Sliced peaches with Kellogg's WAXTITE Corn Flakes!

Can you imagine anything so good to eat early on a warm morning or for lunch as sliced peaches and milk, all-cold and fine—and Kellogg's "WAXTITE" Corn Flakes, crispy and delicious!

Eat plenty of Kellogg's "WAXTITE" Corn Flakes and fruit and know the happiness of feeling sprightly, despite the heat! Kellogg's "WAXTITE" Corn Flakes are exactly the sort of a diet you need. They are not only satisfying, but nourishing as well and just wonderful for little folks, in particular, because they digest so easily.

Kellogg's WAXTITE CORN FLAKES

Make sure that each package you buy is sealed air-tight with the wax paper jacket.

and it is one of my wishes that these two come together again."

"And yet, Ada Craythorne is not the girl to spread a baseless report of that kind," Gardner said, reflectively. "She is strong-willed, passionate, a little unscrupulous, where her interests are at stake, but too proud to circulate stories of that kind, and then have to face a humiliating denial."

"She's a fine girl," remarked Lord Cecil. "And no fellow can help admiring her."

Gardner had to admit this. He could not help thinking about her, and called himself a fool for it. He had begun by distrusting her, he had determined to expose her, but now he was resolved to shield her.

LADY IRIS' MISTAKE;

—or the—
Hero of 'Surata'

CHAPTER I.

The motto of the family was, "Held with honor." The crest, chosen by the same king who had created the earldom, was a lion with a white lily on a blue shield. In olden times the cry of "The lion and the lily!" had scattered the foe and made bolder the hearts of friends.

All round Chandos there still remained the trace of royal residence. The forest where the stately deer browsed was called the King's Forest, and the nearest town was Kingsdene. The principal rooms in the mansion, which were magnificently decorated, opened upon a noble entrance-hall, in which was a broad oak staircase with superbly-carved banisters, leading to a picture-gallery that had no equal in the country. The great staircase and the hall were flecked with rich color, for the large windows were fitted with stained glass. Over the grand entrance, above the large windows, and round the pillars was the motto—"Held with honor!" On the great iron gates over the hall door, carved on the rich marble mantel pieces, over the doors of the principle rooms, were the lion and the white lily on a shield.

Mrs. Bellow had been accustomed to magnificent houses; but the splendor of this in its ancestral glory startled her. Her duties suddenly assumed a solemn aspect; she was to be the guide and friend of the heiress of this grand old place. As she walked up and down the broad terraces she wondered what Lady Iris would be like, and how she would get on with her.

Mrs. Bellow herself was fair and comely, she was sensible, calm, and judicious, and was well suited for the position she was about to occupy. She was dressed with great care and elegance. First impressions, she wished to impress Lady Iris most favorably.

Half an hour after she was talking to a tall slender young beauty, who carried herself with the utmost grace and ease—a girl with a face that was peerless in its dainty high-bred loveliness, and Mrs. Bellow was saying to her—

"You are wonderfully like the Faynes. Do you know the old rhyme about the Ladies Fayne?"

"No, I have never heard!" replied the girl, interested at once.

"It is an old saying. I used to hear my mother sing it; she was a Fayne. This is it—

"All the Faynes are fair of face,
All the Faynes are full of grace,
All the Faynes are proud and cold—
They their name with honor hold!"

"The last line is the only one I care for," said Lady Iris. "The others are full of flattery."

"Do you think it flattery to be called 'proud and cold'?" asked Mrs. Bellow.

"Yes, decidedly I do. I like cold people, and I like proud people. Above all, I like people who hold their names in honor, as we Faynes do."

And that little conversation gave the anxious chaperon some faint idea of the character of Lady Iris.

Lord Cecil's Dilemma

—OR—
The Picnic

CHAPTER XI.

Gardner watched Lady Stanhope with a species of fascination. In some way she seemed to recall some one whom he had known, and she, in turn, found herself listening eagerly to the music of his eloquent voice.

After dinner Flossie played and sung to the gentlemen, while Lord Cecil moodily gnawed at the ends of his mustache, and the young lawyer listened to be in excellent spirits through the engagement of her eldest daughter to Sir Charles Hastings; still she was a little dubious concerning the young lady's remarks about Lord Cecil.

Seizing the first opportunity which ordinary civility permitted, Stanhope escaped from the drawing-room and took Gardner with him.

"It's a relief to get away from that cant," he said. "Lady Craythorne makes me sick. I don't mind Flossie, poor little thing, only she does make it so unpleasant to the world when she's in love with a fellow. Come into my snugery and we'll smoke."

He produced several brands of cigars, and for a while they puffed in silence.

"We'll run over to Swinford Abbey to-morrow," he said at last. "The earl has been ill for some time, but there are hopes now that he will soon recover. I want you to comfort Lady Gladys, if you can. She is bearing her troubles like a Trojan; and, by Jove, this affair of Hastings' will be a fresh blow, for she thinks all the world of him."

Gardner looked at his companion through the wreaths of smoke that curled between them.

"Stanhope," he said, suddenly, "I think that I can trust you. Let me tell you that you are like, and yet unlike, the Stanhope of old. You have lost much of the objectionable arrogance that I remember, and it surprises me that I consented to be your adviser. I am glad now that I came, and I will work heart and soul for you if need be."

"I am much obliged to you," was the somewhat surly rejoinder. "I know that I haven't been particularly considerate of other people's feelings; it never was one of my distinguishing traits, and, if I have altered for the better, it is simply owing to impending adversity. But I am not going to talk business until I have consulted with Lady Gladys. I nearly forced her into a marriage, the thought of which she detested, merely to humor my blind stubbornness, and now I'm out of it, partly because I'm sorry for her, and partly because I mean to be quits with somebody you'll know hereafter!"

A vindictive gleam shot into his eyes, and for a space the barrister felt a trifle nonplused.

"Of course," he observed, "I can offer no opinion until I am relieved of this mystery. I will say, though, that I have no belief in this engagement of Sir Charles. I left him but a few days since, speechless. He met with a shooting accident, and was too weak to move, too feverish to recognize one."

Stanhope whistled.

"I knew nothing of this. I only hope that it is not true, for Lady Gladys' sake. I am on the stool of penitence,

W. T. Cosgrove May Head Irish Ministry.

Richard Mulcahey succeeds Michael Collins...New York World Prints Scathing Indictment...Strike Discussions Proceeding at Sydney.

IRISH PLANS AND LEADERS. Dublin, Aug. 24. That the Irish Free State Government will be continued on the lines marked out by Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, whose views were exchanged with their delegates in anticipated. Schemes for developments await definite establishment of the Free State and all efforts of the Free State government will be directed to reestablishing the new state firmly in accordance with terms, to which the signatures of William Cosgrove and Richard Mulcahey will be as strict as that of the dead leaders. It is assumed that Mr. Cosgrove will head the Ministry. An important personage is Professor John MacNeill who was speaker of Dail Eireann, a man of great knowledge and experience, who provokes no antagonism and has friends on all sides. The appointment of Richard Mulcahey as Commander-in-Chief of the National Army is universally approved. Dail Eireann has semi-officially announced that it will meet Saturday as expected.

NEW YORK WORLD ON IRISH IRRECONCILABLES. NEW YORK, Aug. 24. The World, in a strong editorial, declares that Michael Collins was "battered by members of an irreconcilable minority." The paper deals unsparringly with the followers of Eamon De Valera, who have established in Ireland "gunman tyranny which poses as super patriotism," it declares, adding that they are a dissatisfied group, waging guerilla warfare, "against a central authority, established under majority sanction." This faction, continues the World, is "blind to everything but its own unworkable theories and unrealistic facts, an opposition of bad losers, willing to descend to the assassination of political antagonists when their appeal to the public failed; willing to resort to Russian terrorism to wreck administration of a popular Government with whom they could not agree, they have gone a long way toward proving, what Collins almost succeeded in disproving, that Ireland does not know how to govern herself and is not willing to learn." The World reflects the opinion of the great majority of Irishmen in the United States and one time supporters of De Valera.

THINKS RALEIGH TOTAL LOSS. QUEBEC, Aug. 24. The salvage steamer Lord Strathcona, is enroute to Quebec from the Raleigh wreck. It considered the vessel to be a total loss.

BRIGHTER HOPES AT SYDNEY. SYDNEY, Aug. 24. Further substantial progress toward settlement of the Nova Scotia coal strike is thought to have been made at the third session of the British Empire Steel Corporation and United Mine Workers peace conference here to-day. The Company's counter proposal to the men's demands for 1921 pay, the question of length contract and retroactive payments were

THROUGH DUBLIN'S STREETS. DUBLIN, Aug. 24. Twice to-day the body of Michael Collins was carried through the streets of Dublin, which were lined with sorrowing spectators. Early in the day, in an impressive procession, the body was taken from the steamer Classic, and transported on a gun carriage to St. Vincent's Hospital. This evening it was removed to the City Hall where it will lay until Sunday. The coffin is of the same catafalque on which rested that of Arthur Griffith.

HALES NOW REPRITENDS RESPONSIBILITY. CORK, Aug. 24. Thomas Hales, who led and accepted the responsibility for the ambush which killed Michael Collins, repudiated it to-day, threw down his arms and offered to join the National forces. His brother is Sean Hales, pro-Treaty member of Dail Eireann. The former has been a fierce opponent of the Treaty, and it is not known whether his offer to join the Nationals will be accepted. His sudden change of front is regarded as significant, and as giving point to the prevailing belief that the death of Michael Collins will not be in vain, as the action of Thom Hales may animate his comrades to do likewise.

U.S. INDUSTRIAL PROBLEMS. WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. Government operation of United States coal mines and Federal control of coal, distributed in such manner as to prevent profiteering, is proposed in measure introduced in the Senate to-day. Secretary Hoover announced today that within a week the daily bituminous coal production will be sufficient for United States needs, but that the country is faced with a shortage of freight cars, which would be acute within a month. Chairman Cummings of the Interstate Commerce Committee said that Congress at the next meeting would take up industrial problems with a view of determining "what place Unionism should occupy in the civilization of the United States."

ASQUITH JOINS THE CROWD. LONDON, Aug. 24. Messrs. Cassell state that a book, in which the Rt. Hon. H. H. Asquith replies to the ex-Kaiser's Memoirs will be published next year. They say they are not at liberty to state what Mr. Asquith is to receive for the book but intimate that it will not be quite so much as the one hundred thousand pounds which is said to be promised Premier Lloyd George for his Memoirs.

During Dr. Jones' absence his surgery at Avondale will be attended every Wednesday. Parties desiring the visiting Doctor to call at their homes will please have their calls in before noon on that day.—aug22, tu, f

ENVY.
Lord, I am sick with envy! Not of those Whose sum of gold is greater far than mine,
Nor those who stand where pomp and glory shine,
But when I see another man disclose The trails of mercy to his fallen foes,
Or stand alone upon Truth's battle line,
And spurn the wrong which selfish and covetous years to be as fine.

If it be sin to envy, damned am I,
For day by day I envy better men Who are too big to profit by a lie.
In faith and strength I would be born again,
No good man ever passes by my gate But what I wish that I could be as great.

Gratitude and Appreciation.

LABORING MEN THANK SIR MICHAEL CASHIN.

The following letter was received by Sir Michael Cashin from James Stephenson on behalf of the 150 men whose passages on the train to their homes from Badger were arranged for by Sir Michael:—

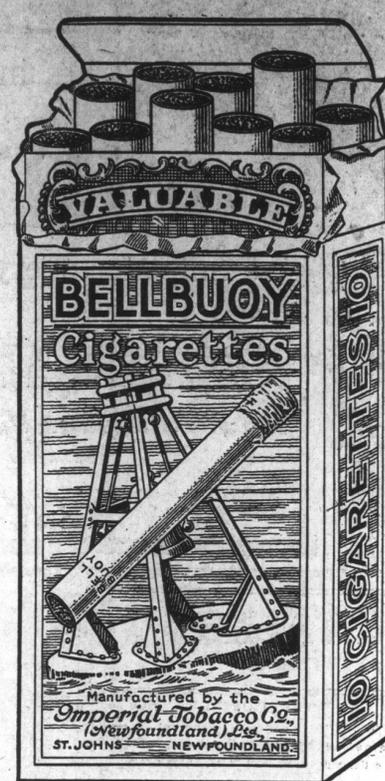

VICTORIA, Carbonar, August 21st, 1922.

Dear Sir Michael Cashin.—Myself included the bunch of men whom you so generously assisted to get to their homes consider it only following the dictates of common gratitude to send you a note of thanks for the kindly interest that you took in us in helping us to get home from Badger. I have been speaking to most of the men and they all, I assure you, highly appreciate what you did for us and I have no doubt that it will be remembered in time to come. Several of them requested me to drop you a line in the form of a note of thanks, if not in the public press, in the form of a private letter so that you may give it to the newspapers for publication if you think well of doing so. We shall never forget your kind intervention and it only confirms what we have already heard of you from those who know you best. Your action is the kind that shows the man in the time of need. Would to God that the whole country knew you as you really are, and not as your political enemies represent you. There would then be some hope for the future of Newfoundland. There was one thing that no man with a heart in him would care to see unrelieved and that was a crowd of poor hungry workmen trying to get home from a place where they could not earn enough to provide a bit of food for their families. The men got so disgusted that they could stand it no longer. What made matters worse was to meet all along the line squads of police as if the men had committed murder or some other serious crime. I can tell you, sir, that this is the driving of the last nail in the coffin of the Government. These men and myself included are not lazy loafers, but have always been independent of the Government or anyone else in earning our living. Most of us have worked at the coal mines in Sydney and other places and at various jobs of the hardest kind both in Canada and the United States, but since things have gone so bad in those places we have been compelled to stay in Newfoundland and have been pinned to the wall by the way in which the Government have mismanaged the country. We know all that is going on, and we will give proof of it at the next election. We do not know whether you are coming out next time or not, but if you are the full strength of our support will go with you no matter who else comes out. To show the crookedness of the Government system I want to add that any of the men who had the passage money on them at Badger, $8.75 were made give it up and anybody who did not was allowed to come through free. These had already sent what little they had to their families through the A.N.D. Co., and those who did not have a chance to do so and had nine or ten dollars clear from the Company had to "stand and deliver" and of those I happened to be one who had to pay, so that as far as wages were concerned I came home just as I went. I guess you are already aware of the pay that we had and all the circumstances connected with it, so I need not tell you. I expect it will be public property before long. Now, sir, is there no way in which our passage money may be refunded? If so you will confer a further favor by helping us to get it back. There are two from here who were forced to give up the $8.75, Samuel J. Whyte and myself. We are all poor men and we trust you will do what you can for us and you can depend on us to stand by you and do what we can for you should you continue in public life at the next elections. Trusting that you will be able to get our money back for us, I remain,

Yours truly,
JAMES STEPHENSON.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

IS THIS THE RIGHT ANSWER?

"Why is it," someone asked me the other day, "that old people seem to dread death more than young people, in spite of the fact that young people have so much more to live for?"

"What makes you think they do?" I asked.

"Well, you often hear young people joke about death, or speak of it without fear or dread, but you seldom hear old people talk that way." As if that proved anything except that young people don't really expect to die, and old people do! "The young may die, the old must" was a favorite saying of my grandmother's and it is the first answer to the question above.

A Pleasant Idea Then.

It's all right to play with the idea of death when one is young. "The simple child that lightly draws his breath and feels his life in every limb, what should he know of death?" And by the same token why should he not speak calmly of it?

I don't suppose there ever was a young man or woman of 20 or thereabouts who did not now and then enjoy the pleasant melancholy of picturing his own demise, attended by the heartrending grief of those who had not treated him properly or had failed to appreciate him. But as we grow older and the idea comes upon us that whether we like to picture it or not, someday the thing is really going to happen to us, we take less pleasure in such imaginings.

Too Long a Journey.

Then, again, as people grow older, most of them grow less adventurous. Long journeys hold less appeal for them, they are apt to become more conservative and to have less interest in anything strange and new.

What wonder, then, that the longest journey, the most radical change, the greatest adventure of all, appeals less to them than it does to the young. The man of 70 would not have the same appetite for a journey to Europe as the youth of 20. Is it any wonder, then, that the journey to that bourne from which no traveller returns seems to him a rather appalling undertaking?

Not Hard at All.

Of course the idea of rest and peace which we also associate with the other side of the river, would naturally appeal to those who are tired. But something which he greatly dreads stands between the old man and that rest. I think it is not death so much as dying which most old people fear. And for that reason I want to tell you of an experience I have lately passed through.

One whom I greatly love stood on the very brink of the river and looked across. "They are all there," she said, "father and mother and brother and the baby." Her face lit up: "They are all right there," she said again. "Isn't it lovely? It isn't hard at all. And I always thought it would be. Tell John never to be afraid. It isn't hard at all."

And so I am telling you, too, thinking there may be some among my friends who, while they are ready for the peace, have somewhat dreaded the passing into it.

BRINGS HAPPY EASE.

September Rod and Gun.

The September issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, now on sale, is one which should please the sportsmen and the outdoors man, for there are many attractive features, all of which should prove of interest. H. Mortimer Batten, whose work has achieved prominence through the columns of this magazine, has an absorbing story, entitled; "The Terror of the Canyon," which is a swifly-moving tale, with plenty of action and not a few thrills. There are other good stories, also, while Bonnydale's usual article is one of decided merit.

A special feature is the complete table of the seasons for all game, large and small, in each province of the Dominion, and this information, being complete and yet compact, should be a boon to hunters and sportsmen everywhere. The Guns and Ammunition department, edited by C. S. Landis, easily upholds the splendid standards previously established, and that is a guarantee of value and quality.

Robert Page Lincoln's Fishing Notes, with Queries and Answers, contain much material of importance to the angler, and this popular department again offers something good for the delectation of all those who pursue the fanny beauties. The Kennel department, as well as the Trap and Photo departments, are of high merit and there are many other articles and stories, to numerous to mention, which go to complete a magazine of quantity plus quality.

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA is published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Ltd., at Woodstock, Ontario.

Obituary.

"In the midst of life we are in death" was certainly verified Aug. 15, Feast of the Assumption, of Our Blessed Lady when Mrs. Patrick Fenelly, of Admiral's Cove, Fermeuse, aged 73 years, was unexpectedly called to her eternal reward. The mid-day meal had scarcely begun when the sudden, sad event occurred. A good christian woman ever forward in every charitable undertaking she is sincerely mourned by all with whom she came in contact. Her husband and children to whom the loss of a truly affectionate wife and mother is irreparable we write in heartfelt sympathy. To Sir Michael Cashin, Mr. Smythe and all who sent messages or helped in any way to assuage their grief, the family desires to tender their most heartfelt thanks. May she rest in peace.—G.M.

 Guards 4: C.E.I. 0.
 The second last game of the regular League Football schedule was played at St. George's field last night. A mere handful of fans turned out to see the game. The evening was ideal for good football, although the chilly atmosphere was anything but pleasant for the fans. In the first half the Guards notched two goals to their opponents nil. Parsons Quick doing the needful. The C.E.I. made several unsuccessful attempts on goal, but their shooting was erratic. On changing ends the Guards had matters all their own. Quick brothers and Macklin beat the C.E.I. goalie a busy time in warding off several difficult shots. The blue and white aggregation scored No. 3 after fifteen minutes of play. Quick junior finding the net. Ches Quick sprained his ankle during the close of the game and had to leave the field. The Guards from a scrimmage in front of goal landed a hot one between posts which proved too much for Smith just before the close of the game, the Guards being declared winners by four goals to nil. Referee Geo. Hunt.

HIGHLAND GAMES.
 The big attraction for next Wednesday afternoon will be the popular

Highland Games Sports which will be held at St. George's Field. The Committee in-charge have arranged an excellent programme for the occasion, and many of the events will be new and interesting while the various running sprints and middle distances will be competed for by a number of our noted athletes. Perhaps the most interesting move the Committee made in this direction is that the sprints will be competed for under handicap. This will, no doubt, induce a large number of our athletes to compete in the sprints under these conditions will be all the more interesting, and it is a fore-gone conclusion that the races will be hotly contested to the finish, and the time for all or several of the events will either be equalled or broken. Many of our local athletes are now engaged at hard practice for this big meet. The prizes are something worth going after, and many have already signalled their intentions of competing. It would be well for all competitors to send in their entries as quickly as possible, so that the Committee will have something to work on in arranging the handicaps as square and above board as possible to the interests of all concerned.

Nightly large numbers of our local long distance runners can be seen engaged hard at practice to get in preparation for the big Marathon event which takes place early next month. The trustees of the Telegram Cup will meet the Executive of the A.A.A. next Monday night, when the rules and regulations governing the race will be drawn up, while the place and date will also be decided upon.

Coal Company Ready For Long Fight.

Though all eyes were turned to the conference between the officials of the British Empire Steel Corporation and the U.M.W. in session at Sydney this morning, looking for a miracle, the only evidence apparent was a tightening up on the part of the operating company to withstand the demand for a further concession than the one offered at the conference Sunday a week ago.

It was reported here that the Black Diamond liners Wabana and Hochelaga, which have been running in the Montreal coal trade, had been ordered to tie up and pay off their crews. The Wabana, it was stated, had returned all provisions ordered yesterday and will pay off this afternoon. The Hochelaga will pay off tomorrow.

The whereabouts of the other steamers of the line, Rose, Castle, Logan, etc., could not be ascertained, but it is stated locally that they have all been ordered to Wabana to load ore for Rotterdam. S.S. Gredlon left this port for Wabana this morning.

On the other hand the announcement from Sydney that the conference had not failed, but was to meet the only unfortunate occurrence gravity of the situation.

The miners on the north side continue their excellent conduct and all the mines of the British Steel Corporation are reported to be under the efforts of the pumpmen to clear them of rising water. Those on the North remain in excellent shape.

The conference held yesterday between the Premier and representatives of the Municipalities and men on the north side have done much to clear the air in connection with possible military or special police occupation. So long as the mines are not endangered no provincial interference in the district is probable. The only unfortunate occurrence reported is the flooding of the Tom pit, or Moncash mine, of the Indian Cove Coal Company. This is one of the best and most easily worked mines in the district. It is situated below boggy ground and the rain of the week added to the difficulty of keeping the mine pumped out. It was reported this morning that although two of the safety men had reported to the mine yesterday under the general order that two sets of pumps had been lost and the situation is very serious. It is understood that a large force will be required to clear the mine and keep it in good order.

Mr. T. H. Hardigan told the Herald this morning that so long as the dispute with the operators is on, the Indian would not attempt to hoist or sell a pound of coal, but they are very much concerned over the condition of their property, especially the Tom pit, and it is essential in the interest of the men who are employed there that every effort should be made to save the mine from destruction and to have it fit for immediate resumption as soon as the present dispute is settled.—North Sydney Herald, Aug. 22nd, 1922.

AVIATORS IN HOSPITAL.
 CALCUTTA, Aug. 25.
 Captain Norman MacMillan and Captain Maillins, upon arrival at Chillingham, on their round the world flight, were taken to hospital suffering from exposure, according to a message received here to-day.

Whole hominy is a cheap, delicious and nourishing food; also very good for growing children. To be at its best it should be cooked all day. This is an excellent time to start a "Christmas" box. Odd lengths of lace and remnants picked up at the bargain counter pile up surprisingly.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Cost of Running First Class Hotel.

INTEREST ALONE ON ONE BIG NEW YORK HOUSE AT RATE OF $10 PER DAY PER ROOM.

The business side of one of the oldest businesses in the world is little known to the luxury-loving public to which American hotels cater. Some 200 hotels of the first class accommodate a substantial proportion of the millions who visit New York annually.

To build a first-class hotel costs about $5,000 a room, excluding land—which comes high—and carrying charges during construction. Furnishing means $800 to $1,400, making the total $7,500 to $9,000 a room. A hotel like the Pennsylvania with 2,200 rooms—each with bath—represents an investment of more than $19,000,000. Interest alone at 6% exceeds $10 a week a room.

A New York residential hotel employed 147 employes in 1919, with monthly payroll $9,900; to-day, with the same plant, it employs 152 persons with payroll $14,255. Before the war, waiters got $20 a month, furnished uniforms and paid for breakages, working ten or twelve hours a day and sometimes seven days a week. Now they get $40 to $50 a month, pay for no breakages, have uniforms furnished free and work eight hours a day, six days a week. Elevator boys in 1914 got $20 a month, to-day $30 to $40. Cooks formerly averaged $50 to $80 a month; to-day $90 to $160.

Pot washers used to get $20 a week and meals for 12 hours a day, 7 days a week; now they get $22 a week and meals for 7 hours a day, 6 days a week, kitchen men, who would clean ranges, peel vegetables or wash pots, have disappeared. The pot washer will not peel. The vegetable peeler will not clean ranges, and the range cleaner refuses any other work.

There is a fry cook, a roast cook, a broil cook, a fish cook, a sauce cook, there is an ice cream man, a cold meat man, a vegetable man, an oyster man. None of these will lift a finger on any but his own job. The fry cook may be standing idle, but he will not broil a chop.

In the laundry, a girl who receives clothes from the wringer, and shakes them out before handing them to the mangle operator in a "shaker" and will do nothing else. Yardmen get as high as $85 a month and meals for lumper's work; but as soon as they learn to speak English, they become specialists.

An official of the Hotel Men's Association says any hotel man in New York would gladly present his restaurant to anyone who would guarantee to maintain it at its present standard.

Food must meet the most exacting taste and waste is inevitable.

Use and wastage of soap, laundry, stationery, is lavish. Unlimited hot water must be instantly available at all seasons and the slightest chill in June or September must find all radiators full of steam. Ash removal may run to $5,000 a year, as it does for the Waldorf, though an apartment house of the same size would get free service from the city. Travelers who demand the best may be sure that hotel costs are in most cases in proportion to their bills.

Safety Ship.

MOBILE LIFEBOATS.

Lifeboats arranged on deck on rails, so that they can be run to that part of the ship from which launching is possible, are a feature of the Zealand's Co.'s new steamship Mecklenburg, claimed to be the last word in safety ships. She has just made her maiden trip between Folkestone and Flushing.

In most cases when a shipping accident occurs it is impossible to launch all the boats on board owing to the list. By this new arrangement that difficulty is overcome.

By another device a lifebelt is released overboard, and on touching the water a canister attached becomes a powerful flare. The water can be lit up by these if the ship is sinking, and they are invaluable in case of anyone falling overboard in the dark.

Instead of being extinguished when the engine-room is flooded the ship's lights continue to be kept alight by reserve accumulators kept at the highest point of the vessel. Red lights then direct passengers to the deck where boats are waiting.

The company's coastal bells, which direct the ship in case of fog, have been fixed in such a way that the submarine detector only records their note when the ship is making for port. The sound is confined within a funnel-shaped area that has its apex on the coast at the site of the bell.

INSPECTING MILK SUPPLY.

During the past two days Health Inspector Lawlor has been busy taking samples of milk coming in to the city for sale. Last week he had a milkman of the Torbay Road convicted and fined for selling milk, with the cream taken off, as whole milk. Since a milkman of the Bay Bulls Road has been fined heavily for putting water in the milk which he offered for sale.

Pioneers of Industry

During the visit of our representative to the North West Coast Mr. Henry, General Oilfields, Ltd., dealt with several questions connected with pioneer mining work in that remote part of the Colony. He said the difficulties and risks even during the summer were greater than those which the Government and people could be expected to know them to be. That was one reason why those who were working for the industrial development of the coast appreciated the visits paid by Sir Charles Alex Harris, the Hon. John R. Bennett and the representative of the Telegram. Other parts of the Colony were frequently visited by public men, but before last year it had not been the good fortune of the North West Coast to induce men of influence to pay visits of investigation. More ought to come now that new industries were being started. Mr. Henry brought a special case of difficulty to the notice of our representative. When visiting the site of the new well at Parsons' Pond he saw that the heavy foundations of a new derrick had been laid and a large quantity of plant and building materials assembled on the new clearing. Drilling work would have been started more than a month ago if it had not been for the fact that a consignment of new material including derrick nails from Pittsburgh had miscarried and been held up, pending correspondence, at Sydney. It was delays like these that hampered industry and the Government would be doing a good work if it would organise and speed up the transport systems of the Colony. Broached and damaged packages, late delivery and over-carrying were amongst the evils of the present system and he was aware of many cases of merchants and fishermen losing goods and falling in their claims for compensation. "These difficulties notwithstanding," Mr. Henry said, "the future of the North West Coast was never brighter than it is at the present time. In a general way the Government has encouraged and helped the oil industry and I am hopeful that from now on every enterprise started to develop North West Coast trade and industry will receive the unselfish and business-like attention of the departments concerned. Aerial postal facilities will help this coast and the Labrador more than I can say. The coast wants capital, and new industries must take the place of a diminishing fishery, which, judged by the results of the past two years, cannot be relied upon to support the seafaring population of the many settlements between Bonne Bay and Flowers' Cove." Mr. Henry and others mentioned to our representative the great need which exists for a splitting up of the parliamentary division of St. Barbe district, of the business men are keenly interested.

The Dual Drowning.

ENQUIRY IS BEING HELD.

Enquiry at the Department of Justice to-day elicited the fact that a judicial investigation has been ordered into the death by drowning in Conception Bay of Thomas Anderson and F. Leslie Southgate. This enquiry is the result of a conversation which took place between Mr. J. J. McKay, Director of the Presbyterian College, acting on behalf of the relatives of Mr. Anderson, and Judge Morris of the Central District Court. On the following morning, Judge Morris interviewed the Inspector General of Police who sent police officers to the scene of the accident to make a preliminary investigation into all the circumstances surrounding the accident. As soon as the necessary witnesses have been discovered, the evidence will be taken before the magistrate. The enquiry should begin early next week.

Tennis Tournament.

LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP DECIDED.

The Ladies' Singles Championship at the St. John's Lawn Tennis Club was won yesterday afternoon by Miss Vera Windeler, who defeated last year's champion, Miss Mary Rendell, after a hard fought contest. The first set was won by Miss Windeler, but Miss Rendell had no difficulty in winning the second. For a time, during the third set, both players were fairly equal, and the score in games stood 3-3. Miss Windeler however, took the remaining games of the set. St. John's team will probably go over to Bell Island tomorrow, to play an informal tournament with a team from the tennis club there.

Our Local Peeps

HIS DIARY.

August 24th.—I have not written in my journal for some days, nor would I do so now, save that I feel how in justice to the memory of my great ancestor, I must keep alive the traditions of the family of Peeps. Indeed, since I am come from my journey, it irks me to have to do aught but sleep, which is a thing I have grown so accustomed to, that I fear me for the work which I must do. Mightily sad news from Ireland of Michael Collins, the Free State leader, being killed by assassins, nor will any man be found to replace him. To wait on Major Cotton and hear news from him of the Raleigh, she being so full of holes that the tides rise and fall in her. Mighty tired all day, but needs must I be out late and so home, and barely able to get me to bed.

Pitiful Case at Lockup.

ESQUIMAUX GIRL WASTED BY VERMIN.

An object of pity, a half breed Esquimaux girl, aged 7 years, supposedly insane, has been held at the police lockup for the past three days pending arrangements to send her home at Spotted Island on Labrador. From the police the Telegram learns that the child was sent here by Dr. Grenfell for admission to the Insane Asylum. Arriving three days ago by steamer, she was taken to the institution, but it being found she was not a subject for treatment there, she was not admitted. Subsequently the child was handed over to the care of the police, and has since been at the lockup. Here she was examined by Dr. Grieve, who could not pronounce her insane, but discovered that the child was literally eaten by vermin, and wasting from neglect. This morning a woman had to take the girl to the Morgue and give her a thorough cleansing and an outfit of clothing.

State of War.

FINED FOR ABUSING NEIGHBOR.

"Dirty jallbird" was one of the complimentary remarks which were used by a resident of Theatre Hill against a female neighbor, and were the cause of him being the defendant in an action for abusive language heard in the Police Court to-day. Counsel on both sides explained that a state of war existed between accused and his party on one side, and some neighbors on the other. A fine of $5 was inflicted.

Hard Winter Coming.

PEOPLE FEAR DESTITUTION.

According to recent reports from the Labrador, the coming winter is going to be the hardest ever experienced on sections of the coast, and the same applies also to parts of the West Coast. The fishery has been the worst in 25 years, it is stated, and it is very likely that there will be several cases of destitution during the winter, unless efforts are made to have something done for those who are likely to suffer most.

Gets Six Months.

BRUNK ON PROCEEDS OF ROBBERY.

A man arrested by the nightwatch last evening for drunkenness was found later to have been guilty of larceny from a West End shop of the sum of $20. On the proceeds of the robbery he bought sufficient rum to make himself drunk. There was no past record against accused, who was given six months imprisonment with the option of a $100 fine.

Fish Prices.

A number of cartloads of fish from the neighbouring settlements is being brought to the city daily. Six dollars and fifty cents per quintal tal qual, for good dry fish is being paid. No Labrador or Stratts fish have been received locally yet, but it is stated that buyers on Labrador are offering from $4.50 to $5 per quintal for early shipments. The general opinion is that the price will not be over four dollars.

Bankruptcy Petition.

BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSON.

In the matter of the petition of Henry M. Stewart of St. John's, praying that Robert Power of Corbin, Burin, fisherman, be declared insolvent. Mr. H. E. Knight for petitioner is heard. It is ordered that Robert Power be declared insolvent, and that William Bartlett of Burin be appointed trustee. Petitioner costs to be paid out of the estate.

Proceeding to England.

Mr. T. McGrath, Surveyor of Shipping, received a wireless message yesterday stating that his brother, Sir Patrick McGrath, was passing the Cape on the Aquitana bound from New York to Liverpool. It is understood that Lord Morris is proceeding to England by the same ship.

Graham of the Scotch Church.

AN APPRECIATION.

"So Graham has gone." No more will the well known figure pass along the streets of Kingston; no more will the well known voice be heard in the Big Kirk; no more will the well known trenchant letters appear in the Press over the signature "W. Graham." For twenty-six years was he a part of Kingston. He was hard to beat as a preacher; crowds used to gather in the old Colonial Scotch Church to listen to him. He was a lover of music and greatly beloved in the part that Pralse should be in the worship of the Sanctuary. He never let the Metrical version of the Psalms of David disappear from his service.

His Monthly Musical Sunday evening was a feature among the churches in Kingston, and attracted lovers of music belonging to all denominations or none.

He believed in Education. It was ingrained. He had drunk with his mother's milk. He was Vice-Chairman and then Chairman of the Shortwood College for the training of women teachers. He did not always get others on Committees and Boards to see eye to eye with him on Educational and other matters. Perhaps that was because he was the thorough Scot and had the "gud conceit o' himsel", and his opinions that is attributed to Scots generally, but more especially to those living in the Colonies.

He was tenacious. When he got what he considered the right thing, he hung on to it with all his might, and would retire with it rather than give it up. Hence his withdrawal from some Committees. This sometimes caused him to be misunderstood. But from his point of view it was always the other man who was dull. One can recall his, "Well, I can't understand how any person can hold such a view." To Graham the thing was as clear as day even although those who differed from him were greatly in the majority, and gave endless reasons for their position. He did not see it. But he bore no malice.

He was Scot to the backbone. At our Synod in March, after he had aired his views on Church Union, one remarked that "he brought the smell of the heather with him." That he did, for he never lost the Dumfrireshire accent. He could easily lapse into the Doric when he foregathered with his brother Scots. But who would hide the one, no matter what they thought he could take liberties with the sacred things of the nation that has for its emblem the Thistle. Then the points bristled and it was not always the "thistle down" that flew about as he staunchly defended these things of State and Church that were a part of his makeup. "Nemo impune lacessit," which may be freely translated for the benefit of the unlearned, "Who dur meddle wi me."

To see one of his good sides was to meet him in his own home or in the home of a brother minister, say, when the Fraternity meets socially. He dearly loved a story, and all the better if it was against some real or supposed character of the Scot. Take this for example:

A funeral party, after the service in the shieling, carried the coffin over the hills to the graveyard. They laid the coffin down on the snow to rest themselves. Meanwhile a heated controversy arose about Free-will and Predestination. Resuming their journey and their debate they arrived at the burial ground. There they gazed at one another in amazement, and said, "Dod, but we have forgotten the corpse."

Or see him at one of these gatherings to welcome a new minister to the city where there are close on a dozen speakers. After a few words to the audience on the gratification he felt at being present, Graham, turning to the perspiring and somewhat bewildered newcomer, would say, "And now it affords me much pleasure to extend to you the formal welcome of the Presbyterian Church, the right hand of fellowship." Here followed a grip of the hand that reminded the latest arrival of the Village Blacksmith. "Graham will be missed." Aye that will be. The poor of Kingston know that. He was the succourer of many during years gone by. "Graham's Christmas Dinner" was as sure a Christmas itself. His appeal was a hardy annual. He succeeded. He was bound to succeed; his dinner was so catholic. With a generous hand he dealt tickets all around. He and his Kirk, with Mrs. Graham at the head of the work party, strewed garments in the way, to the comfort of many, and to the joy of the Master, who, while on earth, used the word "nas-much" so effectively about similar work. Truly his work will follow him.

His later years marked a change that brought apprehension to his friends. When he went away most expected to see him back; but he crossed the ocean for the last time. It was in Edinburgh on the first of July that he met his Pilot face to face. No one could have wished for a better tribute than the crowded out church on Sunday, 9th July, when a Memorial Service was held. High and low, from the Governor to the ragged child, members of the Legislative Council, the Mayor and Council, the Army, the Medical Profession, Ministers of most denominations, including the Jewish, sat or stood while the last tribute was paid to Graham of the Scotch Church.

Rev. J. F. GARTHMORE, In the "Presbyterian", Jamaica. REV. W. GRAHAM OF THE SCOTCH KIRK.

The passing of Mr. Graham creates a big blank in Kingston. The news came with the suddenness of a thunderbolt and the hearts of his people are sore troubled. Mr. Graham has been an outstanding personality in Jamaica for over a quarter of a century. Even those who could not agree with him admired his independence of judgement, his fearlessness and his chivalry. The appreciation of Mr. Garshore on our first page gives us a good picture of the type of man he was. We would tender our sincere sympathies to his bereaved widow and children, to the congregation of the Scotch Kirk, and to all the congregations of the Church of Scotland in Jamaica.

More Road Work.

MONEY BEING SPENT LIKE WATER.

A number of men are now engaged finishing up sections of the Blackmarsh Road preparatory to putting some alterations and improvements out to tender. During the early part of the year an extensive piece of this road was repaired and it is now proposed to make repairs and improvements to another stretch of about two miles long. So far about ten thousand dollars have been expended and it is estimated that further improvements will cost an additional $20,000. The road will be made twenty-four feet wide with a view to relieving the motor traffic on the Topsail Road.

Typhoid Fever.

OUTBREAK AT BONAVISTA.

By letters received from Bonavista a serious outbreak of typhoid fever is reported as prevailing both in the town and at Canaille. The resident doctor is taking the necessary precautions to prevent the further spread of the fever. Proper sanitation is necessary to the prevention of this disease, which in some of the outports is all too prevalent. Last year the health department was successful in banishing the fever from the Wadhams Islands, Musgrave and the surrounding settlements by enforcing proper regulations. For some time past the fishermen and their families at the Wadhams have been subjected to annual attacks, and at last determined to give up the fishing centre altogether. Since the health authorities took the matter up, insulated the residents and enforced the usual regulations, not a case of the disease has been reported.

Drowned Last Summer.

BODY RECOVERED AT INDIAN HR.

The Marine and Fisheries Department is in receipt of a letter from Dr. Henry L. Paddon, J.P., in which he reports the picking up of a body supposed to be that of a man named Hogan, who was lost overboard from a schooner at Indian Harbor during the summer of 1921. The body was badly decomposed and was buried immediately.

Explains Source of Eskimos Vigor.

The Rev. John Marquis, explorer and missionary among the Eskimos, attributes their hardihood, vigor and great endurance to the fact that they get sufficient vitamins through eat almost the whole carcass of their kill, including brain, nerve and glandular organs. Otherwise it is hard to conceive, he says, according to the New York Times, of their being able to make such good use of an almost purely meat diet, and one so freighted with fat. Dr. Marquis says that, as the white man's bread, refined sugar and canned goods gradually penetrate into the far North the white man's diseases are likely to accompany them.

Not very much is known about the origin of the 50,000 or more Eskimos who live in a region where the temperature reaches and remains for long periods at from 40 to 70 degrees below zero. Almost the only edible plant growth in this frozen land is the reindeer moss, the food of the great herds of reindeer that inhabit northern Siberia. This moss, and occasional patches of coarse, wild grass, are not considered palatable and are seldom eaten by man.

Collishaw Proposition.

WILL WORTH CONSIDERING.

There is nothing so important in the daily routine of a man's life as his home, and most men will make great efforts to acquire a comfortable home of their own. A workman should work hard and deny himself, and save up to get a house that will call his own. He can't go on like this. He needs to be helped and this is where Mr. Collishaw's plan comes in. Another man plans to build a house and has worked hard and saved for years to get a building for which he has had to pay $6000. He has put his whole life's efforts into it, but having secured the lot he must stop for want of financial resources. Here is where Mr. Collishaw's proposition comes in. If the $1000 was guaranteed this man could go ahead. The Bonds were guaranteed on the plan by the City Council this man could go ahead and build his house and help to beautify the city. The man who saves and sacrifices as Mr. Collishaw has, is the one in whom the man should be encouraged. The proposition offered by Mr. Collishaw is one of sound business principles and one which the City Council can do a great thing for the city without financial risk. The writer interviewed Mr. Collishaw yesterday to find out whether the figures that we submitted in the preceding letters were correct, as I had thought and others said so that the offer was almost good to be true. Mr. Collishaw said that the figures were correct and that the offer was genuine, and he reviewed the matter again. "I reviewed the matter," he said, "to build a working-man's home for a small deposit. In this case will the City Council be asking a guarantee of Bonds of $1500. That is what it is that if a citizen wishes to build a $5000 house the city will be called upon to guarantee only Bonds to the extent of $1500, and on that they can have a mortgage. The difference will be made up by the Building Society and the owner. Just as in the case of the $1000 house, $500 is found by the society and the buyer and the city guarantee the Bonds of $1500 with a mortgage. The $1500 house man can have all he can afford is $200. This means quite a saving, but when you get it down under our system he gets the ultimate ownership of the house in a safe position. There is a balance of $1300 on which he has to pay interest on. The interest for an average of ten years by paying $30 a year on the principal will average $7 a year. This means that the owner pays $193 a year. In ten years he owns the house. Payments represent $125 a year or $7 a month interest. This interest being his means $4.75 per month. Applied to a $5000 house on which $500 is left leaving a balance of $2000 this will pay off in ten years, taking up $200 a year an average of $88 per year interest, which put in another way means that the owner pays $200 per year on principal and $7.33 rent. He has his house at the end of ten years and his thrift has been encouraged. You are aware that a man who owns a $2000 house today is paying about $25 a month rent. Under our plan it will cost him $24.03, which is less by 97 cents per month than he pays and with this big difference he owns his house." The above is Mr. Collishaw's proposition. The public of St. John's are being offered a good thing, such as they may not get a second time if they are thrown down. The City Council has taken our ears with their "talk and writing" about the houses and streets, now to their chance to prove their integrity. The "talk and writing" of the "workmen's houses" would cost about $200,000. The Building Society and the owner would and $100,000 of this. The City Council would be asked only to guarantee the Bonds of $1500 and would be protected by their first mortgage on $200,000. In other words two dollars security for $1000. These 100 houses would be sufficient to relieve the overcrowding in the congested districts, and would help the landholders who now exact high rates on poor houses to come into their rents.

Yours truly,
PROGRESS.

Thoughtful and Kind.

Some people going countrywards on Wednesday morning were pleased to see what certainly was an act of kindness to a little dog which had run over by a motor car. The man who owned the "suffering" dog would not leave it on the roadside in a deplorable condition, so distributed the contents of her basket among the people and tenderly carried him in his arms to let him die in peace.

The "Silvia's" Tourists.

A SONG OF WELCOME.
You American tourists who come for pleasure To Terra Nova, our Native Isle, Whose lofty mountains, and groves doth treasure Dame Nature's fresh and sweetest smile. There are rugged hills near dear Kitty Villy And a charming lake like the ocean blue, About two miles distant from St. John's city It's a fine attraction for pleasing you. The Cabot Tower stands as if on sentry It sights the ships as they pass that way. On a famous hill, that's quite near the entry Of St. John's harbor, to storms a prey. The cold Nor'easters in anger flout it But it braves the breezes on every day. Maybe, my friends, you have read about it 'Tis named after Cabot, who found Newfoundland. Bowring Park, it is most attractive The scenery there cannot be outdone, From foreign folks, who are smart and active Their best encomiums this place has won. New Yorkers boast of their Coney Island But we have a spot, in an hour you'll reach The grandest place, which is found in any land. And that is Topsail, with its grand beach. We have lakes and rivers, and purling fountains And vales where wild flowers are blooming free, We have hills and dales and high moss crowned mountains And streamlets rushing towards the sea. Dear Newfoundland welcomes every tourist And may each year, bring her more and more, With the wish of rich folks and the poorest To each and all she throws wide her door. NATIVE.

The Herring Fishery.

Although considerable preparation has been made by some of our herring packers for the approaching season, the extent of their operations is yet uncertain. This is due somewhat to doubt as to what effect on the marketing of our product the new United States tariff will have. It is felt by some that the import duty proposed by the United States will have a detrimental effect on our herring packed by the Scotch method, in the New York market, and as a consequence they are looking elsewhere for markets for the fish. Advice from Chicago state that there are considerable quantities of Alaska herring available and as these will not be affected by the new tariff regulations, since they are the products of the United States fisheries, they will have a tendency to lower the demand for outside products owing to the handicap placed upon the latter. On the other hand, however, it is argued that the Alaska herring being a much smaller fish in size than the herring of Bay of Islands, our herring should therefore compete very favourably with it in the New York market, especially in view of the additional cost in the transportation of the fish from the Pacific compared with the cost of transportation from here.—Western Star.

New York's Latest Jazz Success.

WILL BE HEARD AT THE NICKEL TO-NIGHT.

A special musical treat is in store for patrons attending the Nickel to-night. In addition to the orchestra of visiting American musicians, Mr. Harry Murker, one of New York's most popular pianists will appear, and will play the latest Jazz success, "Kitten On The Keys." Mr. Murker is a whole team at the piano. You'll say you never heard the like before. The way he manipulates the instrument will make you sit up and take notice. The Orchestra went over with a bang last night, and were vigorously applauded.

The picture programme consists of a beautiful mystery drama, entitled "The Girl in the Web," featuring Blanche Sweet. In the eyes of the world she was really... She had stolen not only jewels, but the other woman's husband. Blanche Sweet is seen in the role that suits her, which she plays with grace and quiet dignity for the most part, but she is fully alive to emotional moments as well. "The Girl in the Web" is superior in preserving the mystery and in skilful presentation, a fine entertainment in itself. In any case do not fail to hear Harry Murker to-night.

Household Notes.

After a tablecloth has been froned instead of folding it as usual, fold once through centre, then roll on a stick or a newspaper.

Jelly jars are to be used for keeping salad dressing should have the inside of their lids coated with paraffin to prevent rust or discoloration.

If you wish to grate pineapple, quarter it lengthwise through the central core; then cut out the hard core and grate with the skin intact.

Every housewife will find a small saw very handy. One of its many uses is transforming a worn out broomhandle into a clothes stick.

Chicken and ham makes an excellent casserole. Brown them; put them into the casserole, cover with thickened milk; bake, season and serve.

A large slate with a pencil attached very soon proves itself indispensable in the kitchen. Hang it up where both the cook and her mistress can use it.

Henry Jenkins Aged 169

Newspapers from time to time record instances of men and women who have reached the age of a hundred years, and we have no reason to doubt the stories. But it is another matter when we are told that a certain individual attained the age of 169 years. The mind is staggered at the picture of a doddering, wizened, old party with so many birthdays to his credit. But it appears to be an accepted fact that Henry Jenkins, of Ellerton-on-Swale, near Richmond, in Yorkshire, did attain to this great age, having been born in 1500 and dying in 1670. In a legal document dealing with the law suit which raged in 1667 over the tithes of Catterick Church it is recorded that one of the witnesses was "Jenkins, aged one hundred fifty and seven or there-about." There is also a letter written by Mrs. Anne Saville, to Dr. Tuncred Robinson about the time of Charles II.'s accession to the throne, which contains the following:—"Being one day in my sister's kitchen, Henry Jenkins coming in to beg an alm, I had a mind to examine him. I told him he was an old man who must soon expect to give an account to God of all he did or said. On which he paused a little and then said that to the best of his remembrance he was born about one hundred and sixty-two or three years ago. I asked him what public thing he could longest remember, he said Flodden Field. 'For,' says he, 'I was sent to Northallerton with a horse-load of arrows, but they sent a bigger boy from thence to the Army with them.' There were four or five persons in the same parish, each a hundred years old, or thereabout, and they all said Jenkins was an elderly man ever since they knew him. Jenkins had been butler to Lord Conyers, and remembered the Abbot of Fountain Abbey very well, who used to drink a glass with his lord heartily. One record states that Jenkins died on August 25, 1670, full of years. He was nine years of age when Henry VIII. became King of England, and less than twenty years after his death, William of Orange landed in England. He saw, as a young man, the religious persecution in the time of Henry, and later those during the reign of Mary. Jenkins was 103 when James of Scotland ascended the English throne, but he witnessed the ill-fated struggle between Charles I. and his parliament. He lived during the Commonwealth, and was a subject of Charles II., after the Restoration.

Workshop Destroyed.

ORIGIN OF FIRE UNKNOWN.
A one story workshop owned by J. Noseworthy, Cabinet Maker Upholsterer, and situated in a garage at the rear of his dwelling on Paradise well Road, was completely gutted by fire, which broke out at 12.30 this morning. The alarm was given by a neighbor, who saw the reflection of fire through his bedroom window. Central and East End fire companies responded in quick time, and after half hour's work had the blaze under control. A large quantity of material used in the upholstery and cabinet-making trade as well as machinery, etc., was destroyed or is badly damaged. The insurance carried amounted to $1400.00. The cause of the fire is unknown, as when Mr. Noseworthy left the place at 7 p.m. yesterday everything was in order.

Municipal Council

WEEKLY MEETING.
The regular meeting of the Council held yesterday afternoon at 7.30 p.m. in the Council Chamber, City Hall, was presided over by Mayor Gulerbridge. The minutes of the last meeting were read, and the usual business disposed of. At the request of the Council, the City Engineer, Mr. J. H. Gulerbridge, reported on the progress of the work done on the new road from St. John's to the City Hall, and on the work done on the new road from St. John's to the City Hall. The Council then adjourned until next week.

REPAIRS TO WATER MAINS.
The City Engineer reported that the water main in the North Hill was broken, and that the water was leaking. The Council decided to have the main repaired, and to have the water supply cut off until the repairs were completed. The Council then adjourned until next week.

KEARNEY'S.

MOTOBILIA.

Motto of the Magistrate's Court: "Drive slow and see our city! Drive fast and see our jail."

Well, we missed out with the column last week. We had to let everything slide in favor of the arrangements for the Motor Sports which took up a good deal of time, so please excuse us. And by the way, the Editor says the publishing day for these notes is to be Friday on and after this date, so if you are getting an entertainment in our honor please don't have it on Thursday night.

The sports have come and gone and nobody was killed. Angus Reid (President of the Motor Association) was the happy man when the hill climb was safely over without any casualties.

The sports from the competitors point of view were a grand success. From the spectator's point of view they were rather slow except the road speed contest which was followed with great interest. It was difficult to follow the Hill Climb and the Slow Speed contest was not exciting while the pony race was a bit of a farce. The whole undertaking, however, was in the nature of an experiment and next year things will be so arranged for spectators that they will be in a position to follow each event and put as much money on their "fancies" as we didn't make the day of the Regatta.

Superintendent O'Neil was busy checking the competitors who didn't "stall" in the Slow Speed contest with a view of having a "come-back" to the usual court statement "it is impossible to drive my car at ten miles per hour, your Honor!" Fortunately most of the competitors did "stall" and the Superintendent pleasantly admitted that "there was something in it."

The Sports Day Committee have an apology to offer Mr. Cyril Duley who was not asked, purely through an oversight, to act as one of the Judges. Mr. Duley has been a member of the Association since its foundation and has always been ready to help in any of its undertakings and the Committee deeply regret that he should have in any way been slighted. The fact that there was so darn much to arrange in a short time that sometimes the members of the Committee didn't know whether they were on their head or their heels.

Congratulations to Mrs. Denis Keegan (daughter of W. G. Gelling) who was the only lady competitor to enter and who carried off one of the cups for the Speed Contest. Mrs. Keegan drove an ambulance in France during the war and certainly learnt how to handle a car. The gentleman in her car was her husband who was taken on the plea "in death we shall not be divided." And certainly the car was "in at the death" besting "Basy" by two fifths of a second.

The Motor Association has received a letter from Hon. W. J. Ellis, M.L.C., pointing out that the prefix "Hon." was omitted in the printed list of car owners published by the Association. We have been asked by the Association to point out that this was not through any intended discourtesy to Mr. Ellis but through a typographical error. The fact of the matter is there are several errors in that list and we are not going to blame the printer entirely for all of them. The compiler of the list is somewhat to blame, and as "Dave" put it, some people write like the tracks a dog makes through the snow.

Which puts us in mind of a story we heard a short while ago and which we understand is true. This was in the early days of the "dry" business when the Controller accepted anything on a doctor's prescription form and it was not necessary to have the printed slip containing one's pedigree and life history to get the necessary "lubricating oil." A certain individual paid a certain city doctor three dollars for medical attendance receiving a receipt for same written out on an ordinary prescription form. Then the usual request for a script followed which was also granted and was also written on an ordinary prescription form. Upon going to the Source of Supply by error the receipt was handed in instead of the prescription and the clerk after examining the "copper plate" (?) writing, handed out a bottle of Johnny Walker's best without comment.

We have nothing but the greatest respect for Judge Morris, both as a Judge and as a "mighty good sport." Not knowing the details of the case in which a motor driver got fined one hundred dollars for speeding we refrain from comment. But we do trust that the Judge does not let much ranting articles on the subject of fines for motor speeders as appeared in a recent issue of the Evening Advocate set under his skin. We personally have no brief for the "speed artist," and hope he gets soaked every time, but we feel confident that Judge Morris can decide what the correct fine to impose on a man appearing before him is, without the help of ranting correspondents in the press.

And while on the subject of driving we have been asked to slip in the following rule from the Motor Association's Driving Rules which is an important one and which has not been generally observed lately:—

(2.) Any motorist—member of the Association—desiring to overtake or pass a car, must blow his horn two blasts and the driver of the car ahead shall signal that he has heard the signal by answering two blasts. If the car ahead cannot keep ahead of the overtaking car, the driver should allow the overtaking car to pass and the overtaking car must immediately get far enough ahead to prevent the occupant of the car passed from getting the dust."

Another suggestion is that cars parked should not have their headlights full on as it is most confusing to approaching drivers. The headlights are all right if "dimmed." Will the medical fraternity who park outside the drug store on Le Marchant Road kindly take note of this.

It is also hinted to call attention (by number if necessary) to the several cars that have been going along the Topsail Road after dark with absolutely no lights at all. This is decidedly not good enough.

THE MOTORIST'S EPITAPH.
(Reprinted from the Evening Telegram.)

When shall I quit the steering wheel
And leave the left side rest forever;
When never more my good right heel
Shall press the starting lever;
When in the silent hearse I ride,
If you shall follow with the mourners—
Say this, and it shall be my pride:
"I never swung around the corners."
When I depart life's thoroughfare,
And quit the turmoil of the traffic,

Though little shall I leave my heirs
Deserving praises epitaphic,
Still you might say this thing for me:
To drive with care was ever my way;
However hurried I may be,
I never thought I owned a highway.
I never risked my neighbour's life,
By crowding him in busy places,
Or filled his breast with hate and strife.
By thinking I was Ace of Aces,
And when a boulevard I neared
I stopped although not many do it,
And waited till the way was cleared
I never tried to beat men to it.
When I shall leave the driver's seat
And quit the steering wheel forever
Say this: on boulevard or street
I pulled no tricks I thought were clever.
When I depart this worldly post,
If you perhaps recall me kindly,
Say this, for it is my only boast:
I NEVER TURNED A CORNER
BLINDLY.

Mr. Thos. Soper—the indefatigable worker of the Road Commission—is visiting Conception Bay this week on a combined holiday and business trip—the business consists of giving the C.B. roads the "once over" and endeavoring to decide how five hundred dollars will do the work of five thousand. If the government would come across with the ten thousand bucks it owes the Road Commission Tom would have a chance of really showing what he can do. If a future government should want a Minister of Public Works who is really worth his salt they could not do better than to appoint Tom Soper. We have our eye on him for that job when we become Premier.

We cannot let these notes go to press this week without adding on behalf of motorists generally, our sincere sympathy to that universally expressed by the public and through the press over the untimely death of Michael J. O'Regan. Mr. O'Regan was a Charter member of the Newfoundland Motor Association and a keen supporter of its aims and objects. All the usual qualities of a Minister of Public Works who is really worth his salt they could not do better than to appoint Tom Soper. We have our eye on him for that job when we become Premier.

The Star Jazzola Orchestra paid a visit last evening to the Sanitarium, Topsail Road, and entertained the patients and staff with an excellent program of music. Supper was served during the evening and an impromptu dance was held.

Sell Sunlight Soap for Quick Sales and Sufficient Profits.

Are you in business or just keeping shop? If you are keeping a shop you'll no doubt be able to keep it as long as your money lasts.

If you're in business, then you want your shop to keep you, and it will if you make quick sales and sufficient profits.

If you try to sell to your customers any goods which they do not want, you may be able to do it; but the chances are against you. As a business person you should supply the goods your customers want and should try to make a profit on every transaction. Now take soap as an example: When you are asked to buy a box of soap which is said to be just as good as Sunlight Soap, consider carefully this important question: Is this other soap really just as good as Sunlight Soap? Unless this other soap will sell as well as Sunlight it certainly is not just as good as Sunlight Soap FOR YOU.

The soap which people want is the easiest and most profitable soap for you to sell. Sunlight Soap being the soap which people want, is therefore the easiest soap to sell; in fact, it sells itself—people ask for it.

Sunlight Soap requires no pushing, and because it sells best—it pays best.

Stick to Sunlight Soap, it always has been and always will be the very highest quality of household soap.

Sunlight Soap is the soap your customers want. You will sell 5 cases of Sunlight Soap whilst trying to sell 1 case of any unknown soap.

Buy Sunlight Soap from Your Jobber.

Dear Sir,— It is my duty to ask you please to publish the following testimonial re Dr. F. G. Kinsman's Heart Tablets in the local newspapers so others can read it for themselves, and oblige Yours truly I am (Signed) E. J. ROBERTS.

Dr. F. G. Kinsman's Heart Tablets are a wonderful medicine, and I wish all to know what they have done for me. Before I commenced taking them I could not lie on my left side at night; I had such a choking sensation in my throat that I could hardly breathe. I would have to sit up in bed at night and my heart would beat so much and so hard that I would think that my end had come. My left arm and side pained me. When I would walk any distance my heart would flutter terribly and I would have smothering spells. I have felt none of these symptoms since using Dr. Kinsman's Heart Tablets. Now I can lie on my left side with ease and can enjoy a good night's rest. I can walk for a long distance without being tired or exhausted.
