WOMAN ATTACKER BELIEVED HELD IN CHATHAM

London Police Records Show Big Decrease In Crime

YOUTH HELD ANSWERING DESCRIPTION

St. Thomas Police Informed Hammer Arrested at Chatham.

LOCAL POLICE OUT

Fugitive Suspect Reported To Have Been Seen Near Springbank.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.

St. Thomas, Oct. 1.—St. Thomas police were notified this morning that a young boy answering almost identically to the description of John Hammer, wanted here on a charge of robbery with violence, had been arrested in Chatham yesterday.

Young Hammer, who is only 16 years of age, is alleged to have brutally attacked Mrs. Bert Couse in her home near Yarmouth Center several weeks ago. He was employed by Mr. Couse. He escaped on the morning of the crime, and has not been seen since. A minute description of him was broadcasted throughout the country and, according to the Chatham police, the boy arrested there yesterday is undoubtedly Hammer.

Mr. Couse and County Constable Baker left today for Chatham for the purpose of identifying the lad.

City and county police are combing London and district for John Hammer, the Barnardo Home boy, who is wanted by the Elgin county police for the assault and robbery of Mrs. Bert Couse, Yarmouth Center, on Sept. 13 last.

County Constable Lawson was notified at 6 o'clock this morning that Hammer and a companion slept in a barn at Byron last night, and he immediately took up the trail, which carried him through corn fields and plowed ground to Springbank hill, where traces were found of both men. Later they were seen near the Coves, and it is believed that they are in hiding near the government shooting ranges or have tried to board a freight for Sarnia or Windsor.

Reports Discovery.

The constable arrived at the office of High Constable Wharton at 12:30 with the story of the morning's chase and Mr. Wharton immediately got in touch with the city police, who have sent special men on the trail of Hammer and his companion.

Constable Lawson stated he caught sight of his quarry but once, but questioned a number of people who had seen them. After leaving the barn near Byron the men cut through an apple orchard, and from there to the next road. They swung back to the Pipe Line road, and climbed the big hill to Springbank reservoir. Crossing several fruit farms they were seen once more on the Pipe Line road making for London, the latest information being that they turned off at Arthur's ice house and made for the coves.

Short Companion.

Hammer is wearing black trousers, checked sweater coat and a cap. His companion is short and fairly stout, and walks with his body slightly bent.

Both the high constable and Constable Lawson are working on the

COMING TO THE ADVERTISER'S WORLD SERIES?

Here is The Advertiser's "playograph" as it told of the world series play by play last year. There was almost as much excited shouting in front of The Advertiser office, while the games were in progress, as there was in New York. This year the playograph will be back in the same place and will play the whole world's series. Each ball hit, caught or thrown will be registered on the playograph scarcely a minute later than the time it happens on the playing field. Why go to New York or Washington? At the top is a section of the vast throng which gathered last year. When the picture of the playograph was snapped the first of the sixth inning in the first game had just opened, with Groh batting. With a strike and a ball against him, Groh grounded to Bush and on the playograph the ball has just reached first base, and the white disk travelling down the baseline, representing Mr. Groh, has clicked into blackness, indicating that he was put out.

$68,000 OFFICE PROJECT BEGUN

J. E. Smallman Converting the Former Advertiser Building Larger Structure.

Renovations which will cost $68,000 started this morning at the old office building of The Advertiser on Dundas street. This fine business property, recently purchased at a cost of $81,000 by John E. Smallman, will be converted into a store and office building.

A gang of workmen was engaged this morning in tearing out interior woodwork. The handsome stone front and the walls will be left intact. However, strengthening girders will be added to the walls at some points as it is planned to convert the building into a complete four-story structure.

As it now stands the third story of the building extends only 50 feet or so from the street. This will be lengthened as far back as the lane at the rear, and a fourth flight built on top. The addition to the third story and the building of a fourth will more than double the space available for office use.

When the building is complete there will be two stores on the downstairs, with a hallway and elevator at one side. The second, third and fourth storys will be used entirely for offices.

John Hayman and Sons are the contractors. Plans and specifications were examined yesterday by Building Inspector A. M. Piper, and today commencement of the work was authorized.

SHILLING WILL REPLACE THE CROWN IN AUSTRIA

Vienna, Oct. 1.—Shilling currency will be introduced in Austria on Jan. 1, 1925, to replace the crown. After that date it will be illegal to quote prices or keep accounts in other than the new currency. The shilling is to be issued in silver and paper, and will be worth 10,000 of the present crowns.

"JAWN" SHIFTS PERSONNEL AND COPS FOUR FLAGS

New York, Oct. 1.—John McGraw's record-breaking achievement of winning four consecutive pennants was accomplished with a shifting personnel. Only seven of the present playing Giants were members of the club which won the first of the pennants in 1921. They are: Captain Frank Frisch, George Kelly, Bill Ryan, Arthur Nehf, Ross Young, Irish Meusel and Frank Snyder.

It will all be shown on The Advertiser's Playograph in front of The Advertiser building—every ball, every strike, every baserunner.

Last year in the battles between the Giants and the Yankees, The Advertiser's Playograph was a real friend to London baseball fans, and on Saturday and for each game next week it will again record the struggle for the world's championship, play by play.

The Playograph is connected by direct telegraph wires with the stadium in New York and in Washington. Each play is reproduced on the Playograph about 30 seconds after its performance on the diamond.

The Advertiser invites the public to see the world series played in front of The Advertiser building. The games are scheduled to begin at two o'clock.

TEN-STORY MODERN HOTEL PLANNED FOR OTTAWA

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—A new ten-story hotel for Ottawa, having at least 400 rooms and costing $1,000,000, situated on the present site of the Russell House, will be started this winter by Russell Blackburn, president of the Russell Hotel Company, if the city will grant a fixed assessment for a number of years, it was announced last night. Tentative plans have been prepared, which call for a 400 to 500 room fireproof hotel, built on the most modern lines.

POLICE FAIL TO CONFIRM REPORT OF ROBBERY

Associated Press Despatch.

Mineola, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Police authorities have failed to confirm the report that representatives of Lloyds of London in New York had admitted receipt of a claim for insurance on $50,000 worth of jewels said to have been stolen Sunday night from the country home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sanford at Brookville, where the Prince of Wales was entertained during his recent Long Island visit. A member of the Sanford family refused either to confirm or deny the report. The police believe that if the report is true the crime was committed by the same gang that stole $150,000 in jewels from the home of Joshua Cosden at Port Washington on the night of Sept. 11. Some of these gems belonged to Lady Mountbatten, whose husband is a cousin of the prince.

The new magistrate will devote his entire time to the work, it was stated although it is not likely that he will be called to preside over any cases in London.

Mr. Zapfe has not had any legal training so far as is known.

Mr. Zapfe is 60 years of age, and until four years ago was connected with the foundry of H. C. Baird & Co., Parkhill.

MEIGHEN ADDRESSES WINNIPEG CONSERVATIVES

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, the Conservative leader, was cordially received by the Winnipeg Commonwealth club, which is a non-partisan organization, when he addressed it last night on "Empire Relations."

Mr. Meighen deprecated holding any constitutional conference whose object would be to re-write and put in black and white what the exact relations of the Empire are. In that he apprehended great danger, and he maintained that it would be much safer to let the relations develop along the lines that had made the British Empire what it is today, the most potent factor that exists for the betterment of mankind.

NEW PENSION PLAN OUSTED BY BISHOPS

Scheme To Prevent Reduction When Revenue Lacking Is Backed by Lower House.

REMAINS THE SAME

Synod Refuses To Consider Increase in Stipend For Retired Clergy.

A motion presented to the General Synod today by Principal W. H. Vance during the discussion on the church pension fund urging the formation of a contingent fund to prevent any pro rata reduction in pensions in the years when a lack of revenue would reduce them, was adopted by the lower house 77 to 44, and defeated by the house of bishops.

As a joint session was in progress, the primate asked both houses to vote separately on the motion. There were members of the house of bishops, who voted in favor of the motion. They were the bishops of Keewatin, Saskatchewan, and New Westminister and their action was received with applause by the majority of the lower house.

Lansing Lewis followed this declaration by the majority of the upper house by asking (amid laughter) if the "House of Lords had already discussed the pension fund matter thoroughly among themselves," and was reminded by the primate that upper house was the title of the house of bishops.

The action taken means that the proposed clause in the canon stands and that "if the revenue of any year shall be insufficient to meet the estimated expenditures for the said year, there shall be a pro rata reduction in the amount of all pensions for that year."

Higher Pension.

Following this, Canon Jones of Kingston, seconded by Canon Scott of Quebec, proposed a resolution increasing the pension of superannuated clergy from $700, as at present, to $800. After lengthy discussion he found that he had but five supporters in the house and withdrew his motion.

"I do object," he said, in moving his resolution, "to the fact that while a bishop is retired on $1,500 a clergyman gets only $700. I would like to see them get $900, but I am willing to ask for $800 now."

Canon Scott called it a "crying shame" that a retired clergyman after 40 years of service in the church a clergyman should be asked to live on such a sum. No man can live on that amount. I will second the motion if only that we may go back to the church when and if the fund is depleted and ask for more in such a cause."

The bishop of Montreal, who moved all the clauses in Canon 20, dealing with the revision of the pension fund, objected to the satisfaction of the house that the whole aim of the pension fund committee was to build up a central sum sufficiently large to take care of all the pensioners, who,

TORONTO YOUNG WOMAN IS VICTIM OF ATTACK

Miss Frances Finn Hit by an Unknown Individual, Who Makes His Escape.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Oct. 1.—While returning to her home at midnight, Miss Frances Finn, aged 21, was attacked by a man who struck her twice, inflicting two wounds on her head.

Miss Finn had been attending a euchre party and dance. When she was within a few doors of her home, a man, thought to be a foreigner, stepped from behind a tree and struck her forcibly with a heavy piece of wood. She fell and screamed, and the man hit her a second time while she was on the ground. Several neighbors had by this time been attracted by her screams, as were her parents, and the assailant disappeared through a vacant lot and has not yet been found. Miss Finn's injuries are not serious.

NO FURTHER REQUESTS MADE FOR EAST HALL

No further requests from churches for the use of the East End hall have been received by the city clerk. King street Presbyterian church asked for the use of the hall for one evening a week. The request was granted, though some fear was expressed that such a move was inviting many others to demand the same privilege.

CITY CRIME TOTALS ARE CUT IN HALF

Splendid Decrease Is Noted During the Past Fiscal Year.

3 YEARS LONGEST

Five Persons Found Guilty Under Special War Revenue Act.

A surprising decrease in crime in the past year in London is shown by comparing police court statistics for the fiscal year of 1923-24, with those of the previous year. While 147 criminal convictions were made in 1923, only 78 are recorded for the past twelve months.

Substantial slashes have been made in almost every line of criminal activity. That the crime wave which swept over North America during 1922 has faded, is the firm conviction of police officials, who upon analyzing the criminal statistics in London, expressed high satisfaction at the result.

Although a total number of 2,647 convictions were made in criminal offences, breaches of the highways traffic act, the Ontario temperance act, inland revenue act, special war revenue act, and narcotic drugs act during the year 1923-24, almost a thousand less than that number, 1,698 in all, were recorded for the past year.

A total amount of $28,117 was collected in fines for the year. This is almost $2,600 less than the total collected in the previous year. More than 2,800 cases were heard before Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon during the past fiscal year. This number is decidedly less than in former years, but for the past twelve months many cases involving children have been transferred to the juvenile court.

322 Fined.

Three hundred and twenty-two persons were fined on charges of being intoxicated during the past year, and a total of $2,730 was collected in fines. Forty were committed to jail because of inability to pay the fines imposed.

Twelve motorists were sentenced to serve periods of from one week to thirty days in the common jail for driving an auto while under the influence of liquor. One woman was sentenced to fifteen days, and a man received the longest sentence, thirty days.

Only one person was fined for drinking in a public place, and three were found guilty for illegal purchase of liquor. Six bootleggers paid a total of $1,600 in fines. Seventy-five were found guilty of having liquor in other than a private dwelling, eleven of whom were committed to jail. Fines for breaches of this section of the O. T. A. amounted to $13,700.

Indictable offences numbered 78, almost half of them being for theft. They were listed as follows: Theft 36, manslaughter 1, forgery 4, receiving stolen property 1, assault of a police constable 1, assault occasioning actual bodily harm 5, fraud 18, attempted theft of an automobile 2, theft of an automobile 5.

The one case of manslaughter which was tried before Magistrate Graydon was dismissed. The longest sentence meted out during the year was three years for receiving stolen property. Eight sentences of two years less one day were imposed, and eight sentences of from three months to two years. In several

HOW GOVERNMENT SALE WORKS IN MANITOBA

(One of a series of twenty articles following impartial investigation of government sale of liquor as practised in Manitoba, Alberta, British Columbia and Quebec.)

MANITOBA WETS AND DRYS SICK OF GOVERNMENT SALE; WANT BARS OR PROHIBITION

All Factions in Winnipeg Agree Something Must Be Done To Remedy Unsatisfactory Conditions—City Is Wide Open, and Bootleggers Are Running Wild.

LIQUOR SMUGGLING SHOWS INCREASE

The Advertiser is receiving hundreds of requests for past issues containing earlier articles of this series. It is impossible to fill such orders since each edition is completely sold on the day of publication. Persons desiring extra copies of these articles are advised to forward their orders in advance.

ARTICLE NO. 4.

People in Ontario may argue as to whether there is more or less bootlegging in Manitoba under government control than there was under prohibition, which was superseded less than a year ago. There is no dispute in Winnipeg. Everybody—drys, wets, moderationists, police, government officials, businessmen, professional men and rounders—tell the same story. The unanimous verdict during the week I was in Winnipeg was that bootlegging was being carried on on a tremendous scale, that the city was "wide open," that the hotelmen had no regard for the will of the people as expressed in the disapproval of sale of liquor by the glass, and that something had to be done.

People reacted differently to this generally conceded fact. The moral sense of the community condemned conditions as scandalous and demanded a tightening up. The wets blamed everything on the prohibitionists for having closed up the bars. They claimed that people were becoming so sickened by their experiences of government control with no sale by the glass that they would welcome back the bar. The municipal and provincial authorities bent before the storm by announcing restrictions which they promise to apply against the brewers and hotelkeepers. It is not an exaggeration, however, to say that neither wets nor drys expect that the amended regulations will permanently and appreciably alter the situation. Manitoba, particularly Winnipeg, has become cynical on the liquor question after less than one year of government control.

What the Aldermen Say.

On Monday of the week mentioned the city council discussed the question. They are brought in because they license the hotelkeepers, but not to sell strong beer which is commonly sold. The hotelkeeper escapes trouble by subletting his soft drink privileges to someone who may sublet again. The stool pigeon gets what is known as a "jitney bar license." He gets his jitney bar license from the police.

If a hotelkeeper is charged with having large quantities of liquor for re-sale, he points out that the law does not limit the quantity he may get as a citizen. If a jitney bar license holder is convicted, he either appeals or the hotelman gets another stool pigeon to take over the bar and the game goes merrily on. The jitney bar license costs $250. Ald. MacLean told council that every one of the 23 jitney license holders granted by the police had been convicted once or oftener.

Most Hotels Affected.

Ald. Blumberg, a moderationist, told his colleagues that only six or seven of all the city hotels had never been convicted of illegal selling. This year 145 charges had been laid against hotels, resulting in fines being collected totalling $31,250. Eight charges had been dismissed. One had been withdrawn. Proceedings had been stayed in twelve. Fifteen others were pending. Four hotelmen had been sentenced to jail. (I understand that three of the four, if not all four, are still at liberty, having lodged appeals.)

Council Bewildered.

The impression has gone forth that the city council decided to refuse hotel licenses to any applicant who had been convicted of violating the liquor control act during the preceding two years. That would be a slight gain for law enforcement, although the difficulty of securing convictions would still exist. But at the same time the council repealed the provision that the hotelman loses his license if he knows of or permits an infraction of the law by a stool pigeon or anyone else. Council, therefore, weakened the situation more than it helped. The aldermen, being bewildered by their own proceedings, asked the city solicitor to tell them at a subsequent meeting what it was that council had done.

Some of the statements made by the aldermen in council, as reported by the local press, are interesting. Ald. Leonard said the jitney bus licenses were the curse of things.

Defying the People.

Ald. Simpkin said the people of Winnipeg went to the polls and ordered the bars abolished. The hotelmen determined they should be re-established and are working to put their determination into effect, whether the law allowed it or not.

Ald. Simpson, who had charge of the proposed amendments in council, said it had been insinuated by a newspaper that he was in the pay of the brewers and hotelkeepers. The province should enforce its own laws. It was none of the city's business to give effect to the liquor control act.

More Drinking Than Ever.

Ald. Flye attacked the prohibitionists and said the city should not discriminate against the hotelkeepers, as they paid $187,000 in taxes every year. He wondered when the farce would end. There was more drinking today than in 1914, before the preachers got busy.

Ald. Blumberg said the police naturally followed the lines of least resistance. Closing the bars was not stopping drinking. Some members of council were helping to violate the liquor law.

Should Invite Capital.

Ald. McKerchar said he wanted the city built up by the investment of capital. How could British investors be expected to put their money into new hotels if their licenses might be cut off because some individual broke the law.

Ald. Heaps thought the rental value of a hotel was determined by the amount of money it could earn. The landlord probably got most of the benefit of the illegal sale of liquor, while the tenant bore the brunt of the whole thing.

Ald. James said that the will of the people was that the bar should go. This mandate the hotelmen, or some of them, had determined to flaunt. The people, not the hotelkeepers, should rule.

Open Bar Acclaimed.

Ald. Barry saw some merit in the open bar and claimed that sentiment was swinging back in its favor.

Ald. Jones wanted the illicit sale of intoxicants stopped in the interest of suffering wives and children.

Ald. Simpson claimed that council already had gone ten times as far as the provincial government in enforcing the law. The province had granted licenses outside the city to persons refused licenses by Winnipeg.

The Tribune report of the meeting said: "With little or no discussion clause three of the bylaw repealing the section of the hotel bylaw under which an hotelkeeper could be prosecuted for permitting the sales of intoxicants upon his premises was repealed."

Water Placed in Bond.

Law enforcement officers of all sorts, municipal, provincial and federal, told me of the difficulties of enforcing government control and other temperance laws. One of them believed considerable quantities of liquor were coming from British Columbia ports as lumber and dodging heavy federal taxation, enabling bootleggers to undersell the government control board. I was told that whiskey was placed in bond in Vancouver, water substituted and left there permanently—"in bond"—and the real stuff brought on here, again evading the authorities. My informant said the collusion of excise and railway officers at some points was essential.

In mounted police circles I heard of other ingenious methods of smuggling in and distributing hard stuff. One officer said that as liquor could be legally bought in Manitoba there was no sense trying to prevent people carrying it across the border. It was not illegal unless the person came into the country by stealth or tried to evade customs or excise duties.

Another official said the brewers once were gentlemen, but were so no longer. They had no regard for law. An employee of a brewery had told him of beer going at the rate of several barrels per day to bootlegging restaurants.

Year Makes a Difference.

One high official told me that last year the attorney-general's department felt that the people were not behind the prohibition law and gave instructions to impose fines rather than to imprison. Accused persons were given to understand that there would be no trouble if a fine was paid. So those charged paid $300 fines as fast as they came along. That was why convictions were high last year just before the people voted out the dry law. It was different today. While the authorities were active again, they were calling for imprisonment, the result being that offenders fought back desperately and convictions were hard to get.

The control law provides stiff penalties. Unspecified violations of the law call for a $50 fine or two months' imprisonment for the first offence; a $200 fine or four months' imprisonment for the second offence, and six months' imprisonment for a third offence. Magistrates, it is said, are sometimes reluctant to convict when the penalties are severe. In spite of penalties, the universal testimony in Winnipeg is that illicit selling goes on in a multitude of places.

HERRIOT DEFENDS NEW GERMAN TAX

Denies He Is Trying To Evade Dawes Plan in 26 Per Cent Import Duty.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, Oct. 1.—Premier Herriot, in a formal note despatched to Germany today, replying to the German protest against France's imposition of a 26 per cent import tax on all goods from Germany, made virtually the same explanation as he gave to the German charge d'affaires when he presented the protest last week, namely, that this way of collecting reparations is entirely legal and according to established precedent.

The premier, the Matin says, points out in the note that the method of payment inflicts no new burden on the Reich, and that France by employing it has no intention of getting around the transfer clauses provided by the Dawes reparations report.

The official journal this morning published a notice of the ministry of finance relative to application of the tax, announcing that until further orders for the purpose of the tax, the value of the gold mark shall be calculated by dividing the first quotation of the dollar on the Paris bourse by 4.2.

TEXAS BATTLES HARD WITH CATTLE DISEASE

State and Federal Officials Unite To Eradicate Foot and Mouth Plague.

Associated Press Despatch.

Houston, Texas, Oct. 1.—With forces of the state and federal government being co-ordinated for a protracted fight to eradicate the foot and mouth disease, announcement was made last night that there had been new outbreaks during the day in the quarantine area.

J. E. Boog-Scott, chairman of the Texas sanitary live stock committee, and Dr. Marion Imes, California expert in charge of the field forces, announced that the area of infection had not been widened. The authorities, however, were not disposed to entertain any considerable hope that the infection had been stopped.

Mr. Boog-Scott indicated that in the natural course of the disease, which he said spreads rapidly, the infection of additional herds was to be expected. He explained it was hoped that the spread of the disease would be confined to the territory between Houston, for which the ship channel and the railroad provided barriers, and the Gulf of Mexico, and estimated that about 15,000 cattle were in that area.

HEAVIER ENGINES TO BE USED BY C. N. R.

Four Locomotives of Larger Types Ready To Be Utilized On Road.

Toronto Sept. 30.—Intimation that a heavier class of motive power would be put in use on the Central Region of the C. N. R. was made by C. G. Bower, general manager, when he announced that the rebuilding of several bridges on certain lines was contemplated so that more powerful locomotives could be operated. He was addressing a meeting of regional officials.

Mr. Bowker drew attention to the work which has recently been done by engine No. 4100, the largest locomotive in the British Empire. He pointed out that four of these locomotives are now completed and that by the use of certain of them between the Danforth and Mimico yards in the Toronto terminals, it was possible to make a reduction of three engines which formerly were necessary to meet terminal requirements.

By the use of heavier motive power on the region, it will be possible to reduce the number of train movements and thereby effect a saving in the cost of operation. The general superintendents were requested to operate heavy engines wherever possible. The meeting also discussed general maintenance work for the coming year.

Lieut.-Governor Cockshutt Has Narrow Escape As Car Plunges Into Kenny Creek

Heavy Automobile Slips Into Ditch and Over Embankment.

NO ONE IS INJURED

Rain, Darkness and Slippery Road Are Blamed For Accident.

Lieutenant-Governor Harry Cockshutt, his private secretary, Col. Fraser, and their chauffeur escaped a serious if not fatal accident last evening when their auto slipped into the ditch and then over a high bank into Kenny Creek at the Burford road near Eastwood village.

Col. Cockshutt and party were returning from a day spent in visiting several towns in Essex and Kent counties. They drove through rain and over slippery roads frequently, but did not experience any difficulties until they approached the Burford road on the detour east from Woodstock. Rain and darkness interfered with a view of the road and the big sedan slipped sideways into a ditch. Before the chauffeur could apply the brakes the big machine slipped over an embankment and dropped nose first several feet into the creek.

None of the occupants of the car were hurt in any way and after a hasty examination of conditions the chauffeur returned to Woodstock with a passing motorist. He secured another car, returned to the scene of the accident, and took the lieutenant-governor and his secretary to Brantford.

It was decided to leave the car undisturbed until morning, and it is believed that it has suffered little damage.

"It was only a slight accident," declared Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt over long-distance telephone at an early hour this morning. "It might easily have been worse, for if we had been ditched ten feet further along on the road we would have had a serious accident, and it is hard to tell what might have happened. Rain and darkness caused the trouble. We certainly were fortunate, and needless to say we are very thankful. I do not think that the auto is damaged, but this cannot be told until the machine is pulled out of the creek. The water was not deep, and we had no particular trouble in getting out of the car."

The detour road on which the accident happened has been in use since work was started on improvement of the Governor's road between Woodstock and Eastwood. The road is ordinarily fairly good, but with the rain of the past two days is slippery.

APPEALS OF BANDITS ARE DENIED BY COURT

Leo Davis Will Have Chance To Make Further Fight For Life.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—The court of appeal, three judges, this afternoon handed down judgment dismissing the appeals of Tony Frank, Frank Gambino, Louis Morel, Guiseppe Serafini and Mike Valentino against the death sentence imposed upon them by Mr. Justice Wilson, following the trial at which they were convicted of the murder of Henri Cleroux, Hochelaga bank chauffeur, who was fatally shot when the collection car he was driving was held up and looted early last April.

The appeals were dismissed on points of law.

The first appeal, on behalf of Leo Davis, based on grounds of alleged legal irregularity, was also dismissed, and the second appeal on behalf of Davis, based on facts and new evidence. This means that the first five bandits in question will hang on October 24, as originally ordered.

The second appeal of Davis, based on "facts and new evidence," was also dismissed. This means that Davis will hang October 24 with the others. At a recent hearing of the case of Davis, Louis Morel, one of the five doomed men, swore that Davis had not received a cent of the stolen money, and that he had not participated in the holdup, nor was he even present when Cleroux was shot. Leo Davis, however, will have another chance to fight for his life.

Justices Lafontaine and Guerin dissented in his case, which leaves it open to his counsel to enter a further appeal to the supreme court of Canada. It was announced immediately after the rendering of the judgment by counsel for the defence that such an appeal would be entered.

Welland, Set. 30.—For the third time since his arrest at Niagara Falls, N.Y., two weeks ago, John Trott, charged with the murder of Constable Joseph Truman of Thorold at the station in that town on December 17, 1922, was remanded.

BATTERED VESSEL LIMPS INTO PORT

Crew Exhausted After Fighting Storm—Many Seek Port Stanley.

Heavy navigation still continues on Lake Erie. The frequent storms which have driven numerous barges and freighters from their regular courses during the past three days, and compelled them to seek shelter in Port Stanley, are of the worst nature, fishermen assert.

There is an old adage among lake fishermen that "a wind from the north is sure to bring disaster." This has invariably proved correct, and when on Monday morning the wind blew from the north across the lake, and the boisterous waves were ever increasing, the men braved the danger to procure their nets, for they sensed a coming storm.

This proved the case, for during the night no less than twelve freighters were seen hugging the north shore to avoid the storm. Early yesterday a disabled boat, with smokestack and other parts missing, finally succeeded in gaining the port, the crew being quite exhausted.

A large grain boat from Port Arthur, the Glenlochie, with 90,000 bushels of corn, unloaded the cargo at Port Stanley on Tuesday morning, the produce being sent to the Empire flour mills, St. Thomas. This is the first load of corn ever brought into Port Stanley for the St. Thomas mill, although many hundreds of boats have unloaded wheat cargoes there.

SEPTEMBER IN 1923 HOLDS RAIN RECORD

Figures Show 5.08 Inches Fell Last Year, Compared to 4.30 This Year.

The amount of rain that fell during the past month was thought by many Londoners to be greated than in September, 1923, but such was not the case. There was nearly three-quarters of an inch more rain in September last year than this year, as figures issued show there were 5.08 inches in September, 1923, as compared to 4.30 last month. The rain this year came during the first two weeks, and then discontinued until Sunday, when the heaviest rainfall of the month was registered.

September, 1923, exceeled the past month in the variety of temperature, for it shows a warmer day and also a colder day. On Sept. 16, 1923, the thermometer fell one degree below freezing point to 31, while the coolest day this year was on the 24th, when the thermometer dropped to 32 degrees.

Sept. 26, 1923, was five degrees hotter than any day last month, for on that day the mercury climbed to 88 degrees. The warmest day last month was Labor Day, the thermometer registering 83 degrees.

FISH HOUSE, NETS LOST IN $3,000 PORT BLAZE

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the property of Pete Patten, Port Stanley, last night.

His residence, fish house and many nets were demolished. The loss is estimated at least at $3,000, and it is not known whether insurance covers the property.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. Mr. Patten was absent from the village, and Bert Silvers, who was taking care of the residence, was sleeping elsewhere last night.

Villagers who were awakened some time during the night gave the alarm, but this morning the fire was still burning.

GREEK CABINET HAS RESIGNED

Ministry Under Premier Sophoulis Quits After Three Months.

Associated Press Despatch.

Athens, Oct. 1.—The Greek cabinet, headed by M. Sophoulis, has resigned.

The reason for the resignation has not been made known, but unofficially it is said to have been due to the withdrawal of the party leaders' confidence.

The political situation in Greece has been growing worse for some time, owing largely to the inability of the party leaders to pull together and form a strong government which could pave the way for general elections as proposed by former Premier Kafandaris.

The cabinet of Premier Sophoulis has been in office but a little more than three months. It was organized upon the resignation of the ministry headed by M. Papanastasion, which fell after a hard struggle for existence lasting four months.

Flood Menaces Quebec Village

People Flee From Homes When Waters in River Rise Again.

Associated Press Despatch.

Baie St. Paul, Que., Oct. 1.—The village of Baie St. Paul, which was so sorely tried early in September by floods, was again menaced yesterday, and over one hundred persons were obliged to leave their homes near the Gouffre river and seek shelter in some more protected spot.

The river's rise is rapid, and barns and houses near the banks have been carried away or flooded so badly that they cannot be used. For a considerable distance the bed of the river has been shifted, and the swirling waters, with their load of fallen trees and branches, are running close to the church, the presbytery, the academy and the court house. It is estimated that the damage caused during the past month has reached $500,000.

With the Montmorency river reported at an unprecedented height, and the Jacques Cartier and St. Anne rivers, tributaries of the St. Lawrence, reported as steadily rising, fear of further damage is entertained from the floods in the Quebec district.

COUPE LOSES.

A coupe came off second best in a crash with a Dundas street car, No. 120, yesterday at the corner of Wellington and Dundas streets. The motor vehicle hit the street car broadside, but scarcely dinted the woodwork. The fenders of the auto were crushed a bit, but it was able to proceed under its own power.

Ottawa Veteran Confesses To Police That He Murdered His Wife and Chi

TRIPLE SLAYING IS CONFESSED

Ottawa Man Tells of Killing Wife and Two Children.

NO MOTIVE GIVEN

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—Despondent because of his inability to provide for his family on account of unemployment, John Buchanan Pirie, 40, formerly employed by a local gas and light company as bookkeeper, last night murdered his wife and two children, Kathleen, aged 7 and Joan, aged 6, in the rooming-house at which they were living at 32 Grove street.

"I have killed my wife and two children," Pirie announced when he walked into the police station at 8:25 this morning. "I intended committing suicide when I realized what I had done———," and he ended with a gesture of despair, according to Sergt. John Cunningham, who was on desk duty.

In a letter found on Pirie's person, Pirie said that he preferred killing his wife and daughters to doing away with himself and leaving them unprotected to face the world.

Inspector Emile Joliat, when told of the man's statement, sent two detectives to the house, which is owned by Mrs. Edward Gorman. Breaking down the back door they were confronted by Mrs. Gorman. She did not know of anything, but when the detectives went into the Pirie bedroom they found Mrs. Pirie and two girls dead in bed. It is not known how they were slain. Mrs. Pirie had a bruise which had bled profusely on the side of her head, but the skull was not fractured. The two children had no marks on them. The medical authorities are inclined to think that poison of some kind was used.

Coroner Dr. J. E. Craig and Dr. C. J. McPherson were called in by the detectives. They verified the fact that Mrs. Pirie and the children were dead, but were at a loss to account for their death, pending a post mortem, which will be held this afternoon. According to Mrs. Gorman, the Piries had been rooming with her since last June, and had been a very quiet family. Pirie had always been good to his family, she said, and Mrs. Pirie and the children were very popular in the neighborhood. The landlady said she could not understand the cause for the tragedy, as the couple were most affectionate towards each other, but she added that they were three months behind with their rent, and it seemed to worry Pirie exceedingly. Although she had never bothered him about the rent he had referred to it every day, stating that he hoped very shortly to receive a check.

The couple were married overseas, where Pirie was granted a commission in the royal air force—subsequently attaining the rank of captain—in April, 1918.

GARNER BROTHERS CASE WILL GO TO JURY THIS AFTERNOON

Roma Garner Gives Evidence This Morning Substantiating Brother's Claim.

MOTIVE SOUGHT

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, Oct. 1.—The trial of Rev. George Garner and Roma C. Garner, charged with desecration and theft at St. Joseph's R. C. church, was resumed this morning. The evidence of Roma Garner was practically a repetition of that given by his brother yesterday afternoon.

Defence counsel opened his address to the jury at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The case is expected to go to the jury at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

MOTIVE IS SOUGHT.

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, Sept. 30.—The name of the Ku Klux Klan was spoken probably for the first time in a supreme court of Canada when the trial of Rev. Geo. Garner and Roma. C. Garner, American evangelists of Muncie, Ind., was continued here this afternoon.

The brothers are charged with desecration of St. Joseph's R. C. church, and the theft of a pyx and 12 hosts and one benediction host, which were taken from the tabernacle of the church on August 13. They voluntarily came to Sarnia and surrendered themselves. Mr. Justice Rose of Toronto is presiding.

The courtroom was crowded, and an adjournment to Wednesday was made at 6 o'clock with the defence incomplete.

Motive Sought.

Col. E. S. Wigle of Windsor, acting crown attorney, produced a pamphlet in court in seeking to furnish a motive for the theft of the hosts. This pamphlet which Mrs. George Garner, wife of one of the accused, and called as a defence witness, said was distributed by the party of which the Garners were members at meetings held at Port Huron, contained a hymn of bitter criticism of the practices of the Roman Catholic church. The hymn was read in court.

Detective Jas. Byerlay of Sarnia, a crown witness, spoke of hearing Evangelist King, leader of the Garner party, say at his meeting that "If the United States does not put the Roman Catholic church out of business the Ku Klux Klan will."

Mrs. Garner was subjected to considerable grilling on the stand by Col. Wigle, who asked what the feelings of her party were towards the Roman Catholic church.

She replied: "We love them. Ours is a religion that makes us love everybody." She did not know that the leader of the evangelist party had called himself ex-Romanist king, but he had been a Roman Catholic formerly.

Ordained Minister.

Mrs. Garner said her husband was an ordained minister in the World's Faith association and Pentecostal band of Indianapolis. His brother was a licensed, but not an ordained minister. Their work was to conduct revivalistic meetings similar to the old-time revivals of the Free Methodists.

Geo. Garner, who was on the witness stand when the adjournment was made, admitted having entered St. Joseph's church twice on the afternoon of August 13, when the tabernacle was broken and the sacred hosts stolen. He denied, and other defence witnesses corroborated, that the party having entered the church had been anywhere near the tabernacle nor had any knowledge whatever of the thefts. They entered the church. Garner said, to look around and to pray. They prayed everywhere they could and in any church to which they could gain access.

Church Sprayed.

In explanation of his second visit to the church, Garner said he had been told that after Protestants had been known to enter a Roman Catholic church, the church was sprayed with holy water and blessed after their departure. He and his brother returned to St. Joseph's a short time after the first visit to see if this was done, but saw nothing when they peeped inside the door. Garner denied the he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

In the party that visited the church, according to defence testimony, were Mr. and Mrs. George Garner, Roma C. Garner, Miss Thomas, the party's pianist, and Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence of Sarnia. Only the three Garners entered the church.

Crown witnesses included Mrs. Rose Derush of Port Huron and Henry Derush, who had seen the Garner brothers enter the church, Miss Catharine Wood and Dora Wood of London, Ontario. Jane Prentice Catharine Gleeson, who had seen the Garner car draw up beside the church and noted the number of the license.

At the morning session of the court Rev. Father J. T. McCarthy, pastor of the church, had told of being called by his housekeeper of finding the tabernacle opened by means of a key. The sacred hosts had been taken away and were subsequently found lying in the confessional room. One benediction host had not been restored.

The Garner brothers are out on bail of $5,000 each.

When arraigned both accused calmly denied their guilt.

Recognized Defendants.

Colonel Wigle outlined the case to the jury. He described how several members of the small St. Joseph's congregation had recognized the defendants when they alighted from a large automobile at the church door containing a number of men and women and entered the church. Suspicious of the party's intentions, word was sent to the pastor, the Rev. J. T. McCarthy, who was attending the baseball game. When Father McCarthy entered the church some time later, he found the tabernacle had been opened by means of the key and 12 sacred hosts were missing. Later, some of the hosts were found lying in the church near the offertory box, but a benediction host was still unaccounted for.

The evidence of the prosecution would be to show that the men accused were interested in the articles from a religious standpoint, as supposed had been [illegible] Huron which had largely been directed against the Catholic church.

No Direct Evidence.

The crown remarked there was no direct evidence of the men being seen to take the hosts.

Twenty jurors were empanelled, three [illegible] challenged by the crown [illegible] defence.

Chicago, Oct. 1. — Judge John R. Caverly, who sentenced Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed kidnapper-slayers of Robert Franks, to life imprisonment, has been a closely guarded patient in a hospital here since the close of the case, says today's Chicago Tribune.

Although Mrs. Caverly denies that the judge is sick and says she has been going to the hospital to visit friends, the newspaper says he is believed to be suffering from a nervous breakdown, the aftermath of the wearisome weeks of the hearing in which his was the sole responsibility of deciding the fate of the slayers.

INSPECTOR AGAINST COMPULSORY FRENCH

V. K. Greer Questions Advisability of Introducing Plan at Present Time.

Inspector V. K. Greer questions the advisability of introducing the teaching of French into the public schools of the city at the present time.

Asked to give his opinion on the question, Inspector Greer made the following comment:

"It would be a very desirable accomplishment if a large number of children could learn to speak the two languages, English and French, but it is doubtful whether it would be advisable to introduce French into the course of study in the public schools of Ontario at the present time as a more or less compulsory subject."

Inspector Greer intimated that there was provision made in the regulations for the teaching of French in the public schools for a minimum period of time.

ZIG ZAG ROUTE SPELLS FINE OF $200 IN COURT

Lawrence Moran, 28 years old, walked down one of the main streets of the city last night in zig-zag fashion. Policemen who saw him concluded that he was drunk and brought him to the police station.

When two bottles were seen protruding from his coat he was searched and it was found the man was endeavoring to conceal two quart bottles of beer. Although Moran was first charged with being intoxicated, when the tell-tale beer was revealed the charge was promptly changed to one of having liquor in other than a private dwelling.

In police court this morning Moran had no alternative but to plead guilty to the charge. In bold print the labels of the bottles advertised that their contents contained 8½ per cent proof spirits.

"You know the law," Magistrate Graydon told the man. "The fine is $200 and costs or two months in jail.

NIGHT CLASSES PROMISE TO BREAK 1923 RECORD

Principal Beal intimated that over 100 registered last evening alone, creating a record for the largest single night's registration ever experienced for such classes.

Those registering are scattering themselves pretty evenly over the 50 courses in which instruction is provided.

The principal is confident that last year's registration of 1,025 students for the night classes will be surpassed this year.

RURAL HEALTH PROBLEM TALKED

Medical Conference Asks For Added Facilities—Dr. W. S. Downham Attends.

FULL-TIME M. O. H.

Resolutions asking for health centers in the unsettled districts of Ontario, subsidy for doctors in poorly served counties, better transportation for rural emergency cases and full-time medical officers of health for all municipalities, were indorsed yesterday at a medical conference in Toronto, at which Dr. W. S. Downham, London M. O. H., was a delegate.

Dr. Downham went as a representative of the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine. Committees on public health centers, county health centers and mental and social hygiene were present. These committees were appointed by the Ottawa convention of the Ontario Medical association in June and will report back to that body.

"Middlesex and most of the other Western Ontario counties are well-served," Dr. Downham said today. "We have good medical officers and good doctors in sufficient numbers. But in Northern Ontario and some isolated districts down east and north of Peterborough, assistance is needed."

Reports will be made through the Ontario Medical association to Dr Forbes Godfrey, minister of health, who will in turn bring up these matters in the provincial legislature.

FIRE PREVENTION WILL BE URGED IN SCHOOLS

Chief Aitken Announces Plans For Observation of Week Here.

With the commencement of fire prevention week throughout Canada on Oct. 5, Fire Chief John Aitken will begin an urgent campaign in London in an effort to cut down the great amount of fires in the city caused each year through negligence.

Literature urging the public to "clean up" has been received at the local fire department from the Dominion fire commissioner at Ottawa. It will be distributed among the factories, homes and schools of the city in an effort to impress the public with the necessity of preventing fires.

Realizing that the schools provide one of the most fertile fields for introducing the truths of fire prevention each teacher in the city will be provided with a list of questions to be answered by the pupils regarding the conditions in their homes.

Safety rules for matches, lights, stoves and furnaces, cooking and cleaning, rubbish, coal oil and electricity will be pointed out to them in order that fire waste in Canada will eventually decrease.

"Stop the Fire Waste" is the slogan which has been adopted by Canadian fire chiefs. This will be well advertised in the city and parades of all fire apparatus have been planned by Chief Aitken for each day of fire prevention week.

CITY RADIO FANS HEAR LOMBARDO'S ORCHESTRA

Londoners listened with interest to a concert broadcasted from station WJAX in Cleveland last night when the Lombardo orchestra of this city played over the radio from the Union Trust building.

The orchestra was introduced to Canadians and Londoners, the announcer declaring that it needed no introduction in Cleveland. The many pieces played came through clearly and at the conclusion of each number congratulatory telegrams from scores of Londoners were read.

Damage in Provence Apparent After Flood Waters Subside.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, Oct. 1.—Now that the waters have subsided, the full extent of the damage occasioned by the storm and floods last week in Provence can be seen. Streets were torn up and rendered impassable, houses were undermined to such an extent that many of them had to be demolished and vineyards were washed away.

Investigation of the accident near Lardoise on the Lyons-Nemes railway, where the bridge was undermined by the torrent and collapsed and a light engine on the railway plunged into a ravine and caused the deaths of three men, shows that an employee of the railway named Cuorvil had made a valiant effort to avert the accident when he found that the bridge was gone and knowing that an engine was due in a very short time.

Courvil crept over the gap on rails and sleepers that still were left where the bridge had been, while the flood was washing over them and causing the link between the two banks to sway in a threatening manner. He held a lantern in his teeth to light him on his way, as it was dark. He had just crossed when the engine appeared and dashed into the torrent.

Courvil thereupon hastened to the nearest station, where he reported the accident. The severe strain on him in his attempt to save the engine with its crew and his exertion in notifying the authorities of the accident as soon as possible resulted in a collapse. He is still in a serious condition.

SMALL NUMBER OF FIRES RECORDED IN SEPTEMBER

The loss of only $2,000 through fires in London during the past month constitutes what is considered by Fire Chief John Aitken to be almost a record for the city.

Several years ago the loss for one month was placed at about $1,500. Since that time until now the monthly loss has averaged about $5,000. Thirteen alarms were received at the central station during September, only one of which proved to be a chimney fire. Most of the damage was done to sheds and small wooden structures.

Although the local fire department responded to the recent blaze at the Springbank amusement park, where $10,000 damage was suffered, this loss is not included in the monthly fire report, Springbank being outside the city limits.

BARNED BELIEVED IN UNITED STATES

Niagara Falls Chief States His District Has Been Thoroughly Searched.

Special to The Advertiser.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 1.—Chief of Police Welch holds firmly to the opinion that Frank Barned, wanted for the murder of Smylie Muirhead, has managed to escape from this district. The rugged banks of the river have been thoroughly searched, almost with a fine tooth comb, without revealing any clues to the wanted man. The chief believes that Barned has been picked up by some other motorist and taken across the river to the American side.

Park street, on which the abandoned car was found, is a busy street and many cars going across the river would be passing by. The chief believes Barned may have pointed to his wrecked radiator and appealed to be taken across the river.

Having only $10, Barned would not get very far away, and the police believe his arrest will be reported soon. The woman's sweater coat and other articles found in the abandoned car are believed to belong to some London woman whose identity is unknown. Not one person has reported seeing Barned or anyone like him since the tragedy.

AWARD GIRL GUIDE FOR SAVING LIFE

Miss Jeannie Martin of Penetanguishene Recommended to Dominion Council.

The Ontario Council of Girl Guides is recommending that a life-saving award be made to Miss Jeannie Martin of Penetanguishene, 14-year-old daughter of Mr and Mrs. James Martin.

This young girl, with the utmost bravery and quick action, rescued a fellow-bather from drowning near Penetanguishene. Miss Margaret Dewar of Simcoe, who owes her life to the valiant efforts of Miss Martin, was a guest in Penetanguishene at the time of the rescue. She had been in bathing with a number of other girls for some time, when she found herself beyond her depth. Watchers on the dock were unaware of her danger, all save Miss Martin.

Seeing the young girl struggling in the water, Miss Martin rushed to the edge of the dock, out upon the springboard and, taking a long dive, reached Miss Dewar just in time to prevent a drowning accident. Although Miss Martin is one of the best swimmers in the district, it was with great personal risk that she succeeded in bringing Miss Dewar to safety.

The recommendation for a life-saving award is being forwarded from the provincial council of Girl Guides, under the direction of the local commissioner, Mrs. E. B. Smith, to headquarters in Toronto.

MISSION CIRCLE HOLDS JAPANESE FESTIVAL

"The Wishing Ring" Is Successfully Presented by Askin Street Methodist Girls.

"The Wishing Ring," presented last night in the Askin street Methodist church by the Junior Mission Circle, was the outstanding feature of the Japanese festival held there. Japanese lanterns, chrysanthemums and other flowers formed an attractive setting for the members of the circle, who moved about in Oriental kimonos, carrying gay-colored Japanese parasols.

"The Wishing Ring" is a Japanese playlet, of which the main theme is the conversion of a Japanese girl to Christianity. The story concerns Mary, a member of the Clover Leaf Club, who is presented with a ring as she is about to leave on a trip around the world. It is a wishing ring, and before Mary leaves each member of the club makes a wish on it. The next scene finds Mary in a picturesque Japanese house. Everything there is so beautiful and the people seem so contented that she comes to the conclusion that missionaries are not needed. But on wishing, by her ring, that she find out the truth, the misery and sorrow of the unhappy Japanese people are disclosed to her. And she sees them coming to her missionary hostess in search of the happiness which only Christianity can give them.

The presentation of the play was clever and the costumes fitting. Refreshments were served later in the evening from a Japanese tea room, of which Miss Edith Copp was convener. Miss Margery Courtis, president of the organization, presided over the evening entertainment, the general convener being Mrs. Childs. Other conveners included Miss Verna Dobbyn, program; Miss Adelyn Orchard, decoration, and Miss Helen Baker, booster.

The cast of the play was as follows: Misses Adelyn Orchard, Frieda Dobbyn, Marion Reynolds, Grace Bloomfield, Marion Pearson, Myrtle Foster, Helen Baker, Grace Cress, Edith Copp, Bessie Courtis, Mrs. Leroy Hiles, Margery James, Verna Dobbyn, Ida Lashbrook, Aileen Finnegan, Frieda Courtis, Lulu Meadows and Velma Doyle. Orchestral music was furnished by the Foster sisters.

MILLER'S WORM POWDERS

The Operation I Avoided—

MRS. IDA M. COFFMAN
SIDELL, ILL.

IF there is one thing more than another a woman dreads, it is a surgical operation, and to be told that one is necessary is very disheartening.

Hospitals are grand institutions, and undoubtedly many operations are necessary. However, we have received hundreds of letters from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after an operation had been deemed advisable.

Every woman who suffers as Mrs. Coffman did naturally wishes to avoid an operation if possible, and the remarkable statements which she makes in her letter will be read with interest by women everywhere.

Mrs. Coffman's Letter Follows:

Sidell, Illinois.—"I was a nervous wreck. I was suffering from a pain in my left side which was noticeable at all times, but sometimes it was almost unbearable and I could not even let the bed clothing rest on my body at night. I had been sick for seven years, but not so badly until the last eighteen months, and had become so run-down that I cared for nobody and would rather have died than live. I couldn't do my work without help and the doctor told me that an operation was all there was left for me. I would not consent to that so my husband brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged me to take it. I have taken fourteen bottles of it and I feel ten years younger. Life is full of hope. I do all my housework and had a large garden this year. I never will be without the Vegetable Compound in the house and when my two little girls reach womanhood I shall advise them to take it."—Mrs. IDA M. COFFMAN, R. R. No. 2, Sidell, Illinois.

Alberta Woman Avoids an Operation

Provost, Alberta.—"I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I should have an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. THE SEA HAWK

By RAFAEL SABATINI.

The youth bowed to him acknowledgment.

"Tell me, O mighty Sakr-el-Bahr," he begged, "how it came to pass that having reached those distant shores thou wert content to take thence but two poor slaves, since with thy followers and the favor of the All-seeing thou might easily have taken fifty times that number."

And he looked ingenuously into the corsair's swarthy, rugged face, whilst Asad frowned thoughtfully, for the thought was one that had occurred to him already.

It became necessary that Sakr-el-Bahr should lie to clear himself. Here no high-sounding phrase of Faith would answer. An explanation was unavoidable, and he was conscious that he could not afford one that did not go a little lame.

"Why, as to that," said he, "these prisoners were wrested from the first house upon which we came, and their capture occasioned some alarm. Moreover, it was night time when we landed, and I dared not adventure the lives of my followers by taking them farther from the ship and attacking a village which might have risen to cut off our good retreat."

The frown remained stamped upon the brow of Asad, as Marzak slyly observed.

"Yet Othmani," said he, "urged thee to fall upon a slumbering village all unconscious of thy presence, and thou didst refuse."

Asad looked up sharply at that, and Sakr-el-Bahr realized with a tightening about the heart something of the undercurrents at work against him and all the plans that had been taken to glean information that might be used to his undoing.

"Is it so?" demanded Asad, looking from his son to his lieutenant with that lowering look that rendered his face evil and cruel.

Sakr-el-Bahr took a high tone. He met Asad's glance with an eye of challenge.

"And if it were so, my lord?" he demanded.

"I asked thee is it so."

"Aye, but knowing thy wisdom I disbelieved my ears," said Sakr-el-Bahr. "Shall it signify what Othmani may have said? Do I take my orders or am I to be guided by Othmani? If so, best set Othmani in my place, give him the command and the responsibility for the lives of the Faithful who fight beside him." He ended with an indignant snort.

"Thou art over-quick to anger," Asad reproved him, scowling still.

"And by the Head of Allah, who will deny my right to it? Am I to conduct such an enterprise as this from which I am returned laden with spoils that might well be the fruits of a year's raiding, to be questioned by a beardless stripling as to why I was not guided by Othmani?"

He heaved himself up and stood towering there in the intensity of a passion that was entirely simulated. He must bluster here, and crush down suspicion with whorling periods and broad, fierce gesture.

"To what should Othmani have guided me?" he demanded scornfully. "Could he have guided me to more than I have this day laid at thy feet? What I have done speaks eloquently with its own voice. What he would have had me do might well have ended in disaster. Had it so ended, would the blame of it have fallen upon Othmani? Nay, by Allah! but upon me. And upon me rest then the credit, and let none dare question it without better cause."

Now these were daring words to address to the tyrant Asad, and still more daring was the tone, the light hard eyes aflash and the sweeping gestures of contempt with which they were delivered. But of his ascendancy over the Basha there was no doubt. And here now was proof of it.

Asad almost cowered before his fury. The scowl faded from his face to be replaced by an expression of dismay.

"Nay, nay, Sakr-el-Bahr, this tone!" he cried.

Sakr-el-Bahr, having slammed the door of conciliation in the face of the Basha, now opened it again. He became instantly submissive.

"Forgive it," he said. "Blame the devotion of thy servant to thee and to the Faith he serves with little reck of life. In this very expedition was I wounded nigh unto death. The livid scar of it is a dumb witness to my zeal. Where are thy scars, Marzak?"

Marzak quailed before the sudden blaze of that question, and Sakr-el-Bahr laughed softly in contempt.

"Sit," Asad bade him. "I have been less than just."

"Thou art the very fount and spring of justice, O my lord, as thine admission proves," protested the corsair.

He sat down again, folding his legs under him.

"I will confess to you that being come so near to England in that cruise of mine I determined to land and seize one who some years ago did injure me, and between whom and me there was a score to settle. I exceeded my intentions in that I carried off two prisoners instead of one. These prisoners," he ran on, judging that the moment of reaction in Asad's mind was entirely favorable to the preferment of the request he had to make, "are not in the bagnio with the others. They are still confined aboard the carack I seized."

"Because, my lord, I have a boon to ask in some reward for the service I have rendered."

"Ask it my son."

"Give me leave to keep these captives for myself."

Asad considered him, frowning again slightly. Despite himself, despite his affection for Sakr-el-Bahr, and his desire to soothe him now, that rankling poison of Fenzileh's infusing was at work again in his mind.

"My leave thou hast," said he. But not the law's, and the law runs that no corsair shall subtract so much as the value of an asper from his booty until the division has been made and his own share allotted him," was the grave answer.

"The law?" quoth Sakr-el-Bahr. "But thou art the law, exalted lord."

"Not so, my son. The law is above the Basha, who must himself conform to it so that he be just and worthy of his high office. And the law I have recited thee applies even should the corsair raider be the Basha himself. The slaves of thine must forthwith be sent to the bagnio to join the others that tomorrow all may be sold in the sok. See it done, Sakr-el-Bahr."

The corsair would have renewed his pleadings, but that his eye caught the eager white face of Marzak and the gleaming expectant eyes, looking so hopefully for his ruin. He checked, and bowed his head with an assumption of indifference.

"Name thou their price, then, and forthwith will I pay it into thy treasury."

But Asad shook his head.

"It is not for me to name their price, but for the buyers," he replied. "I might set the price too high, and that were unjust to thee, or too low, and that were unjust to others who would acquire them. Deliver them over to the bagnio."

"It shall be done," said Sakr-el-Bahr, daring to insist no further and dissembling his chagrin.

Very soon thereafter he departed upon that errand, giving orders, however, that Rosamund and Lionel should be kept apart from the other prisoners until the hour of the sale on the morrow, when perforce they must take their place with the rest.

CHAPTER XVI.

Mother and Son.

Early on the morrow—so early that scarce had the Shehad been recited—came Biskaine-el-Borak to the Basha. He had just landed from a galley which had come upon a Spanish fishing boat, aboard of which there was a young Morisco, who was being conducted overseas to Algiers. The news of which the fellow was the bearer was of such urgency that for twenty hours without intermission the slaves had toiled at the oars of Biskaine's vessel—the capitana—his fleet—to bring her swiftly home.

The Morisco had a cousin—a Neo-Christian like himself, and like him self, it would appear, still a Moslem at heart—who was employed in the Spanish treasury at Malaga. This man had knowledge that a galley was fitting out for sea to convey to Naples the gold destined for the pay of the Spanish troops in garrison there. Through parsimony this treasure galley was to be afforded no escort but was under orders to hug the coast of Europe, where she should be safe from all piratical surprise. It was judged that she would be ready to put to sea in a week, and the Morisco had set out at once to bring word of it to his Algerine brethren that they might intercept and capture her.

Asad thanked the young Morisco for his news, bade him be housed and cared for, and promised him a share of some share of the plunder about to be done he sent for Sakr-el-Bahr, who had been present at Marzak, who had been present at the interview, went with the tale of it to his mother, and beheld her flinging in a passion when he added that, should Sakr-el-Bahr had been sure that he might be intrusted with a fresh expedition, thus provinall her crafty inuendoes and insidious warnings had been so much wasted labor.

Tells Why Men Don't Marry — Every Place Is an Adamless Eden

There Are Plenty of Good Reasons Why Men Are Afraid or Loath to Enter the Holy Bonds of Matrimony.

A young woman writes me that, so far as she can figure it out from the census report, there have been as many boy babies born in the last quarter century as there have been girl babies, and inasmuch as she can learn of no especial mortality among male infants, it seems to her that there should be a husband for every girl.

She finds, however, that this is not the case. The husband supply is far from being equal to the demand, and she wants to know why this is thus, and if there is any special region where there are large numbers of eligible men anxious to take unto themselves wives.

Alas, no. I know of no such feminine paradise. Every place is fast becoming an Adamless Eden, so far as matrimony is concerned, and to try to find some particular spot where there is a large available supply of domestic timber is as fruitless a quest as to hunt for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

The trouble is not that there are fewer men than there used to be. There are plenty of husbands to go around if they were properly rationed out, but the difficulty is in doing this, for, after all, you cannot conscript a man into matrimony.

There are many reasons why men are loath to marry in these parlous times. The principal one is, of course, the high cost of living. It takes so much to support a family that the average young man can no more afford to set up a wife than he can a yacht, so he has to forego the luxury, no matter how much he would like to indulge himself in it.

Only men who have inherited money, or the poor man who is foolhardy, dare risk marriage when they are young and romantic, and by the time a man gets to making enough money to feel that he can prudently undertake the great adventure he has lost all heart for it. His wells of sentiment have dried up. His illusions have been torn to tatters. He has learned to listen to the voice of caution instead of that of impulse, and it whispers to him that it is better to endure the ills you have than to fly to those you know not of.

Another reason why men do not marry is because of the freedom of social intercourse between the sexes. Men who work side by side with women every day, and who play about with them outside of working hours, yet all of the feminine company they need without the necessity of assuming a wife's bills or having to stand for her temper and temperament. The boom days of matrimony were those in which a man had to buy a woman's companionship with a wedding ring.

Another reason men do not marry is because we have all, men and women alike, grown more selfish. We call it by high-sounding phrases—developing our own individuality—the right to live our own lives untrammeled—but what it really means is that we love ourselves so much better than we are capable of loving anybody else that we are not willing to make the sacrifices demanded by marriage.

A man knows that the income that enables him to live luxuriously when it is all spent on himself would be genteel pauperism if split up with a family. He knows that the doors of rich hostesses that are open to a good-looking, agreeable bachelor are shut in the face of the man who drags a shabby wife around with him. He knows that the single man can take many chances in pursuit of fortune that the man who has a wife and children is afraid to take. He knows it is mighty comfortable to be able to come home with no curtain lecture waiting for him, and so he passes up a wife for a latchkey and luxuries.

Another reason men do not marry is because so few girls know how to cook and are willing to do it. The best bait that any woman ever uses on a hook when she goes fishing for a husband is the kind of pie that mother used to make. The wariest old tom trout will rise to that if he can be caught at all. More men marry to get a home and home comforts, and because they are sick unto death of going out to dinner and gobbling restaurant food in a mob than for anything else.

There is nothing in a girl who is a good office woman, or a cracker-jack saleswoman, or a jazzy little fashion plate that makes a man yearn for matrimony. He likes to pal with the one and dance with the other, but he doesn't want to eat out of paper bags with her or spend his evenings with her in cabarets for the balance of his life.

Girls threw away their trump card in the matrimonial game when they cast domesticity into the discard; and if fewer men marry now than formerly did, it is largely because there are fewer women who are willing to go into the kitchen.

A final reason why men don't marry is because women are not so keen about marrying, either. In our grandmother's time a man hadn't the ghost of a chance of staying single because every woman was on the husband-hunting job, and she pursued her prey until she got it. Her means of support, her position in society, her interest in life, depended on her having a husband, and so grandma was some little go-getter.

But granddaughter can support herself quite as well as the average husband is likely to support her. She is envied oftener for being single than for being married, and she has a million interests outside of matrimony. Wherefore a man has to look pretty good to her for her to want him.

Therefore the unhunted dear escapes.

Farmer Brown and His Son Are Greatly Surprised When They Open the Trap

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The first thing that Farmer Brown's Boy did the next morning after setting the trap for Unc' Billy Possum was to go look at the trap. He wasn't the least bit surprised to find that the trap had been sprung. In fact, he would have been surprised to have found it not sprung. A broad grin wrinkled up the freckles on his face.

"I thought I'd catch you, Mr. Possum," said he, talking to the trap. "You got away from me once, but you won't get away from me again so easily. I've made a nice, comfortable pen for you, and after breakfast I'll introduce you to it. I promise you you shall have all you can eat, and you'll be very comfortable. You may not get much exercise in your new home, but I've noticed that fat people don't care much for exercise, but prefer to eat and sleep. You will have little to do all you want to of

"I thought I'd catch you, Mr. Possum," he said.

Farmer Brown's Boy did his early morning work, and then went into the house for breakfast. "I've caught that Possum," said he to Farmer Brown. "I've got a pen all ready for him, and after breakfast I'll put him in it. He is the fellow who was stealing our young corn. With him a prisoner I don't believe our corn will be bothered any more. You know Bowser and I gave Bobby Corn a scare the other night, and I think he'll keep away from the cornfield."

After breakfast Farmer Brown went out with his boy to see Unc' Billy Possum put in his new home. Farmer Brown's Boy picked up the trap and carried it over to the barn. "I think I'll put him in a barrel first, where we can have a good look at him," said he. "The old rascal probably will play dead. Then I can pick him up by the tail and put him in his pen."

So Farmer Brown's Boy brought out an empty barrel and stood it right side up in the middle of the barn floor. Then he lifted the box trap and held it over the barrel and opened the door. He held it in such a way that whoever was in the trap would have to drop out of it into the barrel. Farmer Brown stood close at hand.

When the trap was opened Farmer Brown's Boy and Farmer Brown had a glimpse of someone sliding out of it down into the barrel. That glimpse was all they waited for. Farmer Brown's Boy dropped the trap with a yell and jumped backward, tripped over a box and landed on the barn floor flat on his back. You should have seen him roll over, scramble to his feet and run for the barn door.

Farmer Brown had jumped back with equal suddennness, and had kept right on backing until he was at what he thought a safe distance from that barrel. Both had caught a glimpse of something black and white sliding out of that trap into the barrel, and both had known that it wasn't Unc' Billy Possum. Both had known in an instant that it was Jimmy Skunk instead of Unc' Billy Possum who had been caught in that trap! And neither cared to be within range of Jimmy's little scent gun.

WOMEN FLOCKING TO LIBERALISM

Revival of Principles Seen During Premier King's Western Tour.

NATIONAL LEADER

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—Liberal women look forward to a revival of the principles of Liberalism during Premier King's present western tour.

This is clear from an outlin of a statement by the chief of their organization, Miss Florence W. Edwards, Ottawa, chairman of the executive committee of the proposed National Federation of Women's Liberal clubs. She feels that everywhere throughout the four western provinces Liberal women will be active in the preparation of a welcome to the first citizen of Canada, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. As a preliminary to this greeting clubs will meet and new ones will spring up.

The federation chairman draws attention to the fact that no leader of any party ever has been so acclaimed by the womenfolk as Premier King by grand assemblies of the fair sex in Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and elsewhere. As a leader he has a monopoly of such splendid gatherings, and particularly so in the city of Ottawa, where all leaders daily are observed.

Truly National Leader.

In keeping with this fine sentiment towards the man whom all Canadians look for guidance, Miss Edwards aptly remarks:

"Premier King goes west not merely as the head of a great historic party or the leader of the House of Commons as prime minister, but as the outstanding figure to which all liberal-minded and progressive electors of every party look for an expression of their views and an exposition of their aspirations."

New Voters Looking Up.

It was intimated to Miss Edwards that possibly the new arrangement of parties was due to the wholesome respect for the women electors, as they had come into the fray but shortly, and their minds were not filled with the old order.

To this she responded that as all women were as youths in politics it was sufficient for them to look to Liberalism that moves ever forward to fresh horizons, and the road which it treads echoing to the feet of the young. In concluding her conversation, Miss Edwards said that as encouragement to the premier she recalled the words:

"Strengthen the wavering line,
Stablish, continue our march.
On to the bound of the waste.
On to the city of God."

The administrative officers of the proposed National Federation of Liberal clubs are: Miss Florence W. Edwards, chairman; Miss Helen Doherty and Miss Beatrice Belcourt, secretaries, Ottawa, and Mrs. H. H. Carpenter, treasurer, Hamilton. The executive committee is composed of thirty-six members, each of the nine provinces being represented.

CHILD PRODIGY RETURNING A RENOWNED PRIMA DONNA

NEW YORK PRAISES

Mother of Little Ruby Gordon Coming From Wallaceburg for Concert.

With the coming of Jeanne Gordon to the city tomorrow night, London will welcome one of the most distinguished stars of the Metropolitan Opera company, New York. But there will be a still warmer welcome for the prima donna because she is Ruby Gordon, the Western Ontario girl who went abroad to seek fame and found it there awaiting her in its most glittering form.

For little Ruby Gordon, the Wallaceburg child with the phenomenal voice, is returning to her home district, as the great operatic contralto, to sing her way into the hearts of her own people, at the Grand opera house tomorrow night. And she comes because the Women's Music club had the foresight and enterprise to secure her.

N. Y. Lavish In Praise.

New York is lavish in its praise of her. Of her voice the New York Tribune says: "It is one of the most remarkable organs the Metropolitan has heard in many years."

It has been further said of her that not since Tetrazzini sang in 1912 has an artist so completely captured an audience. And it is this voice which the Women's Music club is permitting London to hear tomorrow night—the Music club with its ever present desire to give to London the best music that may be procured.

No more sensational rise to fame in the artistic world has been recorded in recent years than that of Jeanne Gordon. Within a single year this brilliant young contralto overcame all obstacles that lie between the moving picture stage and that of the Metropolitan opera house. In this incredibly short space of time she rose from an unknown singer to the rank of a prima donna. Only a few years have passed since that unusual event, and Miss Gordon's fame is ringing throughout the continent.

Voice Remembered.

There are many Londoners who remember her extraordinary voice as a child in Wallaceburg. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Brady, Mrs. George Wenige, wife of the mayor, and J. W. Plewes of the Dominion income tax office, all have their stories to tell of the child prodigy. Wallaceburg and Chatham, where she made her home as a very young girl, are chartering a special car to take her old friends to London to hear her sing.

Jeanne Gordon is a daughter of the late D. A. Gordon, M. P. Her mother, who will come to London for the concert tomorrow, was very much interested in music and made the Gordon home a musical center in the district. From her earliest childhood the prima donna had every encouragement to cultivate her musical ability. While still very young she was sent to Havergal college, Toronto, and continued her musical studies there. Later she went to New York to study, but marriage for a time put an end to her career as a singer.

Obtains Divorce.

Three years ago she obtained a divorce and since that time has devoted her entire time to study and work on the operatic and concert stage. Each year, as the season is over, Miss Gordon sets out for Europe and more intensive study over there during the summer months. She sings all of the operatic roles and has a large concert repertoire.

For the concert tomorrow night she has selected the following attractive program:

Program Given.

1. (a) Les Larmes (from Werther) ..... Massenet
   (b) Clair de Lune ..... Szulc
   (c) Les Filles de Cadiz ..... Delibes

CITY'S $2 GROCERY ORDER SUSTAINS AGED WOMAN

Difficult as it is to believe, two aged women in one little home in London are living almost solely upon one $2 grocery order from the city. They get this order each week and have nothing else to subsist on except a few chickens, which they feed on scraps. If the hens fail them, their daily diet is even slimmer than ever.

TARRING ROOFS PROVES POPULAR BUSINESS NOW

Building trades and contractors are getting the benefit of small contracts now in tarring and repairing roofs of downtown business houses. It is not considered the best time of the year to handle hot tar and swab brushes, but it is a job that can usually be left until the fall. Decreasing activity in building circles has made these small contracts highly acceptable.

WASHINGTON PAYS HONOR TO CHAMPS

Walter Johnson Will Hurl the First Game of Series Against Giants.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The American League champions arrived here shortly before 9 o'clock from Boston. Despite the early hour a crowd estimated by some to number nearly two thousand rushed the gates and greeted the players as they left the sleepers in the train shed.

Each player was cheered by name as he stepped from the train and the team literally had to battle its way through the jam to waiting taxicabs.

Walter Johnson, it is understood, is the selection of Manager Harris for the first world's series game, and Zachary, a southpaw is said to be favored by Harris for the second contest. Marberry, who has been most successful in trimming the Yankees in New York this season, is said to be favored by Harris to open in the first New York game.

WEDDINGS

WORRALL—FLANNIGAN.

Knollwood Park Presbyterian church was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Lorna Winnifred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Flannigan of London township, was married to Wilmer S. Worrall, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Worrall, Adelaide street north. Rev. Dr. W. R. McIntosh performed the ceremony. The wedding march was played by Mrs. C. Webster, who also sang during the signing of the register. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white crepe de chine, and her veil of embroidered tulle was arranged with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower of Ophelia roses. Miss Maybelle Smith acted as bridesmaid, and wore a flame colored frock with a corsage of Sunset roses, and a large black panne velvet hat. Mr. W. I. Worrall, brother of the groom, was best man. Little Miss Dorothy Glendenning of Parkhill was a pretty flower girl, wearing a dainty frock of pink taffeta. The ushers were Messrs Gordon Worrall and Russell E. Flannigan. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Worrall left later on a honeymoon, the bride travelling in a navy tricotine suit, with a small black hat and a fitch fur. They will be at home after Oct. 9 at their new home in Adelaide street north.

GUEST—CHAMBERS.

A pretty September wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, in Adelaide street, when Adelene Bertha, eldest daughter of Mrs. Clara E. Chambers, of this city, was married to Joseph Guest of Detroit, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Guest of West Nissouri. The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, Rev. Dr. A. G. Smith of Dunnville, assisted by Rev. J. Hale, of Trinity church. The wedding march was played by the bride's cousin, Mr. Ronald Smith of Detroit, and during the signing of the register he sang "O Promise Me." The house was prettily decorated with pink and white asters and roses, making a pretty setting for the bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Harold Chambers. She wore a gown of coral georgette over crepe de chine of the same shade, trimmed with handmade roses, tinted in black. She also wore a hat of coral velvet, and carried a shower of pale pink roses and white carnations. She also wore the groom's gift, a barpin of brilliants. Miss Hannah Chambers was her sister's bridesmaid, gowned in orchid crepe de chine, combined with shadow lace, and wearing a hat of orchid lace. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Her gift from the groom was also a barpin. Mr. Charles Guest of Ilderton, brother of the groom, was best man. He received as a present a tie-pin, and the pianist received a gold pencil. Following a wedding supper, Mr. and Mrs. Guest left on a honeymoon, the bride travelling in a gown of shot cut velvet in brown and orange shades, with a copper colored hat, with feather trimmings. She also wore a wrap of black velvet, with black fox fur collar. Mr. and Mrs. Guest will reside in Detroit.

WATER SAVING INCREASES DURING THE PAST YEAR

Statistics prepared by the public utilities commission indicate that the amount of water consumed during the month of September was 14,000,000 gallons less than during September, 1923. This reduction approximates 500,000 gallons per day less than last year.

The saving of water due to mefering is considerably more than this amount, since there is in addition to natural increase in water consumption through new customers.

The total amount of water consumed during the month of September was 173,000,000 gallons, or an average of 5,800,000 gallons per day.

AUTO STOLEN.

SIMPLIFICATION SEEN IN STUDIES

Tendency in New Curriculum to Broaden Courses, Praised by Inspector.

When interviewed by The Advertiser in connection with the new courses of study for public schools issued just recently by the department of education the comment of Inspector V. K. Greer, senior public school inspector of this city, was that on the whole the general tendency of the new course of studies was to simplify the outline of work to be covered and to place in the hands of the local authorities a greater choice as to what shall be taken in the schools.

One of the most important changes cited by Inspector Greer was that the courses of study in different subjects of the entrance class (grade 8) had been modified to a considerable extent.

Thus in arithmetic, history and geography entrance candidates will be examined in 1925 only on the work covered during grade 8 and not on the work of grade 7 and the lower grades. Such a regulation lightens the load of study, it being presumed that the pupils, having passed through the lower grades, know the work covered in those grades without further examination thereon.

Two Methods Now.

The inspector pointed out that there will be two methods of passing public school graduates into the collegiates as heretofore—passing on the principal's certificate those who have stood highest and passing by departmental examination the remaining candidates who submit themselves.

In the subjects of art and construction work, nature study and agriculture and vocal music, minimum and supplementary courses are offered all public schools of the province. All schools are required to take at least the minimum courses in these three subjects. It is left to the local authorities whether the supplementary courses shall be taken or not.

In cities and larger towns, commented the inspector, it is very likely the full course will be undertaken in these subjects, and as a consequence it must be expected, where the more completely enriched course is undertaken, the average age of those passing into the high school will be slightly higher.

Subjects Combined.

A number of subjects have been combined in the new course of study as follows: Reading and literature, composition and spelling, hygiene and physical culture, art and constructive work, nature study and agriculture Arithmetic, geography, history, writing, grammar and the more optional subjects of music, manual training and household science are thus left to be taught as separate subjects, completing the new curriculum.

Inspector Greer intimated that agriculture and nature study have been taught in a more or less combined way in the city schools where agriculture has been taken up.

Moreover, successful, experienced teachers are constantly finding means of relating the subject matter of different subjects in such a manner as to save time and aid the pupils. The combining of the subjects more generally, however, should result in a closer co-relation of all the subjects, as well as a saving of time.

Seven-Year Course.

The previous course of study was in reality a seven-year course, the same as the new course, continued the inspector, but for a long period of years many of the large centers, including London, have graded their public schools into eight grades or eight years of work.

The tendency during the last five years in nearly all cities has been to get back t othe seven-year plan by permitting one year for second book work instead of two. It is probable that the new course of study will lend itself a little more easily toward accomplishment in seven years because of the lessened amount of matter to be covered in the various subjects.

The suggestion by the department that more time be given to independent seat work and study on the part of the pupils will no doubt be followed to great advantage, concluded Inspector Greer.

If pupils are to be trained to attack their own problems they must, of necessity, be given problems which will require their own initiative. Having the teacher at hand in the classroom to guide the pupils will be better than to assign work of a problem nature for home work.

CUSTOMS DUTIES SHOW DECREASE IN MONTH

Decline General During September—Slight Jump in Domestic Excise.

Customs duties, sales tax on imports, excise taxes on imports and sundries for September all show a decrease except an increase of $1.03 in excise customs imports, according to the report issued by Harry W. Wooster, cashier.

There is a slight increase in domestic excise duties, but there are decreases in domestic excise taxes. The grand totals for customs and excise both show decreases over Setpember, 1923.

The customs import duties for September 1923 were $112,329.49. Last month they were $91,950.10, a decrease of $20,379.39. The sales tax on imports dropped from $30,092.66 last year to $14,257.60 this year. The excise tax on imports shows an increase of $1.03. The amount was $9.13 last month and $8.10 a year ago. There was a decrease of $670.43 in the sundries. In September, 1923, they were $1,125.33, this year $454.90. The totals were 1924, $106,671.76 for the corresponding time last year $143,555.58, or a loss of $36,883.82.

The domestic excise taxes show a decrease of $27,119.01. This year September showed $109,602.31, last year $136,721.32. The domestic excise duties show an increase of $163.04. This year receipts were $22,935.94, last September, $22,772.90. Excise totals show a decrease of $26,955.97 over the corresponding month last year. Total receipts this September were $239,210.01 for 1923 $303,049.80, a decrease of $63 [illegible] 79.

DEFICIT EXPECTED AT PLAYGROUNDS

Commission Believes $10,000 More Necessary Each Year For Work.

The playgrounds commission is likely to show a deficit of approximately $4,000 for the current year, according to the estimate of E. V. Buchanan, manager of the public utilities commission.

Out of the annual grant of $20,000 the commission was forced to take up a deficit of $9,000 which had accumulated during the past few years, leaving only $11,000 for this year's expenditures. To date the commission has expended on the playgrounds practically $14,000. The operation of skating rinks during December will require, it is estimated, an additional $1,000, bringing the deficit for 1924 to $4,000.

The $15,000 spent by the commission provided only for the operation of the playgrounds already constructed and allowed nothing whatsoever for construction purposes or the provision of new playground sites.

The commission originally asked for one-half mill or $32,000 for playgrounds purposes. When the bylaw was put to the people, however, the amount voted on to be spent annually was only $20,000.

Such a sum, in the opinion of the commission, is not sufficient to take care of the situation. They believe that an additional $10,000 should be put aside each year for the next few years at least for purposes of constructing and equipping new playgrounds in various parts of the city.

SWISS DAD ROCKS BABY ON DESERTED CITY STREET

Those who doubt that necessity is the mother of invention would have seen that they were in the wrong by walking down Richmond street at 1 o'clock this morning.

There, with most of his worldly belongings strapped to his back and his foot on a baby carriage moving it to and fro, was a typical Swiss, unconcernedly rocking the baby to sleep in this novel manner.

Although one would imagine he would tire of this in a short time, he was still rocking the little bundle of humanity half an hour later. The baby was asleep.

RAINFALL CHECKS VILLAGE BLAZE

Loss Is $5,000 When Bryanston Garage Burns—London Brigade Responds.

ORIGIN UNKNOWN

The village of Bryanston 11 miles north of London on the Asylum side road, was threatened with destruction by fire at an early hour this morning when a garage, owned by Stuart Morrow, burned to the ground. Three dwellings and a general store were saved from being swept by the blaze by a timely rainfall.

The garage, which contained two motor cars, was burned to the ground and a loss estimated at $5,000 was suffered. The automobiles were a total loss.

The fire started from an unknown origin at 2:30 o'clock this morning. An alarm was sounded throughout the village and district, and more than 60 men responded to form a bucket brigade.

The garage, a frame structure, was enveloped in flames in half an hour and efforts to quench the blaze were fruitless. The men confined their activities to preventing a spread of the fire to adjoining buildings.

Although a strong wind was blowing, a drizzling rain aided in checking the fire.

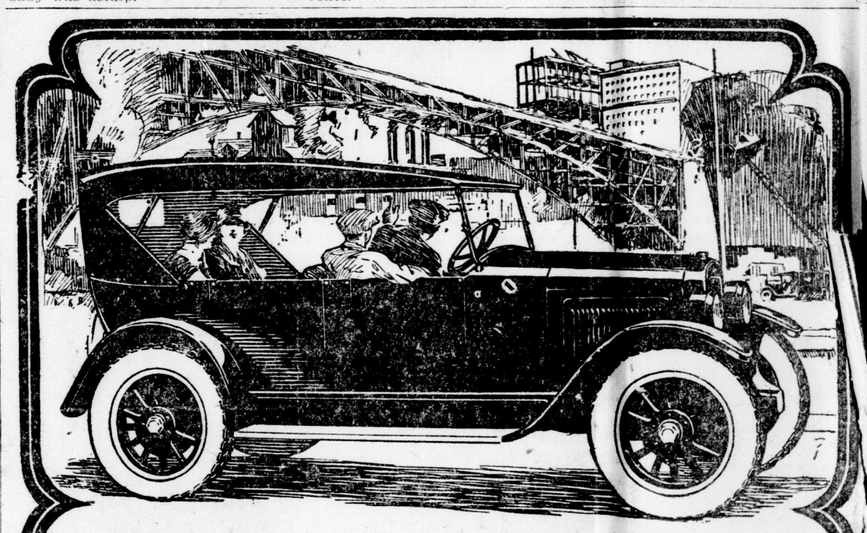

At 3 o'clock an alarm was sent to the London fire department, and a truck responded. The blaze was practically extinguished when the London firemen arrived half an hour later.

Fire Chief John Aitken stated this morning that a general store owned by W. R. Johl would certainly have become ignited had it not been for the splendid work of the volunteer brigade.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1924.

As November Draws Near.

As November draws nearer interest quickens in the U. S. presidential elections. There are other candidates, but interest centers on three, President Coolidge, Republican, John W. Davis, Democrat, and Senator La Follette, Progressive. If it were possible to compare U. S. with Canadian politics, the parallel could be drawn around the 1921 contest, when there were three distinct parties in the fight, Conservatives, Progressives and Liberals. The comparison, of course, cannot be made to walk on all fours, but on broad lines the Republicans of United States would be the Conservatives of Canada, finding their chief strength in the financial and industrial centers of the east. The Democrats, with some strength in the cities, but much more in the land tillage section of the south, more nearly represent the Liberals in their outlook on fiscal policies. The Progressives, led by La Follette, draw their following from the farming communities of the west; they train their guns on the strongholds of privilege and seek legislation that they consider in the interests of the farming business.

The outstanding features of the campaign are the concern now expressed in the two old parties as to the strength of the Progressives, and the strong quality of the leadership provided by Coolidge, Davis and La Follette. There is strength and ability in each, although the former two lack the peculiar qualities that have enabled La Follette to draw to his support whole sections that hitherto had strong party attachment on the old lines. At the outset his strength was ridiculed and minimized by his opponents; today the Democrats find chief hope in the invasion of Republican territory, not by themselves, but by La Follette. There has been a cessation of the talk of sweeping victories by either Republican or Democratic forces, and the stormy La Follette is looming big enough to be offered a seat at the ringside.

Women and the Church.

The general synod of the Anglican church did not regard favorably the idea of Rev. Dean Tucker of London to admit women delegates to the synod on terms of equality with men. In fact, so great was the opposition to the dean's motion that he could well stand with Elijah of old in his cry, "I, even I, only am left."

It is an interesting development, even if it does not run along the lines of the recognition of woman's position granted by many other denominations and recognized in the sphere of politics or business.

Some of the most thrilling chapters written at the synod meeting in London have been woven around the unselfish endeavors of the women missionaries and workers in remote and even unattractive sections of the dominion.

Small wonder that a man of Rev. Dean Tucker's sympathetic temperament should be moved to take up their case and place it before a body that is very jealous of the honorable traditions of the past, and particularly insistent that these traditions and customs shall be handed down unchanged and intact.

It is unusual in this age to find so representative a body calmly and deliberately shaking its head as the women rap for admission at the door and suggest that the men move over and make room for them. One cannot but wonder how long they will be able to keep up that pace.

The average church of today is a place where men have much to do. It may be because the work of other denominations are willing to sit back and let them go ahead. Whatever the cause, it is a fact that the women are an important factor, and are making a very generous contribution to the general activities of many of the churches today.

All Law Is Prohibitory.

A correspondent, whose letter is published elsewhere on this page, argues that prohibition of liquor is not taught in the Bible, and therefore our laws have no right to move in that direction. The writer of the letter, were he to take the trouble to look carefully through all the references to drinking contained in the Bible would find the score against him.

The question cannot be settled on that score, though, for we have many laws dealing with the habits of the individual covering points that were not considered in Biblical times because the occasions for them had not developed. Any laws set down for the guidance of our people for the protection of the individual or property, is prohibitory legislation. According to Blackstone, a man's personal liberty is protected by great fundamental facts. Life itself, he holds, is the immediate gift of God. Before this life cannot be destroyed even by the individual. If he attempts it he is brought before the courts.

We are hedged about on all sides by laws that stop us here, that hold us in control there. They are all framed and fashioned in the interests of the community, and we find in many things that we cannot do just as we please. It may hurt our dignity, and cause us to speak against the taking away of our liberty, but a little careful thought shows that unrestricted liberty would not be in the interests of the great mass of the people.

For instance—if you have a case of contagious sickness in your home, an officer comes and puts a sign on your house. He tells you that people must not enter your house, and that no one in the house cannot [illegible]. It certainly interferes with your liberty, but it checks the spread of the disease.

Dealing with your home again—if a great fire were raging on your street, and the firemen decided that by putting a charge of dynamite under your residence and blowing it to atoms they could check the progress of the fire, they could do it, nor would it be necessary for them to secure your consent. Your personal desires would not count in the decision, but it would help check the fire.

You take your car out on the road. It may be good for 40 or 50 miles an hour, but for the safety of pedestrians and other drivers you must not go over 20 in the city. You may have a preference for driving on the left hand side of the road, but the law says you cannot do that. It is your car and your gas, but you must observe the laws of the road. The liberty of the individual is not recognized, but the safety of the travelling and walking public is secured.

A person might be inclined to run his premises to suit himself; he might think it very well to allow rubbish and filth to accumulate on his premises; the place belongs to him, and surely he can do as he wishes. But no; the health authorities see in such a condition a menace to the community; they can order the place cleaned up, or they can send men in to do it and make the owner of the property pay for it. There can be no question that it is prohibiting the individual from doing what he wants to do, yet there is no room for argument that it is in the interests of that individual and of the community that there be such prohibition.

A man may have his own ideas about education; he may believe his boy or girl can get along very well without it, and for that reason he may decide that he will not send them to school, or else take them out as soon as they reach the third book. Surely a man has a right to do as he pleases with his own children—but he hasn't. He must allow them to go to school regularly. His individual wishes are not seriously consulted. The result is that his children get a decent and an adequate education, and are fitted for the work they enter later on.

Or, to bring the matter closer to the question of liquor legislation, it is quite within the memory of people of today when there was an "Indian list" in every community. On it was placed the names of men to whom it was forbidden to sell liquor. It was a very direct violation of the liberty of the individual; in fact it placed him in the position of being known as a man who could not control his appetite. Yet there was no other way out, and for the good of the people in his home, and for his own protection, he was placed on that list. It was prohibition as far as he was concerned.

That is why there is nothing unusual or revolutionary about the state seeking to control the liquor traffic even to the point of prohibiting it. It is not even necessary to turn back to Biblical days, for we have precedent all around us in the form of legislation that has been written on our books, not for the purpose of granting unbridled liberty to the individual, but with the idea of bringing about a condition of co-operative safety and comfort. To that common fund the individual makes his contribution by the surrender of his right to do exactly as he pleases. On no other basis would it be possible for us to build and maintain community life as we have it today.

When a Child Is Struck.

Toronto jury, considering the death of a six-year-old lad killed by running from the street in front of an auto, attached a rider to its verdict stating that children should be warned and educated as to the dangers of street traffic.

The jury should have gone farther, because that same conclusion has been reached a number of times. It should have stated how this work was to be done more effectively than at present.

Children must be warned and educated, but most of them are. The onus of making the streets safe must remain on the drivers of cars. It is very easy to see why.

There are two parties involved—the driver and the child on the street. The driver is an adult, a full-grown person, and he knows that the child has not the same strength of understanding or the same sense of danger that he possesses. The child is a child in mind and habits; a ball or a pet cat on the street is an object to be secured at once; the child does not stop to take in the whole situation, judge distance and the speed at which a car is approaching. It takes a mature mind to do that.

We do not hold that the training and warning of the child should not be continued, wisely and persistently, but rather that it behooves the responsible adult driver to assume a greater share of the care. He is mentally and physically able to do it.

WHEN EFFIE SINGS.

When Effie sings a love song she
Soars into flights of ecstasy
And floats alone (so she tells me)
On angel wings.
And I, who watch her glinting hair
And lustrous eyes beyond compare,
Am quite content to sit and stare
When Effie sings.

But when I close my eyes and hear
Her high notes trilling in my ear
I am struck dumb 'twixt love and fear
Of awful things.
Struck dumb am I, of words bereft
To praise or censure lovely Eff—
I only wish I were struck deaf
When Effie sings.

When Tim grew up a spell he was regarded as the town's blue jay, a-takin' all the heavy parts in every town hall actin' play. Ah, Tim would use a wicked voice, he'd snort at each fair heroine, "Hey, damsel, now produce the coin, or you'll be dead by ten past nine."

It was a thrillin' sight to see the way Tim Sage would gnash his teeth, and throw the hero of the hour from up upon a canvas reef.

As time went on Tim moved away to seek for fame upon the stage, the world would soon be at his feet, a-eatin' from the hand of Sage. Tim got a job inside a show, one scene it had to have a crowd, and Tim he played the humble part of walkin' with his feet not loud.

One night a villain faded off, the show was stuck as sure as sin, when some one piped a voice and said, "Why don't you send a hack for Tim?"

Well Tim he came into the play, there wasn't much for him to do, just hittin' one bird on the head and beatin' up another two.

When Tim had struck his stride that night, and talked like villains ought to do, the folks what paid their money out they hollered "Cut that bird in two." And then some persons with a grudge they heaved tomaters ripe and raw, they swatted Tim upon the neck and planted one upon his jaw.

WHITE SPATS.

In the United States white spats are a sign of the effeteist. It seems to be different in London.

"You have no idea what a big trade the second-hand dealers did," said Mr. Jacob H. Hopkins, judge of the superior court of Chicago, in Paris the other day, "lending out top hats and dress suits and above all, white spats, to the lawyers who came over from the big and little towns of America, eastern and western. It took me a terrible time to get spats on and looking right, and as though it were not a dress rehearsal for some play with a Piccadilly background. There is, as I know, only one man in Chicago who wears spats as they should be worn and that man is ex-Senator Hamilton Lewis.

"The peddlers were very enterprising. They had a great poster up in the Savoy Hotel with suggestions as to how one should dress, for members of the American Ear Association. They cleaned up over ten dollars for less than a couple of days' hiring on each outfit."

He added that it would have been a priceless sight to have seen some of our attorney friends walking down Chicago's main boulevard in spats, a topper, and the usual paraphernalia of the requested morning dress.

London seems to be strong on form, while America is not so insistent. The judge said that he had a wonderful time in London, but it was a strain on one to have to change one's clothes three times a day.

If there is any one thing that the West seems to think characteristic of the East, and of the due of the East, it is white spats or spats of any kind. It will be a long time before the custom is much in favor in America.

However, it is not so absurd as the custom of wearing the tall hat, which is indulged in by all men on parade from the president of the United States down. If a man is to be clothed in some peculiar garment to indicate that he belongs to the leisure class, it is quite as reasonable for him to wear spats as to wear the plug hat.

To the Editor

Not In the Bible.

Reader Considers That Laws Have No Right to Become Prohibitory Measures.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—Is prohibition authorized in the Bible? So far as I can find it is not, and it seems as if in the use of all good things or pleasures of this world, that moderation is taught in all things, which are not specially forbidden in the Book. I respect the man who abstains because he wishes to set a good example to others. I myself have been an abstainer for 15 years (because I found spirituous liquors did not agree with me), not from the altruistic motive; but because any man for whatever motive becomes a total abstainer, he has no right to endeavor to compel all others to be total abstainers.

We know that intoxicants were in use in Bible days; Noah was an example of this, but our Saviour would not have turned water into wine at the marriage at Cana if he had condemned the moderate use of it. This fact alone puts divine approval on the use of wine. It matters not whether that wine was intoxicating or not, most wines were if they were considered good, but the approval of reasonable use of intoxicants (so called) is an unavoidable inference.

Moreover, while drunkenness is condemned the moderate use of liquor is upheld, viz: "Wine which maketh glad the heart of man." The point I wish to bring out is that excess in all things is forbidden, such as drunkenness, gluttony, overindulgence of any of the good things and pleasures of this world, and in this respect I should think Sunday joy-riding is vastly overdone.

The Ontario temperance act is a misnomer. It should be called the Ontario prohibition act, as temperance means the use in moderation and not prohibition or total abstinence.

NEW PROTOCOL IS MADE IRON-CLAD

All Loopholes in Former Draft Protocol Are Eliminated by Commission.

WAR IMPOSSIBLE

Associated Press Despatch.

Geneva, Oct. 1.—The amended draft protocol on arbitration and security was presented to the assembly of the League of Nations for its approval today, accompanied by a general report, historical and analytical in nature, by M. Politis of Greece and Dr. Benes of Czecho-Slovakia, official reporters for the two commissions which jointly framed the document.

Special chapters are devoted to condemnation of aggressive war, compulsory jurisdiction of the world court of justice, the strengthening of pacific methods of procedure, the domestic jurisdiction of states, sanctions and reduction of armaments, all of which form features of the protocol. The conclusion of the report, which fills twenty printed pages, contains observations of a general nature.

"Our purpose," says the report, "was to make war impossible; to kill it, to annihilate it. The plan drawn up leaves no loophole; it prohibits wars of every description and lays down the rule that all disputes shall be settled by pacific means."

If the smallest opening was left for any measure of force the whole system would collapse, it adds, and to this end arbitration is provided for every kind of dispute, and aggression is defined in such a way as to give no cause for hesitation when the council for the league has to take a decision.

Clauses Explained.

The reporters declare that these reasons led the framers of the protocol to fill in the gaps in the league covenant and define sanctions in such a way that no possible means could be found for evading them and that there would be a sound, definite basis for a feeling of security.

The report ends by begging the assembly to examine the proposals with care and recommend them to the various governments for acceptance. The problem of the domestic jurisdiction of states raised by the Japanese delegation is treated at great length. Insistence is made that the protocol in no way derogates the ...e of article XV of the covenant, ... protects national sovereignty, ...at "in order that no doubt may ... it appears advisable to say so ...isly."

...ertheless, while the principle of ...XV of the covenant is main... M. Politis and Dr. Benes ex... that it has been found neces... order to make its applica... flexible, to call in aid the ... article XI of the covenant ...makes it the league's duty in ... of war to take any action ...d wise and effective to safe... peace and obligates the sec...y-general to summon a meeting ...e council at the request of any ...ber of the league. Thus, the re...rters say, when it has been recog...ized that a dispute arises out of a ...atter solely within the domestic ...isdiction of one of the parties, ...t party or its opponent will be ...y entitled to call upon the council ...assembly to act.

Makes Important Point.

The report then makes a point deemed by the jurists to be of great importance, as follows:

"Article XI of the covenant does not deal with the situations which are covered by rules of law capable of application by a judge; it applies only to cases which are not yet regulated by international law. Consequently it demonstrates the existence of a loophole in the law. The reference to article XI will be an inducement to science to clear the ground for the work which the League of Nations will have to undertake with a view to bringing about, through development of the rules of international law, a closer reconciliation between the individual interests of its members and the universal interests which it is designed to serve."

This is deemed here to be another way of saying that many problems now claimed to be domestic in nature are really international, and this category might include social problems like immigration, equitable treatment for foreigners, and other matters alluded to though not specifically mentioned, not only by the Japanese but also by the Italians. In a sense it is regarded as a reiteration of the idea that the time is arriving when states must be willing to curb states sovereignty in the common interest of all countries.

HOUSE OF BISHOPS OPPOSES CHANGE IN CLERGY PENSION

in a few years would come to increase the demands upon it. He stated that another million dollars was needed to make the fund of the required size for this purpose.

Endanger Fund.

"If you grant this extra hundred dollars a year," he argued, "you are going to seriously endanger the fund you already have accumulated. You will get the pro rata reduction you are opposing immediately, because of a reduction in the capital. I yield to no man in my wish to see the retired clergy getting one or two thousand dollars when the church can afford it, but by this increase you will bring in other pensioners to the central fund who at present are getting much less from their individual dioceses and create some discontent in the church and difficulty in the administration of the fund. I hope sincerely you will not insist on this increase."

A. McCreery of Vancouver believed that the laity of the church were not adverse to giving more to a fund of this kind when the need was shown to be imperative, and said he would not wish to conserve any capital fund at the expense of the superannuated clergyman. At the present time, according to the report, there are 43 clergy, 65 widows and 37 orphans, beneficiaries of this fund.

Chancellor J. A. Worrell of Toronto introduced a resolution earlier in the session, to the lower house alone, suggesting the formation within the church of a "mutual fire insurance company under the laws of the province of Ontario for the insurance of church property, in view of the fact that the high rate charged by insurance companies constitutes a heavy burden on the church."

G. B. Nicholson of Chapleau, proved the strongest supporter of the scheme, quoting the large lumber concerns of Eastern Canada and the C. P. R. as instances whereby carrying the insurance expense within a corporation or corporations, a great saving had been effected and a fund established for further investment as protection against fire loss in premiums in regular tariff compaines.

Lansing Lewis, however, who opened his argument by admitting that he was an insurance man, warned the church that it must take care not to make itself in any way liable (as a whole) for payment of fire losses, but thought that if a private company was formed by gentlemen of the church and the church invited to insure themselves through it, that the scheme could be recommended.

Give a Note.

Chancellor Campbell objected to the proposal on general business grounds, as did Canon Scott. W. J. Bell of Saskatchewan, stated that the usual procedure in similar cases had been that each church should give a note equivalent to four times the amount of the premium, and added that heavy losses in the fist year would probably wipe out the company. The history of Mutual Fire Insurance companies in the past he said had not been promising or calculated to make him advise this step.

"I would prefer that all the church's insurance would be placed with one firm of brokers, which I think would allow it to get 80 per cent of fire protection for the price it now pays for 40 per cent."

Figures for the past five years show that the diocese of Huron paid $34,938 in premiums and had fire losses of $5,797. The diocese of Toronto, premiums of $108,000 and losses of $23,400, and the diocese of Montreal in the last twenty years, premiums of $150,000 and fire losses of $12,813. The delegate supplying these figures said the only immediate expense to the church was $2,500 for incidental expenses in connection with the formation of the company. The debate was adjourned at 11 o'clock, when the joint session of both houses sat.

A. McCreery of Vancouver gave notice of motion, asking the Social Service council of the church to urge upon the dominion government the extreme necessity of making drug peddling and selling an indictable offense, and also of the use of the lash as a punishment for this offence. He said that it should make no difference whether a drug was peddled to a minor or an adult as far as punishment went and that the lash should be used in both cases.

Chancellor A. U. G. Bury of Edmonton, in a notice of motion, urged that the dominion government be asked to make the standard required for naturalization stricter, and that it should include at least the ability to read and write English.

The use of narcotics, and the danger of it, and the needed for British immigration into Canada were two main points featured in yesterday's business before the general synod. In the triennial report of the social service council of the church these two items attracted universal attention and interest.

While the bishop of Honan, China, with 30 years' experience in anti-narcotic work in China, advised the church to attack the production of opium as the root of the matter and leave alone the question of smuggling, it was his desire as of every delegate that the most drastic punishment possible be meted out to drug peddlers and all those trafficking in narcitics.

Discuss Organization.

At night the memorial of the diocese of Huron to effect a change in the organization of the church whereby for the sake of securing economy the three individual boards of the M. S. C. C., the G. B. R. E., and the C. S. S. should be represented by one clergyman and one laymen, for each diocese, instead of two clergymen and two laymen as is now customary, was sent back to the executive council to bring back a report at the next session in 1927.

The meeting of financing the big meetings of the church had been raised and thoroughly discussed at a former meeting of this session, and several speakers rose merely to oppose the resolution and refer it to the committee.

Canon Gould, general secretary of the M. S. C. C., said this reduction would destroy the equal representation of the whole church in the meetings. This was, he said, the great opportunity for the church in Canada, and it was not possible to rise to this opportunity by cutting out a percentage of her funds, rather she should build anew on the foundation already in existence.

Central Committee.

R. W. Allin of Toronto suggested the formation of a central committee in each of the four ecclesiastic provinces, to sift out local business and hand over the residue of dominion-wide essentials to a general body later. It was merely a rough plan and would have to be reduced to exact terms before put into practice.

Here a delegate remarked that the expenses of members of the synod were borne by the individual dioceses or by the members themselves. Chancellor A. U. G. Bury of Edmonton was opposed to the reduction.

Canon Bolt of Newfoundland, a visitor to the synod who has presented to the house of bishops this year certain questions from the church in Newfoundland, prior to the meetings of the joint committee on a union of the Canadian and the Island church, addressed the evening session.

Consider Union.

"I may say this," he declared, "that we in Newfoundland are prepared to consider carefully the invitation which has been received from the church in Canada to join it. We feel that such a union would be of mutual help. All through our history we have been connected with the church in England. Now we feel that we could better draw upon the experience of the church in Canada, as many of our troubles are similar to yours. We believe that we have something to give you as well, and that a union would not be altogether one-sided."

He referred to the Newfoundlanders as the purest British stock of any British dominion, and of the contributions made to the history of the church, and the empire by the sea-girt isle, as fitting them to membership in the church in Canada. On the matter of politics he was reticent, merely saying that there were some people in Newfoundland who believed that church and politics could not be disassociated, and that church union would mean political union. The canon did not express any political views of his own.

On Immigration.

The report of the council for social service was presented to the synod, involving the passing of several resolutions dealing with immigration and British settlement in Canada, and restriction of the use of narcotics.

The synod refused to accept a motion from Principal W. H. Vance of Vancouver urging a physical and mental examination, together with an investigation of past family history and record of all adult British immigrants, but agreed to a similar examination on the part of children entering the country.

The bishop of Qu'Appelle vigorously opposed the first investigation, stating that there was already too much personal investigation in vogue on the part of the immigration authorities, and that if the same sort of thing had been in fashion twenty years ago there would be very few British Canadians today.

Urges Tolerance.

Archdeacon Rennison of Hamilton, speaking as an "unregenerate parish clergyman" during the debate on British immigration in which several speakers urged the entry of newcomers only after the most thorough and complete examination, entered a plea for a more Christian and tolerant view of the matter.

"Do not let us set ourselves up in the seat of the Pharisee," he asked. "To do that is unworthy of the church in Canada. I ask you to consider the spirit of the Founder of our church and the original spirit of Christianity in connection with the proposed restrictions on immigrants."

Lash For Drug Peddlers.

In the matter of the use of narcotics, a resolution from a British Columbia delegate urging strongly the use of the lash as a punishment for drug peddlers, though agreed to in principle by every delegate, was withdrawn at the reqquest of the house on the recommendation of Judge Thompson of Cranbrook, B.C., who stated that many police magistrates in the smaller parts of the west were not sufficiently competent or independent to decide with fairness when this "most severe punishment we can mete out" is to be used and in what degree.

"In Ontario," he said, "you have a magistracy absolutely loyal and almost as well versed as the judges. But that doesn't exist in many parts of the west and in British Columbia. In some places the magistrate may be anyone who has picked up enough law while he has been on the bench. It needs a trained lawyer and a man with many years of experience to say when the lash shall be used and to what extent."

The resolution passed urged upon the government the need of pressing through the League of Nations for prevention by international agreement of the growth and manufacture of more narcotic drugs than are needed for medical purposes.

Favors Institution.

Police Magistrate Jones of Toronto expressed the hope that some place or institution would soon be established wherein drug addicts could be legally placed for treatment. He stated that under the present law, mere drug addiction was not a crime.

"Opposition of the British government to any movement aimed at the growth of opium is one of the greatest obstacles we encounter in any move in this direction," he said. "The British government believes that the drug is food and drink to the Indian native and does not relish any overtures to reduce the production."

Bishop White of Honan, China, defended China from a charge of manufacturing drugs. Although 25,000,000 pounds of opium had been grown in China in 1923, as against 3,000,000 in the rest of the world, he stated that all the heroin and morphine was made in the United States and England.

Stop Production.

"You can't stop the smuggling in drugs, but you might do something to stop production," he declared. He was, however, just as strongly in favor of the most drastic punishment of peddlers as the law would permit.

According to the report of the council, the following six causes were given as originating the drug habit: Use of patent medicines; inherited desire; idle curiosity; administration by medical men of drugs; an unsatisfied craving for alcohol appeased by a drug, and the use of drugs to carry a person through a period of strain, and which later became a habit.

A delegation of three was appointed to attend the meeting of the general assembly of the church in England in November to lay the case of social service work in Canada before the English church, and to arrive at some plan of co-operation whereby the Church Army in England and the Canadian church would work together on this and immigration work.

Offers Co-operation.

Colonel W. J. Stanley, C. B. E., the accredited representative of the British secretary of state to the general synod, addressed the afternoon session, outlining the work of the Church Army of which he is vice-president. He told the synod that the body with a $2,000,000 revenue, its schools turning out every year 800,000 girls and boys, its thousand trained members of staff, was very willing to co-operate with the church in Canada, if that were agreeable to the Canadian church. It would seek by finding employment in the country for its 500,000 surplus boys and girls, for whom each year no work could be found in England, a solution of the population problem in Canada.

Colonel Stanley has just returned from a trip to Australia, where he founded several state committees, and succeeded in interesting both the church and the civil governments in an immigration scheme which would relieve the old country and give Australia the people it needs.

Up to the Church.

"I think," he said, "that the church in Canada is facing a great opportunity to tackle successfully this outstanding problem in the dominion. If you will use the money and experience which the Church Army has at its disposal, I believe you can make yourself heard at Ottawa, and London. But you must bring a definite and carefully prepared plan of action. I know that Westminister would much rather spend money in getting her surplus population settled in the dominions than pay out doles to the unemployed."

He insisted that the solution of keeping men and women on the land was to meet adequately the loneliness and isolation which prevails. He maintained that only the church could do that. He declared that as all the 250,000 children of the Church Army had been brought up in the Church of England, that it was the Church of England in Canada which was most capable of keeping in touch with them when they came across.

"The very slow education of the British workingman," he said, "is responsible for a tremendous suspicion of all things and persons, and that is his great defect. The only thing he will listen to is the voice of his parish clergymen, and if this clergyman will tell him that his chances in this country are good and that the church will take care of him, he may consent to leave home."

On the introduction of a resolution in the report expressing the appreciation of the general synod at "the steps taken by the department of immigration and colonization of the government of Canada in the direction of showing a preference to immigration from the British Isles," there was a general and keenly argued debate, and G. B. Nicholson, ex-M.P. for Chapleau, Ontario, delivered a bitter attack on theh policy of encouraging only such men as would settle on the land and a similar policy of rural development at the expense of the cities.

He stated that it was useless and futile to attempt to build up the dominion until an economic balance had been obtained, and descried the efforts of every agency that was trying to induce men to leave the cities for the land. He believed that only larger cities and more industry was the solution of the farmer's problem of finding a market for his produce.

CITY GASOLINE PRICES SHOW ANOTHER DROP

Wholesale Figure Cut at Noon Today—Retail Price Tomorrow 25 Cents.

For the third time within the past few weeks, gasoline prices in the city have undergone a reduction. The Imperial Oil Company announced at noon today that the wholesale price would be cut one cent, to go into effect today, and that tomorrow the retail price would undergo a similar reduction.

The wholesale price of gasoline as sold to local service stations after this afternoon will be 24 cents per gallon. The retail price tomorrow at Imperial Oil Company service stations will be 25 cents per gallon.

During the past few weeks the price of high quality gasoline has dropped five cents on the gallon. The reduction follows closely on the heels of similar cuts made in the United States.

HOLDS YOUTH KEY BY SIMPLE RULES

Lewis Clark at 78 Rides Bicycle to Work Each Day.

CAREFUL CHILDHOOD

The fountain of perpetual youth, that visionary spring sought by Ponce de Leon in his quest for undying youth, has been found in London. Lewis Clark, 674 Dufferin street, is 78 years old. He believes that he holds the key that will leave him in possession of a healthy mind and sound body long after he has passed the Biblical mark of three score years and ten.

To go to his work daily; to take his place among the younger men in his, the printing, trade; to ride a bicycle downtown each week day in the sultriness of summer and the sleet of fall is just part of the joy of living to this young veteran. So an Advertiser representative called upon him to find how youth could keep old age at bay.

Health is a matter of simplicity. The rules are simple—follow them and there is nothing to fear. To Mr. Clark there is nothing wonderful about his fitness, his glowing health, his ruddy cheeks. His key is this: Eat substantial food in reasonable quantities. Get as much rest as you need, and do not do anything that will not do you good.

Those were the rules that Mr. Clark's father impressed upon him when he left home in Old London, England, at the age of 13 to serve his apprenticeship. He says that although most young men depart from the teaching of their parents to a greater or less degree and he has done it too, it seemed to him to be a common sense idea to keep the health rules and he has followed them implicitly down the years.

A great heritage is to be born of healthy parents, parents who give great thought to the upbringing, parents who insist on obedience for the sake of their children. Boys and girls born of such parents are indeed fortunate, for they get the start which will enable them to serve faithfully and well to a ripe old age.

Typifies Spirit.

Here it is that Mr. Clark typifies the spirit of the Britisher. He believes in the serious treatment of the child, not harsh, but not neglectful of the merest detail that will go into the building up of strength of character, obedience at home, self-reliance when out in the world, and a will power strong enough to win.

To play vigorous games is to keep healthy. Mr. Clark smiled reminiscently when he mentioned boxing, fencing and wrestling as he had taken them up in the old land. He did not know much of baseball because that came after he had learned his tricks in other realms of sport, but it is to plenty of action in strenuous sport that he attributes the fact that he has never had a serious illness in his life. For recreation he likes a series of games of chess and checkers, and he has a wholesome respect for a thoughtful player.

With all his simplicity of life, he is not old-fashioned. The reporter found that he used an automatic cigar lighter instead of matches. He conquered it, too; it was the first one the reporter had ever seen that never failed its owner.

Enjoys Smoking.

Regarding the "weed," Mr. Clark said that he enjoyed it. Once he suffered from headaches. He was convinced that there was nothing wrong with him. It must be the pipe, if anything. He consulted two doctors, a smoker and a non-smoker. They both agreed that it was not the tobacco, but as the headaches continued he put his pipe away for a solid year to watch the result. After 12 months he found it was coffee, so, much as he liked coffee, he gave it up for good and went back to his faithful pipe.

Mr. Clark has lived in London and the district since '72. He came direct to London from the Old Country. He was on The Advertiser for a while, then went to Seaforth, from there he went to The Toronto Globe for a year and speaks highly of George Brown, whom he knew well. After a year at The Globe he returned to London and spent over 30 years with The Advertiser, and is now with The Echo.

He was asked when he was going to retire, but work is another of his simple rules.

"If I did not ride the bicycle and go to work every day, I would be dead in two years," he laughed as he bid a cheery good-bye.

ENGLISH COURSE WILL BE HELD AT COLLEGE

St. Angelas Will Provide Room For University Study in Language.

One of the regular courses in English of the University of Western Ontario will be held in a room of St. Angelas college. The course will then be part of the bachelor of arts degree work, and the room has been kindly offered by St. Angelas college, said Dr. K. P. R. Neville, registrar of the university, today.

The course as arranged to take place at 4:30 p.m. twice a week, providing a sufficient number apply for enrollment. The course will be the three-year general course known as "English 30."

The lectures will be given by Prof. J. A. Spencely. The poetry and prose of the 19th century will be given, and is necessary for those proceeding to the degree. It is also of interest to those who wish to study literature in a systematic way.

Those who are not studying for a degree may enroll with no further qualifications than a sufficient interest for the pursuit of the work laid down by the professor in charge.

There will also be given, at a center not yet decided upon, a course known as "Philosophy 30." The history of philosophy will be taken by Prof. McDonald, who resigned a fellowship of philosophy at Queens to join Western. There will also be a course in history by Prof. Dorland.

Those interested in any of the courses should enroll at once, so that the work may begin, said Dr. Neville today.

SKIRMISHES WHISPER DARKLY OF SOPH-FRESHIE OUTBREAK

Preliminary Clash Staged in Western Cafeteria Today —Date of Rush Secret.

RESISTANCE GROWS

Freshies Who Disobey Order Face Ordeal in "Black Hole of Calcutta."

Preliminary skirmishes of the annual battle of the freshmen and sophomores at the University of Western Ontario were staged around the natural science buildnig at noon today. The day of the great play rush is being kept a secret for the present.

For three days the freshmen have been putting in the traditional spirited resistance to the instructions of the sophs. The two armys have enjoyed a number of minor rushes about the cafeteria.

One of the rules laid down by the sophs was that the froshs eat with their coats off. They are dining in their shirt sleeves now but it came about after a struggle.

There was wild excitement in the cafeteria for a while at noon today when the sophs decided to make an example of one of the stubborn wearers of the purple and white skull caps.

Armies Face Each Other.

The armies faced each other in the dining-room on the top floor of the science building. There was much good natured joshling and pushing which ended in some of the freshmen having to suffer the indignity of being carried down to the basement there to be lodged in the men's cloak rooms known for the time being as the "black hole of Calcutta." Opinion was divided as to the treatment to be meted out to the freshies who were to be the martyrs of their year.

A pail of ripe garbage was produced. A sticky brush hung limply in the mess of potato peelings and ten leaves. Truly it looked as though the sophs were going to make a terrible example of the prisoners.

The first offender was brought forward. He cast a dismal eye at the initiation ointment and then his face brightened with a glad smile of hope.

Was Given Dose.

"I was given a dose of that mess yesterday," he said, adding that in the rush of events upstairs he had left a perfectly good dinner on the table.

The hearts of the sophs softened. The prisoner was discharged. Three more were brought out. Each had been made an example of yesterday and they were allowed to return to the dining-room where the noise of chairs being pushed around and a shuffle of feet and a scrambling of students announced that the battle had been renewed. It latsed a few minutes longer and then there were good-natured hand shakes and the returning of the spoils of war, hats, fountain pens and even dinners that had gone untouched.

An armistice was declared until the day of the great rush.

SAFETY FIRST RULES ARE TOLD TO PUPILS

Timely Posters Placed in the Schools by Ontario Motor League.

Posters issued by the Ontario safety league, and coming through the local offices of the Ontario motor league, are, as the request of Secretary C. E. Bernard, being placed in each of the class rooms of the public schools of the city. The posters will remain up for some time, during which period the teachers will from time to time draw the attention of the pupils to the great necessity for "safety first."

The first of the two posters bear the following inscriptions: "To the children, cross street safely. First look to the left, from where traffic comes; then, at the center of the street, look to the right from where traffic comes. Obeying these rules may save your life."

The second poster reads: "A good record. Your holidays—You had a good time, you had no accident, you are back at school and ready for work. Keep this record going by co-operating with the safety league. Make this school term a safety term."

GALLERY OF HUCKSTERS EXPECTED AT COUNCIL

The presence of interested hucksters is expected tonight when No. 1 committee of the city council meets to discuss the market bylaw during its regular session. Mayor Wenige is expected back from Toronto in time for the meeting. He has a number of radical changes to suggest concerning the covent garden market, including the abolition of the market house, and the construction of two or three new shelters for hucksters.

ACTING MAYOR E. SMITH MUM ON CURRENT TOPICS

Ald. Edwin Smith was acting mayor today in the absence of Mayor Wenige. The mayor left for Toronto, along with Ald. Hayden and Ald. McKay, at 5:30 this morning to take part in an unemployment conference with the minister of labor.

Duties of acting mayor today were not oppressive, and Ald. Smith refused to discuss topics of current interest in any other capacity than that of alderman for ward four.

FACES SERIOUS CHARGE.

Ivan Johnston of this city was taken into custody by Provincial Constable Stratton today on three charges of forging doctor's prescriptions for narcotics.

It is alleged that Johnston obtained "dope" on three forged orders filled at a London drug store last week.

The prisoner will come before the court tomorrow morning, it is expected.

Reno Has Special Interest In Walter

Delegate Named to Attend the World Series Games.

Associated Press Despatch.

Reno, Nev., Oct. 1.—The city of Reno will have a special representative at the world series ball games and he is a minister. Mayor Roberts yesterday designated the Rev. Brewster Adams, pastor of the First Baptist church here, as the representative. Mr. Adams left for the east last night.

Walter Johnson, star pitcher for Washington, is a son-in-law of Mayor Roberts and Johnson spends his winters in Reno. Hence the unusual interest here in the series and in Washington in particular. A crowd of local fans defrayed the expenses of the minister.

NEIGHBORS' ROW COSTS ONE $19.65

Court Rebukes R. C. Miller For Hitting J. C. Knapp—Mail Box Involved.

A fight over a mail box on September 27, during which Roy C. Miller of Westminster township decorated J. C. Knapp with a black eye, resulted in a $10 fine and $9.65 costs being tacked to the wallet of Mr. Miller by County Magistrate Hawkshaw this morning.

Mr. Miller has a market garden near Westminster hospital, where Mr. Knapp is employed. While Miller was in town selling vegetables the mail box was removed from the east to the west side of the road, and Mr. Miller strolled over to neighbor Knapp's to find out the why and wherefore of such action. Miller claimed he had an interest in the mail box, which was denied by Knapp.

Miller Reprimanded.

"No matter if you owned the mail box, you had no right in striking Mr. Knapp," declared the court.

"Mr. Knapp said 'Go on home, you're nothing but a —— fool anyway,'" declared Miller.

"You called him a liar first," spoke up Mrs. Knapp.

"He did not," retorted Mrs. Miller.

"No, I didn't call him a liar, my dear friends," said Miller, which brought a smile to the face of the magistrate. "I hit him and he hit me."

"I didn't hit you. I tried to defend myself and you were so outrageous that you kicked me and I fell to the ground," said Knapp.

"You went beyond your rights in this country," stated the court. "If you thought you had an interest in the mail box, why didn't you complain to the authorities?"

Not Taking Evidence.

"However, you have pleaded guilty and I am not taking any evidence on the charge of assault. You are a big, strong man, Miller, and had nothing much to fear from Mr. Knapp, who has been ill."

"I've tried to be neighborly," protested the defendant. This brought on a verbal battle between the wives of complainant and defendant, which the court had some difficulty in quelling.

"I want to know why Mr. Knapp has said that I won't be in the neighborhood much longer," demanded Miller. "I'll never be a neighbor to him again."

"That is very consoling to me," replied Knapp.

"Don't come back here again, whether you're neighborly or not," warned the magistrate.

BOARD NOW PREPARED TO TALK DEBENTURES

Secretary Will Present Empress Equipment Costs at Next Meeting.

Secretary Tanner is gathering for the board of education prices on equipment for the new Empress public school. The information will be placed before the board at its next regular meeting, thereby enabling it to ascertain the amount of debentures necessary to cover the cost.

Five rooms of the new school, it is understood, are to be equipped with rebuilt desks. These desks will consist of old desks refinished in the board's own work department. It is likely that grades 7 and 8 will be equipped with the commercial type of desk with lifting lid, adjustable standard and separate chairs.

The new school will also require manual training equipment consisting of benches and tools to the value of approximately $1,000; household science equipment and nurses' department equipment, the latter consisting of chairs, table and wicker couch.

While the equipment is likely to be purchased this year it will not be paid for until 1925. It is being purchased now in readiness for the opening of the school early in the new year instead of at Easter time, as was originally planned.

BETTER FERRY SERVICE.

The London chamber of commerce has received a report regarding the greatly improved ferry service at Sarnia, where 120 automobiles can be taken care of each hour. The report was received from Senator McMorran of Port Huron, who states that even a better service is anticipated.

MEETS MONDAY.

No. 2 committee of the city council will meet on Monday evening before the regular session of the council. The committee held a special session last Thursday and at present there is nothing further for immediate discussion except the passing of accounts.

LONDON APPEALS WILL TOTAL 4,500

City Clerk's Staff Working at Top Speed to Get Work Completed.

PECULIAR CASES

It is understood that appeals to have names added to the voters' list, which will be totalled after the applications from annexed portions of the city are closed tonight, will reach to more than 4,500. Ward three scheduled revisions amount to 808 and ward four will probably reach 1,400.

The mass of work, necessitating overtime nightly, is proving a great strain on the city clerk's staff. His assistants are down at the office five nights a week, and other work has to be laid over because there are only 24 hours a day. Mr. Baker himself is working every night at the voters' court and has decided to hide himself every Sunday, going out into the country in order to avoid the usual volume of telephone calls and the urge of city folk to talk shop.

Complaints that an abnormal number of names have been omitted from the voters' lists are scored by Mr. Baker, who praises the work of the assessors.

"In other times, I think I would be safe in saying that there would be anywhere from 8,000 to 12,000 appeals coming in. This time there will not be more than 4,500. They cannot all be granted."

One man comes in and raises a big noise that his name has been left off the list, that he has been a taxpayer in London for years and doesn't see why his name should be omitted. Investigation of such a case revealed that the trouble-maker was making only $800 a year and had never made more than that in a year. He did not own property and therefor didn't have to pay taxes. He had never been on the assessment rolls and wasn't likely to be unless he made a taxable income.

Others are eradly to swear at the court that appeals have been entered by their friends. Sometimes the friend has forgotten or given the wrong information. The court is helpless in such cases and names have to be left off unless the proof is satisfactory.

RELIEF MEASURES TO BE CONSIDERED

Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey Hears Deputation From Western Ontario Cities.

Special to The Advertiser

Toronto, Oct. 1.—Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, minister of labor, was waited upon by a deputation representing London, St. Catharines, Ottawa, Belleville and Hamilton today to discuss relief arrangements for unemployed during the coming winter, and to make arrangements for having the matter taken up with the provincial cabinet.

Mayor Wenige of London acted as spokesman at the meeting, which was held in private. Mayor Wenige asked that machinery be set to work by the provincial government to have the measures carried out as were suggested at the unemployment conference held at Ottawa recently.

This would mean that the provincial government could be called upon to pay 25 per cent of the relief expenditures of the municipalities. The federal government would also meet 25 per cent of the expense, and the municipalities themselves 50 per cent.

Dr. Godfrey promised that the matter would be taken before the cabinet, and that it would be given full consideration.

Major Records For Year Show New York Has Edge In Infield Strength

JUNIOR W.O.S.S.A. RUGBY ENTRANTS NEARLY DOUBLE

Field of Competition Broadened With Addition of Seven Teams.

BORDER SCHOOLS IN WESTERN "U." CAPTAIN.

"Dutch" Simpson, who made a name for himself on the Sarnia C. I. grid crew two years ago, and was an important cog in the local collegians' machine last season, has been elected captain of the 1924 squad.

Almost one hundred per cent increase in entries, meaning a much wider field of activity for the 1924 season, assures success for the forthcoming junior rugby series of the Western Ontario Secondary Schools Association.

Dr. Smith, secretary of the W. O. S. S. A., announced last night that in all fifteen different teams will be included in the junior grid competition this year, as compared with only eight last year.

Adoption by border schools of the Canadian form of the fall game in place of American football has meant three new schools represented. These are Walkerville high school, Windsor C. I., and Windsor-Walkerville technical school.

"It looks like the best season yet," predicted Dr. Smith last night. "Players in the junior series are limited to those under eighteen years of age, and this means that scores of boys who, perhaps are not sufficiently experienced or are not heavy enough for the senior teams, will be kept in the game through competition in junior ranks. Many of these might be lost to the game if it were not for this series."

The competition in this series this autumn will include teams from Stratford, Kitchener, Tillsonburg, Fergus, Ingersoll, Woodstock College, Woodstock C. I., Walkerville high, Windsor-Walkerville tech., Windsor C. I., Sarnia C. I., London East C. I., St. Peter's school, London Central C. I. and St. Thomas C. I.

East Collegiate Squad Shaping Up

Expected To Go Long Way in Wossa Grid Series.

About twenty-five players are turning out for the practices of the London East collegiate rugby squad. Some good material has shown up in the last couple of weeks

Bernice Fitzmaurice, who is captaining the team, is quite confident that his outfit will make a good showing in the Wossa series this year. McCausland, one of last year's squad, is assisting in the coaching duties.

Some of the players who are turning out to practice are: Sinclair flying wing; Hendrey and Brooks, outsides; Begg, snap; Walker and Talyor, halves; Purdy, Chamburg, Graham, Smith, Carswell, Wilson, Soper, Armstrong, Martin, Maynard, and Phipps. All of these recruits are working hard for a place on the team, and this squad should make a good run in the 1924 Wossa.

PETROLIA STARS OUT FOR REST OF SEASON

Game With Sarnia Last Saturday Proved Costly To Hard Oil Crew.

Special to The Advertiser.

Petrolia, Sept 30.—The Petrolia intermediates' chances of remaining in the running for this district appears very slim, when two serious casualties resulted from the game with the Sarnia Imperials last Saturday. Brownlee, who played a fine game in middle wing, is out of the game with a dislocated shoulder, and the ligaments in his shoulder are torn. He received a bad bruise on the left side also. Morgan Stevenson is out for a month with a blood vessel in his knee broken. The rest of the team are more or less battered up with cuts and bruises all over the body. The condition of the team now might mean their withdrawal from the O. R. F. U. series this fall by the executive. A meeting will be called this week by President Smith to decide whether to continued out the schedule or not. Although the youthful Hard Oils gave a good account of themselves last Saturday, it could be easily seen by onlookers that they were outclassed by a faster aggregation and would be unable to make any showing this year. Whether the executive has seen that a mistake has been made in entering an intermediate squad in preference to a junior team is not known. From every indication there might be a junior aggregation yet in the O. R. F. U.

The question of sending the intermediate team to London next Saturday for an exhibition game with Western University has yet to be decided.

Central Gridders To Open Saturday

Students Ready For First Game at Ingersoll.

The Central C. I. rugby team is all set for its opening game in Ingersoll Saturday. Ron Back, last year's center half and star punter, has been elected captain. Yesterday afternoon there was a large turnout and Coach Doolittle has hopes of entering a junior team in the W. O. S. S. A. series.

This year's senior team promises to be one of the strongest Central has had in recent years. The back line will in all probability be composed of Back, Beard, Screaton, Daw and Logan. There are also some very good line men left from last year's team, who with the new material will form a strong defence.

Short Jabs

Jackie Johnston, Canada's leading amateur bantamweight boxer, is going to make his professional debut in Toronto on the night of Oct. 10—the same night that Bobby Ebber risks his Canadian bantam title against Howard Mayberry. Promoter Corcoran wants Billy Gibbs of Hamilton to oppose Johnston. Gibbs will accept the invitation, provided Johnston is agreeable to his scaling at 122 pounds at 2 o'clock. That is as low as Gibbs can get in justice to himself.

SNOWBIRD BOWLING MEET AT WOODSTOCK POSTPONED

Woodstock, Sept. 30.—On account of the unfavorable weather the local bowling club executive tonight decided to postpone until Friday the "Snowbird" tournament scheduled for tomorrow. The same draw as announced on Monday will hold good on Friday, and the first series will commence at 9 o'clock and the second at 10:30 a.m. Forty-six rinks have been accepted.

Altrock Hurls Two Frames and Scores Lone Run After Tripling.

Associated Press Despatch.

Boston, Sept. 30.—Boston finished in seventh place today by defeating the pennant winning Washington Senators 13 to 1, in a game which showed that the latter harbored no grudge against Boston for having delayed the finish by taking the first of the final series here. Nick Altrock, Washington's clown coach, delighted the fans by holding the home team to one run while he had possession of the mound for the final two innings, and then he capped the day by scoring the lone Washington run after hitting a remarkable three-bagger.

The score:	R.	H.	E.

CANADIAN GOLFERS ARE BADLY BEATEN

Ross Somerville Only Strong Player Against British Cup Team.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Sept. 30.—The members of the British Walker cup team emerged victorious this morning in the three best ball foursomes against six Ontario players. Cyril Tolley and Major Hazlett defeated Frank Thompson and Ross Somerville, the Canadian amateur champion and runner-up, respectively, by six and four, the local pair failing to win a hole. Tolley had an excellent round considering the adverse feather conditions, shooting a 37-36—73 for the full eighteen holes. Hazlett had a 75. Frank Thompson was away off his game. Somerville held his own fairly well with Tolley in the driving, and these two long hitters meet this afternoon. Hon. Michael Scott and E. F. Storey defeated W. J. Thompson and Seymour Lyon 3 and 1, while W. L. Hope and Robert Scott, jr., won from John Lewis of Brantford and John Haddon of the Toronto club.

Giants To Play Sing Sing Team

Life-Term Prisoner Is Expected To Hurl.

Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Sept. 30.—Tomorrow afternoon the New York Giants play the Mutual Welfare team in Sing Sing prison.

When the game was being arranged a Giant scout went to Sing Sing and looked over the ground. He saw a fine-looking pitcher. The man who showed him around told him that his fast-ball flinger would turn back the Giants, and asked his opinion.

"Looks pretty good," said the scout. "He's about a year away from the big leagues."

"A year!" shouted his guide. "A year!" Why, he's here for twenty years to life."

However, Calculations May Be Upset by McGraw's Inability To Put Full Strength On Field—Frisch Will Play, But Groh Doubtful.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Sept. 30.—The New York Giants have the edge on their world series rivals, the Washington Senators, when it comes to offensive and defensive ability of their respective infields, a comparison of the two clubs, based on the latest averages, reveals.

These figures are based on the first line troops of the Giants, where several major casualties have occurred in the closing stages of the campaign, but they are conclusive. They show that the Kelly-Frisch-Jackson-Groh combination of the National League champions has a combined fielding average of .97275, as compared with .96925 for the Judge-Harris-Peckinpaugh-Bluege quartet. At the bat the Giant four have an even more decisive margin, showing .309 to .287 for the Senators.

Kelly and Judge are nearly on a par, although the former is a harder hitter; Frisch excels Harris both at bat and afield; Peckinpaugh has the edge on Jackson in experience only, while Groh is much abler than Bluege.

Infield Uncertain.

Calculations, however, may be upset by the inability of the Giants to put their full infield strength on the field. Frisch seems certain to play, but Groh is on the doubtful list. In addition, McGraw has indicated he may shift Kelly, who has filled in at the keystone bag, to centerfield, and play Terry at first; Lindstrom, 18-year-old schoolboy, is first string substitute for Groh. Thus, with Terry at first, Kelly or Frisch at second, Jackson at short and Lindstrom on third, the Giants would not look so formidable as the figures show.

The king is dead; and the kingmakers are at work behind the scenes, preparing for the world's series convention which will name his successor.

John McGraw, veteran Warwick of baseball, will nominate the Giants, king of the National League. Stanley Harris, newcomer in diamond politics, will direct the campaign for the American aspirant, Washington.

Deliberations of the diamond congress will begin in the capital city on Saturday, and continue through Sunday, after which the struggle will be continued in New York. If more than four ballots are necessary, the fifth will also be taken here and the sixth will be cast in Washington. The site for the seventh and final vote, unless a tie results, will be decided by the much-sought-after deity, the little god of chance.

Double Play Fast.

The race of the American League, decided yesterday when Washington won from Boston four to two, was another victory for the tortoise over the hare. Washington, chronic tail-ender, a baseball wheeze as old as the mother-in-law, plodded along steadily while the Yankee hare hare browsed on the sweet shoots of its reputation. It looked up, too late, and was pounced upon by its enemy, the tiger, while racing through the jungle.

Harris, 28-year-old manager of the successful team which gave Washington its pennant, climaxed his sensational season's work yesterday by giving evidence of mechanical as well as inspirational qualities. His final gesture was appropriately spectacular.

In the final half of the ninth, with his team leading 4 to 2, a Boston runner on first and one out, Harris picked a sharp grounder from the field just back of second base, touched the bag, pivoted and threw, almost without looking, to first, to complete a double play which ended the game and beheaded the king.

RENAULT IN LINE FOR TITLE SCRAP

Sport Writers Declare He Will Be Jack Dempsey's Next Opponent.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, will in all probability be the next man to fight Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship of the world.

This is the belief of two of New York's most experienced sporting writers, W. O. McGeeghan and Robert Maher, who were in Montreal over the week-end. They are convinced Tex Rickard had Renault in mind when he refused to commit himself regarding a match between the champion and Harry Wills, following the victory of the latter over Firpo a few weeks ago.

"Renault," said Mr. McGeeghan, "can beat Willis right now, but he is not ready to meet Dempsey. It is only a question, however, of a year or eighteen months before he will be fit to step into a ring with the champion, and when he does it will be the battle of the century."

The Seattle team of the Pacific coast league of Canada will be taken over intact by president Adams, it was said. Art Ross, a former amateur star player and now a professional, will manage the team and act as vice-president of the local organization.

L. C. I.-ST. THOMAS GAME IS CANCELLED

Opening W. O. S. S. A. Series Is Postponed Until Later—Londoners Not Ready.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Sept. 30. — The local collegiate W. O. S. S. A. players are perfectly satisfied with the proposed grouping for the W. O. S. S. A. in this district. With the elimination of the Woodstock college senior team the distance to be travelled will be eliminated.

It is the consensus of opinion that Ingersoll will not prove a big factor in the series, leaving London collegiate and the saints to battle for supremacy. In former year the L. C. I. have not been considered as a dangerous opponent by the St. Thomas crew, but under the present training arrangement may prove a stumbling block on the road to success.

The local squad have received word of the cancellation of tomorrow's game with the L. C. I. which was to open the W. O. S. S. A. activities in this district. Just when the game will be played could not be learned, but it was understood that London was not ready to meet the S. T. C. I. just yet.

coach of the Giants, will enter his seventh world's series when New York meets Washington in the first contest of the 1924 classic on Saturday. Jennings managed Detroit when the latter won the American League pennants in 1907, 1908 and 1909, and has been John McGraw's chief aide in the latter's victories in the National during the last four years.

INTERMEDIATES TO MINGLE WITH WESTERN "U" TONIGHT

Petrolia May Oppose Local Collegians Here On Saturday.

SIMPSON CAPTAIN

AT LAST.
Nick Altrock will have a chance to coach his own team, the Senators, in a world series, instead of providing diversion for the supporters of other teams than Washington between innings as heretofore.

In this evening's practice game between London's intermediate O. R. F. U. team and Western "U." outfit, which will start at 5 o'clock, the Western back line will include Johnston, Maxwell and Warren with Simpson at quarter. Every candidate in the "U." squad will be put into the fray at one time or another to show what may be expected of them in regular engagements. Mowrey, another star of last season's team, is back again, and should with his ability and experience, add a great deal to both offensive and defensive plays.

"Dutch" Simpson, who will be remembered as a unit of the stellar Sarnia C. I. grid outfit which swept everything in these parts before it two years ago, and who last season was one of the most outstanding cogs in the Western machine, has been elected to captain the London collegians during the coming campaign.

Plans are under way by the management of the local Western University football team for an exhibition game here this Saturday with the Petrolia intermediate O. R. F. U. squad. However, this is as yet rather uncertain, as the youthful Hard Oil outfit, according to reports, is glooming under a blanket of mental and physical pain, as the result of what happened when they stacked up against the full grown Sarnia outfit last Saturday, and are now thinking of dropping out of the intermediate competition and reverting to the junior classification. If such a decision is made they may not appear here this week-end.

Coach Fickley has been counting on this encounter to give him some idea as to the possibilities of the various candidates who are turning out with the team that will represent the local university in the intercollegiate scramble this fall. However, if the Hard Oils stay at home in all likelihood an exhibition game will be staged between the local intermediates and the Western crew.

Wallaceburg At Full Strength For Intermediate O.A.L.A. Title Series

GLASS TOWN IS CONFIDENT OF TAKING CHAMPIONSHIP

REAL BATTLES SEEN

Special to The Advertiser.

Wallaceburg, Sept. 30.—Elaborate arrangements are being made for the big final intermediate lacrosse game here Saturday, when Brampton will be the visitors.

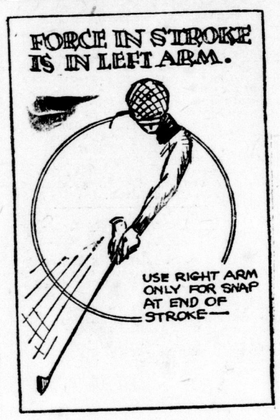

It is early yet to prophesy to whom will fall the honor of the championship. Wednesday's game may provide an indication when the locals journey to Brampton. The Wallaceburg boys will be at full strength and are all in the pink of condition, and there is one thing sure, that they will not be beaten without a terrific battle.

After giving the matter long and careful consideration the local officials have decided not to raise the admission price here Saturday. In order to insure keeping holders of "fence tickets" at a minimum, a large body of men will be placed around the grounds and every effort will be made to see that everybody witnessing this important game shall have paid his price of admission.

It is doubtful if there is any other organization in the province or even in the Dominion which has borne the burden of so heavy a financial load in the interests of sport as the little Glass Town, with never a though of turning back. Not only has it taken care of the necessary expenses connected with such a team for travelling expenses, etc. but this small sporting organization has built and equipped one of the finest club houses in the province, at a cost of over $2,500, and has paid for this building in full in one season. This with the help of the big-hearted supporters of their team, for which Wallaceburg has a wide reputation. In carrying out this project naturally the exchequer is more than depleted. Nevertheless, in consideration of those hundreds of supporters who so faithfully stood by the orange and black, the local officials waived the right to raise the admission fee for so important a game, which is perhaps the biggest and most important ever played in this part of the province, and in doing so are confident that the public will not be slow in recognizing this fact and will pack the side lines next Saturday.

Golf

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT.

Answered By

always a consistent place winner in the big tournaments—National open, Metropolitan open, Western open, and sectional tournaments. Famed for his accuracy and steadiness under fire.

* * *

With the left arm, by all means. The left arm is predominant throughout the whole golf swing. Too much right hand will cause hooking and many other troubles. The function of the right hand and arm is to speed up the club at the instant of hitting. It is the right arm which produces that whip-cracker flick of the wrists so necessary in driving a long ball. The "pushing through" of the right hand at the instant of impact is the thing that puts the snap and kick into the stroke.

FIRE PREVENTION CAMPAIGN READY

Organization Completed To Carry Message of Safety First.

K. P. BANQUET

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Sept. 30.—Organization for the fire prevention week campaign, October 5 to 11, was practically completed at a meeting in the chamber of commerce rooms at the Grand Central hotel this morning.

The campaign will be extended to every phase of the community life, schools, churches, business places and homes. Lawrence Davey, George Baldwin and E. G. Cooper were appointed to interest the merchants.

D. H. McIntyre and Ald. Webster, in charge of the parade, have many novel ideas. Chief Mitrella favors a public demonstration showing the proper method of sending in an alarm both by phone and box. A special committee has been named for the campaign in the schools. The Kiwanis club is planning a special fire prevention luncheon.

Plans for spreading propaganda throughout the surrounding district will be discussed at a meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Auto Damaged.

A coupe driven by R. C. Cochrill, manager of the Wendell Holmes Limited, collided with a street car at the William and Stanley street corner and was pushed into a telephone pole suffering a broken wheel and some minor dents. Mr. Cochrill escaped with a slight cut on the hand.

A gathering of some forty Jews celebrated the Jewish new year in the Liberal clubrooms. A visiting rabbi officiated at the sacred event, which began Sunday at sundown and continued till this evening.

Convention Planned.

The London district convention of the Latter Day Saints will be held at the church on Balaclava street Saturday and Sunday next. About 400 delegates are expected. Arrangements are being made to hold Sunday afternoon and evening meetings in a downtown theatre so the public may attend.

Rev. Robert Hicks delivered an address on the temperance question to the members of the home and school council at their regular quarterly meeting in the city hall Monday evening.

The Salvation Army auctioned off their harvest home produce at the citadel last evening, Dr. F. E. Bennett acting as auctioneer. The articles offered were largely the products of the gardens of members, or donated by citizens. A program of music was furnished by the band and army soloists.

Banquet Tendered.

F. A. Lemon, grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, was banqueted this evening by the Rathbone Lodge, No. 12, St. Thomas, on the occasion of his official visit.

A quiet wedding took place at Trinity church on Saturday, when Mrs. Maria Brindley was married to John Beal, Rev. Canon Andrew officiating. The bride, who was given away by her son, Rupert Brindley, was attended by Mrs. Eva Stoner as matron of honor. The groom was supported by Thomas Beech, brother of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Beal left for Detroit and points west. They will make their home at 43 Forest avenue.

The wedding of Ida May Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Richardson of Watford, to Gordon Johnston of Windsor was celebrated Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at the Knox church manse, Rev. J. M. MacGillivray officiating. There were no attendants.

A second mild case of infantile paralysis has been reported to the authorities, a nine-year-old boy on Princess avenue. One case of chickenpox completed the list of communicable diseases at present in the city.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. W. E. Ryckman at her home, 193 Wellington street, assisted by Mrs. H. R. Kilmer, for Miss Hannah Stagg, bride-elect. About 50 girl friends of the bride were present.

Associated Press Despatch.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 30.—An embargo on shipments of grain to the head of the lakes from all parts of the northwest was recommended today to the railroads reaching here in a resolution adopted by the joint terminal grain committee of the northwest regional advisory board, and assented to by the railroads.

It will be lifted as soon as congestion, caused by over shipping, subsides, and is put into effect to permit elevators here to catch up with unloading of cars.

Women Approve of Being Barred Work In Pulpit

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, Sept. 30.—A canvass of a number of women, prominent in Anglican circles, here this morning, revealed the fact that the women generally approve of the action of the synod in refusing to allow women to speak from Anglican pulpits. One woman said she thought women had plenty of work to do without interfering with the duties of the ministers. In this opinion most of the women seemed to concur.

CIVIL WARS AMONG CHINESE REGARDED IN JOCULAR MOOD

Special to The Advertiser.

Vancouver, Sept. 30. — Returning from Oriental ports, having called at Shanghai, China, on the outward and homeward journey for the first time in her history, the Canadian Pacific Steamship Empress of Canada docked here today at 3 o'clock, carrying approximately 500 passengers.

The list of third, cabin and steerage passengers was augmented at Kobe by the addition of 168 Russian emigrants from Harbin, brought out by the Canadian Pacific Railway with a view to placing them on the prairies. The party, which includes 135 adults, are of the better class farming and agriculture.

The general opinion of the war situation, according to a number of cabin passengers interviewed, was that correspondents of foreign papers were making much capital out of the trouble, and the majority of the passengers regarded the fighting in Shanghai in more or less of a jocular attitude. Foreign residents often drive out to some hill to obtain a bird's-eye view of the fighting. There is no ground for apprehension for foreigners in Shanghai, it was stated, because the rebellious army are frightened of damaging foreign property, which event they believe would in all probability

RACETRACK RETURNS SHOW HEAVY DECREASE IN BETTING

NEW CANADIAN CHAMPION.

Wagers $617,085 Less Than Those at Thorncliffe Spring Meet.

REVENUE REDUCED

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Sept. 30.—The steady decrease in racetrack betting in Ontario is illustrated by the returns for the fall meet of the Thorncliffe track, which has just closed. For the last Thorncliffe meet the total amount wagered amounted to $1,781,168, against the sum of $2,398,53 for the spring meet of this year.

Government revenue also has been reduced. The five per cent impost on winning tickets for the meet just closed netted the government $89,058.40, against $119,912.65 for the spring meet of the year, which shows a very substantial decrease in revenue. Government revenue of $89,058.40 for the meet just closed does not include the daily tax of $7,500 for the seven days meet, which would bring the total revenue of the fall meet up to $141,558, exclusive of amusement tax, which is computed in another department, for the meet just closed.

LOSES IN FINALS.

Mrs. Hope Gibson of Hamilton was defeated in the finals for the Canadian closed women's golf championship Saturday.

BLAME FREIGHTER FOR LOSS OF LIVES.

Aeroplane To Aid in Search For Two Drowned in Detroit River.

Special to The Advertiser.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 30.—Lieut. Lawrence Lyons, commanding the detachment of state police in Ecorse, was to fly over the mouth of the Detroit river and Lake Erie today to search for the bodies of the two women, drowned Sunday night when the small motorboat in which they were riding with a state trooper hit a rock and sunk in the Livingstone channel, off Tawas island.

Fred Jarr, 24 years old, the trooper, was rescued nearly two hours after the launch went down.

The women were Mrs. John Gonsuch, wife of a Gibraltar township resident, and Mrs. Daisy Crater, wife of William Crater, 3415 John R street.

Dragging of the river, Monday and today, failed to reveal any trace of the bodies, believed to have floated out into Lake Erie, driven by the fast-moving current. Both women had on life preservers.

Freighter Passed By.

Jarr, recovering today from shock, at the home of Lieut. E. S. Masters, commanding the South Rockwood post to which he is attached, charged that an upbound freighter, the name of which he could not distinguish, passed by the sinking motorboat, without making any effort to rescue its occupants. He declared if the freighter had lowered a boat the two women could have been saved.

The motorboat sunk about 10:45 p.m., and Jarr, clinging to a spar marking the channel bank, was rescued nearly two hours later by Capt. Frank J. Hackett, Amhersburg, in charge of the lights and markers of the channel. Capt. Hackett said he was informed by the commanding officer of the freighter that a man was seen clinging to the spar, but that the freighter could not stop to help him because the channel is so narrow they were afraid of going on the rocks.

Capt Hackett said he did not know of the women until he had rescued Jarr and the latter had recovered sufficiently to tell him his two companions were missing. Capt. Hackett searched but failed to find them, and finally took Jarr to the channel lighthouse, later landing him on the American side of the river.

INDUSTRIALS ARE LEADING FACTORS

Wall Street Stock Issues Swing Into Broad Upward Movement.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Oct. 1.—Stock prices swung into a broad upward movement under the leadership of standard industrial shares. Shorts scurried to cover as the movement got under way, and were forced to bid high for many issues because of the scarcity in the floating supply. Railway Steel Spring soared 7 points to a new top at 135, and other equipments advanced 1 to 3 points in sympathy. Merchnadise shares responded to reports of large current earnings, international Shoe leading this group with an advance of nearly 5 points.

Bullish demonstrations also continued with unabated vigor in the public utilities, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore resuming its sensational climb by touching another new high at 154½, or nearly 18 points above last weeks' low. People's Gas moved up 4½ points. American Can was marked up more than 3 points to 132. Dividend-paying rails continued to respond to the record-breaking figures, Rock Island 7 per cent preferred, Atlantic Coast Line and Lehigh Valley being the early leaders. Call money was renewed at 2½ per cent.

BOND PRICES LOWER AS MONEY RATE CLIMBS

Railroad Issues Show Activity As Interest Date Nears.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Sept. 30. — With trading retarded by the tigher money situation, bond prices today drifted irregularly lower. Activity in the leading income and adjustment bonds, including those of the Frisco and Katy railroads, was prompted by the fact that they sell ex-interest tomorrow. Price movements generally, however, were narrow and insignificant.

Explanation for the recent flurry in Mexican government obligations was found today in the announcement that a Texas banker, comparatively unknown in Wall street, would attempt to sell $50,000,000 Mexican six per cent bonds. International bankers professed ignorance of the plan, and little information was available as to the details of the offering. It had little effect on the listed bonds, although most of the issues eased off slightly. Trading was quiet in other foreign bonds, with the new Belgian 6½'s setting a new high record at 97⅛.

Despite a demand for a number of southwestern bonds, the main trend of the rail group was better, including those of the Burlington, Southern Pacific, Big Four bonds, were heavy. Liberty bonds were irregular with treasury 4's in demand.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of $5,000,000 public service of Illinois, 40-year, 5's at 96, to yield more than 5 per cent. Scheduled for Thursday is an offering of $12,500,000 United Drug company 20-year sixes with preference in subscription given to old bondholders. Proceeds will be used to call the company's 8 per cent bonds at 115.

MEXICAN GOVT. BONDS AROUSE INVESTORS

Issue Not Underwritten, But Is Being Sold On Commission Basis.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Sept. 30.—Public offering of $50,000,000 Mexican government bonds without the knowledge and participation of international bankers today provoked widespread comment and discussion in investment circles. No information as to the success of the offering was available here, as J. S. Arlitt, a banker little known in Wall street, who is attempting to float the issue, was said to be directing operations from his headquarters in Austin, Tex. Miss A. M. Hiltenmeyer, in charge of Mr. Arlitt's New York office, denied knowledge of the details of the transaction and said offers to purchase the bonds would be forwarded to Austin.

Unlike most foreign and corporation bond offerings, the Mexican issue apparently has not been underwritten, but will be sold for the government on a commission basis.

Official comment on the transaction was withheld by members of the international committee of bankers of Mexico which negotiated the Mexican debt agreement in 1922. Suspension of this agreement was necessitated earlier this year when Mexico defaulted interest payments on the bonds involved in the plan.

CONFERENCE LIKELY TO BE CALLED LATER

Ald. Smith Declares Question of Electing Alderman To Be Considered Again.

Efforts made yesterday to secure a conference between city aldermen and committeemen of the chamber of commerce regarding changes in electing aldermen failed to materialize. While a keen desire is shown by Ald. Smith, who has championed the suggestion, to get the matter under discussion, the committees have been unable to get together yet.

Ald. Smith said today that, though unsuccessful so far, efforts would be made shortly to get the scheme furthered. His suggestion is that the council be cut to eight aldermen and a mayor. The aldermen would be elected for two-year terms, four each year, in order that continuity of government be maintained.

During the first year of operation it is suggested that the four aldermen who lead in the polling be retained for two years, while the four securing lesser totals sit for only the first year.

In this way the ward system would be completely eliminated and the entire city would vote on the same slate of candidates.

BRANTFORD COUNCIL SEEKS INFORMATION

The city council of Brantford is seeking information regarding the handling of market hucksters in Western Ontario towns. A delegation visited the Hamilton market on Monday and was much impressed with the manner in which producers are taken care of there. Information is also being secured from Woodstock, Guelph, and London.

Brantford's biggest problem is to secure more shelter for the farmers and gardeners, many of whom have to stand out in the open while they sell their produce. The same is the case on part of London's market, though changes are now being considered here may be of use to the Brantford committee.

In some cities, like Kitchener and Stratford, where markets are well patronized, long market houses, which house many vendors, are in popular use the year around.

Ed. Houghton's Suggestions Will Come Before Number One Members Tonight.

Suggestions of Ed. Houghton, city collector of taxes, will be brought up tonight at the regular session of No. 1 committee of the city council. Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, Sept. 30.—The wheat market was very nervous and erratic today with the tendency toward higher values most of the session, October touching a new high at $1.53¾, but this was not held, considerable profit taking near the close causing reaction. The trade volume was very large, the local market leading all outside points in the advance on the strength of a fair export demand, heavy buying against sales in other markets, a good speculative demand and covering by exporters who were "shorts" in October. This gave the market early strength, but profit taking cut sharply into the advances before the close which was 1⅛c higher for October; ½c for November; 1⅜c for December, and 1⅜c for May.

Barley and flax also made strong gains.

Future oats were in only fair demand, with prices fractionally higher, while barley showed pronounced strength on good buying by "shorts" and houses with New York connections, and a large trade was worked with prices ruling from 6½c to 9c higher, December making the highest gain. A good export demand came out for rye, which advanced 2¼c to 2⅝c. Flax was very strong on a light trade, and October jumped 10c, November 9c, December 5½c and May 5¾c.

With the continued strength shown by the wheat futures there was not much doing in the cash wheat market. Buyers backing away with the result that premiums fell away ½c to 2c on the contract grades, while some of the lower grades and off grades were three cents lower. Canadian millers were the only buyers today.

There was nothing doing in the cash coarse grains and flax, owing to the advance in the futures, and all spreads were fractionally weaker.

CHICAGO

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—General commission house selling, together with lack of adequate support from buyers, led to lower prices for wheat today in the early dealings. The selling was said to be largely of a profit-taking character on the part of holders. On the declines, houses with seaboard connections became somewhat more active on the buying side of the market. Opening prices which ranged from ⅝c to 1¾c lower, were followed by something of a rally. Fine weather and bearish crop estimates turned the corn market downward. After opening unchanged to 1⅝ lower, prices underwent a decided general sag. Oats developed firmness owing more or less to talk of probable scarcity of mill feed. Starting unchanged to ½c off the market later scored little gains.

Opening futures:

Wheat—May, $1.45¾.

Corn—Dec., $1.09⅛; May, $1.10½.

Oats—Dec., 52⅜c; May, 56⅜c.

CANADIAN SHORE OF HURON IS SEARCHED FOR 30 BODIES

Lake in Vicinity of Goderich Watched by Organized Patrol.

FIND WRECKAGE

Vessel Picks Up Floating Unidentified Debris in Upper Lake.

Special to The Advertiser.

Goderich, Sept. 30. — With the arrival yesterday noon of Richard A. Harrison, travelling commissioner of the Lake Carriers' association, the search for the bodies of the 28 members of the crew of the steamer Clifton, which went down in the gale of Sunday, Aug. 21, was systematically begun.

Mr. Harrison came to Goderich because of his belief that, with the prevailing winds, the bodies of the missing crew, if found, will come ashore between Goderich and Southampton, with the probability of their being found between Goderich and Kincardine. Under the supervision of Mr. Harrison, the beach from Goderich to Port Albert was patrolled, but no wreckage was found that could be definitely shown to belong to the ill-fated steamer.

The wind today has been fresh from the north, but tonight has shifted to the westward. According to Harrison, the continuance of this wind for another day is certain to bring the wreckage ashore if not the bodies. He also states that it is probable that at least four of the missing men, the captain, mate, wheelsman and watch, would get clear of the boat in the event of her capsizing suddenly, and at least these four bodies should be soon located.

Mr. Harrison describes the likely location of the disaster as at a point, 35 miles due west of Southampton. All the wreckage located so far has been found within the radius of a circle about five to seven miles.

Two tugs of Brock McAuley are operating out of Southampton harbor, seraching the coast, but as yet have reported no success.

WRECKAGE FOUND.

Special to The Advertiser.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 30.—Wreckage either from the ill-fated whaleback steamer Clifton, which went down in Lake Huron last week, or from another ship which was lost in recent storms is floating in upper Lake Huron, it was revealed today.

Clarence Hill, who operates a small boat out of Albany Island, came into the Soo today with wreckage he picked up yesterday two miles east of Albany Island, in upper Lake Huron, many miles from the point where the rest of the Clifton wreckage was found.

The wreckage picked up by Hill was not marked, and identification was not possible. It consisted of two hatches, two deck tubs, a mattress, a barrel of lard oil and part of a wicker chair.

It is believed here that if wreckage found by Hill is found to be from the Clifton, the explanation is that the whaleback ran into a storm soon after leaving entrance of the straits, and was badly shattered there and lost some of her equipment, after which she was able to proceed down the lake to the point where she finally broke up.

Thirty persons are believed to have lost their lives aboard the Clifton, although no bodies have been found. The victims included 28 members of crew and wife and child of the steward.

CABINET PASSES ORDER FOR CONTROL OF LAKE

New Joint Board To Be Set Up Over Lake of the Woods.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—The order-in-council, setting up the joint board of control over the waters on the Lake of the Woods, is understood to have been passed by the cabinet, but, pending its signature by the governor-general its terms have not yet been announced.

It is reported that the new board will have on it representatives of Manitoba and Ontario, as well as of the dominion.

It is proposed, according to information available, to provide for full control of the lake levels by means of Norman dam, which is owned by E. W. Backus.

KITCHENER MAN CLEARED OF BLAME IN AUTO CRASH

Special to The Advertiser.

Kitchener, Sept. 30.—The coroner's jury this evening found that Allen Shoemaker exercised reasonable precautions and no blame is attached to him for the death of Alfred Pearson, who died September 24, following a collision on the previous evening with Shoemaker's car, while he was riding on a bicycle.

ASTHMADOR GUARANTEED TO RELIEVE ASTHMA

"I have arranged with all druggists here, as well as in all other towns of Canada, that every sufferer from Asthma, Hay Fever, Bronchial Asthma, or difficult breathing in this city can try my treatment entirely at my risk," Dr. R. Schiffmann announces. He says: "Buy a package of my Asthmador, try it, and if it does not afford you immediate relief, or if you do not find it the best remedy you have ever used, take it back to your druggist and he will return your money, cheerfully and without any question whatever. After seeing the grateful relief it has afforded in hundreds of cases, which had been considered incurable, and which had been given up in despair, I know what it will do. I am so sure that it will do the same with others that I am not afraid to guarantee it will relieve instantaneously. Druggists anywhere handling Asthmador will return your money if you say so. You are to be the sole judge and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying Asthmador." Also sent on same guarantee, per parcel post C.O.D. or on receipt of price, 90 cents, if not kept by your druggist, by addressing Lyman-Knox Co., Montreal.

Vote On Liquor Will Be Denied Moose Factory

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Sept. 30.—Owing to the expense and the fact that only five or six votes at the outside would be cast, the government has decided not to take an expression of opinion on the plebiscite at Moose Factory or Hudson's Bay. During the last provincial election a government aeroplane made the trip into Moose Factory and took the vote.

Work preceding the vote is going on rapidly. The majority of the returning officers have had their proclamations printed, and copies are in the hands of the government. Officials of the election department are out through the province giving instruction to returning officers on the manner of conducting the vote in their constituencies.

ASK FOR COURT PROBE OF HAMILTON SCANDAL

Board of Control Believes Judicial Inquiry More Satisfactory Than Audit.

Hamilton, Sept. 30.—The board of control today discussed the civic tax scandal, which was exposed a couple of weeks ago, and decided to ask the city council for authority to have a judicial inquiry into tax office affairs if such a step is deemed necessary.

This feeling is that such an inquiry would be more satisfactory to the public than a mere audit of the books, and would also serve to show looseness in the system.

THREE ARE FINED.

Blenheim, Sept. 30.—In police court this morning Onesime Deleois paid a fine of $100 and costs for having liquor, C. Richardson $50 and costs and A. Molock $50 and costs for drinking. Night Constable Walter Fenton about 1 o'clock this morning accosted the three men, who claimed to be from Windsor. In the auto he found 26 bottles of beer. All three pleaded guilty.

Growing 5 times faster than population

"More population", Canadians cry—for one reason, because every new citizen adds to the demand for what we have to sell.

But the use of the telephone is racing far ahead of the increase in population. The number of new telephones increases, according to the average of the last ten years, by over 11% a year. Population increases about 2%.

As each new subscriber adds to the value of YOUR telephone, its potential value to you becomes over 11 per cent greater each year.

Whom could you sell today by Long Distance?

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

An Appeal to Some Philanthropist.

Milicent
Is sweet as May-Day violets,
And gay as she is sweet;
It seems a taste of heaven
Every time we meet;
She is no "phantom of delight,"
But genuinely bona fide;
She is so fine
I'd make her mine—
But we've no place to "bide."

I have no millions of my own
And Milicent abhors
All pikers and their poverty—
And so my love ignores.

If only some philanthropist
Would kindly me endow—
I'd make it right with Milicent—
And we could marry now.

She's So Jong and Afraid!

Mrs. T.—"Bridget, if you find a green dragon when you sweep this morning bring it to me."

Bridget—"Please, mum, I don't like sich animals an' if you don't mind I'll give notice now."

Easy to Find.

"That office boy of yours is always whistling. Doesn't it annoy you?"

"It does a little, but then, when I hear him whistling I know where he is."

To Memory Dear.

Buck—"I never saw such enthusiasm as at the football games."

Williams—"That shows we still love anything with a kick to it."

How the Girls Talk—Now That Vacations Are Over.

"The boys simply went wild over my hair."

"He had the most wonderful car! All the other girls were jealous because I rode in it every day."

"The married women at our place just couldn't keep their husbands away from me, dear."

"Three different men proposed to me. I'm still trying to make up my mind which one to accept."

Verse and Worse.

I can, of wedding etiquette,
Very, very little say,
It hasn't been my luck, as yet,
To have a wedding day.

But there's one thing, I have perceived,
Occurs at nuptials gay—
'Tis the newspaper, not papa,
Who gives the bride away."

Spoiling a Good Thing.

"There is a movement on foot," remarked dad, "to teach geography in our schools by means of motion pictures."

"Aw gee," complained little Bobby, "that's a mean trick. What do they want to go and take all the fun out of the movies for?"

Attributes.

First Flapper—"Jack is a swell dresser, isn't he?"

Second Flapper—"Yes, and he has such a perfect form-fitting arm!"

Life ain't what it used to be, said the aged Indian.

"Heap too much bald heads and shingle bobs make palefaces' scalps no good."

Julietta.

When Julietta was a maid of three
She used to come and perch on my knee,
And there, with childhood's sweet, seductive art,
She wove a captive web about my heart.

"Now, what are girlies made of, tell me pray?"
"Oh, sugar, spice, and all things nice," she'd say.

Some fifteen years have winged their changeful flight;
Lipstick and rouge have made her ultra bright;
Nor would she think of sitting on my knee;
That right's reserved for younger men, you see!

Her sugar content's low; she's not so nice;
Offsetting these she's added lots of spice.

By Proxy.

"You don't hear so many people bragging about the home-brew they are making as you did a year ago."

"Of course not. Now that the novelty has worn off most people let their servants make it."

HOW FASHIONS CHANGE.

The candidate is now the thing;
His gift of gab has made him king!
One year ago on history's page,
Tut, a mute mummy, was the rage!

Worth Her Weight in Gold.

Prudence—"Was their marriage happy?"

Pricilla—"Yes, she made her own hats."

The Attraction.

"Why is Dolly so crazy to be introduced to the great foreign pianist?"

"She wants to ask him how she can make her bobbed hair stand out like his."

I had a girl named Marcel,
She was my devoted slave,
And every time I passed her house
I saw my Marcel wave.

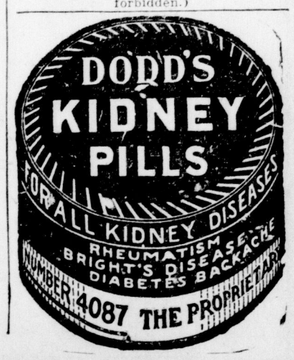

Learn While You Dine.

"Are you an experienced waiter?" asked the restaurant manager.

"Oh, yes," replied the applicant. "I've been eating in cafeterias for years."

"I never," remarked Uncle Pennywise, "saw any advertised goods live up to claims as do these non-intoxicants."

MOVE TO BAR NETS FROM THE THAMES

Protective Association Makes Proposal To Increase Spawning Chances.

A deputation from the Western Ontario fish and game protective association waited on the directors of the chamber of commerce at their monthly meeting yesterday. They sought the co-operation of the chamber of commerce in sponsoring a bill to prohibit fishing by net in the Thames river between March 1 and June 1.

The association claims that the fish coming from the mouth of the river each year are caught before they have a chance to spawn.

The section that would be most affected by such a bill is Chatham, where it is claimed fishing nets are used to a large extent.

On the motion of C. M. R. Graham it was decided to indorse the proposal. The matter will be placed before the provincial department of fisheries, and if nothing is forthcoming from that department, Ottawa officials will be approached. H. W. Peele and Frank Adams backed Mr. Graham on the indorsement of the bill.

YUCATAN, THE LAND EXOTIC, A TREASURE-TROVE FOR THE SCIENTIST, ANTHROPOLOGIST AND ARCHAEOLOGIST WHERE THE ANCIENT CIVILIZATION VIES WITH THE RECENT EGYPTIAN EXPLORATION.

THE CAPITAL OF YUCATAN IS A MODERN CITY OF 100,000 INHABITANTS AND WITH ALL THE CONFORTS OF A FIRST CLASS CITY.

YUCATAN DIVORCE LAWYER'S CARD.

The card of a divorce lawyer at Meridan, Yucatan, Mexico. This is an exact photographic reproduction, except for elimination of the attorney's portrait and name. In the original the lines which show here only in part conclude: "Yucatan, the land exotic, a treasure-trove for the scientist, anthropologist and archaeologist, where the ancient Mayan civilization vies with the recent Egyptian exploration. Merida, the capital of Yucatan, is a modern city of 100,000 inhabitants, clean and beautiful, and with all the comforts of a first-class city."

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO MAKES DIVORCE EASIER

Reno Now Passes—Action at Yucatan Only Takes Thirty Days.

TAKE NO EVIDENCE

Desire For Divorce Only Necessity—Cost Comparatively Low.

Reno is now out of date as the popular mecca for wives and husbands looking for a jumping off place from the matrimonial corral.

Merida, Yucatan, down in sunny Mexico, has taken the place of Reno, the old battle ground of Johnson and Jeffries and others, under the shadow of the snow-capped hills.

Within the last few months the government of the United States has obligingly recognized the present Mexican government and accordingly the Mexican divorce laws are rendered valid in the States.

These laws are the acme of convenience to the aspirants toward divorce, and that, together with the easy means of access to Mexico and the short time needed to get a divorce, have made the new center of disunion popular.

To show how easy this rupture of the conjugal bond is in Mexico, read these four conditions of the Mexican divorce laws:

1. Of the foreigner, residence of thirty days in Yucatan is required. The Yucatecan receives his papers as rapidly as they can be made out. An entry on a hotel register establishes residence.

2. Proof of marriage must be supplied—a copy of the marriage certificate, witnessed by a notary public whose powers must be authenticated by a higher official, whose authority again must be proved by the statement of the Mexican consul in whose jurisdiction the papers are obtained, and, in extreme cases, this consul's signature must be submitted to the Mexican state department in Mexico city and verified there.

3. Remarriage, permitted to the man at once, is permitted to the woman only 300 days after the divorce or the date of actual separation.

4. Property questions, the support of the divorced wife, and the disposal of children, are arranged by agreement, and this is embodied in the decree. If there is no agreement, the judge, on application of either party, prescribes the terms of the settlement. As such an adjustment might be subject to question in another country it is, in the case of foreigners, as a matter of fact, left to subsequent legal action in their own jurisdiction.

According to clause 3, it is very much a man's law, for while the man can remarry immediately the decree is granted the woman may not do so within 300 days.

Matter of Expense.

Then there is the matter of expense to be considered, even for the wealthiest and most frequent visitors. Here is the way one well-known Merida lawyer, a man who has acted in the interests of many Americans, puts it:

"At Reno six months' legal residence is required; in most other American states two years. In Paris wealthy persons have been known to get a divorce in six weeks, under favorable conditions. Eight months or a year is more regular. Here in Merida it is thirty days.

"The fee of a Reno divorce lawyer runs from $200 to thousands; the court costs are thirty or forty dollars. There is the cost of living for six months. At Paris the lawyers' fees are apt to run high, from two thousand dollars up. In Merida it is not necessary to have a lawyer, but if you have one a fee of 100 to 200 pesos—$50 to $100—will see you through. Court fees range from 40 to 250 pesos. The rates are scaled so that a divorce by mutual consent with no children, is the cheapest while where either husband or wife objects it is higher. The rate increases also with each additional child. The money collected in fees is to be used for the benefit of homes for children of divorced couples.

"Lawyers' fees here are for routine services. There is no litigation.

"Travelling expenses, from New York say, are less to Merida than to either Reno or Paris. The first class steamer fare is $102. Hotel expenses are lower than in New York.

"But, chief consideration, in no other place that I know of is it legally possible to obtain a divorce without the consent of the other party where that party is blameless. Even in Russia that party must be heard.

"As for legality in the United States, one of the most prominent legal lights on international divorce was quoted the other day as saying that Merida decrees are just as good as any, if Mexico continues to be recognized."

It is interesting to reflect that this most attractive law from the point of view of the American, was framed by Governor Carrillo of Merida, who, after an adventurous career in behalf of the insurgents, was shot, and that it is practically the same law now in operation in Russia.

He was an idealist, who believed that a marriage which lacked the mutual love of man and woman was not worth maintaining, and that the most intimate of human relationships should not be dragged into the court room.

The Yucatan law has not fulfilled the prophecies of its opponents and ushered in an era of "free love" with official sanction. The increase in divorces has been about 50 per cent, including foreigners who formerly did not figure in the total. In 1922 there were 58 divorces registered at Merida; in 1923 there were 115, and of these 13 had taken place before the new law was put into effect.

Some forty Americans, among them about a dozen women, have taken advantage of the law thus far. There have also been English, Canadians, Germans, Spanish and Mexicans from outside Yucatan.

"This accommodating law has proved useful in all sorts of cases," says a resident American. "One divorce parted a man from a wife to whom he had been married seven months before he discovered she could not read or write. Two couples changed partners, all within a few hours. A boy and girl holding ultra-modern notions married one day to appease the demands of their parents, and the next secretly obtained a divorce that they might live untrammeled by legal bonds. A rich oil-well driller divorced his sixth wife to marry the seventh, secure in the knowledge that this need not conclude the series while there was recourse to the laws of Yucatan.

Stranded in Rebellion.

"There was the case of a divorce-seeking husband who was stranded here during the rebellion. He lacked the documents proving his marriage. No steamers were running. With difficulty he got a message through to the girl in Philadelphia who was waiting to marry him. She was to send the papers to Mexico City for the necessary signature, have them returned to her, and then get them through the blockade into Yucatan. After vain attempts to use the mails and the loss of two sets of documents, she came to New Orleans and there hired a tugboat. The captain backed out at the last minute, however. She sought a job on a freighter to a port on the Mexican coast. After many refusals on the ground that such boats had no place for a woman, she donned men's clothes, and her persuasiveness and persistence won her the job of cook and cabin boy on a fruit boat going to Frontera. From there to one little port and another she made her way in small coasting sailboats, missed her lover—who in the meantime had chartered another sailboat to meet her—after some weeks of hardships and struggle, in a country aflame with civil war, finally arrived at Merida, delivered the papers and married her man."

It is foreigners, and particularly Americans—"Gringoes"—who take advantage of this law. To the ordinary Meridan it is an insult to his beautiful city looking out over the soft Caribbean, and he has no love for the cheap notoriety which has thus been forced upon his home.

Weasel Proves Hawk's Master In Death Battle

Special to The Advertiser.

Guelph, Sept. 30.—Noticing a chicken-hawk fluttering in the ditch east of Victoria road yesterday afternoon, John Barton, York road, found the bird of prey in its death throes. Clinging to the body with its teeth sunken deep into the flesh under the wing was a weasel, which refused to let go its hold on the dying bird until killed by a blow with a stick.

It is surmised that the hawk dropped on the weasel and attempted to carry it off, and that the little animal, retaliating, succeeded in getting a deadly grip on its opponent, bringing it down. The hawk was so badly torn that it bled to death.

Warm Underwear for Cold Days

When correct underwear is worn, winter can be the most physically comfortable of all seasons. And also the healthiest. Warm, well-fitting underwear takes the longest step of all toward neutralizing the danger of coughs and colds which recurs annually with each winter season. Scientifically made underwear is a protection against too rigorous weather. And the best protection against an even more menacing climate—that which changes constantly from snow to sleet, from chill rains to brisk colds. For it keeps the body always at an even and hygienic temperature.
