A Child of Sorrow.

Carrie was flushed with excitement and enjoyment; but Maida had gradually grown calmer, and there was scarcely a touch of color in the exquisite pallor of her face.

"You take it all as if it were a matter of course!" Carrie remarked as she looked with a mixture of reproach and admiration at the calm face beside her. "I know you're glad; of course, I know that: you must be; but, oh, Maida! how can you rise to such a height? You take it as if you were a kind of goddess, superior to the charms and luxury of really expensive shopping."

"Oh, but I'm not," said Maida, looking at the girl's hot face and restless, sparkling eyes. "I am enjoying it very much, only—don't be angry, Carrie—don't you think that after a time we might get just a wee bit tired even of shopping?"

"Never!" responded Carrie, almost

Had Headache for Two Years.

A Barrie Man Tells of Persistent Headaches and Indigestion—Finally Found His Way to Good Health.

Barrie, Ont., June 2nd.—For two long years the writer of this letter was subject to severe headaches. The nervous system got run down, digestion failed, and there was continued loss of weight.

The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food changed all this, and now with scores of other Barrie people Mr. Nader is recommending the use of this food cure as the best means of building up the exhausted nervous system and curing headaches, indigestion and all the annoying symptoms of a run-down condition.

Mr. John Nader, 38 Penetang street, Barrie, Ont., writes:

"During the last two years I had an attack of indigestion, accompanied by severe headaches. I suffered from loss of appetite, and my system became run down. I also lost considerably in weight. I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and as they helped me I continued this treatment for some time. My condition is now greatly improved, my headaches are gone and my health in general is much better. I can cheerfully recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to those suffering from nervousness of any kind."

As a spring tonic and restorative to overcome tired, languid feelings and build up vitality at this time of year there is nothing to be compared to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

white waistcoat, an extremely high collar, and a black tie with a death's-head pin in gold and ivory; which, to Carrie's fancy, seemed to copy the smile with which the owner regarded the group over the brim of the hat which he held to his thin, richly red lips.

"Mr. Spinner," said Ricky, in an introductory fashion, and with a kind of dry reluctance. "He would like to see Mr. Carrington."

CHAPTER X.

Carrie, appearing to be too fascinated by Mr. Spinner's all-comprehending smile to reply to his question, Maida came to his rescue.

"My father is not in yet," she said, "but we expect him every moment. Will you not sit down and wait?"

Mr. Spinner glided—he had a way of walking without seeming to lift his feet which was as peculiar as his smile—to the chair, and, seating himself, engaged her in what the novelist of the Georgian era called "polite conversation."

Under pretence of pointing out some object of interest, Ricky drew Carrie to the window, where they were out of Mr. Spinner's hearing, though his extraordinary voice was wafted to them in soft and insinuating tones.

"You're wondering why I'm accompanied by this smiling hyena," said Ricky, in a low voice, pointing to nothing in the street below with a simulation of deep interest. "It was he who proposed coming. He's down at the Stock Exchange pretty often, and I suppose he must have heard of Mr. Carrington's extraordinary luck. It seems that in one of my frequent moments of mental aberration—you have often called me an idiot, my dear Carrie, and I'm afraid you're right: there must be a strain of imbecility in my family—I must have mentioned Mr. Carrington's name and you and Maida. You'd think the Hyena would have forgotten such a little thing; but not he! He's got a memory for trifles as wide as his smile; and, of course, he remembered that I knew you all. I think you know Mr. Carrington, my dear Richard," he said, smiling over my head as if he wanted to eat me without my being aware of it; and when I grunted—I always grunt when I address the Hyena—

"Take care! he'll hear you," murmured Carrie, warningly.

"Oh, no, he won't," responded Ricky drily. "He's too much engaged in fascinating Maida. He rather fancies himself as a lady-killer—Oh, Lord! when I admitted that I knew you, he said, with a smile like a newly white-washed tomb: 'I should very much like to make your friends' acquaintance, Richard.' And he insisted, in his bland and snaky way, in coming to-day. Of course, he's up to some game."

"What game can he be up to?" enquired Carrie, still staring at nothing out of the window.

Ricky shook his head gloomily.

EXTREME WEAKNESS AND SUFFERING

Read How Mrs. Goodling got Relief and Strength.

York, Pa.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and found it to be all you say it is. I was so sick that I could not stand at my sink to wash dishes and I could not sit without a pillow under me. I had the doctor every few days but since I have taken the Compound I don't have to send for him. I have had three children and could not raise any of them, but since I have taken the Compound I have a bright baby boy. I advise every suffering woman to try it and get relief. It has done wonders for me."—Mrs. CATHERINE GOODLING, 138 E. King Street, York, Pa.

When a medicine has been successful in bringing health to so many, no woman has a right to say without trying it. "I do not believe it will help me." There must be more than a hundred thousand women in this country who, like Mrs. Goodling, have proven what wonders Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can do for weak and ailing women. Try it and see for yourself.

If there are any complications you don't understand, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

A Wonderful Help in Keeping the Complexion Youthful and Clear.

Perhaps you wonder how so many women manage to have a complexion that is always fresh and clear, and how you can make your complexion better. Here's the secret:—

This is the Vanishing Cream that softens the skin and gives it that soft, velvety radiance that we all desire.

Nyal's Face Cream is not oily or greasy, and it is readily absorbed by the skin, vanishing without leaving any tell tale gloss on skin. The skin welcomes this pleasant, soothing, cooling cream. It makes dry, tight skin soft and pliable, it makes rough skin firm and smooth, and gradually gives to coarse rough skin a finer, more delicate texture.

THE STENOGRAPHER.

The stenographer is the only woman in existence who can be dictated to for any length of time without causing bloodshed. This is why so many business men who are not able to even dictate how the head of lettuce shall be served at home hire bond stenographers and throw rude, un-grammatical remarks at them for hours at a time.

Agile stenographers grab a few loose, rambling thoughts from a vacant mind and convert them into plain two-ply English.

Stenographers are not employed for their good looks, as is popularly supposed, but for their ability to translate the thoughts of an employer who is not able to express himself with a fountain pen. When we look over our great country and see the large number of prosperous business men who cannot spell the simplest word without closing both eyes and breathing hard, we see how necessary it is to have trained, agile stenographers who can grab a few loose, rambling thoughts from a vacant mind

and convert them into plain, two-ply English.

The stenographer is subject to many bitter experiences and heavy trials. One of these is the absent-minded dictator, who starts a long, serpentine sentence, breaks off in the middle to think about something else, and then demands that the last four pages be read out aloud. Another is the employer who forgets whether he is writing to his wife or the wholesale house, and slips in a few endearing passages along with an order for a keg of ten-penny nails. This probably accounts for the look of settled melancholy on the faces of so many stenographers who should be as gay and frolicsome as a humming bird.

The chief implements used by the stenographer are a notebook, a battery of soft-nosed lead pencils and an occasional gleam of human intelligence. They also use a short, jerky form of conversation called shorthand, consisting of a series of semaphoric signals which resemble the epitaph on the tomb of Rameses II.
These are then given a free interpretation, which sometimes becomes so free that it runs away with the context, after which all that is left is run through a typewriter. Thousands of reams of canned language are thus embalmed every year by stenographers, who would rather lie in a hammock and listen to the seductive strains of love's young dream.

Good stenographers are more necessary to human happiness than a well-aged T-steak or the fresh, country-bred egg, and are just about as hard to find.

Nations in the Field.

London Daily News: Sir William Robertson assuredly did not exaggerate when he put the total of the armies engaged in the war at 24,000-000 men. Excluding the United States and Japan, the populations of the belligerent countries, apart from their colonies, aggregate not less than 450-000,000, and on the basis of the figures for the United Kingdom there are something like 150,000,000 males above 17 years of age available for military service. Twenty-four millions is approximately 1 in 19 of the total population and 1 in 6 of the males above 17. The people who still think the United Kingdom is not doing its bit will perhaps be cheered to discover that the British armies in the field account for about 1 in 8 of the total population and 1 in 3 of the males above 17. If all the belligerents did as well there would be 50-000,000 in the fighting line instead of 24,000,000.

(From the Montreal Mail.)

A Chicago violinist who gives concerts throughout the west was bitterly disappointed with the account of his recital printed in an Iowa town paper. "I told your man three or four times," complained the musician to the owner of the paper, "that the instrument I used was the genuine stradivarius, and in his story there was not a word about it, not a word."
Whereupon the owner said with a laugh: "That is as it should be. When Mr. Stradivarius gets his fiddle advertised in my paper under two dollars a line, you come around and let me know."

With this may be coupled this gem from New Jersey. A society for disseminating religious literature, once sent a bundle of tracts to a railway manager for placing in the waiting-room, with the title, "A Route to New Jerusalem." He returned them with the message:

"We cannot place the tracts, as New Jerusalem is not on our system."

Your Boys and Girls.

If not for actual camping a small portable house is an admirable playhouse for the children if one has outdoor space to accommodate it. While it can be furnished with durable Hyable furniture and may have sufficient rooms and comfort to accommodate a whole family, there is no reason that a house of this sort should not serve as a play house, when real housekeeping can be taught, as well as the joys of frontier and mimic
"life in the open."

The writer visited a family of children who had a charming playhouse. It was built of dove-tailed boards with a wooden floor and while it was only about five feet square, it accommodated four children around its little table. The one window had muslin curtains as had the window in the door.

Integrity of Value

In the Overland Big Four-cylinder touring car and the Overland Light Four-cylinder touring car, the luxurious and the practical are in proper balance to produce lasting satisfaction.

The Big Four is finished in a deep rich brown, while the colour of the Light Four is a beautiful shade of gray. These two models exemplify the remarkable values made possible by tremendous production.

Size does not of itself constitute greatness.

An industry is as great as its service to the public.
But size does usually constitute opportunity for service. In the case of Overland, size originally was an indication of foresight and courage.

It constituted an opportunity to establish new values in motor cars—this was a service.

Growth came as a reward of this service, and with growth came opportunity for further service—further revision of values.

Today's immensity means experience, facilities and resources, plus the public confidence, which gives these things stability for yet greater service.

The Willys-Overland ideal of service is integrity of value in the product throughout the whole life of that product's service.

The Willys-Overland Motor Cars which we have to show you exemplify this ideal and constitute the most comprehensive range of models ever built by any one motor car producer.

But Why Vimy Ridge?

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Here is a suggestion I beg to submit to the careful consideration of your readers. After this great war is over we in St. John's will be desirous of perpetuating the memory of our brave fallen heroes. There is one method, to my mind, that will accomplish this very satisfactory. Let us re-name one of our principal thoroughfares Vimy Ridge and place on it a suitable statue commemorating the great advance. What more advantageous street than the present LeMarchant Road, commencing from corner Pennywell Road and continuing to the Junction of Hamilton Ave.
If the street cars were run on Vimy Ridge what a fine paying proposition the Reid Nfd. Co. would have.
At the top of Springdale Street the statue could be placed to good advantage and the ceremony of the unveiling could be made a most impressive affair.

Trusting some more abler pen will take the matter up.

I remain,
ARTHUR WALKER.

The Gas Range!

The Gas Range means comfort for the housewife; shorter kitchen hours for her, and a cleaner kitchen. It is a great mistake to think that cooking with gas is expensive.

Whenever a woman becomes used to gas for cooking, thoughts of a coal or wood stove fill her with gloom. A Gas Range is so much easier to operate, so efficient for all kinds of cooking, and so much cleaner, that the idea of going back to the old style methods is decidedly unpleasant. Yet in winter many housewives think they must use a coal or wood stove, because there is no other way of heating the kitchen. THERE IS ANOTHER WAY AND IT IS FAR BETTER THAN THE OLD. THE CLOW GAS
STEAM RADIATOR WAY. MAY 23, 11

Daring Speculations In Flight.

"If the world dare think of anything beyond the daily record of the war, it would be hard at work speculating on the future of the submarine and aeroplane, the twin engines whose possibilities are so great that their imagination can scarcely grasp them clearly," says the Manchester Guardian.

"The submarine may yet drive the navies of the world, and perhaps the merchant vessels also, to become sub-mersible fleets like themselves; the aeroplane may revolutionize not only travel but, even war itself when grown in size and armament, multiplied in thousands, far safer and more easily manoeuvred than it is now, it makes difficult the very existence of armies moving along the surface of the earth.

"These things are not yet, but such practical people as Messrs. Grahame-White and Harper, whose book on "Air Power" has just been published (Chapman & Hall), believe that within a very few years after the war there will be such an advance in aviation as few yet conceive.

"Passenger services, they think, will enable a man to work in his London office in the morning, do business in Paris in the afternoon, and be at home for dinner in the evening; a few years more and an Atlantic air service will be carrying all those who value their time and prefer a peaceful voyage high above the clouds to the long and sometimes troubled crossings on the sea.

"We could think of some questions to put to Messrs. Grahame-White and Harper about this Atlantic service, but as one of the most interesting things about the book that the writers maintain firmly that the element of safety in flying is far greater than is usually supposed. The very characteristics which are thought to be so dangerous are aids to security.

"The average man argues that the higher you are up in the air the more terrible is your fall and the more certain your death in case of accident;
but one ought rather to say that the greater is the chance of retrieving a mishap before the machine comes to the ground, and the impartial reader will recall for himself the remarkable instances during the war of aviators who have recovered control of their machines after a fall of several thousand feet. The danger of motoring, if anything goes wrong with the machine, lies in the unyielding material on which and amid which it moves and against which it may be dashed, together with its occupants.

"In the air there is no such deadly resistance to be found; the pilot has nothing to fear from the friendly, un-resisting medium in which he moves;
his only danger is actual damage to the machine, and the farther he is from the earth the longer is the time at his disposal to overcome the danger, whatever it may be.

"It will be, for most people, a new and a fascinating idea, and if it is also strange, Messrs. Grahame-White and Harper give no account of the progress that is being made which supports in some measure their daring speculations."

THE MATTER OF SALARIES.

One result of the collision of the present session of Parliament, which has now reached the important stage of supply, with various inquiries into the cost of living and other indications of a sort of climax in economic conditions generally, has been to bring into a strong light the question of public salaries.

We had occasion last week to criticize the Government in the strongest terms for the absurd and inequitable manner in which it proposed to deal with the civil service in this respect. We published to-day a letter, which bears out our general objections by the emphasis of a few among thousands of particular instances.

From this particular point of view the report of the Postmaster General reaches us most opportunely. We did not receive it until this morning and have therefore had no time for more than a cursory glimpse into it. But even that has afforded us an agreeable surprise, or rather, since the expected is never surprising, an agreeable contrast with former experience. Mr. Robinson's report is not a perfunctory document, presenting dry statistics alone as if they alone mattered. We knew that the Post Office needed a thorough housecleaning, and when Mr. Robinson's appointment was announced we expressed the opinion that it would be done. We have here refreshing proof that our confidence was not misplaced.

hands of the Legislature. To confine ourselves to the present subject, all salaries are voted by it. Result, political patronage and graft versus experience and efficiency. The most abhorred inequalities and inconsistencies exist, of which the report specifies a few typical instances. They are made possible by the almost complete absence of any system and standards. The report is really a comprehensive and detailed recommendation of a scheme to supply these, and even a hurried examination shows that much care and thought has been given to it. The important point, however, is that the recommendations come from the Postmaster General, the proper source. The whole matter of the civil service is getting a healthy airing, a process which may in time, if continued long enough, kill off most of the political microbes with which it is diseased. Our politicians are a doubtful benefit, at best, but our civil servants are indispensable, and no effort will be wasted which will help to free the one from the mischievous influence of the other.

The Hospital Again Overcrowded.

A woman named Bessie Arnold of Alexander Bay reached the city at 5 a.m. to-day and was removed to the Hospital from the train in the ambulance. She was operated on immediately for appendicitis. Mrs. Snow, Water St. East, was also taken to the institution for surgical treatment. We again draw the attention of the authorities to the lack of accommodation at the General Hospital. At present thirteen patients are compelled to sleep on the floors and verandah for whom no cots can be obtained; while upwards of twenty patients from the outports are at present in the city awaiting admission to the institution. The Superintendent and staff are at their wits' end to know what to do, and deeply regret having to refuse admission to so many needy applicants, but under the circumstances do the best they can. Last week 34 patients were admitted and 32 discharged from the Hospital. There seem to be at no time any spare cots available and the only way out of the difficulty is to build a new wing to the Hospital.

Reid's Boats. The Argyle arrived at Piacenta at noon yesterday. The Clyde left Lewisport at 6.35 a.m. The Dundee left Port Blandford at 9.15 a.m. to-day. The Ethie left North of Flower's Cove. The Glenoe left Pushthrough at 4.30 p.m. on Saturday, going west. The Home left Lewisport at 6.25 a.m. The Wren arrived at Clarendville at 9.20 a.m. yesterday. The Sagona is north of Twillingate.

Train Notes. Yesterday's outgoing express left Millertown Junction at 9.10 a.m. to-day. The incoming express is due about 4.30 p.m. to-day. CAPLIN ABOVE LONG BRIDGE. Yesterday morning, quite a few caplins were seen at the basin above the Long Bridge. A few strings were secured by boys who caught them in their hands.

TO-DAY'S Messages. 10.00 A. M.

THE DESTRUCTION OF THE ZEPPELIN.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from an east coast town says that thousands of persons witnessed the destruction of the Zeppelin. The attack by anti-aircraft guns on the dirigible lasted fully half an hour and people issued from their houses half dressed to watch the fight. When the black object drifting across the sky from southeast to northeast was seen to burst into flames the spectators cheered tumultuously. Pedestrians and cyclists dashed off in the direction of the fallen airship, but owing to the unexpectedly long distance only a few succeeded in locating the Zeppelin, which fell a few miles in from the coast. It had been first winged by a land gun and was then finished by an airplane, which the Zeppelin fought to the last with her guns. The dirigible dropped in a field of corn far from any habitation and was completely destroyed. All the crew were killed and the bodies badly charred. Some men appeared to have jumped from the doomed airship. Doctors hurried to the spot but their services were needless. The British airman who attacked the Zeppelin descended nearby unhurt. According to the story of the inspector who witnessed the affair, searchlight enabled him to follow the movements of the Zeppelin and the attacking airman. The Zeppelin twisted and turned in an attempt to escape or beat the airplane off, but the machine gun fire of the dirigible was heard distinctly. Presently another airman came upon the scene and the Zeppelin continued to zig-zag in an endeavour to head out to sea, but the first airman held to his quarry and within a few minutes the end came.

STRIKE OF LUXEMBURG MINERS.

PARIS, To-day. Reports are published in the newspapers to-day that the miners of the Duchy of Luxembourg have gone on strike because the Germans have refused to increase their pay. The Luxembourg Government has intervened, but in vain. German troops are now on guard and Luxembourg newspapers are not allowed to discuss the situation.

RUSSIAN APPOINTMENTS.

LONDON, To-day. Reuter's Petrograd correspondent telegraphs that Russian newspapers report that Admiral Madimoff, Commander of the Baltic fleet, has been appointed chief of the Naval General Staff and that General Lumhosky has been appointed Chief of the General Staff to the Commander-in-Chief.

FIRE ON TRESPASSING ZEPPELIN.

COPENHAGEN, To-day. A Zeppelin was observed on Saturday afternoon outside the Harbor of Cimbrishamn, Sweden. A violent cannonade was directed against the dirigible, which withdrew in a damaged condition.

GERMAN STEAMER TORPEDOED.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. According to the Telegraaf the German steamship Turib, which was reported to have struck a mine off the Dutch coast while bound for Amsterdam from Sweden in reality was torpedoed by submarines. She remained afloat.

JAP. DESTROYER DAMAGED.

TOKIO, To-day. While Japanese destroyers were attacking a submarine in the Mediterranean on June 11, the destroyer Gakaki was torpedoed and damaged, says an official announcement of the Japanese Admiralty to-day. The damaged craft was towed to port. It is believed that many of the crew were killed or wounded.

CONSTANTINE IN SICILY.

ROME, To-day. A despatch to the Giornale d'Italia says that former King Constantine of Greece arrived at Messina, Sicily, on Sunday morning, and is expected to leave immediately for Switzerland.

TORONTO EDITOR RETIRES.

TORONTO, To-day. Sir John Willison, one of the best known journalists of Canada, editor and chief publisher in the Toronto Daily News, on Saturday severed his connection with that publication. He will devote more of his attention to the London Times, of which he is the Canadian correspondent.

STEAMER ASHORE ON CAPE BRETON.

HALIFAX, To-day. The steamer Clematis, 3500 tons, probably of the Stag Line, is ashore near Francoisville, Cape Breton. If the present calm continues it is thought possible to get the Clematis off. An S. O. S. call was received at Halifax on Sunday from the Swedish steamer Volrath Pham stating she had struck probably on the Sambro. The tug went out to find her, and evidently finding no damage done she proceeded.

12.00 P. M.

DENIES GERMAN CLAIM.

LONDON, To-day. The British Admiralty this evening denied a claim in a German wireless despatch that a German submarine sank a British torpedo boat destroyer of the L class on June 11th in the Mediterranean. The L class of British torpedo boat destroyers displace 985 tons and were provided for in the naval estimates of 1912-13. They carry a complement of 100 men.

STRANGELY KIND.

BUKONOS AIRES, To-day. The Argentine Minister at Berlin has informed his Government that Germany has adopted a measure providing that neutral ships in British versee without danger the prohibited zone except in the English Channel on July 1st.

CONSCRIBING BRITISH SUBJECTS IN U. S. A.

NEW YORK, To-day. All male British subjects between the ages of 18 and 45 years now in the United States are to be compelled to join the British colors, it was made known here on Saturday. British Consuls and recruiting agents throughout the country are compiling lists of these men. Brigadier General W. A. White in charge of recruiting has gone to Washington to confer on methods to carry the plan through.

RIOTS IN GERMAN TOWNS.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. Rumors have reached Winneway, near the German frontier of Holland, that grave riots broke out on Friday in several German towns, says the newspaper Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant to-day.

STRIKE OF LUXEMBURG MINERS.

PARIS, To-day. Reports are published in the newspapers to-day that the miners of the Duchy of Luxembourg have gone on strike because the Germans have refused to increase their pay. RIBOT'S MESSAGE TO VENIZELON.

PARIS, To-day. Premier Ribot has sent the following message to Eleutherios Venizelos, Premier and head of the Provisional Government at Salonika: In confiding to France the mission to take in their name measures to facilitate the return by the Greek people to the unity they helped to found, the protecting Powers desired to show that the principles that inspired them a century ago, when the heroes of the war of independence shed their blood to assume Greece's place among free nations, have remained unaltered through the vicissitudes of history.

Who could better appreciate the concern with each of the three protecting Powers were animated and their firm resolution to assure the destinies of Greece in the traditional path that led to its grandeur than the eminent leader whose generous ardour and intense disinterested courage no less than his political forecast renewed the internal life of the Greek people and realized most of their legitimate desires for expansion. Nothing could better respond to the deepest sentiments of the French people than to be so intimately associated with the great national movement, which will be pursued with the support of the protecting Powers by those who in difficult hours never doubted them and were able to prepare for the triumph of free institutions.

S. S. Anniversary at Cochrane Street.

The delightful weather of yesterday helped in a large measure to make the Sunday School Anniversary services held in Cochrane Street Centennial Church the success they undoubtedly were. The hymns and order of service, "Doing One's Bit," were neatly printed and handed the members of the congregation on entering the church. At the morning service the Rev. Gordon Dickie, M.A., of the Presbyterian Church, occupied the pulpit and addressed the school, taking as the basis of his remarks, the "Cross." During the course of his address the preacher illustrated by the use of a number of cards the different crosses or emblems, drawing helpful lessons, chief of which being that Jesus Christ died on the Cross thus "Doing His Bit" for the whole world, and all were urged to live noble lives and be faithful followers of the meek and lowly Jesus.

The afternoon meeting which was presided over by the Rev. Dr. Bond who always makes a model chairman, was very much enjoyed and was a real treat, everything going with a swing. The recitations of the "Little tots" as well as those by Misses Curtis and Jean Parsons, and the solos by Miss O. Taylor, and Mr. Amberman, of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and several motion songs by the Junior girls were all well received. The address "On Doing One's Bit" was ably given by the Rev. D. B. Hemmison, B.A., who riveted the attention of the scholars from start to finish of his fifteen minutes intensely interesting talk. The report of the year's work was presented by the Secretary, Mr. W. J. Miller, which showed that the School was in a most flourishing condition. The Superintendent of the School, Mr. Peters, on behalf of the officers, teachers and scholars, presented a beautiful enlarged framed portrait of the late Hon. H. J. B. Woods who for a period of over thirty years was Superintendent of this school. The chairman unveiled the gift which is to adorn the walls of the Sunday School so as to keep the memory of their beloved Superintendent green.

During this service an old and valued Superintendent of the Presbyterian Church, Mr. Alex. Robertson, was noticed amongst the congregation and was immediately invited to a seat on the platform.

The evening service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Bond who gave a very interesting talk as he held up a little garment as mentioned in the Scriptures which is worn by every male Jew, which he purchased in Damascus some thirty years ago. This garment represented the Unity of God and the Holiness of God. The Phylacteries for the arm and head were also shown and explained, which represented the binding of God's word to the heart and head. Dr. Bond made an able and strong plea as to the responsibility of Christian parents and urged the young people to enlist in God's Army while in their youth and become members of the Church.

The singing all through the day was very fine and reflected much credit on those who trained the scholars. The pulpit and communion rail were neatly decorated by the Women's Association with choice plants and flowers.

Here and There.

SERIOUSLY ILL.—Mrs. J. J. Galway received a message from Trinity this morning stating that her brother, Mr. John B. Lockyer, was seriously ill with little hope of recovery. Mrs. Galway left to-day's express to be present at the sick bed. The many friends of Mr. Lockyer in St. John's will be sorry to hear of his delicate state of health.

Don't Miss "PEG O' MY HEART" to-morrow night.

SLIGHT FIRE.—At 11.45 a.m. to-day the Central and West End Fire Brigades responded to a call from box 362 to extinguish a fire that broke out in a house owned by Mrs. Tucker on McKay Street, west of Leslie St. On reaching the scene the firemen found that their services were not required as the fire, which was only slight, had in the meantime been quenched by the application of a few pails of water.

CHILDREN'S BAZAAR.—A children's bazaar was given on Saturday afternoon at 139 LeMarchant Road by Misses Rita, Muriel and Maxine Butler, and Miss Marguerite Coffin, and realized the sum of $24.81 which Lady Davidson very graciously acknowledged in aid of the Red Cross Fund for wounded soldiers, and the girls desired to thank all who so kindly patronized them, or all who helped in any way toward their effort of industry for our brave soldiers. Such work by children deserves encouragement and is appreciated by everyone. Well done, girls!

McMurdo's Store News

MONDAY, June 18th, 1917. Something to keep the feet cool and prevent them from getting sore or becoming painful, and to correct fetid or two profuse perspiration becomes a practical necessity in prolonged spells of hot weather. For all the above purposes we can recommend with confidence McMurdo's Walk-Easy Tablets. One or two of these tablets dissolved in a small size foot-bath of tepid water may be used to bath the feet. These tablets soothe the feet when sore or burning, and refresh them when they are tired. More than that they tend to harden the skin, and check perspiration, and so help to keep the feet in good condition in addition to relieving present distress. Price 25c a box.

Houses Burglarized.

The epidemic of burglary which was so prevalent in the city during the spring months and ceased when the "game" was called on two youthful outlaws, who are now in prison, is apparently being revived, as during the past few nights two large dwelling houses on Circular Road were forcibly entered and ransacked. These residences were unoccupied at the time, as the owners at present are at country seats. It is not yet known what amount of stuff has been stolen, but no doubt it will be by the time the culprits are rounded up.

A War Against War.

New York Commercial: If Germany wins this war, or even gains an inconclusive peace that leaves her free to maintain her military establishment, the whole world will remain an armed camp until in the end a more conclusive war either makes a German Emperor master of the world as were the Roman Caesars for two hundred years, or establishes worldwide democracy such as we are now striving to set up on the ruins of Prussianism. This is a war against war to secure a lasting peace and no American citizen can refrain from doing his bit to win it without deserving the brand of traitor upon his brow.

PERSONAL.—Rev. Canon Noel, Mr. Grace, arrived in the city this morning by the Igal train and is returning again to-day.

That Hard Look.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"I'm really afraid to drink," a woman whose friends all regard her as a matter of course, said to me the other day.

"Afraid it will hurt you?" "Neither," she said, "I'm afraid of getting that hard look that women who are always drinking cocktails and don't you?"

I know just the look she means, don't you?

But somehow I have a feeling that she isn't placing the blame in quite the right place.

It is a look which women of the cocktail class often acquire, but while cocktails may contribute, I don't think you can put the whole blame on them.

The Life Of Which The Cocktail is A Symbol.

It is the life of which the cocktail is a symbol and a factor, but the cocktails themselves that put that hard sophisticated worldly look into a woman's face.

If a woman stopped drinking cocktails but went on living the cocktail life I think she would get that hard look just the same.

It's not what you eat and drink but what you think and talk about that molds your face.

I have in mind a woman with one of those faces.

For Nature Abhors A Vacuum.

I don't know whether she drinks much or not but I do know what her life is. She is married, but has no children, she lives in a tiny apartment and takes her meals out. Into this life empty of the normal duties of the mother and homemaker enter the ruling passions which so frequently fill up a vacuum of this sort—a passion for shopping and for always being smartly dressed, a passion for bridges and for the night life of the city, the restaurants, the theatres, the dances, the cafes.

She has no keen intellectual interests (she is one of those women who make it their boast that they don't care about suffrage either way). In her talk the emphasis is always on money or sex.

About her whole existence there is a lack of reality of anything rooted in the deep normal things of life.

Soft But Hard As A Granite Rock.

And her face is well massaged, well powdered, almost without wrinkles, soft, no doubt, to the touch,—and hard as a granite rock to the eye.

When I see women with that sort of a face I know just what kind of a life is behind it.

If you don't want that sort of face, keep away from cocktails, yes—but do a good deal more than that. Keep just as far away as you can possibly get from that glittering, alluring, empty, unsatisfying, ashes-in-your-mouth life that cocktails stand for.

"Will you tell me how to use a finger bowl at a dinner. Also please tell me whether I should fold the napkin or leave it unfolded when I leave the table?" requested Mildred.

WENT MASON

I slay the Prussian in his pride, wind up his ball of yarn; then from his form I take the hide, and nail it to the barn. 'Tis not because I chafe for gore, my heart as hard as bricks, that I slay Prussians by the score, and pile them up in ricks. Ah, no! I'm swayed by the battle thud; I'd gladly put the sword away, and drain my boots of blood. I pity even while I kill, and send men to the tomb—men representing Kaiser Bill; that's why they meet their doom. For while the kaiser has a throne, and talks of God and Me, security will not be known on either land or sea. And peace will be but empty talk, a joke forever, 'till he is perched on some bleak rock, remote from every shore. There is no vengeance in my heart, for freedom still I fight; our ships must sail to every mart, unquestioned, and of right. The starry flag, where'er it flies must ever honored be, in German as in other eyes, to all eternity. And so, my nerves to battle strung, I slaughter with a will; I catch my Prussians while they're young, and slice them up with skill.

Red Lions—Hiltz, Mullins, McQuade, Cooney, O'Neil, Power, Buckingham, Duggan, Ellis, Hollis, Grace, Jenkins, Quick, Maher.

Cubs—Collins, Clouston, St. John, Duggan, Roberts, Murphy, Canning, Hall, Jerrett, Fraser, Knight.

QUITE SO.

The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power, All past performances which won acclaim, Are swept aside and instantly forgot, When e'er a bone is pulled which throws a game.

UNKNIN!

And how someone suggests that the Wanderers "dropped their pilot overboard" when Empire, Chesman, refused to be nominated again as Vice-President of their Club.

TO P.E.O. AN APPRECIATION.

Oh! the Official Scorer is a wonderful bird. He scribbles and scribbles and smiles, And misses the play that's the bit of the day.

When the batter is slammed for six runs. But he cares not a whit that he's "missed" the long hit. Nay, when the pitcher hits hard, You can steal all his tin or his wife, and he'll grin, as long as it's down on the card.

RULES FOR YOUNG OUTFIELDERS.

Never tell older Outfielders where to play for certain or uncertain matters. Older outfielders are quite notional and "sensible" and put them on while the ball is coming toward you. If this interferes with your running, sit down.

Do not throw high when returning a ball to the umpire's head or the pitcher's spikes, or some other solid object.

Do not worry about your hitting while running after a long fly. Get the fly first and let the batter worry about his hitting.

Do not stare at the sky while the batter is walking from the bench to the plate, and do not try to disconcert the batter by glaring at him from the outfield.

It is considered bad form to sit down in the outfield during the game. You will find time enough to sit down in your later years. On the other hand, do not pace feverishly up and down your part of the pasture while waiting for a fly ball to come out your way. After missing it, you can become feverish.

If you want the umpire to call a seventeen-inning game, indicate that you are hungry by eating a little grass.

Whenever an infelder starts out after a high fly, let him have it. If the ball he is after, not your job.

THE POOR UMPIRE.

An Umpire died—and went below To where hell's hottest blazes glow. "O, what rare bliss!" he called in mirth, Compared to what I caught on earth.

YOU SAID IT!

The main trouble with the Kaiser is that he wants to carry his own umpire and referee and write his own rules.

HERE WE ARE AGAIN!

After two years giving orders to our khaki-clad heroes, Sergt. Jack Robinson will renew his former avocation this Summer of keeping the umpires straight. "Ata Boy, Jack, we missed you the past two seasons."

Answers "Placencia Lais"

Editor Evening Telegram: Dear Sir.—In reading Newfoundland papers which I have received this week, I was very much surprised at a letter in Placencia, signed "A Placencia Lais," in the "Daily News" of the 11th. The writer is probably one of many who have got no broader field of France, or nobly British in far off Palestine, the tone of her letter on this point inclined to think that "The Capital" have done but little for the Empire. But she has given freely of her nobles for land and sea service, with our last Ally the United States you will find Placencia well served.

Miss Lassie, says "they are nearer the trenches than the front. You mean conscription. Let it be it will give one and all of us the chance to go. There are 40 won't be able to say to a young man of 20 "why ain't you in the trenches, you are well able to fight."

There is also duty to home, as to Empire, and there are young men, who have got a mother and family to support. I consider it right and just for a young man to support an aged parent as long as he possibly can.

Now, Miss Lassie, if you are the slacker, let "ye ancient" write alone, and instead write about many places from which a young man has not yet come forward. There are the places for you to write about. Our little town has done admirably well in sending men and money and your talking don't make more young men go, but a letter of your letter, one with a motive would instantly lose its value. I also say "there is no place for the fring line," but if not you are quite near the trenches, and hospitals are open to you, and if you have such a regard for soldiers, why not go to the front to help to dress their wounds, and you can take place of the slacker, go until you are fit for the front, volunteer for the western front.

If we look over the recruiting statistics which were published in the "Daily News" we will find that over half the young men of Placencia have done their bit in the khaki or the blue. Since other names have been added to the Honor Roll. And any other others who think Placencia is a classed on the slacker's list, do an injustice to the town and themselves.

Answers "Placentia Lassie."

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir,—In reading some Newfoundland papers which I have received this week, I was very amused and also surprised at a letter from Placentia, signed "A Placentia Lassie," in the "Daily News" of June 1st. The writer is probably one of the many who have got no brother to defend the flag on the blood-stained field of France, or no help the British in far off Palestine. From the tone of her letter one would be inclined to think that "Ye Ancient Capital" have done but little in defence of the Empire. But she has given freely of her noblest and best, for land and sea service, and also with our last Ally the United States, you will find Placentia well represented.

Miss Lassie, says "they may be nearer the trenches than they think." You mean conscription. Let it come, it will give one and all of military age the chance to go. Then a man of 40 won't be able to say to a young man of 20 "why ain't you in the trenches, you are well able to fight."

There is also duty to home, as well as to Empire, and there are many young men, who have got a widowed mother and family to support, therefore, I consider it right and just for a young man to support an aged mother as long as he possibly can.

Now, Miss Lassie, if you are against the slackers, let "ye ancient capital" alone, and instead write about the many places from which a young man have not yet come forward. These are the places for you to write about.

Our little town has done remarkably well in sending men and money, and your talking don't make any more young men go, but at the sight of your letter, one with a patriotic motive would instantly lose it. You also say "there is no place for a girl in the firing line," but if not you can get quite near the trenches. The field and hospitals are open for nurses, and if you have such a regard for soldiers, why not go to the front and help to dress their wounds. If not you can take place of those who do so until you are fit for the field, then volunteer for the western front.

Look over the recruiting statistics which were published in March we will find that over half the young men of Placentia have donned either the khaki or the blue. Since then other names have been added to the Honor Roll. And any writer or others who think Placentia should be classed on the slacker's list is doing an injustice to the town and themselves.

X. Y. Z. is also wool-gathering, when he says there are dozens of slackers around Placentia. The writer is trying to defend the crowd of "middleage arm-chair critics," who are too lazy to shoulder a gun on the field of France, or to use an axe in the woods of England.

The Forestry Battalion has placed every man on equal standing, also silenced the tongues of many who were always glad of the opportunity to call the young man of 18, that hateful word "slacker."

But not too late, the tables have turned and now the young man can call others the same word they once could call him.

I must also congratulate "one of the Brigade" on the noble stand he has taken in defence of the slacker. He certainly spoke the truth from start to finish, and was ably backed up by a "girl from ye ancient capital." If they would write oftener X. Y. Z. would be quickly left in the shade and have nothing to say, for "Truth is stronger than fiction." The writer of this may also be regarded as a slacker, but I have to-day a brother who is doing service in France, also many other relatives who are doing service or are training. There is also somewhere on "No Man's Land" the bleached and sun-dried bones of one of our family. Thus you see my other brother is somewhere in France to avenge his death.

Trusting, Mr. Editor, I am not trespassing too much on your valuable space. I remain,
 A PLACENTIA LADDIE.

WATER WAGGON COLLAPSED.—One of the city watering carts, while proceeding along Cabot Street on Saturday afternoon, toppled over when one of the wheels collapsed. The driver while attempting to jump clear got caught beneath the cart but fortunately escaped serious injury. The horse which was attached to the sprinkler had its leg broken and later had to be shot by Inspector Bastow. The animal, which was valued at $300, will be a big loss to the Municipal Council.

ANOTHER AIR RAID ON ENGLAND

LONDON, June 17. German airships made a raid on the East Coast and Southeast Coast of England this Sunday morning. One Zeppelin was brought down in flames. Some damage was done, and fire broke out in a coast town. No further details are given.

Two persons were killed and 16 injured in last night's air raid, during which a zeppelin was brought down. The following official report of the raid was given out here today: Last night's air raid was carried out by two enemy airships, one of which crossed the Kentish Coast about 2 a.m. and dropped six bombs on a coast town. According to latest police reports, two persons were killed and 16 injured. A large number of houses were damaged. A second raider attacked an East Coast town in West Anglia at 3.30 a.m. She was heavily shelled by guns of the anti-aircraft defence and driven off. Shortly after this the raider, after dropping a number of bombs in open places, was engaged and brought down in flames by a pilot of the Royal Flying Corps. The airship was destroyed. There were no casualties or damage in West Anglia.

OPPOSED TO SEPARATE PEACE.

PETROGRAD, June 17. A stirring proclamation, placing the Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates on record as irrevocably opposed to separate peace, was adopted today by the Council. The proclamation was prompted by the Austrian efforts to lure Russia into a separate peace.

SUCCESSFUL WORK BY AIRPLANES.

LONDON, June 17. The British official statement reports fighting resumed in the sector of the Hindenburg line northwest of Bullecourt, and that south of Ypres the British made progress and captured further prisoners. Particularly successful work was done by air-planes, both in co-operation with artillery, reconnaissance work and bombing raids, as a result of which six German airships were brought down, while ten others were driven down out of control. The British lost but one machine.

RUSSIA'S OFFENSIVE.

PETROGRAD, June 17. The Duma in secret session passed a resolution for an immediate offensive by the Russian troops. The resolution declares that a separate peace with Germany of prolonged activity on the battlefield would be ignominious treason toward Russia's Allies, for which the future generations never would pardon the Russians of the present day. The Duma, therefore, considers that the safety of Russia and the maintenance of the liberties which have been obtained lie in immediate and close co-operation with Russia's Allies.

FRENCH REPORT.

PARIS, June 17. Heavy artillery fighting is reported north and south of the Ailette River, as well as in the Champagne. In the sector of Mont Bland in the region of Couertry, the French took a trench where an enemy group had gained a foothold. The occupants were all killed or made prisoners. An attempted German attack was broken up by the French northeast of Cerny, on the Aisne front, on Saturday night, the war office announces. Further east near Hurtebise, artillery firing became extremely violent. In the Eastern theatre, in the neighborhood of Shlop, south of Gievgeil, patrols were active. There was intermittent artillery action along the whole front. French aviators bombarded enemy positions near Lake Malik Thesali. Our cavalry has occupied Kalabaka, Trikala, Karkista, Sephrades and Demiri. Our infantry occupied Volo, which was occupied by cavalry several days ago. Advances south continue without difficulties. The populace at Larissa has enthusiastically adhered to the Venizelos Government.

PORTUGUESE REPEL GERMANS.

LONDON, June 17. Portuguese troops repelled several German raids during June, says the official issued here this evening. We captured a few prisoners last night as a result of a raid north of Couzeacourt, south of the Ypres-Comines Canal. A raiding party caught in our artillery barrage failed to reach our trenches.

CONFERENCE SUGGESTED.

PETROGRAD, June 17. The announcement last week that the cabinet decided to suggest a conference with the Allies for the examination of treaties was followed today by the publication of a note sent to the other Governments in question. The note suggests a conference to revise the agreement existing among the Allies as to war aims, with the exception of the London agreement, which provides that none of the signatory Powers shall conclude a separate peace.

GERMAN OFFICIAL.

BERLIN, June 17. A supplementary statement issued by the German war office this evening says: On isolated sectors in Flanders, in Artois, also on the Aisne-Champagne front, artillery fighting was lively. Attacks by the British during the forenoon near Monchy-le-Preux and in the neighborhood of Crosselles were repulsed and led to no change in the situation.

ON THE RUSSIAN FRONT.

VIENNA, June 17. Increased fighting on the Russian front in East Galicia and Volhynia, is reported in the official statement issued by the war office on Friday. The statement follows: In East Galicia and Volhynia there is increased Russian fighting, and activities continued at several points. In the Italian theatre there is nothing important to report from the Isonzo army. In Carinthia the enemy artillery fire has increased in Flocken sector with the greatest violence. An attack upon our position at Montecomben was repulsed. Artillery fighting on the Sette-Cumuni Plateau has increased in violence.

CHANGES IN LEADERSHIP.

PETROGRAD, June 17. The newspapers report that Admiral Madenoff, Commander of the Black Sea fleet, has left his post and will be replaced by Rear-Admiral Verderoski. General Yudevich, Commander-in-Chief in the Caucasus, has been replaced by General Prjevasky. Two officers and two of the Austrian Espionage bureau, have been arrested while visiting the Russian lines in the guise of Parliamentaries.

TRANSPORT ANNAM TORPEDOED.

PARIS, June 17. It is officially announced that the transport Annam was torpedoed in the Ionian Sea, June 11th, while proceeding under escort. Bombs were at once thrown in the track of the submarine, which did not re-appear. The Annam was taken in tow by one of the convoying ships, but sank in a few minutes. There were no casualties.

USING CADIZ AS BASE.

PARIS, June 17. A semi-official note says that the German submarine U-52, which was towed into Cadiz, June 11, was operating outside that port. On June 12, a Norwegian steamer was torpedoed off Huelva, and a Russian vessel between Laroche and Cadiz, which leads to the belief that a group of submarines has been sent to blockade the ports of Cadiz and Huelva.

TWO OF A KIND.

COPENHAGEN, June 17. Admiral Von Tirpitz and Field Marshal Von Hindenburg have replied approvingly to telegrams of greeting from the Pan-German Committee for a German peace at Essen. Von Tirpitz replied that the submarines will reach their goal, if we at home retain our nerves. Von Hindenburg, who misses no opportunity of answering telegrams from meetings arranged by the Junker Committee, although it is openly in opposition to Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg, responded on this occasion with assurances that complete victory and peace worthy of Germany's sacrifices are taking every measure to avoid disorder. The authorities at Piraeus have posted notices in the streets summoning all those who possess arms to deliver them to the authorities by to-morrow. More Allied troops were landed at Piraeus today. The food situation is improving. A ship is discharging 4,000 tons of wheat at Piraeus, and other cargoes are expected within 48 hours.

TAKING MEASURES TO AVOID DISORDER.

ATHENS, June 17. Former King Constantine, who abdicated the Greek throne last Thursday, has now left Greek territory. Both the Government and the High Commissioner representing the Allies are taking every measure to avoid disorder. The authorities at Piraeus have posted notices in the streets summoning all those who possess arms to deliver them to the authorities by to-morrow. More Allied troops were landed at Piraeus today. The food situation is improving. A ship is discharging 4,000 tons of wheat at Piraeus, and other cargoes are expected within 48 hours.

ITALIAN OFFICIAL.

ROME, June 17. The official statement reads: East of Adamello Massif in Eastern Trentino, Alpine detachments and the Val Baites battalion of Skiers advanced over very difficult ground, and notwithstanding furious resistance by the enemy, attacked strongly fortified positions on the Carso-Cavento at an altitude of 3,400 metres. The position was carried, and they captured what was left of the enemy garrison, two 75 millimetre guns, one trench mortar, four machine guns and a large quantity of supplies and ammunition. On the front of the Asiago Plateau, the enemy's artillery continued to show great activity. Patrol attacks on our positions on Mount Zedio were repulsed.

BERLIN OFFICIAL.

BERLIN, June 17. The following official statement was issued today: As the British Government has complied with the German demand and declared the withdrawal of all German prisoners of war to 30 kilometres behind the front to be now completed, the German army organizations had all British prisoners of war withdrawn to at least 30 kilometres behind the front. The evening official issued from the German headquarters merely says nothing of importance occurred.

Short-belted jackets often have deep yokes.
Beige and blue is a favorite color combination.
Linen is combined with tulle and wool materials.
No girle should visibly entirely encircle the waist.
A lavish use of lace for evening gowns is hinted at.
Gold satin makes a good trimming for blue serge.
Beads are not so much used as trimming this season.
Yellow cherry or green may be used with silver gray.
Children have taffeta dresses trimmed with quilting.
Children's coats have novelty collars, pockets and belts.
Persian embroideries are charming with neutral tones.
Coats are in three lengths—long, three-quarter and short.

The Civil Service Increases.

A MASS OF INJUSTICES.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I desire to draw the immediate attention of the public, particularly that portion of it which has to do with the legislation at present being enacted, to the gross injustice which is being done to the civil service in this Colony by the proposed manner of giving certain increases to the officials. It is proposed to give an increase of fifty per cent to those whose salaries are $200 per annum and under, whilst to those whose salaries range from $200 to $1100 a downward sliding scale is provided; those who are in receipt of $1000 to $1100 per year getting an increase only of 50, whilst those in receipt of higher salaries obtain nothing. It has been stated that the reason for giving the increase in this manner is that the cost of living has so increased that men are not able to bring up families on the small salaries they are getting. This is no excuse, the higher cost of living is felt by every salaried man and in proportion to his standing. The salaries of the civil servants in this Colony have been for many years too low and altogether inadequate for the services performed by the clerical portion. The low salaries and the practice of putting unfit men into the civil service has tended to make it non-efficient.

The giving an increase to the lower paid officials greater than that paid to higher officials is an acknowledgment that the scale by which the officials were heretofore paid was not regulated by the merit, ability or work of the official, as in other countries, and must have, if persisted in, a bad effect on the whole civil service.

I do not think that this matter has been properly studied or thought out by the Government. The conditions of the civil servants have not been taken into account, the increases made from time to time in certain salaries during the past five years, the positions of trust held by men whose salaries are not a living wage, the positions held by men who have been put into the public service for the purpose of giving them a job, the increases to men who have no one dependent on them, and the clerical ability and experience of men who have for years been in the receipt of very small salaries, have not been considered.

There are other matters which also should have been enquired into. Certain officials of the Post Office, Custom House and Constabulary receive suits of clothing, and some of these minor officials receive emoluments or fees, so that the minor official will, under this proposed increase, get more than the official to whom he is subordinate. There are other matters that should and ought to have been considered. Some 3 or 4 years ago the Customs tideswaiters' salaries were advanced from $390 to $600 or an increase of 53.58 per cent, whilst the police who do one hundred times more work received none. Surely it is not fair now to put these men in a better position than other servants in the public service. Those tideswaiters are not bringing up families, the most of them are grandfathers, the work they do is, according to some people, mostly drawing their pay. They now get $600 a year, a suit of clothes worth $25 and emolument not known, whilst clerks in the public service, occupying positions of trust and in charge of public funds, are getting from $500 to $600.

I ask Sir E. P. Morris and the Hon. J. R. Bennett how many of the men whose salaries are to be increased 50 per cent, are family men, and how they propose to explain the fact that the District Court Judge is to have his salary increased by some thousand dollars or more, while the poor clerk of $700 or $500 gets a paltry $100 or less. I cannot see why the Government are not prepared to help out the higher paid officials like the Deputy Col. Secretary, the Asst. Collector, the Commissioner of Poor, the Deputy of Marine and the Secretary to Public Works. They have increased the salary of the Deputy Minister of Justice, why not the others? Is the work of the other departments less in volume or of less importance than that of the District Court and of the Minister of Justice?

Again what will be the position in the outposts where a Constable will get a greater increase in proportion than the Magistrate or a Tidewater get more than a Sub-Collector? Is the political situation so demoralized that those who ought to safeguard the interests of the public are apathetic, or fail to see that the only just and fair way to help out the civil service is to put a percentage of increase so that the salaries would bear the same relations to the services of a man as they have done in the past.

Much more might be written, and evidence quoted from the report of the Postmaster General, but I am afraid I have already trespassed too much on your valuable space.

Yours truly,
CENTURION.

"Volunteer" Replies to "Outport Taxpayer."

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—"Outport Taxpayer" in Saturday's issue of your esteemed journal makes objection to the firemen receiving an increase of pay, on the grounds that it should not come from the general revenue, but rather from the city's finances. The argument is so feeble that one feels half bashful in knocking it. Let me ask this generous individual if the outport man receives any protection from our fire fighters, those gallant men who on innumerable occasions have extinguished fires on schooners and are prepared on all occasions to do likewise. Protection, why it is the out harbor man that is protected. Thousands of dollars worth of fish and supplies in their schooners need the protection of the fire brigade. The crews in the sealing fleet need fire protection for their share of the 'fat' until it is landed. Are not the firemen always on hand to render assistance? What about the outport people in the hospital, in the Poor Asylum, in the Penitentiary, do they not receive protection from the firemen? What about the outport men and women in the boarding houses and hotels, do not they sleep more soundly knowing that our gallant firemen are ready in an instant to risk their lives in order that they may be protected?

But, Mr. Editor, enough, and in conclusion I would advise "Outport Taxpayer" to be very careful lest he expire from a disease known as "Enlargement of the heart."

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for past favors in publishing a series of letters on this subject of the firemen's pay, and congratulating the firemen upon the "rise" now "signalled from the Cape,"

I am, yours, etc.,
VOLUNTEER.

HOT WEATHER COMPLEXIONS.

What are you doing for your complexion these warm summer days when dust is in the air and the sun burns at every turn? Never in the whole year are you quite so anxious to look your best as now. The quickest and most direct way of treating the blemishes that come with the hot weather is to take each one separately and apply its own specific remedy.

Powder is one of the causes of a bad complexion at this time of year. But this does not imply that face powders are not good for the complexion, on the contrary it can be stated that they are highly beneficial, but that one must know how to use them. Powder should be applied to the face only after it has been rubbed with a good cleansing cream, and even then it should be put on lightly and rubbed in until not a particle of it is visible.

Wash the face daily in very hot water. Use plenty of soap, lathering the face and neck with soap jelly, and rinsing it off afterwards with a bath hose. Let no soap remain upon the skin, but be sure it is removed by using as many waters upon it as one has patience to apply. After the thorough washing, the skin must have a little cream or a little skin food massaged into it.

If the cheeks are thin, or there are hollows in the neck, there is nothing so beneficial as slow massage. A gentle "spatting" of the skin will develop it and increase the flesh underneath. For a thin face five minutes "spatting" each day is advised. Where the face and neck are too fat a heavy massage is preferable. Indeed there are these differences in the quality of massage, that while a quick massage takes off the flesh, a slow rubbing will develop it.
