FIGURES DO LIE.

Prices are only Relative

REGAL ENGINES are the highest priced engines, yet they are the cheapest.

They are the highest priced engines because they cost more to build. They are the cheapest engines, because they will last twice as long as any other engine.

They are also the cheapest engines because they save your time, and "Time is money."

If you shut your eyes to this real bargain in engines, you will be the sorriest fisherman who ever signed an order.

You will lose more money than you can afford to lose, and your oil bills will be twice as large.

REGAL ENGINES use less oil, have more power, run with less trouble and give more genuine satisfaction than any other engine on the market.

We are, in the near future, going to ask all cash for REGAL ENGINES, so buy one before we make this change, as we intend to make them the "Hall Mark" engines of Newfoundland.

We ship REGAL ENGINES complete with full book of instructions, and when once installed in your boat, any child can run one.

REGAL ENGINES are higher priced than other engines, but are the cheapest in the long run, because they run the longest.

Throbbing, Neuralgic Headache Cured

Head-Splitting Distress Vanishes Instantly

This Wonderful Curative Liniment Never Fails.

RUB ON NERVILINE.

Neuralgia quickly cured is twice, nay, ten times cured. Little neuralgia pains grow into big ones, but "Nerviline" in ten minutes relieves even the worst ones. Even a single application will remove the nerve congestion that causes the pain.

Nerviline penetrates deeply into the sore tissue, reaches the source of inflammation, drives it out, root and branch. Every drop of Nerviline is potent in pain-subduing power, and its strongest charm lies in the fact that it rubs right in, even to the very last drop. Nerviline is not greasy, and its pain-removing power is at least five times greater in strength than ordinary remedies.

We guarantee Nerviline will cure neuralgia—not only relieve it, but actually and permanently cure it. Just in the same way will it cure lumbago, sciatica, stiffness and rheumatism. To conquer all muscular and nerve pain, use Nerviline. A large bottle in the home keeps the doctor's bill small. Get the large 50c. family size bottle; it is more economical than the 25c. trial size. Sold by all druggists everywhere.

The Cruise of the "Kingfisher."

CHAPTER XL.

"We had better go in," said Mr. Bulpit; and he led the way with legal calm. It was some time before they could reach the solicitors' seats, the crowd was so dense, and each member so fearful of losing his place; and a murmur rose as Lord Lisle was seen to take a seat beside Edward Bryan instead of on the bench.

The last small case was proceeded with, then the clerk said:

"Bring in the prisoner."

There was a stir, a buzz of curiosity and excitement, and all eyes were turned to the dock. A couple of policemen entered with Rath between them, and the intense silence which followed for a moment, as all eyes scanned him, was succeeded by a murmur of surprise. And in Rath's appearance there was cause for it. No one could possibly look less guilty of a coarse and brutal murder than Rath as he stood, straight as an arrow, his handsome face perfectly calm, his eyes quietly travelling round the crowded court with an expression of interest and curiosity.

At the moment of Rath's appearance, Mr. Bulpit was bent over his notes. When he looked up, a slight exclamation sprang from his lips. He stared with a half-puzzled frown at the prisoner, and for a moment he seemed overwhelmed by some impression caused by the prisoner's appearance. His was not the only ejaculation of surprise, and many eyes turned from Rath to the haggard face of Ralph, where he sat slightly behind Lord Hatherley.

"Great heavens! what a likeness!" murmured Mr. Bulpit; and he, too, glanced at Ralph and then again at the prisoner. But he recovered his usual composure in a moment, and taking out his snuff-box, slowly took a pinch.

Edward had caught Rath's eye at last, and he nodded affectionately and cheerfully.

"Does he look like a guilty man?" he asked of Mr. Bulpit, in an indignant whisper.

But Mr. Bulpit did not appear to hear him.

"Rayne—Rayne?" he muttered, between his pursed lips.

The clerk read the charge, the superintendent stepped into the witness box. Just below him was the white, grief-stricken face of Workley, as he sat with bent head and nervously working hands. He had glanced at Ralph as he had entered with the other magistrates, but it had only been a glance, as if he were absorbed by his grief and thirst for vengeance; and his eyes, as they left Ralph's face, went with a vindictive glare to Rath.

The usher called "Silence!" the buzz and hum died out, and every head was thrust forward to catch the superintendent's words.

In the dry, official voice and manner, he said:

"I propose to give evidence of the arrest only, your worships, and to ask for a remand."

Lord Hatherley nodded in concurrence, but Mr. Bulpit rose.

"I appear for the prisoner, my lord, and I oppose the proposal of a remand. My client is innocent, and we could not expect the earliest and fullest investigation."

There was a murmur of surprise at Mr. Bulpit's voice and bearing. Had the old lawyer got something up his sleeve, some information of which the police were ignorant?

"Such an objection is unusual, Mr. Bulpit," said Lord Hatherley, suggestively; but Mr. Bulpit bowed obstinately.

"The case has only just reached my hands, my lord; I am desirous of hearing the evidence."

"Very good," said Lord Hatherley, after a whispered conference with his fellow-magistrates. "We cannot refuse your application, Mr. Bulpit."

The superintendent, amidst a breathless silence, stated that the prisoner had been arrested at the police station; and almost before he had finished, Mr. Bulpit asked:

"He surrendered, you mean? He was accompanied by Mr. Bryan here; there was no police, no other person with them?"

"Yes, sir—no, sir, they were alone. I call the doctor, your worships."

The doctor stepped into the box, and gave his evidence with a professional directness. Death was caused by wounds inflicted by a knife.

"In your opinion, how long had the deceased been dead before you saw her?" asked Mr. Bulpit.

As the question was answered, Ralph craned forward, then drew back.

"Not very long—a quarter of an hour. It is impossible to say within a few minutes."

"Could the wounds have been inflicted by the deceased's own hands?"

"No; certainly not. One was made from a position which would have been impossible to the deceased."

Mr. Bulpit nodded, and Workley slowly climbed into the box. For a moment or two he seemed incapable of speech; then, as if with a great effort, he told his story in a hoarse voice, his small eyes fixed on the wall opposite him. Everyone listened with breathless interest, and all eyes were turned to Rath, who stood listening with grave intentness.

"The prisoner was bending over the body? Had he it in his arms?"

Workley hesitated.

"Please don't hurry, Mr. Workley," said Mr. Bulpit, in his dry way, but with every possible courtesy. "Search your memory; tell us exactly, minutely, what you saw."

arms," answered Workley, doggedly.

"Supporting it?"

"Yes."

"And now I will ask you to be very careful. Did he offer to run away?"

"No."

"Did you call to him to surrender? You would naturally exclaim with horror at the awful sight. Did you charge him with the crime, and call upon him to yield himself your prisoner?"

"No. I—do not remember. Can a man remember what he said or did at such a moment?" demanded Workley, hoarsely.

"Not very well," assented Mr. Bulpit. "But I may take it that you sprang upon him at once; any man would do so."

"Yes."

"And he resisted your attack?"

"Yes."

"You were hurt? Yes. Did the gamekeepers who came to your assistance call upon him to surrender himself?"

"No—no; I think not."

"And he resisted them, fought them, in fact, and they were hurt?"

"Yes; he fought as if for his life," said Workley, grimly.

"Quite so. As you would have done if you had been suddenly attacked without, so far as you knew, rhyme or reason?"

"Yes."

"Mr. Workley, you knew the deceased? Did you ever hear her mention the prisoner's name?"

"No, sir."

"Mr. Workley, I beg you to believe that I have every desire to spare your feelings, but—but you were desirous of marrying this unfortunate lady? Is that so?"

"Yes," dropped from Workley's lips.

"But she was married already?"

Lord Hatherley, who had acquired considerable legal knowledge in his long experience as a magistrate, interposed.

"You cannot ask the witness that question, Mr. Bulpit," he said, gravely.

Mr. Bulpit bowed.

"Quite so, my lord." To the witness: "Have you ever met the husband of the deceased?"

"No, never," answered Workley, between his teeth.

Mr. Bulpit dismissed him with a courteous wave of the hand, and a gamekeeper took his place. He gave an account of the discovery of the knife. A shudder ran through the crowd as the weapon was handed up to the magistrates, and a murmur of horror arose as the witness told how Rath had owned the knife.

"He owned it at once; claimed it, in fact; at once, immediately?" asked Mr. Bulpit.

"Yes, sir, at once," was the prompt answer. "He seemed surprised like that we didn't give it to him there and then; in fact, Mr. Bulpit, if us hadn't caught him there red-handed, as you may say, us 'ud have found it hard to believe—"

"That is not evidence," said the clerk, rebukingly.

"Beg pardon, sir, beg pardon, your worships," said the gamekeeper, touching his forehead respectfully. "I thought as Mr. Bulpit wanted to know everything—"

"I do," said Mr. Bulpit, solemnly; and the crowd moved excitedly. "One question: You heard the prisoner ask for the knife; did he search for it in his pocket?"

"Yes, sir; I seed 'un; but he could not find it, and one of us—it was William, the second keeper—noticed that the bottom of the pocket—"

"Silence!" came from the clerk again.

Back came the doctor to swear to the stains on Rath's coat-sleeve and on the knife; but Mr. Bulpit seemed to attach little importance to this evidence.

"The stains might be caused by the prisoner's holding the body?" he asked.

The doctor assented.

There was a pause, and Mr. Bulpit looked round.

met the prisoner on the fatal night by accident or appointment?"

There was a stir in the court, and the crowd turned towards the door.

Rath himself did not move. He had listened to the witnesses, to Mr. Bulpit's cross-examination, with a strange commingling of emotions, in which surprise predominated.

All these men were trying to prove him guilty. Why? Why had they not searched for and found the man who had done it?

He looked from one magistrate to another gravely, but without fear. Then his eyes met Edward's, and he smiled calmly, as if he were aware of, and appreciated, his friend's sympathy.

The superintendent pushed his way towards the box, followed by a slight, girlish figure, which was at once the target of every eye.

She walked with bent head and clasped hands to the box, and as she went up the steps, Lord Lisle was seen to spring to his feet and heard to utter an exclamation.

It caused Rath to turn towards him, and then to the witness-box. Instantly a cry arose from him, a cry of amazement, of joy.

"Stella!" sprang from his lips.

She started and raised her head, a look of answering amazement and joy shone in her eyes, and she stretched out her hands to him, crying:

"Rath! Rath!"

CHAPTER XLV.

"Rath!"

"Stella!"

With outstretched hands they leant forward and gazed at each other, with wonder and love fighting for the mastery in their eyes. If the policemen who guarded him had not laid restraining hands upon him, Rath would have leapt from the dock to her. As it was, he gazed and gazed with flashing, flaming eyes and quivering frame.

And Stella, with heaving bosom and parted lips, kept murmuring his name half unconsciously:

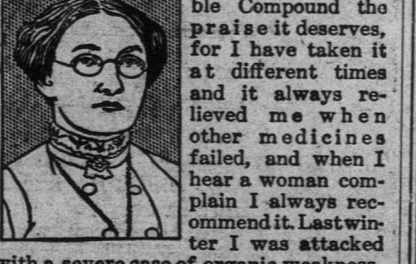

"Rath! Rath!"

FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN

As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Dispelled Backache, Headaches and Dizziness.

Fiqua, Ohio—"I would be very ungrateful if I failed to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I hear a woman complain I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked with a severe case of organic weakness. I had backache, pains in my hips and over my kidneys, headache, dizziness, lassitude, had no energy, limbs ached and I was always tired. I was hardly able to do my housework. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on one other occasion, and it had helped me so I took it again and it has built me up, until now I feel like a new woman. You have my hearty consent to use my name and testimonial in any way and I hope it will benefit suffering women."—Mrs. ORPHA TURNER, 431 S. Wayne St., Fiqua, Ohio.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

A Master of Retreats.

It looks as if the great Russian retreat which has been going on for some weeks is complete. The news is that the Grand Duke has linked up his armies from the San to Bukovina in a solid front. The Grand Duke seems to be a master of retreats, and it should be remembered that a big retreat is the fire which puts to the test the ability of a commander-in-chief, and it is also the great test of the morale of the soldiers of the line. The British Army has always prided itself on its success in effecting an orderly retreat, and the retreat from Mons was the supreme test of the ability of Sir John French and those under his command. The despatch says not one London military observer in ten thought that the Grand Duke has done possible of accomplishment. This is indeed high praise and shows that this Galician retreat rivals the successful retreat to the Marne, by which Generals French and Joffre saved the forces of the Allies last August and made possible the fighting which has taken place since that time. But it is of a piece with the tactics pursued by the Grand Duke since the war began. He carried out the same tactics several times in East Prussia, several times in Poland in his repeated drives on Warsaw, and it has been repeated several times in Galicia. Circumstances have shown such tactics necessary in view of the prepared state of Germany for the war and her well developed lines of communication. It means the gradual grinding down of the Teutonic armies and the putting up of the great reserves of the Allies against this German state of readiness.

St. Bon's Celebrate

Annual Reunion.

The sixth annual reunion of the Alumni of St. Bonaventure's College took place this morning. Over two hundred "old boys" were present and in addition the visiting and city clergy and Christian Brothers, most of whom were ex-students of the College. The occasion was memorable because of the elevation of an ex-pupil to the Episcopacy of the Church, who was the Orator of the day at the first annual reunion.

At 7.55 a.m. the ex-students assembled in the Aula Maxima of the Institution where the roll was called. At 8 a.m. Mass was celebrated in the College Oratory. The Celebrant was His Grace Archbishop Roche; Chaplains Rev. J. McGrath, and Rev. P. J. O'Brien, P.P. The Servitors were Messrs. J. Fenelon and J. Higgins; Train Bearer, Master R. Furlong. At 8.55 a.m. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was imparted by His Excellency Most Rev. P. F. Stagni, D.D., O.S.M., with Rev. W. Douthett, P.P., and Rev. J. V. Deandrea, P. P. as Chaplains and Rev. Dr. Greene, Master of Ceremonies. The Cross-Bearer was Dr. V. P. Burke; Acolytes: L. E. Emerson and E. L. Carter; Thurifers: Dr. C. J. Howlett and Dr. M. Power; Mitre Bearer, Master Michael Morris; Crozier Bearer, Master Gordon Muir; Train Bearer, Master W. Thorburn.

The choir comprised: Cyril J. Fox, R. Sullivan, J. McKenzie, Cyril J. Cahill, Fred Bradshaw, T. P. Halley, M. F. Aiyward, C. J. Howlett, T. J. Power, E. Carter, P. Goss; Conductors, Rev. Bro. Fennessey; Organist, Professor Hutton. The orchestra then rendered St. Bonaventure's March and the gathering repaired to the Refectory to breakfast. His Excellency the Delegate Apostolic said grace. After breakfast His Grace the Archbishop offered up Thanksgiving. Rt. Hon. Sir E. P. Morris, President, then tendered hearty and felicitations of the Association to His Grace the Archbishop who made an eloquent reply. The President also extended a cordial welcome to His Excellency the Delegate Apostolic, their Lordships, visiting Bishops and Clergy. His Excellency made a fitting response.

SIR EDWARD MORRIS'S ADDRESS:
Breakfast being finished, Sir Edward Morris, President of the St. Bonaventure's Association, tendered congratulations to His Grace Archbishop Roche, His Excellency the Delegate Apostolic, the visiting Prelates and clergy to the College Hall this morning for a twofold purpose, first to do honor to their new Archbishop, to welcome His Excellency the Apostolic Delegate, the visiting Prelates and clergy to the College Board and to celebrate the anniversary of the St. Bon's Association. The celebration this year has been fixed apart from the regular day in order to make it a function in the general programme of rejoicing in connection with the consecration of His Grace. The beautiful church service which they had just participated in would for ever find a place in the most prized annals of the College, golden beads in the rosary of the College's most prized memories. On behalf of the Alumni of St. Bonaventure's, he extended a right hearty welcome to all present. Sir Edward said that the hearts of the Alumni of old and new St. Bonaventure's—a widely scattered family in every land separated by mountain and seas—lovingly and fondly look from every point of the compass this morning with one common impulse, towards their Alma Mater longing to meet here once more under her roof. Ours is indeed a great privilege, a great honor in being able to take part in this chorus of joy and jubilation, and welcome. For this is indeed a great day in our College's history, a historic occasion in the ecclesiastical history of Newfoundland, for such we may term it as the splendid festival shown by all classes and grades of College, as the spiritual chief of its moral teaching he will perhaps have the most important. What the Christian Church wants to-day is a new lever. The foundations of Christianity seem to be falling away, shattered by the greatest war the world has ever seen. What is the cause? Ambition, the sin by which the angels fell, and the crime which hides more wrongdoing than all the other crimes in the calendar. In this respect we all feel His Grace Archbishop Roche re-echoed that the education of the youth of the country is the most important of all duties attaching to his high office. No amount of intellectual acquirements can take the place of a good, sound moral training, the man who leaves school with a correct idea of his relations to God and man is far more likely to make a good citizen than if he had mastered the

of nominating a successor for the vacant See of St. John's, unlooked for and unsought unanimously nominated him for the office which has met with the approval of the Apostolic Delegate, and the endorsement of the whole Catholic laity, and it is for this and many other reasons that we rejoice this morning with exceeding great joy, as well we may that the fame of his merit, of his deserts, has reached the centre of Catholicity, and that the Sovereign Pontiff in sending his representative to consecrate him, united with us to-day in doing honor to him whom we all delight to honor, and has raised him to the dignity of a Prince of the Church. Yesterday when we were witnesses of the solemn and imposing ceremony of consecration, we must all have realized how truly the church, was accomplishing her mission. In still "sending forth to the furthest ends of the earth missionaries as zealous as those that landed in Kent with Saint Augustine."

It is therefore with sentiments of the liveliest joy that we are assembled here this morning to do honor to our fellow student who by his blameless life, high talents, fine sense of justice, has been selected by Benedict the 14th for the old historic See of St. John's, and in a very special degree is the pleasure increased by the fact of the ceremony having been performed by one whom we have all learned to revere and esteem since his first coming amongst us, now five years ago. I refer to our distinguished guest the Apostolic Delegate, the Right Rev. Archbishop Stagni.

The new Archbishop will have many important duties attaching to his high office, but as patron of our advantages of the spiritual and ecclesiastical union which exists between the two countries. We have had much in common in the past. Canada has given us two worthy prelates—two archbishops and many worthy clergy, but with their well known love for annexing—bishops as well as territory—they have taken from us one of them, and he now presides over the Diocese of Toronto, and is worthily represented here to-day.

We are also indebted to Canada for many worthy citizens and many of our clergy and laymen in all the professions have had the advantage of receiving their education in her splendid university schools and colleges. No other country has done more by her ecclesiastical and humanitarian institutions to proclaim to the world the genius of Christianity than has Canada. Her citizens vie with each other in the bestowal of their fortunes in the founding of churches, colleges, hospitals and works that help and tend to the advancement of civilization and the creation of the highest type of citizenship. Canada is a great country—in many countries rolled into one. Her future no man could hope to correctly portray. What she will be in fifty years from now it would require a wise man to tell. But what we do know is that the Christian churches in Canada are laying the same foundation of a god-fearing community, which in one day may be counted by tens of millions; and in that work no better representative could be found than the prelates and priests whom we have the honor of entertaining this morning. They come here for the first time, and although only here a few days they have already made many friends, and we genuinely express the hope that in the very near future they will come back again and spend a holiday with us.

In the absence of official work will enable them to see something of our country and its people, its scenery and those other charms which visitors tell us rank it with the beauty spots in their own great Dominion. I can assure them that their visit will create a new bond of interest between the two countries, and we shall follow their work and labor in their own land with ever-growing and affectionate interest.

WEDDING BELLS.
MORISON-BOWDEN.
On Thursday last Mr. Robert Morison, son of Hon. Donald Morison, and Miss Pearl Sheila Bowden were made man and wife. The ceremony took place at Wesleyville, at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. J. F. and Mrs. Bowden, and was performed by the Rev. Mr. Boyles of Port Blandford. The bride was dressed in ivory satin with embroidered bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and entered the drawing room leaning on the arm of her father. She was preceded by her matron of honour, Mrs. (Rev.) E. C. French, who was also handsomely costumed. Mrs. Jesse Hann played the wedding march. Mr. Howard Trapnell supported the groom. Only the immediate relatives were present. At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the dining room where a reception was held, after which they motored to Gambo to join the express for H. Grace, their future home, where the groom is manager of the H. Grace Coal Co. We unite in the congratulations extended.

CRAWFORD-PAYN.
A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Thomas' Church yesterday afternoon when Mr. Harry Crawford, chief engineer of the S. S. Dundee, was united in matrimony to Miss Annie, daughter of the late W. R. Payn. Rev. John Hewitt, Incumbent of Petty Harbour, officiated, and was assisted by Rev. A. Clayton, senior curate of St. Thomas'. As the bride party entered the Church, the wedding march was played by Organist Stirling. The bride was given away by her uncle Mr. Ernest Payn, Secretary of the Board of Trade, and was assisted by her sister Miss Jeanette Payn and Miss Carrie Crawford, while Mr. James Crawford supported the groom. Following the ceremony, which was attended only by the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Monkstown Road. The happy couple left by last evening's express for Humbermouth where their honeymoon will be spent. They will later take up residence at Port Blandford. The Telegram joins in the congratulations extended, wishes Mr. and Mrs. Crawford many years of wedded happiness.

MR. DUGUID HAS ANOTHER GREAT TREAT.
Forbes Law Duguid has another great treat in store for his friends to-day, as he will sing the Prologue from Pagliacci, in English, and "By the Strand," from Ellilande. These are well known numbers and everyone is anxious to hear him sing them. They made big hits in other cities. The pictures are of the highest quality. The bill includes the sixth episode of "The Million Dollar Mystery" showing Countess Olga's "Coaching Party." "The Unpainted Portrait," "Dash, Love and Splash" which is a Keystone riot, and "Santa Catalina Island and her Marine Gardens" which is one of the best travelogues ever shown. The Nickel is open at 2 this afternoon and also at 7.

BRITISH THEATRE.
The splendid photo-play entertainment at the British Theatre is replete with interest. In all Five First Class Films will be shown and in addition Arthur Priestman Cameron will sing one of his comedy songs. All lovers of true manliness will appreciate the story of "The Cracksman's Gratitude" which is a most remarkable picture. The exciting "Hearts of Men" is another thrilling story of the desert and it is said to be even better than the lately shown photo-play "The Sealed Oasis." A Mexican narrative brimful of excitement is "Tony the Greaser" by the great Vitagraph Co. The remaining films are "The Secret Nest," a comedy drama of merit and "The Revengful Servant Girl" an intensely amusing comedy.

The trigger was pulled and the bullet entered George's head over the right eye. He only lived an hour.

Foundation-Stone of Cochrane St. Church Laid Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Corner Stone of the Cochrane Street Methodist Centennial Church was laid by the Rev. S. D. Chown, D.D., L.L.D., General Superintendent of the Methodist Church, who was assisted by the Rev. T. A. Moore, D.D., General Secretary, Department of Social Service and Evangelism.

The weather was somewhat unfavorable for an outdoor function, which necessitated the curtailment of the addresses delivered. The corner stone, on which was carved "Cochrane Street Methodist Centennial Church, 1915," was the gift of Mr. James McIntyre, stone cutter of this city.

The ceremony was of solid silver with handle of ebony, and was presented by Hon. H. J. B. Woods on behalf of the Board of Trustees. It contained the following inscription suitably engraved by Mr. R. H. Trapnell: "Cochrane Street Methodist Centennial Church, Saint John's, Newfoundland, corner stone laid June 29th, 1915, by the Rev. S. D. Chown, D.D., General Superintendent of the Methodist Church."

The glass bottle put with the stone contained the Church papers, parchment, the daily papers, a purse of Newfoundland coins, Discipline and Hymn Book, and Testament. The bottle taken out of the original building (which contained a copy of the Evening Telegram, of date Sept. 4th, 1880), was placed side by side with the new one.

At the close of the Service the Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. George Paine after which the Rev. C. A. Whittemarsh, pastor of Cochrane Street Church, addressed the large gathering in a stirring ceremony closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The following was the ORDER OF SERVICE For Laying the Corner Stone of the Cochrane Street Methodist Centennial Church, St. John's, Nfld., 29th June, 1915.

HYMN 1. From all that dwell above the skies, Let the Creator's praise arise; Through every land, by every tongue, Eternal are Thy Mercies, Lord, Eternal truth attends Thy word, Thy praise shall sound from shore to shore, Till suns shall rise and set no more.

Praise God, from whom all blessings flow, Praise him, all creatures here below; Praise him above, ye heavenly host; Praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost!

Then shall the Minister say unto the Congregation. Dearly Beloved, We are taught in the Word of God that although the heaven of heavens cannot contain the Eternal One, much less the walls of temples made with hands, yet His delight is ever with the sons of man, and that wherever two or three are gathered together in His name, there is He in the midst of them. In all His servants have separated certain places for His worship; Jacob erected a stone in Bethel for God's house; Moses made a tabernacle in the desert; and Solomon builded a temple for the Lord, which He filled with the glory of His presence before all the people. We are now assembled to lay the corner-stone of a new house for the worship of the God of our fathers. Let us not doubt that He will favourably approve our godly purpose, and let us now devoutly unite in singing His praise, and in prayer for His blessing on our undertaking.

HYMN 2. O Lord of hosts, whose glory fills the bounds of the barren hills, And yet vouchsafes, in Christian lands, To dwell in temples made with hands; Grant that all we who here to-day Rejoicing this foundation lay, May be in very deed thine own, Built on the precious Corner-stone.

THE LESSON—1 Cor. III. 9-23. For we are laborers together with God; ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building, according to the grace of God which is given unto me, as a wise master-builder, I have laid the foundation, and another buildeth thereon. But let every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon. For his foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ. Now, if any man build upon this foundation gold, silver, precious stones, his work shall be made manifest; for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is. If any man's work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward. If any man's work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss; but he himself shall be saved, yet so as by fire. Know ye not that if any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are. Let no man deceive himself. If any man among you seemeth to be wise in this world, let him become a fool, that he may be wise. For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He taketh the wise in his own craftiness. And again, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain. Therefore let no man glory in men. For all things are yours; whether Paul, or Apollus, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; all are yours; and ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's.

ADDRESSES BY REV. T. A. MOORE, D.D., General Secretary, Department of Social Service and Evangelism; and REV. S. D. CHOWN, D.D., L.L.D., General Superintendent of the Methodist Church.

HYMN 3. This stone to thee in faith we lay; To thee this temple, Lord, we build, Thy power and goodness here display, And be it with thy presence filled.

Here, when thy people seek thy face, And dying sinners pray to live, Hear thou, in heaven, thy dwelling-place; And when thou hearest, Lord, forgive!

Here, when thy messengers proclaim The blessed gospel of thy Son, Still, by the power of his great name, Be mighty signs and wonders done.

Hosanna! to thy heavenly King, When children's voices raise that song, Hosanna! let their angels sing, And heaven with earth the strain prolong.

But wilt indeed Jehovah deign Here to Thy name no transient guest? Here will the world's Redeemer reign? And here the Holy Spirit rest?

Thy glory never hence depart; Yet choose not, Lord, this house alone; Thy kingdom come to every heart; In every bosom fix thy throne!

Then shall the Minister, standing by the Stone, exhibit to the congregation two vessels to be placed in an excavation of the stone, one being that recovered from the corner-stone of the former church. The other vessel contains the names of the Minister, Trustees and Building Committee of the Church, specimens of current coins, various books and periodicals with other documents.

The General Superintendent shall then deposit the vessels in the Stone, and cover them, and shall lay the Stone, assisted by the builder, saying: "In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, I lay this corner-stone for the foundation of a house to be builded and consecrated to the service of Almighty God, according to the order and usages of the Methodist Church. Amen."

Thunder and Lightning Storm. DAMAGES THE S. S. FLORIZEL. The s.s. Florizel made a trip to the West Indies with passengers and freight since she was here last. On her return to New York she was dry docked and thoroughly renovated. Ten days ago when the ship was laying at Philadelphia a fierce thunder and lightning storm, accompanied by heavy rain showers, prevailed. As a result the ship had the truck of her mainmast carried away by a flash of lightning striking it. Third officer Kearsey had a narrow escape from serious injury as the lightning ran down the aerials of the wireless apparatus then striking the deck. The Marconi operator had just left the wireless house after disconnecting the wires and thus escaped mishap. The top part of the mast that was cut off fell near Capt. Martin, who was under an awning where he was sheltering out of the heavy rain.

ARCHBISHOP ROCHE'S CONSECRATION.

GREAT PREPARATIONS BEING MADE FOR IMPORTANT CEREMONY IN ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND - VISITORS FROM EVERYWHERE FLOCKING TO WITNESS THE IMPOSING SPECTACLE.

(The New Freeman.) The consecration of the new Catholic Primate of Newfoundland is a religious event in that country of more than denominational interest. The whole public, non-Catholic and Catholic, is looking forward to the consecration ceremonies in the Catholic Cathedral of St. John's with an eagerness and expectancy almost without parallel in the annals of the great island beyond the Gulf. Since the announcement of Archbishop Roche's appointment to the vacant See some months ago the Catholic laity of the Archdiocese represented by an energetic committee of pious, self-sacrificing Catholic men, under the competent direction of Very Rev. Administrator McDermott, has been busy in the work of organizing for this sacred and solemn event. Next Tuesday, June 29, the great festival of the Apostolic Princes St. Peter and Paul will see the crown and glory of their efforts in one of the most spacious Cathedrals of the American world when the Apostolic Delegate, His Excellency Most Rev. Archbishop Stanger, assisted by the Archbishop of Halifax and by the Catholic hierarchy of the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland will consecrate Rt. Rev. Edward Patrick Roche as the eighth Bishop in line of succession of St. John's, and the second Primate of the Archdiocese. The sermon on the occasion will be preached by His Lordship Bishop Power of St. George's, whose graceful and scholarly oration shall be heard with the deepest appreciation by the largest congregation that ever gathered in the vast Cathedral at St. John's.

the zeal, energy and capable management of the rector of the Cathedral, Very Rev. Administrator McDermott, who has borne nearly the whole burden of preparation for the events of next Tuesday. During the week preceding the consecration nearly every train and passenger boat that reached St. John's has brought contingents of consecration visitors, not only from northwest and central Newfoundland, but even from Halifax, Boston and New York and more distant cities. That St. John's shall be crowded for the occasion is generally understood, but it will be impossible to overtax the boundless hospitality and kindness of the good people of that ancient city. Newfoundlanders in Canada and the neighboring Republic who will not be personally present at the consecration of the Archbishop will be there in spirit and in sympathy and although the shore lines of the old homeland may not actually cheer their vision as they stand on the steamer's deck, yet will they in thought go back beyond mountains and seas to the good old city by Signal Hill. They will see the waving flags and the Swiss-like heights aflame with nocturnal illuminations. They will hear in spirit across the gulf of seas and years the grand old bells of the mighty Cathedral that stands like a sentinel of faith on the rock-built heights. They will see every street from south side to Portugal Cove crowded with people hurrying towards the Cathedral on Consecration Day, even as of old the children of Israel went up from all sections of Judea to be present at the figurative sacrifices offered in the temple of Jerusalem. Henceforth June 29th, always a day of veneration shall be remembered by Newfoundland's more than 80,000 Catholics as "Consecration Day, and shall be specially honored as such."

No words of praise that we could use would be sufficient to describe been selected for so high a charge by our Holy Father Pope Benedict XV. The traditional wisdom of the Vicar of Christ in his appointments has been witnessed to and declared by the whole public of Newfoundland. Protestants and Catholics have said with one voice that Mgr. Roche's selection by the Holy See for such an office has been Providential. But there is no doubt whatsoever that the good Archbishop-elect would in his modesty and self-effacement be the first to declare that all these marks of public honor which he is now receiving are tributes rather to the sublimity of the Sacred Pallium than to the humility of the man whom it is to decorate. None the less it proves well for the future of the Catholic cause and creed in Newfoundland that the man selected by Rome, for the Archepiscopal charge, should have been so conspicuously adorned with every qualification of zeal, energy, untainted faith, practical piety, administrative ability and Newman-like eloquence that seem to give assurance of a good, a great, and even an illustrious church man—one who will stand like a rock for the rights of the church against all its enemies—and who will uphold the traditions of that great and glorious Catholic episcopate that extends like a bridge of gold across the centuries and joins the world of to-day with the Apostolic College and with Christ who said to the first Roman Pontiff—"Upon this rock will I build My church."

It is now over sixty years since that memorable day in St. John's, when the great Archbishop Hughes, of New York and many Canadian Bishops joined with Rt. Rev. Dr. Mullock in consecrating the new Catholic Cathedral. The whole current of European and American history has been changed since then but there may be at least a few Newfoundlanders in the Cathedral of St. John's next Tuesday who will remember having been present in the same church sixty years ago, when Archbishop Hughes preached, and they will tell a younger generation of the "great days of old," of the heroic period in the Island's history, when Catholic Newfoundlanders though less numerous than today, were equally ready to obey their ecclesiastical superiors in all matters that pertained to the genuine progress of religion. Then as well as now Catholic Newfoundlanders believed that the progress and prosperity of the State depended fundamentally on the progress and prosperity of the Christian religion.

Whether it be true or not that Mr. Roche is the "youngest and youngest" Bishop in the Catholic hierarchy, as some of our Catholic papers have said, it is quite true that he is comparatively a young man, but he always looks rather to merit, prudence and capacity than to the mere accident of advanced years, and even if the new Primate has not great maturity of years, the Holy See believes that he has maturity of judgment and personal character and that after all is the noblest maturity. The other "maturity" is arriving every day. But of all Newfoundlanders none could have rejoiced more to have foreseen the event of next Tuesday than the late venerated Archbishop Howley whose adviser and friend Mgr. Roche had been during the last eight years of Archbishop Howley's life, and when that noble-souled prelate and most eminently gifted of Newfoundland's patriotic sons was leaving this world for the Eternal Shore he must have felt consoled by the fidelity, wisdom and affection of his then Vicar General, Mgr. Roche. Canadian Catholics will unite most heartily with their Newfoundland brethren in wishing Heaven's choicest blessing on Archbishop Roche, on his devoted clergy and loyal Catholic people.

100 Drowned by Collapse of Landing

Petrograd, via London, June 25.—A despatch received here from Kazan, in European Russia, 400 miles east of Moscow, says that upwards of 100 lives have been lost in the collapse of a river pier at one of the local pleasure gardens.

The last steamer returning to the city was scheduled to leave the Island garden at 7 to-night. A crowd of holiday makers, men, women and children were forcing their way in the darkness to the boat over the flimsy pier. The structure collapsed under the weight and virtually everybody was thrown into the water. The crew of the steamer did their best at rescue, but only a few persons were saved.

Wonderful for the Blood.

Cures Sallow Skin, Headache, Languor and Tiredness.

You don't need to be told how you feel—blue, sort of sickish, poor appetite, vague pains, tired in the morning. This condition is common at this season.

Fortunately there is prompt relief in Dr. Hamilton's Pills which immediately relieve the system of all poisons and disease-producing matter. Thousands have been so utterly depressed, so worn out as to be dependent, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills always cured them. "I can speak feelingly on the power of Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes C. T. Fearman, of Kingston. "Last spring my blood was thin and weak, I was terribly run down, had awful headaches and a gnawing, empty feeling about my stomach, I couldn't sleep or work until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they did me a world of good." SEE AMERICA FIRST - BUNKER HILL MONUMENT.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Slewah." Tourists who are exploring Boston should not fail to see the Bunker Hill Monument. It can be easily reached by walking northeast from the Commons, past the old burying-ground, veering northwest to Harvard Street, falling off to the east in a graceful curve past Portland Street, straightening out due north up Charleston Street and over to the Causeway a furlong to the bridge, thence to the town square and past the Moving-picture Theatre on a right hand bias to Monument Avenue, thence straight up.

Bunker Hill Monument stands on top of a hill. It is not an imposing hill, but was very hard to climb in 1775. The monument is a granite shaft over 300 feet high, completely surrounded with souvenirs. Persons of a persevering disposition and strong in the legs may climb to the top of the monument. From here they may easily discover the State House, the Library, Faneuil Hall and other celebrated buildings of Boston, which are a biased sight more difficult to discover on foot. In fact one of the easiest ways to discover the Old South Church is to climb the Bunker Hill Monument and look for it.

From this monument one can also see Boston Harbor, Harvard University and the residences of over 1,000,000 Americans, all protected against an enemy by a firm faith in neutrality. There are few grander views than that obtained from this shaft, and the codfish balls of Boston taste much better when the tourist has made the ascent and returned to his hotel.

Bunker Hill Monument was built by popular subscription. This proves that it was erected to a worthy cause. A few influential friends can always gain a bill through a legislature appropriating funds for a monument, nature, object and location to be determined later. But when the public dig up enough nickels and dimes to build a three-hundred foot finger pointing upward, said public has not been fooled by a pull. Bunker Hill Monument was built to honor a number of amateur Americans who fortified a hill and held it until their powder ran out. Many millionaires and other great men have died in Boston since then, but none of them has achieved a three-hundred foot monument.

"We consider "Polarine" Oil to be the best and most suitable for our engines and recommend it to our customers."
(Signed) N. RITCEY, Manager."

From McLoughlin, Clement-Bayard, Ford and Overland Cars, etc.
"Gentlemen,—I have for two years past been experimenting with various grades of Automobile Oils for the purpose of discovering which would be best adapted to the peculiar climate of this city, and am pleased to say that after making the most thorough tests with "Polarine" Oil, both in hot and cold weather, I have decided to use it in all my cars, viz: McLoughlin, Clement-Bayard, Ford and Overland.
Yours truly,
(Sgd.) JOS. DE VARENNES."

NOTE.—Our measures are Imperial, not American; you get One-Fifth more Oil.
