.

ROAD SONG.

[Clara Pratt Meadowcroft in Contemporary Verse.]

Give in such a far away happy breath; March along the road to death.

Head erect and heart set high; They have shown us how to die!

They have sent their boyish laughter Ringing back along the way;

All who walk this road hereafter Must like them be gay.

Shall men fear to follow on Where their sons have gone?

Not alone the enemy There in front where all may see,

They went out to meet; They have stormed the shadowy towers;

Death is rife of his powers, Harshness in their faces;

Youth has overrun his kingdom, Brought the mystic borders near;

Made the land familiar, dear; Every high way, every street,

Echoes now to tramping feet; Whistled signals, noisy cheer,

Sudden greetings: "Brother! Brother!" "I am here!"

Shout and sing and march ahead! Who fears death now they are dead?

SAVE A LOAF at Every Baking

COMBINED with its great nutrition and enticing eating qualities, FIVE ROSES is the acknowledged flour for economical baking. It actually saves flour and the money that that flour costs. This on account of its bigger yield due in turn to its glutinous strength and water-absorbing capacity. Exactly how much it will save you depends upon how much baking you do, and upon how much bread you make at one baking. Read what thrifty housewives write us, in the margin. It points the way to patriotic economy. You know how much FIVE ROSES flour you can bake in a year. By saving a loaf at every baking, figure out for yourself how you can reduce your own High Cost of Living.

Bacterin Treatment of the Flu.

Throughout the duration of the pandemic of respiratory infection called the "flu" conflicting reports were made by doctors in different parts of the country concerning the effect of vaccines or more properly bacterins in preventing and in treating the disease. Since the identity or cause of the "flu" has not been determined, it still remains a matter of speculation and a wonderful amount of speculation is indulged in by physicians and laymen alike.

We know that the "flu" is a respiratory infection, that in most cases several germs are present, that the influenza bacillus is present in only a few cases in one community and not at all in another community. It is not fair to say that we know any more than that about the nature and cause of the "flu."

Had I contracted the "flu" at any time up to the present I believe I would have worried along without bacterin treatment. I know I did not suffer myself to vaccination against the disease, since I had insufficient faith in the efficacy of that measure—and a suspicion that such an attempt at immunization might possibly reduce my immunity to the disease. Now, however, I believe I would want bacterin treatment for the "flu," being so influenced by the opinions of physicians in various parts of this country and England.

Dr. W. H. Wynn reported in the London Practitioner, a series of 107 consecutive cases of influenza treated with bacterins, with only ten deaths. The bacterins contained equal numbers of pneumococci, streptococci and bacilli of influenza, and the dose given was from six to one hundred millions of each of the three microbes. He declares that 71 per cent of the patients injected with bacterin on the first day of the illness had normal temperatures within twenty-four hours; the percentage of those injected on the second day was 41; and with each day's delay in the administration of the vaccine or bacterin the beneficial effect seemed to diminish markedly.

A recent report in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences by Dr. Dudley Roberts, who did not adopt the vaccine treatment until October, 1918, lends weight to the opinion that the bacterin treatment is valuable. This student of the subject concluded that good results are assured only when the dose of bacterin is administered directly into the veins and a distinct reaction, consisting of a chill or chilly sensation follows half an hour after the injection, along with an increase in the pulse rate and sometimes a slight fall in the temperature. Dr. Roberts believes that it is a minor matter what the exact composition of the bacterin shall be, but whatever microbes enter into it, he gives an initial dose of one billion into the vein and several billions if the influenza is given merely under the skin. Following the chill or chilly sensation, the temperature shoots up sharply in the reaction. Then it tends to come down below its original height and stay down; more so after the second or third dose. Doses are given daily.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Foods That Are Not Fattening.
Will you please print a list of foods that are not fattening if there are such foods? (L. C. M.)

ANSWER—Cabbage, onions, turnips, cauliflower, spinach, carrots, celery, asparagus, strawberries, green peas, squash, pineapple, oranges, lemons, cranberries, apricots, apples, pears, clear soups, oysters, mackerel, tomatoes, cereals, lettuce, olives, graham bread, water, tea or coffee with no milk or sugar.

Tender Neck.

Shave daily once over, but neck becomes irritated. Use pure witch hazel after shaving. Please suggest something for tender face and neck. (C. J. S.)

ANSWER—Stop using witch hazel. The alcohol dries and irritates the skin. Bathe carefully and rinse repeatedly with tepid water to remove all the soap. Dry by patting gently with soft towel. Apply this lotion:

Tincture of Eucalyptus 10 grains
Tincture of Sassafras 2 grains
Boric acid 2 grains
Glycerin 2 ounces
Water 8 ounces

A TOY SLIDE AND ANOTHER.

Between Queen's avenue and Dufferin on Adelaide street, some children have built a slide out of snow about six or eight feet long, and not all the wealth of the Orient would tempt them away from it. It rises up out of a convenient driveway, which gives opportunity for many a roll and scramble before the dangerous road is reached. It was built by a boy of about ten, and he is now a jewel by hundreds of rough little coats and twice as many dear, darning, wee knees. It's not at all a proper sort of a slide, the kind you begin discreetly at a sitting posture and end up in a ladylike fashion with skirts in perfect array. It's a rumple-tumble sort of affair, but the children just love it. They try every way possible—sitting, standing, backwards, forwards and sideways, and each slide is accompanied with peals of delight—very loud peals, because there actually seem to be hundreds of little folks swarming about the slide as soon as school is out.

It's a toy slide, and nothing could be more wonderful in the magic eyes of childhood. But, Mr. Park Commissioner, there are grown-ups who enjoy this sport just as much as children, but they haven't magic eyes, and a toy slide won't do. Please, Mr. Park Commissioner, don't you think Springbank Hill would make a fine driveway?

SHOES OF SHORTER VAMP AND LESS POINTED.

What shall Miss Summer Girl wear on her feet is another question which is troublesome to the Canadian in city or village far away from the centre of the fashion? And often it is at just this time of the year that she should be planning her summer outfit, in order to see how far the pennies are going to reach. It's rather hopeless, too, to plan, when one doesn't know whether the shoes should be white or black or tan, or kid or canvas.

Let me tell you the secret. It's going to be a "white summer." Palm Beach says so. And almost every style of shoe will be white, although a pair of tan sport shoes are always allowable. And let me tell you another secret. "Sticks" somebody, have had their day. The new shoes have shorter vamps, and are not nearly so sharp at the points. The reason is, because Dame Fashion wishes to be sensible—she never does—but because fashions must move C. H. In the autumn of 1918 Miss Davis spent three months in the Americas, on the public platform for the American Liberty Loan, and later did volunteer nursing during the flu epidemic at Fort Canby, Vermont, for the American Government.

Over two hundred employees of the C. P. R. in this city held a jolly informal dance at the Masonic Temple on Tuesday evening.

Myriads of little colored lights amidst greenery and ferns made a pretty setting for the frolics of the young ladies. After two delightful hours dancing of irresistible music, a buffet supper was served, after which dancing was resumed until an early hour in the morning.

The 7th Regiment Cavalry, I. O. D. E., entertained at a delightful party in the cosy drawing-room at the Armories yesterday afternoon. A cheerful fire lighted the room, and Mrs. Maude Brown and Mrs. Frank Bland poured tea from a table lovely with flowers and fruit. Miss Frances Cullis, accompanied by Miss Reame, sang during the afternoon.

Many of the guests of other chapters dropped in to spend a happy half-hour.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. Macfie, in the presence of a few intimate relatives, when Margaret E. Macfie, daughter of Mr. J. Macfie, was united in marriage to Dr. Archie Macfie, a prominent druggist physician of this city.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. E. Pescott, B.A., and Rev. H. K. Macfie, a delightful luncheon was served. The bride and groom were the recipients of numerous beautiful presents, including a check from the Druggists' Association of Ontario. Dr. and Mrs. Macfie will continue to reside in this city.

TORONTO G.W.V.A. HONORS GRADUATE OF A LONDON HOSPITAL

Nursing Sister Davis, First Woman Member of G. W. V. A.

The 1914-15 Star was presented to Nursing Sister Agnes Balfour Davis on Tuesday evening, January 13, in Toronto, by President Col. A. T. Hunter of Parkdale branch of the G. W. V. A.

Nursing Sister Davis, who is the first woman member of the G. W. V. A. in Toronto, was presented with the Star on this occasion paying a farewell visit to the branch as she is leaving shortly for the Pacific Coast, a graduate of the Victoria Hospital, London.

Miss Davis went to England with the Balfour Hospital on Salisbury Plains, later being sent to Taplow to assist in organizing the Duchess of Connaught Canadian Red Cross Hospital there.

In May, 1915, Miss Davis was sent to France in charge of a party of forty nurses, and served with No. 2 Canadian General Hospital at Le Treport through the winter of 1915-16, later returning to Canada as a result of broken health.

Upon her recovery, Miss Davis was appointed acting matron at the C. M. Toronto, and later filled the same post as the held at the time of resigning her commission.

In the autumn of 1918 Miss Davis spent three months in the Americas, on the public platform for the American Liberty Loan, and later did volunteer nursing during the flu epidemic at Fort Canby, Vermont, for the American Government.

MARKING CLOTHING.

When the ironing day comes to a household and the clothes are folded and laid out in their own pile, be taken to its proper destination, who has not known the elusiveness of a mark? The name should be on, but where? You turn the article around several times before finally you distinguish the mark that decides where the garment is to be put away. It is a recognized place for a mark or name. This is what is necessary in standardizing work, and the reason for this is the name and reason for many other things, like time and labor.

A garment should be marked when it is made, with the name of the weaver, or if it is a household article such as a pillowcase, tablecloth, or serviette, then the weaver's name is to be printed or written in the correct place. This prevents loss in the laundry and saves time in marking. We give a few rules for marking which is accepted as correct:

Towels—wrong side—end opposite the monogram.

Hose—wrong side—at the top near the heel.

Tablecloth—wrong side—near the end of the hem, any corner.

Serviette—wrong side—near the end of the hem, any corner.

Trip Number Two.

I do hope I have better success than the first time. I never saw my letter in print before. I would like very much to send you a copy of the remedies for whooping cough, also, "Ye famous stocking pattern." I have some little bare toes down here.

I'm so glad to see that the Mail Box has increased in size this last week. Here's wishing it continues.

One cup of sour cream, one cup of brown sugar, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one small nutmeg, one teaspoonful of baking powder, 2 1/2 cups of flour, one cup of raisins.

Wishing all our boxers and readers a happy and prosperous New Year. Thank you.

I'm so sorry you lost your way on your first trip, and out of the abundance of cures for whooping cough on hand, am mailing you some copies, also "Ye famous S. F. P." Thanks for recipe.

The Pattern.

Send me your famous "eking foot pattern," for which you enclosed an addressed envelope? Sorry I cannot be of any help, but will try to be in the future. If I may call again, I will send you a copy.

One-Egg Muffins.

Dear Miss Grey—In today's paper I see that Nurse Vy—has sent a letter to the Mail-Box for the Boxes. Kindly send me this pattern if you have one. I am sending you a stamped addressed envelope for your reply. Kindly send me a pattern for a stocking foot pattern for a pair of socks.

I am sending you recipe for one-egg muffins. It will be useful: Two cups sifted flour, one level teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful sugar, one egg well beaten, three-quarters cup of milk, one teaspoonful melted lard. I hope you will not say my recipe is no good, for I can tell you these one-egg muffins are simply delicious.

Directions for making one-egg muffins: Sift flour, baking powder and sugar together three times, put in a bowl, add the milk and well-beaten egg, then mix well, then add the lard. Bake in well-greased muffin rings 20 or 25 minutes in moderate oven. Then serve with butter.

I wish to state that the Mail-Box is the greatest paper I have read, which serves so much help to housewives and readers in general. You may.

MRS. EGO-O.

Aras—Pleased to supply you with a sock pattern. Glad to have you in receipt of good words, and thanks for recipe.

The Pattern.

Dear Miss Grey—I have never before written to you, please pardon me, and am writing to you for a piece of comfort, for it is the worst cold heart that I have ever had. After reading the letter the Yankee Farmerette sent in. Just think, honey, she says if you give a boy a sissy name he will die young or be humiliated. Oh my, what I do for me, I have the dearest little boy at our house, and instead of letting me call him Pat, his dad gave him a fancy name and now it may be the names of the Yankee Farmerette, please write and say you were only joking.

My, but aren't we havin' a grand Mail-Box now, and I do so enjoy all the letters, and let's all make a resolution to be real good friends this New Year.

Say, Yankee, do you think I had better change the boy's name now? He is 2 1/2 years old, and there isn't a sign of a hump on his back yet. I send my blessing to all the Boxes and Cynthia.

Children's Hospital Fund.

Dear Miss Grey—I am enclosing 25 cents for the Children's Hospital fund, which I think is a splendid idea. In my opinion children should have every opportunity to have three small ones of my own, the eldest one six years old, the second one four, and the youngest one two. I do not get many leisure hours with three babies.

Dear Miss Grey—Am just writing to ask if I may have the stocking-foot pattern. I am sending 50 cents for the Children's Hospital fund. I could send more, I have six little graves of my own and I make me a sock when I think of sick children. MISS R. F. C.

Dear Miss Grey—This is my first letter to The Advertiser and it is an appeal for help. Would you kindly send me the "eking foot pattern"? Am enclosing a stamped envelope, also ten cents for Hospital fund.

Dear Miss Grey—Am so glad a small fee of ten cents would suggest to help along the Children's Hospital. Have skin.

BUSTER'S TEMPTATION.

Buster had misbehaved. There lay the whisk and the whiskholder on the floor in a thousand pieces. Of course, Buster can't be blamed too much, for he had been left alone, and a lonely dog must do something to amuse himself. The whiskholder had fallen to the floor, so it is little wonder Buster had knocked it so sorely. He had not realized what a naughty pup he was until the damage had been done, and then how ashamed and frightened he was. What would his master say, what would his kind mistress say when they found their belongings torn up like that?

It was almost time they were coming home. Buster had never done a sneaky thing in all his life, but this time he forgot his morals, and as quickly as possible pushed the signs of his mischief under the couch out of sight. Shaking a little with the thought of what he had done, the pup tried to go to sleep. Suddenly he heard a squeaky sound from under the couch.

"Oh, my poor arms, my poor legs, my poor head!" groaned a strange voice. It was the most brittle voice Buster had ever heard.

"Who is that?" demanded the pup, sitting bolt-upright.

"I'm the Whisk," answered the voice. "I am all torn up, and my nice house is destroyed."

"Buster!" cried Buster in fright. "My master and mistress will soon be here, and they will hear you. They must not know that I did this. So it was you! I had not known that," the whisk said. "I was trying to hide your guilt. How sneaky of you! It would be a shame to let you go unpunished." And then to the whisk pounced up onto the couch and ran its sharpest bristles into poor Buster's skin.

"Oh!" shrieked Buster, just as he woke up. It had all been a dream. Of course, the whisk could not talk, for it was only a small broom. A bristle had caught into his coat, while he was tearing up the whisk and his hair. Buster thought it over. He did not want to be sneaked at, and he was punished, so he would face it like the brave dog he had always been. Quickly he brought out the whiskholder and the torn whisk where it would be sure to be found.

"Why, John, Buster has been playing with the whisk and the whiskholder, and see what a wreck he has made of them," cried Buster's mistress as soon as she came in. "It is all my fault for leaving them lying about like that."

So Buster was not punished after all. He felt happy to think he had not tried to deceive his kind owners, and so was worthy of their love.

wanted the stocking-foot but didn't like to ask for it for nothing. Wishing you a prosperous New Year. E. W. NEALE.

Dear Miss Grey—I enjoy reading your letters very much, and would you please send me the stocking-foot pattern.

Am sending 20 cents for the Children's Hospital fund. I should very much like to have the stocking-foot pattern. Enclosed find self-addressed envelope. Thanking you in advance. Yours sincerely, MRS. M. SNOWBALL.

Am enclosing a dime to help the fund along. I think it was a great idea to send a dime for the stocking-foot pattern.

Enclosed songs and ten cents for Children's Hospital fund, and please send me the stocking-foot pattern. HEATHER.

OUT-DOOR GUIDE RALLY

PROBABLE IN THE SPRING

Association To Meet on Monday, February 16.

At a meeting of the girl guide executive held yesterday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. residence, King street, it was decided to call a meeting of the whole association in the evening of Monday, February 16, Mrs. F. P. Betts, the commissioner, was in the chair.

One of the important matters discussed at the meeting was the possibility of holding an outdoor rally of guides some time in the spring and this was exhibited their work to the public. In Toronto such rallies take the form of a gala party, folk dancing, drilling, and an exhibition of the different badge work, providing a splendid program.

Helping French.

The work of the First Methodist Guides, who are seeking to help the people of a devastated village of France, and at the same time trying for their sewing badge in guide work was commended.

An important step of the meeting was the decision to affiliate the Girl Guide Association with the Local Council of Women.

The Hacking Cough

STRAINS THE LUNGS

The terrible, hacking lung-racking cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it is a great source of danger to your health, and the longer it is allowed to stick the more serious the menace becomes.

You can easily get rid of the cough or cold at its inception by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, a remedy that has been universally used throughout Canada for the past 30 years.

Mrs. Samuel Matthews, Portage, P. E. I., writes: "Last winter I caught a heavy cold, and was laid up for some time. I had such a hacking cough I could not sleep at night, and did not think I could ever get over it. One day a friend dropped in to see me, and was surprised to see how bad my cough was. She advised me to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so the next day I sent for a bottle and soon got relief, and by the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I doubt there is anything to equal it."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

countless preparations and treat-

QUALITY Rolled Oats

With the Delicious Flavor that Comes of Perfect Freshness

QUALITY Rolled Oats are made fresh every day—for each day's needs. Never stored. Never made up ahead of the day's demand. And they are shipped direct from the famous Tillsonburg Mill.

That's why porridge made from these rolled oats is so delicious, so appetizing.

You'll know QUALITY

Sales Agents, CRICKSHANK & GUILD, 32 Front St. W., Toronto

Roller Oats, too, by the extra big, extra thin flakes.

Start these cool days off right with a heaping dish of this zesty, nourishing, enjoyable porridge.

Your grocer now sells QUALITY Rolled Oats in air-tight packages—the kind he has bought for years by the pound for his discriminating customers.

WHETHER you have ever driven a present day Chalmers or not there is one thing about it you cannot help but observe: its uninterrupted ease of action.

Drive alongside of one in traffic or follow one in a country road and you will note a silence, a smoothness, an ease, an effortless action that will command your attention.

This high efficiency in a Chalmers is due to a lack of vibration.

The crank shaft, piston and connecting rods are balanced, both in motion and static, to the fraction of an ounce.

To make doubly sure, CHALMERS MOTOR CO. OF CANADA, Limited, Windsor, Ont.
